TO WAGE ACTIVE WAR ON HOPPERS

Plans Made at Meeting in Court House Saturday Afternoon—Will Import Poison.

COTTON MEN INTERESTED

Aid Pledged at Meeting by Sam Glass, R. M. Simmons and Others—Orders Given.

Plans for a repetition of the successful warfare waged against grasshoppers in this section last year were made at a meeting held in the Court House Saturday afternoon.

Arsenic, molasses and bran used in the campaign to save the cotton crop are to be ordered in carload lots and resold at cost to farmers of the section. A committee composed of W. C. Calvert, County Agent, W. H. Bennett of the Planters Gin Co., G. A. Lackey and E. H. Spinks were named to work out details with R. M. Simmons of the Sweetwater Cotton Oil Co. and others interested.

H. E. Lewellen called the meeting to order and presided.

County Agent Calvert said that he had found plenty of hoppers in every section of the county and from his investigation, had no reason to doubt that the pests would be as numerous this year as before. He told of an official investigation in Brown county where it was shown that over 80 per cent of the grasshopper eggs there would hatch, with less than 20 per cent winter killed. The same climatic conditions prevail in Nolan, he said, adding that only a very hard fight such as was waged last year, would save the crop from destruction. It is much easier to fight them now, in the restricted areas where the eggs are hatching, than it will be later on.

E. H. Spinks of Ater said he was ready to fight the grasshoppers right now.

G. F. Lewis of Dora said he had plenty of grasshoppers last year and wanted to start the fight earlier this year.

C. F. Sanders of Cottonwood, who was unusually successful in fighting the hoppers last year, told he had burned all brush around his fields and in other ways destroyed the insects.

Will Whitesides of Blackwell said that the grasshoppers are more grass than his cows last year.

Sam Glass, of the Glass Grocery, declared that if the proper co-operation were shown and an organization perfected, he would buy a tank car of molasses and would sell that and bran at cost.

R. M. Simmons of the Sweetwater Cotton Oil Co. was unable to be present but sent word that he stood ready to do all in his power to assist. Mr. Simmons was largely instrumental in getting the carload of arsenic in here last year which saved the situation then. The committee named at the meeting will confer with him Monday relative to the situation and it is considered likely that a carload of arsenic will be imported again this year. Farmers present at the meeting pledged themselves to buy molasses.

PUPS BEAT ROTAN

Nose Out Opponents 3-2 in 11 Innings—Camr at Rotan Friday—Webb Gives 3 Hits.

In one of the most interesting and thrilling high school games played in this section in years, the Sweetwater Salty Pups nosed out the Rotan high school nine at Rotan Friday with a score of 3 to 2, only after the two teams had battled furiously through 11 long innings.

A surprising comeback was staged by the local men, according to fans, as, still suffering from a couple of defeats at the hand of the Hamlin team, they tackled the supposedly ferocious Rotan organization. Rotan had been defeated by Hamlin, however, on the preceding day by a small score.

Rotan opened the scoring when they put a run across in the last of the third. Sweetwater followed in the first of the fourth when two runs were scored in the last of the ninth, according to reports from Rotan, Rotan slugger zipped the horsehide for a round trip, tying the score two all.

Both sides were held scoreless in the tenth. In the first of the 11th frame, the first Pup up doubled and scored on the following hit, breaking the tie and showing the locals ahead. Hamlin felled to score in their half of the last round and the game was cinched for the Pups.

Earl Webb pitched for the Salty Pups and only allowed 3 hits. The mound worker for the Rotan nine was nicked for 7 hits.

SCHOOL CENSUS SHOWS INCREASE

Over 200 More Students in Sweetwater District Than in Previous Years—Final Count.

SCHOLASTICS EXCEED 1700

Census Will Mean More State Aid For Six Sweetwater Schools for Next Term.

An increase of over 200 students in the Sweetwater Independent School District will be shown in the final check-up of records compiled in the scholastic census of the district which has just been completed, according to an announcement by B. H. McLain, superintendent of the city schools, Saturday afternoon.

The census is taken annually in the month of March, and was completed in the Sweetwater district during the past week by Mrs. J. L. Stephenson. The total number of scholastics in the district will reach between 1,700 and 1,800, according to McLain, or an increase of more than 200 over the number of scholastics in the district a year ago.

The growth of the city is partially reflected in the results of the census which, in short, reveals that just 200 more children within the scholastic age 7 to 18 years, are living in Sweetwater this year than in March 1924. The district is composed of 4 white schools including one high school and three ward schools, one Mexican and one negro school.

