Desegregation plan revealed

BSISD proposes to end federal lawsuit

By BOB CARPENTER
Staff Writer

Attorneys for the Big Spring Independent School District today announced a proposed order, called a consent decree, that would settle a desegregation lawsuit filed against the district by U.S. Department of Justice in 1980.

At a press conference held in the high school boardroom, attorney Guil Jones III outlined three main provisions of the decree, which will affect students attending Bauer and Washington elementary schools and students in the fourth and fifth grade gifted and talented programs.

The proposed order, if okayed by the BSISD board of trustees and the U.S. district court judge presiding over the case, would conclude "many years of administrative hearings, litigation and negotiation concerning the school district's desegregation status," Jones said.

The three main provisions of the consent decree are:

• (1) All northern rural elementary students in grades one through five will be assigned to attend Bauer

Elementary School rather than Washington Elementary School, and the northern rural buses will be rerouted accordingly.

Jones said approximately 150 students would be affected by the provision. Bauer is located at 108 N.W. Ninth and Washington is at the intersection of Washington and Birdwell streets.

The bus routes and numbers affected by the proposed move are as follows: B-1 trip one, bus No. 95; B-2, bus No. 82; B-6 trip one, bus No. 63; B-8 trip one, bus No. 79; B-10, bus No.

86; B-11 trip two, bus No. 51; and B-12, bus No. 85.

• (2) The fourth and fifth grade SIGNAL program (a voluntary program for gifted and talented students) currently housed at Runnels-Junior High will be moved to the Bauer campus.

Jones said the program is held at Runnels on a district-wide basis and students that are now bused to Runnels simply will be bused to Bauer.

• (3) Minority students attending Bauer will be permitted to transfer to

Insurance rates drop 20 percent

Harte-Hanks Austin Bureau
AUSTIN — The Texas Board of Insurance yesterday ordered homeowner insurance rates across the state lowered an average of 16.3 percent effective Sept. 1.

The board's action will signal a 20.4 percent drop in homeowner insurance rates for Howard County and surrounding areas. Insurance industry had hoped to limit the reduction to 3.1 percent.

For a middle-of-the-line homeowners' policy in Big Spring with a one-year policy covering a $95,000 brick veneer home, the cost of insurance will drop from $339 to $270.

The cost will drop from $692 to $471 on the same brick veneer home valued at $50,000 and from $819 to $652 for a similar home valued at $75,000.

The news isn't so good, however, for those renting in Howard and surrounding counties. There, the board approved an increase in tenant insurance of 15.0 percent.

Fire insurance in Howard County, meanwhile, will drop an average of 11.2 percent, extended coverage will decrease 1.2 percent and farmhand ranch insurance owners' insurance will plummet an average of 18.1 percent.

Insurance industry officials, during board hearings a month ago, tried to limit the insurance rate reductions, claiming the new rates were based on unrealistic loss projections.

Staff actuary Gaylon Daniel, meanwhile, attributed the reductions to the fact Texas has been spared "catastrophic" losses such as tornadoes and hurricanes during the past decade.

Quick action saves choking infant's life

By CAROL DANIEL
Staff Writer

It was 15 minutes of confusion, sweat and pain — elements so familiar to those in emergency situations — but in the end a baby girl's life was saved.

Shaffer Ambulance Service owner John Korell and Big Spring police officer Curtis Becker responded to a call for help at 3 p.m. Tuesday, finding a woman in a northside residence giving birth to a full-breach baby. All but the head had been delivered and the cervix had tightened around the baby's neck, Korell said.

"We went in the house and heard a bunch of screaming and yelling from the mother. The father was confused, running around not knowing what to do and the mid-wife was pulling on the baby's legs, trying to get it out ... which is not the proper thing to do," Korell said.

Korell explained that by massaging the "muscles a bit to relax them" he was able to release the newborn from the cervix. With Becker driving the police car, and Korell administering CPR to the baby "to keep air in its lungs" in the back seat, quick work enabled the pair to deliver the baby to Malone-Hogan Hospital's emergency room in time to save the baby's life.

"I felt pretty good." It's something that doesn't happen every day ... I hope," Becker said of the rescue.

Although the baby was delivered successfully, Korell said "there's no glory in this sort of thing." Because for a time the girl was unable to breathe on her own, Korell said he feared brain damage.

"All the doctors agreed that she probably has brain damage, probably due to the cervix being clamped down around her neck ... she was a beautiful nine-pound baby," Korell said.

"If they had just called allite sooner ... if she could have been delivered c-section (caesarean section), she could have been all right."

"She's one step better than when she came in, but not near out of the woods yet," said a nurse in the intensive care unit.

Israeli jets drop smoke bombs as deadline nears

By The Associated Press

Israeli jets roared low over Beirut today to drop smoke bombs and flares in a mock attack that sent thousands of panicky inhabitants rushing to basements and bomb shelters.

The 20-minute foray, which began at midnight, appeared designed to tell Yasser Arafat's Palestine Liberation Organization guerrillas that Israel's patience was running out. No bombs were reported dropped during the raid.

In Israel, a top official underscored the warning of the mock attack. "Time is running short ... We are very rapidly reaching the limit of our patience," said the official, who declined to be identified.

Israel is demanding that the PLO surrender its heavy weapons and leave Lebanon or face a full-scale assault by the array of tanks, planes and naval vessels which have encircled the western Moslem half of the Lebanese capital.

Flares illuminated beachside resorts and shantytowns along the southern flank of the capital as nerve-shattering sonic booms shook the west Beirut PLO hideouts where Arafat and his estimated 8,000 guerrillas are trapped.

The U.S.-arranged cease-fire in and around west Beirut went into its sixth day virtually intact as American and Lebanese mediators sought to arrange intricate mechanics of the PLO evacuation operation.

A key Lebanese intermediary said Wednesday night that despite the PLO's defiant calls to fight to the death, the guerrillas were ready to leave their 10-square-mile enclave because they did not want a showdown with Israeli forces. But he said details of evacuating them remained unclear. "It is not easy to say how armed people will leave Lebanon," the intermediary, former Prime Minister Saeb Salam, told reporters. "This is an intricate procedure and cannot be done overnight."

No official confirmation was immediately available from PLO leaders on how the armed guerrillas would be evacuated or where they will go.

Salam, Lebanon's 77-year-old Sunni Moslem elder statesman, has been playing a key role in indirect mediation efforts between Arafat's PLO and U.S. presidential envoy Philip C. Habib to solve the crisis. Habib arranged the cease-fire between the PLO and Israeli forces.

Publicly the PLO persists in proclaiming it will resist leaving Lebanon unless the Israelis grant several concessions, which include an Israeli pullback from around Beirut and allowing the guerrillas to maintain a token military and political presence in the country. Israel has rejected those demands.

Palace sources said the mediators were trying to find a country willing to grant asylum to the guerrillas. The sources, who requested anonymity, also said plans for a rapid deployment of the previously inactive Lebanese army in west Beirut to collect the PLO's heavy arms also were discussed as the first step of a political settlement. Israel has agreed that the guerrillas may keep their personal weapons, including rifles.

County gets new extension agent

Naomi Hunt has been announced by local officials as the newest extension agent for Howard County. Mrs. Hunt will begin her new job Aug. 1 and replaces Janet Rogers, who resigned recently.

The announcement was made by Howard County Judge Bill Tune and Mrs. Roberta Johnson, district director of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Mrs. Hunt currently is an extension agent in Stephens County. She holds a degree in home economics from Colorado State University and a master's degree in consumer science from Texas Tech.

She has been accepted into the Ph.D. program at Texas Tech and also has been an extension agent in Briscoe County.

Mrs. Hunt and a son, Ken, will be moving to Big Spring soon, county officials said.

A.N. STANDARD

Sheriff sees self on firing line

By MIKE DOWNEY
Staff Writer

Howard County Sheriff A.N. Standard is continuing a tradition in the county which goes back to 1882 and back into history to the ninth century. Originally the king's reeve in England watched over royal interests. In the tenth century, he became a shire or county official instead of a town official, hence the title shire-reeve.

The first Howard County sheriff, R.W. Murrow, took office July 1, 1882, to be followed by 21 other officials including a woman, Mrs. Lucille Merrick, in 1941. Standard has been Howard County sheriff since 1965.

Standard has been in law enforcement virtually all of his adult life. Following a stint in the armed forces where he worked in the military police, he was employed by the Big Spring Police Department for 10 years during the 1950s. He served four years as deputy sheriff after moving to the county sheriff's office in the Sixties before being elected sheriff in 1964.

For Standard, being sheriff does not stop at the office. "It's not just a job; it's a hobby as well. You take a portion of it home with you," Standard said. "You are always on call for whatever is needed up here (as sheriff)."

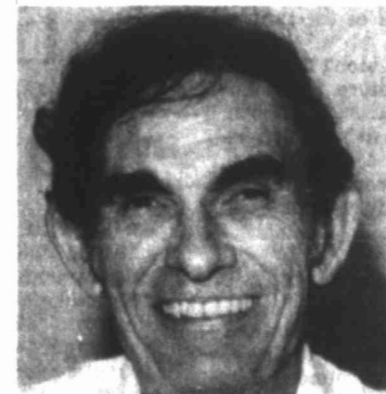

The sheriff says he enjoys the challenge and interest of his job the most.

"The field itself is a challenge but I like the things that occur, like the challenge of being able to solve a crime or the challenge of being able to work with people in crucial circumstances," Standard said. "There's no drudgery in this job — the tempo and pace is such in this office you really have to stay up. There's something a little bit different, something always going on."

While holding to the main duties of sheriff as conservator of the peace and executive officer of the county and district courts, Standard has further defined his job. "I have to be a motivator, an organizer, a manager and yet keep my composure. I have to be still able to see what the outside

Focalpoint

Action/reaction: Getting tested

Q. How does a person get tested for his I.Q.?

A. The Education Testing Service in Princeton, N.J., said intelligence quotient tests are difficult to obtain, and suggested checking in the Directory of Counseling Services for nearby testing centers.

The Guidance and Counseling Service at Howard College will test mental ability to determine occupational, educational or attitudinal direction. A college spokesman said they do not test for IQ so much as they gauge success toward particular programs. A fee is charged for non-students. Any psychologist can administer IQ tests for a fee.

Tax cut takes effect today

By The Associated Press

The federal government today begins pumping nearly $1 billion a week into the economy, trying to trigger a boom in consumer spending and savings to lift the nation out of recession.

A 10 percent cut in personal income tax rates goes into effect, accompanied by a 7.4 percent increase in Social Security benefits.

"It marks the beginning of brighter days for everyone who works and makes our economy go," President Reagan said Wednesday night at the start of his nationally broadcast news conference.

The tax cut for a typical married worker with two children and earnings of just over $24,000 a year will be about $6 a week.

But the AFL-CIO said most families will pay more taxes this year than in 1980 because of inflation, higher Social Security taxes and increases in state and local taxes.

Meanwhile, two Commerce Department reports Wednesday indicated that a recovery may be near. The department said its broad gauge of economic activity, the Index of Leading Indicators, ROSE IN May for the third straight month, and factory orders were up 1.5 percent following a 2.3 percent decline in April.

"The figures mean 'the recession is bottoming out,'" said Robert Ortner, chief economist for the Commerce Department.

The leading indicators rose 0.3 percent in May after a 1.3 percent rise in April and a revised report of a 0.2 percent gain in March.

Shipments of manufactured goods jumped 2.6 percent in May, the largest one-month gain since October 1980, while the value of inventories of unsold goods fell 1 percent, the department said. Falling inventories encourage stepped-up production and the recall of idled workers.

Private economists wonder, however, whether there can be a strong recovery as long as interest rates remain high. Expectations are that heavy Treasury borrowing to finance record federal deficits combined with a restrictive monetary policy by the Federal Reserve Board will contribute to keeping interest rates high.

The Fed's policy-making arm, the Federal Open Market Committee, meets in Washington today to map policy for the rest of 1982 and to make tentative plans for its 1983 monetary stance. Its decisions will be disclosed later this month when Federal Reserve Board Chairman Paul Volcker appears before Congress.

There was encouraging news on inflation Wednesday in an Agriculture Department report that prices farmers received for raw products dropped 0.7 percent in June following a 3 percent increase in May. It was the first monthly decline this year.

C-City officials arrest man on burglary charge

COLORADO CITY (SC) — Mitchell County Sheriff Wendell Bryant said authorities arrested a man in connection with a June 5 incident at 644 E. Sixth St.

Charged with "burglary of a habitation with intent to commit rape" is 27-year-old Welvin Edward Ross of 1164 College, whose bond has been set at $25,000 by Justice of the Peace Jo Ann Merket said Bryant.

Chief Deputy Sheriff Bobby Calloway led the investigation and made the arrest, which also involved Colorado City police personnel, Bryant said.

C-City rodeo under way

COLORADO CITY (SC) — The annual AJRA Rodeo got under way last night with a good crowd, good stock and 379 young contestants.

Two of the top performers were Randy McThaul of Colorado City and Tiger Baker of Bay City.

McThaul had an opening night time of 13:51 in tie-down roping, good enough for first-place honors, and also led the first night's competition in ribbon roping with a time of 15:57. McThaul is competing in the 16-19 age group.

Baker scored a 51 in bareback bronc riding to grab the first-night lead in that category and managed a tie in bull riding with last year's winner, Bart Wilkenson of Menard.

Each night's performance gets under way at 8 p.m. in the rodeo arena west of town.

Stenholm, soil group meet

COLORADO CITY — Directors of the Upper Colorado Soil and Water Conservation District were among 70 conservation leaders from 11 soil and water conservation districts participating in the West Texas Association of Soil and Water Conservation districts meeting hosted by the Mitchell SWCD in Colorado City this week.

Attending from the Upper Colorado Soil and Water Conservation District were district directors Leon Sterling, Charlie Henderson and W.L. Wilson. Mr. Also attending was Soil Conservation Service district conservationist Erwin A. Pavlik of Snyder.

Congressman Charles Stenholm spoke to the conservationists following a noon luncheon on the problems of American Agriculture. On the overall agriculture situation, Stenholm said he is convinced that supply management is essential to the survival of the family farm.

He told the group that there is no unity among the farm organizations on what is needed by agriculture. Stenholm went on to say that without unity among the organizations representing agriculture "we will continue to have a crisis in agriculture."

"Our free market for agriculture products cannot compete on a world market in which nobody else operates on a free market," he said.

College registration set

Registration for the second summer term at Howard College will be held July 6 from 9 a.m. to noon, 1 to 4 p.m. and 6 to 8 p.m. in the college library, announced Jan Dunagan, Howard College registrar.

Classes will begin July 7 and end Aug. 11. July 8 will be the last day to add or drop courses.

All fees must be paid at the time of registration. Registration packets will not be held for later payment, college officials said.

any other elementary school or their choice, subject to available capacity, with transportation provided by the district. Conversely, Anglo students will be permitted to transfer into Bauer, subject to available capacity.

Jones explained the history of the suit. "Since 1954 the board of trustees has addressed the problem of desegregation within the district. Beginning in 1971 the district was faced, first with hearings and proceedings by the U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

"Then eventually in 1968 a lawsuit was filed by the Department of Justice to compel additional affirmative actions to be taken by the district to end any remaining segregation that might continue to exist within the district."

Jones said since 1972 the trustees have considered numerous concepts in order to settle the problems with HEW and the Department of Justice in an attempt to avoid the expense and the difficulties of a trial.

He said the board "has consistently operated with the philosophy that they have refused to accept any proposal which involves mandatory busing, destroying the neighborhood school concept or hindering in any way the ability of the district to provide a sound education."

Jones stated the proposal to be considered by the board on July 8 is the "first proposal agreed to by the government that also meets the philosophical requirements" of the trustees.

Jones said his firm of Jones and Patterson Inc., which negotiated on behalf of the district with government attorneys, is recommending the settlement to the district for its consideration.

He said neither the administrations or trustees will be available for comment before the meeting. Jones hopes "a large number of the public will be there to fully flesh out this thing to see what it involves."

When asked if public input could possibly change the proposal Jones said, "There is certainly the possibility of that. The purpose of the meeting is to inform the public and to receive their input."

The proposed settlement will be considered by the trustees at a public meeting July 8 at 5:15 p.m. in the high school boardroom. Jones said the purpose of the meeting is to allow a more complete discussion of the history, problems and other considerations entering into the board's ultimate decision. There will be a chance for public comment, he said.

Standard

sees. We don't want to be the over-enforcement type," Standard said. "Right here is the firing line," he added. "The public has to be served. Each person is a part of the reason why you're here."

The sheriff's office has a variety of functions, according to Standard. These functions include serving as bailiffs in court, maintaining the jail, transfer and pickup of prisoners and civil action. "We handle all felonies in the county," Standard said. "We work out of all courts: the JPs, county and district. We're giving warrants like they're going out of style."

The personnel in the sheriff's office are kept busy by the demands of the office, Standard said, so much so that many things are dealt with on a priority basis.

"You expand and endure in some areas until we can get the most important things done," Standard said.

An example of the priority system was a deputy might be working a homicide, then maybe moved to another one or perhaps a burglary, then back to the original investigation. "We're all integrated — deputies have few specific duties," he said.

Since the deputies work closely together, Standard said the office is something like a family operation. A 21-year-old veteran himself, Standard noted a recently retired deputy sheriff, Bill Whitten, had been there 20 years, as has Bernice Nail. Rachael Shaffer had served 17 years while Milton Kirby, the county judge-elect, had been deputy sheriff for 12 years.

Standard said crime in the county "actually (is) little," yet crime has its "peaks and plateaus." The problem areas range from stock on highways to homicides. "Periodically, we're into burglaries, the past month they've picked up," Standard said. "Crimes are routine; some are not. Some take longer to solve; some never are solved. We hope we keep above average."

