LENDING AN EAR — State Rep. Larry Don Shaw strains to hear a question at last meeting held at the Howard County Fair Barn concerning current property tax reappraisals going on in the county. A crowd of more than 600 people crowded into the facility in hopes of finding some answers about the appraisals. Rep. Shaw is flanked on the left by C.E. Gilstrap.

PETITION SIGNING — A Howard County taxpayer peruses a petition being passed around at last meeting concerning the current property tax reappraisals going on in the county. Two petitions made the rounds last night: one was asking the state Legislature to repeal the law establishing the new appraisals, and the other asks local taxing entities to "throw out" the values set by the tax appraisal district.

Taxpayers seek solutions

More than 600 Howard County taxpayers crowded into the muggy confines of the county fair barn last night hoping to ask questions and get action on their appraisal values and possible rising taxes.

While they probably didn't get many answers since few people had the opportunity to ask questions, taxpayers did take fledgling steps to fight reappraisal and taxes.

Eleven members were selected to a board of directors to aid citizens combat tax hikes. The organization the board will serve has yet to be formally titled. A petition drive was also launched to have the taxing entities throw out the reappraisal as unequal. More than 1,000 signatures have been collected as of Friday morning.

A second petition requesting the repeal of the Peveo Bill or Senate Bill 621 was also started. The Peveo Bill created the new State Property Tax Code and Board as well as the need for the appraisal districts and reappraisal.

Only a handful of persons addressed questions and grievances during the meeting. Organizer Cecil Gilstrap spoke to the crowd through much of the meeting which broke up as people drifted to the exits around 8:45 p.m. State Representative Larry Don Shaw was the only other speaker last night.

Gilstrap said the petitions needed 1,600 signatures to effect action from the taxing entities — the school districts, the cities and the county. "They (the entities) can throw this whole thing out if they want to," Gilstrap said in reference to the reappraisal. Gilstrap called for citizens to work together to "fight those turkeys."

He said the taxing entities would listen because "come election time, we can vote them out." Gilstrap said he was organizing similar efforts to repeal Senate Bill 621 and its reappraisal values in other counties. "We can throw this bill plumb out," he said.

Representative Shaw told the crowd politicians sometimes needed to be hit with a big stick like a unmoving old mule. "This is the biggest stick I've seen in Big Spring in a long time," Shaw said. Politicians respond to this kind of gathering, he added.

The worries over changing valuations and possible tax hikes was not limited to Howard County, Shaw said, since problems were occurring in other counties as well.

Shaw quashed a statement being made by his opponent for the 69th District seat in November that Shaw voted for Senate Bill 621. "I was out trying to make a living farming when the bill passed in 1979," Shaw said. He said he was not even a representative when the bill became law.

The representative expressed special concern for persons on fixed income and explained several exemptions available for people 65 and older. "If worse comes to worse, you won't have to pay your taxes," he said.

The persons nominated for a board of directors to aid taxpayers against tax boosts were placed on the board without a general vote, but without opposition. The board is as follows: Johnny Walker, Travis Floyd, Nacho Rodriguez, C.L. Richardson, Walker Bailey, Lisa Gilstrap, Red Hiltbrunner, James Fryar, Bob Madigan, Sonora Honey and Lanny Hamby. Hamby, who was not present, was chosen since he is an attorney.

U.S. troops to aid PLO evacuation

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Reagan said today he will send American troops to help evacuate PLO guerrillas from west Beirut. About 800 Marines are expected to begin playing what the president called a "carefully limited non-combatant role" by the middle of next week.

Reagan said the Americans would be removed immediately if shot at and told reporters that "in no case will our troops stay longer than 30 days."

The president, in a brief statement to reporters in the White House Rose Garden, said the withdrawal "will set the stage for the urgent international action required to restore Lebanon's full sovereignty, unity and territorial integrity, obtain the rapid withdrawal of all foreign forces from that country and help ensure the security of northern Israel."

He also called for swift action based on the Camp David peace accords "to resolve the Palestinian issue in all its aspects."

Sen. Charles R. Percy, R-Ill., chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, told reporters after a briefing from the president that there already "is an agreement for all the Israelis and all the Syrians to withdraw from Lebanon."

Percy did not elaborate and presidential spokesman Larry Speakes said the senator was referring to the upcoming second phase of the U.S.-led talks on Lebanon, which Speakes called "our next objective."

The Pentagon has disclosed that a five-ship Navy amphibious group, with 1,800 Marines on board, is assembling off the Lebanese coast.

Some 650 French and 500 Italian troops are also scheduled to participate in the evacuation, due to begin Saturday.

The first American troops are not expected to land until four or five days after the first PLO elements leave and most likely will be assigned to the beach area of Beirut.

The president praised the role of U.S. special Ambassador Philip C. Habib in negotiating the withdrawal agreement with the PLO, Israel, Lebanon and Syria.

"Phil never lost hope and, in the end, his spirit and determination

FBI fugitive arrested in C-City

COLORADO CITY (SC) — A man wanted in California by the F.B.I. for so-called "gangland-style executions" was arrested in Colorado City last night.

The man identified as Michael Terrence Rothwell a.k.a. Ed Norton, had been living in Big Spring for the past six months, law enforcement officials said. Authorities say Norton is wanted for murders that occurred about a year and a half ago in Sacramento, Calif.

C-City police acted on a tip from Big Spring officers and were on the look out for Norton who was riding with another man on a motorcycle. They were heading toward Lake Champion where they intended to camp, law enforcement officials said.

Officer Charles Goins stopped the pair at 10th and Hickory, where Norton was taken into custody. His companion was released without any charges.

Big Spring police Sgt. Roy Osborne said "an informant" who had seen Rothwell's wanted poster in the post office told the Howard County sheriff's deputies that Rothwell was in Big Spring.

Osborne said the sheriff's department asked for police assistance and "sure enough, it turned out we knew him. We had talked to him about some stuff before," Osborne said.

Three entities to mull P&A proposal

By MIKE DOWNEY
Staff Writer

Only three of the Howard County taxing entities are presently committed to presenting Pritchard & Abbott's resolution to revoke a decision of the tax appraisal board for consideration.

The Odessa appraisal firm lost the district's mineral evaluation contract to Capitol Appraisal Group, Inc. of Austin recently as a result of the Howard County Consolidated Tax Appraisal District board's decision. If a majority of the taxing entities pass resolutions disapproving of the board's decision, the decision is revoked according to the state property tax code.

Only the county commissioners, the city of Coahoma and the Coahoma Independent School District board plan to consider approving the resolution. Big Spring ISD, Forsan ISD and the Howard County Junior College District are not expected to consider the proposal. The cities of Big Spring and Forsan and the Howard County Water Control District could not be reached for comment.

HCCTAD board member Jack Watkins said the board had acted "in good faith and those who lost should accept this." Watkins said the board had the responsibility to take action on the low bid which was Capitol Appraisal in this instance.

HCJCD President Charles Hays said the resolution came to the junior college district's attention too late to be considered for its monthly meeting. "I feel confident it wouldn't make our board any difference. As long as they (Capitol) are competent, no problem," Hays said.

Capitol Appraisal Group President John Neely said from his Austin office yesterday he had not heard anything of the resolution. "As far as we're concerned, both parties acted in good faith and we're working on the assumption we have a contract," Neely said.

Commandos storm jetliner; lone hijacker shot, killed

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — Commandos stormed a hijacked Indian jetliner at the airport in northern Amritsar today and shot and killed at "point-blank range" the Sikh militant who commandeered the plane, an airline spokesman said.

The spokesman, Raman Khanna, said all passengers and crew were safe.

He said the "commando-type operation" began when the hijacker decided to release some of his remaining 67 hostages some seven hours after the Boeing 737 was seized and landed in Amritsar, 250 miles north of New Delhi.

Once the door of the plane was opened and passengers began filing down the steps, the "commandos" rushed in, Khanna said.

An ailing woman passenger identified as Parveen Sathe and her infant daughter Madhri were allowed to leave the plane about four hours earlier.

Meanwhile, the freed passengers and crew were being returned to New Delhi on a relief plane that had been flown to Amritsar earlier in the day, Khanna said.

The hijacker, who was demanding freedom for jailed comrades and ransom, claimed to have been armed with a pistol and a hand grenade.

The airline released a flight manifest which listed 10 people with non-Indian sounding names, but their nationalities could not be determined immediately since the hijacked plane was on a domestic flight.

Flight 492 reportedly circled Lahore, Pakistan, 36 miles west of the Indian border, for 1½ hours before turning back to land at Amritsar.

The hijacker gave his name as Museebad Singh and said he was a member of India's Sikh religious minority. Singh made several demands, including payment of the equivalent of $85,000 to be paid in West German marks. He also asked that Prime Minister Indira Gandhi come to Amritsar for negotiations.

His other demands included the installation of a radio transmitter at the Golden Temple, the holiest of Sikh shrines, and the release of various imprisoned Sikh militants, airline spokesmen said.

The Boeing 737 was on a flight from Bombay to New Delhi with 63 passengers and a crew of six, the airline said. The plane made a stop en route at Jodhpur, about 300 miles southwest of the capital.

PLO releases Israeli prisoners

TEL AVIV, Israel (AP) — Two Israeli prisoners held by the PLO were turned over to the Israeli army at Beirut's port today, Israel army radio said in a live broadcast from the scene. It gave no immediate further details, but said they were safe and well and would arrive by plane in Tel Aviv at 6 p.m.

Breaking into regular programming with the news bulletin, the army radio said some of coffins bearing the remains of soldiers killed before and during the Lebanon invasion also were transferred to the Israelis.

It said the coffins were being checked by military chaplains.

Israel demanded the return of the remains of nine soldiers it says are in the hands of the Palestine Liberation Organization, or whose burial place is known to the PLO.

The two Israeli captives are pilot Aharon Ahiaz, shot down on the first day of the war, and soldier Ron Haroush, abducted by guerrillas Wednesday from an observation post.

'Dr. Feelgood' runs for Senate

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — A controversial physician who lobbied against the Texas Medical Practices Act last year says he is running for the state Senate on the Libertarian Party ticket.

Dr. Ted Norris, 37, who has been called "Dr. Feelgood" by critics of his "holistic" approach to treating patients, said he has submitted petitions to run against Sen. Bob Vale, D-San Antonio, in the November general election. "I think the individual has to take responsibility for himself," Norris said Thursday. "Most doctors don't believe in the ability of the body to heal itself; they believe they heal them."

Norris practices vitamin therapy, nutrition, hypnosis, acupuncture and liberal medicine prescription at his San Antonio Health Clinic. He said he took off six months last year to lobby against the Medical Practices Act in the Texas Legislature.

Although his candidacy has not been certified, Norris said the Libertarian Party has submitted petitions to the secretary of state with 45,188 signatures, nearly twice the 23,900 he said was needed to place his name on the ballot. "I don't think there's any doubt that we'll get on the ballot," he said.

Norris said the "Dr. Feelgood" tag does not worry him. "It's never bothered me that much because I wouldn't work in controversial areas if I didn't expect to take the flak of that controversy," he said.

"I think people are aware that I'm not inordinately offended by the fact that they use 'Dr. Feelgood.' I suspect people have referred to me like that because I have such a controversial practice — nutritional approaches to cancer, home birth ... I genuinely believe people are responsible for their own health and the sooner we get that across to them the better."

Norris said he refers 10 times as many patients to chiropractors as he does to medical doctors.

He said he has served as a consultant to the National Broadcasting Co., to former President Gerald Ford and to the U.S. Senate Health Committee, and that he holds a doctor of philosophy degree in anatomy and a medical degree from the University of Texas. He said he trained in psychiatry at Wilford Hall Hospital at Lackland Air Force Base.

Police: Confession breaks 'perfect crime'

AUSTIN (AP) — No foul play was suspected when a University of Texas senior was found drowned in her apartment complex's swimming pool. Authorities, theorizing she tripped over a hose, ruled the death accidental.

But then came a confession from a man who says he killed that woman as well as the 11 Houston-area murder victims he already had claimed responsibility for, officials said.

"It would have been one of those perfect crimes," Travis County Medical Examiner Roberto Bayardo said of the drowning of Linda Tilley on Sept. 5, 1981. "There was no evidence."

After 28-year-old Coral Eugene Watts confessed Monday in Houston to killing Miss Tilley, Austin Homicide Lt. Robert Wisian closed the case.

"If we had found Watts the next day, we couldn't have proved murder," Wisian said.

Bayardo said he was sure the woman had tripped and fallen into the pool — until he learned of Watts' confession. Bayardo found abrasions on Tilley's face and neck, but said such injuries were not inconsistent with an accidental drowning.

The alcohol level in her blood, which an autopsy showed to be more than twice the legal limit for driving, bolstered his conclusion that she simply stumbled and fell into the water, Bayardo added.

"She was intoxicated, which would have caused the drowning to happen faster," Bayardo said. "It normally takes four minutes to drown, but when the person is intoxicated, it takes only one or two minutes."

Watts told police he held Miss Tilley underwater until she drowned.

