Some tax protestors gaining adjustments

By MIKE DOWNEY

Staff Writer
The Howard County Appraisal Review Board continues today in its attempt to equalize county property values in relation to fair market value. The majority of persons appealing to the ARB have been receiving adjustments for their property values.

Board Chairman Jimmy Ray Smith said persons have been fairly prepared for their protests. However, persons should have "something definite in mind" when they appear before the ARB, board member J.M. Sterling said. Comments made by the ARB during its appeal hearings reflect concern about the appraisal as well as its effects on local taxpayers. "I'm interested in equal taxation," Smith said at one point. "I want the same shake for everybody." Sterling responded to a taxpayer's comment about inconsistent appraisals by saying "We've seen some discrepancies that are a disgrace."

Some taxpayers are just seeking relief from what they view as inflated values on their homes. Mrs. Mae Currie of 2805 Crestline told the ARB her home was appraised at $102,950. When board member Gerald Harris asked if she had a figure in mind for the house, Mrs. Currie replied, "No, that's why I came to see you, to help me with this."

After examination of confidential sales records for the Crestline area, the board moved to adjust Mrs. Currie's value on her home to $94,405.

The implication and impact of the values on people's lives was best expressed by two different appeals. Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Leatherwood of 1723 Yale told the board they had been in their home since the late 1940's and the $70,665 value was too high.

As Appraiser Weldon Peeples, Chief Appraiser Gene Pereira and the board members entered into a discussion of "benchmark" homes, dollars per square foot and market data, Mr. Leatherwood could only shake his head and say "I don't understand all this. There ought to be a reasonable way to appraise it."

Unable to give the ARB a figure he felt was fair for his home, Leatherwood accepted the board's compromise decision of $52,000 with an unsure "That's OK."

Maurice Griffith of 2503 Ann said his home was worth $45,000, not the $70,455 or the adjusted $54,039. "What it's worth and what it'll bring are two different things," Griffith said. He told the board he thought the appraisers made an honest attempt, but the value wasn't right. "My wife and I are just learning how to live on retirement," Griffith said as he asked about the tax rate that would be applied to his home's value.

While many taxpayers have attacked the appraisal office for the fair market valuations placed on homes, Appraiser Peeples had this reply for one such comment: "We obey the law. People wanted us to break the law, but we obeyed the law."

Taiwan arms sales cut

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Reagan, yielding to demands from China, announced today that the United States will limit future arms sales to Taiwan. But the administration rejected Chinese demands that a date be set for the imposition of the limitations.

imposition of the limitations.

The agreement was in the form of a joint U.S.-China communique.

In a written statement, Reagan said the agreement "embodies a mutually satisfactory means of dealing with the historical question of U.S. arms sales to Taiwan," which was not a party to today's statement.

Reagan said "The Taiwan question is a matter for the Chinese people ... to resolve. We will not interfere in this matter ..."

The president said the agreement would promote "the further development of friendly relations between the governments and the peoples of the United States and China," while contributing to a reduction of tensions "and to lasting peace in the Asia-Pacific region."

Reagan said arms sales now planned to Taiwan will continue in accordance with the Taiwan Relations Act "and with the full expectation that the approach of the Chinese government to the resolution of the Taiwan issue will continue to be peaceful."

Indeed, the administration planned to try to soften the blow to dismayed conservatives and to the Taiwanese by submitting formal notification to Congress later this week of its intention to permit Taiwan to coproduce American F5-E jet fighters

But the communique said that the U.S. government "does not seek to carry out a long-term policy of arms sales to Taiwan, that its arms sales to Taiwan will not exceed, either in qualitative or in quantitative terms, the level of those supplied in recent years since the establishment of diplomatic relations between the United States and China and that it intends to reduce gradually its sales of arms to Taiwan, leading over a period of time to a final resolution.

"In so stating," the communique continues, "the United States acknowledges China's consistent position regarding the thorough settlement of this issue."

But an administration official who requested anonymity said arms sales to Taiwan will not end "unless there is a peaceful resolution of the situation between the People's Republic of China and the people on Taiwan.

"There will be a gradual reduction only if the Chinese continue their peaceful approach," said the official.
"We believe this agreement preserves our principles eliminates a preserves our principles, eliminates a major obstacle in our relations with China and opens new opportunities for U.S. policy in Asia,'' he added.

"During the discussions with China, which were long and arduous, we refused steadfastly to set a termination date of arms sales."

Peking had threatened to downgrade diplomatic relations with Washington unless the United States agreed to eventually stop sending arms to Taiwan.

Richards says Bullock using state employees in campaign

AUSTIN (AP) — Republican Mike Richards said that Comptroller Bob Bullock is trying to use state employees in the general election race for comptroller.

"Hogwash," replied Democrat Bullock after Richards' Capitol news conference. "He's trying to run a race by tricks and deceit.

"When a fellow has no issues he has to holler about something," Bullock said.

Richards told the news conference that three staff members of the comptroller's office had used state time and money to work in the Democrat's campaign.

Richards said his information came from a series of telephone calls made to Bullock's office by Richards' campaign staff using fictitious names and identifications. He said he did not know of the telephone calls beforehand and did not give prior approval.

Richards also said he had an anonymous telephone call from a fourth Bullock staffer, a woman who was "coerced into taking vacation time to work on Bob Bullock's campaign."

"I have never told anyone on my state staff at anytime to do any politicking." Bullock said. "That's absolutely ridiculuous. A lot of people have volunteered to work in my campaign but I have not told them

Richards told the news conference that his campaign office learned on June 14 that Jim Aldrich, a programmer analyst in Bullock's office, 'was searching for political campaign computer programs. Aldrich was doing his research on state time from the comptroller's office and on a telephone which was paid for by the state of Texas.'

He said later telephone calls involved Rex Sandifer, Aldrich's superior, and Ron Andrews, another computer analyst.

Richards played a tape he said was a conversation with Andrews in the comptroller's office. The voice Richards identified as Andrews said Bullock was looking for "politically oriented (computer) packages and how people were using micro computers in the campaigns."

Rex Moses, Richards' campaign manager, said the call to Andrews was made by a Richards campaign staff member who identified herself as connected with a Houston computer firm.

Moses said the name of the firm used was fictitious and Andrews was not advised he was being taped.

Moses said the ordered the telephone

Moses said he ordered the telephone calls made to Bullock's office without Richards' advance notice or approval because he felt he had that authority as campaign manager.

as campaign manager.
"I guess we have the authority to call up anyone we want to and say we are anyone we want to," Moses told the news conference.

Richards said he was calling on Bullock and members of his staff involved to take polygraph tests.

involved to take polygraph tests.
"It is important that the taxpayers of Texas know just how much of their money has been improperly spent to aid Bob Bullock's campaign," he said.

Bullock said he bought a "home type" computer for his campaign office and no work is done on the state computer. He said Andrews worked in the campaign office earlier this year while on leave from the comptroller's office and may transfer back to the campaign office later.

Action Reaction: Hangings

Q. What states still use hanging as the method of execution for persons getting the death penalty?

A. States that execute by hanging are Delaware, Montana, New Hampshire, and Washington. According to the 1979 U.S. Bureau of Justice Statistics, 567 prisoners are under sentence of death. The figure has increased since then, however.

PLO exit plans may finalize Wednesday

By The Associated Press

With only one major issue unresolved, Lebanon's prime minister has told his nation he hopes to announce final agreement Wednesday on the plan for evacuation of Palestinian guerrillas and Syrian troops from west Beirut.

Israeli jets shattered the sound barrier over Beirut today, but Lebanese police said no bombs were dropped and the cease-fire remained intact

A U.S. task force sailed from Naples for Lebanon, carrying the 800 U.S. Marines who will be Washington's contribution to the multinational peacekeeping force that will help oversee the withdrawal.

