AIRPLANES DO A GOOD BUSINESS HERE

From all appearances Friona furnished a profitable field of operation for two airplanes which visited the city on three days recently.

The planes arrived early on the day of the barbecue picnic and were kept busy as could be all day and on after dark. They returned Saturday and were kept just as busy all day Saturday and all day Sunday, keeping up their excursions Saturday until long after dark.

The planes made flights of about five minutes duration and landed after each flight only long enough for one load of people to get out and another load to get in, then away again, charging a fee of $1.50 a person for each trip.

One was a monoplane, the other a biplane. The former did only straight flying, but the biplane cut all kinds of dicos in the air, looping the loop, imitating huge ocean billows and many other breath-taking stunts and was in demand by the thrill hunters of the huge crowd that was constantly at the landing field in the Goodwin field south of town.

HOME EC. "HOBO" CLUB

The old members of the Home Economic club entertained the new members on Thursday night, September 24, with a "Hobo Hike". The "bums" assembled in the alley back of the Friona State Bank and from there went to different homes for "handouts" which were refreshments already distributed by the club.

After everyone had received a handout the bums stopped for lunch before leaving town, near the railroad tracks. Several games were played, then they ate their refreshments, which consisted of sandwiches, cookies and watermelon. Of all the thirty bums present, not one of them left disappointed, and a wonderful time was reported by all.

The Home Economics club held its first meeting Friday afternoon, September 17, with 60 members enrolled.

On Monday afternoon, September 21, at four o'clock a committee of nine girls met with Miss Gardner and briefly outlined a program for the entire year. Perhaps some of the most interesting features are the hobo hike, the initiation program, the over-all and apron party with the agriculture club, and the guest or Valentine party.

Easy Pleasant Way To Lose Fat

How would you like to lose 75 pounds of fat in a month and at the same time increase your energy and improve your health?

How would you like to lose your double chin and your too prominent abdomen and at the same time make your skin so clean and clear that it will compel admiration.

Get on the scales today and see how much you weigh—then get an 85 cent bottle of Kruschen Salts which will last you for 4 weeks. Take one half teaspoonful in a glass of hot water every morning and when you have finished the contents of this first bottle weigh yourself again.

After that you'll want to walk around and say to your friends—"One 85 cent bottle of Kruschen Salts is worth one hundred dollars of any fat person's money."

Leading druggists America over sell Kruschen Salts—you can always get it at City Drug Store.

SURE, WE CAN RAISE 'EM!

When anybody thinks we cannot raise fine strawberries in this county, they simply have another guess coming, and all the necessary testimony to convince him he is wrong is a glance at Uncle Andy Wentworth's crate of fine delicious strawberries which he carries about with him while he is supplying his customers with this wonderfully delicious fruit, all of which were taken from his own patch right here in Friona.

These berries which are of the Mastodon variety of ever-bearers, are large, red, juicy, sweet and well flavored, and Mr. Wentworth is as proud of them as a boy with a new gun—and justly proud he may be.

FALLING HORSE BREAKS B. SINGLETERRY'S LEG

A rather serious accident occurred Tuesday evening of last week on the J. M. Blackwell farm, nine miles east of Bovina in the Pleasant Hill community in New Mexico. Two young men of that community, Bryant and Glenn Singleterry, are operating the Blackwell farm, and on that evening after a heavy rain had fallen, Bryant mounted his horse and rode to the pasture to bring a cow and young calf to the barn.

During the ride the horse slipped and fell, breaking the young man's leg in two places. He was taken to the hospital at Clovis, where the bone was set and where he is now slowly recovering.

HAS NICE PEACHES

A. B. Cole, whose farm is just a half mile west of town, has some fine peaches on his young orchard this season which he has been delivering to patrons in town this week.

The orchard is young, having borne a few peaches last year for the first season, but Mr. Cole says he has about forty bushels from his trees this year, in spite of the fact that this has been an off year for peaches in this locality, owing to the late frosts in the spring.

Mr. Cole's trees are some he raised himself from seeds which he planted on the farm and are therefore what is called seedling peaches, but they are of nice size and unexcelled flavor.

Parish and Whitehead of Hereford are establishing an oil refinery system here this week. They hope to have it fully installed and in operation in a few days.

The infant child of Mr. and Mrs. A. T. Carter was buried Wednesday morning.

THE MACEDONIA CALL

Acts 16:6-15

Acts 16:6. And they went through the region of Phrygia and Galatia, having been forbidden of the Holy Spirit to speak the word in Asia;

7. And when they were come over against Mysia, they assayed to go into Bithynia; and the Spirit of Jesus suffered them not;

8. And passing by Mysia, they came down to Troas.

9. And a vision appeared to Paul in the night: There was a man of Macedonia standing, beseeching him, and saying, Come over into Macedonia and help us.

