RUMOR TECH TO SPONSOR LEAGUE

Disappointment With Texas Interscholastic League Is Cause Of Rumor

(By Associated Press) DALLAS, Nov. 25.—Political maneuvering for next year's presidency of the Texas State Teachers' association and for next year's meeting place began with the first session of the association's convention here today.

Three candidates for president succeeded Leo Clark, of Gainesville, were actively at work, while El Paso vied with Houston for the honor of entertaining the convention at the same time.

Rumblings among the delegates indicating a possible change in the University of Texas interscholastic league were heard. Complaints against the league growing out of the annual high school football competition are heard at every convention. This year the matters are to be thrashed out at a breakfast Friday morning at which Roy Hedrick, of Austin, manager of the league, will preside. The league is a branch of the extension department of the state university. There is some talk of Texas Technological college at Lubbock heading a west Texas league and withdrawing from the Texas university organization. A number of schools have expressed a desire to withdraw.

Nominations of officers are to be made tonight and the election will be held from Friday noon to midnight by ballot.

Teachers Fund Talked A teachers' retirement fund or pension is to be the important matter for consideration. A committee headed by Dr. F. B. Clark, of College Station, was appointed by the last convention to devise a plan of pensions for dependent retired teachers. The report is to be the basis for action by the convention.

The first general session was opened with a Thanksgiving service at St. Baptist church, where Dr. George W. At, pastor, delivered an address in the spirit of the day. Dr. Truett said that ingratitude was one of the chief of modern life running all through the activities of home, state, and church.

"More taffy and less 'epitaphy' is what this country needs," he said.

Tipter Talks. John J. Tipter, United States commissioner of education, read from an address delivered at the National Educational Association convention in Indianapolis last June. He said that though the constitution of the United States mentions neither God nor education, yet religion and education are the truest expressions of American ideals. In wide travels over the country, he said that he had observed that nothing is so obviously natural in the United States as its churches and schools.

Two billion dollars a year is spent on public education in the United States, or $15 for every man, woman and child, he said.

QUIET PREVAILS IN BATTLE ZONE DURING HOLIDAY

GOVERNOR TAKES FAMILY TO GRID CLASSIC AT COLLEGE STATION

AUSTIN, Tex., Nov. 25.—Governor Miriam A. Ferguson today sought relief from the charged atmosphere of the Texas capital, in the gala abandon of College Station where Texas University and Texas A. and M. College football teams play for the southwest conference title.

Leaving behind her the announcement of 195 Thanksgiving clemency proclamations to Texas convicts made public last night, the woman governor and her family serenely departed yesterday for the scene of the big game with Texas electorate still speculating as to whether she will call the demanded special session of the legislature.

Grand Jury Report Saturday. The report of the Travis county grand jury which the capital is awaiting as a probable important factor in the special session agitation, will not be made until Saturday. On that date the grand jury probably will make known the final results of its two months investigation of the highway department. The report will come as the eagerly awaited sequel to the resignations of two highway commissioners following disclosures of apparent irregularities in road contract letting, and the commissioners' subsequent appearances before the grand jury.

Back To Austin Tonight. The Governor will return to Austin tonight to face again the alternative of calling a special session of the legislature before December 15, as requested by 52 legislators in a virtual ultimatum, or of seeing the legislators convene themselves for the announced purpose of investigating state affairs.

Yesterday's 195 clemency proclamations by Mrs. Ferguson broke all records and brought to 1,135 the total since her inauguration January 29, 1925. The majority of the convicts had served most of their sentences. Many of them were represented as being destitute, friendless, in ill health, or needed by families.

HUNG JURY ENDS FIRST CASE ON JAKE CHARGE

The first test case of County Attorney Owen W. McWhorter's "jake" ordinance, which was passed by unanimous vote of the city commission recently, and went into effect here Oct. 23, was heard in police court here Tuesday, and the jury composed of six local men was discharged after they failed to reach an agreement, two of the six holding out for acquittal.

J. W. Dillon and R. F. Dillon, father and son, proprietors of a local hotel and a confectionery, were defendants in the case in which they were charged with selling the banned Jamaica ginger. One witness was produced by the state, who testified that he had seen the "jake" sold over the counter of the confectionery. The city's case was in charge of Robt. Heep, son of Judge Geo. R. Heep, of the law firm of Heep and Klett.

The defense, in charge of Attorney Henry Bishop, produced several witnesses who denied that the extract had been sold by the defendant.

Under provisions of the new ordinance, Jamaica ginger or kindred products usually termed as "jake" cannot be sold by local business houses or individuals without a prescription from some doctor, and complete records on every prescription or sale must be kept for public record by the prescribing physician and the vendor of the goods.

Re-trial of the case is expected to be called in the near future, city officials said.

Poultry House Is Built At Canyon By Agg Students

CANYON, Nov. 24.—Eleven boys, ranging in age from 14 to 18, who are studying agriculture under the direction of T. E. Moore, vocational agricultural instructor at the West Texas State Teachers' college, have just completed a poultry house project of which they are very proud. The poultry house, which is 16x16 feet, was planned and built by the boys as a regular class project.

It has a shed roof, faces south, and the front is open; there are no openings on the north and west from which directions the hard winds come.

The inside of the house is covered with tar paper, which shuts out draughts and acts as an insecticide. The floor of the house is fine gravel. The roosts, mash troughs, nests and all other fixtures were designed and made by the students.

The building houses 55 white leghorn hens, carefully chosen from well established egg laying strains. The eggs produced are used by the college dormitories.

GOREE—The Knox county commissioners have again taken charge of the highways of Knox county and are using county machinery on state highways.

SPECIAL TERM OF DISTRICT COURT OPENS HERE

The special four weeks term of the district court opened here Monday morning with Judge Clyde E. Edkins presiding after his formal election to a seat on the bench at a meeting of the Bar association immediately following convening of the court.

The case of Lubbock Irrigation Co. vs. C. R. Thompson and E. V. West was called to trial, and the selection of a jury was started at 2 o'clock, when the afternoon session opened. The case is a foreclosure suit, involving a certain amount of real estate.

Reaffirm and Burke, local law firm, are handling the case for the defendant, and are being opposed by Bledsoe and Higgins for the plaintiff. It was expected that the case would be completed at the afternoon session.

Judge Clark M. Monday opened court at 10 a. m. in the newly created 106 judicial district and will have charge of court matters there in the absence of Judge Gordon B. McGuire, who was disqualified in most of the cases on the docket. Judge McGuire went to Crosbyton, the regular appointment of Judge Millican for the term.

Only civil cases will be heard at the special term of court here, and official hope is clean up the docket to a great extent preparatory to the January term.

TELL TALES OF WHIPPING BOSS

Negroes Die After Beatings in Prison Camp, Witnesses Tell Investigators

(By Associated Press) ALBEMARLE, Nov. 26.—Stories of how negro convicts "were beaten unmercifully" that they died within a few hours are featuring the trial here of M. C. Cranford, Stanley county convict superintendent.

Eight convicts testified yesterday that Cranford extended over a period of several years. Several white convicts testified that they had seen Cranford whip two negroes one afternoon and that both men died that night.

A negro showed the judge scars on his body which he testified were from beatings at the hands of Cranford.

Evidence was brought out tending to show that another negro was dragged behind a truck for a great distance and died shortly afterwards.

Kincaide Damage Suit Called In County Court Here

The case of T. R. Kincaide vs. the Santa Fe Railway company, which was called in county court here Wednesday morning, will probably not be finished until Friday, court attaches told the Daily Journal Thursday.

