

Guatemalan president ousted by troops

GUATEMALA CITY (AP) — Military officers who ousted Guatemala's right-wing president and installed a three-man junta say they acted because elections earlier this month were rigged to prolong an unpopular and corrupt regime.

Tanks and troops ringed the presidential palace in the Tuesday coup but no violence was reported. It was the first military takeover in 19 years in Guatemala, Central America's most populous nation racked by hundreds of political killings and a leftist rebellion.

Junta leader Efraim Rios Montt, a retired general who ran unsuccessfully for president eight years ago, told reporters he would dissolve congress and rule by decree with junta colleagues Gen. Horacio Maldonado Shad and Col. Francisco Gordillo.

In a televised address later, Rios Montt promised reforms and asked leftist guerrillas to lay down their arms, saying "subversion should not continue."

Rios Montt said ousted President

Gen. Fernando Romeo Lucas Garcia fled the country by plane. It was not known where he sought sanctuary. Nor was there any word from Lucas Garcia's elected successor, Gen. Angel Anibal Guevara, who had been scheduled to take office July 1. The U.S. Embassy in Guatemala said it had received word that Guevara was safe.

Guevara, a close associate of Lucas Garcia, was elected March 7 amid widespread allegations that the voting was rigged.

Rios Montt told a news conference the ousted right-wing president and his successor had "imposed a government on us that does not represent the people."

Rios Montt, wearing a military uniform, promised elections to choose a new government but set no date. He also said "there is no state of siege in the country."

Coup leaders, described as junior military officers, also seized state-run radio and played martial music mixed with announcements that the rebellion was prompted by "corruption following a fraudulent election."

Rios Montt ran unsuccessfully for president in 1974 as candidate of a coalition headed by the center-right Christian Democratic Party. His two junta colleagues held high posts during Lucas Garcia's four years in office.

The junta leader vowed to "change Guatemala's image by way of its foreign relations, especially with the United States," which has criticized the country's human rights record.

The United States stopped military aid to Guatemala in 1977 after a dispute stemming from the government's refusal to accept human rights conditions.

Right-wing "death squads," paramilitary groups reportedly linked to the government and wealthy landowners, are blamed by Roman Catholic Church and human rights groups for most of the estimated 300 political killings reported each month.

Gun-toting stewardess foils arson attempt

HERESIA QUINN captures arson suspect

DALLAS (AP) — Her feet planted wide apart and her pistol gripped in both hands, Theresa Quinn pointed the gun at an arson suspect and told him not to move or she would shoot. She held him at gunpoint for 20 minutes until help arrived.

Ms. Quinn is not a police officer. She is a 29-year-old flight attendant for American Airlines. But she meant business.

"I'd have shot him in the head if he came toward me, and in the legs if he'd tried to get away — but I was scared to death. I've never killed anything before," said Ms. Quinn.

She said she grabbed her pistol and went after the man when she saw him skulking behind her house as fires ripped through the neighborhood.

Police arrested Lawrence Berg, 32, and charged him with seven counts of arson, accusing him of setting house six fires and trying to set a seventh.

Berg has been awaiting trial since he was indicted in Collin County last month on burglary and arson charges, said Dallas police officer Andrew White, who made the arrest.

Berg told police he had been unemployed since losing his job as a liquor store clerk two months ago. He remained in city jail after Municipal Court Judge Reginald Middleton set bond at $70,000 — $10,000 on each charge.

Ms. Quinn said she was standing on the deck of her swimming pool, watching firefighters battle a series of six house fires that erupted in the affluent, north Dallas neighborhood in less than an hour.

She said she became suspicious and went for her gun when she saw a man sneaking into a nearby garage.

"Out of the corner of my eye, I saw this man running up beside the fence and he was crouching real low like he was hiding from something," she said.

"I came around the corner and caught him literally with his pants down — he was urinating," she told laughing reporters. "I held it (the gun) to his head and told him to put his hands up. He wanted to finish what he was doing but I told him to keep his hands in the air ... I told him I wanted him to keep his hands where I could see them.

"He kept trying to tell me he was looking for the man who had set the fires. I said, 'Well, I saw you do it. Just save your story for the police.'

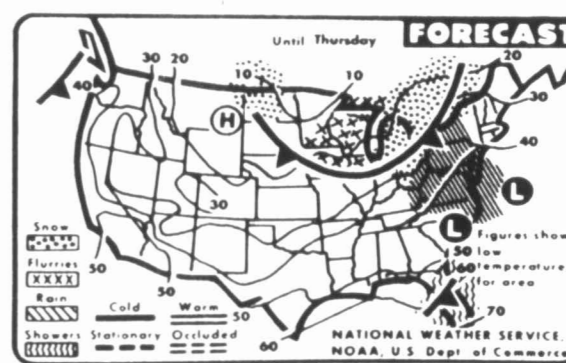

"He said, 'What will you do if I start walking to my car?'" she continued. "I said, 'I'll shoot you.' He said, 'You might do that,' and I said, 'It'll cost you a bullet to find out.'"

The six mid-afternoon fires erupted in a three-block area, with the sixth fire breaking out 50 minutes after the first one was reported, said Dallas Fire Capt. W.A. Richardson.

Firefighters said they suspected arson as soon as they arrived to fight the first one and saw other fires spreading against the wind.

Richardson said investigators had not determined how the fires began. A firefighter at the scene said it appeared the first fire started when someone used a cigarette lighter on some sofa cushions.

Weather

WEATHER FORECAST — Snow and snow flurries are expected in the forecast period, Wednesday until Thursday morning, from the upper Midwest to the Great Lakes and Ohio Valley. Rain is forecast from western New York to the Carolinas with showers extending to Florida. The West will be mostly sunny.

Dense fog covers Southeast Texas

By The Associated Press

Dense fog covered much of South Texas and Southeast Texas as well as the Amarillo area early today, prompting the National Weather Service to issue travelers advisories because of hazardous driving conditions.

Fog reduced visibility to near zero in some areas, including Del Rio and northern portions of Houston. Visibility was reduced to about one-eighth of a mile over a vast area, including Laredo, Corpus Christi and Victoria.

Some drizzle was reported in East Texas and light showers fell in portions of Southeast Texas. Skies were clear over West Texas.

Early morning temperatures were mostly in the 50s, ranging from the 40s in the Panhandle to the 60s in extreme South Texas. Extremes ranged from 41 at Amarillo 69 at Brownsville.

EXTENDED FORECAST

WEST TEXAS — Partly cloudy Friday through Sunday with a chance of thunderstorms southwest Friday and most sections Saturday. Warner Friday and Saturday. Highs in the 50s north to 60s south Friday warming into the 60s north to 70s south and 80s Big Bend over the weekend. Lows in the mid 20s north to 30s south Friday moderating to the mid 30s north and 40s south over the weekend.

WEST TEXAS — Fair through tonight. Partly cloudy and cooler most sections Thursday. Highs near 70. Panhandle to upper 80s Big Bend valleys. Lows upper 20s Panhandle to upper 40s extreme south. Highs Thursday mid 50s Panhandle to mid 80s Big Bend valleys.

Shuttle camera failure cancels key test

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — Columbia's flight plan this time out calls for the astronauts to inspect the ship and its operations more thoroughly than ever. That's why it has been equipped with eight television cameras.

When two of those cameras failed on Tuesday, it crippled the use of the shuttle's mechanical arm, and forced cancellation of a key test. In effect, loss of the cameras blinded the view of astronauts Jack Lousma and Gordon Fullerton and prevented them from using the arm to move cargo in the 60-foot bay of the spacecraft.

"That camera deal is a real bummer," groused Lousma after a frustrating day of trying to troubleshoot the problem.

One camera is positioned in each of the four corners of the cargo bay, two are inside the crew cabin and two are on the Canadian-built mechanical arm — one at the elbow and one at the wrist.

The wrist camera is critical. It was to be the "remote eye" of the astronauts as they tried to grasp a desk-sized science package with the "hand" of the mechanical arm.

Flight director Neil Hutchinson said the science package, called the Induced Environment Contamination Monitor (IECM), was not even visible to the astronauts from windows overlooking the payload bay.

Lousma and Fullerton planned to guide the mechanical arm to the IECM, grasp a fitting and grapple the science package out of the payload bay. They could then hold the package outside the spaceship while it gathered samples of gasses and particles.

But without their remote television eyes they were helpless.

The problem developed when the astronauts tried to turn on the cameras. As power was applied, circuit breakers popped open, and two of the cameras shut down. It was like a fuse blowing in a house when a circuit is overloaded.

"Say, something funny is happening with this camera," reported Fullerton at one point. "The lights blinked on and off about three times. At the time it did its last blink, it's out. It popped itself out."

Mission Control studied the problem, but found no solution.

Edward Fendel, an engineer in charge of the cameras, said it appeared there was a short circuit in them, a problem that could not be easily fixed.

"We'll probably not be able to recover either camera for the mission," he said.

Space agency engineers tried to develop an alternate plan with tests on the ground. Astronaut Henry Hartsfield used a ground-based simulator of the arm to see if it could safely pick up cargo from the payload bay without the cameras. He determined that by using the elbow camera and some precise settings on a computer guiding the arm, Lousma and Fullerton could move one cargo package that could be seen from the cabin windows.

Lousma and Fullerton, frustrated by the cameras, also offered solutions.

"It's our opinion we could safely grapple a PDP (plasma diagnostics package — an experiment visible from the cabin) just looking out the window with the help of binoculars, but not hurt anything," suggested Fullerton.

Eventually Mission Control agreed and Hutchinson said the attempt would be made today.

Failure of the cameras goes far beyond one frustrating day in space. NASA officials are anxious to demonstrate the ability of the mechanical arm to maneuver cargo. The arm will be vital when Columbia starts flying commercial cargo late this year. The arm was moved around on the second flight of Columbia, but it has never been used to grapple cargo in space.

Army takes control in Bangladesh

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — The Bangladesh army seized control of that impoverished Asian nation early today, toppling the elected civilian government of President Abdus Sattar in a swift and apparently bloodless coup, the official Dacca radio announced.

Army chief Gen. H.M. Ershad imposed martial law and proclaimed himself chief martial law administrator and head of government, according to the broadcast monitored in Calcutta, India. It quoted him as saying he would appoint a president "of my own choice" and a council to advise him.

The proclamation of martial law accused Sattar's administration of failing to function effectively and charged that "wanton corruption at all levels" of government was causing unbearable suffering for the 90 million people of Bangladesh, the state-run radio reported.

The army also acted in order to restore a badly deteriorating law and order situation, it added.

Ershad, 52, dissolved the Parliament and suspended the government and its constitution, the radio said. All government offices and schools were closed and banking transactions halted.

There was no official word on the fate of ousted President Sattar, 75, who earlier was reported in poor health. The United News of India said he had been placed under house arrest but this could not be independently confirmed.

Ershad moved to strengthen his position by naming the heads of the navy and air force, Rear Adm. Mehboob Ali Khan and Chief Air Marshal Sultan Mehmood, as his deputy martial law administrators. The country was divided into five zones, with a regional martial law commanders placed in charge of each.

Cabinet rejects Begin resignation offer

JERUSALEM (AP) — Israel's Cabinet rejected Prime Minister Menachem Begin's offer to quit after a tie vote in Parliament on a no-confidence motion, spurred by the military crackdown on Palestinian rioters in occupied Arab territory.

The 58-58 vote Tuesday in the 120-seat Knesset, Israel's Parliament, had brought the government to the verge of collapse because Begin had threatened to resign if he did not get a clear vote of confidence. Four Knesset members were absent.

"The Cabinet has just decided to reject the prime minister's proposal whereby he would have gone to the state president and tendered his resignation," Cabinet Secretary Aryeh Naor said.

The decision came during the fifth day of Palestinian rioting in the occupied West Bank of the Jordan River and Gaza Strip, territories seized by Israel in the 1967 Middle East war.

