Latest tally: 3.1% rate of inflation

WASHINGTON (AP) — Fueled by sharply falling automobile costs, prices at the wholesale level fell in September at an annual rate of 1.7 percent, the government said today.

The monthly decline, the fourth this year, also was driven by lower food and energy costs, the Labor Department said in its new report on the Producer Price Index for finished goods.

Prices for new cars tumbled 6.3 percent from August and costs for light trucks were off 3.5 percent as dealers cut prices to make room for 1983 models, the report said.

Food prices, partially reflecting abundant crop harvests, fell 0.5 percent in September, the second sizable drop in the past three months.

Gasoline prices dropped 0.9 percent in September after rising in each of the previous three months. The cost of home heating oil fell 1.6 percent after a smaller decline in August.

The new figures meant that for the first nine months of the year inflation at the wholesale level was running at an annual rate of 3.1 percent. If that rate held steady for the rest of the year, it would be the smallest increase since the 2.2 percent rise recorded for all of 1970.

Producer prices — one merchandising step before the prices paid by retail customers — had surged 7 percent in 1981 and 11.8 percent in 1980.

Economists have attributed the better results on inflation to the stifling recession and the worldwide oil glut as well as bumper crops.

The new report said that for the 12 months ending in September, producer prices rose 3.6 percent.

The department provided these details on producer prices last month:

- Food prices fell 0.5 percent after rising a small 0.1 percent in August and tumbling 1.5 percent in July. Prices declined for pork, poultry, soft drinks, beef, veal, and processed fruits and vegetables. Prices were up for fish, fresh fruit, sugar, dairy products and coffee.
- Energy prices overall rose 0.4 percent in September, less than the sizable advances in the three previous months. Offsetting the falling gasoline and heating oil prices were costs for natural gas, up 2.7 percent.

- Capital equipment costs fell 0.4 percent, marking the first since February. Those costs are for machinery and transportation equipment used by business.

All the increases are adjusted for normal seasonal variations.

In all, the unadjusted Producer Price Index for finished goods stood at 281.4 in September, meaning that goods costing $10 at wholesale in 1967 would have cost $28.14 last month.

Marilyn Monroe's diary stays secret

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The contents of Marilyn Monroe's so-called "red diary," recently the object of intense publicity, will remain secret as far as actor Ted Jordan is concerned.

Jordan said Thursday he returned to Ohio from Los Angeles this week to dig up a jewelry box which he said contained the diary and other personal items belonging to the actress, who died Aug. 5, 1962. Her death was ruled a suicide.

The actor said, "I brought it back to Ohio in October 1962" and buried it at the top of Mount Pleasant in his native Lancaster, Ohio. He said he dug it up on Wednesday.

"I put it there for sentimental purposes — just for memories," said the 57-year old actor, who played freight office operator Nathan Burke on the "Gunsmoke" television series between 1964 and 1975.

Jordan worked with Miss Monroe when both were under contract at 20th Century Fox in the 1940s. He said they became lovers in 1944.

The existence of the mysterious diary, however, remained unconfirmed. Jordan said he had mailed the book to Los Angeles. He refused to say to whom he had sent it.

Jordan has made several inconsistent statements about the diary.

In August he said he had the diary in his possession. Later that month, the actor said the "diary" was merely a book of love poems he and the late actress once shared and that it was stolen from the trunk of his automobile.

Thursday, Jordan produced the scarred and faded leather jewelry box. The box contained a pair of gloves that supposedly belonged to Miss Monroe as well as a knit sweater, a bracelet, an assortment of costume jewelry and a locket holding their photographs.

Friends of Miss Monroe who believe the diary exists say she was murdered because she was about to reveal its contents — purported government secrets she learned through an alleged romance with then-U.S. Attorney General Robert F. Kennedy. Those secrets allegedly included a CIA plot to kill Cuban leader Fidel Castro.

MARILYN'S SWEATER — Actor Ted Jordan removes a sweater from a box of Marilyn Monroe mementoes he once buried and dug up this week. The box also contains her controversial diary.

BSISD tax roll need is heard

By BOB CARPENTER
Staff Writer

Semi-pro football and budget amendments, plus a little bit of talk on the current property appraisal were the subjects of last night's Big Spring Independent School District Board of Trustees meeting.

Assistant Superintendent Don Crockett discussed with trustees the need for a certified tax roll from the county before the district's cash reserves and state funds become depleted.

Crockett said the district's investments "will diminish on a monthly basis until we get the tax rolls." He said he had no indication yet from the Howard County Consolidated Tax Appraisal District when the certified tax rolls would be ready.

"He said the district's present funds should see us through December into January sometime." However, Crockett said the district is looking into alternatives in case the rolls are not prepared in time for the district to collect taxes.

Crockett also told the trustees the State Property Tax Board recently had completed a study of the district's 1981 property values for use by the Legislature in distributing state education aid through the Foundation School Program.

He said the study "uses 1981 property values and will be used to determine the local fund assignment and to allocate equalization aid for 1983-84 and 1984-85 school years."

Values are placed on categories such as single family homes, multi-family residences, vacant lots, banks, etc.

Crockett said on the advice of the HCCTAD's Chief Appraiser Gene Pereira, the district is appealing several of the property values as being excessive. Pereira is preparing specific evidence to support our request for adjustment in each of these categories," Crockett said.

Some of the categories being appealed are vacant lots, farm-ranch properties.

Arts fest starts tomorrow

By CLIFF COAN

Things are looking "real good" for the Big Spring Arts and Crafts Festival starting tomorrow in the Dorothy Garrett Coliseum on the Howard College campus, said chairman Mel Prather.

"It's going together easier and smoother than I thought it would," he said. Howard College personnel had been doing a "fantastic" job in getting the Coliseum ready for the show, he said, and "as far as the town getting involved — I've had lots of calls from people to see if they could help.

The festival will be open from 10 a.m. until 6 p.m. on Saturday and from 1 until 6 p.m. on Sunday.

"We've got a good group to work the show both days," Prather said. "We had 50 to 60 people volunteer to work the whole show, and we've never had that before."

The Howard County Fair Association and city officials got together to come up with 107 additional tables for the event, Prather said, making the total number of displays at 187.

"That's 18,700 square feet of displays," Prather said.

Admission to the show is free. Prather said, noting that the event

Boys Scouts have long history in county

EDITOR'S NOTE — This is the fourth in a series of stories about local organizations funded by the United Way.

By CLIFF COAN
Staff Writer

Big Spring is no stranger to Boy Scouting.

In fact, Big Spring is the home of what is believed to be the oldest Scout troop west of the Mississippi. The earliest record of Troop 1, organized by a B. Reagan, dates back to 1911 — just one year after the Scouting movement took root in the United States, said District Executive Phil Corbin.

Whatever your youngster desires, chances are he can learn about it through the Boy Scouts of America.

Aided by funding from United Way contributions, the organization offers programs on everything from self-development to highly-specialized skills to nearly 500 youths in Howard County.

"Scouting is the education of youth over a broad spectrum," said B.S.A. District Executive Phil Corbin. "In Cub Scouts (for boys ages 8-10), a boy has the opportunity of working on approximately 64 achievements and electives in different areas; in Boy Scouts (mainly for boys ages 11-14, but boys have the opportunity to continue to be Scouts until they are 18), he has the choice of 107 merit badges in different areas from personal health to space science."

In addition, should the boy reach the highest rank in Boy Scouting — that of Eagle — (approximately 1 in 100 do), he must earn 21 merit badges, 11 of them from a list of required badges.

Exploring, a program open to both boys and girls from 15 to 21, offers "hands-on" experience in several job fields, he said. Currently, there are three active Explorer Posts in Big Spring, with one specializing in law enforcement and two in high adventure.

Other programs are planned in firefighting, nursing, medical fields such as therapy, veterinary medicine, photography/journalism and medical practice.

Another new program planned for this year is "Tiger Cubs, B.S.A." for boys 7 years old or in the second grade, Corbin said.

"Their motto is 'search, discover and share,'" he said. "The boy and an adult will join together as a Tiger Cub team. They will operate under a Tiger Cub group that will meet once per month. There's no one leader — one team of the group will take an activity and plan, work through it and present

UTPB 4-year plan approved by regents

By BOB CARPENTER
Staff Writer

The University of Texas of the Permian Basin's attempts to gain four-year status have finally paid off as the University of Texas Board of Regents recently approved a plan that will eventually convert the school into a full-fledged four-year institution by the early 1990s.

The decision by the Regents came after several months of debate and study about the school's future role in the Permian Basin.

"The new policy will be helpful for the whole region," said acting UTPB president Donald Rippey. "It reduces any immediate threat that might be perceived by the community colleges and points UTPB in a long-range direction."

The regents said that by 1995 the population of the Permian Basin will reach 380,000, making the region the largest in Texas not served by a four-year university.

The regents feel UTPB — by converting to four-year status — can "offer quality baccalaureate programs beginning with the freshman year in order to meet the academic needs and demands of the citizens of the Permian Basin, and logically UTPB should be the institution selected to provide those programs and degrees."

To prepare for the eventual changeover, the regents asked that a citizens advisory committee and an administrative committee be appointed to develop a cooperative academic plan. Robert Fuller of Big Spring will serve on the citizens group, while Dr. Charles Hays, president of Howard College, will serve on the administrative committee.

Dr. Bryce Jordan, vice chancellor for academic affairs for the UT system, said the plan "should be productive of academic programs and student services and activities comparable to those offered by the quality standards of a four-year

EXPANSION PLANS — A model of the planned $1.2 million expansion at First National Bank shows a new mini-bank and drive-up facility to the left of the main bank building at Fifth and Scurry.

First National Bank reveals expansion plans

By CAROL DANIEL
Staff Writer

The First National Bank plans to build a $1.2 million mini-bank and drive-up facility next to the main bank building at Fifth and Scurry, according to bank president Jimmy Taylor.

Motor bank plans feature 17 drive-through lanes, more than doubling the present number. This includes thirteen retail lanes and four commercial lanes with traffic entering off Scurry and exiting on Fifth. Plans also include a walk-in lobby with four teller windows and a night depository.

Thomas Construction Co. of Big Spring will begin constructing the facility — designed by Moran and Associates of Dallas — on Jan. 1, 1983 and should be finished by mid-summer, Taylor said.

Taylor said First National needs the new structure because "we don't have near the drive-in capacity we need. We appreciate the patience of our customers ... sometimes cars are backed up to the street behind us ... it'll meet our purposes for a long time to come."

