Could you guess what's good about a headache?

If you happen to have one right now, probably all you need is an aspirin. But the fact is: a headache sometimes is a signal. It may be telling you something is wrong... perhaps something quite remote from the pain. In this event it's a symptom—valuable information for your physician. So if you have a persistent or recurring headache and don't know why, see your doctor. Don't take a chance. Your physician can probably clear up your problem in short order. Of course, he may say all you need is aspirin—but even that's worth knowing.

AT THE BEAUTY AID CLINIC

Many women make the mistake of avoiding the use of eye make-up because they are afraid of anything relatively new.

"Let someone else start first" is their motto.

And it is true that what SOME women do with eye cosmetics is brutal. They use mascara with a trowel, distort their brows and lather on the eye shadow.

But no woman in her right mind will deny the ability of correctly used make-up to improve her looks. The Lazy Daisies, if they bother to wear hats, are talking through them!

We call eye make-up the BIG THREE: mascara, eye pencil and eye shadow.

And please, never forget to use eye cream regularly around your eyes each night.

For correct application: First, add a touch of eye shadow at the center of your eye and outward and gently blended almost to the hairline.

The bus was scheduled to arrive in Austin at 5 p.m. Delegates will be hosted on the University of Texas campus for the session, which ends June 14. Some 530 Juniors are expected to participate in the event designed to give delegates an insight into how the Texas government operates.

During sessions, the group will divide into two groups and elect delegates to various state offices. Elected officials will fill the positions during the meeting.

The Terry group is sponsored locally by Howard-Henson Post 269, American Legion, Hand Bros. Post 6794, VFW, Brownfield Rotary and Brownfield Lions. Sponsors provided funds for delegates' travel, meals and lodging during the week's stint.

Careful now make the temple application very faint. Now, raise the upper eyelid with one finger and apply mascara in a fan stroke pattern from the base to the tips of the lashes.

Allow to dry. Then, using a fresh and clean brush, remove the excess. This will avoid beads and that hard look.

With a very sharp point on your Aziza eyebrow pencil, outline the eye close to the lashes. For a baby doll, youthful look, stop abruptly at the corner. For exotic beauty, extend the line slightly upward at the outside corner of the eye.

Arch the brows only underneath, leaving the upper part of your natural arch. Never pencil downward near the temple. This makes you look definitely older. Extend the line if necessary, but always upward.

Behind American Business Scenes

NEW YORK — One paradox of the recession is the fact that many businesses catering to the leisure-time market report activity just as great, or even greater, than a year ago.

The wage-earner, who has more vacation time with pay and shorter working hours than a decade ago, continues to be the big benefactor of companies selling sporting goods equipment and home handyman tools and materials.

But there is also plenty of evidence at the retail level that even the man temporarily out of a job or on reduced overtime or bonus payments likewise is spending a dollar or two for idle time amusement.

Sporting goods dealers in many parts of the country report that people on short weeks are doing more fishing and participating to a greater extent in other recreational activity such as golf, boating and bowling.

Finally, brush the brows briskly into place, and be happy so that your eyes will "smile at him."

Your eyes are windows of your soul, and whether they reveal a lovely picture is quite up to you!

even in hard-hit industrial areas, report many unemployed are using idle time to keep their homes in repair. And newspaper classified columns indicate that quite a number of formerly amateur painters, carpenters, masons — possessing skills learned in their own home do-it-yourself jobs — are now for hire. Home-owners employing them help bolster demand for building materials.

As one "hi-fi dealer put it: "A man who acquired audio equipment with overtime or bonus money may not buy as many gadgets now that his extra income has been curtailed, but he's still not going to throw his hobby out the window, particularly since he now has more time to enjoy it."

"GENDERIZING" SELLS — In the current search for new methods to offset sales slumps, some manufacturers are discovering that adding a specific "gender" to a product can give it a new market. A conspicuous example is the success of the first fountain pens engineered, designed and sold expressly as women's fashion accessories.

The Sheaffer Pen Company's sales rate, which was slightly behind last year's prior to the March introduction of the new Lady Sheaffer fountain pens for women, is now 45 per cent ahead of last year, the recession notwithstanding.

Initial consumer demand for the new women's pens indicate they'll play an important part in boosting Sheaffer sales even if the general business upturn comes more slowly than is hoped, according to marketing president Edmund F. Bryan.

