Cable firm unaware of petition

By CLIFF COAN
Staff Writer

Big Spring radio station KBST has reportedly collected 30 pages of signatures protesting a decision by Big Spring Cable TV to drop programming from WFAA in favor of similar programming from KWAB.

However, Big Spring Cable manager Jim Lancaster said Monday morning that the petition wouldn't cause him to reinstate WFAA programming.

The petition, said KBST employee Karen Boyett, contains 30 pages of typing paper with two columns of names on each page.

The wording of the petition asks that Big Spring residents continue to receive WFAA, and voices interest in news and other non-duplicated programming.

"I don't know anything about a petition," said Lancaster. But, he said, regardless of the number of signatures on such a petition, he would not be able to reinstate WFAA programming. "I'd be in jeopardy of being fined by the FCC," he said.

The petitioners apparently recognize Lancaster's position, as the petition is destined for the FCC headquarters sometime this week.

"We'll send it at the end of this week if they (signers) keep coming in," said Boyett. "If they don't, we'll send it in the middle of the week." She added that signers had been frequent visitors to the station, located at 608 Johnson.

Lancaster announced last week that he was dropping WFAA programming from the Big Spring area because of an FCC ruling prompted by KWAB which asked that it be the sole ABC affiliate in Big Spring.

Later, it was learned that Big Spring Cable TV could continue to show WFAA programming, but if WFAA and KWAB were showing the same thing at the same time, KWAB's signal would have to be broadcast over both cable stations.

Meanwhile, a cost increase from the company providing Big Spring Cable TV with WFAA programming is imminent, and Lancaster said he wasn't sure Big Spring viewers would want to pay more to keep WFAA on the air — particularly when KWAB has to provide the signal for both stations, as would be the case for ABC network programs.

USA network programming began in place of WFAA on Saturday.

BEHIND BARS — Crazy Ray of Dallas and Sister Lucy of Immaculate Heart of Mary School could both be found behind bars at the school's Spring Festival Saturday. The jail was a game booth in which it cost money to jail the prisoners, who had to stay there until someone paid the same amount to get them out. This was just one of many booths which helped raise several thousand dollars for the school during the festival.

KING AND QUEEN ... AND OTHER WINNERS — Melissa Bailon and Christopher McClure were crowned queen and king of the Immaculate Heart of Mary School Spring Festival. Miss Bailon is the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Blaz Bailon, 4103 Dixon. Christopher is the son of Marie McClure of 1805 Mittel and Robert McClure of Big Spring. Other festival winners include Johnny Valles who won the 1982 Mazda GLC car and Eloise Mendez who won $100 of gasoline. A bicycle won by Johnny Flores Sr. was returned for auction as was a wet bar by Magdalene Carrea.

Howard ranks 15th in oil production

By BILL ELDER
Staff Writer

Howard County ranked 15th among Texas counties in terms of crude oil production last year, according to recently released figures from the Dallas-based Texas Mid-Continent Oil & Gas Association.

Gaines, Yoakum, Pecos, Ector and Gregg counties were the top five oil-producing counties in Texas, each producing in excess of 42 million barrels during 1981, the association said.

Howard County wells produced 13,759,527 barrels last year — a drop of about a million barrels from 1980, according to the association. Even so, Howard found itself one of the 21 counties producing more than 10 million barrels last year.

Gaines, the leader, produced 53,259,427 barrels, the association said.

Statewide, a "maximum efficient" drilling push created a total 1981 output of nearly 929 million barrels, the association said. Using figures from the Texas Railroad Commission, the association reported that nearly 25,000 new holes were drilled in the Lone Star state last year, an 18.1 percent increase over 1980. Oil completions stood at 15,627, up 21.2 percent over 1980.

No value on the oil was released, but in 1980, the crude oil produced in Howard County was worth $317.5 million, according to the association's 1980 report.

The drilling production figures from last year pushed the county's all-time production amount to 582 million barrels. Oil is said to have been first discovered in Howard County in 1925.

Gregg County is the all-time leader in cumulative production of crude oil, having produced 2.7 billion barrels since 1931.

Ector County is second on the cumulative list, having produced 2.3 billion barrels. Andrews is third with a little over 2 billion barrels, while Scurry County is fifth at 1.6 billion.

Sen. Short loses to John Montford

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Democrats Roy Blake of Nacogdoches and John Montford of Lubbock won Senate primary elections even though it seemed that every time they turned around they saw — or heard — their opponents.

"The last two days of the campaign I couldn't get a radio spot. My opponent had them all," said Blake. "I thought I was going down the tube."

Nevertheless, Blake, the 54-year-old owner of an insurance agency, was among 22 Senate incumbents seeking re-election who won party nominations Saturday. Fourteen had no opposition.

The only incumbent to lose was E.L. Short, D-Tahoka, who fell in a "squeaker" to Montford, criminal district attorney for Lubbock County. Unofficial reports had Montford with 24,138 votes and Short with 23,396.

Montford, 38, said Short was a "tough campaigner. Every place I walked into, he had already been there giving out pencils."

Montford's Republican opponent in November will be Jim Reese, who gained political experience as mayor of Odessa and in losing congressional races in 1976 and 1978. Reese 'on a three-way race for the GOP nomination.

Sen. J.E. "Buster" Brown, R-Lake Jackson, won perhaps the most bitter race, swamping Rep. Bill Blythe of British open up sea battle

By The Associated Press

British missile-firing helicopters sank one Argentine patrol boat and damaged another in a clash inside the war zone Britain imposed around the Falkland Islands, the British Defense Ministry announced today.

The reported sinking came a few hours after a British submarine damaged Argentina's only cruiser in a torpedo attack outside the war zone.

The ministry also announced it was requisitioning the luxury liner Queen Elizabeth 2, two more cargo ferries and a container ship to take 3,000 troops, helicopters and other war equipment to the Falklands, bolstering the 60-plus ship British armada already lurking off the islands.

The additional ships, which must make an 8,000-mile, three-week voyage to reach the Falklands, were further indications Britain was preparing for a long siege to wrest back the islands Argentina seized April 2.

A ministry communique said "two armed Argentine patrol craft-type naval auxiliaries," initiated the latest shootout around midnight Sunday in the Falklands (11 p.m. EDT) when they "fired on a Royal Navy Sea King (helicopter) from HMS Hermes," the carrier-flagship of the British fleet.

"Two Royal Navy Lynx helicopters from ships of the task force then engaged the ships with missiles. One of the ships was sunk and the other certainly damaged," the communique said. Ministry officials said they did not know the names or size of the patrol boats, or whether they were among the nine patrol boats belonging to the Argentine navy. British news reports said the vessels were small patrol craft with a crew of about 15.

The British communique said the shootout took place north of East Falkland island and 90 miles inside the blockade area.

The helicopters dropped "life-saving" equipment to the boats, and there was "no damage" to the attacking helicopters, it added.

In Buenos Aires, Argentine military sources said they had no knowledge of the reported attack.

But in a statement early today, Argentina cried foul over the torpedoing of its cruiser 50 miles outside the war zone.

"It should be emphasized that the attack took place to the southeast of Isla de los Estados and outside the so-called "zone of exclusion," the Argentine joint chiefs of staff said in a communique.

The Argentines also announced rejection of a new peace proposal announced Sunday by Peru's President Fernando Belaunde Terry. Buenos Aires claimed the plan was suggested by U.S. Secretary of State Alexander M. Haig Jr., and like several previous Haig proposals was not acceptable.

Britain admitted the submarine attack Sunday on the cruiser General Belgrano, the former U.S. light cruiser Phoenix, occurred "just outside the edge" of the 200-mile "total exclusion" zone. But it claimed the 44-year-old cruiser, Argentina's second largest ship, "posed a significant threat" to the British fleet in the area.

The British Defense Ministry said the submarine, reportedly one of three nuclear-powered hunter-killers in the area, "severely damaged" the 13,645-ton cruiser with a number of torpedoes.

When fully manned, the General Belgrano has a crew of 1,000, but there was no word of casualties. The British communique said the submarine "resumed her patrol" after the attack.

Argentina said the General Belgrano was hit by one torpedo "that produced damage," and that Argentine ships "have been dispatched to the area to aid the cruiser should it become necessary."

Britain denied any of its planes were lost and said two ships suffered superficial damage.

Uncontested candidates have easy time

Riot police attack Polish demonstrators

WARSAW, Poland (AP) — Hundreds of riot police swinging batons moved in on a crowd of thousands of Solidarity union supporters rallying in Warsaw today, witnesses said. They said security forces opened up a water cannon and fired tear gas in an attempt to break up the demonstration, the second mass challenge to martial law in three days.

Witnesses said there were injuries and ambulances were rushed to the scene, at Warsaw's Castle Square. There was no immediate word on whether there was gunfire.

According to the witnesses' accounts, police had at least twice shouted orders for the crowd to disperse but were met by shouts of "Gestapo! Gestapo!"

They said despite police orders to disperse within 10 minutes, people continued to fill the square, unfurling Solidarity banners and singing the Polish national anthem. The crowd surrounded about 400 riot policemen. A police commander then yelled "Fire!" and police sent tear gas grenades flying in both directions.

Thousands of people panicked and began running from the scene as heavy clouds of the acrid gas filled the street, the witnesses said.

On Saturday, an estimated 50,000 Poles held a counter-march to the Communist Party May Day observances and there were also counter-demonstrations in Gdansk, headquarters of the suspended union. But police apparently made no effort to disrupt them.

Authorities had warned Poles not to heed the union call for today's rally, a counter assembly to official observances of the 191st anniversary of the Polish constitution.

Death sentences upheld

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court today left intact the death sentences of two Texas men convicted of killing law enforcement officers.

The justices turned down appeals filed for Henry Martinez Porter and Charles William Bass that raised varying legal arguments.

Porter was sentenced to die for the Nov. 29, 1975 shooting death of Fort Worth policeman Henry Mailloux.

Bass was convicted of the Aug. 16, 1979 killing in Houston of city marshal Charles Baker.