"We're in the process of putting the final touches on the agreement. I can assure everyone that the gap has nearly vanished," Prime Minister Shafik Wazzan said in a broadcast Monday.

Monday.

He said he hoped the final agreement would be announced after his Cabinet meets Wednesday and that the evacuation would begin "at the end of the week at the latest."

Israeli officials said only one issue remained unresolved — their government's "non-negotiable" demand for the return of pilot Aharon Ahiaz, shot down shortly after the Israeli invasion June 6, and the remains of nine Israeli soldiers killed during Israel's 1978 invasion of Lebanon.

Spokesman Bassam Abu Sharif of the Palestine Liberation Organization said the PLO is ready to release the pilot and the nine bodies, but "this has to be done according to the Geneva Convention. This should mean that our prisoners also are treated according to the Geneva Convention and that some of our prisoners should be released in return."

Lebanon's state radio quoted Israeli Defense Minister Ariel Sharon as saying the Jewish state would not exchange PLO prisoners for Ahiaz, but did not elaborate.

Israel is holding about 7,000
Palestinians captured in southern Lebanon but classes them as terrorists subject to trial and punishment and not prisoners of war.

The intermediary with the Palestinians in the negotiations, former Lebanese Prime Minister Saeb Salam, said the PLO was "prepared to negotiate" the issue.

GUERRILLA ON THE GO — A Palestinian guerrilla fighter, loaded with grenades as well as his luggage, was photographed as he walked down a west Beirut street this morning. Negotiations were reported in the final stages concerning the PLO pull-out from Beirut.

Freed Haitians eye settlement in Texas

Coahoma graduates earn scholarships

The Permian Honor Scholarship Foundation has announced that two Coahoma High School graduates have received four-year scholarship grants which they can use while attending Permian Basin area community colleges and the University of Texas of the Permian Basin.

The honor students receiving the $1,600 grants and planning to attend Howard College and UTPB are Robin Kim Ethridge and Kristi Franklin.

The foundation also released a list of local college students who have qualified for "residual scholarship" grants. These grants are given out to students already enrolled in local community colleges who have demon strated their academic ability by making the honor rolls of their respective colleges

Big Springers receiving grants are: Kelli Bearden, Geneva Hamilton Carroll, Malinda Claxton, Norma Molina, Natalie Groebl Permenter, Irene Smith, Ralph Torres, Brenda Trevino and Melinda Vassar

The Permian Honor Scholarships are funded by Permian Basin businesses and professional people who wish to identify, recognize and encourage those students who are apt to benefit most from a college education and who wish to attend school in the Permian Basin

Local businesses participating in the fund are Citizens Federal Credit Union, Coahoma State Bank, Cosden Oil and Chemical and Security State Bank

Hightower calls relief a 'hoax'

AUSTIN (AP) - Jim Hightower, Democratic candidate for state agriculture commissioner, says the federal disaster relief program for West Texas farmers who lost crops to bad weather is a "cruel hoax

Hightower told reporters the program would result in payments of only about $60 million, instead of the $400 million initially announced by U.S. Secretary of Agriculture John Block. US Department of Agriculture officials in Dallas were not available for immediate comment today.

At a Capitol news conference, Hightower said the program is a "cruel hoax to play on farmers who were hurting desperately even before the bad weather hit, and this token payment is no better than tossing bread crumbs to a starving family

He said the USDA "quietly" revised its $400 million estimate for the program down to $200 million.

Two injured in crash

A car-truck collision in the early hours Sunday sent a Houston woman and her son to Malone-Hogan Hospital where they remain today in satisfactory condition

A vehicle driven by Vitthahbhai H. Patel and a truck driven by Virgil E. Blake of California were in collision on Interstate 20 at 2:30 a.m. Sunday, according to Department of Public Safety Trooper Dean Richardson.

Richardson said the collision drove the car's rear bumper "into the back seat." The "jaws of life," supplied by the Big Spring Fire Department, were used to free Mrs. Patel and her oldest son Hemate from the crushed vehicle, Richardson said. The pair were trapped for more than an hour, he said.

The truck driver, Blake, was cited for failure to control speed and required to put up a bond, Richardson said.

Senate to vote on alien bill: special budget session sought

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate is ready to vote on a historic immigration bill that would set fines and jail terms for employers who knowingly hire illegal aliens.

The Senate was scheduled to vote today on a series of relatively minor proposed amendments to the immigration measure and then is expected to pass it.

In the House meanwhile, frustrated backers of a proposed constitutional amendment to balance the federal budget say they may ask President Reagan to call a special session of Congress this fall to force action on the

That news came after supporters failed Monday to make an unofficial deadline for producing 218 signatures needed for a discharge petition to pry the measure from the House Judiciary Committee and send it to the House floor for a vote.

The Senate immigration bill, if enacted, would be the first comprehensive overhaul of American immigration law since 1952. A similar bill is also pending in the House. Both immigration measures have Reagan administration backing, although they differ from the president's proposals of a year ago. The Senate bill establishes fines of up to $2,000 for employers who knowingly hire illegal immigrants. Repeat offenders would be subject to jail terms of up to six months

Employers of four or more workers would be required to examine identification forms, such as a passport, a driver's license and Social Security card, to determine if an applicant is a legal resident.

House backers of the balanced budget amendment said their drive to collect signatures will continue. But under complex House rules governing such petition procedures, time may already have run out for them for the year.

Packwood, long an opponent of reversing a 1973 Supreme Court ruling legalizing most abortions, had three notebooks stacked on his Senate desk with additional material for continuing the debate indefinitely.

Sen. Jesse Helms, R-N.C., and other conservatives offered a watered-down version of the anti-abortion bill to make it more acceptable.

DETROIT (AP) - Poor sales of intermediate, compact and subcompact cars are forcing General Motors Corp. to lay off 9,100 autoworkers indefinitely, the carmaker says. The nation's No. 1 automaker, citing "current market conditions," also said Monday it would adjust its production schedules for 1983 models downward.

On Friday, GM reported car sales for the first 10 days of August were down 29.1 percent from the same period a year earlier. For the year, GM sales are down 11.8 percent

Storms due in Panhandle

By The Associated Press Thundershowers were forecast for southern sections of the state today and widely scattered thunderstorms were forecast to roam the Panhandle tonight.

Forecasters said the shower activity in southern sections of the state would likely be heaviest in Southeast Texas

It was to be clear to partly cloudy and hot statewide today. Highs were to be mostly in the upper 90s. Lows tonight will be in the 70s and 80s.

A few scattered thunderstorms were reported early today in the Panhandle. Skies were mostly clear

Early morning temperatures were mostly in the 70s. Extremes ranged from 65 at Marfa to 80 at San Antonio.

EXTENDED FORECAST

Partly cloudy with minor day-to-day temperature changes. Lows 60s in the mountains and north to the middle 70s in the extreme south. Highs will range from the 90s in the north to near 105 in the Big Bend.

WEST TEXAS FORECAST Widely scattered showers and thundersorms through Wednesday mainly north and at night, Highs 87 Panhandle to 104 Big Bend. Lows 58 mountains to 66 Panhandle to 72 extreme south. Highs Wednesday 89 Panhandle to near 100 Big Bend.

BORDER STATES FORECAST Oklahoma — Considerable cloudiness northeast and parity cloudy isewhere through tonight. Fair and warmer Wednesday, Highs 90s. ows tonight mild 60s northwest to low 70s south.

New Mexico — Partly cloudy with scattered showers and thun-derstorms through Wednesday. Locally heavy rainfall possible north central mountains and central highlands today. Highs 70s and low 80s mountains with 80s and 90s lower elevations. Lows upper 40s and 50s mountains and north with 60s and 70s elsewhere.

The layoffs will affect workers at the Leeds, Mo.; North Tarrytown, N.Y.; Framingham, Mass., and Lakewood Ga., plants, GM said. All the plants now are down for model changeover, said spokesman Don Postma.

