Appraisal Review Board gains 3 members

By MIKE DOWNEY
Staff Writer

The Howard County Consolidated Tax Appraisal District board of directors decided Monday to appoint three more members to the appraisal review board. The extra members are to help relieve the current three-man ARB of the crush of more than 2,000 protests of local appraisals.

ARB Chairman Jimmy Ray Smith told the appraisal district board of directors the ARB would have to meet until "after January before we'd see any light." He predicted "no tax money for 1982 if farmers protest, too." Agricultural-use valuations were just mailed Monday, according to Chief Appraiser Gene Pereira.

According to the state property tax code, taxpayers must be given 20 days in which to protest appraised values.

Meeting without board member Gerald Harris Monday, Smith and J.M. Sterling had asked the appraisal district board of directors for the meeting to inform them on how the hearings were going and to seek some help.

Sterling attributed the number of protests to the discrepancies in the appraisal. "This appraisal is a disgrace...it's a mess," Sterling said. Farmers were "apprehensive" because they didn't know what their taxable values would be, Sterling said.

The ARB member said he had already been through the appraisal process in three other counties without these kind of problems. "After looking at these discrepancies (in Howard County), I can see why these people are protesting," Sterling said.

HCCTAD Chairman Roy Watkins said, however, he had heard of many persons who were not unhappy with their values, but wanted to get the same lowered values as others received from the ARB hearings. Chief Appraiser Pereira credited the large number of protests to persons not talking with his appraisers.

"A bunch were told to protest and bypass my appraisers," Pereira said.

Without additional help to the ARB, Smith and Sterling said the taxing entities would not have a tax roll this year.

"No way, there's going to be a tax roll," Sterling said. "I'd like to be out by Christmas," Smith said.

HCCTAD board member Jack Watkins moved that the board of directors come up with three more people for the ARB since "the need is there." HCCTAD board members would submit names to be considered at a special meeting Sept. 20 at 5 p.m. in the courthouse, the board decided.

Local oilman Cecil Gilstrap, who organized a tax protest meeting recently, protested briefly to the two boards about what he called "inflated values." He said the town was "hurt by unrealistic evaluations."

Two young heroes save 4-year-old girl

By CAROL DANIEL
Staff Writer

The two might be called the dynamic duo. Although they don't fight crime, their quick actions saved a four-year-old girl from serious injury.

It was an ordinary day of play. The two 11-year-olds, Thomas Statham and Clayton Pullim, are neighbors, best buddies and students at Goliad Middle School. They play together almost every day and with another friend, Wendy Ann McCormick, at the Statham's 1607 W. Second home.

Wendy and her mother, Janey McCormick of 504 E. 16th, were visiting at the Statham's. Wendy was sent on an errand, to get some cans out of the Statham's 1969 Ford LTD.

Wendy ran out to the car and, tempted by the mechanisms, pulled the gear shift down. The car began to roll down the driveway's steep incline. Startled, Wendy twisted out of the car, but was caught in the door.

"She's always liked to pull the gear shift down," Ms. McCormick said. "She pulled it down and it began to roll... Then I guess the door hit her and knocked her down."

Wendy's two friends, Thomas and Clayton, didn't freeze into inactivity. Thomas ran in front of the 3,800 pound car, grabbed the front bumper and held tight while Clayton pulled Wendy clear of the car's path.

The car continued rolling down the driveway, finally wedging into the embankment. Wendy was safe.

"It's amazing he was strong enough to hold onto the car," Ms. McCormick said. "They were just really scared."

A letter of commendation to the two from Big Spring Police Chief Rick Turner says "The quick manner in which you responded probably saved the young girl from serious injury."

The bruises received a week ago have almost disappeared now. Her left cheek, which had swollen severely, only bears a slight bruise. "It scraped her up and knocked a tooth loose," Ms. McCormick said. "When they brought her in the house, she just slumped down. She was in shock."

Wendy was taken to the hospital, but since the injuries were minor, she received little treatment, Ms. McCormick said.

The boys don't say much of their time playing together and sometimes teasing Wendy.

The police department felt their actions warranted commendation, however, and sent a letter to each of them saying "It is a pleasure to see citizens perform in such a responsible manner and especially the youth of our community."

Wendy's grandfather said "Isn't it something those boys would help her like that?"

BOLD RESCUE — Two 11-year-old boys recently were commended by Police Chief Rick Turner for rescuing four-year-old Wendy McCormick, daughter of Ms. Janie McCormick of 504 E. 16th, from a runaway car. The boys are Clayton Pullim, son of Charlie and Diane Pullim of 207 Jones and Thomas Statham, son of J.C. and Glenda Statham of 1607 W. Second.

Bodies sought after Spanish jet crashes

MALAGA, Spain (AP) — Four more bodies were pulled from the wreckage of a DC-10 jetliner today, but 27 passengers were still unaccounted for following a fiery crash that killed at least 50 tourists returning to New York from this Mediterranean resort, the civil governor's office said.

The bodies were removed from a charred tail section that had been inaccessible to firemen until today. The search continued and an official in the civil governor's office said more victims were feared still in the wrecked plane's tail area.

Spantax Airlines, the Madrid-based air charter company that owned the jumbo jet, agreed with the governor's office on the number of passengers unaccounted for, but said they were not necessarily dead.

"They might be somewhere still trying to get recovered from the shock they must have suffered. Neither can we say for sure there are no more corpses in the wreckage," an airline spokesman said.

The Spantax office in New York on Monday said that 332 passengers had escaped the blazing wreckage and only two were missing. A spokesman today said he could not explain the discrepancies in the figures.

The chartered jetliner plunged to earth moments after the 12:30 p.m. (5:30 a.m. CDT) takeoff, careened across a highway and burst into flames.

Official figures released today said 316 people escaped death, including 49 who were hospitalized and 267 who were unhurt or discharged from the hospital. Nine people are listed in very serious condition.

The cause of the crash was under investigation, officials said. Military sources at the Malaga airport on Monday mentioned engine failure as a probable cause of the accident and many survivors said the plane apparently didn't have enough power to take off.

"We are about to crash. We cannot do anything, an engine is failing," a Madrid newspaper quoted pilot Juan Perez as saying just before the crash.

A Cuban passenger who refused to give her name said deaths could have been caused because "some of the passengers tried to save also personal items they were carrying in the cabin."

The pilot survived along with six other crew members.

Nickel a bushel grain price drop?

WASHINGTON (AP) — New Agriculture Department projections show that grain prices at the farm will be about a nickel per bushel lower than had been expected.

The average price of wheat in the 1982-83 marketing year now is expected to be $3.40 to $3.60 per bushel, compared to $3.65 last season. A month ago, the price was projected at $3.45 to $3.65 per bushel.

Corn prices at the farm were projected Monday at $2.30 to $2.50 per bushel, compared to $2.45 for 1981-82. The estimate was $2.35 to $2.55 a month ago.

Soybean prices were projected at $5.25 to $6 per bushel, compared to $6.05 averaged in 1981-82. Last month it was indicated at $5.25 to $6.25 per bushel.

Last Friday the USDA estimated the 1982 crops of wheat, corn and soybeans at record levels, up significantly from last year and above the August forecasts.

Despite large quantities of wheat and corn being stored under price support loan in the government's farmer-owned reserve program, prices are still burdened by the huge overall supply, the report said.

Commissioners OK finance corporation

By MIKE DOWNEY
Staff Writer

Howard County commissioners approved the creation of the Permian Basin Housing Finance Corp. yesterday, enabling the county to be eligible for low-interest, tax-free housing loans should funds become available.

County Judge Bill Tune told the commissioners between $28-33 million could be allocated to several counties in the Permian Basin. The money would be for single-family homebuyers who were purchasing a house for the first time, Tune said. The approval of the resolution creating the corporation would allow Howard to become eligible for the funds, he said.

A May meeting with Larry Skiles from San Angelo on the housing finance corporation yielded the information that the loans would be at least five percent below current rates. The county would be under no financial obligation or liability, Skiles said.

The Big Spring City Council is scheduled to give its approval to the finance corporation at its meeting tonight at 6:30 p.m.

IN OTHER action, commissioners approved the recognition of the week of Sept. 27 to Oct. 1 as Voter Registration Week for Howard County. Ann Weaver from the county Democratic Committee made the request to the commissioners. "People who register by then can vote in the Nov. 2 general election," Mrs. Weaver said.

Bryan Green, from the Texas Association of Counties Public Employee Benefit Services, made a presentation about deferred compensation. He said employees could invest a portion of their deferred salary instead of paying taxes. Employees get a tax break and can build a retirement package, Green said. He planned to contact individual

PUC won't deny Bell rate request — for now

AUSTIN (AP) — A hearing examiner for the Public Utility Commission today denied an unprecedented staff motion to dismiss Southwestern Bell Telephone Co.'s record $471.5 million rate increase request.

Jacqueline Holmes said she preferred to grant the staff at two-week delay to review new data, but recessed the hearing to see if Bell would voluntarily agree to that extension.

Mayor proclaims Dog Bite Awareness Week

Most Americans find humor in the image of a mail carrier being pursued and even bitten by the family dog.

Naturally, U.S. Postal Service employees don't find the scene humorous.

With the arrival of the "Dog Days of Summer," in oral arguments, staff lawyer Sara Cristol had accused Bell of leading the staff on a "paper chase" by submitting useless information.

Bell said in its 18-page response to the motions that the charges were "totally without merit or foundation... Southwestern Bell has not been 'deceptive' or 'misleading,' 'flagrantly' or otherwise."

The Friday motions followed a day-long disagreement over information Bell and its parent company, American Telephone & Telegraph Co., had provided.

Two PUC lawyers said in their motion that Bell and AT&T's response to their information request was "misleading" because the data covered two years rather than one year, ending last March 31, that is relevant to the case.

by keeping their pets leashed, fenced or confined," according to Angel's proclamation.

