Planners OK subdivision, lumber company

By BILL ELDER
Staff Writer

The housing industry in Big Spring got a double boost yesterday afternoon when the city's Planning and Zoning Board approved a 30-lot subdivision as well as a new store which will sell lumber and other building materials.

The subdivision and the lumber shop, both to be located on the south side of town, need ultimate approval from the city council — but as far as clearing hurdles at the planning board level, the sailing was clear.

Meeting at Big Spring City Hall in the council chambers at 5:15 p.m., the board approved with little discussion the final plan presented by Cunningham Development Corp. to develop a 30-lot subdivision of single-family homes on Craigmont in Coronado Hills.

Representing Cunningham, Lanny Hamby unveiled the plans for the subdivision, which had earned preliminary approval at the March planning and zoning board meeting.

HAMBY TOLD the board Cunningham had made the one change requested by the board: extending by 10 feet the utility easement on the north side of Craigmont. The board approved the plan, with member Walter Wheat dissenting.

The next item of business paved the way for the third and final item on the board's agenda. After passing an amendment to the zoning ordinance allowing sales of building materials in light commercial districts as long as the proper permit is obtained, the board then granted an Odessa company a permit to build a lumber firm on a three-acre tract across F.M. 700 from Big Spring Mall. The property is zoned for light commercial business.

When last publicly discussed, the amendment was in the hands of the Big Spring City Council, which was scratching heads and trying to figure out how to let small lumber companies open for business in light commercial districts without at the same time allowing larger lumber yards incompatible with their surroundings to move in to light commercial areas.

The council had passed on preliminary vote a proposal submitted by legal advisor Elliott Mitchell which devised a formula for determining whether a seller of building materials is doing retail or wholesale business. Retailers, the council proposed, would be allowed to sell building materials in light commercial zones.

BUT AFTER THINKING about the formula and how hard it would be to enforce, city officials scrapped it and decided to allow companies selling building materials in general to open for business in light commercial districts — but with one provision, that the company go before the council and seek a specific use permit.

"We decided the best way to control where (the companies) are placed is by issuing specific use permits," Public Works Director Tom Decell told the board prior to its vote.

That still left a problem of the department stores which had been selling building materials in light commercial zones prior to the amendment. Would they now have to get a specific use permit from the city? Decell said they would not.

"It's our opinion that they don't fall into the category of principally merchandizing" building materials, Decell said after the meeting. The old zoning ordinance had been written, he said, to prevent businesses which do a large volume of building material sales from setting up shop in light commercial districts.

Frank Kimmel, the developer representing Odessa's Cashway Lumber Home Center, told the board Big Spring would benefit from Cashway because the company estimated it might do $1 million in annual sales and expected to hire six to 10 people.

DEVELOPER EXPLAINS PLAN — Frank Kimmel went before the Big Spring Planning and Zoning Board yesterday to explain his plan to build a lumber company on three acres opposite Big Spring Mall.

HOWARD COUNTY NIRA RODEO APPROACHES — The Fourth Annual Howard County Rodeo coming up this Thursday, Friday and Saturday promises plenty of bucking broncos, wild bulls and skillful roping. The event will be at the Howard County Rodeo Bowl and performances will begin nightly at 8 p.m. Seventeen top college teams are entered in the rodeo. Tickets are $2 in advance or $3 at the gate. For further ticket information call 267-6311.

Bank deposits reflect 'boom'

Big Spring banks including Coahoma reported a $10 million increase in deposits for the first quarter of 1982 over the fourth quarter of 1981. First quarter '82 deposits were $252,619,835 as opposed to $242,644,754 for the fourth quarter of last year.

Area bank deposits were approximately $50 million more than at the same time last year when first quarter totals stood at $202,845,218.

Bank loans, however, dipped $2 million as only one Big Spring bank showed an increase in total loans. Loans for the first quarter of this year were $111,844,944 compared to $113,802,946 for the fourth quarter of '81. For the same period last year

Candidates report donations

By MIKE DOWNEY
Staff Writer

Howard County Justice of the Peace Lewis Heflin has received $1,650 in campaign donations in his race to be re-elected peace justice precinct one, place two. He leads all other candidates in donations, ahead of county judge candidate Milton Kirby's $900 and justice of the peace candidate Linda Arsiaga's $825.

Heflin received contributions from the following: Steve Childress, $500; Small Fishing and Rental, $300; Tonya Gilstrap, Natasha Gilstrap, Lisa Gilstrap, $150 each; Mary's Grocery, $100; Ralph McLaughlin, $100 and Harold Levens, $100.

Expenses for Heflin totaled $1,568.16 including $953.67 for advertisements.

Ms. Arsiaga's primary donation of $325 was from Lisa Gilstrap. Other contributions are as follows: Jimmy Sherrad, $200; Robert L. Crane, $100; Richard Abalos, $100 and Libby Gamboa, $100.

Expenses for Ms. Arsiaga have reached $801.26 including $136 for balloons, $184.91 for cards and posters, and $140.35 for matches and pens.

A third candidate for the justice of the peace office, Bob C. Smith, received a contribution of $200 from Margaret L. Smith. Smith's expenses totaled $813.95 including $289 for grocery bags and $207.20 for printing.

Deputy Sheriff Milton Kirby, who is running for county judge, received contributions from the following: Idaho Drilling Co., $400; R.E. McClure, $300; Jack Thompson, $100 and Wheel Co., $100.

Kirby's expenses have reached $942.68 with $195.28 for election cards and $212 for advertisements in The Herald.

Incumbent County Judge Bill Tune has received a total of $800 in contributions. Contributors include Charles Christopher, $500; Margaret Gilstrap, $150 and Lisa Gilstrap, $150.

Tune has spent $668.35 in his bid for re-election including $147 for election cards and $133.75 for bumper stickers.

The third candidate for county judge, John Stanley, has not received any contributions. Stanley has spent $497.34 on his campaign including $137.34 for election cards.

On the race for county commissioner, precinct two, incumbent Paul Allen has spent $506.85 on his bid for re-election including $142.80 for election cards and $64.05 for bumper stickers.

Debbie Calley, running for county commissioner, has received one contribution of $300 from Bob Calley and has spent $315.53 for bumperstickers and pencils. Calley's total expenses are $615.53.

A third candidate for the commissioner, Bob Cowley, has spent $92 on election cards and $52 for matches. The fourth candidate for commissioner, Shannon Boyles Jr. has received one contribution of $300 from Mrs. L.S. Boyles. Boyles only expense has been his $300 filing fee.

The only other contested race is the justice of the peace race, precinct two in Coahoma. Jane Gilmore has spent $380.86 including $159.80 for election cards and $61 for book matches.

Her opponent, Willie Grant, has spent $388.35 including $67.86 for matches and $60.90 for election cards.

Unopposed candidates expenses are as follows: Margaret Ray, county clerk, $473.25; Bonnie Franklin, county treasurer, $469.59; David Barr, county commissioner, $300; Peggy Crittenden, district clerk, $360.

Juvenile Probation Board to meet

A meeting of the Juvenile Probation Board has been called for next Tuesday in Carole Hunter's office, 603 Permian Building.

Purpose of the meeting is to discuss the hiring of a juvenile probation officer.

Mrs. Hunter said she has "no authority" to call a meeting because she is "only a member of the selection committee," but she said she and Bobby Fuller had decided to call a meeting anyway.

"I certainly have not wanted to drag our feet on this," Mrs. Hunter said, adding that the selection committee had been ready with its recommendations two weeks after the board's last meeting on Jan. 11. "I can't meet by myself," Mrs. Hunter said.

She said she felt "hamstrung" because she hadn't felt she had the authority to call a meeting. "I've made every request (to board chairman Bill Tune) to have the meeting, Lynn Hise has been requesting a meeting, Fuller has requested a meeting."

She said the "biggest problem is that we did agree that we would have all seven board members at the meeting."

She said it was her understanding Tune was supposed to call the meeting, but that "the out Judge Tune has" is that all seven members have not been able to get together at one time.

Mrs. Hunter said she is concerned that it appears the selection committee was dragging its feet in the matter.

"I would like for it to be known that the selection committee worked with great haste ... we worked day and night so that we could present our three candidates" within two weeks after the Jan. 11 board meeting. She said she did not understand why the meeting had not been called yet.

Focalpoint

Action/reaction: First governor

Q. Who was the first governor of Texas?
A. James Pinckney Henderson was the first governor of the state after annexation. He is not to be confused with the first president of the Texas Republic, David G. Burnet.

Woman, 83, beaten to death

DALLAS (AP) — Police say robbery apparently was the motive in the beating death of an 83-year-old woman who lived alone.

An intruder dragged Emma McKee from her bed, forced her outside into her fenced back yard and then beat her death in view of three neighbors, police said.

An autopsy showed she died from being beaten on the head with a blunt instrument and from lacerations to the stomach area, the Dallas County medical examiner's office said.

Police said Mrs. McKee's purse was missing but apparently nothing else was taken from the home.

Jamaica ready for Reagan

KINGSTON, Jamaica (AP) — Painters and gardeners touched up official Kingston for President Reagan's arrival today for an overnight visit seen as a symbolic vote of confidence in Prime Minister Edward Seaga.

Reagan was arriving this afternoon to meet with Seaga, the first foreign leader he welcomed at the White House and a strong supporter of private enterprise. It is the first trip by an incumbent American president to Jamaica or Barbados, the second stop on Reagan's "working vacation."

The president and Mrs. Reagan fly on Thursday to Bridgetown, the capital of Barbados, for a three-day visit with actress Claudette Colbert, an old friend. Before their return to Washington on Easter Sunday, Reagan will meet with Prime Minister J.M.G. "Tom" Adams of Barbados and the leaders of other English-speaking islands in the eastern Caribbean, including St. Vincent and the Grenadines, Antigua and Barbuda, Dominica and St. Kitts-Nevis.

Students plan protest

SAN ANTONIO, Texas (AP) — Twenty-five members of a fraternity at Texas' largest Catholic University planned to begin a 240-mile relay run to Houston today to protest proposed federal budget cuts for higher education.

Members of Kappa Sigma fraternity announced at St. Mary's University they would run in relays for three days to deliver petitions to the Houston office of Vice President George Bush, although Bush will not be there.

The run was to begin today at the university, with students running in relays and alternate runners traveling in vans along U.S. Highway 90.

A spokesman said the students plan to arrive in Houston Friday and deliver the petitions to Jack Steel, manager of Bush's office at the federal building, at about 11 a.m.

"We are doing this because we care about college education," fraternity coordinator Joe Dante said.

Recommendation on student suspension to draw study

The Big Spring Independent School District Board will meet Thursday to hear several pieces of new business.

The board will review an administrative recommendation on student suspension and discuss Title I budget amendments.

Superintendent Lynn Hise will give reports on attendance and several miscellaneous items.

Superintendent for Business Donn Crockett will present an analysis of tax department collections and report on delinquent taxes.

In other business the board will canvass the recent school trustee election and reorganize the board.

Coahomans, please call city hall if water lines break

COAHOMA — The City of Coahoma currently is experiencing water line breaks which have lowered the water pressure in resident's homes. Mayor Joe Swinney has asked residents not to call the Coahoma Fire Station with questions about the water pressure, but rather direct their calls to city hall.

Swinney said the fire station yesterday had received 25 calls about the low water pressure which tied up the emergency fire number at the station. Swinney said people who actually are experiencing an emergency could be prohibited from calling the station due to calls about the water problem.

"We expect the problem to be solved by late this afternoon. If people have questions about the water lines and pressure we ask they call city hall and not the fire station. We need that line open for emergencies," Swinney said.

Smith Youth Talent Extravaganza booked

The Bob C. Smith Youth Talent Extravaganza has been scheduled for Saturday, April 17 at 7 p.m. in the Howard College Auditorium. All Howard County youth between the ages of 5-20 are invited to participate on an individual basis. The show is sponsored entirely by Bob C. Smith.

There is no entry fee and awards will be given to all who participate. Only first place winners of each age group will be announced to the audience.

"We are always hearing bad things about our youth like drug abuse and crime, but that is only a small portion of our youth," Smith said. "Let's take into consideration our talented youth who should be uplifted and praised for their many abilities and accomplishments."

For those interested in the competition information can be had by calling talent coordinators Jerrie Dunbar at 263-4183 or Ann Weaver at 267-6457. Smith is also available at 267-6256.

There will be no admission charge for the public.

"I urge each citizen of our county to attend this event and support the youth of Howard County," Smith said.

SEVEN DIE IN TUNNEL — A gasoline tanker truck exploded in flames early Wednesday after it was struck by a bus inside a highway tunnel killing at least seven people. Firemen walk to the tunnel where the tanker truck was still on fire.

Seven people killed after tanker explodes in tunnel

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP) — Seven people burned to death inside a highway tunnel early today after a gasoline tanker was hit by a bus and exploded in flames that turned the tunnel into a roaring furnace and melted vehicles inside, officials said.

Fire Capt. John Speakman confirmed that seven bodies were pulled from the wreckage after the crash and fire in the Caldecott tunnel on Highway 24 between Orinda and Oakland.

"It looks like something out of World War II in there," said Jim Mattos, a California Highway Patrol public affairs officer, of the interior of the three-tube, 3.4-mile-long tunnel, a major commuter route burrowing through a hill between Alameda and Contra Costa counties.

Firefighters wearing breathing apparatus searched for victims inside the tunnel after the fire was brought under control, some 2½ hours after the 12:20 a.m. accident, Speakman said. The crash occurred in the tunnel's westbound tube. By early morning, the other tubes were open to traffic.

Speakman said the Alameda County Transit bus — which apparently carried no passengers — first struck a stalled car, then crashed into the rear of the double-tanker gasoline truck. The bus driver fell out of his vehicle, which went on to smash into a pillar, Speakman said.

At least five other vehicles were trapped in the tunnel behind the bus, the Highway Patrol spokesman said.

Searing heat from the blaze flattened the tanker truck, Mattos said, adding, "It's about six inches high — completely melted."

Speakman said the tanker carried 8,800 gallons of gasoline.

A Carson City, Nev., man who refused to give his name said he stopped his car in the tunnel after witnessing the accident and left his mother at an emergency telephone while he went for help.

"When I was about 50 yards from the end of the tunnel, the smoke hit me," said the man, whose face was covered with soot. "It was real hot. I am convinced my mother was trapped by the smoke and flames."

Mattos confirmed that the man's mother was among the dead.

The identities of the victims, who Mattos said were burned beyond recognition, were not known made public immediately. The bus driver was believed to be among the dead.

Mervyn Lee Metzker, 44, of Sacramento, driver of the Armour Oil Co. tanker, escaped injury, officials said.

YMCA executives honored

By CLIFF COAN Staff Writer

A Tuesday afternoon reception honored both outgoing Big Spring YMCA director Bob Cappel and incoming director Wallace Gill.

Gill, a 32-year veteran with the YMCA, was named to fill Cappel's position after Cappel announced his intention to "try something new."

"I've been in the YMCA business for 14 years," said Cappel. "I felt it was time for a change away from the Y to see if I'd like it."

