Royalty crowned by senior class of Coahoma High

The senior class of Coahoma High School held its annual talent contest Monday evening and crowned its royalty. Mr. C.H.S. for 1982 is Jeff Dever son of Mr. and Mrs. John Dever II of Coahoma. Miss C.H.S. is Louise Shive daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wendell Shive of Coahoma. Both were chosen by a panel of three judges to represent Coahoma High School based on talent, personality, poise, beauty and ability to speak before an audience.

In addition to the Mr. and Miss title, runners-up were named. First runners-up were: Ronnie Clanton son of Mr. Ron Clanton of Big Spring and Mrs. Eileen Clanton of Coahoma. Kristi Franklin daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Franklin of Sand Springs. Second runners-up are: Tommy McDaniel son of Mr. and Mrs. Willie Winn, Rt. 3 Big Spring and Kyna Kerby, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sam Kerby, Sand Springs. Congeniality awards went to Tommy McDaniel and Kari Robinson daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Robinson, Route 1, Big Spring.

The theme for the 1982 C.H.S. contest was Disney on Parade. The show highlighted the talents of 15 students whose acts ranged from piano solos, drum solos, singing, dancing and disco roller skating to puppet acts and comedy monologues.

The card holders and ushers and usherettes added a bit of Disney flavor to the evening by wearing costumes of favorite Disney characters such as Goofy and Mickey Mouse as well as Peter Pan, Donald and Daisy Duck. The Master and Mistress of ceremonies were dressed as Hansel and Gretel.

County Commissioners pay $46,500 for Caterpillar unit

By MIKE DOWNEY
Staff Writer

Howard County commissioners moved to purchase a used Caterpillar 920 loader yesterday for $46,500 after learning repairs on the county's old loader would top $19,500—more than the original purchase price of the machine.

Commissioners declared an emergency to make the purchase of the machine for the Road and Bridge Department. The used loader will be bought from Treanor Equipment Company of Abilene.

Bert Black, representing the Abilene company, told the commissioners the major work needed on the old loader would not mean it would not break down again. "Even if fixed, the loader would only bring $11,500," Black said. The $19,500 repair bill would only have a brief guarantee, he said.

County road and bridge employees would attempt repairs of the old loader for a trade-in possibility to reduce the cost to $43,000.

In other action, commissioners heard from Justice of the Peace Lewis Heflin about his secretary needing time off for surgery, but took no action.

A letter from the sheriff's office asking for a copier for the office was presented by presiding Judge Bill Tune. In the letter, Sheriff A.N. Standard said his office needed use of a copying machine seven days a week. No action was taken on the request.

Commissioners also received a written report from county engineer Bill Mims on the number of paved and unpaved roads in the county.

A report from County Trapper Larry Tubb was also discussed. Commissioners moved to have the trapper meet with them at their Feb. 22 meeting.

A conference with Mrs. J.C. James concerning property in Howard County ended with the decision requesting to have Mrs. James meet with County Attorney Bob Miller.

Big Spring High School Stage Band, Honor Band in concert today

The Big Spring High School Stage Band and Honor Band will be in concert tonight. The concert will begin at 7:30 p.m. and will be held in the high school auditorium.

The Golden Horns Stage Band are a select group of band students that practice one night a week. The band practices and performs music from the era of the Big Bands to rock to today's contemporary jazz sounds. This will be the first concert of the season for the Golden Horns. They will perform the following selections: "Sunday Drive," "The One That You Love," "Satin Doll," "I've Been Searchin' So Long" and "Lady Madonna."

The Big Spring High School Honor Band is comprised of band students that have been selected by audition. This elite group of young people perform some of the most challenging music from all eras of music. The performance will be selected from the following repertoire: "March from the Symphonic Metamorphosis" by Hindemith, "Prelude from Act I of La Traviata" by Verdi, "Light Cavalry Overture" by Von Suppe, and "Kaddish" by McBeth.

The concert will have some music that will interest every individual. Admission to the concert is one dollar.

Mall's first stores to open

By BOB CARPENTER
Staff Writer

The new Big Spring Mall will be highlighted Wednesday by unveiling of the J.C. Penney's store in a 9:30 a.m. ceremony attended by several Penney corporate officers and local business leaders.

Attending the event will be Penney executives A.B. Jones, regional store operations accounting coordinator; Ken Acker, district manager from Lubbock and Bob Lankford, regional geographic district manager. Also attending will be two retired Penney store managers: Paul Hathaway of Big Spring and A.L. Fisher of Hot Springs, Ark., who is the father of present store manager, Don Fisher.

Emcee for the opening will be Winston Wrinkle and speaking to the gathering will be Sid Clark, president of the Big Spring Area Chamber of Commerce and Mayor Clyde Angel.

Another big retailer planning to open Wednesday is Beall's department store. Beall's will be stressing brand-name merchandise and friendly customer service.

Although this is the first store in Big Spring, Beall's is not new to this area. The company has stores in Abilene, Midland, Odessa, Brownwood and San Angelo. The Jacksonville, Texas-based chain operates 116 stores in three states.

Gene Madsen, store manager, said Beall's prides itself with being a name-brand store. Such labels as Jordache, Calvin Klein, Levi's, Koret of California, Bobbie Brooks and other are stocked in the junior's and ladies' ready-to-wear department.

Beall's men's departments will feature labels from Arrow, Van Heusen, Haggar, Levi's, Jockey, Ocean Pacific, Palm Beach and others.

Madsen said departments include cosmetics, jewelry, ladies' and junior's ready-to-wear, lingerie, sleepwear, home goods, infants, girls, young men, men, boys and family shoes.

Madsen said Beall's is built on the premise of customer service and satisfaction on each purchase. He said that while many major retailers have gone to self service, Beall's policy is still to have adequate salespeople to help with customer needs.

The addition of the new 25,000 square foot J.C. Penney's store will provide Big Spring shoppers with a spacious, colorful place to browse.

Don Fisher, store manager said the interior of the store has been designed to incorporate the latest merchandising concepts developed by the Penney company.

"The latest designs in department layout and merchandise display are being combined with attractive decor and colors. And, we have planned our store so that the busy shopper can find everything she wants quickly and easily," Fisher said.

Fisher said the store will feature 33 departments and a catalog order center where customers can choose from more than 100,000 catalog items in person or by telephone.

The store also will have a layaway service, gift wrapping and a credit department.

Civic and business leaders will join J.C. Penney executives in ceremony Wednesday at 9:30 a.m. to mark the opening of the firm's new department store.

Both Penney's and Beall's will be open Monday through Saturday from 10 a.m. until 9 p.m. for flexible shopping hours.

Japanese plane crashes in bay; 24 die

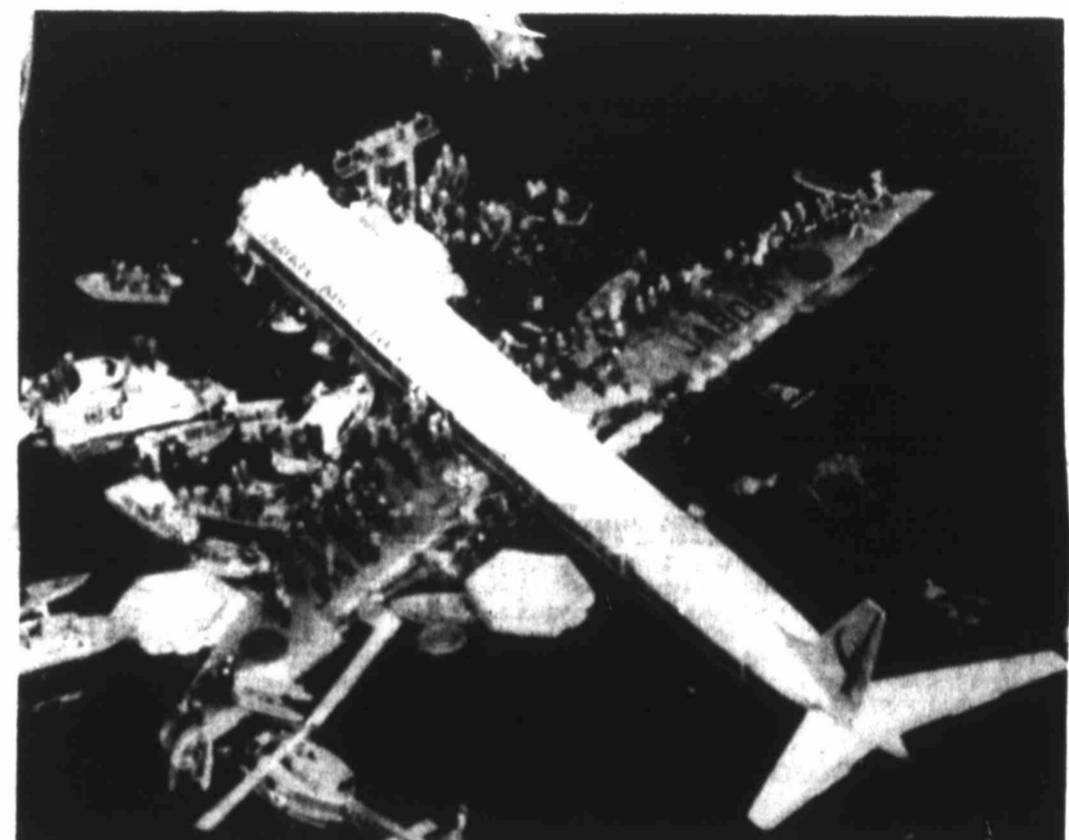

TOKYO (AP) — A Japan Air Lines DC-8 with 174 people aboard hit a series of light poles as it came down for a landing and slammed into shallow water at the edge of Tokyo Bay today, killing 24 Japanese passengers.

After a day of changing casualty figures, a police spokesman said the other 150 passengers and crew members were rescued, but 78 were hospitalized in serious condition, and the rest were slightly injured.

The only foreigner aboard was a South Korean, who was slightly injured.

Seventeen minutes before the crash, Capt. Seiji Katagiri reported he was entering normal descent patterns as he neared the end of a domestic flight from Fukuoka, in southwest Japan. The sky was cloudless and head winds were moderate. But the jetliner clipped several stanchions extending out into the bay with landing approach lights and pancaked into the water at 8:47 a.m.

The nose section of the jetliner broke off and was partially submerged under the fuselage, which came to rest, comparatively undamaged, in the muddy water.

CRASH IN THE BAY — Its nose shorn, a Japan Airlines DC-8 passenger jet lies partially submerged in Tokyo Bay following a crash Tuesday morning. Just a few hundred yards from the runway at Haneda Airport. The death toll is reported to be at least 24.

Haneda Airport, built on reclaimed land about 15 miles from central Tokyo, has been used primarily for domestic flights since the new Tokyo International Airport opened in 1978 at Narita, 45 miles to the northeast.

It was the first major plane accident in Japan since July 30, 1971, when a mid-air collision of an

All-Nippon Airways Boeing 727 and an Air Self-Defense Force jet killed 162 people. JAL had not had a fatal accident since Sept. 27, 1977, when one of its DC-8s crashed in Malaysia, killing 34.

The crash was also Tokyo's second disaster in two days. On Monday, 32 people were killed in a hotel fire.