An interesting sidelight of Standard's experience is his 1975 graduation from a national training school operated by the Federal Bureau of Investigation. "One receives basically the same training as an (FBI) agent," Standard said. The three-month academy courses involved management techniques, use of firearms and academic studies, he added. The academy is located in Virginia.

As with all law enforcement positions, an element of danger exists. Howard County Sheriff Walter Satterwhite was killed in office March 24, 1925. But Standard said he could always relate to the law and would continue to make a career of it. "You always take a portion of it home with you, but I have no regrets," he said.

Hijacker exchanges hostages, leaves for Sri Lanka with family

BANGKOK, Thailand (AP) — A hijacker, his estranged Italian wife and their son departed for Sri Lanka today after the sky pirate exchanged about 100 hostages for $300,000 and a guarantee of safe conduct to his homeland.

He presumably still had the money, but it was possible police might arrest him when he lands in the Sri Lankan capital of Colombo.

The family and about 250 other passengers left aboard an Air Lanka jet at Don Muang International Airport where the hijacker, 33-year-old Sepala Ekanayaka, had for 32 hours held an Alitalia jumbo jet and its passengers and crew and threatened to blow them up unless he was reunited with his family.

At the end of the siege, the hijacker walked off the jet with his arms thrust into the air and his fists clenched in a victory salute.

"I think it is the love for the little boy that led to the hijacking," Thai Communications Minister Amorn Sirigaya said.

Amorn confirmed the Thai government agreed to Ekanayaka's demands to see his 29-year-old estranged wife Anna Aldovrandi and their 3 1/2-year-old son Free.

Police Beat

Man treated for stabbing

Joe Olivar, 31, of 704 San Jacinto, is in serious but stable condition in Malone-Hogan Hospital after receiving multiple stab wounds at 1:04 a.m. today, according to police and hospital officials.

Olivar was taken to the hospital emergency room after he was stabbed in the Giant Food Store parking lot at 611 N. Lamesa Highway this morning, police said.

No suspects have been arrested in the case, detective Sgt. Avery Falkner said this morning.

• Johnnie B. Wright Jr. of 3709 Hamilton reported to police that at 1:07 a.m. today someone in a compact car fired five or six rounds from an unidentified type of firearm, striking his car once while the car was in the 300 block of North West Eighth.

• Yolanda Mendoza of 1506 E. Sixth told police that between 2:30 and 4 p.m. yesterday someone broke into his residence and stole a $49 Winchester BB gun rifle.

• Someone stole $250 cash and an unknown amount of change from a juke box and cigarette machine at the Eagle's Lodge, 703 W. Third, sometime Tuesday night, according to police.

• Roselinda Yanez of 107 N.E. Ninth told police that at 1 p.m. yesterday a man known to her assaulted her at her residence.

• A Ford Capri driven by Melissa D. Smith of Sterling City Route 135 and a Dodge Aspen driven by Ural G. Scarbro of 516 Edwards collided in the intersection of Highway 87 and a service road to F.M. 700 at 7:43 p.m. yesterday, according to police. Ms. Smith was rescued from her car by firemen using the "jaws of life," police said.

Ms. Smith, a passenger, Jeanette Farguson of Box 259 in Aryl, and Scarbro were transported to the Malone-Hogan emergency room, where Ms. Farguson and Scarbro were treated and released and Smith was admitted in stable condition for observation, according to a hospital spokesman. Police said they ticketed Scarbro for running a red light.

• A Buick Cutlass driven by Malinda C. Blackburn of 2609 Wagon, Quail Run apartment 48, struck a street light in the 1200 block of Gregg at 2:50 a.m. today while swerving to avoid an unidentified vehicle, police said. No serious injuries were reported.

Sheriff's Log

Fine paid in bad check case

R.E. Davis, no age shown, of 403 Valley, was released from custody following his arrest by sheriff's deputies on a warrant for issuance of bad checks. Sheriff's records show Davis paid a fine of $60.72 and was released.

• Sheriff's deputies arrested George Patrick Jewett, 21, of 1307 Mesa, on a warrant for issuance of bad checks. Jewett remained in county jail today after Justice of the Peace Lewis Heflin set bond at $200.

• Sheriff's deputies arrested Gary Lynn Kidd, 30, of Loraine, on suspicion of criminal trespass. Kidd was released on a $200 personal recognizance bond, sheriff's records show.

• Sheriff's deputies also released Francie Sharp, 23, of 1462, Main following her arrest at the sheriff's office on suspicion of issuance of bad checks. She was arraigned before Heflin and released after posting $200 bond.

Highland South holds parade

Bicycles, tricycles, golf carts, lawn mowers — they're all expected to be part of the annual Highland South Independence Day parade.

The parade will be held Saturday beginning at 10 a.m. and will proceed along Highland Drive from east to west.

Entrants in the parade are asked by organizers to assemble at the east end of Highland Drive at 9:30 a.m. Prizes will be awarded for the most unique entries.

Following the parade, there will be a ceremony featuring Sonny Choate and Paul Shaffer as master of ceremonies.

Refreshments will be served and all of Big Spring is invited to take part in the parade.

PRESIDENTIAL POSES — President Reagan displays a range of poses and expressions during his news conference Wednesday evening in the East Room of the White House. During the session, the president's 11th since taking office, he discussed problems including the fighting in Lebanon, the resignation of Secretary of State Alexander M. Haig Jr. and his possible plans to run for re-election.

Reagan vows no policy changes

By R. GREGORY NOKES
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Reagan says he calls the shots on foreign policy and "there is going to be no change" despite outgoing Secretary of State Alexander M. Haig's charge that it is off-course.

"I think we are progressing very well with what it is we are trying to accomplish," Reagan said Wednesday night during his first televised news conference in seven weeks.

But the president again declined to discuss the reasons for Haig's resignation last Friday, saying the American people had been told everything about it that they needed to know.

Reagan disputed suggestions that the United States knew in advance of Israel's invasion of Lebanon and approved of it. "I've given no green light whatsoever" to the Israelis, he said.

He also made clear he is giving serious thought to running for a second term in 1984 because "it would be unlike me to think that I would walk away from an unfinished job."

While he said it is too early to make up his mind, he joked that he has advised his aides "they should not waste their time reading the help-wanted ads."

Reagan said he was "sticking with" Labor Secretary Raymond Donovan after a special prosecutor found Monday that Donovan had not done anything to warrant being charged with a crime, even though the prosecutor said there were "a disturbing number" of links to underworld figures.

"I think it would be the most unfair thing in the world for anyone to think he has been anything but unfairly and unjustly accused," Reagan said of his labor secretary.

He also said he will fight for congressional passage of his proposed tax credits for parents of children in private schools. "It's simple fairness" to give them a break since they also must pay taxes to support the public school system, he said.

The president said the nation was "fortunate" that former Treasury Secretary George P. Shultz has accepted his nomination to succeed Haig. He said Shultz "is a man with great experience and a man of unquestioned integrity."

In an obvious response to Haig's criticism that Reagan has wandered from the policy course he established when he took office, the president said he is satisfied he is meeting his goals. "There is going to be no change in policy," he said. "Foreign policy comes from the Oval Office and with the help of a fine secretary of state."

While sources close to Haig are saying he feels he was forced into a resignation by the White House, Reagan said nothing critical of Haig and didn't mention any policy differences.

Instead, Reagan praised Haig for "a superhuman job" of trying to prevent the war in the Falkland Islands. "His service to his country and his service to the administration have been all that could be desired," he said.

Reagan declined to answer questions on the progress of the negotiations to end the war in Lebanon and save Beirut from further fighting between Israel and the Palestine Liberation Organization.

While he said some Arab nations may think Washington knew of Israel's plans, it did not. "We were caught as much by surprise as anyone," he said. "We wanted a diplomatic solution and believed there could have been one."

But he was not otherwise critical of Israel's actions, and he seemed to accept Israel's explanation that it launched its invasion to defend itself against artillery and rocket attacks from PLO units in southern Lebanon.

Reagan said the PLO had been a government within a government in Lebanon and had "pursued aggression themselves across a border by way of rocket firing and artillery barrages."

He said his administration was investigating whether the Israelis had used their U.S.-supplied military equipment for justifiable defensive purposes or offensively in violation of U.S. restrictions.

But he appeared to indicate which way he was leaning on the question by declaring that prior to Israel's invasion, "Soviet-built rockets and cannon were shelling villages across the border (in Israel) and causing civilian casualties."

The president made clear his hopes that the invasion will lead to a long-term solution of the problems surrounding Lebanon.

He said the United States favors restoring the authority of the Lebanese government and army, guaranteeing Israel lasting protection against terrorist attacks across the Lebanese border and obtaining the withdrawal of all foreign armies from Lebanon.

Pilots close Columbia's cargo doors

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — Columbia's commander, "watching like a hawk," ran tests today to make sure the shuttle's balky cargo doors close properly in a simulation of steps that must precede re-entry on the Fourth of July. "They closed normally," said Ken Mattingly.

He sounded relieved and so did Mission Control.

As America's shuttle sped into the homeward half of its final practice run, Mattingly and pilot Henry Hartsfield delivered an enthusiastic report on Earth's "spectacular cloud formations."

"A geologist flying over here could have a ball for a lifetime," said Mattingly as he marvelled at the vast territory of western Australia.

The he prepared to close Columbia's errant 60-foot left door, telling Mission Control: "I propose I watch it like a hawk. The first time I see it jend upward, I'm going to stop." He never had to. Capcom Brewster Shaw said, "Everything looks good. Continue on with you normal procedures."

"It's real clean," Hartsfield said as the door slammed shut.

Flight four was entering its fifth of seven days today, looking toward Sunday's touchdown at Edwards Air Force Base in California.

Down below in California Columbia's sister ship, Challenger, was being taken from its hangar early today and towed 38 miles through two desert towns to Edwards Air Force Base. It will be there to greet Columbia on Sunday and to make its own first flight next January.

Mattingly and Hartsfield passed the midpoint of their mission at precisely 11:27 p.m. EDT Wednesday, when they were in their 57th orbit. They planned to subject Columbia's complex systems to more fine-tuning today.

FBI admits Capitol Hill illicit sex probe

WASHINGTON (AP) — Charges of illicit sex between members of Congress and their teenage pages are being investigated by federal authorities, according to the FBI and Justice Department.

CBS News on Wednesday reported that "several" congressmen were subjects of the investigation.

"I can confirm that there is an investigation, as reported," Larry Knisely, night supervisor of the FBI's District of Columbia office, said.

"It's at a very preliminary stage," said Justice Department spokesman John Russell.

"A page came forward and had some allegations. I can't discuss them right now."

The Arkansas Gazette, in a copyright article in today's editions, quoted an unidentified Justice Department source as saying the department was looking into complaints that members coerced or bribed pages of both sexes to engage in homosexual or heterosexual activities with them.

The Little Rock newspaper said nine or 10 members of the House and one senator were under investigation.

Homosexuality reportedly was not the issue in the investigation, but rather the promising of favors by members of Congress and sex with minors.

The network broadcast an interview with a former page supervisor who said he engaged in sex with a member of the House on three occasions, including once in the representative's office and once at an apartment in the Watergate complex.

Asked what compensation he received, the former page said he never saw money, but realized that on Capitol Hill, "one favor deserves another."

One dies in Fort Hood accident

FORT HOOD, Texas (AP) — One man is dead and another injured following a collision between a jeep and an M-60 tank during training at Fort Hood, the third such fatal accident on the sprawling Army base in a week.

An Army spokesman said Wednesday the soldiers from a Temple unit of the 40th Armored Division of the Texas National Guard were at the post for their annual two weeks of active Army training.

Maj. Tony Geishauser, Fort Hood information officer, today identified the dead guardsman as Sgt. Roy L. Beaumont, 29, of nearby Temple. The second soldier was taken to Darnell Army Community Hospital at Fort Hood and released after observation.

A helicopter crashed in a remote area along the Colorado River in San Saba County on June 23. Three soldiers died under the crash and six others were hospitalized. The same day, an armored personnel carrier sank in a creek on the base and one soldier drowned.

$3.3 million for pet care?

Stacked against a Defense Department budget measured in scores of billions, the sum of $3.3 million a year seems almost too piddling to fuss about. Piddling or not, the particular $3.3 million referred to has the capacity to raise hackles.

The figure of speech is appropriate to the subject — which is the Pentagon's reported outlay of that sum annually to provide subsidized veterinary care for pets owned by armed services personnel. That gadfly to the brasshats, Rep. Les Aspin of Wisconsin, says veterinary fees for military personnel under this system are about one-third of what civilians pay.

Military people are entitled to own pets — which need veterinary care. But why should taxpayers in general be charged part of the bill?

The seasons come

Coppertone, chlorine, sweet honeysuckle. The smells of summer. Splashing, blaring radios, padding of bare feet. The sounds of summer. Almost bikinis, towels, sunglasses. The sights of summer.

Oily skin, a new sunburn, a cooling breeze. The touches of summer. All to be enjoyed on a bright summer day at your favorite pool.

Going to the pool is a great exercise in people-watching. There is a dramatic change in character in many folks as they shed their clothes and change into pool people right before your shaded eyes. Turn up the thermostat on Mr. Sun and watch the humans flock to loungers around the pool much like pigeons land en masse on selected statues.

It all begins in mid spring when a venture outdoors doesn't require that parka you've worn for the past few months. As you pass the pool, visions of sunbathing, diving and sipping frozen drinks dance in your head.

compared to the changes in skin tones around the pool. At first there is so much white skin — unless, of course, there are black and brown varieties there, too — that the pool more resembles a dairy.

The white-skinned people never learn their lesson, year in, year out. Bronzing their flesh takes time, but each year the majority try to accomplish the ultimate in one afternoon. The smell of roasting flesh sings the atmosphere and the white turns to pink and then to lobster red. As the sizzling victims prepare to retreat home, their agony is all too apparent. Moans of pain fill the air as fabric meets cooked meat.

EVENTUALLY, after the messy ritual of peeling, the skin darkens. Then the female species, feeling all the more confident, changes to lighter color swimwear and those styles which reveal even more skin. Sighs of contentment from the male variety add to the summer sounds.

For the summer crowd, the peak of fun has come. The tan has arrived, the two and half backwards dive with a half-twist accomplished and new friends have been made. Heaven lasts for a month, maybe two before burn-out settles in.

ONE DAY, a breeze rustles the leaves in trees around the pool and a sixth sense of autumn is felt, though it's still almost 100 in the shade. The pool folk start to dwindle as the preparations for a new school year, the upcoming football season and cooler weather begin.

A few stragglers are chagrined when the gates are locked once more and the water, once a harbor for air mattresses, now is bespeckled with brown, red and auburn leaves. The furniture is moved indoors before icicles can get a hold of the armrests and the honeysuckle is no longer a pleasant aroma.

Carduroy and leather replace swimsuit and tanktop. The pool people have transformed again, red noses replacing those once covered with Noxema.

Hot chocolate, super-chilled air, pinecones. The smells of winter. Referee's whistles, crunching snow, chattering teeth. The sounds of winter.

Frozen breaths, woolly scarves, antifreeze. The sights of winter. Snowball punches, numb toes, fireplace warmth. The touches of winter.

Oh, how we wish it were summer again.

Squeezing pennies from the needy

WASHINGTON — While corporate fatcats are allowed to get away with cost overruns and tax writeoffs, President Reagan's people have been going after the widow's mite with all the ferocity of Dickensian debt collectors. The unfortunate old people are lucky that debtors' prisons have been abolished.

Here's what happening: The Social Security Administration has been sending out notices to pensioners threatening to cut off their monthly benefit checks unless they repay immediately the sums they were overpaid in recent years in Supplemental Security Income.

I reported a few weeks ago that the Social Security Administration is trying to coerce pensioners into letting the agency snoop through their income-tax records. Unless they sign a waiver of the privacy that every taxpayer is entitled to, the pensioners are told, their supplemental income checks will be cut off. This is a bluff, and a cruel one. The agency has no legal right to follow through on its threat, and it knows it. Indeed a federal judge ordered Social Security Administration officials to cease badgering beneficiaries until the legality of their actions could be settled in court.

Now the Social Security bureaucrats are using the same tactics in their zeal to squeeze every last penny out of the poor, the sick and elderly.

The first notification is relatively mild. Though it does say, "Please refund the $... immediately," it gives the pensioner a break if he can't pay the whole amount at once.

"For your convenience, we can withhold the balance of your overpayment from your social security benefit," the letter states. A form is included at the bottom of the page, stating: "For my convenience, please withhold my full social security benefit each month until my supplemental security income overpayment of $... is fully recovered." If the pensioner doesn't sign away the Social Security checks — often the only income he has — a follow-up letter arrives. This one gets really ugly.

"If we do not hear from you (in 16 days) we will be forced to suspend payment of your Social Security Checks."

This threat is probably illegal. By law, Social Security checks are supposed to be immune from "attachment or assignment." The National Senior Citizens Law Center is planning to take the agency to court over it this week.

In fact, it appears that the Social Security bureaucrats themselves have doubts about the legality of their strong-arm methods. My associate Lucette Lagrado was told that the threatening letter now reads "may be forced" instead of "will be forced."

And in its original 1983 budget request, the agency specifically asked for a "proposed change" that would allow it to "recover overpayments to individuals from available Social Security benefits." Obviously, if it already has this authority, there would be no need to ask Congress for it again.

Footnote: An agency spokesman tried to disassociate Washington headquarters from the second letter, insisting that such bullying tactics were not administration policy but an unauthorized bit of zealotism by a regional office. He stuck by the first letter, however, and saw nothing wrong in trying to trick terrified pensioners into signing away what, in many cases, is their only source of income.