About 2,000 workers at the Leeds plant will be laid off because the second shift at the facility, where Buick-Skyhawk and Oldsmobile Firenza models are built, will not be implemented when work on 1983 models begins Aug. 30, GM said in a statement.

About 2,000 will be laid off at North Tarrytown on Sept. 13 when the plant reopens to build 1983 Buick Skylark, Chevrolet Citation and Pontiac Phoenix cars, GM said.

about 3,400 will be laid off at Framingham when the plant, where Chevrolet Celebrity and Pontiac 6000 models are assembled, halts production Oct. 1 until further notice, GM said. It will operate from Aug. 25 to Oct. 1, GM

About 1,700 employees at Lakewood will be laid off indefinitely while the automaker delays startup of production of Chevrolet Chevette and Pontiac 1000 models, GM said. The 1983 model startup had been set for Ward's Automotive Reports says GM has large stockpiles of unsold 1982 models of the cars affected by the production adjustment. Ward's reported stockpiles of the Pontiac 6000 were at 253 days' supply, while the Firenza had a 218-day supply. A 60-day supply is normal.

All the cars affected also carry dealer incentives of $400

GM nad reported last week it had 125,000 U.S. autoworkers on indefinite layoff and 37,450 on temporary layoff, Industrywide, as of last week, 214,295 autoworkers were reported on indefinite layoff and 56,750 were listed on temporary layoff.

A second shift will be added in October to GMC Truck & Coach Division's Pontiac, Mich., plant to help produce the hot-selling small pickup trucks, GM said.

200 held hostage in Seychelles takeover

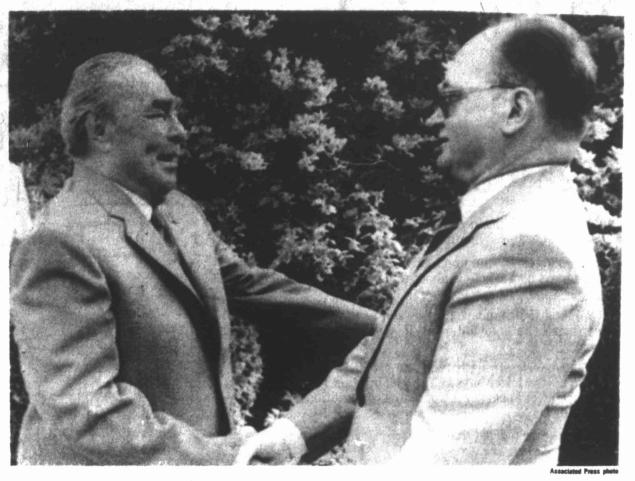

NAIROBI, Kenya (AP) — Disgruntled soldiers in the Sevchelles mutinied early today in a bid to oust some senior officers, apparently seized parts of the capital and threatened to kill 200 hostages, reports from the island nation said.

Reports reaching Nairobi from the Indian Ocean archipelago said the soldiers broadcast pledges of loyalty to Socialist President France Albert Rene but wanted certain officers dismissed. These officers were not

The British Broadcasting Corp., quoting the latest reports, said from London that the mutineers seized the government-owned Radio Seychelles, decreed a 24-hour curfew and declared they were holding the 200 hostages at gunpoint and would kill them if loyalist forces attacked. The broadcast did not further identify the captives or say where they were being held, the BBC said.

Diplomatic sources in Nairobi said there have been 'several military casualties" in downtown Victoria, the capital on the main island of Mahe, and there has been sporadic small-arms fire. They had no details on the WARSAW, Poland (AP) - Protesters restored a controversial floral cross in Warsaw's Victory Square today. and martial law chief Gen. Wojciech Jaruzelski returned home from a meeting with Soviet President Leonid I.

Authorities on Monday removed the cross, a popular memorial to the late Cardinal Stefan Wyszynski around which Warsaw residents have gathered by the hundreds to sing religious and nationalist hymns.

On Monday riot police moved in with tear gas when about 300 people defiantly sang a version of the Polish national anthem that praises Solidarity and proposes restoration of civil liberties.

Some of the protesters yelled, "Gestapo! Gestapo!" at Police crushed violent demonstrations on Friday in Warsaw, Gdansk, Wroclaw and Krakow. Government media on Monday warned against further antigovernment demonstrations, and the army newspaper Soldier of Freedom said

'Anyone who continues to plan to organize opposition activity, to dabble in conspiracy, or even to call for acts of terror or sabotage can be sure that no leniency will be shown to him.

Polish newspapers also gave front-page prominence to the Brezhnev-Jaruzelski meeting Monday. The army newspaper Zolnierz Wolnosci declared in bright red headlines. "The Polish-Soviet Fraternal Bond in All the Basic Fields of Life is Strengthening.

Jaruzelski returned a day after he left Warsaw for the Soviet leader's vacation retreat on the Black Sea. The meeting was the second between the two men since Jaruzelski imposed martial law and suspended the independent union Solidarity Dec. 13.

Jaruzelski, according to a communique carried by the official PAP news agency, told Brezhnev that "the process of emerging from the crisis is made more difficult by the counter-revolutionary underground whose activity is inspired and backed up from the outside, first of all from the United States

In invoking the "underground," Jaruzelski clearly was referring to Solidarity's clandestine activists, who have called for peaceful protests in the days leading to Aug. 31, when they have proposed nationwide demonstrations to mark the signing two years ago of a government-workers agreement permitting independent unions.

Study says Big Business didn't pay '81 U.S. taxes

WASHINGTON (AP) - Nearly one out of six of the nation's largest profitable companies - including one that earned more than $1 billion — paid no U.S. corporate taxes on 1981 profits, according to an independent tax study.

The annual study conducted by Tax Analysts, a non-profit research organization, found that the actual corporate tax rate for the 514 top firms that made money last year declined to 20.5 percent of earnings, down from 22.7

percent in 1980. At least 82 of the surveyed companies owed no U.S. corporate taxes last year because they were able to claim deductions and credits that more than offset their tax liabilities. As a result, the government wound up owing them money. In most cases, these firms paid state and local taxes in 1981. The company with the largest U.S. earnings and no corporate tax bill was Tenneco, which has major interests in oil and shipbuilding. The company had earnings of $1.017 billion last year, but claimed it was owed $43.7 million from the government.

Three other companies that owed no corporate taxes had earnings of more than $500 million. Dow Chemical reported earnings of $516 million, but claimed 't was owed $40.2 million. Union Pacific reported earnings of $594 million but said it was owed $25.6 million. CSX, a railroad company, had earnings of $523 million but said it was owed $41.3 million. Twenty-nine additional firms had earnings of between $100 million and $500 million and paid no federal taxes in 1981, according to the study.

Banks, railroads and paper companies were most successful in avoiding tax payments, in part due to business breaks provided by last year's tax cut, the study

Some firms did not report their U.S. profits separately from worldwide earnings, and thus, it was not possible to determine if they paid any U.S. corporate

The corporate tax rate is 46 percent of U.S. earnings, but nearly all companies pay something less than that because of deductions and credits, such as those granted for capital investments and equipment depreciation.

When a company's deductions and credits surpass its original tax bill, the result is known as a "negative" tax rate. However, the firm does not receive a tax refund from the government. Rather, it can apply the amount it is owed as a credit to offset future taxes.

However, proponents of a corporate tax system complain that the law already is too generous. They complain that negative tax rates are the equivalent of a government handout for corporations.

Apparently Herald editor Linda Adams' memory erred in her "Editor's Column" Sunday in recalling which day it was that the lawyers left a closed meeting of the school board. Her column stated that the lawyers left the closed session on Thursday, July 8. Actually, according to reporter Bob Carpenter, the lawyers left the room during executive session on Friday, July 9. Mrs. Adams apologizes for the misrecollection.

Average Billing can help smooth out high summer electric bills.