Bayardo said he might have been suspicious if he had found scratch marks on Miss Tilley's face, or flesh or hair under her fingernails. She was fully clothed, and there was no evidence of sexual abuse, he said.

Wisian and Bayardo had discussed what could have been done differently in their investigation.

"I'm satisfied we did all we could," Wisian said. Bayardo said the Tilley case was his first reversal out of approximately 7,600 autopsies he has performed.

Flores fund set up

A fund for Jeannie Guzman Flores has been established at the First National Bank. Mrs. Flores, who is currently at 1007 N. Runnels, travels every month to a Houston hospital for cancer chemotherapy treatments.

Recent golf and washer tournaments donated proceeds to help defray the costs of Mrs. Flores' treatments. Anyone interested in donating to the fund should contact the bank.

HC graduates nurses

Howard College graduated 21 licensed vocational nurses from its nursing program last night. Chosen as outstanding students were Wanda Denson, Bobbie Gregory Sherry Meek and Sharon Phillips.

Others graduating were Jimmie Alexander, Leon Alfano, Virginia Collins, Ruth Corley, Olivia Kimble, Rosa Martinez, Judy Mauldin, Donna Noble, Sandra Richey, Linda Sargent, Jan Sevey, Amy Smith, Dawn Spears, Bonnie Walls, Helen White and Jean Williams.

The ceremony was held at the school's auditorium and Dr. Bruce Cox was featured speaker.

Reagan receives tax bill following narrow approval

WASHINGTON (AP) — The bill nobody wanted — a measure raising taxes by $9.3 billion over the next three years — is on its way to President Reagan after winning the support of a Congress that overcame election-year jitters.

The bill, which also includes $15.2 billion worth of social-spending cuts and up to 10 weeks' extra federal benefits for unemployed workers in every state, likely will be signed into law by Reagan during his two-week California vacation.

The Republican-controlled Senate approved the bill 52-47 Thursday night on a touch-and-go roll call whose outcome was in doubt until the last minute. Vice President George Bush was on hand in case his vote was needed to break a tie.

Nine Democrats, most of them lured by the extra unemployment benefits, joined 43 Republicans in backing the bill. Eleven Republicans and 36 Democrats opposed it.

In the House, where Democrats are in charge, the final margin was 226-207 — wider than had been expected. The measure drew support from 123 Democrats and 103 Republicans, but many of the conservative GOP members who are among the president's most consistent backers, deserted him on the vote.

The bill will double the federal cigarette tax to 16 cents a pack; triple the 1 percent tax on telephone service; require that 10 percent of most dividends and interest be withheld for taxes; reduce deductions for medical expenses and casualty losses; raise the 5 percent tax on air fares to 8 percent starting Sept. 1; toughen the "minimum tax" on high-income investors and, in an effort to catch some of the $98 billion in taxes that are evaded each year, require better reporting of income from tips, state tax refunds and investment income.

The president's first stop was in Phoenix to attend an afternoon memorial service for Nancy Reagan's father, Dr. Loyal Davis, who died at the age of 86 Thursday of congestive heart failure.

The Reagans planned to spend the night in Phoenix before continuing on Saturday to their mountaintop ranch near Santa Barbara, Calif., for the vacation they postponed while the tax hike bill approved by Congress Thursday night.

Developments in the Middle East seemed overshadowed at the White House Thursday by the drama on Capitol Hill over the $98.3 billion tax-increase bill that Reagan had pushed.

Reagan left the Oval Office and joined senior aides in an adjacent room to watch the final two minutes of the House vote on a television monitor.

Once victory was assured, said Speaker, "I think there was a scattering of applause and a handshake or two." He said everyone congratulated political operative Lyn Nofziger, the administration's chief arm-twister for the tax bill, and Kenneth Duberstein, assistant to the president for legislative affairs.

"This vote does not mark the end of the crusade to get our country's economy moving again but it is an important milestone," Reagan said, standing behind his desk in the Oval Office 25 minutes after the vote.

He had spent the day calling wavering lawmakers and urging their support during one-on-one meetings that climaxed an intense, two-week lobbying blitz in which he personally appealed to upwards of 200 congressmen for support.

The president thanked his backers "on behalf of the American people" and extended an olive branch to those who voted against him.

"Let's leave our differences behind us and all of us get on with the nation's business and economic recovery that will mean more jobs and more opportunity for all of our people," Reagan said.

Asked if he were glad the battle were over, Reagan sighed, "You bet."

Continued from page one carried the day," the president said. Reagan said he expected the terms of the agreement "to be carried out in good faith and in accordance with the established timetable. Violations by any party would imperil the plan and bring new bloodshed."

Inclusion of U.S. forces was "essential" to the success of the agreement, said the president.

"Our purpose will be to assist the Lebanese armed forces in carrying out their responsibility for ensuring the departure of PLO leaders, officers and combatants in Beirut from Lebanese territory under safe and orderly conditions," he added.

On Thursday, Lebanon formally asked the United States to help with the evacuation.

Reagan's statement followed a briefing with congressional leaders on U.S. involvement in the plan. Speakers said that none of the participants in the meeting had expressed any reservations about the president's plan.

Later in the day, the president was leaving for a two-week California vacation.

Seven killed, three hurt in shooting

MIAMI (AP) — A gunman opened fire in a northwest Miami machine shop office today, killing seven people and wounding three others, police said.

Metro-Dade police spokesman Ken Christopher said detectives found the bodies of six people inside Bob Moore's Welding and Machine Service Inc. and a seventh — possibly the suspect — a few blocks away.

All of the victims had apparently been shot, Christopher said. Their sexes and ages were unknown.

The three injured, whose conditions weren't immediately known, were taken to Hialeah Hospital, where they were reported in stable condition.

Christopher said an undetermined number of other people — possibly the dead — were reported to have been taken to Jackson Memorial Hospital.

American Express being sued by woman

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — American Express Co. says it has always focused on "the women's market" and is surprised at a $100,000 lawsuit alleging the credit-card company discriminates against California women.

In her suit, Linda Akulian contends American Express treats women different from their husbands in California, ignoring couples' community property when evaluating card applications.

Joining Mrs. Akulian in the suit, which was filed Thursday in Superior Court, were the National Organization for Women and Consumers Union, publisher of Consumer Reports magazine.

Mrs. Akulian said she had applied for an American Express "gold" credit card last spring and was turned down "on the basis of my salary contribution to our community property."

The suit said American Express "discriminates against hundreds, if not thousands, of married California women" by making credit evaluations "without regard to a married woman's management, control and responsibility of community property earnings."

California is one of several states with community property laws requiring creditors to evaluate the salaries and other assets of both spouses in determining creditworthiness.

In New York, Meredith Fernstrom, American Express vice president for consumer affairs, said the company was "extremely surprised" by the lawsuit, saying "it makes good business for us to target to the women's market."

"We don't understand their contentions," Ms. Fernstrom said. "It's in our best interest to get women as cardholders."

She would not comment on the specifics of the suit until company officials had reviewed it.

Mrs. Akulian, 38, of Oakland, said she worked as a teacher to put her husband through law school, and has made "a substantial contribution to our community property."

Police Beat

Two men and a minor were arrested last night after police stopped the suspects' car at N.W. Third and Glasson for a traffic citation, police said.

Arrested at 2:55 a.m. were 23-year-old Efrain Mario Ortona Comacho, 701 Avenue F S.E., Childress, on suspicion of possession of under two ounces of marijuana and public intoxication; 18-year-old Israel Tovar Martinez, Golden West Motel room No. 10, on suspicion of minor in possession of an alcoholic beverage; and 25-year-old Jose J. Diaz, Alamo Motel room 17, on suspicion of driving while intoxicated and traffic citations.

Police reports also showed the following:

• Sid Allen Beck, 41, of 816 W. Eighth was arrested yesterday on suspicion of theft over $200 and under $10,000. Police said they arrested Beck after police detectives and members of the major crimes task force discovered items stolen from O.I.L. at his residence. Peace Justice Lewis Heflin authorized the search warrant.

• John M. McMurry, 18, of Sterling City Route Box 6-B was arrested yesterday on an instant traffic citation in the 200 block of Lamesa. He was released after paying a $35 fine.

• Marlow Dyer of 1701 Aylford said someone stole a red-wood lounge chair and two other chairs — all worth $154.95

Man remains in jail in lieu of bond

Michael R. Fletcher, 20, remains in Howard County jail in lieu of $40,000 bond, according to sheriff's office records. Fletcher, who listed his address as Motel 9, is being held in connection with a charge of burglary and a charge of possession of a controlled substance. Bond was set by Justice of the Peace Bobby West.

• Gary Wayne Brockelbank, 28, of Southland Apartments posted a $1,000 bond following his arrest by the Department of Public Safety in connection with a driving while intoxicated charge and no Texas registration. Bond was set by Peace Justice Lewis Heflin and Brockelbank was not confined, according to sheriff's office records.

• Beatrice Lavelle Evans, 25, of 704 Pine was assessed a four-year prison sentence yesterday after pleading guilty to aggravated assault in 118th District Court. Sheriff's records show Ms. Evans is being held for transfer to Midland authorities in connection with two warrants there before being sent to the Texas Department of Corrections.

• Ronald Hugh Tanner, 25, address uncertain, pleaded guilty in 118th District Court to unauthorized use of a motor vehicle. He received a three-year probated sentence and was released from custody, records show.

• Arthur Torres Adame, 28, of San Angelo, was released from custody after posting a $1,000 bond in connection with a DWI charge. Bond was set by Heflin.

• Clarence Daniel Glaser, 33, of Sheffield, was arrested on a Howard County warrant by Fort Stockton authorities in connection with a DWI charge and a bond forfeiture. He posted a $1,000 bond in Fort Stockton and was released, records show.

Peso exchange booming on border

By STEVE BEWER
Associated Press Writer

EL PASO — The peso exchange business at some El Paso banks is booming following the beleaguered currency's return to international trading and new exchange rates of up to 130 pesos for each dollar.

"It's been a hectic day," Don Shuffstall, international banking officer at El Paso's State National Bank, said Thursday. "Some people have been buying pesos because they think the rate's too high and others have been buying dollars because they think it will get higher.

"We're caught in the middle because we don't know which way it's going to turn."

State National was buying pesos Thursday at 110 to the dollar and selling them at 90 to the dollar. Its competitor, El Paso National Bank, was buying at 130 pesos to the dollar and selling at 100 per dollar.

"We had quite a demand for pesos," said El Paso National official Patty Moreno. "We closed our windows at 2:30 p.m."

The heavy trading along the border followed the peso's return to foreign exchanges after it was pulled out of the markets by the Mexican government last week.

The peso dropped from an average rate of about 80 to the dollar to 115 to the dollar for buyers and 125 for sellers in Mexico City markets Thursday.

"We've at least got a market rate, but it's a very slippery one because we don't know how long it will hold up," Shuffstall said.

Meanwhile, other border banks weren't trading in pesos. Officials at El Paso's First City National Bank and banks in Laredo and McAllen said they were waiting for the peso to stabilize before setting a new exchange rate.

While the peso was off the markets, there had been no set rate of exchange. American banks had either been abstaining from exchanging pesos or had set their own rates in what Shuffstall described as "guesswork."

"Yesterday, we were selling at 90 and buying at 85," he said. "We've tried to sort of get between the opening down there (in Mexico City) and what we had been doing."

Shuffstall said the exchange rate along the border could be pushed even higher as the banks exhausted their supply of pesos and were forced to purchase more on the free market.

Brown seeks Fed aid for businesses

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — Gov. Edmund Brown Jr. is asking for federal emergency aid to help California businesses along the Mexican border that he said are being hurt by devaluation of the peso.

In a letter sent Thursday to President Reagan, Brown asked that San Diego and Imperial counties be declared an economic disaster area, and thus eligible for federal assistance.

Brown said the turnover of U.S. border firms has dropped 40 percent to 60 percent, and they need emergency loans. He complained that the Federal Economic Disaster Loan Program has been eliminated, and asked Reagan to establish "a new Economic Disaster Area Program which would enable business firms to receive low-interest loans to assist them during this crisis."

The devaluation of the peso, the second of this year, has severely affected businesses in the California border communities of Calexico, El Centro, Chula Vista, National City and San Diego, Brown said.

FOOD GIVEAWAY — In a scene straight from the 1930s, thousands of Chicago residents lined up Thursday at the Mount Pisgah Missionary Baptist Church to receive a bag of groceries during a food giveaway. Rev. Joseph Wells, 67, pastor of the church, said the program of food giveaways has handed out 35,000 bags of groceries since the program began in late May of this year.

Church offers free food

CHICAGO (AP) — Some were elderly, others unemployed. They began arriving as early as 4 a.m., and by the time the food giveaway began at 9:30 a.m., the line stretched for blocks.

When the doors opened at the three-story building next to the Mount Pisgah Missionary Baptist Church, a thousand people were waiting patiently for a free bag of groceries.

"Right now I haven't got a thing in my house to eat," said Cardell Murdock, who said she bought food with $70 a month in food stamps. "I don't know what steak is. I went to bed hungry last night."