State aid apportioned to districts throughout the state is based on the results of the census. Mr. McLain stated and for that reason stressed the importance of every scholastic being recorded on the rolls. If anyone has been missed in the census, McLain urged that it be reported to him.

State tax money paid to the various districts amounts to approximately $15 for each scholastic registered during the census. Thus $15 is lost by the district for each student overlooked when the census is taken. Last year's census showed a total of 1,428 scholastics in the district.

COLLIER BLAMES MOTHER OF ELZIE

LOST HIS SELF CONTROL

Declares That Mrs. Collier Had Gun When They Started—Defense Complete.

By United Press.

WICHITA FALLS, March 21.—Laying the blame on the slain boy's mother, Frank Collier, ex-mayor of Wichita Falls, today completed his defense in his trial for the murder of Elzie Robertson. Collier declared that he shot young Robertson to prevent him from taking his daughter, Mary Frances, to live in the Robertson home which he knew to be of ill repute.

It was while searching for his daughter that he met Robertson and his mother on the street, Collier said. "After my wife had told me about what Robertson had done to my daughter, and that he was going to take her to his house, I lost my mind, I lost my self control," Collier declared.

It was his wife who had the gun when they started in search of Mary Frances, Collier testified. She was with him in the car when the shooting took place.

Mrs. Robertson who has been ill and unable to testify is expected to go on the stand Monday. She is separated from her husband and runs a boarding house.

Sticks to Story

Sticking to the story told Friday, ex-mayor Frank Collier, underwent a grueling cross examination. District attorney Alfred tried Collier with scores of confusing questions in attempts to weaken his testimony. Collier clung to the story that he shot Robertson to prevent his daughter, Mary Frances, from living in a home of bad reputation.

He repeated the testimony given yesterday, telling of the reputation of the Robertson home for immorality; how he warned Elzie to stay away from Mary Frances after he learned of Elzie's secret marriage to her; how Mrs. Collier discovered young Robertson in bed with Mary Frances and other events leading up to the killing.

Condemned Boy's Father Pitiful Figure as Verdict Is Read—May File Appeal

By United Press.

LAGRANGE, March 21.—William H. Langhorn, Jr., was given the death penalty by a jury here this morning at 2 o'clock for the murder of Valeria Zapala. The youth showed no emotion as the verdict which sends him to the electric chair was read.

Probably the most pitiful sight in the court room was the aged father of the prisoner, Dr. William Langhorn. Tears poured down his cheeks as he rested his head on the shoulder of his condemned son who patted him on the back. He wept openly as the verdict was read, and followed his son and an officer out of the court room and into the county jail. The youth's mother is an invalid.

The jury held that the youth was sane and knew right from wrong when he committed the crime. The defense based its plea on insanity, holding that Langhorn was unaccountable for his acts on the night of the crime. A motion for appeal was expected to be filed today.

SHEPHERD WANTED BAIL

Motion Heard Before Judge Hopkins Bitterly Contested By State Attorney.

By United Press.

CHICAGO, ILL. March 21.—William D. Shepherd, temporarily stalled in his efforts for release on bond while charged with the murder of his millionaire ward, Billy McClintock, appeared in court here today while attorneys argued before Judge Hopkins to release him on bond.

The motion was bitterly contested by state attorney Robert Crowe.

The dapper head of the National University of Sciences related his story of obtaining for Shepherd 3 tubes of typhoid germs for the understood purpose of poisoning McClintock.

Several times, Dr. Faiman said, Shepherd came to his room and inquired about a course in bacteriology.

"He told me he was a lawyer and wanted to study it from a legal aspect," the doctor explained.

"The next time I saw him" Faiman continued looking straight at the man who was McClintock's guardian, "was when he came to my office. 'The will was fixed the way he wanted it' he told me," and said Billy might be incriminated with typhoid germs. When he talked about that my suspicions became aroused."

"The next time I saw Shepherd was in November. He came to my office and asked about my files and records. He went through my letter files and extracted a letter in which he had inquired about the course in bacteriology. He was extremely nervous. He gave me fifty dollars and told me to forget that I had ever seen him."

"I said this is a serious proposition. I ought to receive a big consideration."

"I asked him for $200,000 but we compromised on $100,000."

CHARGE BRIBERY

Oklahoma Legislature Thrown Into Uproar by Charge Members Offered Bribes.

By United Press.

OKLAHOMA CITY, March 21.—Charges that a large corporation had attempted to bribe members of the State Senate tonight threatened to throw that body into a turmoil of debate.

