Candidates: County judge

The Herald has given questionnaires to each of the three candidates for county judge in Howard County. The candidates are Milton L. Kirby, John Stanley and the incumbent, Bill Tune.

The purpose of the questionnaire is to give voters more information with which to compare candidates. This race will be on all ballots in the county.

The candidates were asked to limit their answers to 50 words or less. The answers are being printed exactly as received, including grammatical errors.

The Herald also asked for biographical information from each candidate which can be found at the end of each person's answers.

1. Why would you be the best man for the position?

I am the best man for the office because I will have eight years experience as County Judge and four years experience as County Commissioner. I know the functions of County Court and Commissioner's Court and the day to day business that the County Judge must attend to.

2. What do you see as the most pressing problem in the county from the viewpoint of the Commissioner's Court?

The most pressing problem facing the Commissioner's Court is the responsibility of establishing a budget, in these times of rising costs, that the county can operate on effectively and efficiently, without having to increase the tax rate.

3. What changes would you make to solve these problems?

Since we can't change the problem of rising costs, the Court must make sure that county money is spent wisely. Although the county is now operating within the budget, in order to avoid a deficit, we must explore every alternative to insure that all expenditures are necessary and beneficial to the county.

4. A nation-wide trend is calling for stiffer penalties for persons convicted of driving while intoxicated. What is your position on DWI sentences?

The maximum penalty is $500 and two years in jail, which should be enough for first offenders. The problem lies within the law itself, allowing the case against the DWI offenders to be thrown out of court on minor technicalities before any penalty at all can be assessed.

5. What role would you play in the county judicial process?

See Tune, page 2A

1. Why would you be the best man for the position?

Because I think I am better acquainted in Howard County than any other person, being in on the law enforcement for more than 35 years. Consequently I believe I could perform the duties of county judge with complete harmony, at least a greater degree of harmony than we have been used to.

2. What do you see as the most pressing problem in the county from the viewpoint of the commissioners' court?

Corporation in the commissioners court in my judgement is needed more than any other thing, that is I am in favor of the different precincts helping each other in cases where needed.

3. What changes would you make to solve these problems?

I would insist on working together out in the precincts, I would visit out in the different precincts, I would pay close attention to the water flooding on roads caused by bad judgement in ditches and levees in other word I don't think good judgement has been used in controlling the flooding conditions.

4. A nation-wide trend is calling for stiffer penalties for persons convicted of driving while intoxicated. What is your position on DWI sentences?

I would exercise every effort at my command to curb the problem of DWI, I would encourage civic organizations to stress to our youth the danger of driving while under the influence of alcohol and drugs.

5. What role would you play in the county judicial process?

The law is clear on the role the

See Kirby, page 2A

1. Why would you be the best man for the position?

My 36 years experience as a business man and six years as city councilman has taught me that all the people want to be treated in an honest, considerate, and fair manner in dealing with them in business and government. This has been my policy in all dealings with the public.

2. What do you see as the most pressing problem in the county from the viewpoint of the commissioners' court?

That there should be more harmony and cooperation between all governmental bodies and the citizens of our good community, and will work with the commissioners court to accomplish this purpose.

3. What changes would you make to solve these problems?

By encouraging the public to take more interest in the affairs of the governmental bodies and the news media in taking a more active roll in informing the public of the affairs of each government body.

4. A nation-wide trend is calling for stiffer penalties for persons convicted of driving while intoxicated. What is your position on DWI sentences?

Encourage legislatures to pass laws that require the judges to assess mandatory sentences and place restrictions on the drivers license on first offense and suspension of same on second offense.

5. What role would you play in the county judicial process?

Would devote all the time possible to see that all the judicial process was handled on a fair, expedite, and competent manner as provided by the statutes and laws governing the same.

The Youth Achievement Awards are presented each year to outstanding students on the basis of leadership, scholarship and community service. The awards are sponsored by Zale's Jewelers, Big Spring Herald and Big Spring Rotary.

Judges for the awards from Big Spring Rotary were Gary Galloway, Bill Nehls and Ted Griffin.

Heflin the leader in campaign expenditures

By MIKE DOWNEY
Staff Writer

Lewis Heflin is leading all county candidates in contributions and expenditures as the May 1 primary draws closer.

Heflin has spent a total of $2,269.66 in his drive to be re-elected justice of the peace, precinct one, place two. Heflin leads in contributions as well with $2,790. In addition to Heflin's previous $1,990 in contributions, the following have contributed these amounts: Earl Newell, $100; Jack Thompson, $100; D.L. Dorland, $500 and Toots Manfield, $100. Heflin has added the following to his previous $1,625.46 in expenses: Big Spring Herald, $221; radio, $323.20 and Immaculate Heart of Mary Church, $100.

Linda Arsiaga, also running for justice of the peace, precinct one, place two, has received a total of $1,374 in contributions with new donations from Trini Arsiaga of $125, Santiago Gonzalez of $100 and $60 in smaller amounts. In addition to previous expenses of $967.65, Arsiaga has spent $136 on newspaper advertising and $63 for sign rental to total $1,166.65 in expenses.

THE THIRD candidate for the peace justice position is Bob C. Smith, who has spent $1,341.28 in his bid for See Spending, page 2A

Council to view revised city code

The Big Spring City Code may get a facelift, if councilmen at tonight's Big Spring City Council meeting approve some proposed revisions in the code.

City legal advisor Elliott Mitchell went over the old code and made numerous revisions to streamline the code and bring it up to date. The council will take its first official look at the new code tonight.

Also on the agenda for tonight's meeting: a vote on a specific ordinance in the code — ordinance covering peddlers, solicitors and itinerant merchants. The controversial ordinance has drawn fire from a few citizens, has been revised and is expected to be voted on by councilmen tonight.

Another item on the agenda concerns a proposal to issue self-mailing water bills to city water users — a move proposed by Finance Director Tom Ferguson in order to save man-hours.

Mid-year budget revisions will get discussed by councilmen as they take a look at the city's current finances. One of the stand-out items in the revised budget is an expected increase in revenue from the Airpark Fund, which covers the city's industrial park and airport.

Commissioners delay action on property tax exemptions

By MIKE DOWNEY
Staff Writer

Howard County commissioners decided yesterday to postpone action on the ad valorem tax discount and exemption until more study could be made into the matter. The tax exemption would be on homesteads for county taxes. Other taxing entities such as the school districts also have to make a decision on discounts and exemptions.

The commissioners decided to make a decision before June 1. The next meeting of the commissioners is May 10, although the commissioners discussed moving the meeting to May 11 due to conflicting schedules.

In other action, the commissioners heard from County Treasurer Bonnie Franklin that the county finances are in good shape.

The commissioners also approved new employees for the county: David Carlisle in the county clerk's office; Mary Pope in the tax office; Martha Ramirez and Cynthia Fulmer in the library and Margy Thompson as juvenile probation officer.

Commissioners spent much of the morning interviewing a candidate for the position of assistant county agent. Dennis Pool of Baytown was questioned by the commissioners about his qualifications for the job. No action was taken on the matter.

County Engineer Bill Mims gave the commissioners a status report on the work being done to convert the county road from U.S. 87 to Forsan into a state road. Mims said the county's portion was fenced but he needed final action from Energas, Shell and Conoco before the state would accept the road.

County fair needs a logo

What's a county fair without an emblem to represent the fair?
Right.
Howard County's fair needs an emblem, a logo, a design to represent the annual fair on t-shirts, advertising, pins and so on.
The fair association is sponsoring a contest — with cash prizes — in the hopes that Howard County residents will be inspired to design a logo.
Entries must be made on a single white sheet of paper 8½ by 11 inches in size, drawn in red or black ink, with the artist's name, address and phone number in the upper right hand corner of the entry.
Entries, which must be matted without fold, should be sent to: Howard County Fair Association, Box 2356, Big Spring, TX 79720.
The design itself must be no more than 5½ inches in diameter maximum and four inches in diameter minimum.
Enter as often as you like, but put just one entry in each envelope.
Prizes are $75 for first place, $50 for second and $25 for third.
Your entry should typify what Howard County is about: farming, ranching, oil, industry.
The deadline is this Friday.

State eyes fire safety funds for Big Spring hospital

Harte-Hanks Austin Bureau
AUSTIN — Millions of dollars in fire safety improvements are scheduled for eight state hospitals, including the one at Big Spring, to help them meet accreditation requirements.
Much of the $5 million budgeted will be used to extend current sprinkler smoke detection and other safety systems so the hospitals will meet the latest standards adopted by the Joint Commission for Accreditation of Hospitals.
"We're really not faced to my knowledge with any structures that are really terribly hazardous," said W. Patrick Terry, chief of maintenance and construction for the Texas Department of Mental Health and Mental Retardation.
Most of the $154,880 budgeted for safety renovation at Big Spring State Hospital will be spent on improving the water distribution system.
The water lines were installed when the hospital was first constructed about 40 years ago, Terry said.
Buildings have been added to the hospital, testing the current system's capacity.
The business committee of the MHMR board selected Austin architect Kirby W. Perry to oversee the renovations at the Big Spring Hospital. The full board will consider the recommendation at its May 14 meeting at the Richmond State School near Houston.

Army private guilty of killing 3 blacks

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — Joseph Christopher, a white Army private, was found guilty today of three "22-caliber slayings" that terrified Buffalo-area blacks in late 1980.
State Supreme Court Justice Frederick M. Marshall, who heard the case without a jury at Christopher's insistence, ruled on the 26-year-old defendant in the 12th day of a widely publicized trial.
About 50 spectators, in addition to members of Christopher's family and a gallery of reporters, overflowed the courtroom when the verdict was announced.

