Witnesses 'know nothing' after bullets fly in bar

By BILL ELDER Staff Writer

A clear picture of what took place during a tavern shooting Tuesday night continues to elude police officers investigating the incident, said police detective Lt. John Wolf this morning.

No suspects have been charged with wounding a man and a woman who allegedly were shot at about midnight Tuesday at Talito's bar on 408 N.W. Fourth, Wolf said.

Two persons had been arrested on public intoxication charges and were being viewed as possible suspects in the shootings of Luz De Los Santos and Mary Munoz, Wolf said. But as of this morning, police were unable to file any charges greater than public intoxication in connection with the in-

It's one of those cases where nobody knows nothing and they don't want to know nothing," Wolf said. He added there is a "very good possibility" nobody would be charged with shooting De Los Santos and Ms. Munoz, even though there apparently were witnesses to the shootings and a 22-caliber revolver believed to have been used in the incident was recovered by police.

Detectives are unclear just what happened shortly past midnight Tuesday at the northside bar, when officers arrived on the scene and found two persons wounded and "four or people attempting to flee the scene, Wolf said.

Investigators think the shooting came on the heels of an argument over an unplugged jukebox, but that's about as much as police knew, according to Wolf. The information about the argument was supplied by a single witness, he said.

Ms. Munoz, who Wolf said gave at least two other names for herself under questioning by officers, was treated for a bullet wound to her right hand and released from Malone-Hogan Hospital, Wolf said. No address for her was available. De Los Santos, of 606 N. San Antonio, suffered three gunshot wounds and was reported in fine condition at Malone-Hogan this morning by a spokeswoman, who said De Los Santos was expected to be released by the

Jerry Higgins, a candidate for Big Spring mayor as well as college trustee, issued a three-page news release in which he criticized certain payments made to the district's president. #### Action/reaction: Teens and accidents

Q. What is the accident rate for young drivers, as compared to other drivers? Do the accident rates justify the high insurance premiums charged youthful drivers, or are they just being discriminated against because of their age?

A. According to accident statistics for 1980, supplied to the Insurance Information Institute by state traffic authorities, "drivers under age 30 are involved in a disproportionately high number of traffic accidents. Although they "comprised 33.7 percent of the motoring population," they "comprised 51.4 percent of the drivers involved in all accidents and 50.8 percent of the drivers in fatal accidents." The highest accident involvement rate (35 per 100 drivers) was that of drivers under age 20. The highest fatal-accident involvement rate (82 per 100,000 drivers), was that of motorists in the 20-24 age bracket.

Secretly installed meter is key issue in $3.4 million civil suit

By MIKE DOWNEY Staff Writer

Cosden engineering technician Don Weeks testified Wednesday in the $3.4 million oil fraud suit that a secretly installed meter showed little oil came from the Jaco oil lease despite oil production reports to the contrary. Cosden Oil and Chemical Company is seeking damages from Jaco Oil Company, Wheelco Oil, Jaco president D.C. "Butch" Wheeler, and Jaco pumper John T. Sims. The Cosden civil suit alleges Jaco repeatedly sold the same tank of oil to Cosden in 1980. The case is being heard in 118th District Attorney for the defendants is John Green

Attorney Donald Godwin, representing Cosden, meticulously questioned Weeks for three and a half hours to elicit three major points supporting Cosden's claim of fraud. Under questioning from Godwin, Weeks said he had secretly observed a Cosden employee failing to properly execute his job

Weeks said the employee, Raffer Lyles, gauger, did not "go through any steps he should have" measuring oil levels and taking oil samples on the Jaco lease. Weeks and Godwin demonstrated the various procedures normally taken by Coeden gaugers with oil field gauging equipment.

Weeks testified this failure to follow company procedure led him to suspect the possibility of oil theft since the opportunity was there.

The next step, according to Weeks, was to secretly place a fluid gauge in the pipeline running from the lease to the Cosden refinery. This gauge, called a drop meter, registers oil passing through the pipeline by the barrel, Weeks said. He said the drop meter was installed Dec. 17, 1980.

Weeks told the seven-woman, five-man jury he Texas Ranger Eddie Almond and former Herald Photographer Bill Forshee had checked and photographed the meter results on several occasions from Dec. 17, 1980 to Jan. 4, 1981. The photographs were shown to the jury as Weeks explained what had happened during the 18-day surveillance.

The drop meter indicated 1.1 barrels of oil had gone through the pipeline, Weeks said.

Green objected to the intruduction of the photos as evidence. He entered into the record of the trial a running objection to all of the photos used. Godwin next introduced as evidence the "run tickets" prepared by Cosden gauger Lyles for the Jaco lease. He said the run tickets indicate the amount of oil "purportedly sold to Cosden" by Jaco from the W.B. Currie, or Jaco, lease. Despite objections from Green which were Reading from three of the numerous run tickets. Weeks said Cosden should have received about 690 barrels of oil from Jaco on Dec. 17th, 19th and 22nd.

1980. The drop meter for the same dates registered five-tenths of a barrel, he said. Green, who is expected to cross-examine Weeks overruled by Judge Gregg, Weeks compared the production figures for oil reportedly sold to Cosden by Jaco with the oil flow amounts shown by the drop today, asked only one question of Weeks, requesting run tickets for months not included in the ones used by Godwin.

Green and Godwin continued to object and disagree other various points of the testimony. At one point, Green asked for a mistrial after Weeks replied directly to Green's objection to one of Weeks' answers to a question. Judge Gregg instructed both attorneys to address each other by their surnames after Green referred to Godwin as 'that Dallas lawyer.

Texas Railroad Commission employee Wayne McClung also testified yesterday morning in the civil suit. His testimony was concerned primarily with gauging tests he had run on the Jaco lease in

Rep. Shaw says boats are taxable

By MIKE DOWNEY

Staff Writer State representative Larry Don Shaw told The Herald today "boats are fair game for taxes" despite radio reports claiming his office said

Shaw said a misunderstanding had arisen between a call made from his administrative aide in Austin to Larry Miller here in Big Spring. Miller had assumed the aide was speaking for the state property tax board when she had yet to investigate

"I feel I and my office owe an apology for any misinterpretation or misunderstanding from this. We didn't want to get folks' hopes up," Shaw said. The representative said he had contacted Kenneth Graeber, executive director of the state property tax board, who cleared up the issue

"The local tax appraiser is doing what he is supposed to do. Mr. Pereira (Howard County chief appraiser) is absolutely under his rights by the law to assess taxes on boats — they are not exempt from taxation," Shaw said. Graeber indicated the chief appraiser is only following the law as established by the Texas legislature

Shaw said Graeber mentioned a similar situation in another county where the costs of appraising small craft exceeded the revenues to be gained from the taxes. "Hopefully, our appraisal board and the chief appraiser can assess the situation, to see if it's feasible," Shaw said. F.E. "Gene" Pereira told The Herald he was in contact with an attorney for an interpretation of the powers of the tax appraisal board. "I'm not wrong my decision, I'll advise it. My oath and the board's oath is to uphold the Texas Constitution and I don't take that lightly," Pereira said.

The chief appraiser said he was being practical about small boats in the county. "If a man has a little boat and he renders it, I doubt we will send out a tax statement," Pereira said. He noted appraisers had this option on values less than $5 according to the state tax code. Asked about the efficency of petitions to his office, Pereira replied, "Why give me or the board a petition? We don't write the laws. Direct petitions to the state legislature to amend the constitution so the people can vote on it. Shaw said he intended to look into the matter of boat exemptions in the Texas legislature.

LULAC leader raps Clements

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) - LULAC leader Tony Bonilla accused Gov. Bill Clements today of "feathering his nest" in the Republican governor's frequent negotiations with Mexico.

Bonilla, national president of the League of United Latin American Citizens, held a Capitol news con-Terence shortly before Clements departed for El Paso and a meeting with United States and Mexican border governors

"It is my opinion that Clements has taken the opportunity of his talks with Mexico to feather his nest so when he leaves office he will have good contacts in Mexico and can make even more money," Bonilla said.

Bonilla was asked if he had any evidence Clements had used any of his Mexico trips to speak for SEDCO. the drilling company Clements founded.

"No, nothing concrete," Bonilla said. "I was merely speculating just like the governor does. If I am inaccurate, he has the right to deny that he has not talked to anyone in Mexico about his oil business.'

Jon Ford, Clements' press secretary, said Bonilla's comments were "absolute nonsense. The governor has rnever done any business in Mexico. He has no business interest in Mexico and he does not want any there.'

Bonilla said if Clements was so interested in the farm labor situation in Texas he should call a special session of the Legislature and ask for laws "to give farm laborers their rights, and then we can sit down and talk about these other things.'

He said LULAC opposed any form of "guest worker" program as proposed by Clements and the national administration because "historically it has been a form of systematic slavery.'

