1,600 U.S. Marines to enter Beirut

By The Associated Press
Several hundred American troops may be sent into west Beirut as part of a plan to evacuate guerrillas from the besieged PLO enclave, U.S. officials said today. Israel radio said President Reagan agreed to send 1,600 Marines.

U.S. officials traveling with Reagan in California said the troops — whose service branches were still under consideration — might escort the guerrillas from west Beirut then take up positions abandoned by the PLO fighters.

But they cautioned that no final agreement has been reached, no request has been made for U.S. troops and that if they did become involved they would number "somewhat less than 1,600, considerably less. Maybe not more than half that number."

The officials, who declined to be identified, said any U.S. involvement in the Lebanese situation would be limited and temporary but acknowledged it was possible a U.S. presence would "become part of a final agreement."

There was no immediate comment from Israeli or PLO officials.

West Beirut is surrounded by Israeli forces who have besieged the estimated 8,000 PLO guerrillas in the war-shattered Lebanese capital.

Israel radio said U.S. Marines would take over positions abandoned by the guerrillas, presumably to ward off possibly reprisal attacks on the Moslem population by Lebanese Christian militiamen.

Israel radio said France agreed to contribute troops. It said the U.S. 6th Fleet would supervise the evacuation from Beirut, and Washington would pay for the ships needed to take them out.

The radio said the guerrillas would go to several countries, including Algeria, Iraq, Egypt and Syria. It said the guerrillas had refused to go to Libya, despite that country's fervent verbal support for the Palestinian cause.

The radio said the details had been worked out over the past three days by U.S. and Israeli officials.

The problems of where the guerrillas would go and how they would get there were the main obstacles in three-week-old talks involving U.S. presidential envoy Philip C. Habib and Lebanese negotiators at the presidential palace outside Beirut. The talks are aimed at ending the conflict and arranging removal of PLO forces.

Palestine Liberation Organization chief Yasser Arafat had offered to withdraw most of his forces from Lebanon if Israel would allow the PLO to leave a token military presence — believed to be about 500 men — with the Lebanese army and a diplomatic mission in Beirut.

But the Israeli Cabinet refused the offer, saying all elements of the PLO must leave Lebanon and vowing that until then, the Israeli army would not ease the grip on Beirut.

LUNAR ECLIPSE — The moon is shown in various phases of eclipse early Tuesday morning over Boston. The longest lunar eclipse of the century was clearly visible in Big Spring starting at 1:38 a.m. this morning, according to reliable moon watchers.

Full moon blocked Americans watch longest lunar eclipse

By F.N. D'ALESSIO
Associated Press Writer
CHICAGO (AP) — The longest total lunar eclipse of the century blotted out the moon early today, delighting thousands of moon gazers, sightseers, merrymakers and scientists who gathered to watch it around the country.

Hundreds gathered to catch the free show at the Adler Planetarium on the Chicago lakefront. It was a celestial finale to the Independence Day weekend.

The eclipse achieved totality at 1:38 a.m. CDT, but the red color predicted by many astronomers in the upper atmosphere failed to materialize in the Chicago area, although witnesses in New York reported an orange color.

It was the longest total lunar eclipse since 1859.

The Earth's penumbra, or lighter area of shadow, began to cover the moon at 11:22 a.m. The moon appeared little different until it moved into the center of the Earth's shadow, or umbra, at 12:33 a.m.

The moon was totally eclipsed until 3:24 a.m., a period of an hour and a half.

As totality ended, the moon's eastern edge brightened first. By 4:29 a.m., the moon appeared normal, but the end of the eclipse was not until about 5:40 a.m., when the moon moved out of the penumbra.

The shadowed moon hung in the southern sky like the ghost of a moldy apricot, in Chicago barely visible through the haze and urban glare.

Earlier, Larry Ciupik, associate astronomer at the Adler Planetarium, said the moon "could appear copper-colored, or orange, or even brick-red." He and other scientists had predicted a more vivid than usual color for this eclipse because of the large amounts of volcanic dust spewed into the upper atmosphere recently by volcanoes such as Mexico's El Chichonal.

The mood of many along the Chicago waterfront appeared to be one of resigned anticlimax — the show wasn't as spectacular as the weekend fireworks, but it was free, the night was warm and the beer was cold.

It was also an active night for scientists.

Several amateur astronomers gathered at Jones Beach in New York. The president of the Amateur Astronomers Association, John Marshall, held an eclipse party at the Bear Mountain Summit in Harriman, N.Y.

Several hundred visitors had a chance for close views of the moon through 12½-inch reflecting telescopes set up near the Adler Planetarium dome by the Chicago Astronomical Society.

Local jobless rate reaches 5.9 percent

By BOB CARPENTER
Staff Writer
Students looking for summer jobs and the continued slowdown in oilfield-related activity caused the jobless rate in Big Spring for May to jump 1.1 percent over April to 5.9 percent, according to local Texas Employment Commission office manager Gerald Damm.

"The main reason for the increase is that a lot more students and school people looking for summer jobs have ended up in the labor force," Damm said. "Of course, we still see quite a few applications for employment for oilfield related jobs. There is no definite word when they may be going back to work."

He said not only have the students and the oilfield slump contributed to the rise, but high interest rates and the influx of out-of-state job hunters into the area have contributed as well.

May figures show that 16,049 people made up the total local civilian work force and of that number 15,099 were employed. That left 950 who were hunting for a job when the month ended. At the end of April 762 people were looking for work.

Big Spring's 5.9 percent was close to the state unemployment rate of 6.3 percent for May. (Figures just released show the state to have a 7 percent jobless rate for June.) Texas and Big Spring still continue to rank below the national average of 9.5 percent unemployment.

Big Spring's unemployment rate could continue to rise due to a recent layoff at Highwood Products Co. that involved approximately 75 employees, according to Damm.

Here are unemployment rates for selected cities in the area: Abilene, 5.4 percent; Amarillo, 4.2 percent; Lubbock, 5.3 percent; Midland, 4.9 percent; Odessa, 5.3 percent; and San Angelo, 5.5 percent.

Clements questions TEC jobless figures

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — With the Texas Employment Commission projecting a rise of up to 2,000 percent in employer taxes just before the November election, Gov. Bill Clements says he may have the unemployment figures audited.

Clements told reporters he finds the TEC's figures "suspect" and doesn't think the projected rise in employer taxes jibes with what he called a not "all that significant" increase in unemployment in the state.

TEC announced last week that unemployment in the state hit 7.2 percent in June, the state's highest rate since 1970.

But TEC Chairman Nolan Ward said the projected increases in employers' contributions to unemployment insurance are based on "simple arithmetic" and are due to an increasing percentage of layoffs, not the unemployment rate as a whole.

Last month, the commission said that if trends continue, employers who now pay $6 per employee for unemployment insurance — the lowest rate in the nation — could face an increase up to $114 per employee after Oct. 1 when the new rate goes into effect.

"They are suspect," Clements said of the figures. "We are re-evaluating those numbers. Jarvis Miller and the budget planning office are making a very close analysis and we may even go over there and audit those numbers, because I just question them."

Comparing the 7.2 percent unemployment rate with the 6.5 percent figure of June 1981, Clements said the rise in the employers' rates is not warranted.

"I don't think a half of one percent is all that significant," he said. "Under those circumstances, I don't see how or why there should be any drastic change in those rates, and we're going to give it a very close look."

Special prosecutor obtained in case of C-City ex-officers

COLORADO CITY (SC) — Mitchell County Attorney Pat Barber has asked the Texas Prosecutors' Council for technical assistance in the prosecution of the assault and official oppression cases against former C-City police chief Jimmy Roundtree and former police Lt. Jesse Dominguez.

Assistance is provided at state expense when a local prosecutor and the prosecutors' council feel public confidence would be served better by the assistance of an outside prosecutor, Barber said.

The prosecutors' council has agreed to provide a special prosecutor to handle these cases and will make its selection soon, Barber said.

Roundtree and Dominguez resigned from the police force after being

Astronauts start debriefing

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — Astronauts Ken Mattingly and Henry Hartsfield start answering questions today about their week in space, while engineers study the apparently poor performance of two solid rocket boosters that put spaceship Columbia into orbit lower and slower than planned.

Mattingly and Hartsfield returned to Earth Sunday from a seven-day space voyage that completed the flight tests of Columbia.

The astronauts relaxed on Monday, their first day off in months, but started work today on the massive postflight report and a series of debriefings.

The pair will spend hours over the next several weeks answering questions from experts and in writing a lengthy pilot's report.

Among the debriefers will be Air Force experts. The fourth flight of Columbia included operation of a secret military payload and the astronauts will be questioned on operation of that equipment.

Officials said the spaceship performed very well and has been cleared to start routine operations in the fall.

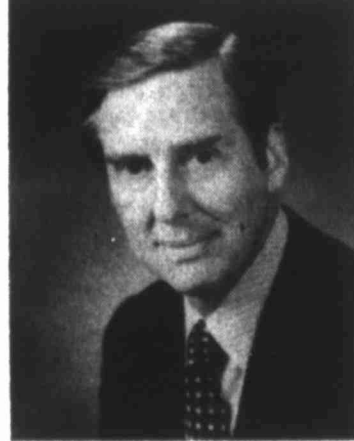

Experts examining Columbia at Edwards Air Force Base, where the spaceship landed Sunday, said it was in "really, really good shape."

"The vehicle overall is in far better shape than it was on the three previous missions," said Jim Harrington, ground operations manager for Columbia.

