Halfway house criticized again

By MIKE DOWNEY
Staff Writer

Support for Sheriff A.N. Standard's opposition to a halfway house under control of the Salvation Army has come from the former director of the last halfway house in Big Spring.

Helen Smith, former executive director of the Big Spring Halfway House, said the house had no control at all over its members then.

Mrs. Smith, who currently is co-director of the DWI School for the county judge and consultant to the Veterans Administration Medical Center, said the halfway house she directed had a vague contract with the Texas Board of Pardons and Paroles. As a result, "We did not know when they (parolees) would arrive. We were not given a history. We had no control over them," she said.

UNLIKE PLANS FOR the new halfway house, the old facility included clients for the VA Medical Center and the Big Spring State Hospital along with prison parolees. But all of the problems came from the Texas Department of Corrections parolees, Smith said.

"Their probation officer was in Midland he would tell us, if you have a problem, just dismiss them (into the community). They were a tremendous problem," Smith said.

The halfway house currently under consideration is to be for parolees only under strict supervision from the Salvation Army. Applicants are to be screened by the SA and only former residents of the county will be admitted, according to Salvation Army commander Lt. Carroll Braun.

The Salvation Army would need to have "some strings" on the parolees, Smith said. "We had so little control over them. We were robbed three times, each time by a former TDC client. Having some control over them would improve chances of changing them, but all our clients went back into criminal activity," except for one who was mentally retarded, she said.

Mrs. Smith also noted none of the parolees were from Howard County at any time the house was open from January 1980 to October 1980 when it closed.

"WITHOUT CHANGES in TDC policy and our own, we would have to have extra law enforcement to deal with them (the parolees)," Mrs. Smith said.

The community should be aware that any new halfway house would have to have a different structure than the old one, the former director said.

"It is not fair to the law enforcement officers or to the taxpayers to bring these people into the community without some kind of strings on them, without some way to control them," she said.

Charges due today in gunfire case

By BILLELDER
Staff Writer

Charges are expected to be filed today in connection with a Saturday morning chase in which police officers exchanged gunfire with a burglary suspect, authorities said this morning.

Kendall Webb Jr., 36, who has his address as the Ketwood Apartments, was arrested and hospitalized after Sgt. J.D. Carter shot him in the left elbow at about 5:30 a.m. Saturday, police said.

Detectives and District Attorney Rick Hamby were meeting this morning to prepare the charges, which were expected to be filed today, said Detective Bud Jones.

Webb was stopped in the 2300 block of Goliad after Sgt. Jimmie Wallace ran his cruiser into Webb's pickup truck, according to police reports. Wallace was hospitalized with back injuries due to the collision, police said.

Both Webb and Wallace are in Malone-Hogan Hospital and reported in good condition today, a hospital spokeswoman said.

Webb is under a one-man, 24-hour guard, said Police Chief Elwood Hoherz. Officials said they were unsure how long both the officer and the suspect would remain hospitalized.

Webb is alleged to have fired once upon Officer Bill Cooper with an unidentified handgun as he led officers on a chase away from Gibson's department store, where officers allegedly surprised him in the act of burglarizing the store. He also is alleged to have fired upon Sgt. J.D. Carter twice after Carter attempted to set up a roadblock at 23rd and Goliad, according to reports of the incident.

Carter responded by firing four times at Webb's pickup truck and hit Webb once, in the left elbow, according to Jones.

A handgun was recovered in Webb's truck, Jones said.

Hoherz this morning praised the officers involved in the incident, citing them for exercising restraint "above and beyond the call of duty."

"After the first shot was fired, (the suspect) was 'open season,'" Hoherz said. He said the officers performed well by trying to halt the suspect's escape with their cruisers rather than their weapons, and only fired on him after they had been fired upon.

Thunderbird Accident

THUNDERBIRD JETS COLLIDE — This graph by AP staff artist Joe Yennas illustrates the line-abreast loop four members of the Air Force Thunderbirds precision flying team were performing when their T-38 Talons jet crashed Monday at Indian Springs, Nev., an auxiliary field of Nellis Air Force Base.

Following the leader kills 4 Thunderbirds?

INDIAN SPRINGS, Nev. (AP) — Strict training to keep their eyes only on the plane next to them may have led three pilots of an elite Air Force stunt squad to blindly follow the lead of a fourth and slam into the desert after a 400 mph dive.

"Normally, he (the leader) is the only one looking where he's going," said Air Force Sgt. Jack Conner, the Thunderbirds' commander, Maj. Norman L. Lowry III, died along with the three other pilots in Monday's accident during practice.

The Thunderbirds pilots, who sometimes fly as little as three feet apart in their T-38 Talons, are trained to "fly off the commander-leader," watching only the plane next to them and not the ground or instruments because of the tight formation, Conner said.

"We don't know whether it was a mid-air collision or a case of follow the leader into the ground," he said.

"At the speed they were going when they came out of the loop, I just thought, 'That's the end of that for them fellows,'" said W.G. Wood of Indian Springs, who witnessed the crash as he drove along U.S. 95. "It happened so fast I couldn't tell you if one hit sooner. It looked like all of them hit at the same time."

The loss of the four officers was the most devastating accident in the history of the precision flying team and left its future in doubt.

A resident across the highway from the auxiliary base where the flight team practiced said he heard the whine of the red, white and blue jets as they climbed to a high arch, then the scream of the engines as they plunged downward to complete the maneuver.

"Then boom-boom-boom, boom-boom-boom as they hit the ground one after another," said Loren Conaway.

George LaPointe, a construction worker, watched the jets disappear behind tree tops.

"They didn't come back up," he said. "They were going full tilt, really screaming, and at the time I thought they were too low."

Air Force officials said a panel would be formed to investigate the crash — an inquiry expected to take up to three weeks.

The crash came as the four planes were completing what was known as a "line-abreast loop" — climbing side-by-side for several thousand feet in a slow, backward loop, then hurtling down at more than 400 mph, leveling off at about 100 feet.

Besides Lowry, 37, of Radford, Va., killed were Capt. Willie Mays, 32, of Ripley, Tenn.; Capt. Joseph Peterson, 32, of Tuskegee, Ala.; Capt. Mark E. Melancon, 31, of Dallas.

Lubbock hospital to aid HC

By CAROL HART
Staff Writer

The Howard College Associate Degree Nursing Program is joining forces with Lubbock General Hospital to provide pediatric training for local students.

Students from Howard College will spend one week during their 10-week pediatric course in Lubbock, to "increase their experience with a sick child," Barbara Holdampf, director of the ADN program, explained.

Mrs. Holdampf said the ADN program recently was accredited by the Board of Nurse Examiners, who visited the campus in October.

She said the results were "excellent. We received full accreditation for the program for the year 1982."

The report recommended the local program "proceed with plans to obtain more clinical experience with hospitalized pediatric patients."

BARBARA HOLDAMPF

Mrs. Holdampf said.

"In order to satisfy that recommendation, arrangements were made for students to spend one week of their pediatric clinical experience at Lubbock General Hospital," she said.

Lubbock General Hospital, formerly Health Sciences Center, is a training hospital and works in conjunction with the Texas Tech School of Medicine.

In addition to training on the pediatrics floor at Lubbock General, students will also have observational experience in the pediatrics intensive care unit and the neo-natal intensive care unit.

The pediatrics course is one segment of the two-year ADN program. During the pediatrics course, students study pediatrics, obstetrics and psychiatric nursing. The course is offered to Level III sophomore students.