He said LULAC favors an increased quota for Mexicans to enter the United States and for more -money for the immigration service to enforce present laws concerning undocumented workers.

provoked a four-hour sniper siege at a trailer park that ended with three people dead and a police officer seriously wounded,

Police, firing a barrage of tear gas, stormed a mobile home Wednesday evening and found a 57-year-old retiree lying in a back bedroom, uninjured but semiconscious and clutching a cocked pistol, authorities said. Alys E. McNair, described by a neighbor as "a loner who never gave anyone any problems," was rushed to a hospital Wednesday night and listed in poor condition, officials said. He was thought to be suffering from a heart condition.

At the same hospital lay an officer who was struck in the neck by a bullet in the shooting spree, which also left another resident injured at the Mountain View Trailer Lodge.

"I heard a couple of shots," said Janet Andrews, 25, who suffered arm wounds from shattered glass. "I looked out the window and saw two people lying on the ground, and then shots hit the car and one hit the window and hit my arm. I'm not hurt real bad."

McNair was captured after authorities fired about 20 tear gas canisters into his trailer, said San Diego County sheriff's spokesman Capt. Jack Drown. There were no negotiations

The extent of the suspect's arsenal was not immediately known, but Sheriff John Duffy said it was believed the man had a shotgun, a rifle and a pistol.

"It looks like it was a neighborhood quarrel that's been brewing about six months," said sheriff's spokesman Bert Moorehead. He said the squabble apparently centered on dogs owned by one of

An officer who asked to remain anonymous said the man was semiconscious on a bed in a rear bedroom, holding a cocked .38-caliber pistol, and did not resist. He was taken to Bay General Community Hospital where spokesman Paul Omundson said he was in "poor condition with no evidence of serious injuries."

Drown said McNair had a history of heart problems.

The dead were identified as Cesar Escutia, no age available, of National City; his mother, Gloria Castro, 63, a trailer park resident; and Monique Gerard, 23, a former resident of the trailer park who was returning to pick up some belongings after moving out five days ago, Moorehead said.

A witness said Escutia was killed in the first volley of gunfire as he walked to his car from his mother's trailer with a dog in his

"He (Escutia) opened the car door, and boom!" said William Melvin, 56, who watched from an adjacent trailer, which immediately came under fire

Melvin said McNair had quarreled with Mrs. Castro, complaining that her dogs were noisy. Mrs. Castro, who lived next door to McNair, was killed as she ran from her trailer home to investigate the shooting, said Melvin, who was baby-sitting at the time. "He (the gunman) just kept shooting and shooting."

Ms. Gerard was killed after driving into the area. Drown said. Although Melvin said McNair had quarreled with Mrs. Castro, he described McNair as "a very quiet nice guy...a loner who never gave anyone any problems.

Drown said "dozens if not 100 shots were fired, all by the suspect."

In an appearance before the House Budget Committee, Stockman indicated Wednesday that the president may be willing to reconsider his previous refusal to raise taxes or cut the 18 percent buildup in defense spending called for in the administration's deficit-ridden $757.6 billion

Stockman told the panel: "I believe this administration and I think this president will look very carefully at a good-faith, sincere effort on the part of the responsible leadership of Congress...to propose something different. Rep. James R. Jones, D-Okla., the committee's chairman, welcomed Stockman's statements as "progress — progress and hope." "I thought his testimony by itself did give running_room to allow a compromise to emerge,' Stockman told the panel that Reagan feels the tax code "isn't chiseled in stone.

He pointed to the billions of dollars in tax breaks Congress added to the basic Reagan plan last year and invited Congress to "take a look at revenues. But he warned against trying "to reverse the important and fundamental changes we've made" in personal and business tax reduc-

As for defense, Rep. Les Aspin, D-Wis., asked whether the president would accept a cut of $10 billion from the $221.1 billion he requested for the Pentagon. Stockman didn't reject the idea outright. Instead he said, "There may be room for savings which we haven't found or that you

A House Republican source, who asked not to be identified, questioned whether Stockman's testimony was "a clear signal that the gates are

The source noted that a letter Reagan sent to Republican legislators over the weekend urged them to continue to support his program while simultaneously reminding them "there will always be room for improvement in any budget and any economic policy.

What the president was trying to get across with the letter and what he's (Stockman) supposed to be trying to get across...especially to our people (Republicans) is: 'For God's sake don't go running off the reservation, there's room to talk and there's room to change and we're going to try to accomodate you.

House Majority Leader Jim Wright, D-Texas, while also appealing for compromise, did not let pass an opportunity to assail Reagan for what he called a non-ending cycle of "high interest rates, high unemployment rates, high deficits.

Stockman denied charges that Reagan's economic program is to blame for the record deficits forecast in the administration's budget

$98.6 billion this year and $91 billion in 1983. He insisted that if Congress had rejected Reagan's budget plan a year ago and passed the alternative developed by Democrats, the deficit would be a few billion dollars higher for 1983.

The city of Big Spring has a cultural opportunity most cities

It is the opportunity to sponsor a symphony orchestra. Big Spring has a unique arrangement with the Midland-Odessa Symphony to share its concerts with us.

Exactly one week from today, the symphony will again honor us with its presence. This time the performers are bringing along one of the stars of the "Dallas" TV series as highlight of KEN KERCHEVAL, who plays Cliff Barnes — Pamela Ewing's brother — in the popular TV series, will be featured in a narrative about Abraham Lincoln with music by Aaron Copeland. It's a rare personal appearance for the TV star.

This will be not only an opportunity to see a big television star in person but also a chance to support the arts. But Big Spring is well known for supporting the arts — the symphony has in the past enjoyed a bigger audience here than

Tickets are $7.50 for adults and $4 for senior citizens and students. Tickets can be purchased at the Big Spring Herald, the Big Spring Chamber of Commerce, the Accent Shop, Dunlap's, First Federal Savings, and at the door.

BUT HERE'S the kicker.

'Light up, everybody - Join us in Those lyrics belong to the rock group Styx. Back in the days when this super group had only a cult following, the song "Light Up" served as an appropriate show-opener

The reference, of course, is to those pre-performance moments when the house lights go down, stage lights go up and the concert begins. During that short time span, a cloud of smoke rises and engulfs the audience like some genie out of a brass lamp. If you eatch the drift, and you should unless you have a sinus problem, one sniff will tell you it's that famous contraband substance.

You see, marijuana (grass, pot, weed), hidden pints of Jack Daniels and concerts seem to go together like chocolate cake, ice cream and birthday parties. It's basic fact. (Unless of course, Lawrence Welk is leading his champagne music from the

Those folks attending the concert simply for the sake of music and not the grass, or JD, JB or WT, usually just grin and bear it. "Nah, man, don't have any, man. Left my stuff at home and it's a drag, man," will usually get the non-participant by. Even being honest about it is cool. Rock-n-rollers have mutual respect for each other.

Being a veteran of many, many concerts, I've witnessed an evolution in the basic rock concert crowd. At one time, there were two basic groups - those wearing their hair long and binned down by a bandana or tied in a pigtail with extreme amounts of facial hair and frays on their denims. And then boring, moderately clean-cut, -sneakered people like myself.

NOW ENTER THE third group. The young adolescent.

Several years ago, not many roseycheeked faces were to be seen in this crowd. Parents knew all about those wile things that go on when crowds assembled in the name of rock-n-roll. Go buy the record instead, son, and keep that volume down, for goodness

Aaaah, echoes of the past.

But that's all changed now. Record companies and all those other satellite music-related industries have found a new market. The young teenager with pockets of spending money. Now the concert hall is filled with kids looking like they might have had to skip Little League practice to be there.

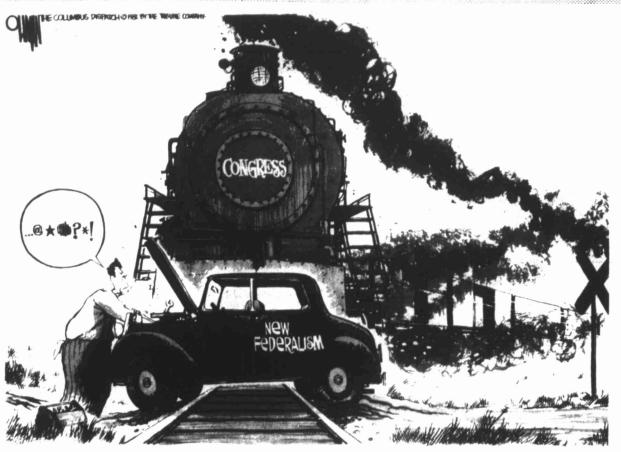

There really isn't any problem having the kids there so much. Sure they get underfoot and you have to listen to them beg you to give them a little breathing room or they'll suffocate in a crowd a foot taller then them. "I'm gonna die, man. You don't care if I die, do you? Huh? Thanks, mister Gee, I must be getting old. Now it's

The high cost of messages

One of the problems with everyone's foreign policy these days is that countries have decided to send more and more expensive messages to each other. In bygone years, an ambassador delivered a message to a foreign government in a leather briefcase. The foreign secretary would then call in the ambassador and hand him his government's reply. It was all neat and tidy and a very cheap way of keeping in touch with each

But now the price of messages has gone sky high. This is how governments are communicating with each other: The President calls in his secretary of State: "I want to send a message to the Soviet Union that they better stay out of Central America. Give the El Salvador government $5 million in

Billy Graham

Judgment day

DEAR DR. GRAHAM: I was raised to believe that on the day that I die I will face God in judgment to decide whether or not I am worthy enough to be accepted into Heaven. Is this what the Bible teaches?—L.B. DEAR L.B.: The Bible teaches that every person will some day face God, and this should make us take seriously the fact that it is important what we do in this life. The Bible says, "Man is destined to die once, and after that to face judgment" (Hebrews 9:27).