"Why should a woman write with or wear a man's pen or glasses?" he asks. "The success of dry shavers and wallets designed exclusively for women shows that putting gender into a product can almost double its market. We have high hopes that 'genderizing' fountain pens for women will have a similar effect."

TURNING THE TIDE — To dramatize the need for mass purchasing and mass selling during time of recession, Schenley wholesale distributors from coast to coast pooled their summer purchase orders so that one huge order could be given as a gift-token to Lewis S. Rosenstiel, board chairman and president of Schenley Industries, Inc., at a testimonial dinner in his honor on the 25th anniversary of the founding of the company.

The order — 4,845,940 cases of liquor and wine, worth upwards of $200 million at wholesale — was the largest single "order" in the history of the alcoholic beverage history. It will be delivered by August 31.

BARGAIN BEEF — Porterhouse steak continues about 20 per cent higher than a year ago. But lowly ground beef is up, nearly 50 per cent from last year. The reason is this:

The Farmer's Wife

By ROSE JEAN HENSON

Years ago, the people of a small English village seeking employment were in the habit of going to the town square on Monday morning to be interviewed by prospective employers.

If someone wanted his house painted his corn harvested, or his livestock cared for, he went to the town square and engaged the workman he wanted.

One morning a farmer came seeking someone to help him with general farm work, caring for the stock, keeping his fences, helping in the harvest.

He approached a robust young man and asked him if he thought he could qualify for the job. The young man answered every question put to him in the same manner: "I can always sleep on a stormy night."

This struck the farmer as being very strange, but the man appeared otherwise normal, so he was hired to work.

After some weeks, a storm struck in the dead of night with powerful suddenness. The rain fell in torrents and the wind blew. The farmer was awakened, and fearing for the safety of his stock, he rushed to the attic to arouse his helper. But the heavy knocks on the door were echoed by the steady snoring of the sleeper.

Determined to see about things himself, he ran to the barns, where to his surprise, he found everything in order. The doors and gates which in former storms he remembered had made considerable noise, were barred securely. Even the loose piece of tin on the roof which had been flapping for years, was nailed down securely.

In fact, for the first time since he could remember, there was absolutely nothing which had been ruffled by the storm. Not until he returned to his bed did he remember what the young workman had said the day he was employed: "I can always sleep on a stormy night."

We, here in Terry and the South Plains will indeed be fortunate to escape the turbulent weather which some other states are experiencing.

From what I can hear, the insurance agencies have been writing up hail insurance right and left this year. The modern farmer has so much invested in his farming operations, that he hardly has any choice about insuring his crop — especially cotton.

I found out the other day that one can insure a cotton crop now and pay the premium this fall or if the cotton is hailed out, the premium will be deducted from the total amount insured.

Now really, I didn't know this. Just proves that at least one "Farmer's Wife" isn't up on her toes as to what you can and can not do in the farming business.

We have insured our cotton about three times in the 18 years we have been farming and have had the good fortune not to have the opportunity to collect from it. At the same time, we have not needed in-

Bible School Ends At Meadow Church

A picnic and program Friday night, marked the closing of vacation Bible school in Meadow Methodist Church.

Mrs. Louis Peeler presented the story of Joseph, character study, for the school. Others assisting with instructions were Mmes. Bill Copeland, Davis Beasley, J. D. Bowman, Terrell Bell, Wayne Cadenhead, Raymond Vardeman, B. W. Branch, Bo Moorhead, R. W. Horton, Kirk Williams, Lane Ericson, Ray Gober, Roy Gober, Joe Burleson and Misses Carlene Russell, Pat Reynolds and Bobbie Beasley.

insurance in the remaining crop years — but there is always that one fatal time — this year my husband felt a little shakey, so we have insurance.

To say the least, if the farmer has insurance, "he can always sleep better on a stormy night."

Happy is the man who does his work so well that he can "always sleep on a stormy night." Since we cannot avert the storms, the only sensible thing to do is to prepare for them, to do our work so thoroughly today that we shall be ready when the storm comes.

How about the storm of physical testing? Just when we think our bodies are made of steel we find ourselves facing an unexpected operation or are victims of some disease. Our ability to pass the crisis may be determined largely by the preparation we make beforehand.

A very dear friend told me recently that she thought I placed too much emphasis on money. Well maybe so, but I have never forgotten the depression storm. And this burned child is afraid of fire, "so to speak."

Someone has said that we ought to add a 20th-century beatitude to those in the Bible: "Blessed is the man who makes a dollar and spends only 90 cents." A program of intelligence as I'm concerned is good sense. Besides one can always "sleep on a stormy night if he has a small nest egg."

