Smiles, speeches highlight grand openings of two stores

Bright, cheerful smiles from the employees at J.C. Penney's and Beall's helped warm up customers from the blustery West Texas wind this morning as the two stores officially opened their doors at the new Big Spring Mall.

Don Fisher, store manager of Penney's, said the store was a great opportunity for the growth of Big Spring, as well as for the J.C. Penney Company.

Fisher recognized employee Pat Patterson for her 31 years of service to Penney's and Paul Hathaway, a former Penney manager, who retired in 1971. Also attending the opening were Fisher's parents, Mr. and Mrs. A.L. Fisher of Hot Springs, Ark.

Several Penney executives also were recognized. Included were Ken Acker, district manager; Bob Lankford, regional geographic district manager; and Keith Booker, regional credit manager.

Lankford thanked the crowd of approximately 50 people for the opportunity to open the new store and he said he hopes the store will be an asset to Big Spring.

Mayor Clyde Angel said, "It's almost traditional for West Texas to extend a warm and cordial welcome to newcomers and we want to welcome J.C. Penney's and its employees. We will now be able to work toward the continued success of Big Spring and West Texas."

Sid Clark, president of the Big Spring Area Chamber of Commerce said Penney's had proven itself by its past performance. "They have shown faith in Big Spring and the Chamber is looking forward to working with them," Clark said.

Not to be outdone, Beall's opened this morning with a brief ribbon cutting ceremony which store manager Gene Madsen said was "a symbolic start to a real good thing for Big Spring."

"We're just excited to be here and glad to be open for business. We're looking to give lots of good customer service," Madsen said.

Also attending both ceremonies were LeRoy Tillery, executive vice president of the Chamber and Bill Forshee assistant manager of the Chamber, as well as members of the Chamber of Commerce Ambassadors.

Both stores will be open Monday through Saturday from 10 a.m. until 9 p.m.

Texas Tea Party held by city dads

By BILL ELDER
Staff Writer

The Big Spring City Council hosted a tea party at its meeting last night. Not just any old tea party, mind you.

This was a Texas Tea Party, and to celebrate it the five councilmen all were seen clutching bottles of rich, dark Texas Tea.

The tea — or crude oil, as it's known to the uninitiated — came in cough-syrup-sized bottles from Mark-M Investments, a company which late last summer was awarded the right to drill for oil and gas at the Big Spring Industrial Park.

The council learned at its last meeting of the month in January that the first Mark-M rig to be drilled at the park had struck oil only a few days prior to the meeting.

The contract with Mark-M Investments stipulates that the city receive a 20 percent royalty on oil which the company produces at the park.

In other action last night, the council gave final approval to a new, 50-year contract for water supply from the Colorado River Municipal Water District. The contract modifies the rate formula for charging the district's member cities for water deliveries.

The new formula isn't expected to make any appreciable difference on the cities' water costs, since the district is lowering the cities' fixed monthly charges (set regardless of consumption) at the same time it hikes delivery charges to reflect increases in energy costs incurred by the district, said district spokesman Joe Pickle.

Also last night, the council gave final approval to the paperwork which will kick off the rebuilding of the Big Spring Airport. The council approved on final vote a notice of the city's intent to sell $1.1 million of airport revenue bonds, and also approved an agreement with the Howard County Industrial Foundation to let the foundation construct the first of the airport hangars being rebuilt.

Proceeds from the bond sale will be used to buy the hangar from the foundation, which stepped in to build the first hangar in order to speed up the rebuilding project. Had the foundation not stepped in, it would take the city longer to move the hangars and terminal from the east side of the airport to the west side, due to the time-consuming process of putting together a bond sale.

All told, the city is looking at an estimated $4.3 million project to relocate the hangars and terminal building. Moving the aviation facilities from one side of the airport to the other will enable O.I.L. to expand operations onto the acreage currently used to store planes and manage the airport.

Earlier, the industrial foundation awarded the hangar construction contract to D.D. Johnston of Big Spring. Johnston submitted the low bid of $268,600 to obtain the hangar project. Local architect Daryle Hohertz designed the 21,600-square-foot hangar and construction is expected to begin next week, Hohertz told The Herald.

The hangar, one of three fixed-base-operator hangars to be rebuilt, is leased by the Colorado River Municipal Water District. O.I.L. ought to be able to move onto the site by mid-summer, Hohertz said.

In other matters, the council: ● Gave permission for the city to advertise for bids in the annual purchase of uniforms for the police department.

● Awarded Sgt. Juan Palacios a pin for 10 years of city employment. Palacios works in the records division of the police department.

● Passed an ordinance calling for the April 3 election in which Mayor Clyde Angel and councilmen Larry Miller and Robert Fuller will seek to retain their city posts.

● Approved a slate of recommendations from the city Traffic Commission. Among them: the painting of crosswalks and posting of signs establishing a 20-mile-per-hour speed limit between 8 a.m. and 4 p.m. on Cedar Street by St. Mary's Episcopal School. Also approved: the installation of stop signs at the intersections of Stanford and Monticello and at 13th and Runnels. The council also okayed establishing a two-space loading zone in front of the Palmer House on East Second.

● The council also met in private session with legal advisor and former City Attorney Elliott Mitchell to discuss legal matters. The meeting was then reopened to the public and City Manager Don Davis said no action was taken on the matters. No details were released on the session.

Wheeler-dealer fleeing on three-wheeler nabbed

By BILL ELDER
Staff Writer

Big Spring police had an unusual assignment yesterday afternoon when they were called to investigate the strange case of the Freewheeler on the Three-wheeler.

The case unfolded at 2:15 p.m. when the police dispatcher received a call that a child, apparently two years old, was missing from his home on Chanute.

He'd been gone about an hour, the tot's mother said. Five cruisers — two of them unmarked and containing detectives — immediately fanned out to search for the kid.

At 2:45 p.m., the case was closed.

Patrolman Investigator Ray Meek found the boy about four blocks from home at the intersection of Randolph and Gunter.

The getaway vehicle was a red tricycle.

"He was having a good ol' time riding it," Meek reported. The tot's mother was notified and everything seemed to be okay... except for this business of where the tricycle came from. Police said the tricycle didn't belong to the kid, so they tagged it and placed it in storage at the police station.

No charges will be filed. "No two-year-old steals anything," said detective Lt. John Wolf with a grin.

Various rights of landlords and renters are spelled out

Understanding is vital in good relationship

By BOB CARPENTER
Staff Writer

So you've just moved out of the Shangri-la Apartments for swinging singles and you're having trouble getting the landlord to return your security deposit. Or perhaps you're the manager of the Shangri-la Apartments and have a tenant who won't pay his rent and you want to get the rent, but stay within the boundaries of the law.

Renters and landlords alike often are confused as the rules of the renting game and wonder what their responsibilities are. Texas has a tenant and landlord code which helps both sides to better understand their rights and what they may or may not do when confronted with a problem.

With the help of local attorney Bob Miller and Linda Truitt of the Better Business Bureau in Midland, several common misunderstandings between renters and landlords were explained.

SECURITY DEPOSIT: According to Ms. Truitt, this is one of the most misunderstood and abused parts of the landlord-tenant relationship.

"The security deposit is a specific sum of money given to a landlord guaranteeing him that the tenant will pay the rent before moving, and protecting him against any damage the tenant may purposely or accidentally cause to his property."

Action/reaction: No pistol permits

Q. Someone gave me a pistol recently and I'd like to know if I need a permit for it. I don't have any sort of ownership papers for it.
A. There are no permits in Texas, Chief of Police Elwood Hoherz says. Check with the local police to see if the gun is stolen; otherwise, the gun is yours.

Renters

Since it is not considered rent, the landlord may retain the security deposit only under certain conditions when the tenant leaves," Ms. Truitt said.

Ms. Truitt said for a tenant to insure the deposit will be returned he must: 1) Give advance notice of termination 2) Provide the landlord with written notice of termination and a forwarding address 3) Fill all rental obligations under the lease 4) Leave the premises clean according to lease instructions.

"If the tenant has followed the above procedure, the landlord is obligated to return the security deposit within 30 days, or provide a written description and itemized list of all deductions," Ms. Truitt said.

Miller said if the landlord does not return the deposit within 30 days the tenant has the right to sue for three times the amount of the security deposit, $100 and reasonable attorney's fees.

REPAIRS: Miller said, according to the law, "after notice of a condition which materially affects the health and safety of the tenant, the landlord must, within a reasonable time, make a diligent effort to repair the situation. However, the landlord is not liable for any condition caused by the tenant other than normal wear and tear."

Miller said the tenant must give notice to the person or place where rent is paid and the tenant must not be delinquent in his rent.

Once a reasonable time has gone by the tenant must send a second notice, written in all cases, stating an intention to terminate the lease or sue if repairs are not made in seven days.

If relief is not forthcoming the tenant may sue for actual damages, one month's rent and $100. The tenant may also seek an injunction ordering the landlord to make the repairs and to reduce rent until repairs are made, Miller said.

RENT WITHHOLDING: Miller said if the tenant withholds rent because of the landlord's failure to make repairs the landlord can sue for one month's rent, $100 and reasonable attorney's fees. The landlord, however, must give the tenant written notice of these civil penalties for rent withholding.

EVICTING: "Evicting tenants due to failure to pay rent or follow apartment complex rules seems to be on the increase in the Permian Basin. Landlords know that another tenant can easily be found. A tenant may keep from being evicted if he knows his rights," Ms. Truitt said.

"She said a landlord may not use force or threaten to use force to remove a tenant. Also if a tenant abandons the housing the landlord cannot remove the tenant's property."

"If he does, you have the right to move out without being liable for breaching the rental agreement and sue for actual damages, plus one month's rent and reasonable attorney's fees, minus any delinquent rentals or other sums owed the landlord," Ms. Truitt said.

Under Texas law, only a justice of the peace can lawfully evict a tenant by physical force. The first step a landlord must take to evict a tenant is to deliver a notarized letter to the tenant stating he has three days to move or be sued. Delivery must be to a tenant 18-years-old or older and delivery must be witnessed by a third party, Ms. Truitt said.

If the tenant does not leave, the landlord must file a forcible entry and detainer with the JP. The justice will prepare a citation stating the date time and place the tenant must appear in court, usually six to 10 days.

If the tenant loses the trial and still chooses not to leave the justice then can issue a writ which instructs the proper law authorities to order the tenant to leave. If necessary, the law officials can legally throw the tenant off the premises, according to Ms. Truitt.

FAILURE TO PAY RENT: "A landlord of any residential property has a lien on all non-exempt property in the case of a tenant's failure to pay rent, but by the time you name off all the exempt property under law there's not a whole lot a landlord can take from an apartment or storage room," Miller said.

The landlord can seize a portion of the tenant's non-exempt property which has the approximate value of the amount owed; however, the landlord's lien is enforceable by self help (non-judicial process) only when the lien is outlined in the lease in conspicuous bold print, Miller said.

Under Texas law, exempt property includes: wearing apparel, all tools, professional books, school books, one automobile, one truck, family pictures or portraits, household furniture, foodstuffs, medicine and medical supplies, all goods known by landlord belonging to other people than the tenant or his family, any property known to be in a chattel mortgage or financial agreement and all other culture implements.

LOCK OUTS: Under Texas Law, a landlord may not willfully exclude a tenant except by judicial process even if the tenant is delinquent.

However, the landlord may change the locks provided he gives written notice on the front door informing the tenant who to see to get a key to the new locks at any hour of the day or night. The key must be provided even if the tenant is behind with rental payments.

The idea is to give the landlord the opportunity to confront the tenant and demand rent.

SUBSTITUTING SECURITY deposit for rent: Miller said the tenant may not substitute the security deposit for payment of the last month's rent or any portion of the rent if the tenant withholds rent the landlord may sue for the amount of rent plus reasonable attorney's fees.

"The best advice I can give a tenant is to read his lease and understand what he is signing. The laws have changed quite a bit in the last few years so it is a good idea to keep up with the changes," Miller said.

Ms. Truitt suggested people go over their leases with their prospective landlord so they will know where they stand in the relationship. She said if people have rental problems or questions they can contact the BBB in Midland at 563-1811.

Woman bilked of $50

A Big Spring woman lost $50 yesterday after two men conned her into giving the money to them in exchange for splitting a large sum of money the men supposedly had found, police said.

According to Detective Avery Falkner, the woman, Elinor Morrison of 218 N. Johnson, was approached by one of the men at Gibson's in the 2300 block of Scurry at about 2 p.m. The scheme, called a "pigeon drop" or found money scheme, then developed.

The man told Ms. Morrison he had found a large sum of money and would split it with her if she gave him and his partner, who was waiting at the post office on Main, $50 in cash. The $50 was "to show good faith" on the woman's part, Falkner said.

After the man and Ms. Morrison drove to the post office to meet the second man, the three then drove to a local business where one of the men supposedly worked, the detective said. It was there that the man's boss would vouch for the man's character.

"She got there," Falkner said, "and found out they didn't know anything about him." When she stepped outside, the men were gone.

Falkner said the money the men claimed to have found was "supposed to be gambling proceeds. That way the victim wouldn't feel too guilty about shaming it."

Based on past experience with such schemes, Falkner said he suspected that the two men weren't local residents.

"They were probably out of town by the time we got the report" at 2:45 p.m., he said.

CLUB HONORED—Hal Boyd, left, president of Big Spring Rotary, receives a plaque from John Seay, governor of Rotary District 573. The local club reached 10,000 percent in contributions to the Rotary Foundation.

Rotary Club honored for contributions

The Big Spring Rotary Club was honored Tuesday as one of the top 49 Rotary Clubs in the world in support of the world-wide Rotary Foundation.

John R. Seay, governor of Rotary District 573, presented a plaque to the local club in honor of reaching 10,000 percent in contributions to the foundation.

Big Spring Rotary is one of only 49 clubs out of more than 19,400 Rotary clubs around the world to pass the milestone, Seay said. The local club passed the mark in September, 1981.

Rotary Foundation is an arm of Rotary International and was founded to foster international understanding among peoples, Seay said.

The foundation currently sponsors the largest student exchange program in the world by providing scholarships for youngsters to study in foreign lands.

The foundation also sponsors group study exchanges of business and professional leaders to other nations. A world-wide social program called Health, Hunger & Humanities also is part of the Rotary Foundation.

Following the award, Hal Boyd, Big Spring Rotary president, said the club is accepting applications for next year from students who want scholarships for study abroad.

County tax appraisal unit to appoint board of review

The Howard County Consolidated Tax Appraisal District board was expected to appoint a board of review late this afternoon at its monthly meeting. The review board will be responsible for hearing all disputes on appraisals from property owners.

The board was also expected to discuss a report on computer time problems. The appraisal office had been having some difficulty placing information on the county computer.

A review of car allowances for appraisal office employees was scheduled for discussion as well by the board.

Deaths

J.D. HANCOCK
Retired gauger

J.D. Hancock

J.D. Hancock, 72, died this morning in a local hospital.

Services will be at 10:30 a.m. Thursday at Trinity Chapel of Memories under the direction of Trinity Memorial Funeral Home with interment at Trinity Memorial Park. Dr. Kenneth Patrick of First Baptist Church will officiate.

Mr. Hancock married Elsie Maecker in Lubbock County on Oct. 16, 1926. Mr. Hancock was born in Robertson County on June 2, 1902 and was a gauger for Goldston Oil Company for more than 30 years until his retirement.

Mr. Hancock enjoyed hunting and was a member of Wesley Methodist Church for a number of years.

Survivors include Elsie, wife of the home; one son, Harvey H. Hancock of San Antonio, two daughters, Mrs. Wilmer M. (Joyce) Gaubatz of Richmond, Tex., Mrs. Billy L. (Opal) Johnson of Big Spring; one brother, Lee Hancock of Lamesa and seven sisters, Maggie Armstrong, Hearne, Tex., Alafair Kinnaird, Baytown, Tex., Katie Inez, Taylor, Brownsboro, Tex., Taylor Hare of Tyler, Tex., Fannie Gandy, Kerrville, Tex., Joy Clapp of Hearne, Tex. and Nancy Reid, Bellville, Tex. Also, 10 grandchildren and seven great-grandchildren.

A story in yesterday's Herald may have inadvertently left the wrong impression in connection with a damage suit filed against John Martin Johnson in 118th District Court.

The sentence in question read: "The suit claims Johnson, who told police he struck the youths according to the suit, was negligent in driving the vehicle off the roadway, driving under the influence of alcoholic beverages and speeding."

This may have left the impression that Johnson had admitted negligence, when in fact, he has made no such admission. Johnson said he is in the process of filing an answer to the suit which alleges that the youths were negligent by being in the middle of the road.

The Herald regrets any misunderstanding that may have resulted from the wording of the sentence.

Suspect posts $6,000 bail

Jimmy Loyd Marion, 30, is out on $6,000 bail Wednesday after being charged with aggravated assault and resisting arrest. Marion, of 4115 Parkway, was arrested by city police Tuesday night.

Bonds of $5,000 and $1,000 were set by Peace Justice Bobby West. Bail was posted by Moore & Burgess.

Also out on bail is Erul B. Padilla, 55, of 1504 Bluebird, charged with possession of marijuana over two ounces. His $5,000 bond, set by Peace Justice Lewis Heflin, was posted by Hamby & Thompson.

BSISD trustees to study Goliad construction

Members of the Big Spring Independent School District board of trustees will consider construction bids for work at Goliad Middle School when they meet at 5:15 p.m. Thursday.

In other business, the group will consider the employment and resignation of personnel, and budget amendments on compensatory education and special education.

Trustees election order and a review of administrative recommendation on student suspensions will also be considered.

Administrative and supervisory personnel employment recommendations will be discussed in an executive session.

The group will also study an enrollment report, a third six-weeks attendance report, as well as a textbook public hearing date, second meeting on Feb. 25, instructional make-up date Feb. 15, and a March business meeting March 18.

CRMWD deliveries exceed billion mark

January deliveries by the Colorado River Municipal Water District were up by nearly one-fifth over last year.

The total was 1,252,141,728 gallons of water, 202 million gallons more, or up 19.22 percent.

The municipalities served by the district took 1,040,172,000 gallons, a gain of 17.35 percent over January 1981. This also was the first time in the district's three decades of operation that municipal deliveries passed the one billion-gallon mark in a January.

Although there was a disposition on the part of oil companies to reduce the volume of water used for secondary recovery, there was a substantial gain of 29.23 percent in reaching 211,969,328 gallons of water for this purpose. The reason was the availability of surface water by two operators, who took 50 million gallons more from this source.

During January Big Spring used 238,509,000 gallons, up 28.66 percent; Midland 255,520,000 gallons, down 7.72 percent (only part of Midland's supply comes from the district); San Angelo 13,521,400 (San Angelo used no water from the district in the previous January); Snyder 69,364,000 gallons, up 12.03 percent; Stanton 10,220,000 gallons, up 35.05 percent; Odessa 453,036,000 gallons, up 27.76 percent.

'Boll Weevils' let disapproval be known

WASHINGTON (AP) — Conservative Democrats whose defections gave President Reagan his major legislative victories last year are letting the administration know they abhor his latest budget proposal with its $91 billion national deficit.

Treasury Secretary Donald Regan and David Stockman, director of the Office of Management and Budget, got a cool reception Tuesday in a 90-minute "brainstorming" session with members of the Conservative Democratic Forum, more commonly known as "Boll Weevils."

"There weren't any sharp words, but there was skepticism about how this turkey can fly," noted Rep. Bill Nelson, D-Fla.

"There's no way I'll vote for a $91 billion deficit. If they're going to expect our support, they have to get the deficit down," said Rep. Kent Hance, D-Texas, of Lubbock, the Democrat sponsor of Reagan's tax bill last year.

"I think it is a clear consensus that the deficit is too big and something has to be done about it," agreed Rep. Phil Gramm, D-Texas, of College Station, Democratic sponsor of the president's 1981 budget legislation.

Rep. Glenn English, D-Okla., told the administrative messengers that the soaring deficit and high interest rates are killing the president's economic program and that the president is going to have to come back to Congress with a more responsible budget.

"I think it's fair to say this group will not support a $90 billion deficit, or anything near that. It's a question of what compromises the administration will be willing to make," English added.

"I raised the question of fairness and pointed out it's going to be pretty difficult coming in for cuts on some of these groups for the second time when you've got such measures as foreign aid being increased 15 percent last year and another 18 percent this year," English said.

The administration requested the meeting with the Boll Weevils, to present the president's budget, and Stockman "just kinda laid it out. He got a lot of questions about the deficit and high interest rates," one CDF member said.

Related story, page 5A

"We supported you and acted on your assumptions last year, and they proved to be wrong, and they are causing us political problems. How can we be sure these are going to be any better than your old ones?" Stockman was asked at one point.

Hance said he feels the administration used overly optimistic projections again in keeping the current projected national deficit at $91 billion. He predicted it might come closer to $100 billion to $120 billion, adding: "I'd like to see a package that'd get it down to fifty or sixty billion."

Rep. Charles Stenholm, D-Texas, of Stamford — the CDF chairman — said although members of his group were vocal in their concern about the national deficit, "I would say interest rates were discussed more than any one subject today."

Stenholm said it's too soon to tell whether the Boll Weevils generally will line up behind Reagan's budget.

"It's way too early to begin assessing any particular budget. I think it's safe to say the CDF has not agreed with every 'I' that's been dotted and every 'T' that's been crossed in this particular budget," Stenholm said.

"We do agree in the general direction we're moving and with the valid claim that we're moving down in the expenditure area, and that's something that just had to happen if we ever hope to get a balanced budget," he added.