Workers found a small oxidizer leak in a small rocket thruster, but officials said there was no major problem.

But there was concern about the solid rocket boosters that on June 27

46 die in Texas traffic

By The Associated Press
At least 46 people died in traffic accidents in the state during the Fourth of July holiday weekend and Texas Department of Public Safety officials said they had little hope the death toll would stay under their prediction of 47.

The counting period lasted from 6 p.m. Friday to midnight Monday.

Fifty-four people were killed in traffic accidents during the holiday weekend last year, and the total rose to 63 with the addition of people who died later from injuries suffered in accidents during that weekend.

Q. We read about people being ticketed (by police) for "failure to maintain financial responsibility" all the time. I thought the law was to protect us from this. What disposition is being taken against these people?

A. A spokesman for the Big Spring Police Department said the municipal court uses the following alternatives: If a driver has no insurance and could not get it, he is fined $81. If he was able to get insurance, the case possibly could be dismissed. Or the driver could be put on 180 days probation with the condition of getting insurance. The spokesman said the last alternative seldom is used.

Probation board seeks 87 percent budget increase

Harte-Hanks Austin Bureau

AUSTIN — Expecting a rapid rise in the number of probationers, the Texas Adult Probation Commission voted to ask the 1983 Legislature for an 87 percent hike over its current budget.

At the same time, commissioners agreed to create 20 additional Intensive Probation Supervision (IPS) units designed for high-risk probationers requiring close supervision. That will make a total of 62 in the state.

The Legislature in the May special session appropriated $2.5 million for the new units.

The commission's budget request for the two years beginning Sept. 1, 1983, now totals $101 million. That's about $20 million more than commissioners had indicated previously that they would seek.

Dick Lewis, commission information coordinator, said current overcrowding problems in state prisons are expected to increase the number of probationers.

"Probation is going to become more and more considered in a lot of cases," he said.

New 'New Federalism'

LOS ANGELES (AP) — After months of public silence on "new federalism," President Reagan is pledging support for a new, slimmer version of his plan to turn federal programs over to the states.

The president was meeting today with 125 legislators and local officials from 13 Western states to reiterate his desire to give responsibility for some social programs to the individual states while the federal government assumes others.

Under the revised plan, negotiated over the last five months between the White House and state officials, about $39 billion in federal programs would be transferred to the states while the federal government assumed most of the expensive Medicaid program that is costing states $18.3 billion this year. Also, the federal government will keep the $11 billion food stamp program which state and local officials fought taking over as originally proposed.

Aid to Families with Dependent Children, the basic welfare program now shared 50-50, would be assumed entirely by states.

Reagan, accompanied by his wife, Nancy, arrived here by helicopter Monday from his Santa Barbara, Calif., ranch, where he has been vacationing since July 1. They spent the night at the Century Plaza Hotel, where their daughter, Patti Davis, joined them for dinner.

Search for hiker dropped

ESTES PARK, Colo. (AP) — About 100 volunteers have ended a six-day hunt without finding a 12-year-old Illinois boy, missing in rugged, pine-studded Rocky Mountain National Park.

The volunteers, aided by tracking dogs and two helicopters, narrowed their focus Monday to a small area on Flat Top Mountain. But they abandoned the effort at dusk, said park spokesman Glen Kaye.

"We can't go on forever," Kaye said of the search which, at a cost of $114,000, is one of the most expensive ever at the park. "We've combed the ice fields and rock ledges yard by yard. We've searched over the crevices."

He added, "The entire search area has received close scrutiny, enough so that if he was in the area, the probability is high that he would have been found."

Kaye said searchers positioned themselves Monday in a narrow band about a half mile wide and covered an area from the 11,000-foot elevation to about 9,000 feet, approximating the route that the boy, Robert Baldeshwiler of Lansing, Ill., may have taken down Flat Top Mountain when he disappeared last Tuesday.

His family, which has been camping out in a trailer behind park headquarters, was expected to leave the area today, according to park officials.

Soviet jet crashes

MOSCOW (AP) — A Soviet Aeroflot jet carrying passengers to western Africa crashed early today near Moscow's Sheremetyevo Airport, the government news agency Tass reported.

Tass said there were victims in the crash, but Soviet officials refused to give details about the number of victims or their nationalities. A Western airline source said the plane was believed to have carried about 90 passengers, and there were no survivors.

The airliner, Flight 411, was en route from Moscow to Dakar, Senegal, and Freetown, Sierra Leone, an airport spokeswoman said. She said it crashed during takeoff, scheduled for 12:10 a.m. local time, or 4:10 p.m. EDT Monday.

The Ministry of Civil Aviation said a special commission is investigating the cause of the crash.

"The Ministry of Civil Aviation expresses deep condolences to the relatives of the victims of the crash," the Tass report said.

Aeroflot's official schedule lists the aircraft for the flight as an Ilyushin-62, but it was not known whether it was the 186-passenger version or the 168-passenger version.

The airport spokeswoman refused to give further details, saying only that more information may be released Wednesday.

Department of Human Resources

Agency helps all ages

By GINA SPADA
Harte-Hanks Austin Bureau

AUSTIN — Although Congress has agreed on a budget, lawmakers haven't worked out the details of distributing the funds.

It's the details of the new budget that concern officials of the Texas Department of Human Resources.

The department funnels federal funds, combined with state money, to people through programs such as Aid to Families with Dependent Children, Medicaid and a variety of social services. It also handles the administration of the federally funded Food Stamp Program.

One out of every six Texans is touched by one of the department's 28 major programs. Because of that, 2.37 million people feel the hand of the federal government and may face removal from the programs or reduced funds when the details of the new budget are finalized.

Until Congress passes a reconciliation act, outlining new program eligibility requirements and funding, the department won't know what the effects of the budget will be, said Bill Woods, DHR chief information officer.

Texas created his welfare department in 1939 as the Department of Public Welfare, which administered old-age assistance and child welfare programs and coordinated state and federal programs.

After Congress passed the Public Welfare Assistance Act of 1941, the welfare department received administrative authority and funding responsibilities for Aid to Families with Dependent Children, a then-federal program known commonly as AFDC.

The department continued to grow, adding Medicaid and food stamp administration to its responsibilities.

The Welfare Department became the Department of Human Resources in 1977. As of May 1982, there were 11,372 people employed in the 12 DHR districts across the state.

The DHR, however, is more than just an agency for financial assistance, Woods said.

"People don't realize to what extent this is a health care

First in a series

agency as opposed to financial assistance," Woods said. "They think of welfare or human resources as AFDC and food stamps. They don't realize how much of it goes for health care of people of all ages."

Of the department's $1.9 billion budget for fiscal year 1982-83, 67 percent, or $1.14 billion, will go to health care, he said. That includes the state's share in the two levels of Medicaid — optional and mandatory.

Under the mandatory program, the state has to provide doctor, hospital and nursing services for those eligible for Medicaid. However, the state also offers a variety of optional programs such as nursing home care for the elderly and mentally retarded, home health care and funds for prescription drugs.

"Nursing home care is our biggest optional program," DHR commissioner Marlin Johnston said in a news release.

Nearly 60,000 elderly, blind or disabled persons are provided care under that program, he said.

Under the new budget, Texas would have to spend approximately $16 million to $18 million dollars more for the Medicaid program because of a loss in federal matching funds, said Tom Suehs, DHR chief budget officer.

Some Medicaid recipients also are eligible for the two levels of Medicare — the mandatory hospital coverage plan and the optional physicians fees payment plan, Suehs said.

"Once we identify a person on Medicaid who also has Medicare, it is more cost efficient for the state to pick up part B (the optional fee payment plan)," he said.

"The federal government would match the state's funds when it bought the optional fees," he said. Under the new budget, it will no longer do that.

The original budget proposal would have cost the state $70 million because it called for a 3 percent reduction in federal matching funds to optional Medicaid services, Suehs said.

drilled the winged spacecraft into an orbit.

According to Aviation Week and Space Technology, a respected trade publication, the solid rocket boosters provided less thrust than planned.

The magazine emphasized that the less-than-planned performance did not endanger the spacecraft or the crew, but is of concern to engineers because Columbia and other space shuttles using the solid rockets will carry heavier payloads in the future.

According to the magazine, officials said the rocket boosters did not contribute the speed and altitude that was planned for the launch.

Monday was observed as a holiday at the Johnson Space Center and officials were not available to confirm the magazine story.

The space shuttle is launched by the joint action of the solid rocket boosters and two main engines, fueled by liquid propellants, on the orbiter itself.

As the craft sped toward space, the magazine said, Mission Control engineers noticed it was not traveling at the speed expected or gaining the altitude planned at the expected times. Orbit was achieved, but only because the main engines burned about two seconds longer than planned.

For every $5 million the state unemployment insurance fund drops below a $225 million "floor," employer taxes go up a tenth of a percent. The fund currently stands at $197 million.

"Our computations themselves are simple arithmetic," Ward said, "not a complicated process."

He said the agency was "very pleased" to show its computations to the governor's staff and suggested Clements' threat of an audit is politically motivated.

"Certainly any tax increase, especially one that is coming in October, is not particularly good," Ward said.

Police Beat

Man held in assault arrest

Police said they arrested 44-year-old Billy J. Mitchell, address unknown, at 8:50 p.m. yesterday on suspicion of aggravated assault and public intoxication.

The arrest was made after Carol Scagg's of 905 Goliad reported to police that a man known to her pulled a large pocket knife on her at her residence, according to police.