At the same time, the Bible also tells us that no person can be saved by his own good works. In other words, at the last judgment God will not take your good deeds and your bad deeds and measure them against each other to see if you will go to Heaven. Here is the central truth: it only takes one sin to keep you out of Heaven, because God is holy and he will not permit even the slightest sin in Heaven. 'Your eyes are too pure to look on evil; you cannot tolerate wrong' (Habakkuk 1:13). The Bible says, "For whoever keeps the whole law and yet stumbles at just one point is guilty of breaking all of it." (James 2:10). At the last judgment every person stands condemned, because we are all sinners.

But this is why Christ came. Christ came to take away our sins, and make it possible for us to be saved. Our good works will never save us, because they will never be good enough and they can never take away the blot of sin. But Christ took upon himself the judgment of God against sin, by dying on the cross in our place. Our only hope of salvation is in Christ and what he has done for us on the cross. "We, too, have put our faith in Christ Jesus that we may be justified by faith in Christ and not by observing the law, because by observing the law no one will be justified" (Galatians 2:16). Put your faith in Christ. Open your heart to him and trust him for your salvation. If you will do this, you do not need to fear God's jud because Christ has died for you.

groping for position trace a rough map of the battlefield. Moderate Republicans are trying to rescue the President from what is widely perceived to be an impossible position. But they have been stymied by fragmentation inside the Democratic Party and resistance from Mr. Reagan himself. Publicly Mr. Reagan is talking the language of the Alamo: "We have drawn a line." Several administration officials are prepared to cross the line in order to reduce deficits by new taxes and lower defense spending. But having fought on the inside and lost before, they need an occasion to return to the charge. They want a NORMALLY, THE House of Representatives, which originates money bills, would be expected to take the lead in formulating such a package. But the Democrats in the majority were humiliated by the administration last year. They are leery of being maneuvered this year into a position that would bring them to the midterm elections as the advocates of tax increases and cuts in

A group of younger Democrats, led by Chairman James Jones of the Budget Committee, is interested in putting together an alternate package. But they can only come strongly into the picture if the House leadership is shouldered aside by an initiative from the Republican Senate. Senate Majority Leader Howard Baker is probably the single most important figure in the Congress today. He has described the government as "teetering on bankruptcy," which does not exactly suggest passive acceptance of the President's budget and its huge deficits. In pushing for change. Sen. Baker has an important ally in Robert Dole of Kansas, the chairman of the Finance

Sen. Dole is talking about making a "midcourse correction" in the administration's basic economic plan. He speaks of cutting defense, levying new taxes on energy, and perhaps deferring the tax cut promised for 1983. But to put across such a politically unpalatable program in an election year, Dole needs protective cover from the Democrats in the Finance Committee

Russell Long, the senior Democrat on the committee, and a formidable influence in the Senate, is as usual waiting to see the whites of somebody's eyes before he fires. Several other Finance Committee Democrats, up for re-election in the big industrial states, are keen to go into all-out opposition as proponents of the ordinary people against the economic royalists. So a tidy outcome inside the Finance Committee seems unlikely, unless the Democratic leadership takes a hand.

Minority Leader Rober Byrd of West Virginia had to balance two different approaches. One was the division along rich-poor lines favored by Democrats from the industrial north. Several younger senators — for example, Bill Bradley of New Jersey and Gary Hart of Colorado - and many Southerners wanted to develop a package that would put the Democrats squarely behind fiscal responsibility. To avoid a showdown,

But the President's tough mouthpiece, Treasury Secretary Donald Regan, slapped the Hollings proposal down. Next day Sen. Baker led a Republican delegation to the White House. He informed the President of the realities on the Hill. The President gave the Senate leader some running room. "He didn't draw any line in the dirt," an aide to Baker said The Congress has now recessed for the Lincoln-Washington Birthday ceremonies. By PHIL SWANN

States News Service WASHINGTON - North Carolina Sen. Jesse Helms is poised to quarterback his team to another big victory over food stamps. His staff is compiling tales of food stamp fraud which he hopes will rouse Congress to push across the President Reagan's $2.3 billion cut in the program.

Meanwhile, nearly 20 representatives of food associations and the elderly held a private strategy session last Friday to discuss how to capture several "swing" congressmen they need to block the cut. They named Rep. Charles Stenholm, D-Stamford, as a gamebreaker, someone whose support or opposition could make the difference.

The group also slated five "undecided" Texas congressmen for campaign blitzes later in the session — Reps. Jack Hightower, D-Vernon, J.J. 'Jake' Pickle, D-Austin, Sam Hall, D-Marshall, Charles Wilson, D-Lufkin, and Richard White, D-

The battle is underway. Helms and his fellow conservatives say the program is riddled with abuse and should be slashed. Food groups say the cutback would force people to go hungry.

Who's right? It doesn't matter on Capitol Hill. Who will win and how?

That's what counts.

"THIS IS LIKE a game. You have to know how to play," said Carolyn Brickey, an attorney with the Food Research and Action Center. "They (congressmen) will do what's right, politically right. We have to make sure that food stamps is not an easy place for them to cut.'

In short, congressmen, especially in this election year, will support what scores the most political points back home. That is the rule of the Accounts of food stamp abuse were brought up in congressional debate last year, and lawmakers cut the program by about $1.6 billion, stripping about one million families off the rolls.

Reagan this year has requested that food stamp outlays in fiscal 1983 be cut from $11.8 billion to $9.5 billion by various means, including counting home heating bill subsidies as income in determining eligibility. Since the higher household's income the less stamps it is eligible for, this provision would affect the working poor and elderly most heavily.

Because of the size of the deficit, we've been talking about more cuts in social programs.'

Thus far, cutting the food stamp program is a move that has found favor back in the district.

Stenholm, an influential southern Democrat who was mentioned as a "swing" vote in Friday's meeting of the food advocacy groups, is unlikely to support a smaller cut, according to Jaymie Clayton, a Stenholm aide

Because of the size of the deficit (projected to reach 091.5 billion in fiscal 1983), we've been talking about more cuts in social programs,' Clayton explained.

A Helms aide said the conservative Republican may seek a larger cut in the food stamp outlays than the $2.3 billion slice sought by reagan as a way to hold down the deficit. According to top-level sources in the Agriculture Department, the food stamp program has been targeted for large reductions because it is a popular program to cut.

"We were under orders from (Budget Director

David Stockman) to cut somewhere," said one department source. "This is the best place to get support."

The Congressional Budget Office estimates that more than five-sixths of all households would have their benefits cut if the administration's proposal goes through Congress. About an eight of the 7.5 million families who receive stamps would lose their benefits entirely under the decreased funding.

TEXAS STATE OFFICIALS say the food stamp cuts would reduce about 5 percent of the state's food stamp benefits. There are currently more than 1.1 million Texans participating in the state's $698 million program.

The administration contends that many of the 'working poor'' do not need food stamps, and that the scaled down program would still serve the truly needy

'The (CBO) figures are meaningless if they don't convince one congressman to support you," said an aide to a northern congressman who supports the program but has been reluctant Adds Janet Breslin, an aide to Vermont Sen. Patrick Leahy: "There has been little sympathy for retaining the program." Congressional observers say Democrat Leahy will lead the fight against the cut in the Senate and New York Democrat Fred Richmond will spearhead the defense in the House. According to sources in Congress and the administraion, Senate Finance Committee Chairman Bob Dole, R-Kansas, last year lobbied behind the scenes and persuaded Reagan to sponsor a smaller cut. But Dole, a longtime supporter of the program, has been quiet so far this year. His press secretary said he will handle the issue in the Senate Agriculture Committee.

