

Candidates filing deadlines are near

By GARTH JONES
Associated Press Writer

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — That biennial game of guessing who will run for public office in Texas is about over.

On Feb. 1, would-be office holders must put up or shut up. The first Monday in February is the deadline for candidates, from justice of the peace to governor, to officially file to run in the Democratic or Republican primaries.

The candidates then have five days to pay their filing fees which range from $2,000 for U.S. Senate and $1,500 for governor or other statewide offices to $50 for public weigher and inspector of hides.

There may be a few court-ordered exceptions this year because the redistricting plans for Congress and state Senate and House members are involved in court suits brought by the Republicans and minorities.

If the court challenges cannot be settled and the redistricting plans cannot be approved by the U.S. Department of Justice before Feb. 1, it's entirely possible the filing deadlines for legislative and congressional posts will be extended several days or weeks.

Congressional candidates have to pay a $750 filing fee, those running for state Senate $750 and state representative $400.

In some small counties, the filing fees paid by candidates will be enough to pay the cost of primary elections in those counties. However, in others — particularly the metropolitan areas — the state must help pay the election cost.

Court decisions several years ago said that candidates could not be charged with the total cost of rapidly rising election costs. At one time in some big counties, the filing fees were based on a percentage of the salary an office holder would collect during a four-year term. A candidate for district judge had to pay as much as $4,000 just to make a race.

Election costs are a problem again this year, but Secretary of State David Dean thinks he has a solution, with the help of contributions from outside state government.

The 1981 Legislature appropriated $5.5 million for primaries held by both parties. That was estimated to be enough, including inflation.

However, in the final days of the session, after the appropriation bill passed, legislators approved a bill by Rep. Doyle Willis, D-Fort Worth, that increased the pay of election judges from $20 to $25 a day and for poll "If everybody pays the maximum allowed, and I imagine they will, that leaves us $917,000 short," Dean said. "But we are optimistic we can get the money from outside sources."

Dean proposed that the shortfall be made up with donations from corporations, labor unions and individuals.

There was a favorable reaction from both parties, particularly if the contributions would be tax deductible.

"The Internal Revenue Service has it under study and we should have a decision before the end of the month," Dean said recently. "I am encouraged that it appears these contributions will be tax deductible."

The next important political date is March 8, when executive committees of both parties must certify to county chairmen the list of candidates they want on each county's ballots.

Sunbelt council formed

COLUMBIA, S.C. (AP) — The Sun Belt will have a new weapon in the struggle with the Frost Belt over federal money, political power and economic growth, says the chairman of the Congressional Sunbelt Council.

The formation of a privately funded research group to provide Sun Belt lawmakers with informational ammunition was announced in a Columbia news conference by Rep. Charles Wilson, D-Texas, and a bipartisan group of four South Carolina congressmen.

The Sunbelt Research Coalition's mission will be to analyze issues of concern to the South and Southwest, according to the council.

Wilson, Republicans Floyd Spence and John Napier, and Democrats Butler Derrick and Ken Holland charged that the North and the Midwest are out to deliberately hurt the Sun Belt.

They maintained that their coalition of 119 congressmen from 16 states is only a defense that was mounted last year against a similar group of Yankee congressmen that got together about five years ago.

"It's kind of like arms control," said Wilson, who said he'd just as soon not fight his Snow Belt counterparts. Wilson said the non-profit research group will be funded with $800,000 solicited from banks, utilities and other Sun Belt companies that profit from growth.

"I don't think anyone should make the mistake of underestimating our opposition," said Wilson, who added that it was essential to keep the Sunbelt Council "strong and vigorous" to safeguard the regions' residents.

The Dixie congressmen charged that the Snow Belt had worked in Congress to grab a disproportionate slice of the federal pie, to slow economic growth in the Sun Belt and to hold onto power in Congress.

Wilson charged that Frost Belt legislators had put out propaganda to the effect that the South and Southwest were the disproportionate beneficiaries of federal programs.

He and Spence, who is the vice chairman of the council, trotted out figures to show otherwise.

When asked if the Sun Belt group was itself trying to disseminate propaganda, Wilson replied, "We don't have any propaganda base at all. We want to develop one."

Clements invites you

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Gov. Bill Clements has invited all Texans to attend on Feb. 1 the 100th anniversary of the groundbreaking for the Capitol.

A birthday cake in the shape of the Capitol will be served to guests.

Festivities will begin at 11 a.m., with horse-drawn carriages bringing special guests to the south steps of the Capitol to see and hear musical and military groups from the University of Texas and Texas A&M University.

