Reappraisal confusion abounds Shaw:

By MIKE DOWNEY

Staff Writer Texas House Rep. Larry Don Shaw described irate taxpayers as "stampeding horses through the gate" during a meeting yesterday with Howard County commissioners who find themselves unable to ease expected tax hikes. Shaw met with commissioners at their regular meeting to offer his aid in coping with growing discontent with the recent reappraisal and its effects on taxes. Confusion as to what effects the reappraisal, made necessary by Senate Bill 621, would have on taxes was a primary concern in the county, Shaw said. "Nobody in the county understands what's going on. There should be some people out there with lowered taxes," Shaw said. "What I've assessed is nobody's (taxes) has gone down." Shaw urged commissioners, as elected officials, to find out what's happening locally with the reappraisal and what changes it might bring.

But the commissioners told Shaw how little control or knowledge they had on reappraisal or any subsequent actions. Commissioner William Crooker, who last month expressed confidence in lowering the tax rate to compensate for higher valuations, pointed to the appraisal as the culprit.

"The mechanics of the situation should be checked; the basic mechanics of the appraisal are not consistent," Crooker said.

'We are in the dark until we get a certified tax roll. It's a most frustrating time to be a commissioner; you feel sorry for people, but what can you tell them?"

A principal problem with the local reappraisal situation, Shaw said, was the lack of information available to anyone. "It is not right for homeowners and especially elected officials to not know what's going on,' Shaw said. "There are some questions nobody seems to have the answers

Even the office of Wayne Peveto, the author of Senate Bill 621, did not have all the answers. Shaw said Peveto's office was not aware how much business and oil was carrying the tax burden in counties, the representative said. The shift of the tax load to homeowners in Howard County was not completely understood by anyone, Shaw said.

Improper administration of Senate Bill 621 through the appraisal process was a matter Shaw expressed a desire to change. "What improvements can we make on the state level if it (Senate Bill 621) is not administered properly?" Shaw asked. The state representative said some positive good would come from the turmoil surrounding reappraisal in that tax laws would be changed.

Commissioner David Barr said mineral evaluations dropped $87 million in the county to $968 million, an estimate borne out by Tax Assessor-Collector Dorothy Moore. Local taxpayers would be paying an approximate $681 million this year, up $446 million from last year's $235 million. Moore stressed none of these figures were definite since changes in values would still be made by the appraisal office and the appraisal review board.

Barr determined a shift of tax burden from 1981 when 82 percent of the tax roll was mineral valuations and 18 percent local valuations to an estimated 1982 roll with 41 percent local and 59 percent mineral.

Shaw said the estimated tax rates (on notices of appraisal values) could go up since exemptions were not included yet. Despite most people's belief in fair and equal taxation, taxpayers would not sit still for more inequality. "People aren't going to put up with it," Shaw said. "A court decision brought us into (Senate Bill) 621 and it will probably take a court decision to get us out.'

Meanwhile in the basement offices of the appraisal district, local taxpayers continue to meet with appraisers and file protests for the appraisal review board. Ruth Mitchell of the appraisal office said 128 persons poured into the office to register for appraiser meetings Monday morning. Today's registration was running close to 100 also, Mrs. Mitchell said.

School bells to ring soon

By BOB CARPENTER Staff Writer

School bells soon will be ringing. Yes, it's that time of year for backto-school clothes, pencils and notebooks. And for students heading back to the classroom the area school districts have released information concerning registration for the coming year.

In the Big Spring Independent School District the registration dates and times are as follows:

ELEMENTARY STUDENTS GRADES 1-5 will register Wednesday through Friday of this week from 9-11:30 a.m. and 1-3:30 p.m. at their designated schools.

First grade students not attending a Texas public school kindergarten must present a birth certificate and immunization record. New students in grades 2-5 should bring any records from the last school attended (report cards, check-out sheets, etc.).

HEAD START students who did not attend Spring Roundup registration, will register at Lakeview Elementary School cafeteria, 1107 N.W. 7th, Wednesday through Friday, Aug. 11-13, from 9-11:30 a.m. and 1-3:30 p.m.

To be eligible for the Head Start Program, a child must qualify under income guidelines as specified by the National Head Start office and must not have reached his fifth birthday by Sept. 1, 1982, nor be younger than three years and three months on registration day. Parents enrolling children are required to bring the student's birth certificate and immunization record.

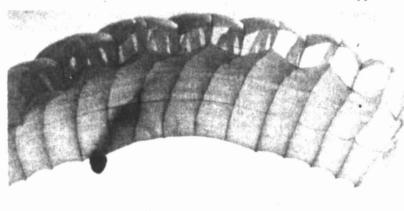

ALL DAY KINDERGARTEN students who did not attend Spring Roundup registration, also will register at Lakeview School Wednesday through Friday, Aug. 11-13, from 9-11:30 a.m. and 1-3:30 p.m. To be eligible for the all day program, a child must be five-years-old on or before Sept. 1, 1982, must qualifty under economic eligibility guidelines set by the state, and meet current immunization requirements.

When registering, parents must bring the student's birth certificate, immunization record and proof of income (W-2 forms, check stubs, etc.). Parents with questions concerning a student's eligibility requirements should call Dr. E.S. Morgan, principal at Lakeview Elementary School, 267-7542.

HALF DAY KINDERGARTEN students who did not attend Spring Roundup registration, will register at Kentwood and Marcy elementary schools Wednesday through Friday, Aug. 11-13, from 9-11:30 a.m. and 1-3:30 p.m. Eligibility requirements for half day students is the same as for all day students. Questions should be directed to Wendall Ware, Kentwood principal, 267-5338, or J.B. Cushing, Marcy principal, 267-6414.

GOLIAD students can register this week and next at the administration office between the hours of 8 a.m. and 4 p.m. School officials urge students to come in as soon as possible to avoid last-minute congestion.

Orientation for sixth-grade students and their parents will be Friday, Aug. 20 at 9 a.m. Orientation for the See Registration, page 2-A

Big Spring may be home for 10 Haitians

Staff Writer

The future of 10 Haitians still hangs in limbo, but they could be relocated in Big Spring within a week to ten days, according to the Rev. Guy

White is the pastor of the East Fourth Street Baptist Church and chairman of the Haitian committee of the Big Spring Ministerial Association

The association put in a request that 10 Haitians be allowed to be released to the Big Spring area. The ministerial association had tried to sponsor several of the 100 Haitians housed at the Big Spring Federal Prison Camp for seven months in 1981-82. and nine of the 10 would be part of the original 100. The tenth Haitian is the daughter of one of the nine.

The Haitians were requested for sponsorship "by name," said White. White said he had received "no update" from Church World Services, which acts as a liaison between sponsors and the Immigration and Naturalization Service.

A ruling by U.S. District Judge Eugene Spellman declaring the INS detention policy illegal because interested parties were not allowed to comment on the policy before it was put into use, was handed down June 18. Along with his ruling, the judge ordered the release of Haitians held around the country after proper sponsors were found.

"The (release) process is in the mill," said White. "We were told over a week ago that they were interviewing (the Haitians)

'We look for a reply or possibly to have them in the area within a week to 10 days," White said. He added that the association had already located jobs for the ten, but was still seeking a residence for living quarters.