Some food groups, including the Community Nutrition Institute, have speculated that House Agriculture Committee Chairman Kika de la Garza, D-Mission, will be leading opponent of the cut. But an aid to de la Garza said the congressmen has not decided what role he will

Family brings touch of America to China

KUNMING, China (AP) — Neglected for 13 years during the turmoil of the Cultural Revolution, Yunnan University's English department — and its contacts with America - have been revived by a spirited American family of three, a mother, her son and daughter.

When Elisabeth Benson Booz and her 24-year-old son Paddy, descended on Kunming early in 1979, their biggest problem was acceptance.

Some 50,000 American airmen had been based here in World War II, but the newcomers were the first foreigners since 1960, when the Soviet Union withdrew its Katherine Booz. 20. who succeeded her brother Paddy at the university last year, recalls: "One of our problems was fitting into the landscape. Wherever we went there were stares. They stared at us and we stared right back." No wonder. The Boozes were an interesting sight as they tooled around town on bicycles, Elisabeth weaving un-certainly through the traffic, Paddy in Mao jacket and matching trousers, Kathy with her good looks and flaxen

The Chinese soon got used to them, partly because the stares were met with smiles, and perhaps also because they seemed to be everywhere at once. Students, professors and townspeople appeared amazed by the energy of this small Yankee family.

Kunming, called the "city of eternal spring" because of its cool climate, and Yunnan province are famous as the home of 23 minority tribes, the most in all China. After a while, the locals were referring to the Booz family affectionately as the 24th minority tribe.

Elisabeth, known to friends as Ben, has spent most of her life abroad, about a third of it in Asia. Her father, a Kansas banker, met her English-born mother in Yugoslavia while financing a railway. She lived with her parents in Africa and other places, including Switzerland,

Later she married an economics professor who worked as a teacher and consultant in various Asian cities. After his death, this restless mother of five grown children—already accomplished as an artist and as the author of three children's books—refused to sit still. closer to leaders o

The UAW's Ford council voted overwhelmingly Wednesday to recommend that Ford's 170,000 union workers ratify the concessions agreement, Donald Ephlin, UAW vice president and head of the Ford department, said.

Chairman of Sony 'We never follow' says,

TOKYO (AP) - Akio Morita says the smartest business decision he ever made was turning down his first large order - and with it a chance to break into the U.S. market. That was 25 years ago, when Sony was an obscure Japanese firm struggling for survival.

Today, Morita, chairman, cofounder and controlling stockholder of Sony Corp., presides over an empire that last year rang up $4.2 billion in sales, has 35,000 employees and is a household name worldwide, its trademark registered in 176 countries. "We do what others don't," says the 61year-old Morita, eldest son of the 14th head of a sake brewing business that dates back to the 17th century. "We never follow."

That, he says, has been the company's motto since it opened for business in May 1946, less than a year after the atom bombings of Hiroshima and Nagasaki. Its business then was repairing radios on the third floor of a fire-bombed Tokyo depar

In 1957, Morita set out to conquer America, although his first try ended in failure. Approached by a U.S. company to distribute 100,000 "Soni" transistor radios, Morita agreed — but only if he could use the as yet unknown brand name. The Americans said no, and so did Morita

A few years later, Sony had established its reputation and was ready to challenge the market. Looking back on the original decision, Morita says, "We couldn't have done it any other way.

Morita has been in the vanguard of con sumer electronics for two decades, but the history of the firm that started out as Tokyo Telecommunications Engineering Corp. is a true rags-to-riches story.

In the early days, Morita recalls, he and his partner, electronics buff Masaru Ibuka. kept umbrellas propped on their desks to keep out the rain. Their first product, a rice cooker, was not a trailblazer for a long line of successful products. They made 100, sold Ironically, Sony's first commercial success, a tape recorder, almost was its undoing. Like the rice cooker, it wouldn't sell. Tape recorders were unheard of in Japan then - there wasn't even a word for it in Japanese - and the $400 price tag wa beyond the reach of most consumers.

Morita then did what he may do best: he created the market, although in this case somewhat unwittingly, by translating into Japanese a U.S. pamphlet entitled "999 Uses for the Tape Recorder." The boom that followed is history.

Dr. Donohue

Pregnant women avoid cat litter

Dear Dr. Donohue: Could you please give me some information on toxoplasmosis? I am preganant and have read that you can contact this disease from cats. Can you get it from being near them?-A.B.

Toxoplasmosis is a parasitic illness. Like most parasites, this one reaches full devleopment in a particular animal-in this case the cat, although many other kinds of animals may be infected with it.

The illness most usually causes swollen lymph nodes and fever, and more often than not, the person gets better without treatment. There are serious forms of toxoplasmosis, however, and they do require treatment. Your question about contracting the illness during pregnancy is a case in point. The woman may not get very ill herself, but the infection can be passed on to the fetus, in whom it can cause a number of developmental problems

Since the usual way to catch toxoplasmosis is from undercooked meat or from cat litter boxes, pregnant women should avoid stray cats, thoroughly cook all meat, and avoid handling cat litter. You will not get the disease from just being near a cat, but you can get it from its droppings. Since outdoor cats are not as clean as home pets, they are best entirely avoided

Dear Dr. Donohue: I have never had any foot troubles, but lately I have a strong burning sensation right in the center of my right foot (drawing enclosed). It comes and goes. What causes it?-Mrs. O.S. Your rendering of the human foot is great, but I can't tell from it if the sensation occurs on the bottom or top. The possibilities are many. It could be Morton's neuroma-a growth on a nerve.

That's if the sensation is on the bottom. Or it could be a fracture of one of the bones, the kind that comes from overuse—a stress fracture. Or it might be another nerve problem like the carpal tunnel syndrome that occurs in the wrist. In the foot, it is called the tarsal tunnel syndrome. When symptoms occur on the top of the foot, in the center (where you seem to indicate in your drawing) that can be related to tendons that attach leg muscles to the foot bones. That can be an area susceptible to inflammation.

This is a partial list of possibilities. It takes more than a description of pain and its location to tell the cause. You'd have to have a more complete examination, perhaps including X-rays. I do hope you'll have that done. Other foot disorders are discussed in the booklet "Relief and Care of Your Feet." Other readers may order by writing me care of the Big Spring Herald, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope and 50 cents.

Dear Dr. Donohue: I have rheumatoid arthritis and am thinking of trying gold salts. Recently, I read that gold salts are available in tablet form now, and that the tablet is not as toxic as the shots. Is the tablet form really available? And is it as effective as the injections?—Mrs.

Gold salts by mouth for the treatment of rheumatoid arthritis are still being studied, but are not yet available to the general public. If they are as promising as they seem to be, they will be a welcome addition to the arsena of rheumatoid arthritis treatments. The current gold salts are not absorbed from the digestive tract. That is why they have to be given by injection—to get them into circulation that way. Being able to deliver them to the body via the digestive tract will be a less painful method.

I just can't stop. God knows I've tried. My parents are disgusted with me and wouldn't spend a dime to get me cured.

I really can't blame them since I got myself into this. I saw a doctor just once, and he said it was a matter of selfcontrol. Abby, if I could control myself I wouldn't be writing to you.

I'm not fat, I'm normal, but I eat enormous amounts and keep eating and eating like there's no tomorrow. You wouldn't believe what I can down in 15 minutes. #### Thursday Notes

The indoor track season is several weeks old and it's about time to put on spikes and head outdoors. If you're preparing for the Boston Marathon, however, the training began long ago.

Coahoma's Sherill Easterling went to our nation's most prestigious race last year and ran the 26.2 miles in just over three hours. That was good enough to allow her to return this year. She hopes to have a partner, 53-year-old Donald Webb.

This past weekend, Webb won the 50-andover division at the monthly race of the West Texas Running Club in Brownfield. He covered eight miles in 50:12.0 while Easterling went the same distance in 53:20.0. Carl Wolf was second in the high school threemile while Dennis Smiley was fifth in the 30-39 division. Both are from Big Spring.

Easterling and Webb are going to Houston in two weeks for a marathon where Webb hopes to run under three hours, 20 minutes — the qualifying time at Boston. Easterling's big hope is that Webb runs as well as he has recently and gets that qualifying time. That way both can go to Boston and it's a lot easier striding with 10,000 other marathoners with a partner rather than going solo.

By the way, how do you prepare for "You work out for months," Sherill says, "and that's running 70 miles a week for four or five months."

There is not a lot of showing off you can do running megamiles but there is when you're playing pool. At least that's what a famous pool player says on those beer commer-

There will be plenty skill on the table Monday and Tuesday nights next week when the pool sharks of Big Spring begin competition at the Phun Haus tournament. The double elimination event gets started at 7:30 each night and ends at midnight. If another night is needed, that's okay by the management. There are 35 entries right now in the singles and 10 in the partners

I'm not sure billiards is a big-time sport but the folks must have thought so when the Phun Haus called me about the tourney. At least for the next week, it'll be considered a legitimate athletic event.