Focalpoint

Action/reaction: Massacre

Q. Is the movie "The Texas Chainsaw Massacre" based on actual events?

A. No. The horror film, made in 1974, became something of a cult classic in 1976 when it was selected by the New York Museum of Performing Arts as an example of a horror film. Incidentally, the film was directed by Tobe Hooper, the director of this year's "Poltergeist."

Calendar: Friends of Welk

TODAY

- The "Friends of Lawrence Welk" will present a concert at 8 p.m. in the city auditorium. Tickets are $7.50 at the door and $5 in advance. They may be purchased at Citizen's Federal Credit Union and the Big Spring Area Chamber of Commerce office.
- The senior citizens' dance will be at 7:30 p.m. at the Big Spring Industrial Park Building Number 487. Guests are welcome.

SATURDAY

- Jim Hightower, Democratic candidate for State Commissioner of Agriculture, will be in Big Spring at 4 p.m. at the Howard County Courthouse for a meeting with supporters. Voters are urged to come and visit with Hightower.

Coming Sunday: Oil section

What does the oil industry mean to Big Spring and its residents? What is the future of the industry in the Permian Basin. Watch for "This is Oil Country" in Sunday's Herald.

Tops on TV: Baseball

•At 8 p.m. on channel 2 is the movie "For Lovers Only" starring Deborah Raffin and Gary Sandy. Three couples in search of the "perfect" honeymoon visit a sensual resort dedicated to the fulfillment of romantic fantasies. At 7 p.m. on channel 13, St. Louis and Milwaukee battle in the third game of the World Series.

Outside: Warm

Mostly clear with warm temperatures today and Saturday. High today high 70s, while the low should be in the 50s. Winds light and variable.

Reagan lifts level of grain exports to Russia

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Reagan, under heavy pressure from Republican farm-state congressmen, announced today he is letting the Soviet Union buy up to 23 million tons of grain this fiscal year.

And he said the United States will guarantee delivery for any grain purchased by the Soviets during the month of November and delivered within 180 days, even if an embargo is imposed for foreign policy reasons.

Reagan announced the decision in a radio address to the farm belt that was delayed 15 minutes by technical problems with a telephone line.

The 23 million tons would be 15 million tons above the current maximum level the Soviets could import without additional U.S. approval.

But an administration official, requesting anonymity, said there was no certainty the Soviets would seek the higher amount, which would mean that the United States would be supplying more than 55 percent of the Soviet imports.

Agriculture Secretary John R. Block told reporters he would stick by an earlier prediction that the Soviets would buy 18 to 20 million tons of grain.

"Things haven't been very good down on the farm," the president told his radio audience. "You are carrying tremendous burdens, sometimes impossible burdens."

He called the grain embargo imposed by the Carter administration in January 1980 after the Soviets occupied Afghanistan "mistaken," and said it eroded confidence in the United States as a grain supplier.

"We will honor our word," he said, announcing that Agriculture Department officials were being authorized to make available the 23 million tons in U.S.-Soviet meetings to begin in Vienna, Austria, in two weeks.

Sources said the grain announcement was certain to irritate European allies because the administration has penalized Europeans for selling gas pipeline equipment to the Soviet Union while America tries to increase grain exports.

"We can't guarantee the Soviets will make these purchases, but we know they're shopping," Reagan said. Earlier this week, the Soviet made a major wheat purchase from Canada and talks on similar buys are going on in France.

The announcement, less than three weeks before election day, was being labeled by some as a blatant political move. "It's a political thing because of the election," one Republican congressional source conceded. "The (farm-state GOP) congressmen called them (the administration) down on the carpet, so by definition it's political."

Block denied Reagan's announcement was politically motivated.

"It has nothing to do with elections or anything else," he said. "It has everything to do with a big agricultural crop out here ... I don't think there's a farmer in the country that would not want to see it done and done on a timely basis ... the time is right."

U.S. steps up narcotics fight

President Reagan's national narcotics task force is an idea long overdue, law enforcement agents say, especially since a federal crackdown in southern Florida has encouraged drug traffickers to take their business elsewhere.

"It's really welcomed," said Lt. Joseph Newman, head of the Baltimore Police Department's narcotics task force. "It appears to me this is a little more than a finger in the dike solution. It's been needed for some time."

On Thursday, Reagan announced in Washington that federal officials would blanket the nation with 12 regional task forces. The $200 million effort would add up to 1,200 federal agents and investigators in Boston, New York, Baltimore, Atlanta, Houston, St. Louis, Chicago, Detroit, Denver, Los Angeles, San Francisco and San Diego.

"Our commitment to this program is unshakable. We intend to do what is necessary to end the drug menace and cripple organized crime," Reagan said.

Across the country, news of the federal plan was received with open arms, especially in the South, where officials have been calling for help since March when Vice President George Bush was appointed head of a Cabinet-level task force to fight drug trafficking in southern Florida.

The Florida effort has pushed drug smuggling operations to other coastal states like Louisiana and Georgia, officials say.

"It's like squeezing a balloon," said Jimmy Davis, a Georgia state investigator. "You squeeze one area and it pops out in another."

Ray Vinsik, head of the DEA office in Atlanta, said recently that the Bush task force probably increased smuggling in Georgia. "It's put an awful lot of pressure on drug smugglers to try to find other ways to get drugs into the United States."

Jean Phillips of the Louisiana state police said, "We not only appreciate but we expect assistance from the federal government." Because drugs come from outside the country, she said, "This is not a state problem. This is an international problem."

The federal task force will "make a tremendous difference in our ability to investigate and prosecute" drug cases, said Assistant U.S. Attorney Steven Nelson in San Diego, considered one of the nation's chief narcotics smuggling points.

"San Diego always has had a tremendous problem with narcotics traffic," said Nelson. "We're the first port of the United States on the West Coast so, geographically speaking, drugs are going to touch this area in major quantities."

"We're elated. We'll finally have the manpower and equipment," said Rudolfo Ramirez, a federal Drug Enforcement Administration spokesman in Baltimore.

Commander Lawrence Forberg, of the Chicago Police Department's narcotics division, said: "Like everybody else, we need the resources. We need the manpower. We need the judges to stand up and be counted."

Michael Hurley, DEA chief in Little Rock, Ark., has a staff of four, including one agent who returned last week from the Florida task force. He said air smuggling is "more than we can handle." The DEA, he added, has a "tough time finding these airplanes when you have four people."

Baltimore's Newman said the problem in his city, where a $75 million heroin ring was broken up earlier this year, is awesome. The Baltimore task force has accounted for about 11,000 narcotics arrests since its formation one year ago.

"You take one of those guy off and you have two or three more who jump in. The profits are so good," Newman said.

"Obviously, the people at the state level cannot deal with the problem by themselves," he said.

CRIME PLAN — President Reagan Thursday announced a major new offensive against illicit drugs in the United States. The plan calls for setting up task forces and hiring up to 1,200 more federal agents and investigators.

More rioting shakes Poland

WARSAW, Poland (AP) — Rioting exploded again in Nowa Huta after police tear-gassed mourners at a memorial service for a steelworker mortally wounded by police gunfire in a pro-Solidarity protest, informed sources said today.

The riots erupted as fugitive labor leaders urged Poles in Warsaw's biggest plants to strike in sympathy with other workers who risked police bullets and tear-gas to protest the new law banning the Solidarity union.

There were no immediate details of the latest rioting in Nowa Huta, a steel-producing suburb of Krakow, 160 miles southwest of Warsaw.

Official sources said the disturbances continued until about 2 a.m. (7 p.m. CDT Thursday).

Small groups of mourners returned today to a memorial for the slain steel mill electrician, but their were no reports of new violence as police blocked streets and clouds of eye-stinging tear gas hung in the air, the sources said.

Authorities say the 20-year-old man was killed and nearly 100 people injured in the bloodiest rioting so far, an uprising Wednesday in Nowa Huta.

Bodgan Wlosik died Thursday, one day after he was shot by a plainclothes police officer, the official PAP news agency said. It said the officer fired two shots in self-defense after being "assailed and brutally knocked to the ground" during vicious street fighting at Nowa Huta, a model Communist city erected in the 1950s.

Wlosik's death was the first officially acknowledged fatality in riots spawned by the outlawing of Solidarity last week. The Soviet bloc's first independent labor federation claimed 9.5 million members in a nation of 35 million before the government suspended it under martial-law last Dec. 13.

UAW rejects Chrysler pact

HIGHLAND PARK, Mich. (AP) — The second round of negotiations between the United Auto Workers and Chrysler Corp. is "a new ballgame," with wage increases the top priority, says UAW President Douglas A. Fraser.

Bargainers for the UAW and Chrysler were scheduled to resume contract negotiations today after final results showed autoworkers rejected last month's tentative contract by a 7-3 margin.

"It was resoundingly defeated," Fraser said at a news conference Thursday night. "It's a new ballgame. We're going to make a proposal. First and foremost will be a pay increase up front."

Fraser refused to say how much money workers want, but said something more than $1 an hour "has a nice ring to it."

Rearranging worker benefits to help pay for the wage increase will not be acceptable, he said.

Final results from 43 Chrysler locals showed that 27,140 hourly workers voted against the pact and 11,420 favored it. In percentages, that's 70.4 to 29.6.

The pact was the first since 1979 that did not ask for concessions, but it included no pay raise until December, and then only if the company earned more than $20 million in its third-quarter.

About 43,200 working U.S. hourly autoworkers and an uncalculated number of the 40,000 on indefinite layoff were eligible to cast ballots when voting began Oct. 1.

Chrysler spokesman Bob Heath said the company had no comment on the vote results or bargaining.

Fraser said Chrysler Chairman Lee Iacocca was partly to blame for the contract's defeat for publicizing a reported $1 billion company cash reserve.

"I just wish Iacocca would keep his mouth shut," Fraser said when told that the Chrysler chairman reportedly said a strike would be "suicidal" for the union.

"This is not helpful," Fraser said. "He's intruding on the prerogatives of the workers."

Fraser said he hoped a strike deadline would not be needed, but if it is, he said it would be set by the union's 10-member Chrysler bargaining committee and top UAW leaders.

Chrysler earned $256.8 million in the first half of this year, and Fraser predicted that third quarter reports, due later this month, also would show earnings.