10. And when he had seen the vision, straightway we sought to go forth into Macedonia, concluding that God had called us to preach the gospel unto them.

11. Setting sail therefore from Troas, we made a straight course to Samothrace and the day following to Neapolis;

12. And from thence to Philippi, which is a city of Macedonia, the first of the district, a Roman colony; and we were in this city tarrying certain days.

13. And on the sabbath day we went forth without the gate by a river side, where we supposed there was a place of prayer; and we sat down and spake unto the women that were come together.

14. And a certain woman named Lydia, a seller of purple, of the city of Thyatira, one that worshipped God, heard us; whose heart the Lord opened to give heed unto the things which were spoken by Paul.

15. And when she was baptized, and her household, she besought us saying, If ye have judged me to be faithful to the Lord, come into my house, and abide there, and she constrained us.

thence across the Aegean Sea to Neapolis and Philippi.

Introduction.

Paul and Barnabas, after laboring for a while strengthening the Antioch church, the mother church of foreign missions, felt the urge to take up again their missionary labors, desiring first to visit the cities in which the gospel had been planted during their first journey and see how the infant churches had fared. "Paul's restlessness was of the Lord, for the good of the world. It would have been an unspeakable loss to the western nations if this man had grown indolent and settled down in comfortable employment at home."

Paul and Barnabas Separate.

But this decision to make a second missionary journey led to a sad dissension between the two of the noblest of the Bible figures, a quarrel frankly recorded by the most honest of all books. Barnabas, very naturally, wanted to take with them as their assistant his cousin, John Mark, who was their assistant in Cyprus during the first missionary journey, but who, when they reached Pamphylia on the southern coast of Asia Minor, went back to his mother Mary in Jerusalem. Mark's reason is not given, but whatever it was, it did not satisfy Paul. There were sharp words, the two apostles could not agree, and so they agreed to separate. Barnabas took Mark and sailed away to his native Cyprus, while Paul took Silas and went to visit the young Christian communities, Derbe, Lystra, Iconium and Antioch, in Central Asia Minor.

Good Results of Separation.

The separation was a sad one, but fortunate for the cause of Christianity. It was like what happened to the first party of American foreign missionaries. They set sail for India, a band of Congregationalists, but during the long voyage Adoniram Judson became a convert to the Baptist faith. The result was that he went to Burma and the Baptists started their foreign missionary society—two missionary societies instead of one, and two great empires entered by Christ instead of India alone.

The "Second Chance" of Mark.

References in Paul's letters to Barnabas and to Mark show that Paul's affection for the former was maintained and that Mark grew to his warm esteem and confidence. "Deserters from the army of earthly monarchs are shot without mercy! But God is always ready to give us a second chance—he is always ready to restore us. None of us, therefore, need despair. We too, like John Mark, out of weakness can be made strong."—Rev. J. D. Jones.

The Origin of Timothy.

Silas, the noble-hearted, took the place of Barnabas, but who was to take the place of John Mark? Who would run errands, help carry loads, help draw a crowd, go buy food, and do the many daily tasks that would leave the missionaries free for their great task? When they reached Lystra, the problem was solved for they found young Timothy, an ideal selection. His Jewish mother and grandmother, Eunice and Lois (2 Tim. 1:5) had brought the boy up with care, giving him a priceless knowledge of the Bible (2 Tim. 3:14, 15) and forming his character so that he was honored not only in Lystra but in Iconium. Timothy now starts on with the great traveler and his companion, Silas. He is to be with Paul much of the time through the years to come, and to help him in many ways. Paul speaks of him as his "beloved son" in the letters which he sent him during his last days.

Led by the Spirit.

So the two missionaries, thus happily reinforced by Timothy, proceeded westward through the cities of Phrygia and Southern Galatia, everywhere leaving with the churches the decrees of the Jerusalem council, and greatly strengthening the faith of the churches, so that they increased in number every day—a splendid growth testifying to the presence of the Holy Spirit with them in their labors. But the presence of the Spirit directed them in an unexpected way. "Having been forbidden of the Holy Spirit to speak the word in Asia."

The City of Troas.

