County leads in cotton

By MIKE DOWNEY
Staff Writer

Howard County was a regional leader in 1981 cotton production, with 473 pounds yielded per harvested acre, according to recently released figures from the Texas Crop and Livestock Reporting Service.

Howard County yielded 108,800 bales of cotton from 110,400 acres in 1981, the reporting service said.

Twenty-five High Plains courties represented by Plains Cotton Growers Inc. were included in the report which disclosed the local figures.

Martin County topped out with 154,300 bales for its 167,600 harvested acres. Dawson County weighed in with 270,600 bales from 316,500 acres harvested. Borden County yielded 22,800 bales on 30,200 acres.

Yield per harvested acre records show Martin County with 442, Dawson with 410 and Borden with 362 pounds per harvested acre.

The 1981 crop year for the High Plains totaled 3.5 million bales — about 1.55 million bales above 1980 and about 300,000 bales more than the previous record of 3.2 million grown in 1977.

Gaines County led the area in production with 339,000 bales, followed by Lubbock at 275,400 and Dawson and Terry with 270,600 bales each.

ALL BALED UP — Howard County was a regional leader in cotton production during the last season, with figures from the Texas Crop and Livestock Reporting Service showing the county yielded 108,800 bales from 110,400 acres. The bales seen here were photographed at the northside cotton compress several months ago.

Kermit slayings suspect held

KERMIT (AP) — A crowd of more than 100 people gathered to watch police escort a parolee accused of slaying a Kermit woman and her daughter to the Winkler County jail, officials said.

Justice of the Peace Lee Rutledge said the crowd Wednesday night was orderly "and they had enough police around there to protect him."

Oilfield worker Michael Eugene Sharp, 28, of Odessa was arrested at a Sweetwater bus station at 1:45 p.m. Wednesday after local authorities saw a bulletin that Sharp possibly was headed for Louisiana and traveling by bus, said Nolan County Sheriff Don Nolan.

Sharp is charged with capital murder in the deaths of Brenda Kay Broadway, 31, and Christi Mechelle Elms, 8, whose bodies were found Friday in a 26-inch-deep grave 16 miles southeast of Kermit.

He also is charged with aggravated kidnapping in the abduction of those two victims plus Ms. Broadway's 14-year-old daughter, Selena Kay Elms, at 12:30 a.m. Friday at a Kermit car wash.

City employs new attorney

By CAROL DANIEL
Staff Writer

Big Spring's legal advice will originate from a new source beginning Monday, City Manager Don Davis said in a news conference yesterday.

The city has employed 35-year-old attorney-at-law Doyle Curtis of Friona as city attorney, Davis said.

"Besides being very intelligent, he appears to be very attentive to details," Davis said of Curtis' qualifications.

Curtis has been practicing law in Friona, where he is responsible for both a private practice and some city and local government law practice, Davis said.

He received a bachelor of arts degree in 1969 from Texas Tech and received a doctor of jurisprudence degree from Tech in 1974, Davis said.

Curtis is a Plainview native and his wife, Carrie, is originally from O'Donnell, Davis said. They have one son.

Davis said the housing shortage was the biggest obstacle facing him in hiring a city attorney. Of the three applicants he interviewed, Davis chose Curtis because, he said, "he has good experience ... most spent in private practice, but also he has some experience in municipality."

The city will keep legal adviser Elliott Mitchell on retainer through June to advise Curtis, Davis said.

Man dies after I-20 accident

A Texarkana man is dead following a late-night traffic accident on Interstate 20 near Coahoma. Benjamin Addue Wilburn, 57, died at approximately 3 a.m. today in Malone-Hogan Hospital, according to a hospital spokeswoman.

The accident occurred at 11 p.m. yesterday, according to a report filed by investigating Department of Public Safety Trooper Glen Redmon. Wilburn's vehicle and a vehicle driven by Tony Franklin Bagwell of Gatesville collided at a rest area two to three miles east of Coahoma, according to Redmon's report.

Bagwell's vehicle was parked at the time of the accident, Redmon said.

Sands voters to decide $2.3 million bond issue

By MIKE DOWNEY
Staff Writer

ACKERLY — Faced with the specter of the Texas Education Agency closing their school, the Sands Independent School District will ask taxpayers for $2.3 million in a July 10 bond election to renovate school facilities, Superintendent James Blakesaid.

The needed renovation includes five new classrooms, lighting improvements, electrical wiring changes, plumbing additions, heating and cooling alterations and other items, Blakesaid.

"We knew we should have done something years ago, but didn't," he said. "It was just a matter of putting it off and letting it go." Now, he added, the district is in the position of improving facilities or sending children "somewhere else."

Blake, who is in his first year as superintendent at Sands, pointed out that "the school board is in agreement with the bond election."

"I'd put our kids and teachers up against anybody — they do well, but how much better could they be with improved facilities?" he wondered.

The pressing need for improvement stems from an October visit to the school by a Texas Education Agency accreditation team, Blake said. Without TEA accreditation, schools may not operate. Blake said the team cited the facilities as the main thing

Reagan cites Soviet 'tyranny'

Portrays U.S. as champion of arms control

UNITED NATIONS, (AP) — President Reagan, ignoring a Soviet challenge to renounce first use of nuclear weapons, accused Kremlin leaders today of compiling a "record of tyranny" through global aggression and trying to manipulate the peace movement in the West.

In a speech a special U.N. General Assembly session on disarmament, Reagan portrayed the United States as a champion of arms control since World War II, and challenged the Soviets to show by "deeds, not words" that they are sincere about curbing the arms race.

Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko, his face a dour mask, sat stolidly through Reagan's half-hour speech, and refused to join delegates' applause when Reagan finished. Elsewhere in the vast hall sat Israeli Prime Minister Menachem Begin, who is tentatively scheduled to confer with Reagan on Monday about the Israeli ground attack on Palestine Liberation Organization strongholds in Lebanon.

Reagan accused the Soviets of violating arms control agreements and the 1925 Geneva protocol banning use of chemical weapons.

"In the nuclear era, the major powers bear a special responsibility to ease these sources of conflict and refrain from aggression," Reagan said. "That is why we are so deeply concerned by Soviet conduct."

WELCOMED TO UN — United Nations Secretary General Javier Perez de Cuellar, right, shows the way for President Ronald Reagan after Reagan's arrival at the UN Thursday. Reagan will address the UN disarmament conference during his visit.

Reagan spoke before the same forum where Gromyko drew heavy applause Tuesday with a declaration from Soviet President Leonid Brezhnev that his country will not use nuclear weapons first in any conflict.

While Reagan did not address that issue in his speech, a senior administration official shrugged off the importance of the Soviet pledge, saying the United States could not base its military planning simply on a declaration from Moscow.

In his speech, Reagan cited a U.S. arms control record that began in 1946 with a proposal to turn control of nuclear weapons and atomic energy over to an international authority, and continues with his recent plan for reducing U.S. and Soviet warhead stockpiles.

Recalling the words of President Eisenhower, Reagan said "We are for peace, first, last and always."

While committing the United States to work for real arms control measures, Reagan said, "We need more than mere words, more than empty promises, before we can proceed."

In perhaps his harshest indictment of Soviet behavior, yet, Reagan said the Soviet Union since World War II had amassed a "record of tyranny" by dominating Eastern Europe and erecting the Berlin Wall, taking over Czechoslovakia, Hungary and Afghanistan and orchestrating the military crackdown in Poland.

"Soviet-sponsored guerrillas and terrorists are at work in Central and South America, in Africa, the Middle East, in the Caribbean and in Europe, violating human rights and unnerving the world with violence," Reagan said. "Communist atrocities in Southeast Asia, Afghanistan and elsewhere continue to shock the free world as refugees escape to tell of their horror."

On nuclear policy, he declared: "The decade of so-called detente witnessed the most massive Soviet buildup of military power in history.

Death-row inmate demands execution

AMARILLO, Texas (AP) — A convicted killer writing from death row told a state district judge that "the poised sword of justice" demands the hour and date of his execution be scheduled.

Condemned prisoner Charles F. Rumbaugh told Judge George C. Dowlen he had instructed his court-appointed attorney to no longer appeal his conviction and there was "no legal basis for further delay in setting a date for sentence to be carried out." Dowlen would not comment Wednesday on the letter, sent by Rumbaugh from the state prison at Huntsville, but he gave a copy to the Amarillo Globe News.

"I believe ... the poised sword of justice demands that a date be set or appointed for it to strike with the awesome weight of the State of Texas and jurisprudence behind it," Rumbaugh said in the letter.

Rumbaugh, 24, was just 17 when he was first convicted for the 1975 robbery and murder of Amarillo jeweler Michael Fiorillo, 58.

The Texas Court of Criminal Appeals overturned that 1976 conviction and ordered a second trial. But Rumbaugh was convicted again in 1980 and sentenced to die by lethal injection.

"I would respectfully remind this honorable court that two duly empaneled juries ... convicted me of capital murder and determined that there exists a probability that I would commit future crimes of violence that would constitute a continuing threat to society."

"In short, I perceive that these two juries determined that I am a defective humanoid who must be eliminated because I allegedly possess some sort of defect which might cause me to run amok and do all manner of strange things should I ever be released upon society," Rumbaugh wrote.

John Duncan, head of the American Civil Liberties Union in Austin, said the ACLU probably would intervene to get a stay of execution if a court-appointed attorney did nothing.

Police Beat 3 arrested in pot case

Police said they arrested 18-year-old Rafael Ortiz Jr. and a juvenile female, both of 302 W. Seventh, as well as Maximo Hernandez, 19, of 1500-A Virginia, at 4:40 p.m. yesterday after being issued a search warrant for the Seventh street residence.

Ortiz and the juvenile girl both are suspected of possessing over four ounces of marijuana at the time of their arrest, police Detective Bud Jones said. Ortiz also is suspected of unlawfully carrying a weapon, Jones said.

Police arrested the juvenile at her residence during the search, Jones said. Ortiz, with Hernandez as a passenger, tried to avoid police in a 1969 Chevrolet, Jones said. Police pursued the two men to the intersection of West Sixth and Bell, where they were arrested, Jones said.

Police said they found a .25-caliber pistol under the front seat of Ortiz' car.

Jones said an investigation cleared Hernandez and he was released from city jail "on his own recognizance."

The juvenile girl was released on $5,000 bond and Ortiz was released on $10,000 and $2,500 bonds, Jones said. Bonds were set by Justice of the Peace Lewis Heflin, according to Jones.

Area chamber of commerce awaits response to study

By BOB CARPENTER Staff Writer

The Big Spring Area Chamber of Commerce Board of Directors yesterday approved an internal re-accreditation study to be sent to the U.S. Chamber of Commerce for acceptance. The study, conducted by six task force committees, is a self-study and evaluation of the Big Spring chamber's programs, activities, operations, staff and facilities in an attempt to gauge the effectiveness of the organization. The action came in a regular meeting held at the chamber.

According to Johnnie Lou Avery, general chairperson for the re-accreditation study, the U.S. chamber, after studying the report, will send a team to Big Spring to visit the task forces and help identify any weaknesses or problems within the chamber.

Mrs. Avery said the study encompassed "things the chamber will need to look at before its next re-accreditation in five years. The findings are the major things it needs to be the most effective it can be."

The areas included in the study are organization, program of action, financing, staff, communications and plant and equipment.

Included in the study was a recommendation that committees and committee chairmen be chosen selectively to ensure the most effective people are running the chamber's activities, a proposal for more awards for outstanding volunteer service within the chamber, a request for more fringe benefits for chamber employees and a suggestion that the idea of enlarging the chamber's facilities be considered.

In business matters, the chamber okayed a proposed budget of $53,700 for the Tourist and Convention Committee to be taken before the Big Spring Council in its next meeting for approval.

Richard Atkins, committee chairman, said tourism "is the second or third most important industry in Big Spring. It's a very important part of the economy and a fantastic opportunity for Big Spring and it needs to be given our attention."

If approved, the budget will be elevated from last year's figure of $42,000, Atkins said.

With an increased budget, the chamber hopes to be able to attract more travelers and conventions to the city, he said. In other action, the board voted to approve liability insurance for the chamber and its members.

"The insurance will cover the actions of the staff, board members, committee members and the executive board," said LeRoy Tillery, executive vice president of the chamber.

The policy is written for $1 million at an annual premium of $772.50, according to Tillery. The board decided to sign a contract with First State Insurance Co. in Wilmington, Del., that will give the chamber coverage for the next three years.

In other happenings in the chamber, the Business Committee is sponsoring a window and in-store decoration contest for the week of the Big Spring rodeo (next week).

Entries will be judged in two categories: general retail and western specialty stores.

Winners will be the guests of the Business Committee at the Thursday performance of the rodeo and will be recognized at that time. Stores wishing to enter should call the chamber at 263-7641 by Monday.

Also, the Starlight Specials Talent show has been scheduled for July 17 at 8 p.m. in the Comanche Trail Park Amphitheater.

Contestants must be between the ages of 6 and 18 and enrolled in school. There will be three divisions of talent: elementary (grades 1-5), junior high (grades 6-8) and high school (grades 9-12).

The event is presented by the chamber's Cultural Affairs Committee under direction of Frank Wentz. For further information about the show, call Wentz at 263-6285.

Cosden grass fire doused

A Wednesday morning grass fire in the dump ground area of Cosden Oil and Chemical Co. was extinguished by Cosden employees with no damage to equipment and no injuries, said Ron Medley, vice president of operations for Cosden.

The fire was described by Medley as being of a "very minor nature," and took place in an area where obsolete equipment is stored, he said.

needing upgrading. TEA also referred the school to the state fire marshal, who made four visits and proposed the district "do something with the facilities," Blake said.

A growing lack of space and the deterioration of the building are the principal problems of the district. The superintendent emphasized the space problem by pointing out the four English classes are forced into the library.

"It's a small library to begin with and we have some office machines stored in there too, like the copier and duplicator," Blake said. "A class can be going on when someone has to go in and run off copies of something."

The small school of 274 students is growing rapidly, according to the superintendent, and a place is needed for new students. "We have no place to put any growing classes," Blake noted.

The proposed $2.3 million bond issue would also fund the alleviation of space problems in the cafeteria and several offices. Plans are to double the size of the cafeteria in order to prevent the lunch-hour "chaos" of overcrowding and hurrying, Blake said.

He added that the counselor is without an office and the school and tax boards lack places to meet.

Additionally, the heating system often leaks fumes into the classrooms and the ventilation in the single science lab is inadequate to remove odors, Blake said. Plans are to construct two new science labs to accommodate new learning classes as well as install a central cooling and heating system.

Outdated electrical wiring, insufficient rest rooms, substandard lighting, cramped classrooms, a mildewy gym nicknamed the "Alamo," and inadequate sports parking are other areas needing changes, Blake said.

"I don't want to paint too bleak a picture, but we need to renovate our present facilities," the superintendent said. "We're not asking just to be asking, but we're just asking for what needs to be done."