LULAC sues networks over image distortion

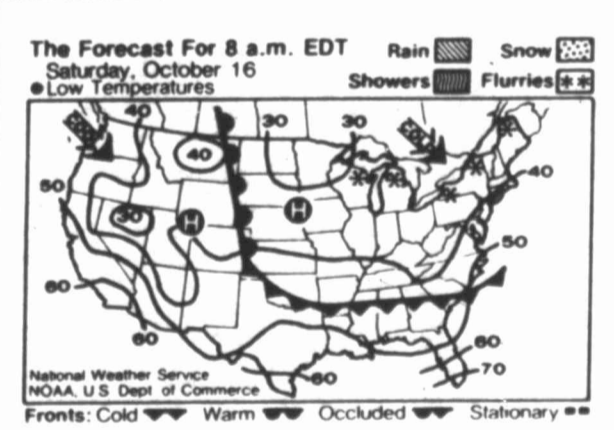

WASHINGTON (AP) — The president of a leading Hispanic organization says the nation's top television networks are giving Americans a distorted picture of the Latin American community.

League of United Latin American Citizens filed a discrimination complaint Thursday against CBS, NBC and ABC and several production studios and advertising agencies.

LULAC President Tony Bonilla said the move is a class action on behalf of the nation's Hispanic Americans.

The complaint, filed with the Equal Employment Opportunity Commission, asks that agency to investigate alleged under-employment of Hispanics by the networks, studios and agencies.

Mostly clear and mild

By Associated Press

Mostly clear skies and mild temperatures covered Texas today as a weakening line of showers moved into the Wichita Falls area.

Temperatures before dawn were mostly in the 50s and lower 60s.

Winds were light and variable over most areas, while northwesterly breezes of about 10 mph swept the Panhandle.

The forecast called for the shower activity to dissipate, leaving fair skies and mild temperatures statewide through Saturday.

VA turns over Agent Orange study

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Veterans Administration has yielded to congressional pressure and agreed to give up control of an investigation into whether Agent Orange damaged soldiers' health in Vietnam.

VA Administrator Robert P. Nimmo agreed Thursday to let the Center for Disease Control take over the investigation into the effects of the herbicide. Pressure to let the CDC take over the study came from 100 members of Congress in a letter to Nimmo two weeks ago.

Nimmo acknowledged that veterans might not have accepted the results of a VA-directed study.

The congressional critics said it was unfair to ask Vietnam veterans to wait seven or eight more years for answers to concerns about their future health and their ability to produce healthy children.

The congressmen also told Nimmo that veterans were skeptical "about the VA's willingness to find answers to this distressing issue" and probably would not accept the results of a VA-sponsored study "regardless of how well it is done."

Nimmo agreed to the switch in a letter to Reps. G.V. Montgomery, D-Miss., and John Paul Hammerschmidt, R-Ark., the chairman and ranking Republican of the House Veterans Affairs Committee.

He said he would let CDC take over the study if that agency expressed interest in doing it. CDC is considered certain to take on the task.

Congress directed the VA three years ago to conduct the study. The work started recently, and the VA said results could not be expected before 1988.

National hunt for Tylenol suspect

CHICAGO (AP) — A nationwide appeal was issued for information about a man wanted for questioning in seven cyanide deaths after it was learned he was charged for a time in a Kansas City killing four years ago.

Kansas City police identified James Lewis, 36, who also uses the name Robert Richardson, as a former suspect in the murder of Raymond West, 72, of Kansas City. West's dismembered body was found in his attic in 1978 in a "semi-mummified condition." Illinois Attorney General Tyrone Fahner told a news conference Thursday night.

A federal extortion warrant for Lewis, using the name Richardson, was issued Wednesday. The warrant said Lewis wrote a letter to McNeil Consumer Products Co., maker of Tylenol, demanding $1 million "if you want to stop the killing." The letter was delivered Oct. 6, a week after the first cyanide victim died.

Charges against Lewis were dropped in the Kansas City murder when a judge ruled that Lewis had been arrested illegally and evidence had been taken from his apartment illegally.

Tylenol maker battles back after poisonings

NEW BRUNSWICK, N.J. (AP) — Johnson & Johnson executives say they would like to begin in earnest the task of rehabilitating Tylenol's good name, but the chore will be difficult until the poisonings of seven people are resolved.

"What we need is a fast arrest," said Lawrence Foster, vice president for public relations for the New Brunswick-based health care giant.

Johnson & Johnson officials say they've done everything possible to expedite the capture of whoever put cyanide in Extra-Strength Tylenol capsules, killing seven people in the Chicago area. And they've also worked hard to help consumers.

The company has recalled and examined millions of Extra-Strength and regular Tylenol capsules, offered a $100,000 reward, set up a telephone hotline, cooperated with investigators and hired private detectives. It has also offered cash refunds or tablet exchanges for some 22 million bottles of Tylenol — offers Johnson & Johnson has said could cost $79 million.

Joseph Chiesa, president of McNeil Consumer Products Co., the subsidiary that makes Tylenol, said the battle to save the aspirin-free pain reliever will be waged whether or not arrests are made.

He said the effort involves both Tylenol — the nation's best-selling over-the-counter pain-reliever until two weeks ago — and Johnson & Johnson, because "there is a clear number of consumers who now identify Johnson & Johnson as the maker of Tylenol along with McNeil."

Chiesa said he would not detail plans for the

WHERE TYLENOL WENT — Maple Plain Co. employee Sandy Motzko of Watertown, Minn., is surrounded by mail carts of Tylenol capsules as the coupon-redemption firm accepts the beginning of several million capsules being exchanged for Tylenol tablets.

$400 million, for a 37 percent share of the analgesic market — more than Anacin, Bayer aspirin, Bufferin and Excedrin combined. Sales of Tylenol, which contains the aspirin substitute acetaminophen, have doubled since 1976.

Neil Sweig, a health products analyst for Shearson American Express, said the poisonings could cost the firm about $75 million in net profits.

He predicted the recall and destruction of capsules would be reflected in a 25 cents per share loss in the third quarter, and that repackaging costs would result in another 15 cents per share loss in the fourth quarter. Johnson & Johnson last year earned $2.51 per share.

Sweig and others said Johnson & Johnson will be able to rebound, but the experts are less sure about Tylenol. The drug is the leading product among 120 Johnson and Johnson subsidiaries, but accounts for only about 7 percent of company sales.

The product's chief assets, analysts said, were the fact that no manufacturer error was indicated in the deaths, and the forthright way Johnson & Johnson executives reacted to the poisonings. Another plus, experts say, is consumer confidence in the company and Tylenol's previous popularity.

"The great difference is that it's not their fault. It's a pathetic case, but there's a great challenge there. I'm reasonably certain they can come back," said Dr. Thomas Robertson, chairman of the marketing department at University of Pennsylvania's Wharton School.

Support for Johnson & Johnson has come from such varied sources as analysts, government officials, competitors and even the New Jersey Council of Churches. And the 1,200 employees at McNeil's Fort Washington, Pa., plant offered to each provide $100 toward a reward for whoever finds the culprit who tampered with their product. The offer was politely rejected by Johnson & Johnson.

Panel studies product safety

WASHINGTON (AP) — Because of a "serious loophole in drug regulation," there is nothing to prevent or discourage deliberate tampering with drugs once they leave the manufacturer, says the head of the congressional subcommittee looking into the Tylenol murders.

"We have extensive controls designed to ensure that drugs are manufactured safely," said Rep. Henry Waxman, the California Democrat who heads the House Energy and Commerce subcommittee on health and environment.

"Unfortunately, we have nothing on the books to prevent or discourage deliberate tampering with drugs once they leave the manufacturer," he said in a statement on a hearing scheduled today by the subcommittee.

Dr. Arthur Hull Hayes Jr., commissioner of the Food and Drug Administration, was to testify at the hearing about what changes in the law, if any, should be considered in light of the seven killings in the Chicago area from cyanide-contaminated Extra-strength Tylenol capsules.

The hearing was being held a day after a drug industry trade group recommended to the FDA that it require tamper-resistant packaging for all over-the-counter drugs that people ingest, inhale or insert in the body.

Such packaging would make it easier for consumers to tell if capsules, throat sprays, ear drops, eye washes, contact lens solutions, suppositories, douches and vaginal foams had been tampered with.

And the group urged the FDA to give the industry flexibility on how to achieve more tamper-resistant packaging.

The group based its recommendations on a report by a 30-member panel of experts convened last week to point the way toward more tamper-resistant packages. The recommendations were approved at a meeting of its board of directors in New York and released here.

They defined a tamper-resistant package as "one having an indicator or a barrier to entry which, if breached or missing, can reasonably be expected to provide visible evidence to consumers that the package has been tampered with or opened."

rehabilitation effort, except that the product would be made with new tamper-resistant packaging and that the name Tylenol would be retained.

Keeping the name is a wise move, said Stephen A. Greyser, a marketing professor at the Harvard Business School. "The cost of relaunching — even though that would be expensive — would be less than starting a new brand name," he said.

Chiesa also said the company has no plans to eliminate Tylenol capsules in favor of tablet and liquid forms, which are still sold.

New advertising for Tylenol will "be different than our normal messages" of the past and be "reflective of the current situation," he said.

Chiesa would not speculate on the dollar loss to Johnson & Johnson, which had sales of $5.4 billion in 1981, but said the firm expects to feel the impact of the poisonings through 1983.

Analysts have estimated 1981 Tylenol sales at about

MUSKIE CAUTIOUS — Former Secretary of State Edmund Muskie, who chairs the Nestle Infant Formula Audit Commission, says he will check on the progress of Nestle in revising its controversial Third World infant formula marketing.

Nestle cools overseas marketing

WASHINGTON (AP) — Nestle, the world's leading infant formula maker, says it is changing the way it markets formula in the Third World, but critics of Nestle's sales tactics are taking a wait-and-see attitude.

Nestle Vice President Carl Angst said Thursday the new practices will better align the Swiss-based firm with an international effort to discourage the promotion of infant formula as a substitute for breastfeeding.

However, Douglas Johnson, national chairman of the Infant Formula Action Coalition (INFACT), said the changes may represent progress but still do not bring Nestle into conformity with a code adopted last May 21 by the World Health Assembly, a United Nations organization.

"There are some real steps forward, it appears," said Johnson, whose group has been waging a five-year boycott of Nestle products. "What we need to see is a method of compliance, how it is going to be implemented."

The voluntary code is aimed principally at less-developed countries where poverty and illiteracy are widespread and refrigeration and pure water are scarce. Formula frequently has been misused, leading to inadequate nutrition for some infants.