About 35,000 shopping bags of food have been given away since the church began the program May 30, said the Rev. Joseph Wells, pastor of the church. Wells also is the director of the Mount Pisgah Food for the Hungry Foundation, a non-profit organization that took over the program in July.

Narcotics head takes blame for policewoman's death

HOUSTON (AP) — Supervisors of the Houston Police Department's narcotics division say they accept responsibility for a communications foul-up that cost a police officer her life.

"Needless to say, we feel a certain amount of negligence for what happened," Lt. Billy Ripley said Thursday.

Kathleen Schaefer, an undercover officer, was killed in a convenience store parking lot Wednesday night when she tried to help uniformed officers arrest two men suspected of dealing in drugs. Officials said one officer mistook Mrs. Schaefer for a drug suspect as she approached with her pistol drawn.

Assistant Chief B.K. Johnson said supervisors of the narcotics operation failed to alert D.A. Gott, who shot Mrs. Schaefer, and another uniformed officer that the woman might be at the scene and was a police officer.

Ripley said he and 13 other supervisors met late Wednesday to review department procedures in so-called "buy-busts" like the one Mrs. Schaefer, 34, had been involved in.

"The officer didn't have adequate briefing on the operation. He was not aware that a woman undercover officer was involved," said Larry Trout, public information officer for the Houston Police Department. "It was a mistake."

One person was released after being questioned by police. The other, Bryan Scott

Heuer, 24, was charged with possession of a controlled substance and jailed in lieu of $2,000 bond, the district attorney's office said.

Mrs. Schaefer, one of four female officers assigned to the narcotics division, was the first Houston policewoman to die in the line of duty and the fifth officer killed in Houston this year.

Flags flew at half staff at the downtown police headquarters and at City Hall. Fellow officers wore a black band of tape across their shields.

"It (the tape) has almost become part of the uniform," Trout said.

Mrs. Schaefer and the three undercover officers had arranged Wednesday evening to buy 100 tablets of the barbiturate mandrex. After the drugs were purchased, uniformed officers moved to help make the arrests.

Mrs. Schaefer, dressed in blue jeans and a blouse, jumped from the unmarked car and approached Gott, Trout said.

"She had her gun drawn and the uniformed officer, unaware that she was involved, believed she was a suspect," Trout said.

Capt. B.F. Adams said Gott told her to stop, but "she didn't understand that he was telling her to hold it" and ignored the order, Adams said.

Trout said, "As she started to put it (the gun) back into the car, the uniformed officer apparently thought she was pointing it at him and that's when he fired."

A rescue team was sent by helicopter to the parking lot where Mrs. Schaefer lay bleeding, but medics could not save her. She died of a single bullet wound to the chest, said J.F. Ebdon of the Harris County Medical Examiner's office.

Gott and the other officers involved in the operation were reassigned to desk duty until investigations into the shooting are completed.

The shooting was being investigated by the homicide and internal affairs divisions and the civil rights division of the district attorney's office, Trout said.

Weather

Rain reported along coast

By The Associated Press

Most of Texas was under hazy skies Friday morning, with only scattered rainfall recorded along the coast from Galveston to Brownsville.

Temperatures were in the upper 70s and low 80s in most of South Texas, dropping lower towards the north. In the Panhandle, most morning temperatures were in the 60s. It was 83 at Galveston and 67 at Amarillo.

Winds were mostly light and variable.

The National Weather Service forecast calls for widely scattered afternoon and evening thundershowers over the Panhandle and South Texas, with a continuation of fair to partly cloudy skies and warm temperatures elsewhere.

Showers and thunderstorms swept much of the nation west of the Great Plains early today and damped areas of the Gulf and southern Atlantic coastal states.

Other summer storms hit areas from the Missouri Valley to upper New England.

Fog blanketed the California coast but fair skies prevailed over the rest of the nation.

FORECAST
West Texas — Widely scattered afternoon and evening thunderstorms mainly north and southwest. Otherwise fair. A little cooler north Saturday. Continued warm elsewhere. High— 90s to 104. Lows mid 60s to low 70s.

EXTENDED FORECAST
West Texas: Partly cloudy with widely scattered late afternoon and evening thunderstorms and no important temperature changes. Lows 60s north and mountains to mid 70s south. Highs 90s north to near 100 Big Bend valleys.

Grand jury investigates judge

GREENVILLE, Texas (AP) — A federal grand jury is investigating whether a Hunt County judge asked a former business associate to repay an alleged debt in exchange for leniency on a drunken driving charge.

The FBI also is looking into whether County Court-at-Law Judge Phil Fugitt received payments from other defendants in exchange for leniency.

Fugitt confirmed that the Dallas-based grand jury and federal agents are investigating him but declined to discuss the case.

The FBI began its probe in June after Fugitt's former business partner, Danny Watson, fell out with Fugitt and asked the Texas Rangers to investigate his allegations that the judge demanded payments from him, the Dallas Times Herald reported.

The case was turned over to the FBI, whose agents secretly recorded a conversation in which Fugitt discussed dismissing or postponing the drunken driving charge if Watson would make periodic installments on the debt Watson said Fugitt claimed he owed, investigators told the newspaper.

The debt in part stemmed from a 1977 country music concert on Watson's farm, the newspaper reported. Fugitt invested $6,000 in the concert and was to receive a portion of the profits but it lost money, according to sources involved in arranging the event.

Federal investigators also are checking several other cases in which charges against Watson were dropped by Fugitt, the newspaper reported.

Among the dropped charges is a speeding ticket issued Watson in 1978 was dropped by Fugitt "for want of prosecution," when Watson appealed it to Fugitt's court, according to court records.

In 1981, Hunt County Attorney Fred Shelton plea bargained with Watson on four misdemeanor charges, agreeing to dismiss all but a drunken driving charge, county attorney investigator Bob Huckabee said.

Fugitt rejected the arrangement in June 1981, however, and privately told Watson to repay the alleged debt or else be sentenced to two years in prison, Watson told the FBI.

Watson was not prosecuted and sources told the newspaper that investigators have copies of at least four canceled $150 checks written by Watson, payable to Fugitt.

When Grover Cleveland completed his last term as President of the United States he took with him a check he never cashed. At that time the salary was $50,000 a year. He was paid $4,166.67 two months in each quarter, and the third month he received $4,166.66. At the end of his last term it was found that one cent was still due him, and a check for that amount was drawn in his favor. He so treasured it as a souvenir that he never permitted it to pass from his possession.

Many a little act of kindness within our power to bestow is withheld because it is small. It may be the very thing the recipient will prize the most, and hold to with loving memory long after many more pretentious acts have been forgotten.

Dispelling bilingual myths

Encouraging a child to speak his own language will inhibit his learning a second language. Fact or fiction?

According to one expert in bilingualism and ethnicity at the University of Pennsylvania, such thinking is one of many myths that have arisen around bilingual education.

A person can speak two languages or two dialects, declares Dr. Kathryn Woolard, anthropologist and assistant professor in the university's graduate school of education.

THE UNITED STATES, she points out, differs from many parts of the world where people are routinely bilingual or trilingual. A view often held — one that comes to us from 19th century Europe — is that differences in language and culture are threatening and have to be changed.

The influx of many minority groups into the U.S. in recent years has changed much of our thinking and made bilingual education an important consideration.

"It is basic human dignity for children to have the right to speak their own language and have it recognized as a real language," says Dr. Woolard. She cites Black English, which wasn't recognized as a systematic language until the 1960s with the work of a linguistics professor at the university.

Dr. Woolard considers the ideal mix the ability to speak one's own language and also learn standard English. This should be done, she says, without judging or labeling or somehow indicating that one is inappropriate.

HOWEVER, SHE cautions that language may obscure the real problems for America's minorities — those that are economic and social.

"Speaking standard English," she points out, "is not going to get a job. It's a prerequisite but it should not be regarded as the solution to the major problems confronting minorities."

Football

All over America, high school football players are sweltering inside pounds of plastic armor and readying for the wars of fall.

Football — the favorite sport of hundreds of small Texas towns — returns with a vengeance during the last weeks of August.

The player spends endless hours with sweat cascading out of every pore of his body, dripping into his eyes and off the end of his nose with the regularity of a Chinese water torture. Every muscle in his body aches, including several he never knew he had. Coaches yell, scream, cajole, plead, pound and browbeat him into a football player, sometimes using all six methods in a single breath.

With an ingenuity born of years of late summer semi-masochism, the mentors invent dozens of drills designed to create high school versions of Roger Staubach, Tony Dorsett, Conrad Dobler and Randy White.

The shared drudgery, the endless drills and the mutual hatred for the coaches create a new brotherhood among would-be athletes who might not have even known each other the week before.

The practice field, with patches of grass torn as though by fighting bulls, dotted with wads of chewing tobacco deposited by the coaches and drill machinery resembling something from the Spanish Inquisition, echoes with the screams of coaches and the spirit yell of the team.

"Is it all worth it?" is a question each player asks himself several times during every single workout.

THE ANSWER is a qualified "yes." Every game night, when the towns close down to watch their Friday night heroes compete, it's worth it.

Every time he trots on the field to the cheers of the crowd, holding the small, cool hand of his favorite cheerleader, it's worth it.

Reading the papers after every win, seeing the oddly-familiar shape of his name in newsprint, it's worth it. If he is one of the fortunate few, as I was, able to stand on a frozen field in mid-December and shout the final, unanswerable "We're Number One!" after winning a state championship, it's worth it.

HOWEVER, IF he can't stand the silence after the cheering stops, is it worth it?

I've known players who, after that championship season, spent the next five years wasting away in a small Texas town, trying vainly to recapture the feeling of a winning season.

After his senior season, the average high school football player is an anachronism.

The town is looking to next year, another season. He's part of last year's team, a has-been at age 18.

For many, the death of every Friday's adulation presents no problem. They took the platitudes spoken by the coaches with a grain of salt, knowing that success and happiness don't really depend on how well you block, tackle or run, and their lives don't really depend on keeping the blitzing linebacker away from the quarterback.

While football was an important part of their life at the time, they've moved on to other things.

FOR SOME, the sport was an aid, teaching them self-discipline and a team spirit — things that are invaluable in life.

For others, it was a dead end.

They couldn't understand it when the extra privileges accorded to members of a winning team ceased to exist. College was difficult, if not impossible because no one cared what they did in high school.

They try vainly to recapture the adulation, and every meeting between them and old teammates is filled with "Do you remember when?" and "How about the time we were playing in..."

You'll see them in the stands on Friday nights, faces again showing the excitement of the game — the game that, for them, ended too soon.

The meter reader cometh

In all the fuss about the energy shortage no one has mentioned the meter reader. When I say the meter reader, I mean the person who comes to your house to read your electric meter.

For years no one had paid any attention to him. He would ring your doorbell and yell, "Meter reader here to read your meter!" and you'd let him in and he would disappear, and when he returned, you'd shout at him rudely, "Shut the door when you leave!"

But now he has become the most important person in the lives of many of us.

Just the other day we were all eating dinner when the doorbell rang. My son answered the ring, and came into the dining room, his face white. "It's the meter reader. He wants to read our meter."

My wife said, "How did he ever find us?"

"Be calm, everybody," I warned. "Pretend nothing has happened. Ask him to come into the dining room."

The guy came into the dining room carrying his route book. "Where's the meter?" he asked.

"Would you like to have dinner?" I asked.

"Nope. I've been offered dinner in every house I've been to today. I'm stuffed. Just tell me where your meter is and I'll be out of here."

"You don't want to go into our basement," my wife said. "It's so messy. We'll tell you anything you want to know."

"I have to check your meter," he said.

"I checked it yesterday," I assured him. "It's working fine."

"I have to read it."

"I'll send my son to read it," I said. "He's great at reading meters. Here, have a glass of wine."

"I'm sorry, but I have to read it myself. It will only take a minute."

"Do you have a search warrant?" my wife asked.

He looked surprised. "I don't need a search warrant to read your meter."

"I think you had better check the Constitution. You can't just barge into somebody's house and look at his electric meter," she said.

"Well, if you feel that way, we'll just shut off your electricity," he replied.

"It's all right, Mother. The man has not come to do us harm," I said. "I'm sure he won't take advantage of a family that is probably eating its last meal unless our food stamps come through."

"Could you please direct me to your meter?"

I took him to the cellar stairs. Then I said, "Be gentle with us. Be good to us."

"Where have I heard that before?" the man asked.

"Barbara Walters said it to President Carter on her show," I said.

"Oh, yeah," he chuckled, and he went downstairs.

The family all waited in the kitchen. "Why is he taking so long?" my wife asked nervously, as she twisted the dish towel.

I put my arm around her. "It's all right, dear. The man is only doing his job."

"What kind of person would sneak into somebody's home and inform on them as to how much electricity they had used?" she said.

"Hush, he'll hear you and add a couple of hundred kilowatts just for spite."

"I can take him, Dad," my son said. "Let me use karate on him."

"Will you all shut up! He's got us over a barrel. Electric meters never lie."