Contrast this with the Reagan administration's casual attitude toward defense contractors, big oil companies and other business buccaniers. The Renegotiation Board, which used to collect overpayments from defense contracts, has been allowed to die. The Interior Department trusts the oil companies to report how much oil they pump on federal wells, despite evidence that the oilmen have been robbing Uncle Sam blind under the honor system.

Nor are government collection agents leaning on Chrysler, the Pennsylvania Railroad and other corporations that have received piles of money from the taxpayers.

ONE FOR GUINNESS: A new and awe-inspiring world record has been set in the field of bizarre physical tests: All 18 members of the American writer-over crew at the South Pole, joined the exclusive "300 Club" in a single day, April 7. Two of the 18 are women.

The rules for membership in the "300 Club" are simple, if stupefying: The candidate must sit in the ice station's makeshift sauna at 200 degrees Fahrenheit for 15 minutes, then dash out — in the buff, except for boots — to the ceremonial pole on the ice cap and back to the station. The round trip is about a quarter of a mile. The temperature outside must be at least 100 degrees below zero; on April 7, it was minus-101.

A cable announcing the marathon initiation reported "numerous minor cases of frostbite" among the new members of the club.

SQUEAKY CLEAN: For the honor and status of working for the U.S. Treasury, officials of the agency must submit to a retroactive audit of their income-tax returns for the three years prior to their employment. And every year they continue to work at the Treasury, they are subjected to routine audits by the International Revenue Service. Not only that, but when they leave the Treasury, they can usually count on being audited for the next few years as well.

E.R.A.'s failure was no great loss

Dear Editor,

June 30th quietly marks the end to ten years of noisy debate over the Equal Rights Amendment without its ratification.

Those who feel sadness at its demise do so unnecessarily because the E.R.A.'s ability to improve equal treatment of women was nil. For example, Congress already had prohibited discrimination in employment by reason of sex in the Civil Rights Act of 1964 and the Equal Employment Opportunities Commission began in 1964.

Doubtless, many women still suffer discrimination in employment, but their problems are not matters of law but rather of law enforcement. It was an unnecessary amendment.

The E.R.A. did, however, certainly make a vague and ambiguously worded proposed Constitutional amendment whose meaning has been hotly debated. Not even those for E.R.A. could conclusively state what probable interpretation the courts would read into it. E.R.A., if ratified, would prohibit discrimination "on account of sex." But, what is "sex" discrimination? Is it denying a marriage license to homosexuals, separating Boy Scouts and Girl Scouts or now allowing women to be ordained as ministers, priests, or rabbis? Who knows? E.R.A. would have effected a vast area of public-private actions but quite how we do not know. E.R.A. was

Billy Graham

DEAR DR. GRAHAM: Does God only bless people who never commit any sins? How can I be blessed by God? — J.P.M.

DEAR J.P.M.: If God only blessed people who never commit a sin, then not one would ever be blessed by him! The reason is because every one of us commits sin. Some people may commit more sins than others, but none of us is innocent — either in our actions, our thoughts, or our words. That is why the Bible says, "There is no one righteous, not even one" (Romans 3:10).

One of the greatest truths in the Bible is that God loves us, and he constantly deals with us not according to what we deserve, but according to his grace and mercy. This is demonstrated most clearly in our salvation. We deserve to be condemned by God, who is holy and completely just. But God in his mercy has made it possible for us to be saved — not because any good works we could ever do because of what Jesus Christ has done for us on the cross. Christ took upon himself our sins and our guilt, and all we can do is trust him and him alone for our salvation. "But because of his great love for us, God, who is rich in mercy, made us alive with Christ even when we were dead in transgressions — it is by grace you have been saved" (Ephesians 2:4-5).

But God's grace and mercy are also demonstrated every day of our lives. He provides for your needs every day, and he blesses you in ways that are often unseen by us. He also blesses his children spiritually as they look to him each day. "Because of the Lord's great love we are not consumed, for his compassions never fail" (Lamentations 3:22).

How can you know God's blessing in your life? First, give your life to Jesus Christ. Turn to him in repentance for your sins, trusting him alone for your salvation. This is the most important step you can take and I urge you to do that without delay. By a simple prayer of faith you can invite Christ into your heart to be your Lord and Savior.

Then look to him each day, asking for his will to be done in your life. He will bless you — perhaps not in ways that you could ever expect right now, but in far richer ways than you could ever imagine.

Thoughts

There's something alive about a kitchen, the way it smells and sounds and feels. Maybe sick people would all live longer if they sat in kitchens.

I have a vast quantity of nonsense in my head about bad men not looking in the face. Don't trust them. Dishonesty will stare honesty out of countenance any day in the week, if there is anything to be got by it.

Who needs college?

"Hey, Dad, guess what? I've been accepted by Harvard, Yale, Princeton, Cornell and Stanford."

"That's just wonderful, son. But are you really sure you want to go to college?"

"Gosh, Dad, you always said the one thing everyone needed in life was a college education."

"I was making conversation. I know a lot of people who are big wheels in their fields who never had a university diploma. You know my friend Sam Sleg in Boston? He not only never went to college, he never even saw an Ivy League football game. He is one of the most successful men I know.

"And Eddie Aranson of Rockville, Md., made a decision that he could educate himself much better than any school could do it for him. The man can buy and sell anybody who went to the Wharton School of Business."

"But you went to college."

"If I knew then what I know now, I would have never done it. I wasted four of the best years of my life studying for exams. I could have been driving a taxi then, instead of throwing my parents' money away on books and courses and dates. But just because I made a mistake is no reason you have to make the same one."

"Gee, Dad, you never told me how unhappy you were at Dartmouth."

"I didn't want you to know, because I was afraid you would think less of me. All fathers have skeletons in their closets that they try to keep from their children. Now that you're a man I feel I can level with you. The only reason I went to college was to stay out of the Army."

"I thought you would be pleased that I was accepted by five of the best schools in the country."

"I am, son. But just because they accepted you is no reason you have to go to any one of them. You've got a brilliant mind, and I hate to see them load it down with a lot of intellectual nonsense that could mess you up for the rest of your life. Besides, every college that has accepted you is part of the elitist establishment. By the time you graduate, you'll think that you are better than everybody else. Worse still, everybody else will think the same thing. Once you get a degree from a top-flight school, you'll be a marked man for the rest of your days."

"Mom wants me to go to a good college."

"All mothers want their sons to go to a good college. But that doesn't mean it's right. They think because you've been accepted in some fancy school it reflects favorably on them. It's not important what Mom wants for you. It's what you want for yourself."

"I want to go to a good school."

"You say that now because you've never been to one. You're young and idealistic and you believe that all you need to get ahead is an education. But as you grow older you'll discover it isn't the college but the man that matters. I can introduce you to graduates of every university you have been accepted at, who will tell you they would have been happier being male disco dancers."

"What do you want me to do, Dad?"

"It's your decision, son. I don't want to influence you one way or the other. But if I were your age, I'd buy a backpack and hitchhike across the country. You'll learn a lot more than you will in some Ivy League institution."

"Dad, can I ask you a question?"

"Yes, son."

"Are we broke?"

"We're not broke. But we will be if you go to one of those five schools."

"Okay, then I'll go to the University of Maryland. It always was my first choice."

"Thanks, son. You just saved the old plantation."

Cooperation needed

The international security environment has changed dramatically in the past decade. The United States and other Western nations have been a substantial expansion of their interests.

This has happened, in part, because Western interests have expanded. The interdependence of national economies have reached new heights. The excessive dependence of industrialized nations on Middle Eastern oil is one of the clearest examples of the interlocking nature of economic interests.

Economic interdependence poses certain strategic vulnerabilities for the Western world. Local conflicts which disrupt the flow of raw materials and trade can produce serious economic and hence political, repercussions. Security challenges in distant areas must now be of concern to all nations and friends.

Certainly, the United States must respond to these new security challenges with an increasing commitment to improving our defense capabilities. Yet, just as our economic interdependence with our allies and friends has grown, so must our cooperation on matters of mutual security.

Unfortunately, our track record on defense cooperation with our allies and friends strongly suggests that we have not yet recognized their importance. We often continue to think and conduct ourselves in the same manner as during the period of the unchallenged primacy of U.S. power.

The unilateral commitment by the United States to defend the Persian Gulf region is a prime example of our failure to recognize the limitations of our military capabilities in today's world. A successful defense of the Persian Gulf region can indeed be mounted, but it will require an effective coalition of allied and friendly forces.

One area of particular concern to me is the way in which defense cooperation with nations outside our major alliances has suffered. The U.S. program to provide security assistance to threatened nations has received reduced emphasis.

The ratio of U.S. security assistance to the U.S. defense budget has declined steadily from its high of 9.5 percent in 1950. Today, this ratio is under 2 percent, or about one fifth of the 1950 level. By 1980, the cost to U.S. taxpayers of the U.S. security assistance program was less than $13 per person, the lowest level in 30 years.

As a result, the United States was increasingly placing herself in a position where only American fighting forces would have the military capabilities to protect U.S. friends in local conflict. This policy was at odds with the needs of a less stable and more threatened Free World.

President Reagan has renewed emphasis on security assistance, yet neither the Congress nor important elements of the Pentagon fully support this vital program. Given the importance of our allies and friends, what needs to be done?

The United States must embark upon a new, far-reaching, determined campaign to improve defense cooperation with our allies and friends throughout the world. The first and most difficult hurdle of this campaign is to recognize the limitations of U.S. military power and the importance of these foreign relationships. We must develop a new set of attitudes. Our strategies must be developed as coalition strategies. We must become more of a team player, especially one with an appreciation of the needs and concerns of other team members.

Chinese dancer may be in Texas

JACKSON, Miss. — There is additional speculation today that a Chinese dancer who disappeared from the International Ballet Competition here may be in Texas.

Government sources here said only that Lin Jianwei, 24, met with U.S. Immigration officials in New Orleans on Tuesday, the day after he disappeared from the ballet.

A city official who asked to remain anonymous said that Lin may have had contact with a man from the Dallas area and that the two may have headed for Texas after the immigration meeting.

News knowledgeable sources in Jackson are linking the dancer with a well-known dance teacher from Fort Worth, Texas, William Martin-Viscount.

The sources say that Lin and Martin-Viscount were friends and professional acquaintances, and they note that the dance teacher had been attending the ballet competition.

The two reportedly had met several times during the previous week, and were seen together backstage the night Lin disappeared.

Martin-Viscount since has checked out of his downtown Jackson hotel room. Jackson police had looked for him Tuesday, but called off the search after Mayor Dale DeLoach said that Lin was out of the Jackson jurisdiction.

Martin-Viscount was registered with the ballet as dance coach for Carla Stallings, an American competitor.

Ms. Stallings said she did not visit her after her performance in the second half of the Monday night competition.

She said that although he had mentioned previously he knew the Chinese dancers from coaching and from visits to Beijing and Shanghai, she had no hint that he might have been involved in Lin's disappearance.

Dean Fischer, a spokesman for the State Department in Washington, has confirmed only that Lin met with Immigration officials regarding his desire to remain in the United States.

Fischer said after the meeting, Lin left with a friend, who was not identified.

Lin performed in the first half of the Monday competition, and apparently left during the intermission, leaving his costume behind. He also left most of his personal clothing at Memphis College, where the ballet competitors were staying.

Texas man arrested in New Jersey slaying

GRAND PRAIRIE, Texas (AP) — A 27-year-old Grand Prairie man has agreed to return voluntarily to New Jersey in connection with the 1977 slaying of a trucking company security guard, police say.

Officers from Grand Prairie and New Jersey arrested Joseph R. Jonaitis, who had lived here the past three years, Tuesday at a television rental firm in nearby Dallas where he worked.

Jonaitis told officers at the Grand Prairie Police Department his older brother, Charles Edwin Jonaitis talked him into accompanying him Feb. 26, 1977, the night of the slaying.

Charles Jonaitis was arrested Wednesday in Flagstaff, Ariz., officers said.

The Grand Prairie man said his brother worked at the trucking company and planned to go there that night to steal a gun for use in a robbery, officers said.

Harold Ruvoldt, a prosecutor in Hudson County, N.J., said Robert Vaniger, 62, an employee of Walsh Trucking Co. in Jersey City, was badly beaten and died three days later.

Joseph Jonaitis told officers here that they found the night watchman inside a trailer and said that at his brother's urging he beat the man with a tire tool as the man begged for mercy.

"Then I chickened out and ran outside. I hid under the trailer, that's how scared I was. My stomach was turning," officers quoted Jonaitis as saying.

He said he came out from under the trailer after hearing two shots fired. His brother told him he fired the shots at an oncoming car, Jonaitis said.

"I want to come out of this scot-free. All I did was assault the guy. I plan to testify to the grand jury. The cops told me the statute of limitations for assault is five years, and it's been 5 1/2 years, so I think it's going to come out all right," Jonaitis told a reporter Wednesday.

"She brought out my kids, who had been asleep, and told them I was going on a trip," he said. "Both started crying because I was leaving. I love my kids so much. I hope I get to be with them again soon."

Dear Abby

Words for the living

DEAR ABBY: Some time ago you published something that helped me tremendously when I learned that I had cancer. Please, please run it again. It's advice to patients on how to live with a terminal illness.

I showed it to my doctor, and he thought so much of it, he had copies run off to give to some of his patients. Thank you.

D.J. IN IOWA

DEAR D.J.: It's "How to Live With Illness" by Orville Kelly:

1. Talk about the illness. If it's cancer, call it cancer. You can't make life normal again by trying to hide what is wrong.
2. Accept death as a part of life. It is!
3. Consider each day as another day of life, a gift from God to be enjoyed as fully as possible.
4. Realize that life is never going to be perfect. It wasn't before, and it won't be now.
5. Pray! It isn't a sign of weakness, it's a sign of strength.
6. Learn to live with your illness instead of considering yourself dying from it. We are all dying in some manner.

7. Put your friends and relatives at ease. If you don't want pity, don't ask for it.

8. Make all practical arrangements for funerals, wills, etc., and make certain your family understands them.

9. Set new goals; realize your limitations. Sometimes the simple things of life become the most enjoyable.

10. Discuss your problems with your family. Include the children if possible. After all, your problem is not an individual one.

Have a good day ... make it count.

CONFIDENTIAL TO CHARLIE IN WILMINGTON, DEL.: Samuel Johnson said, "Every animal revenges his pains upon those who happen to be near." Man is no exception.

Dr. Donohue

Dizziness and water pills

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: I am 73 and taking Aldactazide for my high blood pressure problem. My balance is now so bad that I am afraid at every step I take. I am afraid of falling. Would appreciate anything you have to say about this. — Mrs. A.M.

If your loss of balance has appeared only since you started taking this medicine, then for sure it could be related to it. Aldactazide is a combination of two water pills — spironolactone and hydrochlorothiazide. You may be losing too much water from it and that could be bringing your blood pressure down to levels where you feel dizzy and unstable.

That is only one possibility. Some water pills can make a person lose too much sodium. Or it can make potassium levels go awry. If your body potassium is either too low or too high, it can contribute to such symptoms as you report.

Now, as a matter of fact, your medicine does not have to be involved at all. And you would certainly want to find out about that. Since there are so many possibilities and since it sounds as though your problem started at about the time you began taking the medicine, I would have that possibility investigated first. Your doctor can either decrease your dosage, take you off it for a while, or switch to another blood-pressure-lowering drug.

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: I am a 70-year-old man, retired from a professional job in which I had worked for 40 years. I now teach on a part-time basis in my field. I had a physical examination recently and was told by my physician that I have moderately high blood pressure (160/100). Every other test shows that I am healthy. I swim regularly. My weight is now less than it was when I worked. My question is, why has my blood pressure gone up despite the fact that (a) I do not work under the pressures I formerly did; (b) I exercise regularly; (c) my weight is lower? — A.V.R.

Your letter tells us that we don't know everything there is to know about high blood pressure. The fact that you have been doing everything right, yet are experiencing this problem, is good evidence that there is more to it than we know.

U.S., European relations growing tense, officials say

By JAMES GERSTENZANG
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Reagan administration officials are acknowledging that relations with the European allies are "extraordinarily tense," in part because of expansion of a ban on U.S. oil and gas equipment to the Soviet Union.

They also say a preliminary peacemaking effort begun by Alexander M. Haig Jr., in which a group of Cabinet members would focus on how to best deal with the deteriorated relations with Europe, has been put on hold since Haig's resignation as secretary of state.

The problems, which started cropping up almost as soon as the president returned home from his 10-day European tour at the beginning of the month, became most pronounced after he decided on June 18 to expand the ban on U.S. oil and gas equipment sales to foreign subsidiaries and licensees of American companies.

The United States first imposed the sanctions, aimed at delaying construction of the Soviet Union's natural gas pipeline to Europe, last December as a reaction to the declaration of martial law in Poland.

The West Europeans also are disturbed by the Reagan administration's recent decisions to curb imports of European steel and to contest Europe's joint agricultural policy.

One administration official said Bill Brock, Reagan's special trade representative, returned from Europe last week and reported "that the relationship was extraordinarily tense."

The official, who asked for anonymity, added: "I've come to the same conclusion."

In Brussels on Tuesday, the leaders of the 10 Common Market nations wound up a two-day meeting, agreeing that "the maintenance of the open world trade system will be seriously jeopardized" if the Reagan administration lets stand its decision on the pipeline.

But British Foreign Secretary Francis Pym predicted that the differences could be resolved, and others said negotiations would be undertaken to settle the disputes.

"It was an unhappy response," said one U.S. official in his discussion of the Common Market statement.