Nestle's revisions include restrictions on the use of free supplies and samples, on advertising and promotional activities and on linking a salesman's sales volume in infant formula to company bonuses.

Johnson said Nestle's marketing changes were "imprecise" and would not provide sufficient guidance to Nestle field representatives so that they would discontinue some past aggressive marketing practices.

Muskie, who joined Angst in announcing the revisions, said his commission did not consider its work done.

Herpes vaccine developing

WASHINGTON (AP) — Researchers say they have moved closer to developing a vaccine against herpes infections, including genital herpes, by using a virus protein to trigger natural defenses against them.

In a report published today in Science magazine, scientists say they used genetic manipulation to isolate and produce a herpes virus protein that they say could lead to a vaccine.

Researchers with Molecular Genetics Inc. in Minneapolis said the protein stimulates production of antibodies against itself that also attack viruses containing the same protein.

While the scientists caution that much more testing is needed before they know if a vaccine is feasible, they termed their work "promising." However, any potential human use is years away, they added.

Initial tests with rabbits infected with two types of herpes viruses show the protein stimulates neutralizing antibodies to both, said the report.

Dr. Roger J. Watson, a research scientist with the firm, said numerous animal tests must be conducted before the development reaches the vaccine stage. Even if all is successful, human testing probably could not begin for at least three years, he estimated.

A vaccine that could prevent or treat herpes infections is the goal of numerous research groups because there are few effective treatments for the family of herpes infections.

Genital herpes, primarily caused by type-2 herpes simplex viruses (HSV-2), is an incurable venereal disease afflicting millions of Americans. Type-1 infections cause cold sores and a range of other problems.

Meanwhile in Atlanta, a physician who claims "the hysteria about a herpes epidemic" is unjustified announced Thursday that a five-year study will be launched to find out whether the incurable venereal disease is really sweeping the country.

"There probably has truly been an increase in young middle class adults," Dr. Harry Keyserling, assistant professor of pediatrics at Emory University, said of the increasing numbers of herpes reports.

Judge gives Braniff 30 more days to plan reorganization

FORT WORTH (AP) — Struggling Braniff International Corp. has won a 30-day extension to submit a reorganization plan, and one Braniff officer says the grounded airline is inching closer to a joint operating agreement with another carrier.

U.S. Bankruptcy Judge John Flowers granted the airline another 30-day grace period to complete the reorganization plan and begin paying off its $1 billion debt.

During testimony Wednesday, M. Philip Guthrie, Braniff executive vice president and chief financial officer, said the airline is continuing to seek a joint operating agreement with two carriers. He declined to disclose the names.

Guthrie termed as "extraordinarily active" all-day talks that lasted through the weekend between Braniff and one of the carriers.

A public statement on whether the operating agreement would materialize "could be as early as the next 10 days, and hopefully the next 30 days at the outside," Guthrie said.

Braniff began discussions with the carrier in late August or early September, and the talks intensified through last week, he said.

Guthrie also said the unnamed airline has made revenue and income projections from the joint operating agreement, but has not shared the information with Braniff.

"We also have been approached by another airline as to the assumption of some of their charter operations," he said.

Braniff ceased operations May 12 and filed for protection from its creditors in Flowers' court the next day. The airline owes about 9,000 creditors approximately $1 billion.

Wednesday's was the second extension granted the beleaguered airline by Flowers. The airline last month received a 35-day grace period, after asking for a 60-day extension.

Creditors' representatives who Wednesday had opposed a request by Braniff attorneys for a 90-day extension of the airline's reorganization agreed to an amendment that would provide the 30-day grace period.

Muse reports its 1st quarterly profit

DALLAS (AP) — Muse Air Corp., thanks to the sale of $5.7 million in tax credits, reported a quarterly profit for the first time since the airline began flying in 1981.

The airline reported a $3.7 million profit for the third quarter, which breaks down to a net income of $1.24 per share.

The results included a one-time gain of $5.7 million obtained by selling tax credits on a DC-9 Super 80 aircraft purchased earlier this year, officials said Wednesday.

Since the first quarter of 1981, Muse had accumulated losses of $5.5 million and, with the exception of interest income earned during the first and second quarters of last year, never had reported a profit.

"It's certainly better than the losses," said Michael L. Muse, company president. "Our traffic was a lot better during the third quarter."

But Muse said third-quarter earnings were affected adversely by weak traffic overall and startup costs for Muse's new service from Houston to Los Angeles.

The airline began service to Los Angeles from Houston on Oct. 1.

The third-quarter results came on revenues of $9.95 million dollars, officials said. That compares with a net loss of $2.7 million, or 93 cents per share, on revenues of $2.5 million for the third quarter of 1981.

For the first nine months of 1982, Muse had net income of $645,000, the company reported.

Muse began flying last year with two DC-9 aircraft shuttling between Dallas Love Field and Houston's Hobby Airport. Last May, Muse obtained Braniff International's landing rights in Tulsa and Midland-Odessa.

Futurist predicts continued joblessness

NEW YORK (AP) — Robert Theobald disagrees with President Reagan's suggestion that unemployment can be corrected by "staying the course" he has charted for the economy.

"Unemployment will go significantly higher," says Theobald flatly. As if emphasis might be needed, he adds that a rise is inevitable, and that it will be spread among blue collar, white collar and management workers.

"It will stay above 10 percent through the end of 1983, at least," he says.

There are two reasons why you might want to listen to Theobald, a rangy Arizonan who was born in India and educated at Cambridge and Harvard, and who now makes his reputation as an economist — maverick in style — and futurist.

The first, he suggests, is that given the obvious failures of conventional thinking, including the repetitive theme of recovery being just around the corner, you might want to listen to another view of life.

The second concerns his ability as a forecaster. A year or so ago, when some conventional thinkers viewed the recession as shallow and soon to end, Theobald said unemployment would rise to 10 percent or more. And as far back as the 1960s, he foresaw certain other features of the current economic dilemma.

Theobald's views are on record in great volume. He has written numerous articles and 20 books, the latest being "Avoiding 1984," published by the Ohio University Press. When he isn't writing at his home in Wickenburg he is traveling and talking, and consulting with organizations of voluntary, business and government thinkers.

Theobald has a message, both upsetting and promising.

"The international downside forces in the economy continue to be underestimated, as shown by the continuous putting off of recovery," he said in an interview.

There is a banking crisis, he says, and also a reaction to the crisis that may be as worse — that is, banks whose loans to countries are threatened may now react by stopping all loans, creating further problems. And there is a problem of older industries — steels and autos — losing some of their markets.

In his view, however, very few problems are as gravely misunderstood as unemployment.

New office and factory technology will resist efforts to lower joblessness, he feels. It is well known, he says, that the fastest way to industrial growth is through more investment and fewer workers. Known, but maybe not understood.

He rejects attempts to put people back to work through government action, whether in terms of a renewed Works Progress Administration, such as in the Great Depression of the 1930s, or through forced work for those on welfare.

The problem is incorrectly viewed, he says. As he sees the situation, everyone thinks the creation of jobs is necessary when, in reality, the nation is on the threshold of immensely greater production with fewer jobs.

The real issue, he maintains, is not economic but social. And until people recognize it as such, he feels, they and their governments will insist on more jobs. Instead, he says, people must learn to adapt to fewer working hours.

Amerasians' flight

8 more leave Vietnam for U.S. families

BANGKOK, Thailand (AP) — Eight Vietnamese children left here early today bound for new homes in the northeast United States and reunions with Americans who fathered them during the Vietnam War.

The children, accompanied by five Vietnamese relatives, were part of the second group of Amerasians to leave Vietnam for the United States this month. Eleven Amerasians flew to the United States on Oct. 2.

An official of the Intergovernmental Committee for Migration, one of the voluntary agencies sponsoring the airlift, said there were some last minute changes in travel plans.

Late Thursday U.S. Embassy officials said nine children and six relatives were due to depart.

The children and their relatives are heading for Long Island, N.Y., Boston, Washington, D.C., and Manchester, Conn.

The remainder of 24 Amerasians and 22 relatives, who left Ho Chi Minh City last week, will depart Bangkok for Seattle Sunday, staying overnight in Hong Kong. One family will go directly to Honolulu.

The ICM official said the flight Friday also carried Vietnamese leaving their homeland under the Regular Orderly Departure Program to resettle in the United States. That program has already resettled 27,000

Vietnamese in recipient countries since 1979.

There were a total of 38 Amerasians and Vietnamese on the flight, he said.

There are an estimated 25,000 to 50,000 Amerasians in Vietnam. Embassy officials have estimated 8,000 may ultimately wish to emigrate because of discrimination by Vietnamese authorities, who view them as unwanted children of the former U.S. enemy. Only a tiny percentage are documented U.S. citizens.

The Amerasians and their relatives are brought to Thailand as the nearest stopover where American immigration officials can issue documents for entry into the United States.

Bomb rips missile-parts plant

TORONTO (AP) — A bomb blast ripped the brick front off a suburban Toronto plant that makes guidance systems for the U.S. cruise missile, moments after police received an anonymous telephoned threat, authorities said today.

The bomb, hidden in a van, exploded in a fireball Thursday night injuring five to nine people, at least two seriously. The blast shattered windows and hurled debris hundreds of yards, witnesses said.

The two-story plant is owned by Litton Systems Canada Ltd., a subsidiary of Litton Industries Inc., of Beverly Hills, Calif.

Police said five people were hurt, but local hospitals reported nine people were admitted for treatment and two were seriously injured.

The explosion came minutes after police received an anonymous telephone warning, and less than a day after a judge ruled that Litton executives could not be forced to testify at a trial of local anti-war activists.

Police declined to say what the caller said, but Constable Richard Haines said the bomb was deliberately set.

Acting police Inspector Gordon Fenton said three policemen drove to the plant after the tip was received and found a van with a small box inside marked "Danger Explosives." Early reports said the vehicle was packed with dynamite.

As the men walked away to radio for assistance, the van blew up, Fenton said.

Moments before the blast, a security guard told workmen at the plant that there had been a bomb threat and told them to "get out of here fast."

"We started running toward the exit when suddenly there was a big bang and everything shattered," said technician Leo Bailey, 50.

Bailey said he and two fellow workmen were trapped inside the building by debris until firefighters rescued them.

"The truck was parked and when it exploded it just blew the front part of the building away," said firefighter Jim Williams of the Borough of Etobicoke Fire Department.