Several members said cuts in the defense budget will help apace the national deficit.

"I think that's going to have to be considered. If you are going to have more cuts in the social programs, you are going to have to look at the military defense budget and not increase it as much as the president has asked for," said Rep. G.V. "Sonny" Montgomery, D-Miss.

"I don't think this administration is talking enough about the deficit, and so we're going to have to look at all the departments of government and see where we can bring this deficit down," Montgomery said.

administration officials went before the panel to explain President Reagan's 1983 budget plan.

The battle of the budget

Critics begin to 'put up or shut up'

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Reagan's budget architects are asking a skeptical Congress to give more study to their 1983 spending plan, but some critics already are rising to the president's challenge to "put up or shut up."

Even as Reagan was calling his proposal "a line drawn in the dirt," work was proceeding on an alternative that would freeze most federal spending and scrub a 10 percent drop in income tax withholding scheduled to take effect in July.

Responding to a growing chorus of criticism from Capitol Hill — including many Republicans — Reagan declared Tuesday:

"The budget we have proposed is a line drawn in the dirt. Those who are serious about reducing the deficit will cross it and work with us on our proposals or their alternatives. Those who are not sincere in their concern about the deficit will stay on the other side and simply continue their theatrics."

Before returning from a two-day trip to the Midwest, the president used a separate address to tell "the paid political complainers...as politely as I can: Put up or shut up."

Among those putting up is Sen. Ernest Hollings, D-S.C., the top Democrat on the Senate Budget Committee.

He is drafting an alternative — clearly being watched closely by Republican leaders — that would freeze spending on benefit programs and the military at the level of the 1982 budget while eliminating the 10 percent cut in personal income tax withholding rates scheduled to take effect in July.

Hollings also would make changes in a similar cut due in July 1983, but it was not clear whether he wants to eliminate, postpone or reduce it.

A Hollings aide, who asked not to be identified, said Tuesday that preliminary estimates showed Hollings' plan would result in a deficit for the 1983 fiscal year of between $40 billion and $45 billion — less than half the $91.5 billion shortfall envisioned in Reagan's budget.

The aide said details of Hollings' proposal are still being worked out, but it is expected to include elimination for one year of cost-of-living increases for all benefit programs, including Social Security and other pensions.

Budget director David A. Stockman was skeptical about the Hollings plan.

"It's so simple that it raises great questions of practicality," Stockman said in a brief interview.

He questioned how the freeze could be applied effectively to the variety of government programs.

Polish union deputy faces military trial

GDANSK, Poland (AP) — Miroslaw Krupinski, the deputy chief of the Solidarity labor federation, is to be put on trial before a military court for organizing a national strike committee after martial law was declared, the Gdansk provincial prosecutor says.

Krupinski, second only to Solidarity chairman Lech Walesa in the hierarchy of the independent union, will be the highest union official brought to trial for violating martial law decrees.

In Madrid meanwhile, Secretary of State Alexander M. Haig Jr. said today that "never before has there been such unanimity of view achieved within" the 15-nation NATO alliance as there has been over the Polish crisis.

Haig held a news conference after speeches by himself and five other Western foreign ministers at the 35-nation Conference on European Security and Cooperation, a meeting designed to check compliance with the 1975 Helsinki accords promoting human rights.

Sparking protests from Soviet and Polish delegates, Haig and the other ministers bitterly criticized the Polish regime and the Soviets for the imposition of martial law Dec. 13 by the Warsaw authorities. Haig told reporters Tuesday the United States and the Common Market would not continue talks on East-West cooperation and on upgrading the Helsinki pact until martial law ended in Poland.

Meanwhile in Washington, the Reagan administration is trying to stave off a bipartisan drive in the U.S. Senate to get the military government in Poland declared in default on bank loans.

The House, in a 256-152 vote on Tuesday, rejected a move to require such a declaration before the U.S. government could pick up the interest payments on government-guaranteed food loans to Poland.

The Senate was expected to vote on the bill today.

Agriculture Secretary John R. Block, meanwhile, said that rumors and speculation about a possible U.S. trade embargo against the Soviets over the Polish situation are hurting American farmers.

WEATHER FORECAST — The National Weather Service forecast for Thursday calls for rain in southwestern Oregon and Northern California. Showers are expected for western and northern Washington State with snow flurries in the eastern part of the state. More flurries are also expected for northern Idaho and western Montana.

Showers possible in Panhandle tonight

By The Associated Press

A high pressure system kept skies clear and temperatures cold across Texas today.

Clouds were expected to move in over the state late today and showers were possible by evening in the Panhandle. Highs today were to range from the 40s in northern portions of the state to the 50s in central sections and as high as near 70 in Southwest Texas.

Most of the state had clear skies and cold temperatures early today. Some low clouds were reported over East Texas and Southeast Texas and portions of the Panhandle.

Early morning temperatures ranged from the teens in northern sections of the Panhandle to the 20s and 30s across most of the state and in the 40s in the Lower Rio Grande Valley. Extremes ranged from 15 at both Amarillo and Wichita Falls to 42 at both Brownsville and McAllen.

WEST TEXAS — Partly cloudy most sections through Thursday with a slow warming trend. Scattered showers Panhandle today. Highs lower 40s north to near 60 south and near 70 southwest. Lows upper teens north to lower 40s south. Highs Thursday mid 40s north to mid 60s south and mid 70s Rio Bend valleys.

EXTENDED FORECAST — WEST TEXAS — Partly cloudy through the weekend. A little warmer Friday and Saturday. Highs in the 50s north to the low 70s extreme south Friday warming to the mid 60s north to the upper 70s extreme south Saturday and continuing Sunday. Lows in the mid 30s north to the upper 30s extreme south Friday warming to the mid 30s north to the low 40s extreme south by Sunday.

Inmate says officials threatened to kill him

GALVESTON, Texas (AP) — Prison inmate Eroy Edward Brown says his knowledge of illegal activities by Texas Department of Corrections officials almost cost him his life.

Brown, serving a 10-year sentence for burglary at the TDC unit in Huntsville, is on trial for capital murder in the April 4, 1981, drowning of Ellis Unit warden Wallace Pack. Prosecutors say they also may try Brown for the shooting death of prison farm manager Billy Max Moore.

Two fellow prisoners testified they saw Brown shoot and kill Moore and chase Pack into a nearby drainage ditch, where the warden was later found dead.

But Brown, 31, of Waco, testified he acted in self defense after the two officials threatened to kill him for speaking out about alleged illegal activities by Moore.

"I'll splatter your brains out all over the place here," Brown recalled Pack saying as the warden raised a gun to the inmate's head and cocked the trigger.

"I had the feeling he was going to kill me. When he cocked it I thought the warden was going to shoot me. I was scared," said Brown.

Brown said he knocked the warden's hand down and the gun discharged, hitting Brown in the foot. He said Pack started to raise his hand a second time and he knocked the pistol away and another shot fired.

The inmate testified he knocked the gun out of Pack's hand and the two men scrambled for a few minutes, until Brown got the gun and backed away from Pack and Moore.

Brown said earlier that day he commented in the presence of other inmates about helping Moore in alleged illegal activities.

The inmate said Moore had ordered state-owned tires to be put on his personal vehicle and vehicles of his friends. He also said that supervisor William Adams Jr. would take left-over tires and tubes and trade them in for money.

The inmate said he falsified records to show the tires and auto parts were being used on TDC vehicles, "because Mr. Moore asked me to."

Kissinger surgery set today

BOSTON (AP) — Although there are some risks, former Secretary of State Henry Kissinger says his doctor told him open heart surgery shouldn't slow him down a bit. "He told me I would be stronger than ever afterward — which is the most terrifying news my associates have ever received," Kissinger, 58, joked Tuesday.

Kissinger, scheduled to undergo surgery this morning at Massachusetts General Hospital, was reported in good condition and resting comfortably early today.

The 1973 Nobel Peace Prize winner and secretary of state from 1973 to 1977 said at a news conference Tuesday he hoped to leave the hospital in about two weeks and planned to limit his schedule for the next six weeks.

Kissinger, who had no previous heart problems, first entered the hospital one week ago complaining of shoulder pains. He was released Friday after a general checkup, but returned Sunday night.

Austen, the hospital's chief of general surgical services, has been Kissinger's personal physician for almost 10 years. He said the four-hour operation "probably" would be a triple bypass and he predicted a full recovery.

Why the interest rates are so high

Wonder why you can't get a loan this side of 17 percent to buy a house? Or why similarly high interest rates are being charged for loans to buy a new car? Or a new refrigerator?

You have only to know that your Federal government will borrow a quarterly record amount of $41.25 billion in the months of January, February and March to get the answer.

When the treasury moves into the private money markets to raise that money by offering whatever interest rates it must on various government issues, it presents the managers of private money with an inescapable course of action.

WHY SHOULD ANYONE with money to invest consider putting it in a 30-year home mortgage at 17 percent when he can invest in short-term government-guaranteed paper at interest rates close to that?

In fact, if that manager were in charge of investing your money, what would you think if he decided to tie it up for 30 years when he could get virtually the same return on a short-term government offering?

THUS PROSPECTIVE homeowners, even prospective new car buyers, will continue to take it on the chin so long as the government is borrowing, by some measures, about 40 percent of all the money available for lending.

And, by the way, spending nearly $100 billion a year, the third largest item in the federal budget, to pay the interest on that monstrous federal debt.

There are those who tell us the deficit really isn't important. They clearly aren't borrowing any money these days.

Around the Rim

By MIKE DOWNEY

Tell me why

Have you ever wondered why TV newsmen always wear suits and ties for an audience dressed in old clothes, jeans and robes? Why do disc jockeys never look like their voices? What do the Secret Service do on their days off? Why do people adopt accents when someone can't understand their English?

I have lots of questions about the way things are. For instance, what is it that makes a person go straight for his nose the second he is alone in a car? Why do people believe when they are surrounded by glass that no one can see them? What quality about a car makes us believe no one can see us until somebody does something stupid on the road?

Then we expect the idiot to see the Charles Bronson glare and the quaint street gesture.

IF NOBODY WANTS to die, why do we spend billions on funerals every year instead of figuring out ways to live longer? Who decided everybody should drive on the right side of the road? How much TV would kids watch if it was good? Why does the government support the tobacco industry and an anti-smoking campaign?

The problem with people today is that they accept too many things without questions, without wondering why. The guy next door may moan and groan about the cost of food, but do you think he wonders why peanut butter is in a jar instead of a can? No, it probably never crosses his mind.

Questioning the accepted, the status quo and the things taken for granted could have enormous ramifications. For example, if the President's Hotline will reach Moscow instantly, why don't the two countries' leaders talk everyday? Why arrange those expensive summits all over the world?

Why not "Leonid, if you don't get out of Poland, no more wheat, no more computer parts, and no more chats with Nancy."

Why do you need a chain saw to get a potato chip bag open, but a grocery sack will fall to pieces everytime? Who makes the glue for price tags and product labels that defies modern science to remove? What do millionaires dream of getting someday? Do the Chinese have an expression like "red-headed American boy"?

WHO DESIGNED the typewriter keyboard so that you use your left hand for all the important letters like e and a? What manner of person thought up the so-called "child-proof" caps which require a degree in physics or a child to open? Have you ever wondered if the "other guy" watches you like you do him?

Last, but not least, does everybody reply to "How're you doing?" with "Fine" no matter how bad things are going? The world takes too much without wonder, without perception. Life has enough sameness and monotony without abandoning our sense of curiosity.

So next time you point out something to your dog and he stares at your hand rather than what you pointed at, ask why. Ask why everybody always floors it when their cars approach a light turning yellow. Wonder about who designed the clothes hanger.

Somebody has to ask these questions.

THE COLLINGRIDGE DISTRICT ONE BY THE FUTURE CONGRESS

SAINT JFK

Jack Anderson

WASHINGTON — It isn't often that a congressional leader and a corporate tycoon wind up snarling at each other in public. The usual procedure is for their aides to get together on the sly and work things out to mutual satisfaction.

But when you have two guys like Mobil Oil's chief executive William Tavoulares and House Energy and Commerce Chairman John Dingell, D-Mich., all bets are off.

These two antagonists have been locked in mortal combat since 1979. Dingell started the feud by accusing the Mobil Oil president of helping his son, Peter Tavoulares, create and operate the Atlas Maritime Company without telling Mobil stockholders about it.

The elder Tavoulares, a hard-driving, ruddy-faced, diminutive man with a griddle-hot temper, traced news leaks of his son's alleged misbehavior to Dingell. In a fury, Tavoulares marched into the congressman's office and demanded a written apology — written, that is, at Mobil headquarters.

Dingell is an unreconstructed curmudgeon, with a quarter of a century of congressional brawling behind him. He is not about to be intimidated, therefore, by a red-faced oil executive.

For two years, the two tigers have been clawing at each other — with neither gaining any visible advantage. Last Nov. 20, Tavoulares wrote Dingell: "After nearly two years involving meetings and letters between us, I have reluctantly come to the following conclusion: That you in your capacity as a member of the House of Representatives have deliberately misled a citizen who was rightfully trying to defend his reputation..."

The Tavoulares letter then made a series of erroneous accusations against one of Dingell's aides, Peter Stockton — allegations that were subsequently fed to The New York Times. As a sort of peroration,

Joseph Kraft

WASHINGTON — Look around the world, and it becomes clear why the President has to take a few seconds off from domestic business to make a major foreign policy address. For the global picture is one of American power eroding everywhere all at once.

So the administration has to discriminate the important from the trivial, and the potential winners from the sure losers. Only then will it be possible to focus attention on the one clear foreign policy priority for 1982 — refurbishing the Atlantic alliance, the better to deal with the Soviet Union.

The Caribbean tops the list of areas where a quick fix is ruled out. The administration came in hoping to "draw the line" against Soviet penetration in El Salvador. But the Russians have increased their military aid to Cuba and Nicaragua and those countries continue to support Marxist guerrillas in El Salvador. The government there seems unable either to repress the guerrilla movement or to co-opt its followers by free elections. So the future is a long slog.

In Asia, China responded harshly to President Reagan's campaign promise to increase support for Taiwan. Faced by a threat from Peking to downgrade relations, the President backed down on a plan to sell Taiwan sophisticated airplanes. But the mainland Chinese are still pushing hard for an eventual cutoff of American aid to Taiwan, and still moving away from cooperation with this country against Russia. Since Japan resisted U.S. pressure for a major military effort, and the Southeast Asian countries are divided about dealing with China, the best

Snarling in public

Tavoulares chastised Dingell by saying: "Finally, you said that you would admit being wrong if I were cleared by the SEC. This has now occurred, as you know, but I have had no word from you."

IT TURNS OUT THAT Tavoulares wasn't exactly "cleared" by the SEC. Internal documents uncovered by my associate Tony Capaccio show that the SEC failed to act on the allegations concerning Tavoulares' son because of technical details in the agency's regulations, not because it disputed the facts in the case.

Here's what an "Action Memorandum" by the SEC staff had to say on July 7, 1981: "The staff believes that Mobil Corporation's disclosure of the subject matter to date has been incomplete, even if one accepts Mobil's version of the facts."

Dingell had alleged that the oil company executive gave his son's company preferential treatment without telling Mobil shareholders about it. On this point, the SEC staff wrote: "Mobil never disclosed to its stockholders the amount of control it exerted over Atlas" (the son's company) "at least during 1975 and 1976. During this time, given all the facts, one could reasonably conclude that Atlas was a de facto subsidiary of Mobil Corp."

After press inquiries, Mobil in 1976 finally issued a letter to Mobil stockholders explaining its relationship to Atlas. But an earlier version of the SEC staff memo concluded that "William Tavoulares was the primary source of information for the shareholders letter. He knew that the information contained was false and misleading."

Far from eliciting an apology from Dingell, the SEC staff's findings are likely to continue the toe-to-toe battle between the congressman and the oilman.

Footnote: Said a Mobil spokesman: "Mobil believes the SEC investigation exhaustively examined and completely refuted Dingell's past allegations."

MOSCOW GOLD: The repression in Poland is proving costly to the Soviet Union. It has been selling gold on the world market to keep the Polish economy afloat, according to intelligence sources. The Afghanistan aggression and domestic production failures have added to the financial pinch.

"Moscow gold" — a buzzword used in the 1930s to explain the subversion of political leaders and parties by the communists — is today a carefully watched yardstick of the Soviet economy's strength or weakness. For this reason, the Russians keep their transactions as secret as possible.

But the CIA is able to glean some nuggets of information on Soviet gold sales. Witness these excerpts from the agency's top-secret documents:

"Soviet gold sales... were made on the Swiss market and earned Moscow some $400 million."

"A huge stock of Soviet gold is reportedly now at the Zurich airport awaiting sale on the Zurich market."

The CIA's information comes primarily from Consolidated Gold Fields, a gold-mining financial house. Other sensitive information comes from the Soviets' own Wozchod-Handelsbank in Zurich, which markets much of Moscow's gold. South Africa and the Soviet Union supply about 80 percent of the gold that is sold in the world.

The commissars are as canny as any capitalists when they market their precious metal, trying to sell when prices are high and hold on when prices are low. But the needs of their political adventuring can upset this prudent policy, the CIA reports.

"Moscow increased the volume of sales during periods of rising prices and cut back when prices fell," a top-secret document states. "In the long run, however, Moscow probably will have to sell gold when prices are at or below current levels."

A European initiative

Washington can do is nurse along the Peking connection.

IN THE MIDDLE EAST, Iraq is losing the war it started against Iran, and seems unable to make peace without a rout that would unsettle President Saddam Hussein. He has called for help from nearby Arab states, and King Hussein of Jordan, with backing from Saudi Arabia and the sheikhdoms of the Persian Gulf, has begun to raise a force of volunteers. The war could thus widen, with serious threats to the oil-producing facilities on the Gulf. Still, all the U.S. can do is help stamp out the flames.

Arab-Israeli relations present a second tinderbox. Israel grows increasingly nervous at the approach of the April 25 date fixed by the Camp David Accords for full withdrawal from the Sinai Peninsula. President Hosni Mubarak of Egypt is proving much less willing than Anwar Sadat to negotiate an agreement on self-rule for the Palestinians living in Israeli-occupied territory. He will almost surely move back toward the Arab camp when he retrieves the last bit of the Sinai. At that point, a new outbreak of Israeli-Arab fighting becomes a distinct possibility. But all the U.S. can do, indeed all it has recently been doing, is to control the damage.

The European allies were first impressed by the President's take-charge aura, and then genuinely worried by bellicose noises from the White House. On November 18, in a speech setting forth mild American terms for negotiations with Russia on nuclear weapons in Europe, Reagan tranquilized allied fears. But the tranquilizer wore off after the military crackdown in Poland. For the U.S. pushed for stronger sanctions against Russia than the others — especially the French and Germans — were prepared to sustain.

THE SOVIET UNION — with the American position weakening in Asia, the Middle East and Europe — is under no great pressure to accommodate to the U.S. Moscow keeps talking of arms control to win favor in Europe, while refusing to moderate its stand in Poland, Afghanistan, the Middle East or the Caribbean. Unless the U.S. shores up its position somewhere, the Russians could become truly dangerous.

But shoring up is possible only within the alliance context. The present disarray can be ended by an unambiguous condemnation of the crackdown in Poland, and a resolve not to undertake new, as distinct from past, deals with the Soviet Union. A summit meeting of NATO leaders in late spring can impart new lift to the alliance. The momentum can be maintained by a committee of elder statesmen established to rethink the alliance for the 1980s.

A European initiative along these lines is now being readied at the State Department. Indeed, the NATO summit has already been scheduled for the 35th anniversary of the announcement of the Marshall Plan. But to clear the way, the President first has to assert the priorities in this country. Otherwise he and Secretary Haig will find themselves fighting on all fronts simultaneously.

Billy Graham

Why do I feel bad

DEAR DR. GRAHAM: I have had so many struggles in life and done so many things wrong that I feel God doesn't love me or want anything to do with me anymore. Why do I feel this way? — D.P.

DEAR D.P.: I'm sure I don't know all the reasons why you feel like this. It may be, for instance, that you have had so many problems in life that you simply cannot imagine that things could ever be any different. Or perhaps your problems have made you think that you are really not worth anything, and that God would have no reason to love you.

Whatever the reasons you might think you have to feel this way, the truth is quite different. God loves you very much, and more than you can possibly imagine he wants you to be his child through faith in Jesus Christ. It occurs to me that one reason you may feel God does not care about you is that you think somehow if he did love you, then you would not have had so many problems. But don't look just at the circumstances of your life to see if God loves you, God loves you, and the proof of that occurred almost two thousand years ago when Jesus Christ, God's only Son, died on the cross for you.

Why did Christ die on the cross? He died so you and I could have a personal relationship with him. He died so our sins could be forgiven, and we could go to spend all eternity with him in Heaven. He died so we could be his children right now — adopted into his family.

Now let me ask you a question: would Jesus Christ have died for you if God hated you, or did not care for you? No! Christ died for you because he loves you. "How great is the love the Father has lavished on us, that we should be called children of God! And that is what we are!... This is how we know what love is: Jesus Christ laid down his life for us" (1 John 3:1, 16).

I invite you to come to Jesus Christ.

Local cats

want equal time

Dear Madam:

After having read with great interest your paper's article on "Cats" in your Sunday edition, I feel compelled to write your paper on behalf of myself and my friends.

I live in the same house with Mr. Samuel J. Katt, and Lord Burnham, and the three of us are just a little unhappy because we, as well as some of our friends, namely, Sylvester, Bangkokky and Chug-a-lug were not featured in the article.