Senator Jed Johnson, Anadarko, late today claimed that a $1,000 bribe was offered him if he supported house bill No. 4, the revokable permit measure, in a speech on the floor of the Senate. Senator Johnson charged that men reported to be representatives of public utilities companies of the state offered to underwrite his campaign for United States congressman in addition to giving him $1,000 cash if he voted for the measure.

The bill is already passed by the Legislature and is before Governor LeFlore. It places control of all public utilities in the hands of the State Corporation Commission, and displaces present city franchises.

GRASSHOPPERS

There is no use waiting until the cotton crop is in danger of total extinction before beginning the warfare that everyone knows will be necessary to combat the grasshopper.

Time has long since shown the truth of the old saying that a strong offense is the best defense.

In this case munitions of war consist of copious quantities of arsenic, bran and cheap molasses. And right now is the time for community action to establish large stores of munitions to war against millions of grasshoppers now hatching. With plenty of arsenic cotton growers can be assured of victory in the fight. And now in this particular instance victory means a larger crop of cotton and subsequent dollars that would otherwise not be the case.

GROWTH

It does not require any particular ability to be able to tell that Sweetwater is growing. Anybody can see that with half an eye. A drive over Sweetwater streets, watching the new houses going up everywhere is enough evidence to attest that fact. More proof is furnished in the figures from the school census, showing an increase of between 250 and 350 school children in the city in the past year. Growth means prosperity. It also means it is going to require additional school facilities and that in the not very distant future either.

THE MYSTERIOUS PIG

George Spangles' pig over at Gilbon Ohio, reminds us of the one that used to be on grandfather's farm. The Ohio shoot, according to the newspapers, appeared mysteriously every day in the Spangles' corn field, and there was no hole in the fence. A spy was set to watch the pig, and it was found that he crawled through 75 feet of tile drain to reach the corn. Grandfather's pig used to crawl thru a hollow log, which formed the bottom rail of an old-fashioned timber fence. Yes, indeed, we sometimes had such fences in grandfather's day. The hollow log happened to be crooked, and as a joke on the pig, it was turned so that both openings were outside of the field. Then the trespassing pig was watched. He crawled through the log and looked around in astonishment, finding himself still on the wrong side of the fence. He turned around and crawled back, evidently thinking he had made a mistake. Still outside! "Woof", he exclaimed and departed therefrom in a wild hurry. Never again would this pig go into that neighborhood. He evidently thought the place was haunted. Some folks are like that.

In spite of the continuous building, there has never been a time when houses were so much in demand in Sweetwater as the present time. An investment in real estate is a good buy at this time.

Sweetwater's greatest need at this time is more paved streets. And now is the time to see that they are paved.

SERV-EL

An Indispensable Household Help

What would you think of a cake of ice that would never melt, vary, or diminish in cooling virtue—that would not impart excess moisture to foods—would never fail to preserve foodstuffs in the refrigerator—and do this without one bit of supervision on your part?

Would it not save a thousand worries—eliminate ice bills—save in food bills and promote the health of the family?

Most assuredly it would; and while there is no such miraculous cake of ice as such, an invention does exist which makes this ideal condition of refrigeration possible.

This invention is the Serv-el, a reliable automatic electric refrigerating mechanism, which lasts indefinitely; which never melts or diminishes in cooling virtue; which imparts no damaging moisture to foods; and which maintains at all times the most perfect and desirable temperature for the preservation of the contents of the ice box.

The automatic nature of Serv-el will interest you first. No ice man tramps through the kitchen smearing up your clean floor.

Serv-el manufactures cold, and does it all alone, and unaided. Its operation is automatic. The motor starts or stops with the rise or fall of the temperature inside the refrigerator. It is a quiet and noiseless transition.

The economical side of Serv-el will interest you next. Ice bills are entirely eliminated. The only expense is the electrical current consumed, which will figure 50 per cent less than present ice bills. To this saving add all the advantages of perfect and cleanly refrigeration, the saving in foods that are perfectly preserved and you will realize the economic value of Serv-el.

Serv-el is easily within the reach of every American home. It is made in two styles—one in which the Serv-el mechanism is built into its own box; the other a machine which can be installed in your present refrigerator.

Monday Is Last Day For Cash Prize Offer

The workers in the Great Circulation Drive for the Daily and Weekly Reporter who have seriously considered the magnificent opportunity offered in extra votes for the most subscriptions turned in by Monday night March 23, are going to secure every subscription possible Monday and up until 10 o'clock Monday night. Subscriptions that are turned in Tuesday must be signed by the worker with a statement that the subscriptions were secured Monday in order to count for the $60.00 in cash prize for the week ending at that time.