"We hope to find someplace where they all can live together," he said. 'We'd like to put all ten in the same

According to the INS, the Haitians will remain with sponsors pending the government's review of their asylum claims. As part of the agreement, the sponsors must guarantee weekly appearances before authorities considering the asylum claims

"At least they'll be out of the camps," White said

Action reaction: 'Most decorated'

Q. Who was the most decorated man in the Vietnam conflict? A. The Army does not keep statistics on decorations for any comparison purposes, a spokesman in the Office of the Chief of Public Affairs in Washington, D.C. said. The major said there was no way to equate one medal with another. The Army did not feel comparison between persons getting one honor or several honors was possible in a fair manner, he said. "What criteria could you use?" the spokesman asked. "We don't keep 'most decorated' the same way we don't keep 'tallest,' 'shortest,'

Man who shot 6 dead had job problems

By CHARLES C. HILL

Associated Press Writer GRAND PRAIRIE, Texas - John Parish was upset about his pay and had been labeled a troublemaker at work, but police chief David Kunkle still wonders why the truck driver shot six people to death Monday in a rampage of terror at three places he worked. "I don't know what causes someone like Parish to do what he did." Kunkle said. "I don't think we'll ever know."

Five other people were injured before Parish, 46, ended his half-hour spree of violence by smashing a stolen 18-wheel truck into a police car and shooting it out with police. He was killed in a hail of gunfire as seven or eight bullets found their mark.

The Dallas man, an employee for the past two years at a trucking company called WTS Enterprises, fired his first shots about 8 a.m. at the operations warehouse of a WTS subsidiary, Western Transportation Systems. He shot and killed three men, including his boss, Eddie Eugene Ulrich, police said.

He then stole a bobtail truck and drove down the street to WTS headquarters in the same industrial park. There he shot three more people, wounding a receptionist and an operations manager and killing an executive secretary, police said. Parish next drove to another industrial park about four miles away and fatally shot two supervisors and wounded one at Jewel-T Discount Grocery Distribution Center, about two blocks from the police station in this suburb west of Dallas. Kunkle said. Jewel-T officials previously had used Parish as a driver but told WTS he was a troublemaker and asked that he not be assigned to Jewel-T jobs, Kunkle said. After the shooting at Jewel-T, Parish went to the parking lot and commandeered a truck from a driver who suffered a broken foot while fleeing. While firing at police in pursuit, Parish led police on a chase that stopped 11/2 miles away at a trucking terminal when he drove the stolen 18-wheeler head-on into a parked police car, knocking down a stop sign and utility pole as the truck overturned and slid, smashing into the terminal.

Officer Alan Patton, who was firing at Parish from behind his patrol car, was knocked 50 to 100 feet and his car was thrown 20 feet, Kunkle said. Parish crawled from the cab of the wrecked truck and into the truck terminal through a hole ripped into the building by the crash and kept firing at police, who responded with a hail of bullets that brought a close to the violence at 8:27 a.m., authorities

'It was like a Wild West show,' said Wayne Standefer, who owns Wayne's Custom Automotive across the street. They were shooting in every direction in the world.

Kunkle said Parish was armed with a shortened .30-caliber carbine rifle, a .25-caliber automatic pistol, and a .38caliber revolver. He had used all of them - the carbine and the .38 at the first, the carbine at the second and the .38 at the third, the police chief said. He said the .25-caliber pistol had been fired once, though he didn't know where, and the carbine had been fired about 28 times

"This was not a random shooting The man obviously had an agenda. He had a mission to accomplish," Kunkle said. "It appeared he was after supervisors.

Hinckley to stay in hospital

WASHINGTON (AP) - The trial over, the diagnosis done, doctors at St. Elizabeths Hospital will now work out a treatment program for John W. Hinckley Jr.

Hinckley was sent to the federally financed facility on June 21 after a jury found him innocent by reason of insanity on charges of shooting President Reagan and three other men.

On Monday, U.S. District Judge Barrington D. Parker ordered Hinckley committed to the facility indefinitely, meaning he will undergo treatment. Until now, he has been evaluated Parker, accepting the report of St. Elizabeths' doctors, found that Hinckley is "at the present time and will in the reasonable future be dangerous to himself or others. The St. Elizabeths report called Hinckley "an unpredictably dangerous person." Doctors said Hinckley suffers from four major personality disorders and major depression, which they said is in "partial remission.

Franklin already has been sentenced to four life sentences on state and federal convictions for the sniper slayings of two black men in Salt Lake City three months after Jordan was shot.

HILLSBORO, Texas (AP) - For the past three years, Delbert Pool and Burton Merrill have been friends. Often they would get together at Merrill's shack along the Nolan River to run trotlines, drink beer and holler at each other. Pool, 70, might reminisce about the house, saloon and dance hall he built beside Lake Whitney with his own hands more than 20 years ago. Merrill, 52, would want to talk some about his days as a hot-shot rodeo rider. Today, Merrill is in the Hill County Jail in Hillsboro, charged with three counts of murder after sheriff's deputies dug three skeletons and parts of a fourth out of an abandoned well near Merrill's campsite. The sheriff said it seems likely the victims were some of Merrill's drinking buddies.

"The idea scares me to death," Pool said Monday after Merrill was jailed on $150,000 bond - $50,000 on each count. "I couldn't picture him killing anybody.

"He was sitting right here — right where you're sitting now — four days ago," Pool told a reporter. "We were drinking a beer together. Burton Merrill has always been a friend to me. He helped me shingle my roof. He never acted like he wanted to come up against me."

A second man, picked up by Cleburne police, was questioned in connection with the case but Sheriff Brent Button said it is not likely he will be charged.

Merrill was well known around Hill and Johnson counties. Button said everybody considered him a harmless eccentric - a "character" - until his arrest late Saturday

"He's got a mattress," said Peace Justice R.F. "Skinner" Wallace, who set Merrill's bond Monday, "and in the summer he'll just lay it under a tree by the river and stay there. In the winter, he goes back upto his 'chicken house.' That's what people up there call it, anyway. He

Pool said Merrill had lived like a hermit for many years, camping out in the rough brush country near Lake Whitney, northwest of the tiny town of Blum.

"Money is no factor to him. It's just not important," Pool said. "If he had money he would just spend it on beer and snuff, and then he'd be broke again. He'd shoot his food - rabbits, squirrels, quail. He could live off of that and fish. He was a hermit.

Merrill looked the part at Monday's arraignment. His forearms were caked with dirt, his gray-flecked beard was untrimmed, his thick, black hair was uncombed and his old clothes were worn and dingy. He told Wallace he could not afford a lawyer and wanted the court to appoint one to represent him.

MOUNTAIN MAN CHARGED - Henry Merrill, 52, is shown as he was led from the Hill County Courthouse after arraignment on three counts of murder yesterday. Described as a "mountain man," Merrill is charged in connection with the skeletal remains found in a well over

But Pool, Wallace and Button say there was a time when Merrill cut quite a figure.

"They tell me he used to be one of the handsomest men in the state of Texas," the sheriff said.

"He was always neatly dressed and clean-cut," said the

9-year-old sues for Cracker Jack prize

CARMEL, Ind. (AP - Nine-year-old Wendy Potasnik takes her Cracker Jacks so seriously that she's suing the manufacturer for allegedly forgetting to put a prize inside her box of candy-coated popcorn

She filed suit in the small claims division of Hamilton County Court on Friday, asking the Cracker Jack Divison of Borden Inc. to pay court costs and furnish a toy.

"They advertise a free toy in each box. However, there was none in mine. I feel since I bought their product because of their claim, they broke a contract with me," Wendy wrote in her complaint.

"I was really mad when it happened but I was a little nervous when I went to court," said the brown-haired girl, who enters the fourth grade this fall.

'It's not my favorite candy, but sometimes I eat it. I've always gotten a toy before," she said. A hearing in the case has been scheduled for Aug. 30

Wendy says she will call her father and her 6-yearold sister, Robin, as witnesses.

Telephone calls Monday night to Borden Inc. corporate offices in Columbus, Ohio, and New York were not answered. The home number for Maurice O'Reilly. a company spokesman, was disconnected, according to a telephone company recording. No new telephone number was listed.