Mitchell apparently left the residence and later was arrested by police officers in the 300 block of Goliad, detective Lt. John Wolf said.

* David Williams of 811 Wyoming told police that between 10 p.m. and 11 p.m. Sunday someone stole $20 in change and a $1,300 diamond ring from the front floor board of a car parked at Rip Griffin's Truck Terminal, Interstate 20 and Highway 87, between 8 p.m. Saturday and 8 a.m. yesterday, according to police.

* Someone broke into the Elbow Room bar on Wasson Road by knocking a hole in the sheetrock wall and stole approximately $60 in change from pool tables and cigarette machines and approximately $200 worth of beer between 10:30 p.m. Sunday and 1 p.m. yesterday, police said.

* Denise White of 2627 Hunter told police that between 2:30 p.m. and midnight Sunday someone threw fireworks into her backyard, setting on fire some clothes hanging on a clothesline.

* Four pre-fabricated walls and 30 two-by-fours were taken from a construction site behind Rip Griffin's Truck Terminal, Interstate 20 and Highway 87, between 8 p.m. Saturday and 8 a.m. yesterday, according to police.

County budget session planned

Howard County commissioners will continue their 1982-1983 budget workshop session Wednesday at 9:30 a.m. in the commissioners' courtroom. The commissioners recessed June 28 to consider the budget individually.

In addition to the budget workshop, the commissioners are expected to hear from an attorney concerning their recent approval of $2 million in bonds for Western Container Corp. Commissioners are expected to amend the by-laws of the Howard County Industrial Development Corp. to aid the Western Container resolution.

Americans gathered on beaches, in parks and at fairs, dodging stray bullets, wayward skyrockets and errant sharks as a three-day Fourth of July weekend marred by fires and injuries came to an end.

At least 415 people were killed on the nation's highways, according to a tally by the Associated Press.

A fire set by bottle rockets burned two city blocks in Houston on Monday, leveling two homes and damaging three others, while a sightseeing boat in New York City crashed into a pier, injuring about 25 of the holiday passengers.

"We got some spent bottle rockets as evidence," said arson investigator D.R. Whiteley of Houston. He said the rockets landed on the roof of one house and sparks blown by a strong breeze quickly ignited the wood shingle roofs of neighboring homes.

The skipper of the Circle Line sightseeing boat apparently lost control of the vessel Monday as it maneuvered toward its Hudson River pier after the around-Manhattan voyage. None of those injured was reported hospitalized.

Fireworks backfired in several cities where crowds had gathered to watch the traditional displays. In Shreveport, La., spectators cheered when a skyrocket exploded on the launch pad, detonating dozens of other fireworks and setting a spectacular fire, mistaken by the crowd for part of the display.

"They must have thought it was the grand finale," said fire Chief J.A. Starks of nearby Bossier City. "What they didn't know was that we were running for our lives."

A 12-year-old girl suffered third-degree burns when a cannister from a spent rocket fell on her as she watched a fireworks display in Longview, Wash. The girl, Katy Hudson of Tumwater, will need plastic surgery to repair the burn damage, said her father.

Another fireworks-watcher, 2-year-old Eric Hutchins of Downers Grove, Ill., was in serious condition after a bullet, apparently shot into the air by a holiday celebrant, hit him in the head.

At least six people were burned when a cannister from a fireworks display fell smoking into a crowd of spectators in Austintown, Ohio, officials said.

PHILLY FIREWORKS — The night sky lights up over Veterans Stadium in Philadelphia as a burst of fireworks explodes following the Phillies — San Francisco Giants game Monday night.

SEARCHING THROUGH RUBBLE — Firefighters sift through debris Monday in Waterbury, Conn., searching for possible victims in an apartment building fire that killed at least six people, police said. A crane lifts away chunks of the building, some of them still smoldering.

Enraged man starts fire at apartment; six killed

WATERBURY, Conn. (AP) — A man who police say set fire to a sofa at his niece's apartment during a fit of rage was charged with igniting a killer blaze an hour later that left six people dead and another 12 to 20 missing.

"You did it. Why did you do it?" the niece was screaming at the suspect when police arrived, officials said.

More than 120 people were homeless today after the fire swept through two downtown apartment buildings

Monday. Police said some of the missing may have been at holiday gatherings away from home.

"Flames were crashing all around," tenant Richard Chute said, describing his family's escape.

As fire and thick, black smoke shot above the twin, five-story brick buildings, several tenants clung to ledges until firefighters could raise ladders and rescue them.

Police said the death toll would have been much higher except that two officers on patrol smelled smoke and went to investigate.

"If we hadn't happened to be there, probably another 60 people would have died," said patrolman Michael Dimaria.

Firefighters still were soaking the smoldering rubble early today as rescue workers searched for possible victims.

"The bodies are badly burned. They're taking out parts of bodies. It's going to take quite some time."

Public school teachers take funding protests to streets

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Public school teachers, snubbed by a vacationing President Reagan, are taking their protest against his administration's cuts in aid to public schools and support of tax breaks for private education to the streets.

Nearly 7,000 National Education Association delegates were planning to start the last day of their convention today with a one-mile march to dramatize their opposition to Reagan's policies.

The 1.6-million member NEA also was joining forces today with its archival, the American Federation of Teachers, which is meeting in New York, to adopt a joint resolution attacking Reagan's plan to give tuition tax credits of up to $500 to parents who send a child to private school.

Reagan is making appearances in Los Angeles during a two-day stop on his California vacation, but the teachers' convention was not on his agenda. The teachers' march from Pershing Square to the Convention Center will not take them near Reagan's hotel, the Century Plaza.

The staunchly anti-Reagan NEA invited the president last February to address its 120th annual convention.

The White House, in an April 23rd letter signed by presidential aide Gregory J. Newell, turned the NEA down, saying, "in view of the developments in his schedule, it is certain the president will be unable to add this engagement to his commitments." NEA leaders, who have spent much of the past five days blasting Reagan's domestic and military policies, were basking in the snub.

A NEA publicity man was dispatched to the president's hotel to invite the White House press corps to cover the march, and Willard H. McGuire, president of the union, said, "The whole world knows where he is at any point in time, and he is in Los Angeles."

Democratic National Committee Chairman Charles Manatt was scheduled to speak to AFT delegates today in New York.

Albert Shanker, who was unopposed, won his fifth five-year term as AFT president on Monday, said AFT's director of public relations, Phyllis Franck.

A weighted vote, in which each delegate votes the number of members he represents, left Shanker with 311,807 ballots. No votes were cast against him, but representatives of 29,714 members did not mark their ballots and ballots representing 312 members were sequestered.

Dissident union members criticized the vote since it was not by secret ballot, but some admitted Shanker would have won big anyway. Franck said today the vote was open so local members would know their wishes had been carried out.

Government says citizens have faith in system

Mexico election hailed by both sides

By RICHARD BOUDREAU
Associated Press Writer

MEXICO CITY (AP) — The government says its triumphant presidential candidate Miguel de la Madrid Hurtado won by three-fourths of the vote, calling the results a show of confidence in a political system dominated by one party.

The 47-year-old Harvard-trained economist's victory over six rivals was the least lopsided in 30 years for the Institutional Revolutionary Party, which has won every national election since its creation in 1929 after the Mexican Revolution.

Both the government and opposition on Monday hailed the result as a welcome outcome of a 1978 political reform law designed to reduce disenchantment with electoral politics. President Jose Lopez Portillo, elected unopposed in 1976, enacted the law to give voters a wide choice of candidates. The latest official returns of the election, announced Monday night, gave de la Madrid 14.25 million votes, 74.4 percent of the 19 931 million counted.

After delaying first official returns of Sunday's vote for 24 hours, Interior Minister Enrique Olivares Santana announced that 73 percent of the precincts had reported and 77 percent of voters registered in them cast ballots. The turnout was 51 percent in 1979 congressional elections and as low as 10 percent in some governor's races since then.

"This is a clear and indisputable triumph by the Mexican people over abstentionism," the minister said. De la Madrid, whose aides had said they were hoping for a 75 percent turnout, told thousands of cheering supporters earlier: "The overwhelming majority of voters demonstrated their decision to fortify democracy. Mexico won, the Mexican Revolution has won, the PRI has won."

The conservative National Action Party made the strongest showing of its 42-year history to continue as the biggest opposition group. Its candidate, Pablo Emilio Madero polled 2.7 million votes to 1.1 million cast for Arnaldo Martinez Verdugo of the new communist-led Socialist Party coalition.

Rosario Ibarra de Piedra of the Revolutionary Workers Party, first woman to run for president in Mexico, got 388,000 votes. She was followed by the Mexican Democratic Party's Ignacio Gonzalez Gollaz with 321,000 votes, the Socialist Workers' Candido Diaz Cerecedo with 304,000 and the Social Democrats' Manuel Moreno Sanchez with 59,000.

There were no returns available late Monday on parliamentary races for 400 seats in the Chamber of Deputies and 64 in the Senate.

Opposition leaders complained of isolated ballot-stuffing and scattered violence including the alleged kidnapping of four poll watchers and the shooting of another.

But none said the incidents could have affected the outcome and none made an issue out of the unusually long delay in reporting preliminary returns, which Olivares Santana blamed on the large turnout and confusion by some polling officials about the reporting procedure.

"The election was not a farce," said Carlos Sanchez Cardenas, the socialist coalition's delegate to the National Electoral Commission. "It was a serious and important step toward a more democratic system."