Not only does this provide the opportunity of picking up some ready cash easily but if you secure more subscriptions and win the cash you will have the most subscriptions for the first week on the 25 Prize Ballots for each of the three districts to be awarded the 25 workers who secure the twenty-five largest amounts for two weeks ending March 30.

If you absolutely know that one, two or three subscriptions would win a good cash prize and count for the most money on the two weeks Prize Ballot offered you would get them. That is about the situation. A comparatively few subscribers are going to put the big vote over and win for someone one of the three new model Chevrolet cars besides the Singer Sewing Machine, the kitchen cabinet, the Columbia Grafonola, the electric four piece Urn set and numerous other prizes, a total of thirty valuable prizes besides many cash awards to those who do not win one of the prizes.

Do not allow anyone to discourage you by stating that someone will pick up a big bunch of subscriptions. That is almost impossible to do with so many workers in the field; the territory has been fairly well worked. Give your entire time Monday to securing subscriptions. Do not let anything else get in your way. Your opportunity was never better to win a car for the highest vote and not the most money. While in this instance the Prize Ballots are offered for the most money but it does not specify as to the amount the subscriptions shall be. Cash in on every promise that you have for subscriptions and get them in Monday night or Tuesday accompanied by a statement as mentioned above.

THE MAN WHO MUST ALWAYS BE RIGHT

A fraction of an inch in a mile survey might cause land litigation that would result in the ruination of business and the expenditure of untold money.

THE DEVIATION BY A TEN-THOUSANDTH OF A GRAIN OF CERTAIN DRUGS MIGHT CAUSE UNTOLD MISERY AND DEATH.

The civil engineer is called "the man who must always be right." THE DRUGGIST IS THE MAN WHO MUST ABSOLUTELY BE RIGHT; AS RIGHT AS THE DOCTOR. Correctness is not a detail of the drug business—it is the drug business in its entirety. The druggist must be as minutely correct as the trusted physician, and if either deviates from positive accuracy others must suffer.

WE PUT UP YOUR PRESCRIPTIONS ABSOLUTELY CORRECT. Our implements and devices are accurate to a degree thoroughly tested and authoritative weights and measures always.

Added to our knowledge of expert compounding, and to the complete stock of absolutely pure drugs which we carry here indeed is every best recommendation why WE SHOULD ALWAYS FILL YOUR PRESCRIPTIONS.

The Choice of A Piano

It would not be possible to expend too much care upon so important a task as the choice of a piano or player piano.

Not only the outer appearance and attractiveness of the piano, but every detail of its inner construction should be considered; for its tone, supreme among its features, and by which its worth will always be judged, depends upon things which do not appear from superficial examination and must be taken on trust by the purchaser.

The Gambel Roof is sometimes, tho not always, a detail of the Dutch colonial house. This type of house is constantly growing more popular. One of the reasons for this no doubt is the fact that it is adapted to any climate and is as applicable in the west as well as in the east.

The Germantown hood or cornice just over the first story windows is a typical detail of this type and helps to lower the apparent height of the home—an effect so much desired in a cottage.

Altho small, the home contains five good rooms in addition to a bath. The first floor contains a living room, dining room and kitchen. On the second floor are two bedrooms and bath.

A full basement provides ample space for laundry, fuel, furnace and storage space. The main building is 31 x 18 feet.

FOR the AUTOIST

Auto Prices May Be Changed; Ford Acts On Used Car Problem

DETROIT, March 21.—The much discussed and looked for price cuts by those manufacturers who have remained steadfast on their 1924 prices, in face of numerous and often sharp reductions by competitors, seems assured.

The opening of the real spring selling season is expected to bring a price revision downward by these companies because of the one-sided selling by those who have already cut prices.

Right now, with sales only normal for the season, those firms which have not changed prices are feeling the effects of their standpatism, and in some cases severely.

There are many who look for General Motors to cut prices on its various cars, despite the statement by President Alfred Sloan several weeks ago that no General Motors reductions could be expected in 1925. But those who look for such a cut say that January sales of General Motors were not proportionately as large as those of companies which announced new prices the first of the year. They point out that the Packard, whose sharp cut went far toward upsetting the industry's price standards for the year, is operating at capacity, and is far behind with orders.

Chrysler made a record of 32,000 sales last year, the first year of its existence, a record never before approached by any other car in its initial season. A price cut, lack of which now threatens to prevent repetition of that high mark in 1925, is believed sure to be made to keep high the Chrysler prestige.

