Big Spring jobless rate rock steady

By BOB CARPENTER
Staff Writer

For the second month in a row the Big Spring unemployment rate remained rock steady at 5.5 percent for September, while the state and national jobless figures have jumped to 8.4 and 10.1 percent, respectively.

The preliminary September figures, released by the local Texas Employment Commission office, show a decrease in both the labor force and the number of persons employed. A total of 15,708 people made up the potential work force, while 14,850 were employed during September. August figures claimed 16,096 in the labor force, while 15,218 were employed.

Gerald Damm, manager of the TEC, said the decrease was caused by "people returning to school and some people who were laid off have moved out of the area. I believe O.I.L. had a layoff in August, and most of those were contract welders who moved back to where they came from and that contributed to the drop."

Damm also said the oilfield slowdown is still having an effect on employment with fewer funds being spent on drilling and exploration which mean crews aren't needed for those activities.

Damm said the statewide jobless rate jump came from sizeable layoffs in the oilfield equipment plants in East Texas, and the devaluation of the peso has caused employment problems in some of the border towns.

He added that crop disasters in some parts of the state have caused a slowdown in ginning and farming activities which often provide jobs during the fall.

Damm said the amount of money paid on unemployment claims in the local office is on the rise as evidenced by figures recently sent out from Austin. Damm said that in the third quarter of this year the local office paid out $285,000 in claims, whereas the total claims paid for all of fiscal year of 1981 amounted to $465,000.

"You can see we paid out a lot of money in just those three months. It's a lot harder for people to return to work than it was and they're filling for a longer time than they used to," Damm said.

"Last year someone might come in and file for unemployment and never collect because they'd find a job right away, but people are staying unemployed a lot longer these days."

As for the future, Damm said he doesn't expect the rate to drop. "It may hold steady or it might go up a little bit, but it's (the jobless rate) still better than in most places."

Unemployment over 20 percent in South Texas

AUSTIN (AP) — The Texas Employment Commission's latest figures show parts of South Texas are approaching national Depression-era levels.

"We're wall to wall with claimants," said Alfredo Lopez, assistant manager of the TEC office. See Unemployment, page 2-A

PEP RALLY — Kay Pollard leads the cheers at a community pep rally preceding a bonfire last night at Highland Mall, while members of the Big Spring Steers football team hold signs announcing their intention to

"Burn the Rebels" in tonight's homecoming game. Game time is at 8 p.m. The 1982 Homecoming Queen will be crowned at halftime.

Steers prance in ritual dance

By CLIFF COAN
Staff Writer

It was a scene that belongs to the annals of Texas as surely as armadillos, horned toads and Indians.

Like an old-fashioned Indian raid, no homecoming football game would be complete without a week-long buildup of activities and preparations, capped with a ritual dance around a bonfire.

Masses of people stood shoulder to shoulder in the east half of Highland Mall at a pep rally for the Steers last night, watching cheerleaders prance like Comanches preparing for a raid.

Atop a small platform in the mall, the white-clad maidens chanted and screamed, primal sounds from their souls urging their warriors to victory.

A shoulder-to-shoulder band struggled for room to raise instruments to their mouths, and provided background music and a heartbeat of drums.

Finally, chief mentor Quinn Eudy, bunkered in his coat as though it were a blanket, strode across the central platform and addressed his admiring tribe of supporters as his group of Friday night warriors stood in the background.

Like a battle-scarred chief reciting his coups before the council fire, he spoke of "earning respect," his pride in his proteges, how hard his band had worked, and the value of the team over the individual.

Then, led by the Friday night braves, the teeming horde of backers streamed outside, to ring the ritual fire.

With horseplay and scuffling, the young men who will do battle with the Rebel warriors from Midland Lee tonight placed small cardboard replicas of Confederate flags on the council fire.

As the bonfire erupted in towering flames, consuming the enemy's symbols, the crowd moved back into the night. A line of metal modern-day steeds, taillights winking like long-ago signal fires, took the warriors and the tribe back to their respective homes.

MAJOR ACCIDENT — Robert Villalba, center, grimaces in pain as Shaffer Ambulance personnel lift him onto a stretcher after he was involved in a car-motorcycle accident late this morning at the intersection of Northeast Eighth Street and North Scurry. Police reports were incomplete at press time, but officers at the scene said Villalba was going west on Eighth Street when his bike and a car moving north on Scurry collided. Villalba was taken to Malone-Hogan Hospital for treatment of a broken leg and other injuries.

College beauty queens picked

Dana Erwin was named Miss Howard College and LuAnn Burkhalter was named Miss SouthWest Collegiate Institute for the Deaf during the 15th Annual Miss HC/SWCID Pageant last night in the Howard College Auditorium.

Miss Burkhalter is the first person to be given the title of Miss SWCID.

Melissa Luna, Miss Howard College 1981, did the crowning honors with Dr. Charles Hays presenting the awards.

Twenty girls competed together for the two titles in four categories: casual wear, swimsuit, evening gown and interviews. In each category, girls were individually rated on a scale of one to 10 with 10 being the highest. The girls with the highest points won the titles.

The two winners received plaques, roses and crowns.

"I'm shocked," Miss Burkhalter said after being named Miss SWCID. "I thought the girl next to me would win. I understood it. I'm happy. The Lord gave me goals in my heart."