Rose Potasnik said that when she bought both her daughters boxes of Cracker Jack last month, Robin got a toy, but Wendy didn't. "At the time it was very upsetting to her," Mrs. Potasnik said. "She was so sad Wendy's father, Alan J. Potasnik, said he urged his daughter to sue several weeks after she mailed a complaint to the manufacturer and received no reply.

"One night Wendy was asking me what a lawyer does. I had a hard time explaining it," Potasnik, who is not a lawyer, said. "So when this came up I said, 'let's go to court and file suit ' 'I took her to the courthouse Friday and had her pick up the forms, fill them out and gave her a tour of the room where the trial might be held," he said.

Employees in the county clerk's office said the youngster could barely see over the counter when she filed the documents.

'She's to the point now where she's pretty interested in how the system works," Potasnik said. "It's a little

"Judaism is not a religion of vengeance, but we hope that these attacks will be repressed," the chief rabbi of Paris Alain Goldman, said at a memorial service Monday night for the six victims of the restaurant shooting

President Francois Mitterrand and Interior Minister Gaston Defferre attended the service, which was held at a synagogue near the restaurant. They were heckled by several hundred demonstrators, most of them apparently Jewish, who shouted "Mitterrand is a traitor" and denounced French media coverage of the Israeli invasion of Lebanon

The president, his face ashen, spoke briefly outside the synagogue.

"I have always been and am a friend of the Jewish community of France," said Mitterrand, who earlier this year became the first French president to visit Israel.

In the attack Monday, at least two terrorists sprayed a kosher butcher shop with automatic weapons, then burst into the crowded restaurant and opened fired. Two other men reportedly threw a grenade into the restaurant. The terrorists fired wildly at passersby as they ran down a side street and escaped in a white car. The targets of the three attacks during the week before were a Jewish-owned hardware store, a car owned by an Israeli Embassy employee and a bank that was Jewishowned before it was nationalized earlier this year.

Responsibility for those three attacks was claimed by Direct Action, a small French anarchist group.

Slow drilling recovery foreseen

HOUSTON (AP) — A brokerage firm specializing in the securities of oil and gas companies is predicting increased bankruptcies among energy companies because of slow recovery of drilling and drilling-related activity

A Rotan Mosle report said there would be no dramatic resurgence in drilling activity this year and warned "the frequency of bankruptcies is likely to increase.

The report also said the decline in the number of active drilling rigs will "bottom out" this month and gradually increase during the final four months of the year.

Hughes Tool Co., which compiles a weekly count of active oil and gas drilling rigs, reported that the total dropped to 2,656 last week, down 15 from the previous week and 1,450 below the total during the boom of 1981 The drilling decline was blamed on weak demand for oil, anemic prices caused by the sluggish international economy, disappointment with the results of the 1981 domestic drilling spree, and a shortage of capital from

Recovery, said the Rotan Mosle report, "may be very gradual unless there is a sudden upheaval in the Middle

Some drilling contractors have been charging rates at below cost "in order to keep their fleets operating at the highest possible levels," the report said.

Illegal alien ruling illogical

A recent Supreme Court decision involving illegal aliens has set new standards for judicial double-think

According to the court majority, it is unconstitutional for a state to deny free public schooling to the children of illegal aliens. Such denial, supposedly, flouts the equal protection of the laws and makes innocent children suffer for the misdeeds of their parents.

Followed to its conclusion, the implications of this view are staggering. If the children of illegal aliens are entitled to free public schooling, what about food stamps, Medicaid, AFDC and subsidized housing? Aren't nutrition and health care as important for children as schools - even more so?

This decision could be a virtual Magna Carta for free-loading by people who aren't even legally in this country.

We believe the United States should have a humane and sensible immigration policy, particularly when it comes to offering asylum to refugees from totalitarianism, but this is ridiculous.

We would suggest a different view of the matter from the court's: If the children of illegal aliens are enrolled in public schools, then the authorities must have some idea of who and where the parents are. Why not round them up and send them packing?

The Hobo

Please tell me where Have all the hobos gone to I see no fire burning Down at the rusty railroad track. Could it be

That time has gone and left them Tied up in life's eternal traveling

- John Prine

Have you ever stopped to let a train pass at a railroad crossing and wondered where the train was heading? Maybe, if the moon is full or the car lights are pointed right you could see someone in the boxcars. If you'd had a particularly bad day you may have wondered if there was room for just one more rider

Like the above song, those feelings make up a glamorous view of "hobos," the name given to those who look for life's fortunes from a broken down railway car.

There is a new breed of hobo now, thanks to the poor economic climate. An article in Newsweek makes mention of a "novice oilfield worker who hopped on a train at Big Spring)

But these people do not fit into our stereotype of the hobo. Many are college educated. I've heard stories of young, well-groomed men riding rails and writing poetry or reading James Joyce books

As you may expect, this new breed does not fit in with those who have, so to speak, made a career out of hoboing. According to the Newsweek article, this older breed either criticizes the new tenderfeet for getting in the way and for causing the rail yards to be policed more. Or they make fun of their inexperience (like climbing onto a moving train with a full backpack)

Most of the new breed of hobos are merely waiting for the next stop where they hope jobs will be found. But how did that way of life become so glamorous to those who merely want to see the world from a boxcar?

On a vacation last spring, I talked with a man who had ridden the rails for three weeks to, he claimed, experience the "hobo life." He did not seem to have fond memories of the trip and said that he had met with a lot of disfavor from some of the long-time travelers who held their part of the boxcar like it was a family estate.

But he met a 37-year-old rider remembered only as Mike, who had considered a boxcar his home since he was 18. He said Mike didn't ride the rails constantly — he got off the train at regular intervals and worked at odd jobs - but Mike kept saying he never found happiness anywhere except in traveling But the more this person got to know Mike, the more he doubted that happiness. He found only a longing for stability and a real bitterness for the fate that made him have to spend his life alone where he did not belong. Woody Guthrie rode the rails, but he had a talent and a strong ambition to go with it. Bob Dylan says he rode the rails, but if he did it was probably only because Woody Guthrie did. Somewhere there is an attraction for the lifestyle, the same sort that pulls young men toward a life at sea. despite the hardships and uncertainties. That is one of the funny and sad things about life - we find adventure and hope in a life that we know is full of lonely times and

U.S. can't catch Russia cheating

WASHINGTON President Reagan decided at a July 19 National Security Council meeting that he didn't want to resume talks with the Soviet Union and the British on a comprehensive nuclear testing ban. The talks were suspended in 1980.

Secret documents and intelligence sources disclose the appalling reason for the president's decision: U.S. experts do not at present have adequate means to catch the Soviets in violations of a test ban.

Eight years ago, the United States and the Soviet Union agreed to limit underground nuclear tests - and the only kind permitted - 150 kilotons, or roughly 10 times the size of the Hiroshima bomb. The Threshold Test Ban Treaty was never ratified by the United States, but the 150-kiloton limit was observed by both powers.

Then, in 1978, U.S. scientists, unsure of their measurement system. secretly changed their methods of calibrating a kiloton, in effect doubling the size of permitted test explosions. When the Soviets subsequently doubled the size of their blasts. intelligence experts alarmed; they suspected a leak to the Kremlin at the highest levels.

Even with the new measuring method, the Soviets appear to have exceeded the 150-kiloton limit at least 11 times since 1978. One test — in September 1980 - was clocked at a likely size of 350 kilotons, according to my sources.

Indeed, as recently as July 4, the Russians set off a huge nuclear blast. It was estimated at a likely 260 kilotons, or at least 110 over the limit.

President Reagan asked for the precise measurement of the Soviet explosion, so that he could lodge a vehement protest with the Kremlin. It was then that he learned such precision was impossible. A secret, highly technical Pentagon briefing disclosed that, in fact, the United States could not verify Soviet compliance with a test ban.