Dawson gets rabies force

Despite a lengthy agenda the Dawson County Commissioners' Court only approved one piece of business at a special meeting held yesterday morning.
Dr. David Smith, a Lamesa veterinarian, was appointed head of the county's rabies control force. In cases where an animal is suspected of having rabies, Smith will work closely with officials in Austin to conduct tests for final diagnosis. It is the Commissioners' hope the control force will curb incidence of rabies in the county.
In other action the commissioners tabled discussion on adopting safety devices for county road and highway work sites, discussed checking into the possible roof repair of the Dawson County Museum, studied hospitalization insurance for county employees and agreed to request a salary grant for the district attorney's secretary.

Absentee balloting over

Absentee voting ends today for the May 1 Democratic and Republican primaries. Total Democratic ballots cast in the county clerk's office is 318 with 36 mailed out. Republican balloting is 18 in the office and 14 mailed out.

Successful blood drive

The Big Spring Federal Prison Camp conducted their bi-monthly community blood mobile last Wednesday, with 83 donors coming forth to make this the most successful blood mobile at the camp, according to David Huff, camp health systems administrator and mobile coordinator.
The blood drive was a team coordinated effort by the Camp Jaycees, Inmate Advisory Council and the Camp Medical Department to support the ever-growing community need for blood.
The mobiles are under the auspices of United Blood Services of San Angelo which is the provider of blood needs for West Central Texas.

the job. New expenses of $485 for advertising and $24 to TG&Y have been spent by Smith. Contributions to Smith have reached $1,457.20 with the latest funds from Triple Seven Royalty for $100 and various donations totaling $150.
County judge candidates have spent nearly $5,000 in their quest for the position. Leading in expenses and contributions is incumbent Bill Tune. Tune has spent $2,245.35 towards seeking re-election and has received donations totaling $2,099. Tune has received $549 in donations under $50 since the last reporting date March 22.
Also contributing to Tune's campaign was Wilson C. Edwards, $100. Tune's previous expenses totaled $668.35 while his new expenditures include $567.60 for newspaper advertising and $584.40 for radio advertising.

The third candidate for county judge, John Stanley, has spent an additional $737.61 in his bid for the office. Stanley has totalled $1,327.35 including $616.18 to newspaper advertising and $77.28 for cards.
IN THE RACE for county commissioner, precinct two, incumbent Paul Allen is leading the three other candidates in expenditures with $1,377.75. In addition to previous expenses of $534.35, Allen has added $458.80 in radio advertising, $98.55 in newspaper advertising and $262.95 for pens.
Debby Calley has spent $886 toward the county commissioner position with $134 going for radio advertising. Calley also has received contributions totalling $410.

Shannon Boyles Jr. has spent $827.50 for the county commissioner's job with the latest money going for radio advertising, $387.50 and newspaper advertising, $92.40. Boyles also received a contribution from S. Ranch for $387.50.
A fourth candidate for the commissioner position, Bob Cowley, has not yet filed a report with the county clerk's office.
The only other contested race is the justice of the peace race, precinct two. Willie Grant is outpacing her opponent, Jane Gilmore, with $528.95 to Gilmore's $380.86.

Reagan may testify in Hinckley's trial

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Washington hotel, retired governor prosecutor said today that President Reagan may testify in the trial of John W. Hinckley Jr., accused of trying to assassinate the president nearly 13 months ago.
Chief prosecutor Roger M. Adelman, standing with a hand microphone before 90 prospective jurors at the start of Hinckley's trial, said of Reagan:
"There will be testimony about him or you will hear testimony from him. I think I will leave it at that."
A White House official, who asked not to be identified, said no decision had been made how Reagan would testify. The president could decide to testify on videotape rather than make a personal appearance at the trial in U.S. District Court.
Adelman said two other victims of Hinckley's shooting spree outside a Washington hotel, retired Washington policeman Thomas Delahanty and Secret Service agent Timothy McCarthy, might be called as witnesses.
The prosecutor did not mention White House press secretary James S. Brady, who was the most seriously wounded of the four men Hinckley is accused of shooting. Brady, who was shot in the head, underwent months of hospitalization and several operations and is still partially paralyzed.
Hinckley, 26, the son of a wealthy Colorado oil executive, was brought to the courtroom today under security precautions so strict that he says "I feel like the president myself."
Hinckley's chief defense is that he was insane, and thus not legally responsible for his actions, when he shot Reagan March 30, 1981.

Drunk policeman kills 58 in spree

South Korean officer kills self

SEOUL, South Korea (AP) — A survivor of a policeman's drunken rampage that left 58 dead said today the officer was "jumping around like a madman, firing."

"I was so frightened and could not get to my house. I fled into a nearby paddy until all became quiet near dawn, then returned home," said the survivor, 45-year-old farmer Chun Yong-sup.

Some people died in their homes or shops during the rampage which began after the officer argued with his wife Monday in a village 200 miles south of Seoul. Others were killed when they ran into the streets alarmed by the sound of shooting and explosions. The officer killed himself with a grenade.

"The patrolman came to my house leading a student," Shin We-do, a 52-year-old shopkeeper, told reporters. "He asked for a soft drink. I gave him one. He had only one gulp and fired a shot at the student, killing the boy there."

"Then he fired shots at my wife and two of my children. They all died on the spot. Running out of the house, I was shot at and hit in the legs."

After word of the massacre reached Seoul, Home Minister Suh Chung-hwa rushed to the scene in a police plane, and later offered his resignation to assume responsibility for the action.

The policeman, Woo Kum-kon, 27, exploded a hand grenade and killed himself in a farmhouse after eight hours of attacks in Uiryeong, 200 miles south of Seoul, and five neighboring hamlets. The suicide blast reportedly killed three members of the farm family.

The massacre occurred in a remote mountainous section, and early reports of the death toll ranged from 53 to 79. But the government today said an investigative team of police and Home Ministry officials visited the scene of the slaughter and counted 58 dead.

Officials said the provincial police director for the area was suspended and four policemen were arrested. Three were assigned to the substation the killer was assigned to, and the fourth was a regional police officer, officials said.

The police reported 36 others were wounded, some critically. Because of a lack of medical facilities in the mountainous area, the wounded were taken to hospitals more than 30 miles away.

WOUNDED — Emergency medical personnel bring one of an estimated 36 people wounded by a South Korean policeman, Woo Kum-kon, 27, to a hospital in Masan, South Korea, Tuesday. The policeman exploded a hand grenade and killed himself in a farmhouse after eight hours of attacks in Uiryeong, 200 miles south of Seoul, in which 58 persons were reported killed.

Clements calls special session

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — The hard-to-kill state property tax will come under legislative fire again when lawmakers come back into special session May 24 at the invitation of Gov. Bill Clements.

BILL CLEMENTS
...property tax agenda

Clements and Speaker Bill Clayton predicted Monday the session could last as little as two days. But Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby, recalling past failures to abolish the tax, made no predictions.

"This is a real complex issue that the last two regular sessions and one special session have been unsuccessful in dealing with. I'm not sure I share their optimism," Hobby said.

Clements announced the special session Monday after a closed-door meeting with Hobby and Clayton.

Clements said he would not open the session to any other topics.

The first assault on the property tax came in 1979 when the Legislature reduced it from 10 cents per $100 valuation to .0001 cents. The state has not collected the tax since then.

However, Midwestern State University sued, saying the tax established by the Texas Constitution had to be collected and legislators cannot override the Constitution without an amendment approved by the voters.

The property tax had been used to finance construction at state universities outside the University of Texas and Texas A&M systems, which share the oil-based Permanent University Fund.

Clements said legislators would be asked to come up with a "contingency" fund to replace the tax until the 1983 Legislature can set up a permanent funding source.

Clayton said the fund would be "in the neighborhood" of about $100 million and, if the amendment is approved by the voters, would be used by universities that have been without construction funds for four years.

The three officials agreed Midwestern probably would win its lawsuit. The constitutional amendment would make the suit "moot," according to Clements.

If the courts forced the collection of the tax it could cost Texans up to $1 billion, he said.

"We want to save the billion dollars. We want to repeal the tax. We want to forgive the back tax. And we want to have a contingent appropriation... that would then retroactively look at the needs of the various institutions and appropriate a suitable amount of money to take care of those needs," said Clements.

He said a court ruling against the Legislature's 1979 action would cause "an incredible amount of complexities," such as how to handle property sold since 1979.

Clements said a May session would ensure that the amendment could be placed on the ballot in November.

The special session, second of the 67th Legislature, will get underway two weeks before the June 5 runoff elections, which could include several legislators seeking re-election and several aiming for higher office.

Clayton said, "I sure wouldn't want to be a candidate that would oppose the repeal of a tax."

Added Clements, "I think this creates a very favorable environment."

Braniff says routes too costly

Eastern wins S. American routes

MIAMI (AP) — Officials of Eastern Airlines, looking for a foothold in a lucrative international market, won the right to take over South American service from troubled Braniff International for a year after a last-minute offer prompted a rare night session of the Civil Aeronautics Board.

Monday night's action in Washington came just as Braniff said it could no longer afford to fly the routes. The board voted 5-0 to award Eastern the service for a year, rejecting a competing, weeks-old offer from Pan American World Airways.

Both carriers wanted six-year leases on the routes, and the aviation board said it would continue to study the long-term implications of those joint operating agreements.

"I will sleep well tonight," a relieved Sam Coats, Braniff's vice president for domestic and international affairs, said in Austin, Texas.

Eastern spokesman Jim Ashlock called the ruling "refreshing," but Pan Am's Pamela Hanlon found it odd and hurried.

The board's decision gave Eastern the toehold in a profitable international market that it had been seeking for some time.

"It's mighty refreshing for all of us at Eastern to finally get in front on a major international route case," said Ashlock, reached at home in Miami. "We're confident that our proposal is solid, good enough and in the public interest that it will prevail."

Eastern's offer, which did not include service to Brazil and Venezuela, was not finalized until just before CAB offices in Washington closed at 5 p.m. Monday. The board responded by holding what spokesman Alan Pollock called its first evening session in seven or eight years.