Gill and his wife Jane are natives of Kentucky, but, as he added jokingly, "Texans by choice."

A graduate of Western Kentucky University, Gill is currently executive director of the Palestine YMCA. He also served as director of the Wichita, Kansas and Victoria YMCAs.

Gill, who has been a YMCA director for 19 years, said his priorities as executive director of the Big Spring Y would be "to increase membership and work with the board of directors on building improvements and renovations."

"Probably the biggest function of a Y now is in the area of personal fitness," Gill said, "with the need people see to stay healthy and in good shape."

Gill's appointment won't officially take effect until May 15, he said. Postmaster Frank Hardesty, president of the YMCA board of directors, said the interim period would be filled by the board of directors. Officers of the board include city manager Don Davis, vice president, James Welch, treasurer and Sherry Bordsdofski, secretary.

"We're looking forward to coming to Big Spring," said the 55-year old Gill. "It's a little different from East Texas, but it's the people that count."

Texans learn from Paris twister

By SHERRIE LANGSTON The Paris News

PARIS, Texas (AP) — Something can be learned from every tornado to help Texans prepare for the next violent storm, say forecasters who visited this twister-devastated city the day after the funnels touched down.

"Tornadoes usually move about 30 mph, but this one was moving about 50 mph," said Mike Mogil, deputy meteorologist in charge of the National Weather Service forecast office in Fort Worth.

Mogil praised the city and county warning system used last Friday to alert the area of the impending danger. Emergency vehicles with sirens raced through city streets to alert residents to take cover as the storm approached.

"(Getting) the warning out was imperative since it was moving so fast and covering a lot of ground in a short amount of time," he said, adding, "a spotter in Bonham mentioned that it was zipping right along."

Crime rate

don't know. It's still too early to tell," he said.

An academic expert, Dr. James Fyfe of American University, said the statistics probably reflected two factors beyond the control of law enforcement officials: the weather and the aging of the American population.

Fyfe said some law-enforcement initiatives, such as stiffer sentences and special surveillance of habitual criminals, have been effective in some cities, but that "they have probably had only a marginal effect" on the national crime rate.

The statistics showed that of the serious crimes counted, only robbery increased in 1981, going up by 5 percent. Murder was down 3 percent, forcible rape down 1 percent, aggravated assault down 2 percent, burglary down 1 percent, auto theft down 4 percent, and arson down 8 percent.

In the preliminary report released Tuesday, the FBI did not give the actual numbers of crimes reported in each category. Those figures are scheduled to be compiled and published later in the year.

The statistics showed that the leveling-off was almost uniform across the country. The crime rate rose 1 percent in the South, declined 1 percent in the North Central states, and remained the same in the West. Areas reported 1 percent decreases.

Criminologists have often disputed the validity of the FBI statistics as a barometer of the actual number of crimes committed in the United States, since they are only a compilation of those crimes which are reported to police.

Alert neighbor helps nab two

An alert neighbor resulted in two quick arrests in a burglary attempt yesterday. Vicky Weaver, 1008 E. 13th, notified police that two persons were breaking into Donnie Latimer's home at 1006 E. 13th.

Fifteen minutes later, police arrested two suspects in the burglary; Tonya Starr, 19, Sandra Gale Apartments, and William Riley Bounds, 17, 713 Washington. Starr posted a $10,000 bond on the burglary charge through Roy Ford and was released. Bounds is still being held in city jail.

Juan Garcia, 410 NW 4th, complained to police that an unknown male had forced his way into his car, robbed him of $450 and stole his car.

Sherry Osborn, 1510-B Wood, told police someone she knew assaulted her with an unknown object, his fists and a knife without provocation.

Two women complained to police that two tires on each of their vehicles had been slashed while parked at 910 NW 1st. Teresa Sherman, 2614 Hunter, and Lula Byrd, 1010 N. Main, made the reports to police at 8:20 p.m.

Robert Quintana of Gibson Discount Center observed a man taking a cassette tape without paying for it Tuesday afternoon. A suspect was seized by Gibson's security officer, Larry Don Hass, 17, was charged with theft over $5 and under $20. He was freed on $1,000 bail posted by B&M Bail Bond Service.

Jabor Chavez, 807 Nolan, told police an unknown person had taken a ladies gold wedding ring with a diamond from the bedroom at 1603 Bluebird.

Vehicles driven by Frank Launarey of Houston and Luther Carter of Hawley were in collision yesterday morning at Marcy Drive and 1800 Birdwell. Launarey was ticketed for failure to control his speed and failure to maintain financial responsibility.

Rod Lee Puga, 911 W. 5th, was backing a trailer in the 200 block of South Gregg when he struck a Texas Electric light pole. He was ticketed for improper backing.

Clements first to take cancer test

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Gov. Bill Clements was the first Texan to take a new cancer risk test today and found he was a low risk for lung cancer but a high risk for colon cancer.

"I'm sure I'll last another term," Clements joked after completing the personal self-test being distributed by the Texas Division of the American Cancer Society.

After a clattering computer graded his test, Clements announced that he has a score of 14, a low risk for lung cancer, but a score of 92 for colon and rectum cancer, considered a high risk.

Dr. Robert Bernstein, state commissioner of health, explained that Clements got in the high risk category for colon cancer because he is 64 years of age and said he had had one or more colon polyps removed.

COUNTERFEITER CHARGED — One man was charged before a San Angelo federal magistrate Tuesday on three counts of counterfeiting, and three others were called as material witnesses. In the photo on the left, Federal Magistrate Phil Lane shows the counterfeiting plates and some of the bogus bills seized when all four men were arrested

Man charged in bogus bill scheme

SAN ANGELO, Texas (AP) — Federal prosecutors say they will probably ask a grand jury later this month to indict a 56-year-old California man on counterfeiting charges. Arthur Ray Lockwood, of North Hollywood, Calif., appeared before a federal magistrate here Tuesday on charges of possessing, passing and concealing counterfeit money.

County Jail in lieu of $10,000 bond. The other men were jailed under material witness bonds of $2,000 each. Secret Service resident agent David Freriks said a federal grand jury should convene April 20. He said Lockwood has been linked to a counterfeiting operation in Los Angeles in which 14 persons were arrested by Secret Service agents last weekend.

Two of the other men arrested are from California and the third is from Maine, officers said. They and Lockwood were originally arrested for public intoxication after they were stopped on U.S. Highway 290 for a faulty light and a dragging muffler, authorities said.

Two men accused in a counterfeiting scheme authorities claim "operated all over the Midwest" pleaded guilty to federal conspiracy charges, prosecutors in Houston say.

He was arrested along with three others east of Sonora Sunday on a traffic violation. Police there found $47,315 in bogus $5 bills and counterfeit printing plates in a search of the car. Lockwood remained in the Tom Green Freriks said the California investigation turned up counterfeit printing plates that corresponded to the equipment found in Sonora. About $750,000 seized in the California raid matches the bogus money found in the car by police, he said.

Mickey Joe Brown, 37, and Leslie Lloyd Staebler, 25, entered their pleas Tuesday before U.S. District Judge Ross Sterling.

Brown and Staebler each face up to five years in prison and a $5,000 fine. The two men were arrested in October 1981 at Houston Intercontinental Airport after allegedly selling $100,000 in bogus bills to a U.S. Secret Service agent for $20,000 in real currency. The scheme to pass the $10, $20 and $50 bills was part of a counterfeiting ring that operated "all over the Midwest," said Assistant U.S. Attorney Michael Brown. The counterfeiting ring started in Orlando, Fla., where Larry Allen Gordon, 42, recently pleaded guilty to charges of printing $700,000 and distributed part of the phony currency to Brown and Staebler.

Boat overloaded, witness to drownings says

DALLAS (AP) — A motorboat designed to carry 600 pounds was "shimmying, bouncing up and down" with six men aboard as it headed for the middle of Lake Mexia, where it capsized and three black teen-agers drowned, says a man who watched from shore.

last June 19 to celebrate Juneteenth, marking the day Texas slaves learned they were free.

Gloria King and Cora Jackson, both of Dallas, testified they saw the officers remove handcuffs from two of the suspects before boarding the boat.

A white officer swam to shore, fired a shot into the air and began throwing life preservers from a nearby boat, witnesses said.

James Ferguson of Dallas testified Tuesday in the trial of three suspended Limestone County officers charged with misdemeanor negligent homicide in the deaths of the youths, who had been arrested for marijuana possession.

He said he shouted the first youth boarding the boat to get off because "the boat was sinking down in the water" with only three men aboard. But said he "backed up" when he realized he might be interfering with law enforcement.

Mrs. Jackson first insisted her back was turned and she simply assumed the handcuffs were removed. But after lengthy questioning, she told attorneys she wanted her testimony to match that given to a court of inquiry last summer, when she said she saw the cuffs being removed.

The only witness to identify the officer, however, was Mrs. Jackson's husband Louis, who owned the boat. He said it was Drummond who fired the shot. Elliot was armed, but Drummond denied he had a weapon.

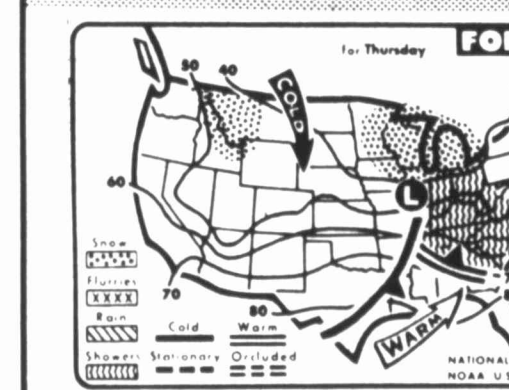

Ferguson was one of several thousand blacks who went to the central Texas lake

The two white officers, deputy Kenny Elliot and probation officer David Drummond, swam to safety after the craft overturned. The black officer, reserve deputy Kenneth Archie, clung to the boat — which had no life preservers — until he was rescued. Although several witnesses reported hearing splashes and cries for help from the water, they said no one tried to help.

Defense attorneys accused Jackson of lying and quoted him as saying at the court of inquiry that he "never did see the person" who fired the shot.

Weather

WEATHER FORECAST — The National Weather Service predicted snow Thursday over western Montana and adjacent areas and over the Great Lakes region. Showers were expected over much of the Midwest extending east into the Virginias and the Carolinas.

Cooler weather forecast Thursday

By The Associated Press
Scattered thunderstorms were forecast for Northeast Texas tonight after a day of pleasant weather across the entire state.

Forecasts called for partly cloudy skies and warmer temperatures over all but South Texas where skies were to be cloudy. It is expected to turn cooler in West Texas Thursday.

Highs were to be in the mid 60s in North Texas and in the 70s and 80s elsewhere. Lows tonight will be in the mid 30s in the Panhandle and the 50s and 60s over the rest of the state. Highs Thursday will be in the 60s in the Panhandle and the 70s and 80s elsewhere.

It was cloudy in South Texas early today where some light drizzle was reported, mainly in the Lower Rio Grande Valley. The rest of the state had clear skies.

Early morning temperatures were in the 30s in the Panhandle, the 40s over North Texas and the 50s and 60s in South Texas. Extremes ranged from 35 at Amarillo to 72 at Brownsville.

Some early morning temperatures around the state included 42 at Wichita Falls, 46 at Dallas-Fort Worth, 44 at Lufkin, 49 at Houston, 68 at Corpus Christi, 56 at San Antonio and Midland and 65 at El Paso.

EXTENDED FORECAST
WEST TEXAS: Fair with near seasonal normal temperatures Friday and Saturday becoming partly cloudy and warmer Sunday. Highs Friday and Saturday near 60 north to mid 80s south warming to upper 60s north to lower 90s southwest Sunday. Lows near 30 north to upper 40s south Friday and Saturday moderating to mid 30s north to lower 50s south Sunday.

FORECAST
WEST TEXAS — Fair north, partly cloudy south today. Warmer east of mountains today. Fair through Thursday. Cooler most sections Thursday. Highs mid 70s Panhandle to upper 90s Big Bend valleys. Lows tonight mid 30s Panhandle to upper 50s extreme south. Highs Thursday low 60s Panhandle to low 90s Big Bend valleys.

Northeast digs out from under blizzard

A howling blizzard that ranked as the season's worst storm in the biggest cities of the Northeast buried blossoms under 2-foot snows, grounded robins in 75 mph gusts and slammed the door on spring.

The Midwest, digging out from the early days of the same snowstorm and cracking under record low temperatures, was warned that a new snowstorm would hit today after gathering strength in the West.

The storm killed at least four people Tuesday in the Northeast after claiming 10 lives in the Midwest the day before, and four young hikers were missing in the Catskill Forest of New York.

"This has to be, if not the greatest, one of the greatest spring storms to ever affect this area," said National Weather Service forecaster John Pollock in New Hampshire.

Elections were canceled, Connecticut Gov. William O'Neill called out the National Guard to help clear the streets of abandoned cars and the airports serving New York, Boston and New Jersey were shut down.

Balmly weather had melted the snow in New Hampshire and Vermont before Tuesday's storm dumped up to 2 feet of snow and brought gusts up to 35 mph, causing scores of accidents on highways.

Bitter cold threatened the peach crop in Dixie and thousands of people lost electricity in Virginia as winds gusted up to 72 mph.

"This is the worst morning I've seen in some time," said Manchester, N.H., police Capt. Dana Weeks. "It's unbelievable how in a month's time people can forget how to drive in snow."

The snow and the cold shattered weather records as two storm systems collided, and out in the white-capped ocean off Massachusetts, Nantucket Island was hit with gusts up to 83 mph.

Many New Yorkers went home from work early in a snowstorm that was accompanied by lightning. It was the city's worst of the winter and the first April blizzard since weather records have been kept.

Weather baffles forecasters

LA JOLLA, Calif. (AP) — It showed up at the strangest times and in the strangest places, catching the Northeast off-guard with an April blizzard and marching on the South hurling ice and snow.

It was "not a winter characterized by a single regime, or some simple flow pattern that set itself up at the beginning and persisted," Somerville said.

It ravaged the Midwest with Biblical floods and fiendish tornadoes. It washed out California hillsides and froze the fruit on Florida trees.

"Several forecasts caught it in general but none predicted the extreme breaking cold, individual details like that," he said.

Very little of the unsinkable winter of '82 went according to plan. It was, in the words of one scientist, "the least predictable" winter weather in five years.

The winter was not only unusually cold in some places, wet in others and snowy in still others, it also was unusually damaging.

"Frankly, we're baffled by it," said Richard C.J. Somerville, a Scripps Institution of Oceanography meteorology professor who heads the nation's first experimental forecast center.

As the Northeast reeled under an astonishing blizzard and portions of the Midwest lay frozen under the coldest weather ever to come along so late in the year, the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration put losses at $8.2 billion and more than 350 lives.

About 30 of the nation's leading climate experts met privately last week "to understand what happened" this winter, Somerville said in an interview Tuesday. They gathered at Scripps Institution of Oceanography in suburban San Diego, far from the howling winds of the Northeast or

"The prolonged winter of 1976-77 was more devastating economically, but this has been an unusually harsh period with its greatest intensity in the six weeks before mid-February," said Malcolm Reid, the agency's supervising meteorologist in Washington, D.C.