In violence reported today, Israeli soldiers shot and killed a young Palestinian demonstrating in the West Bank town of Hebron, the mayor said. Military authorities said they were investigating. Two other Palestinians have been killed by troops since the riots began.

Coup warning being issued

SAN SALVADOR, El Salvador (AP) — A flag-waving campaign for Sunday's Constituent Assembly elections goes into its final day today with politicians warning of a possible coup if the balloting is rigged.

Today also is the second anniversary of the assassination of Archbishop Oscar Arnulfo Romero. His successor as leader of the nation's powerful Roman Catholic Church, Monsignor Arturo Rivera y Damas, called off a commemorative mass to avoid possible violence, his office said.

Open for business

"It's a gloomy moment in the history of our country. Not in the lifetime of most men has there been so much grave and deep apprehension; never has the future seemed so incalculable as at this time. The domestic economic situation is in chaos. Our dollar is weak throughout the world. Prices are so high as to be utterly impossible. The political cauldron seethes and bubbles with uncertainty. Russia hangs as usual like a cloud, dark and silent, upon the horizon. It is a solemn moment. Of our troubles no man can see the end."
—Excerpt from Harper's Weekly, October 1857

Pessimism has always been with us even though we have abundant reasons for optimism for the future. James Michener's great new book, "USA," has the following comments in the foreword:

"We have presidential elections every four years, and they are always orderly. Somebody is elected and it goes without saying that the loser accepts the decision of his fellow citizens. There's no need to bring tanks onto the streets to enforce the mandate of the people. The Supreme Court is going to go on. The Congress is going to continue... We have one of the most orderly political systems in the world... We have not lost our skills. We are still very good in managerial ability, in manufacturing goods for people and distributing them. We need optimism.

"I don't see how individuals or society can move forward without the belief that 10 years down the road life will be good, that individual merit will be rewarded and that the nation will make the right decisions. Certainly people all over the world believe these things when they think of the United States.

"When traveling abroad, that becomes abundantly clear to me. No matter where I am, people come to me at my hotel late at night, begging me for assistance in getting into America. They want to be here — they want to share in the American dream."

Some very interesting statistics were reported by HAL BOYD, Manager of the Big Spring Industrial Park. At the present time, there are 1300 employees in 35 firms at that industrial site PLUS 55 employees and 132 students at SouthWest Collegiate Institute of the Deaf PLUS 80 employees and 325 inmates at the Big Spring Federal Camp.

The prospects are continuing to come into Big Spring looking for industrial sites even though all the general purpose space there is full. Fortunately, our industrial team and foundation has other possible sites to show them.

DAN WILKINS of the EDWARD D. JONES COMPANY gave us the good news that the average annualized rate of inflation for the first three months is under 5 percent.

TIDBITS: In 1916, Jeanette Rankin of Montana was the first woman to be elected to serve in the Congress of the United States. That was four years before the Nineteenth Amendment, which gave women the right to vote, was passed.

Until February 28, 1968, Connecticut State Law required that women criminals be given longer sentences than men criminals, even when convicted of the same crime.

Can you believe it's been almost a year since our county Centennial celebration. Plans are afoot for a county-wide observance on May 28, for our annual county birthday party!

Economists hint at era of 'low inflation'

WASHINGTON (AP) — It's still more a hint than a prediction, but economists see increasing signs that the nation may be entering a new era of low inflation.

After nearly two decades of steadily worsening inflation, economists say, the price spiral may be unwinding during the 1980s, released from some of the same forces that fueled double-digit inflation during the 1970s: oil, wages and the government.

"Underlying inflationary pressures are slowing substantially," said Donald Ratajczak, who issues inflation forecasts for Georgia State University's College of Business Administration. "Double-digits may no longer be a significant possibility in this decade."

The optimism expressed by Ratajczak and other economists does not simply reflect the swift decline in the inflation rate that has occurred in recent months. With the economy beset by a sharp recession and high unemployment, it is typical for price increases to slow substantially.

Going beyond that, the economists' encouragement comes from several seemingly fundamental changes in the nation's economic behavior, including reduced dependence on imported oil, wage concessions by some of the largest unions, increased price competition within large industries and a steadier anti-inflation policy carried out by the federal government.

These factors could lay the groundwork for a new low-inflation environment that will last even when the economy is growing strongly again and unemployment comes down.

In the same way expectations of high inflation fed on each other to keep the wage-price spiral rising, newly emerging expectations that inflation is coming down could help achieve the reality of "dis-inflation."

"Certainly, there are some genuinely encouraging signs," said Alfred E. Kahn, former President Carter's chief inflation fighter. "Most heartening are the wage givebacks. They're getting more widespread," Kahn said, noting concessions the United Auto Workers union has granted the auto industry and those the Teamsters have granted trucking companies in return for increased job security.

The Labor Department reported Tuesday that consumer prices rose at an annual rate of 3 percent in February. Since December, inflation has averaged a 3.7 percent rate, the lowest in nearly six years.

No one expects inflation to stay that low for a sustained period and only a few economists endorse the Reagan administration's forecast of an inflation rate of less than 5 percent during the mid-1980s. A 6 percent to 7 percent inflation rate is a more common forecast. Inflation has been under 7 percent only twice during the past nine years. It was over 10 percent three times during that same span.

Houston's new police chief must gain support of aides

HOUSTON (AP) — Lee P. Brown, the Atlanta public safety commissioner who headed the investigation into the slayings of 28 black youths, easily won confirmation as Houston's first black police chief.

But the 44-year-old Brown still must get the support of assistant and deputy police chiefs who criticized the selection of Brown but now have the job of carrying out his policies.

The City Council confirmed Brown's appointment by an 11-3 vote Tuesday despite opposition from the 2,500-member Houston Police Officers' Association.

About 200 people crowded into the council chambers cheered and applauded after Mayor Kathy Whitmire certified the vote, making Brown the eighth police chief in as many years and the first selected outside the Houston Police Department in 40 years.

Christine Hartung, one of the three dissenting council members, told Mrs. Whitmire she respected her choice but added, "I feel that with the morale (in the police department) the way it is, it would have helped to have found someone in the community."

Brown's nomination drew negative responses from assistant and deputy police chiefs, who were angered the mayor selected an outsider, and the Police Officers' Association, who claimed Brown lacked adequate management skills.

Brown met with nine assistant police chiefs for about four hours after the council meeting and said he believed he could overcome any pessimistic feelings.

"My anticipation is to work with all people who want to make the police department here a showcase for the national and to roll up my sleeves and get to work," Brown said.

Hearing scheduled on gag order request

HOUSTON (AP) — A state judge will rule Thursday whether to issue a gag order in the case of a deputy constable accused of murdering a 17-year-old burglary suspect.

Prosecutors asked State District Judge Richard Trevathan on Tuesday to prohibit attorneys and witnesses from discussing the case outside the courtroom.

Assistant District Attorney Terry Wilson said the request was made to prevent a change of venue in the trial of Billy Hampton McCreight, a Harris County deputy constable.

McCreight, 44, is charged with murder and civil rights violations in the beating death of Steven Barnette, who died Saturday of a ruptured spleen caused by a blow to the stomach.

But McCreight's attorney, Mike Ramsey, claims two Harris County sheriff deputies who had custody of the teen-ager have conspired to cover up the truth.

Ramsey said he believes Deputies William T. Gordon, 39, and William F. Whigham, 40, beat Barnette after arresting him at the scene of a burglary.

Both deputies have been suspended with pay pending an investigation.

West Texas history packed into one room

SIERRA BLANCA, Texas (AP) — A door at the tiny offices of the Sierra Blanca Chamber of Commerce is labeled "The E.A. (Dogie) Wright Collection."

Stepping through the doorway is like stepping backward in time. Inside are memorabilia and photographs detailing the 101-year history of this town of 700 and the history of the surrounding countryside that is West Texas.

But more than that, the room is the life and times of Wright, 80, former sheriff of Hudspeth County, retired border patrolman, Texas Ranger and "halfway historian."

"I've been all over this country on foot or horseback at one time or the other," Wright said of the West Texas ranges. "I love this country. It's my home."

Wright has called Sierra Blanca home since the early 1920s when he went there as a Border Patrol officer in the days when the border was still patrolled on horseback and shootouts weren't uncommon.

But he is hesitant to talk about himself and his adventures, preferring to discuss the photographs and mementos he has collected over the years. The photos tell his story.

There is a photo of Wright as a Texas Ranger in Presidio in 1921 and several of his father, a captain in the Rangers.

There are photos of Wright and his fellow Border Patrol officers lined up with their horses in 1924 and a later, similar photo in which the horses had been replaced by automobiles.

There is a photo of Wright in the Arizona desert, where he served as an assistant Border Patrol chief for eight years before returning to Sierra Blanca. And there are photos of him as the Hudspeth County sheriff.

The room also is filled with photos and items Wright collected that detail Sierra Blanca's history from its beginning as a railroad stop in 1881.

After Wright finished his four terms as sheriff in 1968, he began organizing the collection and documenting the history of the area.

He made nine hour-long tape recordings on area history, speaking without a script and pausing only occasionally to check a date. The tapes serve as the captions for the photographs, identifying them and explaining their significance.

But Wright doesn't need the tapes when he is looking through the collection. The names, faces and dates come quickly to mind.

Looking at a 1920s photo of Border Patrolmen with their cars, Wright points out that the cars were a now-defunct brand called Star.

"Did you ever hear of those?" he says. "Well, they didn't last long, but they were pretty good cars." He says it as if Star was discontinued recently.

Wright sees a picture of himself with the late Supreme Court Justice William O. Douglas at a canyon near Sierra Blanca.

"He came out here to see this country," Wright says. "He was really involved in nature and walking and that kind of stuff." Douglas, a staunch environmentalist, probably would have smiled at the description.

"We built nine towers on the Rio Grande that covered about 20 miles of the river," Wright recalled. "They were made out of two layers of iron with sand in the middle to make them bulletproof. You climbed up a ladder in this tube so that they couldn't shoot you."

Asked if he had ever been shot at, Wright just smiled, said, "Oh, once in a while," and went on to the next photograph.

Nobody shoots at Wright anymore. At 80, he uses a cane when he walks and he has traded his horse in for a compact car. He and his wife, Mabel, live in the same white house they have occupied in Sierra Blanca for more than 50 years.

3 indicted in $300,000 gold jewelry robbery

HOUSTON (AP) — An Air France employee and two other men have been indicted on charges accusing them of stealing more than $300,000 worth of gold jewelry from two Italian couriers at Houston Intercontinental Airport.

Gerald Thomas Vertucci, 43, of Houston; Victor A. Mendez, 32, of Deer Park, N.J.; and Anthony J. Romanello, 44, of Almont, N.Y., each were charged with four counts of theft in the Dec. 3 heist.

If convicted, the men would face maximum sentences of 30 years in prison and $30,000 fines. The three were held on bond of $50,000 each.

Vertucci, who was employed by Air France, told investigators he was carrying the gold jewelry — mostly 14- and 18-carat chains — from one airport terminal to another when an armed bandit forced him into a van and ordered him to drive to a motel.

Airlines may object to Braniff-Pan Am deal

WASHINGTON (AP) — Air Florida, Eastern Airlines and other carriers have until Friday to file objections to the attempt by Braniff Airways to sell its Miami-South America route to Pan American World Airways.

A spokesman for the Civil Aeronautics Board said a ruling is expected to be handed down in mid-April.

Braniff, which is struggling to stay in business, has asked for a decision by April 13 on its proposal.

Although the CAB has set no meeting on the proposal, it likely will try to accommodate the request for expedited action, according to Edgar B. Hamilton, a public affairs officer for the board.

Air Florida and Eastern have said they want to take over the route if Braniff is going to give it up. After the two airlines, or any other interested parties, submit comments to the CAB on Braniff's proposal, Braniff and Pan Am would have until the following Friday, April 2, to reply.

After all the paperwork is submitted, the CAB staff will review it and make its recommendations to the board.

Earlier in the month, the CAB announced an airline default protection plan, by which other airlines would honor the tickets of any carrier which goes bankrupt. Hamilton said a final order with full details is expected to be released by the end of this month.

