C-City celebrates 101 years

COLORADO CITY (SC) — Mitchell County's "101" Celebration in observance of its second century kicked off Friday night with 17-year-old Kakai Calloway being crowned "Miss Mitchell County" in front of a capacity crowd in the Colorado High School auditorium.

Emceeding the event and performing was former Colorado City resident Jay Boy Adams.

Runners-up to Miss Calloway were contestants Stephanie Adams, Debbie Brown, both of Loriane, and Pam Wilson and Kerry Spivey, both of Colorado City.

Yesterday's celebration in Ruddick Park saw some 2,500 people watching barbecue pits being fired-up, snow cone machines being cranked, homemade ice cream stirred, nachos heated and various other treats being prepared early by civic clubs and organizations in spite of early morning clouds and lightning.

As the weather cleared, contests got underway and the hot air balloons ascended and descended as young and old alike lined up to take a ride.

Political candidates picked their shade trees under which to set up tables and wait their turns to speak at 4 p.m. George Strake, Jr., candidate for lieutenant governor; Bill Mier, candidate for attorney general; Fred Thornberry, candidate for agricultural commissioner; Allen Clark, candidate state treasurer; Bill Hobby, incumbent lieutenant governor; and Don Dorsey and Dick Burnett, candidates for state representative; were present to address the potential Mitchell County voters.

ONE IS NOT ENOUGH — Yesterday's hot-afternoon celebrations apparently called for not just one, but two, snowcones. Marcy Schaffer shares hers with brother Kevin at Mitchell County's "101 Celebration" in Ruddick Park in Colorado City.

Tax protest deadline extended

By MIKE DOWNEY
Staff Writer

The Howard County Appraisal Review Board has decided to extend the deadline to Sept. 10 for filing protests to appeal property values, ARB member J.M. Sterling said Friday.

Originally the ARB was to stop accepting protests Aug. 20, according to Chief Appraiser Gene Pereira. Pereira had said Friday morning the appraisal office would be taking only "good cause" protests then. However, the ARB decided later Friday to extend the deadline for persons to file protests with the ARB.

"We're trying to do a conscientious job and give people an opportunity to protest," Sterling said. "No more applications will be accepted after Sept. 10."

The ARB decided to extend the protests due to misgivings about the appraisal, Sterling said. "We're concerned with the things we're finding on the appraisals," he said. "We never should have had this many problems."

Sterling stressed the ARB did not want to extend the protest deadline, which also extends the time it is forced to meet. "We don't welcome the burden — we'd like to quit tomorrow," Sterling said. "We people serving on the ARB are sacrificing our businesses to get his job done. Getting the older folks a fairer evaluation is the only satisfaction I have."

The ARB members are only paid expenses for their time spent serving on the board, according to the state property tax code.

"People are calling us saying they can't find out their values and being told they couldn't apply for protests," Sterling said. "There's not anything else we can do."

4 stabbed in Northside brawl

By CAROL DANIEL
Staff Writer

Four men were stabbed on the north side of town in an assault involving eight men Friday afternoon.

Bleeding from wounds apparently made with a knife and a broken wine bottle, the injured were taken to two Big Spring hospitals.

Although those involved reported conflicting stories, police have pieced together the following scenario.

Two men, who called themselves "partners," were drinking wine in a railroad box car. Three men entered the box car, tried to rob them of their money and wine, and then attacked them with broken wine bottles and a knife.

Three other men tried to break up the fight and the brawl spread through several blocks on the north side before police arrived on the scene.

The two men in the box car, 59-year-old Raymond Pitts of West Memphis, Ark. and 55-year-old Bobby Leonard of Route 1, Sheffield, Tex., are in stable condition at the Veteran's Administration Hospital, a hospital spokesman said.

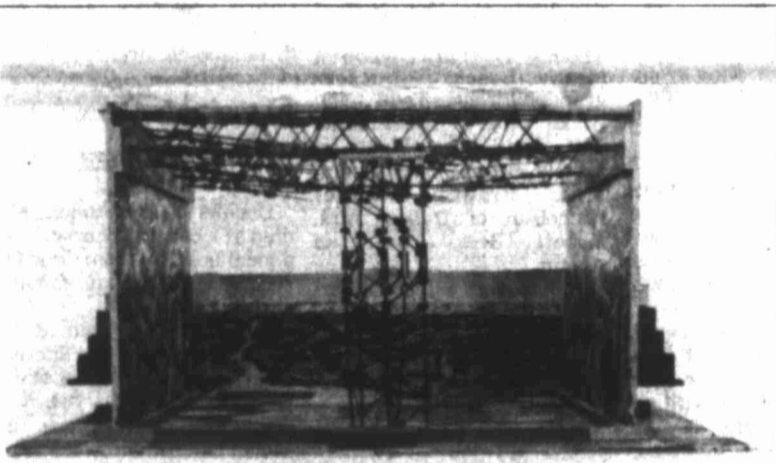

Police said Pitts was cut on the face and left arm and Leonard was cut on the face, head and neck.

'SPAN THE CHASM' ...local inventor presents idea

Local man invents game

By MIKE DOWNEY
Staff Writer

A new board game may be in the stores soon, an original game from an idea by local inventor Dan Fiveash. If the toy manufacturers accept "Span the Chasm," he could receive up to three-quarters of a million dollars in royalties.

Fiveash said he just submitted his patented idea to the nation's toy manufacturers. "My patent attorney doesn't think I'll have any trouble selling it," Fiveash said. "They (toy manufacturers) never buy anything unless they can sell at least a million games a year," he said.

The ex-plumber expects his game to retail between $7 and $15. At the normal 3 to 5 percent royalty rate, he stands to make anywhere from $210,000 to $750,000 every year.

Inventing a new game involves three basic elements: an original idea, plenty of time and a sizable investment. Two of these cause Fiveash concern.

"It's expensive to develop a new game," Fiveash said. "Something truly original takes lots of time." What about the original idea? "It's not that difficult to think of something original," Fiveash says modestly. "Most people blind themselves to the opportunities around them."

Fiveash estimates he put about

DAN FIVEASH ...former plumber

1,000 man-hours into building his prototype. "I've invested around $4,000 in its development," he said. A totally new game will not have parts one can pick up at the local store, Fiveash said. "I had to build a device to hold one part to drill holes into it," he said.

"Span the Chasm" is basically a competition to see who can build a working bridge the fastest, Fiveash said. Utilizing a standard board with mock canyon walls, competitors move two men by rolling dice. The men move on their side of the board across colored squares. The colors indicate pieces of the bridge which can be purchased with play money.

Home delivery rates to increase

Effective Sept. 1, home delivered papers of the Herald will cost $4.50 per month, an increase of 25 cents.

The new rate figures out to be less than 17½ cents per day, including the Sunday edition.

The newsstand price of the Herald will remain at 25 cents daily, and 50 cents Sunday.

By subscribing to the Herald, buyers can save $3 per month over the single copy price. Newspaper carriers will receive 40 percent of the price increase, according to Chuck Benz, circulation manager.

Chamber unsure of effect of OIL layoffs

By CLIFF COAN
Staff Writer

Chamber of commerce executive vice president Le Roy Tillery said Oilfield Industrial Lines' layoff of 165 personnel last week will affect the economic scene in Big Spring, but he is unsure just how great the effect will be.

"Of course it will affect us," Tillery said. "Every 100 new jobs means so much retail sales, etc. ... A loss of that magnitude reverses that effect."

Tillery said school enrollment and housing would be two of the areas where the effect would be felt.

"The challenge for us will be to find more jobs (for workers in Big Spring)," said Tillery. "Right now, we don't have anything sitting on the front burner expecting to hire people."

Hooper Sanders, chairman of the chamber's industrial relations committee said, "It will have some effect on us unless other industry can absorb those people. We don't know how many of those contract welders are from Big Spring."

"Most other industries are not hiring right now," said Sanders. "It's kind of status quo everywhere."

Since 1950, Tillery said, "the oil patch has been like this — up, hot blowing and going, then it cools off."

The depressed state of the oil industry has made itself known as a "rippling effect all across the country," Tillery said.

"We were the last to be hit," he said. "We have kind of a buffer out there in that O.I.L. has a very aggressive sales staff and they have been able to stay ahead of the game longer than others, but now they've been hit."

Focalpoint

Action Reaction: Traffic cases

Q. Why are none of the appeals for traffic violations from city court to county court ever tried by County Attorney Bob Miller?

A. Bob Miller, county attorney, said Class C misdemeanors should be handled in city court. "I've requested the city attorney prosecute any city appeals in county court," Miller said. "I'm not going to do the city's work. I have enough with DWIs." Miller said he also does not run the county court. Howard County Judge Bill Tune said he could not hear cases if no one presented them.

Calendar: Dog show

TODAY

Baseball players from Big Spring High School, Howard College and local boosters will gather for a game benefiting the Howard College baseball program. It will begin at 3 p.m. at the BSHS diamond. The Big Spring Kennel Club Dog Show will be held at the Howard County Fair Barn. Entries will be taken from 11 a.m. until 12:30 p.m. Judging will start at 1 p.m.

Tops on TV: 'The Sharks'

National Geographic's special examines sharks — how they feed, rest and why they attack — and provides a new perspective on this fascinating and fearsome fish in "The Sharks," airing at 4:45 p.m. on channel 5. Part 2 of John Steinbeck's "East of Eden," airs at 7 p.m. on channel 13. Cathy and Adam's marriage begins to disintegrate after the birth of their sons, and Cathy runs away to work in a Salinas bordello. (Parental discretion is advised.)

Outside: Warm

Police hunt killers of Turkish diplomat

OTTAWA (AP) — Police are searching for the killers of a Turkish military attache who was shot 10 times at close range when his car stopped for a red light. The attack was the latest in a string of bloody actions claimed by Armenian terrorists seeking justice for the 1915 Armenian massacre and independence for their homeland.

Police said they had few leads in the Friday slaying, but are looking for the driver of a small grey car and the gunman who stepped out of it to shoot Col. Atilla Altikat, 45, with a 9mm Browning handgun.

The gunman, described as about 30 years old with black hair and a moustache, fled into nearby shrubbery and trees after tossing his weapon into the diplomat's car, police said.

"It appears the whole operation was very well planned and executed by people that were well trained," said Supt. Lester Thompson.

He said the assassins may have been waiting days for the chance to stage their attack.

"I would say it was planned to go down at the red light at the intersection," he added. "Those people usually wait until the opportune time."

The gunman sprinted about 10 feet to Altikat's car and began firing through the front window on the passenger side, Thompson said. The diplomat was alone.

Thompson said protection at Ottawa embassies was being increased following the shooting, which was the 23rd assassination of a Turk living abroad since 1973. Five months ago in Canada, Armenians claimed they attempted to kill another Turkish diplomat, Kani Gungor, 50, who was paralyzed by the attack and remains in a hospital.

A spokesman for the Royal Canadian Mounted Police said Turkish diplomats had access to an escort system that was in effect since the attempt on Gungor's life, but that it was optional.

He added that Altikat had not requested protection Friday.

Altikat's daughter, Zeynep, 17, said the family home was guarded around the clock, but that her father was only accompanied to the embassy when police warned of potential danger.

She said her father, a former airline pilot, had feared such an attack.

"I always knew," she said calmly. "He always told us not to go out."

Altikat is also survived by his widow and son.

Prime Minister Pierre Trudeau, in a written statement, said he was "shocked and saddened beyond measure" by the "barbaric and senseless" murder.

In the Turkish capital of Ankara, military ruler Gen. Kenan Evren condemned the killing and state television reported the Canadian charge d'affaires was called in immediately and told that Turkey expected a speedy arrest.