For myself, I was recently crowned "Miss Chubby Paws of 1982", and I do not remember seeing this in your paper.

Burnham is a well-known Burmese, Samuel is a famous statesman, Sylvester is so famous — a cartoon character was copied after his likeness, and Bangkokky and Chug-a-lug are probably the most renowned Himalayans around these parts.

Our feelings are hurt, our whiskers are drooping, but we will try to be brave!

Dear Sir,

Just a few words of highest commendations for "all" those who had a part in the Mr. and Miss CHS Contest this past Monday at Coahoma High School.

Being involved in only a very minor part of the activities, I was able to be at the rehearsals (which lasted around three hours), and I saw exactly what was expected of each participant.

I have nothing but "praise" for those involved who gave up many hours of their own hectic schedules to compete. I have also grown to respect these kids so much more because they shared their talents with us.

It is depressing to us, sometimes, because there can only be two winners. And all the others are considered "losers".

I do offer my congratulations to Miss Louise Shive and Mr. Jeff Devers for being judged the best, but in my opinion, all of those kids are champions, and none of them should be disappointed just because they didn't win "First Place".

To the participants, all of the technical crews, and most of all the sponsors, I thank you very much for a very fine evening!

Sincerely,
KERRY WOOD

Trouble ahead for legislative veto

WASHINGTON (AP) — When funeral directors, used-car dealers, hearing aid companies and mobile home manufacturers didn't like the way they were regulated by a federal agency, they went to Congress for help.

The lawmakers granted them relief with a device called a legislative veto — a majority vote of one or both houses that can nullify a government rule or a presidential decision.

Without the legislative veto, the Federal Trade Commission may have already required funeral directors to disclose price information.

Stringent FTC-imposed warranty practices may already have been placed in effect for the mobile home industry and hearing aid companies may by now have been returning money to people who changed their minds about a purchase within 30 days.

And the FTC's decision to force used-car dealers to inform consumers of vehicle defects may not be facing a legislative veto.

The legislative veto, which Congress says can prevent rulemaking agencies from "running amok" is in legal trouble.

A three-judge panel of the U.S. Court of Appeals in Washington ruled Jan. 29 that the legislative veto, especially when exercised by only one house, is unconstitutional.

A federal appeals panel in San Francisco also struck down the device in December 1980 and that case is set for argument before the Supreme Court Feb. 22.

When the 1980 decision came down, President Jimmy Carter said it carried "perhaps the most profound significance constitutionally of anything that's happened in my four years."

Carter and President Reagan have opposed the legislative veto on grounds it left no role for the chief executive in lawmaking.

The Washington decision concentrated on the one-house veto, although several lawyers involved in the case said the decision's rationale would also apply to the two-house veto.

The Washington court said the legislative veto violates the procedure established by the Constitution for passing laws. That involves approval by a majority vote of the House and Senate and acceptance or disapproval by the president. A presidential veto can be overridden by a two-thirds vote in each house.

The legislative veto has been written into specific pieces of legislation since 1932, but its use in recent years has become more frequent. It affects, for example, legislation on U.S. foreign policy and laws controlling rulemaking agencies such as the FTC.

For instance, the device can be used to increase natural gas home heating bills, deny arms sales to Saudi Arabia, prevent military aid to Pakistan and stop the FTC's disclosure requirements on used cars.

"It gives a powerful lobby that wants to do something quickly the chance to stampede Congress," said Michael Pertschuk, a member and the former chairman of the FTC. "The rules on funerals and used cars would both have been law by now (without a legislative veto)."

The Washington appellate court said its decision "may have far-reaching effects on the operation of the federal government." That is apparent when one looks at some of the ways the legislative veto can be or has been used.

For example, the mood of Congress could change after the next elections, and the legislators could decide to nullify any future presidential decision to sell arms to Saudi Arabia. That would reverse the policy set when Reagan chose to sell AWACS airplanes to the Saudis and Congress declined to veto the sale.

In the one-house veto that sparked the Washington court decision, the House vetoed a rule by the Federal Energy Regulatory Commission, which tried to shift some of the burden of natural gas price increases from consumers to industry.

In another key foreign policy move, Congress decided last December to institute a two-house legislative veto to prevent military aid to countries that violate U.S. policy on the reprocessing, enrichment, transfer and receipt of nuclear fuel and devices. The veto, which could apply to countries like Pakistan, would override a presidential recommendation that aid be granted despite the violation.

The House and the Senate have filed legal papers supporting the legislative veto.

Eugene Gressman, a law professor at the University of North Carolina and a special counsel to the House, said Congress is proceeding constitutionally because the legislative veto is used not to make new law, but to exercise control.

"If you didn't have the legislative veto, administrative agencies can run amok," he said. "Congress is saying let's stop the evil before it becomes final. This is an effective control mechanism."

He added the veto is legal in many areas of foreign affairs since some of the president's foreign policy-making powers stem from laws passed by Congress.

Another legal scholar, law professor Antonin Scalia of University of Chicago Law School, disagreed.

"Decisions which in the past have been less political will in the future be much more highly politicized" if the legislative veto continues to be used, he said.

"I'm not saying there isn't politics before the agencies. But there's an awful lot more before Congress."

Pertschuk, who was the target of congressional wrath because of the fundamental changes in society he tried to bring about while FTC chairman, agreed with Scalia.

"The effect of the legislative veto is that the FTC staff ends up negotiating ahead of time with a handful of congressmen or their staff," he said.

To keep coalition, Reagan must cut deficit

WASHINGTON (AP) — The fiscally conservative House Democrats who gave President Reagan his winning margin in last year's battle to cut spending and taxes say the president must reduce the deficit in his new budget if he are to support his record red-ink spending plan.

"I see a brand-new ballgame," said Rep. Doug Barnard, D-Ga., a member of the Boll Weevils, a loose coalition of Democrats who sided with Reagan on his budget efforts in 1981.

Key members of the coalition, which allowed Reagan to maintain tenuous control over the Democratic-controlled House last year, agree almost unanimously that the record deficits of $98 billion this year and $91.5 billion in the fiscal 1983 year are unacceptable.

Most say that cutbacks will have to be made in the increases Reagan proposes for defense, although they differ in how much. And some contend the tax cut package passed last year was a mistake, and that at least part of it must be deferred to help reduce the deficit.

"The greater part of it (the coalition) may stay, but not for the president," Rep. Glenn English, D-Okla., said Monday. "It may stay for dealing with the deficit."

Rep. G.V. "Sonny" Montgomery said Reagan "will have to compromise more" than he did last year on his tax cut and budget cuts.

"If we don't slow down some of this (military) spending, we're not going to be able to get the rest of the president's program" through the House, the Mississippi Democrat said.

Reagan, who will need to maintain unity among the Republicans as well as muster Democratic support this year, may encounter GOP resistance because of the new round of social program cuts that will have a strong impact on the Northeast and Midwest.

"I've talked with other Northeast Republicans who went along last time who are feeling the crunch," he said. "I don't think they'll be as easy to get to as they were last year," said Rep. Harold Hollenbeck, R-N.J.

Hollenbeck, a member of the Gypsy Moths, a group of moderate Republicans, said he doesn't think Reagan can get his budget through without substantial changes in defense and social services spending.

Rep. Charles "Buddy" Roemer, D-La., one of three Boll Weevils working on an alternative budget aimed at keeping the deficit to about $50 billion, said, "I have a feeling there's going to be plenty of chance for improvement, both in decreasing the size of the deficit and increasing the fairness of the approach."

Roemer said he would not support a deferral of the 10 percent personal tax reduction that goes into effect July 1. And, coming from the oil producing state of Louisiana, he said he certainly wouldn't support a rollback on tax breaks given to small oilmen.

But others are not so opposed to changing the tax package.

Rep. Tom Beville, D-Ala., said he supports a deferral of the tax reduction as well as rescheduling some of the tax breaks given to small oilmen.

Rep. Bill Green, R-N.Y., a Gypsy Moth, says maybe some revenue could be raised by rolling back some of the special interest tax breaks. And Barnard said he favors speeding up this year's tax break to become retroactive to Jan. 1, then postponing next year's reduction.

Mideast specialist balks at Libyan hit squad scare

HOUSTON (AP) — A Middle East expert says he doubts President Reagan was a target of Libyan "hit squads" but believes Col. Moammar Khadafy benefited from publicity generated by the assassination scare.

Khadafy is a brilliant, but nervous, totalitarian leader who lacks the resources to directly challenge the United States, Monte Palmer, director of the Middle East Studies Center at Florida State University, told a seminar here Monday.

Many Americans picture Khadafy as a "wildman screaming into the breeze," but his fiery speeches appeal to young Libyans, Palmer said.

"Think of all the publicity. Among the Arab youth, it (the assassination scare) made Khadafy seem like a hero," he said.

Border war: The world's 10 hottest spots

By JOY ASRHENBACH

National Geographic News Service

WASHINGTON — Borders. Half the nations of the world are arguing over them — like neighbors fighting over international back fences.

On the oil-rich Arabian Peninsula, half a dozen countries can't agree where to draw the lines between them. In a South American jungle, Venezuela claims a chunk of Guyana that would shrink it by almost two-thirds.

Along the longest militarized border in the world, the Soviet Union and China haven't straightened out all of their 4,150 miles of icy differences. In the Bay of Bengal, a new island that popped up between India and Bangladesh after a storm 11 years ago created a still-unsettled conflict. And in Europe last year, the King of Spain didn't go to the British Royal Wedding because of the 277-year-old dispute over the Rock of Gibraltar.

With 167 independent nations now competing for Earth's land, the number of border and territorial disputes has escalated steadily since World War II. "There's no escaping it," one geographer said. "There are even disputes about the disputes — and not just on land." Boundary conflicts are fast moving offshore as future rights to the sea are staked out. Many of today's border clashes are considered "dangerous" because the world's superpowers have taken sides in them.

The 10 "hottest" are scattered over three continents, according to a National Geographic News Service survey of some of the nation's leading political geographers and U.S. government authorities.

From more than 25 serious disputes cited by the experts, the 10 were judged most likely to erupt or to have far-reaching world impact. Five are in Asia, four in Africa, and one in South America. By region, they are:

ISRAEL-ARAB NEIGHBORS — War over what Israel's shape on world maps would be started the day after the Jewish state was proclaimed in 1948. Since then Israel and its Arab neighbors have fought four bitter wars.

Today's explosive situation stems specifically from the Six Day War of 1967 when Israel captured Egypt's Sinai Peninsula, the Gaza Strip, Syria's Golan Heights, and Jordan's West Bank and its sector of Jerusalem.

Israel has resisted retreating to its pre-1967 borders and recently formally annexed the Golan Heights. Declaring its perpetual sovereignty over the Syrian land, it still holds to its schedule to evacuate the last section of the Sinai in April. On the other fronts, the Israeli-occupied territories remain powder kegs in the complex Middle East crisis.

IRAN-IRAQ — The ancient Tigris and Euphrates rivers meet and flow to the sea through a short stretch of waterway that separates two old enemies and has become the flash point of their border clashes.

Who should control the Shatt al Arab — Iraq's only outlet to the Persian Gulf and Iran's only sea access for its huge oil refinery at Abadan?

Iraq reopened the old dispute in 1980 by terminating a 1975 agreement that had split the Shatt al Arab down the middle, giving shared sovereignty to the two hostile nations. In the 1975 pact, Iraq had given up its sole control of the waterway, which had been secured by a 1937 boundary settlement putting the Shatt al Arab inside its borders. Iran had never accepted that ruling.

INDIA-PAKISTAN — Rivalry over treasured Kashmir has figured in three wars and countless skirmishes between India and Pakistan.

The Kashmir dispute erupted soon after British rule

FRICITION BETWEEN NATIONS: 10 hot disputes ended in 1947, and predominantly Hindu India and Moslem Pakistan were created.

Wedge between the two, Kashmir, with a majority Moslem population and a Hindu ruler, could have joined either of the new countries or elected independence. When the maharajah hesitated, some of the Moslems, backed by armed Pakistani tribesmen, revolted. To stop the invaders, the maharajah offered to accede to India in exchange for military aid — a move Pakistan opposed.

In 1949 the United Nations established a cease-fire line that divided the state, leaving the Vale of Kashmir and a majority of the population under Indian control.

GREECE-TURKEY — A cease-fire line cuts across the island of Cyprus, dividing its capital, Nicosia, and its population of Greeks and Turks.

With Turkish Cypriots in the north and Greek Cypriots in the south, there is still no permanent solution to the stalemate. Before Cyprus won independence from Britain in 1960, the Turks favored partitioning the Mediterranean island. The Greeks, who make up nearly 80 percent of the population, sought political union with Greece.

In 1974 Turkey invaded the island following a Greek Cypriot coup. To protest the invasion, Greece pulled out of NATO and did not rejoin until 1980. Greece is once again threatening to withdraw, a move that could make it less likely to accept the status quo on Cyprus. The two countries also are currently tangling over valuable air and sea rights in the Aegean.

CHINA-VIETNAM — Since the end of hostilities in South Vietnam, Vietnam has clashed with its neighbors, fighting battles along borders with both China and Kampuchea (Cambodia).

In early 1979 Chinese troops attacked northern provinces of Vietnam as "punishment" for Vietnamese provocations along their common border, according to Beijing. The Chinese attack was also considered a retaliation for Vietnam's overthrow of China's ally in Kampuchea.

Accusing each other of trying to change the border between them, China and Vietnam also have competing claims to the Spratly and Paracel island groups in the South China Sea, where there are prospects for oil.

ETHIOPIA-SOMALIA — Ethiopia's furnace-hot Ogaden region has been the home of countless generations of Somali nomads. And neighboring Somalia has gone to war at least twice to aid guerrillas trying to turn the desert land into a new Somali nation.

Backed by the Soviet Union and Cuba, Ethiopia has so far successfully resisted giving up the Ogaden, which represents about one-fifth of its territory and is strategically located in the Horn of Africa.

The boundary conflict has its roots in late 19th-century colonialism, which divided the Somali tribal lands into five parts, ceding the Ogaden to Ethiopia. Independent since 1960, Somalia has sought the unification of all territories traditionally occupied by Somali tribes, including about 20 percent of what is now Kenya.

LIBYA-CHAD — Plagued with internal tribal strife since its independence from France in 1960, Chad is currently torn apart by at least three bands of rebel forces, the strongest headed by its former defense minister Hissane Habre.

Neighboring Libya, under the regime of Col. Muammar Qaddafi, has had designs on the vulnerable country since 1973 when it occupied Chad's 60-mile-wide Aozou Strip along their common border. Two years later Libya announced that it was annexing the strip, which is believed to be rich in uranium.

In late 1980, Libya intervened in Chad's worsening civil war — sending in troops to back the government in power. Afterward Qaddafi announced a "merger" of the two countries, a move that angered much of Africa. Libya pulled its troops out last November, but apparently not from the disputed Aozou Strip.

MOROCCO-WESTERN SAHARA — A 9-foot-high sand wall stretches 400 miles across the desert to defend Morocco's claim to Western Sahara, a former Spanish colony on Africa's west coast.

Completed last year, the giant sand dune — reinforced with a series of forts — is a pivotal factor in the intensified war with the Algerian and Libyan-backed guerrillas who want an independent western Sahara republic. Some of the fiercest fighting in the six-year struggle between Moroccan troops and the native Polisario Front occurred late last year.

Morocco has sought to absorb the territory, which is rich in phosphates, since Spain relinquished it in 1976. A large imperial state in pre-colonial times, Morocco contends the colony is its rightful heritage.

NAMIBIA-SOUTH AFRICA-ANGOLA — Outside of South Africa itself, mineral-rich Namibia stands as the last major colonial African territory dominated by whites. Although it is on the verge of independence, its northern frontier is still war-torn.

South Africa, which was given custody of neighboring Namibia (then South-West Africa) under a 1920 League of Nations mandate, refused to give up control despite a 1966 United Nations order revoking the mandate.

In recent years, South Africa has launched massive raids into Angola, Namibia's northern neighbor, where Namibian guerrilla forces trying to oust South Africa are based.

Late last year South Africa and the guerrilla South-West Africa People's Organization agreed to the terms of a U.N. proposal that could lead to Namibian independence in 1983. But still a thorn in Namibia's side is the key Atlantic coast enclave of Walvis Bay, which would remain under South African control. Located west of the Namibian capital, this seaport and fishing center was administered by South Africa prior to the 1920 mandate and is claimed as its own.

ARGENTINA-CHILE — For the first time in centuries, the Pope had to step into a South American land dispute in late 1978 to stop a near-war over the ownership of three tiny islands at the southernmost tip of the continent.

Inhabited only by a handful of fishermen and insignificant in themselves, the islands may be stepping stones to deep-sea oil and mineral rights, and to claims to Antarctic territory. The century-old tug of war between Argentina and Chile over the Beagle Channel boundary line is the final frontier conflict along their 3,298-mile border.

Earlier arbitration, including the findings of a British-backed international commission in 1977, gave Chile the three islands. Contending that Chile is a Pacific coast country, Argentina has refused to recognize its new foothold on the Atlantic. Argentina is expected to reject the Vatican view, which also reportedly considers the islands Chilean.

Low-sodium, low-cholesterol recipes given

Booklets offer help for special diet needs

A reader has asked for any recipes for persons having hypoglycemia (an abnormally low level of sugar in the blood). Anyone having this medical problem are requested to send them to the Recipe Exchange.

This week's Recipe Exchange contains recipes for special diets such as sodium-restricted diets. The booklet "The Sodium-Restricted Diet" put out by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service lists the rules to go by when adapting most recipes from standard cookbooks to sodium-restricted diets. The booklet has a great deal of valuable information for the person who has been prescribed a sodium-restricted diet.

The extension service has several booklets available free to the public for a variety of special diets. They may be picked up at the extension office in the basement of the courthouse during the week.

Rules for adapting recipes to a sodium-restricted diet are as follows:
1. Omit salt in any recipe.
2. Use potassium bicarbonate instead of sodium bicarbonate (baking soda). Use the quantity specified in the recipe.

3. Use sodium-free baking powder instead of regular baking powder. Many stores which sell dietetic foods have one of several brands on the shelves. Companies with potassium-based baking powder are listed elsewhere. Use 1 1/2 teaspoon sodium-free baking powder for each teaspoon regular baking powder. If you are unable to find a sodium-free baking powder, have a druggist prepare one using the following recipe:
Potassium bicarbonate 39.8 grams
Cornstarch 28.9 grams
Tartaric acid 7.6 grams
Potassium bi-tartrate 56.1 grams

4. Prepare vegetables from the fresh form as much as possible. One-half cup fresh green beans boiled in water without salt contains 2 milligrams of sodium.
5. Foods may be canned or frozen at home and be relatively low in sodium. Preserve foods without added salt and process in distilled water if water in the area is high in sodium.

6. Non-nutritive sweetness. Most non-nutritives are made of sodium saccharin and are usually not prescribed on a sodium-restricted diet. Some non-nutritive sweeteners made of calcium saccharin might be used with a physician's approval.

7. Egg substitutes. Most egg substitutes in supermarkets have lowered cholesterol content. Most of these products are not intended for the person on the sodium-restricted diet. Many are primarily egg white, the part of the egg where most sodium is concentrated. As a result, egg substitutes may be very high in sodium. It's extremely important to read the label on egg substitutes to know the sodium content.

Below are some recipes for sodium-restricted diets.

HALIBUT CONTINENTAL
1/2 cup seedless grapes, cut in half
2 Tablespoons dry sherry
2 pounds halibut steaks, cut into 6 serving-size pieces
1/4 cup thinly sliced onion
1 Tablespoon lemon juice
Generous dash each pepper and paprika
Basic medium white sauce

White Sauce:
2 Tablespoons unsalted margarine (1 for thin, 4 for thick)
2 Tablespoons flour (1 for thin, 4 for thick)
1/2 teaspoon pepper
1 cup nonfat milk
Grated peel from 1/4 lemon
Halibut: In a small bowl, combine grapes and sherry; let stand 30 minutes. Meanwhile, arrange fish in lightly oiled shallow 3-quart baking dish; top with onion. Sprinkle with lemon juice, pepper and paprika. Pour Basic Medium White Sauce over fish. Cover, bake at 350 degrees for 30 minutes or until fish flakes easily. Remove fish to serving platter. Add grape mixture to white sauce; stir well. Spoon sauce over fish. Garnish with lemon wedges, parsley and additional paprika if desired. Makes 4 servings.

Basic Medium White Sauce: In saucepan, melt margarine; blend in flour and pepper. Stir in milk and lemon peel. Cook over medium-low heat, stirring until thickened. Makes about 1 cup. Count milk in dieter's portion or use low sodium milk. Note: For herbed variations of Basic Medium White Sauce, add 1/4 to 1/2 teaspoon of one of the following: dill weed, basil, oregano or tarragon leaves, crushed. One serving equals 3 ounces cooked weight with 96 milligrams of sodium and 305 calories.

BASIC LEMON "BUTTER"
1 teaspoon grated lemon peel
1/4 cup soft unsalted margarine
2 teaspoons lemon juice
Stir lemon peel into margarine; gradually beat in lemon juice. Makes about 1/4 cup. Variation: Add one of the following: 1 teaspoon chopped parsley or 1/4 teaspoon garlic or onion powder, basil, rosemary or thyme leaves, crushed. One serving equals 1 teaspoon and contains 5 milligrams sodium and 35 calories.