THERE WAS another, perhaps even more persuasive reason the president decided against a test ban treaty: U.S. scientists want to be able to test our nuclear weapons to make sure the stockpile is up to snuff.

A highly sensitive White House report shown to my associate Dale Van Atta states that the people in charge of U.S. nuclear weapons laboratories "insist that they must test up to approximately five kilotons in order to be able to verify performance of the weapons for stockpiling certification.

The report explains: "In the continued non-nuclear testing of weapons components, it turns out with some regularity that individual components fail or degrade. Even acceptable components may become unavailable as manufacturers shift product lines or go out of business.

This means that new components or different materials have to be used, and the resulting weapon may simply not work. As the secret report states:

"Developing weapons remains to a considerable extent an art rather than a science. Weapons designs which seem appropriate, based on computer models, fail to work as predicted when actually tested.

Without periodic tests, the scientists say, there's no way to be certain these mongrelized missiles will do what they're supposed to do.

In short, a test-ban treaty would leave the United States doubly in the dark - about the reliability of our own nuclear weapons and about any violations by the Soviet Union.

Hafer's research sources were admittedly one-sided - generally conservative publications, and once an unidentified "gas station attendant in Worcester." Yet he insists that the result is "no different from other campaign literature" except for its novel, cartoon format.

Kennedy's press secretary, Bob Shrum, obviously disagrees. "Some of this stuff is so low-down that it's creepy," he said. Beyond that, Shrum pointed out several inaccuracies and dictortions.

One misstatement he pointed out concerned abortion, which is LAPAC's single issue. The comic book says Kennedy "cast his vote for full federal funding of all abortions."
Shrum said: "This is ludicrous. No one has ever favored funding of abortions for the rich.

Kennedy's aide said the book also distorts or misstates the senator's stands on tax cuts, the Irish olican Army, the cru and Taiwan.

Hafter and LAPAC defend both the tone and the accuracy of the comic book. Hafter pointed out that he didn't include a reference to Kennedy's recent marital problems, because that would have been "a low blow." He did, however, devote four pages to Chappaquiddick (which he misspelled Hafter has completed at least one similar campaign comic book lambasting another senator. This one was commissioned by the National Conservative Political Action Committee. Hafer won't disclose which of several possibilities is the target of the second book; NCPAC dicrector Terry Dolan has forbidden his staff to talk to my office until I promise never again to refer to his right-wing extremist organization as a right-wing extremist organization. But Sens. Paul Sarbanes, D-Md., Robert Byrd, D-W. Va., and Lowell Weicker, R-Conn., are likely targets.

Our marriage seems empty now

DEAR DR. GRAHAM: Our children have all grown up and left our house and now our marriage seems so empty. What suggestions do you have for these "middle years"? - Mrs.

DEAR MRS. L.P.M.: I suspect this is actually a very common problem in many families. But with God's help you can not only survive these years but make them some of the most joyful you have ever known.

Let's try to analyze what has happened. For many years you have concentrated on your children — seeking to meet their needs, trying to help them learn what is right, spending time with them, and generally giving most of your time for their welfare. Now suddenly they are out on heir own — which is what you were preparing them for all these years. But now you feel that your sense of purpose is lost.

There are several suggestions I would make. First — like so many problems, if not all of them — this problem has a spiritual as well as a practical dimension. Think of these years as a time of adventure in which God wants to guide you into new things. God's love and concern for you is just as powerful as it has ever been, and he wants to accomplish some very definite things in your life right now So as a first step I urge you and your husband to pray that God will help you and show you what he wants to do in your lives. I think you should have a sense of excitement, because God "is able to do immeasurably more than all we ask or imagine" (Ephesians 3:20).

Then concentrate on rebuilding your relationship with each other. I suspect that when you first were married, before you had children, you had a very fulfilling and happy relationship. You can have that same quality of relationship, if you will take the time and energy for it. It will take effort, but it is worth it. And make Christ the center of your relationship.

Finally, pray that God will lead you to new ways you can serve him. You now have time that you have seldom before. You can use it self is or you can use it for serving others. Open your heart and mind to the possibilities God has for you in ser-

Commissioner protests appraisal

Dear Editor,

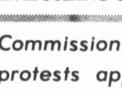

As an elected representative of the people and taxpayers of Howard County, I am concerned to find discrepancies between what I was told concerning what the reappraisal of property would do and what it has actually done.

I was led to believe that that tax rate could be reduced to the point where taxpayers would not have to pay any more tax this year than they did in 1981, but when I see that the value for tax purposes of many pieces of property has been increased as much as 300 percent and 400 percent, I find it improbable that the 1982 tax rate suggested by Chief Appraiser Pereira of 221/2 cents will serve to insure that no more revenue will be generated than in 1981.

farmers, ranchers and taxpayers of Howard County, but find it difficult to do so effectively when I am given erroneous information. I do not who is responsible for this, but believe the Tax Appraisal Board and Appraisal Office should answer to us. I intend to pursue this matter and find out why we were led to believe the tax rate could be reduced to the extent no one would suffer an increase, only to find the taxes have gone up on our homes and farms and that such a tax rate reduction is impossible

"Provided you wear socks. Son, please don't make this too difficult for me. I'm not very good at explaining the facts of life, but believe me, I've been telling you the truth." I urge everyone who received a reappraisal notice showing an in-crease in value and taxes to file a protest in the Appraisal Office and appeal to the Board of Review.

"Perhaps we've talked enough for one day. Tomorrow, I'd like to tell you about a thing called a razor." "Razor? That's a funny word."

Also, from what I have seen, there are quite a few unequal appraisals of like pieces of property with similar market values, and the many reductions and corrections being given by the Appraisal Office will both reduce the County's tax base and you'll get used to them. After a while you might even get to like them and keep them polished."
"You mean I have to polish them, further such inequities in the ap-

Cholesterol

Dear Dr. Donohue: What is the normal cholesterol count? I have two recent figures, one of 206, and six months later, of 183. I have read that a count of 250 is acceptable, and diet is not required. - M.C.

That question bedevils me. You want to know, first of all, what the average (normal) cholesterol count is. I would ask whether even an average count is the best count. I am not playing semantics with you, M.C. The average cholesterol level of Americans may not be the best possible one

But enough of this. You want numbers. I'll give them to you, but take them with a grain of salt. I mean a figurative grain of salt. Let's not add high blood pressure to a cholesterol problem.

The highest level that is still considered OK is 240. (A few say 300.) The best level is 200. But, in order to get rid of fatty buildup of cholesterol, the blood level has to get down to 150 or 180. I cannot give you any rationale behind such apparent absolutes. That's what I meant about the grain of salt.

Now, about yourself. Stick to your diet. We all eat too much cholesterol and saturated fats. It cannot do you any harm to avoid them as much as possible. And don't forget other factors. If you have heart disease or high blood pressure, you should stick to the diet even if you do get a couple of good cholesterol readings. Also, the level will rise when you go off the diet.

Your doctor placed you on the diet for good reasons Don't you think he should be the one to ask about liberalizing it just because of the fact that it has lowered your cholesterol level?

Dear Dr. Donohue: When I started having trouble with my knees my doctor took X-rays and told me I had arthritis. What did he see in the X-rays that told him it was arthritis? Should I keep trying to walk and exercise in spite of the pain caused by my arthritic knees? - G.E.W.

If it's rheumatoid arthritis, there are several X-ray clues. The tissues around joints are swollen. The bone Shows some calcium loss. The width of the joint space is less. Things look a bit crowded. With osteoarthritis, you don't see so much swelling, but there is some of the jointspace narrowing, and the joints may have little protrusions on them (osteophytes).