A survey shows that those companies which have cut prices or those which have brought out new models at reasonable prices, invariably are among the active plants whereas those which have done neither are among those operating at ratios below capacity.

FORD INTO USED CAR PROBLEM

Henry Ford has just taken a step which will do more to end the used car problem than any that has preceded it. This week he sent out word to all his dealers that, under penalty of losing franchises, they must follow this fundamental rule in handling used cars:

Offer no more for a used car than the price set for its particular make and model in national used car market ratings, and sell it for a figure that will include that price, the cost of reconditioning the car and 25 per cent for overhead and profit.

The order is perhaps the most determined step taken to solve the used car problem. Certainly, due to the broadness of the Ford dealer system, it is the most far-reaching.

No other manufacturer has done so much to solve the used car problem a them in the side of all of them. The Ford order will be watched with considerable interest. It will mean an end to competitive bidding for used cars among Ford dealers. It will also mean a higher used car price to the purchaser, and may also mean a lower allowance on a car to be traded in, as the dealer, free from competition from other Ford dealers, will not be forced to stretch his price to effect a sale.

Ford's order has struck at the root of the used car problem. It arose out of the practice of excessive allowances on used cars for the sake of sales. It has been kept alive by continuance of that practice. The problem was respossible, in 90 per cent of the cases for the sixty-five thousand bankruptcies among dealers in 1923-24.

Now that Ford has paved the way it is not unlike that other dealers will make like requests of their dealers. If they do, motor car merchandising will be freed of its worst evil, to the ultimate good of the maker, the dealer and the public.

SALES INCREASE

Dodge Brothers Show Gain During February.

Dodge Brothers remarkable increase in production and sales continues without interruption, an official statement from the factory discloses.

Actual deliveries by dealers during February were within a few cars of 15,000, which is an increase of 23.1 per cent over deliveries in February, 1924.

Every week in February showed a material increase over the preceding week and the first week of March likewise exceeded the last week of February.

While dealers stocks are exceptionally low, the factory is cranking out cars in such volume that it is hoped a most practically the entire current demand. Production for the first week of March was over 1000 cars a day.

Dodge Brothers sales for 1924 increased more than 25 per cent over 1923, in the face of an 11 per cent decline in the industry as a whole. These facts, considered with the present continued increase, bespeak a most gratifying condition and Dodge Brothers are naturally optimistic.

MAKE OWN PARTS

Chevrolet Effects Economies in Production by Methods.

It has often been pointed out that large production enables the American manufacturer to produce a type of motor car of like quality for less money than a European manufacturer.

Part of this is due to the fact that the large producer can buy more economically because of the enormous amount of material he needs, because specialized operations in production lower his costs, and because he can save on shipments through assembly of the car in various sections of the country.

The Chevrolet Motor Company, the second largest producer of automobiles in the world, not only takes advantage of these various economies but within the last two years has further saved on material and production costs through the making of hundreds of parts that were formerly purchased from other concerns.

In the Fall of 1923 the Chevrolet began making their own drop forgings, such as front axles, steering gears, connecting rods, spring hangers, motor supports, etc. In addition the company has replaced many malleable parts with drop forgings and stampings, so designed that they properly take care of the work they have to do with a large factor of safety to insure long life and a consequent increase in quality of construction. All these drop forgings and stampings are made by Chevrolet.

TEST BALLOON TIRES

Low Pressure Tires Make Drivers With Drivers After Trip.

Although experiments with balloon, or low pressure, tires have been under way for a number of years, it is only within the past two or three that they have been on the market. Prejudice had to be broken down by actual tests and demonstrations to convince the user of regular cord tires that the low pressures were equally satisfactory.

Nation-wide tests were made and thousands of tires placed on automobiles personally owned and operated. The performance of these tires were carefully observed by tire engineers who recalled them after they had been tried under all conditions. The tests, however, were observed by tire users throughout the country and a great many became enthusiastic boosters for them.

After the test period of twelve to twenty-four months was up, many of these owner-operators of cars on which balloons were tested, replaced the test tires by low pressures purchased from their own dealers. Conversion from regular cord types to balloons has followed rapidly and balloon tire users are growing in number as each month passes.

Balloons are now known to be capable of doing all the work done by the regular tires as well as many things the latter will not do. The ease and comfort given by the low pressure tires together with their service under unusual conditions make them popular.