At the meeting, held in Washington, members debated the merits of the competing $30 million offers for the route systems. Pan Am had hoped to take over all South American service from Braniff, but last week the board decided to put off its decision on the offer until July, allowing time to consider Eastern and Air Florida arguments that such a move was anti-competitive.

CAB members — noting that Pan Am competes with Braniff in Brazil, Argentina, Chile and Panama — urged Braniff to look for other partners.

Braniff officials, fighting off bankruptcy after posting a 1981 loss of $160 million, asked again Friday for a quick decision, saying they would have to abandon the routes this week for lack of cash.

"It's the whole key to our financial restructuring," Coats said. "This will allow us to remove a huge overhead structure and eliminate, for the next year at least, a loss operation (while we) get our domestic system back to a very lean and profitable basis."

President Reagan urged the panel not to delay, saying that U.S.-flag air service to the region could be disrupted without a quick decision.

Then Eastern came into the picture, according to Ashlock and Coats. Officials of the Miami-based carrier spent the weekend in Washington, hammering out a deal with their counterparts from the Dallas-based carrier.

Coats said Braniff was aware of the negotiations. Yet Ms. Hanlon, Pan Am's spokeswoman, found the CAB decision puzzling.

"We feel the board rushed into approval of an agreement that does not provide a basis for preserving Braniff's South American route system," Ms. Hanlon said from New York. She noted that Eastern does not plan to pick up service in 12 of 24 markets between South American cities or from the U.S. West Coast to the region.

"It seems odd that issues that the board considered so complex a week ago that they required a hearing can now be decided in four short hours without providing interested parties the opportunity to comment," Ms. Hanlon said.

Eastern, which lost $65.9 million last year, had hoped to expand into markets without the vicious fare wars that saw one-way tickets from Miami to New York selling for as little as $80 in recent months. Air Florida has expressed similar sentiments, but Coats said he hadn't heard from the other Miami-based carrier by Monday night.

"The appealing thing about these routes is that they are fundamentally immune from the kind of destructive fare wars that have been tying us up the last few years," Ashlock said. "We've had our eye on Latin America for quite a while."

Eastern, which lost to Pan Am in its bid several years ago for Miami-London authority, said it will take over the routes June 1 and subsidize Braniff's operation of them in May. Eastern also would employ about 1,000 Braniff flight attendants and ground workers based in South America.

Pollock said the board will continue to study the Eastern and Pan Am bids to take over the routes for six years. Because of the foreign policy implications, any decision is subject to review by Reagan.

Showers forecast for northern Texas

By The Associated Press

Scattered showers were forecast for northern and eastern sections of Texas today while skies were to be partly cloudy over the rest of the state.

Scattered thunderstorms were forecast for the Panhandle.

Highs were to be mostly in the 70s and 80s. Lows tonight will be in the 50s and 60s. Highs Wednesday will be mostly in the 60s and 70s, ranging from the upper 60s in the Panhandle to the mid 90s in the Big Bend area of Southwest Texas.

Scattered showers and thunderstorms were reported early today over North Texas between Abilene and Wichita Falls. The same area of showers produced heavy thunderstorms during the night in the Lubbock area. The thunderstorms produced .85 of an inch of rain and marble size hail in the Lubbock area.

Fog was reported early today along middle sections of the Texas coast and along the coastal plains. Visibility in some areas was reduced to about one-eighth of a mile.

Skies were mostly clear around the rest of the state.

Early morning temperatures were mostly in the 50s and 60s. Extremes ranged from 49 at Amarillo and 51 at Wichita Falls.

EXTENDED FORECAST
WEST TEXAS: Partly cloudy with minor day-to-day temperature changes. Lows 40s north to near 60 south. Highs 60s north to near 90 Big Bend.

FORECAST
WEST TEXAS: Partly cloudy through Wednesday. Scattered thunderstorms Panhandle today and remainder of the area except west of the Pecos tonight and Wednesday. A few thunderstorms possibly becoming severe late this afternoon and tonight mainly north. No significant temperature changes. Highs 60s Panhandle to 80 southwest and mid 90s Big Bend. Lows 47 north to 56 south. Highs Wednesday 66 Panhandle to 86 southwest and mid 90s Big Bend.

Assassin's parole date faces block

SOLEDAD, Calif. (AP) — Robert F. Kennedy's convicted assassin, fighting to keep his 1984 parole date, exclaimed "God forbid!" at an assertion that he had spoken of murdering Sen. Edward Kennedy.

Sirhan B. Sirhan "should not be paroled in 1984 nor at any foreseeable time in the future," Deputy District Attorney Larry Trapp said Monday as a hearing opened on a petition to rescind the Sept. 1, 1984, parole date.

"Newly discovered facts combine to reflect a man who feels much the same today as he did in 1968," Trapp said, "a man who continues to see violence as a solution for world problems."

The hearing, held behind the walls of Soledad prison, was to continue today and could last two weeks.

Sirhan, 38, was sentenced to death and spent time on Death Row at San Quentin Prison, but the death penalty was ruled unconstitutional in 1972 and his sentence was commuted to life imprisonment. He became eligible for parole in 1975 and was granted a release date of 1986. With credit for good behavior, the date was moved up to 1984.

Former parole board member James H. Hoover has said he set the date for release in the belief he "had no choice" under guidelines then in force for setting determinate sentences.

An allegation that Sirhan threatened to kill Edward Kennedy, a Massachusetts Democrat, was first told to authorities by Lawrence Eugene Wilson, a convict who recently was found to have forged a letter to the parole board urging his own release.

Trapp acknowledged to the three-member panel of the Community Release Board hearing Sirhan's case that some evidence he plans to present has "lost some of its persuasiveness" due to revelations challenging the credibility of witnesses.

Trapp said public examination of statements by prison inmates about Sirhan, an immigrant from Palestine, had damaged their usefulness.

DECISIONS, DECISIONS!

Working in the Texas Senate demands thousands of decisions which affect every man, woman and child. These decisions have been the territory of Senator E. L. Short for the past four years and he has proved he can do the job.

The young District Attorney challenging Senator Short doesn't seem to make decisions easily. Many times in the news last year, while serious crime was increasing 20%, John Montford tried to make a decision about which of three offices he would seek this year... and whether he would be a Democrat or a Republican.

We need Senator E. L. Short in the Texas Senate. His 8 years in the House of Representatives and his Senate experience make him one of the most stable and experienced public officials in the state. Senator Short will not use his office as a stepping stone.

Three mile Island revisited

Another energy-related accident has claimed the lives of scores of people — bringing the total casualty list in recent months into the hundreds.

Was this another "disaster" like that at the Three Mile Island nuclear plant in 1979? No. In fact, no one was killed or injured in that accident, nor according to the experts was anyone's health or safety in the surrounding area even threatened by it. (So far as is known, there has never been a death resulting from the operation of a peaceful nuclear reactor.)

THE ACCIDENT we refer to was the capsizing of a gigantic oil rig off the Atlantic coast a few weeks back, resulting in the deaths of 84 people. Similar tragedies have occurred repeatedly in the energy field: Natural gas explosions, oil tanker blow-ups, coal mine accidents, collapsing dams, etc. As noted by energy expert Petr Beckmann, tens of thousands of people across the years have perished from such causes.

Does this mean that oil or natural gas or coal is bad? Since they have brought immense benefit to mankind, the answer is obviously not. It does mean the business of converting matter into usable energy is by its nature somewhat dangerous. You don't have the benefits of this kind of energy without incurring hazards.

A SECOND POINT is that nuclear energy — despite the scare campaign against it — is far less dangerous than the rest of them. Thanks to a tremendous array of precautions, it has an unparalleled record for energy safety. Which means that, to the degree we slow the development of nuclear power, we force a greater reliance on more dangerous sources — as well as shrink our total energy supply.

That's what Dr. Beckmann means when he talks about "the health hazards of NOT going nuclear." Some of today's emotional protesters on the subject would do well to listen to him.

Cracked-crystal-ball file

WASHINGTON — At the risk of being the skunk at the garden party, I'd like to issue a mild warning about the spate of learned prognostications on what will happen if Soviet boss Leonid Brezhnev recovers from his current illness — or he doesn't.

The truth, I'm sorry to say, is that no one really knows for sure. And I mean no one, American or Russian. So the best the CIA and other Western intelligence agencies can do is offer an educated guess.

One currently popular consensus, for example, is that Brezhnev may announce his retirement at a meeting of the Central Committee that is now scheduled for late next month. But even those who have come up with this theory emphasize that they don't know for sure. No one has ever gone broke betting against people who offer dead certainties on Kremlin succession, from Lenin to Stalin to Khrushchev and now Brezhnev.

In fact, I can assure you that in recent years the secret files at CIA headquarters in Langley, Va., have been stuffed with predictions that Brezhnev was sick, or tired, or sick and tired, and was ready to give it all up and retire to his dacha and grow cabbages. They turned out to be worth as much as the tickets that litter the ground at a racetrack any day of the season.

Here's one of my favorites from the cracked-crystal-ball file. It's a top-secret CIA report of a few years back.

According to this report, Brezhnev's younger brother Yakov "told a foreign friend" that Big Brother was planning to retire. "Yakov said he (Leonid) would do this because he is not well, and because he could leave office on the same basis of good will that he entered it," the CIA explained, adding: "Brezhnev is said to feel he will leave a legacy of accomplishment."

This might seem to be thin gruel indeed, but it was enough for the CIA analysts to sink their teeth into with gusto. "If Brezhnev has made a decision to retire," they speculated, "this is perhaps how the story might first leak out: a family member letting himself talk too much to a well-known acquaintance from abroad. Thus, it seems worthy of more attention than some of the other stories about Brezhnev's plans."

Intelligence sources told my associate Dale Van Atta that the CIA has repeatedly put forth predictions — carefully hedged — that Brezhnev is going to retire. It's left up to other intelligence agencies to throw cold water on the CIA palm readers.