Parental rights

It wasn't on the so-called "social agenda" of pro-family activists, but the U.S. Supreme Court recently gave those who believe in the sanctity of parental rights perhaps their biggest victory.

By a narrow 5-4 margin, the Court ruled that before the state can terminate a parent-child relationship, it must prove by "clear and convincing" evidence that the parent is unfit.

The clear and convincing evidence standard stiffens the state's burden of proof — somewhere between a mere "preponderance" of evidence and the "beyond a reasonable doubt" standard employed in criminal cases.

TO THE LAYMAN, this may seem like merely technical verbiage with little import, but that is not the case. What the Supreme Court did is important for several reasons.

First, the state must meet a stricter standard before children can be taken from their natural parents and the parents' rights terminated. Admittedly, it is difficult to explain just how much higher the evidentiary hurdle has been raised, but there is no question that it has been raised.

Secondly, and most important, the Court's decision emphasizes the value of the parent-child relationship and makes clear that when the state seeks to end that relationship it must make a very good case.

MOST STATES CAME to these conclusions on their own, but 15 states allowed a lower standard of proof to terminate the parent-child relationship.

Last week's decision is an important victory for those who believe parents have fundamental rights in the rearing of their children.

Good guys

One of my favorite collections of books to re-read is the Martian Series, 11 books of science fiction fantasy on the fictional world of Mars. The author of these is Edgar Rice Burroughs, probably better known as the creator of "Tarzan." While the Ape Man may be more popular, it is the hero of the Martian Series that holds the most fascination for me: John Carter.

The central attraction of John Carter is his heroic stature. Burroughs left no admirable attribute unassigned in his creation of the Warlord of Barsoom. Barsoom, of course, is the Martian word for Mars. Carter is the consummate man: the best warrior of two worlds, the most loved and respected man of his planet and a man who would battle a world for the love of his woman.

WHAT IS THERE not to admire about the man?

John Carter is not burdened with the qualities of modern literature — he does not suffer as a Byronic hero and he is not tragic like Hamlet. The pit-falls, neuroses and common fallacies of reality do not intrude upon John Carter as he fights for his loved ones or to save a world.

One does not catch John Carter running down to the corner grocery for a gallon of milk and Cheetos. His life is complex in its variety but so uncomplicated in its clarity of action. The right decision is easily evident; courage, loyalty and love will conquer all in the end. I think I like John Carter because he is just right as a hero. Sadly, there are no heroes anymore, at least not in real life. This paucity of greatness is too bad because it is evident people would like a John Carter to admire.

Look at the popularity of movies like "Superman" or "Raiders of the Lost Ark." While both were excellent action pictures, the characters made the films work — the Man of Steel and Indiana Jones were heroes who saved the day. People still like good guys.

FOR MYSELF, I find it encouraging people are still indulging in the fantasy that good will overcome evil, that determined strength can triumph. Perhaps it is the old idealist in me coming out, but as long as people dare to dream that right will conquer, then the hope is never truly dead.

Fiction with strong, identifiable characters such as Carter is not just another form of escapism, not just another drug. While no one can realistically emulate all the characteristics of a fictional hero, the quality of one's psychological well-being can be improved by exposure to so many positive images.

So I will continue to lose myself in the fantasy of this literary creation of the 1930's, wielding a sword against enemies of flesh and blood. John Carter never worries about income tax, rent or paychecks — heroes never do. I wonder how far it is to Mars.

Billy Graham

Is God in us?

DEAR DR. GRAHAM: What does the Bible mean when it says that the Kingdom of God is within us? Does this mean we all have some of God in us? — J.F.

DEAR J.F.: The people of Jesus' day were looking forward to the time when the Messiah would come to rule his people. They believed that his Kingdom would be a strong political government that would drive out their enemies and establish their nation in peace and independence. In other words, they saw the Messiah as an earthly king, much like the kings they had known in the past only better.

But Jesus did not come to set up a new political order. He came instead to set up his rule in the hearts of men. The passage to which you refer is found in Luke 17: 20-21: "Once, having been asked by the Pharisees when the kingdom of God would come, Jesus replied, 'The kingdom of God does not come visibly, nor will people say, "Here it is," or "There it is," because the kingdom of God is within you.'

What did he mean? He meant that the Kingdom of God was not just another government, but it was the rule of God over the hearts of men. We read in fact that when people decide they would make Jesus a king he fled from them (see John 6:15).

This is what Jesus Christ wants to do in your life also. By nature every one of us has strayed from God and tried to live without him. This is what the Bible calls sin — going our own way instead of God's way. But Christ came to die on the cross so we could be reconciled to God, and then that we could follow Christ every day. He calls us to turn from our own way of living and follow his way instead. "If anyone would come after me, he must deny himself and take up his cross daily and follow me" (Luke 9: 23).

Filling the void

President Reagan is asking the private sector to pick up the slack in all the government social programs he's axed. He wants companies to fill the void by supporting charities, universities, medical research, and the arts.

He couldn't have asked business to step in at a worse time. I went to see the president of the Sludge Automobile Company to make a personal appeal for my alma mater.

His showroom was jammed with people, from directors of day care centers, to society women ready to plead for their symphony orchestras.

After a four-hour wait, I finally got in to see him.

"Hi, Jake," I said.

"The answer is no," he said. "I haven't even made my pitch." I protested. "My school is having a $10 million drive to make up for federal scholarship funds we've lost and President Reagan and I thought..."

"Don't mention that man's name to me. If he thinks he can throw his social problems in my lap, he's crazier than his budget."

"Jake, I thought you were a big Reagan man."

"You saw my showroom. Everyone is out there wanting a handout. My phone hasn't stopped ringing since Reagan said business has to take up the burden caused by his budget cuts. Hasn't he heard of the recession? Our profits are down by 80 percent. We may have to close several dealerships in the first quarter. And you want me to give money to your alma mater?"

"But, Jake, we can't get it from the government, so we have to appeal to the private sector. What better place to start than the auto companies?"

Jake cried, "I haven't sold a car in a month. You want blood? Go to the Red Cross?"

"But if the business community doesn't take over the areas where the government can't help any more, where can we go for money?"

"The same place I'm going. To the bankruptcy court. Look, I run a business. When things are good, I give. When things are lousy, I can't give. The reason the government can't give any more is things are lousy. If it was good for them, they wouldn't tell you to come to me. What makes them think things are good for the private sector, if it's lousy for them?"

"Corporate America can't ignore its social responsibilities, just because you're not making any money." I said. "If Reaganomics ever has a prayer of working, you people have to suffer pain. What is more painful than giving money to programs that the government can no longer afford?"

"Trying to make your payroll for one," Jake said. "Going out of business for another."

"I guess Reagan has more faith in private enterprise than you do. He would have never cut out the funds to my alma mater if he didn't believe you were ready to take up the torch."

"Well he can have the torch back. I'm not the keeper of the flame. Why don't you go to the oil companies?"

"I did, but now that there is oil glut they have no guilt money to hand out any more."

Jake was almost in tears. "My wife's on the board of a hospital, my daughter works for a senior citizens lunch program, the only guy who bought a car from me this year made me buy a table for the Kidney Foundation dinner. How the hell can I give to you, when I've already been wiped out by giving to them?"

"I can only give you one answer, Jake."

"What's that?"

"Your President wants you to."

Deaver-Haig battle

WASHINGTON — Deputy White House chief of staff Mike Deaver, President Reagan's closest aide, persuaded his boss last week to overrule Secretary of State Alexander Haig in a high-noon battle for control of presidential appointments.

Reagan nominated a youthful protégé and aide of Deaver named Gregory Newell, who has no diplomatic background, to be assistant secretary of state for international organizations. Haig's candidate was Al Driscler, a former aide of Sen. Paul Laxalt, who lobbied the White House hard in his favor. Deaver, however, prevailed for Newell, a former advance man for Gerald Ford. Newell's present White House job is to handle mechanics of the president's daily schedule.

Deaver's motive in convincing Reagan not to agree to Haig's recommendation was mainly psychological. The president, he told Reagan, should not bow to Cabinet officers in disputes over presidential appointments. That reverses the usual custom and will generate hostility and anger in every Cabinet department, not just Haig's State Department.

PACKWOOD VS. REAGAN

The cold war between Sen. Bob Packwood and President Reagan continued when the senator demanded — and was refused — an advance text of the president's welcoming message to the annual Packwood-sponsored Tidewater Republican Conference on Maryland's Eastern shore.

Ed Rollins, chief White House political aide, retorted with this barb for Packwood's office: We'll give you that, provided you give us advance texts of the senator's interviews with the Associated Press. That referred to the AP interview in which Packwood, chairman of the Senate Republican Campaign Committee, portrayed the president as a fumbling old man.

A footnote: The White House has informed Packwood it will not tolerate further mailing of Senate campaign fund-raising letters, prepared by Packwood but signed by Reagan, in which the president and senator are pictured as close colleagues. New letters diminishing Packwood's role are demanded by the White House.

EMPTY SENATE SEAT

Senate Majority Leader Howard Baker was miffed when a full week passed after the resignation of Democratic senator Harrison Williams without the New Jersey seat being filled by first-year Republican governor Thomas Kean.

"It's not as though this was an unexpected vacancy," one Senate Republican complained. "He (Kean) knew it was coming for weeks, and we could use the extra hand now." Senate Republican leaders would be horrified if Kean were to keep the seat vacant until a Republican nominee for the full term is chosen in the June primary.

At this writing, Kean has given nobody a clear indication of what he plans between the two contenders for the Republican nomination. Kean obviously prefers conservative Jeffrey Bell over liberal Rep. Millicent Fenwick. But New Jersey politicians expect him to minimize making enemies by naming a caretaker Republican who definitely is not interested in running for the seat.

SENATE CLUBBINESS

Conservative Republican senators explain their journeys to Connecticut to campaign for liberal maverick. Sen. Lowell Weicker on grounds that challenger Prescott Bush Jr. (the vice president's older brother) would be a sure loser in November against liberal Democratic representative Toby Moffett.

Weicker is a staunch foe of most Reagan administration proposals. Nevertheless, Sen. Paul Laxalt of Nevada, President Reagan's closest friend in the Senate, and Sen. Alfonse D'Amato, the New York conservative who knocked liberal Jacob Javits out of the Senate in 1980, have campaigned for Weicker. Sen. Robert Dole of Kansas is scheduled to join them.

"We hear that Bush is such a miserable candidate that he cannot beat Moffett," one conservative senator told us, denying that this was just the old Senate club in operation. However, a major source of the derogatory information about Bush's campaigning deficiencies is none other than a member of the club: Lowell Weicker.

ADAMANT CAP

Defense Secretary Caspar Weinberger has angered Republican conservatives in Congress by insisting on naming Dr. Henry Simmons to the long-empty post of deputy assistant secretary of defense for health. With House Minority Leader Bob Michel behind them, the conservatives have taken their case to the White House — so far to no avail.

Weinberger and Deputy Defense Secretary Frank Carlucci, a tennis-playing pal of Simmons', will not back down; the White House is not yet interested enough to get involved.

The source of Republican unhappiness with Simmons is the American Medical Association (AMA). When Weinberger was secretary of health, education and welfare in the Nixon administration (with Carlucci as his top aide), Simmons was brought in to head a division that rated the professional standards of private physicians. That infuriated the AMA and turned it implacably against Simmons. With the White House staying out of it, Simmons' name may soon go to the Senate.

Deaf viewer enjoys 'Oliver'

Dear Editor, I want to share the wonderful moment with you. The moment I watched the play "Oliver", it inspired me as much as Mary Poppins did.

I want to give a special "Thank You" to Diana Linhart and Richard Fendrich, the volunteers who interpret a play for deaf people like me. If not for them, I might enjoy only clothes, set ups and teamwork of the cast. With interpreters, I enjoy everything.

Let's give special applause to all people who helped with the play, "Oliver." Also, Cecilia McKenzie for falling in love with Theater. It might be a dull town without her and her helpers!

I thank you all for support including the spectators. Also the donors for the tickets for SWCID students. MARILYN MYERS 2207 Lynn Dr.

Person seeks cable TV line

Dear Editor, I'm writing on behalf of our neighborhood. We have tried for twelve years to be connected on to cable television.

The office informed us we would get cable in a year. This went on for 10 years. We then got together and contacted Mr. Lancaster. He informed us that if we brought in a sizeable deposit, he would connect us.

After the money was collected we took it to him and he refused it, saying it would still be another year.

The cable line runs approximately 200 yards from our home and no poles would have to be put up. Shortly after this the county judge, who lives down the road, put up his deposit along with his neighbors and they were immediately connected. Again, we contacted Mr. Lancaster and he said we may never get cable. He suggested we get a satellite. That would mean eight families on one street would have to invest in satellites. That hardly seems rational.

I personally called the Tyler office, and begged them to do something. They sent Mr. Lancaster a letter. He called and asked me exactly where I lived and said we were not getting on cable. What makes us so mad is he said we would have cable and leads us on then he flatly refuses after 12 years of pleading with the man.

This community is always stressing to the citizens to shop in Big Spring and to support your community and industry. But is it fair for one man to decide who can have cable and who cannot?

I also think people who deal with the public should try to please their potential customers rather than to turn them away. I would like to ask Mr. Lancaster if he were just starting his business would he be so eager to turn us away.

T. BURROW Gail Rt.

Editor's Note — Jim Lancaster, manager of Big Spring Cable TV, replied as follows when contacted by The Herald:

"Outside the city limits of Big Spring, our general policy is that we will at our discretion, when we have time with the small work force we have, extend cable service upon request some 300 feet per customer requesting from the nearest place we have cable service."

"In this instance referred to, we budgeted money to build it this year. In the meantime it was decided during the budget year to expand the cable system in Big Spring to offer additional services. The person in question, Mrs. Burrow, was informed that it would probably be two years because of our commitment to Big Spring proper."

"We have a franchise in Big Spring but we don't have in the county, and in the case of Mrs. Burrow, one reason we were delaying doing it is that we would make less money than we would like to make out of it."

"Our commitment is primarily to the city limits of Big Spring. We chose to build out into the county wherever we could see that the concentration of customers requesting our services was great enough that we could make money out of it."

"Consequently we have a number of different locations where someone might want the service and feel like they're very close to where there is service, the problem being that our construction costs are great and we have to decide, like a store carrying an item that they don't make any money off if it — they wouldn't carry it even if there were a few people who wanted it."

Thoughts

I think a man and a woman should choose each other for life, for the simple reason that a long life with all its accidents is barely enough for a man and a woman to understand each other; and to understand is to love. The man who understands one woman is qualified to understand pretty well everything.

Open for business

AMERICAN WELL, INCORPORATED, recently moved its entire corporate accounting division to Big Spring. The corporation consists of three subsidiary companies including American Well Servicing Company which employs 325 people here. The corporation has 15 people in the accounting division. DAVE RUCKER oversees the corporate offices in the Permian Building and has been pleased with the expansion and future plans of his company.