De la Madrid, handpicked by Lopez Portillo as the government party's candidate while serving as his budget and planning minister, takes office Dec. 1. Lopez Portillo was barred by law from succeeding himself.

Reagan nominates civil rights panel

WASHINGTON (AP) — As part of a clean sweep of the six-member U.S. Civil Rights Commission, President Reagan has nominated a 32-year-old anti-abortion activist who once called for abolition of the agency.

Congressional sources said close scrutiny will be given by liberal and moderate members of the Senate Judiciary Committee to Robert A. Destro, who just resigned as director of the Catholic League for Religious and Civil Rights in Milwaukee.

Reagan has either replaced or indicated his intention to replace five of the six members of the commission. Sources who asked not to be identified said the current chairman, Clarence Pendleton, has indicated that the president will also name a sixth member to take the place of Jill Ruckelshaus, an active Republican feminist.

The Catholic league Destro headed is a nationwide organization of 20,000 members whose main purpose is to urge reversal of the 1973 Supreme Court decision legalizing most abortions.

The civil rights commission is prohibited by law from investigating and issuing reports on the impact of abortion law on minorities. It was set up to study and publish reports on the progress or lack of progress by minorities in fighting discrimination.

In 1978, Destro testified before the same Senate Judiciary Committee and criticized the civil rights commission for failure to look into discrimination against Catholics and white ethnic groups like Poles and Italians.

Destro said the commission has a "pronounced animus toward religion and religious discrimination cases."

Schools failing in teaching goals

There was considerable shock value in the news from Benton Harbor, Mich., that about 22 percent of the public school pupils in kindergarten through second grade were flunked. Doubtless the failed children and their parents were hardest hit, but the episode is a dash of cold water for the rest of us as well.

The failure rate in the Benton Harbor schools resulted from the application of a "minimal skills" program begun last fall. The program was instituted because tests showed that many children were falling well below minimum goals in mathematics and reading skills.

Since fall, teachers have kept daily records on each child's math and reading progress, and there has been remedial work with slower pupils. Even so, around 400 out of some 2,000 in the classes affected did not measure up to the minimum standard. The flunked pupils will have a chance to get back on track in a voluntary summer program.

While this may strike some as harsh, in our judgment the program is a good one. Among other things, it provides an incentive to excel — at any rate, to keep abreast of peers. That should have the effect of averting problems — and attendant grief — at a later time.

There is little reason to suppose that the levels of academic achievement in the Benton Harbor schools are markedly different from the norm. This suggests that there may be hundreds of thousands of children, across the nation, in similar need of special attention — and of being kept back, with a summer opportunity to catch up, if minimal standards are not met.

Strength to forgive

DEAR DR. GRAHAM: I know the Bible says we are supposed to forgive others. However, someone did something to me many years ago that hurt me very much, and I don't see how I can forgive that person. Can God give me the strength to forgive others? — Mrs. F.G.G.

DEAR MRS. F.G.G.: Yes, he can. You have already discovered, I suspect, that you do not have the strength within yourself to forgive this person for what they have done. But God is able to give it to you. Remember: "For nothing is impossible with God" (Luke 1:37).

I want you to understand why the Bible tells us to forgive others, even when they have done something that has hurt us very much. The basic reason we are to forgive is this: God has forgiven us if we truly know Christ as our Savior and Lord, and we are to exhibit that same type of forgiveness to others. "Be kind and compassionate to one another, forgiving each other, just as in Christ God forgave you" (Ephesians 4:32).

Look at God's forgiveness more closely. You have sinned against God. Not only have you done many things in your life that are wrong (both in action and thought), but most of all you have left God out of your life and not let him be the center and foundation of your life. You have done this in spite of the fact that God created you and loves you very, very much. In other words, you have hurt God by your actions — far, far more than your acquaintance hurt you by his actions years ago.

But what has God done for you? He sent his Son to die on the cross for your sins. He did not have to do that, but he did — because he loves you and he wants to forgive you of your sins. He has made it possible for you to be forgiven by his mercy and grace, and all you must do is reach out and accept his forgiveness by turning to Christ in faith. Have you done that? If so, you realize that there is no reason for you to withhold your forgiveness from another. Treat him as God has treated you in Christ. "Forgive whatever grievances you may have against one another. Forgive as the Lord forgave you" (Colossians 3:13).

Sleepin' lizards!

With all the subtlety of a magnitude 8 earthquake, Hollywood has dropped a big noisy musical called "Annie" in our laps. A movie about the kid with no eyes.

The little orphan has eyes in "Annie" but nobody would have noticed if she hadn't. The movie has received the worst reviews of any work since Hitler's "Mein Kampf." Critics have been outdoing themselves trying to find nasty things to say.

I saw it not long ago in a packed theater in Dallas, and to be honest, I wanted to like it and came away feeling entertained. The audience — as many grownups as kids — seemed to love it and laughed and sniffed right on cue.

Later I read the subtle-toothed reviews and was persuaded that, yes, it was sort of a rotten movie. But that's speaking on a critical level. When it makes it into Big Spring, those who want to enjoy it will find it easy to do so. Those who don't think they'll like it probably won't set foot in the theater.

"ANNIE" ISN'T a financial bomb, even though it is falling far short of the producer's and studio's hopes and expectations. Still, there are a couple of things that interested me about it.

I don't recall ever reading the original comic strip — in fact I don't recall knowing anyone who ever read the original comic strip. If it was anything like the movie, it was a shameless ripoff — "Oliver Twist" in a red dress. The movie steals directly from the ending of the movie "Oliver." The least they could have done is freshened it up a bit.

The comic strip was designed as medicine for broken spirits during the Depression, and I think the people behind the Broadway play and the movie were out to heal victims of the recession we are now in. In some ways it works. I hate musicals, but I really wanted to like it. I have read some reviews by critics who refused to blast it, even though it was obvious they couldn't find any reason not to. (The PBS "Sneak Previews" critics are two examples.)

WHAT RAISES "Annie" above any contempt is its director, John Huston. Huston can probably be considered one of the best American movie-makers. "The African Queen" and "The Man Who Would Be King." He deserves a lot of the credit for the creation of the Humphrey Bogart image.

How he got involved with something like "Annie" in 1982 is a mystery, but he brings quality and humor to it. Albert Finney, who plays Daddy Warbucks to the hilt, patterned his performance on the voice and mannerisms of Huston, who you've probably seen in small roles, most notably as the crooked landowner in "Chinatown."

No matter how good a job he does, however, he can't fight against the fact that we've grown wise to big movie musicals. I guess we're more sophisticated or something, but any time someone climbs a mountain and starts signing backed by a full orchestra, dozens of sets of eyes raise to the ceiling in disgust. More intelligent musicals like "Cabaret" and "All That Jazz" have helped us to see how contrived those things are.

That may have a lot to do with the reason Americans are sleeping through all the "Annie" hype, not dancing through it. We've fallen in love instead with an ugly little alien, mostly because he never once breaks into, "The sun'll come out tomorrow..."

Halting a battle in Lebanon

WASHINGTON — In the middle of the Lebanon war, the fighting in the Bekaa Valley was brought to a polite halt while an 88-year-old woman decided which side to choose. This is the story of Aunt Juria's odyssey.

It began with an outcry from her nephew in America, Sen. James Abdnor, R-S.D., whose parents immigrated to South Dakota from Lebanon. The Israeli invasion of his parents' homeland made Abdnor's Lebanese blood boil.

He confronted Menachem Begin when the Israeli prime minister appeared before the Senate Foreign Relations Committee. The senator assured Begin that he grieved for the Israeli civilians who had been killed by terrorist attacks from Lebanon during the past 30 years. But, he demanded Abdnor, did "those relatively few Israeli casualties justify the killing and wounding of hundreds of thousands of Lebanese and Palestinian women and children?"

Then he added an anguished personal touch: "My 88-year-old aunt lives in a small village in the Bekaa valley, near where your soldiers have attacked the Syrians. I have not heard from her since before your invasion and must fear the worst."

Israel's intelligence chief, who accompanied Begin, took careful notes on Abdnor's problem. As soon as he returned to Israel, he ordered a top aide to locate the old woman.

The senator's aunt, Juria Abdnor, lived in the tiny village of Ayn-Arab in the no-man's-land between the Israeli and Syrian armies. Using intermediaries, the Israelis arranged a temporary truce with the Syrians while they went looking for Aunt Juria.

On about June 24, Israeli officials found the old woman in her village. She was alive and unharmed, if a tad surprised by the attention.

The Israelis asked the senator's aunt what she wanted to do — go to Syria, stay put or what? Then it was the Israelis' turn to be surprised. Aunt Juria said she'd like to go to Israel. The Israelis were delighted to oblige.

The senator, his latest condemnation of Israel still stuck in his throat, told my associate Lucretia Lagado: "I didn't ask them to do this." But he added graciously: "I am grateful to the Israelis. I am grateful she is out of harm."

NEEDY CONGRESSMEN: The U.S. Congress can be a baffling source of mystery and dismay. Its members are men and women of reasonable ability and decorum. Yet the shabbiness in things small and large is so widespread that the majority is resigned to it.

Never mind that our elected representatives have problems producing even the most basic instrument of government — a budget. Never mind that it was ratified by legislators who seldom practice the economy they preach.

The "needs" they demand for themselves must seem bizarre indeed to truly needy Americans who have seen their food stamps or disability pensions cut off.

When the lawmakers make out their "wish lists" of merchandise they'd like the taxpayers to buy for them, they sometimes act like kids in a toy store or rural housewives leafing through the mail-order catalog.