In the case of Yakov Brezhnev, it was the State Department that provided the necessary skepticism. The Foggy Bottom Soviet experts diplomatically acknowledged that the CIA's raw information may have been accurate, but said it probably reflected one of Brezhnev's blue moods.

"Clearly, Brezhnev has periods of elation and depression and his intentions may vary as his moods swing," the top secret State Department report explained. "Thus we can expect contradictory reporting on his plans..."

It was the State Department, also, that issues a rather jaundiced general view of "inside" tips from Soviet sources. The report noted that "a number of Soviet sources reported impending major changes in the top-ranking leadership which turned out to be false," and went on to warn: "Almost no Soviet with whom Westerners have contact has inside, reliable information on changes in the Politburo months or even weeks in advance."

Eventually, of course, one of the myriad prognostications about Brezhnev is bound to come true. Until then, I'll buy the State Department's warning. "Experience suggests that the leadership rumors should normally be treated as speculation by knowledgeable, but not necessarily well-informed, political observers."

GLASS PAINS: Every year, the Defense Department accumulates nearly three million gallons of highly radioactive waste from its nuclear programs. There are now some 77 million gallons of the deadly stuff stored "temporarily" at two sites in South Carolina and Washington State.

Recently Robert Laney, chairman of an Energy Department panel studying the problem, said a technological breakthrough is "just around the corner." Scientists at the Savannah River National Laboratory in South Carolina have reportedly worked out a method for turning the radioactive sludge into lumps of glass.

Rep. Butler Derrick, D-S.C., has asked Congress for $50 million over a two-year period to begin construction of a glassification plant. It will eventually cost about $2 billion.

But there's a catch: No one is absolutely certain that the glassified waste will remain solid, especially when it's buried in salt beds, as is planned. Gordon Thompson, a physicist with the Union of Concerned Scientists, warns that construction of a glassification plant now may be premature. Better to wait until tests have proven the process really works, he cautions.

UNDER THE DOME: Ma Bell reached out and touched the hearts and minds of Communications Workers of America members, convincing them that legislation introduced by Rep. Timothy Wirth, D-Colo., would hurt the telephone workers. So Wirth, long a friend of labor, was treated to a round of boos when he was introduced at a CWA reception recently. But he and his aides worked the room diligently and set the union members straight. The next day CWA President Glenn Watts made a public apology to Wirth, who drew a belated standing ovation.

Pain takes mind off God

DEAR DR. GRAHAM: I have been a Christian all my life, but now I am in constant pain due to an illness. It seems like it is so hard to even think about God when my life is filled with pain. Is this normal? — Mrs. T.R.

DEAR MRS. T.R.: Yes, pain can seem to block out everything else, including our thoughts about God. But that does not mean we should just give in, and resign ourselves to it. Throughout the ages, there have been countless saints of God who have found that pain and sickness, instead of becoming a barrier, became a blessing. They found that it could actually help us get life into its true perspective.

Think, for example, of the apostle Paul. He seldom speaks about his physical ills — which should, incidentally, tell us we should not become too absorbed in our own problems — and turn our eyes therefore away from Christ. And yet, he apparently had some type of painful illness which plagued him and made his ministry more difficult. He tells us that he begged the Lord to take it away three times, but each time the Lord said "no" to his prayer. But through that experience he came to see in a new way how important it was to rely completely on Christ instead of his own strength.

"Therefore, I have cheerfully made up my mind to be proud of my weaknesses, because they mean a deeper experience of the power of Christ... my very weakness makes me strong in him" (11 Corinthians 12:9-10 Phillips translation).

I know it may seem hard to thank God for your pain. But ask God to teach you whatever he wants to teach you during this time. Perhaps (like Paul) you need to learn to trust him more. Perhaps you need to learn how fleeting life is, and how important it is to love God above all else. Perhaps, also, God wants to use you to show others how he can make you joyful and peaceful in the midst of suffering.

You may not have as much strength as you once had, and you find this frustrating right now. But commit your life to Christ without reserve, and use even the small amount of strength you may have to draw closer to him. Remember — you are very precious to him.

Around the Rim

By RICHARD HORN

Raw hide

Pops. Licks. Swats. Paddlings. The board of education. Whatever you want to call it, my hind quarters have done their time as teachers' target practice.

And I can never forget it. The idea of a student being soundly whipped with a solid hunk of wood may sound serious, but there is something funny about it. Even back when it was a threat to myself and my schoolmates we did more laughing than crying when talking on the subject.

I started late. Most people I know were paddled in the first or second grade. It was a way to make them grow up correctly. I wasn't swung at until I was in the sixth grade — well past that time called the formative years.

This is because paddling is a southern practice, like eating fried okra. My first year in Texas was the year of my first paddling. Had I been here all along I would have undoubtedly been a pop veteran by then.

I FORGET WHY I was being punished the first time, but I think it had something to do with my pushing a girl.

Not a big crime, but it certainly upset my teacher. She was a southern lady with a deep accent. She grabbed my hand and led me out into the hall. She went to the classroom next door to get the teacher to be a witness.

A witness? They needed a witness? By this time I was totally petrified. She took off my glasses and handed them to the witness. Shaking her head she said, "My best little boy and I have to take a board to him."

She shook her head again, ever so sorrowfully.

SWAT! I felt like I had a criminal record. That first time was traumatic, but from the seventh grade I attended a very strict private school with a proud British heritage. Paddling was as common as ringing the school bell. I had it done several times in the next two years. A seasoned pro.

But to seventh and eighth graders it is fun — almost an honor — and pleasure can be had by noticing the funny quirks of each teacher's style of swatting.

I had one history teacher, a reserved, sedate man, who did away with that old chestnut "This will hurt me more than it will hurt you."

He would say, "This is going to hurt like hell, son, and I'm not going to mind a bit."

He put the emphasis on "bit" because that was the precise moment that wood met back side. He said the same thing every time.

One science teacher took pride in the way he administered the punishment. He had all sorts of elaborate paddles, some with holes in the middle, others with elaborate handles. He made a big production out of it and tried to make every swat sound LOUD.

Deterrence.

FINALLY THERE was the kind, motherly English teacher. She made every swat seem like she was putting her own son on the electric chair. She hated to do it and would tell us, always with a tear in her eye, that if we would only behave she wouldn't be forced to punish us.

It was effective. She acted so pained that everybody hated to put her through it.

Talking to those teachers some time after I left the school, I found that they too got a bit of laugh out of it. They knew it didn't really hurt all that bad, they said, but felt it was a good way to establish some discipline.

Looking back I tend to agree. I talked with a classmate from those times and he said that he sort of appreciated it.

But paddling is less in practice today. Some parents say they don't want anyone spanking their kid except them. Teachers don't have the right, they say.

But I also hear some teachers say that kids are bigger and meaner these days. Maybe they're afraid the swatee might turn the tables and take out after the swatter.

We used to laugh about that possibility too.

she makes her merry way to the bank. And quietly her ultra-conservative industrial financiers chuckle, having done their part in maintaining an abundant and cheap labor supply.

It was so kind of the good lady in her letter to the editor to give a definition of a feminist, since my trusty old 1961 edition of Webster's New Collegiate Dictionary failed to recognize the existence of a feminist by deleting a definition of the word. Now I do not need to buy a new dictionary and Noah Webster's ghost can rest; a feminist is a person who is bitter and lacks character.

When I vote in the upcoming primary elections I shall be ever so thankful that Susan B. Anthony, Carrie Catt Chapman and Alice Paul were bitter and lacked character.

On behalf of Britain

WASHINGTON — Which government does this country least want to fall? Margaret Thatcher's or Leopoldo Galtieri's? That is the cold-hearted question that has to be put about the Falkland Islands crisis.

For once, interest reinforces sentiment. Analysis discloses no reason to sustain Gen. Galtieri. It shows that this country's most vital business is bound up body and soul with Mrs. Thatcher.

The case for support of Galtieri requires a little poking around in the intellectual baggage of the Reagan administration. The President came to office sporting a fancy distinction between authoritarian and totalitarian regimes. Totalitarian regimes suppressed all change and were bound to join the Russians, either openly or inadvertently, in subverting the international order prized by the U.S. and its friends. They were untouchable. Authoritarian regimes, by contrast, were subject to reform by tender loving care. They were hence okay.

The Reagan administration, in keeping with that distinction, made a big play for the military government in Argentina. Its leader was received in the White House. Its grain sales to Russia were overlooked. Its transgressions against human rights were minimized. Its support was sought against Marxist penetration of Central America. And what happened?

WELL, FIRST, Galtieri seized power in a semi-coup from the general who had been received in Washington. Then, without a word of warning, Galtieri seized the Falkland Islands. Then he appealed to the street mobs in the fashion of Mussolini and Peron — that is to say, the totalitarian fashion.

Under British military threat, Galtieri has been negotiating with Secretary of State Alexander Haig. But once again in the totalitarian fashion. One day he accepts a set of U.S. proposals. Haig then goes to London and wins over Mrs. Thatcher. Then Galtieri goes back on his word.

In these conditions, and no matter what the final outcome of the talks, the U.S. has no interest in the survival of the Galtieri regime. Galtieri cannot legitimately serve any American purpose at home or abroad. The coming of another military man, which is the most likely outcome, would be an improvement. The various Peronistas would not be worse.

Mrs. Thatcher, by contrast, is the elected head of a country with ties to the U.S. that transcend mere alliance. So intimate are the connections, so ingrained the habits of cooperation, that even without trying, the U.S. and Britain work together in military matters, in the exchange of intelligence, in joint economic management, and in a kind of common market of art and science. Being neutral in a confrontation between Britain and a third party exerts a positive strain on this country.