Mr. Kincaide, whose home is at Shallowater, is seeking damages in the amount of $140, alleged by him to have been caused when his car was struck by a Santa Fe train at a grade crossing near Shallowater last June.

Mr. Kincaide, who was riding by himself at the time, was unhurt, and seeking to recover only damages to his automobile.

THE NAZARENE IS NOW ON DISPLAY AT RIX STORE

"The Nazarene," the new $30,000 canvas masterpiece of Cary Thontay, world famous artist, is now on display at the Rix Furniture and Undertaking company, in a special arrangement by which every part of the magnificent picture is brought out to the fullest.

The painting portrays the Christ in prayer among the cliffs on the mountain of Capernaum, and the color effect brought out by the masterful brush of Mr. Thontay is exceptionally effective. The rising sun's rays may be seen lighting up the tops of the cliffs, and a halo of glory is thrown around the entire scene.

The picture will be on exhibition through the holiday season. H. H. Griffith of the Rix Co., said Tuesday, and is being offered absolutely free to art lovers of the South Plains.

Pinch Pola's Visitor TIME PASSES AWAY

Cops Say He Stole It LOS ANGELES, Calif., Nov. 24 (AP)—Peter Rosian, an actor and fond of associating with stage and film folks, passed the time away with other guests at Pola Negri's bungalow here last night. He departed before the others and a little later was jailed on suspicion of grand larceny. Police assert that when Rosian passed out of the bungalow the time passed away in the shape of a gold clock. Miss Negri valued at $1,000.

NATURAL GAS IS LIKELY TO HAVE ATTENTION HERE

Renewed interest is being shown here over the possibility of natural gas for this city and surrounding territory with the announcement here late Tuesday evening that a large corporation is now negotiating for certain acreage property and drawing up preliminary plans in connection with drilling a test well near here.

Sam C. Arnett, president of the Citizens National Bank, who for the past several months has been working with other local men on plans for the drilling of a test well, told the Daily Journal Wednesday morning that he believed drilling on one test well, and probably two, would be under way within 60 to 90 days.

Arnett followed the gas situation over this city Tuesday. Large corporations, having heard of the situation here, frequently send out representatives to look over conditions. Mr. Arnett said, and although he is vitally interested in the latest report, he is no more enthused or optimistic over this case than he has been throughout the several months that he has been connected with the proposition.

Representatives Here. Two representatives of foreign capital were in this city Tuesday. Mr. Arnett said, and as far as I am personally concerned, it does not make much difference whether it is found by foreign capital or local. Geologists that have been working continually on the proposition for our company are firm in their belief that gas fuel in abundant quantity can be found, and although geologists for foreign corporations are hesitant in making positive assertions, they invariably intimate the same thing.

P. O. Department Urges Following Of Mrs. Coolidge

WASHINGTON, Nov. 24 (AP)—Christmas gifts were urged by the post office department today to follow the example of Mrs. Calvin Coolidge, who the department said, "already has started her Christmas shopping and sending mailings."

"If the first lady of the land joins in the campaign of the postoffice department for early and often Christmas mailing of letters and packages, there does not seem to be any valid reason why every man, woman and child in the United States should not follow her lead," the department said.

DALLAS.—Homesteads may be sold to satisfy federal income tax levies, Judge Meek in United States court ruled here yesterday in the case of C. R. Staley, of Vernon, who sought to restrain collectors from selling the Staley homestead. Texas law prohibits the sale of homesteads for taxes or debts.

VERNON.—Vernon quietly observed Thanksgiving with all stores and business houses remaining closed throughout the day.

GALVESTON.—Bids on the Corpus Christi and Sabine-Neches waterway project, involving the expenditure of $900,000 will be opened at the U. S. engineers office here Friday.

POLICE DEPARTMENT FINES REACH $3,665.61 DURING FOUR MONTHS; TRAFFIC LAWS ARE TO BE UPHELD

The City Police Department of Lubbock collected a total of $3,665.61 in fines from July 1 to November 1, this year. It is revealed by the records of Desk Sergeant Wiley L. Motcalf.

The large percentage of the receipts was derived from charges of drunkenness, vagrancy and speeding, but far many more arrests have been made for violation of traffic rules other than speeding than all three of the others combined.

Approximately 168 were jailed during the four months time, 142 of whom were held for drunkenness, which is considered by Police department officials as a startling situation. The most of the other arrests were for vagrancy and gambling.

Traffic Violations Worry. The main worry of officials now, however, is enforcement of the traffic regulations, which they claim many local people insist on violating, and speeding holds the forefront in this connection. Since the passage of the ordinance regulating speeding on the streets here, officials have not enforced the law to the letter, they admit, especially as this enforcement relates to the fine assessed for violation.

In other words, the minimum fine of $5.00 which is provided for in the ordinance is all that has been collected to the present time, the violator being dismissed without paying the stipulated $1.00 per mile for every mile that he is racing in excess of twenty. It was the opinion of officials that strict enforcement of $5.00 section of the ordinance would to a great extent stop the speeding, but in the words of Police Chief T. E. May, the assessment of this minimum amount has barely scratched the surface, and instead of putting a halt to the practice, the speeders seem to be more determined that they will violate the law.

Law to Be Enforced. Therefore, according to the Chief, the law will be enforced in its entirety effective December 1, and every individual brought in for violation of the speed laws, will be called upon to pay the $1.00 per mile charge for every mile in excess of twenty, in addition to the regular minimum assessment of $5.00.

The Chief also says that more rigid enforcement of the law governing the passing of another machine, on a street intersection will be started, and he pointed to the fact that this portion of the regulations not only is on the city statutes but is a state law. The enforcement also will be tightened around those making left hand turns on those corners where markers very plainly say "No left hand turn."

It was announced that there may possibly have to be additions made to the mounted force of policemen to curb the practices, but that if this became necessary, it would be done. The Chief appealed to the public in general for assistance in handling the situation, saying that they could be of a great deal of help if they would.

WARNING ISSUED PLAINS FARMERS IN BUYING SEED

PLAINS ORGANIZATION IS TO FORESTALL SHADY DEALS IN PLANNED

The farmers of the south plains should be on their guard in every respect in connection with the purchase of cotton seed for planting purposes next year, according to County Agent David F. Eaton, who has joined hands with the Lubbock Chamber of Commerce in the promotion of a program that will bring more diversification and better living conditions on the farms of this section of the state.

On account of the fact that the cotton crop in Texas is exceptionally short this year, especially in certain sections, it is expected that there will be a very noticeable shortage of planting seed throughout the state, and it is invariably the case under such conditions that the country is flooded with impure seed purported to be of the best variety obtainable. Mr. Eaton said.

The program, plans for which are now in the making through the local chamber of commerce, the county agent and other farm organizations, will be made south plains wide, and every similar organization in this part of the state that is interested in better farming methods will be asked to join in the movement, tentative plans provide.

It is estimated by the county agent that not more than 10 per cent of the necessary planting seed needed for next year's crop will be home grown in the entire territory north of Lubbock, and that a not very much larger percentage will be grown in the territory south.

This condition, he says, will give overly-ambitious seed salesmen the opportunity that many of them have been waiting for, and it is his opinion that if farmers are not on their guard, the country will be flooded with seed represented as pure, when in truth they show an exceptionally low germination test and mixed varieties. On this score, he speaks from experience, for such conditions have been known to exist, and many such sales of the kind mentioned have been completed.

To forestall this, it is the plan to link up various chambers of commerce, retail associations, and farm organizations in this section into an organized force whereby information in connection with certain deals which are considered as shady, might be assembled and passed out for the benefit of each.