There is the storm of mental testing. No man has a legitimate excuse for ignorance in this modern day. If the answers are available, we can find them. Not that we should be walking encyclopedias, but it is not wise to have a storehouse of basic truths, so if need be we might come forth with an intelligent answer?

We could go on and on with examples, and when you had finished reading them it is unlikely that you would sleep one bit better on a stormy night.

By far, the most important thing we need in life to be able to sleep on a stormy night is a very realistic and personal relationship with the Author and Finisher of every storm allowed to descend upon each of our lives.

Surely, the one who permits the storm, is able to discern its

GOOD INVESTMENT, SAYS RESTRAURTEUR

Ads Important To Service Businesses

By WELDON CALLAWAY
NEWS Advertising Manager

Service businesses — restaurants, recreation centers, laundries, beauty shops — all have just as much to gain from advertising as the regular retail store. None of them can operate at top potential until advertising has created a demand for the services offered.

Consider the Albert French Restaurant of New York which is spending $50,000 on newspaper advertising this year. Here's what the owner of the restaurant, Joseph Brody, thinks of his huge advertising investment:

"The best money I've ever invested. I wish I had invested this money in newspaper advertising years ago; I'd be a wealthy man now."

"The impact of good solid newspaper advertising on a business like a restaurant can't be imagined until it's experienced," Brody says.

The famous restaurant uses the same kind of advertising that works best for most retail stores — factual, hard-selling ads with strong visual appeal. The headlines look newsy, and the copy does contain news about the restaurant.

The advertising agency handling the Albert French account thoroughly tested every local medium before choosing newspapers. "Newspapers came off best every time. That's why we concentrate in them," an agency official reported.

In short, like other retailers, the Albert French Restaurant found that all business is local, whether the location be New York or Crossroads.

And once more, the local newspaper proved to be the most effective and most economical means of selling a local market.

King pointed out that the 1956-57 winter was dry and cold. Last winter, however, he said the mild, wet weather did not kill Johnsongrass-hybrids.

"Normal cultivation will control and kill these plants, although they will not constitute a major weed problem," he added.

Origin Is Traced
Tracing the origin of the Johnsongrass-hybrids, King said, "Johnsongrass is a perennial plant belonging to the sorghum family and, as a result, will cross-pollinate with all sorghums grown in this state."

"However, it does not carry the same chromosome number as our cultivated sorghums and crossing is very small," he added.

King noted with the advent of sorghum hybrids, a higher percentage of crossing became evident. "In Johnsongrass-sorghum crossing tests by Dr. Karper, agronomist Emeritus of Lubbock Station, it was found that all plants usually died during the winter. Those that did overwinter failed to survive the second year."

Nearly 100,000 bales of cotton are consumed annually in pillow cases. On a visit to England, Francis Cabot Lowell, a young Boston merchant, memorized details of a power loom and reproduced it from memory — thus firmly establishing the American cotton manufacturing industry in 1814.

Turner Shows Still More Talent In New Film at The Regal

Time was when it was enough for a movie star to be glamorous and beautiful, and it is a matter of record that Lana Turner filled that double bill to perfection.

But having made that mark on the minds of countless fans, Lana decided to take a giant step forward into the ranks of great actresses.

It also is a matter of record that the lovely star chalked up another "mission accomplished" by winning the coveted Academy Award nomination for her dramatic work in "Peyton Place."

Now the beautiful, talented Miss Turner adds "business executive" to her list of accomplishments with her new, romantic drama "Another Time, Another Place," which will be shown Tuesday and Wednesday at The Regal.

New Film Is Tale Of Macabre Goings-On In Cemetery at Nite

Three of the prettiest actresses are cast in top roles in "Macabre," new horror film which begins a three-day run today at The Rialto.

The cast is top-lined by William Prince and Jim Backus, and was produced and directed for Allied Artists by William Castle from a Robb White screenplay based on a Theo Durrant novel.

The trio of lovely Hollywood actresses are Jacqueline Scott, Susan Morrow and Christine White.

Miss Scott portrays a nurse in love as well as in the employ of a doctor portrayed by Prince. Miss Morrow is cast as the widow in whom he has a romantic attachment.

Miss White is cast as the doctor's sister-in-law whose death three years after that of his wife is followed by a dwindling in the doctor's patients.

The walking suit also features a coat falling almost to the knees, but in style with its loose waist.