Sen. Short

gains award

State Sen. E.L. Short was presented a legislative award, along with four other lawmakers, by the Texas Farmers Union at their annual convention in Fort Worth recently. Short's 28th Senatorial District will include Howard County this year.

Short was honored for having carried legislation endorsed by the family farm organization during the 67th session of the state legislature. Short and State Rep. Don Rains of San Marcos carried a bill giving a 5 cent tax exemption from the state motor fuels tax for alcohol fuel.

Other legislators honored include State Sen. Bill Sarpalius of Hereford, State Reps. Pete Patterson of Brookston and Dan Kubiak of Rockdale.

Gas decontrol stalled?

By BILL GARLAND States News Service

WASHINGTON — An onslaught of the worst winter temperatures in a century, combined in the Midwest with one of the more intense lobbying efforts in memory by consumer organizations, may stall the much-publicized attempt by President Reagan to decontrol wellhead prices for natural gas.

Reagan had planned to send to Congress early next month a decontrol bill drafted within the administration that would speed up the partial decontrol process outlined in the current Natural Gas Policy Act of 1978. Reports indicate that the bill, fashioned after an earlier measure by Rep. Phil Gramm, D-Texas, has been almost finalized within the Department of Energy, where industry input into the drafting process continued until the cutoff date Wednesday.

But the consumer group that has most strongly opposed decontrol predicts that even if the president submits the bill, he may not give it strong support. And while Gramm insists there now is more solid industry support for decontrol than at any time since controls began in 1954, he concedes the administration is wavering over whether to push the bill in a congressional election year.

"I think they may slip (in) the timing," Gramm said Tuesday. He added that the decontrol initiative by conservative congressmen and many segments of the industry is "sort of in the full court press stage."

In spite of the "press," a few industry groups like the American Gas Association, primarily representing local utilities, have balked at supporting decontrol because of the higher costs they would have to pass to the consumer.

Edwin Rothschild, director of the energy action project of the anti-decontrol Citizens Labor Energy Coalition, said local branches have amassed as many as 130 signed commitments by congressmen to oppose decontrol.

Some of those commitments have come from what apparently have been reluctant congressmen who have been pinned into a negative stance on decontrol by the cold winter and the approaching election.

G.I. Joe doll re-enlists in dangerous toy market

PAWTUCKET, R.I. (AP) — GI Joe, the soldier-boy doll that vanished from toy shelves in the wake of the Vietnam War, is re-enlisting as an anti-terrorist leading a team that includes minorities and women.

"We believe kids are ready to get off of Star Wars and onto something fresh and different," said Stephen Schwartz, Hasbro Industries' vice president for marketing. "It appears this is going to be our No. 1 sales category in 1982."

The effort to make GI Joe a top seller begins in April and the company said it will mount the biggest television advertising blitz it has ever put behind one toy.

The GI Joe team is being patterned after the U.S. Rapid Deployment Force and will come complete with a set of enemies: the international terrorist squad Cobra Command.

The teams represent a mix of the United States population, including whites, blacks, Hispanics and a woman counter-intelligence agent.

"In the old days, GI Joe was one person, but today he is a mobile strike force. This is the team sent out to protect democracy and justice around the world," Schwartz said.

"Say the U.S. Embassy is taken in Iran," he suggested. "The U.S. Army would send the GI Joe team to the rescue."

Hasbro introduced GI Joe in 1964 and did "several hundred million dollars in volume" from the doll and various accessories, Alfred Verrecchia, company vice president and treasurer, had said in March 1980.

Then, as Vietnam became more controversial, Hasbro dropped the doll's commando dress and made him a team "leader" on such expeditions as a jungle safari, underwater sea hunt and space mission, Verrecchia had said.

Despite the changes, GI Joe's popularity "just lost vim and vigor," he said. U.S. distribution ended in 1976.

Schwartz said bringing back GI Joe has nothing to do with the Reagan administration's hard-line stance against the Soviet Union or increases in defense spending.

"The kids don't know anything about that," he said. "We've tested them on kids and parents. The kids really flip for it and the parents are very open to it. They say they have no problem with their kids playing with military figures."

"Military toys are cyclical," Schwartz said. "But kids have been playing with military figures since the Crusades. Right now, they are playing with military figures from space, the Star Wars figures."

Though his mission may be big, GI Joe will shrink. The original was 11 inches tall, but the new version and its teammates will stand just 3 3/4 inches because of "the new standard in the industry in action figures," Schwartz said.