Baker was a municipal court employee empowered to serve misdemeanor warrants. He had stopped Bass for questioning in connection with a warrant.

Chagra bond ruling due

SAN ANTONIO, Texas (AP) — A federal judge was asked to decide today whether news reporters had a right to be present at the bond hearing for Joseph Chagra, a defendant in the assassination of U.S. District Judge John H. Wood Jr.

Chagra is accused of conspiracy in the May 1979 killing, which took place outside Wood's San Antonio townhome.

Today's evidentiary hearing was sought by attorneys for the San Antonio Express, the San Antonio News, the San Antonio Light and the Fort Worth Star-Telegram after U.S. Magistrate Robert O'Connor closed a portion of Chagra's bond reduction hearing last week.

The news organizations invoked the Gannett decision, which requires parties in a legal action to prove the necessity for closing court proceedings from public view.

O'Connor later ruled that the evidence could, in fact, be presented in open court but deferred a final decision to U.S. District Judge William Sessions.

Charles Roberts, representing Chagra, told Sessions he would introduce videotapes of three years' worth of local newscasts concerning the judge's death.

Chagra, 35, has been jailed since April 15 in lieu of $1.6 million in bonds on grand jury charges of conspiracy to murder Wood, conspiracy to obstruct justice, conspiracy to evade income taxes, conspiracy with intent to distribute 1,000 pounds of marijuana and conspiracy with intent to distribute two ounces of cocaine.

Also indicted in the case were Chagra's older brother Jimmy Chagra, 37, Jimmy Chagra's wife Elizabeth, 28; convicted hitman Charles V. Harrelson, 43, and Harrelson's wife, Jo Ann, 41.

Missing Odessa's car found in Big Spring

The search continues for an Odessa man whose vehicle was found in Big Spring Friday.

Harry Howry has been reported missing since April 25 when he failed to return home after eating Sunday dinner at his mother's house.

Captain Sherrill Farmer of the Big Spring Police Department said the investigation into the vehicle and the missing Odessa was continuing, but no new information had been discovered.

Fingerprints and traces of blood were found on the vehicle, but no crime has been established, Farmer said. The vehicle remains in police custody. Capt. Farmer said he had been in contact with the Odessa police.

Lieutenant Rusty Baker of the Odessa Police Department affirmed that no new information had been found concerning Howry. "We wished we could find him, but he is still missing," Baker said. The lieutenant said the department had received the information about Howry's disappearance on Monday April 26.

PERFECTLY LEGAL — Bob C. Smith, candidate for justice of the peace, Precinct 1, Place 2, came as close as the law allowed during his campaigning Saturday. The law states that no electioneering shall take place within 100 feet of polling places. The sign at the right of this picture warns candidates not to campaign beyond that point near the Precinct 16 polling places at the Wasson Road Fire Station. But a car decorated with signs on both sides supporting Smith was parked as legally close to the polls as it could be.

Mailboxes have hard weekend

Mailboxes did not fare very well Saturday night as three incidents involving the destruction of boxes was reported to police.

Loy Acuff of 705 Highland told police someone had jumped the curb with a vehicle and did $40 damage to his mailbox in his front yard sometime Saturday night. In the Glenwick Cove area, Raj Patel and C.A. Nichols also had their mailboxes damaged by a vehicle running over them. Police had received a call of the activity and discovered the damage upon investigation in the area. The incident occurred at 11:43 p.m.

Delores Cannon of October Cove complained to police that someone flattened all four tires on her vehicle with a sharp object sometime between Saturday night and Sunday morning. She set the value of the tires at $400.

A burglary at Gibson Discount Store was reported to police Sunday. Police say entry was gained into the store via an air conditioner vent in the roof of the building. Two shotguns were taken and further inventory is being made to see if other weapons were missing, according to store employees.

An employee of the 7-11 on 1801 Gregg reported to police that a female in her twenties had slammed the door of the store, shattering the glass window. The incident took place at 7:30 a.m. Sunday following the clerk's refusal to cash a two-party check from the person.

Police arrested Bryson Armstead, 35, Sunday and charged him with possession of a controlled substance and unauthorized use of a motor vehicle. Armstead was found in possession of syringes in some clothes in the trunk of the car, which had been reported stolen. He remains in city jail.

Judith Richardson of 3709 Connally complained to police a van she had allowed a person she knew to use had not been returned. She told police he was to have returned it at 10:30 p.m. Saturday but had not done so by noon Sunday.

Rick Dyer of 602 West 16th told police he was robbed at gunpoint at 2:10 a.m. Sunday. Dyer said a person put a small caliber pistol in his side and asked for all his money. Dyer said he managed to get away after turning over approximately $111. He told police he was fired upon at least three times.

Tori Tilley of 405 Johnson complained to police someone entered her vehicle while it was parked at the Other Place and left in it without permission.

Vehicles driven by Emilo Delapena, 30, of Garden City and an unknown person were in collision at the intersection of East 4th and Owens at 10:55 p.m. Saturday. According to police reports, the driver of the second vehicle — who fled the wreck on foot — ran a red light at a high rate of speed, striking the Delapena car and spinning the vehicle around.

Delapena and an 18-year-old passenger, Marylou Delapena, were reportedly taken to Malone-Hogan Hospital by private vehicle although the hospital shows no record of treatment for them.

A second major accident Saturday at 9:32 p.m. involved vehicles driven by Ascension Yanez, 1009 West 8th, and Hugo Quernheim of Gail Route. The collision took place at the intersection of Birdwell and East 3rd. Quernheim was ticketed for failure to control speed and no insurance. Two passengers in Quernheim's vehicle, Brenda Kay Quernheim, 26, and Michael Thompson, 6, were taken to Malone-Hogan Hospital by Shaffer Ambulance where they were treated and released.

A third major accident Saturday involved vehicles driven by Almet W. Stamper of Gail Route and Rodell Blacknall of Houston. Stamper was treated at Malone-Hogan Hospital for injuries and released. The accident took place on U.S. 87, according to police reports.

Vehicles driven by Gregory Schmitt, 1508 Scurry, and Wilfred Houdeshell, who gave his address as the Palmer House, were in collision Saturday at 8:57 p.m. at the intersection of south Main and East 3rd. Houdeshell was arrested for driving while intoxicated.

Houston in a Republican primary that included the filing of two $100,000 libel suits.

Brown sued Blythe for libel Thursday, contending Blythe ads and brochures contained lies about Brown's use of campaign contributions. Blythe responded Friday with a libel suit, alleging that Brown had run radio ads falsely claiming that a committee of liberal Democrats was supporting Blythe.

Brown said Sunday he filed his suit "to discourage" personal attacks in political campaigns.

In another Houston primary, Republican Marshall Martin, who was unopposed, was declared the winner although he does not live in the district.

Martin, former aide to the late Arkansas Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller, said he filed for office after looking at a county-drawn map which erroneously showed his home to be located in the district.

Martin said Sunday he has asked a three-judge federal panel in Dallas to clarify residency requirements. "I'm pretty confident I'll come out on top, but somebody will try to stop this thing before November," he said.

The winner in the most expensive Harris County legislative race, with spending expected to top $500,000, was Democratic Rep. John Whitmire, who defeated lawyer Richard Cross. Late campaign reports showed Cross ousted Whitmire 4-to-1 in the Senate race.

Three June 5 primary runoff elections were set up when a candidate failed to get 50 percent or more of the vote.

The runoff match Rees. Bill Clark of Tyler and Ted Lyon of Mesquite; Rees. Don Henderson and Frank Hartung of Houston; and Hugh Farmer and Jim Lane of Fort Worth. Farmer is former mayor of Fort Worth, and Lane lost a 1978 state Senate race to Sen. Bill Meier, R-Eules.

California man dies in crash near C-City

COLORADO CITY (SC) — A 61-year-old California man was pronounced dead at 9:25 a.m. Sunday following a one car turnover west of Colorado City.

The victim has been identified as Adrian H. Zaporta, a passenger in a car driven by Mario R. Ruiz, 25, of San Diego.

A third man in the car 55-year-old Orlando Zaporta of San Diego, suffered arm and leg injuries. Ruiz sustained head and internal injuries.

Peace Justice Ruby Claxton pronounced Zaporta dead at the scene of the accident.

According to DPS officer James Burson, who investigated the crash, Ruiz was eastbound going to Texas when he drove off the shoulder of Interstate 20.

Burson said Ruiz then tried to return to the highway, but lost control of the vehicle and slid into the westbound lane and overturned the vehicle. Burson said the car flipped over 5 and one-half times.

The two passengers in the car were taken to Root Memorial Hospital. Zaporta's body was taken to Kiker-Seale Funeral Home.

Oil executive slain

EASTLAND, Texas (AP) — The widow of an Arlington oil executive found shot to death beside his car said she may be able to give police a lead in finding her husband's assailant.

The body of Frederick Carl Mergner II, the 51-year-old chairman of Command Energy Corp. in Fort Worth, was found along a rural road about 11:45 a.m. Friday.

Mergner's wife, Joyce, said he had gone to the site to meet his 23-year-old son and inspect some oil wells.

White to face Buddy Temple in runoff

By CHARLES C. HILL
Associated Press Writer

Attorney General Mark White and Railroad Commissioner Buddy Temple are starting another five weeks of campaigning for the right to lead the Democratic battle to wrest the Texas governorship back from the Republicans.

Gov. Bill Clements, the state's first Republican governor since Reconstruction, easily crushed taken opposition to win renomination to a second term Saturday in the GOP primary.

White pulled well away from Temple and the rest of the six-man field in the Democratic gubernatorial primary, but fell short of the majority he needed to win the nomination without a runoff June 5.

Clements says he doesn't care who wins the Democratic nomination. "I don't have any druthers about it," Clements said, adding that he expects Democrats to be hungry for a gubernatorial victory regardless of who leads the way.

"We've made them (the Democrats) mad. This is the first time in 100 years that we've been sitting in the governor's chair. They don't like it," said the 65-year-old oilman, whose win in 1978 was in his first political race.