"It's the happiest thing I've had in my life," Miss Erwin said after the See Pageant, page 2-A

Focalpoint

Action/reaction: Of prime interest

Q. What does the term "prime lending rate" mean?

A. The prime rate is the base banks use to calculate interest charges on short-term loans to companies with top-grade credit, although some banks make loans at rates slightly above or below their stated prime depending on the customer.

Mendez case goes to jury

By MIKE DOWNEY
Staff Writer

Attorneys completed final arguments this morning in the aggravated assault trial of Andrew Mendez. The six-man, six-woman jury was still deliberating at noon today. The case is being heard before Judge Jim Gregg in 118th District Court.

The 23-year-old Mendez, of 610 NW 8th, is charged in a June 26, 1982, incident involving a fusillade of shots directed at a house on 509 N. Lancaster. Seven other persons were arrested in connection with the shooting although only Mendez and three others were indicted by a Howard County grand jury.

During closing arguments, Prosecuting Attorney Rick Hamby told the jury "I know you can see the truth." He said the Juarezes are "entitled to the same protection as we are." All that has to be proved was that Yolanda Juarez was threatened with bodily harm by Mendez, he said. Hamby dismissed the differences in his witnesses' stories — "They should be different."

At one point in his arguments, Hamby grabbed the sawed-off shotgun taken from the van and held it in the air before the jury: "What's that good for? ... nothing but killing a man. This offends the hell out of me," Hamby said.

Defense Attorney Elliott Mitchell, who closed without calling a single witness, told the jury this was his first time to try a case. He pointed out the inconsistencies between the witnesses' testimony and their police statements from June 26th. "I was amazed you could have three people with dramatically different statements," Mitchell said. "Not one meshed with another." He called the testimony "replete with contradictions."

Mitchell reminded the jury "the man must be proven guilty." He said he called no witnesses because he felt the state did not prove that guilt. "At issue here is the credibility of the witnesses," he said. No one testified they saw Marquez "beyond a reasonable doubt" in the van, Mitchell said.

Hamby's first witness Thursday was the complainant in the case, Yolanda Juarez. Mrs. Juarez told the six-man, six-woman jury how a black van had passed three times by the Lancaster residence firing shots. She said she recognized the driver, Eleno Chavez, Daniel Marquez and the defendant in the van.

During cross-examination by Mitchell, Mrs. Juarez said she and two other women were in front of the house when the van first appeared at approximately 8 p.m. She said she "tried to help get the grandkids out of the swings" and out of possible danger. Mitchell asked "Isn't it strange you weren't hit standing in front of the house?"

Mrs. Juarez also denied she had any bad feelings toward Marquez despite the fact his testimony sent her son to prison in another trial.

Hamby's second witness was Mary Juarez, Mrs. Juarez' daughter-in-law, who resides at 509 N. Lancaster. She testified how she, her mother-in-law and Priscilla Rodriguez had noticed a van circling the house that Saturday night when it slowed during one pass.

"I saw Eleno Chavez point the gun and they started shooting," she said. "I recognized Daniel Marquez on the passenger side ... and Andrew Marquez in the back." Mrs. Waters said she had seen the defendant through the open back doors of the van.

Mrs. Waters said the police had been contacted after each attack at approximately 8 p.m., 11 p.m. and 1 a.m.

Mitchell questioned Mrs. Waters closely about what she had seen that night in June. "I saw something that looked like a rifle and a pistol," Mrs. Waters said. The three women had run for the car to go call the police when the shots were fired, she said. After a tedious questioning from Mitchell, Mrs. Waters said the only time shots were fired as the women were leaving for help.

Mitchell continued to question Mrs. Waters closely about the incident of June 26th including the location of windows on the house, the kind of windows and the types of bushes in front of the house. Mrs. Waters was unable to corroborate Mrs. Juarez' statement about going to get a gun for protection until after Mitchell mentioned the conflict in testimony.

A third witness, Priscilla Rodriguez, testified through an interpreter that she had seen Marquez in the van. "I didn't notice if he had a gun," she said to a question from Mitchell. Describing the shooting incidents, she said "I could hear shots hitting the house ... we were in a state of shock at this time."

Mitchell pointed out Mrs. Rodriguez's police statement of the event did not include an identification of anyone in the van. "You didn't think it material that you could identify other persons in that van?" Mitchell asked.

Former Big Spring Police Detective Bud Jones, now with the Andrews Sheriff's Office, testified about being on duty the night of the shooting incident. Jones said he responded to the residence after the second reported shooting and found the women "pretty hysterical." He set up surveillance in an unmarked car, he said.

After following another suspicious vehicle, Jones said he found a van answering the description in the shooting incident. As he attempted to question the driver Chavez, he "sped away," Jones said. Following a chase, the van stopped and the riders left, Jones said. "I had reason to believe they were armed, based on the three calls," Jones said. "I don't mind saying I was scared."

Jones testified he had seen "what appeared to be a sawed-off shotgun" and two other guns taken from the vehicle by BSPD Officer Ray Meek. The next day, he continued his investigation of the shooting by examining the Lancaster house. He said he found "numerous bullet holes throughout the structure" including shotgun wadding in a screen and several spent cartridges.

Officer Meek testified briefly to identify the four weapons taken from the van in June. Prosecuting attorney Hamby showed a shotgun with a shortened stock to the jury as well as a .357 caliber revolver and two small hand guns which Meek said were the guns taken from the van.

Vote absentee Saturday

The county clerk's office in the county courthouse will be open this Saturday for absentee voting from 2 p.m. to 8 p.m. Absentee voting ends Oct. 29th.