The plan, although eagerly sought by Braniff, was not designed specifically for the airline, Hamilton said. The Dallas-based airline was concerned that people might quit buying Braniff tickets if they feared the company would go bankrupt and that their tickets might not be honored.

But American Airlines, also based in Dallas, announced that it would not honor any "free" tickets handed out by Braniff, such as "two for one" tickets that allow a passenger a free trip for every one he pays for.

Under the plan, passengers with tickets issued by a bankrupt carrier would be able to use them on a space-available basis at any other airline flying the same route. The airline accommodating the passenger would receive from a special default pool 25 percent compensation for the value of the ticket — an acceptable arrangement to the airline since it is getting something for a seat that would otherwise be empty, Hamilton said.

In another matter relating to Braniff, American Airlines asked the CAB recently — when it appeared that Braniff might be on the verge of shutting down any day — that American be allowed to take over Braniff's route from Dallas-Fort Worth to London.

A board spokesman said American's request was viewed as an attempt to be "first in line" in case Braniff ceased operations in the near future and an immediate decision had to be made on who should get the route.

Braniff's five-year right to the route runs through next January. Applications are due by July from it or any other airline that wishes to serve the route.

NATO ministers reach accord on N-weapons

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo. (AP) — Western alliance defense ministers end a two-day meeting here today in apparent accord on key policy issues aimed at curbing U.S. and Soviet nuclear firepower.

The meeting of 13 ministers, who consider nuclear questions twice a year, was due to close with a communique and a news conference featuring NATO Secretary-General Joseph Luns and U.S. Defense Secretary Caspar Weinberger.

A senior U.S. official reported "a high degree of agreement" among the ministers in Tuesday's secret sessions in a resort hotel at the foot of the Rocky Mountains.

The United States seems to have nailed down North Atlantic alliance backing for President Reagan's proposal to forgo deployment of 572 new U.S. medium-range missiles in Western Europe if the Soviets scrap about 650 similar weapons already in firing positions.

Weinberger also appears to have assured the United States of alliance support for rejection of Soviet President Leonid I. Brezhnev's latest attempt to block the U.S. deployment, which is scheduled to begin late next year.

A week before the ministers met, Brezhnev announced a unilateral freeze on deployment of medium-range missiles in the western Soviet Union.

The senior U.S. official, briefing reporters under ground rules protecting his anonymity, said the NATO ministers feel Brezhnev "seeks to legitimize the current Soviet superiority" in such weapons, including 300 advanced triple-warhead SS-20 missiles. NATO has no similar weapons now.

At the same time, the NATO ministers will come away from this meeting with a U.S. commitment to move speedily toward opening negotiations with the Soviet Union on reducing strategic nuclear weapons, the long-range missiles and bombers that constitute the main nuclear punch of the superpowers.

The United States and the Soviet Union already have started talks in Geneva on how to reduce shorter-range nuclear missiles on both sides in Europe.

The senior U.S. official quoted Weinberger as telling his fellow defense chiefs that "we are in the final stages of preparing" possible proposals to be placed before Reagan and the National Security Council, a preliminary to opening strategic weapons negotiations with the Soviets.

These staff proposals may be ready in a few weeks, the official said. But he left the strong impression that the United States would enter those talks only if the Soviets refrain from heating up tensions.

Under questioning, this official implied that any worsening of the situation in Poland might delay the beginning of such negotiations.

Defense Secretary Caspar Weinberger heads for Asia today to urge the Japanese to spend more on defense and to reassure the South Koreans of unwavering U.S. support against a hostile North Korean neighbor.

During his nine-day trip, his first to the Far East since becoming Pentagon chief 14 months ago, Weinberger also will stop in the Philippines.

RECEIVES AWARD — Former Secretary of State Henry Kissinger presents the Charles Evans Hughes Award for humanitarianism to President Ronald Reagan Tuesday night at the New York Hilton. The honor was given to the president by the National Conference of Christians and Jews.

President receives humanitarian award despite 10,000 protestors

NEW YORK (AP) — Protesters organized a dinner of cheese and ketchup that mocked a black-tie affair and 10,000 demonstrators surrounded a hotel where President Reagan accepted a leadership award some religious leaders said he didn't deserve.

Tuesday night's protest, which police said was the biggest here since demonstrations outside the 1980 Democratic National Convention, was sparked by Reagan's visit to the New York Hilton in midtown Manhattan to receive the annual Charles Evans Hughes Gold Medal awarded by the National Conference of Christians and Jews.

The decision to award the medal to Reagan stirred dissension in the conference.

The award honors "courageous leadership in government, civic and humanitarian affairs." Irving Felt, president of the conference and of Madison Square Garden, said the award was non-political and cited the president's "uncompromising courage in dealing with inflation."

But Donald McEvoy, the organization's senior vice president for national program development, attended an alternative function to the NCCJ's $250-a-plate fundraising dinner because he was "ashamed." He said he cared "for the victims of the administration's policies."

At a news conference in the morning, a group of Christian and Jewish leaders accused Reagan of cynical disregard for the poor and of being an "arch-supporter of the violation of human rights."

The Rev. Robert Kennedy, social action director for the Roman Catholic Diocese of Brooklyn, said calling Reagan's policies humanitarian debases the "meaning of the English language."

Reagan feels sting of critics' attacks

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Reagan, showing sensitivity to critics who use federal budget cuts to portray him as a Scrooge, is asking why policy disagreements can't be carried on "without a tone of hatred."

Even as a crowd of 10,000 protestors was drifting away from the New York City hotel where he was speaking, the president departed from his prepared speech Tuesday night to decry the intensity of some of the criticism being directed at him.

"Just as those outside this hall who spoke with such passionate conviction earlier this evening, there will at times be disagreement over the path we should take. But can't such dialogue be carried on with decency and understanding without a tone of hatred?"

Compu Farming comes to Arizona's ranches

By A. V. GULLETTE
The Arizona Republic

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — Arizona's farmers and ranchers say that in 10 years, Arizona agriculture will be using computers and computerized machinery to help produce crops that require less water and raise cattle that grow faster.

For instance, Bob Layton, who uses a computer at Layton Farms Inc. in Queen Creek, says he has to have the machine to keep a constant check on cash flow.

Ken Evans of Yuma expects the biggest change to come in farm machinery. He expects a single machine will level and plant a field in a single operation.

Evans also predicts instruments to measure soil moisture, nutrients and the condition of plants will be installed permanently in fields. They would relay the information to the farm office to control time of irrigation and fertilizing.

And Bart Cardon, dean of agriculture at the University of Arizona, looks for widespread use of lasers and other high technology in preparing farms.

Cardon also expects that there will be new strains of cotton, wheat and alfalfa, which will produce larger crops with less water, and that new crops such as the buffalo gourd, jojoba and gauayule will be developed to provide additional profits.

The biggest challenge will be getting new crops accepted in the marketplace, Cardon said.

Layton expects changes to come more in the methods of growing conventional crops than in the introduction of new ones.

Soviets ready for border talks

MOSCOW (AP) — President Leonid I. Brezhnev said today the Soviet Union was "ready at any moment" to reopen talks with China over long-standing border disputes.

"We have not had and do not have any territorial claims to the People's Republic of China, and we are ready at any moment to continue talks on existing border questions for the purpose of reaching mutually acceptable decisions. We are also ready to discuss the question of possible measures to strengthen mutual trust in the area of the Soviet-Chinese frontier," Brezhnev said.

He spoke in Tashkent, capital of Soviet Uzbekistan, where he presented the republic with a medal for its agricultural production last year.

China has refused to reopen talks, suspended in 1978, on the border dispute until the Soviet Union withdraws its troops from Afghanistan.

As recently as last Friday, China accused the Soviet Union of showing "unrestrained new aggressive impulses" toward Chinese territories.

The two nations' territorial dispute centers on their common border where northwest China touches Soviet Central Asia.

How to find your roots

The Genealogical Society of Big Spring met March 11 in the lobby of the Howard County Library. Mrs. Mamie Roberts presided over the meeting.

Jack Gulley, Christine Horn and Beth Kay were selected to serve on the nominating committee and select officers for the coming year. The new officers will be elected at the next meeting.

Mr. and Mrs. John R. Damron presented a book to the library in memory of Mrs. Glenn Addy. The book,

"Rhineland Emigrants," lists German settlers in Colonial America.

Christine Horn conducted a workshop and slide program on "Genealogical Records and Research Suggestions." The Pedigree Chart begins with the individual's name. Names of parents, grandparents, children, and so on are added to the chart. Places and dates of births, marriage and death for each individual is recorded next. The individual making out the chart shows their name, birth date, birth place, marriage date and marriage place. If the date is not known on some items, place a red mark beside it showing that information was researched but not found.

After locating family records, expand the research into other records will be of genealogical value. The individual may need to consult relatives for dates and all information they can give in order to record family groups.

All legal adoptions need to be shown on the chart. As to family secrets and sources, ask relatives and families what is needed to be known.

certificates, marriage certificates, temple and church records and books. Death and birth certificates started to be recorded in 1902 and 1903 respectively. Write and visit local courthouses, libraries, archives and historical societies to locate these records. Keep a record of sources researched. Other sources to check are military records, census records, land and property records and much more.

The next meeting of the Genealogical Society will be held April 8 at 7:15 p.m. in the Howard County Library.

Dr. Donohue

Clotting deficiency is treatable

Dar Dr. Donohue: I have what is called idiopathic thrombocytopenic purpura. Recently I had to undergo major surgery and I had to be given extra blood platelets before the doctor could operate. I do have my blood checked periodically and my doctor says that as long as I don't have a serious accident I will be all right. Somehow, that's not very reassuring. Would you please discuss the cause and cure of this disorder? — G.P.

Making a long story short, idiopathic thrombocytopenic purpura (ITP) is a condition that causes easy bruising. As you imply in relating your surgical episode, the reason bleeding occurs is that there are too few platelets in the blood. They are the clotting mechanisms. Without them, a broken blood vessel may ooze blood. There is no clot to seal it.

The adult form of this disease usually occurs between the ages of 20 and 40. Why it happens is not known, which is why the term idiopathic means. Thrombocyte is another name for a platelet. Thrombocytopenia means a paucity of platelets (thrombocytes). The purpura stands for bruises, the common sign of too few platelets.

While it is true that not too much is known as to why all this happens in the first place, it has to do with antibodies. In ITP, antibodies are made against platelets, and that leads to their destruction, hence the clotting problem and the bruising.

Steroids are used to stop the platelet destruction. If that does not work, the spleen is removed, because that is the place where the antibodies causing the platelet trouble are made. It's also the place where the platelets are destroyed, so removing it attacks two sources of potential platelet deficiency.

If all this fails, then drugs, like vincristine, cyclophosphamide or azathioprine, are given to stop antibody production.

Dear Dr. Donohue: My husband just recently had a heart attack. He went into Dressler's disease. Could you please explain this in your column? — Mrs. W.K.

Dressler's syndrome is fever and chest pain that appears from one to six weeks or more after a heart attack.

The patient reports pain beginning in mid-chest, but also felt in the neck and shoulders.

The pain is relieved when the person leans forward, and is worse with deep breathing. Patients think they are having another heart attack. However, this is not the case.

The pain in Dressler's syndrome is caused by inflammation of the coverings of the heart and lung. In a heart attack, some heart tissue is destroyed. When this happens, antibodies are produced against that dead tissue. And this is the process that produces the pain-causing inflammation in the area.

Dressler's syndrome eventually quiets down. Aspirin or indomethacin can be used for the pain. Occasionally, in more severe cases, steroids can be used against the inflammation.

FOR D.L.K. — The symptoms of syphilis are the same in male and female. About three weeks after sexual contact with an infected partner, a small sore, the chancre, appears. This sore remains for from two to six weeks and then goes away. Most often, it is painless. However, lymph nodes in the groin become painlessly swollen and there may be a little temperature elevation.