The man came up whistling.

"Give it to us straight," I said. "We can take it."

"You used 1,500 kilowatts of electricity this month," he replied. My wife almost collapsed.

I blanched. "Does the electric company have to know?"

"Yup," he replied, writing on his route book. "I'll see you next month," he said cheerfully.

My wife gazed at him. "I just pray your mother never finds out what you do for a living."

Billy Graham

I have a loose mouth

DEAR DR. GRAHAM: I always seem to be getting in trouble because of things I say. I don't mean to offend people, but I seem to have an ability to say the wrong thing. How can I get control of my tongue? — W.U.

DEAR W.U.: You have discovered in your own experience the truth of what the Bible says about the dangers of the tongue: "Consider what a great forest is set on fire by a small spark. The tongue also is a fire, a world of evil among the parts of the body. It corrupts the whole person, sets the whole course of his life on fire, and is itself set on fire by hell" (James 3:5-6).

Those are strong words, but they are true. Just a few words spoken in anger can destroy a marriage or a friendship. And no matter how hard we try, we find it is very difficult to control our tongues. Not only does our tongue affect us, but it can affect many other people as well. That is one reason why idle gossip is wrong.

What can be done? The most important thing you need to do is bring this problem to God in prayer, and ask him to help you. You cannot solve it by yourself, as you have discovered — you need God's help. Christ wants to be Lord of your life, and you need to commit your whole life — including your tongue — to him.

Then with God's help I urge you to try a couple of things. First, learn to discipline yourself so you do not talk as much in conversations with others, but instead learn to be a good listener. There is no shortcut here to personal discipline and self-control. But God can help you because one fruit that the Holy Spirit brings to our lives when we are yielded to Christ is self-control (see Galatians 5:22-23).

Also, seek to be more sensitive to other people. Ask yourself, "How would I react if someone said that to me? Would I be offended?" As you learn to love others for Christ's sake, you will want to speak "only what is helpful for building others up according to their needs, that it may benefit those who listen" (Ephesians 4:29).

Horror of wartime atrocities

BEIRUT — At this writing, the first rays of peace have broken through the war clouds over Beirut.

The PLO chieftain, Yasser Arafat, first told me he would fight to the death in Beirut. Now an aide says Arafat has offered to take the PLO out of Lebanon.

This would remove the incendiary from where the powder kegs are kept. Perhaps the more cautious elements on both sides can now control the delicate triggers and somehow muddle through without more carnage.

War is the most spectacular event that men produce. But behind the sound and the fury, war is ugly and evil. Even in Lebanon, a land inured to catastrophe, the bombardment of Beirut was a horror beyond endurance. Grief turned to anger, and anger to bitterness, as the civilians dug the corpses from the rubble.

THE HORROR, however, has been all on one side. I have seen ghastly evidence of atrocities committed by the PLO.

Witnesses told how squads of PLO irregulars had appeared on the beaches of the seaside city of Dammur and bombarded the defenseless Christian settlement. Then at gunpoint, survivors were dragged from their homes. They allegedly were taunted, tortured and killed, without mercy.

I heard of no such massacres by the Israelis. But the Israeli troops were not gentle with their prisoners. I spoke to PLO prisoners who told of being pummeled with fists, beaten with sticks and burned with cigarettes.

Volunteer hospital workers were seized by the Israelis who accused them of running a PLO hospital. Hundreds of prisoners, including medical personnel whose skills were desperately needed, were interrogated in the stifling heat for days. According to eyewitness accounts, some were beaten and threatened by their Israeli captors.

A YOUNG Canadian surgeon, Dr.

Chris Giannou, flew to Washington to complain about the mistreatment of detainees. He was joined by two Norwegian health workers, Dr. Steinar Berge and Oyvind Moeller.

My associates Jack Mitchell and Indy Badwar interviewed them separately. Berge and Moeller confirmed the accounts of Israeli beatings. They swore that they had personally been forced to sit motionless for 36 hours, surrounded by armored cars and personnel carriers.

The Israelis put out the story that all three were "suspected" of connections to an unnamed European terrorist group. This has brought howls of protest from Canadian and Norwegian authorities.

I went to Israeli Prime Minister Menachem Begin, meanwhile, with the stories of Israeli brutality. I found him in shirtsleeves in his Jerusalem office. He listened intently to the allegations. Outwardly, he appeared calm enough. But I felt a tenseness in him, sometimes a sense of beleaguement.

He told me that he had already heard reports of prisoner abuse and had summoned the subordinate responsible for the treatment of prisoners. "I told him, 'I am your prime minister. I want you to look me in the eye and tell me whether prisoners have been mistreated,'" related Begin.

The prime minister was told that there had been no known atrocities but some prisoners had been slapped around a little. Begin then said: "I told him that such treatment is not tolerable and that I absolutely forbid it."

Begin wrote down the names of the prisoners who told me they had been abused and promised an official investigation. A PLO spokesman, meanwhile, insisted that the stories of PLO atrocities were "Zionist propaganda."

Dr. Hays clarifies SWCID tuition situation

Dear Editor:

On behalf of the Howard County Junior College District, I would like to express our appreciation to the Herald for their assistance in informing the public as to the background related to the possible effect of the increased tuition and fee rates to be charged out-of-state students attending the Southwest Collegiate Institute for the Deaf.

Also, in an effort to clarify any misconceptions relative to the recent change in the Southwest Collegiate Institute for the Deaf fee structure for out-of-state students, we (the Howard County Junior College District) want the general public to know beyond a doubt that the change was not brought about as a last minute thought by anyone. The language relative to out-of-state tuition was in the original draft of Senate Bill 892 and has not been changed. We simply did not know the dollar amount until the Coordinating Board staff computed the cost which they were required to do by law.

LL Governor Bill Hobby, Senator Chet Brooks, Senator Ray Farabee and Representative Larry Don Shaw were most instrumental in the formation of S.W.C.I.D. and have been extremely helpful and supportive from the beginning. In fact, had it not been for LL Governor Hobby and Senator Brooks, we are satisfied that there would not be a S.W.C.I.D. today. The tuition for out-of-state students is based on actual cost which is very expensive. However, we must remember that our Legislature has already done more than its share to educate out-of-state students at S.W.C.I.D. since they were told in the beginning that we expected federal financial assistance. To date we have been unable to obtain federally appropriated dollars and consequently the State of Texas has, for the most part, financed the total operation of S.W.C.I.D.

It should be made clear that LL Governor Hobby was not a co-author or co-sponsor of Senate Bill 892. However, he was very supportive of the bill which made possible the establishment and funding of S.W.C.I.D. In an earlier news release it was mentioned that we made no news release about the tuition increase until after having received a call from the LL Governor's office informing us of the fact that there was no feasible alternative to the increase. This call was made only after the LL Governor and his staff had exhausted every possibility to help us.

We are supportive of the Legislative intent behind section 131.05(b) of SB892. Special care should be given to ensure that Texas tax dollars are used first to educate Texas residents. Sincerely, CHARLES D. HAYS, President, Howard County Junior College District

Powers of persuasion

Tax bill lobby was Reagan's biggest blitz

By TERENCE HUNT
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON — Congressmen weren't showing off any newly acquired presidential cufflinks this time, but that seemed to be the only ingredient missing from President Reagan's lobbying arsenal for a $98.3 billion tax increase bill.

In fact, the administration's campaign for passage of the election-year tax bill likely was its largest lobbying blitz to date.

After 20 months in office, Reagan has honed his lobbying tactics to a fine art that has paid off in virtually every major test of power with Congress — so far.

National advertising, a presidential speech in prime time, direct mail, favors for congressmen, telephone calls, one-on-one appeals by the president — they're all part of the mix.

This time television spots were purchased for the first time, a measure of the uphill battle the administration faced when it could not depend on even half of the 193 Republicans in the House to vote with their president.

Previous efforts produced come-from-behind victories on massive tax and budget cuts and the contested sale of AWACs surveillance planes to Saudi Arabia.

"This place, when it does focus on one big thing, that one big thing does get accomplished," boasted a high-level Republican strategist.

Reagan, elected on a platform of cutting taxes, said he had to swallow hard to back the tax hike, arguably the largest peacetime tax boost in history. But once convinced it was essential to controlling ballooning budget deficits, he threw himself into the battle.

Upwards of 100 Republican congressmen were invited to the White House to listen to Reagan's arguments. Dozens got telephone calls from the president, and 32 lawmakers were singled out for special red-carpet treatment: a flight to Camp David and lunch at the president's mountaintop retreat.

"I've been in Congress 18 years. I've never been to Camp David before, and I was impressed to be invited and grateful to be invited, may I say," said Rep. Barber Conable, senior Republican on the tax-writing House Ways and Means Committee.

No matter, Conable already was backing the bill.

By various accounts, Reagan used nothing more than gentle persuasion. "He's not a man who threatens or twists arms in a traditional sense," said Conable.

Enter Lyn Nofziger, Reagan's bare-knuckled political strategist who's never been accused of being overly sweet. Nofziger went into private business earlier this year and initially teamed up with others to oppose the tax hike.

Days later, he made a complete turnaround and signed on to lead the administration's battle — in no small measure because of his unwavering loyalty to Ronald Reagan.

Nofziger sat in on Reagan's meetings with congressmen, watching to see who was wavering and winnable.

"Nofziger's big plus is he knows all the Reagan people out in the states," said the GOP strategist, speaking anonymously. As the strategist explained it, Nofziger calls a congressman's 10 biggest financial backers. They, in turn, call the congressman and tell him they're counting on him to vote with the president.

And Nofziger, himself, called congressmen. "He's almost a bigger-than-life figure, a heavy," the strategist said. "He's firm and everybody knows it."

Bankers attack deregulation package

By SALLY JACOBSEN
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON — Bankers are attacking a banking deregulation package approved by a Senate committee, calling it a "sweetheart" bill for savings and loan associations.

The measure, passed by the Senate Banking Committee Thursday after a lengthy series of behind-the-scenes negotiations, would give S&Ls some new lending and checking account powers and prop up financially weak institutions.

It also would phase out by 1985 the one-quarter point interest rate advantage S&Ls enjoy over banks on some accounts, and would direct federal regulators to let banks and savings and loans offer an account competitive with money market funds.

The banking industry, while favoring those provisions, also wanted new powers to underwrite municipal revenue bonds and sponsor and sell shares in mutual funds. And it wanted the interest rate ceilings on business, agricultural and consumer loans scrapped.

Those provisions were in an earlier committee package put forth by Sen. Jake Garn, panel chairman.

The new bill "is plainly unacceptable to banks as it is now written," said the American Bankers Association.

"Little is left in the legislation which addresses the special needs of the banking industry... This S&L sweetheart bill leaves the commercial banking community at a greater competitive disadvantage than before," the group said in a statement.

Robert McCormick, president of the Independent Bankers Association of America, also criticized the measure, saying it is a "major step toward the eventual elimination of the thrift industry as a distinct financial sector."

The thrift industry — savings and loans and mutual savings banks — were pleased with the bill.

Jonathan Lindley, executive vice president of the National Savings and Loan League, praised the measure and urged S&L executives to rally behind it.

"The bill is as fair, balanced and reasonable as possible," said Saul Klamman, president of the National Association of Mutual Savings Banks.

It now goes to the full Senate for action.

The House has approved its own version of an aid package for weak S&Ls, but has not touched the other provisions in the Senate bill.

House Banking Committee chairman, Rep. Fernand St Germain, D-R.I., said hearings will be held next month to consider the differences.

Under the Senate bill, the net worth of federally insured savings and loans, commercial banks and mutual savings banks would be bolstered through an exchange of capital notes — a hybrid contribution-loan transaction — with the insurance funds.

The House bill would set up an $8.5-billion federal fund to guarantee the net worth of troubled institutions through paper transactions. The plan would only cost the government money if an institution failed.

The Senate committee bill also would let federally chartered S&Ls:

- Phase in commercial lending so they could make direct and indirect loans totaling 15 percent of their assets by 1984.
- Expand their non-residential real estate lending from 20 percent of their assets to 40 percent.
- Increase their investments in consumer loans from 20 percent to 30 percent.
- Accept checking accounts from certain businesses.

It also would override state laws restricting the ability of banks and S&Ls to call in a home loan when the house is sold, except for loans agreed on during a grace period.

Oil production rate set

AUSTIN (AP) — The Texas oil production rate was set at 100 percent of market demand this month, the 67th month in a row for the ceiling rate.

Thursday was the 123rd time the monthly maximum production rate was set since the commission first went to the ceiling level in April 1972.

The maximum statewide allowable was ordered after Commissioners Mack Wallace and Buddy Temple received requests from major buyers of Texas crude for 2,464,388 barrels in September, a decrease of 8,948 barrels from August. In September 1981, the nominations totaled 2,514,719 barrels.

The maximum rate applies to all but 10 fields in Texas that are assigned lower rates of flow for conservation purposes.

Computer may spot physicians' fraud

DALLAS (AP) — Federal investigators here have been assigned the task of developing a computer program to work as a nationwide dragnet to catch hospital-based physicians' waste and fraud.