Electricity is costing more this year mainly because the fuels to make it cost more.

Our Average Billing Plan can help, because it "averages out" your electric bills. You still pay for all the electricity you use, and your payments will still vary from month to month. But in high-use months you pay for less electricity than you use, and in low-use months you pay for more than you use.

Many customers find this helps ease the impact of high summer air conditioning bills. Our average billing plan is available to both residential customers and churches.

If you'd like to know more, give us a call at Texas Electric.

A distinguished business newsletter has some encouraging news for the business community.

The Kiplinger Washington Letter, in its Aug. 6 release, states that business as a whole is about to begin a weak recovery.

"Notes this well, because it runs counter to pessimistic talk that making the rounds," the newsletter says. "Business certainly won't be buoyant, but it will be better...the total economy.'

The greatest strength will be near year end, before Christmas, the letter says. "The gloomy talk is overdone. We don't face a collapse, nor a worsening of conditions in the monorado It was a way of getting out of the city and into some country where you feel like there is actual life. It was also a little masochistic - a 50 to 75-mile hike over a week or two will leave you with blisters, a big welt on your waist from the hip strap, and more than likely a genuine loathing for your companions

And, being weird city folk, we would go out of our way to make things troublesome for ourselves. We would • Go to the campsites with the most

.UNFORTUNATLY, THAT is part of the past. I haven't backpacked in about four years, mainly because I've lost contact with the people I used to

But I think the whole backpacking lifestyle has changed, too. Today we have very serious backpackers. They use what are called "high-tech backpacks." What does that mean? Are they made in Japan? Do they use microchips? Or are they not really backpacks but little robots who hike along behind you and carry your stuff.

As I said, most of my backnacking experience came with Boy Scouts. who go way out of their way to avoid taking ANYTHING seriously. To join in the sport of real "high-tech" backpacking would mean a lot more money spent on fancy equipment, especially a new backpack each summer (all serious hikers must get the latest style in backpack before each season. It's the code of the hills)

I'm not sure I could convert. My backpack is about eight years old and very low-tech. The bottom of one of the side pockets is worn out so that if you pack a flashlight it will fall through into the pocket below. That arrangement is good for carrying tent

But it's mine and it's what I used to use to "get away from it all." I'm sure that hiking in the mountains means a lot more to city-raised people than to those from the hills. They get sick of all the stupid mountains and dream of coming to the city for a little hectic

Learn to stop worrying

One of the things that an Air Force general said at a recent press conference was that Americans seem to have a phobia about nuclear weapons This struck home because I have to admit I've had such a phobia for some time. But only after the general brought it up did I decide to do something about it. I went to see Dr. Adolph Strainedluff, a psychiatrist who specializes in nuclear weapon

"On the couch," he said. "Vat seems to be the trouble?"
"Doctor." I said, staring at the ceiling, "I have this fear of nuclear weapons. I know it's silly, but to me it's very real.

"Aha, very hinterasting. Ven did you first become aware of such a phobia?

"I think it was around the time of Hiroshima or Nagasaki, I'm not sure which. I saw these photos of all these people killed and miles and miles of rubble, and suddenly I got this thing about atomic weapons Dr. Strainedluff tapped on a pencil against his knee. "So tell me, how does this phobia manifest itself "In peculiar ways, Doctor. I get the feeling if I ever see a mushroom cloud. I'm going to die.

Very hinterasting, very hinterasting. You know it's all in the mind, don't you?

"Of course. That's why I came to you. I don't want to do anything stupid. Dr. Strainedluff said, "You are a very sick man. You think that just because an atomic bomb killed a few thousand people more than 20 years ago, you are threatened. You are manifesting infantile repressed hostility toward the weapons of war. In psychiatry we call this a militaryindustrial inferiority complex.

"I know I'm sick. You've got to help me, "I begged. "All right. First, you haff to get over this absurd fear of nuclear bombs. You must think of them as just another weapon in our vast defensive arsenal. Ve haff Bowie knives and H-Dr. Strainedluff started playing with the hand grenade which was attached to his watch fob. "If you're going to be a happy, normal human being." he shouted, "you're going to haff to stop with all these guilty peace

He was stomping around the room.

So get out of here with your lousy phobias and all this stuff about being afraid to die. If you're not villing to take a little fallout, go dig a hole in your backyard.

Billy Graham

Her husband is in prison

DEAR DR. GRAHAM: I became a Christian a few months ago after watching one of your telecasts. My husband is in prison, and I very much want to help him spiritually. How can I do this? - Mrs. B.S.W.

DEAR MRS. B.S.W.: There are several suggestions I would make and they would apply as well to others who are separated for one reason or another from loved ones and want to help them spiritually.

The most important thing you can do is pray for your husband. He is undoubtedly lonely and maybe even depressed, and he also is probably subject to many pressures he has never known before. But God can use these things to show him his need of Christ. Pray that God the Holy Spirit will give him a hunger for the truth about Christ and a desire to commit his life to him. Remember that the Bible promises, "The prayer of a righteous man is powerful and effective" (James 5:16). The Bible also says, "You will call, and the Lord will answer; you will cry for help, and he will say: Here am I' (Isaiah 58:9).

Then you will want to share with him what has happened to you, perhaps in a letter. In other letters you will want to make reference to what God is doing in your life, and how he is strengthening you during this difficult period. Certainly you want to let him know that you love him - and as part of that love you want him also to come to know Christ and his salvation.

Your pastor may be able to suggest some books that would be helpful to him (in addition to the Bible). He may find that he has a great deal of time on his hands. I frequently get letters from prisoners who have come to know Christ through reading a book I have written, or another book that explains the Gospel clearly and personally. Encourage him also to seek spiritual help through the prison

God bless you as you seek to share your faith with your husband. And may God also help you as you have added responsibilities in your family

Who gets PLO's equipment?

- One of the sticking points in the negotiations over moving international peacemaking troops into this battered bastion may well have been the technical question of who gets custody of the huge cache of military equipment the PLO is leaving behind.

I have seen some of the PLO's weapons in use here, and it's clear that the stuff is valuable. The age-old rules of war give the spoils to the victor. This may explain in part the

Israelis' reluctance to let the French, Italian and U.S. forces come between the conquerors and the booty

In fact, the Israelis are still smarting over the way the Pentagon handled Soviet-made weapons that Israel captured in the 1973 war and turned over to her U.S. ally for study. As much as 75 percent of the weapons Israel captured from Egypt was shipped to the Pentagon. After studying the stuff for several years.

my sources tell me, the United States refused to share its final ultra-secret findings with the Israelis.

One thing is certain: The amount and variety of PLO weapons captured even before the Israelis got to Beirut was staggering. With my associate Dale Van Atta, I examined some of the thousands of captured weapons collected at an Israeli army base not far from Haifa. Sources there told us the total haul may be worth $2 billion.

The biggest items were Soviet-made tanks captured from the Syrians. The Israelis collected 52 T-34s and 72 T-55s, which can be used for spare parts or recycled for the metal.

What was most impressive about the crippled Soviet tanks were the gaping holes cut in their inches-thick armor by the Israelis' new 105 millimeter anti-tank gun. The shells seem to have cut through the Russian armor like skewers through butter.

CONTRARY TO some reports, the Israelis did not capture any of the latest Soviet T-72 tanks, the kills were made in territory still controlled by the Syrians. The Israelis did manage to get a close-up look at one shattered T-72 however.

The variety of handguns, automatic and semi-automatic weapons the PLO used can be attested to by anyone who has careened wildly through West Beirut streets, hoping to avoid sniper fire, and seen the gun-toting guerrilla bands roaming there.