County commissioner post attracts Boyles

The latest entry into county political races is Shannon Boyles Jr. of Coahoma. Boyles filed a designation for campaign treasurer in the county clerk's office Wednesday for county commissioner, Pct. 2. The seat is presently held by Paul Allen who has also indicated his intention to seek re-election.

Boyles has yet to officially file with the chairman of his party. The latest candidates paying their filing fees include Milton Kirby and John Stanley, both for county judge, and Lewis Heflin for justice of the peace Precinct one, place two, according to Democratic chairman M.H. (Slick) Boatler.

Mayor named to water panel

Big Spring Mayor Clyde Angel has been named to a statewide task force of mayors to develop plans for meeting Texas' long range water resource needs.

The task force is operating within the Texas Municipal League, and is comprised of 50 city officials representing communities of every size throughout the state.

Alan Henry, league president, Lubbock, said the panel will look at two inter-related factors — water supply and sewage treatment — which will determine whether Texas cities will continue to grow in the 1990s.

Heart muscle heals in eight weeks

Dear Dr. Donohue: I would like some information on MI heart attack. How long does it take for the heart to heal? Also, what does the future hold for me? Having been active all my life, I would like to again be busy and do the things I like to do. — Mrs. M.M.

I wondered if the initials "MI" in your letter were a typographical error, but the fact that they are initials for "myocardial infarction" (heart attack) seemed just too coincidental. So there is your pun in print, M.M.

Now to your questions: It takes from eight to 10 weeks for the heart to heal after a heart attack. When I say eight to 10 weeks, I mean it takes that long for a complete scar to form in the area of heart muscle death, and I better explain that, too.

When blood supply to a portion of the heart muscle is blocked from a clogged artery, then the area dies. That's a heart attack. It can be a small area, a large one, one that is very essential to heart action, or one that is less needed for good heart-muscle contraction. With these variables, it is not so easy to put a time limit on the actual total recovery from a heart attack. One cannot be dogmatic about that.

I want to emphasize that during the healing period complete rest is seldom necessary. Gradually increasing levels of activity are begun, usually right in the hospital. The healing process is going on while the scar I spoke of is forming. In the last analysis, the level of activity is a matter for the individual physician's judgment and recommendation.

You ask what the future holds for you. I would point out that two men have successfully led our country as presidents after having had heart attacks — Eisenhower and Johnson.

Dear Dr. Donohue: I am a young active woman in my early 30s, and I recently tore the lateral meniscus of my right knee. I had undergone two sets of X-rays and an arthrogram to determine the cause of pain. The tear occurred during physical activity, and over the last eight weeks or so it has improved somewhat, but I am still experiencing pain. My doctor has recommended that I undergo arthroscopy. Will this show more of what's wrong? — T.R.

An arthroscope is a joint telescope. Arthroscopy is its use. A small cut is made in the knee. The arthroscope is inserted through the cut into the knee joint, where the inner details can be observed. It is very useful, and it can, at times, let the doctor see more than can be seen on X-ray. There are even times when the doctor, using special forceps, can remove offending tissue, like the torn meniscus (fibrous cartilage) from the knee.

Because you are still having pain and stiffness after all this time, arthroscopy sounds like a good idea for you. If you feel uncomfortable about that advice, get another opinion.

Dear Dr. Donohue: Will you tell me where hemophilia originated? Was it from relatives getting married? — M.M.

A bleeding disorder, which may be hemophilia, is described in the Talmud, so the illness is quite old. I don't know how it originated. It may have been a genetic mutation that was passed on from one generation to the next and just never wore itself out.

A woman passes on hemophilia to her sons, even though she has no signs of the disease itself. She is a carrier.

Dear Abby

Liver diseases misunderstood

DEAR ABBY: There is a tremendous need to educate the public, and I can think of no better way than through your column.

Most Americans think cirrhosis of the liver is a disease of alcoholics and hepatitis is a disease of drug addicts. Not true!

Abby, please inform your readers that even infants and children can develop cirrhosis. Everything we eat, breathe and absorb through our skin is refined in the liver, the most overworked and least understood organ in our body.

Fifty-thousand infants, children and adults die every year from liver disease. Even babies die of cirrhosis, and half of the hepatitis cases are among children and teenagers.

The American Liver Foundation is launching a national campaign to help prevent liver diseases — the fourth-leading cause of death up to the age of 65.

We will be glad to send, free of charge, the latest information about liver diseases to anyone who sends a self-addressed, stamped envelope to: The American Liver Foundation, 30 Sunrise Terrace, Cedar Grove, N.J. 08009.