This time, moreover, the seceded isle does not stand alone. Galtieri has outdone Kadafi and Nasser and even Stalin in cementing ties between Britain and Europe. To 60 million Britons there are now added another 300 million Europeans. Weak support for Mrs. Thatcher will undermine Transatlantic backing for the American stand on everything from the alliance to the value of the yen.

PUBLIC OPINION here also enters into the balance. Good feeling about Britain is like good feeling for a day in spring. It goes without saying. But while there may not be protests before the White House, or dancing on the village green, nobody should doubt the American stance. American Jews now ignore London's dim position on Israel. The Irish practically forget Cromwell. From the Wall Street Journal to the Village Voice, the underlying feeling is the same. This country stands with Britain.

If Mrs. Thatcher fell, to be sure, the succession would probably go to another Tory government, perhaps under Foreign Secretary Francis Pym. But the dirty secret would be out. Britons and Europeans and Americans would know that in a pinch this country had betrayed its closest friend.

On scapegoates and sour grapes

Dear Editor: Come now, ladies. Let's not get so hostile over Mr. Carpenter's "Sour Grapes" article. However, you are correct in stating that Mr. Carpenter was erroneous in his reasons for Phyllis Schlafly's active opposition to the Equal Rights Amendment.

This opposition indeed has nothing to do with sour grapes or skeletons in closets. Her anti-feminist activism has to do with money, just as the organized opposition to the ERA has little to do with the condition of the nuclear family, religion, or morality, but rather with money.

Mr. Carpenter really should be more kind to Mrs. Schlafly, since he is following the media Pied Piper in making her the villain in the struggle over passage of the ERA. Mrs. Schlafly is the appointed scapegoat, destined to absorb the brunt of media attention, exposure and abuse while

Dear Abby
Square guy
needs gal

DEAR ABBY: I read the letter from the guy who says he's 24, decent and can't find a nice girl. Well, I'm 35, decent, and I've been looking for a nice girl longer than he has. I could tell you stories about past dates you wouldn't believe.

I've been stood up on dates more times than I can count. I took a girl out to a nice restaurant, wined her and dined her, then she excused herself to go "powder her nose" and never came back. I met a gal at a party once and she gave me a phony address and a phony telephone number.

I'm 6 foot 6, average-looking, Italian and Catholic. I tried a dating service and was sent a hooker. I've gone to church socials, tall clubs and discos. No luck. I swore off singles bars forever because all the "single" women I've met there were either separated, engaged or out cheating on their husbands.

I'm polite and love to dance. I'm not a drinker, I don't take drugs and I'm not gay. I have a good job and I'm ambitious. All I want is a woman who's reasonably attractive, intelligent and sincere. So where are all the decent women hiding?

SQUARE AND FRUSTRATED

DEAR SQUARE: You sound too good to be true. If you love to dance, join a square-dancing club. You'll meet attractive, wholesome, lively men and women, and singles are welcome.

DEAR ABBY: I am physically unable to father a child, and my wife and I are considering artificial insemination. Our question: Are there pictures of the donors on file at the sperm bank? We would prefer that the biological father of our child have the same physical features that I possess. Or is that too much to ask for?

TALL, DARK AND BROWN-EYED

DEAR TALL: Inquiries from the laboratories I researched disclosed that although pictures of the donors are not available, facts concerning their physical characteristics are. This includes race, blood type, hair color, eye color, physique, complexion, etc. Medical and family background are also included, as well as information disclosing the donor's I.Q., education, and musical, artistic and athletic abilities.

DEAR ABBY: I am retired, have a good income and am in good health. I play golf every day, have a roof over my head and have a supermarket to shop for food without having to farm and raise it myself.

I have an electric stove to cook my food, and a washer and dryer to do my laundry instead of a washboard and tub. I have nice clothes and shoes on my feet and don't have to go barefoot as I did when I was a child. I have a nice bathroom and don't have to go outside in the cold as I did when I was a child. I bathe in a bathtub with plenty of hot water whenever I feel like it instead of in a washtub behind a pot-bellied stove on Saturday night as I did when I was a child.

I am not locked up in prison or a mental hospital as some people are. I am free to go where I want. I have a television set and stereo that kings could not enjoy years ago.

I have a car for transportation instead of a horse and buggy. I was married for 22 years to a woman who was as beautiful as a movie star. I went through World War II without a scratch. Talk about heaven. America is heaven!

THINKING OUT LOUD

DEAR THINKING: Thanks for giving us all something to think about.

Problems? You'll feel better if you get them off your chest. Write to Abby, P.O. Box 38923, Hollywood, Calif. 90038. For a personal reply, please enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Alexanders announce birth

Jim and Susan Alexander, Forsan, announce the birth of their second child, a daughter, Ashley, April 23 at Shannon Hospital, San Angelo. The infant arrived at 3:15 a.m. weighing 7 pounds 9 ounces and measuring 20 1/2 inches long.

Ashley's maternal grandparent is Emily Munn, Water Valley. Mr. and Mrs. Mack Alexander, Forsan, are her paternal grandparents.

Ashley will be welcomed home by her brother Bryan, 4.

Dr. Donohue
Patient needs directing

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: Frustrated! That's what I am about my lower-back pain. I have suffered from lower-back pain for about three years. About a year and a half ago I experienced numbness in my toes (primarily big toe) and went back to my orthopedic doctor and he sent me to a neurological surgeon. After a few questions and having me stand tiptoe, he told me there wasn't anything he could do for me and he couldn't understand why the orthopedic doctor sent me to him. He told me I had a compressed nerve, but he didn't tell me what I would like to know — what can be done for it? How long will this go on — the rest of my life? I am over 40 years old, 5 feet, 8 inches, and weight 133. — Mrs. L.H.S.

You need someone to direct traffic here. There has to be some misunderstanding between you and your doctors.

Let me see if I've got this right. "Something" is pressing on your nerve, causing low-back pain, and "nothing" can be done about it. That doesn't make a lot of sense. If it's a disc, for example, traction is often helpful. While you are in bed, you wear a harness that's attached to weights. That pulls your back a little and takes the pressure off the nerve. If that doesn't work the disc can be removed surgically.

Maybe the neurosurgeon didn't think an operation would benefit you. But that doesn't mean nothing can be done for you. Do this: Either call the neurosurgeon back, call the orthopedic surgeon back, or ask your family doctor to explain what is going on. He may be the traffic director you need.

I think this is a communication problem and there is no sense in continuing to have back pain because of that. Back problems of this kind are discussed in the booklet "Backache and Spine Problems." For a copy, write me care of the Big Spring Herald, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope and 50 cents to cover printing and handling.

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: It is of great concern to me to find out what ACTH is and what it is used for. Is it a kind of cortisone? What do the initials stand for? — M.K.

ACTH is a hormone made in the pituitary gland. The letters stand for Adreno Cortico Tropic (one word, really) Hormone. The pituitary is a small gland on the underside of the brain. ACTH gets to the adrenal gland by way of the blood and it tells that gland when to release its own hormones, chiefly cortisone.

ACTH has been used for various skin diseases, allergies, inflammatory diseases, and many others. It's not ACTH itself that causes the ultimate effects. It is the cortisone release triggered by the ACTH.

ACTH is also used when the pituitary gland has stopped making it. That replaces the messenger. But ACTH causes the adrenal gland to release other hormones besides cortisone (although in smaller amounts), so most illnesses are treated directly with cortisone itself or similar drugs, like prednisone.

Lavelle Hill to be honored

The Council of Garden Clubs of Big Spring will sponsor a ceremony honoring Lavelle Hill at 3 p.m. Thursday on the grounds of Dora Roberts Community Center at Comanche Trail Park.

Mrs. Hill, who is very ill and will not be able to attend, is staying with her sister in Oklahoma City, Okla. She is a past president of the Council of Garden Clubs and Planter's Garden Club. She is also a former vice president of Modern Woman's Forum and president-elect of Western District of Texas Federation of Woman's Clubs. She was an active member of First United Methodist Church, American Association of University Women and Retired Teachers' Association.

A tree will be planted in her honor during the ceremony, and a book will be provided in which everyone who wishes may write a message to Mrs. Hill to let her know she is loved and appreciated.

The Council invites Mrs. Hill's personal friends and all members of these organizations to attend the ceremony.

Bundle of joy costs a bundle

COLLEGE STATION — Today's baby is an $85,000 bundle, says Nancy Granovsky, a family resource management specialist.

Shocking as the figures sound, current estimates place the cost of raising children at about $85,000 from birth through four years of higher learning at a public university.

This is 33 percent higher than in 1977, when the figures were last updated.

In spite of all that, it's important to note that the overall costs of child-rearing haven't changed that much when viewed as a percentage or "chunk" of total family income.

Mrs. Granovsky is on the home economics staff of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

Families with higher after-tax incomes will have greater costs associated with child-rearing.

For example, southern families with an after-tax income of $22,500-$27,500 could expect costs to be $71,478 (farm), $75,027 (rural non-farm), and $74,568 (urban).

Add the costs of childbirth and a college education, and the overall total approaches $85,000.

Averaged over 18 years, the cost of child-rearing takes about 19 percent of a family's after-tax income — or about one-fifth of the total family "take home" money.

Of course, it will not cost the same for all families to rear a child.

In actual practice, families may spend more or less, depending on their own situations.

First child's birth announced

Mr. and Mrs. Gaylan C. Harding, Coahoma, announce the birth of their first child, a son, Gaylan Kristopher, April 22 at Malone-Hogan Hospital. The infant arrived at 8:32 p.m. weighing 7 pounds 11 1/2 ounces and measuring 21 inches long.

Gaylan's maternal grandparent is Mrs. Jeanette Brooks, Coahoma, and paternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. G.B. Harding, Coahoma. Great-grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. O.S. Sikes, Talpa.

BOB C. SMITH

For A FULL TIME
Justice of Peace
Precinct 1, Place 2

Bob C. Smith is a candidate for a full time Justice of the Peace, Precinct 1, Place 2, subject to the action of the Democratic primary May 1st.