French President Francois Mitterrand, who accused the Reagan administration of "unjustified and dangerous" policies toward Europe, criticized the attempt to hinder construction of a Soviet-Western European pipeline.

Mitterrand also claimed that Reagan had used the economic summit June 4-6 at Versailles as a "propaganda" platform, and said the American president broke a promise not to interfere with the pipeline.

"I don't know where that came from," said one Reagan administration official. Another official said he knew of no agreement at the summit dealing with the pipeline question.

At the State Department, officials refused to speak for the record. But administration officials, who asked to remain unidentified, said Reagan had given summit participants no reason to anticipate that he would reverse his opposition to development of the pipeline.

"As to the signals they've received out of Washington and from the president, I don't believe the record shows any disparity or wavering in his position that should have given rise to these expectations," one official said.

"The president has been very consistent on this question," said another administration official, also requesting anonymity. "There were no private conversations that would have supported another type of decision. There were no deals. There have not been mixed signals."

Nor were any conflicting signals given by Haig, as far as this official could tell.

PUC urges lower rate hike

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — A Public Utility Commission hearing examiner, "shocked" by customers' stories of poor service, has recommended General Telephone receive less than half its requested $110.6 million rate increase.

Jacqueline Holmes filed a report Wednesday recommending a $49.1 million increase that would leave most GTE customers with rates similar to the temporary rates now in effect.

The three-member PUC will consider the report at a July 14 meeting.

Under the recommendation, residential customers in Forsan would pay $7.00 a month for one phone line, while business customers would pay $20.20 for a single line, not including phone instrument rental charges.

Currently, the rates are the same for residential customers, $7.00 a month, and $20.05 for business clients. Those latest rates were instituted by General Telephone on June 4, as part of a bonding process that allows a utility to raise rates without Public Utility Commission approval if its rate request is not approved within four months. GenTel originally asked for the rate increase last January.

In May, before the bonded rates went into effect, Forsan residential customers paid $6.95 a month and business customers $10.30.

General Telephone wants to raise rates in Forsan to $8.30 a month for residential customers and $22 a month for business customers.

Ms. Holmes said GTE still has "many problems" in providing good service. Company officials seem "sincere" about improving service, but they offered "many convenient explanations" for continuing problems, she said.

"The examiner, frankly, was shocked by some of the stories of substandard service quality still being experienced by customers of General," she said in her report.

GTE filed for the increase on Jan. 29. On June 4 the company put into effect bonded rates as allowed by commission rules. The company would have to make refunds if the rates approved by PUC are below the bonded rates.

Airline settles shareholder suit

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Continental Airlines said it tentatively has settled a shareholder suit challenging its merger with Texas Air Corp. under terms that allow public stockholders partial credit on airline tickets.

The settlement, which must be approved by the courts, would give shareholders vouchers worth either 25 cents or 50 cents for each share of Continental stock they own. The amount of the voucher depends on when the airline stock was purchased.

Continental spokesman Bruce Plowman said about 7.5 million shares are affected by the tentative settlement, which was agreed on in a suit brought by a New York couple, Nicholas and Dorothy Maris, who had claimed the terms of the merger were unfair.

Texas Air Corp., parent company of Texas International Airlines, acquired 51 percent of Continental's stock last year and subsequently proposed a plan to merge the two companies.

El Paso banker indicted

EL PASO, Texas (AP) — A federal grand jury in Wichita Falls, Texas, has indicted former El Paso banker and rancher Tommy Ballard on 12 counts of misapplying bank funds for his own use.

The 12-count indictment returned Tuesday charged that Ballard furnished false information to acquire at least $700,000 for his personal use while serving as the chief officer for The Bank of Woodson.

Woodson, in southeastern Throckmorton County, is about 100 miles west of Fort Worth.

Ballard bought the bank in 1978. The state banking commission closed the bank March 1, saying it had large and unusual losses.

Ballard said Wednesday from his El Paso home that he was unaware of the federal indictment and had not been notified by his lawyer in Austin.

"But I am going to find out, I'll tell you that," he said.

The federal indictment charged that Ballard obtained loans for friends who then gave him the major portion of the funds on a promise that he would repay them, the indictment said.

It said that the people were assured they were assuming no liability for signing the notes, financial statements and security agreements.

The money actually went to Ballard and a bank vice president, the grand jury said.

The vice president and secretary, Barbara Robinson, pleaded guilty in federal court Monday to one count of misapplying bank funds. She waived indictment in exchange for an agreement to testify against Ballard in his yet-unscheduled trial.

Ms. Robinson's guilty plea came in connection with a phony loan application signed in May 1981 by her sister, Willie Blagg of Iowa Park, Texas.

She remains free pending completion of a pre-sentence probation report.

Ms. Robinson faces a possible five-year sentence.

Ballard could receive up to a 62-year sentence if convicted on the 12 bank fraud charges.

Ballard is also the subject of a suit filed in March 1982 by the Abilene National Bank. The bank claims Ballard owes it more than $550,000.

Ballard is former board chairman for Pan American Savings and Loan Association in El Paso. Pan Am reported losses of nearly $400,000 between June 1979 and June 1980. Controlling interest in the savings and loan association was transferred in November 1980.

Dr. Story Musgrave, pilot Karol J. Bobko, mission specialist Donald H. Peterson, and commander Paul J. Weitz. Challenger's first flight, STS-6, will be sometime in early 1983.

Space shuttle Challenger to make first voyage today

By ROBERT LOCKE
AP Science Writer

PALMDALE, Calif. (AP) — The shiny new space shuttle Challenger makes its first journey today — a snail-pace voyage along city streets and desert flatlands.

The second working shuttle was being towed 38 miles through the desert towns of Palmdale and Lancaster and on to Edwards Air Force Base. During the 12 hours it's on the road, Columbia will circle the Earth eight times.

Once at Edwards, Challenger will become part of a multi-shuttle extravaganza on the Fourth of July, when President Reagan will watch Columbia land.

"This whole nation, and in fact the whole world...is going to see Columbia return from space and Challenger become airborne (atop a jumbo jetliner for a piggyback ride to its Florida launch site)," said Joe Engle, commander of the second shuttle mission last November.

"That's some kind of birthday present for America," he said Wednesday at Challenger's coming-out ceremonies in front of Rockwell International's assembly hangar near here.

The new shuttle was towed slowly around the corner of the giant hangar as some 1,200 workers and dignitaries applauded and craned their necks. Its nose appeared as a Marine Corps band played the themes from "Star Trek," "Star Wars" and "Superman."

It was clearly a day for back-slapping pride and patriotism. And several Rockwell officials used the occasion to make a strong pitch for a fifth shuttle, one more than currently funded.

Fishermen rap redfish ban

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Texas commercial fishermen, who lost one of the nastiest battles of the 1981 legislative session, say the law that bars them from catching redfish and speckled trout has not done what it was meant to do.

"Passing that redfish bill was supposed to bring (sport fishermen) down there by the flocks. That's just not there," said John Null, president of Political Involvement of Concerned Seafood Enterprises.

Lawmakers last year slapped a two-year ban on commercial catches of redfish and speckled trout. The idea was to protect the sport fishing industry, estimated to be worth $400 million a year to the state.

Throughout the session, the sport and commercial fishermen attacked statistics presented by the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department. The commercial fishermen continued their attack on the commission at a Wednesday joint hearing before the Senate Committee on Natural Resources and the House Committee on Environmental Affairs.

Gary Matlock, assistant chief of coastal fisheries for the department, said there are 800 sport fishermen for each commercial fisherman. But Henry Hildebrand, a biologist representing the fishermen's group, said that figure was misleading because each commercial fisherman represents thousands of consumers.

Null reviewed a study commissioned by the group. The study, prepared by John Short and Associates, said TPWD relied on inaccurate data in proposing the ban on commercial catches of redfish and speckled trout.

Key Clubbers off to Chicago

Bret Crenwelge of 2805 Apache and Chris Stevens of 2908 Navajo will be in Chicago July 4 through 7 for the annual Convention of Key Club International along with 2,300 other Key Club members.

Key Club International is a service organization for high school students, maintaining ideals and objectives similar to its sponsor, Kiwanis International. There are more than 100,000 Key Clubbers in approximately 3,500 clubs in high schools throughout North America and the Caribbean.

Paving prairies cuts down feedlot costs

By MICHAEL BATES
Associated Press Writer
GARDEN CITY, Kan. (AP) — The Brookover Ranch Experimental Feedlot has concrete floors and a self-contained waste disposal system. They've paved over the prairie to produce — faster, cheaper and cleaner — leaner steaks and roasts that consumers want.

The experimental system is also designed to operate more efficiently and without the "bad neighbor" image of conventional feedlots.

"The industry is not popular in our society because it makes flies and it stinks and it's dusty and dirty," said Dick Bungler, who designed the concrete feedlot along with Roy Hancock.

"So, we get rid of the dust. We get rid of the odor. We get rid of the flies and we need about 10 percent of the space we needed before."

Bungler said elimination of what cattlemen long have called "the smell of money," could mean feedlots may eventually be more welcome near population centers, thus reducing transportation costs.

Because concrete lots are smaller, truck fuel and maintenance costs are trimmed. And there's no need for cowhands riding around on horses.

When feed trials started at the Brookover Ranch feedlot about a year ago, there was a tendency to overfeed the cattle, said E.C. Brookover Jr., general manager of Brookover Land Enterprises.

The behavior of the cattle is different. They consume different and they appear different," he said. Bungler theorizes the cattle are more docile and move around less because they are confined in a smaller space. Less activity leads to more efficient conversion of feed into weight gain.

Cattle in the concrete lot outperformed stock at the Brookover family's conventional feedlots in March by posting a lower cost per pound of gain.

"The animals tend to yield better at the packing plant by a rate of almost 2 percent coming out of this facility compared to others," Bungler said. "In today's market, that represents almost $25 an animal. That by itself will pay for the facility in less than two years."

Brookover said concrete feedlot cattle "don't get gobby fat" like their barrel-shaped counterparts in conventional yards. The cattle also yield more uniform carcasses, which can bring a premium at slaughter.

Conventional feedlots have hard-packed dirt floors that get muddy or dusty. The mud causes stress in cattle and blowing dirt can cause dust pneumonia. The manure in conventional pens has to be scraped up and hauled away.

At the Brookover lot, eight-inch thick concrete floors are slotted every 15 inches. The slots are the tip of a trademarked Teardrop configuration molded into the concrete. The floor between the slot rises to a ridge line about three-eighths of an inch higher than the openings.

The rough surface of the floor allows about a one-quarter inch "carpet" of dry manure to build up while the movement of cattle in the pens forces most of the manure and waste feed into the slots.

Water running through the bottom of the Teardrop flushes the wastes into a collection ditch and eventually a settling pond. Some mineral-rich water from the pond is used for crop irrigation, but most of it is recycled back through the feedyard.

During severely cold winter weather, 56-degree well water oc-asionally is added to the flow to warm the feedyard floors. When summer heat gets severe, a sprinkler system sprays to life for three or four minutes every half hour to help cool the cattle and keep down dust.

For a 12,000-head feedyard, the concrete design requires about 10 acres while a conventional lot takes up about 96 acres, Bungler said.

Construction costs for the concrete pens is about $100 per head of capacity, almost twice the expense of building conventional pens, but they require fewer workers.

For every 1,000 head of cattle, a conventional lot needs about one employee to scrape pens of waste, herd cattle and do other chores; a concrete lot needs less than half that manpower, Bungler said.

"I do not expect the industry to roll over and accept it immediately. But I believe with every fiber in my being that acceptance will eventually come," said Bungler, president and sole stockholder of Corral Industries Inc., the Phoenix, Ariz., company that constructs the feedyards.

He said cattlemen have shown an interest in the feedyards, but tough economic times have made them very cautious.

About 9,600 cattle are being fed at the Brookover lot, one of three uncovered concrete cattle feedyards in the nation. If the cattle market remains strong enough, Brookover may stock the yard to its 15,000 head capacity this fall.

The southwest Kansas lot was constructed after Brookover compared the climate here to that in Idaho where the other two concrete feedyards are located.

He said the next step to be considered is a system to remove solids from the water flushed through the Teardrops.

PAVING ON PRAIRIE — Feedlot cattle stand atop the manure pack that covers the concrete floor of their pen in the Brookover Ranch Experimental Feedlot near Garden City, Kan. Wastes fall through the slats in the floor and are flushed away by water. Boosters of the new design say it provides better beef faster and at less expense while eliminating feedlot odor and flies.

Deep-water drilling goes on

Despite failures, Georges Bank oil search continues

By FRED BAYLES
Associated Press Writer

ABOARD THE ALASKAN STAR (AP) — Once a week a supply boat makes a 16-hour journey from this giant drilling platform in the Georges Bank to the mainland with a precious cargo of tin cans packed with mud and bits of 150-million-year-old rocks.

These rocks, sandstone and limestone, are the product of a year-long search for oil and gas below the valuable fishing grounds off the New England coast.

The nation's oil companies have already bet over $1 billion that the rocks will tell them where to look for the millions of barrels of oil and billions of cubic feet of natural gas geologists think lie beneath the waves.

But so far, analysis of samples from four other exploratory wells — as deep as two miles into the ocean floor — have found no trace of gas or oil. Despite the lack of immediate success, the oil companies are preparing to spend millions more for offshore leases on 3.1 million acres scheduled for bid in August.

The sale is likely to face opposition from state officials and environmentalists worried about the impact of deep-water drilling on lobster beds and fish spawning grounds. But the oil companies say it is vital to the national interest to know what is out there, even if billions are spent without result.

"This country must define its hydrocarbon supply," says Charles Schneider, a spokesman for Tenneco, which runs the drilling aboard the Alaskan Star. "If there's nothing out here we should know that too."

Drilling in the Georges Bank, the nation's latest offshore drilling operation, began July 24, 1981, more than a year and a half after 63 tracts on the fringe of the fishing area were leased for $617 million. Since then Exxon, Shell and Mobil have spent $93 million to drill four dry holes.

Mobil, Shell, Tenneco and Conoco are now operating in an area about 160 miles southeast of Cape Cod.

No one expects a sudden discovery.

'This country must define its hydrocarbon supply. If there's nothing out there we should know that too.'

"In a frontier area you're looking for information," says Allen Stockman, a Tenneco geologist aboard the Alaskan Star. "They'll use all the information we get from this hole to determine where would be a better place to go to drill another hole."

The cost for that information is high. Joe Elkins, Tenneco's East Coast drilling superintendent, says rental on a "semi" — semisubmersible drilling rigs — runs from $80,000 to $100,000 a day. The costs of running the drilling operation and crew of 80 pushes the costs to over $160,000 a day.

Tenneco estimates it will cost $25 million to $30 million to drill the 21,000-foot well. The bill will be split among seven companies that have already paid $15.8 million to lease the nine-mile square tract.

And drilling for oil at sea is a difficult and dangerous occupation. The Ocean Ranger, a rig built by Mitsubishi Heavy Industries of Japan, the same firm that built the Alaskan Star, sank off the coast of Canada in a fierce storm Feb. 15, killing all 84 crewmen.

Costs may be a factor in the upcoming lease sale. Forty-eight bids offered last December on tracts in the Baltimore Canyon off New Jersey were rejected as too low by the Department of Interior.

Oil company executives say the government's expectations, based on optimistic geological estimates, were too high.

There is also a current lull in oil exploration, due in part to high interest rates and the worldwide oversupply of oil. Elkins also says an increase in Norwegian and British taxes on North Sea operations has slowed drilling to the point that some rig owners are cutting charges by 15 percent to keep their equipment working.

"A year ago, rigs were hard to come by," he says. "Now they're available."

The second Georges Bank lease sale is scheduled for Aug. 24 in New York.

Massachusetts officials, including Gov. Edward J. King and Attorney General Francis Bellotti have asked U.S. Interior Secretary James Watt to delay the sale four months and to delete 600,000 acres that include lobster beds and spawning grounds at the head of underwater canyons.

Massachusetts congressmen have sent a similar letter to Watt, warning that the sale may be contested in court.

Douglas Foy, executive director of the Conservation Law Foundation, said his group may also go to court to oppose the sale.

Soviets, U.S. taking different paths into space

BY PAUL RECER
AP Aerospace Writer

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — The Soviets have a space station and want a space shuttle. America has a shuttle and wants a station. The Soviets probably won't get what they want soon. America hasn't decided yet.

America's space agency used its considerable innovative talent to build the world's most sophisticated and versatile spacecraft. The space shuttle is a sleek craft, capable of carrying a crew of seven and a 60,000-pound payload. It lands like a plane and can be reused.

But it is a luxury spacecruiser in search of a destination. Without a space station, the shuttle has no port on the ocean of space.

The Soviet space community, never strong on technical innovation, found a spacecraft that worked almost 10 years ago and has used the same design since. The Soviet's top-of-the-line craft is the Soyuz T, a cramped, three-man can that lands by parachute and is not reused.

The Soyuz T, however, does have a destination in space. The Soviets have orbited several Salyut space stations. Four Soviets and a French "guest" cosmonaut are now aboard Salyut 7.

Cosmonaut crews have twice spent 185 days aboard Salyut stations. Missions of 75 days have become common. The Soviets' announced goal of keeping an astronaut in orbit 365 days a year may not be far off.

Western experts have received reports that the Soviets are moving toward development of a reusable spacecraft. James Oberg, an analyst of the Soviet space program, reported in a magazine article evidence that the Soviets had tested a "lifting body," a vehicle with an aerodynamic shape that would be able to glide to Earth from space.

"Aviation Week and Space Technology", a weekly U.S. magazine, also reported a possible test of a Soviet space shuttle concept.