The computer program will be used to track doctors who over-bill patients and bill patients for services not rendered, said Richard Kusserow, inspector general of the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services.

Officials will also crack down on physicians who have not repaid government loans for medical school tuition, Kusserow said Thursday.

"With this new system, we may recover billions of dollars and help contain spiraling health costs," Kusserow said.

"We've been doing this in spots for years, but now we're going to try to look at our entire spectrum of services and develop a system to identify aberrant behavior," he said.

Kusserow said health inspectors found 6,000 doctors this year who didn't repay their government loans. Eighty-three of them are now faculty members at their medical schools, he added.

"The average physician gets about $80,000 a year and for them not to pay back a few thousand dollars is ridiculous," Kusserow said.

The computer program will be developed by the Dallas inspector general's office and will be part of a nationwide computer project dubbed "Project Rainbow," he said.

Each of the 10 inspector general's offices has been asked to examine a health service area, including nursing homes, medical laboratories and ambulance companies.

Fence built at Warsaw's Victory Square

By W. JOSEPH CAMPBELL
Associated Press Writer

WARSAW, Poland — Under orders from Poland's martial law authorities, construction crews began today erecting a six-foot-high wooden fence around Warsaw's Victory Square, the scene of anti-regime demonstrations on three consecutive nights this week.

Amid the din of jackhammers, uniformed police patrolled the square. There were no incidents. The government has said it intends to repave the cracked and uneven flagstone surface of the square in central Warsaw. But, given the disturbances of this week, there was little doubt that the square was being closed for political reasons.

The crackdown began Thursday afternoon when squads of municipal police banned entry to the square and checked the identity papers of those who stopped there. Witnesses said several people were arrested.

"This is a sacred place," said one woman who was turned away from the square. "They (the police) should be punished for this."

About 200 demonstrators then gathered a few blocks away before a 20-foot floral cross in Castle Square. Standing in the rain, the protesters sang religious and nationalist hymns until nightfall when more than 50 policemen in riot gear appeared at the square with a water cannon.

The crowd ran when ordered to disperse under the threat of a high pressure hosing, and at least four people were arrested. One of those seized had shouted at police: "Are you really Poles?"

Victory Square has been the focal point of a subtle protest by supporters of the independent Solidarity union that was suspended when martial law was imposed last Dec. 13.

Protesters gathered often before a 40-foot floral cross that marked the spot where Cardinal Stefan Wyszyński's coffin stood during his funeral in May, 1981. The cardinal had played a key role as a mediator between the union and the Communist government.

In recent months, police have dismantled the cross before dawn and middle-age and elderly woman have rebuilt it by day. Until Thursday, authorities had done nothing to prevent the practice.

The demonstrations became louder and larger this week in response to calls by underground Solidarity leaders for "exceptionally visible" peaceful protests in advance of a massive nationwide demonstration on Aug. 31 the second anniversary of Solidarity's founding.

Authorities warned Poles to shun the demonstrations.

On Monday night, police used water cannon to drive 300 protesters from the square's Wyszyński cross and an adjacent floral "V," another symbol of resistance.

Soviets put 2nd woman in space

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union's second woman cosmonaut, along with two male colleagues, is scheduled to rendezvous with an orbiting Salyut space station today after rocketing into space on Thursday.

Svetlana Savitskaya, 34, is serving as a researcher on the mission, according to the official Soviet news agency, Tass. Cosmonaut Leonid Popov, who holds the world record for space endurance with a 185-day flight in 1980, is the pilot, and another space rookie, Alexander Serebrov, is the flight engineer.

Radio Moscow said all three cosmonauts were feeling well and their Soyuz T-7 spacecraft was functioning normally.

The first woman in space was Valentina Tereshkova, then 26, who completed 48 orbits in 1963. She was not, according to accounts written since that time, an experienced pilot.

Ms. Savitskaya, in contrast, is the holder of several women's world aviation records, according to Tass. The news agency said she has flown more than 20 kinds of aircraft and made more than 500 parachute jumps since graduating from the Moscow College of Aviation.

She is the daughter of a Soviet air force marshal, Yevgeny Savitsky, and is married to a pilot. Tass also noted that she has been a member of the Communist Party since 1975.

The United States has never sent a woman into space. Several women are training to serve on the space shuttle, but no date has been set for one of them to fly in space.

Demonstrators toss eggs at Canadian prime minister

SUDBURY, Ont. (AP) — Canadian Prime Minister Pierre Trudeau, winding his way homeward by rail from a Rocky Mountain vacation, got a rude reception here when his railroad car was hit by rocks, eggs and tomatoes hurled by 500 demonstrators angry at Canada's high unemployment rate.

Trudeau's railroad car was hit by eggs and tomatoes at several stops in western Canada earlier this week, but the protest shortly before midnight Thursday was the first in which rocks have been thrown.

Many ran toward Trudeau's train car and chanted "Trudeau must go," and "Go home."

Trudeau stayed inside the railroad car during the 15-minute stop in Sudbury, reporters on the scene said. There were no indications that the car was damaged seriously.

None of the protesters were arrested. Sudbury police said the train arrived at 11:25 p.m. EDT. It left after about 15 minutes for Toronto, with stops scheduled at Parry Sound, Orillia, and Barrie.

Keith Lovely, an official of the Sudbury local of the United Steelworkers of America, said he had announced earlier in the day that he planned to meet the prime minister's train but there was no formal organization of the demonstration.

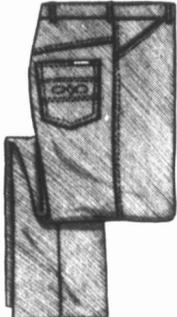

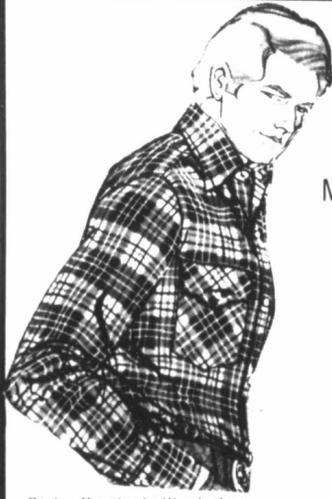

"I figured there might be 40 to 50 people there," he said. "I guess the word got around and it just snowballed."

Lovely said people in this community — which has been reeling from the highest unemployment of any metropolitan area in Canada — were showing Trudeau they're "just frustrated."

"There was a good cross-section of people there, not just steelworkers, and they wanted to give him a message that they think about the interest rates and high unemployment," Lovely added.

Inco Ltd., the region's largest employer, announced earlier this week layoffs of more than 1,000 in Sudbury, effective early next year.

Measure's future in doubt

Senate panel passes Clean Air Bill

By WILLIAM KRONHOLM
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON — A Senate committee has finally passed a bill revising the federal Clean Air Act, but the measure may die this year because of the short time left for Congress to finish work on it.

After nine months of work, the Senate Environment Committee approved the bill 15-1 on Thursday and sent it to the Senate floor. Sen. Steven Symms, R-Idaho, cast the only dissenting vote.

Committee chairman Robert Stafford, R-Vt., called the bill, which is supported by environmentalists, "a major step... toward protecting the health of Americans."

But the long process of winning the committee's approval may have doomed enactment this year. The Senate cannot turn to the measure until mid-September, leaving little time before the target Oct. 8 adjournment.

Stafford said he was uncertain when Senate Majority Leader Howard H. Baker Jr. might schedule the bill for floor debate, but he said the timing could depend on what the House does with its clean air bill.

"I see no sense in putting the Senate through a week of agony if there is no House bill," said Stafford.

And the House bill is in trouble. The House Energy and Commerce Committee, debating an industry-backed bill radically different from the Senate version, abandoned Thursday night its efforts to complete work before the Labor Day recess.

Rep. Henry Waxman, D-Calif., leader of the environmentalist faction on the panel, pronounced the House bill dead after the committee adjourned Thursday. He predicted the bill would not pass this year because of the short time remaining in Congress and Republican opposition to hazardous air pollutant controls.

But Rep. John Dingell, D-Mich., the committee's chairman and sponsor of the House bill, disagreed. "I haven't seen his coroner's license yet," Dingell told reporters when asked about Waxman's comment. "We will bring the bill back up" after Congress returns Sept. 8.

Although budgetary authorization for the Clean Air Act expired in September 1981, that provision was only a technical requirement to get the law before Congress for periodic reviews.

The standards and deadlines in the law remain in effect until changed by Congress.

The Senate bill makes few changes in the current law and expands some programs to the linking of environmentalists.

It continues auto pollution standards at their present level, mandates an acid rain control program calling for reductions of sulfur dioxide emissions throughout the East, and imposes new deadlines on the administration to move against toxic air pollutants.

The bill also simplifies the current system of protecting air quality in areas that are now relatively pristine, changes that are opposed by environmentalists. The changes also are opposed by industry lobbyists, however, who feel they don't go far enough.

It also extends pollution compliance standards for non-ferrous smelters, a major source of pollution in the West, and extends general compliance deadlines for meeting air quality standards, as late as 1992 in some instances.

Environmental lobbyists said generally the bill meets their goal of making only streamlining changes in the law.

Richard E. Ayres, chairman of the National Clean Air Coalition, said the committee bill "would maintain a strong clean air program. ... We will be working hard to see these amendments adopted into law before the November election."

The National Audubon Society said it "enthusiastically endorses" the bill, calling it "a strong Clean Air Act that guarantees progress towards a clean and healthy environment."

Changes on the Senate floor could allow "reasonable legislation that allow economic growth to proceed in tandem with environmental progress."

Reaction from the business community, which feels the current law is cumbersome and unrealistic, was less favorable.

"The industrial states that are going to be affected by this legislation were not represented on the committee and will be represented on the floor," she said.

Incident hurts police image around Boston

By SUSAN ESSOYAN
Associated Press Writer

EVERETT, Mass. — Some residents of Everett and Chelsea, two tough, working-class towns, say they're afraid to call the police.

Others say their trust for that blue-collar hero — the cop on the beat — has eroded, and there have been displays of contempt.

The attitude stems from a bloody brawl between police and civilians in a motel room that left eight civilians and four officers seriously injured. One civilian later died. No arrests were made.

A dozen police officers from the two towns are accused of beating, with fists and clubs, 12 people attending a July 23 homecoming party for Charles Dimino, 21, who was on leave from the Army.

A grand jury is hearing secret testimony about the melee, but no charges have been issued.

"I would call it contempt," says one officer when asked how residents treat him. "They look at me like I was less than human, then make a clucking sound and turn away." The officer, who was not involved in the incident, asked that his name not be used.

Recently, one elderly woman even spat on an Everett police officer in a bank, says Everett Police Chief Donald Bontempo, who has received dozens of protest calls and letters.

"How can you trust the police if they do things like that?" asked Carol Cafazzo, grocery shopping with her baby.

"They're supposed to protect you and then they go and do something like that. I wouldn't call them if I was in trouble," she said.

Other residents interviewed on Everett's main street agreed.

"The whole thing stinks," said Fred Bruno, 69, a retired dry cleaner. "They had no right to abuse those civilians, regardless of their feelings."

Arthur Guttadauro, owner of the King Arthur Motel and Lounge where the violent incident took place, said, "They had uniforms on, but they weren't cops, they were animals."

The policemen's side of the story has not been told in public.

Bontempo and Acting Police Chief Thomas Evans of neighboring Chelsea say their officers cannot comment, citing a request from Suffolk County District Attorney Newman Flanagan.

"We'll see what comes out of the grand jury," Bontempo said, adding that the forced silence is frustrating his crew.

"We want to talk so bad it's frightening," said one officer who asked not to be identified. "But the first thing we do, we'll have the D.A. on us... I get angry and I have to bite my tongue."

Attorneys for the policemen also are mum.

"It would be totally inappropriate for me to comment with an ongoing investigation," said Donald L. Conn, attorney for an Everett officer.

Everett, with a population of 38,000 crowded into three square miles, and Chelsea, population 27,000, are part of the blue-collar area surrounding Boston Harbor, where rows of wooden homes mix with abandoned warehouses and shells of manufacturing firms.

The King Arthur, in a produce district, houses a restaurant, motel rooms and a lounge with scantily clad dancers. It is frequented by truckers.

Witnesses allege off-duty Everett policeman John McLeod somehow got into a fight with Dimino at the King Arthur bar. The two exchanged blows and the officer left, Dimino said.

McLeod soon returned with colleagues from police departments in both towns. Dimino and his friends say the police chased eight men and four women into a motel room over the lounge, broke down the door, used Mace and beat them with night sticks and clubs.