DIPLOMAT SLAIN — The body of Col. Atilla Altikat, a military attache at the Turkish Embassy in Ottawa, Canada is seen through the shattered windows of his Oldsmobile Cutlass Friday. Police are searching for two men seen fleeing the shooting scene, the latest in a string of attacks attributed to Armenian terrorists seeking an anonymous state in Turkish territory.

Dozens stung in bee attack

GLOUCESTER TOWNSHIP, N.J. (AP) — Bee specialists successfully contained about 100,000 honey bees that swarmed through an apartment complex, stinging 27 people, police said.

Two men were hospitalized and later released after suffering more than 100 bee stings each.

Residents of Countryside Apartments were forced to retreat behind doors and were told by police to shut off their air conditioners Friday to keep the bees outside.

"It was like a downpour of heavy rain," said George Berrington, 34, a resident. "It was horror. It was worse than you can imagine in the killer bees movie."

Township police Sgt. Tom Pettit said Friday night a truck owned by Les Miller Apiaries of Hammonton apparently hit a speed bump while being driven through the apartment complex.

"When it hit the speed trap the door opened" and the bees escaped, Pettit said.

Miller told authorities he lived in the apartment complex and the truck driver had parked his vehicle there and commuted to work with him, Pettit said. The driver apparently returned to the complex to retrieve something from his vehicle, Pettit said.

"We got attacked by bees, they were all over the place," said 15-year-old Jimmy Turk, whose mother works at the 960-apartment facility.

"People were running and screaming. I heard some kids out here and I heard one girl crying for her mother," said Walter Coleman, a 37-year-old resident who was stung eight times. "I thought they were locusts at first. It was like golden. They were all flickering. They were flying back and forth in a frenzy."

"When I came down the stairs, they actually came down on me," he said.

TV can affect outcome of trial, study says

By IKE FLORES
Associated Press Writer

ORLANDO, Fla. — Real-life courtroom drama isn't as exciting as the trials on TV and that can affect a trial's verdict, according to a study by two university researchers who questioned 104 Florida lawyers.

A bored or disappointed jury is sometimes unwilling to follow the systematic construction of the issues and may "overlook basic evidence of guilt for more highly technical evidentiary demonstrations of the type shown on prime-time television," the study contends.

A report on the study released last week by Professors Roger Handberg and Charles

M. Uncovic of the University of Central Florida focuses on the general impact of television on the public about the criminal trial process.

"We wanted to find out something about the intellectual and emotional baggage that lay members of the public generally bring to a trial," said Uncovic.

Apparently, jurors expect exciting trials with a number of surprises, as in "Perry Mason."

Most of the lawyers interviewed said jurors expect "rabbits out of a hat" when witnesses were examined or evidence presented.

"It's clear that juror expectations do not match the mundane reality of the average trial," said Handberg.

"The view of crime on TV, with its 60-minute solutions and another case next week, has given viewers a misleading conception of justice."

Among other findings from the lawyer survey:

- The heavy use of violence on TV crime shows apparently makes jurors more willing to accept violence by police than by the defendant.
- Defendants are surprised by the lengthy trial process compared to their TV-based expectations of quick and summary judgment.
- Convicted defendants felt their attorneys were not as clever as "Perry Mason," the fictitious criminal lawyer.
- The actual trial process is viewed by the general public as mundane, trivial and boring when compared to its TV counterpart.
- The more education a person has, the less affected he appears to be by television's approach to crime and the courts.

While Handberg and Uncovic have drawn some tentative conclusions, they admit to no solutions.

"What we are discussing here is the cultural milieu of contemporary America," says Handberg, a political scientist.

Kissinger begins South African tour

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP) — Former Secretary of State Henry Kissinger arrived Saturday for a tour of southern Africa and talks with black leaders as well as officials of the white-minority South African government.

Kissinger told reporters at Jan Smuts International Airport he would "undoubtedly" brief the Reagan administration after his tour, including stops in Zimbabwe, Zambia and the South African-controlled territory of South-West Africa, also called Namibia.

The main purpose of his visit is to deliver the keynote address at a conference on "Foreign Powers and Africa in Pretoria Sept. 6 at the South African Institute of International Affairs. Other speakers include Foreign Minister Pik Botha, West German Parliamentarian Volkmar Koehler and French economist Albert Bressand.

Kissinger declined to speak in detail on southern Africa, saying he wanted to assess the situation first. He said he would meet Prime Minister P.W. Botha on Monday and also would meet President G. B. Buthe, anti-apartheid leader and South African Minister of Defense, and Swaziland leader Dr. Nkhosho Makhosini.

Are TEC jobs going to staff members' kin?

By JANET WARREN

Harte-Hanks Austin Bureau

AUSTIN — Although the Texas Employment Commission's purpose is to help the public find jobs, many temporary positions within the agency itself have been taken by sons, daughters and wives of staff members.

Although it's not illegal, a commissioner has questioned the propriety of the situation and TEC officials have moved to lessen that practice.

Last summer, 70 of 187 temporary TEC employees statewide were related to staff members, according to figures from the commission requested by the Harte-Hanks Austin Bureau.

Harte-Hanks also has requested 1982 figures but they were not available last week. But the ratio of relatives to jobs this year is thought to be smaller because of an unusually large number of unemployed, qualified individuals who sought those positions.

Also, program directors at the state offices have a concerted effort to employ more unrelated employees after commissioners voiced concern about the family hiring situation during a May meeting, said Nolan Behley, assistant director of personnel for TEC's state offices in Austin.

The state office in Austin handles primarily administrative tasks and serves as headquarters for the agency. It doesn't function as an employment office as most know it, leaving processing of run-of-the-mill job applicants to area offices, such as the one in Big Spring.

But the state office in Austin has not always listed all of the temporary jobs with offices in its area to garner applicants, Behley said.

The state office always has several applications to choose from for its own, in-house jobs, Behley said, since some people will apply directly to that office for positions there.

"We're well known. A lot of people just drop in. We keep applications on file and just go through them," Behley said.

But the commission directed TEC officials to start listing all of the temporary jobs with the local offices after question: were raised about the hiring of relatives during a May meeting, a commissioner said.