Those are the symptoms for male or female. But for the female, the sore can be hidden from sight deep in the vagina or on the cervix of the uterus. That's the only difference. Yes, the usual way to catch syphilis is through sexual contact.

Dear Abby

Dates keep home fires burning

DEAR ABBY: I am 27, single, attractive and no prude. After a second or third date with a guy (whom I know only casually), he wants me to go back to his apartment, assuring me that his intentions are honorable, but my instincts tell me otherwise.

When I politely refuse, he gets mad, then grudgingly takes me home. I never hear from him again.

On those rare occasions when I do go back to his apartment, as soon as the front door is closed, he starts making physical advances. When I refuse them, he gets angry and then takes me home, and I never hear from him again, either.

Surely there must be a way to continue dating a guy without ending up in the bedroom before it is mutually agreeable. But how? Sign me...

Although his parents may mean well by not showing their concern over their son's withdrawn behavior, they aren't helping him by ignoring it. The boy needs to verbalize his feelings, not hide them.

If he can't (or won't) talk to his parents, he should be counseled by an understanding professional who is not emotionally involved.

DEAR ABBY: I had a boyfriend who said he liked me, but I guess he liked another girl better because he broke a date with me to be with this other girl. Abby, I tried everything to get him back. I wore black satin jeans, makeup and high heels, but it didn't work. What should I do?

FIFTH-GRADE WORRIES
DEAR WORRIES: You're much too young to be "dating," but make a note of what didn't work to get a boy to like you. And thank your lucky stars for the valuable lesson you learned early in life.

DEAR ABBY: I am the mother of an exceptionally beautiful son. Believe me, this is not just another mother talking. My problem: Whenever I take this boy into a supermarket or walk him down the street, strangers stop and tell me how beautiful he is.

Of course, I'm proud and pleased, but almost everyone who sees him says, "He's much too beautiful to be a boy. He should have been a girl!"

Abby, although he's not yet 2, remarks like these are not healthy for a boy to hear.

Most people mean well, but they need to be reminded that repeated remarks can influence the development of a small child. If you agree, I hope you'll use this in your column.

NERVOUS IN NORTHBRIDGE
DEAR NERVOUS: I do, and I shall.

NO WIN
DEAR NO: If a guy drops you because you won't go to bed with him, his message is clear — all he wants is a bed partner. You're better off without him. (That's how you separate the men from the boys.)

There are always good men around who prefer a woman who won't go to bed with a guy she hardly knows. Hang in there!

DEAR ABBY: My 13-year-old grandson is a nice-looking intelligent, quiet boy. He does very well in school but is not particularly athletic. Last year he began to have trouble with his peers, becoming the butt of their teasing. He has become withdrawn and a loner. His apparent unhappiness has become upsetting to his parents, although they try not to show it.

How should this problem be handled? Is there some literature on the subject that we can give him to read?

CONCERNED GRANNY
DEAR CONCERNED: Reading is not the answer.

Vicki Dalby, bride-elect of Jerry Parnell, was honored with a miscellaneous bridal shower March 15 in the home of Nova Bryant.

Hostesses for the shower were Miss Bryant, Mrs. Dale Fox, Mrs. Earl Sherrill, Mrs. Ray Bluhm, Shana Claxton, Mrs. Ada Knightstep and Mrs. Delmar Martin.

The hostesses presented blue carnation corsages to the bride-elect, her mother, Louise Dalby, and the bridegroom's mother, Mrs. Gerald Parnell Sr.

Refreshments were served from a table covered in a blue cloth featuring a peach colored cake with blue trim, peach colored sherbet punch, and peach and blue mints.

The couple will be married April 10 in Hillcrest Baptist Church.

Voice of America director to resign

WASHINGTON (AP) — After less than a year as director of the Voice of America, James B. Conkling is resigning amid a continuing controversy over the proper role of the United States' overseas broadcast operation.

According to a VOA official, the former president of Columbia Records denied that he was "resigning under pressure" from Charles Z. Wick, director of the U.S. International Communications Agency, which is the VOA's parent organization.

Conkling, 67, in a statement he read to the VOA staff on Monday, said he had been unable to adjust to "working within government bureaucracy" after being in the private sector, and that he had decided to spend more time with his family in California, said the official, who requested anonymity.

Sources in the VOA, however, said Conkling had been frustrated by the controversy surrounding Reagan administration plans to have the overseas broadcasts tailored to put U.S. foreign policy in a more favorable light.

Conkling could not be reached for comment.

Another VOA official, also asking not to be identified, said Conkling had been "under tremendous pressure from the right" to resign.

The director was caught between the conservatives and news professionals within the VOA "who wanted to keep the VOA reporting straight down the middle," that source said. "It was the right that won."

There have been reports in recent months about discontent among some VOA employees over what they see as efforts by the administration to make the agency's news broadcasts more combative and anti-communist in tone.

Wick, a long-time friend of Reagan, has been quoted as saying that he intended to give the agency "the velocity of a projectile" to counter Soviet propaganda.

The VOA broadcasts to a global audience of some 103 million each week, offering 900 hours of programs in 39 languages. The VOA carries 280 newscasts a day as well as music, sports and programs intended to tell about life in America while portraying a variety of views about U.S. policies.

Presidential hopefuls take position

By TOM RAUM
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Although the first presidential primaries are still two years off, hopefuls have begun jockeying for position from that most frequently used of all launching pads — the U.S. Senate.

The growing roll of possible 1984 contenders already rivals the size of the Senate's club of have-runs: Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz.; Robert Dole, R-Kan.; Strom Thurmond, R-S.C.; Robert C. Byrd, D-W.Va.; Lloyd Bentsen, D-Texas; Lowell Weicker, R-Conn.; Henry M. Jackson, D-Wash.; and Charles Percy, R-Ill.

And two senators clearly fall on both the past and prospective lists: Democrat Edward M. Kennedy of Massachusetts and Republican Leader Howard Baker of Tennessee.

While public announcements are still months away, the signs of budding candidacies are unmistakable: formation of "exploratory" committees, visits to New Hampshire and other key primary states, a sudden inclination to issue press releases on every national issue that comes along.

In addition to Baker and Kennedy, the speculative roster for 1984 includes four Democrats: Alan Cranston of California, John Glenn of Ohio, Gary Hart of Colorado and Ernest F. Hollings of South Carolina.

Cranston, the Senate Democratic whip, and Hollings, the Budget Committee's ranking Democrat, both have campaign exploratory committees taking political soundings.

Former astronaut Glenn has been presiding over an issue-oriented "Foreign Policy Group" and Hart, a former campaign aide to 1972 Democratic presidential nominee George McGovern, has issued his own "national agenda" for economic recovery.

All have been making speeches around the country.

"There's a general feeling among senators that, since the last two presidents have run as 'outsiders,' this time there's a good chance the voters will elect an 'insider,' someone already inside government," said one top Senate Democrat.

Being frequently mentioned as possible darkhorse prospects for 1984 — or as vice presidential possibilities — are four more Democrats: Sens. Joseph R. Biden Jr. of Delaware; Daniel Patrick Moynihan of New York; Dale Bumpers of Arkansas; and Bill Bradley of New Jersey.

Big Spring bats go silent in 4-2 loss

AHS's Tindall shuts 'em down

By GREG JAKLEWICZ
Sports Editor

ABILENE — After a big start at the plate, the Big Spring bats went dry. Bone dry ... costing the Steers a chance to capture their District 5-AAAAA opener here Tuesday against Abilene High.

Eagle pitcher Jay Tindall was touched for two first inning runs, gave up two basehits in the second but then blanked Big Spring the rest of the way to post a 4-2 victory.

The game was the first in league play for both teams, continuing AHS's four-game winning streak and halting Big Spring's four-game skid. The Steers fall to 10-8 on the season while the Eagles jump to 10-4.

The Steers are on the road again Saturday for a 2 p.m. game in Midland against the Bulldogs while the Eagles are in Odessa to test Permian.

The Steers struck quickly in the first inning, taking a 2-0 lead on Tommy Ologue's bounding double down the left field line. Oscar Limon, who walked to lead-off the game, and James Walker, who had singled, scored what proved to be the only runs of the afternoon for Big Spring.

Marcus Armendariz and Limon collected basehits in the second but Walker bounced out second to first for the last out and the Steers never threatened in the last five innings.

Tindall would have retired the final 16 batters he faced except for a fourth inning walk to Marty Rodriguez. He issued two walks on the day and struck out eight.

"He really mixed up his pitches well, especially the knuckleball," said Abilene coach Mark Elam. "He and Pat Sigala did a good job for communicating, particularly during the fourth inning on. I think he got stronger. I think he was smarter in what to throw and when to throw it."

"I told them they had to be aggressive at the plate," echoed Big Spring coach Frank Ibarra. He added that Tindall was coming in first with the fastball and his players were taking it. Falling behind in the count, they tried to hit the curveball but failed.

Down 2-0, the Eagles stormed right back to tie the game with a pair of runs in the bottom half of the inning. Shane Gravens walked and Scott Hamilton reached on an error by Blake Rosson at shortstop on what appeared to be an inning-ending double-play grounder.

Given a reprieve, Dee Eubanks promptly rifled a single to center that scored both runs.

Abilene took the lead for good the next inning when catcher Pat Sigala led off with a walk, advanced to third on an error in center by Limon and scored when Big Spring pitcher Moe Rubio uncorked a wild pitch.

After the second, Rubio was tough on the Eagles. He tossed three innings of scoreless ball to give his offense a chance to get untracked at the plate. Finally in the sixth, Eagle first baseman Rick Womble dropped in a Texas Leaguer to left-center field and scored on pinch-hitter Matt Waldmann's sacrifice fly.

For the game, Rubio surrendered seven hits and gave up just two earned runs.

Elam said that Tuesday's games was "indicative of next time." "It'll be another close game ... Big Spring is a well-coached team," he added.

Ibarra shook his head over his team's anemic hitting performance but admitted that Rubio did his job on the mound.

"I thought Moe pitched well and got better as the game went on," he said. "But that's when the bats died."

In the junior varsity game, Billy Thompson smacked five hits and Adriel Saldivar added three more to key a 14-hit attack that carried the Steers to an 8-4 victory over Abilene.

Big Spring is now 3-4 overall and plays again Thursday at 4 p.m. against Midland High on the BSHS diamond.

SWING AND A MISS — Big Spring cleanup batter Tommy Ologue misses on an offering from Abilene High hurler Jay Tindall Tuesday afternoon in Abilene. Tindall fanned Ologue this time around but the senior first baseman rapped a two-run single in the first to account for both Steer runs in a 4-2 loss.

NIT Tourney Roundup

Defense vs. top scoring

NEW YORK (AP) — If there is a key matchup in tonight's National Invitation Tournament championship game, it could be how well Bradley's David Thirdkill defends the Big Ten's leading scorer, Purdue guard Keith Edmonson.

Bradley Coach Dick Versace calls Thirdkill "The Sheriff," and the senior guard certainly laid down the law Monday night, holding Oklahoma's David Little to eight points as the Braves rolled to an 84-68 semifinal victory.

Thirdkill, says Versace, "is the consummate defensive player in America today. He has absolutely the finest technique of any basketball player at the college level that I've ever seen."

In Edmonson, who is averaging 26.4 points in the NIT, Thirdkill should have his hands full when the title goes on the line at 8 p.m. EST in Madison Square Garden. Edmonson and sophomore center Russell Cross, Purdue's one-two scoring combination, had 25 points apiece in a 61-60 semifinal victory over Georgia.

"If we can do a job on Cross and Edmonson, that would be a terrific defensive challenge," says Versace. Both Cross and Edmonson are destined for the pros, says Versace, "and you never really stop pros. You just try to chop them down a bit."

Purdue Coach Gene Keady is puzzled about why Edmonson, a 6-foot-5 senior, hasn't received more national recognition.

"Maybe its because our style of play is team-oriented and we don't stress the star system," he says. "He (Edmonson) can get the points if he needs to, but I'm not sure why he doesn't have more of a star status."