Coats have definite changes with a softer and fuller look, some being full at the top and tapered at the hem. Fur trims will be more in evidence than last year on "dressy" coats.

Mrs. Gage said, "Crowns of hats are deeper this year and the wig made of feathers fits close to the head, framing the face. Made in brighter colors, the feather hat has a new look. Leather also is being used for hats as well as for trims on dresses and coats."

She added, "Sweaters are longer and larger with bulky knit and blouses are loose, many having the middy look." Mrs. McCracken discussed the maternity fashion. "I spent most of my time in other departments but I did note the jackets on maternity dresses tend to run longer and one was gathered at the bottom for the balloon look."

Mrs. Shelton, discussing the trend to headbands for women, said, "Every girl will have at least two and most of them will have many because they are inexpensive. Plain and ornamented in jewels and sequins, they will be worn across the forehead just below the hairline or across the top of the head and behind the ears."

The chemise is no longer the sack it was. It definitely is shaped to call attention to the figure. Just as the fitted dresses, every woman will have to find the style correct for her personality and figure.

STATE NEWS
A new court house is about being erected at Belton, which will cost over thirteen thousand dollars.
The Quitman Herald, of the 19th says the health of Wood county is remarkably good.

The same paper also says, for weeks past there has hardly been a day that we have not seen some one hunting a home in Texas.
We learn from the Bonham Independent that the rust is doing great injury to the oat crop in many portions of Washington County.
The Jefferson Gazette-of the 29th inst., mentions the discovery of silver in the upper portion of Cass county, which has created considerable excitement in that region.
Great numbers of sheep are annually raised in Northern Texas and shipped to the New Orleans market, where they are sold readily at from four to five dollars a head.
We learn from the Pioneer that the crops in Freestone county are backward, owing to the excessive rains. Wheat and rye look tolerably well; but the oat crop it is said will be an entire failure.
Nine persons, it is stated have recently been killed by the Indians, about twenty five miles from Weatherford, Parker county. On Keechi Creek in that county, the people are building forts for protection.
A large drove of sheep, numbering 1200, passed through town yesterday. They were purchased in Mexico, at one dollar per head, we were told; we did not learn their destination.
In a letter received by Geo. W. Glascock, Esq., from the Assessor of Williamson county, we find the following interesting statistics:
Number of acres planted in Corn, 10,908; Number of acres planted in Wheat, 10,278; Number of acres planted in Cotton, 1,208; Number of acres planted in Other things, 983.
Seems there is no fear of starvation. All we now need is capital to build railroads, which a large emigration will certainly furnish.

IS YOUR WATCH "ON THE BUM"?
By Jim Bayless

There are times, I think, when our American slang is the most expressive of all languages. So when I say "Is your watch on the bum?", you know what I'm talking about.

You know that I'm asking you if your watch is out of repair. So you say "Yes, the darn thing hasn't been keeping time correctly for weeks and I've just been postponing a trip to the jeweler's to have it fixed."

Here is where I enter your life. For I hasten to tell you that our Watch Repair Department does excellent work. No matter how ailing your watch may be — whether it needs a new main spring or a thorough cleaning and oiling — our conscientious watchmakers take it in hand, scrutinize it through that mysterious eye glass of theirs and then go to work on it. Lo, in no time at all, your watch is as good as new.

There's one thing to remember in connection with watches. You cannot abuse your watch or neglect it and expect it to remain a faithful timepiece. When it needs a "doctor", it needs a doctor.

Bring your watch in to us. We'll tell you quickly what it will cost to put it back in perfect working condition. And we'll try earnestly to have it back in your pocket or on your wrist when you need it. Faithful service has built our business. BAYLESS JEWELRY, 507 W. Main, Ph. 2292.

About Your HEALTH

A weekly public service feature from the Texas State Department of Health. HENRY A. HOLLE, M.D., Commissioner of Health.