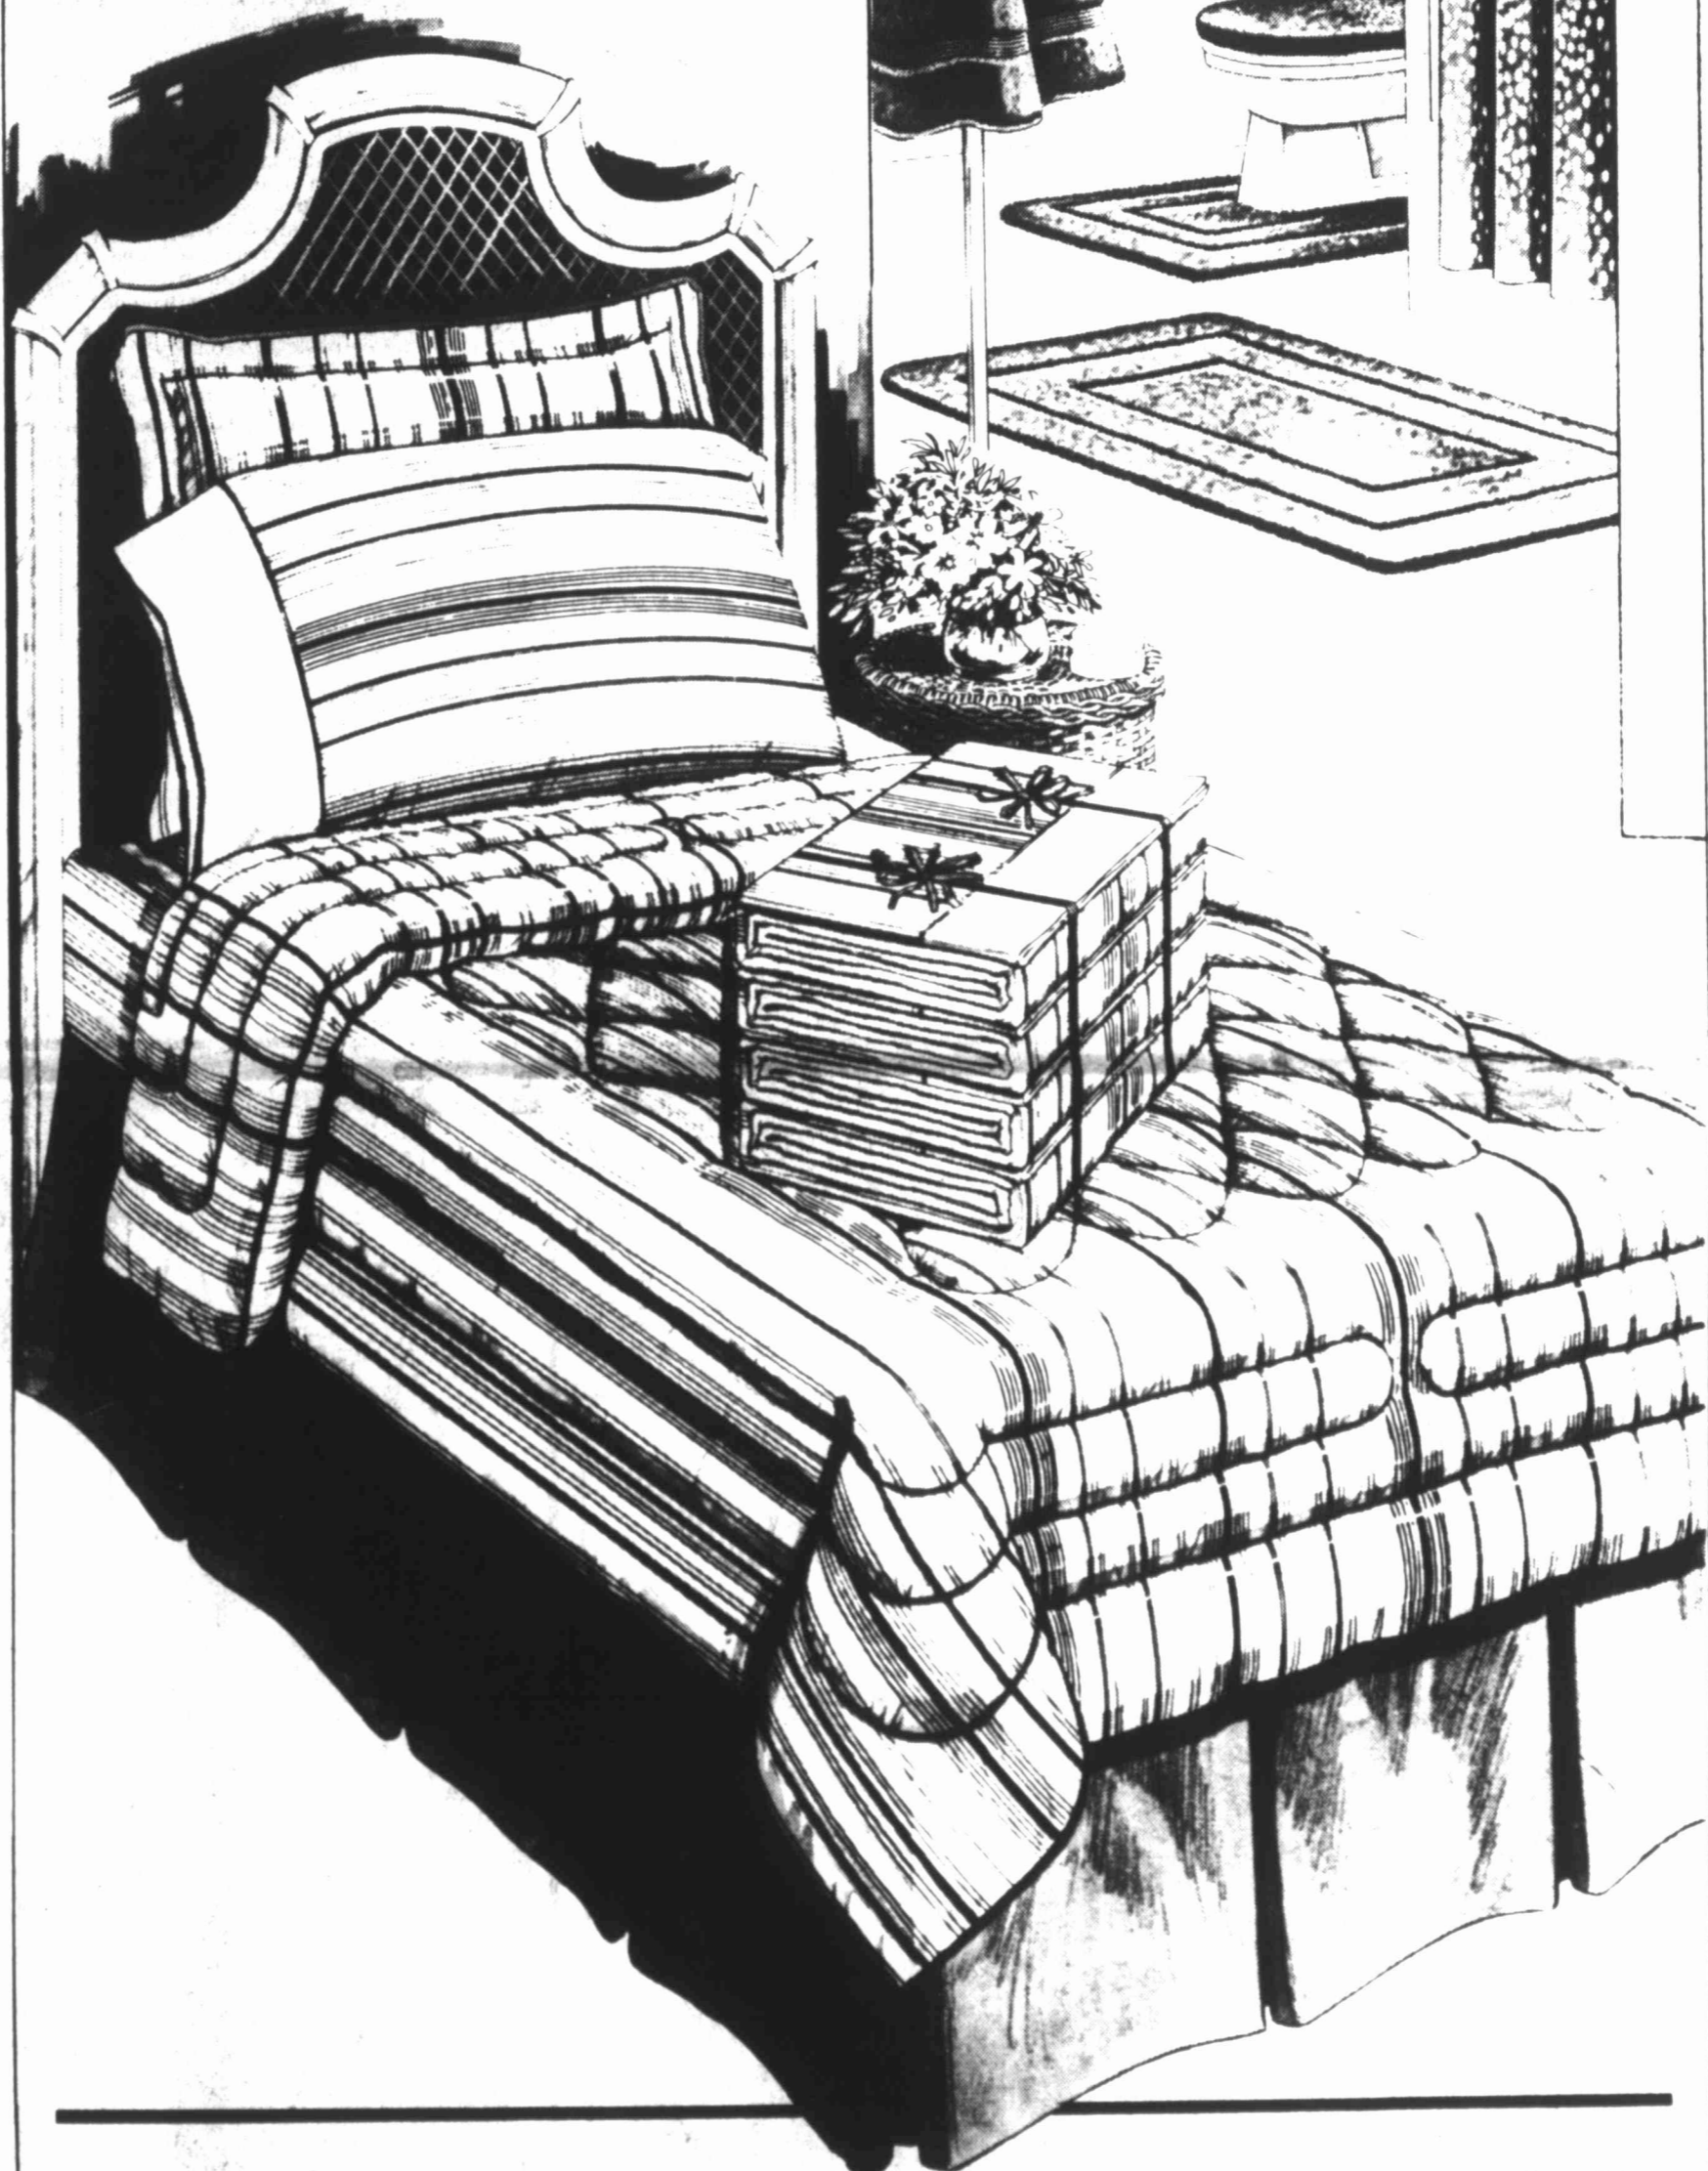

The TEC has three commissioners appointed by the governor to head the agency. They do not make day-to-day administrative decisions but fashion policy.

Only the commissioners' relatives and the agency's administrator are legally barred from employment there, TEC spokesmen said.

Temporary positions, which can occur at TEC offices year-round, are predominantly clerical, although some temporaries serve as interviewers.

Some commission officials say the high incidence of hiring kin results primarily from good employee relations, not favoritism.

DEFIANT — A Solidarity banner flies above the heads of some of the 300,000 pilgrims who gathered near the Jasna Gora monastery in Czestochowa, Poland Thursday to celebrate the 600th anniversary of one of Poland's holiest icons, the Black Madonna of Czestochowa. A large portrait of Pope John Paul II overlooks the proceedings. Polish Primate Josef Glemp used the occasion to call for a relaxation of martial law and freedom for interned Solidarity leader Lech Walesa.

Soviet, Polish troops on maneuvers

WARSAW, Poland (AP) — Polish and Soviet troops were on maneuvers outside Warsaw Saturday, and Roman Catholic bishops begged the nation to avoid bloodshed on Solidarity's second anniversary this week.

The military regime has vowed to suppress any protests on Aug. 31, the date Solidarity was founded in 1980 as the only independent labor movement in the Soviet bloc.

Fugitive Solidarity leaders have called for massive demonstrations

Tuesday to prove the continuing strength of the 9.5 million-member union suspended under martial law, and warned there might be casualties.

The hardline army newspaper Zolnierz Wolnosci (Soldier of Freedom) reported Saturday that Polish and Soviet troops were "improving their skills" in joint military exercises around Warsaw. The newspaper reported that motorized units, paratroopers and tanks from the Soviet army participated in the exercises in the Warsaw military district. The exact location of the maneuvers was not reported.

A Western diplomat, noting that the Soviet-Polish military exercises around Warsaw had not been announced previously, said "they seem to be part of this campaign" by the regime to prevent demonstrations Tuesday.

Thousands of Solidarity activists were detained in the wake of the decree, including the union's leader, Lech Walesa, who is still under house arrest.

U.S. soldier defects

American seeks asylum in North Korea

By EDWIN Q. WHITE
Associated Press Writer

SEOUL, South Korea — North Korea said an American soldier crossed the demilitarized zone Saturday, denounced the United States for deploying forces in South Korea and asked the Communist government for political asylum.

The U.N. peacekeeping command in Seoul said the report may be correct. If so it would be the first defection by an American to North Korea in 17 years and the fifth since the Korean War ended in 1953.

The U.N. command earlier Saturday reported an American soldier was missing in the buffer zone dividing South Korea and North Korea, and said it sent a message to the north asking that he be returned if he had strayed across the demarcation line.

A few hours later a North Korean broadcast monitored in Tokyo said the soldier had crossed the line into the north and asked for political asylum. It identified him as Pvt. Joseph T. White.

The North Korean account said White sought refuge because he believed "it is a wrong policy for the U.S. government to send American youths to the far-off Korean soil, an alien land, and force upon them an army life against the Korean people, and he had thought it shameful to take part in such aggressive act."

The broadcast said North Korean authorities gave the American "kind protection," but did not specify where he was staying.

FOLLOWING THE broadcast, a U.N. command spokesman here said North Korea had responded to the request for assistance in locating the soldier by claiming he was in North Korea and had sought "political refuge."

The command confirmed the identity of the soldier as Pvt. Joseph T. White of St. Louis, Mo., and said he was assigned to the 31st Infantry Battalion, U.S. 2nd Infantry Division. The command spokesman, who declined to be identified, said the soldier's age, length of service or time in Korea were not available immediately.

"Private White had been reported missing from his unit along the DMZ early on Aug. 28," the spokesman said in a statement. "Based on the information available to the U.N. command, it is possible that the North Korean report is correct."

In St. Louis, White's father, K.M. White, said in a brief telephone interview: "It's a terrible tragedy and I don't understand it. It's like he was killed in action. I don't want to talk to you anymore." He hung up and further calls went unanswered.

An earlier U.N. command announcement said the American had been assigned to U.N. civil police duty inside the demilitarized zone when he was first reported missing. The spokesman said that at the same time 10 North Korean soldiers had been observed "apprehending an individual" in the area.

Asked if the soldier had been taking part in a regular patrol in the zone, the spokesman said "he was on his own." He did not elaborate.

So-called civil police units in the demilitarized zone are really military personnel, American and South Korean, who guard and patrol. The Americans are responsible for a narrow corridor of the 151-mile long zone, leading from the southern edge to the joint security area surrounding the truce village of Pannunjom.

There have been four earlier defections by American personnel since the 1953 armistice that ended three years of fighting in the Korean War. The last was in 1965.

Twelve injured in crash

TOKYO (AP) — An eastbound passenger car skidded and bounced off a highway divider during a heavy rainstorm Saturday, triggering a 20-car pileup that injured 12 people on the Tomei expressway 38 miles southwest of Tokyo, police said.

Two truck drivers were hospitalized for serious injuries, while 10 other people suffered bruises and slight cuts. Police said the conditions of the truck drivers were not immediately known.

The accident occurred 15 minutes after the speed limit on the four-lane expressway, which links Tokyo with western Japan, was downgraded to 31 mph from 63 mph. Electronic signs that displayed the lowered speed limit may not have been visible during the heavy rainfall, police said.

Football's the thing sports fans

Greg Jaklewicz

For players and coaches, waiting for the start of football season compares with the anticipation of kids on Christmas Eve. And if Santa Claus is a football fan — and no doubt he is, they hope he brings plenty of good things to their respective schools this fall.