White, who has squabbled with Clements repeatedly over lawsuits involving redistricting and prison conditions, and Temple, a former state legislator who is heir to a publishing and timber fortune, each met with advisers Sunday to plot strategy for the runoff.

White predicts he will get enough votes from supporters of third-place finisher Bob Armstrong to defeat Temple in the runoff. Armstrong, a state land commissioner, says he isn't throwing his support to either Democrat in the runoff but will "support whoever wins and do so enthusiastically."

REQUISITIONED FOR TASK FORCE — The British Defense Ministry announced today it is taking over the world's most famous luxury liner, The Queen Elizabeth 2, to ferry 5 Infantry Brigade to the Falklands Task Force. She is seen here passing under the Commodore Barry Bridge on the Delaware River south of Philadelphia Wednesday as it sailed to Southampton, England.

Queen Elizabeth II will go to war

LONDON (AP) — The British Defense Ministry announced today it is taking over the world's most famous luxury liner, the Queen Elizabeth II, to ferry an infantry brigade to its Falklands war fleet.

recapture the Falkland Islands from Argentina. The 66,852-ton cruise liner is due in its home port of Southampton this week, the Defense Ministry said. It left Philadelphia on Wednesday.

"We greatly regret the inconvenience caused passengers by the QE2... is uniquely suited to carry substantial numbers of troops" and land them fit for duty, said ministry spokesman Ian McDonald.

Collins expects expensive campaign

By LAURA RICHARDSON
Associated Press Writer

Republican U.S. Senate nominee Jim Collins says he's going to re-group and start raising money for the multi-million-dollar battle against incumbent Lloyd Bentsen.

As returns trickled in Sunday, it at one time appeared that a surprisingly strong third place showing by Houstonian Don Richardson would force a run-off. But a final Collins surge dashed any hopes Mengden had.

Collins "is on the right team and he's certainly superior to Bentsen." "I'm behind him 100 percent," he said. During his often nasty campaign, Mengden called Collins "ineffective," "totally confused," "a total failure" and "incompetent."

Parimutuel horse racing referendum is split

The Republican referendum on parimutuel horse racing remained in a dead heat as the ballots were tallied, but Texans voting in the GOP primary Saturday offered decisive views on gun control and the state's "blue laws."

The state's Sunday closing laws proved unpopular, with 67 percent of the voters favoring the abolition of the laws. The balloters also strongly advocated the public's right to use initiative and referendum to vote directly on issues and make law in elections rather than depending solely on state legislative action.

80.9 percent of the Republican voters favored initiative and referendum. All proposals are non-binding. Judy Deleo, the Texas Republican Party's organization director, said the issues were aimed at enticing Texans to vote Republican.

Weather

Dense fog covers southern Texas

By The Associated Press
Dense fog reduced visibility to less than one-fourth of a mile in some areas of South Texas early today, causing hazardous driving conditions and prompting the National Weather Service to issue travelers advisories.

Fog was reported at Alice, Beaumont-Port Arthur, Brownsville, McAllen and Victoria.

Skies were clear to partly cloudy elsewhere around the state. Some patchy fog was reported along the Red River and in Northwest Texas.

Early morning temperatures were mostly in the 50s and 60s. Extremes ranged from 48 at Marfa and 50 at Amarillo to 69 at Brownsville.

Some early morning temperatures around the state included 61 at Wichita Falls, 64 at Dallas-Fort Worth, 60 at Lufkin, 61 at Houston, 64 at Corpus Christi and San Antonio, 58 at Midland and 54 at El Paso.

Forecasts called for partly cloudy skies with widely scattered afternoon and evening showers and thunderstorms statewide.

Highs were to be in the 80s except in the Big Bend area of Southwest Texas where afternoon readings were to be around 90.

EXTENDED FORECAST
WEST TEXAS: Scattered showers and thunderstorms most sections, more numerous on Thursday. Turning cooler Thursday. Highs 70s and 80s Wednesday cooling to 70s and few 60s Thursday and Friday. Lows 50s north and 60s south cooling to 40s Panhandle to 50s elsewhere Thursday and Friday.

FORECAST
WEST TEXAS: Partly cloudy through Tuesday with widely scattered mainly afternoon and evening thunderstorms. Highs 80s except near Big Bend. Lows mid 50s north to near 60 south except upper 40s mountains. High Tuesday mid 80s to lower 90s.

Harding, Richards in runoff for treasurer's nomination

Ann Richards, a women's rights activist solidly supported by liberal groups, and incumbent Warren G. Harding, whose banker-backed campaign was tainted by an indictment, face each other in the June 5 Democratic primary runoff for state treasurer.

Mrs. Richards, 48, formerly a Travis County Commissioner, easily outdistanced the three men in Saturday's primary voting. But she fell short of the needed 50 percent of the ballots, forcing the runoff with Harding, 61.

The winner of their showdown will face Republican Millard K. Neptune in November. Neptune was unopposed in the GOP primary.

With 96 percent of the vote counted Sunday night, Mrs. Richards had 466,546 votes or 45.4 percent, while and Harding had 362,379 votes, 35.3 percent of the total.

Trailing far behind were former state Rep. Lane Denton of Waco with 139,506 votes — 13.6 percent — and Austin businessman John Cutright, who had 59,421 votes, or 5.8 percent.

Mrs. Richards said Sunday she was not surprised by her strong showing. She said she had not yet considered whether to seek the endorsement of Denton, who made a campaign issue out of the fact that Mrs. Richards was once treated for alcoholism.

"I would hope I could pick up whatever votes there were against Harding," Mrs. Richards said. She said her campaign strategy for the runoff would be the same as before — "Focus in the areas where we feel there's going to be a strong turnout."

If she wins June 5 and again in November, Mrs. Richards would be the first woman serving in a statewide office since Miriam A. "Ma" Ferguson retired as governor in 1935.

She is already the first woman to run a major statewide campaign in Texas since Frances Farenthold ran against Gov. Dolph Briscoe in 1974, although there was a woman candidate for the State Supreme Court two years ago.

From 1973 to 1975, Mrs. Richards served as administrative assistant to state Rep. Sarah Weddington, who won a landmark court victory on behalf of abortion rights for women.

Mrs. Richards won the endorsements of groups representing consumers, minorities, homosexuals, and labor unions.

Harding's effort to be the Democrats' candidate in November was set back by a Travis County grand jury indictment handed down less than six weeks before the primary, accusing him of using two secretaries to do campaign work while on state time.

The illegal alien problem

The impact of illegal migration of Mexicans to the U.S. is often seen as parasitic, but it also can be seen as productive. Two University of Texas professors who have studied the issue extensively say, "The weight of the evidence demonstrates that Mexican workers add to the total product of the U.S. If they were not available, the efficiency of our economy would be reduced."

The professors, Dr. Sidney Weintraub and Stanley Ross, urge that a straightforward contract program be established with Mexico. They suggest that one way to obtain Mexican labor in a manner which also seeks to protect U.S. labor would be through an expanded permit system for Mexican workers — for temporary work up to six to eight months a year.

ACKNOWLEDGING THAT legalizing some temporary workers would not keep out others, they also call for additional measures — tighter control of the border and/or fining employers for hiring migrants without temporary work visas.

"The advantage of an expanded labor contract program is that it would legalize what is taking place in any event, while giving both the U.S. and Mexican authorities some basis to monitor wages and the treatment of workers," the professors write.

IT'S AN IDEA worth considering. Continuing population pressure in Mexico and potential U.S. reactive pressure, particularly if the U.S. economy slows down, indicate a real likelihood of harsh unilateral measures by the U.S.

To avoid this outcome, the need for a flexible program, limited in time, to admit Mexican immigrants legally (at the same time as employers are punished for hiring those not admitted legally) should be discussed as soon as possible.

If the two governments fail to act soon, the alternative will be frustration and animosity on both sides of the border. If illegal immigration were stopped completely, there could be an "explosion" in Mexico, which the U.S. would not want.

On the other hand, if illegal immigration is allowed to continue along its present lines, there hardly seems any reason to have immigration laws at all. The feasible policy lies somewhere between the two poles.

In transit

I wonder where my friends and I are headed. We're all young and upcoming and in the process of making tentative splashes in the pool of life. I sometimes wonder how far our ripples may go and who they may affect.

We're caught between college and our thirties. In fact, some of us are getting close to the big 30. Somehow I've always thought of 30 as being the cutoff point for being successful. For some unclear reason I've always thought a person needed to be successful or at least headed in successful direction by that age.

Anyway, most of my friends are still hesitant as to what they want to do with their lives and I'm comforted by that. Thirty nears and we're still scrambling and wandering and searching and that's all right with me. I enjoy being in transit. There doesn't seem to be much fun left when you stop or give up as I think some of my friends have.

I guess that's why some of us, though nearing 30, resist settling in or finding a niche — we don't want to let our youth go.

I like the friends I have now as we struggle together here in Big Spring. In most cases we'll give the Spring City two, three or four years of our life and move on in search of other challenges.

I don't like to think of the day when we all part. We'll probably say we'll stay in touch, but we won't, except for infrequent letters that grow more infrequent as communication dies. I hate that. I hate losing contact with a good friend.

I GET ANGRY at myself nowadays when I can't recall friends of mine I had in college. People whom I saw every day and looked forward to seeing. Their names and faces are only pale glimmers and it is sad to know that someday my current friends' faces may fade the same way.

I can only hope I'll remember to enjoy my friends here and now. I must be aware of their laughter, sadness and feelings.

Perhaps I'm already successful. I think I am. And I thank my friends for their ripples that have touched me.

Headache in Soviet Union

WASHINGTON — Perhaps emboldened by the partial success of the Catholic Church in standing up to the Polish government in recent years, Christian sects have been giving their communist rulers a headache in the Soviet Union itself.

Astonishing reports seeping out of Russia recently indicate that the Christian "problem" has become serious enough to warrant a concerted crackdown by the authorities. The particular targets of their anti-religious zeal are the underground presses of various Christian churches.