By the way, how many of you can name the guy on that clever beer commercial? No fair peeking at the TV. A poll of 15 folks at The Herald that either know sports or beer produced no results. That is, until we checked with publisher Tom Watson.

He knew the answer right off. I guess that's why he's the boss and we are punching typewriter keys.

The answer is printed at the end of the col-

Funny how these things go together but another great commercial by that same beer company has to do with golf. As I typed in the part about pool tourney, the phone rang with a hole-in-one call.

C.G. Griffin got a hole-in-one Wednesday afternoon at the Country Club. With a twoiron, he knocked in a shot on the 194-vard. par 3, No. 7 hole.

In his party were R.H. Weaver, Wally Slate, Bill McClendon, Tom South and Bill Bell.

Two things entered my mind after pro Gary Hammer hung up. First, all these guys had to be doctors to be playing Wednesday afternoon golf. If they were just skipping an afternoon at the office, they wouldn't have given me their names for everyone to read.

The second thing is, what would Bubba Smith say? After all, he's having enough trouble hitting those birdies, let alone a hole-in-one. Greg Jaklewicz

Klondike strikes gold in Sands

By GREG JAKLEWICZ
Sports Editor
The Atlantic Coast Conference is traditionally a league brimming with basketball powerhouses — North Carolina, Maryland, Duke, Wake Forest. Deep in the heart of West Texas is another league filled with basketball tradition — District 9-A.

In a league comprised of eight teams, no less than three of them have topped the 20-victory level this season. One of the teams — the Klondike Cougars made it through 14 district games without a defeat and will represent the league at the Class A regional tournament in Levelland Feb. 26-27.

Sands, despite a glimmering 25-5 season record, will have to stay home, the agony of finishing second in the

But wait until next year. Not only will Klondike and Sands be back along with third place finisher Borden County, but the league will gain Greenwood, a team with already 20 victories this year. Fortunately, the new UIL rule allowing two teams to advance in the playoffs will go into effect. Still, there will be a lot of great basketball being played in 9-A for those two precious playoff seats.

Coach Van Kountz has been at Klondike for three years and his teams have had 24-3, 22-7 and this year 22-3 seasons. He is quick to point out that Klondike has had a great basketball tradition for the past 14 years, going to the state tournament four times and winning it

His team this year has good size and pretty good downcourt speed to go along with it. Two girls, 5-6 thia Cave, had provided much of scoring punch with 14 points each contest

'She's our shooter," Kountz reports on Cave. Although his team's style is to work the inside to these two, Kountz likes to get Cave open outside for the jumps hot. "She's the best shooter on the team," he Completing the starting lineup are 5-6 senior guard Amber Echols, 5-5 junior forward Staci Mitchell and 5-5 junior Sandra Kountz. These three starters usually don't score much more than 10-15 points between them but they are good at their jobs of working the ball inside to the big girls. "We're not real big," Kountz confesses, "but we're probably bigger than most of the people we've played so far."

A main cog in the offense is the ball-handling of Echools who led the team in assists.

The Cougars averaged 53 points a game but that figure picked up only in the past few games says Kountz.

"The defense carried us all year. The last five or six games the offense has picked up. We finally started hitting the basket better and our press break has im-

That defense Kountz was referring to gave up just 24 points an outing. In the final district game of the year, the Cougars held Sands, which was averaging over 60 points, to just 31.

Klondike likes to press and also run a part man-part zone defense. Kountz, Mitchell and Airhart make the defense go their coach reports with Airhart getting nine rebounds and Echols seven each game.

When Kountz has to go to the bench, he looks to Melissa Schneider and Terri Cave. Schneider, a 5-7 junior, gets four points on offense and plays a big defensive role as does 6-0 sophomore Terri Cave. Her size helps when Klondike faces teams with height around the hoop.

Two of the three Klondike losses were to Forsan and the other a loss to Spur in the finals of the O'Donnell tourney. Highlights include the championship at the Southland tourney, district wins over Sands and Borden Co. and a defeat of Seagraves.

A trip to regionals would have been in the plans of Sands coach Gary Westmoreland had not Klondike been playing basketball in 9-A this year.

"The girls really did a good job overall," he said this week. "We played some good people and beat some good people but we couldn't beat Klondike and that's what it's all about."

Sands put a predominantely senior ballclub on the court this year. Good overall balance was Westmoreland's secret to success. When leadership was needed, the team looked to D'Ann Hall and Kathy Peacock at the post positions.

Hall scored 8.6 points and grabbed 7.4 rebounds for the Mustangs while Peacock gongributed 9.1 points and 7.1 rebounds. "These kids did as good under the circumstances as they could. They battled with the taller girls and beat most of them," Westmoreland said.

Sore shoulder? Well, possibly a headache

NEW YORK (AP) — As expected, the Gerry Cooney Larry Holmes World Boxing Council heavyweight championship fight, originally scheduled for March 15 at Caesars Palace in Las Vegas, Nev., has been postponed until June 11 because of torn muscle fibres in the challenger's left shoulder

But promoter Don King said that Holmes won't sit back waiting for Cooney's injury to heal.

"He will have an interim fight," King said. "He's a fighting champion and will continue in that vein. King mentioned Jimmy Young, Randy "Tex" Cobb or

Larry Frazier as possible opponents for Holmes, who left Las Vegas Wednesday to return home to Easton, Pa. Cobb, however, is recovering from a broken arm and is unlikely to be available for a March or April date against Cooney's injury was diagnosed by Dr. John Bergfeld of the Cleveland Clinic as "a partial tear and weakness in the muscle fibres in the back part of his left shoulder. Cooney described the injury, suffered during a sparring session last month, as "very painful...a sharp pain and The undefeated challenger said he was not concerned about the three-month delay dulling his ring skills.

"I want to be in the best shape I can be on June 11 and when the final bell rings, I'll be champion," he said. "I'm very confident.

Bergfeld and Dr. Jeffrey Minkoff, Cooney's personal physican, said that the challenger could continue with his roadwork but that he would not do any vigorous sparring for the next two weeks.

cises and anti-inflammatory medication, Bergfeld said. Cooney said he was sorry that the fight, for which each fighter has been guaranteed $10 million, would not be held as originally scheduled. The postponement was announced in a news conference at the New York University Medical Center Wednesday where Cooney underwent tests conducted by Dr. Stephen Ockner of the Cleveland Clinic, Bergfeld and Minkoff.

King said the delay would increase the value of the fight, already anticipated to be the richest in boxing history. With better weather in June, he said, more closed circuit facilities will be available and the gross value should increase from the original estimate of $50 million to between $75 and $100 million.

Texas teams win

RICHFIELD, Ohio (AP) — For Paul Mokeski, being traded from the Detroit Pistons to the Cleveland Cavaliers meant facing Moses Malone, the National Basketball Association's hottest player, on successive nights

Malone scored 44 points and grabbed 16 rebounds as the Houston Rockets beat the Cavaliers 110-102 Wednesday night.

Malone had scored 34 points in a 111-109 Houston loss to Detroit one night earlier. 'It's funny, because last night we played Houston, too, and he had the same kind of game," Mokeski said. Mokeski, who came to Cleveland as part of a four-player deal late Tuesday, showed well in his debut as Cleveland's backup center, holding Malone scoreless from the field over an eight-minute span during the third and fourth quarters.

'The only thing you can do is try to block him out," Mokeski said. "The only guy I can think of that's playing better offense is maybe (George) Gervin. But Moses has all those rebounds, too.' Malone has averaged 39.1 points and 17.6 rebounds over the past 10 games - nine of them Houston victories. The loss Wednesday was Cleveland's sixth

The Rockets needed a 14-2 closing surge, however, to beat the Cavaliers Cleveland led 100-96 with 5:40 to go before Allen Leavell's three-point play and Robert Reid's two foul shots gave Houston a 101-100 margin with 3:44 left. The Rockets led 104-100 when Cleveland's Scott Wedman hit a jump shot with 1:16 remaining, but Houston pulled away on two foul shots each by Malone and Reid and an Elvin Haves dunk Haves scored 20 points for the Rockets. James Edwards led Cleveland with 20 points, and Cliff Robinson, acquired by the San Antonio 126, Detroit 112

SAN ANTONIO, Texas (AP) - San Antonio basketball fans have long known that George Gervin is one of the best shows in town.

Gervin leads the National Basketball Association in scoring — has for the past three years - and Spurs fans know they can depend on "The Iceman" for consistent entertainment.

But sometimes, opponents will admit that they enjoy watching Gervin strut his stuff,

"I wish I was as lucky as you guys," said Detroit guard Isiah Thomas, talking to reporters after Gervin had blistered the Pistons for 49 points Wednesday, "because I would like to watch George Gervin play basketball every night.