While it's always hard to think football is here when temperatures are still perched above 100 degrees and the baseball races haven't been decided, there's still something in the air that gets even the most reluctant pigskin fan thinking X's and O's.

And while we're all wondering what miracles Jackie Sherrill can perform at A&M, if the 49ers can possibly stand up to the Cowboys again and what's the latest in overcoats and fedoras (as modeled by Tom Landry), most of our attention is turned to Big Spring area football.

After touring the area and visiting coaching staffs and players in such metroplexes as Grady and Klondike, the football feeling around Big Spring is one of high optimism. In Lamesa, where the Golden Tors suffered the agonies of a winless campaign last year, stock in an up and up season is soaring. And programs that have been consistently successful — Stanton and Greenwood, for example — should duplicate their records of recent years.

And for Big Spring. Never mind what the magazine forecasters or other wizards of prediction say about the locals. Big Spring is on its way up.

Maybe there is no name on the roster that equals "superstar" status but the overall team talent is better. Much better. Defense — most often just 11 guys standing between the opponent's offense and the goal posts in the past — is in vogue again at BSHS. These guys can hit, fans. Hit and hit again. More than a few Mustangs woke up blue and blue Friday morning.

Before any flashy offenses or complicated defenses can be taught, coaches need a foundation to build on. The foundation needs to be a combination of dedication, enthusiasm and self-confidence. Big Spring probably won't challenge for the district title and a break-even year is stiff enough goal right now (remember, the Steers are playing in the toughest league in the state), but victories of great measure have already been chalked up.

The easy discouragement is disappearing. Players are getting mobbed after turning in a big hit, great run or diving catch. Individuals are gone. A team is the new kid on the block. Sure Mojo, the Angry Orange, the Big Blue Crew and others will be tough to beat but the Steers will give it a whirl. What have they got to lose? A lot of bad memories is all.

For you fans out there, encourage your teams. Let the coaches do their jobs and give the players encouragement. Sometimes the fact these guys are just teenagers is lost in the impatience. The only way a team can get to be No. 1 is to know they are No. 1.

There's not a whole lot a newspaper can do to light up those bulbs on the scoreboard, but the Herald will do its best in covering all angles of local and area football.

Sunday's paper will contain complete game reports and stats on all the area games. An area game or games of the week will be covered each Friday night and other games will be visited by a photographer.

Prior to kickoffs, Friday's edition will capsule the game with vital information for the serious fan. A panel of "experts" will gaze into their crystal balls and make predictions on the outcome of games from Forsan High to the University of Maine.

Tuesday mornings will feature "Tuesday Morning Quarterback" as head coaches give their thoughts on games past and future to print media. Standings and features will appear throughout the week.

By the way, since football isn't all that's going on, you won't miss the U.S. Open, heated baseball races, weekend golf tournaments, the start of NBA play (they just quit, didn't they?) and all the other sports that makes the world go round.

And you cross country, volleyball, tennis and swimming fans won't miss out either.

So for the first week of football, I say "Go Steers...and Bulldogs and Cougars and Mustangs and Tors and Buffaloes and more Buffaloes and Bearcats and Rangers and Wolves and Wildcats!

Coleman collects trap title

BSHS senior is junior champ

FORT BENNING, Ga. — Now everyone knows where Ackerly and Big Spring, Texas, are.

Trapshooter Mike Coleman nailed 390 of 400 targets during week-long competition to win the open championship at the 22nd U.S. International Shooting Championships. And if that wasn't enough, Big Spring High senior Kelly Rogers banged away to a 377x400 week to take junior honors and finished 12th overall.

The Championships climaxed here Saturday with a final round of 100 targets. Coleman and the three highest finishers — all U.S. Army trapshooters — are now members of the 1982 United States team that will compete in Caracas, Venezuela, later this year for the world championship.

Coleman's title was a rarity in the fact that civilian shooters traditionally finish behind military competitors. The 1981 contest was held in Salem, Ore., where Coleman finished in a tie for third. He compiled a 383x400 total, then, seven short of his efforts this past week.

A total of 82 shooters were invited to the competition with the top 80 making Saturday's finals. Each shooter fired away at 75 targets each during the week. Coleman nailed all 75 Thursday for top honors while Rogers hit 74 of 75 Wednesday to take the high award.

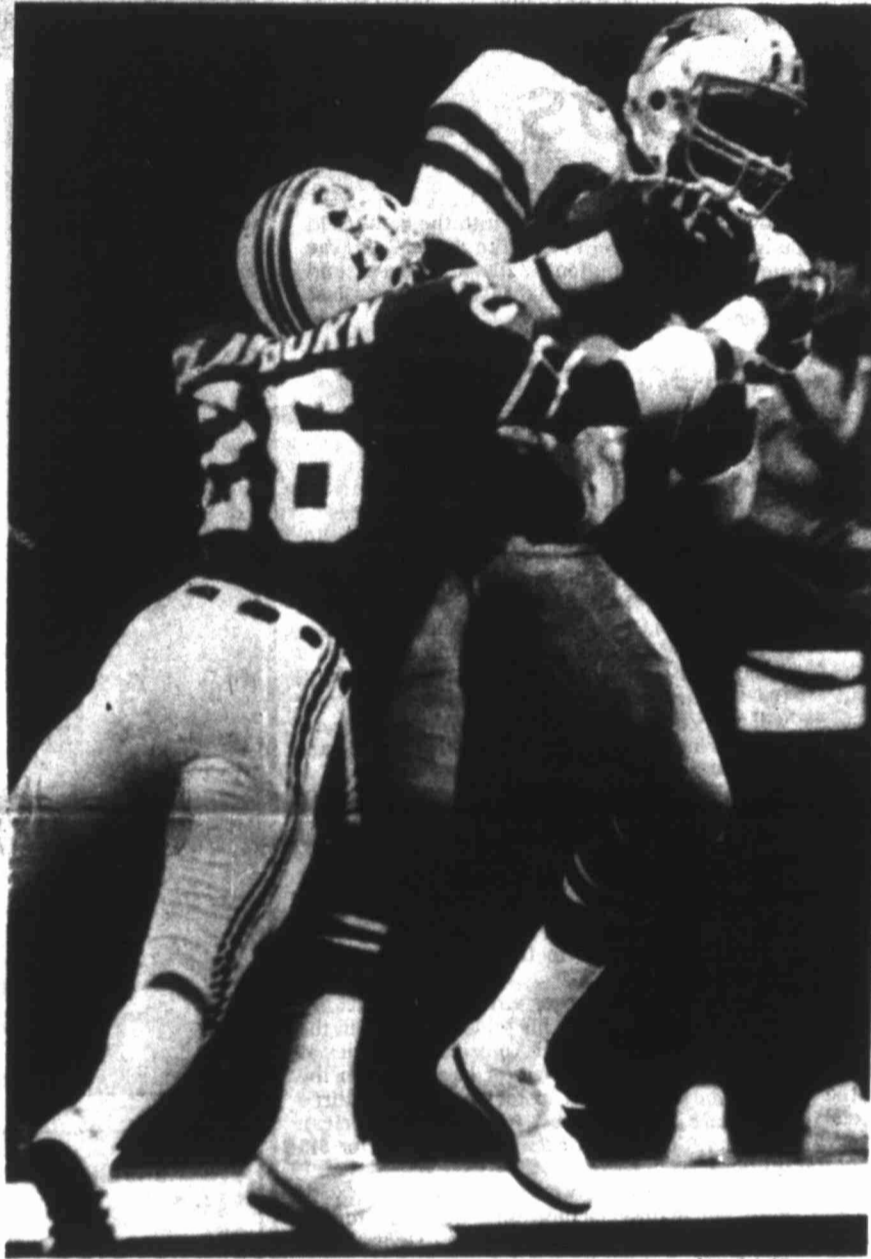

On Saturday, Coleman hit broke 97 of 100 clay pigeons to snap out of a first place tie with Air Force shooter Danny Carlisle. Rogers also recorded a 97x100 day to maintain the top standing he held entering the final round.

The Championships are held annually to help the nation prepare for the Olympics. Should Coleman again make the top four next year, he would participate in the 1984 Olympics in Los Angeles.

Rogers finished four hits above the junior runner-up from Mississippi. It was his first competition here. Another civilian Texan — Dane Johnson of Fort Worth — was fifth overall.

RIGHT ON TARGET — Ackerly international trapshooter Mike Coleman won the open championship at the 22nd U.S. International Shooting Championships at Fort Benning, Ga., Saturday. Coleman hit 390 of 400 targets to take top honors.

BILLY JOE SCORES SIX POINTS OVER RAYMOND ...Cowboys' tight end scores over Pat's Clayborn in exhibition victory

Pokes stampede past Pats, 34-21

IRVING, Texas (AP) — Reserve quarterback Gary Hogeboom threw two touchdown passes, including a 79-yard catch-and-run spectacular to rookie fullback George Peoples, and the Dallas Cowboys rolled a 36-21 National Football League exhibition victory Saturday night over the winless New England Patriots.

For the Cowboys, it was their second preseason victory against a loss.

Patriot Coach Ron Meyer, making a homecoming appearance in Texas Stadium where he led Southern Methodist to a 10-1 record last year, is 0-3 in the NFL.

The Houston Oilers, riding the passing Gifford Nielsen and running of Earl Campbell, ripped the Tampa Bay Bucs 21-6 Saturday night. That game and other exhibition football results can be found on page 3B.

Hogeboom, playing in the second half after starter Danny White had thrown a touchdown pass in the first 30 minutes, flipped a 1-yard scoring pass to tight end Doug Cosbie and completed his pass-and-run TD to Peoples when the Patriots had narrowed the count to 27-21 with less than three minutes to play.

Peoples, who played collegiately at Auburn, galloped 74 yards of the journey after catching Hogeboom's short swing pass.

The Cowboys built a 27-7 lead but had to survive a passing blitz by quarterback Matt Cavanaugh, who threw a 33-yard scoring pass to Stanley Morgan and setup Ron Calhoun's 1-yard run all in the fourth period. White completed 13 of 24 passes for 160 yards, including a short touchdown toss to Billy Joe DuPree, in the first half before turning the Dallas offense over to Hogeboom.

Rafael Septien had field goals of 33 and 20 yards in the Dallas offensive onslaught.

Dallas built a 17-7 halftime lead behind White's passing.

White took the Cowboys on an 80-yard drive in 11 plays with the final 3-yards coming on the scoring pass to tight end DuPree. White had three other completions on the drive and Tony Dorsett reeled off a 22-yard run.

A wayward lateral recovered by Rick Sanford at the New England 45 set up the Patriots tying touchdown early in the second period.

The Pats drove 55 yards in 11 plays, the highlight being a 22-yard pass from Steve Grogan to Greg Taylor, before Robert Weathers punched across from a yard away.

A 15-yard White-to-Dorsett completion put Dallas in position at the New England 22 for the go-ahead touchdown. Three plays later backup tailback James Jones scored from five yards.

Septien's 33-yard field goal with 12 seconds to play gave Dallas a 10-point halftime bulge.

Dallas defensive end Harvey Martin sacked Cavanaugh in the waning moments of the game for a safety as the Patriots desperately tried to mount an attack from deep in their own territory.

It was the first preseason game in history between the two teams, with the Cowboys holding a 4-0 regular-season advantage. Hogeboom completed 11 of 17 passes for 192 yards in his second-half appearance.

Theft mark now Henderson's bag

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Rickey Henderson, at 122 and counting, thinks he could add as many as 40 stolen bases to his major league record before the end of this season.

But he said that if his Oakland A's teammates start winning, it won't be necessary. And he would prefer it that way.