R. J. Overton, of Hollis, Okla., who was injured Tuesday afternoon when the light car in which he and a friend were riding overturned on the street intersection at Broadway and Avenue J when they collided with a heavier car driven by a local man, was resting well at the West Texas Hospital here Thursday, according to reports of attending physicians.

Through examination of the injured man revealed that the abdomen had been crushed by the impact of the car as it turned over, and injury to the chest and inflammation of the bruised portions had subsided, shortly past noon, and the injuries will not be fatal, physicians said, although it will be several days before the patient will be permitted to leave the hospital.

Faculty Play Is Planned For New School Building

HEREFORD, Nov. 25.—"Miss Cherry Blossom, or a Maid of Tokyo," a Japanese comedy, will be given by the Hereford high school faculty as the initial program for Hereford's new $125,000 high school building which is nearing completion. The new structure will be completed by the middle of December and the play will be given a few nights later, although the definite time has not yet been announced.

MITCHELL CASE TO HOLD STAGE

Court Will Meet Tomorrow As Prosecution Starts; Take Holiday On Saturday

(By Associated Press) WASHINGTON, Nov. 26.—On resuming tomorrow after a recess over Thanksgiving, the Mitchell court martial, which has been dividing attention with the Shenandoah naval court of inquiry, will hold the stage by itself, at least for several days.

As the army court trying Colonel William Mitchell, head the defense rests its case yesterday just four weeks to the day from the beginning of the trial, the naval court adjourned subject to the call of its president after hearing the last witness under summons.

May Summons Mitchell. The naval tribunal, however, may decide to again summon Colonel Mitchell as a final witness. This will depend on whether the court judge advocates conclude from examination of the colonel's testimony before the army court martial that he could give testimony germane to the Shenandoah inquiry. On being summoned before the navy court, he refused to take the necessary oath as a witness on being denied the privilege of making a statement to the court.

100 Witnesses Summoned. The Mitchell trial had hardly started the presentation of its case after the defense rested when the court recessed yesterday with a decision to meet again tomorrow and take another court martial for the army court martial. Tomorrow the prosecution will introduce the first witness on the list of 100 who have been instructed to hold themselves in readiness.

An issue that has figured prominently in Colonel Mitchell's criticism of army and navy air service policies finds an echo in the annual report of Major General Mason M. Patrick, chief of the army air service. This concerns the probable value in war of fixed anti-aircraft defense. General Patrick believes there is a definite place in the air defense scheme but he asserts that "the surest defense against aircraft is other aircraft."

Ground equipment, he thinks, should be "limited to certain fixed localities and reduced to a minimum."

DUSKY MAID TO TELL HER TALE

Testimony Of Negro Bride Of Stuttering Millionaire Coming On Monday

(By Associated Press) WHITE PLAINS, Nov. 26.—Mrs. Leonard Kip Rhineland is expected to testify Monday when trial of her husband's suit for annulment of his marriage to a quadroon servant girl resumed. Meanwhile, the stuttering millionaire's attorneys will give careful attention to testimony given by the star witness yesterday that Rhineland had been informed prior to the marriage that the girl was a negro.

Rose Chidester, former chauffeur for the plaintiff's father, testified that he drove the couple to a hotel in 1921 before their marriage. Once in Stamford, Conn., he said, Rhineland showed him a watch he expected to give to Alice Beatrice Jones, daughter of the tuxedo driver, for Christmas.

"I said, 'Don't you know her father is a colored man?'" Chidester testified.

"He said, 'I don't give a damn if she is.'"

Offered To Testify. On cross-examination, Chidester acknowledged that he had previously offered his services as a witness to the plaintiff. He said he left the Rhineland service, voluntarily and had no ill feeling against the family.

Justice Morichauer granted a request for amendment of the complaint in the suit to declare that Beatrice Jones deceived Rhineland by failing to inform him she had negro blood. The complaint originally said she had deceived him by stating she was white.

Mrs. George Jones, the defendant's white mother-in-law, testified she knew nothing of her daughter's premarital adventures with young Rhineland. Mrs. Jones admitted in cross-examination that her oldest daughter, Ethel, was born out of wedlock in England before she married her mulatto husband.

Questions along this line were sharply criticized by defense counsel, but defended by Rhineland's trial lawyer as justified to show the credibility of the witness.

Robert Brooks, Rhineland's faultlessly dressed negro brother-in-law, was absent yesterday for the first time since the trial began. It could not be learned whether he had gone back to his work as a butler or whether he was sleeping at home instead of in court as heretofore.

This part of the program was especially interesting and enjoyed by all. A large crowd was present throughout the entire evening and many expressions were heard for the enjoyable time.

The recital was very informal and only a small number of listeners were present, but they were very appreciative of the efforts of the performers.

Following the program Mrs. Wagner took the guests on a delightful sight-seeing tour thru Lubbock by way of postcards and had picnic after which refreshments were served.

This is second of a series of recitals given by Miss Huff's music class this month and three are planned for the month of December.—Reporter.

Why Lubbock Has Good Light and Power Service

The Light and Power service which you have today is distinctly an American product. In no other land has this service reached the perfection, efficiency and economy that distinguishes it here.

This is because of the attitude of the business of the public utilities toward the people and of the attitude of the people toward the public utilities.

Recognized by both as an essential public service, it has been the aim of the public utility business and the communities served to cooperate for the common welfare.

Public opinion, more than laws, regulates this business in the interest of its users. Public opinion is based upon understanding. This company seeks to have its customers and the community understand what it is doing for the community and how the private initiative encouraged by the American way of doing things is profiting them through good service.

Frank Walker's Tech Trumpeters Having Big Week

Frank Walker's Texas Tech Trumpeters, the mappy orchestra which has been delighting Lubbock dance patrons for the past two months and which last week played its way into the hearts of many hearers during the production of "Nice People," has a busy week ahead of it, Manager Walker told the Journal today.

On Wednesday night the orchestra will play for the Elks club at Plainview, returning to Lubbock to play at the Elks hall here on Thursday night, following the Tech-West Texas State Teachers College football game. Friday night will find them playing for the Elks at Amarillo while Saturday night the A. and M. club at Potts has contracted for the boys' services.

With the exception of Manager Walker, who makes his home in Abilene, all of the eight members of the orchestra are Tech College students. Bedford Jones, trumpeter, hails from Eastland, while Eschbacher claims to be from the boys' services. Happy McGuire, drummer, and Ray Pitts, saxophone player, Harley Fowler, pianist deluxe, comes from Electra, as does Royce Hunt, bass horn topper. Phil Phillips, trombonist, makes his home in Graham and John Robin, saxophone and clarinet, with Morci McGreger, banjo player, comes from Wichita Falls.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank W. Stearns, of Boston, were the only White House guests. Illness prevented the President's father from being present, and John Coolidge, the executive's son, is remaining at Amherst College, until Christmas.

DALLAS, Tex., Nov. 26. (AP)—Twenty paintings, the work of American artists, were purchased at the 1925 State Fair of Texas as a result of the showing of 137 canvases.

The report of Mrs. Sydney Smith, superintendent of the art department, made to Secretary W. H. Stratton of the fair association, said that this year's collection represented modern American art, divided into three groups, the Academicians, the National Society of Women Painters, and Dallas painters.

Comments by visitors, it is stated, were indicative of an unusually pleasing exhibition, colorful in tone and modern in choice of subject, with figures and still life predominating over pure landscape.

The purchases reported included the following: "Salsuma Jar," by Katherine Travis, of Dallas, taken by Mrs. Archie N. Rodgers.

"Edge of the Canyon," by E. G. Eisenlohr of Dallas, purchased by Royal A. Ferris.