Big Spring Postmaster Hardesty said that 5,700 of the nation's letter carriers suffered dog bite injuries last year.

"Sew It With Cotton" contest scheduled for 1982 Fair

No matter what day you attend the 1982 edition of the Howard County Fair, there will be something interesting happening, according to fair officials. And Tuesday will be no exception as a "Sew It With Cotton Contest" and an agriculture tour highlight the day's activities.

County Fair '82

The agriculture tour will begin at 8:30 a.m. at the Howard County Fair Barn and continue out to the McDonald veterinary and horse operation. After returning the tour will participate in an agricultural appreciation barbecue from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m. The barbecue is free to all who take the tour.

Persons interested on taking the tour are urged to pick up their free tickets for the tour at the Big Spring Area Chamber of Commerce by Friday, Sept. 17. Only persons with tickets will be admitted to the barbecue. Although the barbecue is free persons must purchase a fair ticket, according to fair officials.

The "Sew It With Cotton" contest is sponsored by the Dryland Cotton Promoters to create a public awareness of the importance of cotton to the Howard County economy.

There will be four divisions in the contest including adult professional, adult non-professional, youth ages 9-13 and youth ages 14-19. Prizes in each category are $50 for first, $30 for second and $20 for third.

The fashion show is slated to begin Tuesday at 7:30 p.m.

No fair would be complete without a few old fiddlers showing they can still cut the mustard, so for those not fashion oriented the fair has also slated at fiddlers' contest for 7:30 p.m.

Another special event this year is the Howard County Farm Bureau's "tallest stalk of cotton and tallest careless weed" contest. The plants will be judged from the ground-line and the winner of the tallest cotton contest will win a $150 pair of boots.

Lone Star Gas Co. files for rate increase

AUSTIN (AP) — Lone Star Gas Co. asked the Texas Railroad Commission today for a $90 million rate increase, which would increase residential customer bills by $4 a month.

The rate increase request is opposed by the Texas Municipal League, representing many of the 540 Texas cities served by Lone Star.

"Lone Star Gas Co.'s operating income declined 15 percent in 1981, and has declined 23 percent the first six months of 1982 versus the same period in 1981," said Lone Star President Carol Neaves, in testimony filed in advance with the commission.

Vice President Douglas Williams told a news conference Monday the requested rise in rates would affect about 1.1 million residential customers.

About 100,000 commercial customers would get an average increase of $6 per month.

The Lone Star request also asks that the company be allowed to pass on to consumers 100 percent of any increased cost in natural gas. The commission allows only a 95 percent pass-through at the present time.

Chamber's ag committee plans two events at fair

The Agriculture Committee of the Big Spring Area Chamber of Commerce is sponsoring two special events on Tuesday, Sept. 21 as part of the Howard County Fair.

The first event will be a tour of the McDonald veterinary and horse operation near Sterling City. Invitations have been extended to the business community in the area, but any interested person may attend by making reservation with the chamber office.

Persons attending will meet at the fair grounds for the tour's departure at 8:30 a.m. and will return at approximately 11:30 a.m. to attend the second special event — an agriculture appreciation barbecue.

The barbecue is provided free to all farmers and ranchers in the Big Spring area by merchants of Big Spring. Meal service will begin at 11 a.m. and continue until 1 p.m. in the fair barn.

Tickets for this free barbecue will be available at the chamber office, but they must be picked up by Friday, Sept. 17 so that adequate planning can be accomplished. Only persons with tickets will be admitted to the barbecue. Although the barbecue is free, the Howard County Fair Board will require everyone attending the meal to buy a ticket for admittance to the fair.

THEY'RE OFF — Coon dogs howl and splash as they leap from the starting gate at the Missouri State Fair. The target of all that canine enthusiasm is a raccoon, caged on a pontoon boat and pulled about 15 feet ahead of the dogs. About 600 dogs compete in the annual race.

Detroit cancels classes as 11,000 teachers stay off jobs

By Associated Press
Detroit school officials canceled classes today after only a small fraction of the district's 200,000 students showed up on the first day of a teachers' strike, and 8,000 non-teaching employees face layoffs for the duration of the walkout.

The Detroit strike, which began Monday, left more than 17,000 teachers on strike in Michigan, Illinois and Pennsylvania, affecting more than 313,000 students.

Detroit's 11,000 teachers, who earn between $15,000 and $30,000 a year, rejected a proposal by the school board to give up four days of holiday pay. No new negotiations were scheduled.

The school board had also demanded that teachers take an 8 percent pay cut to help ease a $23 million budget deficit, but board President George Bell said any cut would be put off for three months pending a report on the budget problems by an independent panel.

Negotiations broke down early Monday on the issue of holiday pay.

"There's not one of us who doesn't recognize that times are bad for Detroit and Detroiters, but the school board is trying to take away things it took us 25 years to get," said Don Boyce, a striker at the Barton Middle School.

The city's 275 schools were open Monday, but only 7,366 of the 200,000 students showed up for classes and only 101 teachers crossed picket lines. Schools were ordered closed today.

As a result, 8,000 non-teaching school employees will be laid off until the teachers return to work. School Superintendent Arthur Jefferson said layoff notices were sent to administrators, secretaries, custodians and clerks, effective Friday.

At a picket line in front of Barton Middle School, Detroit Federation of Teachers representative Thomas Cook said many of the city's 114,000 unemployed — 18.1 percent of the population — "have been supportive" of the striking teachers.

But as he spoke, a motorist stopped at a nearby traffic light leaned out of his window and called the teachers "money-hungry," saying that when he was a teacher he was glad to earn $8,000 a year. But a driver behind the first urged the pickets to "hang in there."

Elsewhere in Michigan, about 1,550 teachers were on strike in six other districts with 34,000 students.

In Pennsylvania, strikes crippled 17 school districts, involving about 2,700 teachers and 47,750 students, including new strikes Monday in Johnstown, West Greene and Girard College.

In Illinois, talks continued in the Wheaton-Warrenville district in a strike involving 600 teachers and 10,000 students. And in Sparta, where 129 teachers are on strike, a federally mediated bargaining session was called for today. That district has 2,100 pupils. In East St. Louis, no new talks have been scheduled in a strike by 1,300 teachers affecting 20,200 students.

Archie Knight told the commissioners the Jonesboro volunteer fire department had a few problems with its truck. A missing hose nozzle, a hook and a ladder were needed while repairs to a hose and a tank were also needed, he said. Commissioners promised to work on the problems immediately.

Commissioners met briefly with Treasurer Bonnie Franklin to approve supplemental death benefits for county employees. The cost to individual employees would only be about $7 a month, she said.

House considers immigration law overhaul

WASHINGTON (AP) — Faced with an October congressional adjournment date, the House Judiciary Committee is beginning consideration of a sweeping overhaul of the nation's immigration law that has already passed the Senate.

The measure would establish jail terms and fines for employers who knowingly hire illegal aliens and would also grant amnesty to millions of immigrants living in the country illegally.

The House Judiciary Committee was scheduled today to begin two or three days of debate on the massive bill and consideration of dozens of proposed amendments.

Sponsors hope the committee will approve the bill for possible action on the House floor next week. That would allow adequate time before the congressional recess for a conference of House and Senate members to sort out differences in the two bills and reach agreement on a measure that could be sent to President Reagan.

The administration has endorsed the bill, although it has reservations about some provisions.

Rep. Romano L. Mazzoli, D-Ky., the bill's chief House sponsor, expressed optimism Monday that Congress would approve the proposed legislation before Oct. 8, when Congress plans to recess for the election campaign.

Mazzoli said he expects the bill that will emerge from the Judiciary Committee will be much like the measure the Senate passed last month by a vote of 80-19.

"My hope is there will be no essential changes, no profound changes," Mazzoli told reporters. The legislation sets fines of up to $2,000 and jail terms of up to 6 months for employers who deliberately hire illegal aliens.

The Senate measure also would provide legal status to anyone who came to the United States before 1977 and temporary legal residency to any immigrant who arrived before 1980. Those dates may be adjusted in the House bill.

There are an estimated 3.5 million to 6 million illegal immigrants in the United States.

The House bill would set a ceiling of 450,000 legal immigrants, excluding refugees, admitted to the United States each year. The total is 25,000 higher than the Senate version.

Both measures also call for development within three years of some reliable way of determining if a job applicant is in the country legally.

Donovan passes again

But he's mad at his 'nameless accusers'

WASHINGTON (AP)—Labor Secretary Raymond J. Donovan, cleared for a second time of allegations he once associated with mobsters, says he's angry he had to endure months of public scrutiny because of "groundless charges by nameless accusers."

Special prosecutor Leon Silverman concluded Monday that there "remains insufficient credible evidence" on which to prosecute Donovan on allegations of past ties to mobsters when he was a New Jersey construction executive.

Silverman's 111-page "final report" came nearly three months after he released a 1,025-page report in which the prosecutor arrived at the same conclusion. The earlier document was issued June 28.

Donovan, in stark contrast to his triumphal Labor Department appearance following release of the initial report, appeared bitter Monday as he said:

"It is tempting, and probably politically orthodox, for me to say how pleased and gratified I am that this entire matter can now be consigned to the historians," the 52-year-old labor secretary said.

"But I am angry. Angry that I've had to endure months and months of relentless press coverage of groundless charges by nameless accusers. Angry that my wife and children have suffered as only a family can suffer. Angry that my former business associates have been unfairly maligned."

Focusing on Silverman's disclosure that a witness admitted having deliberately lied about some 17 allegations made against the labor secretary, Donovan said: "I have always known that the charges against me were lies and I have told you so.

"That is why I believe the public, with their American sense of fair play, shares my anger."

Donovan refused to discuss publicly his immediate plans. But a Labor Department spokesman, who asked to remain anonymous, said Donovan planned to remain on the job.