Henderson, the A's 23-year-old left fielder, broke Lou Brock's 1974 major league record of 118 stolen bases in a season when he swiped second base in the third inning against the Milwaukee Brewers Friday night.

He stole three more later in the game — his third four-steal game of the season — but the Brewers won 5-4. The A's, picked by many to repeat as American League West champions, are going nowhere at 57-72, and Henderson said the team's disappointing showing has dimmed his satisfaction in the record.

"I can steal 162 bases if things go right," Henderson said after the game. "If I can help the team by keeping on running, there's no telling how many I can get."

"But the main reason I have so many is the way the team started out," he said. "We weren't scoring a lot of runs and not winning. I was getting a lot of walks. If the team starts winning and I get more base runners in front of me, I don't think I'll steal as many."

"When you set records and you don't win, you don't get great joy," he said. "I get more joy out of winning than setting records."

Henderson has had to shoulder a disproportionate share of the offense for the A's, whose .233 team batting average is the worst in the majors. Henderson's .271 average leads the team, and his three walks Friday raised his league leading total to 109.

"Nobody can tarnish his record because we needed every one (stolen base) tonight, the same as all year," A's Manager Billy Martin said after Friday's game.

Martin said he expects Henderson to be even more effective now that the pressure of chasing Brock's record is off.

"It got to him a little bit," Martin said. "It affected his hitting because he wanted to get on base so bad. He'll be more relaxed now."

Henderson set up his record-breaking 119th steal by drawing a four-pitch walk off the Brewers' Doc Medich in the third inning.

After four pickoff attempts by Medich, Henderson broke for second on the first pitch — a pitch-out — to the next batter, Wayne Gross. Catcher Ted Simmons' throw was slightly to the right of second base, and Henderson's head-first slide dodged shortstop Robin Yount's attempted tag.

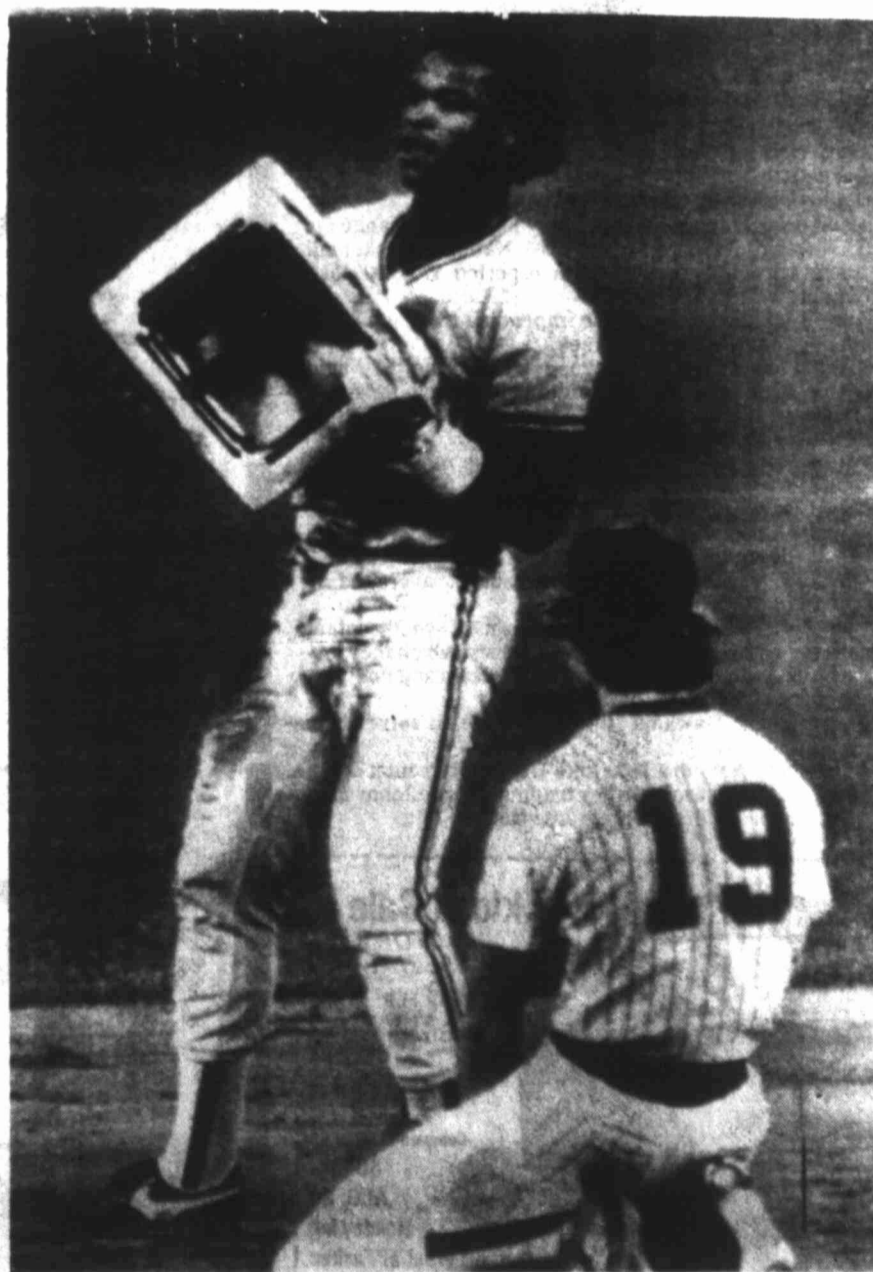

The partisan Brewer crowd of 41,600 gave Henderson a standing ovation after the safe signal by second base umpire Mike Reilly.

Henderson sprang to his feet, pulled the bag from its moorings and raised it above his head in triumph. Milwaukee's Medich, Simmons and third baseman Paul Molitor rushed over to shake his hand.

Henderson immediately sought teammate Dwayne Murphy, the on-deck hitter. Murphy had hit second behind Henderson in the A's batting order most of the season.

Henderson rushed toward Murphy, embraced him and kissed him on the forehead.

"I had to look around for Dwayne because he was hitting third tonight instead of second," Henderson said. "He was hitting behind me most of the year."

BAGGING ANOTHER THEFT — Oakland A's outfielder Rickey Henderson holds second base aloft after swiping the base in the third inning of Friday's game against Milwaukee. The steal was Henderson's 119th of the season, surpassing Lou Brock's major league record of 118 set in 1974. Kneeling helplessly is Brewer second baseman Robin Yount (19).

Floyd tops Golf World Series

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — Veteran Ray Floyd, grinding away on the best season of his two-decade career, fought gusty winds for a 2-under-par 68 that staked him to a three-stroke command Saturday in the third round of the $400,000 World Series of Golf.

Floyd, who holds the PGA championship and two other titles and is currently golf's leading money-winner, completed three trips over unforgiving Firestone in 2-under-par 68. He was the only member of the elite international field in subpar figures.

"The conditions were very difficult," Floyd said. "The pin placements were tough and the wind (which gusted to 20 mph), dried out the greens and made them very difficult to putt."

The rest of the field could only agree as the 7,173-yard Firestone layout regained its reputation as the toughest course on the tour.

Jack Nicklaus, for example, made six birdies but could do no better than a 72. He also had two bogeys and three double bogeys on the course that has provided him with seven career titles.

It was so tough that at one point, Floyd took the lead with a bogey.

Lanny Wadkins, Curtis Strange and Tom Kite, playing in the next-to-last threesome, all were in the hunt and all bogeyed the final hole.

Australian Bob Shearer played one stretch of 11 holes with one par.

Masters champion Craig

Stadler, who was in and out of difficulties all day, let a constant, glowering scowl express his thoughts on the situation.

Shearer eventually finished his adventures with a hard-won 73 and a three-round total of 211 that left him alone in second place.

Stadler, who shared the second-round lead with Shearer, struggled to a 75 in the brisk weather that had more than a hint of fall. He was tied for third at 213 with Isao Aoki of Japan, who managed a round of par 70. Wadkins, Strange and Kite were next at 214. Wadkins and Strange had 72s and Kite a 73.

Nicklaus, who has made five double bogeys in three rounds, was tied with Tom Watson at 218. Watson, who defeated Nicklaus for the U.S. Open title and later added the British Open crown, shot a third-round 69 but was nine strokes back with 18 holes to go in the chase for a $100,000 first prize.

AIM, READY, FIRE

Golfer Craig Stadler uses his putter as a gun to "shoot" his ball after missing a birdie putt on the eighth hole at Firestone Country Club during Saturday's third round of the World Series of Golf. Stadler, who began the day tied for the lead, bogeyed the hole and had little else to go well.

Rookie in Volvo finals

MAHWAH, N.J. (AP) — Leigh Thompson, who turned pro seven months ago, defeated Wendy White 76, 6-4 to advance to the finals of the $100,000 Volvo Women's Cup championships Saturday.

Thompson, 18, will face the survivor of the Saturday night's semi between German Federation Cup teammates Bettina Bunge and Claudia Kohde.

The players traded service breaks from the seventh through the 10th games before White held serve after three deuces in the 11th game and Thompson held easily at 15 in the 12th to force a tie-breaker game.

White failed to capitalize on three set points in the tiebreaker and Thompson finally pulled it out 11-9.

"The key was winning the first set because it took off the pressure," said Thompson, who reached the finals of Avon Futures in Montreal and Nashville and the title of the Mutual Open this year.

White, 1980 AIAW collegiate champion, took a 2-0 lead in the second set before Thompson stormed back to win five games in a row. A double fault cost the rookie pro the ninth game to make it 5-4, but she broke White in the 10th on four errors to close the match.

Kirkland takes LL title, 6-0

WILLIAMSPORT, Pa. (AP) — Cody Webster pitched a two-hitter and belted a home run as Kirkland, Wash., stunned Taiwan 6-0 Saturday to win the 36th Little League World Series.

Webster struck out 12 and allowed only one Taiwan runner to get to third as he earned his second victory of the tournament. The 5-foot-6, 174-pound right-hander walked only three.

Webster struck out the side in the bottom of the sixth, and the Washington team leaped and threw their caps into the air on the final called strike.

Pu-Tzu Town had been seeking Taiwan's sixth straight championship and their 11th since 1969. The loss was only the second for a Taiwan team in 36 series games.

The only other Taiwan loss was in 1970 to Chinandega, Nicaragua, by a 3-2 score.

Washington played errorless ball in becoming the first American team to win the series since Lakewood, N.J., in 1975, when foreign teams were temporarily prohibited.

Washington squeezed across the game's first run in the third when Mark Swain led off with a walk, moved to third on a sacrifice and a wild pitch. Swain scored on Shawn Cochran's suicide squeeze bunt.

In the fourth, Washington loaded the bases with no outs and scored all three men to take a 4-0 advantage. Mike sule ended its 9-day journey in earth orbit with a soft landing in a harvested field in Central Asia. Ms. Savitskaya was the second woman ever to fly in space.

Cosmonauts back from space

MOSCOW (AP) — Soviet cosmonaut Svetlana Savitskaya and her two male comrades were hailed as heroes Saturday after returning from a nine-day Earth orbit that apparently set the stage for future space flights by women.

Miss Savitskaya, 34, the second woman in space, touched down Friday with crew members Leonid Popov and Alexander Serebrov in a harvested field 42 miles northeast of Arkalyk in the Soviet province of Kazakhstan in central Asia.

Moments after stepping from the Soyuz T-5 capsule, she was handed a bouquet of flowers by the rescue crew and television team tracking the touchdown.

Asked how she felt, Miss Savitskaya replied, "Normal." As to whether she would like to go into space again, she answered, "With pleasure."