Here are some examples culled by my associates Tony Capaccio and Jack Mitchell from files of the House Administration Committee, which controls requests for office supplies:

— Rep. Larry McDonald, D-Ga., an arch-conservative who purports to see communists behind every potted plant, requested $780 for a fancy Destrolyt Security Paper Shredder for his Marietta, Ga., office. He apparently didn't want Kremlin agents piecing together old press releases and interoffice memos that had been fed through an ordinary shredder. The committee nixed his request.

— Rep. Newt Gingrich, R-Ga., requested $1,015 worth of camera equipment, "because the local press likes to have pictures of my activities in Washington." Gingrich was also turned down.

— Rep. Norman Mineta, D-Calif., asked the committee to reimburse him for a rented radio-paging gadget that his staff had lost. The committee refused, and Mineta was told to cancel the rental because it wasn't authorized. But Mineta managed to persuade committee chairman Augustus Hawkins, D-Calif., that a pager is a "very valuable asset," and the $249.46 payment for the lost beeper was finally approved.

— Rep. Jim Hansen, R-Utah, wanted $200 for a microwave oven for his staff, and a $50 lamp for his own office. The committee said no on both accounts.

— Rep. William Ratchford, D-Conn., wanted $200 for an electronic filter to combat "stagnant air." Nothing doing.

Dear Editor,
I am glad to see that I am not alone. Like Debbie Hinklin, I have trouble with MA BELL.

In July, 1981, I had a private line installed in my building. The worker was mad because the boss told him to install it at 4 p.m. and he was ready to go home. I waited three weeks for Bell to come here, and I do not have any control on their workers.

When they came back to bury it underground, they touched my business line, and five to six weeks my phone was ON and off. They came back could not find the old line and put a new one from my business building across the length of my lot, across the alley, that 11 months ago, the line is on the ground and loose and curled. I almost fell twice. The big Dawson truck goes through the alley and I am waiting for the line to be torn out of

Generic drugs discussed

Dear Editor:
As most Texans already know, a new law known as the generic bill went into effect on January 1, 1982. This bill is intended to save consumers money by allowing pharmacists to substitute less expensive generic equivalents for brand name drugs. This is how it works:

You see a doctor and he prescribes some medicine for you. On the prescription blank there are two signature lines at the bottom. Under one line the words "Dispense As Written" are found. If the doctor signs on this line, then only the brand name drug he has prescribed can be dispensed. If he signs on the other line that says "Product Selection Permitted," then the pharmacist can dispense the brand name the doctor prescribed or a generic equivalent, which ever you prefer.

A GENERIC NAME is: The name of the active ingredient or ingredients of a drug.

A BRAND NAME is: The name given to a generic drug by a pharmaceutical company to label it as their own.

Each year, about 170,000 chemical substances are examined for their potential use as medicine, but only ten to twenty actually ever make it on the market. This research for new drugs is performed and financed by the pharmaceutical companies. It takes many years and an average of forty million dollars in investment by the drug companies for each new drug that reaches the American market.

A new drug is given a brand name and is protected by a seventeen year patent. In that time the pharmaceutical company that developed the drug is its sole producer. After the patent expires, the drug can be made by various manufacturers. These manufacturers can call the drug by its generic name, or they can give it a brand name of their own.

Producing these generics is a comparatively inexpensive operation, because the chemical is just reproduced (much like copying a recipe), and relatively little money is spent in investment. That is why generics are so cheap — they do not have all that research and development support.

So, if the generic has the same active ingredient as the brand name, then the only difference is the price, right? Read on...

The argument for brand name preference is supported by several good points. It is assumed that drugs which are the same chemical structure and are prescribed for the same purpose work in identical ways within the body. In many cases this may be correct, but there is also proof that it is not. For example, differences in bioavailability have been discovered. "Bioavailability" means availability to the body, and it depends on how fast and how much of a drug is absorbed from the stomach and small intestine after it has been swallowed. Further studies are needed to determine the significance of differing bioavailabilities.

Although the law states that generics must be "therapeutically and pharmaceutically" equivalent, it can be argued that some generic houses or manufacturers produce a lower quality of drugs. This is evidenced by some generics which vary in size, color, and shape within the same bottle, or by those generic tablets which crumble so easily that half an inch of powdered drug is in the bottom of the container. Bottles that generic liquids some in are sometimes cheaply made and leaky. This pro brand name argument contends that brand names have and must maintain a reputation for the highest quality. In addition, generic lines of big name manufacturers are claimed to be of a more reliable quality than that of smaller generic houses.

Another disadvantage of generics is that many are white, unmarked tablets which are impossible to identify on sight if identification is crucial, as in an overdose. Most brand name drugs are clearly and distinctly marked with name, strength, and manufacturer. They are usually given a unique color and sometimes a unique shape. On the other hand, some generics so closely resemble the brand names, that it is difficult to tell the difference. Big name manufacturers believe that such duplications are infringements on their patent rights, and some are filing suit. If such duplications are allowed, generics could be passed off as brand names at brand name prices.

An additional disadvantage of generics is said to be their effect on research and development. Since it is so expensive for a company to develop a new drug, it has to generate enough money from its other products to support the research efforts. If generic companies are allowed to copy a drug and market it without the investment, the incentive for other companies to support costly research is obviously cut. This may not seem important now, but there must be incentive for new product development in order for modern medicine to continue finding better treatments and new cures for diseases, ailments, and disorders that plague us.

You have to trust your doctor and

Pesticides can be bad for people

Dear Abby

Ataxia Foundation—ready to help

FORT WORTH, TX—The misuse of pesticides and fertilizers results in accidents every summer, a Texas College of Osteopathic Medicine toxicologist cautions.

Most accidents are caused by improper distribution or storage, says Gary Wimbish, Ph.D., associate professor of pathology at the medical school. "The ABCs for proper use of pesticides are simple: Read the label, mix and distribute them as instructed and avoid contact with the skin or inhalation of the vapors."

Accidents usually go something like this: Some of the poison is left over, it is stored in a soft drink bottle, and a curious child comes along and drinks it. "The way to avoid this, of course, is to maintain the excess in the original containers and store them out of the reach of children," Dr. Wimbish said.

Symptoms of dangerous contact with a pesticide can be mistaken for those of a cold or virus, he added. The symptoms are nausea, loss of appetite, cramping, excessive sweating, salivating and diarrhea. If you suspect an ingestion of a poison, first call your physician, who can make a definite diagnosis with lab tests, and if a doctor is not available, then call the local poison control center, whose number should be kept by the telephone.

One of the most dangerous fertilizers used in farming operations, Dr. Wimbish said, is anhydrous ammonia. "Tanks can leak and as pressure builds (usually associated with overfilling and heat), the safety valve may release a large blast of ammonia into the operator's face, causing permanent damage to eyes, skin or the respiratory system, or even death. The only advice I can give is to be very careful of leaks and take all proper precautions, treating the anhydrous ammonia as a deadly gas."

Club installs officers

The Altrusa Club officers for the 1982-83 year were installed at a meeting June 24. Pat Highley conducted the installation.

Officers installed were Delora Mitchem, president; Deloris Albert, vice president; Frances Hendrick, recording secretary; Neva Green, corresponding secretary; Audrey Wilson, treasurer; Tot Sullivan, one year director; and Linda Adams, two year director.

The Altrusa Club's next meeting will be Thursday at noon.

Denise Johnson honored with luncheon

Denise Johnson, bride-elect of Roger Coates, was honored with a bridesmaid luncheon at the Big Spring Country Club, June 26.

Hostesses for the luncheon were Mrs. J. W. Tipton, Mrs. John Dorton, Mrs. Wayne Henry, Mrs. Emily Easley, Mrs. David Terry and Mrs. John Burgess.

Miss Johnson, Mrs. Del Shirey, mother of the DEAR ABBY: My speech is slurred, I can't walk straight, my coordination is off, and it's hard for me to swallow. Worse yet, most people think I'm drunk.

I am a victim of ataxia — a hereditary disease that is often incorrectly diagnosed as multiple sclerosis. An estimated 15 million Americans are afflicted with hereditary diseases. Approximately 250,000 are victims of some form of ataxia. It affects people of all ages and races, and it cannot be diagnosed before the symptoms appear. It is a tragic and deadly disorder, yet surprisingly few people know it exists. (It is not contagious and it is not a mental disease.)

There are ataxia clinics throughout the United States that stand ready to offer genetic counseling, neurological testings, financial assistance and reliable information concerning insurance, legal rights, where to find home services and nursing homes.

The National Ataxia Foundation is eager to locate victims and their families in order to help them. Please help spread the word, Abby.

MILDRED S. IN WOODLAND HILLS, CALIF.

DEAR MILDRED: I have checked out the organization and have found it to be a legitimate, sincere, non-profit organization that welcomes all inquiries and will respond (free of charge) to those who write. The address: The National Ataxia Foundation, 6681 Country Club Drive, Minneapolis, Minn. 55427. Phone: 1-612-546-6220. Please enclose a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope.

DEAR ABBY: I just wanted to share something nice. (I read your column in The Day in New London, Conn.)

On June 8, an ad appeared directly under your column. It featured a sketch of a single rose with the following message: "Nancy, may the next 25 years be just as joy filled. — Dick"

Dr. Donohue

Hiatal Hernia not cause of gas

Dear Dr. Donohue: Can you tell me why, if a person has a hiatal hernia, there is so much gas all the time? I am speaking of intestinal gas, mainly. I have the problem and take anti-flatulence pills every day. I still have the gas. I am very careful about my diet and have eliminated foods supposed to cause gas. I have cut down on sweets, for example. I am 59. The hernia showed on X-rays. My doctor cannot provide me with an answer to this problem. — Mrs. D.H.