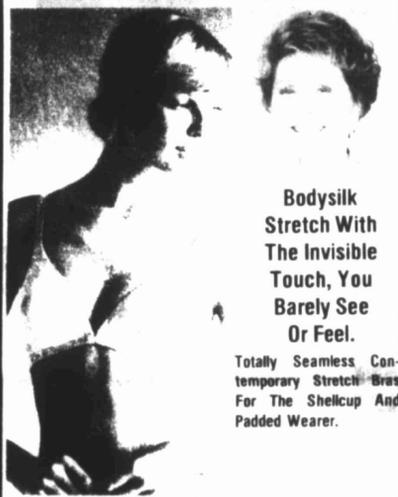

In Room 209, the scars remain. Bloodstains still streak a mattress and sink. A couch stands on end. Shards of glass from shattered mirrors glitter on the carpet.

Joseph Bordonaro, 54, of Everett, died several days later while being treated for a head wound. Bordonaro had been recovering from a hip injury suffered in an auto accident and could walk only with a cane when the fight took place.

Parasitic infections reported

ATLANTA (AP) — Exposure to infested water apparently caused parasitic infections in 14 people in California and a group of travelers to Africa, the national Center for Disease Control says.

In California, 14 people entered a cove of the Mad River in 1981 and became infected, the CDC said Thursday in its Morbidity and Mortality Weekly Report. The infection resolved itself in several days.

The patients reported an intense itching in the anal area, the CDC said. The parasites apparently penetrated the skin and died, because humans are not suitable hosts, the CDC said. The dead organisms caused cercarial dermatitis, or swimmer's itch.

"I do not want to give the impression that you're going to get swimmer's itch every time you swim in nature," said Dr. Robert Fontaine, a CDC epidemiologist. "I simply would not depend on assuming that naturally occurring fresh water ... is safe to bathe in."

The African case involved a similar organism, but a more severe disease and one that doesn't occur in the United States, he said.

Miss Ford competes in beauty pageant

Felicia Ford, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. V.P. Dunbar of 424 Edwards Blvd. and Roy Ford of Big Spring, has been invited to represent Texas at the America's Perfect Teen National finals to be held at the Ocean Dunes Resort in Myrtle Beach, S.C., Sept. 16-18.

Miss Ford was named Miss Texas Perfect Teen after she submitted a photograph and autobiographical information to the America's Perfect Teen National Headquarters in Huntington, W. Va.

Miss Ford will be competing with teens from across the country for the title of America's Perfect Teen. The winner will receive $1,000 and a fur jacket plus other valuable prizes and awards.

Expenses for Miss Ford during her stay in Myrtle Beach will be paid by the America's Perfect Teen organization. She will be met at the airport by a member of the APT staff, and chaperoned at all times.

Contestants will be judged on personality, poise and charm; character, leadership qualifications, and personal and civic achievements; physical fitness presentations and beauty.

Lagourney retires after 40 years at VA Hospital

Stan Lagourney, hospital housekeeping officer at the Veterans Administration Medical Center, will retire September 3. He has served the federal government for 40 years. Twenty-three of those years have been at VAMC.

Lagourney was awarded a 40-year service pin and certificate at the Incentive Awards Recognition ceremony, August 11. He is the first employee to receive such an award at VAMC for this length of service.

Lagourney began his career with the U.S. Army service unit in Richmond, Va., July 8, 1942. In December of 1942, Lagourney left to serve in the U.S. Army. He returned to his federal job in 1945. In 1957, he transferred to the VA Hospital in Richmond, Va. Lagourney came to as Big Spring as chief, building management service at the VAMC, June 1959.

Lagourney says he has been happy being a civil servant and advises anyone about to choose a career to consider working for the federal government for it's a satisfying experience. He will continue to live in Big Spring and spend his leisure time pursuing his favorite hobbies.

Dr. Donohue

Black tongue: a remedy

Dear Dr. Donohue: The enclosed dog-eared copy of an article of yours has been in my wallet for many months—ever since I developed black tongue. I certainly hope the woman who wrote about her problem has recovered. I haven't.

I had gone to a throat specialist for a sore throat and was given antibiotics. My problem disappeared, but black tongue arrived to replace it. I was given Mycostatin. That didn't work. Later, I saw your article and showed it to my doctor.

This was the column wherein you recommended a "solution of aqueous caprylate." He did some research, and even called a researcher at a nearby university to identify it. No one seems to know what it is. I hope you still have a file on this malady and on your remedy. If you have any solution, I would appreciate it.—Mrs. J.J.

Bear with me, Mrs. J.J., while I very briefly tell other readers what black tongue is. It is usually a symptomless, harmless, but unnerving change in the color of the tongue surface. It often follows use of antibiotics, and the immediate cause of the blackness is a lengthening of the taste buds coupled with the growth of harmless fungus.

What has happened is a decimation of normal mouth bacteria by the antibiotic. Such bacteria normally keep such fungus as that causing black tongue in check.

Usually, black tongue does go away in time. The Mycostatin you took is an anti-fungal medicine, so you see, your doctor was doing the right thing for you. It won't always work.

So here we are, full circle, and into the subject of caprylate. My reference for this treatment is "Fundamentals of Otolaryngology" by Adams, Boies and Paparella. Caprylate is a salt of caprylic acid. The authors suggest use of a weak solution of it as a mouth-wash to treat black tongue.

Now, will you tell your doctor that I have no personal experience with its use. But if he would like to try it, there's the reference. And will you let me know if this solution is your solution.

I take a somewhat perverse satisfaction from all this. In my practice I was frequently confronted with dog-eared copies of old articles like yours. Now, the shoe is on the other foot.

Screening to be held for blood pressure, hearing and vision

A free screening program that includes a check for high blood pressure and tests for hearing loss and vision problems will be held Thursday. The American Heart Association, Belton Hearing Aid Company and Dr. John Marshall, a local optometrist, will be participating in the program. Testing will take place from 10 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. with no appointment necessary.

According to the American Public Health Association, hearing loss and vision problems are two of the most prevalent, chronic health problems in the United States. These problems are not limited to one specific age group, as both children and adults are affected.

There are about fourteen and a half million Americans, including three million school age children, who have a hearing problem serious enough to need surgery, medical treatment or a hearing aid.

Parents of school age children need to watch for clues as to any possible vision or hearing difficulties.

Family affairs affect work output

Do family affairs affect work output? Conditions that affect the stability of American families do have an impact on family members' work productivity, says Diane Welch, a family life education specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Often children won't tell their parents of a problem as they are not aware anything is wrong.

One vision problem that should be detected in young children is amblyopia or "lazy eye." A child with poor vision in one eye will use his good eye and let the other one stray. If not treated, the result can be a permanent loss of vision. If detected early, the problem is easily treatable.

People with blurred vision, difficulties in judging distances, poor depth perception, near sightedness or far sightedness should be checked.

"Pharmacists have identified a role for themselves in health care," says pharmacist Clint Holloman. "We believe our continuing efforts to offer free screenings to the public are helping people to live longer, healthier lives."

Children of aging parents offered help

A new program "As Parents Grow Older" will be offered at Malone-Hogan Hospital or members of the "sandwich generation," people concerned about their aging parents or who know they will be faced with those particular problems in the next few years.

The program will consist of a series of six sessions beginning October 4 on Monday evenings from 7:30 to 9:30 in the hospital's private dining room. The session will end Nov. 8.

The program is designed to be a discussion and support group for people who are or will be facing the problems involved in caring for aging parents. Some areas to be covered include communication problems, management of stressful times, and the psychological and physical processes of aging.

Enrollment will be limited; however, according to the response the hospital gets to such a program, they may decide to make it an ongoing project.

People who wish to apply must send their name, address, relationship to aging relative, home and business phone numbers, and a check for $5 payable to Malone-Hogan Hospital by Sept. 27.

For additional information on the program, call or write to As Parents Grow Older, Malone-Hogan Hospital, 1601 W. 11th, Big Spring, TX 79720, (915) 263-1211 ext. 100.

'The City that Saved Itself' fights to keep Harvester alive

By JOHN M. DOYLE
Associated Press Writer

FORT WAYNE, Ind. — Twenty thousand volunteers and a million sandbags stopped the spring floods in Fort Wayne. Now the volunteers and sandbags are out again in "The City That Saved Itself."

A new threat faces this northern Indiana city of 180,000, where the three rivers that chased thousands from their homes in March are now peaceful summertime brooks.

International Harvester is in trouble, and that means big trouble for Fort Wayne, where 6,000 Harvester workers have lost their jobs in the past four years. In jeopardy are the remaining 4,000 Harvester jobs here.

Harvester, one of the nation's largest truck and farm implement makers, reported a third-quarter loss of $129.8 million Thursday and expects the year's losses to exceed $300 million.

The company is in the midst of negotiations with bankers holding $4.2 billion in loans. Officials say that in order to stay afloat, they must shut either the truck plant here or the one in Springfield, Ohio. A plant in Canada is expected to remain open.

Harvester officials are expected to decide in the next two weeks on which plant to keep. It all hinges on which town comes up with the best financial package.

Fort Wayne has traded sandbags for a letter-writing campaign and is working with the state to hammer out a deal that will satisfy Harvester. Springfield, about 100 miles southeast, is doing the same.

More than 101,000 letters have been collected in the Fort Wayne campaign. They have been wrapped symbolically in sandbags.

"It's incredible how this city has risen to the challenge," said Richard Clark, Chamber of Commerce president. "One woman came up to me and asked if she could sign her dead husband's name. She said he used to work at Harvester, and would sign it if he was alive."

If Harvester closes, "it would create a depression," says Mark Angel, the mayoral assistant coordinating the city's efforts. "Local economists predict an unemployment rate above 20 percent. It now stands at 12.6 percent."

At the United Auto Workers union hall across the street from the 333-acre Harvester plant, Local 57 vice president Dick Gaskill is worried.

Automakers report layoffs, production up this week

DETROIT (AP) — The five major domestic car-makers report indefinite layoffs among U.S. autoworkers this week stand at 216,697, up from 214,295 last week and due mostly to more layoffs at General Motors Corp.

Also Thursday, officials at GM and the United Auto Workers union said more furloughs will take effect in the coming weeks as GM assembly plant adjustments for the 1983 models prompt shutdowns or cuts in component plants.

Meanwhile, an industry trade journal reported U.S. car production this week will be up 11.7 percent to 72,547 from last week's 64,954.

The automakers said temporary layoffs this week fell to 39,100 from last week's 56,750 as some model changeovers were completed.

"We will be seeing an additional impact in some component plants" as GM delays or cuts production of new models in four U.S. assembly plants because of poor sales, said GM spokesman Bill Winters.

The indefinite closing of facilities in Framingham, Mass., and Lakewood, Ga., and elimination of shifts at North Tarrytown, N.Y., and Leeds, Mo., affecting 9,100 employees, were announced Monday.

But neither Winters nor Karl Mantyla, UAW spokesman, would say how many component plant workers might be affected or when the layoffs might begin.

GM reported 128,000 U.S. autoworkers on indefinite layoff this week, up from 125,000 last week because of the closing of a Pontiac Division assembly plant and companion Fisher Body facility in Pontiac, Mich.

Temporary layoffs totaled 20,750, down from last week's 37,450 as some plants finished model changeovers. Plants still closed for changeover are at: Oklahoma City, Framingham, Janesville, Wis., Leeds, Wilmington, Del., Detroit and Pontiac, GM said.

Ford Motor Co. reported 43,747 autoworkers on indefinite layoff, up from 43,645 last week because of scattered people added to the rolls. Temporary layoffs rose to 7,750 from last week's 5,000. Ford said plants in Chicago and Atlanta remained closed for model changeover, and a shift was dropped at the Lorain, Ohio, plant. A plant in Louisville, Ky., is down for inventory adjustment, the automaker said.

Chrysler Corp. said it had 40,500 autoworkers on indefinite layoff, down from 40,600 last week. Temporary layoffs dipped to 7,300 from last week's 10,800 as some components plants resumed work. Assembly facilities in Belvidere, Ill., and Newark, Del., are down for model changeover, Chrysler said.

American Motors Corp. said it had 3,050 autoworkers on indefinite layoff, down from 3,650 last week as workers were called back at Kenosha, Wis. Temporary layoffs were unchanged at zero.

Volkswagen of America Inc. indefinite layoffs were 1,400, unchanged. Temporary layoffs fell to 3,300 from 3,500 last week as the South Charleston, W. Va., plant resumes work.

Automotive News said this week's build of 72,947 cars will be down 32.5 percent from 107,454 produced in the week last year.

Rare tigers born in zoo

CINCINNATI (AP) — Three rare, white Bengal tigers born at the Cincinnati Zoo are being watched by personnel 24 hours a day. The births bring to 22 the total born at the park, which has nearly half of the more than 50 tigers that have been born in the world's zoos.

Two other tiger cubs were born last November to a different mother, said spokeswoman Janet Ross.

Sumita, which is Indian for "very good friend," gave birth to the trio early Thursday morning. The cubs were sired by Bhim, which is Indian for "great fighter."

Aggies, Sherrill starting all over

By MICHAEL A. LUTZ
AP Sports Writer

COLLEGE STATION, Texas (AP) — Jackie Sherrill's rule for evaluating a football team's offense is to start with the quarterback and then move on to the offensive line.

That means Sherrill at least starts out smiling when applying the rule to his own Texas Aggie football team because of the many talents of quarterback Gary Kubiak.