Blake encouraged parents to come by the school and look at the problems. "Come look and make up your own mind and make a decision," he urged.

Should the $2.3 million bond election pass, Blake estimated 16 to 18 months would pass before the construction changes are completed. If the bond election fails, the prognosis is not good for the district. "I shudder to think of all the problems if it doesn't pass," Blake said.

The school still has to make all of the changes ordered by the TEA accreditation team, such as wiring, lighting, heating and cooling, space and so forth.

"The ultimate solution would be to shut down the school," Blake noted.

Youth hospitalized with gunshot wound

What began as a simple phone call from a bed for Bobby Don Kimbrell ended with him in a hospital with a gunshot wound to the abdomen. The 17-year-old Howard County youth is in satisfactory condition today in Malone-Hogan Hospital after accidentally shooting himself with his mother's pistol, Sheriff's deputies said.

According to the deputies report, Kimbrell said he was attempting to make a phone call in his mother's home when her gun fell between the bedframe and the box-springs. When he pulled on the weapon to dislodge it, the gun discharged, striking the boy on the left side of his abdomen, deputies said.

No further investigation of the incident is planned by the sheriff's office.

Firemen will hold MDA fund campaign

The Big Spring Fire Department will campaign for funds to benefit the Muscular Dystrophy Association Saturday from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. at major shopping centers, according to Arson Investigator Rodney Phillips.

The campaign is in cooperation with other Permian Basin fire departments who have organized "Fill the Boot," a special annual fund-raiser in which firemen collect donations from motorists and shoppers using their fire boots and canisters.

Nationwide, the fire departments reportedly collect over $30 million a year for MDA. The International Association of Fire Fighters and non-union firemen have been national cooperating organizations for MDA for over 30 years.

Approximately 20 Big Spring fire officials will work in shifts to solicit donations, primarily at Highland South Shopping Center, Big Spring Mall and College Park Shopping Center, Phillips said.

The funds raised in the "Fill the Boot" campaign will help continue research and provide medical services to residents of the Permian Basin who are afflicted with one of 40 neuromuscular diseases.

Illinois ERA backers invade state House

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP) — A noisy invasion of the Illinois House by a dozen women supporting the Equal Rights Amendment — including two who got stepped on by a legislator — may have harmed chances of passage, both ERA opponents and supporters say.

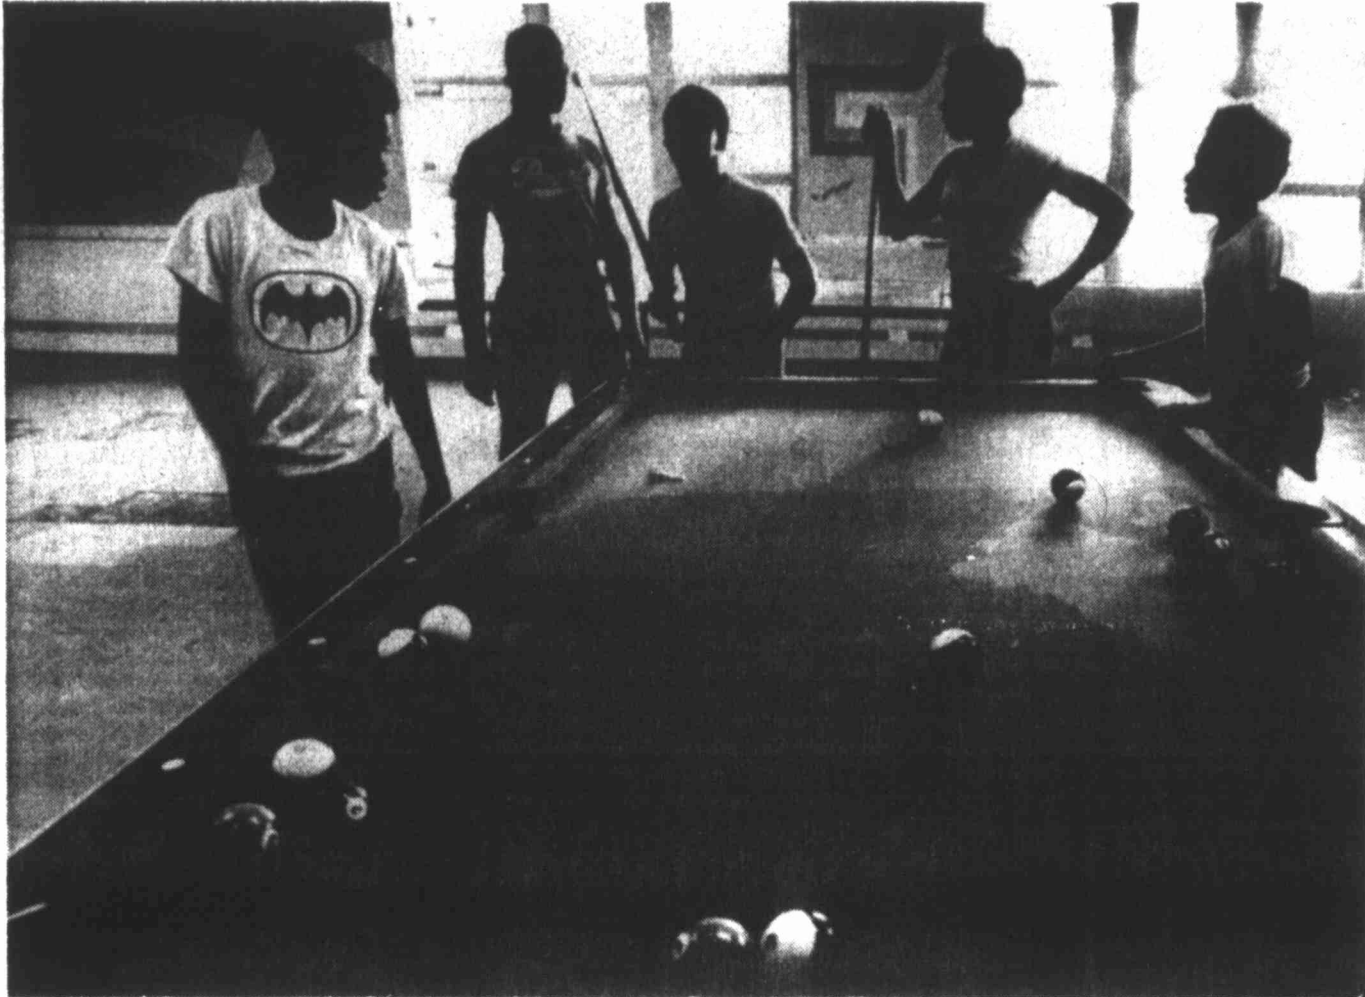

"It certainly hurts the movement," said Speaker George Ryan, a few minutes after he gavelled the House session to an early close Wednesday. "I'm not for the movement, but I don't condone those kind of activities at any time."

"The actions that are taking place on the floor of the House today are not doing the passage of the Equal Rights Amendment any favors," long-time ERA supporter Rep. Harry "Bus" Yourell told the protesters as they sat on the floor in front of the speaker's podium.

The women chanted and sang while Yourell spoke. Some members tried in vain to conduct legislative business.

Veteran statehouse watchers said it was the first time they could recall that citizens had invaded the legislative chamber.

The protesters remained after adjournment but left at 5 p.m. Lawmakers planned to try to resume work today; the demonstrators did not indicate if they would return.

KILLING TIME — Five of the 31 children taken away from a man who recruited them to sell candy door-to-door play pool at an El Paso children's home Wednesday. The children were taken to the home after Bilal Muhammed

Ali, 40, who had recruited them, was arrested on child molestation charges. The photo was taken in silhouette because child welfare officials were protecting their identities.

NCPAC considers $1 million lobby against Bentsen

DALLAS (AP) — A national conservative lobby is testing the Texas waters to see if it wants to spend $1 million to unseat Sen. Lloyd Bentsen.

The National Conservative Political Action Committee will test TV commercials alleging that Bentsen is "too liberal for Texas," the group's chairman said Wednesday.

John T. "Terry" Dolan, NCPAC chairman, said two of the commercials will air next week in Lubbock. One, showing cheerleaders enthusiastically cheering for Bentsen until being told of some of his votes, was filmed at Texas Stadium in Irving Wednesday, he said.

Dolan said putting on the anti-Bentsen media campaign in Texas' major markets would cost $1 million, all of it to be raised in Texas.

"If we do not feel we're having an impact we won't continue the effort," he said.

A Bentsen campaign spokesman said he doubts the NCPAC effort will get off the ground financially.

Dolan had said NCPAC, which is credited with helping defeat several Senate liberals in 1980, considered unseating Bentsen this year "a low priority."

NCPAC says it has raised $50,000 in Texas so far, enough to pay for the tests and a survey Dolan said has shown Texans misperceive Bentsen's voting record.

Dolan told reporters Tuesday that supporters of Bentsen's Republican opponent, U.S. Rep. Jim Collins, had talked the group into attacking the Democrat and raised enough money to start a campaign.

Dolan disagreed with a Bentsen campaign suggestion that because a NCPAC political consultant was working for Collins, NCPAC would be limited by law to spending $5,000 against Bentsen.

Dolan said Bentsen "is not the most liberal member of the Senate," but has voted with liberals on important votes.

"If we focus that record to the people to the people of Texas, I think we'll be successful in seeing that he's not re-elected," Dolan said.

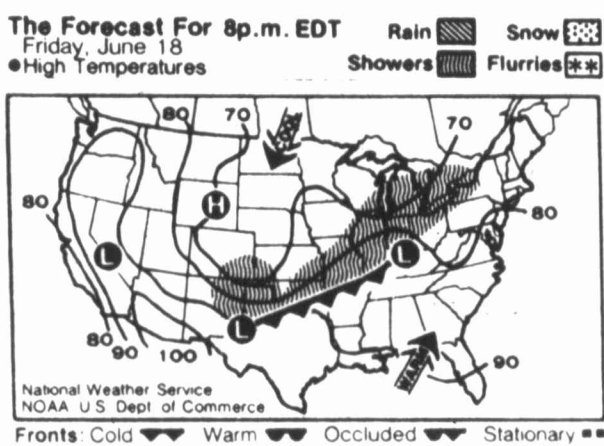

Dolan said NCPAC considers forced busing, public school prayer and federally funding for abortions key issues to focus on in a campaign against Bentsen.

But Jack DeVore, Bentsen's press secretary, said NCPAC distorts Bentsen's voting record. Bentsen opposes forced busing, supports school prayer and opposes federally funded abortions, DeVore said. Bentsen may have cast votes the other way, but only at times when those issues were unimportant to the bills in question.

A lawyer for the Democratic Senatorial Campaign Committee, a group backing the re-election attempts of Bentsen and other Democrats, has issued a memorandum challenging NCPAC's right to spend an unlimited amount of money in the race.

Arthur Finkelstein, a New York political consultant, is on both NCPAC's and Collins' payroll. Federal election law allows unlimited expenditures on a candidate's behalf only by groups independent of his campaign.

Man held for indecency after 31 children found

By STEVE BREWER
Associated Press Writer

EL PASO, Texas (AP) — Some of the 31 children found packed in two motel rooms have been interviewed by prosecutors trying to determine if other charges would be filed against a man who recruited them to sell candy door-to-door.

Bilal Muhammed Ali, 40, of San Antonio, has been charged with indecency with a child for allegedly molesting a 12-year-old girl, who was part of his traveling sales force.

He was being held in lieu of $100,000 bond Wednesday in the El Paso County jail.

Assistant District Attorney Carol Pennock videotaped interviews with some of the San Antonio children Wednesday and planned to finish interviewing 26 of the 31 children today.

"Until we have interviewed them all, it will be difficult to say what, if any, other charges will be filed against him," she said.

Five of the children were those of Ali and his wife, Fatimah. They were released into Mrs. Ali's custody Wednesday afternoon after officials decided there was no reason to hold them.

Harry Kincaid, child placement supervisor for the state Department of Human Resources here, said the family remained in El Paso on Wednesday to see what would become of Ali.

Meanwhile, the other 26 children were to be reunited with their parents in San Antonio this evening, Kincaid said.

He said a bus chartered by the department would leave about 7 p.m.

The children's plight came to the attention of Kincaid's department Monday night when police found some youngsters on the streets and returned them to a central El Paso motel.

There, police found the 31 children, the Ali's and another woman all staying in two motel rooms, Kincaid said.

Child welfare investigators interviewed the children Tuesday and then took them into state custody when Ali was arrested.

Kincaid said the children, who range in age from 9 to 15, had been placed in Ali's care by their parents, who were assured they would be well fed and would earn money for school.

Ali is founder and president of a two-year-old firm called Action Youth Self-Help Inc., which recruits children for the candy sales force.

"We don't have any reason to think the parents knew what was going on," Kincaid said. "They all thought it was on the up and up. Some of the kids come from pretty poor backgrounds and I guess it sounded real good to the parents."

Instead, the children were worked long hours seven days a week, fed irregularly and didn't receive the promised 75 cents for each $2.50 box of candy sold, he said.

"They were told they would receive their money at the end of this thing," he said.

Kincaid said the children, who were in good health, crammed into two vans and left San Antonio nearly two weeks ago. They sold candy in several West Texas cities before coming to El Paso on Monday, he said.

Wednesday, the children kept workers at the Southwestern Community Home busy as they played games and ate sandwiches.

Texans among plane crash victims

McALESTER, Okla. (AP) — The bodies of three Texas residents have been discovered in the wreckage of a light aircraft that went down in the rugged Jack Fork Mountains.

The wreckage was discovered by a search plane Wednesday, nearly 24 hours after the craft went down in a thunderstorm, authorities said.

Those found in the wreckage were identified as George Veteto of Conroe, Texas, the plane's pilot; Dale Hamby of Conroe, and his wife, Billie. The Hambys were passengers on the plane.

The Piper Turbo Saratoga ST was spotted just before noon Wednesday, but it took volunteers on horseback about three hours to arrive at the crash site, said Oklahoma Highway Patrol spokesman Tom Powers.

The plane was en route to Tulsa late

Tuesday afternoon when the pilot issued a distress call that "one wing had been torn off the aircraft," patrol Lt. Lloyd Basinger said.

An emergency locator signal apparently from the aircraft was picked up by an Oklahoma Highway Patrol plane Wednesday morning, but low cloud cover grounded search planes for much of the morning.

Shooting of Mexican alien investigated

EDINBURG, Texas (AP) — Investigations were under way today by federal and local authorities into the shooting death of a Mexican who was killed after a federal tick inspector discovered him allegedly smuggling a horse into Mexico.

The inspector told the Hidalgo County sheriff's department that his gun discharged accidentally Tuesday afternoon when he lost his footing on the banks of the Rio Grande, according to chief investigator Erasmo Bravo.