"Landscape," by Aveau Bassett of Dallas, and seven small water colors by John A. Cook, purchased by Boris Grdat.

Maurice Braun's "Autumn Colors," went to Don Houseman; "Brooke in California," by the same artist, to C. W. Hobson, and "Autumn in Old Lyme," also a Braun study, to Mrs. Tom W. Leddon.

"Hollyhocks," and "Return of June," both by M. Elizabeth Price of the American Society of Women Painters, went to Mrs. S. I. Mungler, and "Bine and Gold," by Louis F. Berneker, to Herbert Marcus.

Dr. William E. White purchased "Emotion," also by Berneker, while "Landscape and Xenia" by Matilda Brown, went to Mrs. White.

Maud Fox Brenker's "An Arrangement" was taken by Mrs. Kemp Derksen, Houston, and Frederick Mulhaupt's "The Green Boat" went to Mrs. W. H. Hirst.

HOUSTON, Nov. 26. (AP)—Francis Murray, 15, was probably fatally injured here today by the explosion of a fire work's bomb contained in an old pair of overalls. The boy was ramming about the fair grounds where a carnival company is showing and picked up the garment. He said he was raised in an eastern charitable institution and has no home.

THANKSGIVING

Inasmuch as we have small time to spare in this busy age for twilight hours, it is good to set aside a day wherein to take stock of the intangibles of life. The spirit of the day emphasizes the weal and not the woe of the year's march, but that is as it should be, for in the United States blessings have the habit of outnumbering misfortunes.

To few people is granted such a single upward curve of enrichment, not only in material things, but in the added values of spiritual development. It has become part of the national religion to afford the enlightenment of education to every person within its borders; and one result is that the material prosperity won by work is used forthright to purchase leisure in forms increasingly worthy.

Thanks may be offered up for the preservation, through so much that is changing, of the permanent, ideals of the nation. It is no small miracle that this people, drawn from so many quarters of the globe, with so many and varied backgrounds, should find unanimity of purpose and aspiration in American ideals. It is of no small significance that this nation, representing within itself the memories of every other, should be able to enunciate clearly and convincingly the larger truths by which men seek to live. It is not unimportant that American citizenship is a living thing, an ever-articulate voice, a constant governing force, expressing its needs and ambitions with the conviction that its wish is will.

An American needs nothing other to inspire his Thanksgiving than the consciousness of his own splendid liberty. The world dies for lack of it. History is the chronicle of the quest for it. For this, tomorrow and every day is Thanksgiving.

DID NATHALIA WRITE THEM?

Those responsible for the controversy over the authorship of the poems published under the name of 12-year-old Nathalia Crane have one advantage over the investigators of the Bacon-Shakespeare debate. Shakespeare's authorship remained undisputed until long after his death, but Nathalia Crane still lives to prove or disprove the authenticity of her verse.

All this talk about who wrote Nathalia Crane's poems seems unimportant to the extreme. Mark Twain once settled the Bacon-Shakespeare controversy by announcing that "Shakespeare's works were written by somebody by the name of Shakespeare," and the public feels the same way about the works of the Crane girl. Somebody by the name of Nathalia Crane is their author, whether the name be true or fictitious.

Who cares who wrote the poems as long as they exist? The important thing is, are they good poetry? A work of art, once finished, has an existence all its own, independent of its creator. Into his work the artist puts all of himself, but, when the work is finished, it becomes a separate entity and must be judged for itself alone without consideration of its creator.

Because some of Nathalia Crane's rhyming is good many doubt that a girl of 12 could have written the poems she is credited with. It is in the phenomenon or the hoax and not in the poetry that the public is interested, so it happens that Nathalia's age, heretofore considered an asset, becomes a liability.

Your Uncle Sam Is Good At This

STEWART'S WASHINGTON LETTER

BY CHARLES P. STEWART, NEA Service Writer

WASHINGTON.—The best luck a government employe can have," said an elderly chief clerk who has spent all his adult years in a bureau of one of the Washington executive departments, "is to be fired before he has time to become really dependent on his job.

"Under the old spoils system, when a general cleaning out usually followed a change in administration, there was some hope of this.

"The civil service commission practically has ended it.

"Today a federal appointment generally means a life sentence. The poor boob who gets one doesn't know it at the time, but he might as well be accepting a nice cell in the Atlanta Penitentiary.

"The chances for advancement are about equal in either case. In Washington maybe you win your way up to a chief clerkship. At Atlanta, if you're good, they make you a trusty."

The old man pondered, his faded eyes brooding.

"On the whole," he reflected, "I think I'd have preferred Atlanta. Locked up young, I wouldn't have acquired a family to support on an inadequate salary. They tell me well-behaved prisoners are made very comfortable. At any rate, they don't have to worry. And if they don't like it, they can get out, sometimes. Their terms expire or they escape or are pardoned.

"In Washington—take me, for instance. I spend my waking hours figuring on schemes to make ends meet. At night I dream about it. It isn't only the necessities. I have a 'front' to keep up. My family and I must look respectable. My wife has to work, too, or we couldn't do it. And hardly anybody, once fairly settled in it, ever is able to get out of the government service."

POULTRY FARM STOCK

PLACING INCUBATOR EGGS ON THE MARKET

(By T. E. QUISENBERRY) Some farmers and poultry raisers make a practice of putting eggs on the market which they have had in an incubator for a few days and found the eggs to be infertile. This is a bad practice and should never be done by any honest farmer or poultry raiser. You may make good use of such eggs by consuming them at home. They will do to fry, for baking and for certain kinds of cooking, but they are absolutely unfit for the market. Such eggs, while good for home consumption are absolutely unfit for shipping. The yolk will break, the eggs will rot before they can reach the consumer, and it is a dishonest practice to offer such eggs for sale as fresh-laid eggs, and you lower the price on all eggs by so doing. Consume such eggs at home.

We have seen severe market losses due to a habit of sending infertile incubator eggs into commerce. This has been especially noticeable in the large houses making a specialty of breaking out eggs where they found it absolutely necessary to candle even in March and early April because farmers and poultry raisers were marketing infertile incubator eggs with their fresh eggs, and the incubator eggs came in in such bad condition and were so numerous that they had to be culled out before it was safe for the breakers to handle the eggs. At that time of the year there is no other reason for candling. You can see what a loss this means to any dealer, and instead of reducing the army of candlers which are now required this practice makes a demand for even a greater number.

Another very serious evil due to the marketing of infertile eggs from an incubator or from underneath a hen is their admixture with storage stock. These incubator eggs usually go on the market at the season when eggs are being stored without being candled. We know it to be a fact that infertile incubator eggs break down during transportation and handling and easily become "white rots."

Infertile incubator eggs can be used for bakers' purposes in the home, but under no circumstances should they ever be offered for sale or for shipment.

Another important reason why such eggs should not be marketed as fresh eggs is the fact that they are liable to be seized by food inspectors as being misbranded. Such eggs play havoc with the storage stock, and we are in hopes that no farmer or poultry raiser will be guilty of such a dishonest practice.

Trap Nest Is Accurate Test of Hen's Ability

The trap nest is the most accurate test of a hen's ability to lay eggs, but it is not practicable for those who live on farms, with all the other work they must do. Therefore, poultry specialists have been studying the general characteristics of laying hens, so that we might have a set of almost exact rules for telling the layers from the loafers. It has been proven over and over that these rules work correctly and so farm women need longer feed hens that will not pay for their feed bill and give a profit. We must also remember that these lay hens, which have been loafing all summer, fall and winter, will be laying their few eggs next spring at hatching time, and if their eggs are set, we will have another flock of loafers.