Bob said, "I sincerely ask for the support of Howard County voters on May 1st, and I pledge to support and serve all the people of Howard County all the time."

Smith transferred managership of his business to his son, Chris, January 15th to devote full-time to his campaign and has worked every day since, with the exception of Sundays, door to door and business to business in an effort to reach everyone. "If I missed you, I apologize; however, I do need your help."

Bob has served four years in the United States Air Force, he worked as a Chaplain's Assistant, he also maintained the payroll for military and civilian personnel. "I believe this to be a valuable asset to the office of Justice of the Peace, due to the fact they handle approximately a quarter of a million dollars during one term in office." Other Military duties included administrative and file personnel supervisor.

Smith served as a police officer in Big Spring and Slaton. He was appointed Chief of Police in Stanton at the age of 25. He was selected from a group of 11 applicants. Smith served actively with the Police Chiefs Association.

Bob studied criminal and civil law with the Texas A&M System. He also attended Howard College, taking academic and Law enforcement courses.

Smith has been successful in private business for 18 years. He owns a foreign car dealership and a private investigation agency.

Smith said, "I have a deep concern for people, especially young people." Smith began his community leadership at the age of 17, as a Scout Master. He also served as Cub Scout Master, Coached with the YMCA, youth basketball, football, and baseball. He further served as board member and chapter advisor of the Demolay for boys.

Bob and wife, Peggy, live at 4048 Vicky, they have six children and one grandchild. They are active members of the First Baptist Church.

Smith is a member of the Local Chamber of Commerce, serving on the committees for Crime-Stoppers and Governmental Affairs. Smith is also a member of the American Business Club.

Bob was elected constable in 1976 and is still serving in that capacity.

Smith said, "I feel my education background, military service record and devotion to community leadership makes me the best candidate for the office of Justice of the Peace."

A vote for Bob C. Smith, May 1st will be a vote for Howard County.

Armstrong gets most newspaper endorsements

By The Associated Press
Texas newspapers endorsing candidates in the statewide races of the May 1 primary seem to like Democratic gubernatorial candidate Bob Armstrong, while Max Sherman gets the nod in the crowded attorney general's race.

Armstrong, currently state land commissioner, received endorsements from at least 13 daily newspapers, including the Dallas Times Herald, the Austin American-Statesman, the Corpus Christi Caller-Times, the El Paso Times, Temple Daily Telegram, San Angelo Standard-Times, Kerrville Times and Longview News-Journal.

"While the other two contenders (Attorney General Mark White and Railroad Commissioner Buddy Temple) have been slugging it out ... in personal attacks, Armstrong has been conducting a campaign of ideas and issues," the Caller-Times wrote.

Temple was the choice of the San Antonio Express-News, the Fort Worth Star-Telegram and Lufkin Daily News, among others.

"Buddy Temple has the record that merits your vote," said the Lufkin News, which is in Temple's back yard. "It is a plus that Temple is a native of Diboll, one of our own ..."

The Houston Chronicle and the Edinburg Daily Review were among those choosing White.

The Amarillo Globe-News did not endorse anyone in the governor's races, saying it was "terribly unenthusiastic" about the candidates in both parties.

Sherman, a former state senator from the Panhandle, was endorsed by most papers in that region and also in Temple, El Paso, Fort Worth, Bryan, San Angelo, Dallas, and Wichita Falls.

"In the four-man race for the Democratic nomination for state attorney general, our first choice is Max Sherman," said the Standard-Times.

John Hannah was selected by the Edinburg Daily Review, the Longview News, the Austin American-Statesman and Lufkin.

"John Hannah is running a poor man's race, and understandably so. Like a lot of us, a poor man is what he's always been," wrote the Lufkin newspaper.

U.S. Rep. Jim Mattox of Dallas was endorsed by the Caller-Times, the San Antonio Express News, and the San Antonio Light.

In the race for U.S. Senate, Democratic incumbent Lloyd Bentsen has won overwhelming editorial support, while U.S. Rep. Jim Collins of Dallas has been the preferred Republican.

State Sen. Pete Snelson of Midland was the San Angelo Standard-Times' first choice and Gary Mauro was the second choice for land commissioner. Snelson claimed at least 14 newspaper endorsements and Mauro, five.

In the state treasurer's race, incumbent Democrat Warren G. Harding got the nod from the Standard-Times, although it noted that "two indictments on minor offenses involving campaign practices have placed Harding in a dubious position." Harding was also the choice of the Fort Worth Star-Telegram.

Siamese twins die in Lubbock

LUBBOCK, Texas (AP) — Progressive shock led to the death of two Siamese twins who were joined at the abdomen and chest and shared several major organs, including a common heart, doctors said.

The two newborn girls, who died Monday, were born late Saturday night as part of a set of triplets. Their sister, who was born a minute after the twins, is doing well, doctors said.

Steinbrenner squeezes out Lemon

By WILL GRIMSLEY
AP Special Correspondent

If George Steinbrenner were a physician instead of a ballclub owner and a patient came to him with a cold, he probably would order the appendix out or amputation of a leg.

He acts impulsively, this high-strung, head-strong, often insensitive boss of the New York Yankees.

He admits he is demanding and intolerant of anything short of the ultimate. He must be No. 1. No. 2 won't do. The Avis slogan, "We try harder," is a repugnant motto to him. The name of the game is not to compete but win, win, win. The end justifies the means.

So a nice, old fellow named Bob Lemon becomes the latest casualty in this fierce drive to feed relentless ambition. After managing for only 14 games of a 162-game season, the grandfatherly Hall of Famer is crassly dumped as manager and succeeded by young Gene Michael.

Michael knows the feeling. Last September, he too was abruptly fired as were Bill Virdon, Billy Martin and Dick Howser before him. Lemon joins Martin as being twice burned. Under Steinbrenner, there have been eight managerial changes in 10 years.

The ouster of Lemon on such short notice is hard to understand under any circumstances. It is mind-boggling when thrown against the poignant scenario of the winter meetings in Hollywood, Fla., last December.

Although planning to give the job to Michael on a long term basis, Steinbrenner nevertheless rehired the 62-year-old Lemon, a loyal employee and respected pilot, for the 1982 season, Michael to come back and carry on the next three years.

The Yankee owner called some writers to his suite to explain his rationale, and it was so touching it hit you right here.

"I was going another direction," he explained, "but when Lem showed up — having lost 25 pounds and not having had a drink for months — and requested that he be allowed to manage one more year, how could I refuse him?"

"Every time I have called him to do a job, he never asked when, where or how much. I felt that, because of this loyalty, he should be given this chance."

Recalling Steinbrenner's record for snap managerial shakeups, reporters asked if such a move didn't put Lemon under the guillotine — once the Yankees sagged, out would go Lemon, in would come Michael.

"No," insisted Steinbrenner. "I gave him my word. Even if we're 20 games behind, Lem will stay as manager. I will only replace him if he requests it in the case of bad health."

Lemon was flushed with pride. "I've never had a chance to go a full season," he said. "George wants to see if I can go the route — me, too."

Now Steinbrenner is saying, in effect, he had his fingers crossed.

He didn't mean a word of it. Now it's down the drain for a man's dream.

But what of the Yankees? Will this sudden shift resuscitate "the greatest talent money can buy?" Don't bet on it.

These are not the proud, swashbuckling Yankees of old. It is a confused, disoriented lot, and has been from the start of spring training.

"I haven't had any fun all year," complained Goose Gossage, the relief ace. "It was the most depressing spring I've ever had."

Steinbrenner virtually mandated that players be at camp — a drudgery anyhow — two weeks in advance. Then he brought in Olympic coaches and installed exotic electronic equipment to be used in intensive batting and running exercises.

Players were treated not like pros but like a regiment of Marines or a flock of collegiate rookies. Steinbrenner's personal heroes have always been the late General George Patton and Vince Lombardi.

The club was jaded by the time it left Fort Lauderdale. The boss not satisfied, kept reaching out and buying fresh talent, overloading the roster and creating frictions.

"It's like somebody goes to a candy store and buys everything," said pitcher Tommy John.

Shortstop Bucky Dent found himself playing second fiddle to Roy Smalley and Larry Milbourne. Dave Collins, an $800,000-a-year first baseman, was spending more time on the bench than on the field.

"I don't know what's going on?" said Dent. "When you don't play, you lose your rhythm."

General confusion pervaded the clubhouse.

The lesson Steinbrenner hasn't learned is that money can't buy everything — loyalty, morale, pennants and success.

When success failed to come immediately, Steinbrenner panicked. People got hurt — mainly Lemon but Yankee tradition as well.

EFFECTIVE IMMEDIATELY — That was the release from the New York Yankees, Monday, at Yankee Stadium on the rehiring of Gene Michael as manager of the baseball club. Michael, 43, had been scheduled to return to the helm after the 1982 season but the dismissal of Bob Lemon made the arrival of Michael a little sooner than expected. Lemon will resume his duties as West Coast chief scout.

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Les Moss, filling in for Mel Wright as a Houston Astros coach, says all pitchers should be blessed with Nolan Ryan's problems.

"He was in the 90s all the way, even in the eighth and ninth innings," said Moss after viewing Ryan's fastballs during the right-hander's 6-2 conquest Monday night of the St. Louis Cardinals. "The mistakes he makes he corrects himself."

Ryan, who had been off to his worst major league start, notched his first triumph in five decisions with the backing of heavy Houston hitting.

In Monday's only other National League contest, the Pittsburgh Pirates handed the Atlanta Braves their fourth straight defeat by rallying to a 6-4 victory.

"Once we had the lead, I was able to challenge the hitters," said Ryan after finishing with a four-hitter in which he made 137 pitches. "I needed the work. You just have to be positive about it."