At the White House, presidential spokesman Larry Speakes said Silverman's final report "was not unexpected and we're pleased with it."

Two days after Silverman issued his June report — and was preparing to terminate his investigation — Reagan told a nationally broadcast news conference: "That case is closed."

After Silverman released his June findings, Donovan's problems seemed to ease considerably.

However, in a letter to the U.S. Court of Appeals for the District of Columbia, which accompanied his Donovan report on Monday, the prosecutor noted that "during the windup period (of the initial probe) I received additional allegations which, I believe, required me to reopen the investigation under the mandate contained in the court's order."

In the latest report, Silverman, a Manhattan lawyer, said some of the new allegations were "in part duplicative of, or strongly resembled, allegations" set forth — and resolved in Donovan's favor — in the initial report.

FALLOUT TRIAL TO BEGIN — Mushroom cloud from an atomic bomb test in Nevada in 1951 drifts skyward. A suit by more than one thousand claimants seeking damages over A-bomb-test fallout is set to go to trial today in Salt Lake City.

Judge OKs start of fallout trial

SALT LAKE CITY (AP) — A federal judge has rejected the government's last-ditch attempt to halt the trial of a lawsuit in which plaintiffs contend radioactive fallout from nuclear testing decades ago killed and sickened hundreds of people downwind.

Opening arguments were scheduled to begin today in the non-jury trial, which may last for months.

On the eve of the trial, U.S. District Judge Bruce Jenkins denied a government motion to dismiss the lawsuit, saying it instead would be "most appropriate to have a full-blown trial, where someone with some degree of rationality can deal with the full story."

The 1,192 plaintiffs contend that fallout from atmospheric testing of nuclear weapons at the Nevada Test Site from 1951 to 1962 caused cancer or other illnesses in themselves or their relatives.

They also say the government knew or should have known the hazards of the radiation and failed to adequately warn or protect people along the fallout's path in southern Nevada, southern Utah and northern Arizona.

The government denies fallout caused the diseases. The lawsuit, filed three years ago, asks no specific amount in damages. But attorneys have said the claims could total hundreds of millions of dollars.

In asking the judge to dismiss the suit, government attorney Edward Jiran argued that the federal government and its officials at the test site are immune from civil liability.

But Stewart Udall, a former U.S. interior secretary who is arguing for the plaintiffs, said the government's reasoning was irrelevant.

"We believe there was a subtle and at times not very subtle coverup," Udall said. "There is no court in the country that is going to allow the United States to hide behind a shield of shifting immunity."

CLEARED AGAIN — Labor Secretary Raymond Donovan faced reporters yesterday after he was cleared for the second time this year by a special prosecutor of charges he once had ties with mobsters. Donovan expressed anger over the lengthy investigations.

Showdown looms between Israeli and Syrian troops

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — The threat of a showdown between Israeli and Syrian forces looms in eastern Lebanon's Bekaa Valley after repeated Israeli air strikes on Syrian and Palestinian targets there.

The latest raids Monday killed 30 soldiers and guerrillas and left several military emplacements in flames, Lebanese radio stations said.

Israel's military command said the raiders wrecked one of Syria's Soviet-made SAM-9 missile batteries and returned home safely. The Syrian state radio said the Israelis wounded two soldiers and damaged six heavy guns.

It was the fourth time since Wednesday that Israel attacked Syrian and Palestinian positions in central and eastern Lebanon to avenge what it called violations of a July 23 cease-fire. The raid also came a day after Syria put its 220,000-strong armed forces on maximum alert, claiming Israel is the truce breaker in the 13-week-old Lebanon war.

Lebanese radio stations called Monday's air attack the heaviest Israeli assault on Syrian positions in the Bekaa since the cease-fire. They said warplanes roared over the valley for eight hours, hitting missile sites at Dahr al-Baidar and armor concentrations near Zahle, Tenayel, Saad Nayel and Tarshish. One leftist station called the attack a "new round of full-scale warfare."

"We remain extremely concerned over reports of continuing military clashes in the Bekaa," State Department spokesman Alan Romberg said in Washington. "These actions make the situation even more difficult and dangerous and we again call on all involved to act with the greatest restraint and to refrain from further military actions."

At the same time, President Reagan's new peace envoy Morris Draper was bound for the Middle East to begin the second phase of U.S. efforts to achieve a stable peace in Lebanon and the pullout of all foreign forces.

Draper, an assistant secretary of state, planned to continue efforts by special presidential envoy Philip C. Habib, who successfully negotiated the Palestine Liberation Organization's withdrawal from Beirut, heading off a threatened Israeli invasion of the capital.

The Israeli military command says Syria has violated the cease-fire at least 98 times, killing 12 Israeli soldiers, wounding 20 and capturing nine in the past 50 days. Syria says Israeli warplanes have flown at least 227 bombing raids on its positions in Lebanon since the truce.

Israeli Prime Minister Menachem Begin has warned Syria to stop PLO guerrillas in Syrian-held territory from harassing Israeli troops in Lebanon. Begin has also vowed to stop the Syrians from deploying mobile missile launchers in the valley.

As preconditions for a pullout, the Israelis have demanded a peace treaty with Lebanon and a total Syrian withdrawal from that country.

Abortion bill apparently thwarted

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate liberals, after thwarting conservatives' efforts to break the liberal filibuster against Helms' anti-abortion initiative.

Should the Helms forces be unable to snap the filibuster on Wednesday, Baker was expected to move the Senate on to other issues, leaving the so-called social issues debate behind for 1982.

The Helms bill would permanently prohibit all federal funding of abortions, including training of students in federally-funded medical schools. It also provides quick Supreme Court review of new abortion cases in hopes of overturning the 1973 Supreme Court decision allowing most women to terminate pregnancies.

The vote was 45-35, meaning conservatives must still find another 15 votes to reach the 60 necessary to limit the debate.

There was only one switch from a similar vote taken last Thursday, when Sen. John Warner, R-Va., voted to shorten the debate to 100 hours. He voted the other way last week.

A third vote on the filibuster was scheduled for Wednesday by Majority Leader Howard Baker of Tennessee. That vote was expected to be a critical test of conservatives' ability to break the liberal filibuster against Helms' anti-abortion initiative.

Alcoholism study deserves attention

To the dismay of those who had worked long and sometimes hard in the field of alcoholism, the Rand Corp. made headlines in the mid-1970s by announcing that some alcoholics could return to casual, social drinking once they had received the right kind of training.

The dismay was great because medical annals are filled with cases where a recovered alcoholic has thought he could try one drink, only to wind up at death's door or dying. How could the Rand researchers tell which alcoholics might safely manage an occasional social drink and which would be taking a suicidal chance?

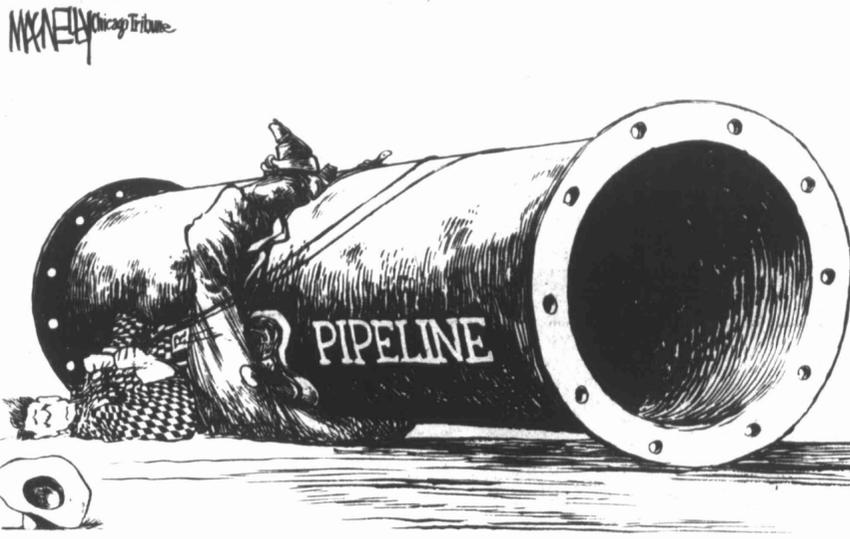

The Rand report cited research done in 1970-71 by Dr. Mark Sobell and Dr. Linda Sobell at Patton State Hospital in California. The Sobells said they had successfully used behavior modification to enable alcoholics to resume social drinking.

But this past July, Dr. Mary Pendery, a psychologist at the Veterans Administration, challenged the Sobell accounts. In a report published in the Journal of Science, Dr. Pendery said that subjects of the Patton State Hospital experiment had later experienced repeated alcoholic binges, jailings and hospitalizations.

Now, Dr. Halmuth Schaefer, who was the chief of research at Patton under whom the Sobell study was conducted, has repudiated the Sobells' findings and asked that his name be removed from all reports that he co-authored with them. Recent investigation by other researchers, Dr. Schaefer said, has left "no question" in his mind that conclusions drawn from the 1970-71 experiment were mistaken.

"The data clearly show that social drinking is not an acceptable alternative for the alcoholic," he said. "It is important that any statements I made in publications suggesting that social drinking was desirable be withdrawn, in the interests of patients who want to hope that social drinking is the answer."

This should take the entire issue back to the responsible position held by Alcoholics Anonymous, the Yale Center for Alcohol Studies and the National Council on Alcoholism. Consistently they have warned that no cure for alcoholism has yet been found and that the only way to restore the alcoholic's health is for him to abstain totally from all alcohol. It is to be hoped that the widespread publicity given to the Rand announcement in 1976 will now be given to the Pendery and Schaefer announcements of 1982.

Copping a plea

There is a lot of plea bargaining going on in our courts these days. The prosecutors keep saying they have to deal with criminals to avoid expensive trials and also to get the little fish to testify against the big fish.

