GET MORE RAIN IN WEST TEXAS

An Additional 1.60 Inches Fall in Sweetwater, Bringing Total For Year to 12.89 Inches

CROP PROSPECTS BRIGHT

Timely Rains Of Slow Soaking Variety Promise Record Breaking Production This Year

An additional 1.60 inches of rain fell in Sweetwater Tuesday night, bringing the total for the year to 12.89 inches, according to the Sweetwater Vulcanizing Co., volunteer weather observers.

Seldom has this section faced more brilliant crop prospects than at this time. The rains have all been timely and mostly of the slow soaking variety that sent the season deep into the ground to withstand July and August searing heat. But little additional moisture will be required to mature a good crop and a few scattered summer showers along will insure new records in production.

The rain will delay the "battle of the weeds" which has been under way since the fields became dry enough to work from the previous rain. In very few cases had farmers been able to complete clearing their fields from the rank growth of weeds that sprang up after planting.

The rain was not general to any great distance south of Sweetwater, although Lake Trammell reported more than an inch on the watershed of the city reservoir.

The Texas & Pacific reported heavy rain, similar to that received here, from Midland to Baird and lighter precipitation beyond those points.

The Santa Fe said no rain fell south of Santa Anna but heavy downpour northwest of Sweetwater.

The Orient reported that the rain was general and heavy on their line as far north as Chillicothe, including all points between, but nothing of consequence very far south.

Some hail was reported in a small strip near Lubbock. The area hit by the hail was not extensive but things were torn up pretty badly by the aerial ice. The rain extended as far north as Lubbock in the volume received here, with a half to a quarter inch north as far as Canyon. The downpour was spotted on the Santa Fe line toward Clovis, varying from one and a half to three inches at Littlefield, Mulenshoe and Sudan.

QUAKERS DON'T CONDEMN
Say Practice of Birth Control Is Legitimate—Not Immoral

LONDON, June 10.—Under certain circumstances, the practice of birth control in the marital relationship may be legitimate, according to the birth control investigating committee of the Quakers.

While the report does not bind the society, it is signed by influential members and they opine:

"We are unable to condone the absolute condemnation of the practice of birth control as in itself immoral."

The report adds, "it would appear morally wrong to set a standard for marital relations which only a few people could attain."

WASHINGTON, June 10.—The sentence of two years given by the Williamson county district court to A. A. Burleson, traveling salesman, April 1, 1923, was affirmed today by the Court of Criminal Appeals.

Davis was charged with falsely testifying before the grand jury under oath administered by Dan Moody, at that time district attorney, now Attorney General of Texas, concerning a conversation he was alleged to have had with Burleson at the town of Weir on January 16, 1923, and also concerning the delivery to Burleson of a message written on a letterhead of the Georgetown Ku Klux Klan.

The Yannanese, heretofore confident of victory, were reported to have appealed to foreign consuls to send a fleet to intervene in the fighting and end it.

In Honan, opposition to the Canton spirit among the foreign colony is somewhat quieted, according to dispatches, since American Marines landed for protection of foreigners and the Christian college on the island. Shanghai was reported quiet.

NEW YORK, June 10.—Irving Berlin, America's most famous song writer, today somewhat angrily denied the report that special dispensation had been granted by Pope Pius for the marriage of Ellin Mackay, daughter of Clarence H. Mackay, president of the Postal Telegraph Co.

"Some one with a vivid imagination must have it in for me," Berlin told United Press. "This report has been circulated for some weeks and is groundless."

At the Mackay offices it was said that both the father and daughter ridiculed the rumor upon their recent return from Europe, and had no reason to believe the strength of the denial dissipated.

Thirsty Colonels Of Kentucky Go Home From Canada

DETROIT, Mich., June 10.—Sixteen hundred Kentucky colonels from Louisville, who left their sunbaked hills for a week-end of beerful mirth in Windsor, straggled back home today still limp from heat and parched from thirst.

A pitiless sun again is pouring its rays upon their helpless heads. And now the thousands of barrels of exhilarating stimulants, which seemed to grin at them from behind bonded warehouses last week, must be laughing outright.

Magnitized by the mirage of thirst-ouehing seepers and made desperate by the maddening heat and grinning barrels, the colonels collected their army and came in a two-section train to fight a new battle of emancipation.

Twenty-five cars, boasting many a sleeper or diner and crammed to capacity, rushed into town to the tune of "How Dry I Am," early Sunday after an all night ride from Louisville.