Armstrong demands Temple get out of race

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — The uncharacteristic harmony in the Democrats' gubernatorial nomination race has been pierced by Land Commissioner Bob Armstrong's call for Buddy Temple to get out of the race or quit his seat at the Railroad Commission.

Armstrong said Monday that Temple could use the powerful post to "make or break" people who help or hinder Temple's bid for governor.

"He has placed literally thousands of Texans in a difficult position. People who oppose him do so at tremendous risk," said Armstrong.

Temple called Armstrong's statement "the most ridiculous thing I've ever heard."

"There's nothing in state law that requires a person to give up his office to run for another office," said Temple. "I don't base my decisions at the Railroad Commission on political considerations."

Armstrong, at a news conference, said, "If Buddy Temple loses, he goes back to the Railroad Commission where he can reward or punish by exercising the tremendous power that comes with that position."

Armstrong and Attorney General Mark White, another Democratic contender, face the end of their terms this year.

Dwayne Holman, White's campaign manager, echoed Armstrong's call.

"If (Temple) were a serious candidate he would resign and actually run for governor," said Holman.

Temple, elected to the Railroad Commission in 1980, has five years to go on the three-member commission that regulates trucking and the oil and gas industries.

"Only 15 months ago Buddy Temple promised the voters of Texas he was a serious candidate for the Railroad Commission, and stated that he was not merely using the office as a stepping stone to becoming governor," said Armstrong. "He has broken his promise to the voters. He is running when the ink is barely dry on his oath of office."

Armstrong said Temple has a conflict of interests. "Place yourself in the position of person in the oil, gas or trucking industry, or one of the thousands of royalty owners in Texas.

"As each of these people knows, the Railroad Commission can make or break you through its rules or regulations," said Armstrong.

Temple said Armstrong has similar conflicts as land commissioner.

Focalpoint

Action/reaction: Public records

Q. How do you determine what you put in public records? Something happened three or four years ago and it keeps getting put in public records. This is hard on people trying to straighten themselves out.

A. The question refers to county court records and cases which have been dismissed. We pick up all county court rulings and filings in the county clerk's office—records which are open to the public. Lately, the county attorney and county judge have been ruling on old cases, some filed as far back as five or six years.

We also pick up marriages in the clerk's office. The state's 118th District Court rulings and filings are picked up in the district clerk's office.

All cases are listed once as a filing and once as a ruling.

Appeals court denies Nixon request on tapes

WASHINGTON (AP) — A federal appeals court Tuesday threw out ex-president Richard Nixon's appeal that the federal government is acting illegally in processing his White House tape recordings for eventual public screenings.

The three-judge panel of the U.S. Court of Appeals also ruled the government was using proper and constitutional methods to separate Nixon's "diary" recordings, which will be returned to him on privacy grounds, from other recordings that will be made available to the public at 11 designated centers.

The panel's decision upheld a ruling by a lower federal court, which said the General Services Administration's rules for processing the tapes were constitutional.

Nixon claimed the procedures violated his constitutional right to personal privacy, political privacy and the presidential privilege of confidentiality.

Nixon said the GSA administrator should have established regulations to minimize constitutional infringements and suggested, for example, a system in which the administrator could have allowed public access only to synopses or transcripts of the tapes, could have made available to the public only those recordings relating to Watergate, or could have restricted the availability of recordings to a fixed period of years.

The appeals court, in an opinion written by senior U.S. Circuit Judge Carl McGowan, said the regulations permit Nixon and any others whose rights are implicated by disclosure to object and obtain judicial review of any adverse determination by the GSA.

McGowan said that Nixon claims he has the right of an individual to operate personal and business affairs outside of the public's view or listening.

The court also said that government archivists must listen to recorded Dictabelts that Nixon said were made for his personal diary.

Tape recordings played at the Watergate trials are already available for public listening in Washington, but they constitute only a small portion of Nixon's White House tape recordings.

The appeals court cited figures estimating there are 880 tape recordings among Nixon's presidential materials now in the custody of the GSA.

Alabama man refuses to waive extradition

An Alabama man was denied bond and returned to Howard County jail yesterday after appearing before Justice of the Peace Lewis Hefflin. Michael Box, 25, refused to waive extradition and be returned to Alabama.

Box was arrested and was being held in county jail on a charge of fleeing to escape prosecution in Alabama.

Three men were processed through the sheriff's office on charges of possession of marijuana and released on bond.

Simon Zubiate, 23, of 703 W. 6th, posted a $10,000 bond through Basden & Conway Bail Bond. He is charged with possession over two ounces.

Oscar Zubiate, 22, of 405 N.W. 4th, and Edward Rivera, 20, of Tarzan were charged with possession under two ounces and released on $1,000 bond each. Their bonds were posted by Basden & Conway.

Bonds were set by Justice of the Peace Bobby West.

Six Lamesa students nab honors at Fort Worth show

LAMESA (SC)—Six Lamesa High School students came home with champion honors in the Fort Worth Livestock Show over the weekend.

Out of 16 champions in the show, Lamesans took six. In the past three years, Lamesa has had only five champions at the show.

included David Moore, Durocs; Billy Hampton, Berkshire hogs; Brian Masters, Poland; Wes Addison, Hampshire; and Mike McCada, Poland.

Mark Hale took reserve champion honors in the Berkshire bare division. Agriculture teacher Ron Mayfield accompanied the students to Fort Worth.

Suit seeking $66,000 filed after accident

A suit seeking $66,000 in damages resulting from injuries sustained in an auto accident has been filed in 118th District Court by Cruz Puga and Joe Flores on behalf of their sons against John Mastin Johnson.

According to the suit filed Monday by attorney Wayne Basden, Cruz Puga Jr. and Joe Louis Flores, both minors, were walking next to West Third Street Oct. 17, 1981 when a vehicle driven by Johnson struck the youths from behind after running off the roadway. The suit states Johnson then left the scene of the accident without aiding the injured boys.

The suit claims Johnson, who told police he struck the youths according to the suit, was negligent in driving the vehicle off the roadway, driving under the influence of alcoholic beverages and speeding.

Damages of $18,000 are being asked for Puga Jr. due to injuries suffered in the alleged accident while damages of $48,000 are being asked for young Flores.

Police Beat Aged man found dead

An 81-year-old Big Spring man was found dead by the side of Gregg Street north of the viaduct yesterday, police reported.

Edward Jacobs of 212 Johnson was found by his wife and grandson after he had left home at 9:30 yesterday morning, police said.

Justice of the Peace Lewis Hefflin ruled that Jacobs died of natural causes.

Detective Lt. John Wolf said "no foul play" is suspected and added that police had received information that Jacobs had a history of heart trouble.

Jacobs had been out collecting aluminum cans when he died, according to police reports.

A raid by patrolmen and detectives last night resulted in the arrest of three men on possession of marijuana charges, police said. Arrested in the 703 W. Sixth home of Simon Zubiate was Zubiate, Oscar Zubiate of 405 N.W. Fourth and Edmond Rivera of Tarzan, according to police reports. All three were charged with felony possession of marijuana (over four ounces), said Lt. John Wolf.

Police said they charged Jimmy Marion of 4115 Parkway with resisting arrest after an officer attempted to arrest Marion on an assault charge at 12:18 a.m. today.

The shooting of a dog on Edwards Boulevard was being investigated by police this morning. The shooting was reported by Hayes Stripling Jr. of 613 Edwards, who told police someone in a red Chevrolet Nova shot the mixed-breed dog, then fled the scene at about 9:30 p.m. yesterday. The car was seen heading north on Gregg, according to police reports.

Elvis Johnson of 708 Pine told police a person known to him pointed a pistol at him and threatened him with injury at about 8:19 p.m. yesterday.

Mary Martinez of 1800 Johnson and Norma Ichoa of 1205 W. Sixth told police they were assaulted by someone they know in the 1200 block of West Sixth at about 12:33 p.m. yesterday.

Someone shot a small-caliber bullet into a window at Bauer Elementary School, 108 N.W. Ninth, between Feb. 5 and 8, according to police reports. The bullet was discovered by the school principal and taken by police as evidence.

Police said they arrested Bernice Scaggs on a misdemeanor theft charge at 9:40 a.m. yesterday after she allegedly stole a bottle of wine from the 7-Eleven store at 800 Gregg.

Bill Chrene of Bill Chrene Auto Sales, 1300 E. Fourth, told police someone opened a desk drawer and stole $320 in cash from the dealership office sometime Sunday.

Two glass panels to a T-top for a Corvette automobile were reported stolen from Pollard Chevrolet, 1501 E. Fourth, yesterday. The loss was pegged at $1,000, according to police reports.

Edward Fierro of 1002 N. Main told police his unlocked Ford automobile was entered Sunday or Monday and a .22-caliber pistol was stolen. The theft occurred while the car was parked at Fierro's home, according to police reports.

Clay Harris of 1001 W. Fourth told police the hubcaps to his Buick automobile were stolen while the car was parked in the lot of the Bowl-A-Rama off I-20 Sunday night.

John Ramirez of 1607 Avion told police someone entered his pickup truck while it was parked at the West Side Community Center Sunday night and took credit cards and other papers from the truck.

Billie Miller of 3303 Drexel complained to police yesterday that her wallet was stolen in a nurse's lounge at Malone-Hogan Hospital, 1601 W. 11th.

25 alien smugglers arrested

EL PASO, Texas (AP) — Border Patrol officers led by a chief agent who is on temporary duty here struck their second blow in a "one-two punch" operation aimed at smugglers who sneak illegal aliens into the country.

Jack Richardson, acting chief agent in El Paso, said agents used air surveillance and roadblocks to arrest 25 "coyotes," or smugglers, who bring illegal aliens from Mexico into the U.S.

The weekend operation also netted officials 194 Mexican aliens who had paid the smugglers to bring them to jobs in the United States.

Richardson, normally the chief agent in Del Rio, is working here until a new chief agent is selected for the El Paso office.

The 52-year-old chief agent has put together a two-part plan aimed at cracking down on smugglers and the Mexican nationals they spirit into the country.

On several occasions last month, Richardson sent every available Border Patrol agent to the banks of the Rio Grande and caught illegal aliens as they crossed the river into El Paso.

Richardson called his weekend action "Operation Patero."

"Down in Del Rio, a patero is the head duck who leads the little ducks across the water," he explained.

Border Patrol agents have made 12,360 arrests in January — a 25 percent increase over the number of arrests the previous month.

Although Richardson would not disclose many details about the weekend operation, he said the alleged smuggler were watched by Border Patrol ground units and smugglers' vehicles were followed by aircraft.

The arrests were made at roadblocks set on 10 highways leading away from the border in Texas and New Mexico, he said.

Richardson said the smugglers were charging the aliens to take them "to a place of employment in the interior of the United States."

He said the going fee for safe transport into the country is about $350 per alien.

"We're trying to make it risky for somebody to make money off other people's misfortunes," Richardson said. "The operation was not designed to produce numbers. It was designed to detect and apprehend those persons bringing aliens into the country."

Walesa may be freed soon

WARSAW, Poland (AP) — A senior-Polish official said today he hopes Solidarity leader Lech Walesa will soon be freed from nearly two months' detention.