The hens that begin to molt in July should be sent to market. There is one exception to this, the hen that has hatched and brooded a flock of chicks, for she will usually go through a partial molt before she begins laying again. August 15 and September 15 is the best time to cull, but it will pay to go over your flock from time to time through the summer and cull out. Sell those that have stopped laying. There are usually a number of hens in every flock whose general appearance indicates they have low vitality, little vigor and will never be profitable egg producers. A great percentage of these low vitality birds are late hatched pullets of the previous season.

Poultry Hints

Carrots, cabbage and sprouted oats help make strong chicks.

Good hatcheries are obtained only when the laying stock has been selected for vigor and made to exercise.

Fresh eggs are the best for hatching purposes. If it is regarded necessary to keep hatching eggs they should be stored in a temperature of 60 degrees or lower.

Cull all undeveloped pullets and old hens from the flock.

Early hatched pullets will molt early in the fall and be ready for laying next winter at a season when egg production is low and prices high.

It has been shown that young chicks are most susceptible to infestation of roundworms until about 12 weeks of age. With severe infestation death may occur in two weeks. In mild infestations chicks live, but growth is slower and resistance to disease less.

DIPHTHERIA NOW ON INCREASE REPORT SHOWS

AUSTIN, Tex., Nov. 25. (AP)—With 73 cases of diphtheria in the state during October as reported by county and city health officers, and 103 cases reported for the first two weeks in November, the state board of health today called attention to the prevalence of this serious malady in several states. The board urges the cooperation of school authorities with local health officers to prevent spread of diphtheria in Texas.

In asking this cooperation, Dr. H. Sappington, state health officer, said that diphtheria is especially a menace to school children in all communities where it develops, but that through the cooperation of school authorities and local health authorities, any threatened epidemic can be easily controlled.

"Diphtheria is one of the diseases which we know most about," Dr. Sappington said, "and though one of the most deadly of all diseases if not treated, it is curable in practically 100 per cent of cases when scientific attention is rendered early. It is also a preventable disease and knowing as much as we do of its cause and treatment, there is no excuse for its existence.

"Some children are immune to diphtheria, and will not contract the disease when exposed. There is a simple test by which it can be ascertained whether a child is immune from this disease, and where a child is found susceptible immunization can be given without pain or danger that will probably protect the child from this disease for life.

"To insure a diphtheria proof populace, it is only necessary to immunize every child found susceptible to this malady. Especially is it necessary that children be immunized in communities where diphtheria occurs.

DENTON, Nov. 25 (AP)—An additional charge of burglary was filed here last night against Yancey Storey in connection with the alleged burglarizing of J. H. Keebow, resident of Krum, in December, 1923. The state demands an examining trial.

Late Wednesday Judge Hal Lettmore ordered approval of bonds aggregating $48,000 in 26 cases pending against Storey in Denton county and release of Storey subjected to approval in Collin county on bonds totalling $4,000 in four cases against him there transferred from Collin county to Denton on a change of venue. It is expected that the filing of the new charge will hold up release of Storey until his examining trial Saturday.

TWO-FOLD PURPOSE IN HOLDING SOUTH PLAINS SCOUT RALLY IN LUBBOCK THURSDAY SAYS PALMER

The boy scout program that is to be held here Thursday is being put on for a two-fold purpose, the Daily Journal was advised today by Scout Executive H. B. Palmer, who said that the primary object of the day's celebration was to bring to a realization of other towns on the South Plains the great amount of interest that is being shown in the scout movement here by the citizens of Lubbock.

He pointed to the fact that Lubbock now has five troops, consisting of 32 boys in each troop, with other units planned in the near future, and that there are probably 150 local business men who are never too busy to rehearse with the scouts any movement that is for their good. These, he said, are exclusive of the actual scout masters and executives who take the lead.

While interest and enthusiasm are on the increase all over the eleven counties that comprise the South Plains Area Council, Mr. Palmer said that some of the towns in the district have not yet caught the vision of the magnitude of scout work, and it is believed that when they are brought face to face with more than 500 scouts who will gather here for the day Thursday, it will bring to them a realization of the good that can be accomplished. The fact that adults do not yet realize the great good that can be brought about is assigned as the only reason that much more activity is not apparent.

The boys will gather here Thursday over 500 strong, including the Lubbock scouts, and will endeavor to show to the public by various means just what scouting means, Mr. Palmer said. He stressed the fact that all adults, especially parents of scouts should attend the district court of honor meeting which will be held in the court room of the Lubbock county courthouse beginning at 7 o'clock, and also pointed to the camp fire program as a feature of the day that will be of interest to even the most casual follower of the work.

This camp fire program will be held on the vacant plot north of the new city hall, and not on the block north of the Lubbock Inn, as has been announced. It will follow immediately on the heels of the court of honor meeting, and three very unique methods of starting fires without matches will be demonstrated, one of which will be without flint or kindling, and without friction caused by rubbing two sticks together.

The plot on which the program will be held may be surrounded on three sides by automobiles and if desired by owners of the cars they may turn their lights on so that a better view of the proceedings may be had. This will be the closing feature of the day's program.

Jennings Delivers Inspiring Message To Packed Auditorium When Churches Join In Thanksgiving Day Service Here

Union services of all Lubbock churches were held this morning at the First Presbyterian church, beginning at 10 o'clock and lasting about one hour, during which time the Rev. Walter J. Jennings, pastor of the First Christian church, delivered an interesting and inspiring message to a packed auditorium.

The Rev. E. E. White, pastor of the Methodist church, was in charge of the service, and was assisted by the Rev. Mr. Harris, Episcopal minister. Music for the occasion was directed by W. H. Wagborne.

The sermon by the Rev. Mr. Jennings included a resume of the age-old custom of Thanksgiving, starting with primitive times and bringing it on down to the modern day period, giving views of the custom and its significance in connection with civilization. The three outstanding "Thanksgiving Days" mentioned were the first Thanksgiving Day observed by the Pilgrims in 1621, the first National Thanksgiving Day by proclamation of Washington on Nov. 26th, 1789, and the Thanksgiving Day of 1863, established by Abraham Lincoln and since observed as an annual festival.

The text chosen by Mr. Jennings was exceptionally appropriate, and was interpreted in an unusually interesting manner. "Christ's Human Cry for Appreciation" was shown by several passages of scripture, and using that as an illustration he explained the necessity of having a day set aside on which to especially offer thanks of appreciation to the great Deity.

Another phase of the passage was the human craving for appreciation and encouragement. Quoting from the Rev. Mr. Jennings: "If Christ longed for appreciation, how much more does humanity in general long and thirst for words of praise and encouragement! And what the world craves and needs is not appreciation locked behind sealap lips, for what profit is there in the appreciative spirit if there be not the appreciative word?" And again, "This desire for appreciation and recognition is not a weakness—it is wholly and beautifully normal. And this appreciation must not be delayed. We may wait until it is too late."

Throughout the message, the Rev. Jennings' usual easy and fluent use of the English language made it possible for him to interpret each point in a very beautiful way.

Child Study Club Held Interesting Meet Wednesday

The Lubbock Child Study club met on Wednesday afternoon for one of the most important as well as instructive meetings of the year.

Promptly at 3 the president took her chair and after the reading of the secretary's minutes the subject of federating our study club was discussed and it was unanimously decided that we should federate immediately.

Mrs. Hub Jones introduced our distinguished visitor, Mrs. Price, president of the seventh district of the Women's Federated clubs. Mrs. Price in her own gracious manner talked in quite an informal way of the possibilities of the club and the great work that this club is capable of doing.