TWO SEPARATE sessions of training will be offered at Lubbock General in the fall of 1982, Mrs. Holdampf said. Students will stay at a Texas Tech dormitory or in a Lubbock motel during the week of training.

Mrs. Holdampf stressed that local students "will continue to use local facilities for their pediatric clinical experience."

Students here have been training at Malone-Hogan Hospital and in local day-care centers, which Mrs. Holdampf says have been "very cooperative" in assisting the students.

Study at Lubbock General "will be in addition to the experiences at the facilities in Big Spring."

The study by the Board of Nurse Examiners also spotlighted several strong points of the local program.

The report commended Mrs. Holdampf for "supportive leadership," and was praiseworthy of "the good working relationship that has been established with representatives of clinical agencies."

The reports also said, "The students seem very supportive of the nursing program ... and the strength of the nursing program is in having faculty members who are supportive and available to students."

Cheese rush in Colorado City

By CAROL HART
Staff Writer

COLORADO CITY (SC) — Colorado City residents who learned that 10,000 pounds of cheese will be distributed this month have flooded the Mitchell County Community Action Center with phone calls in hopes of getting some of the cheese, according to Ann Gregory.

Mrs. Gregory is with the People for Progress community action agency in Colorado City. She said her office received "about 210 calls Monday. Today we've received about 25 calls and had several walk-ins."

Mrs. Gregory said her office was notified late Friday that the cheese was going to be available. On Saturday, a news release was broadcast over a Colorado City radio station, and "our phone started ringing at 8 a.m. Monday."

FAMILIES WHO THINK they may be eligible for free cheese must give information "about household size, date of birth of each family member, social security numbers for each family member, and gross income for the family."

Distributions of the cheese will be made on the basis of need, Mrs. Gregory explained.

Although her office has been swamped with calls, Mrs. Gregory said "Everyone is being very fair. The less needy are standing back."

Ed Kaul, Community food and nutrition director for the Sweetwater off of People for Progress, said it is hoped that 10,000 pounds will be distributed in Mitchell, Fisher, Scurry and Nolan counties.

"WE WERE PROMISED 10,000 pounds for each of the counties we serve," Kaul said.

Deliveries of the cheese have been delayed because of cold weather, Kaul said. "We hope to have deliveries by the end of the month."

Kaul said the response to the free cheese offer is what his office was expecting.

"We were hoping for a rush," Kaul said. "The only thing we can do with the cheese is give it away. The rush is welcomed."

RECOVERY OF WRECKAGE — The torn tail of an Air Florida jetliner hangs from a crane over Washington's Potomac River Monday, after it was pulled from the water. As it was lifted, a body fell from the tail, but salvage workers could not find the cockpit recorders.

Crash investigators confident about recovering lost recorder

WASHINGTON (AP) — Although disappointed that critical flight recorders were not found in the tail of the downed Air Florida jet, federal investigators say they are confident the "black boxes" soon will be retrieved from the icy Potomac River.

"We think they're right where the tail section was," chief investigator Francis McAdams said Monday night. He added that divers are continuing to hear "two distinct and separate" electronic signals from the recorders.

Investigators hope the "black boxes" will provide key information about the last seconds aboard Air Florida Flight 90 before it clipped a busy commuter bridge last Wednesday and crashed into the river, killing 78 people.

Divers early today resumed their search of the murky, ice-filled waters, with recovery of the two recorders their first priority. District of Columbia police and the Coast Guard expressed hope the recorders would be found.

"The soundings are still being received and we assume they're in the same location as the tail section," said police inspector James Shugart. Said Coast Guard Cmdr. Mike Taylor, the divers' supervisor: "The boxes are there. We will find them eventually."

Three teams of divers were at work — one searching for the recorders, the second trying to recover bodies and the third preparing the plane's cockpit for removal from the river.

The 26-foot long tail section, which had housed the devices, was raised from the river Monday, but investigators soon found the two boxes had been forced free from the wreckage, presumably by the impact of the crash.

"The recorders are probably the most valuable tool in accident investigation we have. Without them it makes the investigation far more difficult," McAdams said at a news conference.

The National Transportation Safety Board believes the recording devices — one which monitors conversations in the cockpit and the other instrument readings — may provide answers to a number of key questions:

—How much speed and power did the plane have on takeoff?

—How abrupt was the angle at which the nose of the plane first rose from the runway?

Tax unit to consider naming review board

The Howard County Consolidated Tax Appraisal District board of directors meets Wednesday to consider the plan for completion of the district's reappraisal program. The board is also expected to consider appointing a board of review to handle contested appraisals.

Other items scheduled for action include a review of the present insurance coverage for the district employees and a discussion of the new Appraisal District Association.

The board is expected to hear a report on the claim filed by the appraisal office to regain $28,000 from Social Security.

The board meets at 1 p.m. Wednesday in the Howard County Courthouse.

Two Big Spring students gain degrees from ASU

Two Big Spring students at Angelo State University in San Angelo were among 186 students who were graduated at the end of the 1981 fall semester.

Delores Gail Berringer received a bachelor of science degree and Robert Vernon Fryar received a bachelor of science degree.

Diplomas will be mailed to graduates upon receipt from the engraver. December graduates may, upon request, participate in spring commencement exercises slated May 14.

Coahoma event to stress need for more volunteers

The Coahoma Independent School District will host a luncheon Thursday in conjunction with the city of Big Spring's Retired Senior Volunteer Program (R.S.V.P.) at the high school cafeteria to seek volunteers for school and community service.

According to Joy Decker, program coordinator, R.S.V.P. is a program designed for people 60-years-old or older who are willing to volunteer, or are interested in helping in community service to schools, hospitals, nursing homes, or other community efforts where volunteers are needed to become "Friendly Visitors" to visit shut-ins or the sick, and "Reassurance Callers" who make phone calls to people who have a need for daily contact.

People are also needed to deliver meals to shut-ins.

The luncheon will be free to people who are interested in knowing more about the R.S.V.P. program and how volunteers are needed within the Coahoma school system. A program will be presented by the Coahoma High School speech and drama students and immediately after the program a tour of the campus and its facilities will be available to acquaint prospective volunteers with the school system.

Individuals interested in learning more about the R.S.V.P. program or in attending the luncheon may make arrangements by contacting either Joy Decker at 267-2589, or Bill Kopf at 394-4365 not later than January 20, 1982.

WEATHER FORECAST — The National Weather Service predicts for Wednesday snow in the Northern part of the country and in the Rocky Mountain States changing to flurries in Colorado and New Mexico. Rain is expected in the Mississippi Valley and the Pacific Northwest.

Unseasonably warm weather forecast

By The Associated Press

Unseasonably warm temperatures were forecast for most of Texas today.

Highs were to be in the 60s and 70s over most of the state while the mercury was expected to approach the 80-degree mark in extreme South Texas.

It was to be cloudy with a chance of showers along the coastal plains and in Southeast Texas today. The rest of the state was to have partly cloudy skies.

Lows tonight are expected to be rather mild, ranging from the low 30s in the Panhandle and mountains of West Texas to the 40s and 50s over most other areas. Highs Wednesday are expected to be in the 60s and 70s.

It was cloudy and foggy over eastern and southeastern portions of the state early today and clear elsewhere. Early morning temperatures remained above freezing over the entire state. Readings were mostly in the 40s and 50s except in Northwest Texas and extreme North Texas where the mercury dipped into the 30s. Extremes ranged from 33 at Lubbock to 70 at Brownsville.