Deputy Prime Minister Jerzy Odzowski said in an interview with The Associated Press he is "convinced" Walesa bore no responsibility for what he termed the uncontrolled activities of the union in the weeks up to Dec. 13. Odzowski indicated there was thus no reason for martial law authorities to hold Walesa much longer.

"I hope that Walesa is soon a free man again," he said.

Army officer walks into helicopter blade

FORT HOOD, Texas (AP) — Army officials were trying to determine why an aircraft crew chief walked into the whirling tail rotor of a helicopter at Fort Hood Army Airfield. Sgt. Jose A. Otero, 32, was pronounced dead at the scene at 11:25 a.m. Monday, said Fort Hood spokesman Maj. Tony Geishauser. Geishauser said Otero, a crew chief in the Sixth Cavalry Brigade, was not entering or exiting the aircraft when the accident occurred. "He was not leaving or coming ... right now it's not really clear what happened," Geishauser said.

Expired inspection tags found on police vehicles

HOUSTON (AP) — Houston police officials' faces were red today because something else was an odd color — the state inspection stickers on a number of police vehicles. At least 15 and probably many more of the vehicles were illegally registered because a $4,000 check for new inspection tags had been held up at City Hall, Lt. Wayne Hankins of the department's garage administration said Monday. "It's kind of hard for a man to stop somebody for an expired tag when his own inspection sticker is expired," Hankins said.

Woman battles army

SAN ANTONIO, Texas (AP) — Former Army Pfc. Wendy L. Wickham will take her battle against a court martial to the 5th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals. A federal judge ruled Monday that Mrs. Wickham, 21, should be tried by a court martial on Army charges that she faked a pregnancy to fraudulently obtain a discharge. But Mrs. Wickham had argued that any trial must be in federal court because she was discharged in 1980 and the Army has no right to court martial a civilian. U.S. District Judge Fred Shannon said there was "merit to both sides" and it was "a close decision," but he issued a summary judgment Monday in favor of the Army.

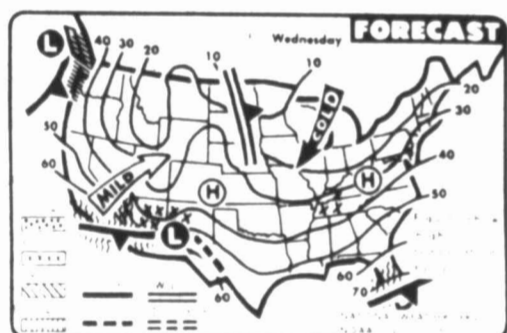

Clayton sues Prudential

HOUSTON (AP) — Texas House Speaker Billy Clayton is suing Prudential Insurance Co. and two FBI undercover agents, claiming the Brihab scandal caused him "great humiliation and embarrassment" and damaged his career as a public servant. Clayton and two Austin attorneys were acquitted in October 1980 of charges stemming from the FBI's Brihab "sting" investigation of an alleged scheme to influence the awarding of a state employees health insurance contract. Clayton's suit, filed Monday in federal court here, contended Prudential acted "with full knowledge of the purpose of the investigation and for its own business purposes."

Treasurer goes to court

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — State Treasurer Warren G. Harding contends in a $1 million civil rights suit that the authorities directing the grand jury investigation into alleged misconduct by him illegally seized his records. Harding filed suit in federal court Monday against Travis County District Attorney Ronnie Earle, his assistant Bill Williams and investigator Joe Dale Morris. The treasurer contends Earle and his assistants violated his civil rights Jan. 28 by illegally seizing a filing cabinet that contained Harding's personal records.

Weather

WEATHER FORECAST — The National Weather Service predicts for Wednesday snow flurries in parts of Tennessee and Kentucky and in Arizona and New Mexico. Showers are expected in parts of Florida, California, Nevada and Arizona. Rain is forecast for the northwest fringe of the nation.

Snow, gusty winds plague Panhandle

By The Associated Press
Drifting snow driven by gusty, northerly winds made driving conditions hazardous across the eastern two-thirds of the Texas Panhandle early today.

A cold front pushed its way into South Texas early today after moving rapidly across the state. Behind the front temperatures plunged to as low as 8 in the Panhandle and portions of the the Panhandle, South Plains and North Texas received another thin covering of ice from snow, sleet, freezing rain and freezing drizzle.

The precipitation was ending from the west and was expected to end over most of the state by late today.

Forecasters warned of hazardous driving conditions as far south as the Dallas-Fort Worth metropolis as bridges and overpasses were coated with a thin glaze of ice.

Travelers advisories were posted for the South Plains southward into the Concho Valley near San Angelo and for North Central Texas.

In the Panhandle, forecasters warned residents to dress warmly because single digit temperatures combined with gusty, northerly winds dropped the wind chill factor to 15 to 25.

Light drizzle and fog was reported ahead of the front. Skies were partly cloudy over West Texas and cloudy over the remainder of the state.

Highs today were to range from the 20s in northern sections of the state to the 40s and 50s elsewhere except for the 60s in the Big Bend area and in extreme South Texas. Lows tonight will range from the lower teens in the Panhandle to the 20s in North Texas and Central Texas to the 40s in South Texas. Highs Wednesday will be mostly in the 30s and 40s, ranging upward to the 60s in southern sections of the state.

FORECAST
WEST TEXAS—Partly cloudy through Wednesday. Cold temperatures north today and tonight warming Wednesday. Highs lower 20s north to near 30s south and upper 40s southwest. Lows lower teens north to near 40 south. Highs Wednesday mid 30s north to near 40 south and near 70 southwest.

EXTENDED FORECAST
WEST TEXAS—Partly cloudy with a slow warming trend. Lows near 20 north to upper 30s south. Highs Thursday 40s north to low 70s Big Bend warming to near 50 north to mid 70s extreme south Saturday.

IT'S OVER — Nurse Hazel Lehtinen, left, embraces Ashtabula, Ohio General Nurses Association president Mary Runyan Monday night after nurses voted to end their record 570 day strike against the Ashtabula General Hospital. The strike by the nurses union began in July 1980 and stretched into the longest nurses strike in history.

Nation's longest nurses strike ends

ASHTABULA, Ohio (AP) — Striking nurses from Ashtabula General Hospital, feeling "exhausted, mentally and physically" from the nation's longest nurses' strike, have voted to return to work. "I really and truly believe what we did was the right thing," said Mary Runyan, president of the Ashtabula General Nurses Association. But she added, "We didn't get everything we wanted."

The 570-day strike, which began July 21, 1980, ended Monday night when the 96 nurses remaining off the job approved a hospital offer to return them to the positions they worked before the walkout.

Exact results of the secret-ballot vote were not disclosed.

The nurses had rejected the same offer in a vote Jan. 4, claiming the proposed contract did not provide for union security.

The two sides met once after the January vote, but no new proposals were made.

"We agreed when we had the last vote that we would go back to the bargaining table. We did that, and there was nothing there," Mrs. Runyan said. "We have definitely come to the feeling that we all need to go back and try to make it work."

Nurse Dave Cunningham said the experience of such a long strike was indescribable.

"After something like this, no matter what happens, everybody knows that he has sisters and brothers that will never let him down," he said. "How many people have you talked to that have been on strike for 18½ months? This should be done all over the country. The problems that we struck over are the problems of nurses nationally."

Hospital Administrator Floyd Farley said he was not surprised by the outcome of Monday's vote.

"I think we all expected it would be settled ... because they got together on their own this time," he said.

Snowstorm heads East

By The Associated Press
A snowstorm plastered much of the nation from Oklahoma across the Midwest into New England today, closing hundreds of schools and tying up rush-hour traffic in the urban Northeast.

New snow collected almost a foot deep in Kansas and elsewhere in the Midwest, which has been hit by almost weekly storms since early January.

Winter storm warnings were in effect in central Indiana, central Ohio, the northern panhandle of West Virginia, western Maryland, the interior of eastern Pennsylvania and the Catskill Mountains of New York State.

At least two people were killed in Oklahoma where up to 8 inches of new snow fell. The highway patrol issued a plea to radio stations to tell travelers in the central part of the state to find lodging and stay off the highways.

Schools closed in cities such as Baltimore, Philadelphia and Boston as the storm reached the Northeast in the pre-dawn hours.

Police in Providence, R.I., reported dozens of accidents on Interstate 95 in the metropolitan area. Tractor-trailer trucks were unable to climb the hills and cars trying to avoid the stalled trucks skidded into each other on the unsanded highway. Some injuries were reported.

In Indiana, where snow depths already measured about a foot, another 10 inches was forecast. Schools closed in Indianapolis where the snow fell at the rate of an inch an hour.

The Indiana Toll road was closed for a 10-mile stretch from Angola to the Ohio state line after a truck carrying liquid propane gas jackknifed, skidded off the road about 11 p.m. Monday and began leaking gas. The toll plaza was evacuated.

Up to 8 inches of snow in parts of Missouri left a cover of 20 inches on the ground in St. Louis, which was paralyzed by a two-foot snowfall a week ago.

Sleet and freezing rain made driving hazardous over parts of Kentucky, Arkansas and Texas. Bridges and overpasses in Dallas were glazed with ice.

Freezing rain, sleet and snow in Maryland and Delaware forced schools to close in several counties.

Numerous schools also closed in Connecticut, which was caught off guard by the storm.

One Oklahoma state trooper was urging no one to try to travel through Grant County because there was "a good chance they will not make it."

Temperatures this morning dropped below zero from Montana and Wyoming to Wisconsin and upper Michigan, with readings colder than 20 below in some areas.

Demos urge talks on El Salvador

WASHINGTON (AP) — Liberal Senate Democrats are urging President Reagan to consider a negotiated end to the Salvadoran civil war, warning that otherwise U.S. combat troops might be needed to block a leftist victory.

But a high-ranking State Department official ruled out such talks Monday, saying a negotiated settlement that gives a share of power to leftist guerrillas would amount to "handing over" El Salvador to the communists.

Thomas O. Enders, assistant secretary of state for inter-American affairs, cited Nicaragua as a recent example of a coalition government that he said was gradually taken over by leftist elements and turned into a Soviet ally.

Enders' testimony before the Senate Foreign Relations Committee came in response to calls from Democratic Sens. Paul Tsongas of Massachusetts and Christopher Dodd of Connecticut for negotiations involving all sides of the Salvadoran conflict.

Saying the administration's current policy of stepped-up military support was leading the United States into a Vietnam-style "quagmire," Tsongas said the "answer to this is a negotiated settlement."

"In other words, senator, we hand it over," said Enders.

"If that's the attitude of policymakers in this administration, then I'm very troubled," Tsongas responded. "This will become at the very least a drain on our Treasury and ultimately a drain on our personnel."

Enders also clashed with Dodd, who called on the administration to "face realities" and seek a settlement to the war while the guerrillas are still willing to talk.

While rejecting calls for a negotiated settlement, Enders refused to rule out the possibility of sending U.S. combat troops to the Central American country.

Enders said the administration's goal was to achieve a "political settlement" based on elections and social reform.

He said leftist guerrillas still can participate in talks setting up the details for next month's elections to select a national assembly, but added that if they fail to participate, they risk being left behind by a country moving toward democratic reform.