In public statements, however, Soviet space officials have stated strongly there is no Soviet space shuttle in the near future.

Western experts believe the Soviets have created an economy of production scale with the Soyuz, making it less practical to invest heavily in a shuttle. More than 40 have been flown with cosmonauts.

In sharp contrast, each of the U.S. shuttles in a planned fleet of four is a custom job costing something over a billion dollars. Many parts are handcrafted and installed.

Soviet space goals have centered on long-duration flight. Long-term tenants in the Salyuts are resupplied by a robot craft called Progress. It is launched into orbit and guided by the ground to a docking with Salyut. This is a skill NASA has yet to demonstrate.

The Soviets are also developing a larger robot supply ship, according to Western observers, and may be building a large and very powerful booster.

FUNERAL FOR ERA — Through rain, hail and thunder more than 300 people marched through downtown Denver Wednesday to show their support for the now defunct Equal Rights Amendment.

Opposing visions thrust 2 women into ERA debate

By MIKE FEINSILBER
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Their opposing visions of what America is and what it should be drove Phyllis Schlafly and Eleanor Smeal into the heat of national debate over women's rights.

Over the years, these two strong-willed women came to symbolize the antagonists in a fight which, for the moment, has been settled with Mrs. Schlafly's side the victor and Mrs. Smeal's the vanquished.

The issue was the proposed Equal Rights Amendment to the Constitution, and whether prohibiting discrimination based on sex by any law or act of government would serve the interests of women and the nation.

The battle was waged for 10 years. Wednesday was the deadline for ratification by the states. The amendment fell three states short of approval by the required 38.

ERA will be proposed again, but Mrs. Smeal says she thinks it will take 10 to 25 years for it to become part of the Constitution. Someone else will lead the fight; her term as leader of the nation's largest women's organization ends this fall.

Mrs. Schlafly says ERA will never come close again.

"I don't think they'd get five states to go for it," she says.

To mark the occasion, Mrs. Smeal will address a rally near the White House today "to focus attention on the major opponents of equality, President Ronald Reagan, the Republican Party and major business interests they represent."

And Mrs. Schlafly will be the hostess at a party for 1,000 guests at which prominent conservatives who opposed ERA will be honored.

Mrs. Smeal says Mrs. Schlafly was not the real enemy; she was "used" by "the special corporate interests that profit from sex discrimination."

Mrs. Schlafly replies that "the liberals" never proved that ERA was needed.

"I don't think women are unfairly treated," she says. "The whole thing is founded on the myth that women are ground down and oppressed."

For all their differences over ERA, they have much in common.

Both come from the heartland. Mrs. Schlafly, 57, was born in St. Louis and Mrs. Smeal, 42, in Ashtabula, Ohio. Their families were Roman Catholic and their backgrounds were middle class.

Mrs. Schlafly's father was an engineer and inventor who suffered financial reverses in the Depression.

Two acquitted of East Texas oil thefts

LONGVIEW, Texas (AP) — Two men accused of stealing oil from East Texas oil fields have been acquitted after prosecutors rested their case against seven people without testimony from a key witness.

State District Judge Marcus Vasconcelos agreed with defense attorneys that prosecutors had not presented sufficient evidence to convict the two men and granted motions Tuesday of instructed verdicts of acquittal.

Prosecutors lost the testimony of Garvin Richardson, a defendant in the case who agreed to testify for the state in exchange for immunity from prosecution.

Richardson refused to testify last week and was jailed by Vasconcelos. But the Texas Court of Criminal Appeals ordered Richardson released Friday and on Monday the appeals court delayed a ruling on his case until July 7, after conclusion of the week-old, oil-theft trial.

Special Prosecutor Chuck Campbell said at the start of the trial that he could not prove his case without Richardson's testimony.

Garner said the meeting between the two was arranged by Richardson.

Five home-grown players went in the first round, three of which played their college days in the Lone Star State...

From this area, basketball fans may have seen Tech's Jeff Taylor (also a pick of the Rockets), Jake Bethany, a Dallas native who played at Hardin-Simmons...

A couple of other names jumped out from the draftee list. The last time AAAAA basketball was at the powerhouse level in this region was in 1976-77.

Dunbar's star, James Griffin, was taken in the fourth round by New Jersey while Eastwood big man Terry White went in the fifth round, picked by Cleveland.

Still no word from the Cowboys on the recent flood of drug revelations in the NFL. And that's good news.

Earlier this week, the Oilers announced the Houston team is hiring a drug abuse specialist to which their players can confide in confidence.

Among the big names that have linked themselves to drug use have been New Orleans running back George Rogers and former Denver Nuggets standout David Thompson.

Taking a long look at baseball stats in my Sporting News, last week, I could only shake my head in wonder at where the Astros stood in team pitching.

It was only last year Houston led the league in team earned run average at 2.56. This year, it's all the way up to 3.88.

More hurt came Wednesday when the team learned Joe Sambito will have surgery July 7 and be lost for the rest of the year.

Taking the cake, though, was last night's game in Atlanta. Ahead 4-1 going into the bottom of the ninth, starter Bob Knepper tired.

Sure enough, reliever Randy Moffitt gave up a two-run single and the Astros, unbelievably, lost the game.

At least the Astros aren't alone. Oakland, the surprise of last season and American League West champs, is batting .230 as a team and a once awesome staff of young pitchers has a team ERA of 4.76.

For some reason, the Rangers are looking better all the time.

AGELESS BILLIE JEAN KING... jubilant after upset Austin in quarters

King wins again

WIMBLEDON, England (AP) — Billie Jean King, the oldest Wimbledon semifinalist in 62 years, is an optimistic realist.

"It's very gratifying," the 38-year-old tennis player said Wednesday after upsetting third-seeded Tracy Austin 3-6, 6-4, 6-2 and moving into the semifinals.

Even John McEnroe, at 23 the defending champion and seeded first in the men's singles at the All-England Tennis Club, was impressed.

"I'd be far away from a tennis court if I were her age," he said. "But why shouldn't she still be playing if she's enjoying it so much."

If Billie Jean's victory was a surprise, McEnroe's fourth-round win over fellow American Hank Pfister was expected.

After his most serious blowup so far in this year's Wimbledon championships, McEnroe faced his toughest challenge today in a quarterfinal match against fifth-seeded Johan Kriek.

The confrontation was a replay of last year's quarterfinal, won by McEnroe in straight sets en route to his singles crown.

Other quarterfinal matches today pitted second-seeded Jimmy Connors against No. 6 Gene Mayer and third-seeded Vitas Gerulaitis against No. 12 Mark Edmondson of Australia.

Wimbledon 82

On the women's side, 13th-seeded Anne Smith and 11th-seeded Bettina Bunge disputed the last semifinal berth.

King will take on defending champion Chris Evert Lloyd in the other semifinal. Both semis will be played on Friday with the finals scheduled for Saturday.

"I felt I could play three more sets," King said after her match with Austin.

McEnroe, facing a grueling schedule of a singles and doubles matches through Sunday's singles final due to last week's rainouts, was given two misconduct warnings Wednesday, his second and third of the tournament.

The first, which came during his victory over Pfister, earned him a penalty point for angrily slamming the ball across court after missing a volley.

The second came in a doubles match in which he and Peter Fleming narrowly defended their men's doubles title in a second-round bout with Rod Frawley of Australia and Chris Lewis of New Zealand.

Hawks, Ponys LL finalists

By GREG JAKLEWICZ Sports Editor

An unbeaten streak and 'The Comeback Kids' are the feature attractions of tonight's Big Spring Little League City Championship game...

Prior to the big game, two National rivals — the first place Devils and runner-up Rangers — battle for third place, starting at 5:30 p.m.

The Hawks, winners of American League, bring a perfect 17-0 record into the game. In the tourney, the Hawks have crushed the National Yankees 15-1 and blasted the Devils 19-9 to get into the finals.

The Ponys scored a run in the bottom of the sixth inning to down the American Astros 4-3 and then rallied from two runs down to upend the Ranger 8-7 last Friday night.

The Ponys won the Texas League race with a 14-1 record, losing only to the Tigers by a single run.

In last year's title game, the Rangers swamped the Devils 10-4 to take the city championship.

LOUNGING HERO — Billy Sample (5) of the Texas Rangers relaxes in the Ranger's dugout at the conclusion of Wednesday night's game against the California Angels. Sample's three-run homer, with two outs in the bottom of the ninth inning gave Texas a 5-3 win over the division leading Angels.

Angels get Sample of defeat

ARLINGTON, Texas (AP) — It has been a frustrating yet fulfilling year for Texas Rangers outfielder Billy Sample.

The young slugger lost his starting job in left field by default before the season began, but now appears to have regained it with his bat.

Sample is riding a 12-game hitting streak, has pumped his average to .322 and won Wednesday night's game with California by powering his fifth home run of the year, a three-run shot on a 3-2 pitch with two out in the ninth.

It was the Rangers' first comeback victory since a 3-2 win May 13 against Toronto.

"This is probably the most dramatic hit I've had," Sample said after the 5-3 Texas victory. "It feels nice. I hadn't come through as many times as I would have liked and I wanted to come up with the game on the line."

But Sample still retains a smattering of bitterness over the way he was shuffled off to the bench after Texas traded for Lee Mazzilli and declared him the starter, without watching him play. He thinks the praise he is getting now is no more than his due.

"I'm not going to be humble about it," he said. "After four years I should have inherited it (starting job). I didn't."

"Now, I'm just playing like I'm going to be there tomorrow, even if I go 0-for-4. I'm not going to worry about it ... if they're going to make a move they'll make it regardless of how I feel."

Sample's blow stunned the Angels, halted their three-game winning streak and produced a very subdued post-game clubhouse.

"The bad thing about losing one this way," said California Manager Gene Mauch, "is that now, every guy out there who didn't knock in a run will go home and worry about it. If we had won, they wouldn't have had any of those bad feelings. I hope they'll get over it by tomorrow."

Dave Schmidt, 24, pitched 22-3 innings of one-hit relief for Texas, striking out four.

American League

"That kid was awesome," Mauch said of Schmidt. "He had super stuff."

Angels reliever Don Aase, 3-3, was just one out away from his ninth save when the Rangers fired up the winning rally.

Brewers 9, Yankees 7

From the time the pitch left Shane Rawley's hand until the ball reached the plate, Gorman Thomas had a radical change of mind.

With the score tied 7-7 and Cecil Cooper on first base in the 12th inning, the power-hitting Thomas intended to lay down a bunt to get the winning run to second base.

In the fraction of a second it took the ball to reach him, however, the Milwaukee center fielder decided to swing away, and the result was a two-run homer that gave the Brewers a 9-7 victory over the New York Yankees Wednesday night.

"Sure I was looking for a bunt," said Thomas, who now had 19 homers this season. "I thought I might lay down a drag bunt with the situation the way it was."

Thomas said that when he saw Rawley's mediocre fastball, "I was surprised. I was looking for a breaking ball. When I saw the fastball, I just had to swing away."

Tigers 12, Red Sox 3

Detroit, which had won only one of its previous 15 games, blasted first-place Boston for 17 hits, including a three-run homer and a run-scoring single by Mike Ivie.

Lance Parrish added three RBI with a double and a single for the Tigers, while Jim Rice and Reid Nichols accounted for the Red Sox runs with homers.

Mariners 10, Blue Jays 4

Richie Zisk hit two two-run homers and Dave Henderson blasted another two-run shot as Seattle overpowered Toronto.

Al Cowens went 4-for-5 for the Mariners and Jim Beattie went the distance, allowing nine hits.

"I put more pressure on myself than I should. But if this ballclub is going to be near the top this year, I've got to have a better second half," said Zisk, who is hitting .275 with seven homers and 22 RBI.

A's 4, Royals 0

Matt Keough blanked Kansas City on seven hits and Joe Rudi twice knocked in the speedy Rickey Henderson for Oakland.

Henderson singled in the first, stole his 73rd base in 78 games, advanced to third on a groundout and scored on Rudi's single. Henderson scored again in the third on Rudi's short fly that Royals second baseman Onix Concepcion caught with his back to the infield.

Indians 9, Orioles 0

Von Hayes drove in three runs with three hits and Rick Sutcliffe allowed four hits in seven innings of shutout pitching to lead Cleveland over Baltimore.

Sutcliffe gave hits in the fifth and sixth innings and two more in the seventh before leaving the game. Ed Whitson finished with two hitless innings for the Indians.

Twins 4, White Sox 3

Minnesota won only its 20th game in 76 starts this season by beating Chicago for the second night in a row.

Tim Laudner and John Castino had run-scoring doubles to highlight the Twins' three-run fifth inning, and Bobby Castillo got the victory with relief help from Ron Davis.

Astros let Braves win

ATLANTA (AP) — Biff Poceroba says a positive attitude is playing a key role in late comeback victories for the Atlanta Braves.

"We know we can win," said Poceroba, who bounced a two-run single to right field to cap a ninth-inning rally that also included home runs on consecutive pitches by Dale Murphy and Bob Horner as Atlanta edged the Houston Astros 5-4 Wednesday night.

"The guys really have a desire to win," Poceroba said. "It's a togetherness. It's an attitude that's never been here the eight years I've been here."

It was the third time this season that Poceroba, a backup catcher, has driven in the winning run as a pinch hitter and it was the seventh time Atlanta has rallied for victory after trailing in the ninth inning or later.

"Over the past three years I've gotten used to my role as a pinch hitter," said Poceroba. "You've got to be relaxed, concentrate and do the best job you can. I'm just thankful I've been able to come through."

Horner, who had only two homers in his previous 34 games, connected for his 12th and 13th off Bob Knepper, 3-9, who carried a 4-1 lead into the ninth.

Murphy, the major league's home run leader, drilled a 2-2 pitch over the right field fence to start the ninth and Horner then drilled his second of the game into the left field seats.

Rufino Linares and Chris Chambliss each singled before Bruce Benedict forced Linares at third on a bunt, and Larry Whisenont drew a walk, loading the bases for Poceroba. His single chased home pinch-runners Brett Butler and Jerry Royster.

"It all just kind of clicked together," said Poceroba. "When it's on the line I'm the one he (Manager Joe Torre) usually calls. I just blot everything out and try to hit the ball as hard as I can."

National League

Pirates 7, Cubs 3

It had been a while between home runs for Willie Stargell — almost two full seasons, to be exact. And in this, perhaps his final season, he spent enough time on the bench to warrant a few friendly pokes from Pittsburgh's pitchers.

"They had said, 'Why don't you put on a toe plate and get in the rotation. You might get to hit more,'" he recalled.

But it was 3rd at bat this year — his 32nd game of the year — Pops silenced those kidders, plus a lot of Cubs fans, too, with a three-run pinch-hit home run in the seventh inning to help pull the fourth-place Pirates to within one game of 500 and within five games of first place in the NL East.

Phillies 6, Cardinals 3

Philadelphia, which sampled first place in the NL East a couple of nights ago, got another taste of it, regaining the lead by two percentage points over St. Louis after Larry Christenson pitched and batted the Phillies past the Cardinals.

Christenson gave up 13 hits before giving way to Tug McGraw in the ninth inning — but he had one big hit, a two-run double in the Phils' three-run second inning.

Bob Dernier, who had four hits, scored two runs, drove in one and stole his 32nd base, got the single in the second inning that drove in the decisive run.

Giants 7, Reds 6

Charlie Leibrandt's wild pitch, the fifth wild pitch of the game, allowed Johnnie LeMaster to dash home with two outs in the bottom of the 12th inning, giving the Giants their victory in four hours, nine minutes.

Tom O'Malley led off with a single but was thrown at third on LeMaster's single. LeMaster took second on the throw, later swiped third on the front end of a double steal and came home when Leibrandt's wild pitch skidded 25 feet behind the plate. Each team scored three runs in the eighth and one in the ninth.

Expos 4, Mets 1

Tim Wallach and Gary Carter hit bases-empty home runs off Pete Falcone and Bill Gullickson combined with former Met Jeff Reardon for a five-hitter that gave the Expos their triumph over New York.

Gullickson gave up all the Mets hits and fanned 10 batters before leaving in the eighth inning. With the bases loaded and one out, Reardon got Wally Backman to hit into a double play, then breezed through the ninth for his 13th save.

Dodgers 5-4, Padres 1-6

Dusty Baker's grand-slam, a fifth-inning homer which just managed to make it over the railing down the left field line, gave Bob Welch and the Dodgers a victory in the opener, then Terry Kennedy's three-run pinch-homer and Broderick Perkins' solo shot enabled the Padres to come away with a split. Rick Monday of the Dodgers hit homers in his first two at-bats against winner Eric Show before San Diego began its comeback.

NTSU hires Baylor coach

DENTON, Texas (AP) — Corky Nelson, defensive coordinator at Baylor for the past seven years, today was named North Texas State's fourth football coach in five years.

The 43-year-old Nelson succeeds Bob Tyler, who posted a 2-9 record in his only year as head coach and athletic director. Tyler resigned earlier this month, saying he needed a break from the coaching profession.

"It's been so long since I've been a head coach I hope I remember how," Nelson told a news conference this morning. "But that's why I went back into the college end of it, so I could get a head coaching job some day."

Nelson said he signed a three-year contract at a figure "I feel real good about."

He said he wanted to unify the alumni, students and fans behind the Eagle football team.

"We're going to be a fun team to watch," he said. "I've had a lot of alumni call me and I'm going to do all I can to unite them ... I'll be making myself available to them ... I'm glad to be here. North Texas will never regret the decision to hire him."

Nelson was turned down twice previously in applying for the NTSU job, which has been open five times in the last decade.

"All Walt Parker (chairman of the search committee) had to do was open a drawer and there was my old application," he said.