I WANNA BE A BIG WHEEL SOMEDAY — Melissa D'Ann Sheedy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Mark Sheedy, enjoys checking out one of the many new cars on display at the Big Spring Mall's New Car Show slated today and Saturday in the common area of the mall. The cars are open for scrutiny from 10 a.m. to 9 p.m. with representatives on hand to answer questions. American and foreign makes are on display. Sheedy, incidentally, is the mall's manager.

Jobless

In Laredo. "I've seen foremen, managers, supervisors — people we have never seen in the past. They're shocked. They're trying to digest what's going on, wondering what their next move will be."

TEC Commissioner Ken Clapp said TEC offices now are crowded with "first-timers."

"It's especially tragic — the person who is out of work for the first time in his life. They come into our offices discouraged, afraid and frustrated," he said.

The TEC's latest figures, showing the September unemployment rate in 25 metropolitan areas, put Laredo at the top of the list at a whopping 23.2 percent, the highest jobless rate for any Texas city since the TEC began keeping such records in 1970.

The second and third worst figures came from two urban centers in the Lower Rio Grande Valley. The September rate for McAllen-Pharr-Edinburg was 21.1 percent, and Brownsville-Harlingen-San Benito stood at 15.8 percent.

The Department of Labor did not keep employment statistics during the Depression, but it has estimated the jobless rate peaked at 24.9 percent in 1933. However, labor statistician says the impact then was much greater than it is today because there were no government benefits such as food stamps and unemployment then.

Clapp said unemployment in Texas has not "bottomed out" yet, but he said he saw a glimmer of hope in the payouts of unemployment benefits.

"They are still increasing, but at a much less rapid rate," he said. "I have a feeling the thing is slowing."

The contestants, represented by Miss Phinney, presented a bouquet of roses to Sherri Sparks, fashion moderator and choreographer for the pageant, "for her hard work and putting up with all of us girls." As the pageant began, the twenty girls performed a song, sign and dance number to musical adaptations from "Best Little Whorehouse in Texas" with the pageant's theme as "Best Little District in Texas." Following their presentation, a film history on Howard College and SWCID was presented with narration. Special entertainment was performed by musical groups at the schools including the Nighthawks Fantasy, The New Dimension, The Sign-Along Group and Mark Warren. Miss Howard College and Miss SWCID will return to the pageant to crown next year's winners.

Police Beat

DWI arrest made

Police said they arrested 20-year-old Jesse Eliot of Sterling City Route Box 77 at about 2:30 a.m. today on suspicion of driving while intoxicated and for traffic violations.

Keith James Putman, 21, of Tacoma, Wash., was arrested for the second time this week on suspicion of soliciting during prohibited hours, police said. Putman — arrested about 5:30 p.m. yesterday on Ent Drive — was released on a surety bond, police said.

Police said they arrested 27-year-old Juanita Sanchez of 1007 W. Seventh yesterday afternoon on suspicion of theft under $5 at Gibson Discount Center. Ms. Sanchez was released after posting an $85 bond, police said.

Carig Wendell Panek, 27, of 609 E. 13th was arrested last night on suspicion of disorderly conduct and public intoxication at Burger King restaurant, police said.

Police reports also showed the following:

John Paul II endorses peace efforts

Gemayel meets with pope

By SAMUEL KOO Associated Press Writer

ROME — Lebanese President Amin Gemayel heads home today after visiting Italy, France and the United States to seek a tenfold increase in the Lebanese peacekeeping force and billions of dollars in aid for his troubled nation. Gemayel's one-day visit to Italy included a private audience with Pope John Paul II at the Vatican, as well as meetings with President Sandro Pertini and Premier Giovanni Spadolini. The main objectives of the three-nation trip were to muster political support for an increase in the peace force sent to Lebanon last month and for withdrawal of the Israeli, Syrian and Palestinian forces whose fierce clashes turned Lebanon into a bloodied battleground this summer. Gemayel also has asked for $12 billion in long-term economic assistance to help rebuild his nation, invaded June 6 by Israeli troops sent to rout Palestine Liberation Organization guerrillas from their Middle East power base. The Roman Catholic pope spent an hour with the 40-year-old Lebanese leader, a Maronite Christian. He endorsed Gemayel's efforts to rid Lebanon of the three hostile armies, telling him the nation should strive "to regain real independence and full sovereignty of the Lebanese state on the whole of its national territory." Without naming any specific countries, Gemayel declared: "The troops and armed elements which sought to impose on Lebanon certain annexation or dismemberment can no longer refuse to evacuate its territory." Israel has said it will not withdraw its troops until it has iron-clad guarantees that its border with Lebanon will be protected. The order in which the Syrian, Israeli and PLO forces are to be withdrawn also is at issue. Foreign Minister Emilio Colombo said Italy was studying Gemayel's formal request that more troops be sent to Beirut, where 1,200 U.S. Marines, 1,600 French troops and 1,000 Italian soldiers were deployed following the slaughter Sept. 16-18 of hundreds of Palestinian refugees. Gemayel wants to increase the number of troops on the multinational force to about 30,000 and extend their responsibilities outside the capital. A spokesman for French President Francois Mitterrand said the Paris government also is receptive to contributing more soldiers. But U.S. Defense Secretary Caspar Weinberger balked at the idea of dispatching more Marines. "There is no real reason why only these three countries need to be the ones involved in assisting," Weinberger told The Associated Press in an interview Thursday in Washington. He indicated it was unlikely that more Marines would be sent to Lebanon and called on other countries to share the burden. The peacekeepers moved into Beirut for the second time after Gemayel's brother, President-elect Bashir Gemayel, was assassinated and Christian militiamen rampaged through the Sabra and Chatilla refugee camps. The peacekeepers had left Lebanon after overseeing the evacuation of the bulk of the PLO guerrilla forces.