A hiatal hernia doesn't really have much bearing on intestinal gas. This is the kind of hernia that occurs in the esophagus at a weakened spot where the tube passes through the diaphragm near the stomach. Intestinal gas would be due to something other than this.

Now, if you are speaking of belching also, I can tell you that most often occurs from swallowing air when you eat. If you stop doing that, you stop the belching problem. Gas lower in the digestive tract comes largely from foods that fuel intestinal bacteria. Foods high in carbohydrate, if they are not properly digested, are great gas-formers. The all-purpose white and whole-wheat flours are in this category. Onions, lettuce and cabbage are some of the other foods that cause gas.

Why don't you try eliminating these foods? You can substitute rice flour or gluten-free flour for the regular kinds. Or you may be one of the many who have trouble with milk sugar. They can't digest it because they lack the enzyme needed. Try avoid milk products for awhile. If your problem disappears, you have found the cause. There is a commercial enzyme product you can add to milk that will allow you to have that.

Don't worry so much about the hiatal hernia as the food you are eating and the way you may be eating it. For some, this diet change won't make a whiff of difference. For others it brings relief. You can study the booklet "Hiatal Hernia and Eight Ways to Combat It" for answers to your other questions. Other readers may order by writing me in care of the Big Spring Herald, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope and 50 cents for printing and handling.

Dear Dr. Donohue: I am concerned about a burning on the inside of my mouth, especially of my tongue. I have been to my family doctor and he does not know why I have

I have no idea who Nancy and Dick are, but apparently Dick bought an ad in that newspaper requesting that it be placed where Nancy wouldn't miss it, so I assume she's a faithful reader. Imagine her thrilled double-take when she saw it!

How terrific to see evidence of a good marriage out there. And what fun to be married to a man so thoughtful, loving and imaginative! Neat?

BETH IN MYSTIC, CONN.

DEAR BETH: Neat, indeed! I'll bet Dick's ad plants that unique idea in the minds of other lovers.

DEAR ABBY: A woman who was married in a Catholic church in 1958 said her husband took a ride one Sunday afternoon and never came back. She asked if she was still married, or did she need a divorce if she wanted to start life over as a single woman.

You advised her to see a priest about an annulment. Regardless of what the priest or the church says, she had better consult an attorney. The only legal dissolution that can be had must come from a court.

HOUSTON LAWYER

DEAR LAWYER: I assumed the priest would tell her not only how she stood with the church, but how she stood with the law. (That's like assuming that a lawyer would feel obligated to tell his clients how they stood with the church.) Mea culpa.

Problems? You'll feel better if you get them off your chest. Write to Abby, P.O. Box 38923, Hollywood, Calif. 90038. For a personal reply, please enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

This. Any information you can give me will be appreciated. It seems I have heard that this is vitamin related. Is that true? — Mrs. G.

Vitamin deficiencies are one cause of this burning — a lack of the B vitamins, including B-12, for example. But let me say that anyone with a normal diet and who has no problem in the body's ability to utilize vitamins should not experience such a efficiency.

Low blood-iron levels may cause a burning tongue or mouth. Tobacco and spicy food may also be in the background. So can mouthwashes and certain dyes used in candies. If your mouth and tongue have sores, then other possibilities should be investigated — herpes or fungal infections, lichen planus, Bechet's syndrome, for example.

Without trying to discourage you, I should say that quite often, even after an exhaustive search for causes of burning mouth, none can be found. My best advice is for you to try avoiding the things I mentioned, including alcohol. Try it for at least a week.

Go on a cool, bland, or liquid diet if your doctor will approve. See if a week's rest will clear up your problem. You did take the right step in going in for an examination to rule out some of the more serious potential causes.

Texas elevators not government checked?

DALLAS (AP) — A state housing official says a "calamity potential" exists for the thousands of people who ride elevators in Texas skyscrapers because most of the state's elevators are not subject to government inspection.

"Imagine your risk in a major building in Dallas," said Roy Fewell, code and standards specialist for the Texas Community Affairs Housing Division.

"You could have an elevator collapse that was filled with people. You could have a lot of people killed or injured," he said.

Texas, one of the few states that does not require elevator inspections, has left it to cities to set up their own standards and inspection programs.

But few have, according to Walter G. Martin, state director of occupational safety.

Houston is the only major Texas city with an elevator inspection program, Martin said.

"Anybody can put up anything they want to in the state of Texas as far as an elevator is concerned," Martin said. "We have elevators in the state that have probably been in operation for 50 years that have probably never had a safety inspection."

An average of 15 people die each year and 400 others are injured in elevator accidents in the United States and Canada, according to officials of the Otis Elevator Co.

Officials say accidents involving Dallas' 2,500 elevators are rare. In 1976, a Dallas man fell to his death when he stepped out of an elevator that had stopped between floors.

Neither the city nor the state keeps records of elevator accidents.

Meanwhile, the state relies mostly on the industry to police itself — a situation that some industry experts believe is dangerous.

"It's not the kind of thing that's going to kill a lot of people right now," said Robert Lauer, engineering vice president of Schindler Houghton Elevator Corp. of Toledo, Ohio. "But it'll make its mark in time."

The state made one attempt to regulate elevator safety, but abandoned the program under the mistaken belief the federal government supervised such programs, officials said.

Continental, TIA restructure their debt

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A restructured payment plan on $295 million in long-term debt has been agreed on in principal between lenders and Continental Airlines and Texas International Airlines, a spokesman says.

"This is a strong vote of confidence for both companies and for our proposed financial consolidation," said Frank Lorenzo, chairman of Continental and president of Texas Air Corp. "The agreement is an important part of our plan to return both companies to long-term profitability."

Continental is 51 percent owned by Texas Air Corp., which wholly owns Texas International. Last year, Texas Air successfully launched a hard-fought takeover attempt, which was opposed by Continental management and employees.

Texas Air officially took control at a Continental stockholders meeting March 30. A proposed financial combination of the two companies is to be voted on June 13 in Los Angeles by stockholders of both.

Continental spokesman Bruce Plowman said Monday that the two airlines have reached the agreement with all major bank lenders and most of their major institutional lenders to restructure existing bank credit agreements, including a four-year revolving credit agreement, into a seven-year term loan.

Along with the debt restructuring, Continental has eliminated the need to obtain amendments on a month-to-month basis from its lenders.

He said that even though the airline was making all its payments on time, technically the loans could have been called in whenever the company failed to meet certain technicalities, such as debt-to-equity ratios.

"(Auditors) were treating that debt as current obligation, which meant theoretically it could be called," Plowman said. "That got a bunch of bankruptcy rumors started which were unfounded."

Heart transplant patient 'stable'

HOUSTON (AP) — The first patient was in stable, good condition today following what was expected to be the first in a series of 35 heart transplants in which a newly developed anti-rejection drug will be used.

A team of surgeons, headed by Dr. Denton Cooley, performed the surgery Monday at Texas Heart Institute on a patient identified only as a 43-year-old man.

Cindy Katz said late Monday the man was in stable, good condition after the surgery involving Cyclosporin A, an immuno-suppressant, a drug used to prevent rejection of the transplanted heart.

Ms. Katz said the drug has prevented rejection of a donor heart in 24 of 27 transplants at Stanford University. Dr. Barry Kaham, who worked with Cooley in Monday's surgery, has used Cyclosporin A in more than 80 patients undergoing kidney transplants, she said.

The hospital spokesman said the kidneys were "functioning after a year in more than 80 percent of patients." Kaham is director of the division of organ transplants at the University of Texas Medical School in Houston.

The operation lasted about two-and-one-half hours and was finished at 2:15 a.m. Monday, Ms. Katz said.

Cyclosporin A "has shown an encouraging ability over previously used drugs to interfere with the body's natural rejection system," Ms. Katz said. Doctors hope the drug will "solve many of the infection-related problems that have hindered some of the heart transplants in the past," she said.

Big Springer appointed

DALLAS — American Petrofina Inc. announced the appointment of William J. Perry to the newly created position of administrative manager in American Petrofina Co. of Texas' production department. Perry transferred to the production department from Cosden Oil & Chemical Co., a wholly owned subsidiary of American Petrofina Inc., where he had been manager of distribution and traffic.

Perry will report to the general manager of drilling and production, and also assist the vice president of exploration and production in budgeting and cost control. He also will supervise the accounting, clerical and systems functions in the production department.

American Petrofina Inc., with assets of $1.1 billion and $2.5 billion in revenues, is engaged in two principal lines of business — energy products, and petrochemicals and plastics. A wholly owned subsidiary, American Petrofina Co. of Texas, is engaged in the exploration for, and production of, crude oil and natural gas as well as the refining and distribution of petroleum products under the FINA brand.

Another wholly owned subsidiary, Cosden Oil & Chemical Co., manufactures aromatic petrochemicals and plastics which are sold worldwide. Cosden also licenses some of its proprietary manufacturing processes.