Ruben Marquez Guardiola of Reynosa, Mexico, was shot once in the head and died instantly, Bravo said.

The inspector general's office of the U.S. Agriculture Department also sent agents to investigate the incident. The tick inspectors are USDA employees who patrol the Rio Grande on horseback to keep out livestock bearing dangerous fever ticks.

They won the authority this spring to carry firearms after testifying before congressional committees that they needed protection against drug smugglers and other criminals they encounter along the river.

Raymond Smith, tick force district supervisor, said the shooting was the first since the agents were granted permission to carry weapons. Tick riders have said privately that they have always carried guns on patrol.

No charges were filed in the incident, Bravo said the case will be turned over to the district attorney after the investigation by local authorities is complete for possible presentation to the grand jury.

Hernaro Molina Gonzalez

of Reynosa, who witnessed the shooting, had purchased the horse and was seen driving toward the river by the federal agents, Bravo said.

Bravo would not release the name of the inspector involved because he said he feared for the inspector's safety.

Firemen wouldn't help

Charlie Perkins peers through the door of his restaurant, Charlie's Bar-B-Que in Cleburne, Texas, after a fire gutted the building early Tuesday morning. The Cleburne fire department answered the call, but did not attempt to put out the fire because the restaurant was 100 yards outside the city limits.

Recycled auto parts not 'used up'

By LINDA TRUITT
Better Business Bureau

How often have you turned the ignition key to your car only to hear deafening silence? Most often in this case only the battery needs recharging or replacing, but occasionally the problem is more serious — such as the starter needing to be replaced. The mechanic gives you an option — you can purchase either a new or recycled part. Which is better?

Recycled auto and truck parts don't necessarily mean "used-up" or "worn-out" parts. Many parts are dismantled from wrecked autos and recycled by professionals who clean, test, and mark the parts for application and mileage. According to Marshall Box, owner of Box Auto Salvage, there is often a large variety of used parts available and they are 30 to 50 percent cheaper than new parts. A 30 to 90-day warranty usually accompanies the part.

If the part is not available usually the dealer will try to locate the part for you. Locating the part may take a few minutes to a full day. Computers are being used to inventory thousands of parts, including those for cars 10 years or more, and, many dealers have access to this information by telephone. The part usually is in your hands in two to four days depending on how far it must be shipped.

When buying recycled auto or truck parts that a mechanic will install or that you will install yourself, it is important that you deal with a reputable salvage or wrecking yard or parts store. You may want to ask about prices, store policies concerning returning parts, the warranty coverage and restocking charges before you do business with the company.

The Permian Basin Better Business Bureau also suggests that you:

- Have an experienced mechanic diagnosis the problem, if you don't know what it is. With this information you can buy the right part at the outset.

- Have the following information available — the model and year of the car, size of the engine, and whether the car has two or four doors. Also take the old part to the dealer if you can. You may be given credit on the part.

- Ask questions about the part you are buying. It may be wiser to invest in a new part such as electrical parts or brakes. Rebuilt part (parts completely disassembled, replacement of worn-out items, and cleaned) may or may not be as good as a new part. According to Box, some rebuilt engines are sold with defective parts, therefore, you should ask for a written statement of what parts have actually been replaced. Tommy Childers with Western Transmission, on the other hand, says rebuilt transmissions are just as good as new ones and cost one third the price.

- Ask about the warranty coverage. A part that is priced very cheap may not have a warranty. Bill McDonald with Westex Auto Parts Inc. recommends having the mileage of your car written on the service ticket since many warranties are for a specific number of days or an exact number of miles.

War news stole Reagan's European thunder

By MICHAEL PUTZEL
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Reagan's European tour was a made-for-television spectacular, but despite the months of planning and rehearsing that went into it, the news of faraway wars often stole the show.

There were times, too, when the capricious eye of the camera caught the president off his guard.

White House planners led by deputy Chief of Staff Michael K. Deaver had timed some of the most photogenic moments of the 10-day tour to coincide with the American networks' morning shows. Those shows, with their penchant for demonstrating the technological wonder of covering an event live as it occurs an ocean — and six times zones — away, were most accommodating in the planning stage.

And for the first time in advance of such a trip, the White House had called in the major television anchor personalities for their own special briefings on what to expect.

But with Israel's invasion of Lebanon, the moving pictures of Old World honor guards and Reagan riding horseback with the queen of England suddenly became filler material instead of a center stage where the planners had hoped the spotlight would be.

The decision-making often took place behind a row of network owned trailers hidden behind a palace wall at Versailles while the leaders of the industrialized democracies were holding their economic summit inside.

We were the second or third story each night," observed White House communications chief David R. Gergen. "Obviously, the explosion in the Middle East and the Falklands got a lot of attention."

But the aide expressed a general satisfaction with the coverage, particularly on European television, which he said appears to have given Europeans a more accurate and benign view of the American president.

Donovan faces long odds to keep job, senator says

WASHINGTON (AP) — Labor Secretary Raymond J. Donovan faces long odds in keeping his job in the Reagan Cabinet, says a key Republican senator who has reviewed the latest charges that Donovan had ties to organized crime figures.

"The odds are in favor of his departure," said Sen. Orrin G. Hatch, R-Utah, who as chairman of the Senate Labor Committee is Donovan's most important contact in the Senate.

"I just don't see how he's going to overcome the fact that 46 Democratic senators and at least one Republican senator are against him at this point," Hatch told reporters Wednesday.

The lone Republican is Sen. Dan Quayle of Indiana who said last month Donovan should resign if he does not apologize to the labor committee.

But deputy White House press secretary Larry Speakes said President Reagan has not lost confidence in Donovan and will withhold any further decision until completion of the a report by special prosecutor Leon Silverman.

However, the Detroit News said in today's editions that the feeling that Donovan should resign is present "at the highest levels" in the White House.

"The feeling here is that enough is enough," the newspaper quoted an unidentified "key White House adviser" as saying. "It is felt that no matter what happens with the special prosecutor, Donovan should resign," the source said.

Silverman, a court-appointed lawyer, is investigating allegations that Donovan was involved in underworld-influenced bid-rigging and union payoffs on behalf of his former company, Schiavone Construction of Secaucus, N.J.

His report is expected to be concluded by next week.

Donovan, who has repeatedly denied all organized crime connections, is due back Sunday from a European trip.

Hatch stopped short of calling for Donovan's resignation.

But he said Donovan's prospects for staying on are dim because only Silverman's investigation can clear him. That is unlikely, said Hatch, because some of the key witnesses in the probe are no longer alive.

Artists occupy New York's unused schools

NEW YORK (AP)—Three of New York City's public-school buildings, left vacant by a shrinking student enrollment, have been grabbed up by an artistic community in need of valuable urban space, and have been transformed into thriving new centers for young, up-and-coming artists.

Since 1975 a total of 82 school buildings have been removed from their original use and are no longer under the jurisdiction of the Board of Education.

In 1976 an organization called the Institute for Art and Urban Resources obtained P.S. 1, the first public school built in the borough of Queens in 1890. Alaina Heiss, founding director of the group, got a 20-year lease from the city of New York for only $1,000 a year and the pioneering artists themselves began repainting and refurbishing the rooms into raw exhibits.

The large red-brick structure, nestled in the industrial-working-class environs of Long Island City, had been slated for demolition since 1963 and was in a derelict state.

Today the freshly painted, sunlit classrooms make an unusual, ideal environment as exhibition, studio and performance space. P.S. 1 attracts experimental artists from across the United States as well as Europe and is the largest alternative space in North America, according to Institute spokesman Tom Finkelpearl.

As opposed to more traditional, slicker museum space, school buildings such as P.S. 1 prove a continual surprise to the viewer with their large-scale installations and the utilization of hallways, closets, windows, and even bathrooms by artists.

At a "survival show" to raise funds for a second, similarly used former school building on Manhattan's Lower East Side, visitors peeking into a principal's office, instead of a desk and filing cabinets found a lush jungle environment on display. Or, peering down a dark stairwell, they saw a life-size cardboard woman in a flowing wedding dress.

The juxtaposition effectively throws familiar school memories completely off-balance.

At P.S. 1's most recent opening there were rooms featuring video, film, photography, fashion shows, performance, dance, poetry and architecture exhibits, as well as "sound corridors"—hallways with exhibits featuring noises coming out of speakers.

A New Orleans-based artist displayed models of wildly designed "art cars, humanized alternatives to Detroit's mass production," while in the next room there was a cabaret setting with a rock 'n' roll band playing in front of a huge baby painted on the wall, with video screens for eyes.

In one of the special projects rooms an artist constructed another, higher floor at window level, completely altering the experience of the room. In last year's "Critical Perspectives" show contemporary art critics were asked to curate their own room. In one, art by Yoko Ono, graffiti artist Futu a 2000 and local New Wave musicians Alan Vega and Pat Place were combined.

Elderly cautioned about drug therapy

NEW HYDE PARK, N.Y. (AP)—When a 79-year-old stroke patient was admitted recently to the Jewish Institute for Geriatric Care in New Hyde Park from an acute-care hospital, the list of medications she was being treated with looked like an extensive shopping list.

Within days, physicians and pharmacists were at work to see which of the 15 drugs were actually needed. Three weeks later, the patient was down to three primary drugs in addition to two vitamins and one laxative.

"Acute-care hospital staff are taught to treat the diseased state while viewing age as a secondary factor to treatment," explains Harry Smith, Director of Pharmacy at JIGC and professor of geriatric pharmacy at St. John's University, New York City.

"The geriatric patient is clearly a distinct segment of the population and thus their age should be of primary importance," says Smith, who stresses that although pharmaceutical companies' warnings are not made on the basis of age alone, prescribers should be aware of the body's response to aging.

"Many conditions from which the elderly suffer do not require drug treatment," says the pharmacy director of JIGC, a 527-bed voluntary, non-profit geriatric and rehabilitation facility.

For example, he points to the changes that take place as the body ages, which include weight loss, bending of the spine, decrease in muscle weight and an increase in fat, loss of approximately 25-3 percent of body water and alterations in the functional efficiency of the organ system.

In addition, he notes, "the heart changes its size, blood vessels shrink and lungs may decrease in elasticity."

"The body is telling us it's lived long and hard," Smith says, adding that a complete understanding of the geriatric patient allows practitioners to avoid poly-pharmacy, which is simply administration of excessive medication.

The variability of organ functions, physiological responses and normal body processes all interact in geriatric patients to make drug therapy sometimes hazardous and definitely worthy of cautious approach, he warns.

"Adverse drug reactions occur more frequently in the elderly population," he says. "And because drug therapy is often unpredictable in the elderly person, each drug should be looked upon as a new therapeutic experience."

An example of this, he says, is that between 20-

25 percent of all minor tranquilizer usage is for patients over 65. "Manufacturers' literature emphasizes dosage levels for younger, often healthier patients, overlooking the fact that these agents not only mask normal functioning in the elderly but can also cause undesirable side effects. As a result, patients are misdiagnosed and require dosage adjustments."

Patients need educating as well, says Smith who, realizing this need in the specialized field of geriatrics, has started a counseling program for patients soon to be discharged. The program includes one-to-one discussions of medications, general rules for taking drugs safely, how to adhere to the physician's instructions, and the anatomy and physiology behind their medical conditions.

"People want to know and understand the importance of drug therapy to their well being," he says. "Becoming knowledgeable about their problems reinforces active participation in the treatment process."

"You add unnecessary drugs to the intricate and changing geriatric body and you get negative results," he adds. "The quality of life is enhanced when drugs are used cautiously and physicians are aware of the medications being taken."

Typing contest winner was trained on piano

BALTIMORE (AP)—A woman at home with the piano and organ keyboards also displayed her talent on a typewriter keyboard to win first prize in the fifth annual Staff Builders' World's Fastest Typist Contest here.

Mary Jane Mueller, a pianist and organist who also won the top award in 1979, had defeated hundreds of other typists previously to attain a seat in the finals, which she won by setting a new speed record for the contest. The mark was 123 words per minute after deduction for two errors in the five-minute test.

In the finals the administrative secretary for the Baltimore County Auditing Division triumphed over a field of 25 U.S. and Canadian champions to land the $2,000 cash prize and an electronic typewriter.

The contest is co-sponsored by Staff Builders, an agency supplying temporary personnel, and Olivetti Corp., a manufacturer of typewriters.

Forest fires are helping Big Bend woods

By STEVE BREWER
Associated Press Writer

BIG BEND NATIONAL PARK, Texas (AP) — Smokey the Bear would be appalled.

The National Park Service and the U.S. Forest Service are planning to set forest fires in the Big Bend National Park this fall that will consume about 100 acres of prime woodlands.

Robert A. Huggins, public affairs officer at the park, said the controlled burn is necessary to prevent a larger, accidental fire in the Chisos Basin, a hollow in the soaring Chisos Mountains that forms a biological island in the center of the 1,100-square-mile park. It contains some of the park's finest camping areas, stables, a store and a lodge.

"We've controlled all the fires in the basin since 1944 when the park was created," Huggins said. "By putting out all of the fires, we've created an unnatural situation. We've developed large fuel layers in the woods. With the right kind of conditions, we could have a holocaust."

Most of the basin is thickly wooded with pine trees, cottonwoods, junipers, oaks, even maples. Some trees, such as ponderosa pines, Arizona cypress and Douglas fir grow here at the very extremes of their normal ranges. Other plants, such as the Chisos oak, mountain sage and the Chisos agave, grow nowhere else in the world.

The basin has flourished under the protective eye of the park service, but the lack of fire has accelerated the fire hazard.

"We know that pine trees only live so long anyway," Huggins said. "You suddenly have a forest that just dies. The dead trees pile up and are just waiting for a fire to be started by lightning or by man."

So, the burns have been scheduled to clear out the fuel layers.

"Under very controlled conditions, we will burn out small sections in a mosaic pattern," he said. "We'll have a fire crew right there. It will be when the moisture and all other conditions are just right."

It's too hot and dry to conduct the burns during the summer, so the plans have been postponed until fall.

"We tried it in the spring," Huggins said. "The fire crews came up. We were all ready to start and it just poured down rain."

Special crews trained in containing forest fires will be used to halt the fires when they reach the set boundaries. Huggins said everything possible will be done to protect large, living trees so that the fire scar will not be too much of an eyesore.

Huggins said crews could attempt to remove the brush by hand, but that it is more natural to let fire do its work.

"Fire caused by lightning is part of the ecological system," he said. "The same kind of thing would have happened 100 years ago before man-the-firefighter came on the scene."

Huggins said visitors probably will be surprised at how quickly thriving green plants cover the burned areas. He noted that plants nearly have covered the damage done by a lightning fire a year ago at Sotol Vista — a high vantage point covered with the desert plant sotol.

"We had lightning strike a big sotol right there in the area," he said. "We let it burn and it burned itself out. You go up there just a year later and you can hardly tell there had been a fire," he said.

"Within a month, the grass was growing back. I figured it would take two or three years."