Israel survives agency ouster bid

NAIROBI, Kenya (AP) — Backed by the muscle of a major U.S. lobbying effort, Israel today narrowly survived an Arab bid to oust it from the U.N.-sponsored International Telecommunications Union conference. But Israel attacked the ITU's final resolution, including the Western compromise that saved its membership, claiming the document contains "false accusations" against the Jewish state. The showdown here came hours after the Arab bloc at U.N. headquarters in New York dropped its campaign to expel Israel from the General Assembly. There, as in Nairobi, the Reagan administration had threatened a pullout and a funding boycott if Israel were expelled. After a debate that ran past midnight, the ITU delegates voted 61-57 in favor of a British-sponsored compromise that amended a tough Arab-sponsored draft resolution condemning Israel's June 6 invasion of Lebanon. Delegates then adopted the amended resolution 65-31. Both votes were by secret ballot. The British compromise retained a sharp criticism of Israeli military actions in Lebanon, but stripped from the original Algerian resolution a passage that would have barred

Israel from ITU meetings, in effect expelling it from the union. The vote followed a U.S. threat to quit the six-week conference, which began Sept. 28, and suspend its $3.2 million in annual funding to the ITU if Israel were expelled. Other Western nations said they were considering similar actions. "If there has been one winner, one victor tonight, it is the ITU," said British delegate Michael P. Davies, who led the floor fight on behalf of the compromise. "The union is together and thank God for that."

British reported discouraged

IRA makes strong gains in Ireland's assembly elections

By ED BLANCHE Associated Press Writer BELFAST, Northern Ireland — British officials were reported discouraged today by the strong showing of IRA sympathizers and Protestant extremists in the election for Northern Ireland's new assembly. Irish Prime Minister Charles Haughey described the result as a "complete political mess." Train service between Belfast and the Irish Republic was disrupted while army bomb disposal experts examined a suspected booby-trapped truck parked across tracks at a bridge near the border. With 43 results declared by late morning for the 78-member assembly, the Official Unionists, the main Protestant group, led with 15 seats, compared with 11 for the Democratic Unionist Party headed by firebrand Protestant leader, the Rev. Ian Paisley. The Social Democratic and Labor Party, being challenged by Sinn Fein as the main voice of the Roman Catholic minority, had eight seats, compared with Sinn Fein's three. The non-sectarian Alliance Party had won five, and a small Protestant faction, the Ulster Popular Unionists, one. The Sinn Fein is the legal political arm of the outlawed Irish Republican Army. Final results from Wednesday's poll were not expected until later today or early Saturday. But Sinn Fein was expected to pick up two more seats, and analysts regarded its showing as a setback for British hopes the assembly would lead the province's two communities toward power-sharing. There also was little comfort in the Protestant results for British hopes of political moderation emerging. Both Paisley's party and the Official Unionists have pledged not to share power with Catholics. The London Daily Telegraph reported dismay among British officials who had hoped the non-violent Social Democratic and Labor Party would make a stronger showing against Sinn Fein candidates. "It is now clear that (the) plan for gradual restoration of home rule to Ulster through gradual devolution of power from Westminster has no chance of working," said London's Standard evening newspaper in a front-page comment. It was the first time Sinn Fein, Gaelic for "Ourselves Alone," participated in an election under its own banner since the Provisional IRA was formed in December 1969 and launched its battle to unite Protestant-dominated Northern Ireland with the overwhelmingly Catholic Irish Republic. Sinn Fein fielded 12 of the 184 candidates for the assembly. Before this week's balloting, the Social Democratic and Labor Party was the only major political voice of the Roman Catholic minority. Britain had called the election in hopes of giving Roman Catholics a say in government and ending the 13-year-old blood feud between the province's estimated 1 million Protestants and 500,000 Roman Catholics. The British, who have ruled the province from London since they suspended a Protestant-controlled Parliament in 1972, have said they want to hand over limited social and economic powers to the assembly — but only if 70 percent of its members, including Catholics, agree to make the new assembly work. "We have seen today a resurgence of militant Sinn Feinism," declared Paisley. "We are up against a tremendous enemy." The two main Protestant parties bitterly oppose unification with the Irish Republic and have pledged never to share power with Catholics. Two previous British attempts to install power-sharing administrations failed in 1974 and 1976 because of resistance by the Protestant majority. Protestant militants chanted "murderer" and "scum" when it was announced Thursday that Sinn Fein Vice President Gerry Adams had won in staunchly Catholic west Belfast. Adams, a former IRA guerrilla chief who was twice jailed by the British in the last decade, said his election was "a vote (by Catholics) for British withdrawal" from Northern Ireland. "Obviously people support the IRA," he said.