Gervin's output was his best of the season and led the Spurs to a 126-112 victory, their third win in a row.

'Both teams came ready to play and we just exploded," said Gervin. "My teammates were setting good picks and getting me the ball.

The Spurs led by as many as 26 points late in the third quarter, but Pistons Kenny Carr, just acquired from Cleveland, and Vinnie Johnson each had 11 points in the fourth quarter as Detroit rallied within five points, "I don't know how many 20-point leads have been blown this year in the NBA," grumped Spurs coach Stan Albeck. "They made a great rally and we began to play tentatively. But the Pistons could get no closer and the

Spurs won going away. "We were happy to just get out with the win." said Albeck

Philadelphia 114, Dallas 109

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Before the game. Julius "Dr. J." Erving said he had "the blahs."

Before it was over, he gave them to the Dallas Mayericks

Erving went home Sunday with a broken bridge, cut finger, aching back and chest and still speaking from lips with two stitches

But two days off did wonders for Erving, who scored 26 points as the Philadelphia 76ers beat the Dallas Mavericks 114-109 Wednesday night. It was the 76ers' seventh straight victory.

He had a lot of help from his friends in snapping Dallas' three-game winning streak. Six other 76ers scored in double figures - Bobby Jones, 17; Steve Mix, Maurice Cheeks and Caldwell Jones, each 12; Earl Cureton, 11; and Andrew Toney, 10.

Cheeks also had 11 assists and four steals, while Cureton grabbed 12 rebounds.

Dallas was led by rookie Rolando Blackman with 23, while former 76er Jim Sparnarkel collected 22. Wayne Cooper had 20 points and 11 rebounds

Y soccer kicks off spring season soon

The Big Spring YMCA is gearing up for its spring season of youth soccer, according to Bob Cappel, Executive Director. Last fall, 114, boys and girls par-

"Participation is the name of the YMCA soccer game, Cappel said. "There are no tryouts in YMCA youth soccer. Each youngster who signs up is assigned to a team and has an opportunity to play in every game. In Y soccer no one who signs up ends up warming the bench for most of the game.' Participation is not the only aspect of YMCA soccer that sets it apart from many youth sports leagues. Another is its built-in values component. "In YMCA soccer, we seek to de-emphasize the win-at-all-cost philosophy," Cappel said. "Of course, youngsters will play to win. But in a variety of ways throughout the season, leaders will seek to put winning and losing into perspective. The emphasis will be on achieving personal goals, on the fun of playing as wel as on fair-play and good sportsmanship.

YMCA youth soccer programs have exploded across America in the past few years. Just five years ago, only 50 Ys across the country reported youth soccer programs. In 1982, 845 Ys are expected to be involved, with some 300,000 youngsters between the ages of six and 17 participating

For more details on the Ys soccer program, registration information, etc., call 267-8234 or stop by the Y at 801 Owens. The Big Spring YMCA is now registering for the spring season.

Sands almost made it

When it came to scoring, Penny Grantham did the job. She scored almost 17 points each game, hitting around 58 percent of her shots.

Opposite her on the left wing was junior Melinda Bearden who scored 13.3 points each game. Running the ballclub was point guard Laurie Mosely who also contributed a lot on defense while also scoring 7.5 points a night

Lisa Fryar came in to be a big plus for the Mustangs after she healed a broken foot. Three other seniors on the team were post Leann Billingsley, post Shana Taylor and guard Tammy Peugh. "They really contributed a lot to the team although they probably didn't get to play as much as they would have liked," said Westmoreland.

On offense, Sands scored 61 points each game and gave up only 38.

"The kids have a lot of pride and tradition," Westmoreland added. "We had two all-state players (Susan Martin and Jill Floyd) and the girls try to pattern their play after them.'

The Sands-Klondike game brought a full house to Ackerly Tuesday night. Judging by the traditions of these two schools, basketball fans in 9-A will continue to get their money's worth in the future and maybe the league will become as famous as the ACC side a farmhouse in rural Michigan where seven members of a family were murdered late Tuesday.

SEARCH FOR EVIDENCE - Investigators from the Clare County

Police issue alert for 'possible suspect'

FARWELL, Mich. (AP) — Police have issued a nationwide alert for a car that vanished from a farm where a shotgun massacre killed seven members of a family, sparing only a year-old infant who was shielded by her mother's body. Authorities had a "possible suspect" Wed-

Sheriff's Department and Michigan State Police search for evidence outnesday in the killings of 53-year-old mailman George W. Post, his wife, two daughters and three grandchildren. But Clare County Sheriff Ghazey Aleck refused to identify the suspect. Aleck also said police in the state were told to "be on the lookout" for the husband of one of the victims. Authorities said they had no solid motive in the

Tuesday night killings. They said it appeared one of the victims, a young mother, had tried to flee the central Michigan farm in a pickup truck, but was pursued and died with three of the four children she had with her.

Police awaited the results of autopsies today, but said each victim appeared to have been shot stunned by the killings.

'Why would anyone?'' asked Robert Van Buskirk, who knew Post from the Veterans of Foreign Wars local chapter, where Post was a past commander. "I can't imagine why it had to be kids especially."

The dead children ranged in age from 7 to 10. Aleck said authorities "would very much like to have" a 1980 Buick LeSabre that belonged to the Posts. It may have been stolen by the killer from the one-story, red-and-white house, police

Police were told to be on the lookout for Robert Haggart, whose wife Garnetta was among the seven dead, Aleck said.

Officials in Clare County Circuit Court in Harrison said Haggart did not appear Wednesday morning for a divorce hearing scheduled for him and his wife.

Court Clerk Kathleen Dent said Haggart had not retained a lawyer for the divorce proceeding, and Aleck said he was told by Mrs. Haggart's attorney it was not certain whether the husband was ever personally notified of the hearing

Aleck said Mrs. Haggart had returned to Michigan from Florida this week for the hearing. Aleck also said there was an unrelated felony warrant outstanding for Haggart, issued by authorities in Lenawee County, 150 miles away The warrant charges Haggart with passing bad

In addition to Post and Mrs. Haggart, 23, the victims of the shootings were Post's wife, Vaudrey, 42; another of Post's daughters, Helen Gaffney, 29, and her three children, Angela, 10, Tom, 8, and Amy, 7. The Gaffneys lived in a neighboring county.

Mrs. Gaffney's youngest child, Mandi, suffered a bump on the head, evidently when she was thrown to the floor of the family's pickup and shielded by her mother's body, Aleck said.

Mrs. Gaffney and her children apparently tried to flee in the truck but were pursued and fired on, Aleck said.

The killings were Michigan's worst multiple murder since June 1971, when eight people were slain in Detroit

Lawyer expects indictments soon in Wood murder inquiry

SAN ANTONIO, Texas (AP) - Grand jurors investigating the assassination of U.S. District Judge John H. Wood recessed for at least two weeks, but a lawyer close to the case predicts indictments will come

"It's just my feeling. I just know they're winding up the investigation," said Ravkind. "When it's over, they'll indict. There's no one else left to subpoena.

Ravkind's prediction that indictments could come within 60 days came more than a year after FBI Director William Webster touched off speculation charges were imminent by saying in Washington that "we know all the players.

Former Tyler chiet had hit list? TYLER, Texas (AP) -- A former undercover agent who says he was "totally addicted" to drugs has testified that former Tyler knew of his addiction but did not want to jeopardize their trumped-up narcotics arrests. Creig Matthews testified Wednesday that Hardy had a

Police Chief Willie Hardy

"hit list" of people he wanted jailed. The former officer was the first witness in Hardy's federal perjury and conspiracy trial, in which he is accused of lying about

Matthews' drug use. Prosecutors also claim he lied at the trials of Kenneth Bora and Johnny Allen Green to protect other drug cases. Mike Lusk, Matthews' former supervisor, was expected to testify today. Lusk was granted immunity for his testimony by U.S. District Judge William Wayne Justice. Matthews, who said he was addicted to drugs the last several months of an undercover investigation that resulted in 121 indictments. said he faked several drug cases to meet Hardy's quota. Matthews and Ramsey, his partner whom he later married, were the cornerstone of the massive 1979 drug crackdown.

He told FBI agents last summer he faked his case against Bora, who was then released from prison where he had begun serving a 20year prison term for assaulting Matthews. Bora's three cocaine possession trials, also resulting from tainted evidence, ended with hung juries.

Matthews said he twice showed Hardy needle marks on his arms at a meeting in March. He said the chief first refused to look, but then asked to see his arms again.

"He asked me if I could handle the situation, Matthews testified. "I said I could. If I had been pulled up. I would have lost my free drug supply.

The undercover officer said that Hardy would give him several days advance warning when a urinanlysis spot check was to be made so he could flush the drugs out of his system.