Since 1979, Baptists and Seventh-day Adventists have managed to set up secret "publishing houses" to turn out religious literature. The Baptists have a clandestine publication called The Christian, while the Adventists have one called The True Witness.

In addition, the underground presses have been turning out everything from Bibles and hymnals to critiques of Soviet law.

This clearly has the Kremlin worried. Amnesty International estimates that at least 115 Baptists and 30 Adventists in the past two years have been imprisoned for "anti-Soviet slander" — an offense that includes any teaching of religion in this officially atheistic country.

While Western journalists have publicized the plight of Soviet Jews, more than half the prisoners of conscience in 1981 were Baptists, Adventists, Russian Orthodox Jehovah's Witnesses or other Christian church members, sources told my reporter Jeff Nesbit. Most were convicted under the slander statute, which carries a maximum sentence of three years in prison.

Besides outright prosecution, the communists have other official weapons to use against Soviet citizens brave enough to practice their religion.

Belief in Christianity is defined by Soviet law as a form of schizophrenia. With a certain ironic Marxist logic, a Soviet citizen who dares to practice Christianity might reasonably be deemed crazy and out of touch with his environment. At any rate, this statute has been used to confine Christian leaders in mental hospitals for "treatment."

EVEN MORE frightening is the law concerning deprivation of parental rights. Soviet courts can take children away from their parents and ship them to another part of the country if the elders have "neglected their duties" in child-rearing. One such duty is to educate children in "the spirit of the moral code of the builder of communism," according to the Soviets' Fundamentals of Legislation. There are documented cases of children having gone into hiding to avoid being kidnapped by the state.

The authorities have been quite successful in their crackdown on Christians. For example, most members of the Baptists' loose governing body, the Council of Evangelical Christians and Baptists in the U.S.S.R., have been in prison since January 1980.

This widespread official persecution of Christians has gone virtually unnoticed in the United States. Only rare cases are reported here — like that of the "Siberian Seven," the Pentecostals who forced their way into the American Embassy in Moscow in 1978 and were given an uneasy, unofficial sanctuary in the embassy basement.

The amazing thing about the Kremlin's crackdown is the evidence it gives that Christianity still survives after more than 60 years of official repression. The regime's fury is a tribute to the courage and devotion of Christians determinedly practicing their faith in defiance of the overwhelming power of hostile rulers. It is a story unmatched since the days of the Roman Empire.

PROJECT PERSONA GRATA: State Department officials are quietly preparing a statistical study which will reveal who our friends really are.

The hush-hush project, described in an internal memorandum to

Ambassador Kenneth Adelman, our No. 2 man at the United Nations, calls this statute has been used to confine Christian leaders in mental hospitals for "treatment."

The initial results of project persona grata reveal that the United States can count on only a few old friends, such as Great Britain, Canada, Belgium and West Germany.

A similar analysis of the Soviet Union's friends shows that they can depend on their satellites to vote the Kremlin line virtually 100 percent of the time. Most of the "non-aligned" nations also side often with the Kremlin, as do a number of putative friends of the United States. Saudi Arabia, for example, votes with the Soviets 85 percent of the time.

Those countries which support the Soviet position least often are Canada, Great Britain, Israel and, of course, the United States.

WHITE HOUSE PIPELINE: In June 1967, a group of anti-Vietnam War protesters in Lansing, Mich., were seeking contributions, and those who responded with money received thank-you notes. "This note is to acknowledge your contribution to Lansing Viet Nam Summer," they read. "We are grateful for your support. In the near future, we will bring you up to date on the developing summer plans." The notes were signed by the secretary of the organization's steering committee, David A. Stockman.

During the Polish crisis, President Reagan relied heavily on the Vatican to follow events in Poland. The president's personal envoy to the Holy See, businessman-diplomat William Wilson, was able to tap into the Vatican's intelligence network in Poland. And when Polish Archbishop Jozep Glomp visited the Vatican several weeks ago, he relayed confidential information through Wilson directly to Reagan.

Billy Graham

Why were we created

DEAR DR. GRAHAM: I often wonder why God bothered to create the human race. Does the Bible say why God created us and what our purpose is really supposed to be? —S.P.

DEAR S.P.: There is one thing for certain, and it is important for you to know it beyond doubt — God put you here for a purpose. You are not here by chance or accident, as many people believe today. You and I are here because God placed us here. He placed us here because he has a purpose for our lives.

The Bible indicates that God created the human race so that he could have fellowship with us. In the beginning, God created everything — the stars, the sea, the land, and the animals and plants. All of those were a witness to his glory and power, but he could not have fellowship with them. You see, God is a loving God — in fact, the Bible says "God is love" (1 John 4:16). It is part of his very nature to love. But in all the creation there was no one he could love.

That is why he made Adam and Eve. You will recall that they were created "in the image of God" (Genesis 1:26-27). That is, they were given something of the personality of God himself — including the capacity to love. They could love each other, and most of all they could love God. They were created for fellowship with him, and in his love he took care of all their needs.

That is why sin is such a tragedy. It means we have rejected God's love, and it also means we pay the price of rebelling against God. Now we are born separated from God, and we are subject to death and judgment. But that is not the end of the story. God still loves us, and he wants to draw us back to himself and have a personal, loving relationship with us again. He even sent his Son into the world to take away our sins through his death, so we could be united once again to our Creator. What a wonderful thing — we can know God, and we can actually serve him! Make that the goal of your life — it is the only goal which is worth pursuing, for it is why you were created.

Money was a weighty matter back in ancient days. In fact, some of the early common coins were named for their weights — such as the Anglo-Saxon mark, which later became known as the English pound.

Family changed its mind

Dear Editor,

Doubless 17-year-old Gonzalo Patricio Silva of Guaranda, Ecuador has heard of the justifiably famous reputation of Texans for hospitality.

So he will be even more perplexed when he gets word that he will not be able to come to Texas next fall as scheduled, to live with a U.S. family and attend high school for the 82-83 school year in exchange for a U.S. student to his home and country. The family which agreed to host him has changed its mind. Gonzalo's family will honor their commitment to host a U.S. student.

It is hoped, through your cooperation in publishing this letter, a Texas family will volunteer to host Gonzalo, not only to uphold the state's reputation, but because they would actually enjoy doing so and would mutually benefit from the experience.

Texas families willing to host a B average senior with hobbies including football, basketball and reading will be interested in knowing that Gonzalo's father is a lawyer and his mother a nurse.

He has a 13 year old sister and he has fair English. Hosting families provide a bed (he can share a room), 3 meals a day and transportation to school and church. He has his own money for personal things and is fully insured. He will be a member of the family, share in the tasks and tax deductible.

If interested please call the Western office of International Fellowship collect at 602-282-7353, or write P.O. Box 1212, Sedona, Az. 86336, or to Mrs. J.F. Lilly, P.O. Box 539, Lometa, Tx. 76853.

Signed: WM. R. SMITH, Western Director International Fellowship, Inc.

Pastor against pari-mutuel gambling

Dear Editor,

Pari-mutuel gambling on horse-racing is here again. Texas voters repealed legalized gambling 45 years ago and have voted against pari-mutuel gambling 10 times in the last 29 years. Last year the gambling bill was killed in the Texas House of Representatives by an almost 2 to 1 margin (94-50).

The State Republican Executive Committee has placed the gambling referendum on its May 1 primary ballot. Chester Upham, Jr., chairman of the committee, stated that the purpose of bringing it up again was to "stimulate interest in the voters" and to "send a message to the Legislature."

I suggest the Legislature already has the message, and I think it highly unethical to use a moral issue for a political purpose. The Republican Committee is hoping many Democrats and independents will vote in the Republican Primary because of the gambling referendum. Let me encourage Democrats not to yield to these tactics or crossover to vote.

B.F. Phillips, president of the Texas Horseracing Association, commented in the Gambling Business Magazine (May, 1981), "I'll tell you one thing though, if we don't make it this time (1981), we're a shoo-in '83... We are in great shape. We are not hurting for funds or moral support." Let me encourage Republicans to vote against the pari-mutuel referendum.

Horseracing is not illegal; pari-mutuel gambling is. Just as dueling is murder by consent, gambling is theft by consent. Don't open the door. Vote no.

Sincerely yours,
MIKE PATRICK

Theater needs an audience

Dear Editor,

Last night I went to Howard College to watch the play, Caught-In-Between, performed by Southwest Collegiate Institute for the Deaf (SWCID). Before I go any further, let me say one thing, the cast and crew deserves a big applause for their show. But more important they deserve an AUDIENCE!!

I truly felt sorry for the cast and crew when I saw the small number of people there, less than 100 people.

Most of that was students from SWCID and another deaf school from Oklahoma. This is a disgrace to the city of Big Spring, here we are a town of 35,000-plus people and yet we can't even get 100 people to attend a play. But the true problem is WITHOUT AN AUDIENCE THERE IS NO THEATER! An audience is what keeps theater alive.

I heard several people say that the show is about a deaf person & that they may not be able to understand it. Well I will guarantee you that if you saw it you would understand it, in fact it might help you to understand some of the problems of being deaf & it may even help you to understand some things about you-self.

Even with some small theatrical problems with the show the point is clear & it makes you wonder and that is the purpose of theatre.

Even with the problems the performance by Traci Wood is excellent. She is without a doubt one of the most re-freshing young actresses I have seen in a long time.

She has the natural ability that is so badly needed for the stage, with training she could go far in this business. The comedy team of Paul Lovell & Walker Estes is delightful. Not just these people deserve praise, the entire cast & crew deserves it.

A play just doesn't happen, it takes a lot of hard work to perform one. For someone to take the challenge of doing a show, I admire them, but for someone to attempt one about themselves I compliment them. I will close with this one last comment — Support the Arts, you will be glad you did!

Student wins U.S. National Award

The United States Achievement Academy announced today that Bronwyn Jaye Allen has been named a 1982 United States National Award winner in Foreign Language — French.