It was her suggestion that we do something very definite for the children of Lubbock. She brought to our attention the good which might be derived from having supervised Saturday morning picture shows for children. The club voted to accept this idea, of Mrs. Price, and a committee composed of Misses A. V. Weaver, A. T. Stewart, H. L. Allen and Percy Spencer, is to report on this at the next meeting.

She reviewed so beautifully her trips to Austin, to the conference of the Women's Federated clubs, that each lady present couldn't feel other than desirous of living up to the standards that this conference stood for.

Then quoting Mrs. Price's exact words followed: "And now in conclusion may I say that I found your club has in it one of the most capable women in our seventh district. She is not only clever, charming, tactful and diplomatic, but is equally accommodating and willing to render public service that few are fitted for. Recognizing this splendid efficiency in that member of yours, I ask Mrs. Percy Spencer to serve as district chairman of press and publicity, and as you, who know her unselfishness so well, would expect, she accepted."

The club greeted this part of Mrs. Price's talk with much enthusiasm and felt greatly honored in claiming Mrs. Spencer as one of our members.

Mrs. Jones thanked Mrs. Price for being with us and addressing us in a manner which was so helpful to all. Mrs. Jones extended an invitation of membership to our club and also an invitation to visit with us as often as possible.

Mrs. Garland Woodward, acting as leader for the lessons, gave the gist of the lesson as "The culture a child gains through coming in contact with literature." She insisted that the mother be constantly mindful of the fact that a good background for culture is acquired in early childhood.

Mrs. Maple Wilson read a good paper, stressing the importance of the child getting acquainted with good literature through the home training of the parents.

The instinct of maternity is the birthright of every woman and Mrs. H. L. Allen urged that we cultivate the love of story telling, if it is not innate for our children's sake.

"Culture in childhood" was well discussed by Mrs. A. V. Weaver, who very cleverly used her own personal experience as example.

Mrs. Garland Woodward suggested that we are perhaps inconsistent in our culture of the youth in that we superintendent child literature and let the youth read according to his own choosing.

"Name some form of culture as a hobby so your declining years may be a joy to you," was urged by Mrs. Hub Jones.

Mrs. C. A. Burrus insisted that the child and youth be read to by the adults so that they may get the influence of the beautiful literature of both poetry and prose.

These numbers concluded the splendid program and Mrs. Percy Spencer gave the treasurer's report and asked that each member pay her dues promptly so that her books can be closed by the first of the year.

SUPT. OF SCHOOLS AT IDALOU WEDS HERE TODAY

Home J. Jackson, superintendent of the public school at Idalou, and Miss Mary Elizabeth Young, a teacher in the schools at Idalou, were very quietly married at the Methodist parsonage here Thursday morning at 9:45 o'clock by Rev. E. E. White, pastor of the Methodist Church.

Mr. Jackson is a brother of Dr. W. A. Jackson, professor of Economics at the Tech College, and now is in his second year with the schools at Idalou, where his rapid promotion from principal last year to superintendent this year, attests the faith that the school patrons of Idalou have in him and his work. He is the seventh child of a family of twelve children who are scattered to the four corners of the state. He is a twin brother of the principal of the junior high school at Memphis.

Mrs. Jackson, nee Miss Young, is the daughter of a prominent family at Sulphur Springs, and also is teaching her second year at Idalou. The ceremony was witnessed only by Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Jackson, of this city, and Mr. and Mrs. Teal, friends of the bride from Idalou.

The happy couple left by auto shortly after the ceremony for Amarillo, from which place they will visit a brother of Mr. Jackson at Hedley. They will return to Idalou Sunday night, the brother of the groom here told the Daily Journal Thursday, and will re-enter their work in the school next Monday.

HEREFORD'S 1925 BUILDING GOES OVER HALF MILLION MARK; PAVING CONTRACT IS MADE FOR $150,000

Special to the Daily Journal.
HEREFORD, Nov. 26. — Launching of the paving program recently, which will cover 45 blocks and represent an expenditure of some $150,000, will bring Hereford's improvements program well above a half million dollars for 1925. The building boom here is greater than it has been for any two years during the past fifteen year period.

A $60,000 ice plant has just been completed by Texas Utilities company. The county completed a $50,000 hospital early in the year. Hereford's new $125,000 high school building is now nearing completion. W. M. Cordell is now building a $85,000 addition to the Corova hotel. G. W. Brunley is erecting a 59 by 329 feet brick drive-in filling station and garage. F. H. Oberstler is erecting a 60 by 60 two-story brick building on west Third street. H. B. Webb is having plans drawn for a large brick store building just north of the Golden Rule Produce. H. H. Hawkins has just installed a 12,000 egg capacity incubator at the Golden Rule Hatchery and has just completed three large stucco poultry houses. Some twenty homes ranging in price from $2500 to $7,500 have either been completed during the past few weeks or are now under construction. Seven small houses, a dining hall and a drive-in filling station have just been completed at the tourists camp grounds in west Hereford, and the dwelling on the same site is being remodeled and stuccoed. It is safe to say that upwards of $60,000 have been spent on dwellings during the past eight months.

The dead are, Captain Karl H. Gorman, Morgantown, W. Va., and Lieutenant Howard C. Branch, of Pass Christian, Miss. Their bodies have not been recovered. Officials are unable to fix the cause for the twin motors stopping at the same time, as this instance is the first on record.

ELABORATE PROGRAM OF BOY SCOUT ACTIVITY STARTS AT FIVE O'CLOCK TODAY; PLAINS BOYS GATHER HERE

Probably the most elaborate program ever held in the South Plains Area by the Scouts will be put over in Lubbock today. From the time the football game is over, the boys are going to be "Scout Town," exclusively. The boys have their part, with the parade, which will be under the direction of Mr. K. N. Clapp; especially so in their "box supper banquet" to be supplemented with hot chocolate or chili—held in the old City Auditorium.

These two features alone will be well worth the while of all boys in the organization. The definite route of the parade depends upon the length of time allowed by the game, but it is known that it will take in all of the business section of town. Mr. Clapp has been working with the scoutmasters of the various troops, to get the boys in order, and order is now their watchword.

Mothers Assist in Feed
Mr. S. A. Henry, in charge of the "box" for the boys, is being ably assisted by the mothers of the scouts here in Lubbock. These ladies have rallied loyally to the task of putting over this side of the program, and the boys are certainly to have a time. Each scout attending the supper is to bring a box of lunches for two boys. Mr. L. S. Harker, Area Commissioner, will preside at the meeting of all the scoutmasters, assistant scoutmasters, and other scout leaders from the district, to be held at 8:00 p. m. in the Court room of the city hall. These meetings of the scout leaders of Lubbock have been held from time to time, but this is the first that has been held for all scout leaders of the Area.

Court of Honor Meeting
The Court of Honor meeting, to be held in the County Court room, is to be one of the biggest features of the day. Court of Honor meetings have come and gone during the summer, here in Lubbock. Boys have advanced gained recognition, and then advanced more, with others taking rank after rank in Scoutdom, and some excellent meetings have been held; but this meeting is to be the biggest, most efficient, and most productive meeting of the year. With some sixty scouts in local troops coming as candidates for honors and advancement, and quite a number from other towns in the Area Council, all records for work passed upon will probably be broken.

Parents of Scouts, especially, are urged and invited to attend this meeting. Good music will be had; and such speakers as Judge Mulliken, who will preside at the meeting; L. S. Harker, Dr. J. C. Granbury, of the Tech; Rev. John E. Eldridge, of Tahoma; K. N. Clapp, and others will give short talks to the boys about Scouting.