Weather

Texas weather to stay cool

By The Associated Press Cloudy to partly cloudy skies and chilly temperatures covered most of Texas today as a few showers dotted eastern and southeastern portions of the state. Fair skies were the rule in Southwest and Northwest Texas. Temperatures before dawn dipped into the 30s and 40s over the northern half of the state. Readings in the 50s and 60s were reported over the southern half. Winds were northeasterly over the eastern half of Texas and southerly over the western half. Speeds were under 10 mph. The forecast called for decreasing cloudiness and warmer afternoon temperatures statewide. A chance of light rain existed over Southeast Texas. FROST HIT the Midwest early today, while rain fell in the Southeast and the Pacific Coast. Frost or freeze warnings went into effect across most of the Ohio Valley, Illinois and parts of Tennessee. Rain fell over the eastern Carolinas, with a few showers over southern Georgia and northern Florida. Rain also fell along the northern and central Pacific Coast, and in Louisiana and southern and eastern Texas. Scattered showers and thunderstorms were forecast for later today in Florida and were expected to continue in northern California and the Pacific Northwest. Clouds were predicted across the upper Ohio Valley and central and eastern Texas. Sunny skies were forecast elsewhere. Temperatures around the nation at 3 a.m. EDT ranged from 25 in Laramie, Wyo., to 76 in Key West, Fla. More cyanide Poison-laced Tylenol discovered

By BRENDA H. INGERSOLL Associated Press Writer CHICAGO — The FBI is checking for fingerprints on a newly found bottle of cyanide-tainted Extra-Strength Tylenol, while police hope to find the unknown purchaser — who may have escaped death by turning it in. Police Superintendent Richard J. Brzczyk announced Thursday that the bottle — one among hundreds of thousands turned in by customers or swept from store shelves after seven deaths from cyanide-tainted Extra-Strength Tylenol — contained more than a dozen capsules laced with the poison. He said the 50-capsule bottle had been turned in to Dominick's Finer Foods in Chicago, just several hundred feet from the Walgreen's drug store where one of the seven victims, Paula Prince, purchased her 24-capsule bottle. INVESTIGATORS HOPE to identify the customer who returned the bottle, which was turned in without its usual box, said Illinois Attorney General Tyrone Fahner, who heads a task force investigating the poisonings. Dominick's employees kept records on each individual who returned Tylenol, he said. Brzczyk said a "peculiar thing" about the newly discovered bottle was that its lot number — MC2880 — was the same as the medication taken by the four victims, who lived in the suburbs. He did not elaborate on what he meant by "peculiar." The number of tainted capsules — which Brzczyk said was "about 13" — was larger than in any other previously found bottle, he said. The bottle was sent to the FBI in Washington, where it will be subjected to "the most sophisticated" tests available in hopes of finding fingerprints that might help solve the case, he said. FAHNER SAID "well in excess of a couple of hundred thousand" bottles have been tested for cyanide by chemists, with the remainder likely to be completed by next week. Thursday's discovery was made by a lab testing the capsules under contract to McNeil Consumer Products Co., the maker of Tylenol. McNeil officials said they had no comment on the latest discovery. It was the second discovery of a cyanide-laced bottle that was not connected with a death. On Oct. 1, authorities announced they had found a tainted bottle culled from the shelves of an Oaco Drug Store in suburban Schaumburg. Merchants swept Tylenol products from their shelves and turned them over for testing when Mayor Jane Byrne issued a ban Oct. 2 on all Tylenol products. Mrs. Byrne said Thursday that "the ban will continue" until it is certain that it is safe to put Tylenol products back on the shelves, according to the police superintendent.

Man sentenced to death

BEAUMONT (AP) — A 26-year-old man has been sentenced to death by injection after being convicted of capital murder in the robbery-slaying of a downtown Beaumont jeweler. Jurors deliberated about an hour Thursday before sentencing Maurice Andrews of Port Arthur. The panel convicted Andrews Wednesday. "I personally agree with your verdict," State District Judge Leonard Giblin told jurors. Joseph Angel Granado was shot to death April 8 when four men robbed his downtown store. Prosecutors contend Andrews and Elliott Rod Johnson went into the store

Fighting drugs with money

President Reagan is going to ask Congress to approve a program that would hopefully bring drug-smugglers to justice. If it works, it would amount to a $200 million drug bust. If it doesn't, it could waste a huge amount of money at a time when balancing the budget is seen as a vital concern.

Reagan's proposal is this: Task forces would be set up in 12 U.S. cities (among them Houston) that would work like the smuggling blockade already in use in southern Florida.

"Street-pushers," the usual targets of anti-drug campaigns, would be passed up for bigger game: motorcycle gangs, Colombian smugglers and other organized, big-volume traffickers.

About 1,000 new federal agents and prosecutors will be hired as part of this all-out effort, not just against drug-smuggling, but against organized crime in general.

In addition, Reagan's plan includes $34 million to build new prison space for those brought in by the crackdown. The director of Texas' Department of Public Safety says he approves of the plan because the emphasis now placed on Florida has brought more drug traffic to Texas.

All previous efforts to control drug traffic in this country have met with only minor success. Reagan has committed a huge amount of money to this new effort. We hope it's well-spent.

Rug rat

"What's this?" I thought as I opened the door earlier this week. "This" was obviously a dog. We don't have a dog. Apparently we did now.

While all this was running through my mind (on little puppy feet, as it were), the puppy toddled out on the porch, sniffing at the strange, boot-clad feet of the towering monster — me.

Apparently satisfied that I meant no harm, the puppy turned tail and walked back to the couch where my wife was sleeping.

"Kit, why is this dog here?" I asked.

"She just came up," Kit replied through a fog of sleep. "It looks like she's been abandoned. Can we keep her?"

"We'll see," I said. I'm no fool — I had no chance of getting out of this one. When things are inevitable, you might as well go along with it.