Among the more than 12,000 machine guns and submachine guns captured by Israeli troops before they got to Beirut were 700 brand-new U.S. M-16s still in their packing cases. Markings on the crates showed that the guns were originally shipped from the United States to Saudi Arabia. If the Saudis willingly allowed them to be diverted to the PLO, they — like the Israelis — will have some explaining to do about violation of their armssale agreement with the United States. The M-16s weren't the only unused small arms captured from the PLO arsenals. Many others, like late-model West German G-3 automatic factory grease. How they got to the PLO is anyone's guess.

ANOTHER CURIOUS collection in the Israelis' "war museum" captured weapons was a motley display of almost 35,000 rifles from practically every country that has ever made one. Half of them were Russian Kalishnikovs. Perhaps 4,000 were sporting guns, many of them intricately hand-tooled, possibly heirlooms "appropriated" by the PLO from their orignal Lebanese owners.

Also among the military loot were some 4,000 12-gauge shotguns — a weapon that has been outlawed for use in war by the Geneva Convention. One of the most curious military artifacts was a huge construction machine the Israelis nicknamed "The Mole." It was used to gouge holes about 18 feet in diameter in the side of a mountain. The Palestinians would then hide their artillery pieces in the manmade caves, safe from Israeli reconnaissance snoopers.

There was even a U.S. military vehicle that somehow had made its way to Lebanon from South Korea. Disposal of all this deadly booty may pose something of a problem for Israel. Obviously, the Israelis don't want to sell them on the open market, where terrorist gangs (or the PLO itself) could buy them.

A more likely choice would be to sell them to governments that want them as replacements for Soviet weapons they already have on hand. This would be a safer way for the Israelis to cash in on their military success and help to recoup some of the enormous cost of the Lebanese invasion.

Still another option is to use the material for units of the Israeli army This is possible because the quantity of certain captured weapons is so huge, along with the needed ammunition, that the Israelis could get along for years without need of resupply from the Soviet bloc.

The Israelis have already shown a certain knack for turning captured weapons back on the enemy. They have been pounding West Beirut regularly with captured PLO weapons, particularly Russian-mad Katyusha rockets.

Deregulating America Deregulation has been both good and bad

By CHRISTOPHER LINDSAY

AP Business Writer NEW YORK - Deregulation has swept the airline and trucking industries, opening the long-closed fields to new competitors, devastating some old-line companies and bringing mixed blessings to consumers.

Seventy-one brightly hued jetliners have huddled on the tarmac around Braniff International's terminal at Dallas-Fort Worth Airport since the nation's eighth-largest airline shut down in mid-May. Several other airlines are struggling, but 57 new interstate airlines have joined the 32 that were flying when the industry was deregulated in

So many trucking companies have gone out of business since the interstate marketplace was opened to new competitors in 1980, the American Trucking Association says it can only estimate the number at 144, with 50 or so more in financial difficulty. ways along with 18,000 established ones. At least five companies now offer discount long-distance phone services, pressuring American Telephone & Telegraph Co. to keep down its rates. But AT&T long used its long-distance revenue to subsidize the local units of the Bell System and is warning that charges for local phone service will have to go up.

AND NOT just phone rates have been affected.

Deregulation was pushed as a way to bring efficiency to industries long insulated from any kind of competition more rigorous than, say, who had the better movies or food among airlines. The result, advocates said, would be lower prices, and that has been true - for some.

Travelers along busy air routes, such as New York-Miami or New York-Los Angeles, have benefited from periodic fare wars as the airlines battle for shares of the lucrative business. But people on less-traveled routes have seen fares rise sharply

For example, the fare on the New York-Los Angeles run has been as low as $99, or 5.8 cents a mile, while a flight from San Antonio to West Palm Beach, Fla., is $212.50, or

The same is true for businesses that ship by truck. Rates have gone down on heavily traveled routes as new trucking lines challenge established firms for shares of the market, but rates are up on shipments involving out of the way places.

Many economists, though, say higher fuel costs would have brought higher transportation rates anyway. Alfred Kahn, President Jimmy Carter's chief exponent of deregulation as chairman of the Civil Aeronautics Board, contends the experiment "has been at least 90 percent a success.

Deregulation has brought new vigor into the system. new ideas, new techniques, says Kahn, now an economics professor at Cornell University. "In general, I think it's a healthy thing.

He acknowledges - and always did - that failures are inevitable. But he, and others, contend deregulation is only one factor in the collapse of such concerns as Braniff International Corp., and Spector Red Ball Inc., the nation's sixth-largest trucking line.

Two recessions in two years, skyrocketing fuel prices after the Iranian revolution and, in the case of the airlines, the air controllers strike have played major roles in the hard times that have befallen airlines and truckers. Deregulation never promised to make anyone recession proof," Kahn maintains. Edward Kiley of the American Trucking Association agrees the recession is a big factor, although he says deregulation has aggravated the situation, which has seen about a fourth of the 500,000 Teamsters in interstate trucking laid off in the last year. A trucker can cut its rates in half, Kiley says, "and Detroit won't build one more new car" to ship.

Richard Ferris, chairman of UAL Corp., the parent of United Airlines, and virtually alone among airline executives in supporting deregulation, says blaming deregulation for the airlines' problems "is like blaming the bartender for your hangover.'

Elizabeth Bailey, vice chairman of the CAB now and under Kahn, adds, "It is very sad, but it is inevitable that there will be bankruptcies in industries where there is a free enterprise system.

MORE CHANGE is to come. Banking may soon be unrecognizable from its traditional form as regulators dismantle barriers to who may offer what financial services where, and to whom. Pressures are being mounted to end the ban on interstate banking, savings and loans have won permission to sell stocks and bonds, and even Sears, Roebuck & Co. is offering financial services - not far from its tires and Rapid changes are occurring in broadcasting and other communications areas, too. The Federal Communications Commission, for example, has repealed regulations governing cable television and radio and freed private radio firms to build futuristic telephone paging and portable computer communication systems.

And AT&T was being allowed by the FCC to move into new fields even before it reached an agreement with the Justice Department in January allowing the world's largest company to break itself up so it can jump into the competitive fray. If the agreement goes into effect, AT&T will jettison its regulated local monopolies, leaving itself free to compete in any other venture that catches its

Thus, while new competitors are being allowed into the telephone business, that industry's leader will be permitted to use its financial and technological power to bring competition to new fields.

'You're going to see this in field after field,' Kahn says It is, he says, the "passing of the public utility concept the idea that major forces in the marketplace, transportation, communications and financial services, were so vital to the "public interest, convenience and necessity" that they must be protected both from each other and from their own greed.

REGULATION AROSE a century ago, to protect the public from excesses by powerful businesses and to keep competitors on an even footing. The Interstate Commerce Commission, for instance, was set up in 1887 to control the railroads, and when the internal combustion engine brought trucking, the ICC began overseeing that, too.

The agency determined which truckers could operate over what route, which types of goods a company could carry, and what rates could be charged. The Civil Aeronautics Board, established in the 1938, did the same and that brought problems.

Trucks, for instance, often traveled without full loads because not enough of the goods they were authorized to carry were available. At the same time, shipments of other types of goods were delayed because there were not enough trucks available with authority to carry them.

Experts also say regulated companies had little incentive to hold down labor costs because it was routine to get regulators to pass the costs along in higher, and

There also was little incentive for managements to find new ways to do things — or consider new ventures because they were barred from taking advantage of cheaper methods to undercut the competitition.

(hampions of deregulation contend such factors resulted in inefficient operations that cost consumers more than necessary. That argument won support in the late 1970s, and the federal government shifted momentum

The established businesses, protected from failure and competition for so long, found themselves under siege. New companies, typically low-cost, non-union, no-frills

Venous hum

Dear Dr. Donohue: My daughter is 5 years old. Recently her doctor said she had a venous hum. Could you comment? Will it go away by itself? I need to know .- I.V.