Against John Martin, 2-2, the Astros also only faintly resembled the club that dropped 11 of 15 contests since winning twice over St. Louis in a season-opening series.

Ex-Cards outfielder Tony Scott singled sharply in the first, with Ray Knight belting his second homer one out later. Two innings afterward, it became 4-0 after Knight doubled and Jose Cruz crashed his first homer.

Knight, the third baseman obtained by Houston in an off-season trade from Cincinnati, labeled a 14-hit attack assembled by the Astros overdue.

"We just have not been doing it," he said.

National League

We've played very poorly."

Ryan, after walking Lonnie Smith at the outset, concentrated on the flaws in his mechanics he identified as responsible for his slow start.

"I'm coming open with my stride too soon. I'm rushing it too much," he said in a critique of his form. "When you feel physically as good as I do, you know that it has to be mechanics or something else."

Ryan, who fanned five and walked two, yielded an unearned run when shortstop Dickie Thon booted Smith's smash for a two-base error and Tommy Herr tripped in the third for St. Louis' first hit.

The Astros hurler was working on a three-hitter until Smith singled to open the Cards' eighth. Smith stole second, moved to third on Herr's fly ball and scored on Keith Hernandez' grounder.

Atlanta lost its fourth straight home game following a 13-game winning streak to open the season. Bill Madlock's two-run homer in the eighth broke a 4-4 tie. The Pirates tied the game earlier in the inning when Dave Parker doubled and scored on Jason Thompson's single.

Madlock then unloaded against reliever Larry McWilliams.

Thompson and Mike Easler also homered as the Pirates.

TAKING FLIGHT — St. Louis Cardinals shortstop Ozzie Smith leaps high to avoid Houston Astros Phil Garner as he throws to first base to complete a double play during the 8th inning Monday night at St. Louis. Astros pitcher Nolan Ryan tapped to Tommy Herr who threw to second to force Garner. The leaping toss to first was in time for the double play. Houston won the game 6-2.

Hostage out of Derby

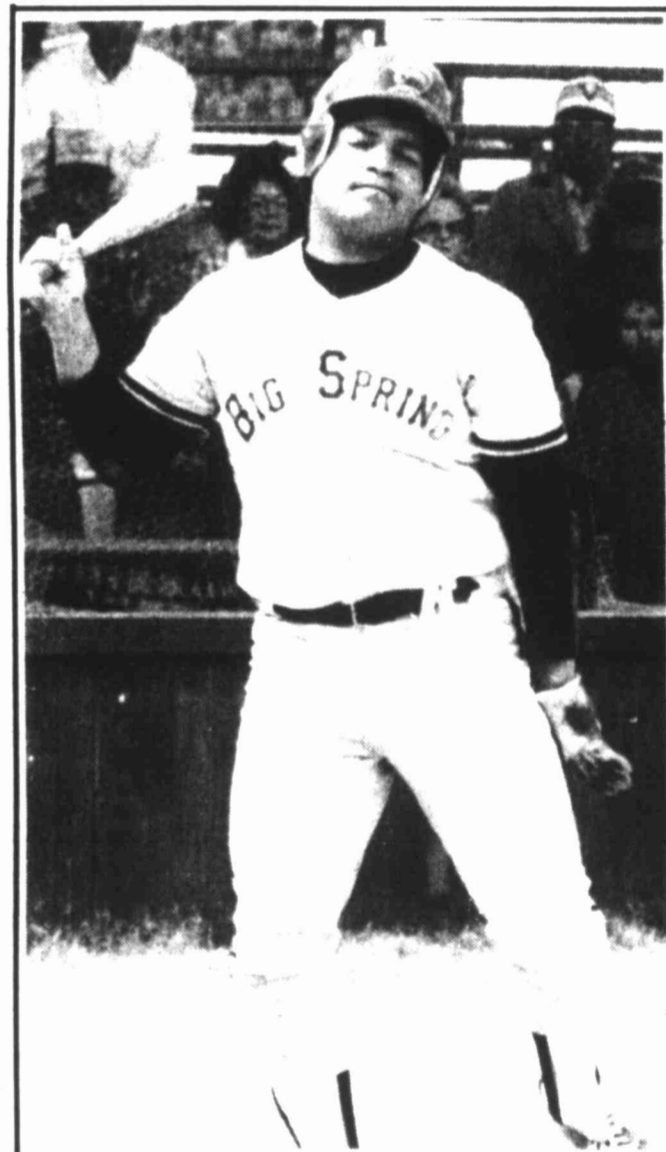

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Hostage is the latest victim on the road to Saturday's Kentucky Derby, a path that this year has proved rocky indeed.

Just six days after pre-Derby favorite Timely Writer was knocked out of the classic because of an abdominal problem and surgery, Hostage was injured during a workout Monday and retired.

As the Arkansas Derby winner, Hostage had been considered one of the top contenders for 108th Kentucky Derby which is expected to attract a wide-open field of 20 3-year-olds for the 11-4 mile race.

Trainer Mike Freeman said the colt suffered a fractured sesamoid and a chipped bone in his right front leg.

Jockey Chris McCarron flew in from the West Coast for the workout, scheduled at seven furlongs over a sloppy track.

At the Diamond

Big Spring is back home after a road win Saturday in Odessa, hosting the Midland Lee Rebels at 4 p.m. on the BSHS diamond.

Lee is 2-1 in the second half after a 12-4 drubbing at the bats of Cooper Saturday. At the same time, Big Spring was knocking off Permian 9-4 to go 3-0.

Craig Ray is the probable starter for Lee with Kerry Robertson and Bryan Willis other choices. Third baseman Chris Parker is the top Rebel hitter with Barry Blackwell also carrying a .300 plus average.

Right fielder James Walker continues to wield a hot bat in district, improving his average to .417 with two hits Saturday. For the second half alone, Walker is 8-for-13 or a .615 average.

Shortstop Blake Rosson continues to be his steady self with a solid .353 average while third baseman David Anguiano is coming on with a .321 average. The Steers have improved to .234 in batting.

Starting for Frank Ibarra's crew today is Moe Rubio who owns an overall record of 7-2 and district mark of 3-1. His last two outings are 1-0 and 10-0 shutouts of San Angelo and Midland. In 27 innings of league action, he has given up just two earned runs.

Steers enter the game 20-8 and riding a 10-game winning streak.

Bosox take pair

CHICAGO (AP) — Winning streaks — like most cats, dogs and horses — are color blind. But while animals are reluctant to change masters, winning streaks are not, exchanging their White Sox for Red Sox in the blink of an eye.

"It wasn't cold at all. It turned out to be a beautiful evening," Boston Manager Ralph Houk said Monday night after his Red Sox overcame 40-degree temperatures and brisk winds to sweep a doubleheader from the Chicago White Sox 3-2 and 5-0. It extended Boston's winning streak to seven games.

The Red Sox-White Sox doubleheader, both make-up games, were the only American League contests played Monday night.

"When we went 8-0 (the first eight games of the season) I was not overly concerned. Now we've lost four straight and I'm not overly concerned either," said Chicago Manager Tony LaRussa. "This is April."

The Red Sox return home for an eight-game stand, hoping to surpass the nine-game winning streak Boston rolled up in September 1980. "Maybe we should stay on the road."

Chuck Rainey, who posted his last victory on June 27, 1980, scattered just five hits and struck out five in the nightcap to gain the shutout.

Final round cancelled

Hoch wins New Orleans

By BOB GREEN
AP Golf Writer

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — It bothered Scott Hoch not at all that the weather-plagued, USF&G-New Orleans Open golf tournament limped to a close a day late and $100,000 short.

"I never knew I liked rain so much," Hoch said after he'd nursed home a two-stroke victory Monday in the event that lost two days to rain and floods, had various delays and interruptions and finally was cut from the scheduled 72 holes to 54. With the tournament trimmed from four rounds to three, the purse also was reduced, from the announced $400,000 to $300,000.

"I'd like to think I could have won at 72 (holes)," Hoch said, "but I'm glad it ended when it did. I'm no masochist. I don't want to have to go out there and prove myself again over another 18 holes."

Tom Watson wasn't quite so sure. Watson, who fired a 5-under-par 67 in a bid that fell a little short, said he wished "he had another round."

"It is disappointing in a way. But I didn't play very well over the first couple of rounds and the other guys played better. I thought I'd have to shoot a 65 to have a chance and I came up a couple of shots short of my mark."

Hoch won it, the second victory of his three-year PGA Tour career, with a closing 70 and a 206 total, 10 shots under par on the twice-flooded Lakewood Country Club course.

The triumph, secured when Australian Bob Shearer 3-putted the 17th hole and dropped two back with one hole to go, was worth $64,000 to Hoch.

Patriots select Sims, Raiders go with Allen

NEW YORK (AP) — The only doubts Ken Sims had about his professional football career was how his mother would feel about it back in Groesbeck, Texas.

"I'm glad to get this over with. Now I can go home and say to Mom, 'I'm a Patriot,'" Sims, the 6-foot-6 defensive tackle from Texas, said after being the first selection in the National Football League's 1982 college draft today.

And there no doubt in his mind, nor in anyone else's, that the two-time All-American would be the nation's No. 1 pick among the best college players.

The Houston Oilers selected Penn St. guard Mike Munchak in the first round. See story on page 2B.

"I'd say it was definite about three weeks ago," said Sims. "The Patriots got me to Boston for a physical, so that pretty much decided it."

However, the world wasn't nearly as bright for Sims last Nov. 14, when he suffered a broken fibula and sprained ligaments in his right ankle in a game against Texas Christian, ending his college career.

The Oakland Raiders selected running back Marcus Allen, the Heisman Trophy winner from Southern Cal.

Allen, a 205-pounder and the latest in a long line of outstanding USC tailbacks, shattered the single-season NCAA rushing record last fall, gaining an amazing 2,342 yards and averaging 212.0 per game. He started out with five consecutive 200-yard games, an NCAA mark, and gained more than 200 eight times in 11 contests.