Both coaches say they'll stick with their basic styles of play that they displayed in the semis, when Purdue used discipline and careful shot selection while Bradley put on a 23-5 burst in the second half to break its game open.

Likening Bradley to Georgia, another fast-breaking team, Keady said, "I don't think you're going to stop them. I think you're going to have to control the tempo more than anything."

"We don't have a lot of quickness. We're just going to try to play our game," Keady said, adding that if the Boilermakers try to run with Bradley, "they'll blow us out."

5-AAAAA Roundup

Mojo notches first upset

By GREG JAKLEWICZ
Sports Editor

Abilene Cooper lived up to its pre-district billing but Permian did not. Thus, both teams came up with victories during the first Tuesday of the 5-AAAAA spring campaign.

Cooper snapped a scoreless tie with three runs in the third inning and stopped San Angelo 5-1 while Permian, picked dead last in the league poll, muscled by Midland 8-3. In other games, Abilene bopped Big Spring 4-2 and Midland Lee quieted Odessa 6-3.

Here's how they went around the league:

Cooper 5, San Angelo 1

SAN ANGELO — Cooper improved its top record in the league when shortstop Jeff Blackburn drove in three runs with a bases-loaded single in the third.

Kurt Parker and Chuck Cathey singled in runs in the fourth to boost Cooper's lead to 5-0. Andrew Morin knocked in David Holland in the bottom of the inning to account for the Bobcats' only run of the afternoon against winner Billy Mitchell, 4-2.

Cooper: 003 200 0-5 9 2
San Angelo: 000 100 0-1 5 0

Billy Mitchell and Chuck Cathey, Mark Smith, Zeke Barron (4) Henry Kelpac, W. Mitchell (4-2), L-Smith (3-3). HR — None.

Permian 8, Midland 3

MIDLAND — Not only did Mojo surprise the Bulldogs, picked No. 4 in the league, but it did so in the Tall City.

Bruce Hollander earned his seventh decision in 18 Permian games, getting the win with a six-hitter. Horace Stebling, Permian second baseman, had two extra-base hits and drove in three Mojo runs.

Permian: 410 300 0-8 10 2
Midland: 000 003 0-3 6 5

Bryan Hollander and Mike King, Bill Miles, Joel De Le Garza (1), Wes Davis (7) and Tim Davis, W. Hollander (4-3), L. — Miles (3-2). HR — None.

Midland Lee 6, Odessa 3

ODESSA — The Rebels beat Broncho ace Tommy Stahl, 2-4, who has won half of Odessa's games this year.

Lee pounded out 12 hits against Stahl while Lee used Bryan Willis and Chris Parker to stop the Bronchos on four safeties.

Midland Lee: 103 020 0-6 12 3
Odessa: 000 102 0-3 4 3

Bryan Willis, Chris Parker (7) and Monty Chastain, Tommy Stahl and Johnny Rodriguez, W. Willis (4-0), L. — Stahl (2-4). HR — None.

Area Sports Roundup

LAMESA — Damian Hernandez singled with the bases loaded in the bottom of the eighth inning to lift the Lamesa Golden Tors to a 4-3 victory over Brownfield here Tuesday afternoon.

The win gives the Tors a final 3-6 mark before the league opener Friday against Odessa Ector at 4 p.m. in Lamesa.

Trailing 3-1 in the sixth, Tim Thompson rapped a two-run single to right to tie the game and eventually send it into extra innings.

In the eighth, Lasaro Arrendondo doubled and pitcher Tommy Joe Fisher intentionally walked Alfred Morales and Thompson. Hernandez then delivered his big game-winning hit.

Fisher went the distance, striking out 17 Tors and walking just three, two of those intentionally in the eighth. Freshman Gilbert Arrendondo also went all the way for Lamesa, getting his first win of his high school career with five-hit, nine strikeout performance.

Brownfield slipped to a 5-8 with the loss.

Brownfield: 003 001 00-3 5 4
Lamesa: 100 002 01-4 8 1
Bobby Joe Fisher and Stacy Terrell, Gilbert Arrendondo and Blake McKinney, W. — Arrendondo (1-2), L-Fisher, HR — None.

LAMESA — The Golden Tors dropped a dual tennis match to Brownfield here Tuesday.

The boys won four matches, getting wins by Norman Estrada over Charles Rymer (8-2) at No. 4 and Mickey Clark over Jay Davis (8-3) at No. 5 singles.

The doubles team of Louis Gonzales and Kent Leatherwood downed Rymer-Grady Moldrow 6-4, 4-6, 6-4 at No. 2 while the No. 3 team of Clark and Neil Prather subdued Davis and Johnny Row 6-1, 6-3.

The girls victory was a 8-1 pro set win by Cym Mars over Tammy Patton at No. 4 singles.

COLORADO CITY — Billy Thompson won medalist honors on the fourth hole of a sudden-death playoff to guide Forsan to a second place finish at the Colorado City Invitational here Tuesday.

Thompson and C-City's Dewight Statts eached carded 80's but Thompson won in the playoff. Forsan shot a 352 score to finish behind the Wolves' top score of 334 over the Colorado City County Club course.

Other Forsan scores were Pat Gent at 87, Phillip Harrison at 91, Mitch Gill at 94 and Larry Harp at 132.

We'll save 42% on lodging at the beautiful Starfire Ski Lodge and enjoy uncrowded skiing on Angel Fire's 28 miles of trails with six chairlifts. They've made it so easy for us to escape together. Four nights, midweek, for just $79* per person, and includes welcome cocktails at the Country Club. And, if we take advantage of this great offer, we can purchase $100 worth of buying power for just $79, good at the Country Club and "Cloud 9" Ski Shop. Think of it. A midweek ski escape and time together...just you and me. You know we deserve it.

Call collect 505/377-2301. Ask for the Midweek Ski Escape. "I'll love you for it."

Astros blank Orioles

BAYAMON, Puerto Rico (AP) — The Houston Astros jumped on Baltimore's Mike Flanagan for four runs in the first inning and went on to defeat the Orioles 8-0 in exhibition baseball Tuesday night.

Gordy Pladson, Frank LaCorte, Billy Smith, Dave Smith and Rickey Keeton combined to hold the Orioles to three hits.

Jose Cruz drove in Houston's first run with a grounder, Phil Garner and Ray Knight added consecutive RBI doubles and Art Howe's single produced the final run.

The victory gave the Astros a split of the two-game exhibition series played in Puerto Rico to honor the memory of former Pittsburgh Pirates outfielder Roberto Clemente. The money raised in the series went to a Clemente sports complex being built near San Juan.

Atlanta 7 Texas 4
 POMPANO BEACH, Fla. (AP) — The Atlanta Braves erupted for 12 hits off Texas pitchers Doc Medich and Jon Matlack en route to a 7-4 victory over the Rangers Tuesday.

Catcher Bruce Benedict broke a 4-4 tie in the eighth with a single off Matlack that scored Chris Chambliss with the go-ahead run. The Braves added a couple of insurance runs in the ninth on Claudi Washington's RBI double and Dale Murphy's run-scoring single.

Donnie Moore, who worked the seventh and eighth innings for Atlanta and shut the Rangers down on one hit, picked up the win. Matlack was the loser.

Texas took a 1-0 lead in the first when Al Oliver, who finished the afternoon with three hits, drilled a bases-empty homer over the right centerfield wall against Braves starter Joe Cowley.

The Braves tied it in the second on Luis Gomez' run-scoring ground ball and then plated three more runs in the fifth on RBI singles by Glenn Hubbard, Washington and Murphy.

 Fernando Valenzuela has reported to the Los Angeles Dodgers' training camp.

The 21-year-old left-hander, who won the National League's Cy Young Award as a 1981 rookie, showed up in Vero Beach, Fla., Tuesday night after announcing he would play this year under a contract the club renewed without his consent.

Al Campanis, Dodgers vice president, said Valenzuela should be ready for the opening of the 1982 season, but Manager Tom Lasorda indicated he probably would not pitch until the second week of the campaign.

Valenzuela earned $42,500 as a rookie last year. He

NBA Roundup

Mavs sail over Lakers, at last

LOS ANGELES (AP) — "It might not be the biggest win of the year for us, but it was a good one."

Those were the sentiments of Dallas forward Mark Aguirre after his three-point goal in the final seconds of a 118-116 National Basketball Association victory Tuesday gave the Mavericks their first win ever against the Los Angeles Lakers.

Aguirre sunk a 24-foot shot from the corner with seven seconds remaining.

"They came in and played a superb game. We did not lose, they beat us," said Lakers Coach Pat Riley. He complained that the Lakers had to go out on the road with "Seattle breathing down our necks."

"I'm not pleased at all with the way we played," he said.

Mavericks Coach Dick Motta said his team, a second-year franchise, had been waiting for an opening to use the play that won them the game.

"We have talked about that particular play, because it has the three-point option, and I told Mark not to be afraid to take it," he said.

The victory ended a four-game losing streak for Dallas and a five-game winning streak for Los Angeles. It was their 10th meeting with Los Angeles.

Aguirre finished with 23 points, 13 of them in the third quarter, while rookie Rolando Blackman added 20.

Kareem Abdul-Jabbar showed no ill effects from a hurt ankle he suffered Sunday night as he led all scorers with 32 points. However, the 7-foot-2 superstar missed five freethrows in the last five minutes of the game which was tied seven times in the final quarter.

Abdul-Jabbar scored 21 of his game-high total in the first half as the Lakers led by as many as 11 early in the second quarter.

The Mavericks narrowed the deficit to three at 62-59 by the half behind Aguirre and Jim Spanarkel, who scored six points apiece.

Houston 117
Utah 115

SALT LAKE CITY (AP) — Houston Rockets coach Del Harris says a narrow, last second victory over the Utah Jazz was "more valuable than a blowout."

The 117-115 victory Tuesday night snapped a four-game losing streak for the Rockets and extended Utah's losing streak to 15, the longest in the NBA this year and the longest in Jazz history.

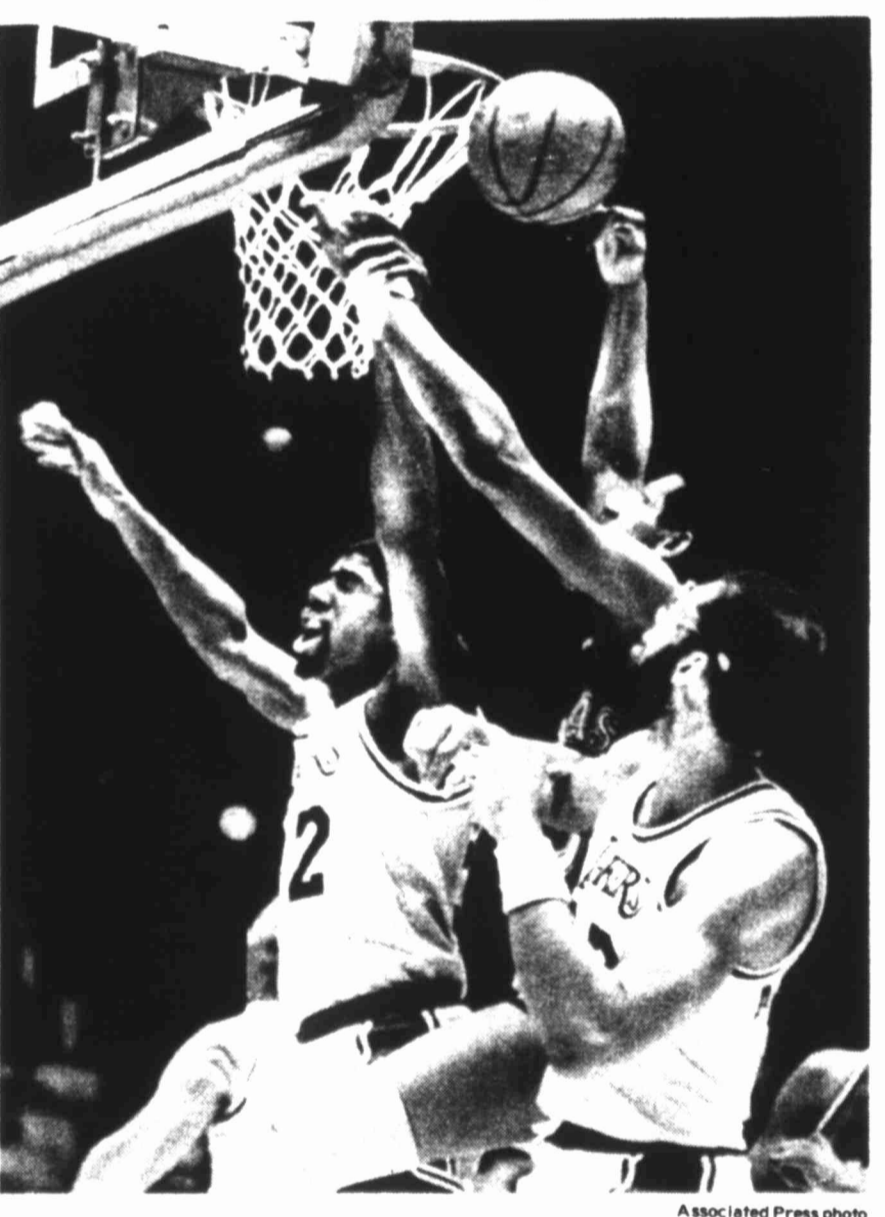

"Winning this way was more valuable than a blowout," Harris said. "We won tonight the way we've been losing them lately. We would stay in the game until the final minutes and then fall short."