I'd never really been in favor of our getting a dog, since we really have no place to keep one outside, and I'd never seen a small dog that I liked. Saw quite a few that I hated, though.

Besides, there's only one dog for everyone — a favorite that every other dog would have to measure up to. Mine was an Australian Sheep Dog/Border Collie cross named Nothing. My wife's was a Siberian Husky. With competition like that, things looked rough for this four-legged rug rat with short legs and a sickle of a tail.

But, as the evening wore on, the puppy (she looked like a Border Collie crossed with something with two-inch legs) seemed determined to ingratiate herself with me.

When I lay down on the couch, she licked my face with an exuberance that wagged her entire body.

When I sat in the chair, she licked my toes.

When all else failed, she dragged her toy — an old washrag to where I was and tried to get me to play, yapping with impatience.

She wasn't housebroken — after all, she was just a puppy — and a trip through the house in bare feet was something like walking through a minefield. But she had the beginnings of intelligence and trainability, so things weren't all that bad.

"We ought to name her," Kit said.

"What's a good name?"

"How about 'Dog'?" I volunteered. So how for me naming a dog — or our children, for that matter.

That night, the puppy settled down against the bedroom wall, contentedly chewing on one of Kit's shoes. Well, that's okay — she didn't have enough teeth to do any real damage and it WAS Kit's shoe.

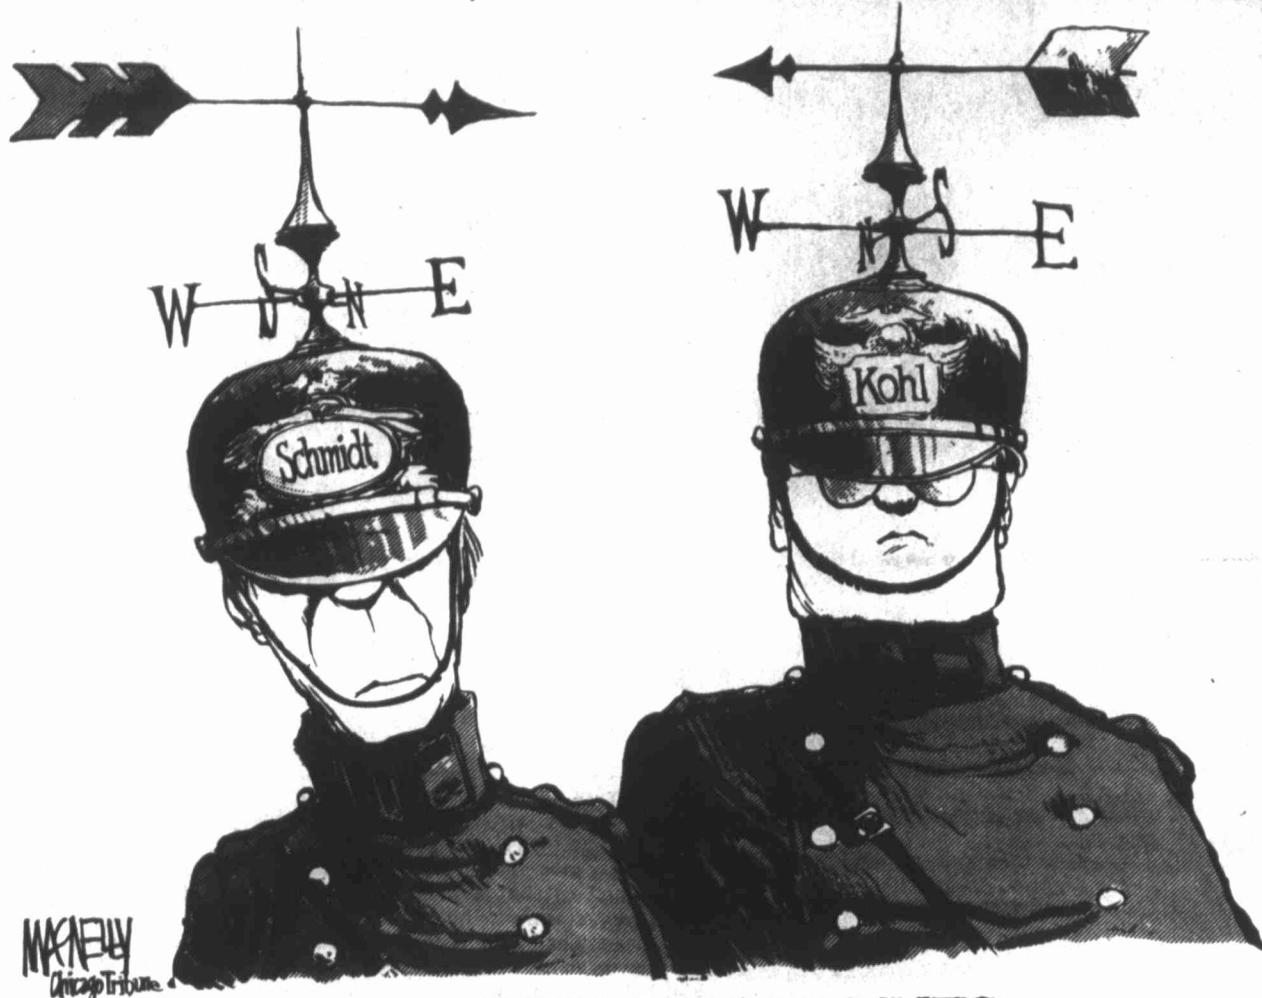

After she helped me get ready for work (standing at the edge of the bathtub and barking, and running about underfoot), I left, closing the door to howls of anguish and yips of loneliness.