Wambaugh is one of 11 current or former law enforcement officers being considered for the post of police chief by Mayor Kathy Whitmire. Seven of the candidates applied for the job, and the other four, including Wambaugh, were recommended by various people. The mayor's office would not say who had recommended Wambaugh.

When Mrs. Whitmire saw Wambaugh's name on the list of candidates, "her only question was 'Who's Joseph Wambaugh?''' said mayoral spokesman Raul Reyes. Wambaugh, who also wrote "The back the film rights to "The Onion Field" from Columbia Pictures. Using his own money and that of investors, Wambaugh directed the 1979 film, which is about the murder of a policeman.

Lela Rolant of Allen-Rolant Public Relations in Los Angeles, which issued Wambaugh's statement, said the novelist found out about his recommendation through the news

"Joe knew nothing about it," Miss Rolant said Tuesday

Jay Allen of the public relations firm said Wambaugh was in seclusion working on a book.

"He's working on a new book there's no title. It's a new novel."

Wambaugh was with the tos Angeles Police Department for 14 years, and wrote his first three books, "The New Centurions," "The Blue Knight" and "The Onion Field," based on his experiences, Allen said. He eventually became a sergeant in the detective bureau of the city's Hollenbeck division.

The search for a new Houston police chief began shortly after Mrs. Whitmire was elected last November.

Clavell's 'Children's Story' addresses values of young

NEW YORK (AP) — It's 9 a.m. Do you know where your children's minds are?

That's the essential question raised tonight in "The Children's Story," a 30-minute program written, produced and directed by author James Clavell, about our children's values and how firmly rooted they are against Host Peter Ustinov introduces the piece, which will be seen in most of the country on the syndicated Mobil Showcase Network, by saying the setting may be as "close as your neighborhood." The time? "They've just conquered us." From there, Clavell spins a provocative tale, showing how easily such American values as country, religion and family can be erased from our children's minds.

A class of second graders anxiously awaits the bell on the first school day of the new order. At precisely 9 a.m., the new teacher (Michaela Ross, Clavell's actress daughter) enters. The unnamed teacher is dressed in an olive uniform with a red pin.

Miss Ross's character speaks sweetly, but there's an intimidating edge in her voice. She wins a measure of the students' confidence by already knowing their names, then systematically sets out to separate them from every value they thought was valuable.

Through nefarious twisting of words, she undercuts their former teachers for never having explained the meaning behind the Pledge of Allegiance. Continuing her indoctrination, she says it's not right that flags are placed above people and cuts it up for everyone to have a piece. Inthusiastically, the kids then toss the flagpole out the

Behind the guise of full disclosure, she solicits all questions, but answers none: "We're all one world now," she says, adding that school is for erasing wrong thoughts. By emphasizing weakness or short-run mistakes of parents and old teachers, she manipulates the kids' minds. They begin to doubt belief in God, prayer and, even, their parents. It's now 9:25. Total brain-washing time: 25 minutes.

"The Children's Story" wonders if impressionable second graders could readily relinquish the values of their parents and society. It strikes at the heart of our values, examining the strength of their foundations

The idea for "The Children's Story" came to Clavell 20 years ago, during the height of the East-West tension over the Berlin Wall, the Bay of Pigs and the Cuban missile crisis. Clavell's then 6-year-old daughter (Miss Ross) was mindlessly repeating the flag pledge, without any un-derstanding, when he realized how vulnerable her mind was. He then wrote his original "Children's Story," which he sold to "Ladies Home Journal" in 1963.

Is Clavell, the author of "Shogun," advocating more fundamentalist teaching in the schools? "I'm just a storyteller," he says. "It's not up to me to tell you what

Interpreter for SWCID, HC dental hygienist hired

BIG SPRING, TEXAS, THURSDAY, FEB. 18, 1982

By BOB CARPENTER

Staff Writer The Howard County Junior College District board of trustees hired two new employees Tuesday in its regular monthly meeting held on the HCJC

Hired to direct HCJC's new dental hygiene program was Gwena M. Gordon. Ms. Gordon has a MBA degree and is a registered dental hygienist. She will direct the school's dental program to begin the fall

Also hired yesterday as an interpreter for SWCID was Vicky Lee White, who holds a master's degree in deaf education and a bachelor's in physical education.

Dr. Charles Hays, president of HCJC, said both employees were highly recommended and he expected them to be an asset to the two institutions.

Dr. Hays said the dental hygiene program initially would cost approximately $150,000 to set up, but he added the program would be selfsufficient after being in operation for one year.

Charles Warren, board member, said there is a strong demand for people trained in dental hygiene. He said the program would help to ease the shortage of qualified people in the field and he felt HCJC would be making a solid contribution to the community with such a program. Additionally, the board approved the revision of the Student Record

Policy and the Part-time Faculty Handbook. The revision was slight and according to Dr. Hays the books were streamlined and excess verbage edited from the publications.

In other business, the board approved a $2,696 bid from A-1 Refrigeration to replace an ice machine in the Dora Roberts Student

In a brief president's report Dr. Hays said if any member of the public has a specific question about the operation of the Howard County Junior College District, Hays or his office would make every attempt to answer The board's next meeting will be March 4 at 12:30 p.m. in the Dora

Big Spring Steers here Tuesday night.

Tommy Stahl popped in a jump shot with 32 seconds to play to give Odessa a one-point lead that withstood a last-second attempt by John Green of the Steers giving the Bronchos a 41-40 District 5-AAAAA victory.

The loss dropped Big Spring to 2-4 in the second half of league play and the win was the first for Odessa. For the year, Big Spring is 13-17 while Odessa is 12-19.

"We played in leaps and bounds ... hit our high peaks and then some deep valleys," said coach Ed Haller. He watched his team muff a seven-point lead in the first half but then rally to go ahead by three with two minutes to play

Odessa battled back to tie the game at 39 but Robert Rubio put the Steers back on top with a free shot. The led all scorers with 20 points, nailed his game-winning jumper

The Steers had a final chance but Green's 15-footer couldn't find the net

The one-point defeat was the second of the second half of district and combined with a three-point loss at Permian, gives Big Spring three losses with a total of

"It was the same old story," Haller said dejectedly." If we played as hard mentally as we do physically, wouldn't lose a game. But you know what they say, 'if if and buts were candy and nuts

Big Spring led 16-9 moments into the second quarter after winning the first period by a 12-9 score when the scoring and that cold spell allowed Odessa to gain a 25-

Big Spring cut the deficit to two points in the quarter

The rally continued into the fourth quarter as the Steers grabbed a three-point lead but it didn't hold up under the hot-shooting of Stahl.

Big Spring shot a lowly 34 percent in the first half but rebounded to hit 18 of 45 attempts overall. Having an off-night was the team's top scorer Jerald Wrightsil who made just five of 15 attempts on his way to 12

Green wound up with 11 points to give the Steers only two players in double figures.

Stahl was the lone Broncho in twin figures. Haller had a lot of good words for Rubio who played despite being banged up in a pick-up game this past weekend. "Rubio did an outstanding job for us playing hurt," Haller said. "He did an excellent job on defense, got five rebounds and had some good ball-handling. The Steers are home Friday at 8 p.m. for the season finale with the San Angelo Bobcats, co-leaders of the second half with a 5-1 record.

Cain, a member of Congressman Charles Stenholm's staff, was in Big Spring yesterday fielding questions and visiting with concerned citizens of Big Spring and Howard County.

Cain, who is the mayor of Roscoe, said most of the questions received were either agricultural in nature or concerning Social Security benefits.

'Most of the agricultural questions have been about federal grants, about the set asides in the new farm bill and farmers wanting to know about financing alternate crops to cotton," Cain said.

Cain said some people were requesting assistance with Social Security problems such as how to receive benefits or asking if Congressman Stenholm could help them with specific benefit mixups.

"The questions have been varied, I've had people ask about where they could get new inventions handled, questions about Medicaid and Medicare and, of course, problems with income tax," Cain said.

Cain said it was Rep. Stenholm's hope to send a staff member to Howard County every other month to keep up contact with constituents. "It's been a pretty busy day so far and very successful," Cain said. By 4 p.m. Cain said 16 people had been to visit him in his temporary quarters in the

As for the new congressional redistricting plan, Cain said it would not affect the 17th District to any large degree. Cain said that by the time final boundaries are decided Stenholm will be representing from 35-40 counties with a total population of 500,000 people

"People sometimes think a congressman has a large staff to help him, but that is really not true. We wish there could be more members on the staff, but we just do the best we can with what we've got. We will continue to make the effort to be here as often as possible to talk with people and exchange ideas," Cain said.

Two persons shot

By BILL ELDER Staff Writer

A fracas at a northside bar last night resulted in the arrest of two men - one of them from Odessa - and the hospitalization of two persons with gunshot wounds, police said.