BRONWYN JAYE ALLEN
...U.S. National Award winner

This award is a prestigious honor very few students can attain. The Academy recognizes less than five percent of all American high school students.

Miss Allen, a sophomore at Big Spring High School, was nominated for the award by Nancy Koger, the school's French teacher. A write-up and picture of Miss Allen will appear in the United States Achievement Academy Official Yearbook, published nationally.

The Academy selects USAA winners upon the exclusive recommendation of teachers, coaches, counselors or other school sponsors and upon the standards for selection set forth by the Academy. The criteria for selection are a student's academic performance, interest and aptitude, leadership qualities, responsibility, enthusiasm, motivation to learn and improve, citizenship, attitude and cooperative spirit, dependability and recommendation from a teacher or director.

Miss Allen is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robby Allen, Lynn and 25th. She is the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. A.J. Allen, 1620 E. 17th, and Mr. and Mrs. Bob Clark, 2203 E. 25th.

Miss Allen also was selected for membership in The Society of Distinguished American High School Students, the nation's leading high school honorary. This is her second time to be selected for membership in The Society.

Students can master college finances

You can ride the college tuition escalator without falling off. Financial writer Roger Harris advised in the May issue of Families, "Don't lose heart. Ironically, in these worst times for college costs, it's still the best of times for scrounging around for various loans, scholarships, work-study aids and other resources for meeting those costs."

Harris points out that if you don't qualify for a Guaranteed Student Loan or the National Direct Student Loan programs, you might check the Auxiliary Loan to Assist Students. According to Harris, "Like the federal student loans, this loan plan is guaranteed by the government — only it carries a 14-percent interest rate."

And scholarships are out there. "In fact," he writes, "there's an estimated billion dollars a year in scholarship and tuition-assistance grants waiting to be plucked from various donors."

The trick is to find out who is doing the offering. Consult high school and college financial aid offices, your state department of education, and local civic and professional organizations to see what they offer. Don't be reluctant to apply. Most scholarship committees don't expect applicants to have genius IQ's.

And since housing costs play a large part in the rising cost of college, you might want to consider cooperative housing. Students can trade their labor for cost savings. In one cooperative house at the University of Michigan students were able to lop $450-$500 off the normal dormitory bill for the school year by working a mere four to six hours a week.

Jobs for teens to consider

What jobs are good options for teens to consider? Depending on a teen's particular interests, listed below is a variety of educational and rewarding suggestions.

Teens can go down in history by working as a tour guide at a local museum, landmark, or historical center, the magazine noted. To get this kind of a position, counselors say it helps to have the following qualifications:

An interest in history. You'll have to memorize information, including dates, about the collection you're showing.

A good public speaking voice. Being a good guide requires an ability to communicate effectively and put visitors at ease.

A second language. This can be a bonus in your favor as tourist attractions like to cater to visitors from other countries — who appreciate hearing explanations in their own tongue. For more information on tour-guide positions, the counselors tell teens to consult a library reference book called "The Official Museum Directory."

Dr. Donohue Stein-Leventhal

Dear Dr. Donohue: Regarding Stein-Leventhal, I was disappointed in your limited response to a letter from Mrs. C.B. I wish you had gone into greater detail in describing it, the way you do in other ailments. — Mrs. C.T.

Often, in responding to questions I must limit myself to the specific points raised by the particular writer, and this sometimes does limit the total scope of the response. I am sure that was the case in my answer to Mrs. C.B.

To begin with, I cannot tell you whether or not you fall into the Stein-Leventhal syndrome category from your description (another part of your letter, deleted). Stein-Leventhal is not always a simple matter to discuss. For one thing, it is not just one disease, as was originally thought when it was first described, many years ago. It is actually a group of similar diseases that do have one element in common — multiple cysts on both ovaries.

However, the original description of the syndrome described a situation that included facial hair growth, obesity and infertility. It was the infertility part of this triad that drew attention. In the 1930s, Dr. Stein studied all his patients with the symptoms. He decided to examine a small sliver of ovary tissue under a microscope. After the piece was removed, it turned out that many of his patients became fertile. That is how the now-famous surgical treatment for Stein-Leventhal syndrome came into being — the ovarian wedge resection, as it is called. It will restore fertility in a certain number of women who have the syndrome.

Today, it is also known that the syndrome involves a group of unrelated problems. Many do not have all the signs listed in the original description, but all do have the cyst-studded ovaries. There seems to be another common element — loss of cyclic production of female hormones. The ovaries, or the adrenal gland, or the pituitary gland, may be at fault. This is what makes Stein-Leventhal such a difficult topic to discuss generally. The treatment has to be tailored precisely to wherever the problem lies.

The drug, clomiphene, is often used to restore the cyclic production of hormone. But the wedge-resection operation first done by Dr. Stein still has a valuable place in treatment. I hope I've been able to fill in a few of the gaps created for you by the previous discussion.

Dear Dr. Donohue: Nearly every health-related article you read nowadays seems to mention "moderate drinking." Some say it won't hurt you. Others say it is good for you. But nobody ever seems to say what good. Perhaps it isn't the same for everyone — "moderate drinking" I mean. Could you offer guidelines? — F.R.

I know what you mean. I use words like that all the time when I'm not sure of the exact amount — "a little," "a lot," "moderate." In this case, moderate means no more than two beers, two glasses of wine, or two highballs a day. Mind you, that's an either-or situation. I don't think anyone, myself included, feels it is appropriate to recommend alcohol to non-drinkers.

For those who do take this amount of alcohol there does seem to be some benefit, chiefly less risk of the chances for heart attack occurring. Now, there are other ways to lessen the risk of heart attack, so the "moderate" alcohol idea is not a universal requirement by any means. Exercise and low-cholesterol diet are just a couple of other ways. And you don't have to touch a drop of old John Barleycorn.

Dr. Donohue welcomes reader mail but regrets that, due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

Dear Abby

Monks' lives are short on stress

DEAR ABBY: First a 68-year-old man wrote in saying his doctor told him that men who are denied sex die young, and he's going to blame his old lady if he dies young because he's not getting any.

Then Father Barousse, a Benedictine monk, refuted that theory. "In this monastery (where we don't get any at all), the last monk to die was 89, and of the last five to die, four were in their 80's and the fifth, who died at 67, had been a married man who entered the monastery after the death of his wife."

I say celibates in the religious life live longer because they have a minimum of stress. They don't have the hassles of making a living in a competitive world. They don't have the pressures of courting, marriage and raising children. And in their old age they don't have to worry about where their next meal or rent payment is coming from. Everything is provided for them. It's stress that kills people.

Living a celibate or conjugal life has nothing to do with longevity.

B.D. IN ARIZ.

DEAR B.D.: Stay tuned for some input from the director of nutrition research at the Pritikin Research Foundation in Santa Barbara:

DEAR ABBY: A significant factor affecting longevity of monks is the type of diet eaten at the monastery. For example, Benedictines, who consume a typical American high-fat diet, have three times more heart disease than Trappists, who eat a low-fat vegetarian diet.

My thought regarding the relationship between sexual activity and longevity is that sex doesn't make you live longer, it just makes you want to.

NAN C. BRONFEN

DEAR ABBY: One good chuckle deserves another, and I had a good one over the letter from "one abby (Benedictine) to another Abby." The Benedictine monk attributes the longevity of monks to "not getting any."

Having spent 13 years as a Capuchin Franciscan friar, a religious order which is much stricter than the Benedictine, I speak from experience. The monks' longevity cannot be attributed to the absence of sex, but rather to the absence of stress, which is the life-shortening culprit.

As a priest, I had fine food, liquor, charge cards, prestige, a captive audience in the pews I presided over, and virtually no adult responsibility. The church and my superior made all my decisions for me.

I was spoiled and couldn't relate realistically to the laity. Fortunately I was mature enough to admit it and I left.

My wonderful wife and three sons are worth the "shortened" life span I may be faced with. You may use my name and city if you wish.

Exxon drops huge shale oil project

HOUSTON (AP) — Exxon Corp.'s decision to write off its $1 billion Colorado shale oil project leaves analysts convinced that the push for synthetic fuels to replace imported oil is over, at least for now.

"Synthetics have been indefinitely postponed, maybe never to get off the ground," said John Lichblau, president of the Petroleum Industry Research Foundation.

Exxon, the world's largest oil company, announced Sunday that it was closing the Colony Shale Oil Project, the largest synthetic fuels undertaking in the nation. The plan was to mine oil-bearing rock and crush and heat it to extract the oil.

Randall Meyer, the president of the subsidiary Exxon USA, said estimates which set the cost of the project near Parachute, Colo., at $2 billion to $3 billion had doubled while oil prices had fallen.

"It's the end of a pretty brief era," Daniel Yergin, an energy analyst at Harvard, told the New York Times.

Exxon bought out Atlantic Richfield's 60 percent interest in the project in 1980 for $300 million and spent another $400 million developing the site.

Exxon said its contract with Tosco Corp. required it to pay another $380 million to Tosco because the minority partner had decided not to continue the project on its own. Of that sum, Tosco will use $80 million to repay loans to the Synthetic Fuels Corp., a federal agency set up with great fanfare under President Carter to promote the industry.

"If they (Exxon) cannot see such a project through to the end, then I think it says something about the need for government participation on a sustained and intelligent basis in order to make such a field demonstration on a commercial scale fully effective," Morton Winston, president of Tosco, told the Times.

It was the second major setback for synthetic fuels in recent days. Last week, subsidiaries of Royal Dutch-Shell Ltd. and Gulf Oil Corp., two of the world's seven major oil companies, announced they were dropping out of the world's largest synthetic fuel project, a plan to extract oil from tar sands in the Canadian province of Alberta.

Exxon's retreat left only Union Oil Company of California proceeding actively with its commercial shale oil development, building a 10,000-barrel-a-day facility in western Colorado.

Ownership changed hands four times after 1964, with Arco buying a 25 percent share in 1974. Arco bought another 35 percent in 1976 when Shell Oil Co. and Ashland Oil left the project.