Thank you, Abby, for the concern you have shown for the health of our nation.

THELMA K. THIEL, EXECUTIVE DIRECTOR

DEAR MS. THIEL: You have done my readers a service by writing to me. I'm happy to help.

DEAR ABBY: This is to commend "Mom" for forcing her 9-year-old son to return the candy bar he had stolen from the market, apologize to the manager and promise never to do it again. However, I think Mom should have reported the manager's behavior to his or her superior. (The manager said to the young shoplifter, "Oh, that's OK; it's no big deal. We have people carry out about $100 worth of stuff every day!")

Given the attitude of a large percentage of today's employees, which is to soak the employer at every opportunity, it seems reasonable to believe that a lot of losses attributed to shoplifters are actually "inside jobs" — that is, merchandise going out the back door with employees.

In any event, that store manager should have been censured for minimizing the crime of stealing.
F. G. T., WALLA WALLA, WASH.

DEAR F.G.T.: I agree. One of the reasons stealing has become epidemic in our society is the "no big deal" attitude that prevails.

Do you have questions about sex, love, drugs and the pain of growing up? Get Abby's new booklet: "What Every Teen-Ager Ought to Know." Send $2 and a long, stamped (37 cents), self-addressed envelope to: Abby, Teen Booklet, 12060 Hawthorne Blvd., Suite 5000, Hawthorne, Calif. 90250.

DARE coordinator speaks

"Parents, citizens, the whole community must take a very visible, audible position against drug abuse," Beverly Barron told members of the Permian Basin Medical Society Auxiliary at their luncheon meeting held at Big Spring Country Club Wednesday.

Mrs. Barron is one of six area coordinators for the Drug Abuse Research and Education (DARE) committee of the Texans' War on Drugs. She directs the group's activities in a large West Texas area that includes El Paso, Midland, Odessa and Big Spring.

Mrs. Barron was in Big Spring to solicit support for the area Drug Awareness Weekend slated in Odessa March 19-20. She said DARE hopes to fill the Ector County Coliseum at the kick-off program that Friday night. If 8,000 persons attend the event, she said it would be the largest single drug awareness program to be held in the nation. She urged Big Springers to attend.

Drug Awareness Weekend is sponsored by the Odessa Junior League and will feature a day-long program from 9 a.m.-4 p.m. March 20 at the University of Texas Permian Basin. Dr. Mitchell Rosenthal, director of New York City's Phoenix House, largest drug correction center in the world, will be one of the featured speakers.

"We are the most drug abusing nation in the world," Mrs. Barron told the Auxiliary. "It behooves us in West Texas to look at the drug problem," she said the ideal conditions many unpopulated areas in West Texas offer to drug runners bringing illegal substances into the country. It is estimated that 950 planes cross the border into Texas each night with the illegal drugs, she said.

Much marijuana is being intercepted on the roads, but because of loopholes in the laws many drug runners carrying many thousands pounds of marijuana still go free.

Texas replaced Florida and California as the largest U.S. point of entry for illegal drugs. The Texans' War on Drugs implemented last year has taken strides in turning the problem around, she said.

The five anti-drug abuse bills the Texans' War on Drugs introduced into last year's Texas Legislature all passed. That was the first time one organization has introduced that many successful bills.

"The drug awareness level in Texas is much higher this year than last," Mrs. Barron said. She said that with only "as much as one joint a week, the body is never free of marijuana." She explained that research shows marijuana attacks all the body's system, but particularly affects the reproductive system and the brain.

As part of its continuing support of the Texans' War on Drugs, the Permian Basin Medical Auxiliary discussed plans to stage a traveling drug awareness puppet show, "Fonz and Friends," for Big Spring children.

Next auxiliary program will be "Surgery Made Her Beautiful" to be presented Feb. 16 by plastic surgeon Dr. Terry Tubb. The group will meet at 10 a.m. in the Green Room of the Veterans' Administration Hospital.

Reporters die a thousand deaths in police program

HOUSTON (AP) — It's night. A gunman has a police officer pinned down under heavy fire. Suddenly, the officer spots movement about 25 yards away — a man who appears to be carrying a weapon at shoulder height. The officer pauses for perhaps a second, then decides the man poses a deadly threat. He fires four shots in rapid succession from his .38-caliber pistol — and "kills" a television cameraman. The cameraman was one of dozens of innocent victims last week as the Houston Police Department invited reporters to play the roles of police officers in its "Shoot, Don't Shoot" program, a training course on the use of deadly force. I "died" seven times and "killed" two innocent people, one of them a police officer.