The Rockets are 37-32 in the Midwest division and are still contending for a playoff spot.

Four Houston players scored 20 or more points, led by Moses Malone with 31. Elvin Hayes contributed 27, Allen Leavell had 25 and Robert Reid had 20.

But it was reserve guard Tom Henderson who boosted the Rockets over the Jazz. Henderson scored the last five Houston points to seal the win.

Darrell Griffith scored a career-high 39 points for Utah, while teammate Adrian Dantley had 33. The Jazz record is now an anemic 19-50.

Houston led 30-29 after the first quarter, but Griffith sparked a second-period Jazz burst that saw the Utah team run up a 57-42 lead before falling to just 66-60 at the half.

Utah moved out to 74-62 early in the third period before Malone brought the Rockets back to an 88-86 lead going into the fourth quarter.

San Antonio 106
San Diego 98

SAN ANTONIO, Texas (AP) — The injury-plagued, hapless San Diego Clippers sport the second-worst record in the National Basketball Association and could get only eight players in uniform against the leaders of the Midwest Division, the San Antonio Spurs.

But in the first two periods of Tuesday's game, it was the Clippers who looked like a potential playoff team while the Spurs were struggling.

It took two things to snap San Antonio out of its apparent reverie — a tongue-lashing from coach Stan Albeck and the memory that the Clippers had won the last two meetings between the two teams.

"The first half was a carbon-copy of our two previous games with them,"

Albeck said. "At halftime we made some adjustments but mostly we talked about giving some effort and being more physical."

Albeck may wish he had tape-recorded his halftime speech, because it worked to perfection. The Spurs outscored the Clippers 34-14 in the third period and the game was never in doubt after that.

"We had a big lead (61-50) at the start of the third quarter," said San Diego's Michael Brooks, "and I think the Spurs realized we were going to beat them for the third straight time. But then they really came at us hard."

"Stan got on us at halftime so we came out and dominated the second half," said Spur guard George Gervin, who hit a team-high 27 points, 14 of them in that crucial third quarter.

"The Spurs just became very physical in the second half," said Clipper Tom Chambers, "and we've been on a long road trip and we tired out."

One reason the Clippers tired was the shortage of available bodies.

"We miss Charlie Criss and Joe Bryant," Chambers said of the Clippers' injured starting guards. "They're both good floor leaders."

San Diego, lost its seven consecutive game, its 10th road contest in a row and fell to 16-53 for the season.

Salads spark spring appetites

Sandwiches and salads are the mainstays of many meals because they are so quickly assembled and easily eaten. They are perfect for spring or summer picnics in the park with friends and family.

For those who like a refreshing dessert to top off their meal, Strawberry-Lemon Squares or a Vanilla-Limeade Ice Cream Pie are just the trick to cool off with.

TOTAL TATER AND ZUCCHINI SALAD
1/2 cup water
1/4 cup bottled clear Italian or French salad dressing
3-4 cups frozen shoestring potato
1 medium zucchini, thinly sliced (about 2 cups)
3 Tbsps. thinly sliced green onion
1/2 teaspoon salt
1 cup creamed, small curd cottage cheese
1/2 cup plain yogurt

2 tps. Dijon-style prepared mustard
1 tsp. Worcestershire sauce
1 package (10 ounces) refrigerated flaky biscuits
Melted butter
32 thin slices beef salami
16 sticks Muenster cheese, 4 x 1/2 x 1/2 inch
4 slices cucumber, cut in half
4 slices tomato, cut in half
1 cup creamy coleslaw, slightly drained cheese. Place meat rolls spoke fashion on crust near outer edge. Alternate slices of cucumber and tomato between rolls, close to outer edge. Place coleslaw in center of sandwich. Cut into wedges to serve. Serves 10.

STRAWBERRY-LEMON SQUARES

Crust:
1 1/2 cups zwieback crumbs
2-3rd cup butter, melted
1/2 cup finely chopped nuts
1/2 cup flaked coconut
2 Tbsps. sugar

Filling:
2 packages (16 ounces each) frozen sliced strawberries in syrup.
3 envelopes unflavored gelatin
3 cartons (8 ounces each) lemon flavor yogurt
1/2 cup honey
1/4 tsp. salt
1 cup whipping cream, whipped
1/2 tsp. almond extract
Lemon slices, if desired
Fresh whole strawberries, if desired
Fresh mint, if desired

Preheat oven to 350 degrees F. For crust, combine all ingredients until well blended. Press onto bottom and part way up sides of a 2-quart rectangular baking dish. Bake until golden brown, 8 to 10 minutes. Cool completely on wire rack. For filling, drain strawberries, reserving syrup (1 cup); set aside strawberries. Soften gelatin in syrup in small saucepan. Heat over low heat, stirring constantly, until dissolved, cool. Place strawberries, yogurt, honey and salt in blender container; cover. Blend until fruit is pureed. Blend in gelatin mixture. Place mixture in large mixing bowl. Chill until slightly thickened. Beat in whipped cream and almond extract. Pour into cooled crust. Chill several hours or overnight until firm. Cut into squares. Garnish each serving with a piece of lemon, whole strawberry and sprig of mint. Serves 12.

BUTTERY HERB BREAD
French bread, split lengthwise
Butter
Italian seasoning
Paprika or chili powder

Spread bread with softened butter; sprinkle with Italian seasoning and paprika. Place under broiler until lightly browned. Cut into serving-size pieces.

HAM AND POTATO SALAD
1-3rd cup dairy sour cream
3 Tbsps. minced green onion
4 tps. white vinegar
1/4 tsp. salt
1/4 tsp. pepper
2 1/2 cups (12 ounces) cooked ham, cubed
1 1/2 cups diced cooked potatoes
1 cup cottage cheese
1/2 cup chopped celery
1 hard-cooked egg, chopped

Combine sour cream, green onion, vinegar, salt and pepper. Combine ham, potatoes, cottage cheese, celery and egg in a large mixing bowl. Gently fold in sour cream mixture. Chill, covered, 1 to 2 hours to allow flavors to blend. Serve on lettuce-lined plates with radish roses and egg wedges. Serves four to six.

TUNA AND FRUIT SALAD
1 medium-sized apple, unpeeled and chopped
2 cans (8 ounces each) pineapple chunks in unsweetened juice, drained and cut into bite-sized pieces.
1 cup green grapes, halved
1 can (7 ounces) tuna in water, drained and flaked
1 cup chopped celery
1 Tbsp. fresh lemon juice
1/4 tsp. salt
1 cup dairy sour cream

Combine apple, pineapple, grapes, tuna and celery in a large mixing bowl. Gently fold lemon juice and salt into sour cream; fold into fruit mixture. Chill, covered about 1 hour to allow flavors to blend. Serve on salad greens, sprinkled with chopped nuts.

VANILLA-LIMEADE ICE CREAM PIE
Crust:
23 chocolate wafer cookies
3 Tbsp. butter, melted
Filling:
3 pints vanilla ice cream, softened

6 Tbsps. (half of 6 ounce can) frozen limeade concentrate, thawed
2 to 3 drops green food color

For crust, reserve 11 wafers; trim 1/4 inch from bottom of each. Save trimmings. Crush remaining wafers and trimmings. Combine crumbs and melted butter; press onto bottom of 9-inch pie plate. Stand trimmed wafers (rounded edge on top) upright around edge of pie plate. Freeze until crust is firm, about 1 hour. Spread 1 pint of vanilla ice cream over frozen crust. Combine limeade and food color. Drizzle 2 Tbsps. mixture over ice cream. Return to freezer until firm, at least 1 hour. Repeat twice. Freeze completed pie several hours or overnight. (If freezing longer than 24 hours, wrap pie in freezer paper.) Remove from freezer and let stand at room temperature 15 minutes before serving. For ease in serving, dip bottom of pie plate in warm water to loosen crust. Cut immediately and serve. Makes one 9-inch pie.

Combine water and salad dressing in a frypan; add frozen potatoes. Bring to a boil; cover and simmer 5 minutes. Remove from heat and cool slightly. Put potatoes and any remaining liquid into a bowl; add zucchini, onion and salt. Toss to mix. Cover and chill several hours or overnight. A few hours before serving time, add cottage cheese and yogurt, mixing thoroughly. Put salad in a thermos jar to carry. Yield: About 5 cups.

SANDWICH WHEEL
1 cup cottage cheese

Reagan introduces 'doctrine' for American agriculture

WASHINGTON (AP) — In an effort to calm fears that he might curb U.S. farm exports, President Reagan has pledged never to do so unless it is part of an across-the-board embargo and is backed by America's allies.

Outlining a three-part policy on farm exports, Reagan denounced the Carter administration's 16-month-long partial embargo on grain exports to the Soviet Union as "totally ineffective" and said it "caused great economic hardship to U.S. agriculture."

"We will not repeat such action," vowed Reagan, who lifted Carter's embargo almost a year ago. Agriculture Secretary John R. Block, who introduced the president to a group of magazine farm editors, called Reagan's speech "the Reagan doctrine" for American agriculture.

Reagan said no restrictions will be put on farm exports because of rising domestic prices.

"Farm prices go up and farm prices go down," the president said. "High prices signal market-oriented farmers to produce more, and they will, if we allow them to compete freely in export markets."

Secondly, he vowed not to use farm exports "as an instrument of foreign policy except in extreme situations and as part of a broader embargo."

Thirdly, he said his administration will work to remove trade barriers and unfair trade practices. "World economic health will be improved and strengthened by freer agricultural trade," he said.

"There is no quick fix for the economy or for our farmers," he said, adding that the weather will be a major factor in determining agricultural prices.

"Some farmers will not make it through this difficult period of readjustment, but the vast majority will," said Reagan. "And they are going to discover a better environment to conduct their business and realize a meaningful profit."

Reagan said American farmers are caught in the "third straight year of economic recession. Right now," he said, "many of our farmers must be wondering if the sky has not fallen." As a result of the Carter administration's embargo, imposed in January 1980 because of the Soviet occupation of Afghanistan, "billions of dollars in output and services were lost, thousands of jobs were lost and taxpayers had to shell out more than $2 billion to help soften the blow," Reagan said.

Other countries stepped up their exports and softened the blow of the U.S. embargo, said Reagan.

"The bottom line," he declared, "is that the Soviet embargo was bad for our farmers, bad for our economy but not that bad for the aggressors we were supposedly going to punish." "Don't get me wrong," Reagan said.