UPDATE ON UNION CARBIDE CONSTRUCTION: Dresser Engineering has been awarded the first civil contract and has let some sub-contracts. L. E. Meyers Company from Irving has been awarded the electrical subcontract. Local contractors interested in sub-contracts should contact Dresser Engineering, W.N. Hook Hanson in Odessa at 332-9672, or John Vander-Walker who is setting up an office on-site.

Next week in Dallas, there will be the U.S. Chamber-sponsored National and State Legislative and Regulatory Forum. For more information contact the local Chamber office. Some high-powered speakers, including Charles Stenholm, Kent Hance and Gib Lewis, will be there. Focus will be on the critical issues of 1982-83. A delegation representing the Chamber will be going.

Just leased at the Howard County Industrial Park is the terminal hangar to TIME WELL SERVICE COMPANY. JIM STREETY and MARK KURTZ manage this new business.

Thank you, Spring City Theater, for presenting OLIVER. Cecelia McKenzie, Spring City Theater director, Dave Justice, play director, and all the production crew, musicians, and cast deserve our applause! Their next production is the annual melodrama held in the amphitheater in early summer... but the next live theater offering will be sooner than that when The Southwest Collegiate Institute for the Deaf will present a play written and directed by faculty member, Stephan Baldwin, entitled, CAUGHT IN BETWEEN. It is a comedy-drama about a 15-year-old hard-of-hearing girl deciding between a residential school for the deaf and a public school education. It is a play about self-image and circumstances and others' expectations. Plan to attend this unique play on April 29, 30 or May 1 at the Howard College Auditorium.

BOSSES: remember SECRETARIES' WEEK April 18-24. Do something thoughtful for your hard-working secretary!

A chief executive who has done an amazing job of transforming a run-down company into an outstanding success, instructs each department head to submit every Monday morning a report of all the GOOD things that have happened in his department during the preceding week.

Buy your tickets now to the reception and dinner April 20 hosted by the Salvation Army in which Governor and Mrs. Clements will be the special guests. Governor Clements will be the speaker and Mrs. Clements will make some special community awards.

Businesses are being urged to publicize their consumer activities during National Consumers Week, April 25-May 1. This special week is set aside because consumer education promotes responsible consumer behavior and customer satisfaction which benefits consumers, business, and government. Make suggestions to your favorite stores.

One day instead of serving the usual hot meal, the school cafeteria handed out peanut butter and jelly sandwiches. After lunch, a satisfied first grader marching out the door complimented the cafeteria manager. "Finally, you gave us a home-cooked meal!"

Court upholds offshore annexation

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — The Texas Supreme Court today upheld the validity of a Port Arthur city ordinance annexing an area in the Gulf of Mexico that encompasses a Superior Oil drilling platform and five oil and gas leases.

Superior Oil had attacked the ordinance and sought an injunction to keep the city from collecting property taxes on the company's facilities.

As an alternative, Superior argued that Port Arthur should have included the facilities as part of an industrial district, which would have lowered the property taxes.

The trial court granted the city's motion for a summary judgment, and the Beaumont Court of Civil Appeals affirmed the trial court ruling.

Justice Harold Clayton of the appeals court noted that Port Arthur had begun an annexation program in 1969, at first to provide protection against rising water and storms. Seven ordinances were adopted, with the last one, which included Superior's property, coming in December 1979.

The annexed territory was one mile wide and extended 10 1/2 miles into the Gulf.

Compromise passed for GM's rebate plan

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — A compromise proposal that would allow General Motors to extend its rebate and low-interest rate car and truck specials to Texas has been approved by the Texas Motor Vehicle Commission.

Assistant Attorney General John Fainter Jr. offered the proposal, noting that the automobile industry "is in a prolonged recovery period."

"It is a very difficult market out there right now," said Tom Ryan of Houston, district sales manager for Ford Motor Co.

The commission, which met in an emergency session requested by the Texas Automobile Dealers Association, voted unanimously Tuesday to withdraw its March 31 rule prohibiting GM's rebate and low-interest rate deals.

It voted to allow such deals temporarily if the company discloses whether the car dealer is covering part of the cost.

The old rule had prohibited rebate or special finance programs that required dealers to contribute part of the savings to the customer.

The rule excluded Texas from GM's nationwide program that offers customers 12.8 percent interest rate financing on cars and 14.2 percent financing on trucks. Dealers from throughout the state complained to the TADA here to do something. TADA executive director Gene Fondren said last week dealerships along Texas' borders could suffer substantial harm, because prospective customers would go to Oklahoma, Louisiana and New Mexico to buy GM products.

Fondren said financing in Texas had ranged from 15 percent to 18 percent.

Texas election notes

Psychology professor not afraid of Bentsen

By JIM DAVIS

Harte-Hanks Austin Bureau

SAN ANTONIO — Joe Sullivan thinks Lloyd Bentsen has a name-recognition problem.

"A lot of people don't even know his name. He's one of the less-known senators," said Sullivan, who admits that his name is not exactly a house hold word itself.

And, he said, a lot of the incumbent senator's name recognition is negative. "I think the man is highly vulnerable," he said.

If this analysis is correct, Sullivan, a psychology professor at San Antonio College and Bentsen's only primary election opponent is in line for the political upset of the century.

If wrong, he will be buried by the well-funded and well-organized campaign of the incumbent Democratic senator from Texas.

SULLIVAN'S CHIEF weapon of attack is the claim that the Texas senator is a liberal in the mold of former U.S. Senator and presidential candidate George McGovern of South Dakota. Bentsen last week termed such a charge

"ridiculous."

In an interview Friday between classes, Sullivan called himself a fiscal conservative and Bentsen a big-spending politician.

He used a shotgun approach, however, sticking to general statements about Bentsen's support for appropriations bills rather than targeting any particular votes or actions. Bentsen has answered such charges by saying he had to support the appropriations bills that fund the federal government but adding that he supported amendments to reduce waste.

"I want to be a statesman, not a politician," Sullivan said. He has run for the 21st Congressional District seat four times. He won the Democratic nomination for the big West Texas district two years ago but lost in the general election to Tom Loeffler, a Republican from Hunt.

Redistricting last year made the 21st District more Republican than before and Sullivan said that helped make up his mind to run against Bentsen.

His campaign so far has been low-key, with an automobile swing through East Texas during the college's spring break as his only major outing.

Illegal aliens head for cities, study says

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Most illegal aliens in Texas head for Dallas or Houston rather than areas that have largely Spanish-speaking populations, and most want to become U.S. citizens, a state panel has been told by researchers.

The Governor's Task Force on Immigration, headed by Texas Tech University President Lauro Cavazos, also was told Tuesday that for the first time, the state has a dependable estimate of the number of undocumented workers living in Texas — between 600,000 and 900,000.

Dr. Frank Bean of the University of Texas said that number is narrowed down a lot more than a U.S. Census study that put the estimate of Texas' illegal residents at between 50,000 and 1.7 million.

Bean said his study combined two different methods of counting illegal immigrants to arrive at that figure.

One method involved taking the 1970 count of Mexican-Americans in the state, developing an estimate of the number there should be 10 years later according to standard mortality, birth and migration rates, then subtracting that number from the 1980 census count.

The other used the 1980 Mexican census and applied expected sex ratios for age groups thought to produce the biggest number of emigres. Researchers basically counted the number of people who weren't there.

Meanwhile, using contacts in trade associations, the Houston firm of Lance Tarrance and Associates has been surveying both legal and illegal Mexican residents of Texas and found that about half would like to become U.S. citizens.

So far, said Frank Newport, surveyors have questioned only about 800 people, and only 10 percent of those are illegal immigrants.

The "very preliminary" figures show there are more undocumented workers in Houston and Dallas than in areas where the Hispanic population is larger, such as the Rio Grande Valley, El Paso and San Antonio, Newport said.

Dr. Donohue

To test or not to test

Dear Dr. Donohue: I am writing to tell you how much I enjoy your column. I especially enjoy your occasional lightening up of this anything but humorous subject. One thing puzzles me. You state that your topics represent areas in which your readers show most interest. This leads me to believe that illnesses covered are not exceedingly rare. Yet, many diagnoses of rare ailments are made from everyday symptoms, like headache or fatigue. The many types of testing these diseases can call for astound me! This is just something I am curious about, because it seems much suffering could be halted with proper testing. — M.K.

The most important test is always done first. That is listening to the patient's story (taking of the history) and then the physical examination. That is my short reply. Here's the long one.

In detecting disease, those two elements I mentioned above are the most valuable, whether the disease turns out to be common or rare. They are the bedrock of all diagnosis and treatment.

If, after taking the history and performing the physical examination, the doctor still has no indication that a complaint needs further, expensive testing, the patient should not be disappointed. Most illnesses, even those with common symptoms of headache or fatigue, give other clues to their presence.

What you are suggesting is impractical and, of course, very expensive. To order a large assortment of laboratory tests without specific clues is like trying to find a needle in a haystack. You might be lucky. One test might turn up a disease. But most of the time, you would be subjecting people to many expensive tests needlessly.

Laboratory tests are used to confirm suspicions of an illness. Doctors are very suspicious people, medically speaking, and even subtle clues are evident to the good diagnostician. Avoid scatter-gun testing, or any testing in the absence of some justifying clue, is just good medicine.

Mononucleosis is primarily a disease that hits young people. To learn more about it, write to Dr. Donohue, in care of the Big Spring Herald, P.O. Box 11210, Chicago, IL 60611, for a copy of his booklet, "Mononucleosis: What It Is, What To Do." Enclose a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 50 cents.

Dr. Donohue welcomes reader mail but regrets that, due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

Drugs pose problems for older adult

Coping with special risks that drugs pose for older adults takes care and understanding, cautions Judith Warren, a family life education specialist on aging.

Older people themselves need to assume greater responsibility in their own health care and drug management.

Warren is on the home economics staff of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

To help older people cope with their special risks, the National Institute on Drug Abuse has recommended several steps they can take:

- Give clear information to your doctor. Tell your doctor (s) about all the medicines you are taking.
- Also, alert him or her to any allergies or known drug sensitivity you have.
- Consider making a written list of your medicines before you visit the doctor.
- Get clear information from your doctor.
- It is your right to ask for — and your doctor's responsibility to give you — information about prescribed medications.
- Make a list of any questions you have — such as those below — and ask them.
- The information you get could save you headaches and dollars.
- What is the drug's name?
- Why am I taking it? What's it for?
- When and how often should I take it?

- Under what conditions and why should I take it? At meals, with certain foods or drinks?
- Should I avoid certain things, such as driving?
- How long should I take the medicine?
- What are the possible side effects?
- When should I report any problems?

For example, one side effect may be a headache, but if the headache is a very bad one, the doctor probably needs to know.

- How should the drug be stored? In the refrigerator or away from heat, for example.

If you don't get all the information written down while you're with the doctor, stop in the waiting room and finish up the answers before you leave.

That way, they will still be fresh in your mind.

Other safety steps to take are just as important as giving and getting clear information. Don't stop taking a drug without asking your doctor — even if you feel OK.

Don't take drugs prescribed for anyone else, and don't share your medications with others.

Keep your medicines in their original bottles. Throw out old or expired medicines.

Finally, remember these "musts" above all: follow the doctor's instructions and alert your doctor to any problems you have. When in doubt, ask.

With medicines, it's better to play it safe.

Dear Abby

Insecure girl gets support

DEAR ABBY: You really blew it to "Underdeveloped," the unhappy, flat-chested eighth-grader who wanted a bra but whose mother wouldn't get her one until she had something to put in it. You told her to be patient — maybe she was a late bloomer.

Girls that age have enough to deal with without feeling inadequate because they're flat-chested. As a former flatso myself, I know how that girl felt. Fortunately, my mother was more understanding than hers. She bought me a padded bra, and it made all the difference in the world to me. Instead of feeling ashamed of my underdeveloped body, it gave me a lot of self-confidence.

I'm still a flatso underneath it all, but I've been wearing a padded bra for 25 years and I feel good about myself.

NO BOOBS IN BURLINGAME

DEAR NO: Let's hear it from a lady lawyer who accepted Mother Nature's verdict with grace:

DEAR ABBY: This letter is addressed to "Underdeveloped": Your letter to Dear Abby struck a responsive chord in me because I had the same problem at your age. My mother bought me a bra, and everyone made fun of me because it kept slipping up. (I had nothing to fill it.) Added to that, I was extremely tall and skinny. I was called "Stringbean" and "Telephone Pole." I, too, wanted to cry often.

Don't feel bad. You may be a late bloomer. I never was. However, I decided to make the best of what I had. I developed my mind, my personality and my self-confidence. The end result? A 6-foot lady attorney who the men love to flirt with and the women envy because I "could be a model." By the way, not one guy I have known since I was 18 has commented unfavorably about my flat chest. Hang in there!

Annual Girl Scout Council meeting held

Several area members of the West Texas Girl Scout Council attended the 1982 Annual Meeting of the Council held March 27 at Briarstone Manor in Abilene. The revised Council Bylaws were adopted by the voting delegates during the meeting.

Seven members-at-large were elected to the board of directors for a three year term. Among them were Bill Bradford and David Gomez, both of Big Spring. Mrs. Monte Jones, Colorado City, and the Rev. Carroll Kohl, Big Spring, were elected to serve on the board nominating committee from Jan. 1, 1982 to Jan. 1, 1985.

Special guests at the Annual Awards Luncheon were Mr. and Mrs. Jack Grable, executive director of Abilene United Way, and Don Knecht, executive director of Chisholm Trail Boy Scout Council. A Boy Scout certificate was presented by Knecht to the West Texas Girl Scout Council in appreciation for the use of Camp Booth Oaks for a wood badge training course for West Texas Boy Scout Leaders in 1981.

Representing the program services committee, Bradford presented awards and recognitions to the four areas of West Texas Girl Scout Council. More than sixty members were awarded tenure pins for five, 10, 15, 20, 25 and 35 years of Girl Scout membership.

Awards and recognitions for Area IV of the West Texas Girl Scout Council are as follows: Mrs. Judy Staggs, Ackerly, director of Junior Badge Weekend; Mrs. Eunice Thixton, Big Spring, day camp director; and Mrs. Brownie Roberts, Lamesa, day camp director. Each were awarded plaques.

Tenure pins for five-years were awarded to Medina Corwin, JoAnna Hamilton, Shannon Phillips, Robin York, Tammy Marshall, Laura Ainsworth, Patricia Pride, Melinda Hernandez, Ruth Oliver, Trisha Murley, Dana Kohl, Sherry Marlow, Yvette Garcia, Rebecca Thompson, Delia Ortiz, Barbara Smallwood, Jennifer Poe, Rebecca Read and Kristie Allen, all of Big Spring.

Five-year tenure pins also were awarded to Kim Heifner, Stephanie Heifner and Shanna Heidelberg, all of Stanton, and Debra Bridges and Crissdee Ward, both of Lamesa.