Williams said 10 trucks and 40 firefighters rushed to the scene about 11:30 p.m. EDT, and quickly extinguished the blaze caused by the bombing.

"There was just a flash, a bright light in the sky, a tremendous boom and before I could react, pieces of debris were flying by me," said tow-truck driver Keith Sibbert, who was driving on Highway 27 nearby when the bomb exploded. He was not hurt, he said.

The Litton plant is building the sophisticated guidance system that enables the Tomahawk cruise missile to hug the ground and evade radar. The rocket can carry nuclear warheads.

The plant has been the scene of several anti-nuclear protests recently. Twenty-two demonstrators are on trial for trespassing on the company's property last year.

The bombing came less than a day after the Ontario Court of Appeal ruled that five Litton executives could not be forced to testify at that trial.

Porn star's mom defends her daughter's trip with Prince Andrew

LONDON (AP) — The mother of Koo Stark, who chaperoned her actress daughter and Prince Andrew on Mustique, said the couple had "innocent fun" on their headlines-grabbing Caribbean holiday, according to the London Daily Express.

"I ought to know what went on," the Express today quoted 62-year-old Kathi Caruso as saying. "I was there the entire time."

Mrs. Caruso, ex-wife of Hollywood producer Wilbur Stark, was interviewed at her Venice, Fla., home, the Express said. The whereabouts of 25-year-old Koo Stark were not known. Miss Stark, the 22-year-old prince and Mrs. Caruso left Mustique on Wednesday. Prince Andrew's leave from the Royal Navy is up on Monday.

The Express reported that Mrs.

Caruso said Andrew behaved "like a prince in every sense of the word" during their eight-day vacation.

"I was the only one in the group who even smoked so much as a cigarette. We didn't even have any hard liquor in the house," she said.

The "house" was the Mustique vacation hideaway of Princess Margaret, sister of Queen Elizabeth II and Prince Andrew's aunt. Mustique is about 100 miles west of Barbados in the Caribbean.

Miss Stark made two erotic films during her teens — "Emily" and "Cruel Passion."

According to the Express, Mrs. Caruso is furious at newspaper descriptions of her daughter as a "soft porn" star, insisting she is a serious actress. The queen has met her daughter and approves of her. Mrs. Caruso was quoted as saying.

She wrote Reagan, and he responded

SELMA, Ala. (AP) — A woman who wrote to President Reagan describing the plight of working-class Americans says he gave her more "confidence in the system" when he answered the letter in a speech to the nation.

Judith McMurtrey, who told the president people like her must not be lost "in the tons of bureaucracy," found to her surprise that her letter was not lost in the White House.

She said she was amazed when Reagan read from her letter in his televised speech on the nation's economy Wednesday night.

"The phone hasn't stopped ringing all evening," said her husband, Tom, a construction company accountant. "We expected a lot of phone calls from folks wanting to verify that she wrote it, but we weren't expecting what we got."

Mrs. McMurtrey, a 32-year-old native of Baltimore, wrote from the perspective of an out-of-work teacher with a husband and 3-year-old daughter trying to make ends meet on an income of about $20,000.

In early morning hours several weeks ago, she sat down and wrote, "Dear Mr. President." Five pages later she had spelled out a plea to the president.

"I wrote it out of frustration," she said. "I said something akin to this being the real world," she said. "I told him I wanted him to know about it. You have to save up money to buy your little girl a pair of shoes, you don't go out anywhere, you don't go to the movies, you don't do anything just so you can pay the bills and stay even."

Mrs. McMurtrey said she holds a master's degree in education but, when she applied for teaching positions in two school systems, she was told she was overqualified or there were no positions available.

She said she heard nothing for six weeks after she mailed the letter and became disappointed. But Wednesday afternoon, before the speech, a White House staffer called asking permission for Reagan to use the letter.

It was granted. Reagan called Mrs. McMurtrey on Thursday and said he hoped she had not been inconvenienced by the sudden attention, said deputy White press secretary Larry Speakes.

"You expressed so well what I have been hearing," Speakes said the president told her during their five-minute conversation.

LETTER TO THE PRESIDENT — Judith McMurtrey of Selma, Ala., wrote the president a letter of frustration about the economy. Much to her surprise, Reagan answered her letter in his television address Wednesday night.

Speakes said Reagan picked out the letter himself from the 250 to 1,000 he sees each week.

Asked if there might have been a better choice of letters to show the plight of Americans going through hard economic times, Speakes said, "No... the lady said I'm not speaking so much for myself as for others, so we have no problem."

Some excerpts: "I am writing not so much as an individual, but as a representative of so many. We need to talk with you — to believe that you hear us..."

"After years of training and experience, we can't find jobs... The costs for basic survival are nearly beyond belief. There may never be a home — home of our own — that dream we have worked for for so many years. We've worked hard — we conserved — we planned — we were frugal — careful. We feel so out of control. We don't want a handout — we just want to help make the system well again."

Reagan, in his televised reply, said, "Judith, I hear you. You and millions of other men and women like you stand for the values of hard work, thrift, commitment to family and love of God."

Harte-Hanks earnings up

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — Harte-Hanks Communications Inc. reported Thursday that third quarter primary earnings were up 6 percent over a similar period of a year ago.

"This is a sound achievement in a difficult economic period and marks our 43rd consecutive quarter of earnings growth over the same period of the previous year," said President and Chief Executive Officer Robert G. Marbut.

The corporation reported primary earnings of 67 cents per share for the quarter ended Sept. 30, a 6 percent improvement over the 63 cents per share reported in the same quarter of 1981.

Fully diluted earnings for the third quarter of 1982 were 65 cents per share, compared to 60 cents for the similar period a year ago, Marbut said.

A third quarter net income of $6.649 million was 9 percent higher than the $6.117 million reported in the third quarter of 1981.

For the nine months ended Sept. 30, the company reported primary earnings of $1.92 per share, compared to $1.83 a share for the first nine months of 1981.

Fully diluted earnings for the first three quarters of 1982 were $1.85 a share compared with $1.76 a share for the same period a year ago.

Net income for the first nine months of this year was $18.846 million, compared with $17.637 million for the first three quarters of 1981.

Steers test Cougar's pride

By GREG JAKLEWICZ Sports Editor

ABILENE — The scene is 10:30 p.m. Friday. The stands are now empty, littered with concession debris...

Such could be the description of P.E. Shotwell Stadium tonight after the visiting Big Spring Steers battle the Cooper Cougars...

Cooper enters tonight's game with a 1-5 slate. That comes as a shocker since the Cougs are one of the top teams in District 4-AAAA year-in, year-out...

The Cougars have flashed signs of brilliance along the way. They lost 21-14 to AAAA powerhouse Brownwood...

Odesa ran off to a 34-8 victory at home and then Midland, 0-2 in district play, invaded usually comfy Shotwell and claimed a 9-6 upset win...

Big Spring enters on another a higher note. The Steers have won two straight, upending Odessa 10-7 last week...

The Cougs have run out of the veer all year but may return to their old wing-T set or the power-I. Running backs Allen Gunter and Michael T. Royals are the biggest twosome...

parable to Permian's Mike Troglin-Britt Hager duo. Combined, the two Cooper backs have racked up 854 yards on the ground...

Tommy Tarr is the quarterback, playing the position as a starter for the first year. When he's not optioning off the football, he likes to throw to Derrick Wilson...

"The pass is something they'll work on," he continued, saying that Tarr's favorite route is along the sidelines...

Overton hinted at a change in offense for the Cougs after the loss to Midland but like the NFL media blackout, what Cooper has done this week in practice is a mystery...

On defense, the Cougs have good size. Across the offensive front five, Cooper averages a solid 196 per man...

Eudy says Cooper likes to stunt rather than read, making the Cougars a "come getcha type defense."

As for Big Spring, the Steers are coming off another week of improving offensive football. Big Spring drove to two scores and came close to a third on sophomore Jay Pirkle's 57-yard burst late in the game...

Danny Stephen still leads the team in rushing yardage with 209 but junior Eric Sherman is right behind with 197 and Pirkle at 193.

The Steers didn't pass much against Odessa but that was the game plan. Look for Big Spring to alternate with quarterbacks Adam Rodriguez and Dean Gartman...

Big Spring—Cooper Rosters

Steers

- Alan Trevino, Johnny Smithwick, Danny Arista, Emmitt Bartee, David Moore, Doug Walker, John Roelner, Dale Crenshaw, Adam Rodriguez, Danny Stephen, Eric Sherman

Offense

- Wide Receiver, Left Tackle, Left Guard, Center, Right Guard, Right Tackle, Tight End, Wide Receiver, Quarterback, Fullback, Tailback

Cougars

- Mike Arnold, Tim Thompson, Jay Henson, Tracey Munden, Bryan Lee, Frank Alcazar, John Burges, Tommy Tarr, Michael Royals, Allen Gunter

Defense

- Keat Wilkins, Doug Walker, Pat Burke, Monty Lamb, Carl Green, George Bancroft, Danny Stephen, Scott Eggleston, Eric Sherman, Jay Pirkle, Alan Trevino

- Left End, Left Tackle, Noseguard, Right Tackle, Right End, Linebacker, Linebacker, Left Cornerback, Right Cornerback, Safety, Safety

- Clay Clemons, Marc Hernandez, David Dalbert, Paul Beale, Mike Nail, Kent Strain, Dean Berry, Kurt Parker, Allen Gunter, David Knapp, Alan Colyer

the best. When the ball goes in the air, shifty Dale Crenshaw and dependable Robert Porras are the two favorite targets.

Steers defense still is No. 2 in the league, giving up 185 yards grudgingly each game. Anchor this week is right defensive tackle Monty Lamb who won the top defensive player award. Pirkle now leads the loop in punting with a 40.4 average on 37 kicks. The kicking game — with Carl Green connecting on three big field goals this year — is a big plus in Big Spring's favor.

PRESENTING A STRONG CASE FOR THE DEFENSE...defensive tackle Monty Lamb lifts Steer spirits

Lamb is so 'baahaaad'

By GREG JAKLEWICZ Sports Editor

One thing Monty is not is a lamb on defense. After taking the Top Steer Award as the game's most outstanding defensive player against the Odessa Bronchos...

Lamb is making his debut as a starter for the Steers this year. His rookie year is going well for No. 64, with a strong spring and pre-season workout behind him.

Although he would like to relish last week's award, Lamb is smart enough to realize honors are won week to week. Tonight the opponent is Cooper High and he and the Steers are ready for the Cougs.