If you are having pain from your walking or exercising, you are overdoing things. You shouldn't overexercise an arthritic joint. You are only adding to the inflammation problem there when you do. For some arthritics, the only exercise possible is what we called "passive." That one else moves the joints for you and you indicate the point of pain, It's done very gently

But ves you do need some exercise. Very often, if you put warm compresses around the joint before exercise. that limbers it up and makes movement less painful. Heat also breaks up the muscle spasm that compounds the pain

To get a good start on an exercise program that will help without setting you back, I suggest you consult your doctor. He might be able to get you on a formal program with a therapist. Read the booklet "How You Can Control Arthritis." Other readers may order by writing me in care of the Big Spring Herald, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope and 50 cents. How are your teeth? You are eating a lot of sweets, the kind that can cling to your teeth and give you cavities. I am not going to answer this question again until 1984.

Although cholesterol has been implicated in heart attacks and other circulatory troubles, it is at the same time vital to human life. For a copy of his booklet, "Control Your Cholesterol Sensibly," write to Dr. Donohue in care of the Big Sp;ring Herald, P.O. Box 11210, Chicago, IL 60611, enclosing a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope and 50 cents.

Dr. Donohue welcomes reader mail but regrets that, due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible

Senator campaigns for word

DEAR ABBY: I am an Illinois state resent "wop.") senator. Regardless of how anyone else feels about homosexuality, it galls me that sexual deviates are called "gays."

The word "gay" means joyous, merry, happy and cheerful, as opposed to gloomy, melancholy, dejected or miserable. Therefore, to describe homosexuality as "gay" is a perversion in itself, and I respectfully request that you discontinue the use of the word in that context.

Instead of "gay," the word "queer" would be much more appropriate. "Queer" means to deviate from the normal or expected.

In my opinion, the truly "gay" people of the world are heterosexuals who have relations with persons of the opposite sex, Won't you join me in an effort to retrieve the word "gay" from ignominy? And if is unacceptable to describe deviates, then confine their definition to

'homosexuals NAME WITHHELD ON REQUEST

DEAR NAME WITHHELD: Few are aware of how homosexuals came to be known as "gays."

.For hundreds of years, women were not allowed to work in the theater, consequently all the roles were performed by males. In France, the men who played women's roles were known as "les gai."

That word crossed the English Channel and homosexuals used it as a code word to identify themselves.

.Most homosexuals find the label "queer' offensive, and only an ignorant, illmannered person would call another by a name that's insulting. (Blacks do not like to be called "niggers," Hispanics don't care for "spic," Jews dislike "kike," and Italians

When you, sir, are willing to have yourself

described in print and in introductions to your family, friends, strangers, etc., as "Heterosexual (Name Withheld)," then you may insist that gays be identified by the clinical 19th-century term, "homosexual."

.DEAR ABBY: A few years ago you had a letter in your column criticizing doctors who told their patients not to smoke while they themselves were puffing away. You also had some harsh words for fat doctors who could barely get their shirts buttoned while handing their patients the Mayo Clinic diet.

Well, according to Dr. Stephen Goldfinger, chairman of the Harvard Medical School Health Letter, doctors have changed. His survey, which was mailed to 1,013

Harvard clinical faculty members and drew a 60 percent response, disclosed that only 8 percent of the respondents smoked cigarettes, and nearly 40 percent had quit smoking entirely! (About 33 percent of the general public smokes.)

When asked if they felt that they were overweight by 10 pounds, only 29 percent of the doctors said yes!

DEAR KAREN: Thanks for the update; I feel better already. But I wonder what happened to the other 40 percent?

If you hate to write letters because you don't know what to say, send for Abby's complete booklet on letter-writing. Send $2 and a long, stamped (37 cents), selfaddressed envelope to Abby, Letter Booklet, P.O. Box 38923, Hollywood, CaLif. 90038.

Varsity fashion styles big for fall

NEW YORK, N.Y. campus this fall with the top Skirts for fall will also new looks on the junior fashion being updated, spirited translations of traditional varsity styles.

Everyone will be "carried away by school spirit" this year. Peppy designs that focus on both the classic clothes of the campus sports field and the traditional "Ivy League" looks will be sure winners during the back-toschool season.

The 1982 looks are bolder and more spirited than the preppy styles that have dominated fall fashions for the past few years. Color will be one key difference. Bright school colors like red, kelly, yellow, blue and crimson will be the ones to sport on every campus. And, the new style emphasis will be on athletically-inspired pieces that show a definite flair for an active and spirited lifestyle.

Varsity-influence skirts will score big points on campus in a variety of new options. Leading the team of skirts will be the classic cheerleader skirt. In styles that range from flared to pleated and even as culottes, these new minis will be the fashion item everyone will be cheering about. But,

NFL—Reese faces jail; how are the Raiders?

The National Football League is creeping closer to its first full week of preseason play, but it's still having trouble shaking player-related drug problems that surfaced earlier this summer.

Don Reese, the former New Orleans Saints defensive lineman, was told to report to a private detective twice a day by a Florida Circuit judge while awaiting an Aug. 31 hearing on charges that he violated his drug trafficking probation.

probation.

Reese, who gave the league's drug problems its greatest exposure, admitted his addiction to cocaine in a June 14 Sports Illustrated article. He is accused of possessing cocaine while serving time in the Dade County stockade, using the narcotic after his release and being present in places where illegal drugs were used.

Reese could face up to 29 years in prison if convicted of violating probation.

Ironically, Reese's probation ends today and he could not have been brought up on charges if the magazine article had been delayed two months.

Chuck Muncie, Reese's former teammate at New Orleans and a player Reese alleged used drugs with the Saints, began the second phase of a drug rehabilitation, the San Diego Chargers said Monday.

Muncie, the Chargers' top running back, told a news conference recently that he had undergone rehabilitation, helping him get rid of his dependency on drugs.

"We've been advised by the people counseling him (Muncie) that he should go through a second phase of rehabilitation and that's what he's doing," Chargers
Coach Don Coryell told newsmen Monday.

Muncie's agent said he would undergo three days of rehabilitation.

A full slate of action this week is kicked off Thursday when New Orleans visits Houston, while Cincinnati travels to Kansas City and Seattle is at home against St Louis Friday.

On Saturday, it's Buffalo at Dallas; Cleveland at Detroit; Denver at Los Angeles; Minnesota at Atlanta; the New York Jets at Green Bay; the New York Giants at Baltimore; the Raiders at San Francisco; Philadelphia at Tampa Bay; Pittsburgh vs. New England at Knoxville and Washington at Miami.

Chicago is at San Diego on Sunday.

In other news, U.S. Sen. Arlen Specter introduced legislation to prevent professional teams from leaving town unless "they cannot survive as a profitable business".

The bill deals with issues raised by the Raiders plans to move from Oakland to Los Angeles. It recognizes hometown fans' "proprietary interest" in their team, which should halt an owner's moving plans unless the franchise is failing financially, Specter said.

The Raiders left Oakland this year despite being heavily supported by the Oakland community.

Green Bay officials say they have made tentative reservations in both Oakland and Los Angeles for their Aug.29 exhibition against the Raiders. Tom Miller, the Packers assistant to the president for business, said: "We are just waiting for the word, like everybody else," as to which city to team will play in.

Atlanta running back William Andrews reported to camp, saying he missed his teammates too much and "the sweating part of it" in ending his eight-day holdout for an extension or renegotiation of his contract. The Falcons said Andrews, who will make approximately $250,000 this season, had been fined an undisclosed amount of money.

Nine players were released by the St. Louis Cardinals, including three veterans — wide receiver Ralph Clayton, defensive lineman Chris Combs and linebacker Doak Fields. The team's 11th-round draft choice, defensive end lames Williams of North Carolina A&T. also was cut Cincinnati's Matt Bahr has virtually sewed up the Bengals kicking duties for this season following the release of free-agent kickers Harry Oliver of Notre Dame and Stephen Steinke of Utah State.