Reagan finds 'no quick fix' for farmers

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Reagan says some farmers are doomed to bankruptcy before the nation pulls itself out of the recession, but that those who survive will enjoy a better business climate for selling their products.

"There is no quick fix for the economy or for our farmers," Reagan said Monday as he outlined a new policy governing agricultural exports.

In a speech to farm writers, the president vowed never to impose an embargo on agricultural exports unless it is part of a complete embargo of U.S. goods to a particular country and unless it is backed by America's allies.

He also promised not to impose any restrictions on farm exports because of rising domestic prices and declared that "world markets must be freed of trade barriers and unfair trade practices."

Reagan denounced the Carter administration's 16-month-long partial embargo on corn and wheat exports to the Soviet Union as "totally ineffective" and said it "caused great economic hardship to U.S. agriculture."

"We will not repeat such action," said Reagan, who lifted Carter's embargo almost a year ago.

Declaring that his economic program was passed too late to avoid the current slump in farm prices, Reagan said: "Some farmers will not make it through this difficult period of readjustment, but the vast majority will. And they are going to discover a better environment to conduct their business and realize a meaningful profit."

Computer could aid U.S. exports

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Agriculture Department is sharing in a computer system at the University of Nebraska to publicize the shopping lists of foreign buyers of U.S. agricultural products.

Agriculture Secretary John R. Block said Tuesday that the joint venture — which will continue as a pilot project for 90 days — could lend "extra punch" to U.S. export expansion efforts.

The project involves a computer system called AGNET operated by the university and the department's Foreign Agricultural Service.

Inquiries from prospective foreign buyers have been collected by the agency for the past decade or so under a program called the Trade Opportunity Referral Service — TORS.

Block made his remarks in a speech prepared for delivery at the University of Nebraska, Lincoln. Copies were released here. He said the trade leads provided by the agency and distributed by mail helped promote more than $150 million in additional export business last year.

"The new system, in which FAS computers can put trade leads into AGNET immediately after they are received, should provide the opportunity for a substantial increase in this business," Block said.

In this day, Johnny can't write much either

By HUGH A. MULLIGAN
AP Special Correspondent
RIDGEFIELD, Conn. (AP) — If Johnny can't read, then it must follow as the night the day that he can't write either.

Certainly he couldn't write a phrase as ancient even as the night following the day, because it would never pop from his mind, not having been stored there in the first place.

It's from Shakespeare, of course: windy old Polonius giving farewell advice to his son Laertes. We had to memorize it in school, along with great gobs of Longfellow, Tennyson, Kipling, Housman, Whitman and among many others someone named

Lucy Larcom, who told us:
"If the world's a vale of tears,
"Smile, till rainbows span it."
I tried smiling the year line squalls drenched the annual school boat ride to Rye Beach, but the rainbows never appeared over the roller coaster and the deluge continued unabated all day long. I still recall the Larcom lines, however, and many's the damp day they have warmed my spirit.

They call this learning by rote, a practice frowned on by the more progressive pedagogues who believe in filling a cranial vacuum with their own hot air. They regard it as creative for kids to write poems who don't know what a poem is but are praised for nonsense.

This almost universal inability to write, this new age of illiteracy after nearly a century of compulsory education, is suddenly beginning to worry the keepers of our guttering cultural flame.

The Florida Legislature, I read in The New York Times the other day, is considering a bill that would require high school students to submit at least one written work each week. Along with it goes an appropriation of $15 million to hire enough English teachers capable of reading the required paper.

Considering the fact that Yale and some of the other Ivy League colleges now provide special classes and tutorial assistance to teach the modern generation of preppies how to write, the Florida lawmakers deserve encouragement in grappling with the illiteracy problem.

Maybe they should forget about the $15 million and pass a bill requiring the little nippers down there in the orange groves and Everglades to memorize one stanza of poetry every week so their minds will be filled with enough words and phrases and thoughts to put together a cogent paragraph.

Kids today definitely have the equipment. Most of them around here have great memories. They can faultlessly recite television jingles and complex although inane comedy routines. They can feed back an endless effusion of sports statistics. It's a shame no one ever inspired them to upgrade their mental input.

Parents possessed with the astonishing dream of having their children write a coherent paragraph by the time they enter college should not wait for the legislature or the local school board to recognize the problem, as Florida did, and come up with a solution.

No matter what the ages of their children, pre-school to high school, they would be wise to start their own Head Start writing program at home.

Inculcating writing skills, at any age, is not all that difficult if a warm, friendly intellectual atmosphere is created around the fireside or the dining room table.

Begin first by pushing a button, the off button on the television set, for an hour a week. That's for starters: Or you could emulate the Glen School in Ridgewood, N.J., which decreed a "NO TV WEEK," but the cold turkey approach might be too rigorous or what the pendants now call counterproductive.

A lot of learning can be crammed into a TV-free hour if tact and guile are employed lovingly.

Terkel's 'Working' cleared

GIRARD, Pa. (AP) — One of the parents who argued that Studs Terkel's best-seller, "Working," contained words too dirty to be required reading for high school students says he isn't surprised the school board wouldn't allow alternate book assignments.

"It's the way the world is today," Robert Richardson said Monday night after the Erie County school board's nine members voted quickly and unanimously against a motion to let students who object to the book read something else.

"A couple of the stories in it were good. But you don't sit down between two cars of garbage and eat a steak," the machine shop foreman said of the book, in which Terkel asked Americans doing a variety of jobs how they felt about their work. Richardson's son, Jim, was among those students who complained of the book's profanity.

Richardson was among the few parents actively crusading against the book who attended Monday's meeting. The rest of the crowd of about 100 people appeared to be more concerned over the proposed closing of a middle school.

"I'm delighted, naturally," Terkel said in Chicago after hearing of the decision. "It's not only a vindication of the teacher, Kay Nichols, who is a courageous woman, but perhaps it can afford courage to other teachers and librarians."

Terkel said the decision was a victory not only for "Working," but for "any serious book which gives a vision of the world." And he added that it was "not a defeat to the parents who objected. They, too, will benefit, even though they may not realize it now."

The 1974 bestseller was assigned by Ms. Nichols to 14 students in two of her English classes at Girard High School. Five students initially refused to read the book, although two eventually withdrew their protest.

The controversy drew national attention when Terkel came to the northwestern Pennsylvania town of about 8,800 people and defended his book at a student assembly Feb. 2. He was cheered loudly by most students and received two standing ovations.

The author said he visited the town because he wanted "to find out about these hard-working people."

"The funny thing is that this book is about them," he said.

The parents were not convinced. In a written request followed by notice from a law firm, they asked the board to assign other reading.

Acting School Superintendent Jan Calhoun said the protesting students were told they could read substitute chapters in the book if they found the assigned sections offensive.

Trustees okay teachers pacts

LAMESA (SC) — The Lames Independent School District Board of Trustees met yesterday to approve administrative and teachers contracts for 1982-83.

In other business the board approved:

- several professional employee contracts.
- the salary schedule for extra duty personnel.
- recommendations by the textbook committee.
- the school calendar for 1982-83.

In final action the board decided to canvass the April 3 elections returns at 7:30 p.m. the same night.

Town awaiting calls from anybody famous

KINGSTON, Ga. (AP) — If you're famous — for anything — this tiny town wants you.

Kingston, snubbed by U.S. senators, movie stars, state officials and one out-of-office president, has mounted a campaign to attract any celebrity for the Kingston Historic Festival.

Mayor Vernon C. Ayers said Monday that he's tired of getting "very nice" rejection letters from everyone he asks. So he mailed out a news release asking for a "famous person" to participate in the festival and parade on April 17.

Personally, Ayers said, he hopes Dolly Parton calls, but he'll take whoever he can get.

Former President Jimmy Carter, Sens. Edward Kennedy, D-Mass., Sam Nunn, D-Ga., and Mack Mattingly R-Ga., along with former Sen. Herman Talmadge, D-Ga., Gov. George Busbee and actor Burt Reynolds all have declined to attend the festival in this town of 729 located 50 miles northwest of Atlanta, Ayers said. So have state gubernatorial candidates Buck Melton and Jack Watson.

"Essentially what they say," said Ayers, "is, 'Best wishes and much success, but I can't be with you.'"

Jehovah's Witness given blood substitute

DENVER (AP) — A Jehovah's Witness minister, suffering from internal bleeding but unable to receive blood transfusions because of his religion, has been treated with a synthetic blood supplement and his condition is improving, doctors reported.

The condition of the Rev. Higinio Rodriguez, 67, of San Antonio, Texas, was upgraded Monday from "critical" to "serious but stable" by physicians at University Hospital.

Rodriguez was flown to Denver from San Antonio on Saturday for treatments with Fluosol-DA, a fluid that does part of the work of blood.

Doctors said earlier that Rodriguez was suffering from a bleeding ulcer, but discounted that possibility after tests Monday.

"He did not have a bleeding ulcer, but what he did have we haven't been able to find out," said Tom Rees, a University Hospital spokesman.

"They're trying to pinpoint the source of the bleeding. Whatever it was, it has quit and there are indications his blood system is generating red blood cells. So, if he keeps going like this and doesn't bleed, we might have a very good prognosis for him," he said.

Rodriguez was the first patient in the Rocky Mountain region treated with the synthetic fluid, although two other members of his religion received the treatment earlier elsewhere in the nation.

Rees said Rodriguez was being kept in the burn center "because of the highly sophisticated monitoring equipment and controlled environment designed to keep away any threat of germs."

Rees said the intravenous injections began on Rodriguez on Saturday night.

"It is not a transfusion, which would indicate an exchange of blood," Rees noted.

The Fluosol treatment was intended to "serve as a bridge" for two to three days, Rees said, until Rodriguez's own body could catch up with the manufacture of red blood cells.

Fluosol-DA, developed by a Japanese firm, may be used only in emergencies and is still considered experimental by the Food and Drug Administration, Rees said. It has been used on 13 patients in the United States so far, and about 500 patients have been treated with it in Japan since 1979, he said.

Fluosol-DA is not "synthetic blood," Rees emphasized. "It's a synthetic oxygen-transport fluid, a plasma extender," he said.

The fluid apparently helps victims of stroke, heart attacks, cerebral hemorrhage, carbon monoxide poisoning, burns and sickle-cell anemia, Rees said, because of its ability to carry oxygen.

Pharaoh's boat goes on display

CAIRO, Egypt (AP) — Sunk for centuries in desert sands and for nearly three decades in a sea of modern-day troubles, the 4,500-year-old boat of the Pharaoh Cheops is finally on public display.

Like the Great Pyramid of Giza which marked Cheop's tomb, the vessel is imposing. Egyptian archeologists claim it is the oldest and best-preserved wooden vessel in the world.

The vessel was designed to carry the pharaoh after his death across the horizon into paradise to meet the sun god Ra. It is sometimes called the Solar Boat.

"It is composed of 1,224 pieces — the longest 23 meters (75 feet), the tiniest 10 centimeters (4 inches)," says its keeper, 72-year-old Ahmed Youssef. "There is not a single nail. It is all fitted together with 5,000 meters (16,400 feet) of hemp rope."

The boat, which stands on 12 iron poles in a museum of its own near the Great Pyramid of Cheops, has proved a joy and a frustration for Ahmed Youssef.

The dismantled vessel was found in 1954 in a trench covered by limestone slabs that weighed 18 tons each. Workers found it accidentally while clearing rubble around the pyramid.

After months of struggling with the 41 slabs, the pieces of cedar wood were recovered with minimal damage. Youssef, who had earned a reputation for repairs and restoration of the pharaonic temples in Luxor, was called in to care for the boat.

For four years he struggled to fit the pieces together.

Retired art professor seeks out legends of Lincoln

TEMPE, Ariz. (AP) — As a schoolboy in Indiana, Harry Wood, the tallest boy in class, was selected to play Abraham Lincoln in pageants.

The role started artist Wood on a lifelong passion for searching out the man behind the legends and the fascinating face of the 16th president.

