HORN TELLS HOW TECH CAMPUS IS TO BE LAID OUT

Outlines Building Plans After Nation-wide Investigation Of Similar Institutions

A plan for the laying out of the Texas College of Technology has been decided upon as far as President Paul W. Horn is concerned and he will present his plan to members of the board of regents and to architects employed to plan the buildings and ground scheme, the head of the new school said here recently.

If it is at all possible the Spanish plan of architecture will be employed here and the main building, where the college administration will be carried on, will be the only building over two stories in height, if the president's plan is adhered to. The Administration building, in which will be located the offices of the deans, the president and classrooms, will be three stories in height and will face Broadway, situated immediately at the head of the thoroughfare where it closes at the Tech gates.

Two roadways, laid out in the form of an oval, will enter the grounds from Broadway and the right hand road will lead to the administration building and the left-hand road, as the grounds are entered, will lead from that structure. On the right hand side of the building between the gates and the administration quarters, will be located buildings in which agriculture and kindred subjects will be taught. On the other side of the gates will be located chemistry, home economics, physics and other buildings, which will be used by both men and women students.

As time expires, in the rear of the agricultural buildings will be placed the men's dormitories and in the rear of the home economics group will be erected the women's dormitories. On the extreme right of the grounds as one faces the administration building, it is the hope of Horn that a textile mill can some day be located. Immediately in the rear of the administration building and connected with it will be constructed the auditorium where gatherings of the student body will hold forth.

In laying out this plan of ground scheme President Horn has taken into consideration the grouping of the different departments of the school so students will have the majority of their class rooms in the same part of the college campus. In so grouping the buildings agricultural students will have their work on one side of the campus and engineering students on the other, making a very efficient scheme and one carried out largely over the country in higher educational institutions.

LUBBOCK LEGION TO GO TO STATE MEET IN AUGUST

Members of the Lubbock post of the American Legion are making preparations to attend the state meeting of the organization, scheduled for Brownwood in August. It was evident in the meeting held here in the courthouse last night when a large and enthusiastic group of ex-service men met to make plans for the future.

In the meeting last night plans were laid for the observance of Memorial Day here on May 30, and the local legionaries plan to observe that date in Lubbock as it should be observed.

The next meeting of the organization will be held on the first Wednesday night in April, in the Justice Court room in the basement of the courthouse. The motion picture, "America's Answer," running now at the Linsey theatre under the auspices of the legion, was discussed at length. Nothing was reported concerning the establishment of regular legion quarters in this city in the immediate future.

Local Masons Plan Important Meeting

The service association of the local Masonic lodge will meet in the lodge rooms here, located over the Citizens National bank building, next Thursday night, March 27, according to Chris Harwell, recently. The meeting will be begun promptly at 7:30 o'clock.

An educational demonstration will be given in connection with the meeting and all Master Masons, and holders of fellowship and entered apprentice degrees are invited to attend. R. A. Sowder is chairman of the committee on which also serves Roscoe Wilson.

Noted Musician Not to Come to Lubbock at All

Efrem Zimbalist, the violinist who was scheduled to play in concert here last night and who wired that illness would prevent him from coming to Lubbock until Monday night, March 31, today wired Miss Mary Dunn, who has been sponsoring his visit here, that it would be impossible for him to fill his date here at any time.

Miss Dunn immediately made arrangements to refund all ticket money and all holders of tickets to the Zimbalist concert and the South Plains Music Festival can exchange their passes for the money involved at the Rix store here on Saturday.

The spring music festival and concert will be held in this city as scheduled for Monday and Tuesday, March 31 and April 1. Miss Dunn stated, as president of the South Plains Music Teachers association, the organization sponsoring the festival. The affair was to have been held on March 19 and 20 but was changed when it became known that Zimbalist was to come here on March 31. No arrangements as Miss Dunn believes that if the famous violinist was not to appear here as advertised patrons would prefer their money rather than a substitution.

SCHOOL REGENTS MEET HERE SOON

Horn Will Return in Time For Meeting of Tech Heads Here Prior to Building Start

Nine regents of the new Texas College of Technology will be called into meeting here within the next two weeks. Dr. Paul W. Horn, president of the institution, stated prior to leaving here for Fort Worth, where he went to confer with architects working on the laying out of ground plans preparatory to begin building.

The board of regents, headed by Amon G. Carter, former editor of the Fort Worth Star-Telegram, as president, includes Dr. J. E. Nunn, of Amarillo; R. A. Underwood, of Plainview; C. W. Meadows, of Waco; former Governor W. P. Hobby, of Beaumont; Mrs. C. W. Drane, of Corsicana; Mrs. Charles DeGroot, of El Paso; Clifford B. Jones, of Spur; and John W. Carpenter, of Dallas. R. A. Underwood serves as vice-president of the organization, and C. W. Meadows, as secretary.

Work Starts Soon
With the meeting of the board of regents here actual work on the erection of the school buildings will be ready to start and the coming gathering can be taken as the initial business meeting of the only purely technological institution in the state of Texas. By the time the meeting is called Dr. Horn will have returned from his conference with the architects in which he planned to suggest a change in the style of architecture of the buildings of the school, making the style conform with the general geographic conditions of the country. Dr. Horn will attend the meeting of the board of regents, telling them of his extensive visits to like institutions all over the country, the touring of which he completed just before coming to Lubbock last week.

The preparation for the building of the college has reached the point now where all that has yet to be done is the final collection of all data gained in the nation-wide investigation intended to get the school to be located here away to a flying start. With the information gleaned from the other schools over the country there is no reason why the Texas College of Technology cannot start with an advanced degree of educational efficiency, President Horn believes.

NAME THREE NEW FAIR DIRECTORS IN ANNUAL POLL

Blair, Jackson and Myrick Are Chosen To Fill Vacancies In Ranks of Fair Leaders

R. W. Blair, G. B. Jackson and Walter Myrick, were the three new directors of the Panhandle and South Plains Fair elected by a vote of the stockholders of the organization last Friday at 3 o'clock. L. C. Ellis, E. L. Robertson and George W. Foster are the retiring directors, whose places will be filled by the newcomers.

Six of the old directors hold over another term. They are Louie F. Moore, Chris Harwell, Frank White, T. B. Duggan, George E. Benson and W. O. Stephens and with the addition of the three men newly named, will make up the board to direct what is believed at this time to be the greatest fair ever held in the section of the country.

The ballots for the recent election were mailed out a week in advance in order to give fair stockholders plenty of time to make a choice of their candidates and as a result a large polling of votes resulted. After a careful count and re-check the three members named were found to be leading the ticket.

Elect Officers Soon

Louie F. Moore, president of the board of directors last year, will call a meeting of the organization within the next week, he stated yesterday, in which will be chosen the officers for the board for the coming year. In addition to president the office of vice-president and the office of treasurer will be filled, but in accordance with the general custom, A. B. Davis, as secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, will fill the secretarial post of the fair directors.

"Plans are already being formulated for a bigger and better fair than has ever been presented here," Louie F. Moore, president, stated Wednesday. "There is no institution in Lubbock or Lubbock county that has meant more for the growth of the city and the surrounding section than the fair and conditions are just now getting into shape where we can hope not only to come out even each year, but where we can hope to make enough to make the necessary improvements each year."

To the retiring directors, who have given their time to the neglect of their own business to make the Panhandle and South Plains Fair what it is today Lubbock owes a debt of gratitude, for in so doing those men were fighting a battle of progress for this section and making for a bigger and better Lubbock, is the opinion of the past year's president.

ANTI-KLAN BODY ORGANIZES HERE AFTER LECTURES

Following the appearance here of W. C. Wither, anti-klan lecturer, an anti-Ku Klux Klan organization was begun here last night at the courthouse, when between 50 and 100 citizens pledged themselves as being opposed to the principals of the hooded order and further promised to expose that organization, believing that it was contrary to the principles of the American constitution.

Lecturer Wither appeared here Monday and Tuesday nights and spoke to interested persons against the Ku Klux Klan and the organization followed in the footsteps of his speeches. He left here to fill speaking dates in several other cities of the South Plains.

Another meeting of the new organization will be held here on Saturday night, March 29, when nearby cities will be represented and a district organization will be effected. The lecturer who appeared here this week is recognized as one of the leading anti-klan speakers in the country.

W. R. Chapman, well known attorney of Anson, Jones county, Texas, has been appointed District Judge of the 39th civil district, by Governor Neff, succeeding Judge W. C. Blanks who has been elevated to a place on the commission of appeals. The 39th district is composed of Jones, Fisher, Throckmorton, Haskell, Scurry, Kent and Stonewall counties.

MANY CASES ARE SET FOR COUNTY COURT HERE NOW

Civil and Criminal Dockets in Present Term are Drawn for Four Week Session

With a heavy civil docket and an important criminal docket the county court of Lubbock county swung into a four week session beginning last Monday and which will continue until April 14. The first two days of this week were spent in getting up the dockets and attending to the summoning of witnesses and defendants.

In addition to a large number of civil cases pending ten criminal cases will be tried during the present term on the bench and Owen W. McWhorter, county attorney, prosecuting for the state of Texas. The criminal docket, with the dates of trial, is announced by county officials as:

The Criminal Docket
James Humphrey, on a charge of operating an assignation house, to be brought to trial on March 24.

W. T. Anderson, on a charge of disturbing the peace, to be brought to trial on April 9.

J. C. Wayland, charged with obstructing a public road, to be brought to trial on April 9.

H. M. McPherson, charged with drunkenness in office, upon appeal from Justice Court, trial set for April 10.

James Humphrey, charged with alluring females into an assignation house, to be tried on April 8.

J. E. Beavers, charged with theft, to be brought to trial on April 7.

R. L. Brooks, charged with theft, to be brought to trial on April 7.

M. Whitlock, charged with aggravated assault, will be tried on March 27.

Of the entire criminal docket only the cases against James Humphrey are held over from the last term, according to a statement by County Attorney Owen W. McWhorter, Wednesday.

Poultry Specialist Scheduled To Be In Slaton On March 25

Miss Myrtle Murray, poultry specialist from the state agricultural and mechanical station at College Station will give a demonstration at Slaton on March 25, in the city auditorium there, Miss Mabel Marsh, county home demonstration agent, said yesterday.

Plans are being made now to make the demonstration at Slaton one of the most extensive ever held in this section of Texas and a great deal of interest is being displayed in the work. Miss Marsh said.

Club members, both boys and girls, from Posey, New Hope and Union communities, will attend the demonstration. The Slaton community is very greatly interested in the poultry situation and a bank in that city offers loans of fifty dollars to persons going in for the raising of pure bred chickens. Miss Murray will be assisted in Lubbock county by Miss Marsh.

SIXTEEN LADIES IN RACE TO WIN JOURNAL PRIZES

Not Too Late For Others To Be Final Winner; Standing To Be Announced Next Week

Sixteen ladies have enrolled in the Plains Journal's subscription campaign and while the votes have been pouring in for the different candidates since the beginning of the drive last Saturday, it is not yet too late for any lady, with a few hours of spare time each day and the energy to get out and solicit subscriptions to Lubbock county's big home weekly, to win the Maxwell sport model touring or one of the diamond rings, which make up the other four prizes.

As yet no standing of the candidates has been compiled, so closely grouped are the sixteen candidates in the race thus far but by the time the Plains Journal goes on the press next issue a standing in the campaign will be announced.