Huggins said the controlled burn method has been used in other parks, including the Grand Tetons and Yellowstone National Park. At Big Bend, park officials will analyze the results of the first burn, plans call for 50-acre fires in 1983 and 1984.

Dawson moves toward budget

LAMESA (SC) — Dawson County commissioners spent most of a meeting Monday putting final touches on the budget, which is due next month, said County Judge Leslie Pratt.

The judge indicated a great deal of effort is needed to assure that by the time of the next commissioners meeting a budget will be completed.

The court also discussed several routine matters concerning accounts payable and the approval of minutes.

Rancher to talk on economy

Borden County rancher Rich Anderson, who recently joined the National Advisory Board of the National Democratic Policy Committee, will hold a public meeting Saturday at 2 p.m. in the auditorium of Big Spring City Hall, Third and Nolan.

The national Democratic Policy Committee is a grass-roots political action movement with reported chapters in over 600 cities and 15,000 members.

Anderson will talk on "how to stop the Federal Reserve from destroying our economy and restore the American system of production."

The meeting is free.

Bookkeeping firm reopens

Dorothy Bennett Bookkeeping, which has been closed since Mrs. Bennett passed away, has re-opened under new ownership. Sue Warren and Dottie Carper of Big Spring have purchased the business and are open for business, according to Ms. Warren.

"We will continue the same services — income tax, quarterly reports and so forth — in the same location with the same phone number," Ms. Warren said. She added she and Ms. Carper had purchased the business on June 8.

Mission prepares for revival

A special youth mission from The Church of God of Prophecy has gathered in Big Spring. The members are canvassing the area, taking census door to door as a prerequisite to a revival crusade scheduled for today through June 23, 7:30 p.m. daily. Location of the services is 1411 Dixie. Pastor Curtis Sculthorp welcomes the public to the old-time revival services.

Camera club to form

There will be an organizational meeting of the Crossroads Camera Club June 25 at 8 p.m. on the second floor of the Permian Building in downtown Big Spring. For more information, call Photography by Dale at 263-2211.

White says he's leading

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Attorney General Mark White says a poll commissioned by his gubernatorial campaign shows he now is ahead in his bid to unseat Republican Gov. Bill Clements.

White's campaign on Wednesday released the poll showing he is supported by 46 percent of the voters contacted by pollsters Dressner, Morris and Tortorello.

Clements had the backing of 40 percent, White said. The remaining 14 percent were undecided, but pollster Richard Morris said most of the undecideds "are likely to vote against Bill Clements since they have already concluded they are not necessarily supporting the incumbent governor."

The news release concerning the poll did not say how many voters were contacted or when the poll was conducted.

Study for French bottler criticizes Houston water

HOUSTON (AP) — A French bottling company that believes people in Houston are ready to pay about $1 a quart for drinking water launched a $1 million advertising campaign Tuesday and released a study critical of the local tap water.

"Houston's bottled water sales are increasing faster than the industry itself, and Texas is already the nation's fourth largest market for bottled water," said Jack Maguire, U.S. manager for Evian Waters of France Inc.

The campaign to market the non-carbonated mineral water in Houston follows a similar effort begun in southern Florida two years ago.

A two-liter plastic bottle of the water, taken from the Alpine village of Evian, France, where it bubbles out of a spring, will cost $1.89 — 40 to 50 cents more than a half gallon of milk. A non-returnable glass quart bottle will sell for $1.39.

Sam Kunin, a doctor hired as a U.S. consultant for Evian Waters of France Inc., said it is worth the money because "spring waters are a protection against the potential toxins in the tap water."

Evian released a study saying about a third of Houston's tap water contains suspected cancer-causing chemicals known as trihalomethanes.

The company said all waters tested in the study met government standards, but asked in a press release accompanying the results "Is Houston's public drinking water hazardous to one's health?"

A spokesman for the city water department said there were "traces" of trihalomethanes in water drawn from Lake Houston, but he scoffed at the suggestion that they pose a potential health hazard.

Trihalomethanes, by-products of the chemical reaction between the purifier chlorine and decaying organic matter, "are found in almost all surface water in the world," said Public Works Department spokesman Dan Jones.

Ex-CIA agent waives extradition

NEW YORK (AP) — Former CIA agent Edwin Wilson has waived extradition proceedings for his return to Washington, D.C., to face a variety of international terrorism charges.

The disheveled looking former agent, surrounded by federal marshals and in the same clothes he wore when arrested Tuesday at Kennedy Airport, waived his right to an extradition hearing Wednesday before U.S. Magistrate A. Simon Chren.

Wilson's lawyer, John Keats, said he expected his client to appear before U.S. District Judge John Pratt on Friday or Monday, but he refused to say when Wilson will be moved.

Wilson, 54, who worked for the CIA from 1951 to 1971, was being held in lieu of $20 million bail.

Are AMC Jeeps unsafe?

Not if driven with discretion, company officials say

By ANN JOB WOOLLEY
Associated Press Writer

DETROIT (AP) — It took only seconds for the Jeep that Charles Callihan was driving to skid out of control on an icy highway bridge near Seattle.

The rollover — at about 40 mph — threw the 25-year-old Callihan from the vehicle and killed him. His brother-in-law, a passenger, survived with a skull fracture. Today, nearly nine years after the accident, he still suffers blackouts and seizures.

A third occupant lost three fingers because he hung onto the roll bar as the Jeep overturned.

"It happened on a wide, four-lane freeway, with not a car in sight," Callihan's father, Joe, says. "He had the Jeep well under control. There was no booze, no drugs involved. My son had a spotless record. He had never even received a ticket... I talked personally with the police and there were eyewitnesses, too."

Callihan now calls the Jeeps "the most unsafe vehicles on the road" and says "they ought to be outlawed."

But American Motors Corp., whose subsidiary Jeep Corp. manufactures the vehicles in CJs and CJ7 models, says the Jeeps are not at fault for the accidents.

"They (Jeeps) are safe if driven with some discretion," AMC Chairman W. Paul Tippet Jr. told a stockholder last week at the company's annual meeting. The stockholder had voiced concern over the increasing numbers of product liability lawsuits being filed in Jeep rollover accidents.

"Both my children drive CJs," Tippet said. "If I didn't think they were safe, they wouldn't be driving them."

At a press conference later, Tippet added that the lawsuits and the accompanying publicity "are not impacting Jeep sales at all. They've been up every month this year."

He noted that AMC won two Jeep cases in jury trials this year but he would not comment further.

AMC has not revealed how many Jeep lawsuits it faces or has settled in recent years, but E.C. Gilbreath, a Fort Smith, Ark., attorney representing some plaintiffs in the cases, has been trying to keep a running tally.

His records show the first Jeep lawsuit was filed in 1970 and the numbers have increased to 39 in 1980 and 33 in 1981 for a total of 187 in his files, Gilbreath said. Most of the lawsuits involve rollovers and most involve Jeep CJs and CJ7s, he said.

A majority of the cases that have been closed "were settled by a payment," he said, adding that he does not keep track of whether the payments were court-ordered or out-of-court settlements.

The list includes 49 deaths, 24 instances of paraplegia or quadriplegia and about 100 other injuries, he said.

"I would think that would be an abnormally high rate" for the deaths and injuries, Gilbreath said.

Two studies back up his claims but have been blasted by AMC as being unscientific and inaccurate.

A February 1980 study by the Highway Safety Research Institute at the University of Michigan, prepared for the Insurance Institute for Highway Safety in Washington, D.C., concluded that Jeeps and other utility vehicles roll over at least five times more in accidents than the average passenger car.

The rates of death and disabling injury per accident are twice as high in the utility vehicles compared with passenger cars, the study said.

Researchers blamed the utility vehicles' short wheel base and high center of gravity for the alleged instability.

Diet important factor in cancer, study says

By WARREN E. LEARY
AP Science Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Diet appears to play a role in most common cancers and Americans may be able to reduce their risks by eating less fats and salt-cured foods and more vegetables and grains, the National Academy of Sciences said Wednesday.

In a major study of the link between diet and cancer, the academy's National Research Council said current evidence indicates many cancers are influenced by what people eat.

"In general, the evidence suggests that some types of diets and some dietary components tend to increase the risk of cancer, whereas others tend to decrease it," said a report issued by the study committee.

"The mechanisms responsible for these effects are not fully understood," it continued, "partly because nutritive and non-nutritive components of foods may interact to exert effects on cancer incidence."

The committee, made up of prominent scientists and food experts, said there is not enough data to specify what percentage of cancer risks can be attributed to diet.

There also is not enough information to say how much any improved diets might lower these risks, it added.

But the committee said some evidence was strong enough to recommend dietary guidelines designed to reduce the risks of developing cancer, including the following:

—Eat less food high in any kind of fats, saturated or unsaturated. The main sources of fat in the American diet are meats, whole-milk dairy products and cooking oils, said the study.

—Eat more fruits, vegetables and whole-grain cereal products daily, especially those high in vitamin C, carotene (a substance that converts into vitamin A in the body) and other protective products. These foods include oranges, grapefruit, dark-green leafy vegetables, carrots, winter squash, tomatoes, cabbage, broccoli and brussels sprouts.

—Eat very little salt-cured, salt-pickled and smoked foods, including sausages, soked fish and ham bacon, hot dogs and bologna and other so-called luncheon meats.

—Drink alcohol only in moderation. Excessive consumption of alcohol, particularly combined with cigarette smoking, is associated with increased risks of stomach and lung cancer.

The report said the strongest evidence for a link between cancer and diet was with fats. Human lifestyle studies and animal tests show higher rates of breast, colon and prostate cancers in populations consuming large amounts of fat, it said.

Judge refuses to block Mesa offer

WILMINGTON, Del. (AP) — A federal judge Wednesday refused a Cities Service Co. offer by Mesa Petroleum Co. for 15 percent of Cities Service's shares, a transaction worth $544.5 million.

U.S. District Judge Walter K. Stapleton declined to grant a preliminary injunction sought by the Tulsa, Okla.-based company on grounds that Mesa did not have the financing set for its offer last Monday when it mailed the bid to Cities Service shareholders.

Mesa's tender offer for 12.1 million shares expires at midnight.

Cities Service also filed suit in U.S. District Court in Chicago Tuesday against Continental Illinois National Bank and Trust Co., alleging the bank played an illegal role in arranging financing for Mesa's tender offer.

Mesa President T. Boone Pickens Jr. announced on Sunday that Mesa had signed final financing agreements with an undisclosed group of banks last Friday.

Mesa, meanwhile, on Tuesday also filed a counterclaim and answer to Cities Service's complaint in the Wilmington court.

Mesa charged that Cities Service's tender offer of June 8 for 51 percent of Mesa's shares at $17 each was a manipulative tactic that unlawfully interfered with Mesa's effort to buy Cities Service stock.

Dear Abby

Victims get taken for ride

DEAR ABBY: My parents were involved in an automobile accident four years ago. They were both hospitalized, but thank God they came through it all right. The driver of the other car was at fault, as several witnesses testified.

The driver of the other car was well-insured and my parents were advised to sue. They consulted a lawyer who was also a personal friend and a member of their church. The lawyer worked hard on the case for several years and my parents were awarded a very large amount of money. I was thrilled for them because they were retired, living on a fixed income, and this money would enable them to travel and enjoy a few luxuries.

When my parents received the money, their lawyer told them that he needed to "borrow" the whole amount to pay off some debts. He said he was so deeply in debt he couldn't even tell his wife!

My parents were shocked, but because this lawyer had helped them so much, they turned over the whole amount to him.

I am terribly upset about this because there is nothing in writing, nor was anything said about how the money will be paid back or when. I have a feeling my parents will never see any part of the money. What do you suggest?
CONCERNED DAUGHTER

DEAR CONCERNED: There are many unanswered questions here. What, if anything, did the lawyer tell your parents when he "borrowed" the money? And how long has he had it? On the face of it, it would appear that your parents were taken advantage of, in which case they will need an ethical lawyer to retrieve the money owed them.

DEAR ABBY: The letter stating that two men were legally married to each other in Colorado is absolutely correct. Since County Clerk Chela Rorex could find nothing in the law that forbids one man from marrying another, she issued the license. After the men married, there was a lot of publicity in the local newspapers.

Soon afterward, a local cowboy brought his horse down to the office of the county clerk demanding a marriage

Debbie Salazar, bride-elect of Martin Johnke, was honored with a bed and bath shower in the Reddy Room of Texas Electric Monday.

Hostesses were Vickie Moore, Linda McCormick, Mary Alice Anderson, Jean Thomas, Billie Gilbert, Carmen Phillips, Charlsa Myers and Christina Hilario. The hostesses presented Miss Salazar with a comforter.

Miss Salazar was given a corsage of silk flowers and peach-colored roses. Special guests were Mrs. Tim Salazar, mother of the honoree, and Mrs. Marvin Johnke, mother of the prospective bridegroom.

Bride and bridegroom dolls under umbrellas decorated the tables. They were made by Mrs. Moore.

The couple plans to wed in Immaculate Heart of Mary Church July 17.

Port Aransas couple announces first child's birth

Mr. and Mrs. Greg Mason of Port Aransas announce the birth of their first child, a son, Grady Lee, at 10:52 p.m. at Spohn Hospital in Corpus Christi, May 19. He weighed 5 pounds 8 ounces and was 17 inches long.

Grady Lee's maternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Hall of Port Aransas. His paternal grandparents are Marilyn Mason, 1607 E. 17th, and Truman Mason, of Port Aransas. Grady Lee's maternal great-grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Frisco Ruiz of Okla. His paternal great-grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Gray McCrary, 1611 E. 17th, and Lillian Mason of Austin.

Hostess honor Debbie Butler with bridal shower

Debbie Butler, bride-elect of Ricky Davidson, was honored with a bridal shower in the Reddy Room of Texas Electric Service Company June 8.

Hostesses were Louise Newberry of Lamesa, Shirley Jenkins, Syble Pope and Robbie Froman. The hostesses presented Miss Butler with an electric skillet, a slow cooker and a silk corsage in pink and burgundy, her chosen colors. Similar corsages were given to Novena Butler, mother of the honoree, Mary Ann Merrick, mother of the prospective bridegroom, Ruby Reaves, grandmother of the prospective bridegroom and Anita Butler, sister of the honoree.

Special guests were Jean Dolloff of Midland, aunt of the prospective bridegroom, Dot Anderson and Faye Stallings, great-aunts of the prospective bridegroom. Other out-of-town guests were from Snyder.

The couple plans to wed Aug. 14 in the First Baptist Church Chapel with the Rev. Guy White, pastor of East 4th Street Baptist Church, officiating.