GROUND BEEF PATTIES
1 pound lean ground beef
1 Tablespoon lemon juice
1 teaspoon chopped parsley
1/4 teaspoon pepper
1/4 teaspoon ground thyme
1/4 teaspoon rosemary leaves, crushed
Thoroughly combine all ingredients; shape firmly into 4 patties. Place on broiler pan 4 inches from heat; broil for 5 minutes. Turn and broil 2-4 minutes longer to desired doneness. Garnish with tomato and lemon slices and parsley if desired. Makes 4 servings. One serving equals 3 ounces cooked weight and contains 51 milligrams of sodium and 189 calories.

CHICKEN PAPRIKA
3 pounds chicken, cut into serving pieces, skinned
1 Tablespoon vegetable salad oil
1 Tablespoon lemon juice
1/4 teaspoon paprika

1/4 teaspoon pepper
1/4 teaspoon tarragon leaves, crushed
Place chicken pieces on a rack in a shallow baking pan; brush lightly with oil. Sprinkle with lemon juice, paprika, pepper and tarragon. Bake at 350 degrees for 90 minutes or until tender. Garnish with lemon slices and parsley if desired. Makes 6 servings. If gravy is allowed, drain off all fat before thickening. Add 1 small can unsalted mushrooms, drained. One serving equals 3 ounces cooked weight with onion juice and without gravy and contains 63 milligrams sodium and 165 calories.

FRESH DRESSING
1/2 cup lemon juice
1/2 cup vegetable salad oil
1 Tablespoon sugar
1 teaspoon finely chopped onion
1/2 teaspoon paprika
1/4 teaspoon dry mustard
1/4 teaspoon pepper
Combine all ingredients in jar with lid; shake well. Chill; shake well before serving. Makes about 1 cup. One serving equals 1/2 teaspoon and there is just a trace of sodium and 22 calories.

The recipes below are for low cholesterol diets. The recipes are from the American Heart Association and also may be found at the extension office.

BRAISED BEEF TIPS
2 pounds beef tips
1/4 cup polyunsaturated margarine or corn oil
1/2 cup diced green pepper
1-3rd cup finely chopped shallots or green onions
1/4 pound fresh mushrooms, sliced OR one 4-ounce can mushrooms, drained

1/2 cup red wine
1 cup beef broth
1 Tablespoon Worcestershire sauce
1/2 cup chili sauce
Watercress
In large skillet, melt margarine or corn oil. Add onions, pepper, mushrooms and saute until golden. Add beef tips that have been cut into thin slices and braised slowly till tender. Pour off fat. Add wine, broth, Worcestershire sauce and chili sauce. Bring to a boil and cook gently till liquid is reduced to half of its original volume and slightly thickened. Garnish with watercress and serve with hot boiled white rice. Serves 4.

VEAL CACCIATORE
4 medium-sized veal chops
1 large onion
1 clove garlic
1 large green pepper
1 teaspoon polyunsaturated margarine
1/2 teaspoon oregano
1/2 pound fresh mushrooms
1 can Italian plum tomatoes
1/2 teaspoon M.S.G.
Salt
Pepper
Pinch of sugar
Saute chops in polyunsaturated margarine or oil. Turn and brown, allowing about 5-7 minutes. Set aside partially cooked chops. Saute one large onion, 1 cut clove of garlic and 1 large green pepper cut into strips, 1/2 pound of fresh sliced mushrooms. Saute until yellow, add 1 medium-sized can of Italian plum tomatoes, M.S.G., salt, pepper and a pinch of sugar. Sprinkle 1/2 teaspoon oregano on top and let simmer in a pan 20 minutes. Serves 4.

SWEET AND SOUR PORK
1 1/2 pounds lean pork loin (cut in thin strips)
2 Tablespoon vegetable oil
Pineapple juice drained from No. 2 can pineapple chunks
1/2 cup water
1-3rd cup vinegar
1/4 cup brown sugar
2 Tablespoon corn starch
Salt
Soy Sauce
1/2 cup green pepper
1/2 cup onion sliced thin
Pineapple chunks

Trim all visible fat from lean pork loin and cut in thin strips. Saute in vegetable oil until golden brown. Combine pineapple juice, drained from No. 2 can of pineapple chunks, water, vinegar, brown sugar, corn starch, salt and soy sauce to taste. Shake these ingredients in a glass jar until well mixed. Cook until clear and slightly thickened. Add the meat. Cook over a low heat for about one hour. About five minutes before serving, add thinly sliced green pepper, onion and pineapple chunks and serve over steamed cooked rice. Serves 4.

BACKYARD CASSEROLE
4 cups cooked macaroni
2 Tablespoons vegetable oil
1/2 cup onion
1 Tablespoon minced parsley
1/2 cup sliced mushrooms
1 pound lean ground beef
Dash of allspice
1/2 teaspoon ground pepper

1/4 teaspoon thyme
1/4 cup tomato juice
1/4 cup white wine
1 can No. 2 cream-style corn
1/4 cup grated cheese
Paprika
Measure cooked macaroni and set it aside. Put vegetable oil in a heavy skillet and saute onions, minced parsley and mushrooms. Saute until golden. Crumble ground beef into small pieces. Add to the mixture. Sprinkle in allspice, pepper and thyme. Cook until meat is lightly browned. Add tomato juice, wine, and cream-style corn. Blend in grated cheese. Into 2-quart casserole, blending in macaroni and garnish with paprika. Cover and bake at 350 degrees for 30 minutes. Uncover for the last 10 minutes of baking for a crunchy top. Serves 4.

BEEF BALLS IN TOMATO SAUCE
1 pound lean ground beef
1/2 cup cornflake crumbs
3 Tablespoons minced onion
1 egg white

Combine beef with remaining ingredients. Mix well and shape into balls. Place in a single layer in shallow baking pan. Bake at 400 degrees 10 minutes. While baking, make the following tomato sauce:
1 cup diced onion
2 cloves minced garlic
1 can (28 oz.) Italian style tomatoes
3 Tablespoons tomato paste
1 teaspoon seasoned salt
1/4 teaspoon pepper
1/4 teaspoon oregano leaves
1/4 teaspoon basil.
In heavy saucepan, combine all ingredients. Bring to a boil and simmer about 20 minutes. Lift meatballs out of the fat which has fallen away from them during cooking and place them in tomato sauce. Simmer till heated and serve over a small portion of spaghetti noodles. Serves four.

Energy official says account of 'hot book' doesn't ring true

By The Associated Press
A former medic's account that Army records were faked to conceal high levels of radiation received by soldiers who witnessed atomic testing in the 1960s "doesn't ring true," a federal official says.
David Miller, a spokesman for the Department of Energy in Las Vegas, Nev., on Monday said former medic Van R. Brandon "may be remembering incorrectly."
Brandon, a retired postal worker from Sacramento, Calif., said Sunday that exposure records on thousands of soldiers who observed atomic blasts in the 1960s were phony and the real records were kept secured in a "hot book."
On Monday, Miller said the military might actually have been keeping two lists of participants: one with those who had received the maximum dose of radioactivity and the other with names of those who could receive more exposure.

Miller said if Army officers were doing something wrong, such as overexposing troops, "it would be crazy to keep a record of that. That just doesn't ring true."
Many of the tests were conducted at the Nevada Test Site, 75 miles northwest of Las Vegas by the now-defunct Atomic Energy Commission. The Department of Energy now directs underground testing.
In Washington, Army Maj. Chuck Suits, a Pentagon spokesman, said, "The Defense Department is involved in an investigation right now. . . . It is following up on the charges made by Mr. Brandon."
Meanwhile, a national veterans organization and a group of Canadian veterans on Monday pressed for action on Brandon's charges.

In Burlington, Iowa, the head of the National Association of Atomic Veterans said she hoped other soldiers would come forward and discuss their experiences with atomic testing.
"This confirms what we've always believed," said Wanda Kelly, head of the association, which says 250,000 soldiers were exposed to radiation during atomic tests after World War II.
"We are hopeful now that other veterans, like Mr. Brandon, will break whatever bonds of secrecy they signed and come forth to tell the truth," Mrs. Kelly said.
In Ottawa, a group of Canadian veterans who said they were exposed to radiation during Nevada atomic tests in the 1960s lobbied members of Parliament on Monday for an investigation into their medical problems.

Mother who cut out her daughter's heart set free

WICHITA FALLS, Texas (AP) — Patricia Ann Frazier is no longer considered dangerous and has been released from a mental hospital, two years after she cut out the heart of her 4-year-old daughter to rid the girl of demons, a judge said.
Ms. Frazier was tried for murder twice, after her daughter, Khunji Wilson, was found dead in an automobile parked in front of her mother's Wichita Falls apartment on Feb. 23, 1980.
The girl was wrapped in a blanket and had a two-inch gash in her chest. Her heart was found wrapped in a washcloth on the floorboard of the car.
Ms. Frazier was first tried in June of that year, but the jury could not reach a verdict. She was retried in Denton a year later and found innocent by reason of insanity, then committed to the Wichita Falls State Hospital.
Trial testimony revealed that Ms. Frazier felt mysterious voices and demons were controlling her.
Wichita County Judge Tom Baccus said Ms. Frazier was released to the custody of her mother in California Feb. 2.
"The best thing I can say is that it usually it means that the patient has improved to the point that they no longer feel she's dangerous," Baccus said.

Speaker's visa denied

COLLEGE STATION, Texas (AP) — A Polish official scheduled to present his views on Poland's labor crisis to a Texas A&M student forum was denied a visa by the State Department, a university spokeswoman said.
Longin Pastusiak, deputy director of the Research Institute on Contemporary Capitalism in Warsaw, had accepted an invitation to speak at the university Friday, said Terry Quirt, chairwoman of A&M's Student Conference on National Affairs.
But school officials learned Tuesday that U.S. authorities had denied Pastusiak a visa, although Polish officials had approved the visit.
"We were just a bit surprised," she said. "We were afraid his own government wouldn't let him out and it was our government that threw a hammer in the works."
She said she contacted a State Department spokesman and was told Pastusiak's visa had been denied "for reasons of reciprocity."

Stallings seeking HC trustee position

Local insurance man Louis E. Stallings, 50, has announced he will run as incumbent for a seat on the Board of Trustees on the Howard County Junior College District.
Stallings, partner in the Patterson Insurance Agency in Big Spring, is a graduate of Stanton High School, and a native of Howard County. His father was a trustee on the first Board at Howard College.
After graduating from high school, he attended McMurry College in Abilene for one year and then transferred to Howard College and graduated in 1950. He was the first president of the HC Ex-Students Association. He then transferred to North Texas State University in Denton and graduated in 1962 and was awarded a Bachelor of Business Administration degree.
Upon graduation from NTSU, he served two years in the Army and was stationed at Fort Bliss in the personnel department.
He came back to Big Spring in 1964 and entered the insurance business and with the exception of ten years has remained in Big Spring.
He is active in the Chamber of Commerce and is currently serving on the Industrial Committee working to attract new industry to Big Spring. He is a member of the Big Spring Independent Insurance Agents and Big Spring Life Underwriters. He also belongs to the Permian Basin Chapter of Certified Life Underwriters and has ...incumbent announces attended many advanced Estate Planning seminars at various times and at different parts of the country, including the Insurance Marketing Institute at Louisiana State University.

Stallings is a member of the First Baptist Church. He is married to the former LuAnn Creighton. She is also a native of Howard County. They have four children: Dian Griffin, 27, resides in Vincent; Kyle, 25, resides in Midland; Layne Froman, 22, resides in Big Spring; and Todd, 20, a sophomore at Texas Tech.
Stallings states his reasons for running for the HCJCD Board of Trustees as: "From a long time back, I have been very interested in HC. I think it is a great asset not only to the immediate area but to the vast area of West Texas. I think it is a real credit to Big Spring and Howard County. Ever since my Dad served as a trustee and being a student here myself, I have had a strong interest in Howard College. I want to do something personally to help continue the progress it has made."

Mortgage payments take bigger bite of family income in 1981

Record high mortgage interest rates and housing costs meant that those buying a home for the first time in 1981 needed to spend almost $4 of every $10 earned to meet their monthly mortgage payments.

This is reported by the Family Housing Bureau, a public information service of Chicago Title Insurance Co. that has studied home buying trends over the past six years.

Based on an annual survey conducted in 11 representative markets nationwide, the Family Housing Bureau found that the average monthly mortgage payment as a percentage of income rose to 38.4 percent for first-time home buyers in 1981, up from 35.6 percent the previous year.

Repeat or second-time home buyers also spent a greater percentage of their monthly income on mortgage payments in 1981, with the percentage rising to 33.4 percent from 30.3 percent in 1980.

In 1976 first-time buyers spent only 23 percent of their monthly income on housing while repeat buyers spent 24.9 percent. Since then, the percentage has risen steadily each year as housing costs have soared and mortgage rates have hit record highs.

Between 1976 and 1981, the average monthly mortgage payment, which includes principal, interest, taxes and insurance, rose to $694 from $329, a gain of 110 percent. Average monthly mortgage payments for first-time buyers rose to $665 from $313 during the same period, while the average payment for repeat buyers went to $725 from $342.

The survey revealed that home prices continued to rise faster than median household income in 1981. The median price of a home purchased in 1981 was $78,200, up 13.8 percent from $68,714 in 1980. But median household income rose only 8.2 percent, from $29,670 in 1980 to $32,130 in 1981.

Since 1976 the median price of a home purchased has risen from $43,340, a gain of 80.4 percent. During this same period median household income has risen 54.1 percent, from $20,840 to $32,130.

However, the study showed that the median cost of a home purchased by first-time buyers slowed appreciably in 1981, rising to $63,180 from $61,450 in 1980, a gain of only 2.8 percent. In 1980, the median price of a home purchased by first-time buyers was up 20.9 percent from $50,800 in 1979.

The rate of increase also slowed for repeat or second-time home buyers in 1981. The median price of a home purchased rose to $82,220 from $75,750 in 1980, an 8.5 percent gain. This compares to an increase of 17.2 percent between 1979 and 1980 when the median price rose from $64,600 to $75,750.

Median household income for first-time buyers rose to $30,470 in 1981 from $27,430 in 1980, an 11 percent increase. For repeat buyers median household income rose to $33,490 from $31,820 in 1980, a gain of 5.2 percent. The Family Housing Bureau survey is part of Chicago Title's continuing program to foster interest in home ownership. The company issues real estate title insurance, which insures the existence or non-existence of rights to property for lenders and home owners. The insurance pays the policy holder for any losses if the title insurer is found to be wrong in its determination.

Trailways ceiling fare now $99

DALLAS — "Effective Feb. 5, 1982, no Trailways, Inc. fare will be higher than $99," announced Robert Buschner, Vice President of Passenger Sales for the industry giant. "Fares that were between $79 and $150, will now be $79, and all fares that were over $150 will now be $99. That's 25 percent cheaper than Greyhound's ceiling fare of $133.40."

The new cross-country price cut announced by Trailways comes on the heels of their earlier announcement to "Meet or Beat" any other transportation company's fares. Thus far, Greyhound, Trailways' major competitor, has not responded to the Trailways declaration of war on high transportation prices.

"Greyhound has simply chosen to ignore the fact that there is a price war going on in the travel industry," commented Buschner. "Their fares have remained the same with the exception of a few seasonal, restricted offers."

"Our new 'Meet or Beat' policy has no restrictions for regular, non-casino services on any Trailways, Inc. and participating National Trailways Bus System (NTBS) routes."

"It's simply a guarantee to the public that they will not find any fare, anywhere, lower than Trailways. This latest price cut is just one of many we are making to keep that promise to the public," added Buschner.

In essence, the new fare means that no one traveling exclusively with Trailways will pay a fare greater than $99. The new $79 and $99 fares are good for one-way travel from any point Trailways serves to any other Trailways destination.

"For instance, if you were traveling from New York to Salt Lake City, for the same $99 fare you could go on to San Francisco, Seattle or Los Angeles," said Buschner. "For those traveling on a budget, it's a phenomenal deal."

The discounted tickets are good for up to 14 days on one-way trips and up to 28 days on round-trips. The round-trip fares are double the one-way fares.

"We've vowed to the public that we would cut our prices and guaranteed to them that they would not find a lower fare with any other transportation company. That's what we've done. As far as the ground transportation price war is concerned, maybe Greyhound is right when they say there is no war, because they aren't even competing," stated Buschner.

For more information on Trailways new "Meet or Beat" fares, contact your local Trailways terminal or travel agent.

Flare Inc. reports record earnings

MIDLAND, Texas (AP) — Flare Inc. reported record earnings and revenues for the second quarter and attributed the increases to continued growth of the company's sales of seismic data to oil industry customers.

For the quarter ending Dec. 31, earnings were $623,857, or 12 cents per share, compared with $237,767, or four cents per share, a year earlier, the company said Monday. Revenues were $2.4 million, compared with $779,551 for the last three months of 1980.

Bush returns home to defend New Federalism

HOUSTON (AP) — Vice President George Bush returned to Texas to defend the president's New Federalism program against the "great liberal soothsayers and chatterboxes" who are still promoting the "bankrupt ideas of the past."

Bush spoke to the National Cotton Council convention Tuesday in Dallas and then flew to Houston, where he addressed 10,000 Republicans who had contributed at least $25 to the party.

Bush told the gathering he said he found it amusing opponents to President Reagan's proposal had pronounced the program a failure before it had ever started.

The vice president criticized former Vice President Walter Mondale's recent assessment that the tax reduction approved by Congress would benefit only 6 percent of the American people.

"Where did he get the 6 percent figure?" Bush asked. "Maybe he was thinking of the prime interest rate, which was 6 percent, when he took office and was 21 percent when he left."

Bush blasted what he called the "great liberal soothsayers and chatterboxes" for "harping over the same old bankrupt ideas of the past."

Most Americans support the turnover of power to the states, Bush told the 1,500 delegates at the Dallas convention. Outside Washington and its special interest groups, he said, "you don't have to sell (the program) very hard."

Bush admitted, however, that the administration faces a "massive public relations job" in reducing the regulatory functions of offices such as the Environmental Protection Agency.

He also acknowledged that the federal government is spending more money — $88 million an hour compared with $74 million hourly a year ago.

Saying the Reagan administration must rebound from years of "spendthrift" government, Bush urged delegates to "give the president's programs time to work."

The vice president also told them not to "believe everything you hear," saying he is tired of those who advocate the same solution — taxes — to justify government spending.

"If we haven't learned anything from history, then we're going to have to relive it," he said.

Bush told the cotton producers in Dallas the administration is seeking new markets for their bumper crop and he asked for their patience and participation in an acreage reduction program.

"The answer lies in expanding markets abroad," said Bush.

The Agriculture Department has asked cotton producers to reduce their crops by 15 percent to be eligible for loans and deficiency payments. But an NCC producer survey in January — before the USDA program was announced — showed farmers planned to reduce their crops by 18 percent from last year.

It's sell out time in D.C., Gramm says

By BILL GARLAND
States News Service
WASHINGTON — Rep. Phil Gramm, D-College Station, who helped carry the banner for President Reagan last year, said this week he has some creative ideas for handling the administration's 1983 spending proposals that went to Capitol Hill Monday.

With the federal deficit expected to rise next year to $91.5 billion, Gramm says it's time for Washington to sell out, sort of.

He said the federal government owns some of the best of the country's real estate, worth uncalculated billions of dollars, and that the sale of small portions of it would prop up the budget that seems always to fall into a deep ditch of spending.

"I want to put this new found fiscal conservatism to a test," said Gramm.

He noted the country has $141 billion worth of gold, in addition to the real estate which includes choice property on Hawaiian beaches that he said stimulates the spiciest dreams of developers.

A federal "presidio" is "on some of the most valuable land in California," he said.

Although he said that neither Reagan nor Budget Director David Stockman had reviewed the proposal, he would consider seriously offering it as part of his plan to cut into the seemingly untamable deficit.

Gramm will attempt to gain support for his proposals with fellow members of the Conservative Democratic Forum, known as "Boll Weevils," 47 southern conservative congressmen considered crucial to Reagan's budget plans.

If he goes through with the proposal, he will offer a list of other federal assets that he said could be liquidated for the better solvency of the government.

Cotton pricing seminar set for Feb. 25

A cotton pricing strategies seminar will be held Feb. 25 at the Dora Roberts Fair building with registration beginning at 6:30 p.m. The seminar is sponsored by the Howard County Farm Bureau in conjunction with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Speakers for the event are expected to be Dr. Gary Condra, area economist with TAES from Fort Stockton, and Michael W. Woods, a commodity specialist with Stotler & Company in Lubbock.

The seminar will focus on alternatives to be used in marketing producers' cotton with discussions on cash sales, cotton loans, contracting and futures hedging.

The public is invited to attend. Interested parties should RSVP by Feb. 23 by calling 267-7466 or 353-4419.

Governors unhappy with Reagan's budget

WASHINGTON (AP) — Governors throughout the nation are expressing concern over the depth of domestic program cuts in President Reagan's budget and calling for cuts in his defense spending proposals.

"I don't believe even the Defense Department deserves a carte-blanche budget," said Gov. Scott Matheson of Utah, in response to an Associated Press survey.

The Utah Democrat said that while he supports a strong national defense, "in a recessionary time each budget must stand up to scrutiny to determine what can be saved."

Reagan's proposal to increase the Pentagon budget by 18 percent to a total of $221.1 billion for the 1983 fiscal year beginning Oct. 1, drew opposition from Republicans and Democrats alike.

Republican Gov. Bob List of Nevada, a strong supporter of increased defense spending, said nonetheless that "I have to believe that some of the defense money can be pared down."

More than 30 of the 50 state governors were contacted, but several declined specific comment until they could analyze the proposed $75.6 billion budget.