The only problem with the second argument is that so many little fish get off the hook to catch a big fish, that many times no one is caught.

This is how it works. "All right, Trout, we know you blew off Barracuda's head in New Jersey, because he wasn't kicking back on the guns he sold to Libya. If you testify against Mackerel to the Grand Jury we'll drop your murder charge down to driving without a license."

Trout goes for the offer, and the prosecutors soon get a visit from Mackerel's attorneys. "If you let Mackerel off," his attorneys say, "on a vagrancy charge, he'll be the star witness against Sharkey, who is the biggest dope dealer south of Miami."

The Justice Department has been after Sharkey for years, so they say. "You've got a deal."

Sharkey is arrested on Mackerel's testimony and held on $10 million bail. After a week in the slammer,

Sharkey tells a government attorney, "I was just a courier in the dope business. If you really want some big fish, lower my bail to $3,000 and I'll deliver whoever you want."

"(as you give us Bass?)" the government attorney asks. "I'll hand you his head on a platter."

SURE ENOUGH, two months later Justice has Bass nailed to the wall for running the largest white slavery business in America. But he's hiding in Brazil. He sends word that he's willing to come back and blow the whistle on Whale, the most notorious labor racketeer in the country, but only if they drop the felony charges, and prosecute him for spitting in the subway.

Justice says they can't make that kind of deal. But if Bass is willing to turn state's evidence they might reduce the 100 white slavery counts to one count for selling liquor to a minor.

Bass goes for it and lo and behold Whale has been arrested for the first time in his life.

Justice is preparing the prosecution when Whale drops a bomb on them. If they overlook the labor racket and extortion charges, Whale says he can implicate a United States congressman in a Brinks robbery. The FBI checks out Whale's story and finds out it's true. They promise Whale if he testifies to everything he knows, they'll give him a new identity, a job and a condominium in Palm Beach, Fla.

Whale starts singing and the U.S. congressman is a dead duck. So the congressman offers to testify against one of the "highest" officials in America, who has been getting regular payoffs from Fidel Castro.

The Justice Department lets the congressman plea bargain his way down to "malicious parking," and start their case against the "high" government official.

But just before they're ready to go into court they get a visit from the CIA, who tells them the high government official really works for them. They warn the Justice people that if the official is tried, the entire U.S. espionage effort against Cuba will be destroyed.

Justice drops the case, and with no big fish to fry, they go back to finding out if they can get a better deal from the courts for breaking up the telephone company.

Around the Rim

By RICHARD HORN

No quiche

One of the most significant essays of our day concerns not abortion or the economy or the Soviet threat. It concerns what makes a real man a Real Man.

According to "Real Men Don't Eat Quiche: A Guide to All That is Truly Masculine," real men don't wear designer jeans, don't drive cars with manual transmissions, and probably never start columns with the phrase "one of the most significant essays of our day..."

Despite the fact that the author's name is a very Quiche-Eaterish "Bruce Feirstein" the book's not too bad. In fact, it's pretty funny.

Feirstein's point of view is that the country has become deluged with silly catch-phrases and designer-everything which have seriously endangered the masculinity of the country.

How can our enemies of the world (and all Real Men know that we have a lot of enemies) take us seriously when our males (who make up the fighting forces) wear little gold chains around their neck and talk about needing to get their "heads together"? Would we have whipped the Japanese in World War II if our boys had stopped at Midway Island for a quick Pina Colada?

FEIRSTEIN BREAKS the world down into its parts. There are Real Men and there are Quiche-Eaters. There are also Real Women and something else — Snuff-Dippers, maybe — but that is another book. Real Men include James Garner, the Hunt Brothers, Margaret Thatcher (for keeping the Falklands), Carol Burnett (for taking on the National Enquirer) and Charles Kuralt.

Quiche-Eaters include the obvious — Alan Alda, John Davidson, Jerry Brown — and the surprising — Robert Redford, Bob Dylan, John Paul II. Feirstein says Alexander Haig is a Quiche-Eater, except for those times when he is "in control."

You can tell these people apart by the way they talk, eat, dress, drive, by what music they listen to and by what books they read. Real Men don't think G. Gordon Liddy is an idiot, they think we need more fellows like him. Real Men don't know how to cook, they only know how to thaw.

BUT DON'T get the wrong idea. Feirstein doesn't believe that today's Real Men are tough as nails and dry-eyed. The best of them are sensitive and sympathetic — they just don't make a big deal out of it.

Real Men are sensible. They don't wear cowboy boots if they are not cowboys and don't drive Jeeps in the city. Anybody who does is insecure about Who He Is.

So the question every male in the country who has read the book asks is: "Which am I?"

As far as I'm concerned, the answer lies in the question. Real Men don't even think about it — it's obvious who they are. Only a real Quiche-Eater would worry about it.

By the way, quiche is a nasty French thing made of pastry, onion, bacon and cheese that looks like its been eaten before. My mother gave me some a long time ago, but when she wasn't looking I wrapped it in a napkin and dropped it on the floor. Enough said?

Special SBA aid not so special

WASHINGTON — The Reagan administration's dramatic announcement last week of a $200 million aid program for businessmen along the Mexican border was an election-year political ploy, nothing more.

It's not that the small businessman in southern Texas, New Mexico, Arizona and California aren't being badly hurt by the devaluation of the Mexican peso. Their erstwhile customers from across the border can't afford to shop in the United States any more, while Americans are bargain hunting in Mexico, where their dollars are worth twice what they used to be.

But the fact is there's nothing special about the Small Business Administration's "special $200 million 'Peso Pack'" of direct loans and guarantees to the stricken businessmen.

The money was there all long. It is part of what SBA had left over in funds for this year's loan program. And one reason it hadn't been spent is that the SBA has been much more tightfisted in coming to the rescue of small businessmen who are drowning from the effects of high interest rates and the recession.

There's also nothing special about the loans themselves. The border businessmen will be paying the same rates as any of the SBA's other borrowers. Ironically, a program that would have provided low-interest loans to the stricken businesses was killed by the Reagan administration last year.

SO HOW DID Scrooge become Lady Bountiful overnight? Texas Gov. Bill Clements claims a big share of credit for the transformation. He issued a press release that explained: "The SBA agreed to make available at least $5 million in direct federal assistance to businesses along the Texas border... a tenfold increase over the amount available to Texas small businessmen hard hit by the peso devaluation."

Another claimant was San Diego Mayor Pete Wilson. A spokesman put it this way: "San Diego's Washington lobbyists were checking around and not having much luck, so Wilson went to the White House for help." Presto! The loan program was announced "in response to our request to come down and give us some assistance."

There's a certain odd truth in both these claims. Clements and Wilson are Republicans engaged in tough election campaigns. Clements is currently losing ground in his reelection bid, while Wilson is fighting to stop the erosion of his early lead over Gov. Jerry Brown in the race for California's senate vacancy.

So it's undoubtedly correct — technically — that the "Peso Pack" loan program was announced as a result of Clements' and Wilson's pleas for help from the White House. Even though the funds were already available in the SBA kitty, the hard-pressed GOP office-seekers were obviously instrumental in having the loan money gussied up as a new "special" program.

To make sure Texas and California voters got the message, SBA Administrator James Sanders took pains to praise Clements and Wilson "for their leadership in working with us to put this effort together."

Footnote: An SBA spokesman admitted that the $200 million would have been available anyway to the border businessmen "if they had gone through the right procedures." He told my associate Peter Grant that part of the reason for announcing the "special program" was to let the needy businessmen know that the money was there waiting. He also denied that politics had anything to do with it. But if the funds were there all along, what was there to give anyone credit for?

REPEAT OFFENDER: The Thriftway Co., a New Mexico oil refiner, has broken the environmental rules again. And the Environmental Protection Agency has failed to take legal action against Thriftway — again.

Last December, when Thriftway was caught violating the federal lead standard in its gasoline, company officials took their case to EPA Administrator Anne Gorsuch personally. It was worth the effort. Gorsuch promised there would be no prosecution, because the lead standards were being revised anyway.

The standards were changed, but not loosened as Gorsuch had wanted. Under pressure from environmentalists concerned over the harmful effects of lead-filled exhaust fumes on children, the EPA has proposed to make the standards tougher than they had been.

Meanwhile, an EPA inspector general's report on Thriftway's freedom from prosecution turned up an embarrassing memo from a company representative. It said an EPA official had told him "that the administrator explained... that she couldn't actually tell us to go out and break the law but she hoped we had gotten the message."

Thriftway evidently did get the message, loud and clear. In the second quarter of this year, it exceeded the lead standards once more. An EPA official explained that the agency's complaint process was being changed. Once that is straightened out, he said, legal action can be expected against Thriftway and "a couple of dozen" other companies that have violated the lead standards.

A Thriftway spokesman had no comment.

UNDER THE DOME: A constituent of Rep. Gillis Long, D-La., was sponsoring an interri in the congressman's office, and sent up an $800 check for the youth's living expenses. Long had to co-sign the check before the sergeant-at-arms would cash it. Then the check bounced. The sergeant-at-arms gave Long 24 hours to make good, so an aide borrowed the money from Long's campaign fund.

— During the heavy lobbying on the recent tax increase, the Democratic leadership gave the White House names of Democrats who wanted to be asked for support personally by President Reagan. They included Reps. David Obey, Wis., John LaFalce, N.Y., and William Hughes, N.J.

Billy Graham

Husband's duty isn't domination

DEAR DR. GRAHAM: My husband is very demanding and insensitive to me. He says the Bible teaches women are to be submissive and I therefore should forget my own feelings and be dominated by him. Is this what the Bible teaches? —Mrs. S.B.Z.

DEAR MRS. S.B.Z.: No, it is not. It is true that in God's scheme of things he has told us that normally the husband should be the head of the household. Ultimately, in other words, he is responsible for the good of the family, and this is a very serious responsibility.