Mrs. Debbie Burrow, Mrs. Debbie Gunn and Pam Caudill, all of Big Spring received 10-year tenure pins. Mrs. Karen Hyden of Big Spring received the 15-year tenure pin.

Princess finds rancher

DALLAS (AP)—A 51-year old woman who identifies herself as Princess Alexandra von Anhalt and says she's in search of a "Texan" to marry has made a tentative selection, her nephew says.

"Wedding bells are ringing," says the nephew, who calls himself Prince Jurgen von Anhalt. "I already hear it in my ear."

Anhalt said Saturday that his aunt has chosen a man and that she plans to get married by Wednesday. However, he refused to identify the man because his aunt plans to continue meeting with prospective suitors, and was to fly to El Paso for such a meeting, he said. The princess declined comment.

"Some ranchers come from far away and we promise them to not get her married before they get here," Anhalt said.

The Anhalts arrived in Dallas March 26, renting a $350-a-day suite at the Fairmont Hotel and announcing that the princess would stay in Dallas until she found the right man to marry — a tall Texas rancher with plenty of land and at least two horses. Money was not a requirement.

MADE THE BEST OF WHAT I HAD IN L.A.

DEAR ABBY: Someone told me that a recent poll was taken to find out which professionals and business people are the most respected, and real estate dealers were way down at the bottom of the list. Can you check this out for me?

SELLS REAL ESTATE IN DALLAS

DEAR SELLS: The Gallup Poll listed the following 24 professions in order of their reputation for honesty, integrity and ethical standards. The results of the poll showed that ministers were most respected, followed by pharmacists, then dentists, next M.D.s, engineers, college professors, policemen, bankers, TV reporters, newspaper reporters, funeral directors, lawyers, stockbrokers, senators, business executives, building contractors, congressmen, local officeholders, real estate dealers, union leaders, state officeholders, insurance salesmen, advertising practitioners and auto salesman. Everybody needs friends. For some practical tips on how to be popular, get Abby's Popularity booklet. Send $1 plus a long, self-addressed stamped (37 cents) envelope to Abby, Popularity, P.O. Box 38923, Hollywood, Calif. 90038.

First place Steers stifle Cooper, 5-3

ALMOST A RUN — Big Spring shortstop Blake Rosson had another big afternoon for the Steers with a pair of hits. After apparently scoring a run here in the second inning, Rosson sees the ball hit baserunner Tom Cudd for an automatic out. Rosson's score didn't count but the Steers still topped Cooper 5-3 to retain a first place tie with Abilene High. Cougar catcher Chuck Cathy watches the events of the inning.

By GREG JAKLEWICZ
Sports Editor

The chants of "We're No. 1" began after Cooper's Billy Mitchell bounced into a game-ending force-out. Although the hoopla from the bleachers is two games premature, Big Spring took a major step in that direction Tuesday afternoon against the Cougars.

Moe Rubio returned to the mound after a two-week layoff to scatter nine hits and Tommy Olague drove in two runs to spur the Steers to a 5-3 victory over the District 5-AAAAA pre-season favorites.

The win, coupled with Abilene High's 21-10 assault on San Angelo, leaves the Steers and Eagles in a first place deadlock with 4-1 first half records. Big Spring's lone loss with a district opening defeat at the claws of the Eagles. For the year, Big Spring is 14-8 while Cooper dropped to 15-7.

The hero in Tuesday's game was Rubio who had not pitched since he took the loss against Abilene. Fluid built up in his pitching shoulder and doctors advised him to layoff the throwing. Last Thursday he received the nod to return to the mound and worked himself steadily in preparation for the starting assignment against the Cougars.

"My arm feels great," Rubio said after his victory. "My curve was working great ... without that pitch, I don't think I would have gotten out of some of those innings."

"I had a little trouble with it at first," he said about returning to the mound, "but I worked it slowly this week and it felt great. I had to get mentally ready for this game."

Rubio needed all the mental support he could get in the seventh inning. With two out he battled Jeff Blackburn trying for the last out. Blackburn kept fouling off Rubio's offerings before singling up the middle and bringing up Mitchell, the big Cooper clean-up hitter.

Mitchell had a perfect day going with three singles but had not yet really tagged a pitch. The Big Spring senior went with his best pitch — the curveball — and got Mitchell to hop it to shortstop Blake Rosson. Rosson eased it over to Marcus Armendariz to force Blackburn at second and the game was history.

"Naturally I was thinking about him," Rubio said of facing Mitchell. "I was nervous like any other pitcher would be. I knew I had to come in with strikes and give it all I had. He hit a curve for the out."

Rubio gave up nine singles in seven innings, two of which stayed in the infield and the others rolled up the middle. He struck out four and walked just two, something the Cooper pitchers could not accomplish.

Mitchell started for the Cougars but was yanked in the second inning after six walks. Reliever Brad Morrison surrendered four more bases on balls as he wrapped up the pitching chores.

Big Spring scored in the first when hot hitting Rosson doubled down the left field line to score James Walker who had walked. Cooper tied the game in the second inning with its lone earned run of the afternoon. Arnold Blankenship reached on a fielder's choice and scored when Rubio fired a wild pitch on a Cougar squeeze attempt. The Steers prevented further damage when Robert Wagstaff flew out to right and Chuck Cathey was nailed at the plate on a relay from Olague to catcher Marty Rodriguez.

Big Spring had a great opportunity to bury the Cougars in the bottom of the inning but bad luck got CHS out of the jam. Mitchell walked the bases full and Oscar Limon's sacrifice fly made it 2-1. Rosson singled to load the bags again with two out and a walk to Olague was enough for Cooper coach Jim Reese to relieve his starter. In facing 13 batters, Mitchell had thrown almost 60 pitches.

Morrison came in and promptly walked Tom Cudd to force in another run. David Anguiano then ripped a shot up the middle with the runners breaking. Unfortunately, the bouncer nicked Cudd's foot for an automatic out and cancellation of two more runs.

Cooper crept back into the game with a run in the fourth on a Rosson error at short and another unearned run in the fifth on Mitchell's RBI single.

Nursing a one-run lead, the Steers got some breathing room in the sixth. Walker beat out an infield chopper, stole second and scored on Olague's single to right.

The Steers were celebrating in the locker room but Ibarra said the party wouldn't go on for long. "We've got to forget about this victory tonight and start thinking about Odessa. They have been ripping the ball and averaging 15 basehits a game. They've always given us trouble."

Big Spring meets Odessa at 1 p.m. Friday at the BSHS diamond. The game is moved up from Saturday to give the players an Easter holiday. Other 5-5A games are scheduled Thursday.

5-AAAAA Roundup

AHS murders Central

Abilene High kept pace with hot Big Spring while Permian's rubber-arm Bruce Hollander got another 5-AAAAA decision in Tuesday action around the league.

Eagle batters assaulted San Angelo for 16 basehits on their way to a 21-10 rout in Abilene while Hollander upped his own and his team's district mark to 3-2 with an appropriate 3-2 victory over Midland Lee. In other games, Big Spring clipped Cooper 5-3 and Midland won its second straight with an 8-2 victory over Odessa.

Here's the way they went around the league Tuesday:

Abilene 21, San Angelo 10
ABILENE — Having escaped with an extra-inning victory over Odessa Saturday, the Eagles took no chances with the Bobcats Tuesday. Catcher Pat Sigala and outfielder Matt Waldmann had two hits and drove in four runs each to key the big AHS assault on three Central pitchers. George Shannon, Chanc Hall and Rick Womble also had two hits each and one RBI.

Coach Mark Elam lifted started Jay Tindall after three innings to save him for Lee Thursday and the Bobcats collected their runs against three Eagle relievers.

Cards deal ace high on Astros

By The Associated Press

Rick Mahler knocked Phil Niekro out of an Opening Day pitching assignment with a freak batting practice accident and his conscience bothered him for nine days.

"I thought about that right up to the game. I hated it," said Mahler, who was given the starting assignment Tuesday night after injuring Niekro's ribs with a line drive off his bat during a spring training workout.

Spurred by determination to atone for the mishap, the 28-year-old right-hander hurled a two-hitter to lead the Atlanta Braves to a 1-0 victory over the San Diego Padres.

Making the most of his first season-opening start, Mahler retired 17 consecutive San Diego batters between the second and eighth innings on the way to the first shutout and second complete game of his checkered career.

Once the game started, Mahler said he put the Niekro incident out of his mind. His shutout was preserved by three defensive gems that kept him in control.

"The defense made every play you could possibly make," said Mahler, who struck out seven and walked three.

Left fielder Dale Murphy was responsible for two hit-saving catches, and right fielder Claudell Washington crashed against San Diego's newly-shortened outfield wall to snare to line drive off the bat of Luis Salazar. Murphy made a diving catch of a Juan Bonilla liner in the third and robbed Sixto Lezcano of extra bases in the fourth with a twisting grab near the wall.

National League

Luis Salazar's second-inning single and a ninth-inning double by Ruppert Jones accounted for San Diego's only hits.

In other National League action, the St. Louis Cardinals walloped the Houston Astros 14-3 and the Los Angeles Dodgers edged the San Francisco Giants 4-3. Two games were called by snow — Montreal at Pittsburgh and New York at Philadelphia.

Cardinals 14, Astros 3
Darrell Porter's three-run homer in a five-run first inning started St. Louis to an easy victory over Houston and Nolan Ryan.

Ryan, 11-5 last season, including a record fifth career no-hitter, was no match for Cardinal starter Bob Forsch, who scattered seven hits in eight innings, including solo home runs in the sixth inning by Alan Ashby and in the seventh by Art Howe. Porter also collected one of seven Cardinal doubles.

"It might have been good to save some of those runs for tomorrow night but I don't think we'll have any trouble scoring runs this season," Porter said. "We won't always have it this good. It was just a great day for us and a frustrating day for them."

Forsch, despite delivery problems, mastered the weak-hitting Astros until he tired in the eighth.

Dodgers 4, Giants 3
Dusty Baker's bases-loaded single through a drawn-in infield in the ninth inning lifted Los Angeles over San Francisco in the World Champions' opener at Dodger Stadium.

Bill Russell led off the Dodgers' ninth with a double off loser Gary Lavelle, the third of four San Francisco pitchers. One out later, Steve Sax singled and pinch-hitter Ron Roenicke was walked intentionally to load the bases. Greg Minton replaced Lavelle and Baker hit the first pitch between third and short for the winning run.

"He threw a high sinker and I hit it," Baker said. "I kind of thrive in being in such a situation. As a youngster, I dreamed about Hank Aaron and Willie Mays, and now I hope some people are thinking about me."

Seattle opens with big victory

By The Associated Press

Earlier this week, Jim Maler got rapped as a bad hitter by his Seattle Mariner teammates.

Tuesday night, he did his best to change their minds by driving in five runs with three hits, including his first major league homer, to lead the Mariners to an 11-7 victory over the Minnesota Twins.

"I just kept listening to the coaches and changing a few things," said the rookie first baseman who struggled through a spring hitting slump and was voted the "worst hitter" to make the 25-man roster.

"I had been putting pressure on myself and coaches just told me to relax and do what I could do. It finally sank in. I just went into tonight knowing it starts all over."

While Seattle Manager Rene Lachemann postponed judgment on Maler, he did have some thoughts about the Twins' new home — the Hubert H. Humphrey Metrodome — which inspired five home runs and attracted 52,279 fans to its inaugural regular-season game. The crowd was the largest baseball audience in Minnesota history.

"This place has got a chance of being the Kingdome in home runs," he said. "You play in here and you just have to keep going."

Minnesota third baseman Gary Gaetti hit two of them, including a three-run job that tied the score 4-4 in the fourth. In the fifth, the Mariners took the lead for good as Julio Cruz scored on a sacrifice fly by Bruce Bochte.

The Mariners scored again in the sixth on Maler's sacrifice fly and added four more runs in the seventh on an RBI double by Al Cowens and a three-run double by Maler. Cowens added a solo homer for Seattle in the ninth.

American League

In the only other AL game played Tuesday night, the Oakland A's edged the California Angels 3-2 in 11 innings. Four games were postponed by bad weather. Snow wiped out the Texas-New York contest, while the Toronto-Detroit, Boston-Chicago and Cleveland-Milwaukee games were postponed by cold.

A's 3, Angels 2
Davey Lopes drew a bases-loaded walk from California pitcher Don Aase with two out in the 11th inning to force in the winning run in Oakland's victory over the Angels.

Aase walked Dwayne Murphy, the A's leadoff hitter in the 11th, but retired the next two batters before Wayne Gross singled, sending Murphy to third. Jim Spencer was walked intentionally to load the bases.

Lopes, the former Los Angeles Dodgers' second baseman playing his first AL game, fell behind 0-2 on the count and then took four straight balls. Aase was outraged over umpire Durwood Merrill's call on the third ball, but the next pitch was outside by almost a foot.

HOWARD COLLEGE HONOREES — Many athletes were honored at the Howard College All-Sports Banquet Tuesday night. Highlight awards went to Nell Haskins, left, and Kellie Mull, right as co-MVPs of the Hawk Queen basketball team. Jerome Johnson was named Hustling Hawk by men's coach Harold Wilder.

Former Howard College rodeo champion Jack Himes told athletes making friends and representing their school are the two greatest satisfactions of participating in athletics in school.

Himes was guest speaker at the annual HC All-Sports Banquet Tuesday night that honored intramural, collegiate and rodeo contestants at the college.

Highlights of the evening were the presentation of awards in all areas.

Harold Wilder, subbing for an ailing coach Don Stevens, presented sophomore Kellie Mull and freshman Nell Haskins with plaques as the Hawk Queen Most Valuable Players for the past season. Wilder lauded sophomore Jerome Johnson for his play for the Hawks and named him the Hustling Hawk for the year.

Other honorees came in the individual categories on both teams.

Mickey Davidson was named the top rodeo performer for the current year.

Cooper, Permian dominate tennis

ODESSA — Tracy Manning of San Angelo Central defeated Aubrey Weaver of Big Spring for third place in the District 5-AAAAA tennis tournament here Tuesday afternoon.

Ram Challapalli, who defeated Weaver 6-2, 6-1, in the semifinals, swept past Abilene High's Adam Dixon 6-3, 6-3 in the championship match. Challapalli is a former tennis player in Big Spring, now playing for Permian.

The doubles team of David and Scott Meyers of Cooper, pounded San Angelo's Kevin Collins and Louis Austidillo 6-1, 6-0 in the doubles title match. Vee Ann Atmp of Midland blistered Debbie Randolph of Cooper 6-3, 6-1 in the girls single final while Cooper's doubles team of Leanne Hill and Stephanie Burnam got revenge with a 6-4,

Tors drop first game

LAMESA — Eight costly errors and solid relief pitching by Bobby Rayos powered Pecos to a 9-4 District 2-AAAA victory over Lamesa.

The loss dropped the Golden Tors to 2-1 in district and opened the Pecos mark at 1-1. The Tors travel to Fort Stockton Friday for a 7:30 p.m. game.