Some early morning readings included 39 at Amarillo, 37 at Wichita Falls, 42 at Dallas-Fort Worth, 55 at Tyler, 66 at Houston, 64 at Corpus Christi, 38 at San Antonio, 50 at Midland and 53 at El Paso.

Freezing rain fell in Tennessee, Kentucky and other Southern states early today as snow piled up in the Tahoe basin and northwestern Nevada.

From Virginia to Alabama, highways became slick with ice, forcing schools to remain shut despite a general easing of the sub-zero cold that has held the East in its grip.

The National Weather Service said Monday its 30-day forecast calls for below-normal temperatures for the eastern two-thirds of the nation.

The upper Mississippi valley and western Nebraska got a sprinkling of snow early today, rain and snow showers moved over California and the northern Pacific coast, and dense fog gathered along the western Gulf coast. Fair weather prevailed across the rest of the nation. Skies were generally clear over the southern half of the great plains and across New England.

Haitian 'revolutionary' charged

MIAMI (AP) — Bernard Sansaricq, a gas station owner who masterminded an abortive plot to invade his homeland of Haiti, is free on bond after being charged with violating U.S. neutrality laws.

Sansaricq was released Monday night from a detention camp in Miami on $400,000 bond. Two of his lieutenants were still in custody, as were 22 others ordered held as material witnesses by U.S. Magistrate Herbert Shapiro.

The rag-tag force was returned to Miami Sunday by a Coast Guard cutter after its chartered boat broke down about 50 miles north of Haiti. Sansaricq and his two Canadian lieutenants — Philippe Carre and Milo Gousse — were charged with violating the U.S. Neutrality Act by mounting an invasion from American soil.

Sansaricq said earlier this month that he planned to make Tortuga the capital of his Haitian government-in-exile. The exiles attempt to establish a toe-hold on the island of Tortuga failed last week, and they set back to sea.

The Haitian government kept a tight lid today on news from Tortuga, an 18th-century pirate stronghold off Haiti's north coast.

At Sansaricq's bond hearing in Miami federal court Monday night, a crowd of Haitians surrounded a prisoners' van. Sansaricq's colleagues were taken to Krome Avenue refugee detention camp near Miami to be interviewed on their immigration status.

Sansaricq was taken out the back door of the courthouse to Krome for a brief interview and then freed, said his lawyer, Neal Sonnett.

Carre, a Montreal security systems employee, and Gousse, an assistant professor of geography at Quebec University, also were taken out the back of the courthouse Monday night for transfer to the Federal Correctional Institution in southern Dade County. They had been unable to make bond set at $100,000 each.

A crowd of more than 75 Haitians shouted in anger and surrounded the van as the other 22 men, who left by the courthouse's front entrance, were put in a van. Several Haitians attempted to block the van with their bodies but were pulled aside by federal marshals.

The bonds were set by Shapiro Monday afternoon and upheld by U.S. District Judge William Hoeveler Monday night.

Sonnett said he had been assured that the Haitian detainees would be freed today.

Security increased for officials

PARIS (AP) — U.S. Ambassador Evan Griffith Galbraith and his aides are studying special measures to protect U.S. officials in France following the assassination of an assistant military attache on Galbraith's staff, Lt. Col. Charles Robert Ray.

Security was increased for senior members of the Paris embassy staff two months ago after Charge d'Affaires Christian Chapman escaped an assassination attempt. But no special protection was ordered for lower-ranking officials, Galbraith said, because it was believed only the upper echelon were likely targets.

President Francois Mitterand and Premier Pierre Mauroy promised an intensive hunt for the lone gunman who shot and killed the 43-year-old army officer Monday and escaped on foot in morning rush hour traffic. They offered increased protection for the embassy staff, and Galbraith said the security situation was being reassessed.

A woman who saw the shooting in front of Ray's apartment house said the killer was short, with long hair, dressed in casual clothes. Galbraith said he was "probably a professional and undoubtedly an experienced killer."

A foreign news agency in Beirut, Lebanon, said it received a handwritten statement in barely legible Arabic claiming the Lebanese Armed Revolutionary Faction was responsible for the murder. Diplomats in the Lebanese capital said they had never heard of the group.

The statement said the United States was "the head of the Zionist-reactionaryfascist alliance in the region," and that "Reagan and his administration and their agents in the area are out to defeat and slaughter us."

Police said the shooting was similar to the attack last Nov. 18 on Chapman, the acting head of the embassy before Galbraith's arrival. Each American was walking from his apartment house to his car to go to work. Each attack was made with a 7.65mm pistol.

Editorial

Congratulations to Police Dept.

We can't allow a letter to the editor which ran in yesterday's Herald to pass without comment.

The letter compared our local police department to the Gestapo, made some disparaging remarks about our new police chief, and indicated that all our police officers do is issue traffic tickets to persons driving 5 miles over the speed limit. The writer said she doubted our police department could track an elephant through four feet of snow with its throat slit.

WE THINK THE LUDICROUSNESS of the letter speaks for itself, but lest anyone should be innocent enough to believe such drivel, we want to set the record straight.

The letter was written by the relative of a person who had been arrested for disorderly conduct, abusive language, having no driver's license on his person, having an expired motor vehicle inspection sticker, and disobeying the order of a police officer.

It's ironic that even as the letter writer's comments were rolling off the press, one of our city policemen was in the hospital recovering from injuries suffered while apprehending a burglar at Gibson's Saturday morning. Several other officers risked their lives in chasing the suspect down.

As for our new police chief, we have heard nothing but good about Elwood Hoherz and his leadership ability — both from people here and from people who knew him in Waco. We find him to be a man of total dedication and absolute integrity. But the results he has produced speak the loudest. Since Hoherz arrived, the burglary and murder rates have decreased. Hoherz attributes the burglary decrease to having more officers on the street and concentrating on burglary prevention. This doesn't sound like the Gestapo to us.

A MONTH AGO, a dispatcher from the police department brought by two letters which had been written to policemen by kids.

This is the perfect opportunity to run those letters, which we think are symbolic of the way most citizens feel about the Big Spring Police Department.

"Dear Police, Thank you very much for arresting that guy. He looked scary. I was so scared I followed my mom everywhere she went. We were peeking at him but I did not dare look. When I did look the guy saw me and left. Fifteen minutes later he came back. I appreciate your help for us and the citizens of Big Springs. Now I know when I visit my grandma and grandpa I know I will feel safe here in Big Spring. I am only nine years old and I don't know what to say. One thing I do know is thanks ... Now I feel much safer."

The other letter read, "Dear Sir, We would like to thank you for your prompt action toward us. We were visiting where my grandparents live ... a guy was parked by my grandparents house and didn't leave. My mom called the police and they arrived very fast. We were peeking out the window. You came and we knew we were safe. I know everytime we come here we won't have to worry, we'll be safe ... Keep up the great work."

We would like to add our hearty amen, and to extend congratulations to Chief Hoherz and his department for the excellent job performed Saturday morning at the Gibson's burglary.

Amusing flight

Competition is fierce for everything in Dallas and Houston. That's good, because the way capitalism is supposed to work, customers gain from bloody battles between businesses.

That's the rule at least. This past weekend I flew on the new Muse Air — the one that won't let you smoke. It was a nice flight, but the story behind this new addition to the crowded skies is the most interesting thing about the enterprise.

Muse Air's chairman and namesake, Lamar Muse, was one of the founding fathers of Southwest Airlines. He was also the victim, he claims, of an in-company war that left him out in the cold. In July of 1980 he opened his new airline with daily flights between Dallas and Houston.