But that is a far cry from a husband who dominates his wife (and children) in such a way that he completely neglects or crushes their feelings and is insensitive to their needs. The Bible, in fact, says the opposite. Look carefully at the way the Bible balances a husband's responsibility to be the head of his household and his responsibility to meet the needs of his wife as he loves himself, and the wife must respect her husband" (Ephesians 5:23,25,33).

How does Christ love us? He loves us completely, and in his love he wants what is best for us. In the same way, a husband is to love his wife and seek to be sensitive to her needs. This does not come naturally, but God can help us learn what it is to love. And just as every believer is called to love Christ, so a wife is called to love her husband and seek what is best for him. Selfishness is the opposite of love.

Pray for your husband, that he will come to understand what God's will is for him in his responsibilities as a husband. Don't nag him, but by your love demonstrate to him the love that Christ has for him.

Mailbag

Jesus' identity discussed

Dear Editor: We have been reading several letters published in the mail bag on several different subjects, some we agree with and some we don't. So what? Well here is a delightful subject that no Christian can deny... WHO IS JESUS... You notice I said Who is, not Who Was, as Jesus still is, and will always be. Same yesterday, today, and forever. Heb. 13:8.

Here are a few of the names and titles of Jesus. He is the arm of the Lord, Also the Author and Finisher of our Faith, also the Author of our Salvation—The Beloved Son—Blessed and only Potentate, A Branch, The Bread of Life, Captain of Our Salvation, Chief Shepherd The Christ of God (Consolation of Israel) The corner Stone, Our Counsellor, Creator, Deliverer, He's a Door, Elect of God, Everlasting Father, A Faithful Witness, First and Last, First begotten, Glory of the Lord, He is God, Governor, Great High Priest, He's the Head of the Church, Also Heir of all Things, Holy one of God, Horn of our Salvation, He's I am, He's Image of God, Immanuel, Jehovah, Jesus of Nazareth. Also he is the Light of the World, Lord of All, Lion of the Tribe of Judah, He's the Morning Star, Prince of Peace, Or Redeemer, also called Resurrection and life. And a Rock, The Rose of Sharon, Savior, The true vine, and the Word of God... and many many more names thru out the Bible.

What the world needs is Jesus, not another five-cent cigar. He is the Coming King in all His glory. For the Lord Himeself shall descend from heaven with a shout, with the voice of the archangel, and with the trump of God; and the dead in Christ shall rise first.

Then we which are alive and remain shall be caught up together with them in the clouds, to meet the Lord in the air; and so shall we ever be with the Lord... Wherefore comfort one another with these words. 1st Thess. 16:17-18.

Customized vans are finally getting respect

by MIKE COCHRAN
Associated Press Writer

FORT WORTH (AP) — A decade or two ago, we knew them as love buggies or sin bins, gaily decorated vans crammed with flower kids and hippies. And funny smelling smoke. "Make love, not war," the young revolutionaries insisted, often practicing what they preached in their crude mobile bedrooms. Shaded, portal windows only hinted of the debauchery therein, and nice girls avoided such shabbily suspicious digs as a trollop might a vice cop. But times have changed, and so have the vans. Unlike Rodney Dangerfield, they're finally getting respect. From mothers and daddies, no less. And while the auto industry struggles through an historic slump, luxury van sales are on the upswing. The Wall Street Journal, quoting auto makers, says: "Having ridden through a boom and a bust, the van business shows signs of booming again." And one reason is a spunky, spritely new van-conversion firm called Tra-Tech which is churning out cushy models almost as fast as it can get the chassis. "Once a fad, the van now has a permanent place in the market," says Bob Isham, Tra-Tech's founder, president and chief operating officer. "It's no longer faddish," maintains the accountant-entrepreneur who commutes daily to his office here from his home in nearby Decatur. Industry figures showed van sales up 21 percent in the first half of the year while passenger car sales fell 11 percent. Tra-Tech's story is even more dramatic. Purchasing the assets of a mortally wounded van division in July 1979, Isham and a partner spent a grim year and a half disposing of an inventory of 300 vehicles. "Gas hogs," grumbled money conscious consumers. But for the 1982 model year, sales skyrocketed from 3.4 million to $19.5 million with production exceeding 3,000. Isham projected a 1983 figure of 7,000. Why the renewed popularity? For one thing, gasoline prices stabilized. And the latest van models purportedly get 35 to 40 percent better mileage than the older ones. Depending on size and model, said Isham, the new vans get 17 to 19 miles per gallon. He pointed out that as cars got smaller, the appeal for vans increased. Said he: "Everybody thought when they began downsizing cars there would be no market for vans... Instead, it created a need for vans." For one thing, they carry twice as many passengers as most cars. But Isham thinks it's equally important that the Tra-Tech vans are "social" vehicles. "They are still fun to drive," he said. "They are not just purely functional." A Tra-Tech survey indicated that a van owner is generally male, 30 to 40, married with two children, considers himself a professional of some sort and earns more than $75,000 annually. Though used for trips, vacations and business, Tra-Tech vans are committed more than half the time to family use. "Women soon commandeer them for hauling the kids to soccer games and whatever," said Phil Wetherby, Tra-Tech's vice president and national sales manager. Tra-Tech purchases the bare bones vans from Ford, Dodge and General Motors and transforms them cosmetically and conventionally into luxury vehicles. The overhaul consists of some $6,000 in "improvements," including installation of bigger, unbreakable plastic windows and sporty exterior paint jobs. Molded plastic wall panels like those found in airliners are used for the interior because they're tough and light, don't absorb tobacco odors and are easy to clean. Standard carpeting and upholstery is a "rich saxony weave" of polyester fiber.

Each van offers custom made sofas and chairs, a pedestal table, a TV shelf, a clothes closet and tinted windows. A quadrophonic sound system, color TV, 40-channel CB radio and imported European leather seats head the list of options for the van owner who wants everything. Tra-Tech vans come in two models, the Texan and the Statesman, and are not to be confused with the hot rod shop models known fondly as "Penthouse," "Tunnel of Love" and "The Experience." Although Tra-Tech is a wholesaler, the vans retail on the average between $16,500 and $17,500 with a "loaded" van selling for roughly $19,000. With its main plant here, and with additional facilities in Pontiac, Mich., and Marietta, Ga., Tra-Tech may be the largest van-conversion company in the United States. It's got to be the most interesting. "We have fun. I love the business and I still get excited about our vans," said Isham, 43, with a boyish grin. "But we're very good business people too."

The adventures of Snack-Man

EPISODE III
Synopsis of Episode II
In Episode 2, Danny and Laura are trying to escape from a strange hissing and evil-looking creature who threatened to attack but grabbed Danny's carrot instead and slid back into the bushes surrounding their home.

SNACK-MAN
...to the rescue

Danny and Laura run to their hidden club house in the back of their home and encounter another strange creature who they help. The creature is Snack-Man. Snack-Man is searching for the secret ingredients which will make him strong. He tells them that the evil Malinite monsters have invaded his planet and stolen the secret formulas. He asks Danny and Laura to help him.

Danny and Laura discover that the secret ingredients are really spelled backwards: klim and sananab are really milk and bananas! They are just about to get the secret ingredients to Snack-Man to make him super strong again, when they see the hissing creature who they now know is an evil Malinite about to attack Snack-Man.

She screamed. He laughed, a deep hissing laugh.
"Weakling Malinite," Danny jeered, hoping to distract the monster. "Eat the ananab!" Snack-Man shouted. "What?" Laura hollered. "The banana, Sis. The banana!" Danny called. She popped a piece of banana into her mouth, and the Malinite backed away. She ran to Snack-Man with the rest of the bananas.
Snack-Man quickly ate the super snacks, milk and bananas. He got up and stood strong and tall. He reached out like a flash and flipped the monster off his lid. The monster lay there helpless. Snack-Man picked the ugly creature up in one hand and hurled him up, up, up, far into space.
Danny and Laura watched in amazement, their eyes growing wider and wider. "He's disappearing into space!" said Danny, blinking his eyes to see the dot in the sky gradually fade away.
"Yea! Snack-Man! You did it!" Laura was jumping up and down and gleefully cheering.
"Thank you for helping me. I will be back. But first, I must get super snacks back to my planet," he said in a strong and powerful voice.

"You are my real friends. You have understood my secret formulas and have taught me how to say them so that other Earth friends can help me. Let's see...storrac will be carrots — and segnaro will be..."
"Oranges!" answered Danny, delighted that he knew the code so quickly.
"Yes, that's right. Now I am strong and can go on my journey and find more and more super snacks all over the earth," Snack-Man said.
"Please don't go," pleaded Laura. "We love you."

"I must go, Laura. But I will leave these secret formulas. Think of me when you prepare them. Perhaps someday..." Laura blinked back tears. "Yes, or we could visit you."

"Yea!" Danny jumped up and down. "Wow! I'd love to zoom into space with you Snack-Man!"
"Snack-Man started to take off. "Good-bye, friends," he called, "and remember, be a Super Snacker!"
The End

Dr. Donohue

Vision phenomenon alarms woman

Dear Dr. Donohue: I am covering one eye as I write this to lessen the distraction due to whirling zigzag movements of lines — curved, vivid, black and white this time. In the past, this has been in vivid color. I called my doctor, who said it was a condition of the blood vessels. I would like a more detailed explanation. — D.M.

I did discuss this recently in response to a letter from Mrs. D.A., and mentioned that such symptoms could mean retinal problems. They may, of course, but in most instances, those transient dazzling zigzag lines indicate spasm of arteries serving part of the brain that handles sight signals. The eyes merely transmit visual impulses to the brain, which unscrambles them to make pictures. It's the brain that sees for you.