Soviet television showed the capsule's red and white parachute descending through the twilight, landing at 7:04 p.m. Moscow time.

In-flight medical tests on Miss Savitskaya showed "no substantial difference in the reactions of the female and male organisms to the influence of space flight," the Soviet news agency Tass reported. All three were pronounced in good health and awarded the Order of Lenin, the highest Soviet honor.

Radio Moscow said cosmonauts and experts are alike convinced that women can play an effective role in future space missions.

Soviet officials have not announced how many more women are training as cosmonauts, although the Soviet Union is thought to be planning to orbit more space stations.

Newspapers headlined the event this morning, and Miss Savitskaya's father, Air Marshal Yevgeny Savitsky was to deliver a midday television speech called, "be confident in your children."

Miss Savitskaya, a graduate of the Moscow Aviation Academy, set 18 aviation records as a test pilot. She logged 1,500 hours in more than 20 types of aircraft, and made 500 parachute jumps, Tass said.

She also set a new record during her space mission, staying in space six days longer than the first spacewoman, Soviet cosmonaut Valentina Tereshkova, who orbited the Earth for three days in June 1963.

Miss Savitskaya and her crewmates went into orbit Aug. 19 from the Baikonur Space Center, about 162 southwest of where they landed. A day later, they joined cosmonauts Anatoly Berezovoy and Valentin Lebedev aboard the Salyut-7 space laboratory for experiments which included medical tests.

Miss Savitskaya was a "researcher" on the flight. Popov, 36, a veteran of two previous orbital flights, was commander, and Serebrov, 38, was the flight engineer on his first space flight.

Several hours before landing, the crew boarded Soyuz T-5 and undocked it from Salyut-7, leaving behind Berezovoy and Lebedev who have been aboard the space station since May 14.

Soviet officials did not explain why Miss Savitskaya's crew, which left Earth in Soyuz T-7, returned in Soyuz T-5. Tass said the craft "brought to Earth materials from research and experiments performed in Salyut-7 by the main crew in the course of three months of flight."

Britain's poet laureate celebrates

LONDON (AP) — Sir John Betjeman, Britain's poet laureate, celebrated his 76th birthday Saturday quietly with a few friends.

Surrounded by a stack of cards and messages from admirers and well-wishers around the world, he said: "I look upon them as favorable prayers from friends."

Betjeman, who is still recovering from a heart attack 16 months ago and suffers from Parkinson's disease, has a new book of his work being published next month.

Entitled "The Uncollected Poems of John Betjeman," the book will contain poems that have lain lost, forgotten and previously unpublished over the years. But there will be nothing in it of recent date.

Betjeman's job as poet laureate officially is to record the great events of state in verse. But he says he hates writing to order and he let Britain's victory in the Falklands on June 14 and the birth of Prince William to Princess Diana and Prince Charles on June 21 pass unrecorded.

Other projects that are in hand during his convalescence are a television series on himself and helping his daughter Candida Lycett-Green write a book about English cottages.

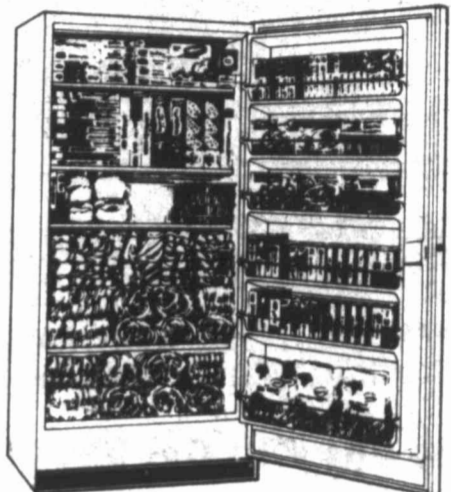

His easy-to-read poetry, with its carefully caught nostalgia, genteel old-world mannerisms and scathing criticism of modern squalor, remains a firm favorite with the reading public.

His well-known battles to preserve old buildings threatened by modern development also go on. The latest he is helping try to save is the 18th century church of St. Mary-le-Strand, which stands in the middle of London's busy Strand thoroughfare and is badly in need of funds for costly renovation.

Betjeman said his own favorite reading remains the novels of Thomas Hardy and the poetry of the Alfred Lord Tennyson.

We're not giving in. We're going on.

For the past several months there's been a lot of talk that we'd soon be out of business. There's no denying that we've had our share of troubles. But we're not ready to give in.

We know it'll be tough. But we have the support of some very dedicated people. Like our suppliers. Our dealers. Our customers. And especially our employees. They've made a lot of personal sacrifices. Because they're determined to help turn this company around.

So are we.

We've re-organized our entire operation. From top. To bottom. We're putting all our resources behind our proven strengths: Trucks and farm equipment. Because both of these are winners.

Take a look at the facts.

Fact. During the first six months of this year, we outsold everyone in medium and heavy trucks. And that's no fluke. For the past 36 months we've outsold everyone in the industry. More people stood by International' trucks than any other.

Fact. Our farm equipment continues to be the best in the world. Just look at our 50 Series tractors. Our Axial Flow combines. Our Early Riser planters. They are the most innovative, most advanced machines available. That's why in the last seven months alone...even in this tough economy...over 33,000 farmers have invested in International farm equipment. And we're committed to continue making the best equipment in the field. Today. And tomorrow.

Because we're getting ready for tomorrow.

We have nearly 700 million dollars invested in continuing product development for both trucks and farm equipment. That's so we can keep making the best machines you can buy. And we're backing that up with over half a billion dollars in readily available parts.

Today, we're trimmer and tougher than ever before. And we're building the best trucks and farm equipment in the world. And we plan to keep building them tomorrow.

Because we're not giving in. We're going on.

West Texas joins nation in increase of sexually transmitted illnesses

By CAROL HART
Lifestyle Writer

You've probably heard the street names. Words like the clap, a dose, bad blood and pox. Medically, the same complaints are referred to as gonorrhea, syphilis and Herpes, forms of sexually transmitted diseases most commonly called venereal disease.

According to local health officials, the venereal disease epidemic rocking the country is equally a problem here in West Texas.

Although the term venereal disease encompasses a number of sexually transmitted diseases, "a number of them are comparatively uncommon," says Dr. Melvin Porter, an obstetrician-gynecologist at Malone-Hogan Hospital. When most people use the term VD today, they are referring to gonorrhea, syphilis and Herpes, three of the most common forms of venereal disease.

Marie Sonntag, a registered nurse with the Big Spring-Howard County Health Clinic in Big Spring, has the figures to prove that sexually transmitted diseases are on the rise. "I just received a VD morbidity report for the period ranging from January, 1982, to July, 1982. In the Big Spring-Midland-Odessa area, there were 104 cases of syphilis reported during that period.

"There were 573 cases of gonorrhea reported in that period," Mrs. Sonntag continued, with six of those progressing into a more serious complication, pelvic inflammatory disease.

For the same period in the Lubbock area, there were 81 cases of syphilis reported and 768 cases of gonorrhea.

For the Big Spring-Midland-Odessa area, "we are showing a 17 percent increase" in the diseases over 1981.

IF ONE SUSPECTS THAT he or she may have been exposed to any form of VD, that person should "seek help right away," Mrs. Sonntag said.

"There is no adequate treatment for gonorrhea or syphilis at home," Dr. Porter said, adding one must first make a proper diagnosis of the problem. Once a physician has determined what, if any, form of venereal disease a patient has, various forms of treatment are then prescribed.

According to pamphlets available through the public health department, gonorrhea is the most common form of VD, and can be spread by vaginal, oral or rectal contact with either sex who is infected. It is caused by bacteria which attacks mucous membranes of the penis, vagina, rectum and throat.

MRS. SONNTAG OUTLINED some of the symptoms of gonorrhea and said "Men usually know right away that something is wrong, three to five days after contact. There is a burning when they urinate, and usually a discharge."

In gonorrhea cases, short-term treatments are often prescribed. In rare cases of resistant strains of the virus, longer term treatments are required, Dr. Porter said. A common treatment for gonorrhea is the combination of probenecid and

GROWING CONCERN - Venereal diseases, which are diseases transmitted sexually, are on the upswing in the United States, reaching epidemic proportions in some parts of the country. The West Texas area is no exception to the rule, according to local health officials, who say that VD is up more than 17 percent this year over last. The most common forms of VD are gonorrhea, syphilis and Herpes, all of which can have devastating effects if not treated promptly.

penicillin.

If gonorrhea is allowed to progress untreated, the disease can damage the body organs. It can trigger arthritis, cause heart disease or cause blindness. The disease can also cause sterility in men and women.

SYPHILIS CAN OCCUR in varying degrees, and "is generally considered more serious," Porter said. It is caused by a different organism than that of gonorrhea, and has different forms of pathology.

Syphilis can enter the bloodstream and infect the entire body, said Dr. Porter. It can be transmitted by contact between the infectious lesion or rash caused by the disease and the mucous membranes of the body in either sex, such as mouth, rectum, vagina and penis.

Females who contract the disease often show no symptoms, but sometimes experience a burning when they urinate, or notice a discharge. In females, the disease can progress without the person knowing they are ill, until it erupts as pelvic inflammatory disease, a very painful and sometimes deadly complication involving the pelvic organs.

In its early stages, syphilis appears as a local lesion at the site of the infection. In the second stage, a rash may appear, but the patient may have no other symptoms. If left untreated, syphilis can "mimic any disease in its third stage," Dr. Porter said. This makes it difficult to treat. It can also affect the heart, the aorta and nervous system, although the disease rarely reaches this stage with people who consult their physicians early.

Treatment for syphilis requires higher dosages of medication, usually by injection, Dr. Porter said. "There is no good, safe oral medication," he explained.

HERPES SIMPLEX VIRUS type 2 is a more mystifying form of VD, and a form that has no real cure. Herpes is first associated with a small blister which can be very painful. This has a tendency to last several days, then return in regular intervals. The disease can also go into a person's system. Herpes can range from pain which is "quite annoying to severe pain, which causes one to seek hospitalization." The latter is an uncommon occurrence, Porter said.

Mrs. Sonntag said that the introduction of a relatively new drug called Acyclovir in the form of an ointment aids in the treatment of Herpes. When applied to the painful blisters associated with the disease, the blisters fade faster and with less pain. But the ointment "does not cure the disease."

For people infected with Herpes, there is a two-to-12-day incubation period, then one breaks out in blisters one to three weeks after contact. The blisters may be treated and disappear, only to return in about two weeks, Mrs.

DR. MELVIN PORTER
Malone-Hogan physician

Sonntag said. In about a month, they return again, and each time they reappear, the duration between occurrences increases.

Researchers have discovered that "emotional stress causes them to reappear," said Mrs. Sonntag. The disease is also "psychologically debilitating. You're going around with something for which there is no cure. It has a definite impact on your sex life. If you were a young girl with the disease who was planning to get married, you've got to tell the person you're planning to marry that you've got the disease."

With Herpes, when the blisters are present on the genitals, "you have to abstain from sexual intercourse," Mrs. Sonntag said. "It is highly contagious at that point."

PERSONS SUSPECTING VD can go to the Big Spring-Howard County Health Department, 201 Lancaster, for an exam which is offered free of cost, regardless of the financial bracket the patient falls into. Minors may also seek treatment, without their parents' consent.

The clinic operates under orders from Dr. J.M. Woodall, acting director, Mrs. Sonntag added.

Seventh grader beats seniors on SAT test

By TINA STEFFEN
Lifestyle Editor

Like any girl her age, Christian Chrane of Plano loves horses, reading and twirling batons. What makes her so different? Her intelligence.

Christian recently visited her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Lou Crane, 1502 11th Place, while her parents were in Hawaii. She is the daughter of Ken and Dale Chrane of Plano and also the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Marchant of Kerrville and formerly of Big Spring.