His purpose? To capture some of the many passengers flying between the two cities. That route is supposedly the busiest in the country.

His desire? To do what he could to knock Southwest out of the unfriendly skies, I imagine.

THAT MAY NOT be totally a grudge goal. A lot of people, including myself, have grown weary of the "cattle car" style of flying that Southwest tends to cling to. They have a tendency to herd passengers on, then start moving before some of them have found a seat.

Other lesser complaints against Southwest over the years include stewardesses in hot pants, lack of reserved seating and general discomfort.

Muse decided to tackle these problems head on. On Muse Air, you get reserved seating, well-dressed stewardesses, two bags of peanuts (as opposed to Southwest's one per passenger), and mixed drinks and beer included with the air fare.

And of course there is no smoking. That is supposed to keep the plane from reeking of cigarettes and cigars, but it seems to be more of an advertising gimmick than anything else.

Muse Air tries to be a class act. Instead of a magazine full of travel pieces, you get a copy of Ultra, the new magazine designed specifically for very wealthy Texans.

It's a good choice, because Muse Air looks as if it were designed for the very wealthy Texans, or at least the middle-class Texan who likes to feel very wealthy. In the end that may be its major selling point. A flight on Muse Air isn't that much better than a flight on some other airline, but it feels good to say you've been on it. Likewise, Ultra Magazine is a really boring publication, but it feels good to read it and probably feels even better to say you subscribe to it. The two fit together nicely.

I DON'T KNOW if Muse Air will last, but the concept has a better chance of surviving in Texas than it has anywhere else. The flight I was on was a little over half full, but that was in the middle of the day. I did talk to a person who says he is a regular Muse Air passenger and "wouldn't dream" of going any other way. I have met other clients customers who are just as loyal.

I hope Lamar Muse's venture is a success. I don't know if I would ever be a regular passenger (the biggest drawback to Muse Air is that so far it only travels between Houston and Dallas), but it's nice to see the competitive juices flowing.

"So long, gang! If you have any questions about my plan to plug news leaks, don't hesitate to speak up."

Question of civil rights

There is a feeling by some people in the country that the present Justice Department is soft on civil rights, and is trying to turn back the clock on progress made in this field over the past 20 years.

This is not true. Just the other day a lawyer in the Justice Department went in to see his supervisor. "Sir, there seems to be a group of people in the South that is going to bring back slavery. I think we'd better get on it right away."

"What's the rush, Pettibone? There's no sense jumping into these things unless we know we're on solid legal ground. Now you say these people are going to bring back slavery. What side are you proposing the Justice Department take?"

"The anti-slavery side, sir. It's our duty to defend the Constitution which is the law of the land, and the Constitution says you can't have slaves."

"That's true, Pettibone, but there are other constitutional amendments which must be considered, such as states rights. Now don't get me wrong, I'm not for slavery. I abhor it and always have. But I cannot allow my personal feelings to get involved in a sensitive matter such as this. The legal question we must ask is, would slavery violate the civil rights of those who are being enslaved?"

"Of course it would. A slave doesn't have any rights."

"Is there anything in this Civil Rights Bill that specifically forbids someone from owning a slave?"

"No, because there was no question of slavery at the time it was passed."

"Well, perhaps this is not our case then. After all, we can't go prosecuting people willy-nilly if it is not concerned with our division. We are short on lawyers as it is, because we inherited all those bleeding heart civil rights cases from other administrations."

"But this is not just another civil rights case. This is the big enchilada. If we don't act immediately slavery could come back to the United States."

"I think you're overreacting, Pettibone. Every lawyer in Justice thinks his is the only case. But when you're sitting in this chair you have to be selective as to what cases the department should take and what ones we should ignore. The one thing this administration has pledged to do is not clog up the courts with a lot of petty matters that could be settled through reason."

"What do you suggest?"

"Why don't you draft a letter to the people who are going to bring back slavery and indicate we are taking an interest and we're willing to work out a settlement which would be satisfactory to both sides?"

"What kind of settlement did you have in mind?"

"We would require them to justify their reasons for needing slaves. If, for example, they could prove it would have a favorable economic impact on their community, then we might look the other way. But if they just want slaves to do their dirty work for them, then we might consider making a case against them."

"I can't write a letter like that. It's unconstitutional."

"Pettibone, I don't believe it's the Department of Justice's job to decide what is unconstitutional and what isn't."

"What is our job?"

"To see that the laws of the land are carried out as long as they don't offend the people who elected President Reagan. Can you imagine the political repercussions from the ultra-right wing if it got into the papers that we were thinking of suing people who wanted to bring back slavery?"

"If you don't do anything about this I'll go to the papers myself."

"All right, Pettibone, if you feel that strongly about it, get the evidence together."

"And the department will prosecute?"

"I didn't say we'd prosecute, but we might submit a brief as a 'friend of the court.'"

FBI agents covered up for "sting man"

WASHINGTON — A diminutive blond housewife is telling a story that could blow the ABSCAM convictions out of the courts. She is Marie Weinberg, wife of the con man who masterminded the ABSCAM "sting" operation.

She has sworn that FBI agents and ABSCAM prosecutors covered up perjured testimony. I have submitted her allegations to the Justice Department, which has launched a major investigation.

The FBI was supposed to be supervising and directing her husband, Mel Weinberg, who lured members of Congress into committing crimes. But according to Marie's account, Weinberg was manipulating the FBI agents instead of the other way around.

Within 48 hours after I provided the Justice Department with a transcript of Marie's accusations, Weinberg told friends that he knew his wife had blown the whistle on him. He recited details that could have come only from the transcript.

ONE OF THE ACCUSED agents, John Good, also contacted Mrs. Weinberg and tried to coax her into talking to him. Instead, she telephoned my office. I sent my associate, Indy Badhwar, on the first available plane to her home in Florida. He brought along a tough private investigator, Richard Bast, and three photographers to take pictures of the evidence.

I had warned the Justice Department not to permit the FBI to investigate itself. Yet Badhwar and Bast reached Marie Weinberg just a few hours before FBI agents descended upon her house. Four agents showed up at midnight, Jan. 8, to see Mrs. Weinberg. But my associate and Bast were interviewing her at a nearby hotel; they brought her home at 3 a.m. They returned at 7 the next morning to take the incriminating photographs of Weinberg's ABSCAM loot.

A few hours later, while they were still there, four FBI agents arrived

Billy Graham

DEAR DR. GRAHAM: I heard someone over the radio say the other day that the antichrist would come in 1982. Where does the Bible say this? — Mrs. C.O.L.

DEAR MRS. C.O.L.: The Bible does not give us a timetable for the events that will surround the second coming of our Lord, Jesus declared. "No one knows about that day or hour, not even the angels in heaven, nor the Son, but only the Father" (Matthew 24:36). Any attempt to date with certainty the second coming of Christ or any one of the specific events mentioned in the Bible which will take place shortly before he comes again is only speculation and you should not put any faith in it.

At the same time, it is important to underline one of the great truths of the Bible: Jesus Christ will come again to judge and rule this world. Furthermore, many of the signs Jesus spoke about that would point to his coming are evident all around us. For example, Jesus said, "This gospel of the kingdom will be preached in the whole world as a testimony to all nations, and then the end will come" (Matthew 24:14). For the first time in history the preaching of the gospel to all nations is now a possibility. Think, for instance, of the fact that a person can hear the Gospel on radio virtually anywhere on earth.

We do not know when Christ may come. It is enough for us to know he comes again, for that is our hope.