Incidentally, the testing now done on balloons is by commercial cars, which will travel 500 or more miles a week. Low pressure tires have reached such a degree of perfection that only vehicles capable of giving unusually hard tests are used and on these the work done by the tires is carefully noted by engineers who keep complete record of the data.

Buick Torque Tube Drive

The fine engineering in Buick motor cars is demonstrated by the torque tube drive. This is a steel tube which transmits the drive from the rear wheels instead of adding this important duty to the burden of the rear springs. The torque tube also encloses and protects the propeller shaft. This type of construction also holds the rear wheels in alignment regardless of road conditions.

BUILD DIRIGIBLE ALL ENCLOSED

England at Work on Huge Airship Without Underhanging Cars—Bigger Than Los Angeles.

TO BE MUCH FASTER, TOO

Streamline Body Adds to Speed—Plan Establish Regular Aerial Passenger Service.

LONDON, March 21.—Imagine a great silver cigar about 700 feet long with a displacement of some five million cubic feet.

Then one will get some idea of the new air liner Great Britain is building, said to compromise the most revolutionary advance in the whole history of air navigation.

For this new dirigible will contain the crew in the hull and passengers in the hull—there will be no hanging gondolas or outside saloons—the pilot's window will be in the nose.

The streamline body will extend the cruising radius of the giant ship by thousands of miles, decrease its fuel consumption, and increase its speed to ninety miles an hour. Construction has already started.

The new ship will be one of a pair to be built. They are called R-100 and R-101.

Each is about twice the size of the American Los Angeles. The new design is the work of Commander C. D. Burney, M. P., who is in charge of the construction of one of the ships. The Airship Guarantee Company is building it, with the Air Ministry in close supervision.

Pilots, navigators, crew and passengers will all be accommodated in the actual body of the craft. The only projections below the airship will be cars containing the engines placed far back.

The pilot and navigating officer instead of being located as at present, below the hull, will be in an observation compartment in the nose of the airship, curved windows providing them a clear view.

Passengers and crew will occupy the interior portion of the ship amidships in the space which has hitherto been waste or utilized by gas bags. From the sides a clear view will be obtained through windows of double glass.

"This simplification of design," says the official statement "as proved on behalf of the company by experiments in the National Physical Laboratory, ensures a considerable increase in the range of flight. With a greater flight range it will be possible to place bases for stops on the England-India-Australia route at greater distances to one another."

Comment which has appeared states that a trip will be possible from London to Capetown in 5 days, London to Bagdad in 3, and London to Australia in seven.

"If all goes well and we realize our expectations," said an official of the company, "a regular airship service should be in full swing two years from now."

The ship will be finished, it is hoped before the end of 1926, with trial flights on the program immediately thereafter.

The subsidiary invention which has made Commander Burney's work possible concerns an improved mooring mast.

It is rapidly being discovered that the question of mooring masts is the crux of the whole airship aviation problem and the enclosed superstructure such as planned for the new ship would be impossible with the mooring masts now used.

But researches to which both the American Goodyear Zeppelin Company and the German Zeppelin Company contributed have resulted in a British invention of a new type of mooring mast of the utmost importance.

This mast will receive the whole nose of the airship in a swivel arrangement.

The English government places such an extreme importance to these twin corollary discoveries—the new mast and the new airship—that not the least considerable interest in the situation comes with the official announcement that an imperial air port is soon to be built by the government.

The site selected is at Karachi, near Bombay, about half way between London and Australia.

RHYMES OF THE ROAD

By Dudley Glass.

SIMPLICITY

I've driven every make of car, of every type and kind; I've owned them since they had one lung, one door hung on behind I've handled them on mountain roads, 'round cliffs that made me shiver. But yesterday I tried, oh gosh! to drive my young son's flivver. I'd often watched him climb right in and jump from low to high.

Then throw her back into reverse, while one could wink an eye.

"It is a simple craft," quoth I, "for simple folks designed;

It merely calls for feet; no strain whatever on the mind."

My faithful car was in the shop; the flivver in the shed.

"I'll drive it to town today," with confidence, I said.

"Be careful, John," my wife advised, "You know you've never tried."

"Ha, ha!" I laughed. "It's simple. Come, I'll take you for a ride."

I pushed the middle pedal in; she started on reverse;

I pushed the left; she crept ahead, her speed was like a hearse.

But when I tried to stop her, though brake and clutch I pressed,

She forged ahead, right through the fence, with power I never guessed.

Once more I changed my tactics, and again she started backing;

I kicked her here, I pressed her there, but something still seemed lacking.