"They came down to Troas." They turned westward to the Aegean Sea, and to the seaport of Troas. Troas was Troy, the city which Homer by his Iliad made one of the most famous cities in the world. Homer's Troas, however, and eight other ancient ruined cities one on top of the other, is situated a little way from the Troas which Paul visited. Troas was a great port of the Roman Empire. Its sheltered situation behind the island of Tenedos, on the edge of the province of Asia and therefore nearer the real center of the empire than Rome itself, led Julius Caesar to contemplate the wisdom of moving his capital thither. Constantine balanced the claims of Troas and Byzantium as the eastern seat of the Roman Empire, and it was only by a turn of the hand that Byzantium won.

The Man of Macedonia.

"And a vision appeared to Paul in the night." Paul was a man of visions. His intimate fellowship with the Holy Spirit bore fruit in significant dreams and in more open physical manifestations which through his career directed his course and comforted and strengthened him in times of peril! "There was a man of Macedonia standing." He would be recognized as from Macedonia by his costume, which Paul had seen on the streets of Troas. Luke, who probably was from Philippi in Macedonia, joined Paul's party at Troas, and it may have been conversations with him that were divinely enforced by this vision. "Saying, come over into Macedonia and help us." Macedonia was just across the Aegean Sea from Troas. It was the country north of Greece, made famous by its world-conquering ruler, Alexander the Great, nearly four centuries before this time.

Paul's Prompt Obedience.

"And when he had seen the vision, straightway we sought to go forth into Macedonia." This is the first of the "we" passages in the Acts, signifying by the pronoun that Luke had added himself to the missionary band. Note the promptness with which the vision was obeyed. "I think I see Paul leaping from his couch, in the burning certainty that God had spoken, and sending Luke post-haste down to the harbor to see when the next ship was likely to set sail. The vision must be carried out in action. We must interpret our bright gleams in instant duty."—Rev. George H. Morrison. "Concluding that God had called us to preach the gospel unto them." The word translated "concluding" implies careful consideration on the part of the little group of four.

The Voyage to Europe.

"Setting sail therefore from Troas, we made a straight course to Samothrace." Samothrace is an island in the archipelago off the coast of Thrace and opposite the mouth of the Hebrus. It has an area of about 30 square miles, and had in it a mountain 5000 feet high.

"And the day following to Neapolis, which means 'New City,' the same as 'Newton' and 'Naples.' Neapolis, the modern Kavalla, is the seaport of Philippi, ten miles to the east-southeast of it. "And from thence to Philippi." This city was named after its builder, King Philip of Macedon, the father of Alexander the Great. Near it were famous gold mines which yielded that monarch thirty million dollars a year. Almost exactly a century before Paul's arrival one of the world's most important battles was fought on the plain west of the city, the battle between Octavius and Antony on the one side and Brutus and Cassius on the other, the former being victors, so that Octavius finally became the Emperor Augustus. "Which is a city of Macedonia." The country north of Greece, at that time was a Roman province. Under Philip and Alexander, Macedonia was mistress of the world.

BUSY WITH MOLASSES CANE

Jesse F. Jones, one of our thrifty farmers in the Homeland community, was in town late last Wednesday afternoon, but was not in for the barbecue.

Mr. Jones said he had been too busy on the farm during the day to get away for any picnic. Although his land was too wet from the rain the night before to admit of cultivation or for running a row binder, but it was a good day for stripping cane for the molasses mill and that was what he had been doing.

SPENT DAY IN RHEA COMMUNITY.

Rev. J. L. Beattie, who has just released the pastorate of the local Congregational church, spent Tuesday visiting in the Rhea community.

Among others whom he visited there were the pastor of the Lutheran church at that place, with whom he spent two very pleasant hours. Rev. Beattie has quite a number of friends in the Rhea community to whom he was paying his farewell calls.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Hughes, Wednesday, September 30, at their home in Frona, a son.

W. M. Blair has opened a cream and produce station in the Dixon building on the east side of Main street.

Glenn Reeve, who has been in Canyon the past two weeks, came over to spend the week end with home folks, returning Sunday afternoon, accompanied by his sister, Miss Esther, and brother, Hadley, all of whom will attend the College this winter.

EL CIRCOLO ESPANOL

El Circulo Espanol met September 24, and after a short business session there was a short but interesting program.

Paul Spring gave a report about Billy the Kid. Of course everyone enjoyed it very much. Another interesting report was given by Helen Schlenker about Madrid, and Lloyd Brewer's report about New Spanish Customs made the members of the class realize that Spain is not so far behind the times as they thought. Mr. Smith led a discussion about Great Spanish Men, and Roy Johnson gave an interesting talk about a bull fight he had seen in Old Mexico. His talk was so exciting that all the class would vote to have the program committee put Roy on the next program.