ENERGY BUST — This demonstration oil shale retort was part of the Colony Shale Oil Project in western Colorado, the largest shale oil project being built and the latest casualty of economic hard times. Exxon USA on Sunday announced that it was shutting down the Colony project because of soaring costs.

Sun Day observance slight

WASHINGTON (AP) — Four years ago today, thousands of Americans turned the Washington Monument into a giant sundial, attended sunrise services across the country and heard a president proclaim his commitment to renewable sources of energy.

All the activities were for the first Sun Day. This year's sharply scaled-back observance is symbolic of the storm clouds threatening the solar movement.

Supporters say 43 cities have scheduled events of some kind today, but instead of the president being a featured participant, he will be portrayed as the movement's chief villain.

Jimmy Carter boosted government outlays and declared a national goal of getting 20 percent of the country's energy from the sun and other renewable resources, but Ronald Reagan wants to slash the solar budget by 88 percent.

In a report released today, the Solar Lobby attacked Reagan for his support of nuclear power at the expense of solar and conservation programs.

The report, "The Solar Agenda: Progress and Prospects," found that despite the setbacks in government support, solar power has made some impressive gains in the past few years.

The number of homes in America employing passive solar designs — in which the building functions as its own solar collector — rose from 500 in 1977 to between 60,000 and 80,000 today.

Sales of solar collectors — primarily for solar water heaters — have increased from $17 million in 1975 to an estimated $400 million in 1981. Those sales, the report said, translate into savings of between 1 million and 1.5 million barrels of oil annually.

Health Fair Beat

VA, Malone-Hogan plan lung screening

The U.S. Veterans Administration and Malone-Hogan Hospital will co-sponsor a screening test for lung disease at the May 15 Big Spring Health and Safety Fair at Big Spring Mall. The screening test can detect the presence of lung disease.

Lung disease affects lifestyles of newborns and young children, as well as adults. Fair visitors of all ages should benefit from this screening, which will be given from 11 a.m. to 5 p.m.

"IT'S A SIMPLE test that consists of taking a deep, deep breath, and exhaling the air from the lung as quickly as possible. The machine we'll use will measure the air capacity of the lung, and the ability to push the air from the lung within one second."

said a spokesman of the respiratory therapy units that will conduct the screening.

Disposable mouthpieces will assure proper sanitation in the use of the machine.

Most persons should be able to exhale 80 percent of the air within a second, depending on height, sex and age. This test is a regular one used in hospitals, when the doctor suspects lung disease, or when the doctor wants to measure progress of treatment of lung disease.

Available at the lung disease booth will be educational brochures on emphysema, asthma, bronchitis and cystic fibrosis.

For the kids, a hand puppet called The Lung Ranger will explain the function of the lung in the body.

El Salvador begins rebuilding

SAN SALVADOR, El Salvador (AP) — Provisional President Alvaro Magana was sworn in and pledged to restore moral order, begin rebuilding the economy and do all he can to end the war with the leftist guerrillas.

"The Salvadoran man is not cannon fodder for any appetite, for any dictatorship and for no cold war," the former president of the national mortgage bank said Sunday.

"As president, I am going to use all the days of my government in searching for peace. We have nothing to avenge, nothing to repress and nothing to negotiate."

In Byron Nelson Classic

Gilder blazes to win

DALLAS (AP) — Bob Gilder said goodbye to Preston Trail Golf Club in a par-wrecking finale that forever will leave his name listed in the Byron Nelson Classic record book.

Gilder cruised home with no fives on his card and a 3-under par 67 Sunday to establish a tournament record 14-under par 286.

The tournament leaves Preston Trail after 15 years in 1983 and will be played at a new course, Cottonwood Valley, in nearby Irving, Texas.

"I'm sad to see it go," said Gilder, who earned a $63,000 check and his first victory since the Canadian Open in 1980.

The 31-year-old Gilder's score, fashioned with four rounds in the 60s, was three strokes lower than the old record held by Buddy Allin and Tom Watson.

Gilder won by five shots over Curtis Strange, who cashed $37,800 with a final round 1-under 69 and a 271 total.

"Bob played just perfect ... He was just too tough to catch," said Strange.

Gilder's total, which was compiled on four relatively windless days, was 15 shots better than the winning four rounds posted by Bruce Lietzke last year. Gilder also set records at the 36 and 54 hole marks.

The determined Gilder, boosted by an overnight red-eye flight from Portland, Ore., made by his wife Peggy, wasn't about to collapse like he did in 1980 at the Memorial Tournament.

Leading going into the final round, he stumbled to an 82 and finished 41st.

"I knew my wife was going to come so I had better win," said Gilder. "I didn't want to blow it like I did at Muirfield. I was nervous at first but the putts didn't drop for Curtis and that made it easier."

Gilder made birdie putts of 2, 15, and 16 feet and saved par on two holes coming out of bunkers in his relentless round.

The Arizona State graduate boosted his earnings this year to $110,344 with his third tour victory. He also won the 1976 Phoenix Open.

Gilder said he knew he had the victory after he birdied the 15th and 16th holes.

Playing partner David Graham, who finished in a three-way tie for third, sidled over to him and quipped: "Do you think you can get in now?"

Graham was in Gilder's group at the Muirfield disaster. "David made me laugh," said Gilder. "I'm a lot more confident player now than I was then. My swing was breaking down under pressure. The swing held up Sunday."

Brewer's trample Twins, 11-4

By The Associated Press

Ted Simmons says switch-hitting is like being two different personalities — so both sides of Ted Simmons hit three-run homers Sunday...one from each side of the plate.

"Switch hitting is a strange thing. It's like being two separate people," Simmons said after homering off Al Williams in the first inning and Darrell Jackson in the seventh. His six runs batted in led the Milwaukee Brewers to an 11-4 victory over the Minnesota Twins.

Both Ted Simmons had combined for only a .204 batting average going into the game and neither had a home run.

"Today, both people are alive and well," added Simmons, who was struggling with a .204 average — .243 from the left side, .118 right-handed — and only three RBI coming into the game.

In other American League games, the Boston Red Sox handed the Texas

American League

Rangers their ninth consecutive loss 6-0, the Chicago White Sox hammered the Detroit Tigers 10-3, the Baltimore Orioles downed the California Angels 6-4, the New York Yankees shamed the Seattle Mariners 4-2, the Oakland A's trimmed the Cleveland Indians 5-2 and the Toronto Blue Jays beat the Kansas City Royals 7-5.

The Brewers jumped on Williams for four runs in the first inning on Ben Oglivie's RBI single and the first of Simmons' homers, this one batting left-handed. Gorman Thomas homered in the Brewers' third.

Charlie Moore tripled a run across in the sixth and Simmons struck again with two men on base in the seventh.

this time hitting right-handed against Jackson.

Reds 6, Rangers 0

Dennis Eckersley scattered eight hits for his second shutout of the season and Boston wrapped up the decision with five runs in the first inning off Doc Medich. Glenn Hoffman and Rich Gedman each drove in two runs as the Red Sox won for the 11th time in the last 12 games and opened a 1½-game lead over Detroit in the AL East.

White Sox 10, Tigers 3

Harold Baines drove in three runs with a sacrifice fly and a two-run triple and unbeaten Lamarr Hoyt, making only his second start of the season, became the American League's first five-game winner. The White Sox knocked out loser Jack Morris with four runs in the fifth. Tom Paciorek singled home two runs in the first inning and Baines delivered his.

Schmidt's return aids Phillies

By The Associated Press

Mike Schmidt, who says he hasn't fully recovered from a rib cage injury that sidelined him for 17 days, didn't need much time to start inflicting pain on National League pitchers again.

Schmidt, five-time NL home run champion and the league's Most Valuable Player the last two years, hit a two-run homer and a double Sunday in his second game since returning from the disabled list. Mike Krukow pitched a four-hitter as Philadelphia beat San Diego 3-0.

"Right now I've got to concentrate on my physical condition," said Schmidt, who was injured April 13 when he twisted his side while hitting a single during a game. "I'm always thinking about my rib cage. Because of that I sometimes don't take a good fundamental swing at the ball."

His swing was fundamentally sound enough Sunday to give him his first homer of the season and first two extra-base hits.

"It was one of the most fun home runs and doubles I've ever hit," said Schmidt, who hit his homer in the fifth inning off John Curtis, 2-1, giving Philadelphia a 3-0 lead. "After sitting out so long, I was beginning to wonder if I'd ever be able to swing fluidly again."

In other NL action, Cincinnati beat St. Louis 5-1 and lost the second game of the doubleheader 6-4, San Francisco beat New York 4-3 in their first game and lost the nightcap 2-0, Houston tripped Pittsburgh 6-2, Atlanta bombed Chicago 10-3, and Montreal walloped Los Angeles 13-1.

Krukow, 2-2, pitched his second shutout of the season for the Phillies, who have won only seven of 21 games.

Expos 13, Dodgers 1

Tim Wallach led Montreal's 17-hit attack with a homer, two singles and four RBI as the Expos won their first series in Los Angeles since July 1977 by winning their second game of the three-game set.

Right-hander Steve Rogers, 4-1, pitched a five-hitter, but he lost his shutout with two outs in the ninth inning when he issued two walks and Wallach threw wildly to first after Pedro Guerrero hit an infield single.

Andre Dawson added four hits and Warren Cromartie drove in three runs for the Expos.

Giants vs. Mets

San Francisco won its fifth straight game by capturing the opener, while

New York snapped a five-game slide with its nightcap triumph.

Chili Davis and Darrell Evans homered to give the Giants a 4-1 lead in the opener. They hung on to win although John Stearns' two-run homer in the eighth inning ended Greg Minton's major league-record streak of 2691-3 innings without yielding a home run.

Minton, who broke Dale Murray's previous homerless mark of 2471-3 innings last year, pitched the final two innings to earn his fourth save of the season. The victory went to Al Holland, 2-3.