Those who did comment expressed concern that the latest cuts in domestic programs would shift intolerable burdens to the states. They also indicated continuing skepticism about the workability of Reagan's new federalism plan to transfer some 40 federal programs to the states.

Gov. Ted Schwinden of Montana, a Democrat, said that while, in theory, the new federalism should offer his state "a potential to tailor government programs to fit Montana needs...it is increasingly apparent that Washington is much more anxious to transfer program responsibilities than to provide funding."

Another Democrat, Gov. James B. Hunt of North Carolina, said he would ask his fellow governors when they hold their annual winter meeting in Washington beginning Feb. 21, to consider alternatives to the new federalism.

"I think we'll come up with some grand swap idea," said Hunt. "But it will not be the president's plan."

Even Gov. James A. Rhodes of Ohio, a Republican and a strong supporter of Reagan's economic policies, said he has a "wait and see" attitude on the new federalism, which he doubts will pass Congress.

Rhodes also broke with Reagan's refusal to consider tax increases to reduce budget deficits.

"He must start eliminating large deficits," said Rhodes. Reagan must trim an additional $100 billion or raise that much in revenue, said the Ohio governor, adding that since he doesn't think more cuts are possible "it will have to be taxes."

Republican Gov. John Spellman of Washington said he cannot support the latest proposed cuts in education and social service programs.

"While I agree with the president's general direction, the impacts of the proposed federal budget on education, social services and other state programs compound the earlier cuts in federal spending that the states are still attempting to absorb."

"These cuts would fall heavily on many of the nation's needy citizens and would shift unacceptable burdens to state and local governments already struggling with the recession and deep 1982 federal aid reductions," said Gov. Richard Snelling of Vermont.

Police await dental records of slain priest

LAREDO, Texas (AP) — It may be several days before authorities receive the dental records needed to determine positively whether a decomposed body found in Mexico with a bullet in the head is that of a missing priest from Texas, police say.

After viewing the body and personal effects, friends and relatives were unable to say Monday whether it was that of the Rev. Simon Thomas Flores, who was reported missing in Laredo a month ago, said Dr. Francisco Gonzalez, a Laredo pathologist.

The body was examined by Gonzalez after it was found by farmers Saturday at a tenant farm near the border city of Nuevo Laredo, Mexico. The body was covered with brush and had a piece of barbed wire tied around the waist, he said.

Because the body had partly decomposed, Gonzalez said he could not determine whether a bullet found in the skull was the cause of death.

"The body was partially decomposed and partly eaten by animals," Gonzalez said, adding that physical traits matched those of Flores. "The height, the color of the hair, the appearance of the face... as far as I can say, it corresponds to the priest."

Laredo police will compare dental records being shipped from New Jersey, according to Lt. Immanuel Flores, 44, a priest at Christ the King Church in Corpus Christi, who was in Laredo for conferences at San Francisco Xavier Church, where he left his car and personal belongings. The Victoria native had been seen last on the afternoon of Jan. 8 by the Rev. Vladimir Manente. He said Flores told him he was going to walk in downtown Laredo, but did not plan to cross the border.

Police said they are puzzled about a hotel room key found on the body. Officials of the hotel, in Nuevo Laredo, said that the room was registered to a Mexico City family around the time Flores disappeared. Flores' disappearance marked the second time in two months that a Roman Catholic priest was reported missing in Texas.

The Rev. Patrick Ryan, 41, was reported missing Christmas Day after failing to show up for Mass at his church in the West Texas town of Denver City. Odessa police later confirmed that a body found Dec. 22 in a motel room was that of Ryan, who had been beaten to death. No arrests have been made in that case.

Hard times ground new air terminal

HOUSTON (AP) — High interest rates and rough financial times for major airlines have forced city officials to ground plans for a $250 million new terminal at Houston's Intercontinental Airport, officials said.

But Mayor Kathy Whitmire vowed Monday to pursue a scaled-down version of the huge project which was to serve international traffic with 26 gates designed for wide-bodied aircraft.

"We still do plan to proceed with the construction of Terminal D," she said. "It's just at this time, in this financial market, it has not turned out to be feasible."

The full project is expected to be officially scuttled Wednesday when the City council considers a recommendation from Aviation Department Director Bill Brackley to reject all construction bids for the primary structure in the proposed complex.

Mrs. Whitmire said talks have begun on the feasibility of a scaled-down fourth terminal.

Dear Abby

Ads make reader see red

DEAR ABBY: I just can't stand to see another TV commercial showing a lot of fannies wiggling around in jeans so tight there is no way a person could sit down in them! This goes for men as well as women.

That bra commercial in which a man measures a curvy blonde's dimensions was bad enough, but a new low in vulgarity was reached when some swivel-hipped gal bragged that the underwear she was wearing under her clothes made her look like she wasn't wearing nuthin'! Disgraceful!

Please tell me where to write to complain about such tasteless commercials. If enough people object, maybe they will take them off the air.

DISGUSTED IN TULARE, CALIF.

DEAR DISGUSTED: Write to: Action Line, Direct Mail Marketing Association, 6 East 43rd St., New York, N.Y. 10017. Also send a copy to the president of the company that manufactures the product. If enough complaints are received, the advertising agency that's responsible for the commercial will be told to shape up or ship out.

DEAR ABBY: I did the most terrible thing a mother-in-law could do. I told my daughter-in-law right in front of my son that it didn't look good for her to let their best friend (I'll call him Joe) in the house while my son was at work. I live next door and this has bothered me for two years, and I finally said it to her face to ease the pain of keeping my mouth shut for so long. My daughter-in-law's reputation wasn't very good before she married my son, if you get my drift.

Well, she got mad at me and told me if that's what I thought about her I was no longer welcome in her house. It's my son's house, too, but he sat right there and didn't say a word. Yesterday I called my son and asked him to bring their baby to my house so I could see him. I told him I was sorry about what I said to his wife, and he said that was something I would have to straighten out with her.

Abby, how do you reckon I should go about making up with my daughter-in-law?

FEELING BAD

DEAR FEELING: For openers, you could apologize to her.

DEAR ABBY: I'm thinking seriously about seeking psychological or psychiatric help, but I'm worried about how it might look on my record for applying for a job. I'm 20, and if I did get professional help and was later asked if I'd ever been under the care of a psychologist or psychiatrist, I would answer truthfully, but I don't want to risk losing a job because of it.

I guess I really owe it to myself to get professional help, but I don't want to have to choose eventually between being honest and getting a job. I'd appreciate your comments. Sign me...

STUMPED

DEAR STUMPED: If you need professional help, it would be a serious error to avoid getting it for the reason you have mentioned. Millions of people are receiving, or have received, psychotherapy. Many of them occupy positions of great responsibility — lawyers, judges, doctors, government officials, corporation executives, etc.

Your ability to get a job in the future will depend much more on your record and on how you present yourself than it will on that single question, even if it were asked. If it is asked, answer it honestly, adding that you have benefited from it. (You will be respected all the more for it.) You are under no obligation to go into detail about why you sought help.

Getting married? Whether you want a formal church wedding or a simple, "do-your-own-thing" ceremony, get Abby's new booklet. Send $1 plus a long, self-addressed, stamped (37 cents) envelope to: Abby, Wedding Booklet, P.O. Box 28923, Hollywood, Calif. 90032.

Dr. Donohue

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: My sister has Crohn's disease, which you did discuss in a previous column. Sometimes, she runs a fever as high as 102 degrees, but she will not take anything for it. My question is, is there any danger in running a temperature up to 102 without taking anything to bring it down? What would you recommend — leaving the fever alone or taking something for it? Thank you. — K.J.P.

The cardinal rule in treatment of fever is to attack the cause, for it is only a sign of an illness. In your sister's case, that means bringing her Crohn's disease (inflammation of a certain part of the small intestine) under control.

Let me discuss fever in a general way. Does fever harm? Young adults are able to tolerate rather high temperatures, 104 for example, without any trouble. There is no evidence that such temperatures by themselves are harmful. However, in the very young, high temperatures can bring on seizures, so for them it is important to lower the temperature. In the elderly, high temperatures increase the metabolic rate, and hence may cause the heart to beat faster. That can strain an organ that is not quite as strong as it was when the person was younger. For that reason, temperatures should be lowered in the elderly who have heart disease.

Another question asked is whether elevated temperatures actually can be beneficial. Is it harmful to lower them? If the body went to all that trouble to raise a body temperature did it have a good reason to do so? Is an elevated temperature one way the body fights infection?

We cannot answer these questions.

The real point of all this is to focus on what is causing the fever. For if you eliminate that, you bring temperature back to normal. The second point is that most temperatures are well tolerated except by the very young and the old. And the third point, which I should certainly not ignore, is the need to keep a feverish person well hydrated. He can lose too much water from increased body temperature and increased metabolic rate. In many cases, temperatures can be an indicator of the progress of an illness or even of the effectiveness of a medicine to fight an illness.

Your sister should certainly report her fever history to the doctor treating her problem. While I can't answer your question about your sister specifically, these are some important things to think about.

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: I have a young grandson, 9 years old, and I was shocked recently when a neighbor mentioned that he would develop kidney stones and leukemia from drinking too much milk. Is that true? He likes his glass of milk when he comes home from school. He is very precious to me and is quite an athlete. I never miss your column. I have found much help and advice from your answers. — L.H.G.

I don't wish to be rude, but I must observe that your neighbor's store of misinformation is amazing. Milk does not cause leukemia. Did you really believe that? Nor will milk cause kidney stones in a healthy child. Tell the boy to have a glass on me. Make it two.

District governor to attend meeting

Mrs. Geraldine R. Eidsen, District 9 governor of Altrusa International, will be featured at the Thursday meeting of the local Altrusa Club.

The meeting will take place at 7:30 p.m. in the Patio Room of the Holiday Inn. A board meeting at 8:30 p.m. will precede the regular meeting.

Mrs. Eidsen, Fort Worth, is vice president and loan officer of Ridgela Bank in Fort Worth. She is a member of many civic and professional organizations and has held the office of District governor for one year.

The public is invited to attend the 7:30 p.m. meeting.

NARFE to meet Thursday

Ray Green of Texas State Highway Dept., will present a slide show at the Thursday meeting of the National Association of Retired Federal Employees. The meeting will begin at 9:30 a.m. at Kentwood Older Adult Activity Center. Refreshments will be served prior to the meeting. Green's presentation will be on "The Missions of Texas" or "The Scenic Beauty Along Texas Highways."

All retired federal employees and interested retired citizens are invited to attend.

Older Americans healthier, wealthier

WASHINGTON, D.C. — Older Americans are earning more and feeling better than ever before, according to a new study by the American Council of Life Insurance.

"The changing age structure of the population is one of the most important demographic trends that will shape society in the next five decades," said Barbara Price, Council researcher. "The increase in the number of older persons over the next 50 years will have unprecedented effects on American society."

According to the study entitled DataTrack 9: "Older Americans:"

• The elderly population grew twice as fast as the rest of the U.S. population in the past 20 years. The growth rate is expected to slow over the next few decades and then accelerate after 2010 as members of the "baby boom" generation reach age 65. By 2030, as many of 1 in 5 Americans could be over age 65, giving the older population a sizable voting bloc and creating a great impact on the nation's retirement system.

• Stereotypes to the contrary, in general older Americans report they are healthy. In 1980, about 6 in 10 persons described their health as "good" or "excellent."

• Another stereotype — that of financial insecurity — may also be changing. Between 1950 and 1980, the median income of older men and women rose at a greater pace than the incomes of men and women in the general population. While Social Security is the most frequently tapped source of income, it provides considerably less than most other sources. Despite these encouraging figures, however, 1 of every 6 older Americans falls below the Social Security poverty index.

• Older people are less likely to be in the labor force than in the past but those who do work are more likely to have part-time jobs, and in 2030, the ratio of older people to working-age people will be over twice as great as it was in 1950.

DataTrack 9: "Older Americans" is one of a series of demographic studies conducted by the Council.

Valentine banquet is planned

Sex education guidance for children was the topic of discussion at the first 1982 meeting of Coahoma Alpha Tau Rho Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi. The meeting took place in the home of Tommie Perez.

The group's next meeting took place Jan. 18 at Alberto's Restaurant. Jan Nichols was hostess. Helen Vaughn, owner of Helen's Shoe Stop, allowed members to visit the store following the dinner. The new line of spring shoes were displayed.

The Feb. 9 meeting took place in the home of Judy West. Mrs. Joyce Baggett, kindergarten teacher with Forsan School District, was guest speaker.

Mrs. Baggett stressed the importance of helping the small child develop certain skills before first grade. Members were given handouts outlining ways to help children develop.

Cynthia Anderson and Judy West have begun pledge training.

The group discussed plans for a Valentine banquet to be held Saturday at Alberto's Restaurant.

Agnew fights civil penalty

ANNAPOLIS, Md. (AP) — A ruling that ordered Spiro T. Agnew to pay $248,735 for kickbacks he allegedly accepted while governing Maryland was based on self-serving, untrustworthy statements, his attorney told the Court of Special Appeals.

Thomas R. Harrison, lawyer for the former vice president, said Monday that the statements from four of Agnew's associates should not have been admitted in the civil suit heard last April in Anne Arundel County Circuit Court.

Diana Motz, an assistant attorney general, told the judges they should uphold the ruling and send a message to both public officials and citizens that elected officials are answerable to the people.

Judge Bruce C. Williams ruled in the civil suit last April 24 that Agnew accepted $147,500 in kickbacks from consulting engineers. Williams ordered the former Maryland governor and vice president to pay the state the amount of the kickbacks plus $101,235 in interest.

Harrison argued Monday that the decision was based largely on statements from four associates whom he characterized as "untrustworthy on their face."

Harrison also told the court the state did not meet its obligation to show that Maryland taxpayers suffered financial damages because of Agnew's actions when he was governor in 1967 and 1968.

Agnew did not testify or attend any of the court sessions in the civil trial and did not attend the appeals court hearing Monday.

The civil suit, filed by a group of private citizens, grew out of the federal investigation that led to Agnew's resignation in 1973 as Richard Nixon's vice president. Agnew entered a plea of no contest to one count of federal income tax evasion.

Cherryhomes tip-in peachy for Lee

Rebels stun Steers at the buzzer, 61-60

By GREG JAKLEWICZ
Sports Editor

Midland Lee's Steve Cherryhomes really wanted to give himself a pat on the back. If a fellow by the name of Steve Cherryhomes hadn't missed the tying free shot with five seconds to play, Steve Cherryhomes might not have had a chance to win the game with a shot at the buzzer.

Andre Van Buren tossed up an off-target desperation shot with three seconds in the game but Cherryhomes was on the other side of the basket to tip-in his miss and vault the Rebels to a thrilling 61-60 victory over the Big Spring Steers Tuesday night.

The last-gasp victory kept Lee alive in the second half race with a 2-2 record while the Steers were knocked out of contention with their third loss. Lee tied Abilene High and cross-town rival Midland High for the first half District 5-AAAAA championship.

Overall Big Spring is 11-16 while the Rebels are a game away from the 20-victory plateau at 19-9.

Kevin Watson sank the first of a one-and-one opportunity with 18 seconds to play to give Big Spring a 60-58 lead. Lee brought the ball downcourt where dead-eye Alvin Dunson fired a long jumper. His shot was off but Cherryhomes were there to rebound and was fouled by Blake Rosson of the Steers with six seconds left.

Cherryhomes sank his first try to bring Lee within a point but missed his second attempt. Robert Rubio rebounded for the Steers but official Ray Hudson whistled a tie ball with Dunson.

Dunson won the jump and the ball got to Van Buren who heaved an 18-footer from the right corner. The ball bounced off the glass to where Cherryhomes was patiently waiting and the Lee senior tipped in the game-winner as the buzzer sounded.

It was a bitter defeat for the Steers who led from 6:23 left in the third quarter until Cherryhomes bucket.

"That's criminal," said Big Spring coach Ed Haller of Hudson's jumpball call. "There were 1,001 ways we could have won the game but then the official takes the ballgame away from the kids. That shouldn't be allowed."

"The thing is, we had more than ample opportunities to win. If we'd hit our free throws and blocked out under the boards... it seems these one-pointers keep following us around like they were going out of style," Haller moaned.

It was a credit to the Steers, however, they were still in the game at the end. Top scorer Jerald Wrightsil fouled out with 4:42 to play and took his 16 points, seven rebounds, five steals and 67 percent shooting accuracy to the bench.

Big Spring was up 53-49 at that moment but Olen Smith hit one of his two foul shots to make it 53-50. Rosson turned the ball over and Dunson redared in on one of his outside missiles to make it a one-point game.

Rosson scored off a fancy pass from Jinx Valenzuela to make it 55-52. The Steers would then have eight free shot attempts in the final 3:28 of play and would make just three of them.

Rosson hit a free throw with 35 seconds left to make it 56-56 but Smith rebounded a Randy Pepper miss to make it 59-58 with 24 seconds left. Rosson was fouled downcourt and hit a foul shot to give Big Spring two points of breathing room. It wasn't enough however, to withstand Cherryhomes' late heroics.

Despite a big size advantage underneath for Lee, Big Spring played tight enough defense to force the Rebels back to perimeter shots. Dunson, quiet from that area in the first half, dropped in 11 of his 15 points in the second half to spark Midland.

Lee led 12-11 after one period and the game see-sawed in the second period. The game was tied at 25 after John Green canned a long jumper for the Steers and Big Spring took a 27-25 lead on a layup by Wrightsil. Kenneth Brown put in a rebound basket with 42 seconds left to tie the game, and you guessed it, Mr. Cherryhomes dropped in a free shot with two seconds left to give the Rebels a 28-27 halftime lead.

That lead lasted 37 seconds in the second half as Tony Randle tipped in a Rosson miss to give Big Spring a lead it held until Cherryhomes tip-in.

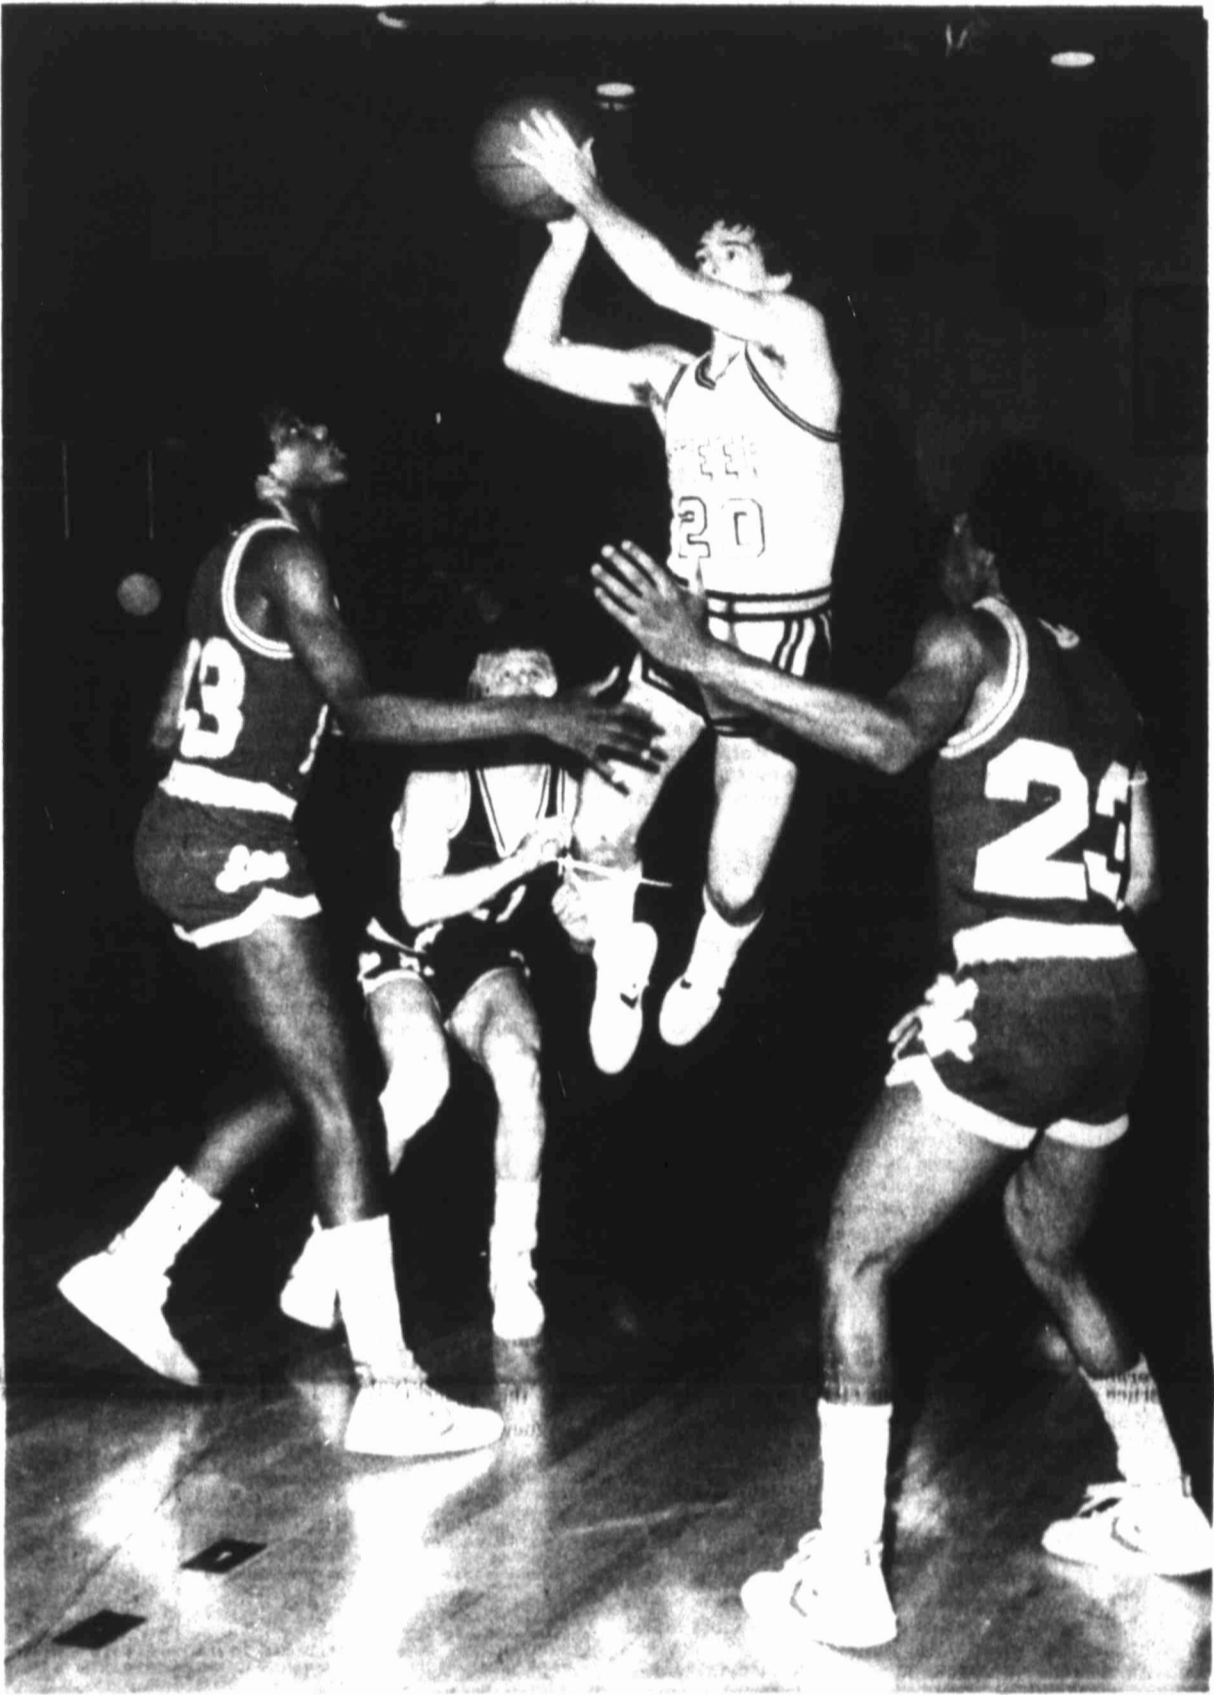

"We had ample opportunities," Haller restated. "The kids played so hard... it was just the same way Saturday down at Permian."