Dr. Donohue

Discolored teeth can be corrected

Dear Dr. Donohue: My 12-year-old son has a problem with his teeth. His teeth have a dark stain on them. It starts at the gum and covers about half of the teeth. Our dentist says it comes from medicine he took as an infant. I have since been told that there is nothing to be done for this problem. This may not seem like much of a problem to most people, but to a 12-year-old who is starting to notice girls and who is becoming very self-conscious, believe me, it is. Isn't there anything at all that can be done for him, or is he going to have dark-stained teeth all his life? — D.M.

Your son has a problem that is very real, and, one, I am sure, that is very embarrassing for him. With dental problems, I must bow to my dental colleagues for their knowledge. I'll pass on what I have been told.

There are ways to bleach the teeth, and that is being evaluated as an answer to your son's problem. And there is a way to bond the teeth with a substance that looks very much like the tooth's own enamel. And finally, there is capping, where teeth are fitted with an artificial cover. So there is no need to have this problem all through life.

I would call the local dental society and ask them what dentists in your area are using any of the methods I described. As an aside to other readers, let me say that when tetracycline drugs are given to children before their teeth are permanently formed, the tetracycline can enter the tooth substance and discolor it.

Dear Dr. Donohue: Would you please print something about how cataracts begin in a person's eyes? I know age has a lot to do with it, but does it have anything to do with diet? Is there something that can be done to retard the growth of cataracts? How fast do cataracts grow? — Mrs. A.S.

You're right. Aging is the usual cause for most cataract formation. I can give you a somewhat simple comparison. Just as a pane of window glass becomes marred and opaque with time, so does the lens of the eye become clouded.

Local woman attends cosmetics convention

Joyce Phillips, owner of the Merle Norman Studio at College Park Shopping Center, has returned from Merle Norman's 51st annual convention in Louisville, Ky.

Over 2,000 studio owners and guests from across the United States and Canada spent five days at the Commonwealth Convention Center learning about the latest skin care, makeup products and marketing concepts.

A highlight of the convention was a preview of the wide range of new products to be introduced later this year and the fall-winter '82 makeup colors, the Cameo Collection, sponsored by Merle Norman.

On display were gowns from the contemporary collection of evening wear commissioned by Merle Norman from 10 leading American designers. The fashions, Cameo Collection, were complemented by Merle Norman's fall colors. Studio owners also were treated to a recreation of the Broadway musical, "42nd Street," and an evening concert by the piano team of Ferrante and Teicher accompanied by the Louisville Orchestra.

So why doesn't it happen to everyone? It does. But it doesn't happen to everyone to the same degree or at the same age.

Diet does not have anything to do with cataract formation. There is nothing known that will stop or slow cataract growth. How fast they grow is not known or predictable. It is variable. For many, cataracts remain static for long periods. For others, the clouding progresses rapidly. The whole subject is one on which there isn't a whole lot of information.

I should mention that cataracts can form as a result of injury to an eye. And some can be present at birth — congenital cataracts.

Queen Beatrix honors King

ATLANTA (AP) — Queen Beatrix of the Netherlands laid a wreath on the grave of civil rights leader Martin Luther King Jr. and praised Atlanta as "one of the finest cities that has made peaceful changes, particularly in the area of race relations."

The queen's remarks Wednesday opened her two-week tour of 10 U.S. cities to commemorate the bicentennial of diplomatic relations between her country and the United States. The Netherlands recognized American sovereignty in 1782.

Soviet writer to emigrate

CHICAGO (AP) — Soviet journalist Andrei Frolov will join his American wife in the United States on Sunday after Soviet authorities finally granted him permission to emigrate.

From May 9 to June 4, the couple staged a hunger strike to pressure Soviet officials to allow him to leave the Soviet Union.

His wife, Lois Frolov, 27, said she received word Wednesday from the U.S. Embassy in Moscow about her husband's travel plans.

"I feel much better. I'm beginning to finally believe that he's coming," Mrs. Frolov said.

Earlier this month, Frolov received permission to emigrate to the United States. But Soviet officials delayed his departure by insisting that he acquire an additional transit visa because his flight would stop briefly in West Germany before arriving in the United States, she said.

Another Golden Fleece

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. William Proxmire has bestowed his latest Golden Fleece Award on federal agencies who gave $700,000 to a T-shirt making enterprise with a star-studded board of directors.

The non-profit enterprise, Giant Step Inc., promised to teach minority youth how to make T-shirts, and the Commerce Department awarded it a $443,570 grant in September 1977. The Labor Department chipped in another $260,000.

"Not one T-shirt was produced for sale; not one minority youth found a job, but the taxpayer lost his shirt," said Proxmire, a Wisconsin Democrat who grants the awards periodically for what he considers ridiculous government expenditures.

Giant Step's president is former football star Roosevelt "Rosie" Grier, and its board of directors included Jacqueline Kennedy Onassis, John Y. Brown, now governor of Kentucky, and singer Ray Charles. Actress Marlo Thomas was listed as special adviser.

A woman at an answering service for the Los Angeles office of Giant Step said Wednesday night that no one would be in the office until Monday. "They're here every day, but not this week," she said. Grier did not return calls made to the office earlier in the day.

Brucellosis controls struck down

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — The Texas Animal Health Commission has not decided what to do about a state district judge's ruling that the commission overstepped its authority in adopting rules to control brucellosis.

Commission spokesman Clark Bolt said Wednesday the commission had received no word about a possible quarantine of Texas cattle by the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

On Monday, State District Judge Harley Clark of Austin granted a motion by R.J. "Red" Nunley of Uvalde, a friend and business partner of former Gov. Dolph Briscoe, to knock out the brucellosis rules.

Dr. John Holcombe, commission executive director, said Wednesday commissioners will meet with the agency's lawyers on what to do about Clark's ruling. Bolt said the private meeting would be held next week.

Clark's order listed nine reasons why the commission rules are "invalid and unenforceable."

One reason, he said, is the rules "would result in the taking of property without adequate compensation to the owner" in violation of the Texas Constitution.

He also said certain rules "are contrary" to other state laws.

Increased organic farming research urged

By BOB FICK
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Agriculture Department is being urged to do more research in organic farming as concern mounts over rising farming costs and damage to the nation's soil and water resources from conventional farming methods.

"Aren't we in desperate straits today with our soil and water being depleted?" asks Rep. James Weaver, D-Ore. "We're heading toward real catastrophe.... Shouldn't we begin to probe new directions in our agriculture?"

Weaver and other congressmen claim the department isn't focusing enough of its resources on organic research and the distribution of information gathered from it.

"There is a great need for practical demonstrations and proven research to help farmers make this transition to what promises to be a more efficient, economic and sustainable form of agriculture," Weaver argues.

In fact, they fear the department may be downgrading the limited organic farming program it has had, and they're pushing legislation to pump $14.5 million over the next five years into organic research and information distribution.

"There's reason for great concern about agricultural productivity in the future," says Terry Kinney, director of the USDA's Agricultural Research Service, and he says organic farming techniques can play a roll in easing that concern.

Kinney admits that budget constraints have forced the department to curb the time spent on the organic farming program, but he says there's no concerted effort to downplay its importance.

Interest in organic farming burgeoned after a 1980 USDA report that officials say dispelled the myths and misperceptions that had surrounded organic farming for years.

That report, which has been sought by some 39,000 American farmers and has been translated into three languages, concluded that organic farming techniques are practical for large scale operations, that a producer doesn't have to be a "purist" opposed to all chemicals in order to use organic techniques and that organic farming can cut production costs and curb soil erosion.

"There is much that needs to be known about organic methods and their applicability to today's agriculture," says Neil Sampson of the National Association of Conservation Districts.

Sampson said some shift from conventional to organic farming is essential if soil depletion is to be stopped.

Kinney acknowledges that less than $1 million of his agency's $430 million budget this year is devoted directly to organic farming projects.

But he says research in other areas like overall production and pest management benefit the organic farming systems as well as the more numerous conventional ones, and it's that kind of approach that will benefit American agriculture the most.

"Organic farming is one tool to help protect our resource base, but it is not the only tool," Kinney says. "We must think of systems of farming and not organic farming versus conventional farming. Any intelligent farmer uses a combination."

Man indicted in 3 CBS murders

NEW YORK (AP) — A man arrested with a bloodstained van has been indicted for the rooftop slayings of three CBS employees and a woman who was cooperating with authorities in a $6 million diamond fraud case.

Donald Nash — also known as Donald J. Bowers — 46, of Keansburg, N.J., was arrested in Frankfort, Ky., a week after the April 12 murders. Nash, who police sources say has been associated with a gang of West Side criminals known as "The Westies," was to be arraigned today on four counts of murder after the indictment was returned Wednesday. If convicted, he faces 25 years to life in prison.

INDICATED IN CBS MURDERS — Donald Bowers, in dark glasses, is escorted through Newark Airport in April after being arrested in Kentucky. The Keansburg, N.J. resident was indicted Wednesday by a Manhattan grand jury for the April 12 murders of a federal witness and three CBS employees. Bowers, who is also known as District Attorney Robert Morgenthau said the indictment "does not mean other persons were not involved, and this is a continuing investigation."

The indictment charges Nash with shooting CBS employees Leo Kuranuki, 54, of Great Neck; Robert Schulze, 59, of Clifton, N.J.; and Edward Benford, 55, of Hawthorne. They apparently were killed because they went to the aid of the fourth victim, Margaret Barbera, 38, of Queens, and witnessed her abduction.

Ms. Barbera had agreed to testify in a fraud case against her former employer, diamond deal Irwin Margolies.

FATHER'S DAY SPECIAL

Senators to debate earnings

WASHINGTON (AP) — An emergency appropriations bill containing $3 billion in housing aid for middle-income families is heading back to the Senate, mired in a bitter dispute over the personal finances of members of Congress.

Unless senators agree to limit their outside earnings to $18,200 a year — 58 of them earned more than that last year — the $8.9 billion bill could die, leaving several government agencies penniless for the next three months.

And even if the Senate settles the question of members' earnings, President Reagan is expected to veto the entire package because he opposes the housing-aid provision. Backers say a vote to override any veto would be close.

The bill, whose compromise version the House approved Wednesday, carries funds for food stamps, student loans, sewer grants, and various other federal projects.

It also includes one of the toughest political issues of all — repeal of a special audit-proof $75-per-day tax deduction that members of Congress voted themselves last year.

Building jump reported

Housing industry sees recovery signs

By ROBERT BURNS
AP Business Writer

Actual and planned home building jumped unexpectedly last month, the government said, and a home builders group said that was "the first sign" of recovery for one of the nation's most depressed industries.

In the currency markets, the value of the U.S. dollar continued to advance on the strength of high U.S. interest rates, reaching a 12-year-high against the currencies of the largest U.S. trading partners.

The Commerce Department said May housing starts rose 22.3 percent from the month before, to the highest level in a year. It also said building permits for future construction rose 10.2 percent from the previous month.

The department said housing starts rose to an annual rate of 1.086 million. That was the highest since the 1.172 million rate reported in May 1981.

Morgan Guaranty Trust Co. said its measure of the dollar's value in relation to the currencies of the United States' 15 major trade partners was the highest since the bank began its survey 12 years ago.

U.S. allies have been concerned about the strength of the dollar because of the drain on their own currencies and because oil producing nations require payment in dollars.

American businesses which sell products abroad are less able to compete when the dollar rises, making other nations' goods less expensive in comparison. For U.S. purchasers, on the other hand, a strong dollar will buy more on world markets.

The jump in housing starts far exceeded the forecasts of many economists. Merrill Lynch & Co., the investment concern, had expected a 5 percent increase and Sanford C. Bernstein & Co. Inc. had forecast a 3 percent gain.

Robert Ortner, chief economist for the Commerce Department, said the May figures were "a pleasant surprise and welcome news, but they should be treated with some caution."

The May rate of housing starts, while an improvement from April, is weak by normal standards. And with home mortgage rates still in the 16 percent to 17 percent range, further recovery will be slow, Ortner said.

HC Hawks sign star Mojo hurler

By GREG JAKLEWICZ
Sports Editor

The roster for Howard College's first baseball team grew to seven players Wednesday afternoon when coach Bill Griffin signed Permian High School standout Bruce Hollander to a scholarship agreement.

Griffin signed his sixth prospect Tuesday when Pan American University transfer Kelly Smith inked a letter-of-intent with the Hawks.

"We double-bingoed," Griffin said of his two new players.

Hollander had a 9-8 record with a mediocre Permian team, his other statistics speaking more of his abilities. He struck out 124 batters in 117 1-3rd innings on the mound and recorded an earned run average of 2.62. He was the workhorse of the Mojo staff, completing 15 games and gaining decisions in all his starts.

His efforts earned him honorable mention all-district honors in District 5-AAAAA.

"I think Bruce has a lot of potential," Griffin predicted. "He's one of the strongest pitchers in the district and if he had been pitching on the Big Spring team, he would've been 14-2 maybe. Pitchers rise and fall on those players around him."

"He will be more than able to pitch division one baseball," Griffin continued. "He's got the size, he's strong and he's durable. Those were some of the determining factors in me wanting him."

Hollander also hit .308 at the plate on his way to MVP honors at Permian.

He moved up to the varsity as a junior and won two of three decisions (or two of Permians three district wins in 1981). He began this past season with a no-hitter against Fort Stockton.

"I picked Howard College because I'll get to play and this guy (Griffin) knows baseball," Hollander said of his choice in schools. "He'll show me how to play baseball how it should be played."

Smith was a high school standout at Lubbock Monterey and was the team's MVP in 1981. He started for the NCAA Division I Broncos at Pan American and lettered as a freshman, batting in the 2.80's.

Wanting to move closer to his hometown of Lubbock, Smith didn't play this past spring, saving a year of eligibility.

"This rascal has got some potential,"

PERMIAN PITCHER BRUCE HOLLANDER ...gives HC Hawks a hurler, power hitter

Griffin said of Smith. The 6-1, 210-pounder played both catcher and first base in high school and at Pan Am and Griffin plans to use him in both positions also. "He's a right-handed power hitter and he'll fit in well with (Billy) Mitchell, in front or behind him in the lineup."

Top item on the agenda is the Sunday afternoon baseball brawl between local sports boosters and various members of the Big Spring High baseball team.

The action gets underway at 3 p.m. at the BSHS ballpark with tickets only $1 per person. If you have a Little Leaguer, he gets in free. All the proceeds from the event go to the Howard College baseball program.

Some of the players on the booster team are Al Valdez, Pete Arrencibia, coach Frank Ibarra, Felix Martinez and Gil Guerra. The "Longhorns" will be made up of former Big Spring High players and a few that will be back next spring.

Valdez, chairman of the event, says it's a perfect afternoon for pops to take the sons out for an afternoon of baseball on Father's Day.

Trapshooter Kelly Rogers is on "vacation" this week.

Actually, he's at the Junior Olympics camp in Colorado but it may seem like a break after his performance last weekend at the Texas State Trapshooting Tournament in Amarillo.