Who Is the Infringed?
In the Canadian West small business men often try to lend prestige to their establishments by affixing to their firm names the initials of one of the big railways. One often sees such signs as "C. P. R. Tobacco Store," "G. T. P. Poolroom," "C. N. R. Boarding House," etc. The Canadian Pacific recently took official notice of these acts of piracy, and sent out notification that the unauthorized use of the railway's name was illegal. One such notice, sent to the proprietor of a certain "C. P. R. Barber Shop"—Cut Rates, brought the following reply:

"Des. Sur: I got yure notis. I don't want no law suit with yure big company, and I don't want to paint a new sign on my shop. Times is bad, and I got a large wife and family to sport. I no yure company owns everything around heer—railroads, steamers, most of the best land, and the time, but I don't no as you own the hole alfabet. The letters on my sign stand for my mother's name in old Ireland—Christine Patricia Reardon, and what I want to no is what you are going to do about it. I suppose you won't argue that the balance of my sign what refers to cut rates has got anything to do with yure railroad. There ain't bin any cut rates around these heer parts that I nose of."—Judge.

WASHINGTON, June 10.—The United States will not be the bread basket of the world this year.

With the smallest production of wheat since 1917 in prospect, economic experts at the Department of Agriculture today said that 600,000,000 bushels expected on the basis of June 1 condition would just about meet the needs of domestic consumption.

THE LAST DAY

Tomorrow is the last day of Sweetwater's annual trade trip, and an entire year will elapse before Sweetwater merchants and business men are again called on to tour the countryside in the good will spreading, friend-making and community boosting excursion. In spite of rains, the first two days of the trip have been successful. The W. O. W. band is doing good work. Those who are making the trips are real live wires. Splendid speakers have pleased crowds at every stop.

What is needed, however, is more cars, more people, more real live wires and loyal citizens to join in the delegation. Many business men who signed up for the trip have failed, so far, to carry out their promises and send cars. Weather or no weather, let's make the last day the biggest. There should be one hundred cars and five hundred people in the caravan that will leave here at 8 o'clock in the morning. Everybody join in the excursion Thursday; get wrapped up in the community spirit; host Sweetwater all day long and put the 1925 trade trip over with a bang.

The delegation will again meet at the square and will leave at 8 o'clock. If you have a car, take it or send it. If not, come on anyhow and ride with someone else. The main idea is, go! Make the last day the big day.

HEALTH FOR TOURISTS

Summer touring in the family automobile has become an American institution. Seventeen million automobiles, more or less, will transport millions of families many, many millions of miles on the highways of America during the summer months. Taking people out into the open air, into the sunshine, exposing them to new ideas, new faces, is certainly to be desired. Body and brain improvement will be felt many months after the trip is completed.

But physicians know that disease has always followed lines of transportation. They are apprehensive of the safety of the untold millions of tourists who, characteristically American, will take chances with infectious disease, polluted water, unclean milk, haphazard food and unsanitary camping conditions, believing that the god-ness of luck will protect them.

Typhoid fever is easily contracted by drinking contaminated water. The tourist should be absolutely certain the water he proposes to drink is free from germs. The better way is to carry your own supply for day driving, secured from the city supply at your last stop. Well water may give you typhoid fever. Some of the states which have a big tourist season are erecting signs in the smaller towns stating that the water is pure, and has been found pure by the state department of public works.

Being sick away from home is both disagreeable and costly, and it takes the joy out of touring when someone gets ill and the whole party has to return home. Should any member of the party become sick, see a physician at once. A quick cure can only come with prompt treatment.

While you are traveling, beware of the milk supply. Don't take a chance with milk which is not pasteurized. Typhoid germs may also enter your body in this manner.

You will find many splendid tourist camps during your trip. But unless they are absolutely sanitary there is some danger of dysentery, as well as typhoid fever.

Flies are carriers of disease germs. Do your part, whether in camp or along the road, to properly dispose of camp debris. Cover everything with earth.

With many people coming and going from the camps each day, the danger from infectious disease is by no means small. But here again common sense should be depended upon to guide you. Its a safe rule not to enter your fellow campers' tents until you are pretty sure everybody in the party is well.

If you will follow the rule of not eating between meals on the trip of being "choosy" in the selection of your food and water, of getting sufficient rest each day, plenty of exercises as well as plenty of riding, you will return home happy from a vacation well spent, and with your body refreshed to carry on until another vacation.

They don't teach this in school

WE spend eight, twelve or even sixteen years fitting ourselves to make money, but not so much as an hour in learning how to make that money work and produce MORE money for us.

We work hard—and manage to save some money—but most of us STOP THERE, when, if we went just a step further and put our savings TO WORK we could materially increase our earnings.

For instance: do you know that only $1000 if PUT TO WORK—can be made to earn $70 MORE a year for you? ....and that's almost $6.00 a month.

It's not hard to put money to work to produce MORE money. Like everything else; it's easy IF you know how.

This advertisement is published so that YOU may know how to put your money to work in the same way that hundreds of customers of the lighting company have put their money to work. They have put their savings to work by INVESTING in