State Department terror

WASHINGTON — As part of the crackdown on press contacts by national security personnel, this warning is being spread by word of mouth in policymaking levels at the State Department: If necessary, telephone-tapping will be used to make sure that leaks are plugged.

Whether or not easygoing Ronald Reagan really would resort to the tactics that helped destroy hard-nosed Richard Nixon, the warning is taken seriously at the State Department. Officials frantically cancelled appointments with reporters. Some telephone calls from reporters were not accepted.

A footnote: The crackdown comes at a time when conservative operatives outside the administration have quietly declared a resumption against the Reagan administration of their self-styled "guerilla warfare" waged against the Carter administration — mainly through leaks. The last straw for the right-wingers was Reagan's decision against advanced warplanes for Taiwan, a decision whose leak set off the administration's security crackdown.

TOUGHER POLISH REPRESSION The Kremlin has summoned two former Polish Politburo hardliners, dismissed in the heyday of Solidarity, to Moscow for secret talks that point to tougher repression in Poland by the communist-military dictatorship of Gen. Wojciech Jaruzelski.

Stefan Grabski and Stanislaw Kocielek, thrown out of the Politburo last year, are feared and hated by the 10 million Poles who belonged to the Free Workers Movement. During the December worker rebellion in Gdansk, Kocielek argued that the only way to handle the rebellion was with bullets. Scores of workers were slaughtered.

The failure of Moscow or Warsaw to announce the visit of the two hardliners raised suspicions in Washington. Reagan administration officials believe the Russians may be plotting to reinstate Grabski and Kocielek to their former Party prominence.

KEMP'S DINNER GUEST The mystery of why Rep. Jack Kemp pulled his punches against Budget Director David Stockman when interviewed on NBC's "Meet The Press" Jan. 10 can be explained by the identity of Kemp's dinner guest the night before: David Stockman.

Stockman telephoned Kemp and asked whether he could have dinner that Saturday night at the congressman's home in the Maryland suburbs. Knowing that Kemp planned an attack on Stockman's tax-increase policies over television the next day, Kemp's friends urged him not to invite the budget chief. But Kemp rejected the advice, refusing to burn all bridges with his former close ally.

The result on "Meet The Press" was predictable. Instead of accusing Stockman, as planned, of intentionally exaggerating budget deficit projections, Kemp said only that he and "Dave" are "friends" and "we have a friendly disagreement over this subject."

Dr. Donohue

Body makes its own cortisone

Dear Dr. Donohue: Will you please explain what causes Addison's disease? Is there a complete cure for it? I have it, and I am on cortisone. I am 62 years old. — J.M.

Addison's disease is an insufficiency of cortisone, a substance produced in the outer layer of tissue (cortex) of the adrenal glands. We're so conditioned to hearing of cortisone as a medicine that we sometimes forget that it is a natural substance, "homemade," if you will, and very necessary to life.

In Addison's disease the cortisone-producing tissue has deteriorated and can no longer manufacture it in amounts required. Without this hormone, the person feels fatigued, weak, loses weight and may develop low blood pressure. Nor can he stand up under the assault of even a minor infection. You are aware, of course, of cortisone's important anti-inflammation effects.

In years past, tuberculosis infection of the adrenal glands was the most common cause of the cortisone deficiency. Today, the most common "cause" is what we call "idiopathic." We just don't know, and it sounds a lot more sophisticated to use that term. It sounds more erudite.

Although the gland tissue cannot be restored, Addison's disease can be treated successfully simply by supplying the missing hormones by mouth — the cortisone medicine you are taking. So, in that sense, there is a complete cure for it. The deficiency can arise at any age, in males or females.

Dear Dr. Donohue: My problem is that of many other teenagers — oily skin and pimples. I have tried every skin medication there is. They help only a little bit. I've been trying for months to clear up my face. Can you give me any suggestions on how to close my pores and help clear away the acne? Please! — Chris.

My first recommendation is to open your pores, not close them. Acne comes about when the openings to the oil glands are plugged. That sets up the right condition for bacteria to grow and feed on the oil. This, in turn, causes an inflammation of the skin — a mini-boil. The whole problem is prevalent during teen years because at adolescence the oil glands are working overtime. They are being jolted by hormone production, which increases at and after puberty.

The treatment of acne varies with its severity. Benzoyl peroxide and retinoic acid remove the plugs from the pores so they can drain freely. If the acne is a little worse, antibiotic creams and ointments can be used to kill off the bacteria that is causing skin inflammation. You may even have to take antibiotics by mouth.

Many of these preparations are prescription items only, so a doctor has to write for them. If you are not making any headway with over-the-counter preparations, then you might save yourself time and money now by seeing a doctor for an evaluation of your acne and the best treatment for it. The booklet "Controlling Acne, Blackheads and Pimples" is on the way. Other readers may order by writing me in care of the Big Spring Herald, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope and 50 cents.

Dear Abby

Table manners cause static

DEAR ABBY: My parents are loving, kindhearted people in their 60s, but they have the worst table manners I have ever seen.

Other family members have hinted to them over the years with no success. Now we either exclude them from dinners or make sure we surround them with people who know what to expect.

My husband and I and our two small children drive 300 miles a couple of times a year to visit them. We were there for Thanksgiving dinner, and my father once again filled his mouth so full of food his cheeks were bulging, then he started to talk. Abby, I couldn't understand a word he was saying so I asked him to please not talk with food in his mouth. He got so angry he refused to speak to me the rest of the visit. When we left there was a lot of tension. It spoiled the whole trip for me.

I feel so bad. I wasn't mean or disrespectful, Abby. I just told him not to talk with his mouth full. Was I wrong to say anything? Should adult children never correct their parents — no matter what? We try to teach our youngsters proper table manners, and parents like mine really make it rough.

HEAVYHEARTED

DEAR HEAVY: Some parents accept criticism gracefully, and some do not. Unfortunately yours do not, so if you want to keep the peace, grit your teeth and hold your tongue.

DEAR ABBY: I just had to write after reading the letter from "Grandpa," who mentioned your suggestion for the perfect gift to give older relatives: "Offer to do something for them that they can't do for themselves. For example: Furniture moved, windows and doors repaired, pictures and mirrors hung, trees and bushes planted, etc."

Last Christmas I took your advice and gave my 70-year-old mother, who has enough money to get herself whatever she might (reasonably) want, a gift of "cleaning up" her cluttered house. Well, it's been 12 months and my gift has yet to be redeemed.

Why? It's hard to catch my mother at home long enough to begin the job. Between her two part-time jobs (she counsels recovering alcoholics), her skiing trips to Aspen, her rafting down the Colorado River and her trips to various other places, we've yet to get together. She has to be there. I'd never tackle 25 years of accumulation myself. So what do I do now?

DARLENE IN L.A.

DEAR DARLENE: Thank God for a healthy, active mother and pray that you've inherited some of her energetic genes.

DEAR ABBY: It's too late for this year, but I hope you will remind your readers to have a heart next year and refrain from sending candy, fruitcake, nuts and home-baked goodies to friends they know are trying to watch their calories.

I was doing just great until all these tempting no-nos arrived, then I blew my diet like you wouldn't believe! Abby, please print this, and don't suggest we use a little willpower. If we had willpower, we wouldn't be in the shape we're in.

PIGGED-OUT IN POTTSVILLE, PA.

DEAR PIGGED-OUT: Oink oink!

Everybody needs friends. For some practical tips on how to be popular, get Abby's Popularity booklet. Send $1 plus a long, self-addressed stamped (37 cents) envelope to Abby, Popularity, 12060 Hawthorne Blvd., Suite 5000, Hawthorne, Calif. 90250.