The Philadelphia Eagles got their roster under 100, releasing five players including local punter Casey Murphy of Temple.

San Francisco 49ers wide receiver Renaldo Nehemiah's NFL debut may be postponed. The world record holder in the hurdles has just gotten over a minor injury and may not see action in the 49ers' game against the Raiders.

Houston Oiler

SAN ANGELO, Texas (AP) — Houston Oilers Coach Ed Biles cut free agent running back Norris Banks of Kansas Monday, reducing the Oiler roster to 76 players.

Monday's workout also marked the return of Oiler running back Earl Campbell to practice, after he recovered a collision with wide receiver Ken Burrough. Burrough suffered a broken bone in his leg and will be out two to five weeks.

The Oilers will open their preseason schedule in the Astrodome Thursday night against the New Orleans Saints, coached by former Oiler coach Bum Phillips.

Dallas Cowboys

THOUSAND OAKS, Calif. (AP) — Sixth-round draft choice Charles Daum, a defensive lineman from San Luis Obispo, Calif., was among 10 rookies waived Monday by the Dallas Cowboys at the team's training camp here.

Veteran guard Norm Wells reinjured his knee and returned to Dallas to be examined by the team doctor. Wells was on the injured reserve list last season, after being picked in the 12th round of the 1980 draft.

Vanderbilt guard Ken Hammond, picked in the sixth round this year, returned to Dallas with a fractured ankle. The other rookies released Monday were guard Steve Biale of Lafayette, Pa.; Oklahoma State linebacker Louis Blackwell; running back Greg Jones from Miami, Ohio; North Dakota State linebacker Todd Lecy; Arizona State defensive lineman Reynaldo Peru; Texas-Arlington wide receiver Gilbert Smith; Arizona punter Sergio Vega; Florida A&M cornerback Lewis Wilkerson and Arizona State cornerback Kendall Williams.

Baseball attendance is up

NEW YORK (AP) — Major league baseball attendance pushed past the 30 million mark over the weekend, according to figures released by Commissioner Bowie Kuhn.

Hey Braves, here comes LA!

By HAL BOCK AP Sports Writer

The nightmare began 10 terrible days ago for Atlanta and the town hasn't been shaken this much since Gen. William Tecumseh Sherman and the Union troops methmedically burned it to the ground 118 years ago during the Civil War.

The Braves' once-fat lead in the National League West is just about gone with the wind, to borrow a phrase, thanks to 10 losses in 11 games. That reverse string was constructed in large measure by consecutive four-game weekend sweeps by the Los Angeles Dodgers, the first in Atlanta and the second in LA.

What's more, Atlanta's August swoon has resuscitated pennant hopes in such diverse spots as San Diego, which has never ever won a flag, and San Francisco, which hasn't won one in more than a decade. Up and down the California coastline, the Braves are being welcomed with open arms these days.

The collapse started most unexpectedly. The Braves had just dispatched San Diego with a four-game sweep that ballooned a five-game lead to a nine-game bulge over the Padres, who seemed finished. The Dodgers, at that point, were meandering along, winning one, losing one, and making no particular progress.

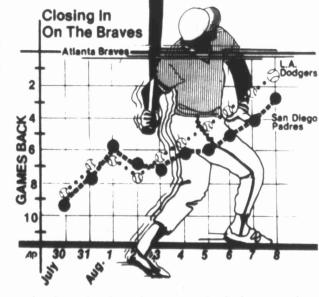

The sweep of the Padres in the first head-to-head crucial series of the season sent Atlanta into a premature case of pennant fever. The scoreboard fished an exuberant "We're World Serious," to celebrate. But Manger Joe Torre called a prompt half to that stuff. He has been through enough baseball summers to know that leads can melt awfully quickly in August, especially when the schedule has you playing consecutive four-game series against one of the teams on your trail.

Still and all, things were looking up as the Braves prepared to face the Dodgers. The fans were pouring in and in an effort to accommodate a few more of them, 250 seats were installed in the left field stands where Chief Noc-A-Homa, the team's mascot, had his teepee. The chief would simply have to do his cheer-leading

Well, Indian legend tells us that you don't mess with the tribe's ceremonial stomping ground. If you do, that's asking for trouble. And trouble is what the Braves got.

With Noc-A-Homa evicted and relegated to wandering the ball park, the Braves went into their tailspin against LA. They blew an 8-3 lead in the first game of a Friday twinight doubleheader, bowing 10-9 as Ken Landreaux hit a pair of home runs. The Dodgers were so encouraged by that win that they came right back to win the second game 8-2 on a six-hitter by Bob Welch. Ron Cey homered in each game and the 10 and one half-game lead was down to 8 and one half. LA won again on Saturday and Sunday, Dusty Baker homering in each game as the Dodgers cut the deficit to 6 and one half.

There was a momentary recovery last Monday when the Dodgers lost at Cincinnati while the Braves were winning in San Francisco. But Atlanta lost the next two to the Giants when LA was beating the Reds. That reduced the Braves' lead to 5 and one half with a four-game series in LA coming up.

The Dodgers won three straight one-run, extra-inning games and capped off the second straight sweep with a 2-0 victory on Sunday. And presto-chango, just like that, the Braves' leads was down to 1 and one half games.

August and September can be a terrible time for teams

August and September can be a terrible time for teams with pennant ambitions. See the Brooklyn Dodgers of 1951, who blew a 13 and one half-game lead in the final six weeks of the season, and the Boston Red Sox of 1978, who saw a 14-game bulge slip away over the last two months. These are the dog days of the season, when thin pitching can collapse and injuries can catch up with a team.

But before Atlanta panics, it must be pointed out that all this bad stuff has happened in the space of 10 days. Ten days from now, the Braves may have completely recovered. It is, remember, a long season with many peaks and valleys. Too often, we're anxious to know how it will all come out before it's over. That's why there is a tendency to over-emphasize winning and losing streaks.

Milwaukee Brewers' party line still is that they're thinking only one game at a time, but Manager Harvey Kuenn isn't above an occasional peek at the

And Kuenn was well aware that the Brewers' 9-1 victory over Texas Monday night — and Boston's 4-2 defeat by Toronto — gave them their biggest lead of the season in the American League East, 31/2 games over the second place Red Sox.

Third place Baltimore lost 9-5 to the Chicago White Sox and slipped to five games behind the Brewers.

The Brewers apparently have ended a mini-slump with six victories in their last eight games. A major reason has been the effectiveness of Mike Caldwell, who scattered six Texas hits Monday night for his third successive victory.

Caldwell, 10-10, with a better sinker than he has had in two or three years. has allowed only five earned runs in his last 34 innings and has dropped his earned run average from 4.85 on July

George Wright put Texas ahead 1-0 with his sixth homer in the third inning, snapping Caldwell's string of 18 successive shutout innings.

But the Brewers scored four runs in the fifth against Doc Medich, 7-11. Marshall Edwards singled with one out and took third on a hit-and-rur single by Jim Gantner, who finished with three hits and three runs scored.

Paul Molitor walked with two out to load the bases, and Robin Yount looped a two-run double to right field. Cecil Cooper was intentionally walked to re-load the bases, and Gorman Thomas punched a two-run single to

White Sox 9, Orioles 5

The long ball helped start the Baltimore Orioles' downfall, but what really did them in were a couple of short balls

The Orioles led Chicago 5-3 in the seventh inning when Greg Luzinski slammed a leadoff homer for the White Sox. When the White Sox finally stopped running around the bases, they had scored six times, helped by two misguided throws from Baltimore reliever Tim Stoddard on bunts, and defeated the Orioles 9-5.

After Luzinski's 425-foot home run chased Palmer, Steve Kemp and Carlton Fisk singled off Martinez, who then gave way to Stoddard. That's when the fun started.