Bonus is Offered

To add even more zest into the campaign an extra bonus has been offered the candidates. Up to and including Saturday, March 29, an additional bonus of 50,000 votes will be given each candidate turning in each $10 worth of subscription, according to R. D. Wiley, manager of the campaign. Subscriptions will command more votes during this period than at any other time in the race, which closes promptly on Saturday, April 13, with absolutely no possibility of being extended.

As announced at the beginning of this campaign at no time during the contest will the number of votes held by any candidate, be given out but each week hereafter the position of the various candidates will be printed in the Plains Journal.

The Plains Journal pledges a fair and square deal to each and every candidate. No candidate will receive any special favors or inside information and at no time will any candidate be given an opportunity which the others will not be permitted to share. We predict even at this early time in the race that the candidate who wins the Maxwell car will be the one who pays no attention to idle rumors, or knockers, but who remains on the job in the race during the entire period of the campaign.

Hereafter the votes in the campaign will be counted on each Wednesday night and the standing of the sixteen candidates announced accordingly. A great deal of interest has been shown thus far in the campaign with the fever heat rapidly being approached. Fifty hundred dollars in cash and prizes will be given away during this short campaign. The first standing will be given out next week. Who will be the first to take the lead?

MORE NEW BOOKS ARE ORDERED BY COMMITTEE HERE

The book committee of the Lubbock Public Library met Tuesday and ordered a list of fifty-eight new volumes of poetry, history and fiction which will be placed in circulation here as soon as they arrived, Mrs. J. J. Smelser, librarian, stated recently.

Chief among the new books ordered were "Bread," by Charles Norris, and "Not Wanted," by Jesse Lynch Williams. These two are new works which will please fiction readers of this vicinity hugely, Mrs. Smelser believes. A number of other popular books were also chosen at the recent committee meeting. The entire list will be published when they arrive.

The following book committee has been appointed and will attend to the purchasing of all books this year: Mrs. C. M. Ballenger, Mrs. J. H. Hankins, Mrs. R. L. Pierce, Mrs. J. J. Smelser and R. C. Mowery. A total of $52.12 was turned into the library last month while $186.11 was spent for necessary things, it was announced.

"Livestock and Pastures: All live stock is standing the winter in good shape; there have been a few losses from disease but none from poverty. Winter weeds and grass have been held back by the cold, but the weather lately has been more favorable. Clover and rye are beginning to come out."

Vote Called in Cochran County Is Halted Here

The election scheduled to be held in Cochran county tomorrow, has been halted following an injunction filed by Bledsoe, Phar and R. A. Sowder, local attorneys, for the Slaughter interests with Judge Clark M. Mullican today, charging that irregularities in the payment of poll tax in Cochran county should hold the organizing of that county until further straightened out.

After taking the case under advisement Judge Mullican sustained the injunction and the election has been indefinitely postponed. The trouble arose over the rivalry between the town of Ligon, supported by the Slaughter interests, and the town of Morton, supported by Morton J. Smith for the location of the county seat of the new county. Both the Slaughters and Smith represent large tracts of land in the new county.

Smith is represented by Wilson and Douglas, local legal firm, and by G. E. Lockhart, Tahoka attorney. The injunction was filed by C. A. Pierce, who has charge of the Slaughter land interest in Cochran county, and asks that County Judge John Doyle, of Hookley county, and the commissioners court and election board of that county be restrained from holding the election until the polling irregularities are cleared up.

CITY HALL WORK STARTED MONDAY

Work To Be Rushed To Finish On Municipal Building Here By First Of Next August

Construction work on Lubbock's new $25,000 city hall building, to be erected at the corner of Avenue I and Tenth street, started last Monday with Matt Jacobson, of El Paso, construction superintendent of the Ramey Bros. Construction Contractors firm of El Paso, in Lubbock in charge of the building work.

Machinery has been moved on to the ground and tool sheds are now being completed, including quarters for an office of the company while doing work in this city. Excavation of the basement was begun by J. C. Lowmy, who was granted the contract for that part of the construction work for the first of this week and while the actual work was held up by the inclement weather of Tuesday and Wednesday, today's sunshine assured its early completion.

Work to Be Pushed
Due to the fact that Jacobson has received orders from his management to be ready to leave the Lubbock job by the first of next August it is believed that all possible speed will be exercised in the completion of the building at as early a date as is possible. The Slim Jim trucking line, recently organized in this city, has taken the contract for the hauling of all materials to be shipped into the city for the building, Jacobson said.

The building when completed will be two stories in height and will have a full length basement. The building will be 85 feet, extending along Tenth street and 95 feet facing Avenue I and will be located in the center of the southwest corner of the block bounded by Ninth and Tenth streets, and by Avenues I and J, although the entire block is owned by the city.

When completed the structure, will house not only the offices of the city officials, but also will have apartments for the Lubbock chapter of the American Red Cross, the Chamber of Commerce, civic organizations and the rear part of the basement will be used for quarters for the fire department.

High School Names Nadine Young Most Popular of Girls

Miss Nadine Young, a freshman in Lubbock high school, was voted the most popular girl in the institution by the student body last Friday afternoon when an all school election was held. Miss Young, representing the freshman and junior classes, defeated Miss Elizabeth Robbins, senior and sophomore representative by a vote of 124 to 115.

The election was staged in the interest of the 1924 yearbook and before a student's vote was accepted an annual purchase card had to be shown by the voter. The election brought out the fact that thus far a total of 230 yearbooks have been contracted for by the students.

DIRECTORATE OF C. C. HOLDS FIRST MEET THIS YEAR

Problems of Importance Come Before Directors in Their Meeting Held Tuesday

Members of the board of directors of the Lubbock Chamber of Commerce met in the first regular session of the organization following the election of the new officials and the arrival of A. B. Davis, secretary, Tuesday morning at 9 o'clock, in the organization's quarters in the courthouse.

W. B. Atkins, president, presided over the meeting which was attended by the following members of the directorate: W. H. Meador, E. L. Robertson, O. L. Slaton, J. O. Jones, Smiley C. Wilson, James A. Dow, J. A. Rix, R. W. Blair, Joe Hess and O. L. Nislar. In addition to the directors former secretary Curtis A. Keen, C. E. Maedgen and E. Studeman attended the meeting and took part in the business session.

The most important part of the meeting was taken up with the discussion of two hotel propositions which are at present facing the city. The one proposition, advanced at the annual meeting of the Chamber of Commerce making for the re-construction and remodeling of the present Lubbock Inn, was discussed as was a new proposition brought before the meeting by a Mr. Peacock, of Dallas, who represents an East Texas hotel company.

No Hotel Decision Reached

Nothing certain was decided concerning the plan to be followed by the local Chamber of Commerce in the matter. There is nothing certain about the plan of Peacock to give the city a modern and up-to-date hostelry but that gentleman stated in the Journal office Monday night that he would be prepared to announce his plans in the near future should they meet with the approval of the Chamber of Commerce.

Another important committee will be announced within the next few days, namely a group which will be known as the vigilance committee which will pass on all advertising and donation schemes brought before the attention of the merchants and business men of Lubbock. A great saving in money will be sure to follow the taking over of these schemes by a certain committee, it is believed.

A committee will also be drawn up to have charge of the city auditorium and before that building can be used for any purpose from now on it will have to be sanctioned by the auditorium committee. The proposition of road signs came in for attention and the directors referred it to the vigilance committee which will be aided by members of the Junior Chamber of Commerce in the handling of road sign questions.

LUBBOCK COUNTY HAS 28 DIVORCE GRANTS IN YEAR

Twenty-eight divorces were granted by the District Court in Lubbock county during the year 1923, according to a statement issued by Louis F. Moore, district clerk, after an investigation. The figures were obtained from the department of commerce and bureau of census and statistics at Washington, D. C.

The twenty-eight divorces granted in this county were granted for the following reasons: cruel treatment, 17; abandonment, 4; non-support, 2; desertion, 1; adultery, 1; and failure to provide, 3. Almost as many men in this section filed pleas for divorce as did women during last year, the figures show.

Among the total number of divorces granted eighteen children were involved, making an average of less than one child to the couple. The shortest period of marital life preceding action here was one week, while the longest was twenty-one years, thus making an average of five and one-half years to the divorce.

Considering the population of 28,000 of Lubbock county, the record shown in the preceding paragraphs is not an appalling one. Many counties with much smaller populations than Lubbock county surpass this figure.

SCHOOL PLAY TO BE GIVEN

As soon as Miss Don Clinton, leading comedienne of "Professor Pep" annual high school play, has fully recovered from her recent operation for appendicitis the play will be presented in a number of surrounding towns and the proceeds will go to help defray expenses of the 1924 "Westerner," the school yearbook. Tahoka, Meadow and Littlefield are some of the places to be visited.

Backenstons has resigned his position as field representative of the Lubbock Business college but will remain in Lubbock, turning his endeavors to some other field, he stated, to a representative of the Plains Journal. Backenstons is thoroughly sold on West Texas, having come out here the first of this year from Harrisburg, Pa.

Joe Flaig, manager of the Lubbock Cotton Oil company, went to Slaton Tuesday where he transacted business for his firm.

Three carloads of furniture on the tracks and no warehouse or show room to place it in was the predicament faced by Norton Baker, owner of the Simmons Furniture company here, last week. A sale was immediately scheduled for the company and although little time was spent in preparing for it the sale is a great success, Baker states. The sale will continue until March 23, the object being to clear the floors of the building.

M. M. Dupre, city superintendent of public instruction, is not fully recovered from his recent accident as first thought and heart trouble, thought to have been the result of the pressure on his chest during his mishap has forced him to remain away from his desk the entire first part of the week it was stated yesterday.

Amos H. Howard, of the Guarantee Abstract & Title Company spent Tuesday in Levelland in the interest of the company.

AMARILLO SIDES WITH WALSH FOR C. C. PRESIDENCY

Amarillo will support C. C. Walsh, San Antonio Banker for the presidency of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce at the Brownwood convention. This decision was made by the Board of City Development.

It has come to be almost a "habit" of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce to elect its president from one side of the Texas & Pacific Railway and hold its convention on the other. For instance this year the president, A. B. Spencer, resides at Crosbyton, while the convention will be held at Brownwood. Precedent would indicate that these honors will be reversed during the coming year, with the 1925 convention coming to the Panhandle and a southern man being chosen to head the organization.

Amarillo is making an aggressive campaign for the 1925 gathering and support of all West Texas organizations has been asked in letters giving reasons why it is the logical place for holding it.

WOMEN CAR THIEVES CAUGHT

McKINNEY. — Two young women, whose names are withheld because of the chance that they might not be guilty of the offense charged, were arrested here recently, driving a car with a Dallas license, which, according to police of the central Texas metropolis, is a stolen machine. It is thought to be the first time in the history of the state that two women have been arrested so far from the seat of a crime without male escorts. They are being held for investigation by Dallas policemen.

Cottonseed Meal and Hulls properly mixed forms a "Balanced Ration" giving better results in increased Milk and Butter production in Cows and in Flesh, Fat and General Condition in all animals THAN ANY OTHER FEED IN THE WORLD.

Feed a Well Balanced Ration

The practical common sense way to feed an animal is on a well-balanced ration, that is, a ration which gives him at each feeding the proper amount of each of those things which science and practical feeding proves necessary for health and strength. You can't get the combination out of the usual feeds, such as corn and oats, hay and fodder, but can get it if you mix cotton seed meal with the grain and let cotton seed hulls take the place of hay or fodder.