The advent of penicillin and other so-called "wonder drugs" has revolutionized modern medical practices. These new drugs — called "antibiotics" — have caught the public's fancy and have given physicians powerful weapons in their conquest against disease. But into this symphony of praise has crept a sour note. Cases of incorrect dosage and self-prescription are becoming common, raising the danger of serious reactions. It is a waste of time to run for a shot of penicillin for an oncoming cold. The drug is ineffective against the viral diseases, including common cold, flu, measles, and mumps. Taking penicillin in lozenges or other forms for scratchy throats, for upset stomachs, or a variety of mild illnesses which would quickly run their courses anyway, is unwise unless prescribed by a physician. A common pattern of self-prescription goes like this: The doctor prescribes an antibiotic for a sick patient. Some of the pills are left over after the patient gets well. Several weeks later, the patient again feels bad and — on his own initiative — takes the left-over pills. There are at least five good reasons why drugs should not be taken without prescription. 1. When improperly used, they may prevent or retard action of the body's natural immunity. This sometimes happens because drugs work on germs while the natural defense mechanism remains in-

REV. J. L. BASS

Degree Is Received By Brownfield Man

The Rev. J. L. Bass, a graduate of Brownfield High School, received his degree from Howard Payne Baptist College of Brownwood May 30. He is the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Bass of Union community. He has been pastor of Richland Springs Baptist Church for the past 1 1/2 years. Mrs. Bass is the former Laura Lee Shults of Brownfield. They have three daughters. The Rev. Mr. Bass's sister and brothers, Mrs. John Hill and Curtis B. Bass, both of Route 3, and Otis Lee Bass of Route 2, were in Brownwood for the graduation exercises.

2. Germs vary in strength and ability to cause disease. Stronger ones may become resistant to drugs, just as some insects have become resistant to DDT. They multiply and produce new generations also capable of resisting antibiotics. Recent outbreaks of infection in hospitals are proof of this. 3. Some diseases call for massive doses of drugs for prolonged periods. Taking small quantities on your own initiative might mean germs you are trying to kill may actually flourish. 4. Some people are allergic to drugs. One person in 25 is allergic to penicillin, and one in ten may develop allergic reactions after repeated doses. 5. Self-administration of antibiotics can often mask a really serious illness by obscuring symptoms, thus making an accurate diagnosis difficult or impossible. Increasing use of wonder drugs have shown up their limitations. A most appropriate rule of thumb to follow in the use of any drug is never to take them without a physician's recommendation. It takes 400 bolls of cotton to make a dress containing five yards of fabric, according to the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

WHAT CAN YOU DO WITH SICKNESS

It was while Robert Louis Stevenson was dying of incurable tuberculosis that he wrote the stories which have delighted the hearts of children for decades. It was after Beethoven was totally deaf that he brought from his soundless world the magnificent Ninth Symphony. What can you do with sickness? The answer to that question depends on how you have answered another question, what is life all about, why are we here? The answer which enabled Stevenson and Beethoven and millions of others like them to bring greatness out of illness is the answer of Christianity; that the God who made life the way it is, with its possibilities and impossibilities, is our Father in Heaven. Even illness is His gift for the fulfillment of life and all of life is good.

EVERYONE IN THE CHURCH
THE CHURCH IN EVERYONE

Is something wrong with your life — an inner restless dissatisfaction? The answer to every human problem comes only from God our Maker. He alone can forgive and reassure.

Through the church God has committed the provision and proclamation of His forgiveness and redeeming love. Without a church relation no one is securely related to God. Everyone should be in the Church and the Church should be in everyone!

THE City Farmer

By ALVIN G. DAVIS

The off-station work of the Lubbock Agricultural Experiment Station in Terry County is being done this year on 40 acres of the E. H. Farrar farm which is located 2 miles west and 1 mile north of Gomez.

The work will include fertilizer trials, variety tests, irrigation studies and other important work.

The overall project is under the supervision of Charles Fisher, superintendent of the Lubbock Station, and his entire staff also is helping. The land is provided by Farrar, and he also provides the tractors, equipment, and labor.

A diagram of the acreage with the various trials and divisions is shown below. If observation of the work is planned it would be well to cut out the diagram and carry it in order to identify the different divisions of the test.

Third Armored Is Open for Enlistment

A European assignment with 3rd Armored Division is offered to qualified young men who enlist in the U.S. Army prior to June 16, according to M/Sgt. Frank J. Gaughan, Lubbock recruiter.

This special "Choice, Not Chance" enlistment option is restricted to men without prior military service.

Enlistees will receive basic Army training at Fort Hood before joining their unit in Europe.

Interested persons are urged to contact M/Sgt. Gaughan at Room 204, Post Office building, Lubbock for information prior to June 16.

Mowing Is Essential To Maintenance Of An Attractive Lawn

Constant care and attention are necessary for the maintenance of a beautiful lawn. One of the basic factors involved, says E. M. Trew, extension pasture specialist, is mowing.