Pecos scored four times in the first inning but Lamesa battled back to tie the game in the third. A sacrifice by Gilbert Arredondo accounted for the first run, Tony Lara singled home Tim Thompson in the second and Leroy Rodriguez knotted the game 4-4 with a two-run homer in the third.

Pecos regained the lead for good in the fourth on an RBI single by Erasmo Acosta and a passed ball by Rodriguez.

Rayos replaced Pecos starter Jaime Rodriguez after Rodriguez's home and tossed three-hit shutout ball the rest of the way.

Lasaro Arredondo was tagged with the loss for Lamesa.

Footprint disproves evolution, minister says

ST. LOUIS (AP) — A creationist minister who claims to have found the spot where a dinosaur stepped on a still-wet human footprint has challenged skeptical scientists to join him on his dig.

"Scientists who are interested can examine for themselves while we are excavating June 16," said the Rev. Carl E. Baugh, who holds a doctorate from the California Graduate School of Theology.

"It will be 'high noon,' in a sense, because it will be the moment of truth," he added.

Baugh said Monday that a 12-man team of creationists unearthed four human footprints last month beside those of a dinosaur, disproving Darwin's theory of evolution.

"The implications are stupendous, because evolutionary science holds that the dinosaur and man are supposed to be separated by about 70 million years," he said.

He estimated the prints were made within days of a other 4,800 years ago, late in the fourth week of Noah's flood.

The team, sponsored by the International Baptist College in St. Louis, excavated last month on private property along the Paluxy River about a quarter-mile from the Dinosaur Valley State Park at Glen Rose, Texas.

"My purpose was to unearth a couple of dinosaur prints," said Baugh. "And we were privileged to unearth 24 of them."

"But on March 19, we came across our first human print."

Baugh said the prints were found underneath four inches of clay and another foot of limestone on a ledge above the riverbed.

He said his group moved 40 tons of rock to find the four prints, each 16-inches long with a stride of 3.5 feet between them, which appeared to be made by a 7-foot-tall man.

Beside them, on the same strata, were the tracks of a Tyrannosaurus Rex, he said. Baugh said the prints converged, until the dinosaur stepped on the last footprint.

He displayed a plaster mold of the first print, showing a distinct outline of what appeared to be a big toe, and said it had been verified as human by a Washington University anatomy professor.

"I can't come to any real conclusion," the anatomist, Dr. David Minton, said later. "I've looked at it and I'm open-minded about the possibility of a human footprint in that area, but I can't come to a comfortable conclusion on whether it is human or not based on what I've seen."

"I think the evidence is sufficiently good that they should look some more," he added, "and I rather wish they had before making this announcement."

Similar prints have also been studied by Dr. Juan Langston, a professor of geological studies at the University of Texas at Austin.

"They are just plain wrong," said Langston, adding that there are other explanations for the oblong impressions, including the possibility they were made by an unknown animal.

The Journal of Creation-Evolution recently debunked similar tracks found in the same area.

"We referred to them as the creationist's Piltdown because we think it's a hoax or a mistake."

"Under the circumstances as reported, these may not have been. But a lot of scientists were quite taken in by the Piltdown Man."

A cranium and jawbone supposedly unearthed in Great Britain in 1912 were used to prove the existence of an early man, dubbed the Piltdown Man. But in 1954, tests showed that the cranium was a cleverly disguised modern skull and the jawbone was that of an orang.

"This could not be fabricated," said Baugh. "This is the first excavation verified in progress and verified afterward that places man and the dinosaur together."

Groups issue lawmaker report cards

WASHINGTON (AP) — How can lawmakers let the folks back home know how they're voting? There's no shortage of scorecards and if members rate poorly on one list, they need only find another to go to the head of the class.

Political, labor, business and consumer organizations long have been rating members on their voting records. But in recent years the number of report cards has grown by leaps — especially those from single-issue groups.

More than two dozen groups now issue annual ratings of members, ranging from Christian Voice's tabulation on what it calls moral issues to "Shiny Apple" ratings by a nutrition lobby.

As might be expected, members getting good grades from one group often flunk horribly by another's standards.

That often pleases both the high and the low scorers, with conservatives like Sens. John Tower, R-Texas and Jesse Helms, R-N.C., — often as proud of their low ratings by the liberal Americans for Democratic Action as they are for their high marks on conservative lists.

The American Conservative Union, which issued its latest ratings last week, said 76 members of Congress scored a "perfect" 100 percent on selected key votes in 1981 — compared with 16 in 1980. But their ratings also showed the number to score zero had increased from 17 to 77 over the same year.

"Conservatives have become more numerous but a number of people have become more liberal," Rep. Mickey Edwards, R-Okla., chairman of the organization, offered in explanation.

The conservative Committee for the Survival of a Free Congress, which has more stringent standards for right wingers than even the ACU, awarded John East, R-N.C., with its highest score in the Senate — 91 percent. The group lists him and 27 colleagues — including Majority Leader Howard Baker — as "staunch conservatives."

But it lists 20 senators — including Sens. Edward Kennedy, D-Mass., John Glenn, D-Ohio, and Alan Cranston, D-Calif. — as "very liberal," with ratings between 26 and 39. Sen. Carl Levin, D-Mich., with a rating of 24, was given his own category: "radical."

Other groups issuing annual report cards include the AFL-CIO's Committee on Political Education, Ralph Nader's Public Citizen, the moderate Republican Ripon Society, the National Farmers Union, the National Associated Businessmen Inc., the American Security Council, the Americans for Constitutional Action and the National Taxpayers Union.

Town to paint 30,600 eggs for Easter's hunt

STONE MOUNTAIN, Ga. (AP) — The Easter bunny couldn't possibly color all those eggs by himself, so it's a good thing he has help from record-seeking civic leaders.

In an effort to reclaim what they say is a world record set a year ago, officials at Stone Mountain Park and the local Jaycee chapter plan to dye and hide 30,600 eggs in time for Sunday's egg hunt.

The heat is on to retain last year's record of 21,240 Easter eggs after a civic club in Biloxi, Miss., said it beat the record last week.

The Biloxi Jaycees say they placed 28,000 boiled eggs in a 10-acre field for more than 4,000 delighted children to find during the 17th annual Harry Fountain Memorial Easter Egg Hunt last Sunday.

The Georgia Egg Commission quickly agreed Monday to add a few thousand eggs to its donation so the state park in suburban Atlanta can reclaim the record in time for an egg hunt this Sunday.

"We congratulate the Biloxi Jaycees on their one-week record," said Steve Doster, the Stone Mountain Park's assistant general manager.

"We've got the world record of the largest piece of exposed granite in the world and another for the largest single piece of sculptured art in the world," Doster said.

Soil, water conservation proposal is failure before public

WASHINGTON (AP) — The so-called "preferred program" of soil and water conservation recommendations favored by Agriculture Secretary John R. Block has flunked its initial public test.

More than 83,000 people filed comments on a proposed new conservation program unveiled last fall by the Agriculture Department.

It would target federal money into areas having the most severe erosion problems, establish block grants to states, rely more heavily on local and state self-help, and set up new supervisory layers to oversee the program.

According to a tabulation of the comments released Monday, Block's preferred program was supported by 43 percent and opposed by 48 percent, with the remainder expressing no opinion.

On the other hand, the current policies of broad conservation programs were favored by 61 percent and opposed by 21 percent.

Another alternative considered would redirect present federal conservation programs by setting priorities and targeting money to the hardest-hit areas but without a greater role for local and state governments. It was favored by 42 percent and opposed by 38 percent.

Strictly on the matter of targeting federal money to conservation areas, some 60 percent favored the idea while 32 percent were opposed.

But federal matching block grants to states — if those caused reductions in other federal conservation funds — were opposed by 64 percent of those commenting.

Another specific proposal which gained favor — 53 percent to 32 percent — would require farmers to have conservation plans for their land before receiving Farmers Home Administration loans.

On the idea of setting up new local coordinating boards, the comments were evenly split at 46 percent for and 46 percent against. State coordinating boards were opposed by 61 percent, and a new national conservation board was opposed 46 percent to 36 percent.

The administration's plan also calls for agreements for conservation aid among state governors and the department, a concept opposed by 48 percent and supported by 32 percent of those filing comments.

Block said the department "will carefully consider" the comments before deciding on final proposals which will be submitted to Congress.

The news release issued by the Soil Conservation Service said comments were submitted by a wide range of sources, including governors and other state and local officials, farm organizations and conservation groups.

Of the comments received from individuals, 62 percent came from farmers, ranchers and rural land owners.

"There was a heavy response from people involved with conservation activities, as nearly half identified themselves as board members."

Symposium studies genetic links to cancer

CHAPEL HILL, N.C. (AP) — Most types of cancer appear to start with genetic changes in the body's cells and then worsen as the more destructive and faster growing cells push out healthy tissues, researchers said Monday.

Improved techniques of viewing chromosomes — the parts of cells which carry the genetic maps enabling organisms to reproduce — indicate that all cancers may have chromosomal defects, said Dr. Jorge Y. Yunis.

Yunis told scientists at the sixth annual Symposium of the University of North Carolina Cancer Research Center that he was able to detect genetic abnormalities in all of 150 cancerous tumors studied.

Yunis, a professor of laboratory medicine and pathology at the University of Minnesota Medical School in Minneapolis, Minn., attributed the findings to evolving techniques that let researchers view up to 2,000 bands on a chromosome, compared with 150 to 300 bands usually visible.

Yunis speculated that some of the defects could be inherited within families, while others could be caused through contact with chemicals or radiation.

"Perhaps a common mechanism of neoplasia (cancer) in man is that we have some 100 to 200 sites of so-called cancer genes," he said. "So you have carcinogens affecting these sites to produce nonfamilial neoplasias."

Dr. Louise Strong, associate professor of medical genetics at the University of Texas System Cancer Center in Houston, presented additional evidence of the role of genetics in cancer.

She said several diseases characterized by broken chromosomes led to an increased risk of leukemia as well as cancer of the colon, breast and brain.

Among those with a disease called Bloom's Syndrome she said, "virtually every one of these patients who reached the age of 21 had developed some kind of cancer."

Ms. Strong emphasized that the increasing discovery of genetic factors did not detract from the role of the environment — ranging from sunlight to cigarette smoking — in creating cancer. But evidence presented at the symposium strengthened the position that environmental factors do their work at the genetic level.

"Genetic as well as environmental factors interact along the way to forming cancer," Ms. Strong said. However, she said, genetic factors at times override environmental factors.

For example, she said, patients with chromosomal defects tended to develop cancer of the colon at the same rate in Japan as in England, while in England, the normal population has a much higher incidence of that cancer.

People who have a family history of cancer also tend to have an increased risk of cancer, with the disease appearing at an earlier age, Ms. Strong said.

If genetic links can be confirmed in all cancers, researchers may look for ways to limit the rate at which cells alter their chromosomes, she said.

"If there were some effective way to do so, that might be an effective path to treatment," Ms. Strong said. "People can often live with these smaller changes in chromosomes, but not with the larger, more bizarre changes."

In many cases, she and Yunis were able to identify which of the 46 chromosomes in human patients were linked with the appearance of cancer.

Andy Kaufman hurt by angry wrestler

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — Comedian Andy Kaufman was hospitalized with minor head and neck injuries after going to the mat with a 234-pound professional wrestler who didn't like his brand of humor.

Kaufman, who spoofs professional wrestlers as part of his routine, was in good condition today at St. Francis Hospital. Hospital officials said he was in traction and being tested for possible spinal damage suffered in the exhibition match Monday night.

George Shapiro, the comedian's manager, said Kaufman suffered cuts on the top of his head, strained neck muscles and a compressed space between the 4th and 5th vertebrae in the neck. He said Kaufman's wrestling days may be over. Kaufman was unavailable for comment.

Kaufman, a co-star on the ABC-TV show "Taxi" and a former star of "Saturday Night Live," claims to hold the world inter-gender wrestling championship and often wrestles women in his performances.

Steps to protect broadcasters' rights urged

DALLAS (AP) — A Senate Republican leader has urged passage of a constitutional amendment to guarantee broadcasters' First Amendment rights. But a number of his colleagues who also journeyed here disagree.

Sen. Robert Packwood, the chairman of the Senate Commerce Committee, received a standing ovation Monday from members of the National Association of Broadcasters (NAB) after outlining his plans to push for a constitutional amendment.

Only with such an amendment can the electronic media be guaranteed the same freedom of expression as newspapers, the Oregon Republican explained, because "no president, no Congress and no court has served this republic and its people as well as our Constitution."

A few hours later, however, three of Packwood's Senate colleagues joined four congressmen for a panel discussion that left the audience disappointed over the level of support expressed for the laws that Packwood attacked — equal time and the fairness doctrine.

The equal time law specifies that if a candidate uses a station's airwaves, the broadcaster must provide an equal opportunity to that candidate's opponents. The fairness doctrine, meantime, requires the presentation of contrasting viewpoints if a broadcaster airs a program addressing "a controversial issue of public importance."

"There are many parts of the country, especially in local races, where it could be devastating if the media is on one side and the other side cannot get access," said Rep.

Carlos Moorhead, R-Calif. "I think it will be a long time before we want to do away with the fairness doctrine and equal time."

"We're talking about freedom of speech, but whose freedom is this?" added Sen. Ernest F. Hollings, D-S.C. "The freedom we're talking about is not yours or mine but everybody's in this room; yours, mine and the entire viewing and listening public. The (fairness doctrine) has worked extremely well. It led the way for op-ed (opposite editorial) pages in newspapers."

Other members of the panel indicated they could support some changes in the laws, such as relaxing the fairness doctrine obligations, but only Sen. Wendell Ford, D-Ky., backed repeal.

"On balance, I have no problem with giving you the same type of (legal) coverage that the printed media has," Ford said.

Packwood, besides exhorting the broadcasters to fight for full First Amendment rights, made news of a different sort by confirming he has told President Reagan he will not support the nomination of FCC General Counsel Stephen A. Sharp to become a member of the commission.

Sharp is the personal choice of FCC Chairman Mark S. Fowler and was generally thought to be in line for the seat that becomes vacant in July when Commissioner Abbott Washburn's term expires.

Packwood told reporters, however, he is backing Sen. Ted Stevens' choice of Marvin Weatherly, an Alaska public utilities commissioner.

Your Daily HOROSCOPE

from the CARROLL RIGNER INSTITUTE

FORECAST FOR THURSDAY, APR. 8, 1982

GENERAL TENDENCIES: You have new plans you want to put in motion, but postpone until another day to gain maximum benefits. A time to make sure you don't act in an impulsive manner.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) You may want to quickly make some radical changes now, but haste could make waste instead, so take it easy.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Don't discuss a personal problem with an adviser until you understand every angle of it. Take more time for study.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Allies could disappoint you at this time so handle business by yourself and get good results. Avoid arguments with anyone.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) If you are not tactful with some credit affair, you could get into more trouble than you bargained for.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) There are new projects that are appealing to you, but don't commit yourself to any of them until they are further studied.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Get busy and handle new duties you have assumed and get ready for bigger enterprises ahead. Maintain poise.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Don't do what a hasty-acting associate wants you to do at this time and be ahead of the game. Be happy.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) You have much work ahead of you, so don't waste any time. Complete the work and gain the benefits.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Take extra time to put your business affairs in better order. Personal goals can be easily attained at this time.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Plan time for improving conditions at home and have more harmony there. Be of a more helpful frame of mind.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) You have to exercise more care in motion to avoid possible accident today. Show that you are precise in all things.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Don't think you can buy your way in or out of things, which would be expensive and not satisfactory at this time.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he or she will be good at getting out of confusing situations and will do something constructive about promises that are broken, so be sure to give as fine an education as possible and a happy life will follow.