In one part of the course, participants confronted mock life-threatening situations in which they were to decide whether to use their pistols against a variety of assailants, who were actually academy training instructors.

In another part, participants positioned themselves on a police firing range and used real ammunition to resolve situations involving armed assailants made of cardboard. Instructors Jim Conley and Terry Braden followed reporters through each of the eight situations, shouting conflicting instructions on what to do.

In one situation, each participant was told a man inside a room had a gun to his head and was threatening suicide. I entered, gun drawn, and ordered the man to drop his weapon.

Water lawsuit: Long wait expected until decision

LAS CRUCES, N.M. (AP) — The facts have been presented, the arguments have been made and now it's up to a federal judge to decide whether the Texas city of El Paso will be allowed to take water from New Mexico.

It will be months before a decision on El Paso's lawsuit against New Mexico officials will be reached. And the anticipated appeals process that will likely end on the doorstep of the U.S. Supreme Court could take years.

"It will be a long time," said John Hickerson, manager of the El Paso Water Utility. "I just hope my patience holds out."

After testimony in the three-day federal hearing ended Wednesday in Las Cruces, U.S. District Judge Howard Bratton set a schedule for the submission of briefs that lasts through April 20. Oral arguments will be scheduled after then and Bratton's decision will come after the arguments.

The decision will be on El Paso's contention that a 1953 New Mexico statute that bans the export of groundwater from the state violates the commerce clause of the U.S. Constitution, which limits control of interstate commerce to Congress.

New Mexico says the state's control of water and its body of law affecting water rights effectively removes groundwater from consideration as an article of commerce.

No matter how Bratton rules, the losing side will appeal and attorneys say the case eventually will come before Supreme Court.

"It definitely will go the entire route," Hickerson said. "We are committed to it and I feel that New Mexico feels the same way."

If El Paso eventually wins the lawsuit, the matter then will move to administrative hearings before the New Mexico state engineer, who through a permit process decides whether wells can be drilled.

Although El Paso contends the lawsuit involves only the narrow constitutional issue, several other issues were raised during the proceedings. The constitutional issue was debated via briefs, leaving only the side issues to be debated during the hearing.

Testimony during the hearing basically was a "show and tell" by both sides in which they argued issues such as the effect of the lawsuit on the Rio Grande Compact and El Paso's need for the water versus New Mexico's supply.

"We contended that the waters are covered by the Rio Grande Compact," said New Mexico Attorney General Jeff Bingaman. "To permit El Paso to do what they want to do here would violate that compact."

The compact would be violated, he said, because El Paso's pumping from two underground water deposits that lie just across the New Mexico border eventually would lead to flow depletions in the Rio Grande.

Bingaman contends that if El Paso needs more water, the city should get the state of Texas to renegotiate the compact, which apportions Rio Grande water to users in Texas, New Mexico and Colorado. That would also keep El Paso from delving into New Mexico's water, he said.

Hickerson counters that the city plans to return much of the water it takes to the Rio Grande by pouring treated sewage effluent into the river.

The other major issue of the hearing was whether New Mexico could spare the water that El Paso is seeking.

El Paso officials made no secret that their reasons for the lawsuit were based on money. They said a study by a hydrologist had determined that getting the water from New Mexico would be the cheapest way to bolster the city's dwindling water supply.

"If New Mexico's statute is really unconstitutional, we would be remiss not to challenge it before we invest large sums of money on finding other ways to get water," Hickerson said.

The argument came down to whose figures Bratton will believe. Both sides presented expert witnesses whose studies supported the lawyers' arguments.

"The plaintiffs chose to hire an expert to demonstrate their need for the water so they obviously felt that was relevant to the case," Bingaman said.

Bomb placed at fraternity house at TCU

FORT WORTH, Texas (AP) — Police were searching today for a suspect who tried to detonate a homemade bomb at a Texas Christian University fraternity house.

The pipe bomb, packed with gunpowder, was found on the front porch of the Phi Delta Theta house early Thursday. Fire investigators said it had the explosive power of a small hand grenade.

A 22-year-old student said he saw a hooded man setting fire to a paper wick on the porch shortly after midnight. The student, Steve Skillman of Winnetka, said he chased the man several hundred yards until the man was helped into a slow-moving car by several others inside.

Arson investigator H.B.V. Owens said Skillman and several other students dismantled the device before police arrived.