PLANS FOR GOLF TOURNAMENT ARE ANNOUNCED HERE

2 Teams Made Up At Country Club Will Play Scotch Game With Dinner as Reward

In an endeavor to stir up more competition among the members of the Lubbock country club a golf tournament between two teams has been arranged by Secretary L. M. Duggan and S. A. Wells, chairman of the golf committee.

The male members of the club have been divided into two teams, one to be known as the "Toppers" and the other as the "Slicers." The Toppers will enter the fray lead by J. O. Smith while the Slicers look to Spencer A. Wells as leader.

Drawings have been made and the scores will be decided by match play each hole margin being accorded to the winners side by one point. At the close of the tournament, which begins this week, the losing side will entertain the winning side to a dinner "with all the fixins," according to J. O. Smith, who predicts a victory for the Toppers.

Following the pairings as announced by Duggan and Wells, the first man in each pairing is a Topper while the latter of each pairing is a Slicer: J. O. Smith and Eric Posey; E. T. Daniels and Spencer Wells; J. R. Germany and L. H. McLaughlin; Lee M. Duggan and W. B. Powell; O. L. Peterson and J. E. Vickers; Joe Flaig and R. H. Martin; Joe Dick Slaughter and Geo. Castleberry; Dr. Wm. Baugh and Richard L. Douglas; B. C. Dickinson and Claude Huribut; Dr. E. D. Hutchinson and R. E. Karper; Dr. Starnes and A. W. May; Ross Wilson and Walter Myrick, Jr.; E. L. College Singers Appreciated

The Abilene Christian College quartet which appeared here Monday night at the high school auditorium was very well received and a good sized crowd turned out to hear the variety entertainers from the neighboring city. The quartet was made up of Ernest Witt, Ernest Wall, Jack Meyer and Albert Wall. Miss Myrtle Dunn, director of music at the institution at Abilene, and a sister of Miss Mary Dunn, local piano teacher, was in charge of the quartet and program.

Writer Delays Visit Here

Mrs. J. W. Baird, of Dallas, a special writer on the staff of the Semi-Weekly Farm News, will not visit Lubbock this week-end as formerly announced but has put off her visit until weather conditions offer her a better chance to travel over the entire county. Miss Mabel Marsh, county home demonstration agent, said yesterday. Mrs. Baird is a forceful writer and her visit here may be looked upon with interest by local and county agriculturists. The Semi-Weekly Farm News has a substantial circulation in this section and some good advertising for this part of West Texas will probably result from her visit.

Cotton Man Is Back

R. E. Overstreet, field man for District 10, of the Texas Cotton Growers association, returned to his home here the first part of this week after a swing around his territory and reports everything looking good for a bumper cotton crop in 1924. Overstreet, however, stressed the point that there is a danger of too heavy cotton planting over this section of the country, which might tend to lower the price of the crop in the fall. He also warns farmers against contracting ahead for their crops, unless the contracting party is known as reliable to the farmer.

Legion To Stage Show

The local post of the American Legion will present "America's Answer," a recently released war film, at the R. and R. Lindsey theatre here on Thursday and Friday nights. Up until a short time ago this film was guarded in the archives of the war department at Washington and all through the world war was held as secret government information, local legionaires say. It is an educational film and is not made army life in France but shows as nearly as possible the real facts about the American invasion of foreign soil.

To Hold Teachers Quiz

An examination will be held for all parties desiring to secure certificates to teach in Lubbock county on April 4 and 5, in the office of the county school superintendent in the courthouse building here. W. M. Pevehouse, school superintendent for the county, said today. R. J. Hood, principal of the school at Estacado, will be in charge of the examination. Additional information can be secured by calling on Mr. Pevehouse either on Saturday or Monday at his office.

Did You Know

That in 1917, Loan Companies were afraid to make a CITY LOAN IN LUBBOCK

- That the United Savings Bank of Detroit, Michigan, was the first to recognize Lubbock as a safe place to make city loans.
- That no company operating in the state of Texas, makes the fair terms and conditions, and easy payments that are made by those people.
- That this company gives you the same rates and terms that people in Dallas, and any of the large cities pay.
- That their plan is one of the few City Loans that an exorbitant bonus is not charged.

Come in and let us show you a map of the homes that they have built in Lubbock and how easy it will be for you to buy, build, or improve your home on the easiest terms you could ask for.

COUNTY LINE NEWS

We see, now, that the ground hog regularly every second and fourth Thursday since re-organizing in January.

Mrs. Percy Davis, who has been sick accompanied her sister, Miss Mildred Robinson, home, Mrs. Davis will spend a few days with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Robinson.

Mrs. Little Brown of Amarillo, who is Mr. and Mrs. F. F. Barnes' daughter, has been very ill. She is much improved at this writing.

Mrs. Harvard Barnes and twins, Dave and Don, spent Monday with Mrs. Herbert Pettit.

The program of the Literary Society Friday night was unusually interesting. There were two special features: A negro dialog, with negro songs, accompanied on a banjo; and "Kangaroo Court," in which Slim Highpockets was tried for cruelty to animals. He was cleared. Neff Turner was "Slim Highpockets." Mr. Howa, the judge; Mr. Powell, the sheriff; Mr. Dyess, prosecuting attorney; and Mr. Fox the defendant's lawyer. The Society next meets Friday, the 21st and we are expecting another good program.

Mr. Henry Fox, formerly of this community, who now lives at Science Hill, spent Friday night in our neighborhood. His mother accompanied him as far as her daughter's, Mrs. Bohanan, of Bartonville.

Miss Dimple Wade spent Thursday with Mrs. H. M. Barnes.

Wednesday Mrs. Walter Shares and Mrs. Charlie Nolan visited Mrs. Snodgrass.

Robert Alley and Bob Gould of Hale Center, were in this part of the country locating stray cattle Saturday.

Neff and Doyle Turner went to Mr. Jim Brown's Monday.

Mr. Walter Shore and wife visited at the H. M. Barnes home Saturday.

Mr. Liza Emby went to Mr. Robinson's Monday.

Mr. Sam Pettit has been hauling posts and wire the past week to fence his land.

Miss Osborne, the teacher of the grammar grades, was absent from school Thursday on account of illness.

There was a good crowd out Sunday to hear Bro. Clinton's sermon.

Little C. V. Ray, who was threatened with pneumonia Monday, is well on the road to recovery.

POSEY NEWS

The Posey community club has met regularly every second and fourth Thursday since re-organizing in January.

At our first meeting we quitted a quilt and donated it to the Lubbock Orphan's Home. At the second meeting we had a very practical demonstration of meat canning conducted by our efficient H. D. A. Miss Mabel Marsh. At present the club members are working on some plan to buy a community canner and sealer. We have a good club of progressive women, who are enthusiastic in their work for the betterment of their homes and community. The new officers elected in January were: Mrs. W. E. Bennett, president; Mrs. O. R. Patterson, vice president; Mrs. J. R. Stephens, secretary.

Spring time is almost here (the today—Wednesday)—looks as if spring was still far away! With it comes gardening and raising young chickens.

We hope this will be a banner year for the farmer, and in order to make it so, we must not neglect our garden and poultry. Most every home is equipped with a windmill, so they can have water, even though a small one, and this can be made to furnish fresh vegetables for the table most of the year. How many of you have an asparagus bed? This comes early and at a time when fresh vegetables are scarce. It is easily grown and after once started, with little attention, will last for years. A good dressing of manure during the winter is a great benefit. A bed of rhubarb, or pie plant is another excellent investment. It is both healthful and appetizing.

This would be a good year to get acquainted with at least one new vegetable every year.

I have found that Swiss chard, which is unknown to many a housewife, is as easily grown as beets, which it resembles very much, though it is the leaves and stems in this plant that are used instead of the roots.

The ever-bearing strawberry has proven successful where it could be watered freely. A small patch will furnish fresh berries daily for an ordinary family. And what is more delightful than strawberries and whipped cream.

The success of poultry raising depends on stability and back bone. One must always be on the job. The mite has been my bug-a-boo since coming to this country. We have swinging roasts and by being liberal in the application of crude oil, they can be kept down to prevent serious damage. I have used the sodium fulvid to rid my hens of lice by giving two applications (I use the pinch method) in the spring, about 15 days or two weeks apart. I found that my worry over the lice proposition was greatly reduced. Careful feeding the first week or two of chicks' life, will prevent much loss from bowel trouble. Do not feed too early, nature has supplied all the food needed for the first 48 hours (some say longer.) I like to have plenty of milk for young chicks and turks; but be sure to give in clean vessels. Also keep clean water for them to drink. Most every one has her own methods of tending and feeding. I like to feed the yolked oats for the first day or two (they should also be supplied with fine gravel.) Hard boiled eggs chopped fine, shell included, is a good food. Then we have the ready prepared baby chick food, that can be bought at most any grain store.

Kiwanians Have Big Meet

Seventy-four of the eighty local members of the Kiwanis club were out at the weekly luncheon of that organization held at the Armory at noon today. The six absent members were either sick or out of town. The attendance race went into a tie again today, when the "Evens" defeated the "Odds" counteracting a victory on the part of the "Odds" hung up last week. The first week of the contest was a tie. In addition to the 74 members present thirty guests attended the luncheon.

Rotarians Enjoy Luncheon

Dr. Charles Wagner was the principal speaker at the weekly meeting of the local Rotary club at the Armory Wednesday night. The program, in charge of William Meador, was exceptionally interesting. Mesdames Charles Wagner, Joe Hilton, J. T. Kfuerer and Wesley Von Rosenberg, forming a quartet, gave two splendid numbers accompanied on the piano by Miss Huff. A. B. Davis, L. M. Duggan and Kenneth Kimbro were received as new members and about 20 guests were present.

BROWNFIELD NEWS

The Brownfield Chamber of Commerce held its annual get-together last night with a full house in the American Legion Hall. The Brownfield band furnished music for the occasion. There was splendid addresses made and the business men and citizenry at large entered into a fine co-partnership for the advancing of Brownfield and Terry County for the year of 1924.

There was over $600.00 raised in this meeting for the Brownfield Municipal Band. Little three year old Virginia May rode her shetland pony into the Auditorium and directed the band as it played the "Old Gray Mare." The business men furnished plenty of good cheroots and the makings for a real smoker while the confection houses of the town flooded the people with dainties and sweets.

In the re-organization and election of officers, Morgan L. Copeland was re-elected President, J. E. Shelton was re-elected Secretary and W. A. Bell was re-elected Treasurer.

The Facts about Balloon Tires

Why the Good Word on BALLOON TIRES IS GOODYEAR

Goodyear makes both kinds of Balloon Tires—

1. For use on new small diameter wheels
2. For use on the wheels now on your car

If you are buying a new car—or if you are equipping your present car with small diameter wheels in order to provide sufficient fender clearance—you can get Goodyear Balloon Tires in the 20-and-21-inch rim sizes. In most cases, the wheels now on your car provide sufficient fender clearance to permit using of Balloon Tires, and in such cases you can get Goodyear Balloon Tires that fit your present wheels.

If you can use these interchangeable types of Goodyear Balloon Tires, Goodyear saves you the expense of wheel and rim changes.

Remember, both kinds of Goodyear Balloon Tires are of genuine Goodyear quality. The name "Goodyear" on them guarantees that they are of correct design and proper construction to yield maximum economy.

Complete information on Goodyear Balloon Tires is now available in convenient form; simply call at Lubbock Tire Co.