"The Stars impel, they do not compel." What you make of your life is largely up to you!

Landmark Smoker Study:

Merit Earns Taste Trophy.

Rigorous smoker tests confirm MERIT as proven taste alternative to higher tar smoking.

Just released—the results of extensive new research conducted by MERIT.

The conclusion: In tests comparing taste and tar combined, MERIT is the clear choice over leading higher tar brands.

MERIT Remains Unbeaten.

In impartial new tests where brand identity was concealed, the overwhelming majority of smokers reported MERIT taste equal to—or better than—leading higher tar brands.

Moreover, when tar levels were revealed, 2 out of 3 chose the MERIT combination of low tar and good taste.

Taste Turning Smokers To MERIT.

In a separate part of this study, smokers report that MERIT taste is a major factor in completing their successful switch from higher tar brands.

Confirmed: 9 out of 10 former higher tar smokers say MERIT is an easy switch, that they didn't give up taste in switching, and that MERIT is the best-tasting low tar they've ever tried.

Year after year, in study after study, MERIT remains unbeaten. The proven taste alternative to higher tar smoking—is MERIT.

Saracho denied writ in 99-year sentence

A man who received a 99-year sentence from a Howard County jury in November of 1976 for aggravated sexual abuse has failed in his attempt to obtain a writ of habeas corpus from the federal courts. Jose Antonio Saracho was denied the writ which would have given an immediate hearing or a release from the Texas Department of Corrections where he is currently serving his 99-year term. The case was tried by District Attorney Robert H. Moore III and he was assisted by current DA Rick Hamby.

Two suspected shoplifters released on $10,000 bonds

Two more women charged in the shoplifting spree at Gibson Discount Center on March 31 have been released on bond. Sally Ann Moreno, 19, and Ernestina Piseno, 30, both of Lubbock, were bonded out last night by National Bond in Lubbock by the Howard County Sheriff's office. The bonds of $10,000 each, set by Justice of the Peace Bobby West, were posted by the company and the two women released. The two are charged with theft over $200.

Austin to host agriculture commissioners

AUSTIN — Strategies for securing profits in southern agriculture will be the topic of discussion when 15 southern state agriculture commissioners as well as those from Puerto Rico and the Virgin Islands convene in Austin June 20-23 for the annual meeting of the Southern Association of State Departments of Agriculture (SASDA).

Agriculture Commissioner Reagan V. Brown, as the 1982 president of SASDA, will host the meeting, one of the first conventions to be held in Austin's new Hyatt Regency Hotel.

On hand to address the meeting will be government and industry representatives, including U.S. Rep. Charles Stenholm (D-Texas), who will be a keynote speaker at the four-day meeting.

"SASDA, originally formed by southern states in 1899, is recognized as one of the strongest regional organizations of its kind," said Commissioner Brown.

"The annual meeting of SASDA members and affiliates provides a continuing forum for addressing the issues and helping to shape the direction of agriculture — not only in our home states — but on the national level as well."

If you use detergent, bleach or soap in your house, use RID-X in your septic system.

LESS THAN 65¢ A MONTH HELPS KEEP SEPTIC TANKS AND CESSPOOLS FROM BACKING UP AND BREAKING DOWN

Every time you do a wash, your detergent, soap and bleach wash away some of the bacteria your septic tank or cesspool needs to work. That can mean back up and break down. And costly repairs.

Rid-X helps prevent all of that by putting back the bacteria. Rid-X and one extra flush of your toilet a month may be the only attention your septic system needs.

RID-X KEEPS YOUR SEPTIC SYSTEM IN ITS PLACE.

RAINBOW ICE CREAM CAKE

CRUST
1 cup graham cracker or vanilla wafer crumbs
3 Tablespoons sugar
3 Tablespoons butter or margarine, melted
FILLING
1/2 gal. vanilla ice cream
Green, red and yellow food coloring
4 teaspoons grated orange rind or
3/4 teaspoon orange extract
3/4 cup chopped "M&M's" Plain Chocolate Candies, frozen

For crust, combine crumbs, sugar and butter; mix well. Press onto bottom of 8 or 9-inch springform pan. Sprinkle 1/4 cup chopped candies over crust. Bake at 350 degrees F. for 10 minutes. Cool thoroughly; freeze.

For filling, divide ice cream into thirds; return 2 portions to refrigerator until ready to use. Combine 1-3rd portion ice cream and 10 drops green food coloring in large bowl; mix well. Spoon over crust; freeze about 30 minutes or until firm. Combine 1-3rd portion ice cream, 7 drops red food coloring and 14 drops yellow food coloring; mix well. Add orange rind and 3/4 cup chopped candies; mix well.

Spoon over green layer; freeze about 30 minutes or until firm. Combine 1-3rd portion ice cream and 10 drops yellow food coloring; mix well. Spoon over orange layer. Cover securely with foil; freeze overnight. Remove from freezer 5 to 10 minutes before serving. Remove rim from springform pan; cut into wedges to serve. Makes one 9-inch ice cream cake.

EASTER EGG COOKIES

1/2 cup shortening
1/2 cup sugar
1/2 cup unsulphured molasses
1 egg separated
2 cups all purpose flour, sifted
1/2 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon baking powder
1/2 teaspoon baking soda
1 teaspoon cloves ground
1 teaspoon ginger
1/2 teaspoon cinnamon
1/2 teaspoon nutmeg
Cream together shortening, sugar, and molasses. Add egg yolk. Mix well. (Reserve egg white for frosting). Sift together flour, salt, baking soda, baking powder and spices. Stir in flour mixture. Mix well. Chill.

To make Easter Egg Cookies. Roll out a portion of the dough, 1/4" thick on lightly floured board. Keep remaining dough chilled. Take 1 lb. empty coffee can, with both lids removed, bend into oval or egg shape and cut out egg shaped dough, place on ungreased sheet. Bake in 350 degrees F oven, 8-10 minutes. Cool. Yield 2 doz. five-inch egg shaped cookies.

To decorate:
Ornamental Frosting: Sift together 1/4 cups sifted confectioners sugar and 1/4 teaspoon cream of tartar. Add reserved egg whites and 1/4 teaspoon vanilla. Beat with rotary or electric beater until frosting holds its shape. Cover with damp cloth until ready to use. If frosting's not stiff enough for decorating, add a little more confectioners sugar.

To make colors, use vegetable dyes and follow instructions, using small batches of frosting for each color.

Begin by giving cookies a smooth white coating using a rubber spatula and gently smoothing white frosting over the cookie. Make a decorating tip by rolling waxed paper and filling it with frosting, or use your cake decorating tips. Imagination does the rest. Just remember, don't pile your cookies too high, or your design will suffer.

CHOCO EASTER CUPS

1/4 cup vegetable shortening
1 1/2 cups "M&M's" Plain Chocolate Candies
1 1/4 cups coconut
3/4 teaspoon water
4 drops green food coloring
"M&M's" Peanut Chocolate Candies
Melt shortening in heavy saucepan over low heat; add plain chocolate candies. Cook over very low heat, stirring constantly with metal spoon and pressing candies with back of spoon to break up. (Chocolate mixture will be almost melted and pieces of color coating will remain.) Place two (doubled) paper baking cups into each of 9 medium-size muffin cups. Spoon 2 tablespoons chocolate mixture onto bottom, spreading with back of teaspoon up sides 1/4 inches high to form cup. (If chocolate mixture becomes stiff, reheat; stir constantly, over very low heat to soften.) Chill chocolate cups until set. Store covered in cool place. Combine water and food coloring in small bowl. Add coconut; toss with fork until evenly tinted. When ready to serve, gently remove paper cups from outside of chocolate cups. Fill with tinted coconut and peanut chocolate candies. Makes 9 servings.

LEMON ROLL

Lemon Filling, recipe follows
2-3rds cup all-purpose flour
1/4 cup cornstarch
6 large eggs, at room temperature
3/4 cup sugar
1 teaspoon vanilla
1 Tablespoon grated lemon rind
3 Tablespoons butter, melted and cooled
Confectioners' sugar
Whipped cream (sweetened to taste and flavored with vanilla)

Prepare the Lemon Filling. Line the bottom of a 15 by 10 by 1-inch jelly roll pan with wax paper. Sift together the flour and cornstarch. In the large bowl of an electric mixer, at high speed, beat together the eggs, sugar and vanilla until tripled and ivory color — about 10 minutes. Sift the flour mixture, about 1-3rd at a time, over the egg mixture, gently folding it in with a rubber spatula after each addition. Fold in the lemon rind. Drizzle the butter over the batter and gently fold in. Turn into the prepared pan. Bake in a preheated 350-degree oven until surface springs back when lightly touched — 20 to 25 minutes. With a small metal spatula, loosen sides. At once turn out onto a tea towel well covered with confectioners' sugar; remove wax paper. Starting at long side, roll cake and towel together. Place cake, seam side down and rolled in the towel, on a wire rack; cool completely. Unroll cake and spread with lemon filling; roll up cake; cut in half crosswise and arrange on a serving plate. Cover and store in the refrigerator. Just before serving, sprinkle with confectioners' sugar and garnish with whipped cream. Makes 16 servings.

LEMON FILLING

1/2 cup sugar
2 Tablespoons cornstarch
3/4 cup water
2 large egg yolks
1 Tablespoon butter
2 teaspoons grated lemon rind
1/4 cup lemon juice

In a 1- or 1 1/2-quart saucepan stir together the sugar and cornstarch. Gradually stir in the water, keeping smooth. Vigorously stir in the egg yolks until blended. Over medium-low heat, stir constantly until the mixture shows it is boiling because it bubbles and sputters, is at least as thick as mayonnaise and mounds slightly when dropped from a spoon. Off heat, stir in the butter, then the lemon rind and lemon juice. Very lightly place a sheet of saran over the mixture. Chill at least 2 hours. Makes about 1 and 1-3rd cups.

MUSHROOM-STUFFED CHICKEN

8 ounces fresh mushrooms
1 1/4 teaspoons salt, divided
1/2 teaspoon marjoram leaves, crushed
Ground black pepper
3 pound chicken
Preheat oven to 350 degrees F. Rinse, pat dry and cut mushrooms into quarters (makes about 2 3/4 cups). Toss with 1 teaspoon of the salt, marjoram and a pinch of black pepper. Rub inside and outside of chicken with remaining 3/4 teaspoon salt and 1-16 teaspoon ground black pepper. Stuff neck and large cavity with mushrooms. Close with skewers. Place in a foil-lined roasting pan. Bake until thigh joint moves easily, about 1 1/2 hours. YIELD: 4 portions.

ELEGANT EASTER HAM

6 to 8 lb. (half) fully cooked, bone-in ham
3/4 cup orange marmalade
2 Tablespoons honey
1/4 teaspoon ginger
Place ham on rack in shallow roasting pan. Insert meat thermometer, placing tip in thickest part of meat. Bake at 325 degrees F. for 1 to 1 1/2 hours or until internal temperature reaches 120 degrees F. Remove rind; score fat into diamond pattern. Combine marmalade, honey and ginger in saucepan. Bring to a boil; keep warm over low heat. Baste scored surface of ham with glaze. Continue to bake 30 to 35 minutes or until internal temperature reaches 140 degrees F., basting 2 to 3 times with glaze. Makes 8 to 10 servings.

SWEET AND SOUR GLAZED HAM

1 fully-cooked half ham (6 to 8 pounds)
Whole cloves
1 jar (10 ounces) sweet & sour sauce
6 Tablespoons light corn syrup
1 teaspoon dry mustard
1/2 teaspoon ground ginger
1/4 teaspoon grated orange peel
Score surface of ham lightly in diamond pattern; place whole clove in center of each diamond. Insert meat thermometer in center of ham. On rack in shallow roasting pan, bake ham at 325 degrees for 2 hours, or until meat thermometer reaches 140 degrees. Meanwhile, combine remaining ingredients in small saucepan. Cook over low heat, stirring constantly, until sauce is thin and smooth. About 30 minutes before ham is done, remove from oven; pour drippings from pan. Brush glaze over ham. Return to oven until done. Heat remaining sauce to serve with ham.

ASPARAGUS SOUFFLE

2 Tablespoons grated Parmesan cheese
One 10-oz. pkg. frozen cut asparagus, thawed
1 cup milk
1-3rd cup enriched corn meal
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon nutmeg
2 Tablespoons butter or margarine
4 egg yolks
4 egg whites, stiffly beaten
Heat oven to 350 degrees F. Grease a 1-qt. souffle dish; coat bottom and sides with 1 Tablespoon Parmesan cheese. Place asparagus, milk, corn meal, salt and nutmeg in blender or food processor. Blend to make a smooth puree. In medium saucepan, melt butter; add asparagus puree. Cook over medium heat about 5 minutes or until thickened. Stir small amount of asparagus mixture into egg yolks; return to asparagus mixture, stirring constantly. Remove from heat. Fold in egg whites. Pour mixture into prepared souffle dish; sprinkle with remaining Parmesan cheese. Bake at 350 degrees F. about 35 minutes. Serve immediately. Makes 1-qt. souffle (about 4 servings).

PARMESAN POTATOES

1/4 cup butter
4 medium baking potatoes (about 1 3/4 pounds), scrubbed but unpeeled
1/2 cup grated Parmesan cheese
1 teaspoon white pepper
Preheat the oven to 375 degrees and melt the butter in a 10 by 6 by 1 3/4-inch baking dish. Cut potatoes in half lengthwise; with the cut surfaces facing down, slice each potato half lengthwise into 1/4-inch wide strips; reserve the ends that are almost entirely covered with peel. Layer the remaining potatoes in overlapping rows in the baking dish, sprinkle each layer with the cheese and pepper. Top with the reserved potato ends, skin side up, the Parmesan and pepper. Bake uncovered in the preheated oven until tender when tested with a fork and top layer is on the crisp side — 40 to 50 minutes. Makes 4 servings.

Pennsylvania Dutch revived egg-dyeing tradition

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — Although the tradition of coloring eggs at springtime can be traced as far back as 5,000 years to the ancient Persians, it is the Pennsylvania Dutch who are generally credited with reviving the tradition and developing a fine art.

But they had some help in preserving the popularity of the pastime from a Newark, N.J., druggist named William M. Townley, report researchers for PAAS, a major producer here of Easter egg coloring kits.

The Persians, and later the ancient Egyptians, exchanged colored eggs to celebrate the return of spring and as tokens of goodwill. The eggs were often colored a bright red to signify blood and the life force.