Van Buren finished as the game's top scorer with 17 points. Wrightsil led the Steers with 16 while Watson added 12 and Green 10. The Steers hit 26 of 55 shots for 47 percent while Lee dropped in 44 percent from the field.

Dunson had 15 and Brown 10 for Lee.

The game itself was a remarkable turnaround for the Steers from the game the two teams played in the first half. Lee won the first meeting between the teams 67-45 in Midland.

5-AAAAA Roundup

Bobcats keep rolling

San Angelo Central did it again Tuesday night.

The Bobcats overcame a 58-57 Midland High lead in the final two minutes of play to top the Bulldogs 67-62 in a key District 5-AAAAA game.

The win keeps San Angelo undefeated in second half play at 4-0 while Midland, a first half tri-champ, is out of the race with a 1-3 second half performance. In other games, Permian held off Cooper 42-40 in Odessa, Abilene crushed Odessa 88-62 and Midland Lee tipped Big Spring 61-60.

Here's how they went around the league Tuesday night.

San Angelo 67, Midland 62
MIDLAND — Midland led 55-50 but the Bobcats scored five points in 10 seconds to tie the game at 55 and then went on to win from the foul line.

A rebound foul allowed Hercules Miller to sink two foul shots to tie the game and San Angelo went ahead for good after Jim Gunnels had given the Bulldogs a 58-57 lead on a free shot.

Lorand White had 21 points, Tal Jackson 13 and Miller 12 for San Angelo. Preston Robertson had 20 for Midland, now 1-3 in the second half.

SAN ANGELO (67) — Tal Jackson 4-5-13; Hercules Miller 5-12; Lorand White 8-5-31; Jack Carsner 3-3-9; Jeff Kasner 4-1-9; Aujie Alcalá 0-1-1; Henry Green 1-0-2; Totals 25-17-47.

MIDLAND (62) — Raymond Parker 1-0-2; Barr Bolger 1-2-4; Don Sharnowski 3-4-10; Preston Robertson 9-2-20; Jim Gunnels 8-4-20; Doug Hixson 2-2-4; Totals 24-14-62.

Halftime Score — Midland 31, San Angelo 31.

Permian 42, Cooper 40

ODESSA — Permian won its second heartstopper in four days with its win over the Cougars.

Tim Nash completed a three-point play with 1:55 to go to cut Permian's lead to 39-38. Nash scored again with five seconds to play to cut the final score to 42-40.

The Panthers led 12-4 early but Cooper surged back to make it a close game to the end.

Scot Yungblut topped Cooper with 10 points while big Mike Woolley had 22 for Mojo.

COOPER (41) — Kyle Coody 2-0-4; James Mantooth 3-1-7; Greg Duskas 3-0-4; Greg Mandenall 2-3-7; Scot Yungblut 5-0-10; Tim Nash 2-2-4. Totals 17-4-40.

PERMIAN (42) — Billy Brown 2-2-4; Jeff Adams 4-1-9; John Taylor 0-2-2; Terry Anderson 1-1-3; Mike Woolley 10-2-22; Totals 17-8-42.

Halftime Score Permian 19, Cooper 17.

Abilene 80, Odessa 62

ABILENE — The Eagles took off on a 25-7 start via their quick transition game and repeated the same act in the fourth quarter to fight off the determined Bronchos.

Odessa closed within nine in the second quarter but didn't threaten again until David Olivas hit a jumper to make it 56-49 with 6:50 to go. Abilene then sped off on a 12-2 tear as Brett Enzor scored six points to pull into a 68-51 lead.

Shannon Daniel led the Eagles with 19 points while Enzor added 18 and John Chalk 10. Tommy Stahl topped all scorers with 25 points for Odessa.

ABILENE (80) — Eric Jordan 4-0-8; Neal Coates 0-2-2; Mike Simmons 1-0-2; Brett Enzor 8-2-18; Shannon Daniel 8-3-19; Lee Hines 3-0-4; Paul Mangum 1-0-2; Kyle Elliot 2-0-4; John Chalk 5-0-10; Tim Robinson 4-1-9; Totals 36-8-80.

Jayhawks scare Tigers

By The Associated Press

For more than eight minutes in Kansas, Missouri couldn't do anything with the basketball. But for more than 17 minutes in New York, Cain was able to do anything he wanted with it. Manhattan's Tim Cain, the "confidence man," that is.

Missouri, countering Kansas' zone defense with a slowdown game, didn't score a point in the final 8½ minutes Tuesday night. But the fourth-ranked Tigers' defense allowed just three points in that stretch, swiping the ball in the closing seconds to preserve a 42-41 victory over the Jayhawks. It was the only game involving a ranked team.

Cain, a 6-foot-7 freshman forward, scored Manhattan College's first 19 points in the second half as the Jaspers, trailing 23-20 at the intermission, ran away from Princeton 52-39.

Missouri's Ricky Frazier, recovering from the flu on his 24th birthday, scored a game-high 20 points — including 10 of the Tigers' 12 in the second half.

The game's biggest play belonged to Missouri's Steve Stipanovich. As the Jayhawks looked for the potential winning shot in the waning moments, the ball was slapped away and, after a scramble, Stipanovich came up with it just seconds before the final buzzer sounded. Missouri is 20-1 overall and 9-1 in the Big Eight Conference. Kansas is 12-9 and 3-6.

Marquette, 16-7, survived St. Bonaventure's slowdown tactics, beating the Bonnies 40-35. Freshman Terry Reason's layup with 4:28 to play put the Warriors ahead to stay at 34-33, then Glenn Rivers hit two baskets to seal the victory.

Rich Fetter had a hot second half, scoring 17 of his 19 points as Penn State wiped out Duquesne's 16-point lead and defeated the Dukes 74-69. Bruce Atkins scored 23 points for the losers.

Swim teams splash by Andrews

By GREG JAKLEWICZ
Sports Editor

It was the perfect ending to the swim season before the big district meet but coach Harlan Smith would have liked to stayed drier.

Smith worked up quite a perspiration watching his 400-yard relay team outstroke Andrews in the day's final event to win the dual meet and then got a complete shower when his jubilant team tossed him headlong into the pool in a post-meet celebration.

His Steers defeated Andrews 42-40 in the afternoon's last race and the Lady Steers outpointed Andrews 42-39 to give Big Spring its first dual meet sweep of the year. And it could not have come at a better time.

Smith takes his swimmers to Midland Feb. 26-27 for the District 5-AAAAA meet. Although both teams compiled 2-4-1 dual meet records, Smith is hopeful Big Spring is peaking for the year's big meet.

"It was a good way to close out the year," Smith said. "Both teams really swam well."

All that splashing at the YMCA came down to one event in the boys division as Big Spring and Andrews entered the final relay event tied with 36 points.

The foursome of Tim Plevy, Cecil Willey, Chris Batchelor and Mike McCain stroked to a 3:54:39 clocking to edge Andrews' No. 1 team of Overman, Proctor, Yocom and Gilbert at 3:58:75.

Big Spring also won the 160-yard medley relay with Speight Grimes, Willey, McCain and Terry Bordofsky doing the swimming in 1:29:69.

Other first place winners for the boys were Batchelor in the 200-yard freestyle (2:03:99) Grimes in the 160-yard butterfly (1:54:58), Todd Loyd in the 100-yard fly (1:00:12), Grimes again in the 100-yard backstroke (1:08:99) and Loyd in the 100-yard breaststroke (1:05:70).

Andrews built up its leads in the 100-yard freestyle and 500-yard free before Big Spring rallied with first places in the final two individual events by Grimes and Loyd before the relay.

Andrews led the Lady Steers 30-29 after the 500-yard free but a victory by Tonda Batchelor in the 100-yard backstroke and third by Carol Davey put Big Spring back on top.

A first place finish in the 400-yard relay insured the dual meet win for Big Spring. Swimming on that foursome were Rita Fleckenstein, Paula Willadsen, Batchelor and Hartley Newell in 4:31:70.

The Lady Steers also won the day's first relay, the 160-yard medley, in 1:46:30 with Fleckenstein, Newell, Willadsen and Batchelor handling the strokes.

Big Spring didn't get another first until Fleckenstein won the 80-yard free in 34.99. Willadsen got a first in the 100-yard free in 1:04:80 to keep Big Spring close until Batchelor's victory in the 100-yard backstroke put the Lady Steers back on top.

FORWARD SWIM — Big Spring Steer swimmer Speight Grimes splashes his way to a first place finish in the 160-yard butterfly. His time was 1:54:58 to give Big Spring crucial points in Tuesday's dual meet with Andrews. The Steers won the boys portion of the meet 42-40 and the girls edged Andrews 42-39.

Two Steers sign football letters

ASU FOOTBALL SIGNEE — Big Spring halfback Richard Evans signed a national football letter-of-intent with Angelo State University Wednesday morning. The proud parents are Richard and Gwen Evans and aiding in festivities is head football coach Ralph Harris, standing. Evans was a two-way starter for the Steers, a fixture in the Big Spring backfield for three years. An injury hampered his senior season after the 5-11, 160-pounder finished as District 5-AAAA's 10th best rusher his junior year. "He's a really tough kid with a lot of polish and poise," said Harris. The Rams will look at Evans in the backfield, receiver and defensive secondary where he led the Steers in interceptions.

UTEP FOOTBALL RECRUIT — Standout Big Spring athlete Bobby Earl Williams inked a national letter-of-intent with the University of Texas at El Paso Wednesday morning. His mother, Dorothy Sue Williams, watches out for her son's interest with coach Ralph Harris. Williams was the top rusher in 5-AAAAA his junior year and gained all-district status. A knee injury knocked him out for the season in the district opener his senior year. He had already piled up nearly 500 yards and rushed seven yards a carry. He has fully recovered from his injury says Harris and he expects Williams to be a top collegiate performer in the next four years.

Coahoma clobbers Crane

CRANE — A big second half carried the Coahoma Bulldogettes to the District 6-AAA championship Tuesday night.

The Bulldogettes outscored Crane 35-16 in the final two quarters to take a 61-35 victory and clinch the 6-AAA title. Coahoma, 5-0, in the second half, closes out its district schedule at Seminole Friday night.

Robbie Ritchey scored 16 points and hauled in 14 rebounds for the Bulldogettes. Robin Burchett was other Coahoma player in double figures with 11 points.

Coach Billy Gordon was pleased with the defensive effort of Kari Robinson and the ballhandling of Cassie Aberreg against pressure applied by Crane. Coahoma is now 22-3 for the season and expects to face Canutillo in bi-district action.

Forsan tops Water Valley

WATER VALLEY — Forsan topped Water Valley in a non-district basketball doubleheader Tuesday night.

The Buffalo Queens ripped Water Valley 52-27 in the girls game as Rhonda Gaskins tossed in 10 points. Forsan is now 23-4 on the season and returns to district 5-AA action Friday with a 3-1 record.

Ten players scored for coach Ronnie Taylor with Karla Creager following Gaskins with nine points.

Water Valley dropped to 14-12 with the loss.

Sands storms by Union

ACKERLY — There was a lot of scoring Tuesday night as Sands stormed past Union in both boys and girls games.

Sands held Union under 10 points in every quarter and poured in 95 points at the other end of the court in a 95-25 rout. Nine players scored in the big victory, topped by Melinda Bearden's 18-point performance.

Sylvia Franco added 17 and Penny Grantham chipped in 18.

Sands is now 24-4 for the year and has an overall 10-2 record in league play.

Ronnie Long scored 11 points and collected 16 rebounds to spark Sands to a 85-59 win in the boys game. Chris Wigington led all scorers with 26 points for Sands, now 19-8 and 8-3 in district play.

SWC deals made Wednesday

Teaff looks for blue chips

By The Associated Press
Baylor football coach Grant Teaff, a born-again Christian who teaches at a church-affiliated school, doesn't figure to know much about poker. But Teaff hopes to have a good-sized stack of blue chips at his disposal before today is over.

These blue-chips, however, have nothing to do with cards — they are high school seniors generally considered the best football players in the state. And today is national signing day, when those players are allowed to commit themselves to a college beginning at 8 a.m.

Teaff may not sign large numbers of blue-chippers today, but two of the state's best schoolboy quarterbacks have already said they want to play for the Bears next year.

Angleton's Tom Muecke and Cody Carlson of San Antonio Churchill both were listed on the Dallas Times Herald's Blue Chip roster, picked by the nine Southwest Conference coaches, and were ranked one-two at quarterback in the Fort Worth Star Telegram's Top 100 recruiting list.

"Our top two returning quarterbacks will be seniors," Teaff said, licking his chops at the prospect of adding a pair of quality freshmen at the crucial position.

However, Texas will probably be the first at the cashier's window when all the signings are done, particularly since premier running back Marcus Dupree of Philadelphia, Miss., apparently wants to wear a burnt-orange jersey next fall. Today also brings the first tests for the two newest SWC coaches, Jackie Sherrill of Texas A&M and Bobby Collins at Southern Methodist. They took their new positions within the past month and their recruiting opportunities were limited.

This is the first year the SWC signing day has coincided with the national signing day. In the past, recruits were subjected to two hectic signing dates.

Today's signature-collecting will be handled by assistant coaches. New legislation passed by the National Collegiate Athletic Association this year prohibits head football coaches from being on hand for the signing of a letter of intent or a financial aid statement.

Busby joins Ranger broadcasting

ARLINGTON, Texas (AP) — Former Kansas City Royals pitcher Steve Busby will join veteran professional announcer Merle Harmon on the 1982 Texas Ranger television broadcast team, club officials announced Tuesday.

Busby will provide color commentary with Harmon doing the play-by-play, said Eric Nadel, assistant director of the Texas Rangers Network.

Harmon previously had been announced as part of the Ranger broadcasting team.

Busby, 32, has been a sports broadcaster for a Kansas City television station the past two years after his pitching career was cut short by shoulder surgery. He pitched two no-hitters during his time in the major leagues, once in 1973 and again in 1974.

Rockets clip San Diego

The Los Angeles Lakers did it the easy way and the Washington Bullets took the hard approach but both teams managed to come away with National Basketball Association victories.

Michael Cooper scored nine points in the first 3 1/2 minutes as Los Angeles built a 13-0 lead and was never headed in trouncing the Atlanta Hawks 130-117 Tuesday night. Meanwhile, Jeff Ruland's five-foot jump shot with two seconds left capped Washington's rally from a 20-point deficit and gave the Bullets a 112-110 triumph over the San Antonio Spurs.

Elsewhere, the Milwaukee Bucks turned back the Indiana Pacers 108-101, the Detroit Pistons shaded the Chicago Bulls 128-123 in overtime, the Seattle SuperSonics downed the New York Knicks 114-105, the Houston Rockets defeated the San Diego Clippers 129-121 and the Utah Jazz whipped the Golden State Warriors 123-107.

The Lakers were led by Bob McAdoo, who scored a season-high 22 points, and Earvin "Magic" Johnson, who had 21. Atlanta's Rudy Macklin scored a career-high 28 to lead all scorers and Wes Mathews added a season-high 27 for the Hawks. The Lakers' biggest lead was 72-45 with 10:39 remaining.

Meanwhile, Washington rookie Frank Johnson scored nine of the Bullets' last 13 points, including a three-point field goal, to set up Ruland's game-winner. Johnson hit a layup with 59 seconds left to tie the game at 108, then made a 20-foot jumper to put the Bullets in front 110-108 with 19 seconds remaining.

At the six second mark, Dave Corzine sank two free throws to pull the Spurs back into a tie, but Ruland took the inbounds pass, drove to the center of the lane and pulled up for the winning shot.

"Moore told me, 'We know the shot is going to you but you're not going to get it,'" Johnson said. Moore was right. Jeff Ruland got the shot instead, a five-foot jumper from the middle of the lane with two seconds left. He made it and the Bullets broke a five-game losing streak with their 112-110 win, only the Spurs' fifth loss at home this season.

"Ruland moved to the ball and after he gets it, he knows what to do with it," Johnson said in evaluating his fellow rookie. "This team has a lot of confidence in each other, whether you are a rookie or a veteran."

"I want to emphasize that this was a truly remarkable comeback by our team," said Bullets coach Gene Shue. "We were totally out of the game and then all of a sudden we were back in it. We have been struggling of late and this is a very important win for us."

The Bullets were down 91-71 with two minutes left in the third quarter. They still trailed by 14, 93-79, when the fourth quarter began. But Greg Ballard, apparently recovered from a gash on his head that forced him to miss much of the first half, led the Bullets on a 12-3 scoring spree and put them back in the game.

"I got my eye cut when I took a charge underneath the basket," said Ballard, who led Washington with 24 points. "I just tried not to let it bother me in the second half and I seemed to play OK."

The Bullets outscored San Antonio 30-17 in the final period, with the Spurs managing only five field goals in that frame.

With six seconds left, San Antonio center Dave Corzine sank two free throws to tie the game at 110, but Ruland took the inbounds pass, drove to the center of the lane and pulled up for the game-winning shot.

Pistons 128, Bulls 123
John Long scored 33 points and Kelly Tripucka added 26 as Detroit defeated Chicago. Long and Tripucka teamed to score 14 of Detroit's 17 points in overtime. The victory was the 21st for Detroit, equalling the number of games the Pistons won all last season, and the Bulls' seventh straight loss.

Detroit entered the final quarter trailing 89-78, but connected on 14 of 16 shots to catch the Bulls at 107-107 with 1:12 remaining. Chicago took a 111-109 lead on a jump shot by Ricky Sobers, but Long countered with an 18-foot jumper with 13 seconds left to send the game into overtime.

SuperSonics 114, Knicks 105
Jack Sikma scored 25 points and reserve Fred Brown added 23 as Seattle won its seventh straight game. Sikma's two free throws with 1:48 to play snapped a 102-102 tie and Seattle scored nine more points to open a 113-102 lead before New York's Michael Ray Richardson sank a three-pointer with eight seconds left. Sikma pulled down 14 rebounds and also sank all 17 free throws. Seattle's Lonnie Shelton and New York's Maurice Lucas were ejected with 8:30 left after brief fistcuffs.

Bucks 108, Pacers 101
Sidney Moncrief and Marques Johnson scored 19 points apiece as Milwaukee built a 24-point lead midway through the fourth quarter and then held off a frantic Indiana rally. The Bucks took a 102-78 lead before the Pacers ran off 17 straight points. Indiana had a chance to narrow the gap to five points but Clemon Johnson missed two free throws with a minute to go. Milwaukee led 52-49 at halftime and blew out the Pacers in the third quarter, shooting 63 percent.

Jazz 123, Warriors 107
Adrian Dantley scored 35 points and Rickey Green and Carl Nicks added 19 each to spark Utah. The victory, only the 15th of the year for the Jazz, kept them out of the Midwest Division cellar, one game ahead of Dallas. The Warriors were led by Bernard King and World B. Free with 27 points each.