Eight die in plane collision

HOMESTEAD, Fla. (AP) — The pilots of two planes that slammed together over the swamps of the Everglades National Forest, killing all eight people aboard, were flying buddies who took frequent air trips together, a neighbor says.

The victims, returning from a seafood festival in the southwest Florida town of Everglades City, weren't found until Monday, one day after authorities said their planes plunged into the mud and tall sawgrass of the Everglades.

George Harris of Miami, the pilot of the Cessna 182, and Frank Smykal of Florida City, the pilot of the Piper Comanche, "would get together a lot," said R.L. Munro, Harris' next door neighbor and friend of 12 years. "They'd go off on these weekend trips and take turns flying each other, or they'd take different planes."

Police spokesman Dave Graveline said the planes "must have been together when they hit."

Reagan takes budget battle into Midwest

DES MOINES, Iowa (AP) — President Reagan, going on the attack against his critics, says Democratic demagogues are preparing "horror stories" about his 1983 budget but offer no reasonable alternative.

Reagan was taking his sharpened sales pitch to the Republican-controlled Iowa legislature today where he was expected to continue the ad-libbed slashes he began Monday in Minneapolis at the start of a two-day, Midwestern trip.

The president was wrapping up the promotional tour at Indianapolis later today. Similar outings through the West and Deep South are planned for next month.

"You have to get about 50 miles at least from the Potomac River and the District (of Columbia) to get back to the real world," Reagan told an approving crowd in Minneapolis.

"In the days ahead you are going to be submerged in demagoguery about the '83 budget," Reagan continued. "You're hearing all kinds of horror stories about the people who are going to be thrown out in the snow to hunger and die of cold and so forth."

Reagan fired his impromptu remarks at a rally for Sen. David Durenberger, R-Minn. Deputy press secretary Larry Speakes said some of the barbs were written on the flight from Washington but that Reagan thought of most of them as he spoke.

"They came from the heart," Speakes said, thumping himself on the chest for emphasis.

Reagan said Democrats are accusing him of cruel budget cutting when he actually has not reduced the budget at all. He said total spending in 1983 will be higher than in 1982 and that this year's total is higher than 1981 because of automatic escalation created by Democrats.

"We have been reducing the rate of increase that has been built in," Reagan said.

The president complained that while Democrats criticize his budget because of the $91.5 billion deficit it projects, they have nothing to offer themselves except higher taxes.

Reagan said he will not back down on his plans for greatly expanded defense spending despite suggestions that Congress, especially the Democrats there, will insist on some cuts.

In his speech to the Iowa lawmakers, Reagan insisted he expects his tax cuts to rescue the economy in the long run.

"We must hold firm to our tax cuts and reduce the budget even more," Reagan said. "We have much to do before we will see the light, but I think we are at least approaching the bend in the tunnel."

He blamed current economic problems on his predecessors, particularly Democrats in Congress.

Before flying to Minnesota Monday, Reagan formally sent Congress a $757.6 billion budget that projects record deficits of $98.6 billion this year and $91.5 billion for the fiscal year that starts Oct. 1.

That left administration officials shutting around Capitol Hill, briefing legislators and testifying before congressional panels.

Treasury Secretary Donald T. Regan, budget director David A. Stockman and Murray L. Weidenbaum, chairman of Reagan's Council of Economic Advisers, were to make a joint appearance before the House Appropriations Committee today to explain the administration's spending plan.

Prior to that, Regan and Stockman planned to brief House Republicans. A meeting with conservative Democrats was scheduled in the afternoon.

Before leaving Washington, Reagan defended his budget proposals, saying they are "the second step...in our program to try and bring government spending back in line with government revenues."

Haig accuses Soviets of 'wilful' violations

MADRID (AP) — Secretary of State Alexander M. Haig Jr. accused the Soviet Union and the Polish military government today of "a wilful violation of solemn international accords" because of the martial law crackdown in Poland.

In a blistering attack on the two countries, Haig objected to talking in Madrid about improved relations between East and West when past agreements have been violated.

"We cannot pretend to build up the structure of peace and security here in Madrid while the foundation for that structure is being undermined in Poland," he told the 35-nation European Security Conference.

"We would be threatening the future peace of Europe if we ignored this dramatic attack on international principles," Haig declared.

Both the Soviet and Polish delegations were in the audience as Haig spoke.

Haig said a "forcible suppression" of freedom and self-determination is under way in Poland, where martial law was declared Dec. 13 and the independent union Solidarity suspended.

"The generals of this war against the Polish people are none other than the Polish regime itself, acting under the instigation and coercion of the Soviet Union," he declared.

Haig accused the Soviets of seven specific violations of the 1975 Helsinki accords, which committed the 35 nations meeting here to respect human rights and national sovereignty in Europe.

The meeting here is a follow-up session to the Helsinki accords and has been at work on a new pact aimed at easing East-West tensions in Europe.

But referring to events in Poland, Haig said, "Nothing endangers security and cooperation in Europe more than the threat and the use of force to deny internationally recognized rights."

Before Haig delivered his address, there was last-minute jockeying to avoid blocking tactics by the Polish chairman of the conference, who said he did not want the meeting to discuss the situation in his homeland.

West Germany's foreign minister, Hans-Dietrich Genscher, said, meanwhile, that the allies had put off a decision on how long to allow the conference to continue.

The U.S. delegation had proposed initially that the session be recessed at the end of the week to protest events in Poland. But West Germany and Britain favor continuing the meeting, which they believe is an important forum for East and West to discuss their differences.

In Moscow, the Soviet Communist Party newspaper Pravda said that raising the Polish question at the Madrid conference was like setting a mine under the negotiating table.

Motel room shortage hurts

Everyone knows about Big Spring's housing shortage. But there is another shortage that is causing the city's businesses to lose thousands of dollars. It is the shortage of motel rooms.

At least one church in town is in a quandary over whether or not it will be able to host a major church conference here in the next couple of years. The conference would bring in more than 800 delegates and spouses for a period of several days. But where would they stay?

And at least one local women's organization has had to cancel plans for a district conference that would have brought hundreds of persons to town.

These people would have left many dollars in Big Spring, for motels, meals, gasoline and shopping.

No doubt many other local groups have confronted the same problem.

THE LACK OF sufficient accommodations affects not only local business activity, but also hurts the city in lost sales tax revenues. These are revenues that could have been spent on city improvements.

Of course, interest rates are the culprit. No one is willing to invest in building new motel rooms when the cost of money is so exorbitant.

But that doesn't mean we should stand still and wait for the high interest rate problem to go away. The Chamber of Commerce, the city government and business leaders of the community should get together and see if they couldn't come up with a plan that would ease the pain for potential investors.

WE DON'T PRETEND to know what such a plan might be. It will take the best minds of the city working together to solve the problem.

We do know that for every convention the city must turn down, thousands of dollars are going down the drain.

Radio daydreams

Consider for a moment the radio. A collection of plastic, tubes or transistors, it talks to you, informs you and, hopefully, sings your favorite tunes.

At least that's what the radios I'm concerned with are supposed to do. I have never been one for listening to shortwave sets (foreign languages, blowing in static), so I go for commercial radio. And since the only time I listen to the radio is when I'm driving around in my decade-old car, it's an AM radio that I love.

Yes AM. Amplitude modulation. I never have the opportunity to listen to the sounds of FM, so I go for AM, with its commercials and infrequent musical interruptions.

But I love it. And hate it. Like most things that I live with throughout the day, every day, I have a love-hate relationship with the AM radio stations. Other people do too. I've heard KBST referred to as "K-WORST" or "K-MESS," just as I've heard this publication referred to as "The Big Spring Headache." It makes us feel good to malign these things.

BUT I DIGRESS. What has started me on this is my long-held desire to run a radio station. I've spent a lot of time thinking about this, mostly while raking leaves or soaking in the bathtub. What would I play? More importantly, what wouldn't I play? Considering my age, I would obviously be more interested in rock 'n' roll. But that's not all. I would want the station to reflect my personal tastes.

First rule: I would not play any song that was in the Top Forty. I would not play a Top Forty song until one year after it had dropped. Nothing wrong with Top Forty, but there's enough of that on their. Nonsense in adding to it.

Second rule: Rock 'n' roll has been around long enough to have a history, so why not play some older songs? AM stations around here often play old Creedence Clearwater Revival songs.

Buy American

"There is only one way the country is going to get on its feet," said Baleful.

"How's that?" I asked as we drank coffee in his office at the Baleful Refrigerator Company.

"The consumer has to start buying American," he said, slamming his fist down on the desk. "Every time an American buys a foreign refrigerator it costs one of my people his job. And every time one of my people is out of work it means he or she can't buy refrigerators."

"It is a vicious circle," I said. Baleful's secretary came in, "Mr. Thompson, the steel broker, is on the phone."

"My friend grabbed the receiver," Thompson, where the hell is that steel shipment from Japan that was supposed to be in last weekend? "I don't care about bad weather. We're almost out of steel and I'll have to close down the refrigerator assembly line next week. If you can't deliver when you promise, I'll find myself another broker."

"You get your steel from Japan?" I asked Baleful.

"Even with shipping costs, their price is still lower than steel made in Europe. We used to get all our sheets from Belgium, but the Japanese are now giving them a run for their money."

The buzzer on the phone alerted Baleful. He listened for a few moments and then said, "Excuse me I have a call from Taiwan... Buster, how are you coming with those door handles for the Mark Four? Look R & D have designed a new push-button door handle and we're going to send the specs to you. Tell Mr. Chow if his people send us a sample of one and he can make it for us at the same price as the old handle, we'll give his company the order."

A man came in with a plastic container and said, "Mr. Baleful, you said you wanted to see one of these before we ordered them. They are the containers for the ice maker in the refrigerator."

Baleful inspected it carefully and banged it on the floor a couple of times. "What's the price on it?"

"Hong Kong can deliver at $2 a tray and Dong-Fu Plastics in South Korea said they can make it for $1.70."

"It's just a plastic tray. Take the South Korean bid. We'll let Hong Kong supply us with the shelves for the freezer. Any word on the motors?"

"There's a German Company in Brazil that just came out with a new motor and it's passed all our tests, so Johnson has ordered 50,000."

"Call Cleveland Motors and tell them we're sorry but the price they quoted us was just too high."

"Yes, sir," the man said and departed.

The secretary came in again and said, "Harry telephoned and wanted to let you know the defrosters just arrived from Finland. They're unloading the box cars now."

"Good. Any word on the wooden crates from Singapore?"

"They're at the dock in Hoboken."

"Thank heaven. Cancel our order from Boise Cascade."

"What excuse should I give them?"

"Tell them we made a mistake in our inventory or we're switching to fiberglass. I don't care what you tell them."

Baleful turned to me. "Where were we?"

"You were saying that if the consumer doesn't start buying American this country is going to be in a lot of trouble."

"Right. It's not only his patriotic duty, but his livelihood that's at stake. I'm going to Washington next week to tell the Senate Commerce Committee if they don't get off the stick there isn't going to be a domestic refrigerator left in this country. We're not going to stay in business for our health."

"Pour it on them," I urged him.

Baleful said, "Come out with me into the showroom."

I followed him. He went to his latest model, and opened the door. "This is an American refrigerator made by the American worker, for the American consumer. What do you have to say to that?"

"It's beautiful," I said. "It puts the foreign imports to shame."