Later, the Greeks adopted the custom and used colored eggs during their spring festivals as a sign of fertility and the regenerative power of nature. During Cleopatra's reign, around 50 B.C., Egyptians and Romans colored eggs as part of their spring festivals.

The custom was dying out in Europe when the Pennsylvanian Dutch brought it to the New World in the 1700s. But by 1800 they and the Ukrainians were just about the only ethnic groups in this country who still observed the quaint festivity in any number.

A hundred years ago, according to the historians, most Easter eggs were colored by boiling them with onion skins for yellow, alder catkins and hickory bark for shades of brown, madder root for red, and other materials such as coffee, walnut hulls, green wheat and beets for varying colors.

Each year some women would come to Townley's drugstore and buy a few cents' worth of dyes, such as indigo, logwood and gamboge.

But coloring Easter eggs was a time-consuming, messy nuisance. Some people even turned over the chore to others. In April 1881 the Lebanon, Pa., Daily Times carried this notice:

"Mr. C.R. Fisher, the North Ninth street dyer, is in just now kept busy coloring Easter eggs, which he does in a scientific manner. For five cents a dozen he changes the natural color into purple, yellow and red. Judging from samples shown us, it is certainly the better part of wisdom to take your hard-boiled eggs to his dyeing establishment for coloring. The sum charged is a trifling compared to the trouble saved."

Townley thought of packaging his dyes after spilling some powdered indigo on a suit, ruining the suit and staining the white marble counter. After that, he had his shop boy take the dyes to the back yard of the shop and measure and pre-package the various dyes used for Easter eggs.

Thus in 1879 one of the oldest existing businesses in the United States was founded, named for the Pennsylvania Dutch word for Easter, Paas.

A number of innovations have been added since Townley first packaged his colors. Shortly after the first packages were compressed into little tablets that would dissolve in water and vinegar, further simplifying egg coloring. Later embellishments included adding transfer papers with designs, wire dippers and wax crayons for writing names or making designs on eggs.

April is month of celebration

Perhaps early spring — more than any other time of year — is perceived by those of religious belief as a "new beginning for life" throughout the world. If so, it is for good reason. April's days of religious celebration this year include Palm Sunday, Good Friday, Easter and Passover. Each is a reaffirmation of the spirit for Christians and Jews.

The customs and traditions of Easter and Passover are much a part of today's society. The customs, described in their historical context, as compiled by researchers for the National Association of Greeting Card Publishers, follow:

Easter, of course, marks the celebration of Christ's resurrection. Easter Sunday — April 11 this year — concludes the season of Lent which begins on Ash Wednesday. The latter precedes Easter by 40 days, excluding Sundays.

Ash Wednesday stems from the Hebrew tradition of repenting for sins in sackcloth and ashes. Early Christian penitents would sprinkle ashes on their heads on this occasion. Church bishops often decreed that penitents not wash, speak or wear shoes during Lent. This was a period of fasting. It was also a time for converts to Christianity to meditate before baptism.

Palm Sunday — the Sunday before Easter — is the first day of the Holy Week and it commemorates the entry of Jesus into Jerusalem when the people shouted "Hosanna" and scattered palms in his path.

Good Friday marks the day of Christ's crucifixion. Passover — April 8 this year — is the oldest festival of the Hebrew liturgical calendar, observed by Jews for more than 3,000 years. It marks deliverance of the Jews from Egyptian bondage and commemorates the barley season as a relationship of Israel with the soil.

Seder, the Passover feast, is celebrated in the home and marks the first experience of the nation of Israel with God. Seder begins with a ritual washing of the hands. In celebration, the home is perceived as a sanctuary wherein secular time becomes sacred time. The history of the Jewish exodus from Egypt is recounted for family members and invited participants.

Matzos, or unleavened bread, are served during the Passover feast in remembrance that the Jews, in their flight from Egypt, were unable to leaven the breads they baked and ate.

Sheaves of wheat, grapes and other seasonal fruits, herbs, matzos and goblets of wine are among the symbols of the Passover feast portrayed on greeting cards for this special occasion.

New homes are more efficient

COLLEGE STATION — New homes really do save energy for the most part, says Dr. Jane Berry, housing and home furnishings specialist.

That's good news for new-home buyers — they can expect less energy consumption than was possible in less expensive homes of past years, she says.

Even though home buyers are paying more for less space, they are getting houses they can afford to finance and operate.

"Price tags on many new homes reflect the added costs of beefed-up insulation and other measures that will result in long-range energy efficiency," she says.

Warning! Think before moving camera gear

EDITOR'S NOTE — Associated Press camera columnist John Dingham has surfaced in his new home in Mississippi and filed this helpful report.

By JOHN DINGHAM
Associated Press Writer

I thought I was moving to Mississippi. Instead, I find I have moved to Miscellany.

Apparently, it is the only word known to the movers who packed us before we left the New York area. Box after box is marked only "miscellany," with no indication of what room it came from.

It has played havoc with our attempts to settle our new home, and, if you will pardon some self-interest, my camera supplies. I learned something about moving a long distance, and perhaps my experience will help others faced with the same problem.

I should explain that none of this pertains to my cameras and lenses. I packed them in my camera bags and took them in the car all the way from New Jersey to Mississippi. They came into the motel every night, and I knew where they were from the day we left until the day we arrived. No problems at all.

But that was not true of the rest of my equipment, ranging from the enlarger, to developer, to film. I thought it was all in the right place, but I didn't count on the packers.

You can't move liquids, of course, if they are corrosive, so all of my color-printing chemicals had to go out, or come along in the car. My carefully labeled and marked bottles for black and white chemicals had to be emptied and given over to the movers to be packed with other valuables such as the Waterford crystal. Both came through in fine shape, I think. My bottles for film development have not surfaced yet. The crystal is fine.

The dry materials such as film and paper are another matter.

Some of the paper has been found, and so have some of the unmixed chemicals to process it. But only about half the film has turned up, and the missing film is color, and should be in the crisper in our new refrigerator. It took long enough to persuade my wife that it belonged there to allow any time to pass. I might have to start the campaign all over again.

Actually, I cannot fault the packers for their care and skill in putting things where they would not be broken. But, I learned that you have to stay with them every minute.

If you are forced to move, start early and separate the equipment you want to take with you, whether it be in the car or on the plane. Take your time about this selection, since it represents the material you want to use on the way, and the thing you don't want to risk in the moving van.

Keep in mind it will have to fit into your traveling gear and will have to be protected every night.

This is a good place to remind you that all-risk camera insurance is inexpensive for the average camera buff, and is well worth the expense. Your insurance agent can give you the details.

After you have separated the material you will carry, you have a choice. If you do the packing yourself, take care to make certain that no chemicals are placed in the same box as film, paper and the like. If a box should break, the chemicals could contaminate the other items.

If the movers pack for you, you will need the same care in separation, so they will not pack the wrong items in the same box.

Again, an insurance caution. The coverage included in the basic moving fee does not cover the potential loss, and you should look into the extra coverage offered by most movers. It is worth the small expense if anything goes wrong.

But, above all else, watch that man with the marker pen that spells only "Miscellany." If you aren't careful, you will wind up with dozens of surprise boxes.

Incidentally, if you see the base to my enlarger, let me know, will you? I have 30 boxes to go, all marked "Miscellany."

Imported fish used to save endangered seals

STOCKHOLM, Sweden (AP) — Conservationists are importing fish into the cooling basin of a Baltic coast nuclear plant in an effort to save the sea's declining seal population.

In this century alone, man has lowered the population from 100,000 to fewer than 12,000, first through hunting and then, after World War II, through discharge of poisonous wastes into the Baltic.

The pollutants, chiefly polychlorinated biphenyls — PCBs, an industrial waste product — and the insecticide DDT, interrupt the seals' food chain, poisoning the fish they eat and in turn damaging the wombs of female seals. Neither compound breaks down naturally in the environment, and both are ingested by fish.

Restrictions on wastes by countries around the sea in the past decade have cut sharply into the levels of PCBs, down by 30 percent, and DDT, reduced by 75 percent.

But Lennart Almquist, a researcher heading up the savethe-seals project, says that's not enough.

He says tests show that pollution has caused severe womb complications in half the female Baltic seals of reproductive age. That, when combined with naturally caused infertility, can mean that as few as one in five mature female seals can reproduce, Almquist said.

That's where his new project, sponsored by the World Wildlife Fund and Sweden's Museum of Natural History, comes in.

Under the supervision of Sweden's environmental agency, two young male seals and two females were sent in late 1980 to the cooling basin of the Forsmark nuclear plant in eastern Sweden.

The seals, which are not expected to start reproduction until 1983, are fed herring and mackerel caught in the North Sea, where the pollution level is far less in fish and other organisms than in the Baltic, Almquist said.

"This is a small-scale effort, but it is only the beginning," he said. "The seals reproduce once a year and give birth to only one kid. If we succeed, we will increase the number of seals."

There are now only 10,000 ringed seals, 1,500 grey seals and 200 harbor seals in an area where the animal was once so abundant that it gave its name to Denmark's main island, Zealand.

There are some who are not eager for the project to succeed.

Some fishermen consider the seals a prime reason for diminishing catches and have suggested bounties for killing off seals rather than efforts to save them.

One fisherman, who refused the use of his name, said it was not unusual for a fisherman on a bird-hunting outing to "mistake a seal for a bird" and shoot it.

Book-of-the-Month Club is 56 years old

By JILL LAWRENCE
Associated Press Writer
MECHANICSBURG, Pa. (AP) — With books piled from floor to 27-foot ceiling, it looks like a library for Paul Bunyans. But there's no hush here, in the warehouse of the nation's oldest and largest general-interest book club.

The din of cranes, conveyor belts and packing machines echoes through the cavernous room as workers dart from stack to stack, gathering books for 1.3 million Book-of-the-Month Club members.

This is the nerve center of the 56-year-old club and its seven affiliates; a literary outpost with a 775-member staff, its own zip code and an outpost of 30,000 packages a day. "We have accounts scattered across the world," says Vice President Len Kessler.

Nine million copies of 4,000 different books spill from tiers of steel shelves in neighboring warehouses covering 240,000 square feet — cookbooks and exercise manuals side by side with memoirs, murder mysteries and political tracts.

"We try to aim just above the middle of the brow," says Al Silverman, president of the club. "There's good trash and bad trash. We try to avoid bad trash."

The Book-of-the-Month Club was founded in 1926 with 4,750 members. "You can now subscribe to the best new books — just as you do to a magazine," read the early ads.

First year members received nine books. Among them were Edna Ferber's "Show Boat" and John Galsworthy's "The Silver Spoon."

The club has since survived wars, social change, rival book clubs, the spread of discount bookstores and the rise of television. Combined with affiliate clubs offering paperbacks, records, art prints and specialized titles, nearly 2 million members are served.

But the centerpiece of the entire operation, and the largest of the clubs, is still the book of the month.

At the sprawling warehouse, set in a farm field overlooking the Pennsylvania Turnpike, there's a special machine exclusively for the book of the month. It wraps the selection tightly in cellophane, drops it into a box and glues an address card to the front.

Meanwhile, at editorial headquarters in Manhattan, a five-member board ruminates every three-and-a-half weeks over the monthly selection. Literary experts all, they come from as far as Los Angeles and Montreal to sit around a directors' table and argue politely over lunch.

The club also offers 10 to 12 alternates each month for members who don't want to buy the main selection. Top editorial staffers choose the alternates, using reports from more than 100 in-house and free-lance readers.

"You have to make a decision on books way before publication date, way before you know what's going to happen," Silverman says. "It's a real crap game. We're always saying to ourselves, 'Is this worth the gamble?'"

The club has had its share of hits. "All Quiet on the Western Front," "The Good Earth," "Gone with the Wind," "Animal Farm," "Death of a Salesman," "The Catcher in the Rye," "The Old Man and the Sea," "All The President's Men" and "Ragtime" are among the main selections members have received through the years. "Who belongs to a mail-order book club?"

"I believe I joined the club in 1926," Russell Beeson of Berkeley says in a promotion marking the club's 55th anniversary. "I was a forester and seldom in a town big enough to have a bookstore, just going from one woods job to another."

Now, membership is concentrated in metropolitan New York, Los Angeles and the Atlantic Coast, where bookstores and discount houses are rampant. Silverman, a wry man with an elfish twinkle in his eye, is unperturbed; they raise book consciousness, he says.

Yale students become art 'connoisseurs'

By GABRIELLA STERN
NEW HAVEN, Conn. (AP) — With a budget of $10,000, a class of Yale undergraduates toured the contemporary art world of New York last fall and bought two pieces of art that have gone on display at the Yale Art Gallery.

Assistant Professor Jonathan Fineberg, 35, said he began planning the "Connoisseurs in Contemporary Art" class a year ago at a party in New York, where he met a Yale alum who complained the university didn't provide an adequate education in contemporary art.

Fineberg persuaded the alum, art dealer Horace Solomon, to give $2,500 with the understanding that the class would choose the art and donate it to the gallery. Fineberg raised the rest of the money from other alumni, art dealers and private collectors.

The professor and class of 12 students combed New York City's art world during the 13-week fall semester, interviewing dealers, collectors, gallery owners, museum curators and artists.

As a final exam, they purchased two works. One was a two-part montage by Christo, the artist known for "wrapping" buildings and landscapes with enormous pieces of cloth. It depicts the artist's plan to surround 10 of the 15 islands in Miami's Biscayne Bay with shocking-pink skirts that float out into the water some 200 feet.

The other work, a drawing by Alice Aycock, shows what the artist calls a "fanciful apparatus designed to capture and manufacture ghosts."

Fineberg explained that he wanted to teach students how to recognize and appreciate contemporary art. "I was motivated to teach this course by the fact that most people have no idea what contemporary art is."

"Recent art doesn't look like art to most people. They don't understand what it's all about. They don't have any idea what's good and what's bad," he said in a recent interview.

According to Fineberg, many Yale students want to collect art and should know how to do it "intelligently" instead of being at the mercy of the art dealers.

Referring to the class, he said, "This kind of experience is the way you learn, the way you develop a sense of quality. You can't just walk in cold and expect to know what you're looking at."

Contemporary art is primarily an "intellectual activity in which both the ideas behind it and the appearance" must be considered, Fineberg said.

The class met every week for two hours and frequently dined as a group. Students prepared by reading art criticism and essays in contemporary art journals.

According to Fineberg and the class, the hardest part was making the final selection.

"It was a very give-and-take situation, where they exchanged ideas and came to a compromise," Fineberg said.

Ethan Schwartz, a sophomore from New York City, said the class had learned to its surprise that $10,000 doesn't go far in purchasing art.

"It's peanuts when it comes to the New York art world," Schwartz said. "At first we thought we'd each be able to buy a piece of art."

We care a little bit more!

...the very best we can. The helpful clerk... the smiling cashier. They'll give you a sense that you, the customer, are the most important person in the store. So we have meat cutters, bakers and flower arrangers. Stockers, baggers and pleasant checkers. All ready to help, all trying harder, all doing a little extra. For you. And proud of it.