Group opposes nuclear waste dumping plan

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — The Texas Mobilization for Survival says federal energy officials have no plans for comprehensive health monitoring in connection with their tests for nuclear waste disposal sites.

Members of the anti-nuclear group appeared Thursday night at a public hearing attended by about 100 persons, mostly University of Texas students and state health and energy officials.

Critz George of the Energy Department's Office of Nuclear Waste Isolation, said comprehensive testing and monitoring of area residents for adverse health effects would be inconclusive.

George also said limited department resources dictated holding only three public hearings in Texas. Two other hearings were held recently in Tulsa and Hereford.

The Energy Department is expected to recommend later this year further geological studies of the Panhandle region, particularly of the salt domes in the Palo Duro and Dalhart basins. Counties chosen for more tests include Deaf Smith, Randall and Swisher.

George said no site will be selected before mid-1983 for actual testing of a location's nuclear-waste storage capability.

SMOOTH PLAY — Joe Montana, quarterback for the San Francisco 49ers, hands off to running back Ricky Patton during a game earlier this season. The 49ers face the Cincinnati Bengals Sunday in Super Bowl XVI at the Silverdome in Pontiac, Michigan.

Questionable for Super Bowl

Solomon favors injury

PONTIAC, Mich. (AP) — Storm clouds have started forming on the National Football League labor front but that's nothing compared to the full-scale storm that hit the San Francisco 49ers three days before Super Bowl XVI.

Representatives of the NFL Players Association and the league's Management Council rattled sabres at separate press conferences Thursday while the 49ers were shaken by a sprained left knee suffered in practice by wide receiver Freddie Solomon.

The injury left Solomon officially listed as questionable for Sunday's title game against the Cincinnati Bengals. In the NFL lexicon, questionable status means a player has a 50-50 chance of playing.

Solomon, San Francisco's second leading receiver, was injured when he collided with cornerback Ronnie Lott on a sideline pass pattern during a workout Thursday. He was treated in the locker room and Coach Bill Walsh said his status would be reviewed today.

If Solomon, who caught 59 passes during the regular season, is unable to play, he will be replaced by Mike Wilson, a free agent rookie who signed with the 49ers after being released by Dallas. Wilson caught nine passes during the regular season.

The loss of Solomon could seriously alter the 49ers game plan against the Bengals. Walsh was refining his team's approach to Sunday's game as kickoff neared and indicated that he thought on defense San Francisco's major problem might be containing the running of Cincinnati's Pete Johnson.

"My suspicion is he'll be their primary weapon," Walsh said of the bulldozing fullback.

Forrest Gregg, Cincinnati's coach, shrugged off Walsh's suggestion.

"He may be encouraging me as far as my game plan is concerned," Gregg said. "I won't stand here and say we won't give the ball to Pete. But we got here by throwing the ball. We scored a lot of points throwing. Pete is one of our weapons. We don't put all our eggs in one basket."

Gregg also was involved in a brief war of words with CBS television producer Terry O'Neil. The coach was annoyed over remarks printed in a local newspaper and attributed to O'Neil which he interpreted as being a putdown of the Bengals.

Trail Clements chipped in 12 toward the Big Spring effort while Debbie Holguin accounted for nine, Tonya Stevenson five, and Tonya Gilstrap three.

Odessa fends off conference foes

turn back BS, 43-39

ODESSA—Big Spring High School blew an eight-point lead in the third quarter before finally losing to Odessa High, 43-39, in District 5-AAAAA girls' basketball play here Thursday night.

The Steerettes played very well in the second period and left the court at half-time tied with the Red Hoses, but couldn't buy a bucket late in the third round.

Shell Rutledge kept the Steerettes in contention with a 12-point output. She was the only Big Spring player in double figures.

The Steerettes return to play Monday night at home against San Angelo Central, which tied for first place in 5-AAAAA first half standings with a 6-1 record. San Angelo bombed Odessa Permian Thursday night, 57-49.

Big Spring fared better in junior varsity play, winning, 40-37. Tressa Smith counted 24 points and Paula Spears ten for Big Spring in that one. The JVS are 11-6 overall and 4-3 against league opponents.

Hawks now 4-1 on road

HOBBS, N.M.—Howard College settled down in the second half to topple New Mexico Junior College, 122-107, in Western Conference basketball play here Thursday night.

The Hawks were jittery in working against the Thunderbird press in the first 20 minutes, but returned to play their kind of game and successfully operate against NMJC's clinging type of defense.

The Hawks rang up 72 points in the last half, an effort which may approach an all-time record for the Big Spring team.