Last January, when Christian was 12 years old and in the seventh grade, Duke University asked her to take a college entrance examination as part of a Talents Identification Program the school was handling for the federal government.

Christian originally heard about the program through her advanced math teacher at Wilson Middle School in Plano. "She asked the students in the 7th grade class whoever had a 9.5 math average from the achievement tests scores the year before to bring the test scores to class," Christian said. "If we had high enough scores, she gave us all the information about the T.I.P. program...how to apply, send off for practice tests, etc."

"SO WE SENT off for the application and practice test and sent in the entry fee." The 9.5 score meant the student was at the ninth grade level fifth month in that subject...two grade or class levels above the grade she was in.

"I took the pre-test and anything I messed up on I went over. My mom and dad both went over it with me. A bunch of the stuff from the practice test was in the real test."

Along with 17 students her age and many high school seniors who hoped to do well enough to enter college, Christian took the exam, the Scholastic Achievement Test, Jan.

15. "Most of them (seniors) didn't know what to think about us, I guess," she said. "Most of them kept to themselves and were thinking about taking the test." Christian scored better than 40 to 50 percent of the seniors who took the test nationally.

"I was glad it (the test) wasn't for real, that I didn't have to depend on it to get into college. It was pretty hard. A bunch of the stuff I hadn't been introduced to yet, much less learn it in school. It was a challenge. That's mainly what I liked about it...I like challenges."

"The T.I.P. program helps Duke University recognize and give opportunities to talented kids...such as take courses during the summer and foreign exchange programs for gifted and talented kids," Christian said.

Christian has the opportunity to take the SAT test annually until she is in the 11th grade.

Her peers didn't make too big a deal about her taking the college entrance exam. "They're about the same level as I am. My best friend didn't have the opportunity to take the test, but would have if given the opportunity." Christian says her closest friends, like herself, strive to make high grades in school.

Christian was not in a gifted and talented program in her school. She had entered Wilson the year before and the school personnel wasn't sure if she had high enough grades to enter such a program, she said.

Her family moved to Plano from Houston because they believe Plano schools are of a higher quality than Houston schools. Her parents refused to have their children in the Houston Public School System, Christian said, because of the school system's reputation for being a low quality system. Prior to moving to Plano, her parents sent her and her brother to private schools.

"Being in Wilson helped me a lot because of the school system is run real well. I try to make the best grades I can possibly make and I read a lot. I'm constantly reading."

"SINCE TAKING the test she has become a member of the National Junior Honor Society. "Because of this (honor society and taking the test), I might have a better opportunity to get into the gifted and talented program," she said.

Christian says math is her favorite subject and science is her least favorite subject. "I really don't have a least favorite

FUTURE VETERINARIAN - A horse lover, Christian Chrane, 13, has definite plans to attend Texas A & M University and become a veterinarian. Last year, she was asked to take a college entrance exam and scored better than 40 to 50 percent of the high school seniors who took the test nationally. She is an avid reader and studies many hours a day after finishing her other homework.

subjects. None of the scores were below 10.8 which means 10th grade 8th month. Four or five subjects were as high as 12.9, the highest score to achieve. It means 12th grade 9th month.

When she isn't studying, Christian spends time with friends, her hobbies or watches TV. She doesn't like educational programs, but prefers to watch soap operas, especially "All My Children" and "General Hospital," and "any program that could possibly be a real life situation."

Although she is 13 years old, Christian has set a firm goal for her life. "I want to be a veterinarian. I want to go to Texas A&M University and I'm pretty determined about both."

Focus on the Family

By NAOMI HUNT
County Extension Agent

Buying childrens' clothes

NAOMI HUNT, County Extension Agent-H.E. Because growing children are active and vigorous in play, select clothing that will withstand stress and strain. Clothing that wears out or falls apart before the child outgrows it is frustrating and expensive to replace.

The durability of clothing depends primarily on the fabric and the workmanship. Durable fabrics are closely woven or knitted so they don't snag easily. They may be of natural fibers such as cotton or wool, synthetics or blends of fibers. Fabrics need not be still or rough to be durable. An example of soft yet durable fabric is cotton-polyester blend broadcloth, frequently used for blouses and shirts.

Label and hangtags listing fiber content and special treatments give clues to fabric durability. Another durability factor to check is workmanship. Sturdily constructed clothes have the following characteristics: Wide seams that will not ravel or pull out; or on knits, narrow seams that are stitched and overcast securely. Double stitched seams or tape inserted in seams that receive the most stress, such as pants crotch or armholes.

Reinforcements or patches on the knees and elbows of clothes that receive hard wear. Evenly stitched buttonholes with securely fastened threads and buttons sewn on securely. Reinforcement stitching such as bar tacks at points of stress such as pocket corners and the ends of plackets or flaps. Machine stitched hems on garments that receive much wear.

Finding a garment with all these good features may be difficult. If the style, fabric, fit and price are right, the homemaker can often add the needed reinforcements to make the clothing last longer.

To save time and money, easy-care clothing is a good choice. Labels and hangtags provide information on fiber content and care instructions. Check for terms such as machine washable, permanent press, soil release, little or no ironing, crease resistant and stain resistant. Some flame retardant clothing needs special care to maintain the protective finish. Always follow the care instructions for longer lasting and better looking garments.

In addition to considering size and fit, growth features, durability and care, a few other tips will help you get the best wardrobe for the least money.

Spend the most money on clothing that is worn often, receives the hardest wear and is laundered frequently. Buy clothing that suits several purposes (for example: an outfit might double for school and church). Look for coordinates or mix and match items that will give a variety of looks with a small wardrobe.

Take advantage of sales, being sure that you buy only what is necessary and that the garments will fit for several months. Keep the wardrobe small and active. Buy or make only a few garments that will be worn often before they are out-grown.

A number of publications on children's clothes are available at the Extension office. For a free copy of the publications telephone 267-8469 or come by the office in the Courthouse basement.

Apple disposal solution

GETTYSBURG, Pa. (AP) — An apple-processing company has found a new way to dispose of peels, seeds and stems while producing energy for export operations.

According to Energy User News, the core of the system is a boiler that burns the apple wastes to produce steam for cooking and pasteurizing apple juice and sauce.

The gas previously used to produce this steam will now be used to run a turbine for generating electricity, the publication reported.

In addition, the turbine's waste heat will be recovered to raise boiler water temperature, while waste heat from the boilers themselves will be used to dry the apple wastes in preparation for their burning.

Transitions

The vacationers are coming home. MR. AND MRS. GRANVILLE HAHN spent their vacation on an Alaskan cruise and DORRIE COOK, local Girl Scout field executive, returned last Sunday from her trip to New York and Vermont.

Speaking of GIRL SCOUTS, did you know they have a new office? It is located on the second floor of the Federal Building (Post Office). You can probably find Dorrie getting everything unpacked and settled in the new location.

And speaking of getting settled, The DON FISHER family is getting settled in a newly-built home in Kentwood. Fisher manages J.C. Penney.

Former Big Springer BETTY BUCKLEY, the stepmother of TV's Eight is Enough, was featured in the Aug. 15 issue of "Dallas Morning News—High Profile." The story focused on her life and career in journalism and acting. She is one of the names Big Spring has on its list of native celebrities.

DENNIS WELLS hopes to win the championship at the 9TH ANNUAL WORLD CHAMPIONSHIP BAR-BEQUE GOAT COOK-OFF to be held in Brady during Labor Day weekend. I'm sure he would like his friends and neighbors to support him by attending the cook-off Sept. 4.

J.J., Grace Kemper

Mr. and Mrs. Jody (J.J.) Kemper of Ackerly were honored for their 56th anniversary at a family gathering Saturday. Their daughters and son-in-laws hosted the event.

Kemper, originally from Collin County, met Mrs. Kemper, the former Grace Bayes of Knott, when she was 12 years old. Mrs. Bayes was sent by horseback to pick up her sister who was walking home from singing school. Kemper was in the group her sister was walking with and they met and talked. The Kempers dated for six years on horseback, motorcycle and the Model T.

The couple was married Aug. 29, 1926 in the home of the officiating minister, Mr. Walters. They have had three daughters: Mrs. Clarence (Joyce) Ditto of Knott, Mrs. Bobby (Marvelene) Bradford, 1303 Mulberry, and Mrs. Herschel (Lou Ellen) Romine of Lomax. They also have nine grandchildren and 15 great-grandchildren.

The Kempers have lived in Knott throughout most of their marriage. They are members of the Church of Christ in Knott. Kemper is a retired farmer.

The Kempers enjoyed their life on their farm and playing with horses and colts. They always looked forward to weekends when their friends, the R.D. Taylor family, would come to play cards and string music.

Mr., Mrs. John Wesley Deats announce birth of daughter

Mr. and Mrs. John Wesley Deats, Midland, formerly of Big Spring, announce the birth of their first child, a daughter, Abigail, at 6:15 p.m. Aug. 22.

A fingertip-length veil of bridal illusion was held by a flower bandeau.

The bride carried cascading bouquet of white carnations, lavender, peach and jade green roses with white stephanotis and peach philox. The bouquet was held with satin and lace streamers.

Full look for fall apparel

Fall '82's soft, full, feminine look for women's outerwear — coats, jackets — will make sewing these fashions at home easier for most, says Alma Fonseca, a clothing specialist on the home economics staff of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

This fall the emphasis is on diversity for outerwear. There are many options in styling, fabrication and length. "We'll see big sleeves, patch pockets, shawl collars, fun, nelson necks and lots of blouson styles. Capes, ponchos and wrap coats are evidence of the looser construction too," Fonseca says.

Lengths of outerwear for fall and winter will vary from seven-eighths to three-fourths to just below the hip for a blouson look.

Although the full, loose construction is significant for fall and winter, it isn't the only option in outerwear styling, Fonseca notes. Tailored fashions — jackets and vests, for example, still play a major role in fashions for '82. Tailored fashions will hint of the looser look, too.

MRS. BRENT NICHOLS
...formerly Monica Dyess

Dyess—Nichols

Monica Dyess and Brent Nichols exchanged wedding vows in a 7 p.m. ceremony Saturday in the First Baptist Church chapel with Dr. Kenneth G. Patrick, pastor, officiating. The couple stood before an altar centered with a brass arch flanked on either side by swirl candelabra. Brass stands were also placed at the altar, holding two arrangements of rust, ivory and brown flowers.

The bride is the daughter of Patt Rudd of Forsan and Bob Dyess of O'Donnell. The bridegroom is the son of Dick Nichols of Big Spring and Jeanette Snell of Lubbock. The piano was played by Mrs. Van Kountz Debra and Sandra Kountz served as vocalists.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She wore a gown featuring Chantilly lace medallions sprinkled with iridescent sequins and tiny seed pearls on the Queen Anne neckline. The point de esprit bodice fitted to the natural waistline. Sheer Bishop sleeves were fashioned of silk organza with an inset of point de esprit edged by Chantilly lace. A full, silk organza skirt was highlighted with hand-clipped medallions of Chantilly lace. Edging the skirt was a deep Chantilly lace ruffle which swept high into a scallop at the back where rows and rows of Chantilly lace ruffles cascaded into a chapel length train. Satin ribbons adorned the fitted waistline and each ruffle of the train.

The bride wore a headpiece of Chantilly lace outlined and scattered with tiny seed pearls. A two-tier, fingertip veil of silk illusion was edged with a delicate pattern of Chantilly lace. For something old, the bride wore her mother's garter, and her wedding dress was something new. For something blue, she wore another garter, something borrowed was a lacy handkerchief from an aunt, and for good luck she wore a penny in her shoe. The bride carried a cascade bouquet of rust, ivory and brown flowers centered with a removable corsage of wobben abby roses.