Ironically, Nelson's NTSU team will meet Baylor in its first game Sept. 4.

"I have mixed emotions but Baylor will be good," Nelson said. "They'll want to beat my brains out."

He said Baylor Coach Grant Teaff "was pleased for me ... he wished me well."

NTSU will split the head football coaching and athletic directorship, and the Eagles are still looking for an athletic director.

North Texas recently joined the Southland Conference after being an independent for several years.

Nelson was returning to North Texas State for the second time. From 1970 to 1971, he coached the linebackers and defensive line under Rod Rust.

The San Antonio native was head coach at Tyler John Tyler High School from 1971 to 1973. His 1973 team featuring Earl Campbell at fullback won the state Class 4A title.

Amarillo dubs Cubs

By The Associated Press

Dan Murphy's hitting and Brad Mengwasser's pitching gave the Tulsa Drillers a 6-0 Texas League baseball shutout victory over the Shreveport Captains.

Brian Greer's grand slam homer was the big blow as the Amarillo Gold Sox clubbed the Midland Cubs, 13-2. Greer's homer was his 25th of the season.

Jerry Davis and Jeff Ronk also had solo homers for the Gold Sox.

Fritz Connally slugged a solo homer, his 19th homer of the year, for the Cubs.

Marty Kain, 7-4, was the winning pitcher.

Carlos Gill, who got off to a terrible start, was the losing pitcher. Gill, 4-5, walked four batters to drive in one run in the first inning before Greer hit his grand slam homer.

Queens ink recruit

Roscoe star inks with HC

Howard College basketball coach Don Stevens added another player to his Hawk Queens roster with the signing of Roscoe High standout Kathryn Mann.

Mann was an all-district choice this past season, averaging 18 point and 10 rebounds a game for the Plowgirls. She connected on 43 percent of her shots from the floor and 58 percent of her attempts from the free throw line.

She was an all-tournament selection at the Roby Tournament and is an alternate for the Texas High School Girls Coaches Association All-Star game to be played this month.

Mann was also a track star at Roscoe, advancing to the regional meet in the 200-meters, high jump and on the Roscoe mile relay team.

As a junior, she scored 20 points a game and hauled in eight rebounds, gaining all-district honors.

The 5-11 ballplayer jumps well according to Stevens and he plans to use her at the wing and as a backup to inside people Nell Haskins and Susan Cordell.

"Kathryn has good potential and could develop into an outstanding college player," Stevens says. "She is a hard worker and is dedicated to basketball."

Mann is the third recruit signed this summer by Stevens, bringing the roster of the defending Region V champs up to nine players.

Stevens says recruiting this year "is the toughest I have ever seen it." Although he's had to battle

KATHRYN MANN
...third HC recruit with the other conference schools, Stevens is having fair luck. "This girl will help us," he predicts.

USA, Soviets meet on track

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — The pressure will be heavy on American sprinters James Butler, Terron Wright, Cliff Wiley and Darrell Robinson when the United States meets the Soviet Union in a dual track and field meet this weekend.

They will be trying to preserve unbeaten streaks for the U.S. in the 200-meter and 400-meter dashes.

In all 17 dual meets between two of the world's most powerful track and field forces — the series began in 1958 at Moscow — an American has finished first in the 200 and 400. Those are the only two men's events in which either country has a perfect record.

In the women's events, the Russians have a 6-0 advantage in the 3,000-meter race and 2-0 margins in the 400-meter intermediate hurdles and the pentathlon. The pentathlon is not being contested this year.

"I didn't know we were 17-0," said Wright, the former Memphis State University standout who led a 1-2 U.S. finish in the 200, winning in 20.71 seconds, last weekend in a triangular meet against West Germany and Africa at Durham, N.C.

In that meet, Phillip Epps was the runner-up. This time, in the two-day meet which begins Friday night at the new $6 million, 12,062-seat Indiana University Track and Field Stadium, Wright will be joined in the 200 by Butler, the NCAA champion from Oklahoma State.

In the 400, the Americans will have a mix of experience and youth with Wiley and Robinson, who placed 1-2 last weekend at Durham.

The veteran Wiley, winner of the 100 in 1977 against the Russians, had a banner season in the 400 last year. He was ranked No. 1 in the world in the 400 after winning the event in the World Cup at Rome, in the dual meet against the Soviet Union at Leningrad and in the USA championships.

Wiley also won the USA title this year, edging Robinson, who finished second and set a national scholastic record of 45.22. The 18-year-old Robinson, from Wilson High School in Tacoma, Wash., is the youngest member of the American men's team.

"Robinson is a super kid for a high school senior," said Sam Adams, head coach of the U.S. men's team from the University of California-Santa Barbara.

Adams admitted he was well aware of the Americans' streaks in the 200 and 400.

"We don't figure to lose those events this time, either," he said.

The U.S. men's team beat West Germany 123-96 and Africa 137-67 at Durham, while the American women defeated the West Germans 90-56.

The competition this weekend is expected to be much stronger. The American men have a 12-5 record against the Russians, but the U.S. women have won only once in 17 attempts. In combined scoring, the Soviet Union leads 13-3, with one tie.

Last year, the American men won 118-105, but the women lost 99-60, giving the Russians a 204-178 overall victory.

Spain encouraged, Argentina nervous

MADRID, Spain (AP) — Spain, which just squeezed into the second round of the World Cup soccer championships, now is bristling with confidence that it can make it at least to the semifinals.

The reason for this resurgence confidence has little to do with the way the Spaniards have played. Their 1-1 record in the first round was marked by offensive sloppiness and a knack for drawing penalties.

Still, Coach Jose Emilio Santamaria, after watching England and West Germany battle to a scoreless tie in Madrid Tuesday night, feels his team is capable of getting a victory and a tie in its upcoming Group B matches against those two teams.

Spain faces West Germany Friday and England Monday.

Fighting spirit, however, was not particularly apparent when Spain lost 0-1 to Northern Ireland in its last first round match and West German coach Jupp Derwall refuses to concede the 0-0 deadlock with England has wrecked his European-champion team's chances of advancing to the last four.

In another Friday match, tournament-favorite Brazil faces defending champion Argentina, which needs to win to retain any chance of avoiding an ignominious exit.

Argentina, listless in attack, lost 1-2 to Italy in its opening Group C game.

Two second round matches were played today. Northern Ireland faced Austria in Group D in Madrid, while the Soviet Union played Belgium in Group A. Both Austria and Belgium already had lost their opening second round matches and were fighting to avoid certain elimination.

Golf tourney misses names

OAK BROOK, Ill. (AP) — Ed Fiori chastises the media for calling the field for the Western Open a poor one.

"You guys hurt the tournament when you say it's not so tough," the defending champion said Wednesday on the eve of this $350,000 PGA Tour stop that began today at Butler National Golf Club.

"Don't knock it because Nicklaus and Watson aren't here," he said. "We've got 150 guys who can play."

Nonetheless, tournament sponsors are unhappy over those who are missing — Craig Stadler, Tom Kite, Ray Floyd, Lee Trevino, Jerry Pate, Arnold Palmer, Nicklaus and Watson.

With the game's glamour names absent, what, Fiori was asked, are his chances of repeating?

"Slim. Real slim," he replied quickly. "The state of my game is poor. It's been a little ratty lately."

His major problem is a hand injury he thought at first was tendinitis.

"It turned out to be a muscle pull between my thumb and first finger of my left hand. I hurt it hitting a lot of practice balls," said the 29-year-old Texan.

The injury has dulled what had been an excellent 1982 start for Fiori. He made the cut in his first eight tournaments, winning the Bob Hope Desert Classic in a playoff.

He was forced to withdraw from the Danny Thomas Memphis Classic three weeks ago and could not play in the U.S. Open a week later. He missed the 36-hole cut at the Westchester Classic last week.

"I've been fine for about a week now. I can practice as much as I want. I'm on large amounts of aspirin though," said Fiori, the winner of almost $70,000 this year.

Fiori believes his 11-under-par 277 score here last year will be beaten by this field that includes PGA champ Larry Nelson, British Open titleholder Bill Rogers, Hale Irwin, Lanny Wadkins and Bruce Lietzke.

"It wouldn't surprise me to see somebody 14-15 under par if the fairways dry out. You can grow the rough as high as you want. The man who wins here is going to hit it in the fairways. The greens are in excellent shape," he said.

However, Fiori still carries enormous respect for these 7,097 yards that make up Butler National in suburban Chicago.

Dynamite takes pair

The Texas Electric Dynamite took a pair of wins in Division II of United Girls Softball action.

Lori Gonzales tossed a 4-3 victory over the Riley Drilling Ruffnecks. Jaylina Ballard tripled for the Dynamite while Lori Jara homered and singled for the Ruffnecks.

A second win came in a 31-18 decision over the Strickland Knight Redhots. Angela Sinclair, Tonya Baker, Sheila Cunningham and Lisa Saldana were the top hitters for the Dynamite leading the hitting parade for the Redhots were Brenda Hernandez, Delia Ortiz, Jo Anna Jenkins, Monica Armendariz and Janette Ferguson.

Astros first

The Westside Community Center Astros clinched the American Senior League title with an 8-7 victory over the Trojans this week.

The win pushed the Astros to 12-3 on the season.

Six players on the team were named to the all-star team. They are Colin Carroll, Clay Franklin, Chris Harwood, Jeff Reed, Jimmy Rodgers and Mark Walker.

Four players were selected for the 13-year-old all-star team — Carey

Fraser, Mitch Griffin, Phillip Matthews and Raymond Ontiveros.

A's unbeaten

The A's kept their slate clean with a 9-2 win over the Braves in Big League play this week.

Pitcher Blake Rosson tossed a two-hitter and gave up just one earned run in the victory. His defense was sharp behind him, turning in four doubleplays during the game.

Tom Olague slapped three hits in the game to drive in four runs while Rosson aided his cause with two hits. Oscar Limon drove in three runs with a basehit.

75-pound cougar claws, chases teen-ager

DALLAS (AP) — Paul Selby says the cat in a car lot looked friendly so he decided to pet it. Minutes later he was bleeding and scurrying from car top to car top as a 75-pound cougar gave chase.

He says he escaped when his friends backed their pickup toward him in the street.

"I jumped into the back bed of the truck and he (the driver) just peeled out before the cat could jump in with me," said Selby, 19, of Farmers Branch.

The cat was captured by the city animal control department with a noose attached to a long pole. It was being held for observation.

The animal later was identified as Lone Star, an 8-month-old cougar owned by Bob Watson, 26.

Watson said he usually keeps the cougar near Lake Tahoma but had brought it to Dallas for an appointment with a veterinarian. He said someone tried to steal the cat early Tuesday by cutting its cage and luring it out with meat.

Selby says his adventure began shortly before 3 a.m. Tuesday when the teen-ager and two friends were driving in East Dallas and spotted the cougar.

Oral histories

Age-old method captures modern times for the future

LUBBOCK — The oldest form of history is filling the gaps created by modern electronic communications.

Oral history, says Dr. David J. Murrah, director of Texas Tech University's Southwest Collection, is the only way some types of information will become available to future historians.

"In this day and age, telephones and electronic communications have eliminated the long, descriptive letters of the past. Diaries or personal journals are no longer common. The only means of recovering that type of information is through oral history."

Oral history is helping supplant that loss of written correspondence and records through taped interviews with the famous and the common. Topics range from government and politics, the traditional grist for historians, to everyday life, an area where documentation is often scarce.

The Southwest Collection, for instance, contains interviews on numerous topics but has an emphasis on the development of ranching, agricultural and the oil industry in West Texas. A regional repository of information related to the West, the Southwest Collection has the fourth largest oral history holdings in the nation, Murrah said.

Development of magnetic tape and the tape recorder was the boon which gave oral history its impetus, Murrah said. Still, the compilers of oral history are only carrying on a traditional as old as man.

"Oral history is either new or old, depending on your perspective. Oral tradition and folktales have been a major part of history and civilizations from the beginning."

"The modern concept of oral history evolved after World War II when Allan Nevins began systematically collecting interviews of political figures for Columbia University. That's what began to give oral history its prestige," Murrah said.

Even before that, various projects or individuals began collecting oral history in the United States. The Federal Writer's Project during the Depression collected interviews nationally of average Americans reminiscing about their past. West Texas historian J. Evetts Haley began collecting oral history in the 1920s and used it extensively for his classic biography of pioneer cattleman Charles Goodnight, Murrah said.

The publication and subsequent television dramatization of Alex Haley's "Roots" broadened the appeal of oral history to the general public, he said.

"Oral history is so democratic that it helps to cover the areas that would not be documented by paper," Murrah said. "Banks and businesses, for instance, will leave records because they have created paper."

"Laborers or men and women who work for wages do not create any paper, particularly if they are not literary. Oral history provides an opportunity to preserve the experiences people have had."

Although many oral history programs are targeted strictly at the political and financial elite, others such as the Southwest Collection seek a broader view and work to supplement their written records and documents.

The Southwest Collection holds the complete records of the 1.5 million-acre Matador Ranch and its home office in Dundee, Scotland. To augment that written record, the Southwest Collection has conducted numerous interviews with former Matador cowboys and employees.

"A historian should keep in mind the limitations of oral history," Murrah said. "People's memories are fallible and people have a tendency to tell you only what they remember or want to remember. On the other hand, it produces information that just cannot be documented any other way."

Public Notice

Southwestern Bell, in accordance with the rules of the Public Utility Commission of Texas, hereby gives notice of the company's intent to implement a new schedule of telephone rates in Texas, effective July 27, 1982, unless otherwise determined by the Commission.

It is expected that the requested rate schedule will furnish a 13.4 percent increase in the company's intrastate revenues.

A complete copy of the new rate schedule is on file with the Public Utility Commission at Austin, Texas, and with each affected municipality served by Southwestern Bell, and is available for inspection in each of the company's public business offices in Texas. The Commission staff has contended in the past that all rates are subject to change as a result of Southwestern Bell's rate application.

Notice to El Paso Area Customers

Effective January 1, 1982, Southwestern Bell adopted the Mountain States tariffs in effect for El Paso County. Southwestern Bell proposes to merge the separate El Paso tariffs with its tariffs applicable to the rest of Texas. The resulting new rate schedule is on file with the PUC and the El Paso area municipalities served by Southwestern Bell, and is available for inspection at our El Paso business office.

Notice to Customers of Other Telephone Companies

The filing includes, but is not limited to, proposals to increase rates for interexchange private line and foreign exchange (FX) service. Changes in such rates would also affect customers of other telephone companies because such companies provide interexchange private line and foreign exchange service in accordance with rates specified in Southwestern Bell's tariffs. While Southwestern Bell has proposed no increase in long distance rates, any change in those rates would also affect customers of other telephone companies.

Aviso Público

Southwestern Bell, en conformidad a las reglas del Public Utility Commission (Comisión de Servicios Públicos) de Texas, por la presente hace saber su intención de establecer un nuevo arancel para servicio de teléfono en Texas con vigencia a partir del 27 de julio, 1982, a menos que la Comisión haga otra determinación.

Se espera que el nuevo arancel que se ha solicitado rendirá un aumento de 13.4 por ciento en los ingresos intraestatales de la compañía.

Una copia completa del nuevo arancel se ha archivado en las oficinas del Public Utility Commission en Austin, Texas, al igual que en cada municipalidad afectada y servida por Southwestern Bell, y cada una de las oficinas de la compañía para negocios con el público en Texas tiene una copia para lectura pública. En el pasado, la Comisión ha sostenido que toda tarifa está sujeta a cambios que resulten de la manera en la cual Southwestern Bell aplique sus tarifas.

Aviso a Clientes en la Región de El Paso

Con vigencia a partir del 1o de enero de 1982, Southwestern Bell ha adoptado las tarifas de Mountain States efectivas en el condado de El Paso. Southwestern Bell propone unir las tarifas de El Paso con sus otras tarifas que se aplican al resto de Texas. El nuevo arancel que resulta de esta unión se ha archivado en la Comisión de Servicios Públicos (Public Utility Commission), al igual que en las municipalidades de la región de El Paso servidas por Southwestern Bell, y está disponible para inspección pública en nuestras oficinas de El Paso.

Aviso a los Clientes de Otras Compañías de Teléfono

El registro incluye, pero no se limita a, propuestas para aumentar las tarifas para servicio de línea privada entre centrales telefónicas (interexchange private line) y servicio de central telefónica extranjera (foreign exchange FX). Cambios en dichas tarifas de servicio también afectarían a clientes de otras compañías de teléfono porque dichas compañías proveen los servicios ya mencionados en conformidad a tarifas especificadas por Southwestern Bell. Aunque Southwestern Bell no ha propuesto un aumento en las tarifas para larga distancia, cualquier cambio en las mismas también afectaría a los clientes de otras compañías de teléfono.

Earhart and Cochran: rival air pioneers

By RITA C. BOBOWSKI
Smithsonian News Service

On May 20, 1932, five years to the day after Charles Lindbergh's transatlantic flight in "The Spirit of St. Louis," a slender, girlish-looking woman climbed into the cockpit of a bright red Lockheed Vega and set off, alone, from Harbor Brace, Newfoundland. Overcoming fatigue, bad weather and a terrifying 3,000-foot drop through the clouds when the aircraft "iced up," the pilot landed safely on the coast of Ireland 15 hours and 18 minutes later.

As the first woman to make a nonstop, solo crossing of the Atlantic, Amelia Earhart was greeted with wild acclaim and feted on two continents. Later that year, in August, Earhart became the first woman to fly solo from coast to coast, reaching Newark from Los Angeles in just over 19 hours.