Rowland Evans/Robert Novak

Kemp-White House clash

"Let me repeat what I said to you," Rostow wrote the chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee. "I consider him to be one of the two or three outstanding scholars in the world today on the relationship between political and military affairs."

Van Cleave's nomination as chairman of ACDA's prestigious General Advisory Committee was killed not by Percy but by White House counselor Edwin Meese III. The reason: He publicly questioned the administration's widely-criticized new plan for basing the new MX missile in existing ground silos and scrapping an earlier mobile basing system. The Van Cleave veto was another bitter blow to Reaganites who have watched one after another of their hard-line buddies leave or be ousted from the administration while budget director David Stockman, whose interview in the Atlantic Monthly last fall was considered treasonous by Reaganites, remains in office.

WATT'S POLITICAL WATTAGE
Interior Secretary Jim Watt, of all people, delivered a stinging rebuke, though couched in understanding terms, of Reaganite "conservatives who are carping, criticizing and demeaning" the administration on grounds the president is not delivering on his whole program fast enough.

What whetted Watt's ire is public pressure from social-issue conservatives demanding quick action on such legislative issues as abortion, school prayer, forced busing and others. "Let's lower our egos," Watt told a Jan. 22 luncheon meeting of the Conservative Forum. "Recognize that some of our issues have to take a back seat until we can man all the battlefronts."

Watt received a standing ovation. Then he sent a letter to President Reagan saying that his (Watt's) "conservative credentials are sufficiently strong" to entitle him to rebuke his fellow conservatives in the name of harmony within the administration. He added this handwritten footnote: "Thanks for not asking for a tax increase."

A DEMOCRATIC APPEAL
Former Kennedy administration Pentagon whiz-kid Les Aspin, now a leading Democratic House liberal, is quietly circulating a memorandum that warns against the effects of haphazard defense-budget-cutting by Congress in this year of record-high deficit spending.

Never a member of the defense-oriented bloc on Capitol Hill, Aspin nevertheless warns that if Congress goes after "big-ticket" items like the MX missile, the B-1 bomber or new aircraft carriers, the maximum savings for the new fiscal year starting Oct. 1 would be only $3 billion — yet the cost of that savings in terms of future budget authority would be weapons worth $30 billion.

Thus, in these big-ticket accounts, small savings for fiscal 1983 would cut the heart out of the long-range defense program aimed at rebuilding military strength. The only alternative is to cut military readiness: operations and maintenance, research, testing or personnel. But cutting military readiness reduces war-fighting capability. Either way, says Aspin, defense cuts pose dangers for national security.

Billy Graham

What's wrong with horoscopes?

DEAR DR. GRAHAM: I know you have said from time to time that occult practices are wrong, but do you honestly think there is anything wrong with harmless things like horoscopes? — J.N.

DEAR J.N.: Yes, things of this nature can be harmful to anyone who takes them seriously — by which I mean anyone who would place any faith in what they say or follow them in any way.

There are several reasons why I say this. First, by trusting such things and allowing them to influence the way we live we are assuming that they are true. But there is no basis for saying this, and in fact the Bible declares the opposite. Speaking of the wide-spread custom of following astrological signs in the ancient world the prophet Jeremiah declared, "Do not learn the ways of the nations, or be terrified by signs in the sky, though the nations are terrified by them. For the customs of the peoples are worthless" (Jeremiah 10:2-3).

Another reason for avoiding such things is that when a person looks to them for guidance, he is at the same time not looking to God for guidance. Astrology, that is, becomes a substitute for God. But God calls us to have faith in him, and in him alone. We are to obey him and follow him every day, trusting him to be with us and guide us, and he has promised to do for his people. "God is our God for ever and ever; he will be our guide even to the end" (Psalm 48:14).

You should also remember that astrology in the Bible is often closely associated with occult and demonic practices and influences, and we are strictly warned not to have anything to do with such things. (See Deuteronomy 18:9-13).

I hope that you will ask yourself what exactly you are trusting for your future. Are you looking to yourself, or to some practice such as looking to the stars to give guidance? If so, I hope that you will turn from these and invite Jesus Christ into your life as your Savior and Lord.

Let's discuss rotten apples

Let's get off this cop and robber a bit and talk about cabbages and kings or other things. How about talking about rotten apples?

Today, my pet peeve just happens to be the truck driver. Last week we heard on the news about the missing driver who had two hot Corvettes on ice (pun). The driver wasn't missing, he knew where he was all the time. Anyway, the news report put some gears in motion for me, and my thoughts turned to the rotten apples in the truck driving barrel.

In my young girl days, a truck driver was the knight in Shining Armour. He was the gentle soul who cried when he helped remove dead children from car wrecks. He was the one who helped a stranded woman get her car running again, or fixed her flat so she could be on her way. He was the soft touch for a broken down old wino, or he was the one who picked up the lonely hitchhiker and shared a cup of coffee or a hot meal.

So what's my gripe? There are truck drivers who are not the shining knights. They are the ones who race each other and take up the whole highway, playing stupid speeding games; they cut in on your side, when there isn't sufficient clearance causing you to have to slam on your brakes to keep from being sideswiped over into a cotton patch; they take their half out of the middle, so you have to ride on the road shoulder; they say ugly things on their CB's, thinking they are cute or funny. (A thousand and one comedians starving to death, and a truck driver is trying to be a funny entertainer?)

Of course this does not take in all the truck drivers no more than the statement did about the policeman. It's just that there are a few rotten apples in the barrel of all walks of life.

I do have one comment to make about some of the letters written by the public citizens complaining about certain policemen. If a person does not like the police or lawyers, then stay on the right side of the law and teach your family to do likewise. Just like the rotten apples, sometimes we come in contact with these undesirable, unintentionally, or accidentally, but the biggest complainers are the ones who have a closer contact not exactly by accident.

America has buried herself under garbage and broken laws, and if she is to survive and become a proud nation again, she needs to make her citizens aware that they should cull the rotten apples regularly and not wait for the whole barrel to become tainted.

Sincerely,
CHRISTINE HORN

MARCOS SON-IN-LAW MEETS PRESS — Filipino sportsman Tommy Manotoc, left, holds a news conference after his rescue from 41 days of being held captive by kidnapers. Manotoc told the conference that there was "no truth" to accusations that President Ferdinand E. Marcos and his wife Imelda were behind the kidnapping. Manotoc, who was secretly

Beef grading system being evaluated

The government is beginning hearings this week on a proposal that could change the look — and possibly the taste — of some of the beef Americans eat.

The proposal comes from the U.S. Department of Agriculture and affects the department's grading service which ranks beef according to quality and yield.

The change would involve the quality grades only. The yield grades — which reflect the amount of usable meat a carcass provides and which most consumers don't see anyway — would not be changed.

In general, the proposed switch would lead to leaner beef. It would reduce the amount of marbling — the tiny flecks of fat running through the meat — which beef needs to qualify for the higher grades.

To produce marbling, ranchers must feed their cattle on grain rather than simply letting them graze on grass. Grain-fed beef is more expensive to produce, that's why the top grades of beef cost more.

The National Cattlemen's Association had petitioned the USDA to make a change in the grading standards. The final proposal is roughly in line with the cattlemen's request, but requires more marbling than the ranchers wanted.

The Community Nutrition Institute, a consumer group, also wanted changes to promote the marketing of leaner beef. But Ellen Haas, consumer director of the institute, said the USDA proposal was "just a reshuffle of standards without any consumer benefit."

Note: Consumers do not always see a quality grade on the beef they buy. Government grading is voluntary, and some major supermarket chains have their own standards and quality rankings.

Hearings on the proposal will be held in Salt Lake City on Tuesday, Feb. 9; in Atlanta on Feb.

11; in Washington, D.C., on Feb. 16; in Des Moines, Iowa, on Feb. 22; and in Dallas on Feb. 25.

The last major changes in grading standards took effect in 1976. They also lowered the levels of marbling required for the top grades.

Existing standards provide for eight grades of meat: Prime, choice, good, standard, commercial, utility, cutter and canner. Most of the graded beef which consumers buy is one of the top three grades — prime, choice or good. The proposed change would eliminate the standard grade completely, and would reduce the amount of marbling required in the prime, choice and good grades.

The USDA says the changes will not significantly lower the palatability — the tenderness, juiciness or flavor — of prime or choice beef, but it says that beef graded as good under the new standard would be lower in palatability.

The USDA will consider written comments from anyone who is interested. Letters must be received by March 31. If you want to comment, send two copies of your views, along with any supporting data, to the Livestock, Meat, Grain and Seed Division, AMS, U.S. Department of Agriculture, 2M-Annex, Washington, D.C., 20250. You can get a detailed copy of the proposal by writing to the same address. Include in your comment, the date — Dec. 30 — and the page number — 63052 — of the Federal Register on which the proposal appeared.

Science programs have bright future

WASHINGTON (AP) — Most of the government's science programs, particularly those involving space exploration, were spared from the cuts that hit other agencies in the proposed fiscal 1983 budget.

Though no major science or medical research program receives big increases in the administration's proposed budget, many would get enough of a hike to protect against inflation and at least maintain the status quo.

Physical science and engineering research, aimed at economic growth and national security, gets a high priority in the technical budget.

Out of the Defense Department's proposed $24 billion research and development budget, the administration is asking for about $780 million for basic research, up from $670 million the previous year.

This research, which includes such things as advanced computers and electronic devices, has both military and civilian applications.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration would get $6.6 billion in budget outlays in the next fiscal year, an increase of almost $700 million.

The largest part of the space budget, about $3.4 billion, is for the space shuttle and its operations, a high priority. The shuttle not only has military applications, but is the cornerstone of the entire space effort.

Included in the budget is money to continue planetary exploration, previously imperiled by threatened cuts.

Yielding to objections from the scientific community, the administration added $21 million to continue the U.S. part of a sun probe mission with Europe; $92.6 million for the Galileo Jupiter-orbiting satellite and $34.5 million to begin a major satellite program, the Gamma Ray Observatory.

In medical research, the National Institutes of Health would get outlays of $3.5 billion, including a $100 million increase that would not fully buffer the budget from inflation.

The administration said the money would finance 15,141 research grants and provide about $150 million to help universities train 8,900 young scientists.

The National Science Foundation, which supports most of the nation's non-medical basic research, would get $982 million in outlays, about an 8 percent increase over the previous year.

Major increases would go to programs to modernize outmoded technical equipment at universities, increase training of engineers and computer specialists who are in short supply and push more research in microelectronics and computer science.

The foundation says it will emphasize projects that will spur economic growth and strengthen the scientific base of the country in the face of increasing worldwide competition.

Son of Sergeant York is also a crack shot

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Ramrod straight, Andrew Jackson York stood at the firing line along with the other park rangers and aimed his revolver at the paper silhouette in front of him.

He fired once. A bull's-eye. Again. Another bull's-eye. On a firing range where it takes 70 points to qualify out of a possible 100, York proved once again that he was his father's son. He shot a pair of 99s.

York's late father, Sgt. Alvin C. York, was described by Gen. John Pershing as "the greatest civilian soldier" to emerge from World War I. The senior York killed 25 Germans, captured 132 others and silenced 28 enemy machine guns during the battle of the Argonne in France in October 1918.