George Foster, who got four hits in the twinbill to improve his average from .179 to .207, gave the Mets all the runs they needed in the second game when he homered in the first inning off Giants rookie Bill Laskey, 1-1, after Mookie Wilson doubled.

Randy Jones, 3-1, went into the ninth looking for his 19th career shutout. But he gave up Jim Wohlford's fourth hit of the second game before Neil Allen came in to register his sixth save with a strikeout and a double play sandwiched around a walk.

ON THE FLOOR — Wally Walker (42) of the Seattle SuperSonics goes over the top of Dave Corzine (40) of the San Antonio Spurs during their semi-finals play-off game in San Antonio Sunday. Waiting to move in is Johnny Moore (00) of the Spurs.

San Antonio takes 3-1 lead over SuperSonics

SAN ANTONIO, Texas (AP) — The San Antonio Spurs, having beaten Seattle three times by two-point margins in their NBA playoff series, know they have the SuperSonics' backs against the wall going into the fifth game Wednesday night in Washington.

The Sonics know it too, but they say they are not giving up.

"We are in the driver's seat, but it's not over yet," said backup center Dave Corzine, who sank four pressure free throws in the last 30 seconds Sunday to stake the Spurs to a 115-113 win.

Sunday's victory gave the Spurs a commanding 3-1 advantage over the SuperSonics in the Western Conference semi-finals in the National Basketball Association.

"We've got to come ready to play and keep our killer instinct," said San Antonio team captain George Gervin.

The victory Sunday kept intact the Spurs' dominance over Seattle in HemisFair Arena. The Sonics have won here only once in 15 NBA games, and that solo win was in 1978.

The teams, meeting for the first time in the playoffs, would return to San Antonio for a sixth game Friday if Seattle wins on its homecourt Wednesday.

Sonics coach Lenny Wilkens complained after Sunday's contest that his team has not been getting any calls during the critical stretch.

"Foul trouble hurt us and we didn't get any calls at the end," Wilkens said. "Jack (Sikma) was fouled on the last shot and was shoved almost out of bounds and there was no call."

"Our crowd took over and wouldn't let us lose. This team is very courageous," countered San Antonio coach Stan Albeck. "Dave (Corzine) came off a hyper-extended knee and he really did a job on the boards."

Corzine, known as "Lumberjack" because of his bulky frame and mountainman beard, put the Spurs ahead to stay with two free throws with 30 seconds left after the lead had changed hands 17 times and the score was tied 23 times.

Corzine, who also grabbed key rebounds in the final minutes, connected on two more free throws with 18 seconds left to give San Antonio a 113-110 lead that the Sonics could not overcome.

Teammates had to help the 6-11, 265-pound player from DePaul off the floor shortly before halftime after he crashed to the boards on a rebound try.

Mike Bratz, the reserve guard who won game three here Friday night with a clutch shot with five seconds left, said "I was really surprised."

Preakness not on Sol's schedule

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Kentucky Derby winner Gato del Sol won't win thoroughbred racing's Triple Crown this year if trainer Ed Gregson has his way.

"I planned for the Derby and I planned for the Belmont," Gregson said Sunday, the day after his 21-1 colt won the 108th Derby. "His schedule has no Preakness on it."

The absence of the Derby winner from the Preakness would remove much of the lustre from the May 15 second leg of the Triple Crown.

Not since Tony Lee in 1959 has a Derby winner passed up the Preakness.

There were few definite takers from the rest of the Derby field, either, for the 1 3-16-mile Preakness at Pimlico, one-sixteenth of a mile shorter than the Derby at Churchill Downs.

Leone J. Peters, who owns Gato del Sol with Arthur B. Hancock III, said the colt won't go to the Preakness "unless we want to win the Triple Crown."

Only 11 horses have won the Derby, Preakness and the 1½-mile Belmont, a feat that makes a horse very valuable breeding property. The last to do it was Affirmed in 1978.

Before Saturday's 2½-length victory over Laser Light, an 18-1 outsider, Gato del Sol hadn't won a race in four starts this year. In his previous effort April 22, he finished second, 5½ lengths behind Linkage, a non-Derby starter although eligible, in the Blue Grass Stakes at Keeneland.

Gato del Sol, a Kentucky-bred son of Cougar, was a survivor from a 3-year-old crop that was decimated by injury and illness. He came from last in a field of 19 under jockey Eddie Delahoussaye to win $417,600 from the gross purse of $522,600, the richest Derby ever.

Reinvested, part of the seven-horse parimutuel field, finished third, a neck behind Laser Light and 2½ lengths in front of Water Bank.

Water Bank's more publicized stablemate, the one-eyed Cassalera, finished 13th.

Air Forbes won, the 5-2 favorite of the crowd of 141,009 — second largest in Derby history — finished seventh. El Baba, the second choice, ran 11th.

Gato del Sol made his move on the far turn, broke out of the pack in the stretch and was in command just past the eighth pole.

It was the first Derby triumph for Delahoussaye in three tries and the first for the owners, whose Tap Shoes ran 14th last year.

Gato del Sol, who now has lifetime earnings of $307,193, paid $44,400, $19 and $9.40 in posting his first victory of the year and only his third in 13 career outings. The winning time in the Derby was 2:02.25.

Laser Light, ridden by Eddie Maple, returned $17 and $9.20. The parimutuel field, which included the filly Cupecoy's Joy, who led for the first mile, paid $4.20.

EXPOSED FAN — Actor-producer Ron Howard visits the Montreal Expos' dugout Sunday before the game against the Dodgers in Los Angeles.

Thompson turns pro

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Texas center LaSalle Thompson has decided he would rather be a Dallas Maverick than a Texas Longhorn.

Thompson, the nation's leading college basketball rebounder last year, has decided to pass up his senior year of eligibility at Texas and turn professional.

"Dallas is my number one choice to play for," he said Sunday. "I would like to stay in Texas."

The man who recruited Thompson from Cincinnati, Abe Lemons, was fired as Texas basketball coach at the end of last season to be replaced by Mississippi's Bob Weltlich.

Thompson said he had nothing against Weltlich but that Lemons' departure loomed large in his decision.

Thompson said he believed he would be picked higher in the draft this year than if he waited for the end of his senior season, but did not explain why.

 left, added another two free throws with six seconds left Sunday for an insurance 115-110 lead.
 Bratz also hit on three key three-point baskets in the first half that kept the Spurs within range after the Sonics twice had spurred to an 11-point lead.
 Bratz and Corzine wound up with 17 points apiece to take up the slack for Gervin, who struggled to 19 points, his lowest output of the series, on seven of 23 shooting.

 Gus Williams, who led all scorers with 33 points, connected on a three-pointer for Seattle at the final buzzer to account for the final score.
 The dejected Sonics acknowledged they are at a disadvantage since San Antonio needs only one victory in the next three games to win the series.
 "We have to go home and get a win and come back down here Friday and hopefully get a break and force a seventh game in Seattle (next Sunday)," said veteran John Johnson, who scored 15 points.

 "We had San Antonio beaten three times and let them off the hook," Sonic James Donaldson said. "We are confident we can come back and win."
 The Superonics had home court advantage entering the series, but San Antonio won the opening game in Seattle 96-93 and the first game here 99-97. Seattle's only win was by a score of 114-99 on its homecourt.

Reds split with Cardinals

Con't. from 1-B
 Gene Tenace drove in three runs apiece as St. Louis won the second game to stop the Eastern Division leaders' three-game losing streak.
 Cincinnati won the opener as Eddie Milner and Ron Oester accounted for six hits and four runs.
 Oester doubled leading off the seventh to break up the no-hit bid. Martin, 3-2, took a one-hit shutout into the ninth, but consecutive homers by Dave Concepcion and Cesar Cedeño chased the left-hander before Bruce Sutter came in to get his eighth save.
 In the first game, Milner scored twice and collected four hits, sparking a two-run Cincinnati first inning and a three-run third.

Astros 6 Pirates 2
 Joe Niekro and Randy Moffitt combined on a five-hitter and Jose Cruz and Art Howe each drove in two runs to lead Houston over Pittsburgh.
 Niekro blanked the Pirates on one hit through six innings before allowing consecutive homers to Jason Thompson and Bill Madlock.
 A double by Mike Easler chased Niekro and brought in Moffitt, who allowed one hit the last three innings for his first save.
 Howe singled in runs in Houston's three-run third inning and in the ninth. Cruz had a two-run double in the fourth.

Braves 10, Cubs 3
 Bob Walk gave up two hits through eight innings and Atlanta scored four runs in the third inning and six in the fifth to rout Chicago.
 Walk, 3-0, finished with a five-hitter as he gave up a solo homer to Keith Moreland and a run-scoring single to Jerry Royster in the third and Chris Chambliss had a triple and a run-scoring single in the fifth to highlight the Braves' offense.

Winfield powers Yanks to win

 sacrifice fly in the fourth following singles by Greg Luzinski and Paciorek. Bill Almon opened the Chicago fifth with a single and scored on a double by Steve Kemp. Luzinski singled Kemp home and, after Paciorek walked, Baines tripled. Tony Bernazard socked a two-run triple in the sixth.
Orioles 6, Angels 4
 Eddie Murray hit two doubles, drove in a run and scored one and Scott McGregor recorded his 10th straight victory over California. Murray doubled in the first inning to drive in Al Bumby, who walked, and hit another double in the third, chasing California starter Angel Moreno.
Yanks 4, Mariners 2
 Dave Winfield drove in the tie-breaking run with a line drive off the third base bag in the eighth inning and Roy Smalley added a two-run single, as the Yankees broke up a pitching duel between winner Ron Guidry and loser Floyd Bannister.

 With one out, Willie Randolph doubled and took third on Jerry Mumphrey's infield hit. Mike Stanton ripped a smash down the line which hit the bag and bounced straight in the air.
A's 5, Indians 2
 Jeff Newman cracked a two-run homer and Jeff Burroughs scored twice to support the four-hit pitching of Mike Norris, who struck out five and walked three. Norris held the Indians hitless in all but two innings, giving up two hits in the third and fourth.