"Gary is a player with the intelligence factor and athletic ability to adapt to our offensive philosophy," Sherrill said. "He's got a quick, soft release, plus he can operate the option. The only thing he doesn't have is a cannon. He can't stand at the end of a hall and throw to the other end without hitting the ball, but few can."

1982 Preview

Sherrill was concerned as he started his first spring training with the Aggies that he would be able to get his multiple offensive scheme across.

"We're going to use a multiple offense," he said. "Anything that you want to draw up, we'll probably be using it."

Kubiak set a Southwest Conference record of six touchdown passes against Rice last season and also launched a record 92-yard TD to Don Jones. He returned in the spring to quickly digest Sherrill's offensive thoughts.

"He not only wants to know his assignment but everybody else's too," Sherrill said of Kubiak.

Sherrill, who left Pittsburgh and one of the top offensive lines in the country, isn't as glowing in the next step of his evaluation, the Aggie offensive line, but he's encouraged.

"Our offensive line has done an excellent job of getting on the weights and getting stronger," Sherrill said. "With an offensive line you'd like to be able to rattle off 15 names of people who could play but we don't have that."

Sherrill had to replace only three offensive starters. Tim Ward, 6-5, 275, has returned from a year's absence to start at right guard and sophomore Matt Darwin has moved in at center. Split end Mike Whitwell, a graduated four-year letterman, will be replaced by Jimmy Teal.

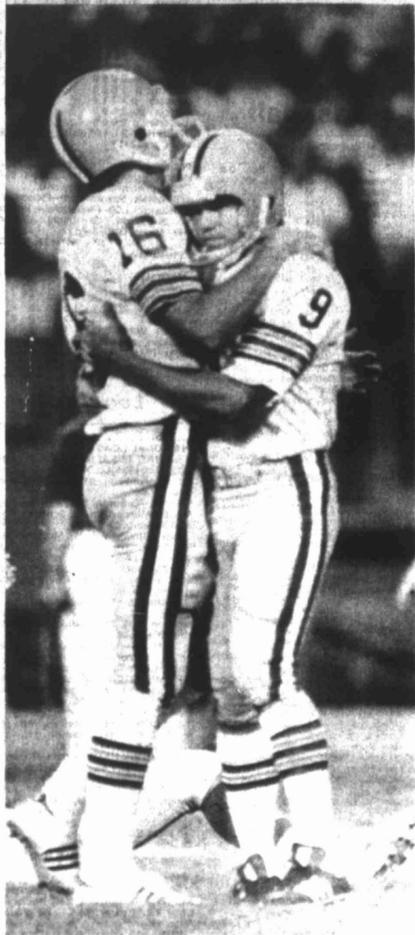

Johnny Hector and Earnest Jackson return as running backs and Jimmy Williams is back at flanker.

The defense also lost only three starters and will be strong in the secondary with safeties Jeff Fuller and Billy Cannon and cornerback Greg Williams. Tackle Ray Childress will anchor the defensive line.

"How good we will be I don't know," Sherrill said. "I think we will be competitive but we have't lined up and played anyone yet and I'm not looking forward to playing four tough games on the road."

"The whole conference is going to come down to a team getting a couple of players hurt and not being there at the end."

Next in the series is a look at the Baylor Bears, coming this Sunday.

WAY TO GO, MATT — Cleveland Browns quarterback Paul McDonald (16) hugs placekicker Matt Barr (9) after the veteran kicker had booted a 34-yard field goal to nip the Los Angeles Rams 26-23 Thursday night.

Browns nip Rams

CLEVELAND (AP) — When asked about his battle for the Cleveland Browns' quarterbacking job, Paul McDonald acts unconcerned.

But the blood dripping down his face after the Browns' 26-23 victory over the Los Angeles Rams Thursday night told a different story.

McDonald completed 16 of 25 passes for 245 yards, all in the second half, rallying the Browns from a 13-6 halftime deficit.

"This was a patented Browns' finish," said McDonald, a third-year pro hoping to unseat Brian Sipe as Cleveland's starter. "I'm playing well, and I saw coverages and defenses more clearly than I did against Detroit last week."

McDonald threw a 25-yard scoring pass to Dan Fulton with 1:54 left in the game to tie it 23-23, then hit Dino Hall with a 31-yarder to set up Matt Barr's game-winning 34-yard field goal with three seconds remaining.

Sipe completed seven of 15 passes for 69 yards with two interceptions in the first half.

"Having two like that (Sipe and McDonald) just makes us a better team," said Browns' Coach Sam Rutigliano.

McDonald needed two stitches in his face after the game, the result of a hit by Rams' lineman Jack Youngblood.

"He apologized. He asked if I was all right," McDonald said.

Barr's winning field goal was his fourth of the night and capped a 51-yard drive that started when Rams' running back Robert Alexander fumbled at Cleveland's 32-yard line.

"I was coming out of a spin when I was hit, and that's when I lost the ball," said Alexander, who returned seven kickoffs for 148 yards. "We didn't win and I had the fumble, so all I did in the previous times didn't matter."

Barr connected on field goals of 44 and 47 yards in the first half, but the Rams held a 13-6 halftime edge thanks to 1-yard touchdown runs by Wendell Tyler and Mike Guman.

A 27-yarder by Barr pulled Cleveland within 13-9 early in the third quarter. Los Angeles' Mike Lansford responded with a 34-yard kick to make it 16-9.

David Green scooted 9 yards on a draw play late in the period as the Browns tied it 16-16, but Green's fumble at his own 1-yard line midway through the final quarter set up the Rams' final touchdown, a 1-yard run by Jewel Thomas.

"Overall, we played some pretty good football," said Rams' Coach Ray Malavasi. "Our first defensive unit made some big plays — like the two interceptions — and we moved the ball well offensively."

The Rams' starting quarterback, Bert Jones, completed six of eight first-half passes for 73 yards. Vince Ferragamo, returning to Los Angeles from the Canadian Football League, played the second half and hit on eight of 17 passes for 87 yards.

Cook drives into Buick lead

GRAND BLANC, Mich. (AP) — At the tender age of 24, John Cook felt like his faltering golf game was ruining his life.

In desperation, Cook turned to retired pro Ken Venturi and together they began pointing Cook's formidable talents back in the right direction.

It all paid off on a windswept summer day in Michigan as Cook crafted a 35-30-65 to take the first-round lead in the $350,000 Buick Open, a tournament that will pay $63,000 to the winner.

Cook's only tour victory came in the 1981 Bing Crosby National Pro-Am. He later finished fourth in the Kemper Open and tied for fourth in the 1981 U.S. Open.

Then the bottom fell out; he suddenly and mysteriously — as so many golfers do in this delicate game — lost his swing.

Cook admitted that today could be a big day for him; seeing if he can handle it two days in a row. If his performance on the back nine Thursday is any indication, however, he ought to do just fine — whether he maintains the lead or not.

Cook birdied the first hole at the 7,001-yard, par-72 layout at Warwick Hills, then played even par the rest of the front side to make the turn at 1-under, giving no indication of what was to come.

On the back nine, Cook birdied six holes, including four in a row from 14 through 17 and just missed another bird on 18. The key, howyev, was the par-3 No. 17 where he had to snake in a 40-foot uphill with about an eight-foot break.

"I was kind of keeping an eye on myself to see how I would handle the last couple of holes, after I knew I had it going," Cook said. "Your mind plays funny tricks. That putt at 17 just made my whole day."

One stroke behind Cook at the start of today's play were Lanny Wadkins and Curtis Strange, both at 66. Bob Eastwood was alone at 67. A relative newcomer on the tour, 25-year-old Payne Stewart, was tied at 68 with John Adams.

Masters champion Craig Stadler was in a five-way tie with Victor Regalado, Scott Simpson, Don Hallidorson and Mike Smith at 69 while defending Buick Open champion Hale Irwin was in a group of 15 golfers at 2-under 70.

ANOTHER FOR RICKEY — Oakland's base stealer Sid Henderson (35) looks up to second base umpire Drew Coble for his call as Milwaukee second baseman Jim Gantner takes a fall after Henderson stole his 111th base of the season in the seventh inning of Thursday night's game. Henderson now is within seven stolen bases of matching Lou Brock's season record of 118.

Astros top Phils again

HOUSTON (AP) — Houston outfielder Denny Walling's single to center with one out in the 11th inning lifted the Astros to a 7-6 comeback victory over the Philadelphia Phillies Thursday night.

Danny Heep drew a walk from loser Sid Monge, 5-1, to lead off the 11th. Heep was sacrificed to second by Dickie Thon, setting the stage for Walling's game winner.

Dave Smith, 2-4, pitched one-hit relief over the final three innings for the win.

The Astros rallied from a 6-2 deficit to tie the score with three runs in the fifth and one in the eighth off Steve Carlton, who pitched 10 innings for the Phils.

Ray Knight reached first leading off the eighth on third baseman Mike Schmidt's fielding error and was replaced by pinch-runner Craig Reynolds. Phil Garner's bloop single to center sent Reynolds to third, and he scored on Jose Cruz RBI forecourt second, making 7-6.

Houston scored in the first on an RBI double by Garner, but Garry Maddox's sixth homer of the year, a two-run blast in the second, gave the Phils a 2-1 lead.

The Phils added three more runs in the third. Maddox, who had five RBI, laced a two-run single and Bill Robinson added an RBI single to make it 5-1.

Knight tripled in Houston starter Bob Knepper in the bottom of the third, but Maddox's run-scoring single in the fourth made it 6-2.

An RBI single by Knight and Garner's two-run triple in the fifth cut the Phils' lead to 6-5.

National League

Braves 5, Expos 4

Pascual Perez got lost trying to drive his way to the ballpark, but Phil Niekro was able to put the Atlanta Braves back on the right track.

"I never expected to pitch tonight," said Niekro after filling in for the AWOL Perez and pitching the Braves to a 5-4 victory over the Montreal Expos Thursday night. "I felt a little more tired than I usually do — but sometimes when they catch you off-guard, it's good."

Niekro was thrown into the breach when Perez, a relative newcomer to Atlanta, got lost when he rented a car and drove himself to Atlanta Stadium for the first time. He finally arrived in a $100 fine for his tardiness.

Claudell Washington was the hitting hero for Atlanta, smashing a two-run homer and then a run-scoring single in the seventh for the winning run.

Cubs 8, Dodgers 2

Bill Buckner whacked four hits, including a double and a homer, and Jay Johnstone also homered, leading a 17-hit Chicago attack as the Cubs pounded Los Angeles.

Ferguson Jenkins, 8-13, checked the NL West-leading Dodgers on four hits, walked three and struck out four in chase Hoyt.

Salome Barojas almost got out of the jam, coaxing a double play grounder from Greg Pryor, while White held at third. Second baseman Tony Bernazard then made a good play on Willie Wilson's sharp grounder, but threw wildly to first, allowing White to score on what was ruled an infield hit.

Brewers 10, A's 6

Fred Stanley hit his first homer in three years for Oakland, but Milwaukee bats were hot again as the Brewers snapped a four-game losing streak to increase their East Division lead to four games.

Ben Oglivie's three-run homer gave Milwaukee a 7-2 lead as it scored four unearned runs in the fifth inning. Paul Molitor contributed four hits, scored three runs and knocked in two.

Pete Vuckovich, 14-4, got the victory despite allowing nine hits, including six for extra bases, in six innings. Matt Keough, 10-16, took the loss but only three of the eight runs he allowed were earned.

Rickey Henderson of the A's stole his 111th base of the season, pulling to within seven of Lou Brock's major league record. Tony Armas hit his 20th homer for Oakland.

Ruidoso

RUIDOSO DOWNS, N.M. (AP) — Sundays Payday captured the featured race at Ruidoso Downs horse racetrack Thursday, clocking the 6 furlongs in 1:14.

The colt left the starting gate a bit sluggishly from the No. 9 slot, took a wide swing into the backstretch and eventually reached the top of the stretch ahead of the field.

Sundays Payday returned $2.40 to win, $2.20 to place and $2.40 to show.

A crowd of 3,771 watched a total of $399,780 at the 12-race card.

Here are Thursday's race results:

First — 400 yards: Shurfine Sinn 4.80, 2.30, 3.60; Flaming Pharaoh 20.20, 10.20; April Boone (DH) 6.40; Chess Crisp (DH) 7.20, 4.20 — 25.75.

Second — 5 1/2 furlongs: Mr. Canadian Bars 14.00, 7.20, 4.80; Luper's Lupine 5.00, 3.80; S'Trate Brook 3.20, T — 1-10.

Gaines, Caulkins grab gold

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — Rowdy Gaines, less than a second off his world record time in the 200-meter freestyle, and Tracy Caulkins, successfully defending her national title in the women's 400-individual medley, earned their second gold medals in the U.S. Swimming Long Course Championships Thursday night.

Gaines, 23, of Winter Haven, Fla., was clocked at 1 minute, 49.64 seconds, fading in the final 75 meters in his bid to break the world record of 1:48.93 he set last month.