That afternoon, no four-legged ball of fur greeted me at the door. Kit was in the bathroom, washing her face.

"Where's Dog?" I asked.

"Her owner came and got her," Kit said, sniffing. "He said he'd had to go out of town and he couldn't leave her shut up inside. He acted like he loved her, so I guess it's okay, but I sure do miss that little dog."

So do I.

Tinsel Town goes video

News from the West Coast is that video games are now making more money for the movie companies than motion pictures. The people who keep track of these things estimate that millions of television sets are being used to play "Pac Man" and "Night Stalker" every night.

So everyone in Hollywood is rethinking the entertainment business.

"Sidney, I got a great idea for a TV series. It's about a cop who lives with three girls and..."

"I don't want to hear about it. What do you have in a video game like Star Strike?"

"I don't know. The writers aren't too good at thinking up ideas for video games."

"Then get me some writers who are. I'm running a movie studio and we're not going to make our nut if we turn out stories about people. I want something hot like a high-scoring dragon-eating MX missile or a two-headed monster who shoots down B-1 bombers."

"But what about our film division? We've got to make movies."

"You're wrong, Alan. We have to make money. If the kids would rather play with joy sticks than tune in 'Dallas' we can't ignore the market."

"There's still a lot of people out there watching television, Sidney."

"For the moment, yes. But in a couple of years there will be more people who are going to be playing 'Donkey Kong' and 'The Empire Strikes Back.' That's our audience, Alan. We have to think of the future. One good video game will make more money than 'Gone With the Wind' and 'Sound of Music' combined."

"I've got a script here that would be perfect for Paul Newman, Robert Redford and Burt Reynolds. You want to hear the story?"

"Are you talking about a theatrical movie with live actors?"

"I think so. We could get Louis Malle to direct it."

"Alan, I can't go to the board of directors and tell them I want to make a movie with Newman, Redford, and Reynolds. They want something that the kids will plunk down $29 to play, like an automatic submarine which will torpedo Russian aircraft carriers as they move across the TV screen."

"But this film will make you laugh and cry and scare the hell out of you all at the same time."

"Kids don't want to laugh and cry and be scared any more. They want to shoot down unidentified objects from outer space. They want to keep score, so they can do better than they did the time before. That's what the movie business is now all about."

"Then I guess you don't want to hear about Barbra Streisand's next picture."

"I want to hear about 'Yar's Revenge,' and why, with all the high-priced talent we have on the lot, we can't come up with a game like it."

"Yar's Revenge?"

"Don't play dumb, Alan, you read the trades. 'Yar's Revenge' is the ninth highest grossing video game in history. It's a classic. Here's a tape. Go home and play it with your kid tonight, and you'll get some idea of what I'm looking for."

"Sidney, all I know is the movie business. I don't know how to develop something that gobbles up werewolves."

"Alan, remember when there were silent movies? Then someone invented talkies and silent movies had to go. Then someone invented technicolor and black and white movies had to go. Well, now they've developed video games."

"And that means movies have to go?"

"Not all movies. There will still be a small audience out there who wants to see a picture every once in a while. But the masses are going to demand something they can get involved with like Atari's 'Bezerk' game, or Activision 'Chopper Command.' They want to pit their skills against demons and rockets and black spiders that scream in the night. And we, Alan, as creative people, owe it to the public to give them what they want."

"That's it, Sidney?"

"No, Alan, that's show business."

Passing the buck

WASHINGTON — President Reagan has tried to make a virtue out of sharing responsibility with the states. He named his concept "New Federalism," but it's really nothing more than the old Army game called "Passing the Buck."

Not only has the federal government become more tight-fisted at picking up the bill for social services that are administered by the states, but it has even wrenched on prior agreements to reimburse the states for money they have already paid out. The state governments, which are as hard up as the federal treasury, wind up holding the bag for millions of dollars.

Here's a shocking example of the "New Federalism" at work:

Twenty states shelled out money to their residents for welfare and Medicaid payments in 1978 and prior years. By law, the Department of Health and Human Services was to pay the states a total of almost $420 million in matching funds. All the states had to do was submit their claims.

In the past, the states could turn in their claims at any time, and the obligation was still recognized. Often the money was paid out in one year and the application for federal matching funds wasn't submitted until much later.

But in 1980, Congress decreed that the states had to turn in all their old claims by a set date, and henceforth would have to meet a two-year time limit on claims submissions or forfeit the matching funds.

Then, last December, in the pandemonium surrounding the passage of continuing legislation to keep the government operating, Congress passed ambiguously worded legislation setting the time limit for claims at one year. HHS Secretary

Richard Schweiker interpreted this to mean that states which had missed the one-year deadline, but had met the earlier two-year deadline, were simply out of luck.

So nine of the 20 sandbagged states went to court. And the judge decided that Schweiker was wrong; HHS had to pay up under the 1980 time limit.

But Schweiker wouldn't give up. He decided to find a way to weasel out of the court-sanctified obligation, even though Pennsylvania, the state he used to represent in the Senate, stood to collect almost $60 million of the federal funds.

Schweiker decided to try another last-minute quarterback sneak. Another continuing resolution was coming up, and Schweiker prevailed on Sen. Harrison Schmitt, R-N.M., to slip an amendment into the resolution that "permanently extinguished" the 20 states' claims.