Fifty years after her history-making flights, Earhart's plane is exhibited in the Smithsonian's National Air and Space Museum in Washington, D.C., as a testament to her courage and dedication. Not only did she prove that women could be proficient professional pilots, the world's most celebrated female pilot also helped focus public attention on aviation as an up-and-coming method of transportation.

Though the 1930s marked the heyday of Earhart, that decade also featured the rise of another aviatrix, Jacqueline Cochran, who, though never achieving Earhart's public recognition, also advanced the cause of women in aviation.

"Jacqueline Cochran and Amelia Earhart were good friends and even something of rivals," Claudia Oakes, assistant curator at the National Air and Space Museum and the historian responsible for a new exhibit on Jacqueline Cochran, says. "But they were two very different women out for two very different causes. Earhart was out to promote aviation. Jackie was out to set records."

AMELIA EARHART was born in 1896 in Atchison, Kan., the daughter of a railroad man. Her family traveled a great deal when she was a girl, and Amelia grew up with a broader perspective and greater independence than many of her peers. Her first brush with aviation came in 1918 in Toronto, where, serving as a Red Cross nurse's aide, she met many wounded wartime fliers. She obtained her pilot's license two years later.

It was while she was a social worker in Boston's Denison House that she was offered the chance to become the first woman to fly, as a passenger, across the Atlantic. Her thrill over the 1928 crossing was dampened only by her discontent at not having piloted any of the journey. She resolved to redeem herself with a later solo crossing.

AVIATION TRIUMPH — Atop her Lockheed Vega, Amelia Earhart is greeted by crowds of well-wishers after her January 1935 solo flight from Hawaii to California. She was the first person to fly this hazardous route successfully.

Earhart's glamour was somehow enhanced by her disappearance over the Pacific in 1937 while attempting a round-the-world flight. Since then, however, controversy surrounding her talents as a pilot has surfaced from time to time.

"Was she a good pilot?" Oakes muses. "Maybe she was and maybe she wasn't. But one fact cannot be disputed: She made those flights. Flying from Hawaii to the U.S. mainland in 1935, which she was the first person, male or female, to do, was dangerous and tricky. Once you got going, there was no place to land. Amelia had to know what she was doing in order to survive."

If Earhart's flying skills are questioned by some, her contributions to aviation are not. "Besides acting as a role model for thousands of young women," Oakes says, "Amelia also promoted aviation as an industry. People at that time just did not think of flying as transportation. Amelia wrote articles encouraging husbands to fly on business trips and urging women to fly with their husbands. Because she was who she was, people listened."

Her 1937 disappearance stunned the world. A massive sea-air search covering 265,000 square miles of ocean was conducted, but to no avail. Both Earhart and her navigator Fred Noonan were officially proclaimed lost at sea.

"Amelia Earhart was an American heroine," Oakes maintains. "She had great charisma, warmth, a sense of ingenuousness. The American people had taken her to heart. They felt they had lost a personal friend — and the public mourning was great."

Jacqueline Cochran's personality was cut from a different mold. "Cochran was ambitious, determined to succeed," Oakes says. "But then she had to be. She was in a field dominated by men."

Her drive and ambition are perhaps more understandable, however, when seen against the stark backdrop of her childhood. Raised in poverty by foster parents from the time she was a baby, Cochran claimed to have worked ever since she could remember. She learned to read by watching signs painted on the sides of freight cars.

As she recalled in her autobiography, The Stars at Noon, "Until I was eight years old, I had no shoes. My bed was usually a pallet on the floor and sometimes just the floor ... My dresses in the first seven years of my life were usually made from cast-off flour sacks. That was my life in the sawmill towns of northern Florida when I should have had toys and been getting schooling. It was bleak and bitter and harsh. But it taught me independence and the necessity of fending for myself."

Says Oakes, "She had one burning desire — to get out of there."

Projectionist recalls early days of film

By BOB ROBINSON
Associated Press Writer

PARKERSBURG, W. Va. (AP) — For three score years, Elvin A. Earley worked quietly behind the scenes, bringing joy and delight to generations of West Virginians who never knew his name and never saw his face.

Earley ran movie projectors, starting with a nickelodeon in 1910 in Bellaire, Ohio, across the river from Wheeling.

"I was teaching school and didn't like it, see," Earley, now 94, recalls. "I went up to Bellaire and got work right away in a factory. I think the manager was interested in me and got me into the picture business."

Earley was charged with running the nickelodeon, cranking the silent film by hand while others peered into the contraption to watch the early film stars. Primitive electrical equipment provided the light.

"We took a barrel and filled it full of water and put salt on the bottom and ran the juice down there," he said. "You bring them together — two wires in the water — and you get a good light."

The wires, or electrodes, produced an intense light, somewhat like a welder's arc, that would illuminate the film, he said.

Later, Earley moved to Parkersburg where he watched the evolution of movie-making from projection booths. He also traveled across the state during this period, showing films to new audiences.

At Morgantown, he said, "they razed us," while at Fairmont, people waited for hours to see a show.

Earley says he was never bored by the endless series of films and never thought about doing anything else for his livelihood. He and his wife reared three sons and a daughter on the projectionist's salary. The sons were star football players at Parkersburg High School and two later played at the University of Notre Dame.

About 10 years ago, Earley called it quits and retired. He says he has attended only one movie since then.

In the early days, Earley's colleagues provided some makeshift sound effects to keep the audiences interested.

"We had a trap drummer and piano player," he recalled. "The drummer had a leather strap he'd smack for gun shots, you see."

But despite the primitive equipment, the movies must have seemed realistic to the audiences. Earley remembers one woman attending her first motion picture show who was frightened by what she saw.

"She was a great big woman — maybe 300 pounds — and she was sitting on the edge of the bench," he said. "There was one scene where the waves from the ocean would come up over the bank. She said, 'oh, oh,' and fell over backwards. We had to stop the show and get the seat off her."

The projectionist's job also was a bit more complicated than today, according to Earley. For one thing, the film was flammable and, if not watched carefully, the intense heat from the lamps could start a fire.

"If it got on fire, you had to get it out quick," he said. "The film would get a bad place in it and get stuck. That's how the fires started. But I never had a fire get away from me, although others did."

Another problem in the early days, he said, was that no one had invented the second reel. The film would roll off the spindle into a box on the floor and then had to be sorted out.

But Earley remembers one occurrence that left a bigger mess than that.

"One time I was running a projector and it was in the afternoon when there weren't many people in the theater," he said. For some reason, the film began un-winding out the tiny window in the projection booth onto the floor below.

ADVERTISEMENT TO BID

1. Sealed Proposals addressed to S.L. Morris, President, Board of Trustees, Colorado Independent School District, Colorado City, Texas, shall be received in the Board Room located in the administration Building, 534 East 11th St., until 7:00 P.M., Monday, July 12, 1982, at which time they shall be publicly opened and read aloud for the furnishing of all labor, materials and equipment for performing all work required for the Additions & Renovations to the Cafeteria/Library Building or Colorado Independent School District, Colorado City, Texas, in accordance with plans, specifications and contract documents as prepared by Huckabee & Donham, Architects and Planners, Andrews, Texas.
 2. Lump sum proposals will be received for the General Construction of the Additions & Renovations to the Cafeteria/Library Building, including Plumbing, Heating, Air Conditioning, Electrical and all related work.
 3. A Cashier's Check, Certified Check or acceptable Bidder's Bond payable to the Colorado Independent School District in the amount of not less than 5% of the largest possible total for the bid submitted must accompany each bid.
 4. Attention is called to the fact that the contractor must comply with all Federal, State and Local labor laws.
 5. The successful bidder will be required to enter into a contract with the Colorado Independent School District, Colorado City, TX, and furnish a Performance and Payment Bond in the amount of not less than 100% of the contract price, conditioned upon the performance of the contract.
 6. Attention is called to the fact that the Owner is exempt from the payment of the State Sales Tax normally levied against material costs. In order to take advantage of this exemption, material and labor costs must be identified by the successful bidder. In developing this division of labor and material costs, the bidders are cautioned to include all costs and allowances not representing direct material costs with labor. The contract sum, as identified by the Base Bid shall not include any allowance for the payment of State Sales Tax on materials required to complete the work. The successful bidder, upon award of the contract, will be furnished with a permit number which will enable him to purchase the required materials without payment of such taxes.
 7. Specifications and plans may be obtained from the Architects in accordance with the stipulations set forth under Deposits and Refunds.
 8. The bidder acknowledges the right of the Owner to reject any or all bids and to waive any informality or irregularity in any bid received. In addition, the bidder recognizes the right of the Owner to reject a bid if the bidder failed to furnish any required bid security or to submit the data required by the bidding documents, or if the bid is in any way incomplete or irregular.

10 Chicago policemen indicted

CHICAGO (AP) — Ten Chicago policemen face a minimum of 10 years behind bars for accepting cash and merchandise to protect two multimillion-dollar drug rings after a trial that relied heavily on testimony from convicts, criminal bosses and heroin users.
 "There was a feeling that these 10 officers could never be convicted," said U.S. Attorney Dan K. Webb after the guilty verdicts were returned Wednesday. "This case is a warning to other police officers that they cannot take graft and corruption from any segment of society, including dope peddlers."
 The U.S. District Court jury deliberated 39 hours over five days before finding the officers guilty of racketeering, extortion, and aiding and abetting a continuing criminal enterprise.

The key prosecution testimony in the 12-week trial came from convicted narcotics dealers and heroin addicts — whose statements were attacked as unreliable by defense attorneys.
 "Bunch of scum testified, that's all," said an officer in the Marquette district, where nine of the defendants had been assigned. He refused to be identified by name.
 Webb, who led the three-man prosecution team, said the trial showed both the community and the police that authorities will put anyone who can contribute on the witness stand to obtain a conviction.

BIG SPRING HERALD, THURSDAY, JULY 1, 1982

READY TO ROLL — Bobby Sullivan of Coahoma, who lost the use of his legs in a motorcycle accident last September, sits behind the wheel of his van customized with hand controls so he can operate the vehicle. The hand controls were provided from funds donated by the Big Spring New Car Dealers Association.

Behind a wheel again

Paralyzed man uses customized car

By BOB CARPENTER
Staff Writer

Everyone wants to be independent, but that want is even more pronounced when a person becomes disabled. Then he tires of asking people to do things for him. He wants to regain that feeling of independence.

Bobby Sullivan of Coahoma experienced those feelings after he was paralyzed last September in a motorcycle accident. The mishap caused traumatic injury to his lumbar spine, causing loss of the use of his legs.

After the accident Sullivan began therapy at the Dora Roberts Rehabilitation Center to build and strengthen his upper body. One of Sullivan's goals was to be strong enough to drive again and give himself a sense of autonomy.

Sullivan's "independence day" came in May when he was able to purchase a van equipped with a wheelchair lift. Not long after that, due to the generosity of the Big Spring New Car Dealers Association, hand controls were purchased for his vehicle. Sullivan was ready to drive.

First came a Texas Department of Public Safety driving test to gauge Sullivan's skills with the new hand controls. Sullivan said he passed with an "almost perfect" score.

"The officer told me a person using hand controls is actually more careful than the average driver," Sullivan said.

How does it feel to be able to drive again?
"It's nice to be able to get around. It's kind of like learning to walk again — you just have to learn all over again."

"It's beautiful to be able to go from point A to point B by driving yourself," Sullivan said.

Sullivan is still making improvements at Dora Roberts. His physical therapist, Anna Morales, says he is making slow but steady progress in increasing strength and transfer skills.

Sullivan said he hopes in the future "to be able to go to work." He said it is sometimes difficult to find an employer who can afford to let a worker off three days a week for therapy.

Sullivan continues to adjust to life in a wheelchair, but he remains optimistic and cheerful about his future.

"Without the people of Big Spring and Howard County I would have never made it. You can look around all you want, but there's not a better place — it's like one big heart," Sullivan said.

Welders remember deceased buddy

By CAROL DANIEL
Staff Writer

They described it as the "last respects we could give" to an "almost perfect man."

Eighty-five welding rigs carrying close to 200 O.I.L. welders rumbled down Highway 87 to Trinity Memorial Park yesterday to honor Sam Kerby, a man described by both relatives and fellow workers as a man "loved by everybody" and one who never spoke ill of his fellow man.

Kerby died Saturday at the age of 38, only three days after being told a cancer had spread to his brain. Friends, family and more than 200 O.I.L. employees gathered at Trinity Memorial Funeral Home Chapel of Memories at 3 p.m. yesterday in remembrance of him.

Phyllis Kerby said her husband's life "was a light and his death was a light, too ... bringing people close together."

The welders and other O.I.L. employees paid for Kerby's funeral expenses and will "keep taking up money to help" Mrs. Kerby and her five children, welder supervisor J.R. (Jack) Howard said. A fund also has been established at Coahoma State Bank.

"I've known him all my life and he's one of the finest fellows I've ever known ... Sam was a person everyone loved. Those who would say different don't know what they're talking about," Howard said.

Kerby, a contract welder for O.I.L., was unaware of his illness until two weeks ago when he began having severe headaches, Mrs. Kerby said.

Kerby belonged to several softball and bowling leagues and a gospel singing group. He "play anything ... there wasn't nothing he couldn't do," Mrs. Kerby said.

Donations from O.I.L. began to come in for medical costs about a week ago, and when Kerby told his wife of the donations from O.I.L. employees, "I told him I hated to take this money from them but he said we're a family out there, we take care of our own. They'd do it for us and we'd do it for them," she said.

"He's probably lighting up heaven right now," she added.

C-City cheerleaders win national awards

COLORADO CITY (SC) — Colorado High School cheerleaders recently returned from the National Cheerleaders' Association Camp at Hardin-Simmons University in Abilene and brought back four superior performance ribbons, the "spirit" stick, and a second-place award for excellence from a group of 45 competitors.

Attending the camp were Pam Wilson, head cheerleader; Loretta Morris, Pam Ehret, Tracey Blackwell and Robyn Turner.

Gasoline truck burns

LAMESA (SC) — City and volunteer firefighters responded to a call yesterday at approximately 3:30 p.m. as a gasoline truck caught on fire.

Officials say the truck was owned by the Everhart Oil Co. and there was approximately $20,000 damage.

The incident occurred at South Eighth and Akron. Firefighters were on the scene for over an hour.

No injuries were reported and officials indicate the cause of the fire could have been a leak in the fuel line.

Johnnie Lou Avery Open for business

FREE ENTERPRISE AT WORK CREATIVELY: An appliance store in Akron hired a caricature artist and put him in a show-window so people on the outside could watch him at work. Portraits were free to anyone willing to sit for one. The promotion attracted huge crowds both inside and outside the store.

Don Jones Restaurant in Dallas has a sign at the entrance which reads: "We sell antiques — coffee at 5¢." The nickel cup is a big drawing card.

The Greenbriar Cinemas in Charlottesville, VA, offers popcorn in four flavors: seasoned salt, lemon herb, lemon pepper and garlic. It has caught on and patronage has increased since their introduction.

To attract attention to his furniture store in Sunset, S.C., a merchant built a giant rocking chair twenty feet tall and placed it in front of his building. He claims it has boosted store traffic thirty percent.

The Fashion Outlet ten-store chain of Hanover, PA, felt that their sales clerks were a little bored with the daily routine so they devised a sales contest. Those who chalked up the most dollar sales in a week received prizes. The clerks appreciated the competition and a store executive states, "We found we ad more multiple sales than we had seen in months."

Jo Ann's Chili Bordello, Jacksonville, Fla., is decorated in Gay 90s style and pretty waitresses are scantily clad in lacy French lingerie. Orders are taken for the lingerie as well as for 15 varieties of chili. "We've been mobbed every day since we opened," says chef Ann Penschel.

EACH YEAR, Ken-L-Ration honors the "Dog Hero of the Year" by flying the hero and his owner to Chicago and hosting a banquet for them at the Ritz-Carlton. The dog also receives a gold medal, a $1,000 savings bond, a gold-plated leash and collar, plus a year's supply of Ken-L-Ration. The cost is just a fraction of the national publicity the award receives.

Needing part-time secretarial help, the NORTHSIDE SUN, Jackson, Mississippi, advertised for women who wanted to work while their children were in school. They found plenty of experienced employees willing to work from 9:00 to 2:30 which other firms were unwilling to hire.

Salem Industries, Salem, Ohio, pays a commission to any of the company's 118 employees — from the janitor to the general manager — who makes a sale. "The compensation helps workers achieve a status based on achievement and has resulted in increased sales," says Salem's president.

To attract new customers, Missouri State Bank in St. Louis served free lunches to those coming in during the lunch hour and opening a $50 savings account.

For every dollar spent during J.A. Tyler and Sons Furniture Sales in Wagener, SC, the customer received a confederate dollar. On the final day of the sale, a number of pieces were auctioned off. Only those holding confederate dollars could bid as the merchandise could only be purchased with confederate money.

Scotty's, a wall-covering center in Sarasota, Florida, invited the public to attend an evening "How-To-Hang-Wallpaper" clinic. The free session held at the store lasted only two hours and sold many a roll of wallpaper.

LOCAL HIGH school seniors are invited to a party at Brandaus' Jewelry in Elyria, Ohio. Four to six parties are planned each year. The store is closed for the evening and nothing is for sale. Store personnel mingle with the guests and favors are given away. A drawing is held for a watch and class rings. The goodwill is far reaching.

A large highway improvement project has just been approved that will have some impact on the Big Spring area. Herzog Company has been awarded a ten million dollar contract to rebuild Interstate 20 east of Colorado City to Nolan County which will begin very soon. The Big Spring office of the Department of Highways and Transportation will be supervising the work.

Just to be sure you are aware of the good the recent rains did for our area lakes: Lake Spence is at an all-time high running 13' below spillway with 335,000 acre feet. Lake Thomas is at its highest since 1973 with 70,000 acre feet. Every cloud has a silver lining!