Pinch hitter Chris Nyman bunted and Kemp and Fisk both scored when Stoddard threw wildly past third trying for a forceout, with Nyman taking second Vance I aw also hunted and Stoddard threw late to third in an effort to get Nyman, who scored when Aurelio Rodriguez grounded out

The White Sox then loaded the bases on walks to Rudy Law and Tony Bernazard and Harold Baines com pleted the six-run burst with a two-run single. Kevin Hickey earned the victory with 51-3 innings of scoreless Rance Mulliniks' leadoff home run tied the score 2-2 in the eighth inning. Loser Dennis Eckersley then issued one-out walks to Willie Upshaw and Hosken Powell and was replaced by Bob Stanley, who surrendered con-secutive RBI singles to Barry Bonnell and Lloyd Moseby. It was Boston's eighth setback in the last 11 games.

Royals 12, Indians 2

George Brett had four hits and Amos Otis collected two doubles and a single, driving in three runs and scoring three. Willie Aikens, Don Slaught and Hal McRae also had three hits apiece as the Royals punished two Cleveland pitchers for 20 hits, making Larry Gura, who went seven innings, an easy winner.

A's 9, Mariners 4

Davey Lopes drove in four runs and scored three, leading a 13-hit Oakland attack as the A's rolled to their fifth consecutive victory and handed Seattle its fifth straight loss. Lopes slammed a three-run homer in the second inning and also drove in a run in the sixth with a groundout. Dan Meyer and Jeff Burroughs also homered for the A's, who tagged loser Jim Beattie for six runs in 32-3 innings, although he recorded nine of his

Yu're dealt the same cards every time It just depends on what kind of hand the other guy has," said the 17year veteran after the Astros defeated the San Diego Padres, 4-3, Monday

Tonight, I was very lucky, continued Sutton, 11-8, who needed the help of relievers Bert Roberge and Dave Smith to nail down the victory.

The Astros got some home run punch from an unexpected source, catcher Alan Ashby, who belted two solo homers into the rightfield stands off starter John Montefusco, 9-7.

The blond backstop was making only his third start since injuring fingers on his right hand June 30, and the home runs gave him a total of seven for the year

It was the first victory of Houston's 12-game road trip after the Astros had dropped all five games at San Francisco

Sutton held the Padres to five hits before leaving with two out in the eighth holding a 4-1 lead. Gene Richards lead off with a single and a two-out walk to Sixto Lezcano put runners on first and second. Roberge came in to get Terry Kennedy on a sharp grounder to first to end the

But in the ninth Broderick Perkins greeted reliever Smith with a double and Luis Salazar singled in the third. Tim Flannery bounced to first for an out, but first baseman Ray Knight threw the ball away trying to get Perkins retreating back to third and a run scored.

Salazar, who had gone to third on the error, scored when pinch-hitter Kurt Bevacqua stroked a fly ball which centerfelder Tony Scott prevented from becoming an extra base hit with a fine running catch. Smith got Richards to ground out Ferguson Jenkins, 7-13, gained his first victory since July 9.

Phillies 4, Pirates 3

Pinch-hitter George Vukovich drove home two runs with a bases-loaded double in the eighth inning off ace reliever Kent Tekulve, enabling Philadelphia to edge Pittsburgh in the first game of a doubleheader.

Mike Easler drove in four runs with a two-run homer and a two-run single, as the Pirates rallied from a 5-0 deficit to take a 9-6 lead with two out in the eighth inning of the second game when it was suspended under a major league rule.

The Pirates had scored four runs in the top of the eighth when the game was halted by rain. The rule prohibits resumption of play following a rain delay past 12:45 a.m. The suspended game will begin prior to tonight's game between the two teams.

Cardinals 7, Mets 2

Willie McGee hit a two-out, basesloaded triple that fueled a four-run, fifth-inning rally and carried St. Louis over New York.

The inning erased a 2-1 Mets' lead and made a winner of Jeff Lahti, 3-2, who took over for Dave LaPoint in the fourth inning. LaPoint was charged with both New York runs in the fourth which gave the Mets their 2-1 lead. But the Cardinals came back in the fifth under a constant drizzle to score their gamewinning runs and chase right-hander Charlie Puleo, 8-9.

Where have all the heroes

Reggie Jackson is alive and well in alifornia after five turbulent years with the New York Yankees. Now, Bucky Dent, the popular shortstop whose dramatic three-run homer in Boston's Fenway Park in 1978 climaxed one of the greatest comeback in baseball history, has been banished to Texas. The Yankees sent Dent to Texas following Sunday's doubleheader with the Rangers, barely six hours after owner George Steinbrenner called a news conference to announce, "At only to Keith Hernandez's 62 this point, there is no trade

GENERAL TENDENCIES: New beginnings of all kinds are of interest to you now, but it's best to study them from all aspects before putting them in effect. Take positive steps to gain your goals. ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Make detailed plans to gain your most cherished aims in the future. Allow time to engage in creative activity.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Good day to be with a close adviser and plan exactly what you want to do. Ex-

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Your friends are busy with their own concerns, so don't rely on them today or

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) You know how to gain a desired goal, so stop wasting time. Don't gripe.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Set a greater goal for yourself

so that you can achieve more in the days ahead. Be sure

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Be more willing to listen to ideas of loved one who can be helpful now. Strive to be more efficient in your line of endeavor. LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Show more cooperation with associates and increase benefits. Engage in new ven-

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Make sure you finish work at hand before you go off to some new interest. Show SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Perfecting a talent you have is wise now. You are able to have a good time during spare hours with congenials today.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Contact allies who can give you the support you need in a new project. Han-

Cable TV discovers the arts

NEW YORK (AP) — "Arts programs on cable TV are mushrooming," says pianist Israela Margalit. "Cable seems to care about finding new ways of presenting culture. I think it's the most important thing to happen in this country culturally in a long time."

BACK TO HOLLYWOOD — Jerry Lewis is seen working

When Miss Margalit had an idea about presenting chamber music on TV, therefore, she took it to the head of ABC Cable Television. He bought it.

The Israel-born pianist, fluent in four languages, wrote the script. She also plays piano on the show, with seven other musicians, narrates in her charming, easy-tounderstand accent. She learned about creating mood with lighting and camera angles and continued to work on the project until the last day of editing.

'Beethoven," two half-hours which can be shown separately or together, will be shown first over ARTS, a service of Hearst-ABC, on Oct. 10. It is planned to be repeated six times after that. Miss Margalit has in mind 20 more composers, if "Beethoven" becomes the first of a

"Opera has become so much more popular in America because of successful TV presentation," Miss Margalit says. "I've been bothered for a long time about chamber music. It's the most difficult aspect of music to visualize. It doesn't have the natural drama of opera or the personality of a conductor and orchestra.

"I don't believe that you can simply make music on TV and everybody will enjoy it. That will appeal only to people who like music. I wanted a show where a person who doesn't know classical music will say, 'This guy Beethoven is interesting. This music is beautiful.' And I wanted a level also satisfactory to a music lover.

"I worked on the script for nine months. Lots of vignettes from Beethoven's life are presented, mainly by me and an actor, to humanize his character. It's not a lecture and it's not a slide show. It's a dramatization of the material in which text and music are interwoven.

"Nobody talks during the music. When I speak, you see me; that gives an intensity you don't get with voiceovers "I spent a long time researching, to get a fresh point of view. Beethoven has been done so much. I read lots of books unrelated to Beethoven, about the Age of Enlightenment, etc.

At a Los Angeles restaurant he took off his coat and did his impersonation of the fencing prowess of the late Douglas Fairbanks, Sr. As his friends watched, Ferrer leaped about as the famous silent screen actor did in his adventure films.