A crack shot, he used a .45-caliber pistol after running out of rifle ammunition.

The quiet, religious mountaineer from Pall Mall, Tenn., who had registered as a conscientious objector with the draft board, was awarded the Medal of Honor for his exploits and given a ticker-tape welcome in New York City upon his return to the United States.

Andy York, 51, one of seven York children, told a reporter that his father had said very little about the war.

"He'd never talk about it much," York said. "He'd just change the subject. Said it wasn't him that done it."

"He told me if he didn't have the one above him, he couldn't have done what he did," the tall, gray-haired York said.

"He didn't want to go to begin with."

York is the second member of his family to be a state park ranger. In 1972, he replaced his late brother, Thomas Jefferson York, as ranger at the family farm, museum and grist mill in the Valley of the Three Forks of the Wolf River, near the Cumberland mountain community of Pall Mall. "Along with being a ranger, he was a constable, a deputy sheriff," he said of Tom. "He was taking a prisoner in but he overlooked a gun in the boy's boot. They killed each other." Alvin York's widow and childhood sweetheart, "Miss Gracie," now 81, still lives in the family's white, two-story frame house.

Unlike his famous father, York said he had never served in the military and didn't do much hunting.

"I was too young for World War II and I was married and had a family by the time of the Korean War. I tried to volunteer but they wouldn't take me."

"I don't have much time to spend in the hills hunting," he said, "but I guess I haven't lost my shooting eye. Funny about that. I can shoot the heart out of a target but I can't read a phone book without glasses."

Charlie Daniels moved by honor

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Country singer and fiddle player Charlie Daniels, given a standing ovation by the Tennessee Senate and House, broke into tears when he was honored with a legislative resolution.

"I think that tonight for just about the first time in my life that I've got caught without anything to say," Daniels said Monday, his voice breaking. "This is the finest honor in my life."

A lawmaker from the rear of the chamber yelled: "Sing it, fella."

The resolution called Daniels "a shining inspiration to the citizens of this state and nation." "I never thought that some of these people that love Tennessee as much as I do would present me such an honor," Daniels said. "I've got to say that it's good to be in Tennessee."

Daniels recently received another state honor when Gov. Lamar Alexander proclaimed Charlie Daniels Day.

Daniels, whose hits include "In America," and "The Devil Went Down to Georgia," wore his outsize cowboy hat in the House chamber and was accompanied by his wife, Hazel.

Eye bank is looking everywhere for donors

NEW YORK (AP) — Contrary to popular opinion, there isn't a great deal of difficulty getting people to donate their eyes to others. The trouble comes at the time of the donor's death. For more often than not, no one knows the person who died had wanted to make the donation, until it's too late.

New York is one state trying to do something about that — not only in the case of eyes, but also other parts of the body. With their license-renewal applications, motorists in New York get what's called a "universal donor card" on which they can declare their intent to donate.

But even so, according to the executive director of the Eye-Bank for Sight Restoration, Mary Jane O'Neill, there's been "no great surge in organ retrieval."

And the reason is that no one might think to question whether the person who died had wanted to be a donor, she explains.

If, for instance, a person dies in a hospital, it's not likely there would be a wallet on the body. And even in the case of an auto accident, no one would be apt to look to see if the form on the back of the license had been filled out and signed.

Through a public-relations campaign, the eye bank in New York City — one of about 80 around the country — is trying to get paramedics and others in the medical field to become more active participants in the search for donors. And it's asking donors to tell their next of kin of their intentions.

So, what happens if you want to give your eyes or other organs and your request is met?

Taking the eyes for example:

If with training in eye surgery — will remove them, Ms. O'Neill notes. Or, an eye bank might be called. In that case, a specially trained technician called an "enucleator" would do it. The eyes are taken to the eye bank and examined to see if eyes are suitable for transplant. And, usually, they'll go to a patient listed for surgery that day. It is best if the enucleation can be done within a few hours — perhaps three, and preferably no longer than six hours — after the person has died.

If they do not happen to be needed right away, the eyes can be put in what's called a McCarey-Kaufman solution and kept viable for 72 hours.

But that's generally about as close to "banking" — or "long-term storing," — as an eye bank comes.

Research is being done to improve on other means of preservation, among them use of a tissue-culture medium and freezing. The whole eye is not used, as such. The portion used in a transplant is the cornea. That's the clear surface that covers the eye like a crystal goes over a watch. The corneal button is removed.

The rest of the eye — including the shell — can be used for research. The white part of the sclera — is sometimes used in plastic surgery. Dentists use it in gum repair.

Until a few years ago, vitreous humor — the fluid filling at the back of the eye — was often kept refrigerated for up to six months to be used in the treatment of detached retinas. Today, a synthetic vitreous humor — Healon, sodium hyaluronate — makes that unnecessary.

Donations at the Eye-Bank for Sight Restoration have been going up. But so has the demand, Ms. O'Neill reports. Transplants for the fiscal year that ended March 31, 1981, totaled 1,054, an increase of 9 percent over the year before.

The eye bank in New York was the world's first. It's private and non-profit, supported by the general public. It was started at the Manhattan Eye, Ear and Throat Hospital in 1944.

Back in those days some of the eyes came from convicts who were executed in Ossining, N.Y., at Sing Sing.

Two prisoners killed, 2 wounded by inmates

PETROS, Tenn. (AP) — Seven white inmates at Brushy Mountain Penitentiary took four guards hostage just long enough to steal their keys and shoot four black inmates in their cells, killing two of the prisoners and injuring two others, authorities said today.

The white prisoners gave up and the guards were released unharmed in Monday night's incident, which lasted 40 minutes in a maximum-security cellblock of the prison 40 miles northwest of Knoxville, said Warden Herman Davis.

Asked whether the attack was racially motivated, Sgt. Kay Bradshaw, a prison spokeswoman, said, "We don't know, but it looks that way."

Davis said the inmates, armed with a .25-caliber automatic pistol, took the guards hostage at 7:50 p.m. EST and notified prison officials over a radio.

He said he didn't know how the inmates got out of their cells, although they may have sawed through the bars.

"They forced the guards into the corridor, took their keys and shot the inmates in their cells," Davis told reporters who gathered early today outside the prison walls.

Davis said 12 or 13 shots were fired in the 150-man cellblock.

Assistant Warden Bill Hobbs talked to the inmates, who said they didn't want to hurt the officers. The guards were quickly released after the shooting, Ms. Bradshaw said.

"It looks like they (the inmates) wanted to get the keys to do what they did," she said.

The seven white inmates, who weren't identified, were locked in solitary confinement pending an inquiry by the Tennessee Bureau of Investigation.

In addition to the pistol, authorities confiscated seven knives.

Davis identified the dead men as James Nichols, 37, serving 153 years for first- and second-degree murder, petty larceny and other convictions, and James Mitchell, 35, serving 120 years for first-degree murder.

Nichols was killed by shots to the head and Mitchell died of chest and arm wounds, Davis said.

The injured prisoners were taken to Oak Ridge Hospital and were in stable condition early today, a nursing supervisor said.

They were identified as Robert Jones, 35, shot once in the right shoulder, and Paul Hawkins, age unknown, with bullet wounds to the chest and head.

Davis refused to identify the guards who were taken hostage.

Brushy Mountain, the state's maximum-security prison, is where James Earl Ray was stabbed 22 times last June. Ray, who pleaded guilty to the murder of civil rights leader Martin Luther King Jr., has since been transferred to the Tennessee State Prison.

Three children killed in fire

BENTON HARBOR, Mich. (AP) — A stove left on to warm an unheated kitchen apparently sparked a fire that killed three young children while their mother was away, fire officials said.

"My feeling now is that someone fiddled with the burners and that they ignited a combustible that fell on the floor," Benton Harbor Fire Chief John Billups said Monday.

Firefighters found the bodies of the children in a bedroom closet of the second-floor apartment after the Sunday night blaze. The dead were identified as Jermaine Holmes, 8 months; his brother, James, 2; and a sister, Consuela, 4.

Benton Harbor Patrolman Robert O'Brien said the children's mother, Kathy Holmes, 21, told authorities she was visiting someone at a local hospital and left the children unattended.

Billups said neighbors and family members reported the stove often was left on for warmth.

Hitler's painting shown

NEWPORT NEWS, Va. (AP) — Museum officials say they are just trying to show "an unusual aspect of Adolf Hitler," not to glorify him by displaying four watercolors he painted.

The paintings, usually kept in the archives of the U.S. Army Center of Military History, will be shown Friday at the War Memorial Museum of Virginia.

Hitler fancied himself an artist as a young man. Many of his paintings were destroyed as the Allies invaded Germany during World War II. These four are the only ones in U.S. hands.

"He wasn't a very good artist. Their significance is that they were done by Adolf Hitler," said John Quarstein, museum curator.

MID-AIR ARM WRESTLING—Arkansas' Brad Fries and Darrell Walker (20) appear to be arm wrestling as the basketball scoots away during first-half action against Texas Christian University. The Razorbacks of Arkansas defeated the Horned Frogs of TCU here last night by a score of 79-69. Arkansas' season record is now 17-3 with the win.

Lady Steers lose

MIDLAND — Midland Lee outscored Big Spring 24-7 in the first quarter and rolled to a 66-56 victory over the Lady Steers in Chaparral Center Monday night.

The win boosted Lee to 3-2 in the second half race while Big Spring slipped to 1-4. In other District 5-AAAAA games, Midland nipped previously undefeated San Angelo 50-49, Abilene topped Odessa 54-47, and Permian clipped Cooper 63-57.

The Lady Steers hit just 16 of 34 free shots in the game, "the lowest free throw shooting we've had all year," said coach Sandie Brown.

Lee stole the ball three straight times early in the quarter to grab an early lead. When Midland fouled Big Spring, the Lady Steers were unable to sink their shots and fell behind by 14 points.

Shell Rutledge scored 11 points and Elise Wheat 10 for Big Spring.

Shirley Dixon had seven points in the first half and wound up with nine for the evening.

In the junior varsity game, Big Spring pulled out another thriller. Tressa Smith scored 20 points and Paula Spears to lead the Lady Steers to a 49-48 victory.

Big Spring also won the ninth grade game, doubling the Lee sophomores 44-27. Adrienne Allen had 17 and Triss Clemons 13 points for Big Spring.

SWC Roundup Aggies choke

Texas A&M Coach Shelby Metcalf called it a "big-break night."

However, the biggest break in the latest bizarre evening of Southwest Conference basketball came for three of the five teams deadlocked in third place in the league standings.

Metcalf watched in dismay Monday night as Texas Tech whipped his Aggies 91-62 to join Texas, Texas Christian, Houston and Baylor — which are all tied at 6-5, a game behind second place A&M.

Arkansas, 8-2, reinforced its position at the top of the SWC, whipping Texas Christian 79-69 to take a two-game edge over the Aggies.

"It was a big-break night," sighed Metcalf, whose Aggies lost in overtime after four key players fouled out during regulation play.

"We had to work so hard to get back in the game we didn't have enough left at the end. We got a little short-handed... we don't have much depth beyond seven or eight players," he said.

Houston won its third straight game with a 77-63 decision over Texas. Southern Methodist slipped further into the cellar after being dealt a resounding 70-59 defeat at the hands of Baylor.