Kelly cleaned up on the awards, taking a whopping 10 of them back home to Big Spring. He was named the state's all-around champion, knocking off 34-year-old Britt Robinson of Tahoka in a triple shoot-off. Both men hit 387 of 400 targets in singles, doubles and handicap and then match 38's, and 39's in 40-target shootoffs before Kelly nailed all 40 of his shots and Robinson just 37 in the third try.

Not only is Kelly, age 17, the Lone Star State junior champ but he's the best overall, regardless of age.

Dolores Anderson of Big Spring was also at the tournament and won the Open Ladies Championship in the handicap event, hitting 95x100. She tied with Joyce Dunlap of Amarillo in the state title but lost in a second shoot-off.

Softball fans, remember the Fourth Annual Big Spring Area Chamber tournament this weekend at Johnny Storie Memorial Park. Play gets underway Friday and runs through the championship game Sunday.

The fund to send Carla Jackson to The Athletic Congress Junior Women's Outdoor Track and Field Championships June 30-July 1 in Los Angeles is lagging behind at the moment.

Over $400 has been raised but estimates for the trip stand at $1,000. Donations can be made at the First National Bank of Big Spring.

Golf's best seek U.S. Open title

PEBBLE BEACH, Calif. (AP) — In a breathtaking setting that seems like something lifted right off a painter's canvas, the chase began today for the United States Open golf championship, one of the game's most prestigious titles.

The field is loaded with quality candidates for the crown.

The professional bettors have made Masters champion Craig Stadler, a three-time winner on the tour this year and the season's top money-maker with earnings of $312,058, the favorite.

"It's nice to have people know you have a chance," he said. "I think I have a very good chance. My game's pretty solid. I know the course well and the course compliments my game."

There's also plenty of support for Jack Nicklaus, who won the only other Open ever played at Pebble Beach in 1972 and has the added incentive of shooting for a record fifth title in this event. After all, he has conquered this course more frequently than any of his colleagues.

Nicklaus was asked why he's had so much success at Pebble Beach, which has taken its toll of quality golfers.

"It's because I've shot low scores, I guess," he said. "I like this type of course because it requires thinking as well as golf. It's a course I've had a great deal of success on and I like very much. I'm playing fairly well. I feel like my golf game is in really good shape."

If you prefer the hot-hand theory, then your man should be Ray Floyd, who has two victories and a second place finish (in a playoff) in the last three tournaments he's played.

"I'm hitting the greens, and I'm putting well," Floyd said. "My confidence is up. Things are going right. Without question, I'm playing the best golf of my life right now."

Then, there is Tom Watson, battling the frustration of never having won this event. Watson is the No. 2 all-time money-winner with $2,778,697, trailing only Nicklaus. He has been Player of the Year four times, captured the British Open three times and the Masters twice. But he is still looking for his first U.S. Open.

'Golden Bear' Pebble Beach favorite

JACK NICKLAUS ...Open favorite

By WILL GRIMSLEY
AP Special Correspondent

PEBBLE BEACH, Calif. (AP) — Golf is a golden crown of jewels for the "Golden Bear," Jack Nicklaus, and he never loses his insatiable appetite for more.

"Sure, I want to win it," the world's all-time major title collector replied to an unnecessary question after completing preparations for the 82nd U.S. Open championship, which began today. "Not just because it would be my fifth Open, not because it would be my 20th major or my 70th U.S. tournament victory."

"I'd like to win because I'm an American and it's the championship of my country. It's the biggest and hardest to win. More than that, it's at Pebble Beach."

This picturesque seaside course is a favorite birdie hunting preserve for the 42-year-old fairway king who won his second National Amateur crown here in 1961 and followed with three Crosby events and the 1972 U.S. Open as a pro.

"Why do you have so much success at Pebble Beach?" Nicklaus was asked at his Wednesday news conference.

"Because I shoot low scores," he replied tartly. Some writers interpreted his attitude as touching on arrogance but closer associates saw it instead as a Nicklaus brimming with confidence.

Rarely has the blond Ohioan been seen in a looser or more buoyant frame of mind.

"It's a links type course, like the courses in Britain," he said, referring to the rocks and hills, tricky winds and waves whipping in off the Pacific Ocean and Carmel Bay.

"It has subtle bounces and inconsistencies. It requires a lot of thinking and shot-making management. The course has been set up fairly (no tricks) with greens on which one won't have to scramble. It reduces the number of players who can win. I like that."

While the names of Craig Stadler, Tom Watson and Ray Floyd are being bandied about as leading threats for the championship, it's the awesome, lingering shadow of Nicklaus that hovers over the course from the clubhouse to the sea.

"I haven't spent the last week beating balls," he said. "I went home. I traveled about 12,000 miles looking over golf courses. I'm building — Denver, Phoenix, Salt Lake City, Grand Rapids and Southern California."

ARENA RENT HINDERS McComb's purchase

SAN ANTONIO, Texas (AP) — A misunderstanding over sports arena rent that could total $800,000 has left a San Antonio businessman's plans to buy the Denver Nuggets basketball team in limbo.

B.J. "Red" McCombs said Wednesday that chances he will buy the NBA franchise are only "50-50" because of the dispute over a lease agreement for McNichols Sports Arena.

McCombs said the disagreement could mean a $700,000 to $800,000 difference in rent the team would have to pay to the city. That, McCombs said, is a "deal-killer."

A Denver city official said he and the mayor were more optimistic than McCombs that a solution could be reached. But he added that McCombs and Nuggets President Carl Scheer were wrong Tuesday when they said McCombs and the city had reached agreement on a five-year lease.

"There are many areas of negotiations and we have not sat down face-to-face at this point," said Ken Dybevik, manager of general services for the city of Denver. "There never was an agreement."

McCombs said he talked with Denver Mayor William McNichols Jr. on Wednesday and "we still have a major roadblock" — how the arena rental fee would be determined.

McCombs said that in his conversation "the mayor was very positive that this could be resolved."

"In the event the city's interpretation would stay the same, that would be a major roadblock and the deal probably would not be made," McCombs said. "My opinion is that there is a 50-50 chance it (the purchase) can be done."

McCombs, who announced Tuesday he had signed a letter to intent to buy the Nuggets, said he thought there was an oral agreement that the rent would go up each year only after the franchise reached $4 million in ticket sales.

But he said the city thought that after that total was reached the first time, the higher rent would always apply, even before the $4 million mark was reached in a particular season.

McCombs said members of his and the mayor's staffs would meet Friday to try to iron out an agreement.

McCombs and Scheer did not disclose details of the reported $10 million purchase proposal announced Tuesday, but Scheer said the deal probably would be closed within a couple of weeks, probably by the first of July.

The NBA Board of Governors is scheduled to meet in Coronado, Calif., next week, and Scheer said he does not expect to have any trouble in getting formal approval for the sale.

McCombs, part owner of the NBA's San Antonio Spurs, plans to sell his share of the Spurs to win NBA approval as the Denver franchise owner. He said he plans to keep Scheer on as general manager and Doug Moe as head coach of the Nuggets.

Dybevik said the rent dispute McCombs was concerned about was among "six or seven things we are talking about."

"They are aware that this (the rent issue) is negotiable as well," he said. "We have been discussing various parts of our agreement over the telephone and the time has come where we have to sit down face to face. There are many areas of give and take."

Rangers stumble

SEATTLE (AP) — If Seattle Mariners right-hander Gaylord Perry wants to pick up some pocket change, all he has to do is throw strikes.

His manager, Rene Lachemann, offers his pitchers $10 for every nine innings in which they issue three walks or less. More than three walks cost them $10.

Perry "makes more money off that than anybody," Lachemann said Wednesday night after the veteran pitcher earned his 302nd career victory as the Mariners beat the Texas Rangers, 7-2.

In 7 1/3 innings, Perry, 5-5, walked just one while scattering six hits, including Jim Sundberg's fourth homer. He struck out three, leaving him 100 behind Walter Johnson's all-time mark of 3,508.

Seattle collected only seven hits, but the Mariners took advantage of eight walks allowed by Charlie Hough, 5-4, and John Butcher.

"That's more than he's walked in the last 58 innings," Texas Manager Don Zimmer said of Hough.

Not only were the walks a problem, but the Texas pitchers got behind the Seattle hitters.

Paul Mirabella, third Texas pitcher, never had a chance to get behind Julio Cruz. The Seattle second baseman belted Mirabella's first pitch into the left-field seats. The three-run, eighth-inning blast closed out the scoring and gave Cruz his second homer in as many games.

In the second inning when Seattle grabbed a 3-0 lead, Cruz walked to load the bases with one out. Rick Sweet and Dave Henderson had opened with singles before Paul Serna sacrificed the pair along. After the walk to Cruz, Manny Castillo bounced a two-run double into the seats. Richie Zisk scored Cruz on a sacrifice fly.

After Sundberg's homer in the third, the Seattle's Bruce Bochte singled to open the fifth. As he stole second, Sundberg threw the ball high, allowing Bochte to break for third. Shortstop Mark Wagner then fired over the head of third baseman Buddy Bell into the seats with Bochte racing home.

In the eighth, the Rangers' Bill Stein singled home the final run off Bill Caudill. Caudill picked up his ninth save.

Twins 5, Royals 2

People tend to worry for different reasons. Minnesota's Frank Viola starting sweating the moment he heard his parents were coming to watch him pitch. Kent Hrbek started worrying in the ninth inning when he realized the Twins were winning.

Viola recorded his first major league victory Wednesday night and Hrbek scored the Twins' first run and added a two-run double as Minnesota downed the Kansas City Royals 5-2 for only its third victory in 26 games.

Ironically, Viola, 1-0, has started two of those three victories, but he was a little apprehensive before the Kansas City game. You see, his parents, Frank Sr. and Helen, were present and that hasn't been a good omen for the 22-year-old left-hander from New York.

American League

White Sox 7, A's 6

Greg Luzinski, who earlier hit a long homer, singled home Ron LeFlore from second base in the 10th inning of a game marred by the ejection of two players, Chicago Manager Tony La Russa and a coach.

Salome Barojas, 4-1, was the winner despite balking in the tying run in the ninth inning.

Chicago coach Charley Lau was ejected from the game for contesting the balk call. La Russa was ejected during Oakland's five-run fourth inning, and Bill Almon was ousted in the ninth inning.

Angels 7, Blue Jays 1

Bob Boone knocked in two runs with a single and Don Baylor added a two-run homer to back Steve Renko's six-hitter as California posted a 7-1 victory over Toronto, snapping an eight-game losing streak at home.

Rod Carew extended the longest hitting streak of his 15-year career to 20 games when he led off the seventh with a single. Baylor followed with his ninth homer of the year.

Yankees 4, Red Sox 1

Ken Griffey smacked his fourth homer of the year and drove in two runs to back Dave Righetti's three-hitter as New York completed a three sweep of Boston with a rain-shortened, six-inning triumph.

The Yankees took a 1-0 lead in the first inning on Dave Winfield's RBI single and increased the margin to 3-0 in the fourth on Butch Wynegar's triple, an RBI double by Andre Robertson and Griffey's run-scoring single.

Boston scored in the fifth when Righetti walked Gary Alenson with the bases loaded but Griffey got that one back the following inning before the rains came with his second home run in as many nights.

Brewers 2, Orioles 2

A rainstorm following the ninth inning forced umpires to call off Milwaukee's game at Baltimore with the score tied 2-2.

The game will be replayed in its entirety when the Brewers visit Baltimore on the final weekend of the season. All the statistics from the game will count.

The Brewers tied the score 2-2 in the sixth on a homer by Robin Yount off Dennis Martinez. It was Yount's ninth of the season and his third against Baltimore this year.

BOB TYLER ...resigns at NTSU

Mean Green coach resigns

DENTON, Texas (AP) — Bob Tyler decided suddenly that he needed a break from coaching football at North Texas State University, and he needed some time to go fishing with his sons.

Tyler resigned Wednesday from his dual role as athletic director and head football coach. He's not sure what he will do, but it won't be coaching NTSU's Mean Green team.

"I did not resign because of our extreme budget problems or because I didn't think the football program could be successful," Tyler said. "I did so because I needed a break and wanted to be around my three sons."

Tyler was the third coach financially strapped NTSU has had in three years.

NTSU President Alfred Hurley said a search committee would be formed Thursday to begin the search for a new coach and a new athletic director.

NTSU cut $800,000 from its athletic budget this year without eliminating any sports.

"I do not want my resigning to signify that I have lost faith in North Texas State," Tyler said. "They are slowly working their way out."

Tyler, who had two years left on his contract, said he made his decision Wednesday because the school year was winding down.

"I'd like to coach football again but I will think about my future later...I'd be open to coming back in either the colleges or the pros," Tyler said.

"I have no plans other than to say in Denton for awhile and go fishing with my three sons," said.

Tyler served as head football coach during the 1981 season and directed the Eagles to a 2-9 record. He joined the Mean Green after serving as a scout for the Dallas Cowboys of the National Football League the two previous seasons.

Before joining the Cowboys, Tyler headed the football program at Mississippi State University for six seasons.

Astros fall, 5-4

By The Associated Press

With its spacious outfield and no wind current, the Houston Astrodome is supposed to be a no-man's land for long-ball hitters.

But the way the Atlanta Braves have been swinging this year, no park can hold them.

Behind three different times in their game with Houston Wednesday night, the Braves kept blasting their way out of jams and finally used the long ball to beat the Astros 5-4 in 10 innings.

Chris Chambliss won it for the National League West leaders with a solo home run in the 10th.

"We depend on our power hitting, whereas the Astros have been depending on their pitching for years," Chambliss said. "We have the ability to go farther than we have in the past because of our stronger pitching this year and more maturity on our bench."

Chambliss' ninth homer of the year, off George Cappuzzello, 0-1, was the second Atlanta homer of the game. Claudell Washington hit a solo shot in the eighth to throw the game into a 3-3 tie at that point.

"It was the type of pitch I could hit," Chambliss said of his game-winning homer. "It ran in on me, but it was up. I had two strikes, so I had to protect the plate."

Houston Manager Bill Virdon says there's no magic to the Braves' success as far as he's concerned. "They're getting the hits when they need them. Their pitchers and relievers are doing the job. That's what it takes — a little from everybody."

Atlanta reliever Gene Garber, 5-2, pitched the final two innings for the victory.

The Braves fell behind 3-0 after three innings as Terry Puhl hit two homers for the Astros. But Atlanta scored twice in the fifth before Washington homered in the eighth.

The Astros went ahead 4-3 in the bottom of the inning on Tony Scott's RBI triple. But Atlanta rallied to tie it again in the ninth on a pinch RBI single by Bob Watson.

Expos 8, Cardinals 3

Andre Dawson's three-run double capped a five-run uprising in the second inning, powering Montreal over St. Louis.

After Montreal took a 1-0 lead in the first on a triple by Tim Raines and a run-scoring grounder by Terry Francona, 10 batters went to the plate during the decisive second. In addition to Dawson's double, an assortment of five hits included RBI singles by Warren Cromartie and Francona.