Who's tennis world's best is No. 1 question

By WILL GRIMSLEY
AP Special Correspondent

WIMBLEDON, England (AP) — Jimmy Connors is the new Wimbledon tennis champion, but who's No. 1? Is it John McEnroe, the beaten finalist, who was so rated on the 1981 ATP computer and into half of 1982 before losing to Connors in the Wimbledon final? Is it Bjorn Borg, the five-time Wimbledon and six-time French titleholder who, for reasons of pride, decided to sit this one out? How about Ivan Lendl, the sensational young Czech who won nine straight tournaments before being so unceremoniously halted by Sweden's "Whiz Kid," Mats Wilander, in the French championships? Or Guillermo Vilas, Argentina's comeback topspin clay court specialist who won 45 consecutive matches before also losing to Wilander at Paris? Or maybe Connors, who now has beaten McEnroe twice in three weeks, the last time at the Queen's Club? This is the mess that bigtime men's tennis finds itself today — a lot of guys all dressed up with no place to go. There's no true champion, no No. 1.

This is one of tennis' tragedies, emphasized over the weekend here by Fred Perry, the great British champion who dominated the game in the early 1930s. "A true champion," Perry said, "can't be a part player. He must be an all-around champion, capable of winning on any surface. We don't have that now nor the prospect of one any time soon." "Today's players pick the tournaments on the surface they like. They dodge the surfaces they don't like. Furthermore, they have no feeling for tradition. They skip tournaments such as the French, Wimbledon and Australian without a second thought to play an exhibition somewhere. "Only in the major events can a true champion emerge." The last ATP (Association of Tennis Professionals) had McEnroe No. 1 and Connors No. 2, with Lendl and Vilas following. But a new computer ranking introduced by World Championship Tennis, covering all tournaments in the world with a $25,000 or over prize list, had Lendl No. 1, Connors No. 2, followed by Vilas and McEnroe.

Until the computer craze, tennis players were judged on their ability in the Grand Slam events — the Australian, Wimbledon, French and U.S., the first two on grass, the French on clay and the American successively on grass, clay and cement in order.

Only two men ever won the four events in a single year. America's Don Budge did it in 1938 and Australia's Rod Laver in 1962 as an amateur and 1969 as a pro.

The tennis establishment should eliminate the Australian as a Grand Slam event because of the distance of the bottom-of-the-world continent which no longer attracts representative fields.

The wise thing to do would be to add the Grand Prix Masters, played indoor on canvas, as the fourth leg behind the French, Wimbledon and the U.S., providing four major tests on four different surfaces (carpet, clay, grass and concrete).

Then let the guys go for the Big Four. Does anybody dare?

BJORN BORG?

JIMMY CONNORS?

OVER THE BALL — England's Bryan Robson goes tumbling over the ball, as he avoids Spain's Miguel Alonso, during the early stages of the England-Spain World Cup soccer match at Madrid's Santiago Bernabau stadium Monday evening.

European teams make World Cup semifinals

MADRID, Spain (AP) — In a tournament which has had no shortage of upsets, Italy turned in the biggest of them all when it blew favorite Brazil out of the World Cup soccer championships.

Paulo Rossi, who resumed playing only two months ago after a two-year suspension for his involvement in a bribery scandal, scored all three goals for Italy in Monday's 3-2 shocker that put the Italians into the semifinals.

Both coaches agreed after the spine-tingling thriller that Brazil's hunger for its fifth straight victory had been its undoing. Playing desperately for a victory when a tie would have been enough, the South Americans spent too much time surrounding the Italian goal and let the slippery Rossi roam free.

Spain, meanwhile, made peace with its fans by battling England to a scoreless tie — a result which meant nothing for Spain in the standings, but which sent England home and gave West Germany a place among the Final Four.

Poland on Sunday fought the Soviet Union to a 0-0 tie to nail down a semifinal berth, while a surprisingly powerful French team swamped Northern Ireland 4-1 to advance.

That set up the first all-European semifinals since 1966, and gave the Europeans bragging rights in the eternal debate over the merits of European and South American soccer.

The semifinals on Thursday will match Poland and Italy in Barcelona — a rematch of their 0-0 first-round meeting — and France vs. West Germany in Seville. The losers play for third place Saturday in Alicante then the winners go to it for the Cup Sunday in Madrid.

None of those matches figures to top the drama or the shock of the Italian victory in Barcelona.

Italy began with three ties, then beat defending champion Argentina 2-1. Brazil had four straight victories in this tournament, had not lost a World Cup match since 1974 and had not missed the Cup semifinals since 1966. It was generally conceded before start of the tournament that Brazil's talent and innovation put it above the other 23 teams in the tournament.

Rossi scored in the fifth, 25th and 75th minutes. Brazil's Socrates matched the first goal in the 12th minute, Roberto Falcao tied the score again in the 67th minute, but a furious Brazilian assault on the goal was unable to equal Rossi's third goal.

Brazil, which won the Cup in 1958, 1962 and 1970, was a runaway favorite to become the first team to win four. Now, West Germany, winners in 1954 and 1974, and Italy, champions of 1934 and 1938, have a chance to match Brazil's record of three.

England also played desperately for a victory, which it needed advance, but was frustrated by a determined Spanish defense egged on by flag-waving countrymen who nearly filled the 90,000-seat Santiago Bernabeu Stadium.

College giants battle Dec. 11

NEW YORK (AP) — College basketball's top giants — Virginia's 7-4 Ralph Sampson and 7-0 Pat Ewing of Georgetown — will meet in 1982 when their schools battle Dec. 11 at the Capital Centre in Landover, Md.

The game will be televised over Ted Turner's WTBS-TV. Turner has apparently outbid NBC and CBS for the rights for the big game.

Sampson was AP's College Player of the Year, scoring 15.8 points and taking in 11.4 rebounds a game. Ewing led the Hoyas to a runner-up finish in the NCAA tournament.

HC Queens ink standout guard

Howard College Hawks basketball coach Don Stevens continued to beef up his guard corps with the signing of 5-6 Stacy Zonker from Keller High School in northern Fort Worth.

Zonker is the fourth recruit signed this summer by Stevens and brings the Queens roster up to 10 players for the 1982-83 season.

The 5-6 playmaker averaged 25 points a game and hit 79 percent of her foul shots her senior season. She also handed out nine assists per contest.

As a junior she tossed in 20 points and hit 81 percent of her attempts from the free throw line.

Her honors include making the All-Tarrant County first team, all-District 5-AAAA both her junior and senior years and being named the league's MVP both seasons. She also played in the East-West All-Star Game this past spring in Fort Worth.

Stevens labels Zonker as "quick, aggressive, good outside shooter. She is an excellent passer and great assist player which will make our inside game more effective," he said.

"She penetrates extremely well and makes things happen," he said. "She is also an excellent defensive player ... a very well-rounded player."

STACY ZONKER
...new HC guard

In addition to her abilities on the basketball court, Zonker also recorded a 3.50 grade point average and was a member of her school's National Honor Society.

All stars play July 12

Four Big Spring Little League All-Star teams will participate in the District III tournament beginning Monday in Lamesa.

International meets Midland Eastern while Texas tests Midland Mid-City Monday night. National and American square off in the first round Tuesday night.

Sox win title

BIG LAKE — Mechie Sarmiento doubled in the winning run in the top of the 12th inning to lift the Big Spring Red Sox to a 3-2 win over Big Lake in the host's Fourth of July Tournament.

The Sox led 2-0 early in the game but Big Lake tied the contest in fifth with two runs off David Cruz. With two out in the 12th, Sarmiento doubled for his third basehit of the game and drove in John Morelion from third. Cruz retired the Tigers in the bottom of the frame to give the Red Sox the tournament title.

To get into the final game, the Sox ripped the San Angelo Pirates 12-3. Louis Rodriguez tossed a six-hitter. Sarmiento, Santos Olague and Pete Amaro had two hits in the victory.

Cruz was voted the top pitcher in the tourney for the Sox, now 6-1.

The Red Sox return home Sunday for a 1 p.m. doubleheader against the Abilene Pirates at the Roy Anderson Complex.

Ledbetter named best

ST. LOUIS (AP) — The Sporting News, a weekly publication, has named senior outfielder Jeff Ledbetter of Florida State college baseball's player of the year.

Ledbetter, who slugged 42 homers for an NCAA Division I record, is one of two seniors on the TSN All-America team. The other is right-handed pitcher Todd Worrell of Biola College.

Cliff Gustafson of Texas, whose teams have won 13 Southwest Conference titles, was selected coach of the TSN All-America team in a poll of major league scouting directors.

Live warmer and help hold down your bills.

You may not feel quite comfortable at first when you set your thermostat at 80° or higher, but most people adjust very quickly to living warmer. At the same time, if you dress cooler and use a fan, you may not even notice the difference. But it will help hold down your electric bill.

Rangers Sample victory again, 3-2

American League

ARLINGTON, Texas (AP) — When the Texas Rangers left their Florida spring training headquarters in early April, fireballer Danny Darwin was the team's short relief man and that's all there was to it.

His 92-mp fast ball was supposed to make him the Rangers' answer to New York's overpowering Goose Gosage.

But when Texas manager Don Zimmer waded Darwin in from the bullpen Monday night against Toronto and ordered him to protect a one-run Texas lead, it was Darwin's first appearance in eight days.

"I thought maybe he hadn't know I hadn't pitched in seven days," Darwin said later, after logging his fourth save in the 3-2 Ranger win.

Mariners 5, Yankees 4

The Yankees, who have struggled most of the season, had won four in a row when they hit Seattle Monday night. Seattle hit right back. The surprising Mariners rallied for two runs in the seventh inning to knock off the Yankees 5-4 and move into third place in the American League West.