Terry Teagle led the Bear scoring blitz by pumping in 23 points before he fouled out with 3:20 remaining.

Houston's Rob Williams' hot hand singled the Longhorn nets for 29 points as he led the Cougars to an easy 77-63 win over Texas.

Williams turned a slim half-time advantage into a rout before the Longhorn's home crowd in Austin.

Texas has lost five of its last six games since forward Mike Wacker went out for the season with a knee injury.

Arkansas had to fight for its victory over pesky TCU. The Horned Frogs pulled ahead of the Hogs midway through the first half and again at the start of the second half.

"We came out flat and were down 20-11 when our defense took over," said Arkansas coach Eddie Sutton. "We jumped into the lead and had a chance to move ahead by 10 at the half, but couldn't quite get over the hump."

However, the Razorbacks took charge with 17 minutes left, outscoring TCU 19-6 to pull ahead for good.

Queens win 20th

KERRVILLE—Playing without five starters, the Howard College Hawk Queens still managed to win their 20th game here Monday night with a 77-50 victory over Schreiner College.

The non-conference win boosted the Queens to 20-6 overall. Howard hosts Midwestern State Saturday night in another non-league tilt before meeting Odessa Feb. 15 in a conference game in Big Spring.

The only regular to see action was 6-6 freshman Susan Cordell. Cordell scored a game-high 20 points, pulled in 13 rebounds and blocked eight shots.

"Susan had a great game... she's really coming on," said coach Don Stevens. "Cindy Robinson also had a real good game."

Robinson chipped in 15 points, Holl Holloway 14 and Christi Adams 10 points. Lissa Likely headed the Schreiner attack with 17 points.

Carol Wassermann had nine points and hauled in 10 more rebounds to help the Queens gain a 49-35 advantage in that department.

Howard shot 43 per cent from the floor for the game. The Queens led only 33-23 at halftime but Adams hit two long jumpers to begin the second half and Howard was off and running to its 14th straight victory.

Because it was a non-conference game, Stevens rested starters Nell Haskins, Pam Roberson, Kelli Mull, Melissa Luna and Carrie Lutrick. "They were here," Stevens reported, "just in case we needed them."

Howard (77) — Yancey Toran 4-1-2; Andrea Fowler 0-0-10; Holloway 4-2-14; Carol Wassermann 2-5-9; Christi Adams 5-0-10; Cindy Robinson 7-1-15; Susan Cordell 10-0-3-20; Totals 34-9-18-77.

Schreiner (50) — Jenna Bruce 1-0-2; Hilda Rousch 2-0-4; Gwen Johnson 2-0-4; Jodi Taylor 4-3-11; Lissa Likely 7-3-17; Brande Jones 4-0-8; Beth Fisk 2-0-4; Totals 22-4-11-50.

Halftime Score Howard 32, Schreiner 23.

College Basketball Roundup

Virginia vaults to No. 1

By The Associated Press

Virginia Coach Terry Holland, his team now No. 1 team in The Associated Press weekly college basketball poll, believes there is virtually nothing separating his Cavaliers, or other teams in the top five, from a lot of other teams.

"I think you've got right now in this country probably 15 or 20 teams playing well enough to win a national championship. There may even be some others out there that are playing that well that we just haven't heard about right now," Holland said Monday.

A 74-58 victory last Wednesday night over second-ranked North Carolina, coupled with then-No. 1 Missouri's 87-51 defeat Saturday night by Nebraska, vaulted the 22-1 Cavaliers from third to first. Virginia received 57 of the 60 first-place votes from a panel sports writers and sportscasters.

Virginia received 1,197 of a possible 1,200 votes. North Carolina, 18-2, held the No. 2 spot with 1,090 votes, just eight more than DePaul, 20-1, which got two first-place votes.

The other first-place vote went to Missouri, 19-1, which got 1,004 points to 990 for Iowa, 17-2, which remained in the fifth spot.

Others in the top 10 were Oregon State, 17-3; Tulsa, 16-3; Arkansas, 17-3; Minnesota, 15-4; and Alabama, 17-3. Both Oregon State and Tulsa moved up four spots from last week, while Arkansas gained six spots. Minnesota fell from sixth and Alabama from eighth.

Virginia moved to the No. 1 spot for a while last season, winning its first 23 games and running a two-year winning streak to 28 before bowing to Notre Dame 57-56. The Cavaliers wound up 29-4 and finished third in the NCAA tournament.

Holland sees nothing negative about being ranked No. 1.

"I just don't think there's that much difference between being 3 or 4 like we were last week and being ranked No. 1."

"I know every opponent we play from here on out will be ranked below us, unless of course, our bracket changes very drastically in the next few weeks, which means all those opponents will have a psychological edge in terms of knocking off Virginia and having a chance to make a name nationally."

Making up the second 10 were West Virginia, Kentucky, Idaho, Memphis State, Kansas State, Wake Forest, San Francisco, Fresno State, Washington and Georgetown. San Francisco fell from seventh last week and Texas and Tennessee dropped out of the Top 20.

The newcomers were Washington, for the first time, and Georgetown.

Last week's second 10 consisted of Tulsa, Texas, Wake Forest, Arkansas, Idaho, Tennessee, Fresno State, West Virginia, Kansas State and Memphis State. The last twofold for the 19th spot.

Forsan wins pair

STANTON — It was the battle of the Buffaloes here Saturday night as the Forsan and Stanton teams squared off against each other in a District 5-AA matchup.

Forsan edged Stanton in the boys game 63-58 on free throws as both teams scored 26 field goals. Forsan hit 11 from the charity stripe to just six for Stanton.

Preston Daniels played one of his finest games scoring 17 points and maintaining overall hustle and good defense said Forsan coach. Helping Daniels in the scoring department were Andre Alcantar with 14 and Rickey Bedwell with 13.

Tommy Esparaza scored 18 and Ricky Church had 17 for Stanton.

The Forsan girls won 59-39 big despite having Rhonda Gaskins, a steady team leader and scorer, foul out with less than a minute gone in the second half. Gaskins still wound up as Forsan's leading scorer with 16 points.

Teresa White contributed 14 points to Forsan's winning cause.

Stanton was lead by Jennifer Young, who ripped the nets for 29 points.

The Forsan girls are now 9-1 overall in District 5-AA play, while Stanton fell to 1-2. The Forsan boys are 2-2 in district play and Stanton remains winless at 0-3.

Forsan is in action tonight at Water Valley with only the varsity teams seeing action.

Your Daily HOROSCOPE

from the CARROLL RIGHTER INSTITUTE

FORECAST FOR WEDNESDAY, FEB. 10, 1982

GENERAL TENDENCIES: A day to be more thoughtful of the future. Try to enter into new agreements which could give you and associates an opportunity to express your talents. Be optimistic.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Using spare time for being with persons you enjoy can add much to your happiness at this time. Use your skills.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Taking time to improve conditions at home is wise. Do some entertaining, but don't invite a troublemaker.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Talk with associates about new ways to improve mutual projects. Don't overlook important correspondence.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) A good day for expansion, so put your mind to work on projects that could add to your income in the future.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) You are magnetic today and can achieve a great deal if you contact the right persons. Strive for increased happiness.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Make long-range plans for the days ahead and be sure to talk them over with trusted allies. Obtain the data you need.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) State your aims to a loyal friend and you will get good suggestions on ways to add to your income. Become more popular.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Study your position in your line of endeavor and know what should be done in order to become more successful.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Stop wasting time and put those new ideas you have to work instead of procrastinating. Outsiders can be helpful.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Come to a true understanding with those you do business with and much can be gained. Become more efficient.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Clarifying with associates what each of you expects from the other is the best way to proceed at this time.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) You hardly know where to begin with all the work you have to do, but if you control your temper, all will be fine.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he or she will have to be taught early to smile more and gain the goodwill of others. Don't let pride get in the way of progress. Direct the education along lines of governmental work for best results. A good family member in this chart.

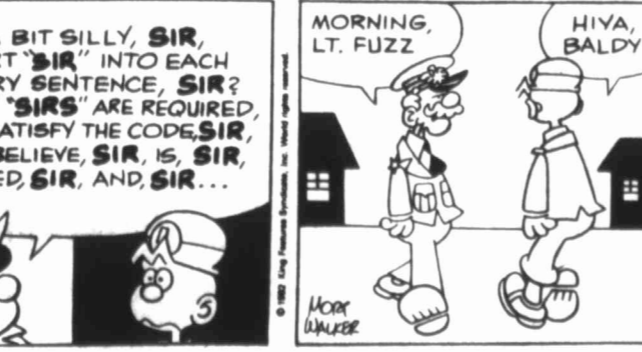

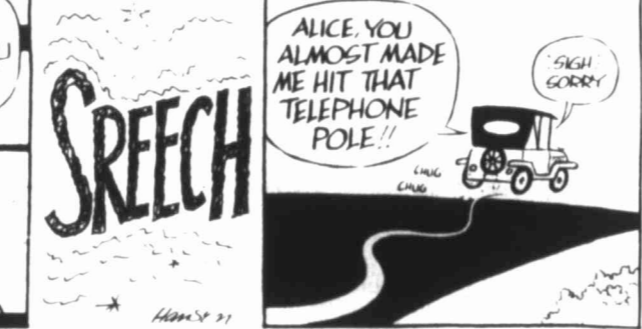

"The Stars impel, they do not compel." What you make of your life is largely up to you!

Yes!

Former higher tar smokers affirm MERIT choice for taste, ease of switch, and long-term satisfaction.

The research results are overwhelming.

New National Smoker Study provides solid evidence that 'Enriched Flavor,' MERIT offers a satisfying alternative to higher tar cigarettes.

MERIT Taste Sparks Switch.

Nationwide survey reveals over 90% of MERIT smokers who switched from higher tar are glad they did. In fact, 94% don't even miss their former brands.

Further Evidence: 9 out of 10 former higher tar smokers report MERIT an easy switch, that they didn't give up taste in switching, and that MERIT is the best-tasting low tar they've ever tried.

MERIT Clear Choice In New Tests.

In addition, extensive unmarked-pack tests confirm that MERIT delivers a winning combination of taste and low tar when compared against higher tar leaders.

Confirmed: The overwhelming majority reported MERIT taste equal to—or better than—leading higher tar brands.

Confirmed: When tar levels were revealed, 2 out of 3 chose the MERIT combination of low tar and good taste.

Year after year, in study after study, MERIT remains unbeaten. The proven taste alternative to higher tar smoking—is MERIT.

Rescue attempt fails

Freddie Laker empire is up for sale today

LONDON (AP) — Sir Freddie Laker's bankrupt airline empire went up for sale today after a group of banks and a legion of loyal employees failed to rescue the cut-rate travel company.

The most profitable pieces of Laker's business — the Arrowsmith and Laker Air Holidays package tour companies — were the first on the block.

William Mackey, one of four receivers named to take over Laker Airways' financial affairs when it crashed Friday, said he hoped to have the two businesses sold by tonight.

Next to go will be Laker's 11 DC-10s and three BAC-111 Airbus, worth about $370 million. There was speculation that Sir Freddie would try to buy back some of them for a new start with a charter airline.