.A venous hum isn't really a murmur. It is a sound made by blood flowing through one of the large veins in or near the heart. It can sometimes be heard at the jugular vein, for example. It often means no trouble, just functional

A murmur is a sound that comes from the heart itself, and not all such murmurs mean trouble, either. There are the innocent murmurs, just little sounds that are peculiarities of any individual heart. Their presence does not automatically mean something is wrong. The doctor can advise you as to whether your child's venous hum is one of these harmless quirks.

Dear Dr. Donohue: Please discuss the pacemaker. Can one be sure how long the battery will last? Does a person have the option of not having it replaced when it needs removal for renewal?-Mrs. H.H.F.

A pacemaker battery should last form five to 13 years. You have to check with the manufacturer. You can never be sure just how long a pacemaker battery will last. It depends on the type of battery and what happens to the unit inside the body. Scar tissue may form sometimes and interfere with its function. Then the battery has to be replaced.

It's a free country. Anyone has the option of having a pacemaker replaced or not. Maybe I misinterpreted your question. Do you mean does a condition that warranted pacemaker implantation in the first place ever go away so that the pacemaker doesn't need replacement? The answer is no. At least that is not a common occurrence.

Usually, once the need for a pacemaker arises it remains for life. Let me make an important qualification. There are situations in which a pacemaker is used temporarily, as after a heart attack, when the heart rate slows. I don't think that's your situation.

Poem gives guidance

DEAR ABBY: I am a "young" lady of 91, and have been reading your column since it started.

I hope you will find it in your heart to print the enclosed poem. I have lived by its dictates for many years and hope it will do for others what it has done for me

MARY HELEN BOWLING, SAN DIEGO,

DEAR YOUNG LADY: The poem you sent happens to be the first poem I memorized! (I have yet to identify the author.) I will share it pleasure: MYSELF

I have to live with myself, and so I want to be fit for myself to know. I want to be able, as days go by,

Always to look myself straight in the I don't want to stand, with the setting

And hate myself for the things I've done

I want to go out with my head erect, I want to deserve all men's respect. For here in the struggle for fame and

I want to be able to like myself. I don't want to look at myself and know I'm a bluster, a bluff and an empty show I never can hide myself from me; I see what others may never see. I know what others may never know, I never can fool myself, and so, Whatever happens, I want to be Self-respecting and conscience-free.

DEAR ABBY: My wife and I are friendly with a couple who live 75 miles from us. Since their retirement, they have traveled a great deal and have taken

When these friends come to see us (or when we go to see them), there is never any conversation—the whole time is taken up with their pictures.

They came last Sunday, and we had just finished new landscaping around our home and hurriedly completed the job before they arrived so we could show them what we'd done, but there was no time because they started right in on their slides. We served a nice lunch, then they had to rush away to another engagement

Next month they want to come and bring the pictures they took of thier six-week vacation in Hawaii. We know we will be in for another three hours of viewing. What do we tell them? We hate to hurt their feelings, but enough is enough

Dollar up, gold down

LONDON (AP) - The dollar, boosted by international monetary worries, climbed close to a five-year high against the Japanese yen today and was stronger against European currencies.

Gold prices fell in quiet trading. In Tokyo, where banks close just as Europe's business day gets underway, the dollar rose 2.75 Yen to a closing 265.35. That was the dollar's highest level since Sept. 30, 1977. Later in London, the dollar declined slightly to 264.63 Yen.

Mexico's attempts to defend the peso, worries over Third World and East bloc debt repayments, and economic factors such as corporate insolvencies in West Germany contributed to demand for the dollar, dealers said.

Eurodollar interest rates rose slightly overnight, but traders said interest rates were no longer calling the tune on foreign exchanges. The recent drift in U.S. rates, orchestrated by the Federal Reserve, was seen as likely to nudge down European interest rates step-by-step.

Dollar rates in Europe today, compared with late Monday:

Turns down Occidental Petroleum

Cities Service seeks new offers

By ROBERT BURNS AP Business Writer

NEW YORK - Cities Service Co. has turnd down a $3.8 billion takeover proposal from Occidental Petroleum Corp. but says it will "vigorously" pursue offers from other com-panies interested in a buyout.

The directors of Cities Service, meeting in an emergency session in New York on Monday, unanimously rejected the Occidental Petroleum proposal. They said it fell short of their view of Cities Service's true value.

The directors said, however, that Cities Service management could discuss a revised bid from Occidental or a new bid from other companies interested in taking over Cities Service or buying segments of its business.

In a letter to Armand Hammer, the chairman of Occidental, Cities Service Chairman Charles Waidelich said the board had decided the proposal "would not meet the board's objective of maximizing value for the Cities Service shareholders." He gave no further reasons for

Occidental, the nation's 13th-largest oil concern with a penchant for acquisitions, made its offer to Cities Service in a letter last Friday and asked the Tulsa, Okla.-based energy concern to respond by Monday evening. Occidental spokesman Phillip Wallach in New York said the company had no immediate comment but was drafting a response to the Cities Service board action.

In the letter to Hammer, Waidelich said the board had authorized management to discuss with Occidental "possible bases upon which the proposal might be revised so as to offer Cities Service shareholders a transaction consistent with the view of the board and its advisors as to appropriate value.

Waidelich also said Cities Service planned to continue "vigorously pursuing possible transactions with other companies" that had expressed possible interest in buying Cities Service or a portion of its assets.

Last spring Mesa Petroleum Co. made a bid for control of Cities Service that fell to the wayside when Gulf Oil Corp. agreed in June to buy Cities Service for $63 a share, or about $4.8

billion in cash and securities. But Gulf withdrew its offer earlier this month after the Federal Trade Commission raised antitrust objections to the proposed merger. Occidental, which has no network of U.S. retail fuel outlets, is seen by analysts as a good match for Cities Service, which has a chain of 6,000

In buying Cities Service, Occidental also could bolster its currently meager domestic oil and gas reserves and reduce its reliance on foreign Nonetheless, Cities Service had made it clear earlier that it would consider offers other than Occidental's. No other suitors had publicly emerged, however.

Occidental's proposal was not an actual tender offer, although it has said it is prepared to start such an offer if Cities Service directors okaved

WASHINGTON (AP) The government's top antitrust attorney has joined the chaiman of the American Telephone & Telegraph Co. in predicting they can modify a mammoth settlement to satisfy a federal judge. "We got such a large fraction of what we were really seeking that I'd be terribly reluctant to do anything that was likely to jeopardize that," William F. Baxter, the assistant attorney general who heads the antitrust division, said

U.S. District Judge Harold H. Greene announced last week that he would approve the antitrust settlement between AT&T and the government as long as certain changes were made.

Baxter's comments follow similar statements made by AT&T Chairman Charles L Brown last week.

'I would find it hard to believe that we're not going to be able to surmount his final hurdle," Brown said then. Baxter's review of the settlement's status Monday followed his first face-to-face meeting with AT&T officials since the judge's ruling was released. Baxter said ad-ditional sessions with AT&T General Counsel Howard Trienens would be scheduled. Greene has given the two sides until Aug. 26 to signal their willingness to accept his conditions.

The judge's stipulations include leaving the Yellov Page directories with the System companies instead of AT&T; allowing the Bell companies to market new telephone equipment, and banning AT&T from creating its own electronic publishing service for a minimum seven years.

If those conditions are accepted, the judge said the settlement's provisions requiring AT&T to give up ownership of its 22 wholly owned Bell System companies will be approved.

Baxter singled out only one of Greene's conditions Monday as being "very troublesome." That is the proposal to allow the Bell companies to sell telephone equipment after they are spun off by AT&T.

The assistant attorney general said his concern was based on the possibility that the Bell companies might go right back to monopolizing independent markets ..

Baxter has consistently maintained the settlement he negotiated with AT&T last January is designed to isolate the company's monopoly over local phone service from businesses that are now or soon will be competitive, such as the sale of equipment and longdistance service.