Cubs 7, Phillies 6

Ryne Sandberg's one-out single in the 11th inning drove in the winning run as Chicago beat Philadelphia and handed the Phillies their fifth straight loss.

Sandberg's hit came off reliever Warren Brusstar, 2-3, the seventh Philadelphia pitcher, and made a winner of Chicago reliever Dick Tidrow, 2-1, who pitched the 11th.

Dodgers 6, Padres 0

Bob Welch pitched a three-hitter and Pedro Guerrero belted a home run and knocked in three runs as Los Angeles beat San Diego. It was the second consecutive shutout by the Dodgers, who won 3-0 Tuesday night, and extended the Padres' scoreless string to 22 innings.

Welch, 7-4, recorded his third shutout of the season, walking two and striking out six. Only one Padre got as far as second base.

Tim Lollar, 6-2, pitched six innings for San Diego, giving up seven hits and four of the Dodger runs in suffering his first loss at home in five decisions.

Reds 7, Giants 3

Cesar Cedeno hit two home runs and drove in six runs, powering Cincinnati over San Francisco.

Cedeno walked with the bases loaded in the first inning to force in a run, then hit a two-run homer in the third and three-run blast in the fifth, his fifth of the season. He later added a triple.

Unreported income problem along border

By STEVE BREWER
Associated Press Writer

EL PASO, Texas (AP) — Across the country, government officials and economists are bemoaning the "underground economy" — dealings done strictly in cash without the complications of income tax or proper records.

Probably nowhere is the problem as serious as along the U.S.-Mexico border, haven for illegal aliens and smugglers of all kinds.

"I suspect that here in El Paso is probably one of the worst places in the country in terms of unreported cash transactions," said El Paso marketing analyst Tom Lee.

Such transactions nationwide recently have captured the imagination of lawmakers in Washington, who see stiffer enforcement as a way to alleviate the government's budget problems.

Branson, public affairs officer in the IRS' Austin office. "It does exist and the numbers are big."

Although the IRS doesn't know how big, there are indications that the cash economy may be bigger in Texas and along the Mexican border.

Lee said he sees more and more evidence of Texans taking cash payments for their services "rather than let inflation push them into another tax bracket."

"This is almost a foolproof way of cheating," he said. "The typical guy who is skimming a couple thousand dollars a year isn't likely to get caught."

Larry Meyer, the IRS director's representative in El Paso, agreed businessmen aren't likely to get caught unless they get carried away.

"In most cases, they go to the well and they don't get caught, so they go to the well again and again and work done and I'll pay you 20 bucks a day," he said. "If the alien does a good job, he may work him an entire week. That guy has made $100 in a week and no taxes have been paid on it."

"He ends up working fulltime and getting paid a day rate and it's all in cash. It goes on constantly. It's a cash flow away from our taxes and Social Security and a direct shot in the arm for Mexico."

An economic study cited in an April Business Week magazine estimated that such off-the-books transactions with illegal aliens amounted to $20 billion in 1980.

Criminal activity thrives along the border, adding to the illegal sector tax gap.

"Nobody who's pushing drugs or smuggling illegal aliens is going to take a check or a credit card and they certainly aren't going to report their extra income to the IRS," Lee said.

The major loss is from smuggling illegal aliens and drugs into the United States and appliances and other consumer goods into Mexico.

"Because of its location, the El Paso area is a major demarcation point for smugglers," Aubin said. "And it's not just drugs. There's a multi-million dollar a year business in smuggling aliens into the country. It's not uncommon for someone from Central or South America to pay $1,200 to $3,000 to get into the United States."

"When you think about the hundreds of aliens that a major smuggling ring can bring into the country in a year and then realize there's several of these rings operating, you can see that we're talking about big bucks," he said.

While law enforcement agencies keep busy trying to halt the illegal trade, the burden of keeping the government afloat falls on the shoulders of taxpayers who don't cheat. Lee said the danger of the underground economy is that it can spread.

"That loss of revenue has to be made up somehow and they make it up by raising tax rates," he said.

"You have a snowball effect because the higher rates mean more people will cheat."

"You try to be honest and you see all these other people getting away with it and you say, 'God, I'm getting soaked here.' My worry is that more and more people will say, 'This is nonsense,' and stop paying their taxes."

'This is almost a foolproof way of cheating.

The guy who is skimming a couple thousand dollars a year isn't likely to get caught.'

Internal Revenue Service Commissioner Roscoe L. Egger Jr. told the House Ways and Means Committee in May that the "gap" between the amount of taxes that should be collected and the amount that actually is collected has tripled in the past eight years and still is growing.

The gap is divided into two parts — the so-called legal and illegal sectors. Violations in the legal sector include people who don't report to the IRS all or part of their income from jobs, tips and moonlighting. It also includes small businessmen and professionals who skim cash off their earnings before reporting them to the IRS.

The illegal sector is money from criminal activities such as gambling, smuggling, drug trafficking and prostitution.

Egger told the committee that the estimated tax loss in the legal sector rose from $29 billion in 1973 to $87 billion in 1981. That number is expected to rise to nearly $120 billion by 1985, he said.

The loss in the illegal sector rose from $2.5 billion in 1973 to $8 billion in 1981 and is expected to reach $13 billion by 1985, he said.

Those numbers all are estimates because not even the IRS knows how much money changes hands unrecorded and unreported.

"When you are depending on voluntary compliance, you're going to have some cheating," said Bob eventually is becomes obvious to our examiners," he said.

The IRS tries to discourage that kind of cheating by examining random returns, but the number checked in Texas is less than 1.6 percent.

Meyer said the El Paso office is getting three new revenue agents and four new tax auditors soon in an attempt to beef up enforcement, but said Texas and other Sun Belt states are growing too fast for the IRS to match in staff increases.

Along with the rapid growth, the IRS is faced with the more invisible cash flows associated with the border — illegal aliens and crime.

"The cash flow economy is more prevalent here because of the illegal aliens and smuggling," said U.S. Border Patrol intelligence agent Joe Aubin.

Of the 150,000 illegal aliens apprehended in the El Paso sector in 1981, more than 17,000 held jobs on the U.S. side of the border ranging from maids to carpenters to concrete finishers, Aubin said.

"It happens all the time," he said. "Most of the illegal aliens that we apprehend get paid in cash."

Sorry, Lubbock. We don't have a room in the house.

Just suites.

That's all Granada Royale Hometels® has ever had. Big, beautiful suites. For every guest in the house.

And our new Lubbock Homotel® has 161 of them. Every suite opens on to a stunning courtyard, designed in the architectural style and garden-like setting of a Mediterranean villa. Not like the old hallway-lobby layout you find in hotels.

Every suite includes a separate bedroom with king or 2 double beds. Every bedroom has a phone, color TV and untypical furniture such as an armoire and double dressers.

Every suite also has a separate living room with sofa that makes into a queen size bed for extra guests and children. And there's a second TV, a second phone, room for cocktails, a meeting, a quiet evening at "home."

Every suite also has a dining table, chairs, a bar, a kitchen with refrigerator, range with oven, pots, pans, dishes, tableware.

But the Homotel® concept doesn't stop with suites.

Every evening the manager holds a 2-hour cocktail party for all registered guests. There's no charge whatsoever.

Every morning our guests also receive breakfast without charge. That means eggs cooked to order. Bacon or sausages, pancakes, cereal, coffee, juice, fresh fruit—whatever they want.

As you can see, this is not the way they do it in hotels. But it is the way we do it in a Homotel®.

And to make it easier to sample this comfort and ambience, we are offering an introductory rate of just $59 per night single occupancy. And only $10 more per extra occupant. Children under 12 stay free.

At these prices, Lubbock's new Granada Royale Homotel® comes uncomfortably close to the hotels and motels of Lubbock. But otherwise, it's miles apart.

Minister says footprints refute evolution theory

GLEN ROSE, Texas (AP) — Two fundamentalist Baptist ministers say they will continue excavating through the end of this week alongside dinosaur tracks on the banks of the Paluxy River where they found human-like footprints.

The Rev. Carl E. Baugh, president of International Baptist College in St. Louis, and the Rev. Ronald Jenkins, pastor of the Grace Baptist Temple in Duncanville, said their findings refute scientific theories of evolution.

But the ministers said scientists scoff at their find in the hardened limestone south of Fort Worth.

"Those guys have shut their minds and they would not believe if God knocked on their door," said Jenkins, tanned and spattered with mud from digging.

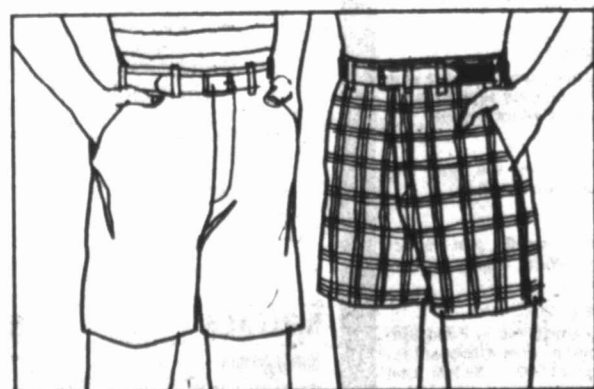

The excavations were resumed Wednesday at the site near the dinosaur tracks where they say they found prints last March made by giant humans mentioned in the Bible.

The prints were described by the ministers as those of 4- and 8-foot humans who walked the muddy bottoms during the same time as dinosaurs, leaving 16-inch-long indentations that were frozen in time when the 40-day floods swept through the area about 4,800 years ago.

The find was shown to reporters by the ministers, who said the imprints prove that theories of evolution dating back to Darwin are false.

Tulsa oilman goes on trial for obstruction of justice

TULSA, Okla. (AP) — Government attorneys have presented company documents that they claim Tulsa oilman Robert Sutton ordered destroyed to thwart a federal crude-oil price investigation.

The evidence came Wednesday in opening stages of Sutton's re-trial on one charge of attempting to obstruct justice. A jury deadlocked on the charge three weeks ago, although Sutton was convicted on another obstruction charge.

Earlier, his defense attorney told a U.S. District Court jury that Sutton will offer testimony to extinguish "the last burning ember in a fire that was started by the government in 1978."

U.S. District Judge James Ellison later rebuked defense attorney Rodney Devillers Sr. for the opening remarks, which the judge indicated contained "inflammatory statements."

Sutton, 48, is on trial on one count alleging he attempted to obstruct justice by ordering a former employee to destroy oil business records being sought by Department of Energy auditors in 1978.

Ellison said Sutton made sure that jurors are not aware that 15 counts of oil price control violations originally lodged against Sutton were dismissed May 13.

Testifying for the government, Jean Brown, a former accountant for Sutton, said she and another office worker spent about five days assembling records sought by an Energy Department auditor.

She identified the box produced by government attorneys as the one containing documents she gave to another Sutton employee who was to transport it to Louisiana, where Sutton has an oil refinery and other interests.

She said she later saw the box in Oklahoma City where a 1978 federal grand jury was investigating Sutton.

Ellison was visibly upset with Devillers at the trial's outset, twice interrupting to warn him he was not following previous court instructions about what issues could be raised before the jury.

After complaints by Justice Department attorney Richard Sauber, Ellison said Devillers violated earlier court instructions by referring to the pending charge as "Count 16" and by using the term "vendetta" to describe the government's actions.

"We are going to trial on the evidence. We are not trying the case on prejudice. We are not trying it on inflammatory statements," Ellison said outside the presence of the jury.

The judge said that after the trial is completed he will consider some type of sanction against Devillers.

"Violations of those (court) rules will be dealt with swiftly and firmly by this court," he said.

Watergate musical staged

ATLANTA (AP) — Richard Nixon will lightheartedly concede "a mistake or two" and a group of Cubans will be singing the "Wiretap Blues" in a musical intended to get a few laughs out of the Watergate scandal.

But the creators of "Watergate: A Musical" insist the show isn't intended to exploit the break-in and bugging at the Democratic National Committee headquarters 10 years ago today that eventually led to former President Nixon's resignation.

"It's not really satirical," said Tommy Oliver, who created the musical with Edward J. Lakso, during a break in rehearsals Wednesday. "The line we like to use is we've made a lot of statements and no judgments."

Still, they hope to have the audience laughing through most of the production as Nixon, shown cleaning out his desk on his last day in office, defends himself to a 12-year-old White House visitor.

Gene Barry, who starred as a lawman and came-toting dandy in the television series "Bat Masterson," plays Nixon. His lines include this somewhat lighthearted explanation of the break-in at the Watergate residential and office complex in Washington.

THE BARRYS AS THE NIXONS — Actors Gene Barry and his wife Betty Claire portray the Richard Nixons in "Watergate: A Musical." Here they rehearse their parts in Atlanta Wednesday. The play will start a four week run July 7.

Moyers' Watergate insights significant

By FRED ROTHENBERG
AP Television Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — It isn't often that we recommend a rerun, particularly one that is almost 10 years old. But Bill Moyers' thoughtful retrospective on Watergate still has impact and lessons worth restating.

Perhaps for today's high school graduation classes, Watergate already is ancient history, a late 20th-century Teapot Dome scandal. But for those old enough to remember, Watergate symbolizes an end to political naivete and idealism.

Ten years after the Watergate break-in, the "third-rate burglary" that brought down the Nixon administration, Moyers offers "An Essay on Watergate" on public television Friday night.

This examination of a nation's psychic wound originally was broadcast in 1973, and it's a tribute to Moyers that his musings still move us today. It's also another reminder of how involving television can be.

Back in 1973, the networks pre-empted some of their afternoon programs for live coverage of the congressional Watergate hearings. Although some cried for their soaps, most of the nation was fixated on Watergate.

It's all there in Moyers' nostalgic hour: Choir boy John Dean, with the memory of steel, accusing a president of high crimes and misdemeanors. The white knight, with the country lawyer's mind and incredulous eyebrows, Sen Sam Ervin. The repentant Jeb Magruder. And, of course, the defiant ones: H.R. Haldemann, John Ehrlichman and John Mitchell.

Jury: 'Poltergeist' suitable for young

DALLAS (AP) — Stephen Spielberg's hit movie "Poltergeist" may contain "blatant, flagrant violence," but a jury says Dallas children should be allowed to see it without their parents.

The jury deliberated for more than an hour Tuesday before declining a request by the Dallas Motion Picture Classification Board to prohibit children under 16 from seeing the movie without parental guidance.

The 21-member board sued Metro-Goldwyn Mayer-United Artists Entertainment Co., the film's Hollywood distributor, to change the movie's PG classification.

"Poltergeist," produced by Spielberg, maker of "Close Encounters of the Third Kind" and "Raiders of the Lost Ark," is about a suburban California family terrorized by ghosts.

"I think our final reasoning was that parents should have their own opportunity to make a determination (about the film)," jury foreman Ernie Stover said after the trial.