Your doctor may be referring to a condition called scintillating scotoma, a common symptom in persons who have migraine headaches. Migraines are preceded by a spasm of arteries to the brain. This is why persons with migraines often have such "aura" prior to the actual headache. Only your doctor can judge whether your visual symptoms are something to be concerned about. You need more than a telephone (or mail) evaluation of such symptoms, so if you have not been in for a firsthand examination you should.

Dear Dr. Donohue: The last time I went in for my Pap smear test, the doctor checked my breasts, and this time he found some lumps. He then did a breast scan (thermogam) and other tests. I called later for the results and the nurse said I have hyperlipidemia. She said this was fats in the bloodstream.

My doctor is gone for a 30-day seminar, and the doctor covering for him is booked solid. With all the emergencies, I hate to take up office hours anyway. I have lost quite a bit of weight recently, and wondered if this was causing the fats to get into my bloodstream. — S.D.

The test results showed you have too high levels of cholesterol or triglycerides, or both, in your blood. You don't have to see a doctor right away. You can talk to yours when he comes back. Then you can find what kind of hyperlipidemia you have and alter your diet accordingly.

In the meantime, go easy on eggs, whole milk and fatty meats. This is not an emergency, especially since your other tests were apparently negative. But if you have high blood levels of fats, you will certainly have to change some of your eating habits.

Your losing weight would not cause fats to be present in your blood. In fact, when a person gets his weight under control blood fat levels often return to normal, too. For more information, see "Control Your Cholesterol Sensibly." Other readers may order by writing me in care of the Big Spring Herald, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope and 50 cents for printing and handling.

Dr. Donohue welcomes reader mail but regrets that, due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

Potential members honored at club's membership coffee

A membership coffee honoring potential members of the Rosebud Garden Club was held in the home of Mrs. Clyde Thomas Saturday.

Guests included Mary Hammon, Thelma Carlile, Ruth Kionka, Doris Hicks, Kate Hershey, Elodia Melott and Patricia Lawlis.

Mrs. W.H. Christensen, club president, welcomed members and guests, and distributed the yearbooks. Mrs. Thomas, program chairman, outlined future programs which include flower arrangement workshops, tips on the growth and use of herbs, ideas for Christmas decorating and studies on birds, water conservation and litter control.

Mrs. Walter Morrison coordinated the volunteer workers' schedules for the flower show at the Howard County Fair Sept. 20-25.

Mrs. Odell Womack told the group that the Southern Zone Meeting will be held at the Big Spring Country Club Nov. 9.

The next meeting is at 9:30 a.m. Sept. 28 at Dora Roberts Community Center.

Dear Abby

His beer bought at her expense

DEAR ABBY: Why does a man have to stop off in a tavern after work to have a few beers with the guys he works with all day? We've been married nearly three years and have a 6-month-old son. I know Joe loves us, but after an 8-hour day working at construction, he feels he has earned himself "a few beers." So how many times a week, when he comes home two hours late he says, "One guy buys you a beer, then you buy him one and so on..."

I never know when to start cooking dinner because I never know how late he is going to be.

Am I wrong to feel that he is being inconsiderate? I can understand stopping off for a beer or two once in a while, but he's made a habit of stopping every night now. Joe has plenty of freedom. He bowls two nights a week in the winter, and in the summer he plays softball.

I'm home with the baby all day, and if he came home at a decent hour after work he could take over for a while and give me a rest. I hate to nag him, but this is really getting to me. What should I do?
ANGRY

DEAR ABBY: You have a right to be angry. You and Joe should set up some ground rules and decide which nights he will be late — had how late he will be. The uncertainty and endless waiting are unfair to you.

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I have just had our first baby. We've been married only 14 months, and although this baby wasn't exactly planned, we are thrilled.

My mother-in-law said, "I hope you kids aren't going to send out any birth announcements to all our friends who sent you wedding presents, because it's the same as asking for a baby gift."

We had planned to send some, but now we don't know what to do. In your opinion, is sending birth announcements the same as asking for a present? BABY MAKES THREE

DEAR ABBY: It's not "the same," but it could be interpreted to some as a hint. Send birth announcements only to those of your friends who are far away and may not have heard the good news. If there is a doubt as to whether you should send one — don't!

CONFIDENTIAL TO DONE WRONG IN LOS GATOS: Skip it. No one said it better than Francis

Bacon: "By taking revenge, a man is but even with his enemy; but is passing over it, he is superior."

3 railroads in West to merge

WASHINGTON (AP) — The federal government, agreeing to the merger of three western railroads, is sending another signal to the industry that it considers large, powerful railroads a key part of the nation's transportation system.

The Interstate Commerce Commission approved the merger Monday of the Union Pacific, Missouri Pacific and Western Pacific railroads despite strong opposition from competing rail lines that such a marriage would harm competition.

Instead, by a 5-1 vote the ICC said shippers and the public would benefit from the emergence of a rail line that will have 22,800 miles of track and span 21 states from Puget Sound to the Gulf Coast.

"With this decision the commission has endorsed a private-sector proposal that will enhance efficiency and competition while providing improved service to shippers," declared ICC chairman Reese Taylor.

"Large scale combinations of the type we've approved today will stimulate intense rail competition which will inevitably lead to further consolidation attempts," ICC vice chairman Reginald Gilliam told reporters.

Within hours of the decision, Benjamin F. Biaggini, chairman of the Southern Pacific Railroad, which has been fighting the merger for two years, said the ICC action would be appealed to the federal courts in an attempt to reverse it.

The merger "will destroy railroad competition in the West," Biaggini declared in a statement.

The ICC decision marks the latest in a series of mergers in recent years that have resulted in the creation of a number of large, powerful railroads. Some industry analysts believe eventually the country will be crisscrossed by only a half dozen rail lines.

Taylor acknowledged at a news conference that he would not be surprised if additional merger requests were submitted particularly by railroads forced to compete with the large rail systems. But, he warned, the ICC will not automatically approve merger requests.

Earlier this year it approved the merger of two successful railroads — the Southern Railway and the Norfolk & Western Railroad. That merger was prompted by the emergence of the CSX Corp., the nation's largest railroad in terms of track miles, as a result of a 1980 merger of two other successful railroads, the Chessie System and the Family Lines Rail System.

THE NEW LINE — Chart shows the three Western railroad routes which will merge to form a single line serving 21 states from the Puget Sound to the Gulf Coast. Federal approval of the railroad merger came yesterday.

The merger of the Union Pacific, Missouri Pacific and Western Pacific was debated for two years before the ICC, and the commission acknowledged anti-competitive problems with some parts of the proposal.

But Taylor said the commissioners believe those problems have been alleviated by requirements that competing lines be given the right to use the new railroad's tracks in some areas.

By linking the Union Pacific with the Missouri Pacific end-to-end, a single rail line will stretch from Seattle and Portland in the Pacific Northwest to Chicago and southward to New Orleans and Texas on the Gulf Coast.

With the Union Pacific's existing line from Utah to Los Angeles and acquisition of the Western Pacific, the new railroad also will have access to the California ports.

Five of the 10 Big Spring area football teams again chalked up victories on the second Friday of the 1982 season. The biggest win had to be Lamesa's 21-0 shutout of Brownfield which snapped the Tor's 12-game losing streak. Other big wins were posted by Stanton (7-0 over Coahoma) and Forsan (33-25 over Garden City).

Richard Gibson (Grady Wildcats): On last week's manhandling at hands of No. 3 Dawson — "I was real disappointed in our play in the second quarter when Dawson scored 40 points. We fell completely apart in every phase of the game. We didn't maintain the level of play we had in the first quarter. But they could've shut us out in the second half but didn't. It was a learning situation for us. We learned if you're not prepared to play four quarters of football, you can get wasted in a hurry." On district opener Friday night against the Ira Bulldogs — "They're not real quick and fast like Dawson but they've got some big, big kids and will try to run over you. We have to be geared up physically for this game."

Steve Park (Stanton Buffaloes): On last week's second shut out win of the season, this time over rival Coahoma — "We didn't play very good. But that may be because ole Coahoma got after us good. We didn't take advantage of the turnovers and we gave them some. We didn't get the offense going good. Something would mess it up." On this week's toughest against Crane's Golden Cranes — "They look like the Dallas Cowboys. Their offensive line averages over 200 pounds. They have speed, they have a 200-pound fullback named Eddie Jones and a tailback — Gilbert Ramirez — who ran for 227 yards against Marfa. Their quarterback — Eugene Morris — came over from Ector. The haven't been scored on yet." Joe Longley (Greenwood Rangers): On last week's disappointing results at Wink — "We're just making mistakes that are hurting us. When we correct them, we're going to be all right. We're getting closer to having our kids perform. Some of the kids we were counting on haven't been doing the job. We've had one or two kids on the line that haven't been doing their job. We're fixing to change that." On returning home to face another good team in Iraan — "We're going to have to play better than we have been. We'll have to stop their good running back Jesse Banner. He's good balance is probably one of the better running backs we'll run into this year. There's nobody that wants to win more than we do now. We need to get a win to get us going into district."

Jan East (Forsan Buffaloes): On Friday's thrilling win over rival Garden City — "It was a real good ballgame...good, especially, from the spectators standpoint. We got the ball back with about 1:06 to go and ran it out. Until that point, the outcome was still in doubt. We did a better job on offense...Lewis Boeker got 148 yards on some pretty goods runs and although he didn't get in the end zone, he got us close enough to it. The defense did a good job with the exception of stopping their quarterback. He wasn't real big but was real quick." On this Friday's trip to Robert Lee — "It'll be another tough ballgame for us. They have a little size and some seniors and upperclassmen. We have to play another good game to win."

Stewart Cooper (Garden City Bearcats): On the tough loss to rival Forsan — "We were pleased with the game. We our chances to win but we made a few mental lapses. We gave them so easy scoring opportunities. Ole Jan's got a good ballclub over there and they were fired up for us. But we did some things we didn't think we could do." On meeting Grandfalls

Royalty Friday — "They're going to be one of the few teams we'll play that match up to us in size. They are quick and very scrappy. They run a lot of different defenses. They run the wishbone and the throw the ball quite a bit."