The Right Size for Your Car

This table shows you what size interchangeable Goodyear Balloon Tires can be fitted to your present wheels and rims. In the left hand column are ordinary tire sizes; in the right, the Goodyear Balloon Tire sizes by which your present tires may be replaced:

30x3 1-2 inch	31x4.40 inch
31 x 4 inch	32 x 4.95 inch
32x4 inch	33x4.95 inch
32x4 1-2 inch	33x5.77 inch
33x4 1-2 inch	34x5.77 inch

If present rims are clincher type, new straight-side rim tops (quite inexpensive) will be required. Full information regarding balloon tires in the smaller (20-and-21-inch) wheel and rim sizes is given in the complete booklet offered.

FARM CLUB WORK IMPROVES STOCK MEAT MEN THINK

Money Spent In Prizes Pays In Long Run As Experience Has Proven, Say Packers

The fine work being done by the Boys' and Girls' Clubs in improving live stock standards and co-operating in the pure bred sire movement is emphasized in an announcement made by the Institute of American Meat Packers to the effect that Landreth Reynolds, of Perrin, Texas, a member of the club, won two silver cups, awarded for first prizes by the Institute for best carloads of Hampshire and Rambouillet sheep, at the Southwestern Fat Stock Show, held at Fort Worth, Texas, March 8 to 15.

In addition to winning prizes in competition with veteran live stock raisers in the carload events, Reynolds took a first prize for the best wool lamb shown by members of the Boys' and Girls' Clubs. He was the only one to win more than one first prize among the Institute awards.

The complete list of winners of cups and ribbons for the carload lots follows:

Hereford Cup, C. M. Largent, Merkel, Texas; Hereford Ribbon, V. O. Hildreth, Alledo, Texas; Hampshire Sheep Cup, Landreth Reynolds, Perrin, Texas; Rambouillet Cup, Landreth Reynolds, Perrin, Texas; Poland China Cup, Texas A. & M. College, College Station; Hampshire Hog Cup, Cline and Shipley, Prosper, Texas; Hampshire Hog Ribbon, Cline and Shipley, Prosper, Texas.

Medals were awarded as follows to members of the Boys' and Girls' clubs for best types of individual animals: Shorthorn, J. B. Hutton, Fairy, Texas; Hereford, E. K. Hufstetler, Granbury, Texas; Aberdeen Angus, Stella

May Jeffers, Brady, Texas; Wool Lamb, Landreth Reynolds, Perrin, Texas; Down Lamb, James Kenudson, Norse, Texas; Polan China, William Hampton, Crowley, Texas; Duroc Jersey, Ray Berry, Grapevine, Texas.

The production of pure-bred and high grade animals has become recognized as a matter of vital interest because they fatten more easily, produce more highly flavored and tasty meat, and are readier for market at an early age than scrubs. The prizes are offered by the Institute of American Meat Packers as a means of encouraging the production of better bred live stock for the mutual advantage of the producer, packer and consumer.

Published Weekly. Entered as Second-Class Mail Matter at the U. S. Post Office at Lubbock, Texas, according to the provisions of the act of Congress of 1879, and under the rulings of the Postmaster General.

The Journal will honestly strive to be clean and fair in the dissemination of news. If through error or misinformation, undue reflection is cast upon the good name of any person or firm, the Journal stands ready and willing to make correction in the same manner that such mistake was printed. The paper invites suggestions and criticisms. It is by these only that it may improve.

Preparing for the Tech

While in Lubbock last week P. W. Horn, president of the Texas College of Technology, stressed in his speech before local Rotarians, the need of more industries and more residences in the city of Lubbock.

Pointing out that hundreds of people were going to be drawn here a year from next September, when the new institution opens its doors, he brought home the point that if these newcomers were to be adequately cared for many new homes of comfortable and respectable proportions must be erected.

Telling of his experiences at Antioch College and the University of Cincinnati, where students worked their way through school and at the same time learned through actual experience in the kindred industries the things that they theoretically learned in the class-room, Doctor Horn also showed that such things are needed in this city if the school fulfilled the highest expectations of state educational officials.

Now is the time to begin thinking about the erection of more residences and the bringing in of one or more textile mills and kindred industries to this city. Such additions would be welcome to any city and especially to Lubbock at this time when laborers are in excess of the actual work which must be done. Outside capital must be influenced in all probabilities, if the textile mills are brought here, but local capital can easily take care of the erection of other residences.

These things must be done if the spirit which secured the Texas Tech for Lubbock is to be carried on in the support of the state's only purely technological institution.

Thanks From the Junior Chamber

The Junior Chamber of Commerce wishes to thank the citizens of Lubbock for the hearty co-operation accorded them in their recent drive to assure the planting of more trees throughout the city. As a result of the Junior organization's drive hundreds of young trees were set out and the future beautification of this community was assured. The way that the public met the suggestion of the organization was a reflection of the co-operation accorded other organizations in campaigns to better the city along other lines. And, looking on the matter in another light, perhaps the community should offer thanks to the Junior Chamber of Commerce for the lead taken in this laudable campaign.

The Church

A noted American divine, who fills an important pulpit in the city of Washington, recently stated that in order to keep its established supremacy, Christianity must summon to its support every influence it could possibly control.

A strong statement, and untrue, one will think at the first hearing, but upon delving into the proposition it takes on an aspect of probability. Money especially is needed to carry on Christianity and during the past year the Protestant beliefs have seen that material aid considerably smaller than enough to push the cause.

An investigation shows the expenditure of $450,000,000 in 1923 for the Protestant faiths in the United States. It shows an expenditure of more than twenty-four times that sum for non-essentials, luxuries, the most of which people would have been better off without.

The money spent in the United States last year for tobacco was practically twice the sum spent to keep up the entire list of Protestant faiths. Women of the country spent several times as much for cosmetics as was spent to carry on the Kingdom of God in all of its departments. Untrue, you say? Look it up.

The trouble with the church today seems to be that the children of yesterday were not brought up to honor and support the church and now, with their fathers and mothers passing away, the church is losing in its backers. The children of today are being brought up in the footsteps of their fathers and mothers. Time, if things go on as they are today, will find the church even weaker in the future than it is today.

Something must be done to bring the young people to the church. They must be made interested and kept interested if Christianity is to survive. The young people make up the life blood of the church.

Tax Reduction and the Bonus

The soldier's bonus seems destined to play a big part in the coming political campaign and how to sandwich this plan with the plan of tax reduction, which is destined to play even a bigger part, is keeping the political leaders of both parties from their slumbers even this far in advance of the firing of the opening gun of the presidential race.

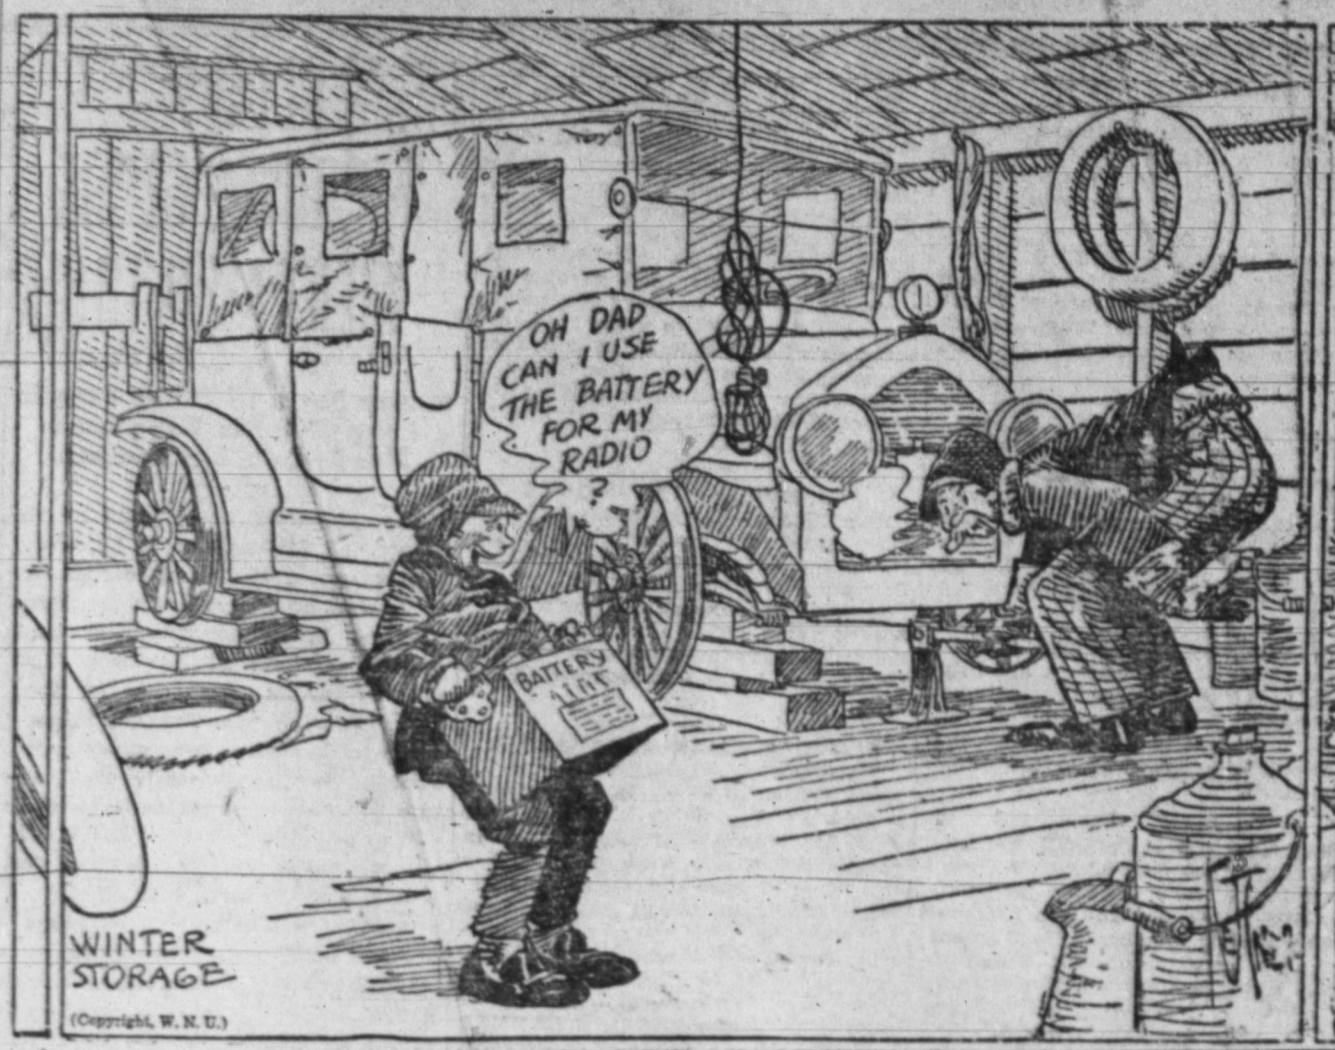

Tax reduction must be had, say the great majority of voters, and rightfully so. The soldier's bonus must be passed, say thousands of ex-service men, whose votes may swing defeat to victory or vice-versa when the polls are opened. Whether the bonus bill should be passed is a matter of opinion. That tax reduction must be had before the country can swing back into economic stability is a matter of certainty. How to so juggle these two problems so the majority of voters will be pleased is the question confronting politics. How this question is decided in the two camps is awaited with interest.

As a matter of justice, the boys who fought and bled for thirty dollars per month, while countless citizens were stuffing their pocketbooks, have some sort of financial retribution coming to them. Whether or not it is too late to make this retribution is another matter of conjecture. Whether the present is a good time to make this retribution or not is another matter over which the voter should ponder long and carefully.