She went ahead, she backed again. My language was improper.

I must admit, but darn the thing, there seemed no way to stop her.

She smashed our cherished hotbeds, with a crash of broken glass;

And paused. "Why stop?" my wife inquired "Or are you out of gas?"

I answered not, but chilled her with a fixed and icy stare,

And took the trolley car to town and left the flivver there!

A TIP TO TOURISTS

An especially designed net affair fixed to the front bumper will be found very handy in gathering chickens on country roads. With good luck one may save in food bills more than the cost of gasoline.

Window shoppers who stroll along the sidewalks are bad enough about clogging up traffic, but what about those in automobiles, who say: "Oh, do drive slowly, James. We must look at every gown in this block."

NO NEW DISEASE DESIRED

Enthusiasm of Foreign Experimenters Dampened by United States

WASHINGTON—The story of an East African scientist who journeyed nine thousand miles to give the department of agriculture a sample of hog blood containing the virus of a dread disease only to have it tossed into an incinerator, was related this week by department officials.

A similar fate awaited the specimen of a virus of the foot-and-mouth disease brought by a Swiss watchmaker who desired to experiment with it in the hope of discovering a cure.

The scientist was told the place to study the disease was in East Africa, not in this country, where the escape of the virus might cause great damage to the hog industry. The same explanation was given to the Swiss.

Experts of the bureau, Dr. Mohler said, soon would visit foreign countries where the foot-and-mouth disease was prevalent, to study it $150,000 having been made available by congress recently for the work.

DUNLOPS

IT IS the IN-BUILT QUALITY

Tire mileage can only come from in-built quality. Dunlop tires look very similar to other reputable tires. The tread is a little different design, of course, and the bead is the distinctive Dunlop type, otherwise the tire looks much the same.

It is inside, in the body of the tire, where Dunlop fineness is apparent. There you will see the tough, rubber-soaked cords, each layer diagonally arranged so as to give the greatest possible strength in both directions.

It is in these rubberized cords that Dunlop miles are hidden away. They are the foundation upon which the body of the tire is constructed, the cornerstone of Dunlop quality.

HIGH POWERED MOTOR CARS—RIDE WITH US

As Utterly Different In Results Now As a Year Ago

To the best of our knowledge there had never been a 3-inch motor capable of producing 68 horsepower, a speed of 70 miles an hour, with gasoline economy safely over 20 miles to the gallon, until the Chrysler Six arrived on the market last year. There is no other today.

That is what scientific engineering in the way of perfected gas distribution, special combustion chambers and heat distribution does for the Chrysler Six.

There has never before been a motor in which all sense of vibration has been so completely eliminated, never before a car in which side-sway and road-weaving are absent, never before a car with an overall length of 160 inches that afforded so much usable space—generously roomy for five large adults.

Examples might be cited by the score. But you can see for yourself how utterly different the Chrysler Six is and why the eager public bought more than 32,000 Chrysler cars the first year, if you drive the car but a few minutes. We are anxious to give you a Chrysler ride, to prove it the best-built car you ever sat in.

AMUSEMENTS

AT THE PALACE

The climax of Fred Niblo's "The Red Lily," the Metro-Goldwyn picture which opens at the Palace Theater Monday, comes when the hero of the story, played by Ramon Navarro, recognizes a woman who has brought him in from the street as his own lost sweetheart, Marise, whom he has sought for years. Finding her unfaithful, he strikes her down with his fist in a spasm of fury and anguish; and what happens thereafter concludes one of the most deeply stirring tales ever told on the screen.

The story is laid, for the most part, in the Parisian underworld. The boy's father, in a Brittany village, has disinherited his son on hearing of the boy's love for Marise, the daughter of a humble shoemaker. The pair flee to Paris to marry, are separated by peculiar circumstances and thrust upon the city.

Marise becomes first a waitress, then a scrubwoman, and finally gives herself up in despair to the underworld. Meanwhile Jean for a time keeps his self-esteem, but eventually loses it also and turns thief.

The two meet years later. The boy, who is sought by the police, answers the furtive invitation of a woman standing in the doorway leading to her dark and dingy room. Then, in the grim and grayish light of her chamber, recognition dawns. The boy's last illusion is shattered. He very nearly kills her, and is prevented from doing so only by the sound of the police on the stairs. She hurriedly hides him, thereby saving him—for a time—from the law.

She nurses him through a period of delirium and illness, and then, when they are just beginning to find themselves, he is taken away to prison. He serves two years. Meanwhile, the girl is reclaimed by the sisters of charity; and a new, different, and joyous Marise awaits him outside the prison.