Roadside emergency tips

PROVIDENCE, R.I. (AP) — A special emergency car care kit made from common household items can be used temporarily until proper repairs are made, according to a manufacturer of automotive parts.

"Used correctly, they can provide emergency solutions to roadside breakdowns," says Dave Bowman, technical services manager for Fram Corp. "While you would not be able to drive long distances with these tools, they will be enough to get you off the road and to the nearest service station. Just remember that these are temporary solutions," he adds.

Bowman suggests keeping these items in the trunk to help get your car from the road to the garage or out of a "sticky" situation:

● Scarf or handkerchief. If a leaky or broken hose causes your cooling system to overheat, a scarf or handkerchief can remedy the problem long enough to get you to a station. Wrap the cloth tightly around the hose where it is cut or leaking. Then secure it with a belt. This will slow the leak down.

● Coat hanger. If your tail pipe or any part of your exhaust system drops, a coat hanger can help. Unravel the hanger and wrap one end around the tail pipe. Fasten the other end to the underside of your rear bumper. This will prevent the muffler from falling off and avoid leaving a shower of sparks as your exhaust system drags.

● Pantyhose. A broken fan belt can be temporarily replaced with a pair of pantyhose. Wrap them tightly around the pulleys where the belt was located and tie them in a knot. This will keep the engine going until you get to a garage.

● Shower curtain. If your car breaks down and you have to get under the vehicle to work, use a shower curtain as a ground cloth to spread under your car so you won't get dirty.

● Litter box filler. This is helpful when you are stuck on snow or ice. Spread the litter under the spinning tire for additional traction. Also, the extra weight of a sack of litter box filler in your trunk can prevent the rear end of your car from skidding on slippery surfaces.

● Newspapers or burlap sacks. When you are stuck in sand or mud slide newspapers or a burlap sack under the stuck tire for traction.

● Funnel. Keep a funnel in your trunk in case you need to add fluids to the engine.

● Rags. When your defroster isn't working, use the rags to wipe the inside of your windshield clean.

"Also, some standard items that should always be in an emergency car care kit," adds Bowman, "are a screwdriver, pliers, a fire extinguisher; an address book containing emergency phone numbers; old gloves to protect your hands while working under the hood; a white handkerchief to use as a distress signal, small change for emergency calls and a pencil and paper for taking down important information."

DON'T LOOK AT ME REF, I'M INNOCENT — A member of the Clarendon girls' basketball team reacts to the referee's call Monday night in the game between Clarendon and the Howard College Hawk Queens. Hawk Queen Kelly Mull, is shown in the middle. The Queens won, 72-51.

Hawks top Clarendon

The Clarendon Bulldogs had a secret weapon in their game against the Howard College Hawks Monday night. His name was Mark Adams and he was Hawks coach Harold Wilder's assistant last year.

Although he knew the Hawks' style of play, it wasn't enough to keep the Hawks caged. They ran over the Clarendon Bulldogs 92-79 in a conference thriller at Dorothy Garrett Coliseum.

"He (Adams) had a well thought out strategy," said Wilder this morning. "They knew our top scorers and tried to gauge them. It worked well — they kept the game close," he said.

It was close for much of the first half. The Hawks started with strength, at one time eight points ahead. But the Bulldogs were never far behind.

"What helped us the most," said Wilder, "were a couple of flurries we had that enabled us to make some fast breaks. We got a lot of points on the board before they could get their defense up."

Nathan Givens had another strong night for the Hawks, scoring 29 points. Other top scorers were Leon Isaac with 20, Jerome Johnson with 18 and James Barnett, who tossed for 17 points.

The Hawks' defense had a time with Mark Adam's star George Milhouse. He scored a huge 34 points for the Bulldogs before fouling out with 16 seconds to go. Clarendon's second top scorer, Bobby Denson fouled out with 43 seconds left, after giving the Bulldogs 14 points.

The win gives the Hawks a 5-2 record in conference play and puts them 15-4 on the year. Wilder's squad will travel to Hobbs N.M. to play New Mexico Junior College Thursday.

A good crowd was on hand for Coahoma Night. The next Hawk home game will be next Monday when they host Amarillo College.

HOWARD COLLEGE (92) — Jerome Johnson 8 2-18; Leon Isaac 7-20; James Barnett 7-3-17; Nathan Givens 10-9-29; Wimberly Hardrick 7-0-4; Reggie Childress 1-0-3; Curtis Campbell 1-0-2. Totals 36-20-92.

CLARENDON (79) — Jerry Ister 3-0-6; Kenneth Morrison 4-0-8; Bobby Denson 6-2-14; Robert Wilson 0-1-1; George Milhouse 16-2-34; Jim Thomas 5-2-12; Paul Shumpf 2-0-4. Totals 36-7-79.

Hawk Queens shine, win 72-51

Howard College coach Don Stevens had reason to be proud of his Hawk Queens. They took on the tough Clarendon girls team, who had beaten the highly rated Western Texas College recently, and came out on top 72-51.

"It was a super big win," Stevens said this morning. "They did a fantastic job last night. Clarendon is a super team. It was just a really big win."

Stevens cited three Hawk Queens as stand-outs in the game. Nell Haskins led the team scoring with 26 points, followed by Susan Cordell with 14. Kelly Mull was close behind with 13.

"Kelly did a fantastic job. She was running the whole team last night," Stevens said. He also praised Nell Haskins for her season high 20 rebounds.

Susan Cordell, a 6'6" freshman is "coming on strong" according to Stevens. She ended the evening with 11 rebounds and seven block shots. "She really intimidated Clarendon," Stevens said.

The Hawk Queens are now 14-6 for the year and 4-1 in conference play. The Amarillo College girls team was upset last night, placing the Howard College squad in a tie for first place with Amarillo.

The Hawk Queens hit 20 of 28 free throws compared to Clarendon's 11 of 24.

"The girls did a great job," said Stevens. "They're one of the greatest press teams I've ever coached."

The Hawk Queens will see action again Friday when they host Logansport College. Game time will be 7:30 p.m.

HOWARD COLLEGE (72) — Carrie Lutrick 2-2 6; Kelly Mull 3-7-13; Nell Haskins 11-4-26; Pam Roberson 2-3-7; Melissa Luna 0-0-0; Cynthia Robinson 2-2-6; Susan Cordell 6-3-14. Totals 36-20-72.

CLARENDON (51) — Kathy Roodolph 1-0-2; Sharon Jackson 6-3-15; Denise Posey 1-0-2; Lisa Freeman 2-4; Bobbi Dombowski 3-5-11; Aylene Gilmore 1-1-3; Cassandra Crumplin 5-0-10. Totals 20-11-51.

Halt — Howard 34, Clarendon 24.

Lady Steers get by Cooper

The Big Spring Lady Steers kept out in front of the Abilene Cooper Cougars Monday night, returning to Big Spring with a 44-36 victory to their credit.

But according to Lady Steers coach Patsy Brown, the victory was more due to "gut play" than to anything else.

"We did not play a good game," Miss Brown said. "It was not up to our potential." It was the Lady Steer's second district win. They now stand at 11-12 on the season and 2-4 in conference play.

"We seemed to do everything we could to give the game away," she said.

"We were ahead for the whole game, but the girls didn't seem like they were ready to play. We couldn't work against the press very well," she said.

The Lady Steer's top scorer was Shell Rutledge, who shot for 21 points. She was followed by Shirley Dickson with 11.