The win was the sixth in eight conference assignments for Howard College. On the year, the Big Spring team is 16-4, charging hard toward another 20-victory season. Coach Harold Wilder's teams have won that many or more eight times in his 11 seasons at the helm.

Nathan Givens had his best game of the year for Howard College, scoring 39 points. He took a 24-point average onto the court.

New Mexico is now 10-10 overall and stands 3-5 in Western Conference play. The loss was the first since Christmas for Ron Black's T-Birds.

Charles Prescott paced the Hobbs team with 29 points while Mike Floyd chipped in with 20.

Jerome Johnson, James Barnett, Wimberly Hardrick and Zac Sharp were others who hit in double figures for Howard College. Johnson tallied 17, Barnett 16, Hardrick 18 and Sharp 15 in the Hawks' dazzling offensive show.

The Hawks have won four times in five Western Conference road appearances this season. They return to play Monday night at home against Amarillo College, a nationally ranked power which won its first 19 starts.

HOWARD COLLEGE (122) — Jerome Johnson 8-1-17; Leon Isaac 2-4-8; James Barnett 7-2-16; Nathan Givens 17-5-39; Wimberly Hardrick 7-4-18; Zac Sharp 2-1-15; Reggie Childers 0-2-2; Curtis Campbell 2-1-9; Ulyen 1-2-4. Totals 46-30-122.

NMJC (107) — Herb Briant 3-3-9; Mike Smith 10-0-30; Steve Welch 6-0-12; Kenny Smith 6-1-13; Charles Prescott 11-7-29; Harvey Campbell 3-0-6; Mike Crudder 2-0-4; Ray Floyd 8-0-14. Totals 48-11-107.

Half time score — NMJC 53, Howard College 50.

Steers at home to Odessa five

Two teams which are merely marking time in the District 5-AAAAA basketball race, Big Spring and Odessa High, square off at 8 p.m., this evening in Steer Gym.

The loser is almost certain to wind up in the cellar in first half standings.

The resident Steers played one of their better games here Tuesday night, but lost to Abilene Cooper, 60-56. Ed Haller's team outplayed the Cougars in the second half, but Cooper built up a ten-point bulge in the first two periods and that was too much for the Steers to overcome.

The Longhorns can still have a respectable season with a strong showing in the second of the district race. Overall, they are 9-12 and have shown flashes of brilliance.

Odessa is 1-4 against league opponents and 10-13 on the year. The Bronchos tested Midland High's mettle earlier this week before losing in Midland, 43-33. The Odessans remained close for three quarters despite the fact that they enjoyed only a 25 per cent shooting effort from the court.

Jimmy Gilliland is Odessa's leading threat. Odessa's long suit is defense, something Coach Joe Tubb has worked on slavishly throughout the year.

In other league contests tonight, San Angelo goes against Odessa Permian in Odessa, Abilene Cooper will be at Midland High and Abilene High plays host to Midland Lee.

Junior varsity teams representing Big Spring and Odessa clash at 6:15 this evening in Steer Gym.

Coahoma girls lock up 6-3A first half title

COAHOMA — Happily the Coahoma girls will be playing merely to retain their momentum when they take the floor against Seminole in Seminole this evening.

The Coahomans clinched the first half championship in District 6-AAA basketball standings Tuesday evening by defeating Crane in Crane, 56-41.

The Bulldogs jumped off to an early lead and by half-time had a 26-13 bulge.

Gayla Paige led the Coahoma team in scoring with 22 points while Robbie Ritchey and Keri Robinson each had ten for the winners.

The win was the fifth against no defeats in first half play for the Bulldogs. Seminole is second in the standings with a 3-2 mark while Crane now stands at 2-3.

In all, there will be four games involving the two schools this evening. The varsity boys play at 8 p.m. Action will get under way about 5 p.m., in a game between the girl JV units of the two schools.

Transition goes smoothly

St. Mary's Episcopal School, the oldest church-related school in Big Spring, is in the middle of their first year on their new campus and report things have gone smoothly during the transition.
 The school acquired their new building in May, 1981. The old Park Hill School, 118 Cedar, now houses grades one through five, with sixth grade being added this fall. Kindergarten and pre-kindergarten are also part of the school.
 New gym equipment has been installed and the refurbished auditorium has been used to put on the children's play. Hot lunches are served and the library is filling up with books.
 The Rev. David L. Bristow, headmaster of the school, officially the Open House for the new school Aug. 21, 1981. Classes are limited to 20 students. Aides assist in classes of 12 or more. The school is open to children of all denominations.