Arrested on public intoxication charges and being held in city jail this morning pending an investigation of the incident were James Barnes of 1403 N. Lee in Odessa and Jose Chavez Lopez of 609 N.W. Ninth, according to police reports.

Detectives were interviewing witnesses this morning to piece together a version of what happened.

The incident unfolded for police just a few minutes past midnight when a call was received of a shooting at Talito's bar at 408 N.W. Ninth, according to reports. Five officers arrived on the scene and found several persons fleeing the bar, said detective Lt. John Wolf.

One of the persons was identified as Luz De Los Santos of 606 N. San Antonio, Wolf said. De Los Santos was stopped for questioning and found to have three bullet wounds: one in the upper right arm, and one in the upper left shoulder and a third in the upper left forearm, Wolf said.

De Los Santos was taken to Malone Hogan Hospital for treatment of his wounds, according to police.

The second victim was tentatively identified as Josey Rameriz, who was found inside the bar with a bullet wound to the right hand, police said. Rameriz, for whom no address was available, was taken to Malone-Hogan

Hospital for treatment of her wound. Wolf said the woman has told investigators three different names for herself and police weren't sure if Rameriz was her true name. Possibly one other person may have been hurt in the incident. "We think one person left the scene that had been assaulted, but we don't have enough information on it yet, Wolf said.

A .22-caliber revolver was recovered at the bar, but police are unsure who to charge with wounding the two victims, according to Wolf.

New

juvenile books

By DONNA JACKSON

Children's Librarian When new books arrive, it takes some time to get them on the shelves and even longer to get them into the card catalog. Processing and cataloging are lengthy processes. As a result, new books are often on the shelves before corresponding cards are in the card catalog. (We are hoping to acquire a word processor to facilitate the procedure.)

Meanwhile we would like you to be aware of some of the new books we have. There have frequently appeared in this column short reports on new adult books so this time new juvenile titles will be featured.

With the growth of SWCID we have increased the collection of books related to deafness. We have recently added fairy tales with signed English including "Little Red Riding Hood", "Goldilocks", and "The Gingerbread Man."

Also in the non-fiction area is "Seeds, Pop! Stick! Glide!" It explains how various flowering plants develop and travel. It is illustrated with beautifully detailed photographs.

Biographies are often in demand. One recent addition is Johann Sebastian Bach, Music Giant. It tells of a life full of problems and wonderful music. Another biography is this short, photo-filled book, "Henry! The Sports Career of Henry

'Wild Animal Families' describes the early life of a variety of mammals including dolphins, elephants and rabbits. Polar bear cubs are born while their mothers are hibernating and after cleaning them up she goes back to sleep.

Another non-fiction addition "Nelson's Encyclopedia for Young Readers" in two volumes. It has over 200 entries with over 1500 illustrations to interest and inform 8-14 year old students.

In the fiction area we have 'Blood in the Snow'', a story about a boy who struggles and sacrifices to save a fox in a trap.

'Quest' is a collection of short science fiction stories featuring young people. 'Brainstorm' is a space adventure about the battle with a computer which not only controls its own distant planet but also causes storms on Earch which result in the loss of human minds.

Other new juvenile books include "The Submarine "The Electric Pitch' "The Windows of Book". Forever". "The Mine of Lost Days", and "The Witch Book.

These are just a few of the books that have been recently added to the collection. So come on in and her wound.

Recently, when Adrian Ayala of 1811 Hamilton was working at his machinist job at Oilfield Industrial Lines in the Industrial Park, a 3,800-pound slab of steel trapped him against the safety guard rail at his workplace.

In seconds, due to the quick thinking of his coworkers and O.I.L.'s safety staff, Ayala was whisked away in the company's newly purchased ambulance to the Malone-Hogan emergency room. Ayala was in the hospital five minutes after the accident happened.

"We had just finished machining one side of the steel plate and were turning it around to do the other side when it pulled out of the brace on the crane and the plate fell on me.

'I couldn't get out of the way because of the railing around the crane, but if the railing hadn't been there the steel probably would have crushed me," Avala said

Mike Barker, O.I.L. executive, said from what the company's investigative reports have shown so far is that the men evidently turned the steel around too quickly, losing control of the plate. The steel then flew out to the end of the crane's boom pulling out of the machine's brace and falling on Ayala.

"He was pinned between the pedestal of the crane and a low guard rail. Seventeen or 18 men ran over and lifted the plate off of him and we rushed him to Malone-Hogan in about five minutes," Barker said.

Ayala suffered ruptured lower intestines, compound fracture of the right foot and the muscles that connect the vertebra to the ribs were pulled away. Ayala said he probably would be out of work for three months until his leg could heal.

Ayala said from what he could discern from fellow worker and witnesses on the scene at the time of the accident, the bolts holding the crane pulled out of their concrete base due to the weight of the steel at the edge of the crane's boom.

Barker said the crane did not break or malfunction to cause the accident. He said O.I.L. still has the accident under investigation and is conducting a stress analyss test on the crane and two others just like it that perform the same task. He said the cranes had been shut down until the investigation could be completed.

"I really don't know what happened. All I remember is the steel falling and the next thing I remember is waking up in the hospital, but my friends said the crane wan't placed the way it should have been," Ayala.

Ayala harbors no ill feeling toward O.I.L. "I hope I can be back at work, I like my job as a machinist. O.I.L. has a good shop and good people to work with." Avala said

Mike Sherman, O.I.L.'s safety-medical department supervisor, said the engineering department of the company is conducting the stress tests on the cranes and he expected results of the tests to be co mpleted in the coming week.

He said it appeared the accident was caused by the way the machine shop crew was handling the piece of steel.

A Big Spring man is in Odessa Medical Center Hospital today recovering from a bullet wound received in the second shooting to be investigated by Big Spring police within a week.

Police have arrested a 43-year-old northside man on an aggravated assault charge after he reportedly shot another man late Saturday night.

According to police reports, three officers were called to Pearl's Social Club in the 300 block of North Lancaster at about 11:30 p.m. Saturday to answer a complaint regarding an intoxicated patron.

UPON ARRIVAL at the club, Officer Henry Weilbacher said he heard three gunshots. Weilbacher said he then observed a man standing on the front porch of the club holding a single-barrel .20-gauge shotgun. The man, identified by police as Wimley White of 903 N.W. Sixth, told Officer Dean Boyd he had shot a man, Weilbacher said in his report.

The victim, Vernon D. Ausbie of 1803 Hamilton, apparently had been taken by private vehicle to Malone-Hogan Hospital just before the officers got to the club, said detective

Sgt. Lonnie Smith this morning. Smith said White had been the one who called police to have Ausbie removed from the bar because of his intoxicated state.

It was unclear why White allegedly shot Ausbie while awaiting police

Local radio executives vying for Lamesa station license

By BOB CARPENTER Staff Writer

LAMESA — Four applicants — including David Wrinkle, sales manager of KBST in Big Spring and Dick and Donna Fields, owners of KBYG, also located in the Spring City — are vying for permission to establish an FM radio station in

The frequency would be channel 262C at 100.3 megacycles on the dial. The frequency was assigned to Lamesa several years ago and actually put to use approximately two years until the station shut down because of frequency interference with a Lubbock television signal.

Filing for the station permit from Big Spring are David Wrinkle, sales manager at KBST, who applied for the permit on Jan. 29, and Dick and Donna Fields, Albert Hajny and Roberto Gonzales, who also filed on Jan. 29. The Fields are the owners of Wrinkle's application calls for the employment of nine persons and a corporation made up of members of the Wrinkle family. His application proposes a 100,000 watt station powered with a transmitter 13.8 miles southeast of Lamesa on Highway 87 with a 487 foot antenna. A suitable studio site will later be determined. according to Wrinkle.

Wrinkle proposes himself to be 100 percent general owner and operator of

The Fields, Hajny and Gonzales indicated they want to build a studio at the intersection of South Eighth and Lynn Ave. with a 50,000 watt transmitter at South Seventh and Lynn. Antenna height will be 287 feet, according to the application.

Gonzales is listed as the proposed general manager with both English and Spanish language programming listed on the request.

Also applying for the station is Edward M. Johnson and Associates of Knoxville, Tenn., who filed for construction of the station on June 26,

Johnson's bid calls for a 100,000 watt station with a 295 foot tower located at North Third and Ave. Q. Another proposed application is by Hispanic Broadcasting of Odessa. Presently, specification for this station are unavailable.

The Johnson application is on file at Lamesa City Hall; the Wrinkle application is on file at the Lamesa Chamber of Commerce office at 307 North Houston and the Field's request is at the office of Bob Crawley Realty at 1502 North Dallas.

According to Wrinkle it will take 12 to 18 months for the Federal Communication Commission to rule on who gets the rights to broadcast on the