Federal prosecutors argued last year during the trial of their 1974 antitrust suit that AT&T had used its control of local networks to freeze out would-be competitors trying to market equipment or long-distance service to local customers. The trial, which was being overseen by Greene, was recessed when the settlement was unveiled.

•Handclasps shake up owners

WASHINGTON (AP) — Handshaking and other "job actions" will be continued by the National Footbll League's players union if management does not attempt to negotiate a new collective bargaining agreement.

That was the word Monday from Ed Garvey, executive director of the NFL Players Association, who deemed last weekend's handshaking by opposing players before the exhibition games a huge success.

Handshaking displays continued Monday night as the Chicago Bears and San Diego Chargers met at midfield before the kickoff. The only player declining to do so was Chargers quarterback Dan Fouts.

Garvey said he hoped the owners got the message of solidarity by the union members and "will come to the bargaining table for meaningful negotiations. If they didn't, they will have to get another message.'

He said if the handshaking message did not get through to the owners, the players might have to take another action, such as halting practices at their training camps. Garvey said he intended to ask the NFL Management Council, the bargaining arm of the league, to schedule another negotiating session. He said he will again ask it to be at a site of one of the NFL's training camps "so that a member of the association's board of reps can attend the Jack Donlan, executive director of the council, has said management will meet with the union at any time, but either in Washington or New York.

Jim Miller, council spokesman, reiterated Donlan's comments. "If the same condition is on it (the union's request for a meeting), our answer is the same. We believe a meeting at a training site is a disruption on the team. We maintain that they are putting a condition on it, because they know we won't accept.'

As for the union's threat of continued job actions, Miller said, "We've been hearing that for three weeks. That is nothing new. As far as we getting the message, we are ready to negotiate. That is the message the union should

In a related development, the players association and Turner Broadcasting Systems, the Atlanta-based cable television company, are expected to announce this week probably Wednesday — an agreement to televise a series of All-Star games, pitting players from the East against those in the West, in the event there is a strike or management locks the players out of camp.

Garvey said the players will continue the handshakes at midfield before games next weekend. "We had virtually 100 percent participation (last week), expect for Denver, where we are in a transition period with the player rep.'

Garvey vetoes antitrust idea

WASHINGTON (AP) — The National Football League will have a player strike if legislation giving the NFL a limited antitrust exemption is enacted by Congress, says Ed Garvey, the player union's executive director. NFL Commissioner Pete Rozelle says he can't understand Garvey's reasoning. It was the latest difference in the continuing battle between NFL's management and the players association. Rozelle testified Monday before the Senate Judiciary Committee in favor of the legislation, sponsored chiefly by Sen. Dennis DeConcini, D-Ariz., which would authorize the professional sports leagues to decide that a member may not abandon communities in which clubs have been operating successfully.

The measure also provides for the member teams to share equally in television revenues, which is already done in the NFL but is being challenged in the courts, according to Rozelle

Rozelle also said the legislation "has no negative effect whatsover on player union or collective bargaining matters.

However, Garvey said, "If the bill is enacted, then the NFL does not have to deal with the players.

He said the NFL cannot now "unilaterally impose restrictions on the players, unless the union accepts them under collective bargaining. If this passes, they no longer will need a collective bargaining agreement. (If that happens), there definitely will be a strike.

Garvey told newsmen that the legislative history being developed at the hearing indicates that Congress, if it enacts the bill, considers the NFL a "joint venture" exempt from antitrust laws, even though it isn't spelled out specifically in the DeConcini measure, and thus could not be sued by the union.

Rozelle told newsmen "I can't grasp the reason for arvey's argument. I don't see how this legislation deals with collective bargaining.

He also said he believes, however, that Garvey is subservient to Gene Upshaw, president of the NFL Players Association, "who is on the Oakland Raiders, is the captain of the team and works for Davis (Raiders' owner Al Davis) in a shopping mall.

Garvey also said the NFL is using the issue of the Raiders moving to Los Angeles "as a smokescreen to gain an antitrust exemption over revenues for cable television. That's all they are doing.

"You'd have to be blind not to see that the NFL will be going to pay TV after 1986," he said, referring to the year the new five-year contract with the commercial networks expires. "That's what these hearings are all about exemption for revenue sharing in cable TV.

However, Rozelle told the committee that he hasn't given much thought about what would happen after the current contract expires.

'We would plan after the next fives years, depending on the technology available, of staying on regular TV with some cable, depending on what comes up in the future,'

On expansion, Rozelle said the NFL would plan to keep its present 28 member clubs, unless the Congress enacts the antitrust legislation. He also said no one has been promised an expansion club in exchange for a vote on the

'If someone can challenge our revenue sharing, I can't see how we can tell a new team that is going to get $11.8 million a year from television," he continued.

As for promising expansion franchises, Rozelle said, We have made no agreements. Phoenix, San Antonio have approached us ... Birmingham, Memphis, Indianapolis, Jacksonville, asking when can they expect expansion. We told them we can't plan an expansion during this period. No city, no state, no politician, not one person has been promised a franchise."

Foursome wins Chicano golf

Three teams won individually but Mrs. Jeanie Flores was the big winner the Chicano Golf Association benefit tournament Sunday at Comanche Trails Golf Course.

The foursome of Nick Rodriquez, Sam Reyna, Juan Montelongo and Gene Fletcher teamed to win the Louisiana Draw event but only in a playoff. Rodriguez's team and the team of Juan Ortega, Amador Gonzales, Ben Garcia, Sr., and Dickie DeLeon each shot 65s but the Rodriquez group took first on the second playoff hole. The group of Gilbert Reyna, Manuel Ramirez, Elbert Alvarez and Sukie Flores took third with a 66.

All three teams took home trophies while proceeds went to Mrs. Flores who is undergoing cancer treatment at the one-day event.

Donations to the tournament were made by McCutcheon Oil Company, Nat Nunez Carpet Service, Trini's Body Shop, Junior's Bopy Shop, Martinez Body Shop, La Vedera Club, Domiquez Brothers Texaco, Casa Blanca Restaurant, Super-Save, Jean Junction, Gene Fletcher, Jimmy Leal and DeLatin Quarter.

owners not keen on Kuhn

Let's just say, for the sake of argument, that you are Bowie Kuhn.

You're coming up for re-election as commissioner of baseball, and you'd really like to hold onto the job. It's the only one you've had for 14 years, but your contract expires

One catch. Four votes against you in the National League this Wednesday when the two leagues mark their ballots, and you're out. Already, three NL teams - New York, Houston and St. Louis - have lined up on the opposing side.

Now, for the hard part. Who, if anyone, might decide to make it a foursome? Who are your enemies?

First, let's eliminate the obvious. Philadelphia, Pittsburgh, Los Angeles, San Diego, San Francisco and Montreal all are on your side, more or less. They've either come out in support or at least not been critical. No sense worrying over them. Chicago Cubs chairman of the board Andrew J. McKenna says he's undecided, but we strongly suspect he'll come over when push comes to shove. That leaves Cincinnati and Atlanta

Could a possible fourth be William Williams, owner of the Cincinnati Reds? He was one of nine owners who signed a letter back in February warning that he could not support re-election. The Reds, going back to the days of Bob Howsam, never have been particularly friendly. Possible? Yes. Probable? No.

Williams has too many friends in the pro-Bowie camp, and he'll listen to them. It'll rankle some of the opposition, maybe even some of his own employees, but Williams will vote for Kuhn if he gets certain assurances

He wants a man in the commissioner's office - with power - who can handle the tricky business of cable television and other revenue-producing items. He'll get that. He wants the commissioner to be answerable to the owners, and he wants the owners to make most of baseball's major decisions. He'll get that too.