"We're still excited," he promises, saying that momentum has built up with each practice session. "Monday and Tuesday we didn't have as much excitement as we have been but there was some new offensive stuff we had to get used to. It took awhile."

Lamb's job is defensive and he's one of those guys in the trenches that often gets overlooked. "Between me, the noseguard and the other tackle, we have are supposed to get everything that comes up through the middle. It depends a lot on what technique we're playing. If it's four on in, we get the inside stuff. If it's five, we get containment outside."

(See 'Hard work' on pages 5-B)

'Lucky' Cards face old mate

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Whitey Herzog, manager of the St. Louis Cardinals, stood along the third base line at windswept Milwaukee County Stadium on Thursday, feeling like a lucky man.

In the first two games of the 1982 World Series at St. Louis, the Cardinals had won one, and lost one.

"I have to be pleased with a split, though, in view of the fact that our starting pitching was not doing that well, and we haven't had any hits from our No. 3 or 4 hitters."

The Cardinals held a brief workout early Thursday afternoon at Milwaukee, where temperatures were in the low 50s with a strong wind. Milwaukee Manager Harvey Kuenn gave the Brewers the day off.

Game Three of the Series was scheduled for Friday night (7:30 p.m. CDT), with Joaquin Andujar of St. Louis pitching against Pete Vuckovich of Milwaukee.

The Brewers won the opener 10-0 as Cards right-hander Bob Forsch failed in his starting role, giving up four earned runs on 10 hits in 5-2-3 innings. On Wednesday night, the Cards won 5-4 in the eighth inning, long after starter John Stuper had left. Stuper lasted into the fifth inning, giving up four runs on six hits.

During those two games, Keith Hernandez, the Cardinals' No. 3 hitter, and cleanup man George Hendrick both were 0-for-7 with a walk apiece.

Herzog was relying on Andujar to put a stop to St. Louis' pitching woes. Andujar, acquired from Houston for Tony Scott in June 1981, was the Cards' ace this season with a record of 15-10 and an ERA of 2.47. The right-hander was the winner in the final game of St. Louis' three-game sweep of Atlanta in the National League Championship Series, yielding six hits and two runs in 6-3 innings.

"Andujar had 10 starts where we scored two runs or less, and he didn't get any decision out of any of them."

Ace relievers sit in anticipation

Herzog said. "And that ain't bad. Our ballclub alone is probably the reason he won't get any consideration (for the Cy Young Award)," Herzog said. "We didn't score runs. He could have been 12-3 at one point this season."

The right-handed Vuckovich was Kuenn's ace this season with an 18-6 record. Vuckovich, a former Cardinal, was 14-4 last season for Milwaukee, and over the past two years has the best winning percentage in baseball, .782.

Vuckovich, who came to Milwaukee in the same trade that also sent Rollie Fingers and Ted Simmons from St. Louis to the Brewers, made two appearances in Milwaukee's five-game victory over California in the American League playoffs. He was a 4-2 loser in Game Two at Anaheim, although he pitched a six-hitter, and he got no decision after working 61-3 innings in Milwaukee's pennant-clinching 4-3 victory in Game Five.

While Hernandez and Hendrick have been struggling during the Series, the Cardinals have gotten a welcome boost from catcher Darrell Porter, who hit only .231 during the season but was St. Louis' playoff MVP.

"We got off to a 14-4 start last year until Darrell got hurt," Herzog said. "And we wound up 30-20 when the strike started. That means we're a .500 team without him. He was the key to everything we wanted to do."

Porter, who came to St. Louis from Kansas City as a free agent in 1980, had two of the three hits off Milwaukee lefty Mike Caldwell in Game One and his two-run double in the sixth inning of Game Two tied the score 4-4.

With the game on the line Wednesday night, Kuenn chose to go to reliever Pete Ladd in the decisive eighth inning rather than injured relief ace Rollie Fingers. During the playoffs, Kuenn had used Ladd three times, and the rookie retired all 10 batters he faced, but Wednesday night, Ladd walked in the winning run.

"This situation was one Pete Ladd would have come in in anyhow," said Fingers, who is available for one inning at a time, although he still is recuperating from a torn muscle.

"I wouldn't have come in in that situation. Harvey hasn't been using me in the situations. I only come in when we're ahead," Fingers said.

Meanwhile, Herzog went to Sutter, who shut the door on Milwaukee over the final 21-3 innings to give St. Louis the time it needed to even the Series.

"I hope I need to use Sutter every day," Herzog said. "It means we're winning. I was afraid that after the first game, we'd never see Sutter."

SUPER DUPER SUTTER — St. Louis Cardinals relief ace Bruce Sutter enjoys himself before having to face Milwaukee lumberyard again as the World Series begins again Friday night.

No cash for NY marathoners

NEW YORK (AP) — Fred Lebow, director of the New York City Marathon, disclosed Thursday that there would not be any prize money for the Oct. 24 race.

"I'm deeply disappointed," Lebow said. "As close as two weeks ago, I thought there would be."

However, Lebow said that after consultations with The Athletics Congress, the national governing body for track and field, and city officials, the Board of Directors of the New York Road Runners Club, organizers of the 26-mile, 385-yard race, voted unanimously against authorizing financial rewards.

Lebow acknowledged that the International Amateur Athletic Federation, the world governing body for the sport, had approved monetary rewards for track and field athletes at a meeting in Athens, Greece, last month, but added, "The particulars were not clearly established for road racing."

"We had hoped to change our rules," said Lebow, "but there are so many elements to be concerned about. We don't want to jeopardize the status of our athletes. We have to consider them first. We can't afford to gamble when we don't have clear-cut guidelines from our association (TAC) or the IAAF."

The meet director said that it was too close to the international race "to try and coordinate the monetary rewards with all the participating countries (65)."

Lebow's reference to jeopardizing the status of the athletes referred to the 1984 Olympic Games at Los Angeles. Under present rules of the International Olympic Committee, professional athletes are not permitted to participate in the Games, and accepting prize money would make them pros now.

"The risk of monetary rewards at this time is greater than the benefits that might be gained," explained Gordon Davis, commissioner of the New York City Department of Parks. "It might be all right in a year or two."

"But we thought it best now not to go the route of prize money. That is not an ironclad position. It could change in the future."

Without prize money, the organizers will continue their hypocritical but widely accepted policy of paying under-the-table money to the leading runners.

The top men's runners will include Alberto Salazar, two-time winner of the New York City Marathon and owner of the fastest time in history, 2 hours, 8 minutes, 13 seconds; Dick Beardsley, runner-up to Salazar in this year's Boston Marathon; 1972 Olympic champion Frank Shorter; Finland's Lasse Viren, two-time Olympic gold medalist in the 5,000-meter and 10,000-meter events, and Mexico's Rodolfo Gomez, unbeaten in three marathons this year.

Among the leading women will be Norway's Grete Waitz, winner of three New York City Marathons, all in record time; West Germany's Charlotte Teske, the 1982 Boston Marathon champion, and New Zealand's Lorraine Moller, a bronze medalist in the 1,500 and 3,000 at this month's Commonwealth Games in Brisbane, Australia.

Bartender: Hayes not drunk before arrest

DALLAS (AP) — A bartender says former Dallas Cowboy wide receiver Bob Hayes was not drunk when he left a restaurant shortly before he was arrested for driving while intoxicated.

The testimony by Steve Hansen came Thursday after County Criminal Court Judge George Shepherd denied a defense motion for a mistrial.

Defense attorney Frank Jackson made the motion because of the arresting officer's shooting death Wednesday night.

City patrolman Stanley J. Short, who arrested Hayes on June 7, accidentally shot himself in the chest Wednesday while demonstrating an automatic pistol to friends.

Hansen, 27, said he served drinks to Hayes and a couple who accompanied him to the restaurant.

The bartender described the man and woman with Hayes as intoxicated, but said, "Bob was taking care of the two people he had brought in with him."

Hayes told jurors in the second day of his trial Wednesday that he was taking the couple home after leaving the restaurant, but had difficulty in driving because the woman kept bumping into him.

Money on the table at NFL talks

COCKEYSVILLE, Md. (AP) — Money, the hardest nut to crack in the National Football League players' strike, is on the bargaining table today. And Sam Kagel just may be the nutcracker.

The feisty 73-year-old San Francisco lawyer had negotiators for the owners and players meeting for nearly 21 hours before calling a four-hour recess this morning. And one source monitoring the talks said Kagel was "knocking heads, twisting arms, pushing them together" in his effort to end the strike which today entered its 25th day and has knocked out four of the 16 regular-season weekends.

Kagel denied Thursday a rumor that a settlement is near, and appeared as fresh as he did when he arrived in this Baltimore suburb Tuesday night, vowing to "tire them out before they tire me out."

As Thursday became Friday, negotiations on non-economic issues continued as bargainers fell behind Kagel's timetable that originally called for talks on money matters to begin shortly after midnight. A source close to the negotiations warned no to read too much into the delay. "There is much material to be reviewed and the process is taking longer than expected," he said.

Kagel commanded both sides — union chief Ed Garvey, owners' top negotiator Jack Donlan and their aides — to address the union's demand for a wage scale and a central salary fund, the two issues which have kept the owners' hackles raised ever since they were first proposed. The owners have insisted all along on maintaining the existing system — individually negotiated contracts.

Upon his arrival Tuesday night, Kagel brought the sides together for 2½ hours. Then he began his war of attrition with 19 hours of bargaining on Wednesday. On Thursday he got them started again at 9 a.m. and recessed shortly before 6 a.m. today and ordered both sides back at 10 a.m.

"That's what's amazing about Kagel," said Jim Miller, the Management Council's public relations director. "He just keeps going and going with the same kind of enthusiasm. If he keeps this up for a couple of days he's really exceptional."

Kagel maintained his virtually airtight news blackout Thursday, appearing only once for a news briefing that lasted less than a minute.

He repeated — verbatim — his single-sentence statement of Wednesday that both sides were examining proposals and counter-proposals and continuing their negotiating.

Then, with one more sentence, he emphatically knocked down a cable television network report that a settlement was imminent.

And, finally, as he strolled down the corridor toward the sealed-off negotiating room, he commented off-handedly: "It takes nine months to have a baby. It'll take a few more days to work out a thing like this."

But there apparently was significant progress toward resolving the non-economic issues during Thursday's morning and afternoon sessions. "There has been a good deal of give-and-take by both sides," a source at the talks told The Associated Press. "There has definitely been some movement."