Executives To Meet
Immediately following and while the boys are having their Campfire program just north of the city hall, the monthly meeting of the executive board of the area will be combined with the biennial meeting of the entire council in a banquet held in the basement of the Leader building. Some seventy out-of-town scout men will be present for the banquet and the council meeting. The Kiwanis and the Rotary clubs are to be highly commended for their splendid co-operation in making the whole program a success, and especially in the matter of this banquet. Plates at one dollar each, have been sold to local scout leaders and business men, and this will care for part of the expense of serving the supper.

OFFICIAL PROGRAM
5:00 p. m.—Parade, business section of city, by local and visiting Scouts.
6:00 p. m.—Box supper banquet for Scouts held in City Auditorium.
6:30 hour—Scoutmasters' Round Table, City Hall court room.
7:00 p. m.—Court of Honor meeting for Area Council, county court room, court house.
8:00 p. m.—Campfire program by Scouts, started north of City Hall, and—
Same hour—Banquet, Executive Board and Council meet. in basement of Leader Building.
9:30—Adjournment.

Federal Bureau Employment Man Here Called In
Rollin Roach, representative of the federal employment service, who has been here for several weeks assisting to direct the flow of labor to this section of the state, left Tuesday morning for headquarters office at Fort Worth in answer to a call from the bureau there.
Mr. Roach said just before leaving here that he did not know just what the intent of the bureau was in the call to him, but that it probably meant at least temporary closing of the bureau here. He took the call to mean that higher officials wanted more direct information in connection with the situation on the south plains that could not be gotten through letters.

The labor situation as a whole on the south plains, he said, is not good, as answers to queries sent out by him said that the need for cotton pickers, in which he has been particularly interested, is well supplied, and that as far as he knows personally there was really no need for the agency at this point at the present.

SLATON—$100,000 paving bonds were voted here in the special election of Nov. 17. This means approximately $300,000 new paving for the city of Slaton.

SAN ANGELO—Definite action on the proposed 112, 200-acre irrigation project in Coke county, recently inspected by A. Lincoln Fellows, chief federal reclamation and irrigation bureau, Denver, has been delayed until further consideration. Estimated cost is above two and three-quarter million dollars.

"Live At Home" Is Name Of Club In Panhandle County

Special to the Daily Journal
HEREFORD, Nov. 24.—The live at home plan seems to have been perfected in the Progressive Community in Deaf Smith county by the organization of the Community Canning Club. Twelve families are included in the organization and during the past season over 6,000 quarts of meats and garden products have been canned.

The organization has a 100 quart pressure cooker and a canning house. Each member paid in $10 as an entry fee, and then sold enough canned stuff in advance to pay for the rest of the close cooperatively. That in all the members of the club worked regardless of whose products were being canned.

The season's work included 1462 cans of corn, with Mrs. Ray Hershey in the lead for individual cans with 300 qts., 749 cans of Beans and peas with Mrs. Ray Hershey again the largest individual canner with 125 quarts; 345 cans of tomatoes, with Mrs. Ira Ricketts in the lead with 76 quarts; 775 cans of Peaches and Pears with Mrs. G. F. Lewis in the lead with 100 quarts; 425 cans of Sweet potatoes with Mrs. George F. Lewis again in the lead with 75 cans; 425 cans of Beef and port with Mrs. Chas. Hodges leading with 80 quarts to her credit; 160 quarts of Pumpkin with Mrs. Chas. Hodges again ahead with 25 quarts. Some 775 cans of products have been put up for people outside the community by this organization.

purchase on the market these ladies have saved over $12,000, practically all the stuff canned would have otherwise been worthless and practically all of it was put up during the spare time. Every member of the club will have more than enough canned goods to use during the coming year, and a large percent of them will have some stuff to sell. The live at home plan is being practiced at Progressive will spread to all parts of Deaf Smith county next year, according to R. O. Donnie, county agent.

Special to the Journal
HEREFORD, Nov. 24. — Superior bred, the young bull that won the grand champion prize at the Deaf Smith county Hereford show, and at the Nolan county fair at Sweetwater, has just been sold by Henry Williams to D. L. McDonald, local Hereford breeder, for $1,000. This young bull is out of a Peau President Junior cow that sold in the Sweetwater sale for $500 recently, and sired by Superior Anxiety, Tom Fox's premier herd bull.

This is the highest price that has been paid for a stock animal in this section since the drop came in cattle prices several years ago, and indicates that the Hereford industry is getting on its feet again, and shows that Deaf Smith county is still considered the center of the Anxiety 4th line bred cattle.

Superior bred is considered one of the outstanding individuals of Texas and promises a great future. He stood first in class, won junior and grand champion prizes at the Deaf Smith county show, was first in class at Lubbock and was placed first in class, junior and grand champion at Sweetwater recently. This bull will be conditioned on the D. L. McDonald farm.

At the recent Sweetwater sale 29 head of Herefords were sold. The nine best priced animals came from Deaf Smith county herds. Five high priced best bulls sold on an average of $475. This fact that the stuff sold so high indicates that people are restocking with a view to moving into the Hereford business on a large scale.

Deaf Smith county breeders plan to have a number of heavy animals at the Fort Worth fat stock show in March.

Service as Important as Selling Electricity

Between the mere sale of a commodity, and the giving of a good Light and Power service, there is a wide difference.

Merely placing the commodity on sale, as is done with ordinary merchandise, does not meet the needs of electric current consumers. They want a lot more than that.

First, they want a continuous supply. Just imagine what would happen if we said like some merchants do, "Sorry, we are just out. We expect more tomorrow."

Second, that supply must be regulated in accordance with probable demands. We must look ahead and be prepared to supply any demand. New comers, new industries do not expect to wait for the service. Consequently they must be provided for long before they ask.

These things are service, as contrasted to the mere sale of a commodity. They are the things this company, your company, is ever striving for, and doing.

CITY SUED FOR $15,000 AFTER INJURY TO BOY

BURNING OF WILSON LAD ON LIVE WIRE BRINGS SUIT FOR DAMAGES

A damage suit seeking collection of $15,000 from the city of Lubbock was filed in district court here Wednesday, the Daily Journal was advised shortly past noon by Louis F. Moore, clerk of the court. Harold Wilson, a minor, through his father, E. H. Wilson, is plaintiff in the suit, which charges that negligence on the part of the city employees in permitting a live electric wire to lie on the ground near the Wilson home in the northwest part of the city caused severe burns on the hand and shock to the body of the 11-year-old boy.

The complaint sets out that on Aug. 7, 1925, the plaintiff, in a playful mood, picked up one end of the wire intending to attack it to his home and the other end to the home of his boy chum, and that the insulation was off the wire with the result that the left hand and wrist of the youth was severely burned.

Peace and Starnes, local law firm, will handle the case for the plaintiff.

GUNS BARK WHEN BANDITS TRY TO ROB BANK VAULT

FRENZIED POPULACE HAS HECTIC NIGHT; MANY SHOTS ARE FIRED

(By Associated Press.) CASSOPOLIS, Mich., Nov. 24.—Armed bandits terrorized Cassopolis for nearly three hours early today firing at every resident who dared to appear on the streets and finally roared out of town to the station accompanied by their own revolvers after failing to rob the First National Bank.

Their number was variously estimated by excited Cassopolis residents at from five to ten. From the confusion of scores of accounts by persons who, tersely, led them to see what all the shooting was for and whose better judgment almost as quickly sent them out of sight and gun range, this is what happened:

The bandits entered Cassopolis shortly after two a. m. today.

Bound Watcoman, they beyond the night watchman and three other men who were in the all-night restaurant, cut telephone and telegraph wires leading from the city and for two and a half hours owned the town.