Wood is now retired as Arizona State University professor emeritus of art (the school's Harry Wood Gallery is named for him), and his private collection of Lincoln material is extensive.

It includes many volumes of special Lincoln material, a bronze sculpture by Gutzon Borglum, who immortalized Lincoln's face among others on Mount Rushmore, and other Lincoln memorabilia.

Wood did his first painting on a Lincoln theme, "The Warriors," in 1942.

"I've been drawing and painting his face ever since," he says. "I think it's one of the great artifacts of America."

Lincoln's face, he says, has "classic dimensions, strength and power, that reminds me of the great Roman faces."

"The right side of his face was very shrewd and practical. The left side was that of an inspired dreamer. It was because he was kicked by a horse and 'killed' he (Lincoln) said at the age of 12. His face was distorted from that time on."

But it was that face that got Lincoln elected president, Wood believes.

"His great character was unknown to the people," but an engraving of his face from a photograph taken in New York was widely circulated. Lincoln's accident, says Wood, gave his face "a kind of common man rusticity that made him look trustworthy. It was the face of a common man of heroic dimension."

Several times a year Wood talks to school children about Lincoln. He gives each child a Lincoln mask to look at while he tries "to infuse some of the wonderful writing and spirit of Lincoln into the kids."

In his collection are what he regards as many fine drawings of Lincoln done by school children.

In 1970, Wood put together his masks for an exhibit at Matthews Gallery at ASU. In six weeks "The Faces of Abraham Lincoln" had the highest viewing of any show at the gallery. The show traveled from there to many other places.

A copy of the catalog Wood created for the exhibit, including an essay on Lincoln as an introduction, is now in the Library of Congress in Washington, D.C.

Not far from there, in the National Portrait Gallery, a Smithsonian institution, a Wood portrait of Mexican hero Santa Ana hangs next to a portrait of another Lincoln-ophile, Carl Sandburg. Wood has Sandburg's autograph on a sketch Wood did of him on his 75th birthday.

Wood's fascination with Lincoln has taken other avenues, too.

Among nine volumes of poetry he has had published to date is "Old Symbol Face," completed in 1974 and now out of print. He is planning a new edition, to include twice the number of poems (about 30) and "many more illustrations."

He is also at work on what he describes as "four small volumes," culminating more than three decades of study of Lincoln's 272-word Gettysburg Address. They will examine the biblical sources of the address, its structure, diction and stature as a great scripture of democracy.

Grants spark self-help projects in cities

NEW YORK (AP) — Suggestions ranging from a "hand tool library," where people could borrow tools for home repairs, to free dental care for needy children were among community improvement ideas submitted in a program held in three U.S. cities during 1981.

The challenge to civic groups in Southfield, Mich., Santa Ana, Calif., and Raleigh, N.C., was: Tell us how you'd spend $25,000 to make your community a better place in which to live, and it's yours, no strings attached. The benefactor was International Telephone and Telegraph Corp., which has extensive operations in those cities.

The "Best Civic Idea" program, devised to encourage more community initiative and broader corporate support in the wake of federal aid cutbacks, drew a total of 57 ideas.

Among those submitted were a motor bike race track for teen-agers, psychological help for families of slain policemen and support for treating alcoholics and drug addicts.

Funding of little theaters was suggested several times, as was the making of documentary films to publicize area historic attractions.

One group said it would use the grant to teach gardening to apartment dwellers. Another said it would spend the $25,000 to instruct others how to apply for philanthropic grants.

Entries were judged by panels of prominent citizens of the three cities, including mayors, school superintendents, bank presidents and clergymen.

• In Southfield, a Detroit suburb of 85,000, the winning idea was for a neighborhood recreation program in a vacant school building. The A.M. Optimist Club of Southfield-Landrup, which submitted the idea, noted the project was aimed at "a regularly scheduled and socially acceptable outlet for the energies of Southfield youth."

While the program had already been in existence for several months, the grant would upgrade facilities, provide a program for senior citizens, and halt deterioration and possible vandalism of the building.

• In Santa Ana, an educational project at the local zoo was selected from among 18 entries. According to local organizations that support the zoo, space for wildlife and conservation instruction was severely limited and only 15 students per session could attend.

The grant would permit the construction of an outdoor amphitheater-arena, seating up to 150 persons. Thus, thousands more children will receive instruction each year. The facility will be named the ITT-Cannon Educational Center after the area's largest industrial employer.

• The Pilot Club of Raleigh won the judges' vote by suggesting a recycling program to support a clearing house for providing assistance to needy people. "The Recycle Raleigh for Food and Fuel Project" calls for coordinating services of existing agencies and getting corporations, businesses, churches and civic clubs involved in the program via food, fuel and cash donations.

"We can only hope that the ideas these contests generate will inspire others to conduct similar programs," said George Massaua, ITT director of public affairs. "No simple company or group can solve all the social problems of the world, and $25,000 goes only so far."

Your Daily HOROSCOPE

from the CARROLL RIGHTEER INSTITUTE

FORECAST FOR THURSDAY, MAR. 25, 1982

GENERAL TENDENCIES: The daytime gives you a good chance to put your practical affairs in better order. Tact and poise on your part are required to avoid an unpleasant situation from arising.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Morning is the best time for clearing up monetary problems. Make sure to follow advice you get from a business expert.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Taking the treatments that will improve your appearance is wise. Make new friends that are worthwhile.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Study just where you are headed and find more workable methods to gain success. Come to a better accord with loved one.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Don't rely on friends who are busy with own affairs at this time. Make plans to have more abundance in the future.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Be sure to handle an important duty well since you could be observed by higher-ups now. Take needed health treatments.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Put those creative ideas to work now and gain the respect of associates. Strive for increased happiness. Sidelstep an opponent.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) You have to use diplomacy if you wish to have the harmony at home you desire. Try not to offend others at this time.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Contact persons who can assist you with routines and you get better results in the future. Avoid a troublemaker.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Anything of a monetary matter should be talked over with experts today. Show more devotion to loved one.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) If properly tuned astrologically, this should be a fine day for sociability. Take steps to improve your appearance.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) A good day to have discussions with close ties and come to a better accord. Make plans to have greater income in the future.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Consult business experts who can give you the right advice at this time. Steer clear of one who has an eye on your assets.

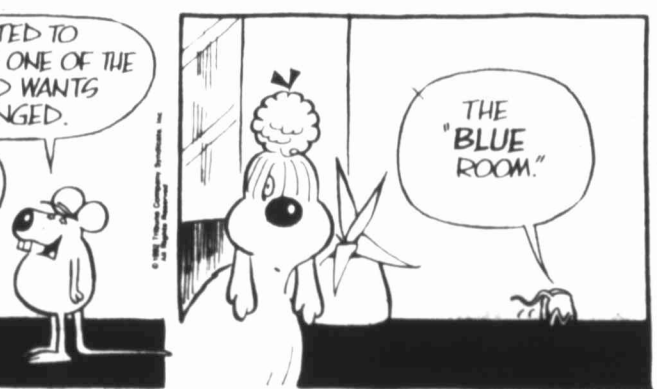

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he or she will need much spiritual and ethical training early in life for your progeny to be successful. Anything that concerns big money matters is fine here. Give cultural advantages and the best education you can afford.

"The Stars impel, they do not compel." What you make of your life is largely up to you!

SINGING IN THE RAIN — County singer Johnny Cash draws interest from tourists Tuesday as he strolls in front of the Alamo beneath an umbrella. He also sang in the rain as part of "Johnny Cash' Cowboy Heroes," a CBS Television special being filmed at Kerrville and the Alamo. The special airs in May.

Long-running series score big

NEW YORK (AP) — It was a big week for long-running TV series, and CBS — with half of the 20 highest-rated programs — was the primary beneficiary, figures from the A.C. Nielsen Co. showed.

All but two of the 20 most-watched programs in the week ending March 21 were from a series introduced prior to this season. The exceptions were Carol Burnett's special, "Eunice," on CBS, and an ABC movie, "The Enforcer," in ninth place.

The week's Top 30 was composed of programs from 28 continuing series, and included four newly introduced programs, notably ABC's "Fall Guy" in 21st place, and "Falcon Crest" on CBS' 22nd.

CBS, with "Dallas" in first place and "60 Minutes" second, won the networks' competition for the 17th time this season — but only the first time in three weeks.

CBS' rating for the period was 18 to 17.9 for ABC — the winner the two previous weeks — and 14.6 for NBC. The networks say that means in an average prime-time minute, 18 percent of the country's TV-equipped homes were watching CBS.

The rating for "Dallas" was 26.9. Nielsen says that means in an average minute during the show, 26.9 percent of the nation's homes with TV were tuned to the program.

"Dallas" now has been first in the ratings 11 times this season.

SPECIAL NOTICE

To homeowners who are 65 years of age or older and failed to receive their School District Homestead Exemption in 1979.

According to H.B. 885 passed by the Special Session of the 67th Legislature, over 65 homeowners who qualified for the School Homestead "Tax Freeze" in 1979, but did not apply for the limitation, may file an application with the Chief Appraiser of the Appraisal District.

Application must be made with the Chief Appraiser before April 1st, 1982.

To qualify for the tax limitation on January, 1979, a homeowner must have satisfied these requirements:

1. Be 65 years or older as of January 1st, 1979.
2. Own his/her home as of January 1st, 1979.
3. Use that home as his/her principal residence.

Application forms are available at the: Howard County Consolidated Tax Appraisal District P.O. Box 1441

Everything is ducky at Mike Letter's store

SALT LAKE CITY (AP) — Mike Letter is no quack. But he's known to be a "fowl" weather friend.

With his duck paintings, duck calls, duck ashtrays, duck wine glasses, duck clocks, duck hats, duck lamps and coats of rubber and canvas duck, the 37-year-old Letter concedes he just might be obsessed with ducks.

"If there's something that has a duck on it, most likely we have it," Letter says of his store, Fowl Weather Friends — a shop that tickles the feathers of duck and geese devotees.

"We're looking to get a duck telephone," he says. "It doesn't ring. It quacks."

Walk into the tiny shop in a suburban Salt Lake City shopping mall and he will shut the door and talk duck for three hours. The store was a life-long dream, spawned by childhood waterfowl hunts on Missouri backwaters and the Columbia River in Oregon.

It also was a dramatic mid-career switch for Letter, who has a master's degree in criminal justice, and was a sheriff's officer in Portland, Ore., before becoming a peddler of duck paraphernalia.

"I'd been a cop for 6½ years. I'd seen just about everything there is to see about human beings' ability to do things to other human beings," he said.

"This is a damn sight better than rolling around with drunks at night."

The shop opened last October, "without much fanfare and without many customers." Letter's brother Jack, an emergency room doctor at Holy Cross Hospital in Salt Lake City and another physician, Mike Romney, invested $50,000 with Letter in the venture.

Duck-imprinted T-shirts hang from a rack, near the duck calendars and duck dishware at the store. Mallards migrate across a doormat. Flocks fly around clock faces.

Prices range from about $2 for a deck of cards to $400 for some of the art work. Letter recently expanded his line by offering a fish lithograph. There's also a lamp with a grouse on it — "for the upland game lovers" — and several antique stoves, one decorated with chrome ducks.

"Duck hunters are a little coo-coo anyway," Letter says. "Who else would stand out there and freeze their tail off and say it's fun?"

The same quality has been attributed to duck store owners, he says. "Everyone said, 'You have to be crazy — nobody opens a store just dealing with ducks.'"

But that's been the major attraction. "People enjoy coming in, even if they don't buy, to a store that has such a limited focus."

TIPS FOR ENERGY SAVERS

How to Save Electricity Before It Comes To You

During late afternoon and early evening hours, the load on the nation's electrical systems usually reaches its peak. To meet the heavy demand, electric utilities often must use back-up generating equipment that is not energy efficient.

Try to use energy-intensive appliances such as dishwashers, clothes washers and dryers, and electric ovens in the early morning or late evening hours to help reduce that peak load.

This energy saving tip is brought to you by the classified advertising department in the interest of energy conservation.