"He is building momentum," another source privy to the negotiations said of Kagel's orchestration of the talks. "He is getting agreements on a phrase here and a paragraph there, building in them the confidence they can come together on a number of issues."

"There has been some progress," the second source continued. But he cautioned: "There are still too many issues here and on the outside that could upset things."

The magic number in the wage talks is $1.6 billion. The union wants it in four years, tied to incentive and performance bonuses, a minimum wage scale and the creation of a central fund from which all salaries would be paid. The owners have offered it in a five-year package, but without the fixed scale and the independently administered fund.

All-stars would rather be playing for keeps

WASHINGTON (P) — Linebacker Harry Carson of the New York Giants says he would prefer to be in New York this week rather than in the nation's capital.

"Bease and Mark and I would rather be back at Giants Stadium with a new agreed-to contract getting ready for the Super Bowl track," Carson said Thursday. "Since we can't be there, we are here."

Teammates Beasley Reece, a safety, and Mark Hayes, a cornerback, said they agreed totally with Carson.

The trio made their comments after the second day of workouts by the NFL Players Association NFC East all-star team, which will play Sunday against a team of AFC East all-stars.

The contest, originally scheduled for 4 p.m. EDT in RFK Stadium, has been changed to 1 p.m. to avoid conflict with the World Series on television.

Still, there hasn't been much fan response to both the game in Washington and the one in Los Angeles the following night, both of which are union-sponsored. Promoters of the Washington game say they've only sold 4,000 to 5,000 tickets for the 55,000-seat RFK Stadium — about 10,000 below the financial break-even point. In Los Angeles, a spokesman at the Memorial Coliseum box office said 40 tickets had been sold for the Monday night game in the 100,000-seat stadium.

NFC East Coach Chris Hanburger, a former Washington Redskins linebacker, said he was not worried by the light turnout for the practice. Only 27 players showed up for the workout, although 39 were present for the afternoon session by the AFC East.

Quarterback Bob Avellini of the Chicago Bears, running back John Riggins and punter Mark Moseley of the Washington Redskins attended Wednesday's NFC session but were not there Thursday.

Despite the lack of players, quarterback Gary Danielson of the Detroit Lions said the practice went very well. "It would take us three weeks in a regular camp to do what we have done in three days. Of course, we don't have a lot of rookies and the veterans can grasp what we're doing right away."

Hanburger also praised the players for the workout they had

BACK AT YOU, BRONCHO — BSHS front liner Sylvia Randle (15) gets over the net to reject a shot from Odessa's Sissy Hinojos (10). Big Spring won the District 4-AAAAA match 15-12, 9-15, 15-4 Thursday night.

BSHS spikers bust up Broncs

By GREG JAKLEWICZ
Sports Editor

With all the clenched fists and swinging forearms, you would have thought there was a big fistfight Thursday night. It was, however, sports fans, a district volleyball match between Big Spring and Odessa.

There were no black eyes or puffy cheeks but the Lady Steers and Bronchos engaged in a free-for-all over the net separating the two teams, with Big Spring landing the most fatal blows in a three-set 15-12, 9-15, 15-4 victory in the BSHS gym.

The win boosts coach Becky Holliday's crew to 2-1 in second half play and drops Odessa out of the race with a 1-2 mark. Big Spring travels to Cooper Tuesday for its next net encounter.

Spikers with a lot of punch behind them were the rule Thursday night. The hardest hitter most definitely was Broncho Renee Pierce but Big Spring had the edge on numbers and therefore won for the fourth time in its last six matches.

Pierce was a murderess at the net. Every set that came her way traveled at the speed of sound across the net, devastating any Lady Steer in its path. When Big Spring stayed on offense, however, those sets didn't get to Miss Pierce and Broncs suffered the consequences.

"She is a very fine little player," agreed Holliday. "But once we stayed on offense, she did have a chance to hit her shots. We just had more hitters than they did all-around."

In the first and third sets — when BSHS played offensive volleyball — the power spikers were going the other direction. Shell Rutledge and Paul Spears were climbing the net like Spiderman, rejecting and directing anything they could get their fists on.

Big Spring opened the match by falling behind 3-0. Spears then blasted her first shot of the night and the Lady Steers were off and running.

The difference the rest of the set was Rutledge. Odessa had a knack of putting their sets too long. When they floated too close to the net, Rutledge leaped up and slammed them back at the Broncs. In one stretch, she scored three points for her team with the same move. Odessa closed to within 13-11 late in the set but a block by Monette Wise and a winning serve by Sylvia Randle won for BSHS.

Again in the second set, the Lady Steers dropped behind but rallied into an 8-6 lead on another Randle serve. Odessa then took the offensive behind Pierce who blasted three winners as the Broncs rolled to a 15-9 victory.

The decisive third set was all Big Spring, in between an occasion bomb by Pierce. Leslye Overton entered the set, midway through and zinged four winners to propel the Lady Steers into a 10-3 lead. It was all over from there.

Both teams had erratic nights at the service line. Either the serves rocketed across the net on a line or never made it over. Not less than 26 serves by the two teams hit net.

Big Spring also won the junior varsity game, downing the Broncs 15-11, 15-4 as Beverly Tubbs scored seven points in the opener and Debbie Hognu the same in the winner. Offensive standout was Sheri Graham while Debbie Donelson sparkled on defense.

The freshman blasted Lamesa 15-11, 15-7, beating the Tors for the first time since the team was in seventh grade. Kerri Myrick scored nine points and Monique Jones and Tammi Green played good all-around games as Big Spring improved to 10-5.

Hard work, coaches, community spark BSHS

Anything new in workouts for the defense?
"Coach has stressed hard on our pass rush because we haven't been getting in there," he responded. "Against Cooper, they say we have to hit and wrap up because they're the biggest runner we've faced all year."

Workout consist of a variety of drills, designed to improve the front line's quickness, mobility and strength. The object is out-think the offensive lineman across from him, get him out of the way and then tackle either the ballcarrier or apply pressure to the quarterback.

Big Spring has been tough on defense all year, but it's an accomplishment due to hard work. "They've improved a lot since the first game," Lamb says of the men around him. "We've (Carl Green, Doug Walker, Pat Burke, Lamb and Keat Wilkins) come a long ways...coach (Alan Bollig) has worked on the TNT's real well."

The line's job is not to let anything by but in case that does happen, Lamb says it's nice to have linebackers like Danny Stephen and George Bancroft waiting in the wings. "If anything gets through, the linebackers are there," he says. "And they very rarely get through those guys. George and Danny have started since they were sophomores."

Not too many Steers have that kind of experience but the success has still come with "new" players in BSHS uniforms. "The people that have come back are doing just as good as anyone," Lamb agrees. Why are they back?

"Most of them didn't want to miss out on their senior year. They've gotten into everything before they get out. They didn't know what kind of program we were going to have last spring."

The program has been great, Lamb points out quickly. "It's because of coach (Quinn) Eudy and all the coaches. They've done a great job." Adding to the spirit this fall have been the fans — both at school and around town.

"They've had a great deal to do with our success," he admits. "We've had more people at the games and have had good pep rallies. Last year, they (the team) got up and left once. I didn't know what was going on so I went with them. They said the pep rallies were for the band and instead of the team. That's changed now."

Lamb played both junior varsity and varsity football last year. When he came up to the varsity, he subbed for all the injuries the Steers had near the end of the season. If was injury that kept him away from football his sophomore year.

"The conditioning has really paid off this year," he said of the Steers' ability to play four quarters and success at avoiding injuries. "That and wanting bad enough to win." The attention is turned to Cooper. "If we win tomorrow, I think we can go all the way. Each team we play is getting progressively better. We have to beat a better team each week. There's no reason why we shouldn't win this game if we stay together as a team and play as a team. We have to give up more each game. Winning one game is good, but winning again is even better," Lamb says.

The BSBS senior also participates in track, throwing the discus. He hopes to continue track in college, but turning his attention to the javelin. "That always looked like something fun to do," he smiles. He also is involved in FCA (Fellowship of Christian Athletes) and in FFA. His spare time recently has been devoted to building a float for next week's homecoming activities.

Strong support comes from Lamb household. His father has just re-opened a local restaurant and his mother is taking nursing courses at Howard College but they still find time to attend the games and give him a pat on the back when he gets home.

"They always wait up for me and tell me I did a good job...whether I did or not," he laughs.

He might laugh now, but Monty Lamb will be totally serious tonight when he straps on his helmet and takes the field against the Cougars. Then he'll turn from a Lamb into a lion. Or better yet, a Steer.

The Most Important Day Of Your Life

Your yesterdays are important, for it is through the past that you have built the present.

If we are happy with our present state of affairs, we know that we have learned some of the lessons of yesterday. But it is unfortunate that very few people are happy with their today's, the present.

We can change all that. We can learn that it is today that builds our tomorrow, and the day after that, and the day after that. It is in worship that we start—where we can learn to build our happy tomorrow.

By CAROL HART
Church Editor

Father J.P. Delaney, pastor of Sacred Heart Catholic Church, returned recently from a month-long visit to his homeland, Ireland.

Father Delaney flew to Ireland with his cousin, Robert O'Neal, who had come to Texas for a visit. The two flew from Dallas to Belfast Airport located in Antrim, Ireland, 20 miles from Belfast, via Gatwick Airport in London.

Using Antrim as "a base of operations," Father Delaney proceeded on a 700-mile journey from northern Ireland into the southeastern shoreline of the country. He visited relatives, friends and the countryside he seldom has a chance to see.

While in Ireland, the priest visited his brothers John, a retired principal from a school in a town called Holywood, and Austin, a retired teacher who taught in Manchester, England. While in England, Father Delaney saw his third brother, Willie, a pharmacist in London.

Early into his trip, Father Delaney journeyed into the mountains around Antrim, and when asked if he camped there, he said with a laugh "It was too cold to camp. I would freeze to death. I have relatives all through those mountains."

One of the first stops on the priest's visit was the Rock of Cashel, "a very beautiful, ancient monastery which was headquarters of the Kings of Ireland in the fourth century," he says. "It is in ruins now." The monastery is located in County Tipperary, and is the spot where "St. Patrick landed and converted the King of Ireland to Christianity. It is quite a thing to see."