Jeff Brown of Home Real Estate, in discussing the outlook for our area, said his view is that the market is poised and on the threshold of a great growth. He is optimistic because of the pent-up demand and the need for new housing that is just around the corner.

Big jet due at C-City 'fly in'

COLORADO CITY (SC) — The "workhorse" of the Air Force, the four-engine jet-prop Lockheed C-130 Hercules used for intercontinental transport of troops and material, will be in the July 4 "Fly In" at Colorado City's Jet Strip Airport.

The C-130 Hercules will arrive at about 7 a.m. and will be on display for public inspection. The public is invited to view the entire aircraft, said to be one of the most sophisticated transport aircraft in the world.

The giant aircraft, from Dyess Air Force Base in Abilene, will give demonstrations of backing up on the ground, as well as a short field landing demonstration. Upon departure around noon it will perform a low-level fly-by.

Organizers of the fly-in report the C-130 will be the highlight of the annual event.

Pipe crossings OK'd

LAMESA (SC) — Dawson County commissioners met Monday and some of the items covered during the meeting were permission given to Texaco to cross a road with a gas pipeline as well as hearing a report on the Veterans Affairs Commission.

The court also approved the First National Bank of Lamesa adding $1.4 million in approved bonds for a Medical Arts Hospital project and granted a request by Getty Oil Co. to cross a county road with an oil pipeline.

Dow promotes ex-Big Springer

Big Spring native and former Cosden employee Ken Plew recently was promoted to the job of control technician at Dow Chemical U.S.A., company officials announced.

Plew is employed by Dow in Antioch, Calif., and has been with the company since 1976.

"His experience, attitude and initiative have set good examples for other people to follow," said F.W. Straub of the Research Process Services department at Dow.

Drug flashback--a hangover

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: I don't know if you can help me or not, but I am at my wit's end. Two years ago I was taking drugs and one night it all came to a stop, but something worse began. This particular night I had taken one hit of mescaline and the doctors aren't sure what happened, but I was shaking, having DT's, hyper-ventilating, I had numbness of my legs, feet, arms and hands. This was not the first time I had taken this drug. I had not been drinking. It is possible this was not mescaline, even though that is what it looked like and what I thought I was buying from a dealer I always brought from before. I have not touched drugs or alcohol since then.

Within a few months after this incident I had two bad recurrences and was taken to the hospital for observation. I won't go out in public now. When I do, I get nervous. I also have developed a fear of the dark, and cannot sleep without a little light in my room. I just can't go on like this. I can't enjoy life. I am now married and have a baby on the way. For my own sanity, if not for my family's, I have to go to get help. Can you suggest what kind of help I should get? —B.L.

Flashbacks (recurrences of drug effects long after the person has stopped taking the drug) occur after use of the hallucinogenic chemicals, like mescaline and LSD. It is a puzzle why this happens, but your own experience is not uncommon. The use of these drugs can also lead to serious depression and other personality changes. But these effects can be treated.

Obviously, I cannot help you in any direct way, but I do want you to get help for yourself. This is very apparently a situation in which you are not going to find your answers. So call a large hospital near you, or call the local medical society and ask for details about any drug-rehabilitation programs that are available. I am sure the personnel will be able to give you the contact you need to straighten out your life. I used much of your very long letter in hopes that others who may be in your situation would not feel alone and might be encouraged to do what I am asking you to do — seek professional help.

Dear Dr. Donohue: Just this past year I have had problems with my complexion. I am a 30-year-old female and have been diagnosed as having flat warts. The dermatologist said it is caused by a virus. I have tried all the prescribed medicines, but nothing seems to work. Can you tell me about what I can do to have a good complexion again?—Y.Y.

general. But in your case, this has to be kept in mind when considering treatment, (another part of your letter). You don't want to do more harm by overtreating a skin condition that may very well clear up in time on its own. I admit that the time may seem quite long — a year or more in some cases.

Now, as far as treatment is concerned, there are several possibilities. They are sometimes frozen off, or they can be destroyed with electrical-current devices, or burned off with chemicals such as salicylic acid or lactic acids. The choice depends on the location of the warts, their number and the doctor's assessment of your individual skin sensitivity, etc.

I hope that your time with warts will be as short as possible. And that may only be a few months. Certainly, it is worth giving time a chance.

Warts — all warts — are, indeed, caused by viruses in

Deaths

JESSE OVERTON
Died Tuesday

Jesse Overton

Jesse W. Overton, 71, died yesterday evening in his home following a sudden illness. Services will be held at 4 p.m. Thursday in Nalley-Pickle Rosewood Chapel with the Rev. Mac Robinson, pastor of First Baptist Church of Beeville, and the Rev. Jack Clinkscale, pastor of Forsan Baptist Church, officiating.

Born July 28, 1910, on the family ranch in Forsan, he was the son of Mr. and Mrs. G.W. Overton who were pioneer ranchers in Howard County. He was a rancher and had lived all his life around Forsan. He was a member of First Baptist Church of Forsan and a deacon there. He had served as treasurer for 37 years at the church.

He also taught the men's Sunday Class for several years and had been active in 4-H programs through the years. He was preceded in death by his parents, and by one brother, Ruden Overton in 1929. He married Lucille Rankin Nov. 19, 1933, in Big Spring.

Survivors include his wife; one son, Jesse Louis Overton of Garden City; two daughters; Mrs. Mac (Lorita) Robinson of Beeville and Mrs. Lanell Evans of Big Spring and nine grandchildren.

The family suggests memorials to the First Baptist Church of Forsan or the American Cancer Society.

Gold Star Mothers present favorite recipes

This week's recipe exchange is brought to you by the local chapter of Gold Star Mothers.

The Gold Star Mothers, organized in 1928 includes mothers of children killed in the line of duty during all wars. There are 20 women active in the local chapter with many more in the city eligible for membership.

The Mothers minister to disabled veterans in the Veteran's Administration Medical Center as well as cooperate with all patriotic organizations on holiday observances. They encourage peace and harmony among people.

The mothers volunteer their services in the Chaplain's service at the hospital, with letter writing, serving refreshments, visitation and by serving on advisory committees.

The local Gold Star Mothers hope you will enjoy their favorite recipes listed below.

RUSSIAN TEA CAKES
Martha Moody
3/4 cup powdered sugar (packed)
1 cup oleo, scant
2 1/2 cup of flour
1 teaspoon vanilla
Cream oleo and sugar. Then add flour and vanilla. Chill dough. Make into balls and press pecan half on dough. Bake at 400 degrees for 15 minutes.

POTATO CAKE

Building A Home
Place your refrigerator in the coolest part of the kitchen, well away from the range and oven.
Install the water heater as close as possible to areas of major use to minimize heat loss through the pipes, insulate the pipes.
If you live in a warm climate, remember that light-colored roofing can help keep houses cooler.
Install windows you can open, so you can use natural or fan-forced ventilation in moderate weather.

Fiberflex sues in state court

Fiberflex Products Inc. of Big Spring has filed suit in 118th District Court seeking payment of $48,472.50 for an unpaid account from Harris Production Co. of Mississippi. The suit claims on Oct. 26, 1981, Fiberflex delivered goods to the company and has not been paid for those goods. The suit, filed by the Big Spring firm of Burgess and Moore, asks for the payment of the sum plus 15 percent interest.

Police Beat Man in custody after drug arrest

Police said they arrested Timothy Wayne Knox, 34, of 2102 Grace at 4:30 p.m. yesterday on suspicion of possession over four ounces of marijuana.

Wayne was taken into custody by the police department's Major Crimes Task Force after several marijuana plants and dried marijuana were found at his residence, police said.

Police said they arrested 35-year-old David Wayne Hodge, no address available, at 2 p.m. yesterday on suspicion of possession of under two ounces of marijuana after he was stopped for speeding on the 1800 block of South Gregg.

A family renting an apartment at 1511-B Wood from Ventura Housing Co. left sometime over the weekend taking bedding and furniture belonging to the company and owing $256 in rent, according to police.

Mike Ewing of 1211 Utah told police that between 12 p.m. and 4:10 p.m. yesterday someone stole stereo equipment, a gold neck chain, a high school ring and $295 in cash from his residence.

Desiree Bedford of 613 Steakley told police that between 11:30 a.m. and noon Monday, while she was in labor at Malone-Hogan Hospital, someone stole $75 cash from her billfold on the second floor labor area.

Someone broke the front window of the Tree House, 1105 11th Place, and stole $125 cash from a money bag between 11:30 Monday and 8:30 a.m. yesterday, police said.

Someone broke a plate glass window at The Casual Shoppe, 1004 Locust, and stole a $350 stereo, 150 pairs of underwear, 40 slips and 50 20-cent stamps between 5:30 p.m. Monday and 9 a.m. yesterday, according to police.

Wesley Hart of 1708 Donley reported to police that between 1 p.m. and 2:30 p.m. yesterday someone stole a Trans-Am automobile from in front of his residence.

Ernest Gomez of 1505 W. First reported to police that at 10:10 p.m. Monday a white male known to him struck him in the face with a jack at his residence.

A Mercury Montego driven by Jeane Jones of 907 W. Douglas and a Chrysler Imperial driven by Gaylene Greenfield of 3701 LaJunta collided in the 2100 block of South Gregg at 4:55 p.m. yesterday, according to police. Police said they ticketed Ms. Greenfield for failure to maintain financial responsibility. No injuries were reported.

A Pontiac Firebird driven by Idelina V. Orenelas of 1404 Sycamore and a Buick Regal driven by Cynthia B. Mesker of 1812 Main collided in the 800 block of Owens at 5:01 p.m. yesterday, police said. Police said they ticketed Ms. Orenelas for failure to yield right-of-way and Ms. Mesker for failure to maintain financial responsibility. No injuries were reported.

Sheriff's Log

Man arraigned on pot charge

Timothy Wayne Knox, 34, of 2102 Grace, was arraigned before Justice of the Peace Lewis Heflin yesterday on a charge of possession of marijuana over four ounces, according to Howard County Sheriff's records. He was released from custody after posting $10,000 bond.

David Kahanek, 28, of Midland, was arrested in Lubbock on a Howard County warrant charging him with burglary of a residence. Kahanek was released from the custody of Lubbock authorities after posting a $5,000 bond, local sheriff's records show.

The theft of a boat motor was reported to the sheriff's office by Mrs. L.J. Brown on Gail Route. She told sheriff's deputies the $600 to $900 motor was taken from a boat parked in front of a 1423 Hilltop residence last night.

$32,500 suit filed over auto accident

A Big Spring man and his wife have filed a $32,500 personal injury suit in 118th District Court against Quality Transport Co. Inc. and James Hollis for damages the couple suffered in an automobile wreck.

Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Wayne Rains claim the defendants were negligent in a March 3 collision between the defendant's vehicle and the Rains' pickup truck.

The suit seeks $8,500 for the loss of the truck, $18,000 for pain and suffering and an additional $6,000 for damages.

WINN DIXIE

Now more than ever, we're right for you!

Dear Abby

DEAR ABBY: My problem is a customer who patronizes my bookstore regularly. He's dirty, grossly overweight, rarely shaves or combs his hair, and his body odor nearly knocks me down! After he leaves, I have to use a room deodorizer.

He comes in almost every day and stays from two to three hours reading my books. His hands are usually filthy, and in the book business dirty hands are what we dread the most because if a book is soiled, it won't sell.

This man is not a bum. He's educated, loves to read and he buys everything from cookbooks to political science. I appreciate his business, but I really think I'd be better off without him.

How do you tell a customer you would rather not have his business? People move away from him in the store because he smells so bad, and some won't even come in if they see he's here. I'm a rather sensitive person myself and I hate to hurt his feelings.

Is there some way to handle this?

BOOKSELLER IN HAWAII

DEAR BOOKSELLER: You are under no obligation to allow anyone to come into your store with filthy hands and soil your merchandise. Neither must you permit anyone to come into your store whose odor and appearance drive other customers away. Find a gentle way to tell this well-read, smelly character that he will either have to clean up his act or shop elsewhere.

DEAR ABBY: I was recently at a picnic with several families. A man was sitting at a table, and in front of him was a small portable radio. He turned the radio on and was listening to it when his 15-year-old son came up to him, turned the radio off and said, "That's mine!"

The father didn't say a word but he looked so hurt. My heart just ached for that poor man. I wanted to say something to the boy, but I felt I had better not.

Please print this, Abby. Maybe some teenagers will see it and treat their fathers a little better before they're gone — like mine.

WAS THERE IN RITCHIE, MD.

Do you hate to write letters because you don't know what to say? Thank-you notes, sympathy letters, congratulations, how to decline and accept invitations and how to write an interesting letter are included in Abby's booklet, "How to Write Letters for All Occasions." Send $2 and a long, stamped (37 cents), self-addressed envelope to: Abby, Letter Booklet, P.O. Box 38923, Hollywood, Calif. 90038.

Man celebrates 70th birthday

W. L. "Shake" Townsend was honored on his 70th birthday June 26, in the home of his sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Merworth of Comanche and formerly of Big Spring.

Mementos and a cake depicted his life as a farmer in Howard County.

Relatives attending were from places such as Rochester, Rule, Texas, Odessa, McCamey, Comanche, Austin, Granberry and Mesquite. Townsend's wife Robbie also attended.

TAMMY JAN PEUGH
...pageant competitor

Miss Peugh competes in pageant

Tammy Jan Peugh, 18 year old daughter of J.E. and Joann Peugh of Stanton, will compete in the Miss West Texas Pageant in Odessa Coliseum in Odessa, July 13. Miss Peugh will be representing the Martin County Chamber of Commerce. She won the title of "Miss Martin County" in a contest during the Martin County Fair last summer.

Twenty seven girls will be competing in the pageant. They will be judged of beauty, poise, and ability to express themselves during an interview with the judges and in public contest. The girls will be divided into Group A and B. Group A will compete in evening gown and swimsuits on Friday, and on Thursday will compete in talent. The B group will compete in the opposite order. From these two nights, the Top Ten will be chosen.

The Miss West Texas Pageant is the local preliminary to the Miss Texas Pageant and Miss America Pageant.

The entire group will present a musical presentation to the theme song "Fame" and the top ten will compete again in swimsuit, talent and evening gown begin at 8 p.m. Saturday. The judges will make their decision and the new "Miss West Texas" will be crowned.

The box office will open at 7 p.m. No advance tickets will be sold. Terri McDaniels, the current Miss West Texas, will crown the winner. She will be participating in the Miss Texas Pageant in a few weeks.

Miss Peugh will be attending Howard College in the fall. She also will represent Howard College as a Presidential Classic. She is the granddaughter of Angeline Shaw of Big Spring and is a 1982 graduate of Sands High School.

QUALITY SANDWICHES AT PLEASING PRICES
...at the Gold Mine in College Park

Gold Mine: Great food at budget price

The Gold Mine Restaurant in College Park Center is offering a special budget price daily for some item on their menu. That's a deal that doesn't come around often.

IT'S ESPECIALLY appetizing when you consider the food served by the Gold Mine. Now, in addition to their sandwiches, the Gold Mine can serve up delicious fried foods. Fried chicken, fried shrimp and crisp french fries to go with your meal make the Gold Mine an even better place to eat.

Owners Steve and Amy Lewis, who also own the Rainbarrel Gifts and Candies Shop in College park, have provided Big Spring with an eating place that offers more than just good food. The Lewises have found a host of unusual furnishings and have given the Gold Mine an old fashioned atmosphere.

AS FAR AS food goes, The Gold Mine offers plenty of it, as many Big Springers have discovered. Sandwiches on the menu include hamburgers, cheeseburgers, roast beef, pastrami, corned beef, grilled cheese, hot dogs, barbecue and mouth-watering reubens.

The Gold Mine also has a well supplied salad bar to add to your meal.

If an afternoon snack is what you're interested in, check out the Gold Mine for hand-dipped ice cream, banana splits, and a variety of soft drinks.

Whatever your tastes, The Gold Mine has something for you. They're open Monday thru Saturday from 11 a.m. to 4 p.m., and are located in the College Park Shopping Center.

And don't forget the weekly special.

FOR TOP-QUALITY USED BOOKS
...see Bea Walker at the Book Exchange

Book Exchange buys and sells fine books

If you are looking for books you can't find at popular book stores, and if you want them at a good price, there's a store in Big Spring tailor-made for you.

It's called the Book Exchange, located at 901 1/2 Johnson, and it is the perfect place for book lovers who are looking for that one certain book.

OWNED AND OPERATED, by Bea Walker, the Book Exchange has over 16,000 paperbacks to sell at half their list price. In addition, the Book Exchange will buy and trade slightly used books that are brought in.

The Book Exchange is a real inflation fighter. It allows you to buy books at a price much cheaper than they can be bought in regular book stores, and in addition will pay for old books that you've already enjoyed.

The Book Exchange only stocks slightly used books, ones that are still in good condition. They have books for every taste, from popular fiction to classics of literature, as well as gothic novels, mystery novels, and non-fiction books. They also stock a selection of hardback books.

Many of the books on the Book Exchange shelves are still on bestseller lists. There are books by Irving Wallace, Peter Benchley, Joseph Heller and Robert Penn Warren. If you enjoy romantic novels, The Book Exchange has a huge selection of Harlequin Romances.

FOR THOSE who collect comic books, there are many available that are available no place else. The Book Exchange also carries many children's books.

If you are looking for a hard-to-find book, The Book Exchange is a great place to browse and discover. They are moved to a new location at 901 1/2 Johnson and are open for business from 11 a.m. to 5 p.m. Come and look. You'll be surprised at the fine selection, and pleased at the finer prices.