So, finally, we're down to Atlanta and owner Ted Tur-

Kuhn's trouble with Atlanta dates back to 1974 when he ordered Hank Aaron to play in the season-opening series against Cincinnati. Braves Manager Eddie Mathews wanted Aaron to sit out, making certain that he would hit historic homer No. 715 at home. Kuhn would hear none of it, and he started a tide of ill-feelings between him and the Braves that still may linger in some minds. Maybe

Then, in 1976, Kuhn fined Turner $10,000 and suspended him from baseball for one year for tampering with Gary Matthews of the San Francisco Giants.

That certainly must not have set too well with Turner. So, the scenario is set, but what really worries Kuhn and his backers is the man himself.

Turner, who so far won't tell anyone how he intends to vote, is volatile. Like uranium, he's a somewhat unstable element. He doesn't like Kuhn, and he's been known to hold a grudge. He's very difficult to persuade because he doesn't seem to respond to any of the normal stimuli. Yep. Ted Turner's got you worried. Put an 'X' by his name. If there's a foursome, he'll be the one.

Rice Owls finally wising up to opposition in tight SWC

HOUSTON (AP) - Rice Coach Ray Alborn had hoped that Clenzie Pierson would grow up before he finished his football eligibility with Alas, Pierson weighs in at only 260 pounds.

"Clenzie will weigh 280 some day, and it won't bother him at all," Alborn said. "I just wish it was going to be before he leaves Rice, but it gone unnoticed in a grouping of venetian blinds, spreading a mere 208 pounds over his 6-7 frame.

As a senior this year Pierson will need to throw his weight around for the Owl defense to show improvement. Pierson and his defensive line-mates represent the lone bright area on an otherwise depth-shy defense.

"I'm really worried about depth at

'I'm really worried about depth at fensive end, cornerback and ebacker,'' Alborn said.

Kyle Rice will join Pierson at defensive tackle with Chris Shoppa and Everitt Todd filling in graduation losses at the ends and Brad Bierstedt playing nose guard.

DeWayne Holmes and Donahue Walker will try to fill in at cornerback Alborn is much more upbeat about improving on last season's 4-7 finish when he discusses offense.

The Owls return quarterback Michael Calhoun, who tied a Southwest Conference record with 21 touchdown passes, along with a crop of sophomore running backs with talent and year's experience.

"I think we can run the option now," Alborn said. "Last year with only two quarterbacks, we had to be more selective about letting Calhoun run the football." With Doug Johnson, Philip Money and freshman Kerry Overton now available, Alborn hopes to unleash Calhoun to run. The Owls also have skilled receivers in Vince Courville, Ricky Askew and tight end Deron Miller. Courville, a world class sprinter, is small but not too small, Alborn says.

"If he can just kind of get his skinny body in front of someone and shield them he doesn't have to be a trained killer as a blocker, and with the speed he has, he can make something happen. Askew is 6-5 compared with Courville's 5-10. "He's not the burner that Courville is but he can catch the ball and he's got plenty of confidence," Alborn said. Tim Sanders and Kevin Trigg will open fall practice as the starting running baks.

Despite the improved offensive outlook, Alborn's thoughts keep returning to Pierson. "If those kids on the scout team don't come off the football at him and run the play the way it's sup-posed to be run, he gets right up against them," Alborn said. "And I'm talking about threatening their life. He wants to be ready to play and works religiously at the game."

Texas falls

ARLINGTON, Texas (AP) - The surging Chcago White Sox found Arlington Stadium a friendly place to start a 10-game road swing Monday night.

They pounded out 11 hits, including Harold Baines' two-run homer, to bounce the sagging Texas Rangers, 6-1.

The victory, coupled with Kansas City's doubleheader loss to New York, moved the White Sox to within a game and a half of the Royals, who led the American League Western Division before the night's play began.

American League

It was Chicago's 15th victory in the last 18 games.
Richard Dotson coasted to his seventh victory in 18 decisions, allowing 10 hits in eight and one-third innings.
Dennis Lamp mopped up in relief.
Rick Honeycutt, now 5-14, was the victim of Baines' two-run homer in the fourth inning and sacrifice fly in the sixth, all the offense the White Sox needed.

Texas' only run came in the fourth on a single, a fielder's choice, a passed ball and Bill Stein's single.

The left-handed Baines said, "I'm playing against lefties and righties. LaRussa said he would give me a chance to hit lefties. We had a lot of good right-handed bitters and that's why I was platered." hitters and that's why I was platooned."

Three weeks ago, he added, "I was in a slump. I was swinging at too many balls with men on base. I'm just trying to be more disciplined. Fortunately, I'm getting the hits in key situations." Yankees 2-4, Royals 0-3

Kansas City started its doubleheader with Blue and Black although the Royals ended it black and blue, thanks to the New York Yankees.

Lee Mazzilli, Lou Piniella and Dave Winfield hit home runs and four Yankee pitchers held the potent Kansas City offense to 10 hits as New York swept Monday night's twinight doubleheader 2-0 and 4-3.

The Yankees got superb starting performances from Dave Righetti and Rudy May, while Rich Gossage saved both games, his 24th and 25th of the season.

Angels 8, A's 4

Fred Lynn and Rob Wilfong hit homers and Tim Foli knocked in three runs as California moved back into first place in the AL West.

Geoff Zahn, 13-5, allowed eight hits over 71-3 innings to get the victory, while Dave Goltz earned his second save. Red Sox 9, Orioles 4

Reid Nichols' fielder's choice grounder broke a seventh-inning tie and Carney Lansford capped a four-run eighth inning with a three-run homer as Boston downed Baltimore for the third time in four games. Tigers 3, Mariners 1

Chet Lemon cracked a solo homer and scored another run and Jack Morris scattered eight hits as Detroit Morris, 14-11, struck out three and walked one in notching his 12th complete game of the season.

Blue Jays 2, Indians 1

Jim Gott and Joey McLaughlin combined on a fivehitter and pinch-runner Al Woods scored the winning run while teammate Damaso Garcia was caught in a rundown as Toronto knocked Cleveland into the cellar in the AL East. The Blue Jays have never been out of last place this late in a season during their six-year history.

Cincinnati outfielder Mike Vail lined an 11th-inning pinch single past Houston third baseman Ray Knight with the bases loaded to give the Reds a 3-2 victory over the Astros in the only National League game played Monday night.

Duane Walker, a rookie outfielder, was a one-man offense until Vail's gamewinning hit. Facing Nolan Ryan in the first inning, Walker swatted his third home run of the season. His next trip to the plate, he hit second base. Ter delivered Wallling with a single to center.

FORECAST FOR WEDNESDAY, AUG. 18, 1982

GENERAL TENDENCIES: The early part of the day is fine for deciding how you want to operate in the future. Make plans for the days ahead. Figure out what obstacles must be overcome.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Although you may want to start on a new project, something else turns up that requires your immediate attention.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) A silent associate suddenly gives the support you need. The planets are most favorable for getting ahead now.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) If you persevere with the work ahead of you, many fine benefits come your way. Be more encouraging to loved one.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Make plans to have increased income in the days ahead. Show your creativity to influential persons.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) You can gain many benefits now by applying yourself more in career matters. Sidestep one who has an eye on your assets.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Listen to what a good friend suggests today and avoid family confrontations. Den't waste time with strangers.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Any monetary matters you have in mind can be worked out to your advantage if you consult an expert for advice.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) You have fine ideas now and can make plans that will bring many benefits in the future. Keep busy at the practical. SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Be sure to complete any work left undone before taking on new work. This can be a fine day for you. CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) A dynamic friend can be of real help to you at this time. Discuss important business matters with an expert. AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Talk over with higherup how to put your talents across more successfully.

Maintain a cheerful manner. PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Follow advice of a financial expert and gain many benefits in the future. Be sure business affairs are running smoothly. IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY . . . he or she will be one who can benefit from unexpected turns of events and will not be interested in a humdrum existence, so prepare for a good education and success is bound to follow. Don't neglect religious training. "The Stars impel, they do not compel." What you make of your life is largely up to you!