 The school was founded in 1959 with one teacher and 13 kindergarten students. The school now employs eight full-time teachers, five aides, a music, art and physical education teacher. Mrs. Bebe McCasland is assistant administrator.
 It is believed at St. Mary's that knowledge cannot be divorced from God. "As God is the source of all things," Bristow said, "no learning process or system is an adequate orientation to life which either tries to leave Him out or to ignore Him."

Dunn leads January Bible Conference

 ...leads conference

"Witness Under Pressure" will be the theme of the January Bible Conference held at Emmanuel Baptist Church, 2107 Lancaster, Sunday through Wednesday. The conference, under the leadership of the Rev. J. Earl Dunn, will cover the book of Jeremiah.
 The conference will begin with regular services Sunday at 11 a.m. and 6 p.m. and will continue Monday through Wednesday at 7 p.m. Classes for children will also be held at these times. They will study the minor prophets.
 The conference is free of charge. There will be a study book available for participants to purchase.
 Dunn presently is pastor at Harris Avenue Baptist Church, San Angelo. He has ministered in Hamilton, Dublin and Alpine. He has also served as director of the Baptist Student Union and taught Bible at Sul Ross State University, Alpine.
 Dunn has served on several denominational and associational activities including the executive board of Baptist General Convention of Texas. He is presently chairman of the Christian Life Commission of the Baptist General Convention of Texas.

Evangel Temple to host Granfiels

Max Granfield will be ministering at several events scheduled at Evangel Temple, 2205 Goliad, Friday through Sunday.
 Granfield will speak at the church Friday at 7:30 p.m. and during services Sunday at 10:45 a.m. and 6:30 p.m. The public is invited to attend these services.
 He will also speak at a men's breakfast at Herman's Restaurant, 1601 Gregg, Saturday at 8 a.m.
 All men are welcome to attend.
 Granfield's ministry of prayer has touched many lives as he takes time to minister to personal needs of individuals during his services.
 Granfield travels and ministers throughout the United States and Canada. He carries a 12-foot cross when he speaks at college campuses, city squares, shopping malls and other public places.

Some dioceses still provide Latin mass

WASHINGTON (AP) — Although Roman Catholic worship now is overwhelmingly in English, 94 U.S. dioceses still provide occasional Masses in Latin for those who want it.
 But such use is "neither frequent nor widespread," says the report of a Vatican survey. It found that the Gregorian chant, once the main liturgical music, also has mostly disappeared, giving way to hymns.
 The report says 108 of 153 responding U.S. bishops receive no requests for Latin Masses, while 43 receive occasional requests. Forty-seven bishops said there are no approved Latin Masses in their dioceses.
 Survey results "demonstrate the success of the liturgical reform," says the Rev. John Gurrieri, director of the U.S. bishops liturgy committee.
 The shift from Latin to the vernacular in worship was made by the 1962-65 Second Vatican Council, but bishops are supposed to provide a revised form of Latin Mass if enough people desire it.
 The survey found that some bishops quit providing Latin Masses because so few people attended. However, in 65 dioceses, unofficial groups were reported using the old Tridentine Mass, dating to the 16th century, in defiance of church rules.

Billy Graham asks every church to help poor families

URBANA, Ill. (AP) — Evangelist Billy Graham says that if every church in America would help 10 poor families, the gaps caused by federal budget cuts could be filled.
 He told a news conference at a convention of the Inter-Varsity Christian Fellowship that the cuts will hurt some innocent people and added, "That's where we as the church ought to be there."

Library of Judaism to be established

NEW YORK (AP) — A $25 million "television library of Judaism" is being established by the Union of American Hebrew Congregations, termed the first of the kind.
 Rabbi Alexander M. Schindler, president of the Reform Jewish body, set distribution in early January of the first package of programs.
 He says the project "will create a television library of Jewish culture, history and religious practice capable of conveying the message of Judaism to a worldwide audience as well as to synagogues, classrooms, camps and Jewish homes."

Bishops endorse Hatch Amendment

CHICAGO (AP) — Despite a narrow 30-24 decision by directors of the National Right to Life Committee to endorse the Hatch amendment to regulate abortion, many state anti-abortion leaders continue to oppose that approach.
 "It abandons our principles," says Helen DeWitt of Kansas.
 The amendment would allow Congress and the states to set regulations on abortion. Roman Catholic bishops endorsed it, prior to the endorsement by the national umbrella anti-abortion organization. Some pro-life critics favor instead the Hyde-Helms human life bill saying life begins at conception.