Cleveland took a 2-0 lead in the third on Toby Harrah's two-run homer but Oakland got three in the top of the fourth against Rick Waits, 0-4, on a walk, Joe Rudi's double, Dave McKay's RBI-grounder and Newman's homer.
Jays 7, Royals 5
 Lloyd Moseby and Willie Upshaw drove in two runs apiece. Upshaw's single in the first inning scored Damaso Garcia, who reached on an error by shortstop Onix Concepcion and stole second. Al Woods doubled Upshaw home. The Blue Jays went up 4-0 in the fifth on Moseby's two-run double. In the seventh, Moseby doubled and scored on Upshaw's single. Alfredo Griffin got an infield hit, was sacrificed to second, stole third and scored Toronto's sixth run on a single by Garth Iorg.

'Shoe' continues to make history

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — He is 4 feet, 11 inches tall and less than 100 pounds — yet many contend he is the most remarkable athlete of our generation.
 Wee Willie Shoemaker scoffs at the suggestion but pride — not ego — keeps him from disputing it.
 Tested at the National Athletic Health Institute, he was adjudged among the top 10 percent of all athletes — boxers, football players, weight-lifters — in strength and power endurance.
 "His spirit of competitiveness is on par with that of any other athlete," said the well-known California orthopedic surgeon, Dr. Robert Kerlan.
 In the 108th Kentucky Derby Saturday sentimental favorites abound. The field included a claustrophobic colt with only one eye, the first gelding in the race in 52 years, a filly and a hodgepodge of other 3-year-olds with fascinating histories but unimpressive credentials.

 All were survivors in what became known as "The Disaster Derby." The winner turned out to be a 21-1 shot, Gato del Sol, who hadn't won a race of any kind since last Sept. 9.
 For our money, the sentimental favorite was a man instead of a horse — William Lee Shoemaker, 2½ pounds at birth, so tiny and frail that the doctor said he couldn't possibly live.
 A stubborn grandmother, who refused to accept that final judgment, stuffed him in a shoe box, put him in a heated oven with the door open and got all his vital signs working.

 The shoe-box tyke went on to become the most in-destructible and successful jockey in the sport's history.
 Racing since he was 17, refusing to yield to time, pressure and occasional serious injury, he has proceeded to roll up 8,120 victories and more than $81 million in purse prize money during a 33-year span.
 He hasn't shown any sign of quitting. Now horsemen are talking about a possible 10,000 victories — a feat beyond comprehension.
 "That means I'd have to win 200 races a year for 10 years," he said. "I find it hard to quit the track — I love it — but 10,000 wins? I don't think so."
 Don't discount it. He is a modern miracle.

Your Daily HOROSCOPE

from the CARROLL RIGHTEER INSTITUTE

FORECAST FOR TUESDAY, MAY 4, 1982

GENERAL TENDENCIES: A good day to make important decisions and then to enlist the support of your associates. Make plans for the future and expect prosperous results from your efforts.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Once you have all the information necessary, you can approach a higher-up for the backing you need. Express optimism.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Come to a better accord with persons in the business world. Engage in favorite hobby with congenials tonight. Be poised.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Strive for more harmony with associates early in the day. An important civic matter requires your personal handling.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Don't be so demanding or critical of others at this time. Evening is fine for checking up on your wardrobe needs.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Discuss your aims with associates and then get busy with the work required to gain them. Take no chances with a foe.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Showing more than usual affection for family members is wise at this time. Take needed health treatments.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Make appointments early in the day and be sure to keep them. Shopping should be done before sundown today.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Plan how to have more income and then contact key persons who can give the support you need. Relax at home tonight.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Make your plans early in the day and be sure to follow them. Apply your talents in the right manner for best results.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) You could have private anxieties which logical thinking can easily remove. Improve your appearance.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) If you discuss business matters with a trusted friend, you can gain the advice needed to make your operation a success.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Handle any vocational activity wisely and then make the right decisions with others later in the day.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he or she will want to do much experimenting early in life, but later will follow more practical channels. Teach to delve into philosophies that will be beneficial to your progeny. Don't neglect ethical and religious training.

"The Stars impel, they do not compel." What you make of your life is largely up to you!

TORNADO JAM — Over twenty thousand rock-n-roll fans braved the rains and the mud to hear Joe Ely and Linda Ronstadt perform Sunday in Buddy Holly Park at Joe Ely's Third Annual Tornado Jam. Other performers at the day-long event were Joan Jetz & The Blackhearts, Gary Morris, and Lubbock's Jay Boy Adams, Terry Allen, and the Maines Brothers.

Hightower will face Farmer for Ag post

By JAY JORDEN
Associated Press Writer

Populist Jim Hightower has begun outlining his November race for state agriculture commissioner, after he easily unseated incumbent Reagan Brown in the Democratic primary.

Brown conceded the race Sunday after statewide totals showed he had garnered only 40.6 percent of the votes cast, with 5,755 of 5,985 precincts reporting.

"It looks like the people of Texas have spoken, and we want to thank all of the great people who have supported us," he said. A Hightower spokesman said the East Texas activist will continue to wage an "issue-oriented" campaign.

"We're going to continue the work we started to have an all-inclusive effort to bring people into the campaign," said campaign manager Kristy Ozmun. "We said before that anyone who wanted to could come on board, and that's why we did it, reaching out to all kinds of folks."

"In that way, we will continue to reach out to all Texans," she said. A jubilant Hightower said after early returns Sunday, "I think this shows that people want a change."

Five runoffs needed in congressional races

The most hotly contested congressional races in Saturday's Texas primaries were in six wide-open districts where crowded fields led to five runoffs scheduled June 5.

There were no losers among the eight Texas congressmen challenged in the primaries, however. Thirteen other incumbents drew no opposition within their own party.

The six up-for-grabs districts included three added as a result of the state's increased growth noted by the 1980 census and three seats vacated by incumbents with other plans.

The seven districts are the 25th, in Houston, where seven Republicans and three Democrats were on the ballot; the 26th, between Fort Worth and Dallas, which drew two Republicans and a Democrat; and the 27th, in South Texas, with five Democrats and two members of the GOP on the ballot.

In the 25th district, J.C. Helms and Mike Faubion face a runoff in the Republican primary and Mike Andrews will meet John Ray Harrison in the Democratic runoff.

Former Fort Worth mayor pro tem Jim Bradshaw defeated businessman Morris Sheats in the 26th District's Republican primary and will face former Arlington Mayor Tom Vandergriff, who was unopposed in the Democratic primary.

Two killed in plane crash

MESCALERO, N.M. (AP) — The Federal Aviation Administration today was investigating the crash of a single-engine airplane two miles east of here on the Mescalero Apache Reservation that killed two men aboard the craft.

The Piper Cherokee 140 crashed Sunday on the side of a mountain about 40 minutes after it took off apparently from the airport at Alamogordo, state police said.

Killed were Jimmie R. Johnson, 51, of Meridian, Miss., who was believed to have been the pilot, and Lee Caldwell Baker, 32, officers said.

Forget elections! Who won the pun-off?

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Forget Saturday's primary election or the subsequent run-offs. We have a winner in the 5th Annual Pun-Off.

While politicians were still counting their votes Sunday, a crowd of Austin pundits punished themselves all afternoon listening to each other's pungent humor on the grounds of the O. Henry Museum here.

"Don't laugh, even though you may be tempted to," cautioned emcee Peter Madison to a crowd that numbered about 1,000. "What we're looking for is good ol' Texas gut-wrenching groans."

The crowd was not to disappoint him. The three-hour battle pitted man against woman, prep against "pun krock," older against youngster, minister versus atheist.

When it was over, the winner was a 24-year-old waitress named Biz Dana, eliminated in the timed pun-off, but an overwhelming favorite of the crowd in the "Funniest in Show" prepared pun category.

Thirty-four contestants battled wits when they were given a category and ten seconds to answer each other's puns. The one without a pun on his lips at the bell lost.

Number 11 is quick on his feet. The category is food. "Let us have some food puns, he says."

Groans. Number 16 is at sea. The category is letters of the alphabet. The pun she has offered features a letter already used by her opponent — that's against the rules and she must quickly come up with another.

With the bell just about to ring, she recoups — "One of you is enough. I wouldn't want double you."

The crowd cheers. Number 16 advances to the semi-finals. The category is medical terms. Contestants waiting in the wings can't resist and call out their own puns to the two on the stage.

"With friends like that, who needs enemies." "Suture self."

Number 17 is about to be gonged. But his mind finally registers and with lightning wit, he moves into the semi-finals: "Urine in all these contests, aren't you?" His opponent is stumped, gonged, eliminated.

The category is common first names: "Phil-er up." "Regular or Ethyl?" The category is fish.

"Fish jokes are all wet." Not a pun, not a pun. Hurry! The clock is ticking! "I guess I'm finished."

The crowd goes wild. The tense finals of the timed pun-off is won in the category "seasons" by Lenore Johnson, with the sterling, "summer good, summer bad." Her opponent is baffled and settles for second place.

"Funniest in Show" gives each contestant 90 seconds to tell the excruciating long set of circumstances that lead up to the pun-chline.

The judging in this part of the contest, says Madison, is purely arbitrary, but Biz Dana is clearly the crowd's favorite.

Here is her winning pun: Joe is a young, married college student who has taken a part-time job driving a van for a kindergarten school. The bus is decorated with characters from a popular children's television show.

At work the first day, Joe makes his first stop. A fat little girl gets on the bus and says, "Hi, my name is Patty."

He goes to the next stop. Another fat little girl gets on the bus and says, "Hi, my name is Patty."

At this point, some members of the audience, who have been at the 1st, 2nd, 3rd, 4th and now 5th Pun-off, know what's coming. Most of the crowd, however, is rapt.)

Joe goes to the next stop. A little boy is accompanied by his mother. His mother puts the boy on the bus and tells Joe, "This is Ross. Ross is very special, so take extra good care of him."