Father Delaney is himself a photographer, and eagerly pulls out the many photos he made of the journey home. Several photographs are of young people, and the priest points out that "Ireland has the highest youth population

DISPLAYING THE ROUTE — Father J.P. Delaney, pastor of the Sacred Heart Catholic Church here, outlines the route he traveled during a recent trip to his homeland, Ireland. Although the priest has been in Texas since the late 1930s, he said he still thinks of Ireland as home, and misses the "40 shades of green" one can see there.

The green grass "grows right down to the sea," he says. "That's why they call it the Emerald Isle."

During the time he spent in Belfast, Father Delaney said he encountered no trouble with any of the terrorist activities which have plagued the area recently.

"Parts of the city are as peaceful as any other place. I ran into no trouble," he says.

But "terrorists" do pose a problem, although they have been kept "fairly well controlled" in recent months.

Father Delaney says he feels that "The I.R.A. was first political, then it degenerated into terrorism. Very few people (in Ireland) are sympathetic with them."

He says the trouble in Ireland "is not a fight between the Protestants and Catholics. Northern Ireland is under British control. The whole island wants that part

Birthday reception planned

Churches in the Big Spring area will be invited to participate in a birthday celebration being planned by First Christian Church, Tenth and Goliad.

First Christian Church will celebrate its 100th anniversary on Nov. 28, according to Victor Sedinger, minister of the church. A Centennial Task Force is coordinating a "Big Spring Churches Birthday Party" Nov. 7.

Rev. Sedinger said that First Christian Church was the first church established in Big Spring. The birthday party and Centennial celebration are being planned to recognize the anniversary of First Christian Church, and to honor all Big Spring churches.

Churches are being honored because "we acknowledge that the Christian influence on this community was brought about by scores of churches and literally thousands of Christians," Rev. Sedinger said.

Dr. R. Gage Lloyd, senior minister in the Big Spring area, will speak during a Service of Thanksgiving beginning at 7 p.m. Nov. 7 in the sanctuary of First Christian Church. Several other ministers will participate in the event.

A "Birthday Party" reception is set following the worship service. Church representatives will be asked "What is the most significant thing going on in your church right now?"

Dr. Max Brown, director of the Human Welfare Coordinating Board for the Baptist General Convention of Texas, is the guest preacher. Cecil and Becky Garner of College Baptist Church are leading the singing.

Dr. Brown is a graduate of Baylor University and Southwestern Baptist Theological Seminary. He received a Doctor of Divinity from Howard Payne University in 1979. He has pastored more than 20 years in Texas at churches that include First Baptist Church in Huntsville, and First Baptist Church, Brownwood.

Services are at 7 p.m. each night and 11 a.m. Sunday. The public is invited to attend.

Dallas Holm to appear

Dallas Holm and Praise, a contemporary Christian vocal band, will be in concert Saturday, Oct. 30, in Midland's Chaparral Center. The concert is slated for 8 p.m.

Holm is the author of the song "Rise Again." He and Praise will be performing songs from their latest album "I Saw the Lord," as well as many favorites from previously released albums.

Tickets are on sale at the following locations: The Abundant Life Christian Book Store, Big Spring, Chaparral Center Box Office, Rudd Christian Bookstore, in both Midland and Odessa, and Robbie's Book Store, Andrews. All seats are reserved, and priced at $6 in advance, and $7 at the door. Group rates are available through the ticket outlets.

Baptists approve budget

DALLAS — A record $50 million Cooperative Program budget for mission causes in 1983 was approved here by the Executive Board of the Baptist General Convention of Texas (BGCT).

The $50 million budget is a 10 percent increase over the 1982 budget of $45.4 million.

Since 1975, the Cooperative Program mission gifts of the churches have more than doubled from $20 million to at least $45 million this year.

"It reflects concern for our Bold Mission Thrust goal to reach every person on earth with the gospel of Jesus Christ by the year 2000," said Executive Board Chairman Bruce McIver of Dallas.

The proposed budget, which will be considered at the annual meeting of the BGCT in Corpus Christi Nov. 9-11, allocates nearly $18 million for worldwide causes to support the work of 6,000 Southern Baptist foreign and home missionaries, six seminaries and several commissions.

The remainder of the budget will help support the efforts of Texas Baptist churches and institutions.

Texas Baptists own and operate eight colleges and universities and two academies, eight hospitals, four children's homes, five homes for aging and a Spanish-language seminary.

Revival continues

Revival services will continue through Sunday morning at Phillips Memorial Baptist Church, 408 State.

Salvation Army lists figures

The local Salvation Army served 945 different people in July and August of this year, figures show.

Of that number, 29 were single women, 53 were families, and 38 were referred to other county resources.

Housing was provided during these two months for 583 men and 29 women. There were 2457 meals provided to these people during the two months.

83 Herald carriers bring you the news day after day.

There's nobody more important at the Big Spring Herald than your newspaper carrier. After all, when everybody else's work is finished ... the reporters, the ad sales staff, the production folks and the press crew ... the job's still not done until the newspaper gets delivered to your hands. October 16 is International Newscarrier Day, and we would like to thank our 83 active carriers for their fine efforts in delivering the Big Spring Herald daily and Sunday to our 11,700 subscribers. Today your newscarrier may be a teenage boy ... or a middle-age grandmother. They come from a wide range of backgrounds and interests. But they're all special people, deserving of our thanks ... and yours.

We're especially proud of Herald Carrier Mark Corwin, 15, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Corwin, Runner-Up Texas Western Sectional Carrier of the Year, and one of 9 outstanding carriers in the State. Mark received a $500 award for his fine performance as carrier; he now has over $1,200 in his carrier bond savings account.

Saturday, October 16 is International News Carrier Day.

CHART — Chart shows the layout of Dorothy Garrett Coliseum when booths for the sixth annual Big Spring Arts and Crafts Festival take over the coliseum floor this weekend. More than 170 exhibits for artists from around the country will be set up Saturday and Sunday.

Haegelin in crafts festival

Helen Haegelin, an exhibitor at the local arts and crafts festival for the past few years, has been creating a lot of interest in her work in the Big Spring area. This same interest in her florals and seascapes has also earned her national stature.

Talking about her work, Haegelin says her subjects are "concerned with the Texas and Mexico gulf beaches amid the lands and waters where I have always lived." She says she enjoys roaming the uninhabited beaches and strives to capture the bleak beauty of the sand, dunes, sea and clouds that she sees there. Her florals are tuned to the flowers native to the Southwest.

Helen Haegelin was born in El Paso and raised in San Antonio. Having painted for more than twenty years, she says she worked in several mediums, but only became a serious artist 12 years ago.

"My first production was exhibited in the area shows — the River Art Show, the gigantic Alamo Kiwanis Western Art Show and many of the coastal shows. I sold, and my name quickly became known in Texas art circles."

Haegelin says her "best talents are in oil, using brush and palette or a combination of both." Talking about her patrons, she says she takes great pride in knowing that her paintings are hanging on the walls of homes and offices in every state of the U.S. She says buyers and collectors have also carried them to Mexico, Central and South America, Europe, and the Orient.

While she prefers to work in an area no larger than 16 inches by 20 inches, she has been talked into larger paintings, even murals. Framing is important to finished art and Charles Haegelin, her husband, turns his creative hands to this task, customizing hand-made frames to complement the artwork. He is also a devoted gardener and many of the flowers in Helen Haegelin's paintings come from his greenhouse and extensive flower beds.

Austin's Burleson will have display

Terry Burleson, a native of Austin, will be making his second appearance in Big Spring at the sixth annual Big Spring Arts and Crafts Festival.

A graduate of the University of Texas at Austin with a Bachelor of Fine Arts degree, Burleson was employed by UT's Department of Publications as a commercial artist. After five years in that position, he resigned to devote his full time to his career as a western and wildlife artist.

His paintings and sculptures evidence a keen appreciation for the life and traditions of the West and their influence today. His paintings and sculptures have special emphasis on game birds of the Southwest including turkeys, blues and bobwhite quail, roadrunners, hummingbirds and wrens.

His paintings and sculptures have found their way to important collections throughout the United States. A number of his paintings have been published in Texas Parks and Wildlife magazine and others used as cover illustrations for the Texas Bankers Record, Texas Relays Magazine, UT Law School Conference programs and the Texas Ex Alcalde magazine. Terry was just selected to do an armadillo painting of which a print was made by the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department to promote their magazine subscriptions.

HARD AT WORK — Elaine Hawk of High Rolls, N.M., will be one of the dozen potters to show their works at the festival.

Pothier's photos on display

One of the nine exhibitors from Abilene to participate in the upcoming festival is photographer Martin Pothier. Experience in color printing is the essential ingredient in Martin Pothier's photography.

"I started shooting with the end product in mind ... and it really got me on track."

Pothier's interest in photography began while he was in the Air Force, to record images of people and places he'd seen. During a tour of Okinawa and Thailand, the availability of excellent photographic equipment made it technically and economically possible to improve his skills.

In 1974, Pothier became involved in color printing at Dyess Air Force Base, earning a second-place award in an SAC photo contest with his first self-printed photo. His composition and technical expertise continue to bring Pothier awards for his photography.

Oil fields, scenes, nostalgia, and wildlife are among Martin Pothier's favorite photographic subjects. In addition to on-location photography, Pothier produces specially selected prints in limited editions.

DEER DANCER — Sculpture entitled "Deer Dancer" reveals style of Terry Burleson, who will have an exhibit at this weekend's festival.

Elaine Hawk to show her pottery

Elaine Hawk of High Rolls, N.M., will be one of the dozen potters to show their work at the arts and crafts festival.

Talking about her work, Hawk says it is greatly influenced by "the soft, Southwest colors of tans, mauves, blues and yellows."

A self-taught potter, Hawk has been working with clay for four years and creates wheel-thrown casseroles, bowls and covered jars.

Having won many ribbons for her entries at shows in New Mexico, Texas and Alaska, she says she is looking forward to "the Big Spring show and meeting the Big Spring people."

Brown to show her paintings

Ginger Brown, one of 11 Midland residents to be participating in the Big Spring Arts and Crafts Festival, will be featured in the October issue of Southwest Art magazine.

Brown's art education began at an early age, having won her first scholarship to the Houston Museum of Fine Arts at the age of 11.

Ginger Brown says that she has spent most of her life in West Texas and studied art under Inez Parker at Midland High School. She continued her work under Wanda Hurley after graduation.

She now lives in rural Midland County with her husband, Lewis, and their children. They have several head of horses and cattle. In these surroundings, Brown says Lewis often poses as a cowboy for her paintings. She says she "finds unlimited beauty to paint in this West Texas area."