It is likely that taxes can be materially reduced and the bonus bill be taken care of at the same time. While the ex-service men should be taken care of the families of the nation, over-burdened with the tax curse, must be cared for.

It is to be hoped that some magician will appear on the scene in time to work out a plan whereby everyone will be taken care of and the nation still restored to economic stability.

Off the Concrete

Safety Zones

The ever increasing traffic of the city, while it is a boon to business, is a menace in many respects to the lives and health of pedestrians. The job of keeping the autoists within the speed law and also within the law of reason in driving over the streets of Lubbock is an entirely too big one for one auto policeman. Time has come when other precautions must be taken before someone pays the supreme sacrifice to the god of speed.

At the intersection of Avenue I and Main street, and Avenue I and Broadway, a few gallons of paint might some day save a life and in all probabilities will avert a number of accidents in time. Safety zones at those intersections are needed now and no better investment could be made by the city commission.

Bright yellow lines drawn across Broadway and Main streets at each intersection with Avenue I, forcing motorists to stop before entering the avenue, would no doubt slow down town traffic to a great extent and better conditions all around for both pedestrian and motorists.

Those Good Old Days

Did you ever stop to think deeply into the matter when some soap box orator was spitting the ozone about so-called "good old days" of our forefathers?

If everybody stopped to consider the matter there would be less hull-a-baloo about it. The reformer, the man who wishes to "turn back the universe and give us yesterday" looks simple after an investigation into the matter.

Can you imagine turning back to the time when there was no telephone, no telegraph, no radio? How would you like to live where there was no hot-water system, no plumbing, no bath tub? Would you like to raise your children in a land where there was no modern system of education?

How would you like to depend on old "Dobbin" to get you to the Fat Stock Show at Fort Worth? And home-spun clothes, do you think you'd like to wear 'em? How would the ladies look to us in bustles, tight-fitting corsets, long curls and no cosmetics?

Would you like to walk down Avenue I dressed in the three-cornered hat, the tight-fitting knickerbockers, long stockings and silver buckled shoes? Would you change your modern home for a log cabin, your auto for a buggy, your thin watch for a bulky key-winder, your typewriter for a quill pen and your adding machine for a multiplication table?

There are no doubt many admirable things about which the lives of our illustrious forefathers hung, but practically speaking the "good old days" are gone for good and most of us are mighty glad that they are. They look good at first vision but upon serious investigation they appear ludicrous.

Rather than living under countless handicaps we are now living under countless advantages, all brought forth with the higher civilization which venders the lives of today's Americans. Looking upon the past history of our country should be done with relief rather than with envy.

Humanity vs. Gold

It is a significant, if not a pitiful, fact that those same Republican leaders who a few years ago convicted Woodrow Wilson of too much loyalty to humanity and too little loyalty to the United States should today themselves stand convicted of too little loyalty to the United States and too much loyalty to their own pocketbooks.

Wilson, it seems, erred in his love for humanity. His enemies, it seems, err in their love for gold.

This expose, following, as it does, on the death of Wilson, is going to force the people of the United States to choose between the idealists of Washington and the gold diggers of Washington.

It does not signify a healthy condition in American politics that the lines should have to be thus sharply drawn.

But the contrast between humanitarian Wilson and the rottenness of those who struck him down is too obvious and vivid to be lightly passed over.

The government and people of the United States must face the fact that they will have to definitely declare themselves for higher humanity or for gold.

Upon their choice will depend the political future of their nation.

In typing a list of advertising accounts the advertising manager of the Plains Journal discovered that every letter in the alphabet was used at least one time, save x, the q, and the z. All of which proves that Lubbock is becoming cosmopolitan. In some sections of New York, however, those letters absent in the names of Lubbock firms would be the most over-worked. Let's hope Lubbock and the South Plains never become that cosmopolitan.

Just another instance of how things change in original complexion as years pass by. Rio De Janeiro and New Orleans both celebrate what is called a Mardi Gras, and during the celebration mirth reigns supreme and thousands of visitors are drawn to them, pleasure seeking. And they were originally founded as religious observances. No one ever thinks of them as such now days.

Kurrent Komment

Representative Tinkham, of Massachusetts, has introduced a bill in Congress whereby all non-resident foreigners coming to this country to lecture will be forced to present to the Intelligence department a sworn statement of their purposes and intentions. Such a move is no doubt a wise one, looking back over the many methods of broadcasting propaganda used in this country by Germany prior to the world war.

The ladies, God bless 'em, are growing nearer and nearer to the far-famed equality. The Pullman company declares that if women passengers do not refrain from smoking in their berths smoking compartments for ladies must be added to the cars.

All of which brings to mind an over-heard remark by a member of the meeker sex which stated "If they want equality, let 'em have it. Let 'em have it at the polls and also let 'em have it in crowded street cars and railroad trains." Which we venture to say is one part of the equality proposition which the ladies, who are man's equal no doubt, will be glad to over-look.

The postoffice department is planning to make up one billion, five hundred million postal cards during 1925. After viewing local mail conditions one becomes certain that more than that many clerks had better be added to the system over the country so that the different mail stations will be able to adequately care for those postcards when they are mailed.

England is making an effort to do away with capital punishment and from the looks of present conditions the effort will be successful before long. Will our cosmopolitan population ever permit this country to follow England's suit? It is not likely. Capital measures are necessary punishments for wanton crimes.

Why all the hull-a-baloo about the so-called "flapper" of today? It has been our experience that they are alright, even if ultra-modern. A number of the conventional bonds of the dark ages have been cast off, including many unhealthy methods of dress and living. A step to a better day, no matter in what particular sphere, is to be commended.

A few years ago success was measured in dollars and by no other way. It was taught children in the home, it was taught children in the public schools. Now a period of economic unrest has been the natural outcome. Tares were sowed and as a result wheat was not reaped. Good thought seed must be planted in young minds if the right kind of standards of living are reaped.

The Power of the Country Press

Let none regard lightly or slightly the influence of the so-called country press in the United States. The "home" newspaper is looked to in many a community as the mentor and guide when the time comes to make an important decision. The editor of the country paper, usually unassuming, is a leader in shaping the decisions of his townspeople in those progressive undertakings which affect the common welfare. No matter if the people of the rural sections are coming more and more to look to the city papers for their news of world happenings—they still depend for friendly counsel and advice upon the judgement of someone within their own community circle who has proved himself dependable and wise.

So, it is a matter of no little importance, considering the magnitude of the subject, that the country press of the United States has enlisted itself wholeheartedly to fight the battle of temperance and law enforcement. The issue will be interesting if not spectacular. Allied with the destructive liquor interests are many of the larger daily and weekly papers published in the cities. For some reason which the editors and owners of these papers of larger circulation have not publicly disclosed, they have persisted in their efforts to discourage a complete enforcement of the prohibition law. Many of them have allotted generous space to news detailing the manner in which the law is violated, and not a few have, by editorial comment, sought to popularize the campaign of nullification.

Now comes the country editor and his thousands of clear-thinking and unprejudiced brethren throughout the length and breadth of the land, ready to defend and uphold the law which it has been sought to destroy. They have no selfish motive in this enlisting on the side of right. They are committed to the cause by their realization that the interests of themselves and of the people and industries which they seek to protect demand that the Constitution and the laws be unhesitatingly obeyed. The tainted money of the bootlegger and the brewer has not influenced them to betray the people whose confidence they have gained and desire to keep. They feel a personal responsibility. They are not tempted to sell, at any price, the friendships of a lifetime.

The inclination is to believe that no evil influence is powerful enough to sway the sentiment of the great mass of voters in the United States against so powerful an ally of national righteousness. It was the strength of the moral forces in the agricultural states that made possible the early enactment of the law which the enemies of society are now seeking to nullify. This same courageous electorate will see to it that no backward step is taken. No editor of a country paper need apologize to his patrons and friends for his stand in support of the law. They are with him, just as the loyal and progressive people everywhere are steadfast in support of good government and civic decency.—Christian Science Monitor.

The Best in American Verse

For there are moments in life, when the heart is so full of emotion,
That if by chance it be shaken, or into its depths like a pebble
Drops some careless word, it overflows, and its secret,
Spilt on the ground like water, can never be gathered together.

A. G. Lamb, one of the substantial farmers of the New Hope community, was a visitor at the Journal office Saturday. Mr. Lamb stated that he was certainly well pleased with the paper being published and was delighted to know that a publication of such an efficient news gathering organization was located here in such a substantial way.

VAUDEVILLE FOR ANNUAL BENEFIT IS NOW PEANNED

Members of the senior class at Lubbock high school will entertain with vaudeville within the next three weeks in the high school auditorium, according to Tom Moore and Gaylord Hankins, business manager and editor of the 1924 Westerner, who are sponsoring the entertainment.

Six or eight fifteen minute acts will be presented by members of the class and books on the acts are already ordered from the Walter H. Baker company, of Boston. Miss Ivy Huddleston, high school dramatic director, will have charge of the training of the juvenile artists. Proceeds from the show will go to defray expenses for the yearbook.

Plans are now being formulated by class leaders whereby the senior play, "Professor Pep" received twice here with numerous compliments, will be shown in several surrounding cities. Two towns have already been visited, but the illness of Miss Don Clinton, leading comedienne of the production, halted the out-of-town engagements. Miss Clinton has recovered from her illness and the class will go ahead with its plans to visit nearby places to gain more money to pay for the yearbook. Lamesa, Ralls, Lorenzo and Crosbyton are the places under consideration for the performances.

Mrs. Neal A. Douglas, Jr., and baby daughter, left yesterday for Pochontas, Texas, where they will spend some time with Mrs. Douglas' parents. BUY IT IN LUBBOCK

THE spending of money with the local merchants keeps the cash in circulation among your neighbors and friends, and thereby makes it possible for the local dealer to still further contribute to the development and prosperity of the home town, and incidentally to you and your neighbors and friends. The dollar spent with the home merchant today may reach you again tomorrow, while the dollar spent in another town is gone from you forever. The local merchant is entitled to your support and encouragement for the very good reason that he pays taxes to keep the machinery of the municipal government in motion. He supports the schools, churches, civic organizations, helps pave the streets and provide police, fire and health protection.

WHEN you buy from him you meet him face to face, and if the thing you purchased does not fit, is faulty in any particular or is unsatisfactory—or if you change your mind and decide that, after all, you do not want the thing that you have bought—no doubt he will gladly take it back and return the purchase price to you. And, last but not least, the stock of the home merchant is well selected and dependable, and his prices are as low, or lower, the quality of the goods taken into consideration, than those charged by the big store in the big city. That the local dealer will sell on a smaller margin than the big city store is not questioned, for the reason that his overhead expenses are much less. The home dealer sells cheaper than it is possible for the great city to do, and by trading at home you save many hours in time and dollars in transportation charges.

TEXAS UTILITIES COMPANY

The Texas Utilities Company, which serves ten towns on the South Plains with electric light and power, is one of Lubbock's largest industries and perhaps entails more of an investment than any other business in this city. Towns served by the Utilities company are: Lubbock, Plainview, Slaton, Abernathy, Hale Center, Floydada, Lockney, Idalou, Lorenzo and Ralls. The entire system of high lines is connected with all three plants maintained by the company at Lubbock, Plainview and Slaton, thereby enabling the service to continue, even with two plants out of commission.

Section of Interior of Texas Utilities' Lubbock Plant.