Improper mowing is responsible for the deterioration of many lawns. Mowing too close encourages the thinning of the turf and shallow rooting, resulting in lower resistance to drought, diseases and invasion by weeds.

Setting the mower too high results in many of the same problems, says Trew. Excessive soil drying and baking and heat damage to the lawn grass during the summer also result from too close mowing.

The leaves of the lawn grass not only produce the green color, but also manufactures the food required for the entire plant. When too much of the leaves are clipped, the entire plant suffers, points out the specialist. No more than a half-inch of the leaf tip should be removed at any one mowing.

Creeping types of grasses can withstand closer mowing than bunch types. Bermuda should be mowed at a height of one to one and a half inches; St. Augustine, buffalo and zoysia, one and a half, while bluegrass and ryegrass should be mowed no closer than one and a half to two inches.

Many lawn enthusiasts like a dense mat of turf, but such a buildup of stems and leaves eventually leads to trouble, cautions Trew.

WESTERN GRAIN AND FARM STORE

The cattle supply at Fort Worth on May 26, was the largest since last fall, points out the Agricultural Marketing Service. Receipts totaled an estimated 4,300, reflecting increases of 13 per cent over both a week earlier and a year ago.

Prices generally were steady with the past week's close. Good 600 to 800 lb. slaughter steers cleared at $25 to $27 per cwt. cutter cows, $16.50 to $17.50; and good 550 to 750 lb. stocker and feeder steers, $25 to $27.

Call marketings were about 500, or 200 fewer than on the previous Monday and 300 fewer than a year earlier.

Prices were steady. Good grades of slaughter calves brought $25.50 to $27.50, and stocker and feeder steer calves sold at $27 to $30.

The hog receipts, at an estimated 1,200, were more than double the level a week ago and were a third larger than on the comparable date in 1957.

After a slow start, butchers and sows sold at prices which were fully steady with those in the latter part of the preceding week. U.S. no. 1 through no. 3 grades of 190 to 240 lb. barrows and gilts were quoted at $22.50 to $23.

After being low man on the economic totem pole since 1955, the farmer is making an astonishing comeback, TIME magazine reported in a recent issue.

In mid-April, the magazine said, prices received by farmers were 9.8 per cent higher than a year ago, while the prices farmers pay are up only 3 per cent.

The net improvement will push annual farm income to $13 billion in 1958, it is estimated, compared to $11.5 billion last year. Here is what has happened to individual farm commodity prices in the last year:

Beef prices are up 30 per cent, spreading joy from Texas to the feed lots of Kansas City. Hog prices have risen 20 per cent and have held at that point long after most economists expected a seasonal break. Eggs were selling for 25 per cent more, at a price that most

The cure for anti-Americanism in the world is not to be found in anti-worldism in America.

Withdrawal from the troubled affairs of the world offers an obvious temptation to the United States. But any effort to hold ourselves aloof from the world would be foredoomed to failure. The promise of this temptation could never be realized.

There is a great challenge to the American spirit in these times. It is to take the initiative in finding new and effective ways of fostering understanding between our nation and other nations of the world. Since World War II, we have done much to try to perfect a system of defense guaranteeing our country against surprise enemy attack—the kind of attack the Japanese launched on Pearl Harbor in December, 1941.

This effort is both sound and necessary. We need, and the cause of freedom must have, an ever-ready, ever-alert, ever-strong defense. We have spent and are continuing to spend many billions of dollars to provide such a defense.

But is protection against surprise enough? The threat of military aggression is not the only threat a nation such as ours has to face. When we impose the total burden of American security upon military men, we are asking them to bear a greater load than they can or should carry. Nor can we rely solely on science and technology to safeguard our security.

Russia has put into the air a Sputnik many times heavier than any of ours. That is a stunning and shocking fact, and we are rightly disturbed by it.

Even more distressing is the fact that only a closed, bullet-proof car kept our Vice President from death on the streets of a city in South America. The shameful incident holds a lesson that should be driven home to all of us.

It is important to teach physics and engineering so we can produce Sputniks that are second to none. But it is just as important — and perhaps more important — to teach humanities and the social sciences, so our people will know how to talk with other people and there will be no mobs throwing stones at the representatives of the United States.

The task we face is not easy. We cannot buy understanding simply by placing a production order. We have to work to attain understanding — work hard and patiently and without ceasing, both in government and out of government.

The real challenge to the American spirit now is to give our country a spiritual strength even greater than its military strength.

This is our first order of urgent business.