Debra Kountz, Klondike, was maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Shelley McMurray and DeAnn Cannon.

Weldon Nichols, cousin of the bridegroom, was best man. D.F. Stanley and Keith Bagnall were groomsmen. Ushers were Blane Dyess, brother of the bride, Athens, and Ernie Strickland, Forsan. Candelighters were Latane Rudd and Dewayne Rudd, brother and sister of the bride.

A reception for the couple followed in the church parlor. A four-tiered wedding cake with a fountain in the center was served. The bride's table was decorated with a flower arrangement of brown, rust and ivory, and several candles.

The bridegroom's table was decorated with a brass boot and rust candles. German chocolate cake, finger sandwiches, sausage balls and coffee were served.

The bride is a graduate of Forsan High School and is employed as an adult probation officer at the Howard County Courthouse. The bridegroom is a graduate of Forsan High School and is employed by the Tom Owens Operating Company in Forsan.

Following a Caribbean cruise to the islands of San Juan, St. Thomas and Nassau, the couple will make their home in the Elbow Community. Showers for the bride preceded the wedding including one at the Texas Electric Reddy Room, with Donna Kinder, DeAnn Cannon, Debra Kountz, Lana Stevens, Janie Cotter, Shelley McMurray and Christi Adams serving as hostesses. They presented the bride with a canister set. A kitchen shower and luncheon was given in honor of the bride by courtship employees, and a lingerie shower was held in the home of Virginia McMillian. Ms. McMillian and Lisa Cobb also held a nice party.

Engagement policy

We will be pleased to announce the news of your engagement in the Lifestyle section of the Big Spring Herald from anytime after the engagement is a reality until at least three weeks before the wedding.

We try to use the story on the date you request, but sometimes space does not permit this.

The information must be submitted to us on a form available at the Herald no later than Wednesday noon before the Sunday it is to be published. The form should be signed by the bride-elect, prospective bridegroom or parents of either.

We will use a picture of the couple or the bride-elect. The picture must be of a quality that will reproduce well in the newspaper. We prefer a 5 x 7 glossy black and white print.

If the bride-elect, prospective bridegroom or their parents do not now or have never lived in our area, we need to know why you are submitting your engagement to our paper. If only grandparents live in our area, please give their names and addresses.

The information may be brought by the Lifestyle Department of the Big Spring Herald, 710 Scurry, or mailed to the Big Spring Herald, P.O. Box 1431, Big Spring, Texas 79720.

Call us at (915) 267-7331 if we can help with more information or clarification of our policies.

Dear Abby

Grandparents upset by name change

DEAR ABBY: Our only son, Jimmy, died four years ago at 29, leaving a beautiful wife (I'll call her Ellen) and a 2-year-old son, Jimmy Jr. Ellen married two years ago and recently had another son. Ellen is a fine person, and we are grateful that she married a good man who has been a wonderful father to our grandson.
Now the problem: Ellen's husband wants to adopt Jimmy Jr., which means our grandson will no longer carry our family name. Ellen is in favor of the adoption, saying she wants both her sons to have the same name she carries. Abby, since Jimmy was an only child, if his son doesn't carry on the family name, it will end.

We offered to support Jimmy Jr. until he is 21, and send him through college if no adoption takes place. Ellen and her husband say they appreciate our feelings, but they still want the adoption. We are heartbroken.

Are we wrong to feel as we do? And what can be done about it?
THE GRANDPARENTS
DEAR GRANDPARENTS: You aren't wrong to feel as you do, but since Ellen and her husband want to go through with the legal adoption and name change, please accept their decision with grace. And be grateful that Jimmy Jr. is being raised by a good man who will be a wonderful father to your grandson.

Torn muscles very painful

Dear Dr. Donohue: A month ago, while starting my bowling approach, I suddenly felt (and heard) a snap in the back of my right leg. It was very painful, and I limped home, where I immersed it in hot epsom salts and water, applied deep heat and elevated my leg. I went to a doctor, and he told me I probably had severely torn the muscle in my leg. However, after resting, as he advised, I still have pain a month later. Can you explain what happened and what to do about it? — I.S.

Did it feel like someone threw a stone at you or fired at you with a BB gun? If so I'd say you did tear part of the muscle in your calf.
It usually happens in just that way. You start to make a step, hear a pop, and feel a tremendous pain in the calf. It has happened to people on the golf course, and they have looked around for a person who has stroked an errant shot. It is particularly common in activity that demands quick starts and stops. It can put a person out of action for at least a month.

Except for your leg elevation, I cannot give you very high grades on treatment for your injuries. For sudden injuries, remember the acronym, I.C.E. That stands for Ice, Compression and Elevation. You want to get coldness to the torn muscle. The injury has happened, so there's no need to allow swelling to occur to complicate things. Heat tends to promote swelling. Ice discourages it.

MRS. JOHN EDWARD SERIGHT
...formerly Kerre Merlyn Brown

Brown—Seright

The chapel of the First Presbyterian Church was the setting for the Aug. 21 wedding rite of Kerre Merlyn Brown and John Edward Seright. The Rev. R. Gage Lloyd, retired minister of the First Presbyterian Church, officiated at the 7:30 p.m. rite before an altar decorated with matching vine branch candleabra holding arrangements of pink gladiolus, carnations and roses accented with silver dollar eucalyptus.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Melvin A. Brown, Coahoma, and Mr. and Mrs. Herbert A. Seright, Lubbock.

Mrs. Velma Ruth Wood was organist.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a formal-length gown of white Chantilly lace. It featured a Victorian neckline with a sheer off-the-shoulder yoke accented with pearls, edged with a full lace ruffle and tapered into a low "V" in the back. The long lace sleeves tapered to a point at the wrist. Lace edging encircled the empire waistline and ended with a satin bow in the back. The three-tiered lace antebellum style skirt flowed into a chapel-length train. The full brimmed bridal hat was adorned with pearls and a fingertip-length veil of illusion.

The bride wore a pearl pendant that belonged to her grandmother for something old and borrowed. Her dress was new, and she wore a blue satin garter for something blue.

The bride carried a colonial nosegay of baby's breath studded with pink blush roses and tied with white lace ribbons.

Matron of honor was Mrs. Melissa Shaffer, sister of the bride. Bridesmaids were Mrs. Ric Warren and Brenda Seright, both sisters of the bridegroom and of Lubbock, and Jenna Brown, sister of the bride, Coahoma.

The bridegroom's father served as best man. Groomsmen were Gary Rector, Lubbock, Danny Campbell, Friona, and Scot Mims, Lubbock. Chace and Jennifer Roden, cousins of the bride, Killeen, were candlelighters.

Following the ceremony there was a reception honoring the bride and bridegroom in the fellowship hall of First Presbyterian Church. The bride's table was covered with a white lace tablecloth over pink satin, and was adorned with silver candlesticks and pink carnations. Lace pillars supported the top layer of the cake which was topped with a miniature bride and bridegroom. Pink roses cascaded over the sides. The bridegroom's table was set with an arrangement of earth tone fresh flowers. Guests were served from a silver coffee service which belonged to the bride's great-grandmother.

Servers included Mrs. Edward Engel, Mrs. Rey Shive, Miss Janene Shive, all of Coahoma, Miss Chandra Roden, Killeen, Miss Suzanne Shive, San Angelo, and Mrs. Gary Wallace.

The bride is a graduate of Coahoma High School and of Texas Tech University in Lubbock. She is enrolled in graduate school at Tech and is working as a teaching assistant.

The bridegroom is a graduate of Friona High School and Texas Tech. He is attending graduate school, studying oil and gas accounting, at Tech.

Following a trip to Corpus Christi, the couple will reside in Lubbock.

MRS. MIGUEL AGUILAR
...formerly Nora Ann Granados

Granados—Aguilar

Nora Ann Granados and Miguel Aguilar exchanged wedding vows in a ceremony at 4 p.m. Aug. 21 in the Jehovah Witness Kingdom Hall, 500 Donley Harvey Corrae, pastor, performed the ceremony.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Mariano Granados, 3707 Connally, and Mrs. Dora Hernandez, 212 N.E. 10th.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a formal-length gown featuring a Queen Anne neckline and a bodice trimmed with pearls. The full sleeves ended in cuffs decorated with pearls. The A-line skirt fell into a chapel-length train with lace and pearls. The bride's veil fell from a cap accented with lace and pearls, and she carried a bouquet of burgundy and pink roses.

Josie Ochoa, aunt of the bride, was maid of honor. Laura Cervantez, Sherry Bailey, Rosa Cervantez and Irlene Baldazo were bridesmaids.

Raul Cervantez was best man. Groomsmen were Ricky Vela, Joey Lomas, Juan Martinez, San Antonio, and Abel Baldazo. Ushers were Jessie Talamantez.

Following a trip to Corpus Christi, the couple will reside in Big Spring.

brother of the bride, and Sammy Flores.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held at the Dora Roberts Community Center. The bride's cake was three-tiered heart-shaped cakes connected with stairways on both sides. Groomsmen and bridesmaids decorated with stairs. The cake was accented with red and pink roses and a fountain. A miniature bride and bridegroom topped the cake, which was made by Eidolma Ruiz.

Out-of-town guests at the ceremony included Mr. and Mrs. Ruben Muro, Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Garcia, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Ochoa, all of Temple, Mr. and Mrs. Arturo Maldonado, Waco, and Mr. and Mrs. Luis Ochoa, Pecos.

Extended-wear lenses on market

Active, on-the-go people who don't want to be bothered with the hassle of contact lenses or glasses should take a good look at the new extended-wear contact lenses.

Younger people seem to adjust to the new lenses more easily than other patients. "My experience show that the teens are adaptable and make very good patients; though they're sometimes a little lax about the follow-up visits and caring for their lenses," Dr. Harry Hollander, director of the Sight Improvement Center in New York says.

However, Dr. Hollander cautioned, these new improved contacts are still not suitable for all patients. "Extended-wear lenses are not for everyone. You need a careful evaluation by your eye-care practitioner to determine whether you are a good candidate for them," he noted. Patients shouldn't wear these new lenses if they have corneal eye disease, are prone to eye infections, are taking prescription eye medication, or have excessively dry eyes.

The long-awaited news that extended-wear contacts have been approved for sale by the Food & Drug Administration recently came after three years of clinical testing.

The new lenses have many advantages. Since they contain a much higher water content, they permit oxygen to pass through to the cornea more easily and, consequently, can be worn through the night — even while sleeping. This is because extended-wear lenses are 55 to 70 percent water, compared to an average of 40 percent for daily-wear soft lenses. The higher the water content, the more comfortable the lenses.

Another benefit is that this frees the wearer from the hassle of daily cleaning and disinfecting.

Extended-wear contacts can have disadvantages. They are more expensive. The initial cost of fittings is $250 to $450, compared to $150 to $250 for daily-wear soft lenses and $100 to $175 for hard contacts. This fee does cover follow-up visits to your eye-care specialist, however. The high water content in the lenses also means that they're easier to damage, but since you'll be handling them less frequently, this can be a plus in terms of lens life, too.

Some specialists suspect that extended-wearing time may increase the risk for eye infections. But, Dr. Louis Wilson, professor of ophthalmology at Emory University School of Medicine in Atlanta who conducted a study on extended-wear lenses, points out that the contacts themselves don't cause infection. The culprit, he says, is usually bacteria from contaminated cleaning solutions or the wearer's own fingers. Since you remove and handle extended-wear lenses just once every two weeks, the risk of infection is less than with daily-wear lenses, according to Dr. Wilson.