Orioles 8, Angels 5

The homers by Dempsey, Murray and Rayford helped McGregor boost his career mark against California to 12-2, including the final game of the 1979 AL Championship Series. He scattered 10 hits in 8 1/3 innings but held the Angels to one run until the ninth. Doug DeCinces, Reggie Jackson and Fred Lynn homered for the Angels.

Red Sox 4-3, Royals 3-4

Frank White Sox in three runs and scored twice for Kansas City in the nightcap, after Jim Rice's 11th-inning sacrifice fly gave Boston a 4-3 triumph in the opener in a battle between the AL division leaders. The split enabled the Royals to take a one-game lead over California in the AL West, while Boston's lead over Milwaukee in the

AL East was sliced to one-half game.

Brewers 10, White Sox 4
Robin Yount belted a two-run homer and Roy Howell hit a solo shot and three singles to lead Milwaukee over the stumbling White Sox, who committed three errors. Yount singled and scored in a three-run first inning and hit his 13th home run of the season in the second after Marshall Edwards singled.

A's 2, Indians 0

Dan Meyer hit a solo home run in the third inning and Mike Heath rapped a run-scoring single in the sixth to back the seventh-pitching of Tom Underwood and Dave Beard as Oakland handed Cleveland its fourth consecutive setback.

Twins 5, Tigers 3

Ken Hrbek hit his 17th homer and John Castino drove in a pair of runs with a double, backing the eight-hit pitching of Bobby Castillo and Ron Davis. The Tigers, who have lost 17 of their last 21 games, committed three errors that led to three unearned Minnesota runs.

Astros continue Pirates mastery, 6-4

National League

PITTSBURGH (AP) — The game started with a bang for the Pittsburgh Pirates. Make that two bangs.

Leadoff hitter Omar Moreno smacked a first-inning home run over the rightfield wall. Two pitches later, Johnny Ray hit a consecutive homer to right that gave Pittsburgh a 2-1 lead over pitcher Joe Niekro and the Houston Astros.

"I thought we were gonna go. You get a start like that and you figure things are going to fall into place," said Pirates Manager Chuck Tanner.

Yet Niekro knuckled down the rest of the way, and the Astros went on to beat Pittsburgh 6-4 Monday behind a pair of home runs by Jose Cruz and Phil Garner, who collected three RBIs each.

"You step back in a situation like that and say, 'It might be a bad day at the office,'" said Niekro, referring to the start of the game.

"But you have to be satisfied anytime you hold the Pirates to four runs in this park, especially when they're hot like they are now," added the Houston knuckle-baller, who climbed to 7-6 on a complete-game ninth-inning.

Atlanta 7, Cubs 5

Glenn Hubbard had a bad night. The Atlanta Braves' right fielder hit two homers and drove in five runs to lead Atlanta to a 7-5 victory over the Cubs.

Giants 3, Phillies 1

San Francisco's Bill Laskey, 7-5, silenced the Philadelphia Phillies with a three-hitter.

Milwaukee sets pace

The Milwaukee Brewers one day may well have their place in the record books alongside such outstanding power teams of baseball as the 1947 New York Giants, 1956 Cincinnati Reds and 1961 New York Yankees.

With 114 home runs in their first 77 games, the Brewers are a longshot challenge to the Yankees' mountainous major league record of 240 set in 1961. More realistically, they may very well become the second-best home run-hitting team in history.

Frank White Sox in three runs and scored twice for Kansas City in the nightcap, after Jim Rice's 11th-inning sacrifice fly gave Boston a 4-3 triumph in the opener in a battle between the AL division leaders. The split enabled the Royals to take a one-game lead over California in the AL West, while Boston's lead over Milwaukee in the

from the CARROLL RIGTER INSTITUTE

FORECAST FOR WEDNESDAY, JULY 7, 1982

GENERAL TENDENCIES: You have a great deal of ingenuity and resourcefulness now and you would be wise to use modern methods to help achieve your aims. Avoid acting in an unpredictable manner.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Ideal time to handle detailed work that is important to you. Don't do anything that could upset existing conditions.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Study your surroundings and make needed improvements. A new interest is appealing, but don't make any changes now.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Plan outside recreations that appeal to you and be more enthused about them. Do something thoughtful for family members.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) You have to be alert to put your affairs in proper order today. Exercise your best manners in dealing with others.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Study your monetary status well, and be sure not to invest more heavily than you can afford. Evening is fine for entertainment.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Some existing conditions could cause you to make radical changes, but this would be unwise. Take needed health treatments.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Instead of feeling frustrated over existing conditions, get busy and do the work that faces you. Be logical.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Show more consideration for associates and gain their backing for a very important project you have in mind.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Don't neglect to handle an important civic matter today. Avoid a temptation to spend more money than you can afford.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Study new projects that could increase your income in the days ahead. Don't lose your temper with anyone today.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Make sure you handle your responsibilities well at this time. Don't let others take unfair advantage of you.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Talk matters over with associates so you'll know exactly what is expected of you. Don't waste time on unimportant matters.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he or she could develop conflicting emotions, and it would be wise for you to teach how to distinguish one from another, otherwise your progeny could fall short of reaching goals. Give the best education you can afford.

"The Stars impel, they do not compel." What you make of your life is largely up to you!

There is still a small economic rainbow in Texas

HOUSTON (AP) — The gold of the Texas rainbow is tarnished by layoffs, a rising jobless rate in some areas and a mild slowing of growth. But unlike so many areas, there is still an economic rainbow.

By most measures the Texas economy still remains strong, healthy and perhaps poised for another surge forward, even as the economy for the nation as a whole continues to struggle.

"I think we're starting into a boom period," said a San Antonio economist. And in Houston an authority on business observed: "The outlook is exceedingly bright for the rest of the century."

Nevertheless, the state has taken some locally severe bumps, scrapes and bruises. The "oil patch" has been staggered by a severe cut-back in drilling, a decline in refinery capacity and a sharp reduction in demand for oil field equipment. Dozens of oil-related businesses have been cutting jobs, and more layoffs are predicted. Industry analysts say some companies may fold before the picture improves.

The Dallas-Fort Worth area was stunned by the failure of Braniff International. About 4,500 jobs were lost when the airline ceased operations on May 12.

Unemployment rates have risen slightly in a number of areas, and the tendency might worsen. Some analysts predict rates as high as 7 percent this summer in Houston and Dallas, the state's economic powerhouses. Yet Texas' rates are far below the national unemployment rate of 9.5 percent in June. Statewide, the Texas Employment Commission reported a jobless rate of 5.9 percent, up from 4.3 percent in the same period of 1981. Only four major labor markets — Amarillo, Austin, Odessa and McAllen-Pharr-Edinburg — showed improved job pictures for April.

Despite these problems, much optimism prevails. In some respects, current difficulties are viewed as mere bumps on a high-speed economic highway into the future. Economic forecasters seem to agree that Texas is the place to be no matter what the national economy does.

New Chrysler sales offices announced

DETROIT (AP) — Chrysler Corp. will seek to capitalize on sales opportunities in the "high potential" cities of New Orleans and Houston by opening new zone sales offices in those cities by the fall, the automaker said.

The new offices will stem from a restructuring of current offices in the area that "are a little farther away (from the dealerships) than we desire," Tom Pappert, vice president-sales, said in a recent statement.

The new Houston zone office will represent 78 dealerships in southern Texas, the No. 3 U.S. carmaker said.

The New Orleans office will represent 99 dealerships in Louisiana, southern Mississippi and Alabama, and the western half of the Florida panhandle, the company said.

Each will have about 35 executives and clerks who will act as liaisons between the corporation and dealerships.

Fire destroys works of art

DALLAS (AP) — Stunned artists cried on the sidewalk in front of the smoldering ruin of two galleries destroyed by a four-alarm fire that reduced their tapestries to ashes.

No one was injured in the blaze Monday that incinerated $250,000 worth of art and did $100,000 damage to a building that housed two galleries and a cocktail lounge, authorities said.

"I'm sick," said Eulens artist Cynthia Bohnenblust, 34, as she stared through the broken windows of the charred Rare Discoveries gallery. "What a loss."

She was one of 37 artists who showed up Monday to collect the works they had loaned the gallery for a show that closed Saturday.

Ms. Bohnenblust said she had worked three years on the tapestry destroyed by the fire.

"My two best pieces," cried Anne Dalton, 36, of Fort Worth, who said she lost her two favorite tapestries in the blaze.

PRESERVE YOUR CAR'S APPEARANCE
...Tidy Car of Big Spring can do the job right

Tidy Car provides 3 protective processes

Your car is one of your most important possessions, important enough that it deserves the best care possible, not only for the engine, but for the exterior.

Tidy Car car wash, located at 1501 Gregg is a facility designed to preserve your car's appearance forever.

TIDY CAR, locally operated by Ed Clark offers Preserve-A-Shine "total finish concept" to keep a showroom shine on your car.

The Preserve-A-Shine idea provides three protective processes: 1) protection for the outside of your car, to keep the paint job looking new and bright and to cut down on the need for waxing; 2) Upholstery Gard 2, to give your car's interior fabrics permanent protection from common stains and spills (this process is guaranteed in writing for as long as you own your car; and 3) A vinyl roof treatment that will keep your vinyl roof looking new for months. This treatment helps repel dirt, grime and pollution. It also protects vinyl and leather interiors.

TOGETHER these processes make up the Tidy Car promise — to make your car look like it just came off the showroom floor. Preserve-A-Shine will preserve the beauty of your automobile investment with a protective shield.