The Texas Utilities is owned by the Kelso-Wurdack interests of St. Louis. Officials of the Texas Utilities Company are: J. B. Scott, vice president and general manager, Plainview; H. L. Allen, local manager at Lubbock and Frank A. White, commercial representative. Rates for light and power have been combined so that the customers of the company can have all the benefits of electrically equipped homes and the charges will be very low in proportion to the old rate for lighting only, Mr. Allen, manager of the Lubbock office, stated.

A Record to Shoot At

Since completion of the new plant at Lubbock which is the largest of the three, there have been two shut-downs of 45 seconds duration and one of eight minutes, according to Frank A. White, commercial representative of the company. Mr. White believes that this is a real record for service. The new plant here was built in 1922, completed June 7, and is one of the most modern equipped plants in the country. There are two units of 550 horse power Deisel oil engines generating the power for the Lubbock plant. In connection, there is a 40 ton ice plant which with the other two at Plainview and Slaton supply 26 towns with ice.

Encourage Home Convenience

In order to encourage the use of electrical appliances, which have revolutionized housework, the Texas Utilities Company has made the low rate which now prevails. Several lines of appliances are handled which may be purchased by customers of the company on very easy payments. Westinghouse ranges, Universal heating appliances, Premier vacuum cleaners and Edison lamps are all handled and kept in stock. There are 25 people on the regular payroll of the Utilities Company here in Lubbock, except during the ice season, when many names are added.

FARM AUTHORITY WRITES ON COTTON GROWING HERE

H. M. Means, agricultural authority of Fort Worth, was one of the principal speakers at the Cotton Educational Campaign and Farm Sales Day, held Tuesday at Amarillo. He was asked to prepare an article on "Growing Cotton in the Texas Panhandle and South Plains" for the Amarillo Daily News, he did so. The entire article, prepared originally for the Amarillo News, is reprinted below:

"Cotton is what may be termed a warm natured plant and is one of the most drought resistant crops which may be grown. The seed should not be planted until the soil is well warmed. The depth at which seed should be covered for the best results depends largely on the condition of the soil, as to available moisture, at the time of planting.

"In the Plains region of Texas, usually high winds prevail at planting time; hence if seed be planted at too shallow depth they will become too dry for germination in a few hours time, and soil will be too dry to sustain the young plant until it can establish a root system that will be sufficient to get sustenance to keep the plant alive. In any event it is best to use a very narrow-tongued plow to make a narrow furrow, or groove, in which to plant the seed as a narrow furrow will in most instances more nearly insure a stand of cotton; wider furrows will rapidly dry out and will likely cause a poor stand or loss it altogether.

"Two inches is about the greatest depth that can be considered safe for covering cotton seed. If there is plenty of soil moisture and the weather is calm, a half inch covering would probably be sufficient.

"The best preparation is done by listing and re-listing with a middle-buster that has an attachment which will mulch the freshly opened furrow with loose soil to prevent the bottom of the furrow from breaking and will prevent water, just after a rainfall from rushing onward toward depressions. This mulching can be done by a barrow, also, after each day's work before leaving the field. Mulching is very important because the loose soil prevents soil moisture from rapid evaporation and in case of rainfall, delays the running off of the rain water so it can soak into the soil, sponge-like, and the better distribute the water supply. When land is broken with a moldboard plow, capilarity is broken the soil and air chambers are left underneath, and a level plow, which permits any excess of water that passes down into and through the soil to run off and settle in low depressions; such condition prevents uniform distribution of the moisture.

"A lister planter is the only practical planter for putting in cotton seed. It places the seed where, after germination the young plant down in the furrow receives showers, frequently, that are of short duration and of light precipitation, yet will be highly beneficial to the young plant, especially when there is sufficient water to run in the lister furrow, even if only slightly. Showers of that kind have been known to produce good crops in the Panhandle country, even when there was very little underground moisture; this may be termed "sky farming."

"By having the plants down in a deep furrow, a deep mulch can be maintained. A four inch soil mulch will prevent evaporation better than a less depth in regions where atmospheric conditions favor rapid evaporation.

"A Go-Devil, knife-weeder, cultivator and harrow are the best implements with which to cultivate cotton crops.

"Since Panhandle lands are cheap and fertile, most farmers have large holdings; and it is common occurrence that they plant a larger acreage than can be cultivated properly for best results.

"A system of summer fallowing half of the land each year would provide for better cultivation of the crop and would likely increase acreage yields to about double, the next succeeding year on account of conserved moisture and the available plant food that would be built or stored in the soil.

"Cotton plants, left rather thick in the drill, will set and mature fruit much earlier than when spaced 14 to 16 inches apart and will yield approximately the same as the wide spaced crop.

"Planters can be adjusted to drop the seed so that very little, if any, chopping or thinning will be necessary.

"The best kinds of cotton seed to plant are those that have been grown from pure-bred strains that were produced in the community where cotton is to be grown by the Panhandle farmer.

"The highest yielding varieties, tested at the Lubbock Experiment Station, through a series of years are: Burnett, Cook, Allen's Express, Toole and Mebane. Anton should be tested out as a medium early variety that is storm proof.

"Quickly maturing varieties that are early fruited, are the best to plant in the Panhandle country in order to get the crop ready for harvesting before a freeze.

"Hand picking is the only practical method yet devised for harvesting seed cotton except when an early freeze catches the crop and necessitates gathering bolls; these can be successfully harvested by a machine, of little cost, made for this purpose. Cotton gins have been made with attachments which will separate the burrs from the seed cotton before ginning it.

"It has been determined, in a comparative test of yield from the various types that have been carefully tried out by the Lubbock Experiment Station, that when the length of staple was increased the yield per acre was decidedly decreased. The average acre yield of varieties having a staple of one and one-sixteenth inches in length and upwards was only 65.5 per cent of what was raised in varieties of seven-eighths to one inch staple.

"The data herein presented warrants the following conclusions:

1. Cotton can be made a dependable crop in the Panhandle regions of Texas.

2. Cotton is drought resistant and is as dependable a crop to grow as sorghum.

3. Earliness and storm resistant qualities in cotton are the most desirable characteristics for this region.

4. The Burnett cotton is, reliably, the best yielder, chiefly because of its earliness. It lacks storm resistance and has, comparatively, a short staple; but nevertheless, it is a profitable crop to grow on account of its earliness.

5. Mebane cottons have been satisfactorily good yielders, and have a fair degree of storm resistance and produce fair staple.

6. Cotton that produce seven-eighths to one inch staple are more profitable and will give the largest returns under present conditions.

7. Under thinning tests at the Lubbock station, cotton spaced at seven or eight inches apart yielded more pounds of seed cotton per acre than that which was spaced at greater distances.

8. Thick stands may be expected to force early fruiting; thin stands cause later fruiting. As earliness of maturing of cotton is exceedingly important in the Panhandle, where the altitude is high and probability of early frosts, the matter of proper spacing should have special consideration.

"After a ten-day's tour of the Panhandle section of Texas and making a thorough investigation of the development of the growing of cotton, inspecting the cotton plant, the cotton and soil with its present moisture content, etc., it is safe to say that bumper crop of cotton will be produced on the lands planted to cotton in this section this year. I find the soil and climate are well suited to the production of cotton."

CROSBY COUNTY PRODUCES MUCH COTTON IN 1924

RALLS, Texas. — From a wheat to a cotton country in two years might be a distinction claimed by Crosby County of which this is one of the principal cities.

Crosby county was generally known as a wheat county as evidenced by the seven elevators in the county and the production records of the past ten years. Some cotton was grown.

The situation has changed and now it is primarily a cotton county with some wheat. The crop just ginned totaled 23,276 bales for Crosby county—the third largest on the Plains—exceeded by Lubbock county with 29,634 bales and Lynn county with 24,744 bales. It is estimated that the 1923 cotton crop brought into Crosby county a total of $4,500,000 and as a result of this cotton money of the sum followed the wheat money of the summer and the year around income, from poultry, hogs, beef cattle and dairy cattle products. Crosby county is in the best financial condition it has ever enjoyed since it was first settled.

Banks Are in Good Condition
Every bank in Crosby county reports practically all out standing notes and obligations settled clean for the beginning of the new crop season. A larger number of land notes were paid this year—before they became due, than has ever been known and all over the county new farm homes, improved barns, and residence and store buildings in the different towns are in evidence.

In this city the Masonic lodge is planning to build a two-story brick temple in the heart of the city, a number of modern residences are under construction and the scholastic enrollment of the schools 576, today, indicates a steady growth in population.

Much New Farm Land Being Opened
The 23,000-acre Owen's Ranch is being cut up into small tracts and rapidly being sold to new homeseekers on long terms. It is estimated that at least 150 new farms will be opened this year from this tract of land alone. And there are other bodies of land being opened all over the county.

It is estimated that there will be an increase of 20 per cent in the cultivated lands for Crosby county this year over previous years. Most of this increase will go into cotton.

Through the Chamber of Commerce 15,000 baby chicks are being distributed throughout the Ralls trade territory in the encouragement of the poultry industry on Crosby county farms.

The consumption of face powder by women in the United States last year has been seriously estimated at from 10,000 to 17,000 tons, but the main point is that it is still ahead of their consumption of gun powder.

School Situation in Texas Is Akin to California Says Horn

The Tech committee found the educational situation on the Pacific coast a great deal more akin to that of Texas than was the situation on the Atlantic coast.

On the Pacific, they are doing things, Texas is still doing things. Therefore on the Atlantic, they have done things. Texas has much more in common, educationally with California than with Massachusetts.

Furthermore, the climate, the history, the traditions of the Pacific coast are much more nearly those of Texas than are those of New England.

The early history of California was Spanish. So was that of Texas. The latitude of Southern California is very much that of Texas.

Accordingly, it is not surprising that the committee for the Texas Tech completely revised its ideas of architecture for the new school after it had visited the school of the Southwest.

Among the institutions visited were the State University of Arizona, New Mexico and California, the University of Southern California, the southern branch of the University of California, the California Technological Institute at Pasadena, the California Techsars College at San Diego, and Leland Stanford University at Palo Alto. The committee also inspected several interesting high school buildings among them being those of San Diego and Palo Alto.

The predominant note in the architecture of all these institutions is the mission or Spanish-American type. To a greater or less extent, this is found in all of the institutions mentioned.

Them ost complete architectural plan is undoubtedly that of Leland Stanford. Here there is a succession of patios or inner courts surrounded by carefully planned buildings.

The original plans made under the been slightly modified but in general are being carefully followed out. It is stated that about ten million dollars has been invested in these buildings up to date, though it would probably take twice that much to replace them at present prices.

Architect Staats was impressed with the fact of the tendency for the construction to go into concrete work. In several of the schools visited the first buildings were erected of stone and later ones were made of concrete.

From a technological standpoint, the most interesting institutions visited were the California Institute of Technology, formerly known as Throop Institute, at Pasadena. This is not a large institution and has no desire to be.

There are about 500 students and it was said that the number would probably be limited to a thousand. Women are not admitted. A carefully devised plan of architectural construction has been worked out and is being put into effect. The work is strictly technological. The new president, Dr. M. M. Milliken, a distinguished scientist, formerly a member of the faculty of the University of Chicago.

At the University of Arizona there are a number of new buildings with one old building still remaining as a landmark, the first constructed in the history of the institution. It is an interesting fact, however, that this old building was regarded as the most comfortable of them all, especially during the heat of the Arizona summer.

It was designed by an Army engineer who knew something about architecture and a great deal about Arizona. As a result, this one building seems better adapted to climatic conditions in Arizona than are any of the more pretentious modern buildings.