Tom Ramsey (Colorado City Wolves): On the tough loss to Seminole — "We got a lot of experience up there. They were just too much for us. We've got to quit making mistakes. We learned a lot but we're getting to the point where we need to quit learning and start producing. It's the third ballgame now and we're playing a tough Denver City ballclub." On facing that Denver City team on the road — "They upset Kermit 13-6. Anytime you hold a team like Kermit to one touchdown, you've played some good defense. They have speed with a hurdler that went to state playing half-back. They also have four or five kids over 200 pounds with a couple over 230. It's probably one of the best Denver City ballclubs they've had up there in a while."

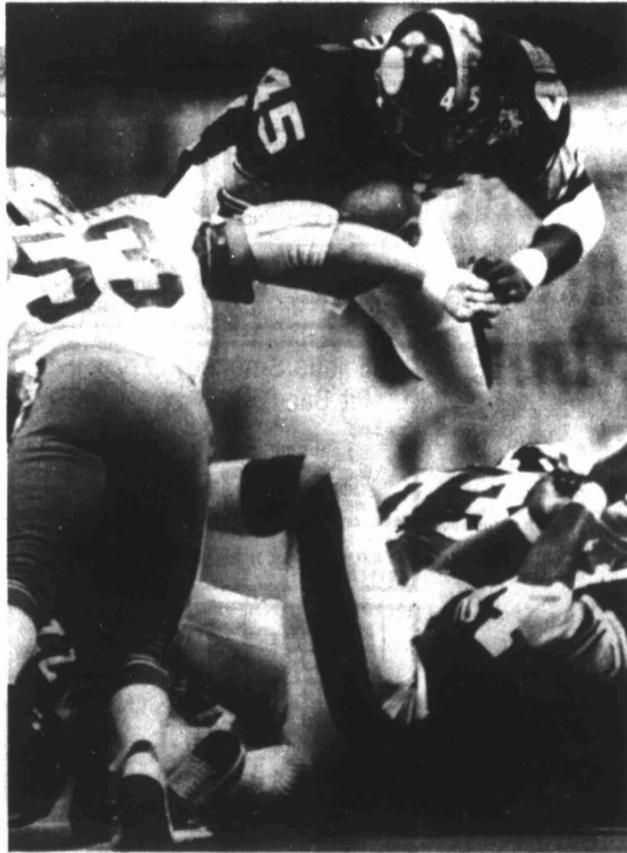

Larry Hudson (Coahoma Bulldogs): On a narrow loss to rival Stanton at home — "I thought our young men played well, not to take any credit away from Stanton. Thought that if we had completed one pass and punched one in, it could have been 14-7. But we played with lots of emotion and we cared if we won or lost. We shut off their offense." On traveling to meet Tahoka Friday — "Tahoka does a have a large football team. And again, we'll be playing older kids against our juniors. They say Tahoka doesn't have the good back but Steve Pierce is the one we're going to have to stop to win Friday. They also play tough defense. But I think we can get them if we play a good football game."

Jim White (Sands Mustangs): On big win on road at Water Valley — "I didn't have any idea how well the defense was playing until we looked at the stats. I knew they were playing good but not like that (2 first downs, 22 total yards). They were kind of overpowering. Offensively, we had nearly 400 yards again and that's with a lot of the younger kids getting in a lot of playing time. It was a good win." On visiting the revenge-hungry Smyer Bobcats — "They are better than their 0-2 record. They've lost a couple of close ballgames. They want us bad. We were their only regular season loss last year. We upset them at home at their homecoming so we better be ready for that. They are a good defensive team and have a whole lot of speed."

Bill West (Klondike Cougars): On last week's victory over Meadow — "We weren't as up for the game as we should've been. We were extremely high the week before but we didn't get started good for a quarter and a half. But then we played the second half like the week before." On trying for win No. 3 at O'Donnell in first road game — "They are young this year and it will take them awhile to get going. They play us and then Sands and then go right into district. Things don't look too bright. They graduated eight and nine starters on offense and defense. Right now their offense is a little ahead."

Jim Warren (Lamesa Golden Tors): On last week's big, big victory over Brownfield that snapped long losing streak — "It's a great feeling. The defense played extremely well but we didn't mesh up that good offensively. In fact, we didn't do as good offensively as we did against Levelland. We penetrated five times and only scored three times...we should have gotten it in the other two." On the boost from winning for the first time since 1980 — "I would hope it is. The kids are very excited and the coaching staff is very excited. We hope it's the first of many." On having to face highly-regarded San Angelo Lake View — "It will be a tremendous game. They are a quality football team but I think we can play with them. They are a sound team and make very few mistakes. They are also well-coached."

IN FLIGHT — Pittsburgh Steelers running back Russell Davis (45) takes to the air trying to avoid a pile up during first quarter action Monday night in Texas Stadium. Coming in for the stop is Dallas Cowboy linebacker Bob Breuning (53). The Cowboys held a 14-13 halftime lead.

Steelers star in Dallas debut

IRVING, Texas (AP) — It was like a rerun of an old movie. Call it the Pittsburgh-Dallas story, starring Terry Bradshaw.

For want of a better title, call it "To Kill A Cowboy."

The Steeler quarterback had been the spoiler for the Cowboys in two Super Bowls during the 1970s plus two other regular season games.

Bradshaw proved Monday night he hasn't lost his magic touch against the Cowboys.

He threw three touchdown passes in an entertaining 36-28 victory that stopped Dallas' record of National Football League opening triumphs at 17.

The co-stars were wide receivers Jim Smith and John Stallworth, who terrorized the Dallas secondary, and cornerback Dennis Thurman in particular.

Stallworth said it was a collision of two different NFL worlds.

He said "We have two different styles of play. We (the Steelers) are a physical team. We hit people—we hit people."

"The Cowboys are geared to finesse. They try to confuse you. We believe that when those two opposing forces clash, the physical team will win."

He also noted that the Cowboys' highly publicized victory streak helped arouse the Steelers.

"We were up for the game, of course. We knew they had that big winning streak. We had been hearing about THAT all week."

Stallworth bedazzled Thurman, catching 7 passes for 137 yards and one touchdown, an 8-yarder.

Smith caught two scoring passes, including one over Thurman.

"They (the Cowboys) are a great team and we are not," said Bradshaw. "We needed this victory. It was more important to us than it was to them."

Dallas led Pittsburgh 14-13 at halftime but saw the game slip away after rookie Keith Willis blocked Dallas quarterback Danny White's punt in the third quarter.

He had four touchdown passes but the blocked punt and two interceptions killed the team that had never lost a regular season game in Texas Stadium (18 games) with White at quarterback.

Asked whether the Steeler game plan targeted Thurman, Stallworth said, "We don't ever have a game plan aimed at one special guy. We look at tendencies not individuals. It may have looked like we were picking on Thurman but we were not conscious of doing that."

Willis' punt block set up Frank Pollard's one-yard touchdown run and the Steelers jumped ahead 20-14.

White said "I started to run. It was a complete shock to me. A terrible mistake on my part."

He added "We just blew it in the third quarter."

Interceptions by Rick Woods and Jack Ham gave the Steelers 10 more third period points on a 15-yard touchdown pass to Smith and rookie Gary Anderson's 26-yard field goal.

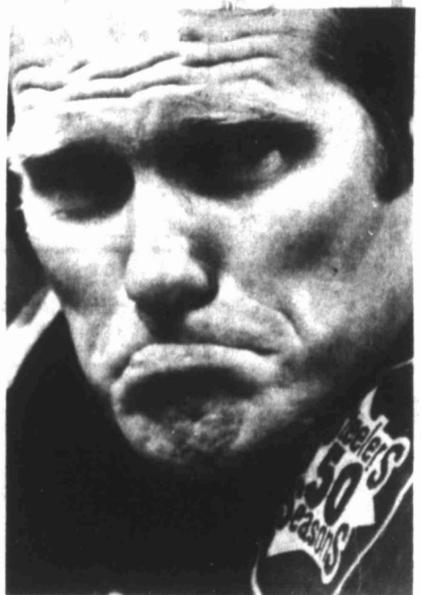

The former Syracuse star also had field goals of 43 and 40 yards, making Coach Chuck Noll's decision to get rid of Dave Trout a brilliant one.

Pittsburgh got Anderson from Buffalo last week.

White completed touchdown passes of 4 yards to Drew Pearson and 12 yards to Doug Cosbie in the first half to offset Bradshaw's scoring passes of 8 yards to Stallworth and 7 to Smith.

White had scoring shots of 45 yards to Tony Hill and 5-yards to Billy Joe DuPree after the damage had been done in the second half.

Dallas Coach Tom Landry said "I think we beat ourselves, we've been rated high all summer...maybe too high."

THAT WINNING SMILE — Pittsburgh Steeler quarterback Terry Bradshaw frowns from the sidelines during the Pittsburgh-Dallas National Football League game Monday night in Texas Stadium. Bradshaw seems upset, however the Steelers defeated the Cowboys in both teams' season opener 36-28.

Rozelle: owners won't accept NFLPA demand

NEW YORK (AP) — National Football League Commissioner Pete Rozelle says that the league's club owners will not accept the players' demand for a fixed percentage of the gross revenues.

"As much as the owners don't want a strike, they are not going to accept something they feel they cannot live with for the next five years," Rozelle said Monday. "If the players believe that they can get what (Players Association Executive Director Ed) Garvey is asking for, I think they are being misled."

"Ed Garvey has equated a strike with getting 55 percent of the gross. The owners have made the players a sizeable counter-offer. I would like to see Ed work on that or suggest something else." A percentage of the owners' gross revenues is the focal point of the NFL Players Association's demands.