The jury agreed that the film contained "blatant, flagrant violence," but disagreed as to whether that was reason to change the rating, Stover said. Two of the 12 jurors found the film unsuitable for children, he said.

During the two-day trial, the jury viewed and compared "Poltergeist" and "Raiders," which the Dallas classification board had found suitable.

"The rest of the country thinks this movie is suitable for viewing by young persons," defense attorney Chris Harvey said in his closing argument. "Is the rest of the country out of step with Dallas, or is Dallas out of step with the rest of the country?"

HC district hires 5 employees

Members also named to SWCID advisory board

By BOB CARPENTER
Staff Writer

The Howard County Junior College District Board of Trustees yesterday approved the hiring of five employees for the district, and named five individuals to serve on the SouthWest Collegiate Institute for the Deaf Advisory Committee.

New personnel for the upcoming 1982-83 school year will be Dr. Bill Damron, a business instructor who is making the move from part-time to full-time teaching; Mrs. Martha Carona Lammers, who will teach business and physical education; Jacqueline Allen, who will begin full-time teaching duties as a dental hygiene instructor; Vickie White, a former interpreter at SWCID moving to physical education instruction at the deaf school; and Polly Connelly, who will step into Ms. White's vacated interpreter job.

The members of the SWCID advisory committee — a non-policy-making group designed to offer suggestions to the trustees in the field of deaf education — were named by the board.

The committee is made up of Curtis Baker, a Dallas businessman; state Rep. Larry Don Shaw, who represents Howard County; Dr. Robert Mehan, an Austin educator of the deaf; Julius Seeger, a counselor who works for the Texas School for the Deaf in Austin; and Alan Bubeck Jr., a Richardson petroleum engineer.

According to Dr. Charles Hays, president of the college district, the group will meet approximately once a year to offer guidelines and ideas to Hays and the vice president of SWCID concerning deaf education. The idea for an advisory committee was approved for the board in July 1981, Hays said.

In business matters the trustees okayed bids for several pieces of equipment to be used in the district. The board approved a bid of $3,060.13 from Hobart Co. in Odessa for two deep-fat fryers, several glass display shelves and a hot-food storage cart to be used in the SWCID and Howard College cafeterias.

Three typewriters to be purchased with a Texas Education Association grant were okayed by the board. The bid was awarded to IBM of Midland for $2,484.

Big Spring Video was awarded a bid by the trustees for $2,047 worth of video equipment. The equipment includes one camera, a video cassette recorder, a television and a tripod. The equipment will also be purchased with a TEA grant.

The board agreed on a proposal for 10 standard and two metric tool kits to be used in the district's automotive instruction program. A bid of $2,086 was awarded to Sears by the trustees.

The board approved a bid by Jack Lewis Buick and Cadillac for the sale of a vehicle to be used by Hays for district business. The vehicle is a 1982 Buick Electra and the bid totalled $13,300.

The board had approved a measure in April that gave Hays the use of a car owned by the district. In return, Hays elected to deduct a car allowance, which had been included in his salary, for use of the car.

The board considered and okayed three bids for electronic equipment for the district's vocational occupational trades department.

The first bid was awarded to Heathkit of Benton Harbor, Mich., for 12 circuit testing boards worth $1,019.40. The second bid for an industrial control trainer which allows students to troubleshoot various electronic projects was given to Technical Lab Systems in Houston totalling $2,750. And the final bid of $1,671 was awarded to Texas Electronic in Lubbock for miscellaneous equipment.

Descendants of the late Mr. and Mrs. J.P. Smith of the Knott Community gathered in Richter's Cafeteria in Coahoma, Sunday, for their annual reunion. About 65 people attended the reunion. Mr. and Mrs. Smith were the parents of 12 children. Of the 12, two are still living. They are Lucille Sample of Big Spring and Daisy Caffey of Stanton.

Brownies treat Dads to special overnighter

Sixty-five Brownie Girl Scouts treated sixty-two dads to the second Brownie Dad Special Overnighter at Camp Boothe Oaks June 4-5. The Girl Scouts all earned the privilege by selling seven or more cases of cookies in the 1982 Cookie Sale of the West Texas Girl Scout Council.

The weather provided an experience of sleeping in canvas tents for the Brownies while their Dads slept nearby on cots under the stars. Activities for the weekend included Weiner roasts, volley ball games, nature hikes, canoeing, archery and crafts.

Local Brownies attending were Kim Alexander, Stacy Averette, Jennifer Bailey, Angie Bennett, Christy Edwards, Kimberly Ann Godfrey, Kristi Johnston, Amy Osmulski, Angela Porter, Jennifer Velasquez, Tasha Rock and Michelle Simer.

A third Brownie-Dad Special is scheduled for June 25-26. The West Texas Girl Scout Council is a participating agency of the United Way.

Side effects: balancing things

Dear Dr. Donohue: I am 69 years old and have had a problem for a year and a half for which I am taking prednisone. If I continue my dosage will it affect my adrenal glands so that they will cease to function? — K.P.

Yours is a good question, and like all good questions requires a complete answer. So have patience.

The goal of any treatment is to balance the effects of medicine so that the illness can be kept under control and the undesired effects kept at a minimum. Thus it is with your prednisone, which is a steroid drug. When a person must take steroids in large doses for a long time, his own adrenal gland stops making natural steroids for him. The body, sensing it is getting all the steroids it needs, just shuts down production. It's a medical law of supply and demand at work.

Now this would not be bad in itself, but, unfortunately, another event occurs as a consequence. The gland begins to shrink. Later, when the medicine is stopped, it may take months or years for the tissue to get back to normal and for it to resume steroid production. The degree of shrinkage depends, of course, on the dosage of the drug and the length of time it is taken.

You tell me (another part of your letter) that you are taking five milligrams a day. That is not a large dose, and your gland may not have shrunk at all. In addition, you have another thing going for you — if you are taking the dose only once a day. In that circumstance the gland shrinkage would be very small because the oral medicine has its effect only for part of that day. The rest of the day, your gland goes back on production. This "switching on" makes the gland continue to function so that it doesn't shrink from disuse. For people who take the drug every other day, shrinkage is very minimal. The gland recovers on the off day — the on-day for it.

But doctors cannot always give steroids this way. And they may have to be given frequently in large doses. But even then, full gland function eventually takes place.

Now to your specific question: The relatively small dose you are taking and the fact that you are taking it only once a day would make me believe that your adrenal glands will not be turned off. Of course, your physician will watch for that when you are able to stop the medicine.

In such cases, the medicine is stopped gradually. But I believe you will have no trouble. I absolutely forbid any reader to adjust his steroid dosage or frequency of it against his physician's orders based on this discussion. And that goes for you, K.P.

Boy gets painful review from mom

DEAR ABBY: At a recent family reunion, my 6-year-old nephew was caught by his mother playing "doctor" with his 5-year-old female cousin. She punished him by painting his genitals with Mercurochrome and forcing him to sit nude in front of all the relatives while they made fun of him.

Everything seems to be OK with the boy and mother at the moment, but the consensus among the half-dozen or so people to whom I have told this story is that the kid will be "emotionally scarred for life."

If so, I feel that I am an accomplice to it inasmuch as I permitted my nephew to be put on display and ridiculed. Is there anything I can do for the boy beyond some sincere praying?

HIS UNCLE IN CALIFORNIA

DEAR UNCLE: The chances of your nephew being "emotionally scarred for life" are small. But if he seems affected by that humiliating experience, you can assure him that almost all kids play "doctor" out of natural curiosity, and he committed no serious crime. Add, too, that he should not repeat the deed.

And you can tell the boy's mother that for her to have punished her son in that humiliating manner was both cruel and unfeeling.

DEAR ABBY: You used the phrase "gild the lily" in responding to someone who asked if one need send written thanks for a thank-you bouquet.

Abby, the correct quote is "To gild refined gold, to paint the lily." Then it goes on to say, "To throw a perfume on the violet, to smooth the ice, or add another hue unto the rainbow ... is wasteful and ridiculous excess" (from Shakespeare's "King John").

It's a shame to see that lovely phrase misused.

PATTI THE PURIST

DEAR PATTI: Sorry, I've been saying "gild the lily" ever since I can remember. I undoubtedly picked it up from another "giddy" party.

DEAR ABBY: I have exactly the same problem as "Macho Man," the 23-year-old man who can't seem to grow a respectable-looking moustache. He said he has tried many times to grow one, and he always gets disgusted and shaves it off because it grows in so sparse it looks ridiculous.

You told him to buy a false one at a "hair goods" store. Well, that would be out of the question for me, because everyone would know it was pasted on, and that would be worse than not having any moustache at all.

I am 27 years old and do not have any facial hair. I mean nothing — nada! Could I possibly have a hormone imbalance? Maybe so, because the rest of my body is also hairless. And get this — I am a full-blooded Italian, and Italians are noted for their hairiness. Am I normal? Or should I see a doctor about hormones?

HAIRLESS

DEAR HAIRLESS — An examination by an endocrinologist might put you at ease, but if your only problem is the absence of facial hair, and you are otherwise healthy, worry about "hormonal imbalance" would be a barefaced shame.

Honor Dad with special Father's Day meal

Every year fathers get ties and socks for Father's Day. Why not surprise him with a special meal? Introduce him to a new ethnic dish that will add spice to his life. He might even enjoy a southern chicken dish or a seafood platter.

If you don't want to cook an entire meal, then why not prepare a snack for your father while he is enjoying his favorite show.

Fathers enjoy eating and when a meal is made with love it's extra special. Remember the best way to a father's heart is through his stomach, so show him that extra special love on his day.

Separate meat from bones and cut in bite-size pieces, discarding bones and skin. Measure broth from pan and add water to make 3 cups. Return broth to saucepan and bring to boil. Add macaroni and simmer about 10 minutes, stirring often, until most of liquid is absorbed. In small bowl, mix together tomato sauce, vinegar and chili powder; stir into macaroni. Add chicken and sprinkle in celery salt; mix thoroughly. Cook about 15 minutes over low heat to blend flavors. Remove to serving dish and sprinkle with Parmesan cheese. Makes 8 servings.

Add zucchini and saute until zucchini is crisp-tender and the other vegetables are tender, about 3 minutes. Remove from heat. In a medium bowl beat eggs, salt, Italian seasoning and black pepper. Reserving a few mushrooms for later use, add remaining mushroom-vegetable mixture to eggs. Pour into two greased shallow 16-ounce casseroles. Bake, uncovered, until mixture is almost firm, about 10 minutes. Sprinkle with cheese and top with reserved mushrooms. Increase heat to 450 F. Bake, uncovered, until cheese is melted and mushrooms are hot, about 10 minutes. Yield: 2 portions.

Midland sewer plan still draws Glasscock opposition

By CLIFF COAN
Staff Writer

GARDEN CITY — Glasscock County Underground Water Conservation District Manager Mark Hoelscher gave the district a report on opposition to Midland's sewage disposal plan at the district's monthly meeting Monday.

Midland's plans call for a 1,000-acre holding pond to be built one mile from the Glasscock County line in Johnson Draw, a stream of water that connects Midland and Glasscock counties.

The effluent would be piped 16 miles down highways 158 and 1379 to the site and stored in unlined holding tanks.

Many Glasscock residents oppose the plan because they say the water could permeate the groundwater system in their county, making it unsuitable for human consumption.

Clarence Douglas Jackson, 30, of Midland, was released on $1,000 bond after being charged locally with driving while intoxicated.

City wants removal of obstructing signs

By CAROL DANIEL
Staff Writer

Local businesses should keep their signs "back on private property and out of sight" of street intersections, according to City Manager Don Davis.

The city currently is notifying by letter all businesses that use signs for advertising which potentially obstruct drivers' vision at right-of-ways, Davis said.

Davis said the letters are notifications of a program to remove signs, particularly mobile ones, that appear to obstruct drivers' vision.

After the letters have been sent out, the city will contact individual violators, Davis said. He added he encourages anyone who knows of a violation to contact city hall.

Davis also announced that the city swimming pool sessions from 9:30 a.m.-11:30 a.m. have been canceled as of yesterday, due to lack of participation and the need to reduce lifeguard scheduling. Other hours will continue as previously scheduled, he said.

In other municipal matters, the city weed abatement program began last weekend on Goliad, Davis said. He said workers will continue herbiciding, dirt leveling and mowing public property on Goliad and will finish "hopefully this weekend." Workers next will herbicide the downtown area, Davis said.

Lights to enhance visibility of funeral escort motorcycles have been received and one already is mounted and operative, Davis said. The four lights were obtained at a cost of "about $75 apiece," Davis added.

2 arrested on forgery charge

A man facing pending charges of attempted murder and burglary and a woman facing possible indictment by a Howard County grand jury this week were arrested by Big Spring police on a charge of forgery by passing at 2:30 p.m. yesterday, officials said.

Willie Lee Maxwell, 31, of the OK Trailer Park, and Ann Mae Simpson of 207 N.W. 12th were arrested at the Kwikie Drive-In Grocery, 510 Lamesa Highway, as they attempted to leave the parking lot in a car, police said.

Police responded to a report from store manager Don Avant that Ms. Simpson and Maxwell had attempted to cash a stolen check for $425, police Detective Bud Jones said.

Maxwell was arrested in February on a Dawson County warrant for an attempted murder charge. He was out on bond for the attempted murder charge and had been free on bond for a burglary charge at the time of the February arrest.

Ms. Simpson will be considered by a Howard County grand jury this week on a separate charge of forgery by passing, according to county records.

Both suspects were transported to city jail after their arrest, police said. Maxwell was released on $15,000 bond set by peace justice Lewis Heflin, Jones said. Ms. Simpson was denied bond by Heflin because she is on probation in Tarrant County, Heflin said.

Robert Downing of 1613 Canary reported to police that at an unknown time and location someone stole a tire and wheel rim worth $150 from his pick-up truck.

Three cases of beer were stolen from the 7-Eleven at 1600 E. Fourth at 3:45 p.m. yesterday by two unidentified white men who left in an old blue pick-up truck, according to police.

Mr. and Mrs. Claude W. Wilburn of 1001 E. 13th told police that between 8 a.m. and 3 p.m. yesterday two people known to them entered their residence through a window and stole several western hats, jewelry, horse bridles and numerous tools.

Alfred Ray Miers of 1206 1/2 Main reported to police that at 1:55 a.m. today someone driving a blue Ford Maverick backed into his house, striking the front porch and breaking the support beam.

Mike Abbott of 1504-A Sycamore told police that between 12 p.m. and 2 p.m. yesterday two unidentified persons stole a stereo, albums and $1,500 in cash from his residence while he was at work.

A city animal control vehicle driven by animal warden Alice Jane Vargas of 818 W. Seventh and a Chevrolet Nova driven by Judy Ann Gardner of 4212 Parkway collided in the Town and Country Food Store parking lot, 8104 Parkway, at 5 p.m. yesterday, police said. No injuries were reported.