At 4:45 a. m. after an ineffectual attempt to free the vault of the First National Bank, the bandits left in an automobile heading toward Niles.

Fired 100 Shots.

During the time they held undisputed possession of this (Case) county seat town, the bandits fired between 100 and 150 shots (again the accounts of eye witnesses are at variance), and only one shot was fired in return. Revolvers and sawed-off shotguns were used and the targets were any who appeared on the streets or who showed lights in office buildings or residences near the business section.

George Jones, a stock buyer, was the one casualty. As he emerged from his house he was greeted with a volley. A shot gun slug inflicted a neck wound and he retreated into the house.

CONTINUANCE IN THOMPSON CASE IS GRANTED

The case of the Lubbock Irrigation company vs. C. R. Thompson and E. V. West, which was called for hearing in the district court here Monday at the opening of the four weeks special term, was continued until the January term. Jno. L. Ratliff, of the law firm of Ratliff and Burks, who is handling the case for the defendants, told the Daily Journal Tuesday.

Certain pleadings in connection with the case on the part of the defendants, which were submitted to the court Monday, were rather lengthy, and W. H. Hedcoe, counsel for plaintiff, asked for time in which to study the pleadings. This, coupled with certain circumstances surrounding the case that has not yet developed fully, brought about the continuance.

MULLICAN GRANTS NEW TRIAL IN TAX CASE

Judge Clark M. Mullican, of the 72nd judicial district, as his last official act at the October term of court which closed here Saturday afternoon, granted a motion for a new trial in the case of the state of Texas vs. Gerald Burrus, which was a suit seeking collection of certain amount of taxes on Cochran county lands held by the defendant. The case was brought to the district court from Morton on a change of venue, and a verdict was rendered favoring the state during the hearing of the case at the regular October term here.

CHICAGO AUTO DEATH TOLL NOW STANDS AT 706; SCORE DIE OVER NATION IN WEEK-END ACCIDENTS

(By Associated Press.) CHICAGO, Nov. 24.—The automobile death toll in Chicago and vicinity for 1924 stood at 706 today, higher than any previous year. Eighteen deaths were recorded here last week. Deaths in automobile mishaps in ten middle western states for the week numbered 84 as compared with 113 for the previous week. Ohio headed the list with 29 while Illinois reported 29 and Indiana 12. Others were: Missouri and Oklahoma 6 each, Texas and Minnesota 4 each, South Dakota and Kansas 2, North Dakota 1.

The over Sunday toll of automobile mishaps was small, but nearly a score of persons met death in airplane and fire accidents, by drowning, poison, and other causes.

Archibald A. Young, a 29-year-old San Francisco millionaire, was killed and a companion probably fatally injured when a plane fell fifty feet at Redwood City, California. At St. Joseph, Mo., eight persons were injured, one seriously, when an airplane struck a tree while making a forced landing.

A shooting mystery developed at Meadorville, Mont., when three men two of them miners, were slain as they emerged from the home of one of the victims. Mystery also surrounded the death of four children of the family of Gus Collin, a miner of Manna, Wyo., following the eating of poisoned or spoiled meat. A 90-foot drop to the cement floor inside a huge concrete elevator under construction at Minneapolis resulted in the death of four workmen. Drownings occurred near Pittsburgh, Pa., and Sioux City, Ia., and one man there burned to death in a fire at Yankton, S. D.

Another Relic of Pre-Prohibition Is Marked For Swift End As Searchlight Is Turned On Many Wine-Making Rights

(By Associated Press.) WASHINGTON, Nov. 24.—Another relic of pre-prohibition days, has been marked for a swift end by treasury officials. Some several hundred thousand and wine-making permits, which have enjoyed a quiet and untrammelled perpetuation of life since the years before the Volstead act, have come under the searchlight of the new prohibition regime and will be revoked under a regulation to be promulgated, probably within the next day or two. The act as issued allows a maximum annual production by the holder, tax free, of two hundred gallons. They are held largely in the foreign quarters of the larger cities and are suspected of contributing heavily to the illicit supply.

Leads of sacramental wine into illicit channels also are to be plugged up. Secretary Andrews, the treasury's prohibition field marshal, has reached an agreement with Jewish leaders, whose churches are the largest users of sacramental wines, for new regulations to be issued this week, sharply reducing the amount of wine now permitted to be withdrawn for religious purposes.

Church heads of the Jewish faith were said to have given every cooperation to treasury officials in their efforts to shut off diversion of sacramental wine to illicit uses, and both believe the forthcoming regulation will accomplish that end without hampering the legitimate requirements of the Church.

Wayne E. Wheeler, anti-saloon league counsel, took occasion to praise these and other moves of Mr. Andrews to cut off the illicit liquor supply at its source in a statement issued at the same time that he challenged the conclusions in the prohibition survey made public yesterday by the Moderation League, Inc. The league concluded from a survey of conditions in several hundred representative cities that "the Volstead act has failed utterly to accomplish its purpose to promote temperance and sobriety."

Along with his steps to plug up the leaks in the prohibition dam, Mr. Andrews in instructions to his enforcement corps, has carried forward his idea of leaving the "hip flask" to the state and local authorities. The instructions were given in a letter to the administrator yesterday by the Moderation League, Inc. The league made public here, but which is understood to have informed them there appeared no necessity of subjecting motor cars and small boats on inland streams to wholesale inspection, and to have carried the warning that only on "legal probable cause" should they be stopped for that purpose.

LEGISLATORS TO FORCE GOVERNOR TO CALL CONFAB

SATTERWHITE GIVES HER UNTIL DECEMBER 5 TO CALL MEET

(By Associated Press.) AUSTIN, Nov. 24.—A petition demanding a special session of the legislature not later than Dec. 16, was presented to Governor Miriam A. Ferguson's secretary today. The governor declined personally to accept the petition from Representative Alfred Patsch, of Fredericksburg, who called at her office to present it.

The petition is signed by 44 members of the legislature and demands the session for the purpose of changing the highway laws and making appropriations for cattle disease eradication.

Satterwhite To Act

In the event the governor does not call the session by Dec. 16, Speaker Lee Satterwhite said he would issue a call for Dec. 15.

The governor declined to receive Mr. Patsch but sent word that her secretary was authorized to receive the petition.

Frank V. Lanham, who resigned yesterday as chairman of the state highway commission, was before the Travis county grand jury two hours today. Joe Burkett, member of the commission, who also resigned, arrived here today.

Lanham Before Grand Jury

The Travis county grand jury has been investigating the highway department for several weeks and the appearance of Lanham before the body caused considerable comment. However, it was indicated at the governor's office that his appearance before the jury was in accordance with the Ferguson's desires.

Governor Refuses To Act

AUSTIN, Nov. 24 (P).—Governor Miriam A. Ferguson today refused to permit Representative Alfred P. C. Patsch, of Fredericksburg, to present the petition of 44 legislators requesting her to call a special session of the legislature before Dec. 15 for the purpose of changing the state highway laws, make appropriations for eradication of foot and mouth disease.

Workers Need Not Fear

DALLAS, Nov. 24 (P).—Heads of state departments and employes who are honest in their work, have nothing to fear from a special session of the legislature, Representative T. K. Irwin, of Dallas, said today on his return from Austin, where he went to obtain signatures to a petition for a special session.

"No Enmity"

"I have no enmity against any individual but I want to see the state protected from the dishonest," he said. "The large majority of the heads of the departments and state employes are honest, competent, hard working and trustworthy. There are a few who are not so and they must go. This is the opinion of most members of the legislature."

Representative Irwin said a special session was absolutely certain this winter.