Earlier in the day, Garvey said that nothing forceable will stop the association from setting a strike deadline. No matter what the union's executive committee next week.

"Nothing short of a miracle can stop us from setting a strike deadline. No matter whether we (contract negotiators) meet again or not, whatever happens we will set the date when we meet on Monday," said Garvey.

Texas loses again

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — Minnesota pitcher Al Williams says everything was going his way, but a sprained thigh muscle now threatens to spoil his late-season winning streak.

Williams, 37, came within five outs of the first shutout of his three-year major league career Monday night as the Twins defeated the Texas Rangers 2-0.

Ron Davis came on to pick up his 19th save as Williams extended his winning streak to a club high for the season. The Nicaraguan native is 6-1 since being sent to Toledo for three weeks in June and July.

Tom Brunansky homered with one on in the fourth inning to give the Twins all the runs they needed for the victory.

Texas rookie Mike Mason surrendered four hits over seven innings in losing his major league debut. Mason, a 23-year-old left-hander from suburban Minnetonka, struck out four and walked none.

Hester-Robertson can help cut cooling costs

Home energy costs are going up fast and it looks as though consumers can expect them to go up higher in the coming months. Hester-Robertson mechanical contractors on N. Birdwell Lane has the equipment necessary and the programs designed to help consumers beat the spiraling costs.

HESTER-ROBERTSON offers new energy-saving units such as Carrier, General Electric, Lennox, and Singer. The newer the model, the more fuel efficient and cheaper to operate the unit is.

As an added incentive to use more efficient energy systems, Hester-Robertson wants to remind consumers of the TESCO rebate program now being offered. If you replace your existing unit or heat pump with a high efficiency system with an 8.5 Seasonable Efficiency Rating (8.0 for heat pumps), TESCO will give you a rebate on some of the costs.

Hester-Robertson services all the equipment they sell. They can price any work they may do. And since summer is here it may be the time for you to install a new system or let Hester-Robertson update the system you have.

Hester-Robertson also sells Aireze Fiberglass Coolers and MasterCool Evaporative Coolers. These are economical and supply good cooling for your home.

In addition, they can supply duck systems and do sheet metal work.

THE FREINDLY staff at Hester-Robertson will be glad to answer any questions you may have. They invite you to come by and pick up one of the free brochures they offer. It will give you all the information you need about the new energy saving systems.

Your Daily HOROSCOPE

from the CARROLL RIGHTER INSTITUTE

FORECAST FOR WEDNESDAY, SEPT. 14, 1982

GENERAL TENDENCIES: A day when you need to use tact and diplomacy in dealing with others since there is unusual sensitivity in the air. As the day progresses you'll find conditions improving.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Attend to those duties ahead of you without delay and don't ask others for help. Not a good day to ask for advice.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Don't take advantage of the rights of others today or you could meet with stiff opposition. Maintain your poise.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Anything of a civic nature needs to be handled carefully at this time. Be sure you handle credit matters wisely.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) You may feel you want to delve into new projects that appear inviting, but it's better to wait for a better day.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 31) Don't overlook obligations you must meet today. Loved one may be moody, so keep your distance. Cooperate more with others.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Pay close attention to the wishes of others today, particularly where your associates are concerned. Strive for success.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Take more time to engage in duties that could add to your income. Rely more on yourself than others at this time.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Be cheerful, even though those around you may be stern. Don't spend too lavishly on amusements now.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) An outside affair should await a better time before you go ahead with it. Establish more harmony with family ties.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Recheck a routine matter today and avoid a costly mistake. Being critical of an associate is unwise at this time.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Not a good day for delving into money matters since your judgment is not up to par. Be more helpful to others.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Be positive in any business dealings today for best results. Avoid a group affair. Follow your hunches which are accurate now.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he or she will have a knack for getting in trouble, so teach ways to solve problems instead of creating them, and then this becomes a successful chart. There is musical talent here. Don't neglect ethical training.

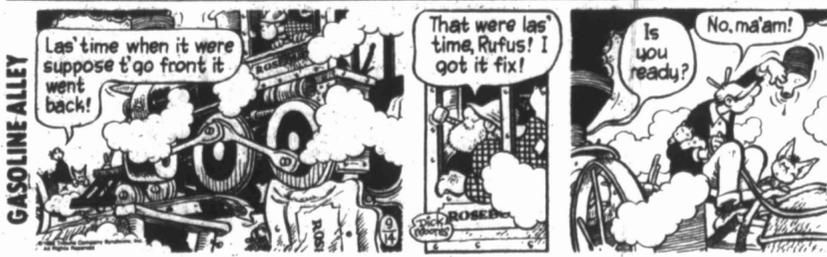

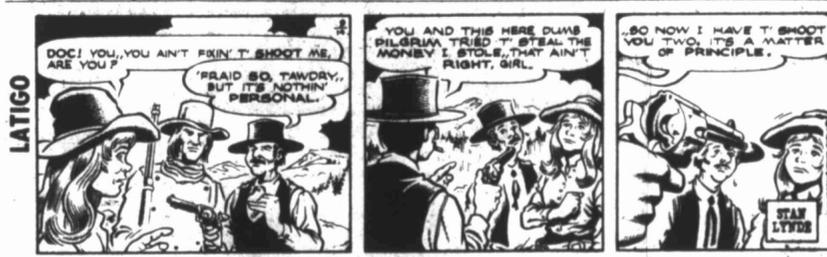

"The Stars impel, they do not compel." What you make of your life is largely up to you!

Braves drop from first

National League

ATLANTA (AP) — Houston's Joe Niekro hated to do it, but he beat his brother Phil and it cost the Atlanta Braves first place in the National League Western Division race.

"It was a tough game. I'd rather see the Braves win than the Dodgers, but I've got to do the best job I can against both of them," Joe Niekro said after winning the fifth of the two brothers' nine career matchups 5-3 Monday night.

"I don't mind facing Phil when the natural rotations of the two pitching staffs throw us against each other," Joe Niekro said. "But it's tough on me, it's tough on me and it's tough on me when it happens."

The Braves dropped to second place by a half-game in the NL West when the Los Angeles Dodgers beat the San Diego Padres 4-3 on Steve Garvey's home run in the 16th inning early today.

Joe Niekro is in the same position this year that his brother was in two years ago, when the non-contending Braves knocked the Astros out of the running for the NL West title by taking three of four games of a series in Atlanta.

Houston Manager Bob Lillis had good words for both pitchers. "It was a super performance, (Joe) didn't walk many but Phil also pitched a good game. He had super control and his knuckleball was dancing."

Phillies 2, Cards 0

The way Steve Carlton was pitching gave Philadelphia Manager Pat Corrales "goose bumps"—and the St. Louis Cardinals goose eggs. "He just got stronger," Corrales said of Carlton after he pitched the Phillies to a 2-0 victory over the Cardinals with a three-hitter Monday night. "He's the best I've seen. It's amazing to me, a man almost 38, pitching like he's 28."

"That's what desire and talent does for you. He prepares himself. He works hard."

worked out of two bases-loaded, no-out jams, in the ninth and 10th innings, before the Reds started the winning rally off loser Gary Lavelle, 9-7, with two outs in the 11th.

Paul Householder singled and went to third on a single by pinch-hitter Johnny Bench. Ron Oester was walked intentionally and Cedeno lined his game-winning hit to center. The Giants came back with a run in the bottom of the inning on Chil Davis' sacrifice fly.

Dodgers 4, Padres 3

Steve Garvey slammed a two-out homer in the bottom of the 16th inning to break a 3-3 tie and lift Los Angeles over San Diego.

Jerry Reuss, 16-10, the eighth Los Angeles pitcher, earned the win. Chris Welsh, 8-7, the seventh San Diego pitcher, took the loss.

The game consumed five hours and 20 minutes, the Dodgers using 28 players, the Padres 22.

Joe Lefebvre and Gene Richards accounted for 11 of the Padres' 15 hits with six and five, respectively.

Reds 5, Giants 4

Pinch-hitter Cesar Cedeno's bases-loaded single with two outs in the top of the 11th inning snapped a 3-3 tie and lifted Cincinnati over San Francisco.

Winner Joe Price, 3-3, tonight.

Paul Householder singled and went to third on a single by pinch-hitter Johnny Bench. Ron Oester was walked intentionally and Cedeno lined his game-winning hit to center. The Giants came back with a run in the bottom of the inning on Chil Davis' sacrifice fly.

Jody Davis and Jay Johnstone each hit two-run homers to back the combined six-hit pitching of Jlen Ripley and Willie Hernandez as Chicago defeated Pittsburgh.

Ripley, 5-7, gave up five hits in the first seven innings, including a two-run homer to Dale Berra. Hernandez shut down the Pirates over the final two innings to record his 10th save.

Don Robinson, 15-10, was the loser.

"We might have had a little bit of a letdown tonight after beating the Phillies two games out of three," said Pirates Manager Chuck Tanner. "But they just had their hitting shoes on tonight."

Contest Rules:

Don't miss the fun and profit! Here's all you do to be eligible for the cash prizes: Mark your prediction of the winners of games shown in each ad or legible facsimile, print your name and address plainly, mail or bring to the Herald by 5 p.m. each Friday. Winners will be announced on Tuesday of the following week. Mark predictions with an "X" opposite your choice of team. Pick actual score of game as indicated for TIE BREAKER. Everyone eligible except employees of the Herald and their families. See if you can beat the Herald Football Crystal Ball Forecasters.

As many members of a family may participate as wish to do so, but only one will be eligible for an award in any one week.

Neatness is Important — Be sure to mark your SCORES clearly so the judges won't make a mistake. In case of tie in number of games missed, awarding of prizes will be based on the grading of the actual scores indicated in the tie-breaker. The point spread in the scores will be the basis for the breaking.