Suddenly, the plates on the restaurant's mantelpiece crashed to the floor. Fortunately, they were not as valuable as they looked.

20 ways to help hold down your electric bill.

A checklist to help you save energy and money at home.

Energy Conservation Practices

Electricity is costing more this summer mainly because the fuel to make it is costing more. The following low- or no-cost home conservation practices can help you save energy and money.

Do not use air conditioner unless absolutely necessary. Keep your thermostat set no lower than 80° in the summer. Use ceiling or oscillating fans to circulate the air. Check your air conditioner filters each month to see if they need cleaning or changing. And make sure that the outside unit is free of grass, leaves and trash. When leaving home, turn off air conditioning. If away for two days or more, turn off water heater.

If you have a dishwasher, set water heater to 140°; otherwise, set temperature to 120° or lower.

Use scrap insulation to plug air leaks in attic, around fireplace dampers and window air conditioners. Repair water leaks in pipes and faucets. and seal air duct leaks.

Use drapes, blinds, shades, awnings or plants to block sunlight. Try to minimize traffic through outside several dishes can be cooked in the oven at the same time. Bave when you do laundry. Wash and dry only full loads of clothes.

Economize in the kitchen. Plan meals so

Energy Conservation Measures

These home installations and modifications require an investment, but may return their cost to you in the form of savings on utility bills.

Caulk and weatherstrip around doors and windows to reduce air leaks. Add insulation to ceilings, walls and floors.

Insulate ducts, especially in the attic. Insulate hot water pipes in attic. Install insulation blankets on water heaters, especially in garage or basement.

Investigate cost-effectiveness of storm doors and windows Add solar-reflecting materials to doors and windows on east/west exposures. Install a clock thermostat to automatically set air conditioner and heating unit to desired temperature. Even when you're away from home, the clock thermostat can control your air conditioner for more economical operation. Investigate replacing your central air conditioner, especially if unit is more than five years old, with a new unit that has a Seasonal Energy Efficiency Rating (SEER) of at least 8.5.

Factors thwart jobless dip, despite any economic growth

NEW YORK (AP) - Even if the economy expands strongly, it might be more difficult than in prior recoveries to lower the jobless rate.

That discouraging assessment, shared by many economists and even by some government labor analysts, is contrary to the White House position that its policies will lead to long-term reductions in unemployment

The doubts arise for a variety of reasons, the most important of which appear to be automation, foreign competition, and a widespread recognition by employers that they must shave their operating costs.

The difficulties might also be compounded by a recovery that seems likely to be weak, even when measured by administration forecasts, which private sector economists generally regard as overly optimistic.

In July, the employment situation worsened. With the jobless rate rising to 9.8 percent of the civilian work force, analysts had to search back to the tailend of the Great Depression to find comparisons.

About 10.8 million individuals sought but failed to find jobs in July. Another 1.5 million were said to have stopped looking for work, and 5.5 million more were working parttime in the absence of full-time jobs

In previous recoveries since World War II, the gross national product expanded sharply in the first few months of recovery, sometimes at a 10 percent annual rate. Optimistic White House forecasts are half that.

Commerce Department analysts already have predicted that even when the automobile industry recovers, employment might be at lower levels than before the recession, and that part of the reason might be

Robert Dederick, Commerce Department assistant secretary for economic affairs, told a Senate subcommittee in January he expects the industry to have 200,000 fewer workers in the mid-1980s than in late 1978.

He blamed the situation on slower growth in the demand for cars, increased use of foreign-built parts, the switch to smaller cars and increased automation. Carmakers are depending heavily on the latter factor to reduce overall costs and remain competitive with imports.

The 200,000 figure used by Dederick almost coincides with the number of hourly workers on indefinite layoff from the five major automakers. Last week, 213,921 workers were listed in that category

Most economists agree that future productivity gains in manufacturing will rely heavily on greater use of automation, including robots, a situation that at least temporarily could mean fewer jobs

Robert Theobald, economist, futurist and adviser to corporations and municipal groups, says promises of more jobs are short-sighted and bound to fail, since they are based on outdated economic patterns. He reasons that noninflationary economic expansion such as President Reagan seeks, demands the use of automation. To promise jobs too, he says, is a contradiction and a promise that cannot be fulfilled.

Instead, he argues, the prosperous economy of the future should be anticipated now by studying the 'refiguring' of work patterns to include job-sharing. While maintaining a high level of production, he says, robots will free people for more education and recreation.

Cities, Gulf in suit after merger called off

TULSA, Okla. (AP) - Cities Service Co. filed a $3 billion lawsuit Monday against Gulf Oil Corp., claiming Gulf breached a contract "of a dimension unprecedented in the annals of American business" by calling off a $4.8 billion merger with Cities Service.

Cities Service, the nation's 20th largest oil company also said it was seeking a new merger partner and stood ready to buy back as many as 20 million of its own shares liquidating its assets if necessary to raise money — in order to protect its shareholders from losses.

The New York Times, in today's editions, quoted industry sources as saying the Allied Corp., originally a chemical company that now obtains three-fourths of its profits from oil, has approached Cities Service with an offer to buy it.

In Pittsburgh, Susan Breon, Gulf's public affairs representative, said the company had no immediate

The suit, filed in Tulsa District Court, alleged fraudulent conduct by Gulf in connection with the proposed merger, in which Gulf had offered to pay $63 a share for outstanding Cities Service common stock. Gulf made the offer in June as Cities Service was embroiled in a takeover fight with Mesa Petroleum Co. of Amarillo.

Reagan gets help on tax increase

WASHINGTON (AP) Veteran Reagan operative Lyn Nofziger, who brol with the president last we to oppose raising taxes, was back in harness Monday leading an effort to win congressional approval of the biggest tax increase in history "I was opposed to this thing, but they finally done explained it to me," Nofziger said in an interview

Nofziger's conversion provided President Reagan a bit of good news in his effort to put down a conservative rebellion against higher taxes. That rebellion, led by Rep. Jack Kemp, R-N.Y., threatens to scuttle the tax bill, a big part of Reagan's strategy for reducing interest rates. Reagan, who turned up few votes for the bill in armtwisting sessions with dozens of House Republicans last week, arranged sessions with 10 others Monday.

Meanwhile, a House Senate conference committee resumed work or writing a compromise version of the tax measure. which would raise taxes by about $99 billion over the next three years. Also attached to the bill is about $17 billion worth of spending mainly affecting Medicaid and Medicare programs. They met briefly, then adjourned to the White House for a discussion with tuition tax credits for parents who sent their children to private schools, a matter not directly related to the tax increase bill In three days of work last week the committee members reached few major decisions, chief among them approval of a 10 percent withholding tax on interest dividends. and unresolved are provisions raising taxes on cigarettes and telephone service; reducing the deduction for medical expenses; requiring stiffer penalties to enforce taxpayer compliance, and a host of changes that would take back about one-third of the business tax cuts enacted last year Because more than 80 Republicans in the House have joined Kemp in an effort to kill the tax bill. many political watchers are predicting the measure will die Democrats, who control the House, are not eager to bail Reagan out of this dilemma, especially when the price is voting for an election-year tax increase.

Re-enter Nofziger, veteran of 17 years with Reagan. According to a written White House statement, Nofziger will work as an unpaid consultant in charge of coordinating the administration's external relations in support of the measure. He will have offices in the White House and will serve until congressional action on the tax bill is completed.

"He indicated to me that he will do anything he can to get the tax bill passed," White House spokesman Larry Speakes told reporters in announcing Nofziger's appointment.

Nofziger, who quit as Reagan's political director earlier this year to return to private life, and former Reagan adviser Martin Anderson were called to the White House for a session with the president last week a day after they were identified publicly as among conservatives trying to kill the tax bill.