Gaines, the world record holder in the 100-freestyle, also won that event on Wednesday, the first of four days of competition at the Indiana University Natatorium.

"Whenever I jump in the water, I'm trying for a record," said Gaines, a senior at Auburn University and silver medalist in the 200-freestyle at the world championships in Ecuador two weeks ago. "But first and foremost, I try to win. The record, if it comes, is second."

"I think, probably, at the 125 (meter) mark, I just dropped off. I stopped my steady kick. I was starting to hurt a little bit," said Gaines. "I knew I had the race in hand, and I didn't want to take a chance of really hurting myself. I wanted to make sure I just won."

Noting his narrow miss of the record, Gaines said, "Eight-tenths of a second... I could have made that up. I should have. It was a stupid race."

Second place went to Mike Heath, 18, Dallas, Texas, with a time of 1:50.92. Rich Saeger of Mission Viejo, Calif., was third at 1:51.13, and David Larson of Gainesville, Fla., the defending long course champion, finished fourth at 1:51.20.

Caulkins, 19, Nashville, Tenn., followed her victory in the 200-backstroke on Wednesday with the 400-individual medley, her 41st national title — the most by any U.S. swimmer in history.

Caulkins, who has not lost to an American in the 400-medley since 1977, had an easy victory with a time of 4:44.26, nearly five seconds faster than second-place Vera Barker's 4:49.24. Barker, 17, is a high school senior in Mission Viejo, Calif. Third place went to Polly Winde, 18, Ellicott City, Md., who was timed at 4:49.36.

Caulkins' time was nearly four seconds off her own American record of 4:40.61, but she said she wasn't concerned.

"In this meet, I was more relaxed. I was just trying to see if I could do better than I have done this summer. I wasn't really thinking about time. When I don't try for a certain time, it takes away some pressure I put on myself."

Ricardo Prado, 17, also of Mission Viejo and world

Gura gets win No. 15

Larry Gura didn't take the easy road to become the first 15-year winner in the American League this season.

The box score of the White Sox-Royals game looks routine enough, with Gura allowing five hits in seven shutout innings. But what the record books won't show is that the Kansas City left-hander pitched almost the entire game with a groin muscle pull.

Royals Manager Dick Howser nervously watched the veteran left-hander work in pain for seven innings before calling on Dan Quisenberry to get the last two outs of Kansas City's 3-0 victory Thursday night.

"I could see him grimace on some pitches," Howser said. "He wanted to stay in the game, but we can't afford to lose him. You don't want to take a chance injuring his arm because he was changing his style."

Gura, 15-8, who hasn't allowed a run in his last 17 innings of pitching, out-dueled LaMarr Hoyt, who also had 14 victories going into the game.

Hoyt, 14-11, was nicked for single runs in the second, fourth and seventh as the White Sox, who have rallied in the past month to get in the AL West race, lost their third straight game.

Doubles got the Royals started in each of those innings.

Willie Aikens led off the second with a double and came around on groundouts by Jerry Martin and Frank White. Martin doubled in the fourth and scored on a single by White, who led off the seventh with another two-base hit and went to third when John Wathan singled to chase Hoyt.

American League

Salome Barojas almost got out of the jam, coaxing a double play grounder from Greg Pryor, while White held at third. Second baseman Tony Bernazard then made a good play on Willie Wilson's sharp grounder, but threw wildly to first, allowing White to score on what was ruled an infield hit.

Brewers 10, A's 6

Fred Stanley hit his first homer in three years for Oakland, but Milwaukee bats were hot again as the Brewers snapped a four-game losing streak to increase their East Division lead to four games.

Ben Oglivie's three-run homer gave Milwaukee a 7-2 lead as it scored four unearned runs in the fifth inning. Paul Molitor contributed four hits, scored three runs and knocked in two.

Pete Vuckovich, 14-4, got the victory despite allowing nine hits, including six for extra bases, in six innings. Matt Keough, 10-16, took the loss but only three of the eight runs he allowed were earned.

Rickey Henderson of the A's stole his 111th base of the season, pulling to within seven of Lou Brock's major league record. Tony Armas hit his 20th homer for Oakland.

Your Daily HOROSCOPE

from the CARROLL RIGHTER INSTITUTE

FORECAST FOR SATURDAY, AUG. 21, 1982

GENERAL TENDENCIES: The daytime finds you able to better understand what is going on about you and you are able to see both sides of whatever situation arises. A time for enjoying the good things in life.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Handling personal affairs well is best way to spend your free time today. Try not to lose your temper with anyone.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Getting together with good friends at the amusements mutually enjoyed makes this an extremely happy day for all.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Engage in outside activities you enjoy. The evening is best for the social side of life. Think constructively.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) The study of new outlets is important today since you need to add to present income to gain your aims.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) You can cut down on regular work load by using new methods that make your tasks lighter. Take it easy tonight.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Show that you are anxious to do more than your share of the work to gain your objectives. Steer clear of arguments.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Study the fundamentals of a new project you have in mind before putting it in operation. Show more devotion to loved one.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Getting out to the amusements you enjoy during the day brings the happiness you seek. Improve your appearance.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Good day to show more devotion to family members and gain greater happiness. Spend less, save more.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) A good day to study your true objectives in life and to decide on the best way to gain them. Make improvements to property.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Plan how you can save more money for the material things you will need in the future. Express happiness to others.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) You can now gain a desire that has been difficult to accomplish in the past. Make plans to have more abundance in the future.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he or she will easily understand what others are thinking and will be highly sensitive to the surroundings. There could be fame and fortune in this chart, especially where the sciences are concerned. Religious training should start early.

TAKE THE LONG VIEW

Who doesn't dream, sometimes? Who doesn't stand gazing out the future, picturing that new house, that graduation day, that wedding ceremony, that new car... the thousand and one dreams that man holds in his heart?

We realize that a world of intricate machinery must contain more than just material substances. Without a confident frame of mind, our future will be nothing but a series of uncertainties. Where do we find this inner feeling of content, that will make things easier to accomplish every day?

Millions of people find it in the Christian faith. The apostle Paul said that he was strengthened, encouraged, and sustained by faith in Christ, and this truth is constantly being rediscovered by men and women everywhere in search of something they can trust.

It is this key to peace of mind. With faith, you will be able to accomplish anything you desire.

Pastor enjoys new church, town

By RHONDA WOODALL
 Church Editor
 "I was called to the ministry when I was 12 years old. I wasn't quite sure to what type of ministry, but I later knew God wanted me to be a pastor," said Dan Curry, pastor of the First Baptist Church of Coahoma. Curry has pastored the Coahoma church for 4½ months.
 His father also is a minister, but Curry doesn't believe his father is why he decided to become a minister. "I sort of knew what I was getting into. He probably influenced me more than I think he did, but he wasn't the primary reason I became a minister. The influence I received from him was by his devotion, dedication and commitment to being a minister," Curry said.
 "My most rewarding experience being a minister is being ordained into the ministry, being questioned and then a church ordaining me and setting me aside as a minister," Curry said.
 In his ministry, Curry enjoys working with people the most. "I like working with people. I love to visit and get to know people and their problems. I enjoy speaking to people and I like to share in their crises. I enjoy what I'm doing or I wouldn't be doing it," Curry said.
 However, there are some parts of the ministry Curry doesn't enjoy. "I don't enjoy all the administrative load. I wish I could spend the time doing the things I like. I have real difficulty making myself set down and study," Curry said.

DAN CURRY
 ...pastor of First Baptist Church of Coahoma

 Curry's goals for the coming year include becoming more disciplined "in my Bible study and preaching. I want to visit every home in Coahoma that is a part of the church," Curry said. "For the church, I want to grow physically in number as well as spiritually.

 "In the last year, I would say I have spent more time polishing the things I think that need to be polished, like my preaching. Part of it is out of the demand to grow. The other part is discipline."
 How has Curry been received in Coahoma? "I love the people in Coahoma. They are some of the friendliest people I know of. I haven't received anything from Coahoma but praise and cooperation for my program and what I am trying to do."
 Curry's family includes wife Alicia and sons Robin, 5, and Craig, 3. "There is no way I could pastor without the kind of family I have. My wife is very supportive and understanding of the unusual hours I work. Both of my children understand why I can't spend as much time with them as I would like to," Curry said.
 Curry has pastored for eight years in Dawson, Powell and Muleshoe. Curry was born in Seminole, but calls Kittyquade home. He graduated from Walyon Baptist College in Plainview with a bachelor of art degree in religion with a minor in history and from Southwestern Baptist Theological Seminary in Fort Worth with a master of art of divinity degree. He enjoys playing golf and is active in the Lion's Club.

Evangelist to lead church revival

BOB SMITH
 ...evangelist for First Baptist Church revival

Evangelist Bob Smith will conduct revival services at the Faith Baptist Church, 1209 Wright Street, at 10:50 a.m. and 6:30 p.m. Sunday, and 7:30 p.m. Monday through Friday, according to Dr. Bill Berryhill, pastor of the church. Sunday evening services will be aired over KBYG radio.
 Smith is a graduate of the Bible Baptist Seminary in Arlington, having completed his studies there in 1969. While a student, he served as associate pastor to Dr. C.B. Wallace of Hurstview Baptist Church in Hurst.
 Following his graduation from the Bible Baptist Seminary, he became pastor at the Central Baptist Church of Baton Rouge, La. where he served for seven years. Smith later resigned as pastor to become a full-time evangelist.

Couple to renew vows

According to Dr. Berryhill, the public is invited to the revival meetings.

The Rev. and Mrs. Willis Sparks, pastors of the Foursquare Gospel Church, will renew their wedding vows during a special service Sunday beginning at 10 a.m. at the Foursquare Gospel Church.
 Dwayne Sparks, the couple's youngest son and a licensed minister, will conduct the ceremony. The younger Sparks also is chief of police in Rosenberg.
 The Rev. and Mrs. Sparks also will dedicate their great-grandson, Micheal Stephens Carpenter, during the anniversary observance.
 The couple has two other children, Jeanette Stephens Scantlin of Kerrville, and Joe Dale Sparks of Big Spring, as well as five grandchildren and one great-grandchild.
 Rev. Sparks was born in Strong City, Okla. Mrs. Sparks was born in Diboil. She was the former Sally Arbell (Billie) Crager. Both grew up in Ballinger. Rev. Sparks for many years was a builder and contractor, and served in World War II with the 320th Engineering Battalion, 95th division. Both attended the Life Bible College in Los Angeles, Calif.
 Their children will host a reception in the church annex from 1 p.m. to 3 p.m. Sunday. The church is located at 1210 E. 19th St.

Church members to increase in gift-giving

Rev. Robert Rodisch of Support Agency told commissioners that the goal-setting process last year produced the largest increase over preceding year in total congregational receipts and is now asking United Presbyterians to increase their gifts for all causes in 1983 by 15 percent over the amount given in 1982.
 The Assembly authorized United Presbyterian Foundation to pay $307,149 in principal and interest in 1983 on $1.6 mortgage of Barber-Scotia College (N.C.) and to repay the entire loan if the college is unable to meet this obligation.
 The Assembly asked the Foundation to make available $456,000 to Creative Investment Program, to be added to $1.3 million already in use by more than 100 venture opportunities. Funds are loaned at two-thirds of market interest rate.
 The Assembly approved 1983 General Assembly per capita apportionment of $7,223,060 to be funded from per capita appointment in 1983 of $2.67 up from $2.52 this year.
 The Assembly also voted its Reserve Fund Goal be increased to $16,839,000 to cover its self-insurance fund, contingent liabilities, stabilization of current operations and capital fund needs.

New date for Easter isn't liked by some

ISTANBUL, Turkey (AP) — Eastern Orthodox Patriarch Dimitrios has received a message from heads of monastic communities on Mount Athos in Greece saying they don't like the idea of a "common celebration of Easter with heretics of all denominations."
 They were replying to the patriarch's message last Easter expressing hope that eastern and western churches soon would agree on a common date for Easter. Dates for the observance differ between the two major branches of Christianity because of varying calendars for it.

MAKING AN UNDERSTANDABLE BIBLE — Arthur Farstad, left, a Dallas Bible scholar, and Sam Moore, right, president of Thomas Nelson Publishers of Nashville, Tenn., have joined together to make a more understandable and up-to-date version of the 1611 King James version of the Bible.

Soviet Union citizens want peace with USA

LAKE JUNALUSKA, N.C. (AP) — Back from a two-week trip to the Soviet Union, a World Methodist Council executive says he found the people there yearning for peace.
 The Rev. Joe Hale, the council's secretary, says "They wanted me as a westerner to assure them we have the same objective and not a desire for war."
 Hale, who preached six times to various congregations, says people would come to him after the services, saying "We pray for peace... We pray the thought of peace will be in the mind of President Reagan."
 Hale commended evangelist Billy Graham's recent visit there as a "very positive thing" and said more personal contacts are needed between the two countries.

Religious people are seekers
 MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP) — Psychiatrist M. Scott Peck says "a fully mature religious person is not a clinger to dogma, but is an explorer, a seeker, as much if not more, than is a scientist."