BIG SPRING (44) — Shell Rutledge 9-3-21; Sylvia Randall 1-1-3; Elise Wheel 3-3-9; Shirley Dickson 4-3-11.

ABILENE COOPER (36) — C. Snelson 8-1-17; P. Snelson 1-2-4; R. Bryant 1-2-4; R. Hays 4-0-8; A. Riggs 1-1-3.

Basketball tonight

It's Steers vs. Cooper

The Big Spring Steers will be trying to rebound from a tough 68-45 loss against Midland Lee last Friday night when they take on the Abilene Cooper Cougars tonight in Big Spring.

But the Cougars, who are 5-15 on the season and 3-1 in league play, will need the win if they are to have hopes of placing well in the 5-A-A-A-A-A first-half championship.

The battle will be waged at 8 p.m. in the Steer Gym. Friday night's loss to Midland Lee is an event the Steers probably hope to forget, but Steer coach Ed Haller won't let that happen.

"We shot poorly Friday night," Haller said. "We were down by 12 points for the whole night. At times we couldn't make a basket to save our souls."

But what about the battle with the Cougars?

"I haven't seen Cooper yet this year," Haller said. "They've done pretty well in league play but are 5-15 overall. I think we can play well with anybody in the league."

The Steers are 9-11 on the year and 0-4 in league play.

SMU signs Southern Miss coach

DALLAS (AP) — Bobby Collins, the new football coach at Southern Methodist, says he may get the Mustangs' two returning 1,000-yard gainers in the backfield at the same time.

"I'll have to see both Eric Dickerson and Craig James on the field, but it's in the back of my mind I might want both if 'em in there," said Collins. "We used two tailbacks in our offense. If you are going to run the I, you need two tailbacks."

Dickerson and James alternated at the tailback position in 1981. Dickerson was in the AP second team backfield.

The 48-year-old Collins was named the 13th head coach at SMU Monday, replacing Ron Meyer who resigned to go to the New England Patriots of the National Football League. Collins got a five-year contract for an estimated $100,000 a year.

Collins built independent Southern Mississippi into a national power in seven years, compiling a 48-30-2 record.

The Golden Eagles, operating out of the I Formation like Meyer's Mustangs, were 9-2-1 last year, including a 19-17 loss to Missouri in the Tangerine Bowl.

Asked to describe his offensive philosophy, Collins said "it's run-oriented."

Quarterback Reggie Collier of Southern Miss, a third team AP All-America, gained over 1,000 yards rushing and passing out of the I Formation.

Collins said he realized it was important in Dallas to "put on a good show that will attract people to the games" because of the presence of the professional Dallas Cowboys.

Collins, who played under Darrell Royal at Mississippi State, said "I saw SMU play twice on the films last year. There is a lot of talent on this team."

He added "I know enough about the Southwest Conference to have a great respect for it. This is a tremendous challenge for me."

It was difficult for Collins to leave Southern Mississippi. For example, his daughter is a sophomore cheerleader at the school.

"This was an exciting opportunity and I felt my career was sort of at a crossroads," said Collins who admitted "it wasn't easy to leave."

Collins was asked if he had aspirations to coach in the pros like Meyer did.

"I do not," said Collins.

Collins was to meet with Meyer's assistants today then talk to the team.

Athletic Director Bob Hitch said Collins had carte blanche to bring with him as many assistants as he wished.

Contracts of Meyer assistants not retained by Collins will be honored, said Hitch.

Montana is new 'heartthrob'

PONTIAC, Mich. (AP) — The Dallas Cowboys are called "America's Team," but for the moment the country has a new heartthrob in the San Francisco 49ers.

Last week, it was wide receiver Dwight Clark on the cover of Sports Illustrated, snaring the pass that beat the Cowboys and put the 49ers in Super Bowl XVI.

Now, it's quarterback Joe Montana gracing the cover of Time with a smile as broad as San Francisco's Golden Gate.

"Do I enjoy being a star? Well, I would much rather have it this way than be sitting at home watching TV," Montana said Monday as the 49ers settled in to their Super Bowl week schedule building up to Sunday's game against the Cincinnati Bengals.

Clark, the National Football Conference's leading receiver, became an instant celebrity when he leaped three feet into the air for the last-minute touchdown pass from Montana that capped the 49ers' 28-27 victory in the NFC title game.

"If it had been just another regular-season game it would probably have been just another catch," said Clark. "But since it was nationally covered, I think that's what's causing all the ruckus."

The sudden fame "gets old after a while," said Clark, "but it's still pretty exciting to me because it's something I dreamed about doing. Everybody wants to do something really important for his teammates. Whatever I have to go through because of that is all right."

Coach Bill Walsh, who put the 49ers through a "highly successful" workout in the Silverdome Monday, said he doesn't think the instant fame of Montana, Clark, rookie cornerback Ronnie Lott and others will adversely affect the team.

"I don't think they'll give it that much thought. We just don't have that kind of team," said Walsh. "We have a very young and enthusiastic team, and we just don't have the personalities, at this time at least, that are looking for national attention."

Lott, kingpin of the 49ers' young defensive backfield, said, "You can't worry about the attention."

"Some people are attracted to it, some people get it because they work for it, and some people get it because they are lucky. You just have to really enjoy it, flow with it and have fun."

Following Monday's practice, Walsh said he was "really happy with our coming in a day early and working on that (artificial) surface and getting somewhat acclimated to the time difference."

"Today was one in which we really felt we could get a lot done, but the practices won't be as long in coming days. We think we'll keep their interest, but we will not be working quite as hard or as long."

San Francisco Coach Bill Walsh had dressed up as a hotel doorman Sunday night, offering to help arriving 49er players with their baggage, but Monday, Gregg put an unscheduled meeting with the media off-limits for his team.

Shortly after the Bengals arrived at their hotel headquarters, Gregg admitted that the extra attention that surrounds Super Bowl teams wasn't one of his favorite things.

"I love ice cream," he said. "But if I had ice cream every day, I probably wouldn't like it anymore."

Then he looked at a crowd of about 100 newsmen and said, "I'm about full of ice cream."

Super Bowl week news conferences usually begin on Tuesday, but when the San Francisco team arrived Sunday night, the schedule was pushed ahead. The 49ers made a number of players and Coach Walsh available after their workout Monday. The Bengals were asked to do the same and the word from Cincinnati was that they would. But when the team arrived, Gregg told his public relations director that the players would not be on hand for the press.

More than a dozen 49er players showed up at their interview session. When that was concluded, NFL officials, unaware that Gregg had put the Bengals off-limits, led a busload of writers to the Cincinnati club headquarters. It became apparent there was a problem when the writers were kept on the bus for about 15 minutes while the league people tried unsuccessfully to change Gregg's mind.

"They asked for a few players," the coach said. "I told them it would be me because they (the players) have obligations and I have obligations."

It was suggested that Gregg seemed annoyed at the whole affair.

Bengals stumble over media?

TROY, Mich. (AP) — It is what the Cincinnati Bengals have worked to achieve — national recognition in the Super Bowl — but Coach Forrest Gregg is worried that it might be too much of a good thing.

Gregg interrupted his schedule twice within an hour of arriving Monday evening at the Bengals' suburban Detroit to accommodate dozens of reporters and photographers with impromptu news conferences.

Although the Bengals are basking in the national spotlight after years of obscurity, Gregg told the flock of reporters that he considers the media one of the main stumbling blocks in preparing for Super Bowl XVI against the San Francisco 49ers.