LYRIC

Remember "Passion," "Mad Love," "Shadows of Paris," and the other big successes with Pola Negri?

Remember the promise made the picture public that in her next picture Pola Negri would absolutely return to that kind of role which first made her the internationally famed actress she really is?

Well, the picture that fulfills the promise is here!

It's "Montmartre," an Ernest Lubitsch production for Paramount, and comes to the Lyric Theater Monday.

In "Montmartre," Pola more than just returns to that type of part in which the public first remember her. According to those who have already seen the picture, Pola gives a far more finished performance than in any of her earlier productions, whether they happen to be European or American made. She is a more vital a more flashing, Pola as Yvette, whose nights are spent in merrymaking amid the gay lights of the cabarets and days in almost unbearable dullness in a drab attic room—it's a great role for Pola, and Pola's great in the part.

ENDORSE FILM

Breckenridge City Officials Endorse Birth Control Film.

"The tremendous drama of mother love, 'Tell Me Why,' which will be the special offering at the Queen Theater Monday, March 23, was highly recommended by officials at Breckenridge where the film was shown recently.

Dr. T. W. Webb, city health officer, said, "I do not hesitate to give my hearty endorsement of this picture from a moralistic standpoint and entertainment."

W. E. Griminger, Chief of Police, said, "I consider 'Tell Me Why,' one of the best educational pictures I have ever seen. I cannot say enough for it."

Michigan, Illinois, Oklahoma, Missouri officials have also given their approval and endorsement to "Tell Me Why," which is just being released in Texas.

That the success of modern marriage depends entirely upon the full knowledge of the laws of sex, and ignorance of these laws results in discord, divorce and double standard morals and sometimes suicide and murder, is the lesson taught in the tremendous drama of mother love entitled "Tell Me Why."

There will be special shows for women only and men only, Monday afternoon, 2:30, 3 and 5 p.m. for women only and 7:30 for men only.

Children under 16 years of age are not admitted unless parents accompany them, because of the delicate nature of the subject.

One day only, Monday, March 23.

Delphians to Meet.

Mrs. Royal Hendrick's house will be the meeting place Thursday afternoon at 3 o'clock for the Sweetwater Delphian chapter, with Mrs. A. A. Chapman directing the program.

The program will be arranged as follows:

- Roll call; current news from Germany.
- "Lessing's Lives and Works," Mrs. C. A. Rosebrough.
- "Nathan and the Templar," Mrs. A. S. Kendrick.
- "Nathan and Saladin," Mrs. H. R. Allen.
- Dramatic reading from "Nathan," Mrs. Roy Henthorne.

(political advertising)

To the Voters of Sweetwater: In order that you may be fully advised as to my position relative to the administration of city government in some important particulars I submit to you this statement.

I am in favor of public improvement. Am in favor of improving the streets, public parks, and grounds to the full extent funds are available for such purposes. Am in favor of paving streets where needed. But of course there is a limit to which the credit of the city may be extended for all public improvement, and it would be my purpose to keep well within such limit, fully protecting the credit of the city.

The purpose of this city government the purpose of incorporating, is for the mutual benefit of all the inhabitants of the city, and it should be operated to carry out such purposes to the fullest extent. In letting contracts for public improvement I would consider only the interests of the people of the city, and get the best at the lowest price possible.

If I am elected your mayor this city will not take any backward step, but it will go forward, and I confidently believe that in two years under reasonable conditions I can put our little city in advance of what it is now. In the ten months I was mayor of your city in 1913 I submit to you the following as part of the record of my administration:

Previous to my election, funds that had been obtained from an issue of bonds to install a sewer system had been exhausted leaving the system incomplete, and in debt and work on it had been stopped. My administration settled with the creditors and borrowed money sufficient to complete the system.

My administration adopted what is now the sanitary ordinance of this city and which Dr. Carrick an authority on such, told me was the best he knew of in any small city in the state. I entered this city in the "cleanest city" contest in which quite a number of cities scattered over the state were contestants, and this city came out near the top of clean cities.

I am at least partially responsible for your city charter, and system of water works as my administration started this city on the road to this achievement, and as a great many know who resided here at that time I backed it to the limit.

And a great many other things were accomplished during that short time. When I retired from Mayor from that short service, I left the city with a good credit, and had advanced it on the road to progress.

Do not be misled by those who would designedly mislead you as to my attitude to progress. I believe in moving forward and if elected your mayor it shall be my ambition to move out city to first place among cities of its size.