Orion Royal Bank, a subsidiary of the Royal Bank of Canada, tried but failed to put together a $65-million rescue package. Mackey, who had termed the attempt "unrealistic," said, "The best financial brains in the banking world have failed to find a solution."

Orion vice chairman Christopher Chataway said his bank had hoped to inject new money, stave off creditors and reschedule Laker's $502-million debts.

"What foiled us in the end was the particular structure of the creditors. We did not foresee the speed with which the receivers would have to act," Chataway said.

Earlier, 2,000 Laker Airways employees, including busloads of pilots and stewardesses in Laker's red and black uniforms, marched through London to the Houses of Parliament and Prime Minister Margaret Thatcher's 10 Downing Street residence to petition her to save the airline Laker founded in 1967.

The government, however, stressed it would not put taxpayers' money.

The employees collected the equivalent of $5.55 million from themselves and thousands of Britons who used Laker's low-fare Skytrain service.

"It's a pity people's hopes have been buoyed up," said Mackey, adding that the campaign never had a chance.

Laker made his first public appearance Monday since the collapse when he attended a High Court hearing in his suit for access to his LOBBY FOR FREDDIE—These Laker Airways girls were among some 2,000 of the bankrupt airline's employees who lobbied in London Monday, calling for Government financial support for founder Sir Freddie Laker's business. The lobbying took place on Downing Street and in the Houses of Parliament.

4-year-old son. The child lives with his mother, Laker's estranged American third wife.

"I'm overwhelmed by all the support I've received," Laker told reporters. "It's unbelievable. I love you all very dearly."

Laker launched the no-frills trans-Atlantic service four years ago after a five-year battle with the government and rival airlines. His cut-rate service forced major airlines to offer similar deals and made Laker a national hero.

Laker's airline crashed deep in the red due to heavy borrowing to finance expansion that he couldn't pull off because of foreign opposition, a drop in passenger traffic due to the recession, soaring fuel prices and the drop in the poundsterling.

Murdoch threatens to close papers

LONDON (AP) — Press tycoon Rupert Murdoch is threatening to close the failing Times of London and Sunday Times unless the unions agree to the firing of nearly a fourth of the 2,600 employees.

Murdoch set a Feb. 19 deadline for laying off 600 full-time employees and said he wanted to dismiss "several hundred" of the 2,350 part-time workers, most of whom are printers employed on both papers.

"The Times is not for sale," Murdoch told reporters as he left for New York, where he published the New York Post. "We will just close it if we don't reach agreement. Without the help of the unions it dies."

In a personal letter to the full-time staffs, he said both prestigious publications are in "desperate" financial straits and will close unless drastic staff cuts are made "within days."

They are "literally bleeding to death," he said.

Initial reaction from officials of the printing, clerical and journalists' unions varied.

Barry Fitzpatrick, whose clerical workers' union reportedly would be hit hardest, said the dismissals Murdoch wants "are not acceptable."

Opposition also was expected from the printers' union, which has borne the brunt of the 600 dismissals since Murdoch bought the papers a year ago. But Paul Routledge of the journalists' union said his group was "ready to talk."

Union sources said Murdoch wants to axe 390 clerical workers, 175 printers and 35 journalists from the two papers.

Closure of the 197-year-old Times, flagship of Britain's press, and its Sunday stablemate, first published in 1822, would be a severe psychological blow to Britain's shaky newspaper industry. However, it would probably help rival newspapers by allowing them to pick up tens of thousands of readers.

In his letter to staff members, Murdoch said the papers were expected to lose $28 million this year, wiping out the profits his News International group earns from two other national British papers and endangering the group.

Murdoch's racy Sun tabloid daily sells 4 million copies a day and the News of the World 4.7 million every Sunday.

He blamed the losses on excess personnel, soaring newspaper costs, the economic recession and the fall in the poundsterling.

The Times had a daily circulation of 297,800 in the last half of 1981, a slight rise from the equivalent period the year before. The Sunday Times had a July-December circulation of 1.43 million, 6 percent less than in the same period in 1980.

TOUGH TRAINING — For her starring role in the new Warner Bros. film "Personal Best," actress Mariel Hemingway had to train her lanky 5-foot-10 frame into top condition for her part as an Olympic-caliber pentathlete. Miss Hemingway, 20, the granddaughter of Ernest Hemingway, makes her first nude appearance in the film.

'Personal Best' arouses controversy

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — It all happened because filmmaker Robert Towne saw a magazine photograph of Mariel Hemingway on a trampoline.

Now the 20-year-old granddaughter of Ernest Hemingway is starring in "Personal Best," for which she trained her lanky body to perform the pentathlon. The film is being released this month by Warner Bros., and moviegoers will see Miss Hemingway in athletic action and in the nude.

"Personal Best" aroused controversy during its filming, and the talk will continue with its release. Olympic women's coach Paul Ward declared: "The homosexual concept that is presented in that movie is a detriment to women's track." Others took up the cry, and the University of Oregon placed restrictions on the film company when it shot the 1980 Olympic trials at Eugene.

The movie does indeed portray a lesbian relationship between two competing pentathletes — Miss Hemingway and Patrice Donnelly, a member of the 1976 U.S. Olympic team. Here from her Idaho home for "Personal Best" publicity, Miss Hemingway played down the lesbian theme:

"It's a very nice story about human relationships, and I don't think it is offending at all. Do such things happen in athletics? I think they can happen between any two people who need each other at a particular time in their lives."

The women athletes, as well as Kenny Moore, a former marathoner who plays Miss Hemingway's other lover, appear totally nude in various scenes.

Reagan's agriculture budget 'very austere'

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Reagan's new Agriculture Department budget, termed "very austere" by department analysts, proposes spending reductions of 17 percent next year — including deep slices in food and rural housing programs.

Department budget experts say the Reagan plan would reduce spending in fiscal 1983, beginning Oct. 1, to $23.5 billion from $29.4 billion this year.

A senior department budget officer described the package — ranging from subsidy payments to farmers to lunches for school children — as "very austere" and devoid of any major new programs or innovations.

Only a few programs would increase. Agricultural research comes in for a $54 million boost, $4 million would be added to export market development, and $155 million in additional funds is sought for continued expansion on the national crop insurance program.

The Farmers Home Administration, which would have its rural housing programs virtually gutted, would see a $135 million increase in farm operating loans. The FmHA cuts in guarantees for rural housing and rental assistance would total about $2.8 billion.

An increase of $105 million is also specified for forest resource production activities, including increased sales of timber to 12.3 billion board feet, from 11 billion this year.

"Everything else is basically down," said Lawrence Wachs, associate director of the department's office of budget and program analysis. "It's very austere. We are reducing the budget from $29.5 billion to $23 billion. It is a tremendous reduction in outlays."

"If you look at it in terms of the program level (the actual value of total benefits provided the public — including loan guarantees and cost-sharing), you get the same effect. It goes down from $54 billion to $46 billion."

Program levels are particularly important in programs that depend greatly on federal guarantees of loans, rather than direct cash outlays. The Farmers Home Administration, for example, shows a striking cutback in housing program levels as a result of this bookkeeping method.

One of the major areas for saving is a proposed $1.7 billion reduction in food stamps through changes in eligibility levels and revisions that affect a family's income levels and deductions to be eligible for stamps.

This year's food stamp program, which was estimated to benefit 20.5 million people, will cost nearly $11.3 billion. If proposed changes are carried out — including legislation — the number of people served would drop to about 18.6 million and the cost would be about $9.5 billion.

Child nutrition programs would continue at the current level of $2.8 billion, but some parts — school breakfast and child-care programs — would be replaced with "categorical grants" to states at 80 percent of the current spending level.

Government getting out of housing

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Reagan's new budget calls for the government to get out of the business of building housing for the poor and to cut back on its programs of insuring home loans for middle-income Americans.

The changes will be better for just about everyone concerned, officials said this weekend. But not everyone was convinced.

"I don't know how the administration proposes to generate an adequate supply of housing," was the reaction of Robert Maffin, executive director of the National Association of Housing and Redevelopment Officials, a group representing local housing authorities.

And Mark Riedy, executive vice president of the Mortgage Bankers Association of America, accused the administration of "spurning its legislative obligation to provide safe, sanitary, decent and affordable housing for its citizens."

Samuel R. Pierce Jr., secretary of the Department of Housing and Urban Development, told reporters at a Saturday briefing that the proposed changes are not only necessary to cut soaring federal costs but will work to the advantage of poor people in many instances.

The two biggest changes recommended in the housing portion of the budget:

Put an end to new government-sponsored housing projects, switching to a system of vouchers through which low-income families could use federal certificates to help pay their rent in private buildings of their choice.

Lower authorization levels for government insurance of home loans under the Federal Housing Administration and use most of the remaining money for low-income, inner-city and first-time home-buyers.

Budget worries drop stock, bond prices

By The Associated Press
The financial markets suffered heavy losses as President Reagan sent Congress a budget that projects a deficit of nearly $100 billion.

The stock market reached its lowest levels of the year Monday, and bond prices tumbled as interest rates rose. Traders cited fears about the size of the budget deficit and the prospect of higher interest rate increases.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrial stocks, the most closely watched gauge of the stock market's performance, dropped 17.60 points to 833.43. That was the lowest point since Oct. 29, 1981.

Long-term bond prices fell nearly $20 for each $1,000 in face value and Treasury bills traded in the resale market rose about one-quarter percentage point.

Chase Manhattan and Marine Midland banks, two of the nation's largest commercial banks, raised their prime lending rates to 16.5 percent in reaction to their rising cost of acquiring funds in the money markets. Most other banks had boosted their prime rates to 15 percent last week.

The financial community fears the effects of a clash between the Federal Reserve's tight-money policy and the growing need of the federal government to borrow money to finance its deficit. The consequence expected by many economists is continued high interest rates that could prolong the current recession.

The $757.6 billion budget proposal signed by Reagan on Monday projects record deficits of $98.6 billion this year and $91.5 billion for the fiscal year that begins Oct. 1.

HOME Realtors knows what you're looking for

The hit T.V. show of the season is being shot in HOME Realty offices, and anyone considering selling or buying a home can't afford to miss this Big Event.

Some time ago, HOME introduced the Video Listing Service, one of the most innovative approaches to selling homes since the MLS.

With the VLS HOME Photographs homes inside and out, in detail and in color. Whenever someone is interested in seeing a home for sale, we show them our 'library' of homes for sale on our special television, with pleasing 'background music and voice-over' describing the home in full.

Says President Jeff Brown, "VLS eliminates many of the problems of showing homes, because it's like having an open house 24 hours a day, 7 days a week. It's a very timely tool — it can save considerable time and gasoline."

"After all, looking for a home is an arduous task, whether you're new to the area or a native. The video service makes it easier on everyone — the buyer, seller and agent."

Advantages to the home seller are obvious, if the family is moving out before the home is sold, VLS can photograph the home to its best advantage. And the homeowner no longer has to stay at home evenings or weekends in case someone wants to see the house.

Probably, though, one of the most popular benefits of VLS is that it 'qualifies' the people who do personally visit the home. Homeowners using the service have called it 'inspirational' and "One of the best ways to shop for a home," sales associates certainly agree.

HOME Realtors-Appraiser is located in the Coronado Plaza on FM 100 and Gregg. Check with them today.