KENNETH SIMS ...goes first as expected

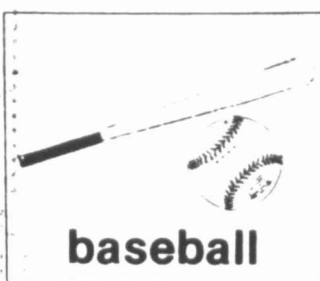

Kansas City then picked Anthony Hancock, a speedy wide receiver from Tennessee. The Pittsburgh Steelers quickly followed by grabbing running back Walter Abercrombie of Baylor.

New Orleans took Lindsay Scott, a wide receiver from Georgia.

The Detroit Lions took Jimmy Williams, a defensive-end outside linebacker from Nebraska.

The Atlanta Falcons took fullback Gerald Riggs of Arizona State.

Your Daily HOROSCOPE

from the CARROLL RIGHTEER INSTITUTE

FORECAST FOR WEDNESDAY, APR. 28, 1982

GENERAL TENDENCIES: The daytime is not good for being blunt or outspoken, so try to use tact and diplomacy with others. Not good for starting new ventures or making any changes.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Although you may want to make new contacts and see new places, this is not the right day to do so. Use reason.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Don't try to renege where any promises you have made are concerned or you would later regret it. Maintain poise.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Do your utmost to be of assistance to your associates, even if it means giving up personal activities. Be wise.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) You can get much accomplished by attending to duties early in the day and reap in the benefits.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Show individuals you like that you are devoted to them, but don't permit some conniving person to impose on your good nature.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Use good sense and you can have more accord at home with family members. Find an outlet that brings in added income.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Use care in motion and in conversations today and save yourself much trouble that might otherwise ensue. Be alert.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Make plans to save more money and build a reserve for a possible rainy day. Take time to improve your appearance.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Take extra care you don't make any costly errors through carelessness today. Plan wisely for the future.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) There could be delays in handling regular routines early in the day, but be patient, conditions will improve later.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Avoid any arguments with good friends today and you save yourself from potential trouble. Strive for happiness.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Use tact in dealing with others today, especially at home with family members. Safeguard your reputation.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... He or she will be one of those delightful young persons who should be taught early in life not to be blunt with others and to think in a more kindly fashion. When lessons are learned this will be a successful chart.

"The Stars impel, they do not compel." What you make of your life is largely up to you!

Sports Shorts Local baseball opens

A pair of color contests opened the 1982 season in National Little League.

Anderson Music stopped the Big Spring Herald Rangers 5-4 Monday night as Bryon McElreath and Matt Garrett combined for a two-hitter.

Garrett aided his pitching efforts with three hits including two triples. During his three-inning stint on the mound, he struck out eight batters.

The Rangers dropped to 0-2 with the loss. Dibrell's Sporting Goods topped the Rangers 5-3 in the league's opener Saturday.

Timmy Gutierrez and Wade Salvalo teamed for the victory for the Yankees although the Rangers collected nine hits.

Lee Morris cranked a three-run homer for the Yankees who topped a team that went undefeated last year. Morris' blasts came in the fourth inning after Auade Weaver singled and Todd Hornes walked to put men on.

It was slugfest time at the diamond as the Falcons held off the Harris Lumber Tigers 15-14.

Stanley Johnson blasted a solo home run for the Tigers in the third inning as Harris rallied from a 10-4 deficit to take an 11-10 lead in the fourth. The Falcons regained the lead 15-11 but had to hold off the Tigers in the sixth.

Chris Ruiz, the winning pitcher, hit a triple at the plate and fanned six from the mound.

Other Games The J&K Shoes Hawks tipped the Coca-Cola Colts 12-5 in another Big Spring Little League.

Robert Guzman went the distance for the Hawks who got triples from David Kilgore and Burr Settles. Joe Puredex had two hits as did Stephen Gonzales and Leslie Robinson.

Troy Nelson led the Colts with two singles.

Coahoma sets sports fete The Coahoma High School Athletic Banquet is scheduled at 6:30 p.m. Monday in the school gymnasium.

Tickets are available at the school with parents and local sports boosters invited. Boys and girls involved in all sports during the year at CHS will be honored.

Interest rates on saving certificates fall

By The Associated Press
Interest rates on six-month savings certificates sold by commercial banks and savings institutions falls today to 13.015 percent, a drop that coincides with broad declines in many other kinds of interest rates.

The new rate paid on the certificates, sold in minimum denominations of $10,000, was determined at the government's Monday auction of Treasury bills. It was the second straight drop and compared with the previous week's 13.165 percent.

The lower rate means savers will earn less on the certificates while the banks and savings institutions get some relief from the high cost of attracting and retaining depositors.

Financial institutions generally lower their lending rates when their cost of acquiring funds declines.

The government's auction of Treasury bills also set a new rate for 2 1/2-year savings certificates. Savings institutions may pay as much as 14.1 percent starting today and commercial banks are allowed to pay 13.85 percent.

Those slight declines are considered helpful for the economy. But much larger drops are needed before the economy can begin recovering from recession, many economists believe.

The latest corporate earnings reports show 1982's first quarter was devastating to many companies.

American Motors Corp.

reported a $51 million loss for the first quarter and General Motors Corp. said its first-quarter profit tumbled 33 percent from a year earlier. For AMC, the quarter was the eighth in a row in which it lost money.

Two major airlines reported net losses for the first quarter. Western Airlines, with a $10.8 million loss, and Northwest Airlines, which lost $17.9 million, both cited the effects of the recession and fare wars.

The oil industry also has taken a beating.

Getty Oil Co. said its profit fell 29 percent. While most big oil companies are showing similar declines for the first quarter, some are reporting improvement.

Atlantic Richfield Co., which was helped by higher production at its Alaska North Slope oil fields, said profits rose 5 percent. Union Oil Co. of California reported a 9 percent increase.

In other economic developments Monday:

• President Reagan told the U.S. Chamber of Commerce he would be "willing to look at additional revenue sources" in the search for a budget compromise, but not if they mean retreating from the income tax cuts already scheduled for this summer and next.

Committee hears charges of IRS abuse

WASHINGTON (AP) — As Stuart Greenfield of Miami tells it, he and his family were setting out for a Memorial Day weekend on the water when armed Internal Revenue Service agents stormed his boat and held the Greenfields captive for six hours.

Ten years later, in a quiet Amish community in Oakland, Md., an IRS-led force of 29 men, armed with shotguns and semiautomatic rifles, seized the home and cabinet shop of Dwight Snyder. Since then, says Snyder, his wife has spent time in a mental hospital and his 5-year-old daughter has had trouble sleeping.

In each case, outlined Monday before a House Ways and Means subcommittee, the IRS was intent on seizing property to satisfy unpaid taxes. And in each case, the IRS offered a different story than was told by the taxpayer.

IRS Commissioner Roscoe L. Egger Jr. and other officials of the tax-collection agency said their use of a big, heavily armed force in Snyder's case was justified by past implied threats and by the menacing actions of Snyder's neighbors during earlier IRS visits to the home.

As for the story told by Greenfield, Egger said, "There is no real indication the abuses he referred to took place." He promised to give the subcommittee, headed by Rep. Charles Rangel, D-N.Y., a full written report on the Greenfield case. Egger said IRS seized Greenfield's property only after obtaining evidence he planned to leave the country.

The stories were two of several that were outlined as the subcommittee investigated complaints of abuse of IRS authority. Reps. Don Young, R-Alaska, and George Hansen, R-Idaho, who for some time have been compiling citizen complaints against the tax-collection agency, contended such abuses have become commonplace.

Hansen, citing allegations of jury manipulation and illegal eavesdropping by IRS agents, said abuses are so widespread "they seem to be not only condoned but sanctioned by IRS officials."

But the IRS record was defended by the General Accounting Office, the auditing arm of Congress.

Levelland woman dies in car crash

LEBANON, Okla. (AP) — A Texas woman was killed and her husband was critically injured in a two-car collision at a rural intersection at this Marshall County town, the Oklahoma Highway Patrol said.

Gracie H. Matthews, 72, of Levelland, Texas, was pronounced dead on arrival at Marshall Memorial Hospital in Madill following the 4:30 p.m. Monday accident, investigators said.

Her husband, Clarence Matthews, 73, was transferred in critical condition to University Hospital in Oklahoma City, the patrol said.

Investigators said a pickup truck driven by Matthews was making a left turn off of Oklahoma 32 onto the county road and collided with another pickup truck.

A passenger in the other vehicle was hospitalized in serious condition, the patrol said.

QUALITY AUTO WORK OFFERED
...at Morris Robertson's

Morris Robertson, sons want to serve public

With our fast-driving lifestyles, it's all too easy to put a nice big dent in your car or truck. If that has happened to you, or if you think you need a new paint job on that not-so-new automobile, Morris Robertson is the person you need to see.

MORRIS ROBERTSON Body Shop has the experienced people to do the job you need. They're a family business and have been in Big Spring since 1946.

Morris and his sons take a great deal of pride in the professional work they do. The residents of Big Spring and the surrounding area know they can trust the Robertsons. They are not out to take the public, they are in the business to please the public. And they please the public by turning out the best work at the most reasonable prices. They are very open and honest with the way they deal with customers, and have no desire to make a little extra money by taking advantage of someone in need.

Morris Robertson Body Shop offers complete body work facilities. They can do radiator work, body work and can mend the broken glass and straighten the frame on your car. Morris Robertson and sons open their doors at 7:30 every Monday through Friday morning and close the doors at 5:30 p.m.

THE MOST CAUTIOUS of drivers can make a big mess of his or her car. If you find yourself looking for quality body work, and want a business that takes pride in their work, look no further than Morris Robertson's Body Shop, located at 207 Goliad. They are here to stay, and they are here to please.