Rockets 129, Clippers 121

SAN DIEGO (AP) — Houston coach Del Harris says a scare from the San Diego Clippers gave the Rockets "a good lesson."

After squandering a 91-68 lead going into the fourth quarter, the Rockets held on Tuesday night for a 129-121 victory over the lowly Clippers, who stormed back with a 53-point final quarter.

Despite losing the big lead, Harris said, "I feel good about the game. This was a good lesson for the players." Harris called it a case of the players getting careless after "a near-perfect first half." The Rockets led 34-18 after the first quarter and enlarged the margin to 63-38 by halftime.

Shouldering his share of the blame, Harris added, "we played too many players. I was guilty of over-substitution." San Diego, with the second-worst record (14-34) in the National Basketball Association, roared back behind reserve forward Michael Wiley, who scored 15 of his career-high 21 points in the fourth quarter.

The Clippers trimmed the Rocket lead to 117-113 with two and a half minutes remaining, but Moses Malone took charge, scoring seven of his game-high 33 points in the last two minutes.

Malone entered the game on the hottest tear of his career, averaging 48.4 points over the previous three games. Elvin Hayes added 24, giving him a career total of 25,203 to move into fifth place past Jerry West on the NBA's all-time scoring list.

Clippers' coach Paul Silas was proud of the comeback and considered the defensive job on Malone something of a moral victory.

"I told him before the game he wasn't going to get no 40 points on us," he said, Malone scored 53 against San Diego in the last meeting between the two last week.

"We designed something to stop him," said Silas, "but I won't say what." The victory, Houston's sixth in a row, moved the Rockets into a second place tie with idle Denver in the Midwest Division.

Wiley said the Clippers "went out there and started looking for each other, helping each other out, just playing for pride." Center Jerome Whitehead had 20 for the Clippers, who earlier this week lost all-pro guard Brian Taylor for the remainder of the season with a torn achilles tendon.

Bullets 112, Spurs 110
SAN ANTONIO, Texas (AP) — After Washington rallied from 20 points down to gain a tie with the Spurs, when the game was on the line, San Antonio guard Johnny Moore knew exactly what defense was in order to keep the Bullets from winning.

Washington rookie Frank Johnson had accounted for nine of the Bullets' last 11 points Tuesday and elementary basketball strategy told Moore to keep the ball away from the man with the hot hand.

OUTREACHING MOSES — San Diego's Tom Chambers outreaches teammate Jerome Whitehead and Houston's Moses Malone during Tuesday night's game. Houston won 129-121, surviving a 53-point final quarter by the Clippers.

Bossy named game's MVP

Wales wins NHL all-star game

LANDOVER, Md (AP) — It was a National Hockey League All-Star game, so it figured to be cleanly played.

But in view of all the furor over recent dirty tricks on ice, it was perhaps fortuitous for the NHL that nice guy Mike Bossy was the Most Valuable Player as the Wales Conference defeated the Campbell Conference 4-2 Tuesday night.

Bossy, the New York Islander who'd rather score than fight, pumped in the winning and insurance tallies to give the Wales Conference its sixth triumph in the seven years of the current All-Star format. Losing coach Glen Sonmor, whose Minnesota team is pushed around frequently during the regular season, took special note of the way the game was played.

"At this tempo," Sonmor said, "we showed hockey to its best advantage. It was an excellent example of so many of the best parts of our game, instead of the nonsense."

Wayne Gretzky, the high-scoring whiz from Edmonton who had one of the Campbell goals, added something along the same line.

"You come to a game like this to have fun and you keep in the back of your mind, sportsmanship," Gretzky said. "A game like this helps hold all that other stuff back."

Only five minor penalties were called, one leading to a power play goal by Raymond Bourque of Boston, pulling the Wales into a 1-1 tie at 12:03 of the first period.

That matched a goal by Rick Vaive of Toronto, on the first shot by the Campbells, and Wales went ahead 2-1 at 13:27 on a goal by Marc Tardif of Quebec.

Gretzky's breakaway goal forged a 2-2 tie after 26 seconds of the second period, and then Bossy took charge.

TCU lands high school standouts

The Texas Christian Horned Frogs signed two schoolboy All-America football players from the same high school today as Southwest Conference schools fanned out to harvest national letters of intent.

Egypt Allen, a 6-1, 185-pound defensive back, and Gerald Taylor, a 6-3, 230-pound linebacker signed on with TCU and Coach F.A. Dry. Both are Parade Magazine All-Americans from Dallas South Oak Cliff.

The Texas Aggies, under new coach Jackie Sherrill, landed Dallas Times Herald bluechippers Todd Tschantz, an All-State placekicker from Richardson Lake Highlands, Gary Rogers, a 6-5, 225, defensive end from Dallas Roosevelt, Jeff Bolton, a wide receiver from South Garland, and Tony Slaton, an All-State wide receiver from Decatur, Georgia.

The Aggies also corralled Jared Marks of Houston Dulles, one of Texas Football Magazine's near Top 30 picks.

Southern Methodist, under new Coach Bobby Collins, signed bluechip running back Arthur Allen, a 6-foot, 185-pounder from Dallas Kimball.

The Baylor Bears signed bluechip All-State quarterback Tommy Muecke of Angleton as Coach Grant Taff's recruiters swung into action.

Steers, Bobcats split tennis matches

It was simply a matter of who could win the three-sets.

The Big Spring Lady Steers pulled out their three-set opportunities while the boys faltered in a District 5-A AAAA dual match with San Angelo Tuesday afternoon at the Figure Seven Tennis Center.

The Lady Steers defeated San Angelo 6-3, winning their crucial matches, while the Steers dropped a 6-3 decision to the Bobcats, losing three of four three-setters.

Tuesday's results leave both Big Spring teams at 3-3 in district play. Another makeup match with Permian has been set for 4:30 p.m. Thursday in Odessa. Two previous attempts have been snowed-out.

Dana Cannon and Kim Madry won at No. 1 and No. 2 singles to get the Lady Steers rolling. Cannon needed three sets to down Gwen Landess 6-4, 4-6, 6-2. She teamed with Madry to win another three-setter at No. 1 doubles with a 2-6, 7-6, 6-1, victory over Landess and Susan

Terri Miller and Loann Biddison won at No. 3 doubles to clinch the match victor for Big Spring.

Kip McLaughlin dominated Kevin Collins of San Angelo 6-1, 6-2 at No. 1 singles while Aubrey Weaver had to go three sets to defeat Tracy Manning 6-3, 4-6, 6-0.

Cavan McMahon dropped a three-setter to Stephen Enriquez 6-4, 4-6, 6-2, and saw Enriquez and Manning do it again at No. 2 doubles, 6-2, 6-7, 6-2. Paul Prudhomme and Scott Nelson lost No. 3 doubles to Steve Sanchez and Jimmy Basquez 6-3, 4-6, 6-1, in another three-set defeat.

Big Spring's other win came out No. 1 doubles where McLaughlin and Weaver topped Collins and Luis Astudillo 6-3, 6-3.

The 5-A AAAA meet is April 5-6 and Big Spring has a full slate of invitational tournaments in between to tune up.

You can help hold down winter bills.

Electricity is costing more this year because the fuels we need to make it cost more. But here's what you can do to help hold down your heating bills and save money:

No-cost suggestions

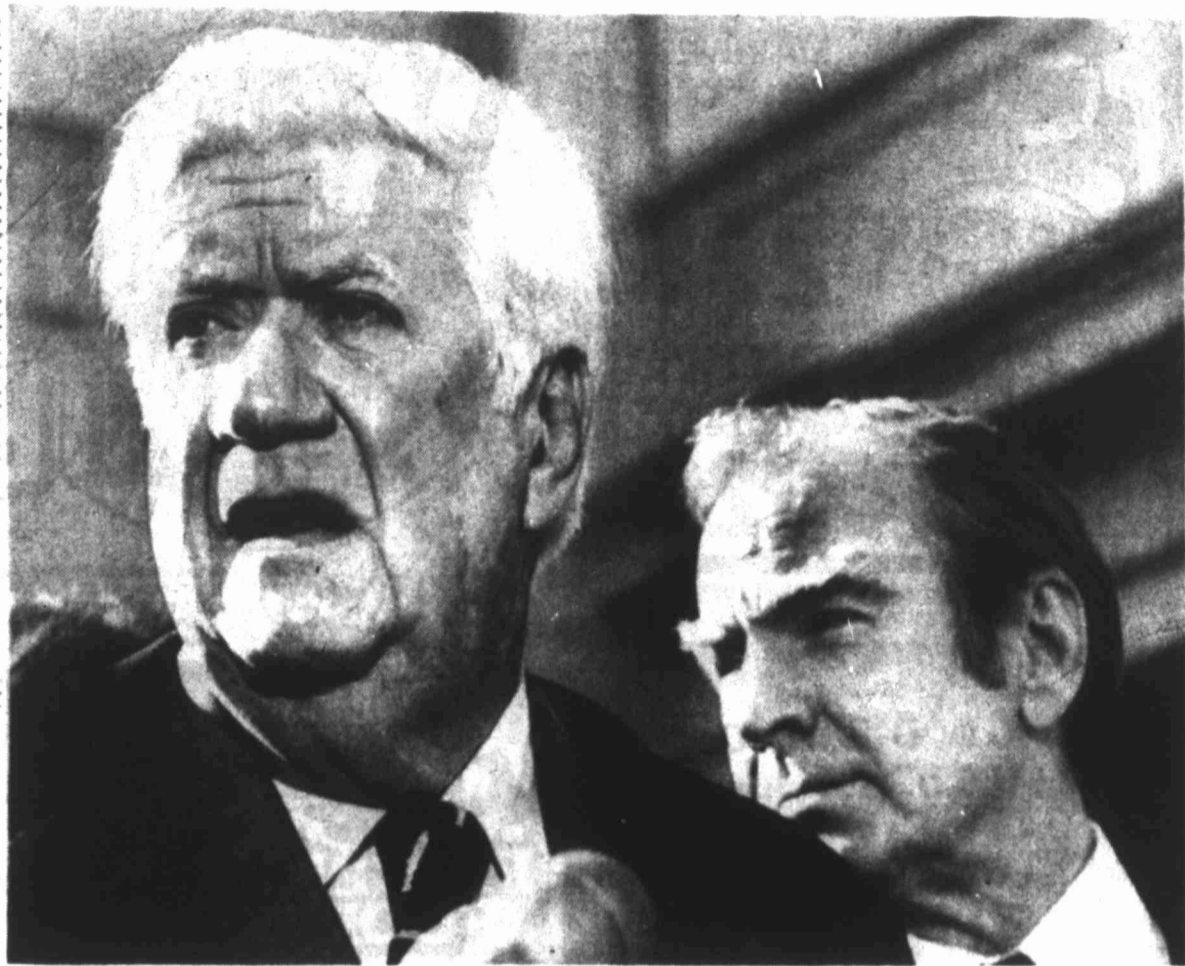

- Set your thermostat at 68° or lower. Remember, the lower you set it during the winter, the lower your bill.
- At night and when you're going to be away from home, set your thermostat at 58° or lower.
- Open drapes and blinds during the day to let in sunlight, then close them at night to hold in warm air.
- If you have a dishwasher, set water heater to 140°; otherwise, set temperature to 120° or lower.
- If away for two days or more, turn down water heater thermostat.
- Try to minimize traffic through outside doors.
- Economize when doing kitchen or laundry work; for example, wash and dry only full loads of clothes and plan meals so several dishes can be cooked in the oven at the same time.

Cost-effective suggestions

- Install water-flow devices in showers and faucets to limit flow.
- Repair water leaks in pipes and faucets, and seal air duct leaks.
- Check the filters in your system at least once a month. Clean permanent filters or replace disposables as needed.
- Caulk and weatherstrip around doors and windows to help prevent excessive heat loss.
- Add insulation to ceilings, walls and floors.
- Insulate ducts, especially in the attic.
- Insulate hot water pipes in attic.
- Install insulation blankets on water heaters, especially in garage or basement.
- Use scrap insulation to plug air leaks in attic and around fireplace dampers.
- Investigate cost-effectiveness of storm doors and windows.

Houston millionaire Hobby is handed 'liberal' label

By DANA PALMER
Harte-Hanks Austin Bureau
AUSTIN—Come November, Texas voters probably will face a decision on which Houston millionaire they want as lieutenant governor: incumbent democrat William Hobby or former Republican Secretary of State George Strake.

For Strake, the one main issue is clear—"This state is entitled to fresh ideas, a fresh face and fresh leadership."

Ten years of Hobby as lieutenant governor is enough, he says. Hobby and his supporters, however, turn that argument around in conversation with reporters. They say considerable benefit comes from continuity and stability in the office of lieutenant governor.

They point out that a number of senators and representatives, including House Speaker Bill Clayton, won't return to the Legislature next year. Hobby's deputy campaign manager Ricky Knox says that would make the lieutenant governor's previous experience and leadership, especially in the area of the state budget, more important than ever.

Both approaches are political classics—will voters opt for change or stability?

Before the general election this fall,

GEORGE STRAKE
 ...Key issue clear

however, Hobby still must contend with a Democratic challenger in the May 1 primary, 69-year-old retired Austin service station operator Troy Skates.

With no campaign fund or organization and his past political track record, Skates is not considered a serious threat by Hobby's team. Skates ran in 1978 and received about 52,000 votes to Hobby's 1,071,000.

The retired Navy warrant officer says he tried to talk himself out of running again, "but heck, Hobby's been down there long enough. I can't understand why some (Democrat) from the Senate or Legislature didn't run against him this time."

Skates also says he's concerned about more state help for local law enforcement and higher pay for school teachers.

"I'm not counting on money," he adds, "I'm counting on people—people who will vote for me."

Strake, who has no challenger in the Republican primary, vows, "I do not intend to lose. Some people say you can't beat the Hobby mystique...but I'm in this thing to win."

"I think Hobby is vulnerable," adds the 46-year-old independent oil operator.

"At least you can't accuse me of picking on a (political) cripple," he says.

Hobby is anything but a political cripple.

In four months, he already has raised more than $500,000 of a planned $2 million-plus campaign, according to campaign staff estimates.

Panel recommends genetic research guides be kept

WASHINGTON (AP) — Even though genetic research appears relatively safe, some guidelines should be maintained because the field is so new, a government advisory group says.

The Recombinant DNA Advisory Committee, reconsidering an earlier vote to make most genetic research guidelines voluntary, thus recommended Monday that mandatory restrictions be relaxed but not abandoned.

Members of the committee, which advises the National Institutes of Health director about genetic engineering research, said they decided to reconsider last year's vote after receiving comments from scientists and the public.

"Reactions to the proposal indicate scientists and other people want changes in the guidelines, but not setting aside the mandatory nature of the guidelines," said Dr. Elena Nightingale of the National Academy of Sciences.

Ms. Nightingale also said there is concern that making the guidelines voluntary would stimulate different and confusing local regulations around the country.

Committee members stressed that most evidence to date indicates past concerns about the safety of the research were overstated. But they said there still are enough unanswered questions to keep some restrictions.

Recombinant DNA, or gene-splitting, research involves taking the genetic material of one organism and adding it to another to give it characteristics it would not normally have.

Most of the work has been with bacteria, giving scientists the ability to produce large quantities of rare compounds, such as drugs, hormones and vaccines.

Initially, a major concern was of the possibility of creating virulent disease organisms from which man, animals and plants had no natural defense.

That concern subsided as scientists performed subsequent tests and gained more experience.

Dr. Susan Gottesman of the National Cancer Institute, who proposed the changes the committee adopted, said, "There are kinds of experiments we still have questions about or very little experience with.

Crisp to chair Population Action Council committee

WASHINGTON — Mary Dent Crisp, former co-chairman of the Republican National Committee, has been elected to chair the governing committee of the Population Action Council.

A division of the Population Institute, the Council is a Washington-based private, non-profit organization working to marshal public opinion in support of reducing world population growth.

Ms. Crisp, who co-chaired the Republican National Committee from 1977-1980, succeeds Stewart R. Mott, chairman of PAC's governing committee since its inception in 1978. Mr. Mott will continue to serve as a member of the governing committee.

In accepting her new position, Ms. Crisp said, "In the United States, there has long been bipartisan support for slowing down world population growth. The issue is too important to the future of humanity to be subjected to partisan politics. The problem of world over-population is one that we cannot afford to leave to future generations. A genuine decrease in world population growth is required if our civilization is to avert monumental catastrophes.

MARY DENT CRISP
 ...over population

"The present time is pivotal. Our generation—not the next one—must succeed in stemming the tide of rampant overpopulation through the implementation of national population policies and voluntary family planning programs. The alternatives are war, famine and pestilence."

Ms. Crisp noted that substantial declines in the rate of population growth have been achieved within recent years in countries such as Indonesia, Thailand, Korea and Sri Lanka, where effective family planning programs are operating.

"But much more needs to be done in a world where population is increasing by eighty million a year," she said. "Global over-population portends a tremendous toll in human deprivation, resource shortages and environmental degradation."

She said the Population Action Council has a vital role in gathering information on world population and disseminating it to national leadership and the general public.

"The Council has been instrumental in developing an awareness of the severity of the overpopulation problem," she said. "Moreover, PAC has presented convincing evidence that fertility rates can be brought down through a combination of concerned national leadership and effective family planning programs, demonstrating that, while the task is difficult, it is far from hopeless."

After serving as co-chairperson of the Republican National Committee, Ms. Crisp chaired John Anderson's presidential campaign in 1980.

Yesterday's Puzzle Solved:

DENNIS THE MENACE

"JUST CHECKING. I THOUGHT I HEARD SOME SNOW FALLING."

THE FAMILY CIRCUS

"Why does she keep sayin', 'There you go, there you go?'"

Your Daily HOROSCOPE

from the CARROLL RIGHTEA INSTITUTE

FORECAST FOR THURSDAY, FEB. 11, 1982

GENERAL TENDENCIES: Confine your activities to the details that require your attention in any plans that have breadth and scope to them. Many benefits are due to take place at this time. Be alert.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Engage in small duties that need your attention and forget bigger ventures for the time being. Try to help associates more.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Doing thoughtful things for good friends will be appreciated and will strengthen the alliance. Strive for happiness.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Attend to public duties early so you don't lose out in an important business deal. Steer clear of a troublemaker.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Be sure to handle the minute details of a new plan you have in mind. Don't neglect important research.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Deal fairly with debtors and creditors and excellent results will follow. Make sure everything is in order at home.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) You would be wise to carry through with your end of any agreement made with others. Engage in your favorite hobby.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Take time to make your environment more charming so you will feel happier. The evening is fine for entertaining friends.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) A good day to correct errors you have made in the past. Show the depth of your affection to the one you love.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Make sure you don't lose your temper with an associate or there could be unfortunate results. Use common sense.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Make sure you work carefully so that you don't make errors at work today. It's important to use caution in travel today.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Be alert in the handling of finances now, otherwise you could make costly errors. Spending less and saving more is wise.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Don't broadcast personal woes to others at this time. Avoid the source of your discontent and express happiness.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he or she will want to argue with others and should be taught early to conserve energy for more constructive activities. Otherwise, your progeny could get into needless trouble. A fine chart for the field of engineering.

"The Stars impel, they do not compel." What you make of your life is largely up to you!

Endometriosis: A career women's disease?

EDITOR'S NOTE — In growing numbers, modern career women face a disease of the uterus called endometriosis. In fact, some doctors call it "career women's disease." Here, one young career woman describes her encounter with that misunderstood, often misdiagnosed, always mysterious syndrome.

By PAT MILTON
Associated Press Writer

My problems all began two summers ago, after playing football on the beach with my husband and some friends. A pain in my right side. I must have pulled a muscle, I thought, and when the pain persisted, my gynecologist confirmed it.

It was a dull, nagging ache in the area of my appendix, constant, some days mild, other days sharp. A jogger and tennis player, I had always enjoyed good health, never needed doctors.

But the pain was beginning to interfere with my life. At 32, I was a busy career woman and traveled almost every weekend. There wasn't room for pain.

Two more visits to my doctor over six weeks. Same diagnosis: Muscle pull. Bear with it. Sometimes they take longer to heal than a fracture.

Then I was referred to Dr. David Rosenfeld, chief of human reproduction at North Shore University Hospital in Manhasset, N.Y., on Long Island.

AFTER FIVE MONTHS of tests, he confirmed his suspicions. Endometriosis.

Endometriosis is sometimes called the career woman's disease.

Recent studies indicate that women possessing certain personality traits seem to be more prone to endometriosis — professional women who are under a lot of stress, have demanding jobs and no children.

Rosenfeld supports those findings. "Usually you see endometriosis in the individual who is well-educated, highly motivated and professionally oriented," says Rosenfeld.

They are usually meticulous in their personal habits and appearance, well-dressed and trim. "You rarely see it in a person who is slovenly or obese," he says.

Most of these patients are in professions like law, medicine or journalism, and are frequently married to men who are equally motivated and achievement oriented.

Indeed, it closely correlates to lack of pregnancy or childbirth.

"There has been a marked increase in the disease in recent years as the number of women who are postponing childbirth increases," says Rosenfeld.

ALTHOUGH CONCLUSIVE statistics are not available, medical experts report that seven to eight million women in the United States have endometriosis but only 10-15 percent of the cases are diagnosed.

"No one knows why it develops, or why it occurs in only some women but long periods of ovulation without pregnancy seem to predispose women to the development of the disease," says Rosenfeld.

Endometriosis occurs when endometrial tissues, the lining of the uterus that sheds every month with menstruation, accumulate outside the uterus.

Routine gynecological examinations usually cannot detect the disease.