"I love ice cream. But if I had to eat it every day, I wouldn't like it any more," he said, comparing news coverage to one of his favorite foods. "I'm about full of ice cream," he said.

Gregg played in three Super Bowls — two with the Green Bay Packers and one with the Dallas Cowboys. He said he'd learned that the demands for interviews were the most disturbing aspect for a player to handle.

"You have so much practice time, and time for meetings. After that, you try to grab some time to relax, some time for your own," Gregg said.

"You were really never allowed to do that."

The Bengals didn't appear to be on edge as they flew from Cincinnati Monday afternoon, then took a bus ride from the airport to their hotel.

During the flight, linebacker Reggie Williams walked down the aisle carrying copies of a new Bengals' song that he and two teammates recorded.

Tar Heels dominate AP poll

The North Carolina Tar Heels and Missouri's Tigers continued to dominate The Associated Press college basketball poll as Minnesota, Texas and Idaho made the big moves this week.

North Carolina got 60 first-place votes, one short of being unanimous, in the balloting by a nationwide panel of sports writers and broadcasters, finishing with 1,219 points. Missouri again got the other first-place ballot and received 1,126 points.

Virginia and DePaul remained in third and fourth place, respectively, while Minnesota, Texas and Idaho made huge jumps in the rankings announced today.

Minnesota advanced to fifth place, a jump of six spots, Texas moved up from 19th to seventh and Idaho jumped from 14th to eighth.

Iowa, fifth a week ago, dropped one spot to sixth, Kentucky fell from sixth to ninth and Tulsa, 18th last week, moved into the No. 10 spot.

Wichita State and Virginia Tech fell out of the Top Twenty, being replaced by Kansas State and Tennessee.

Sherrill's decision expected soon

COLLEGE STATION, Texas) — Texas A&M hopes it has made Jackie Sherrill an offer he can't refuse, and 77 million is expected soon from the University of Pittsburgh football coach.

Sherrill toured the A&M campus Monday amid published reports he may be seeking a 10-year, $3-million contract to become the Aggies' athletic director and football coach.

Lane Stephenson, an A&M spokesman, confirmed that Sherrill had discussed the vacant athletic director's job with university officials. No one gave specifics about a contract offer.

Sherrill returned to Pittsburgh to discuss his future with his family and Pittsburgh officials after touring the campus and meeting with some members of the school's board of regents, Stephenson said.

Because Sherrill is currently in the middle of his recruiting season at Pitt, he is expected to make a decision within days.

The Texas school began courting Sherrill after being turned down by Michigan's Bob Schembechler, who reportedly was offered a 10-year deal worth $2.25 million.

The Pittsburgh Post-Gazette, quoting an unnamed Pitt source, reported Sherrill would seek a guaranteed $3-million pact with a list of other requirements covering scholarships, housing, facilities and related matters.

RED SMITH
"...humble giant"

Super Bowl XVI will miss Red Smith

By WILL GRIMSLEY
AP Special Correspondent
Except for a high priority — a call that must come to all of us — Red Smith today would be grabbing his little portable typewriter and heading off to Detroit for Super Bowl XVI.

There, unobtrusively, he would crowd into packed buses with scores of his peers, make the two breakfasts at the hotel headquarters of the rival teams, listen to the coaches' litany, then try to squeeze close enough to one of the players to catch a phrase or two.

Then, back to his hotel to grab a secluded corner in the busy press work room or seek the privacy of his own suite, there with two fingers to begin pecking out words — meticulously slow pausing only to snuff out half-smoked cigarettes and take a sip of libation.

Call it the Red Smith Symphony. What came out of that clackity machine was pure music. The characters that appeared on a white sheet of paper blended into a piece of art — a Michaelangelo of the printed word.

The next day millions would read the 800- to 1,000-word essay on the sports pages of the New York Times and savor it as a gourmet might a sumptuous meal. Usually this would be accompanied by an occasional chuckle.

This is the way we all remember Red Smith, perhaps the greatest sports writer who ever lived — a kind, gentle little man with receding silver hair and spectacles, a self-effacing genius constantly embarrassed by the trophies and accolades thrown his way over half a century.

Red Smith died Friday at age 76. He will be sorely missed. He was the humble giant of the profession, a man who proved there was a place for literature on the sports pages.

Super Bowl XVI should be dedicated to his memory.

He was a perfectionist. He was one of a kind, forever writing with a wit and wisdom, a subtle humor and a slick mastery of the phrase that brought dignity to a craft too sullied with clichés, hackneyed phrases and fractured grammar. He wasn't a jargonist, a satirist or a one-liner. His work flowed like a gentle stream.

Red Smith hobnobbed with the literati, but never sought refuge in that more sophisticated society. He found his home in the sports world, which he referred to as "America's playpen," despite all its hypocrisy, sordidness and double-dealing.

Longhorns capture their 13th in a row

By The Associated Press

Texas Christian University coach Jim Killingsworth was impressed and Texas' LaSalle Thompson was wide awake as the Longhorns raced past the Horned Frogs, 105-89 for their 13th straight victory.

The Longhorn victory was the only Southwest Conference basketball game scheduled Monday. Three games are scheduled tonight. Texas A&M is at Southern Methodist University, Baylor travels to Arkansas and Rice visits Texas Tech.

Killingsworth said Texas, ranked No. 19, is the best team he has seen this year and noted that he watched top-ranked North Carolina play in a California tournament.

"They played a lot better than North Carolina, and I'll tell you another thing they do better than North Carolina — they can bury you from the outside," Killingsworth said.

The Longhorns front line of LaSalle Thompson, Virdeil Howland and Mike Wacker combined for 81 points as Texas compiled its second-highest point total of the season.

"I can't remember when we played a team as good as Texas was tonight," said Killingsworth whose Frogs have played Tulsa, Penn State, Texas A&M and No. 9 Arkansas.

Thompson scored 31 points. Texas coach Abe Lemons credited a pre-game pep talk to Thompson's performance.

"We kind of woke him up before the game in the dressing room. All of them were just mulling around. We're not much of a rah-rah team," said Lemons.

The Frogs scored the most points of any Texas opponent this season, but fell to 7-8 overall and 2-3 in the SWC.

Darrell Browder scored 28 for Texas Christian, including 22 in the second half.

TCU never got closer than eight points in the second half and the Longhorns led by as much as 22 before Lemons sent in subs for three of his starters.

We know what to do with nuclear wastes... let's get started.

TYPICAL NUCLEAR WASTE FACILITY

1000 FT. STORAGE 2000 FT. 3000 FT.

We Americans have always been among the world's foremost inventors and innovators. Scientists in America discovered and proved the principles of nuclear energy, pioneered its commercial use, and developed safe and practical ways to permanently store nuclear wastes. But while other nations are using these methods of storage, we aren't. In the United States, spent fuel assemblies are stored at reactor sites. This practice is safe, but unnecessary and expensive for permanent storage.

We know how to recycle spent nuclear fuel. The 3% or less that is waste can be mixed with insoluble glass or ceramic for storage. This process is being used commercially in France, but not in the U.S. As your electric company, we see the use of nuclear fuel as essential - if you are to continue to have the electricity you need at a reasonable cost. And we need permanent storage facilities for wastes from nuclear power plants.

The Federal Government is responsible for selecting the sites and building these facilities. Users will pay for them. But their construction will take time, while spent fuel accumulates. We have the know-how and the need. So let's get started... now.

If you were to generate all the electricity one person would use in a lifetime using nuclear fuel, the shielded high-level wastes would only half fill a soft-drink can!