The Texas Tech committee wondered if it would not be possible to erect buildings which would have all the conveniences of the most modern ones and yet which would be as well adapted to the Texas climate as was the older one.

RICH MAN WOULD QUIT WOMAN WED ON DRUNK PARTY

ST. LOUIS, Mo.—That he woke up and found himself married to a pretty young woman one day in June 1913 was the startling testimony given in Judge Hall's court here by Herman H. Laumeier when hearing was opened in his suit the court determined whether he is the father of a child born after Mrs. Byrd Laumeier obtained a divorce from him in June 1913. Laumeier, a wealthy clubman, blamed liquor for the difficulty.

CITY KIWANIAN TO COMPETE FOR NATIONAL PRIZE

Will Enter Attendance Contest of International Order Says Lubbock Secretary

Geo. W. Brewer, secretary of the Lubbock Kiwanis club, notified Kiwanis International recently that the local club would be enrolled in the International attendance contest now being fostered by Kiwanis Clubs International.

The attendance committee of the local club recently met in called session and outlined the plans for starting the contest. The club which has seventy-five active members has been divided into two divisions, the "odds" and the "evens", with Herbert F. Stubbs as captain of the latter and Louie P. Moore, captain of the former.

The club attendance in the past has been exceptionally good, the secretary stated, more especially since arrangements have been made for Thursday's luncheon to be held at the Armory, as a permanent meeting place each week. Considerable rivalry is anticipated and already the battle lines are being formed. In this, as in other contests, the losers pay, and as a member of the "even" side expressed it yesterday—"we intend to stay 'even' too."

The five captains appointed on the "even" side, and the members for whose attendance they are responsible, are as follows: L. C. Ellis, captain team No. 1; Norton Baker, F. M. Bowen, Jr., P. F. Brown, L. M. Brooks,

Dr. G. G. Castleberry and Dr. W. E. Craven.

I. F. Holland captain team No. 2; M. M. Dupre, W. B. Atkins, Rev. C. N. N. Ferguson, Wm D. Green, Amos H. Howard, Claude B. Hurlbut, and T. J. Hubbard.

Claude McDaniel captain team No. 3; G. B. Jackson, Dr. J. T. Krueger, E. L. Law, P. M. Maddox, Geo. W. Morris, Ray C. Mowery and H. A. Davidson.

Chas. H. Read, captain team No. 4; C. E. Maedgen, Owen W. McWhorter, Pink L. Parrish, Geo. W. Pickle, S. P. Robbins and R. A. Sower.

T. W. Sawyer captain team No. 5; Dr. Samuel H. Stewart, Herbert F. Stubbs, R. I. Wilson, Spencer A. Wells, Richard White and F. C. Yarbro.

The contest begins immediately, and in the finals, each side will be graded on the percentage attendance basis entirely.

The "odds" under the leadership of Herbert F. Stubbs, have not yet announced their line-up, but will perhaps be ready to give out the information at Thursday's luncheon.

Sheds for Machinery

One of the greatest wastes in farming is found in neglect of farm machinery. Every year there is an appalling loss through machinery being left in the fields or by the roadsides during the winter.

Suitable sheds for sheltering farm equipment are very inexpensive and can be erected quickly from simple plans. They provide adequate protection and only a thorough oiling of machinery in the fall is necessary to keep it in shape for years of service.

Ask us about the material and costs of building these sheds.

STUDENT GOVERNMENT PRACTICED AT HIGH SCHOOL GREAT SUCCESS

Lubbock high school, following in the footsteps of the largest colleges, universities and high schools of the country, has a form of student government which is of great aid to the faculty of the local institution as investigation of the situation shows.

The high school student council was begun last year with Roy Davis, now a student at the state agricultural and mechanical college, as its president and from the very beginning was found to be an unqualified success.

The organization attends to all disciplining of students for minor offenses, such as skipping classes, insubordination and infraction of the school rules. The honor system, practiced in examinations where the instructors leave the examination rooms and permit the students to write their papers without faculty supervision, is upheld by the student council and any violations are promptly taken care of by the organization.

Thus far this year the council has held a total of thirty-seven trials of students for violations of rules and of the honor system. Upon several occasions the body has made suggestions to the faculty concerning temporary suspension of students and in every case the suggestion has been carried out. The organization meets every month, on the first Monday, and transacts its business. Trials are held subject to call by the president.

The council is made up of four seniors, six juniors, six sophomores and fourteen freshmen. M. M. Dupre, superintendent of public instruction and C. N. Atkinson, principal of the high school, are the faculty supervisors of the organization, but never attend unless requested by the president.

Miss Margaret Turner, a senior, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John F. Turner, is president of the organization. Miss Eunice Hutson, also a senior, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Hutson, is secretary-treasurer. Ralph Carpenter, son of Mr. and Mrs. T. T. Carpenter, also a senior, is vice-president, while James Allen and Merwin Earrier, the former a freshman and the latter a junior serve the body as sergeants-at-arms.

There are thirty members of the student council, a boy and a girl student from each room, chosen by vote of their room-mates, making a total of 14 girls and a like number of boys in the entire organization.

The members of the student council for the current school year are: W. H. Full Mallard, Ennis Jones, Blanche Fann, John Nugent, Jessie Lee Vance, Maurine Henderson, Tom Sullivan, Ethel Sides, Frank White, Stancel Bagwell and Margaret Baska.

Morton J. Smith, Ina McPherson, Max Davis, Lucille Davis, Lola Rogers, Lola Hilton, Alfred Atkins, Alice Cloninger, Gordon Dickinson, Alice Barry, Marvin Williams, Lucille Andrews, Adie Lou Posey and Roy Ingram.

HEAD OF OKLAHOMA COMMERCIAL SECRETARIES LAUDS A. B. DAVIS

That A. B. Davis, Lubbock's new secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, was highly thought of and appreciated in Oklahoma, where he resided prior to coming here, is borne out in the letter printed below, which was written to James C. Nance, publisher of the Plains Journal, by P. P. Duffy, president of the Oklahoma Commercial Secretaries association, and secretary of the Duncan, Oklahoma Chamber of Commerce.

Tulsa, Oklahoma, March 11, 1924.

Hon. J. C. Nance, Lubbock, Texas.

Dear Friend Jim:

I notice by the papers that you have moved to Lubbock and invested in a newspaper there. I hope the investment will be a profitable one and that your living there will be pleasant.

I also notice by the papers that your city has secured the services of A. B. Davis, formerly of Durant, as secretary of the Lubbock Chamber of Commerce and I hasten to congratulate you, city in securing him for in my observation of the Oklahoma Commercial Secretaries association I look upon Mr. Davis as being one of the most alert and resourceful of all of them. He was a wonderful help to me in my work with the state organization when I was endeavoring to put over the $200,000 road bond issue in Stephens county. I followed his plans used in Bryant county and had no trouble putting over the issue.

As secretary of the Oklahoma Commercial Secretaries association I have found Mr. Davis to be invaluable and I regret very much his leaving his post at Durant. However, what is our loss is Lubbock's gain and we must loan some of our best Oklahoma men, including yourself, to Texas to help boost communities.

With kindest regards to you and Mrs. Nance, I am,

P. P. DUFFY
President Oklahoma Commercial Secretaries Association.

storial chair at Washington is to be short-lived.

Mr. Croeger sees only defeat for Mayfield and victory for R. B. Peddy who has brought action to unseat the junior senator on charges of election law violations.

"Speaking as a lawyer, with all political preference in the matter out of my mind, I am convinced the Peddy-Mayfield senatorial contest has already developed sufficient evidence to unseat Mayfield," Croeger said.

"I have formed this conclusion after conference with the men who have stood behind the guns in what has been termed the 'battle of the ballots.' The evidence will show conclusively, in my judgment, sufficient irregularity to unseat. Particularly well defined is the matter of discrepancies in the election results reported immediately after it was held and the actual count as found by the senate canvassers.

"I think it will show not only enough irregularity in the actual matter of numbers, but that it will be proof positive of a conspiracy to defraud the people. It will show that there is no result of the so-called election, because the people who cast the ballots had no voice in the results of the election."

Guy Robertson former President of the First National Bank at Lawton, Oklahoma, was sentenced in district court at Oklahoma City Monday, to five years in the Federal penitentiary at Leavenworth, Kansas on conviction of violation of the Federal banking laws. Robertson is also president of the Oklahoma Bankers Association. Robertson was charged with making false reports and with embezzlements, he rebuilt.

JAIL TERMS AND DEATHS PUT END TO FAMOUS FEUD

A Quarrel Begun Generations Ago Carried On Till 4 Are Killed And Two Jailed

BLOOMFIELD, Mo. Mar. 19.—Another chapter has just been written in the famous Stoddard county family feud which has existed in the Cooper family here for the last thirty five years, but which until a few years ago, had no, caused the death of any of the participants.

Four members of the Cooper family today were dead as a result of the feud. One member was facing a sentence of 20 years in the state penitentiary, another was under sentence of three years in the state penitentiary and still another, a woman, was recovering from injuries received during a gun-battle between her father and uncle.

The latest chapter was the filing of information against Joe Cooper on a charge of shooting and seriously wounding Myrtle Cooper, daughter of James Cooper. He will be tried at the next term of the circuit court here. Joe Cooper today was in jail following conviction on a charge of carrying concealed weapons.

The feud started in a colony of the Coopers formed by children of the early Coopers who came from Tennessee years ago. Three years ago Edgar and William Cooper were shot to death by Clarence Cooper, nephew of the former and cousin of the latter, on a lonely road north of Bloomfield. Cooper was tried three times for the murder, and only a few days before the fourth trial was scheduled to start, Clarence was shot and killed by James Cooper. Clarence was Joe Cooper's son, and swearing vengeance over the body of the youth the older Cooper declared he would avenge the death.

Recently he is alleged to have shot and seriously wounded his brother, James Cooper, and the latter's daughter.

PRICE OF DRUGS SOARS AND EVIL IS LOSING HOLD

Price Jumps from Seventeen to Five Hundred Dollars While Addicts Moan for Help

KANSAS CITY, — The drug traffic that once marked Kansas City as a sore spot in the side of law enforcement today was only a ghost.

Federal narcotic agents credit two mediums with the wane of the deadly "dope" evil here—constant struggle of the local and government authorities against the drug traffic and the tremendous increase in the price of habit forming drugs.

Intensive campaigns during the last twelve months against drug vendors were climaxed by the assistance of the federal courts here in dealing maximum sentences on the guilty. Consequently the life was snuffed from the bulk of the illicit business.

The drug wall's crumbling was accelerated materially by the rise in price of certain drugs from $17.50 an ounce to $500 an ounce narcotic agents said. Addicts generally were unable to purchase the required amount and many look the narcotic cure which is given free by the city. Others resorted to illegal means of obtaining money with which to make the purchase, were caught in the wide net of government agents, and later sent to prison.

C. C. Madison, United States attorney, attributes the great slump in the drug traffic here to the resentencing of four men, especially Frank Grantelle, John Disalvo, Mike Negro and Stone Lamento, all of whom were convicted of violating the Harrison act and ordered to prison for seven years.

Daily, Madison said, throngs of "dope" users come before federal agents with pitiful pleas, tales of suffering from their inability to secure more of the drugs and ask to be given the treatment.

Attendants at local hospitals where drug patients are handled said many persons come for the cure merely to obtain free of charge the daily ration of narcotics, Madison said. As a result the hospitals soon were overrun and now only cases that are considered dangerous are taken by the city.