Frequently, the first symptom of endometriosis is increased pelvic pain prior to menstruation. This is often misdiagnosed as ovarian cysts or infection. Other symptoms may include severe cramps, painful intercourse and inability to conceive.

Pain does not always indicate the extent of the disease.

"There are some with minimal disease who suffer greatly," says Rosenfeld, "and patients with severe disease who have no problems whatsoever."

THE ONLY DEFINITIVE way that doctors can confirm endometriosis is by a laparoscopy. This is a surgical procedure done under a general anesthesia in which a small telescope is placed within the abdominal cavity through a small incision in the navel.

Through the laparoscope, endometriosis looks like salt and pepper. In some areas doctors can see extensive scarring caused by the disease.

Endometriosis can be cured, quite simply, by pregnancy.

Pregnancy halts ovulation for nine months during which the endometrial tissue is not stimulated.

Tokyo hotel fire that killed 32 is probed

TOKYO (AP) — Officials began safety inspections today at 960 hotels, a day after 32 people were killed, including an American, in a quick-spreading fire in a 10-story hotel.

More than 300 people were in the Hotel New Japan when the fire broke out. Sixty people, including two other Americans, were hospitalized.

Sharon Poff, 33, wife of a U.S. Air Force officer stationed in Okinawa, was in stable condition this afternoon, her husband, Capt. James Poff said.

Mrs. Poff, a Marchias, Maine, native, suffered a broken pelvis and left arm when she jumped from the ninth floor to a roof on the fourth or fifth floor level to escape the flames.

The other American hospitalized, Malcolm Kravit, 33, of San Francisco, told nurses he was "too tired" to speak with reporters but was in satisfactory condition. He was hospitalized for treatment of smoke inhalation.

Officials said Mutsato Furiya, 56, of Half Moon Bay, Calif., an American of Japanese ancestry, died in the fire. Police made the identification based on what was left of a driver's license found on the body.

"A woman could probably prevent herself from ever getting this condition if she got pregnant when she was 15 years old," says Rosenfeld.

"Socially that is not acceptable but realistically the way our bodies work the most fertile period in life is during our late teens. We are reproducing later in life now than ever in history."

The type of treatment depends on the extent of the disease. If it is mild, the disease would be more amenable to medical therapy, but the more severe cases should be treated with surgery.

Because I had severe and extensive endometriosis, Rosenfeld recommended surgery. He told me that leaving it alone would be totally destructive to my reproductive organs and could jeopardize my other vital organs.

In surgery, referred to as conservative surgery, the endometrial tissue is cut out. The recurrence rate after this procedure is 30 percent, according to Rosenfeld.

Hormones are used to medically treat the milder cases, creating a temporary menopausal state in which a woman's own reproductive hormones are taken out of play.

New York dancer honored

DALLAS (AP) — A New York choreographer was selected as the 1982 recipient of Southern Methodist University's Algur H. Meadows Award for excellence in the arts, school officials announced Monday.

The $25,000 award was presented to Martha Graham, who will bring her dance company to the SMU campus for a two-week residency in November, officials said.

The Meadows Award, created in 1978, annually honors an artist for exceptional achievement in the creative or performing arts. Last year's recipient was Ingmar Bergman, a well-known Swedish filmmaker, who conducted a series of seminars at SMU last May.

Shuttle is ahead of schedule

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — The Columbia may reach the launch pad two days earlier than expected, as preparations for the space shuttle's third mission continue faster than expected, NASA says.

"In fact, we will soon be almost four days ahead of schedule and a possible rollout to the pad is under consideration for Feb. 17," Rocky Raab, a spokesman at Kennedy Space Center, said Monday.

Because of the speed of the preparations, the National Aeronautics and Space Administration announced it would allow more Sundays off for technicians and engineers.

"The test teams got Sundays off (before Columbia was moved from the hangar to the vehicle assembly building), and we want to continue that," said NASA spokesman Mark Hess.

The original timetable called for the shuttle system to be transferred on Feb. 19 to launch complex 39A, where more extensive tests will take place before blastoff.

Vice President George Bush, visiting the space center for a Spacelab dedication ceremony Friday, announced the third mission for the shuttle would begin on March 22 at 10 a.m. The seven-day, 116-orbit journey is to end with a touchdown at Edwards Air Force Base in California on March 29.

Columbia, the world's first reusable spacecraft, is to travel in a circular 150-mile orbit at different altitudes to test its thermal capabilities, NASA said.

"The various systems and computers will be powered up for several days of verifying tests before the prime and backup crews get in there this weekend," Raab said.

Technicians are putting the shuttle through a detailed series of systems checks this week to ensure the compatibility of its three major components — the orbiter, its external fuel tank and twin rockets.

Statement Of Intent To Change Rates

General Telephone Company of the Southwest, in accordance with the Rules of the Public Utility Commission of Texas, hereby gives notice of the Company's intent to implement a new schedule of rates in Texas effective March 5, 1982.

The proposed changes in rates will affect all customer classes and are designed to increase the Company's intrastate revenue by 24 percent.

A complete set of revised rate schedules has been filed with the Public Utility Commission at Austin, Texas, and is available for public inspection in each of the Company's Business Offices in the State of Texas. A summary of the Company's rate filing has also been sent to the Mayor's Office of each affected Municipality.

Further voyages for Leonard Nimoy

By JERRY BUCK
AP Television Writer

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Leonard Nimoy, the inscrutable Mr. Spock of "Star Trek," is the thoroughly corrupt Achmed in "Marco Polo."

In the new "Star Trek" movie, the fate of Mr. Spock is left to the audience to determine, but there's no doubt as to that of Achmed in "Marco Polo," the eight-hour NBC miniseries. Achmed, a regent to Kublai Khan, dies for his venality.

"The regent was a Turk and evidently a brilliant administrator, tax collector and financier," says Nimoy. "He was also corrupt. His corruption took many forms, but the worst was his collection of women. He had 30 or 40 wives and 300 concubines. He was assassinated, and his assassination was planned as the start of a revolution that didn't come off."

Marco Polo, the 13th century Venetian traveler, wrote that Achmed recruited women for his harem either by kidnapping or by forcing parents to turn over their daughters. It is one such abduction — the girl hangs herself — that triggers Achmed's assassination.

The miniseries, set for May, follows the travels of Marco Polo and his exploration of China in 1271-95. Ken Marshall plays the title role, and the other stars include Anne Bancroft, Denholm Elliott, John Gielgud, John Houseman, Burt Lancaster, Tony Lo Bianco, Ian McShane, Sada Thompson, Tony Vogel and Joseph Wiseman. Ying Ruo-cheng, one of the leading actors of the People's Republic of China, plays Kublai Khan.

The show got off to a rocky start in Italy more than a year ago. Three actors were hired to play Marco Polo before they finally settled on Marshall. The cost soared past the budgeted $12 million as the film crew moved from Italy to Africa to Mongolia to China.

Nimoy spent five weeks in Peking filming his role as Achmed. He had just flown in from Israel, where he had completed his role as the husband of Golda Meir in "Golda" for Operation Prime Time.

"It was all quite an adventure," he says. "I had spent a month in Israel. I didn't think my role in 'Marco Polo' was going to work out. It looked like it was going to be a crunch between 'Golda' and 'Star Trek.' But the people of 'Golda,' 'Marco Polo' and 'Star Trek' all got together and worked out my schedule."

"I flew from Tel Aviv to Rome to Peking. I got there on a Thursday night and started work the next morning."

"HOW'D WE DO?" — Actress Karen Black and director Robert Altman have a friendly conversation following the opening Monday of previews of the Broadway production of "Come Back to the Five and Dime Jimmy Dean, Jimmy Dean," in New York. Miss Black is starring in the show which marks Altman's debut as a Broadway director.

Farmers to plant fewer acres

DALLAS — A producer survey by the National Cotton Council in early January indicates farmers at that time intended to plant 11.8 million acres of cotton this spring, an 18 percent decline from last season's 14.3 million.

Results of the survey, taken before announcement of a government acreage reduction program for cotton, were revealed here at a meeting of the Council's Producer Steering Committee.

Joseph T. Wyrick, staff agricultural economist, said more than 1,700 responses from producers all across the Cotton Belt were incorporated into the results.

Planting intentions by regions were:

down 18 percent;
Mid-South — 2,583,000 acres, down 18 percent;
Southwest — 6,340,000 acres, down 22 percent;
West — 2,213,000 acres, down 3 percent.

LEGAL NOTICE
Pursuant to the provisions of the State Property Tax Code, Section 33.06 (b)(5),

DEFERRED COLLECTIONS OF CERTAIN TAXES
(a) An individual is entitled to defer or abate a suit to collect a delinquent tax if he is 65 or older and he owns and occupies as a residence homesteaded property on which the tax subject to the suit is delinquent.

(b) To obtain a deferral, an individual must file with the chief appraiser for the appraisal district in which the property is located an affidavit stating the facts required to be established by Subsection (a) of this section. If no countervailing affidavit is filed by the taxing unit filing suit or, after a hearing, the court finds the individual is entitled to the deferral, the court shall abate the suit until the individual no longer owns and occupies the property as a residence homestead.

(c) To obtain an abatement, the individual must file in the court in which suit is pending an affidavit stating the facts required to be established by Subsection (a) of this section. If no countervailing affidavit is filed by the taxing unit filing suit or, after a hearing, the court finds the individual is entitled to the abatement, the court shall abate the suit until the individual no longer owns and occupies the property as a residence homestead.

(d) A tax lien remains on the property and penalties and interest continue to accrue during the period of deferral or abatement. A plea of limitation, laches, or want of prosecution does not apply against the taxing unit because of deferral or abatement as provided by this section.

(e) Each year the chief appraiser for each appraisal district shall publish in a manner reasonably designed to notify all residents of the district or county the provisions of this section and, specifically, the method by which eligible persons may obtain a deferral.

CBS Evening News becoming Mr. Rather's Neighborhood

NEW YORK (AP) — Recent ratings indicate that Dan Rather is wearing better on America. He's looser with us; we're more snugly with him. Every day, he's looking more and more like Fred Rogers, and the "CBS Evening News" is fast becoming Mr. Rather's Neighborhood.

Rather has added another layer of warmth, a pullover sweater, between him and his audience. But there's much more to it than wool under his tweed jackets. Nearly one year since assuming the hot seat from Walter Cronkite, Rather is more comfortable with himself, his surroundings and his job.

Tapes are back in the news, and this column has the Rather Tapes, a video cassette of his second broadcast, March 10, 1981. When compared to his recent work, there are some striking differences:

• Dashing Dan has become Distinguished Dan. It's amazing how much grayer his hair is now. Either 11 months on the job has done it, or he just stopped coloring his hair in an effort to look his age (50). Maybe his makeup isn't being used to mask the wrinkles as much because Rather's lines are more visible now. Evidently, maturity is in. Rather is growing old gracefully.

• Clothes make the man. On March 10, he wore a slick suit that made him look like an insurance salesman. Now he wears more casual sports jackets. And sweaters. He has five of them. If the winter of '82 is freezing America, it's comforting to know Rather is feeling the cold, too. The effect is a more relaxed, folksy Rather. Middle America is noticing. All that's missing is the dog carrying his slippers.

• On TV, people speak body language. A year ago, Rather was ramrod straight, lecturing from the blackboard. Today he appears to be propped on one elbow, closer to our living rooms, confiding in us.

• The last story March 10 was the Atlanta murders, and Rather signed off somberly, without the hint of a smile. Now, the final story tends to be lighter, and the more human Rather can get out and react with a big grin and say: "Thank you for joining us. And good night."

• Before, there was a longer range camera that caught Rather from the belt buckle up, and some of his desk. He didn't know what to do with his hands. Howard Stringer, new executive producer of the "Evening News," eliminated that shot. Now there's more use of the tight shot, making it look like Rather's head has grown. But the effect is the camera sees all, and Rather merely has to be his handsome self.

• Cronkite's shadow is shorter. Time does that; so does bringing in Rather's own producers. They make him feel more confident and comfortable, and fit his personality and style better.

So what does this have to do with journalism? Everything and nothing. The impeccable news credentials of Rather and CBS were never questioned. But their message was getting missed a bit because they weren't communicating for the 1980s. It's no longer the "CBS Evening News Without Walter Cronkite."

FAST-SCAN means faster checkout

Gibson's new FAST-SCAN checkout system is the latest in customer convenience — computer assisted checkout.

You'll notice checkout lines moving much faster with FAST-SCAN. The computer reads the universal product code on each item, recalls the item's price, and flashes it on the register display — all in a fraction of a second. FAST-SCAN works even when items have been occasionally missed in marking prices, so you don't have to wait for someone to look up the missed price.

At Gibson's FAST-SCAN works for you!

Noting the return of the old Hunchback

Big Spring (Texas) Herald, Wed., Feb. 10, 1982 1-C

RIDGEFIELD, Conn. (AP) — That old Parisian swinger, "The Hunchback of Notre Dame," is still with us, kicking the gong around up there with the bats in his belfry.

But who needs him? Winter has been grim enough. Anthony Hopkins, grunts and all, warts and all, gives a credible performance as the deformed bell ringer, an unbelievable character anyhow, in the new British adaptation of this hoary horror tale shown on TV in these parts last week.

His makeup job, especially the dental work, might not be as ogreish as rubber faced Lon Chaney's fright mask in the 1923 movie still shown from time to time in the art houses and film museums. And Hopkins' less stylish rendition of the title role might not give us quite as cuddly a gargoyle as Charles Laughton projected in the 1939 classic. Still, it is a meaty part in a meatball of a movie, and Hopkins digs in with zest.

Lesley-Anne Down as Esmeralda, the more sinned against than sinning Gypsy girl, keeps her décolletage under primly proper British control while registering the emotional range of a giant slug. But then who remembers which starlet Chaney or Laughton dragged off into the bell tower like a sack of sugar or, more properly, Hollywood saccharin?

The beast has all the best lines. All six of them, if you don't count the repetition of "water" several times.

Then there is a boring poet, a libidinous captain of the king's archers, dens of thieves and pickpockets, ugly mobs howling for a bit of torture in lieu of bread.

Connecticut woman wins bake-off

SAN ANTONIO, Texas (AP) — An almond-filled cookie cake baked by a Connecticut woman took the $40,000 first prize in the Pillsbury Bake-Off.

Elizabeth Meijer, of Danbury, Conn., who said the recipe reflected her husband's Dutch heritage, won a $15,000 category prize and a $25,000 first prize for her pastry-like entry in the flour category.

The cookie-cake was adapted from a pastry recipe from Holland, where she and her husband lived while he was serving in the Royal Netherlands Army, she said.

Competing in the $109,000 bake-off, which got underway early Monday, were 100 cooks. The prize money was shared by 16 finalists.

Contestants ranged in age from 10 to 70 years old and included two mother-daughter teams.

Karen Lee, a high school junior from Laverne, Calif., won a $15,000 prize for her Italian-inspired pastry, sugar-crusted biscuit puffs.

The 12 winners of $2,000 each included: Marilyn Blanshien of Clintonville, Wis.; Vesta Frizzell of Independence, Mo.; Janet Hill of Rodeo, Calif.; Susan Pajcic of Jacksonville, Fla.; Jay Friedman of Montclair, N.J.; Leona Moler of Mount Orab, Ohio; Barbara Hodgson of Elkhart, Ind.; Phyllis Wolf of Salem, Ore.; Phyllis Wagner of Yale, Ill.; Edna Eastman of LaGrange, Ill.; Margaret Kramer of Forestville, Wis.; and Joanna Yokum of Isabella, Calif.

Calls issue 'No. 1 priority'

Clements calls for cooperation on aliens

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Undocumented Mexican workers in the United States need to be legalized and given documents to insure their protection under U.S. laws, Texas Gov. Bill Clements said during a visit to Mexico.

Clements, who met with Mexico's President Jose Lopez Portillo for a half-hour Monday, told reporters at a news conference afterwards that the main purpose of his visit was to review the undocumented worker issue with Lopez Portillo before legislation is introduced in the U.S. Senate in March.

"I think it is imperative that these workers be made legal and carry legal documents so that they have the same protection under the law that I have," he said.

Clements called the issue "by far the most sensitive and the No. 1 priority" of all issues facing border relations.

He said, however, the problem would not be solved without full coordination between the United States and Mexico.

"Without this acknowledgment of mutuality of interest and full consultation and coordination, no program will succeed," he said. "I'm happy to say that this was fully discussed with President Lopez Portillo and he is in agreement with this thesis."

The governor said his interest in the undocumented worker issue stems from his consultations with the Reagan administration's task force on immigration and from his work with the border governors' conference.

"This issue is far too serious for it to become a political football," he said. "Too many times in the past these problems have been swept under the rug or, on the other end of the spectrum, political demagoguery has prevailed."

He said the plight of the undocumented worker generally is misunderstood in Mexico. Only 10 percent now work in agriculture, different from the situation 20 to 30 years ago, he said.

"In the larger picture, the undocumented worker is mobile. They are scattered from across the entire face of the United States. They are not contracted for; these workers are free agents and they work wherever they wish," Clements said.

Clements, who arrived Sunday for a three-day visit, also planned to meet with Miguel de la Madrid, presidential candidate of the official Institutional Revolutionary Party.

He planned to stop for a brief visit at the Texas Industrial Commission's office here and have dinner with U.S. Ambassador John Gavin before returning to Texas on Tuesday.

Couple charges 'conjugal' visits traded for confessions

RICHMOND, Texas (AP) — A pregnant inmate of the Fort Bend County Jail who has been granted probation says law officers granted her and her lover about 12 "conjugal" visits in an effort to get them to confess to theft.

Beverly Lewis, who says she is 5½ months pregnant but has spent eight months in the Fort Bend County jail, was granted probation Monday.

District Attorney William A. Meitzen said he could see no reason for the county to pick up the tab for Ms. Lewis, who pleaded guilty to theft in a stolen credit card scheme, to have her baby.

Melvin Herman Burton, one of three men arrested in the scheme, and Ms. Lewis made the charge before court convicted.

"No, sir!" Sheriff Ervin Hurta shouted when asked if the contention was true. He said investigators were questioning the suspects when Ms. Lewis and Burton asked to be allowed to confer privately.

"Apparently, that's when it happened," he said of the impregnation.

The three men were also given probation. State District Judge A. Reagan Clark gave the men 10 years' probation but Ms. Lewis five years. He said he gave the woman a lesser sentence partly because she is pregnant and partly because she is due to serve six years in a California prison for theft, where she also faces a charge of escape.

Michigan man must leave Houston

HOUSTON (AP) — Yankee, go home.

That was the order from a Texas judge who told Richard L. Judd Jr., a 34-year-old roofer, to return to his native Lapeer, Mich., for two years.

State District Judge Ted Poe ordered the banishment from Texas Monday as a condition for probation after Judd pleaded guilty to carrying a weapon on a liquor-licensed premises.

"He doesn't belong here. He should go back to where he belongs," said Poe.

"He has 30 days to be out of Texas," said Poe. "He was agreeable to doing it. ... He can go back to where he's from and get his life together."

Judd, who has lived here less than two months, was arrested Thursday at a rock music concert after police saw the outline of a weapon in his pocket. The officers confiscated a pistol, some marijuana and other drugs, said prosecutor Joe Bailey.

Drug charges were dropped in a plea bargain, Bailey said.

The judge said his unusual order has nothing to do with resentment of northerners by some native Texans.

"It makes no difference where he was from. He was passing through and he violated the law. The offense is such that it's a probation case. So why make him stay?" Poe asked.

And being from Michigan, Judd's home state should pick up the tab for supervising his probation and save Texas taxpayers some money, the judge said.

If Judd returns to Texas during the next two years, he could face up to 10 years in prison. He will have no criminal record if he completes probation, Poe said.

Judd's attorney, John Carrigan, said his client agreed to the judge's terms.

"To him it was a bargain," Carrigan said. "He doesn't have to pay probation fees or court costs."

Carrigan also said Judd could ask the court to amend the probation.

"It can be amended," he said. "It doesn't mean they're taking him to the border and chasing him off," he said.

Ag Department disputes census findings on women farmers

WASHINGTON (AP) — The latest census figures show that women make up a tiny minority of the nation's farmers, but one Agriculture Department expert says that statistic by itself can be misleading.

According to the 1978 census — the first to classify farmers by sex — there were 128,170 women farmers, 5.2 percent of the 2.5 million farmers in the United States. Judith Z. Kalbacher of the department's Economic Research Service says the government's reporting procedures result in the number of female farmers being "somewhat understated" in the agricultural census figures.

"Most farm wives do some farm work and many share responsibility of running the farm with their husbands, but for census reporting purposes only one operator per farm may be designated," she said.

"Operator designation is determined by the individual couple and usually the husband is selected. Females designated as operators most often run the farm enterprise alone or are widows of farmers."

Ms. Kalbacher's comments were in a report Monday at an annual Farm Women's Forum sponsored by the department. More than 100 women were signed up for the two-day meeting.

"In terms of farm size, most women operators run small farms, whether measured by acreage or value of agricultural products sold," the report said.

"Their farms average 285 acres in size and account for about 4 percent of all land in farms. The average size of farms operated by men is 423 acres."

Some other observations:
 ♦ "Thirty-nine percent of female-operated farms are less than 50 acres in size and just 8 percent have more than 500 acres."

states contain over half of all female-operated farms, with Texas alone reporting nearly one-tenth."

The report said women farmers, as a group, are "much older" than their male counterparts.

"One-third are 65 years old or more, compared with less than one-sixth of male farmers," it said. "This age difference is largely due to the relatively high number of widowed female farmers, many of whom are not officially designated as farm operators until their husbands die."