Woman Who Sleeps For 18 Months Is Baffling Doctors

ST. LOUIS, Mar. 19.—Asleep for 18 months. That's the condition of Miss Pauline Frossard, 42 years old, who lies on a bed in the Missouri Baptist sanitarium where her condition today continued to puzzle the medical staff.

Since August, 1922, Miss Frossard has been in bed in a deep slumber which is interrupted but now and then for a few fleeting moments of semi-consciousness during which she is moved of glass and will break if she moves. Nurses feed her through a glass tube. She can take only liquid foods.

Physicians are baffled. Nationally known scientists have been studying her peculiar affliction but none have solved the mystery of her long sleep.

Some of the physicians who have been interested in her case believe her illness is due either to hereditary or glandular trouble, and hope that patient treatment will in time restore her to normality.

The patient's mother said her daughter's condition is traceable to an accident when Miss Frossard was 6 years old and fell, landing on her head.

Miss Frossard is grand daughter of Jacques Pieren, and early French settler who is said to have come up the Mississippi on one of the ancient flat boats owned by the Cheateau family, and to have settled near Pierron, Bond county, Illinois.

Baby Implicated In Blackmail Is Held Minus Home

KANSAS CITY, Mar. 19.—The "blackmail" baby still was without a home today.

Dorothy May Dring, 1 year old, called the "blackmail" baby because of the innocent part she played in an attempt to obtain $50,000 from Joseph Brown, Kansas City packer, was being cared for temporarily in the Evans Home for Children.

Unconscious of the publicity she is having, Baby Dorothy May continues to favor her nursing bottle as her best friend. Mrs. Glyn Hunter, who is in charge of the child, says she is "good and seldom cries."

Miss Eileen Mabelle, now a fugitive named the baby in her $50,000 breach of promise suit against Brown, naming him as the child's father. Later Miss Mable Dring, a former British war nurse, appeared and identified Dorothy May as her baby, entrusted to Miss Mabelle at the time of its birth. Miss Mabelle had written that the baby had died, Miss Dring said.

The mother said the child's father was a Scranton, Pa. physician who she met while serving in France. She came to America with the physician after he promised to marry her. When it was learned a baby was to be born, the physician deserted her, Miss Dring said.

Miss Dring will return to her home in Chicago as soon as a home for the baby is found.

Some think the sensational campaign is liable to cause a shortage of harvest hands. Not so. There is not one among the candidates who could hold a job as harvest hand.—Tulsa World.

Carnegie's Goose that laid Golden Eggs

Andrew Carnegie, who landed in America a penniless boy from Scotland, and became one of the richest men in the world said, "Investing is the goose that lays the golden eggs." Of the time when he first discovered the benefits of Investing, he said, "I never forgot that lesson as long as I lived. It gave me the first dollar that I did not have to work for with the sweat of my brow."

A Golden Opportunity Awaits the Investor in Lubbock, "The Hub"

Golden eggs await the investor in Lubbock Property—Golden opportunities to invest their money in such a way that it will effect returns, money that will have been made not by hard labor, but by common sense investments. The property listed below is priced to you at such a figure that you can't wisely pass it up, Property that will increase in value from day to day—property that includes some of the best in the City of Lubbock; property that will make you money while you sleep. It is going to be sold—at an unusual figure; it will pay you to investigate without delay. Remember too, that wishing will never make you money or realize you a home. A word to the wise is sufficient.

If you want a place in the Sun, you'll have to get out in the rain pretty often—Moral: Phone 205 without delay.

All Lots Located in the Overton Addition Too

100-ft. northeast corner of block, on W. 8th Street, north or east front can be had. Only 5 blocks from New K. Carter school. A dandy home location and a "Pre-Tech" price. Some terms, too.

75-ft. north front, just 1 block north of Main Street, 5 blocks from New K. Carter school, and only 3 blocks from high school. A value you will really appreciate. This location would be cheap at $1,500.00, but wait until you see the location, then find out what the price is. Don't forget this location includes all city conveniences.

100-ft. north front, just 1 block south of Broadway on beautiful 13th Street, midway between the high school and the Tech grounds—positively the most beautiful location for an ideal home that can be found in Lubbock. Easily worth $3,000 today. You won't believe us when you learn how cheap it can be had. Owner desires a nice home erected on the property, hence the price is worth while, $5,000 minimum building restriction will be reserved in deed to this property. Some terms, too.

75-ft. fronting north, on West 10th Street 3 blocks north of Lubbock's $150,000 high school, all city conveniences, including water, sewer, lights, telephone connections, etc.

This is the location for that little home you have been looking for, and you'll be shocked when you learn how cheap it is.

Two lots on West 8th Street, only 5 blocks from K. Carter school, inside lots, only 6 blocks from high school. Cheap at $1,000. The location and price we have will please you. Some terms, too.

Two 50-ft. lots on West Main Street, 100-ft. fronting north, adjacent to water, sewer, lights, etc., shade trees growing nicely. The last pretty location left on this ideal residence street. Every thing ready —just let your contract and start building. A location to be proud of ($5,000 minimum building restriction will be retained in deed to this property.) Beautiful homes surround this location, and it would be cheap at $2,500—it can be had for a whole lot less.

160 acres, within 6 1-2 miles of Lubbock, on main highway—just across the road from the best brick rural school in West Texas, employing 5 teachers the year round. 100 acres in cultivation, good improvements, 7-room house, large barn, splendid community. 99 per cent tillable. 20 years time on part of purchase price. FARM CLUBS AND HOGS TO GET ATTENTION HERE NOW

County Agent D. F. Eaton and County Home Demonstrator Miss Mabel Marsh are extremely anxious that farmers of this section take an interest in two campaigns being sponsored by them. The two campaigns are the "Ton Litter Contest," among hog raisers of Lubbock county, and the Boys and Girls Farm clubs, both of which is being given a great amount of attention by both agricultural officials here.

Below is printed the text of the matters of both campaigns as submitted for publication by Mr. Eaton and Miss Marsh:

Ton Litter Contest

We have a communication from the Secretary of Texas Swine Breeders' Association calling attention to the continuation of Texas' Ton Litter Contest directed by their association in cooperation with Extension, Department of A. & M. College among swine growers.

Now we are well aware that the hog business has been "in bad" in this section as well as other parts of the state, however, we can't afford to sidestep this important industry altogether and the Ton Litter Plan is a safe way to get back in line without sustaining a loss if you have some breeding stock on hand and a reasonable amount of equipment and some feed.

It has been called to my attention that this section has had no entries in this contest and especially this county.

Application for membership in this contest must be made soon. All requirements and regulations have been sent to this office so we would be very glad to talk over with any one interested in this work all details of the contest.

Everyone has a pride in seeing this section developed and a limited number of hogs are necessary to balance up the agricultural progress. There are indications that the hog business will stage a "come back" in a small but profitable way. Someone must at least grow the normal seed stock for the farm meat supply. This supply should be of the very best bred stock to insure economical meat supply.

So in line with the above we hope to have some applicants for membership in this interesting and profitable contest. Come in and let us talk it over.

NEW SANITARIUM NOW FINISHED BY ABILENE CHURCH

West Texas Baptists Bring To Successful Completion New $150,000 Hospital

ABILENE, Texas. — The five story, fireproof, modern sanitarium building to be known as the West Texas Baptist Sanitarium has recently been completed in this city at a cost of $15,000 for the structure itself. Plans are now under way by the Board of Trustees of the institution for the furnishing and putting into operation of the modern hospital plant at an early date. A big rally of Baptists of this section in the interest of the sanitarium is scheduled for April 4, with Dr. George W. Truett of Dallas as the speaker of the occasion.

Doctors from a large section of West Texas, including the second medical district of the state and adjoining counties, have been invited to attend a special all-day session in this city on March 12 and will be entertained by the sanitarium board at a luncheon. First official and public inspection of the building will be made on this occasion by the visiting members of the medical profession. The all-day session is scheduled in connection with a regular meeting of the Taylor County Medical Association, and leading physicians of the state have been secured to address the assemblage in the afternoon.

Sometime before the first of April the sanitarium board is planning a general opening of the building to the people of Abilene. Later a special opening is to be arranged for the students of Simmons College, whom the institution is particularly designed to serve, the building being only one block from the college campus. Under the inspection of the completion of the new hospital plant a pre-medical club of some fourteen members was organized during the past week at the college.

May Electrocute Texas Steers In Future Is Belief

PORT WORTH, TEXAS, Mar. 19.—Cattle slaughtering by electrocution. Such is the newest in packing circles.

Although Omaha has established a precedent by the killing of cattle in its packing plants by the use of electricity, several Texas firms are giving the unique move serious consideration.

After seven years of diligent effort, an employee of an Omaha packing concern perfected a device for electrically killing cattle. The National Humane Society which recently offered a large cash reward to the discoverer of a more humane method of slaughter, has approved the invention.

But the humane angle is only of minor consideration, packers say, who have discovered the electrocution route to be a great step in economy.

At headquarters of Swift and Armour executives of those companies expect to make an announcement within the next few weeks as to whether the electrical system will be standardized throughout the world in their plants.

Should they find the method feasible, a noticeable reaction will be experienced in Texas, for its inventor points out, the device performs the work of many men.

"It may revolutionize the packing industry" one of the Swift executives declared after witnessing the invention in operation.

TALES OF CRIME CAUSE TULSA TO LOSE GOLF MEET

TULSA, OKLAHOMA—Tulsa county put renewed vigor in its fight to purge Oklahoma of lawlessness and two-gun men today after receiving word that the Trans-Mississippi Golf Tournament went to St. Joseph, Mo., instead of to Tulsa for the reason that the expert greenmen were reluctant to risk the danger of Oklahoma bandits.

Local professional golfers say they have it on good authority that when the golf moguls were about to name Tulsa as the gathering place of the galaxy of stars the tournament officials chanced to observe in Oklahoma newspapers accounts of the bandit hills, killing far pots and discourteous hi-jackers.

After digesting the startling news the officials who decide where golf tournaments shall be held refused to further consider subjecting the gentlemen in knee pants, plaid Sox and caps to the dangers they were led to believe were plentiful in Oklahoma.

After checking up the bankers' protective association diary and finding there had not been a bank holdup in St. Joseph since Ty Cobb took up baseballing, the golfing powers agreed upon that peaceful city in northern Missouri as a healthy place for the Trans-Mississippi, it is said.

Lack of Law Frees Woman Caught With Big Whiskey Still

LEAVENWORTH, Kas., Mar. 19.—Having no ordinance against the ownership or operation of a still, the city of Leavenworth was forced to dismiss charges against Mrs. W. F. Martens, whose home was raided and a 29-gallon still and four gallons of mash found.

Mrs. Martens admitted to authorities that she had been selling the whiskey at $5 a gallon to obtain money to pay off a mortgage on her home. State authorities arrested Mrs. Martens following her dismissal by Leavenworth officers.

The city council will be urged to draw up and adopt an ordinance looking toward prosecution of such cases, members of the police department said.

Grocery Chain Sued On Charge of Abuse

SAN ANTONIO, Texas, Mar. 19.—Alleging that she had been accused of theft, locked in a room for more than two hours and abused and assaulted, Mary Vaughn has filed suit for $50,000 damages in district court here against the Piggly-Wiggly Stores, Inc.

The petition states while in the store making several purchases she was accused of stealing and subjected to a severe grilling.

The only successful peace plan is the one that will show everybody an easy way to get $50,000.—Springfield Register.