With some misgivings, Schmitt — who is up for re-election this year — did as Schweiker asked. Sources say Schmitt was relieved when his gambit was spotted by Sens. Daniel Moynihan, D-N.Y., and Bill Bradley, D-N.J., who raised a stink.

The result was a compromise: If HHS continues to lose in court, at least it won't have to pay the states what it owes them before fiscal 1984. Even so, Schweiker reportedly intends to fight all the way to the Supreme Court.

A congressional aide told my associate Vicki Warren the big problem is trying to find money for the states' old claims in a time of severe HHS budget cuts. "It will only mean that they'll have to take the funds from some other program where they haven't made a contract, such as educating handicapped children," he explained.

So the fight continues, with Schweiker still determined to pass the buck — not the bucks — to the states.

ALL IN THE FAMILY: The American Medical Association is making House calls again in its determined battle to keep the Federal Trade Commission from cracking down on the medical profession's monopolistic practices.

One of AMA's 215 congressional supporters is Rep. Frank Guarini, a blue-collar Democrat from New Jersey who has fought hard against special privileges for Big Oil. Why, then, is Guarini backing Big Medicine?

One member of the New Jersey congressional delegation suggested that Guarini's heart really isn't in the anti-PTC measure, but that his support for the AMA might be explained by the fact that his executive assistant, Nancy Drake, is married to AMA lobbyist James E. Drake.

Mrs. Drake denies this. She said she and her husband don't discuss what the AMA is up to, and her boss' support for the medicine men is "truly pure coincidence."

BEST BUREAUCRATS: In many countries, passport officers are forbidding figures. But in Honolulu, the passport office's assistant regional director, Winfred Cook, willingly works after office hours to help international travelers on their way.

Recently, an elderly gentleman turned up at her office with a problem: He had to fly to the Far East because of a family emergency, but he had no passport. Cook not only walked his application through personally to get him the precious document, but then drove him 10 miles to the airport to make sure he caught his plane.

Billy Graham

You need to share faith

DEAR DR. GRAHAM: Religion to me is a very personal thing, and I can't see why I should try to get anyone else to believe like I do. Most people, after all, have their own view of God and as long as they believe something I don't think it's any of my business to try to change their minds.
— Mrs. M.C.

DEAR MRS. M.C.: I want you to imagine for a minute that you had a very dreadful form of cancer, and that it was absolutely certain that you would soon die of it. Then imagine that you suddenly discovered a cure for that disease, and you were healed. You would, I am sure, be very thankful for that. But suppose there were many other people around you who had the same disease. Would it be right for you to keep the cure to yourself, and not share it with others? Of course not!

The Bible says that the human race has a dreadful spiritual disease — the disease of sin. Furthermore, it is a disease which not only infects every human being but also has terrible consequences — the consequences of death and hell. But there is a cure! God himself has provided the remedy for the disease of sin, and that is Jesus Christ. On the cross, Christ paid the penalty for our sins, and by trusting him for our salvation we can be forgiven and cleansed of sin, and be reconciled to God our heavenly Father. The Bible tells us, "For the wages of sin is death, but the gift of God is eternal life in Christ Jesus our Lord" (Romans 6:23).

I realize that at present you may not believe that is true — although I pray that you will examine the New Testament's message for yourself and discover the New Testament's message that Jesus Christ is God's remedy for our sin. But those of us who have come to faith in Christ believe that not only has God cleansed us from sin, but he wants to cleanse others as well. And that is one reason we want others to know Christ, and why we feel it is our responsibility to share him with others. The Gospel is not just a matter of personal opinion — it is a matter of life and death. That is why I urge you also to consider Christ, and come to believe in him as the only answer for your sins.

Poor children need your vote

Dear Editor,

I write in support of Amendment 2 to be decided by the voters this election. The proposal would permit the state ceiling on welfare expenditures to be increased to up to 1 percent of the Texas budget should the Texas legislature so approve.

Why does Texas need this?

First, Texas needs this for its children. Now the dependent child in Texas receives $34 and some cents for his or her support. What can you buy for $34 today? Certainly not adequate care for a child who through no fault of its own, is poor. Texas, one of the wealthiest States, has the lamentable distinction of being 49th in benefits provided to its poor children.

Second, if the constitutional ceiling for expenditures to aid dependent children is not raised, the little poor kids get now will be reduced.

Texas is perilously close to the ceiling mandated in the Texas Constitution. If something isn't done (paraphrasing the first century satirist Juvenal), even the little poor have will be taken away from them.

Third, if you have noticed, hard times have come to Texas. The unemployment rate is up; the oil production is down. Texas may be getting to the position of many of its northern neighbors, where people want work and it is not there, where the mother who has been supporting her children finds herself without a job and without the means to feed her children. In hard times a larger demand on a limited resource means less for all concerned.

Hubert Humphrey, that champion of the working man, once said a civilization would be judged by how it treated those in the dawn of life, its children, those in the twilight of life, its aged, and those in the shadows of life, its disabled, infirm, and poor. How will Texas be judged?

Amendment Two asks for only 1 cent from a dollar for poor children. In Holy Scripture the poor man Lazarus speaking to rich Dives said even dogs get crumbs from the rich man's table. Cannot Texas provide at least one penny to its hungry children?

Texas is too great a state to be so mean with its bounty. I urge proud Texans to vote yes for Amendment 2.

Ten pelicans mutilated

SAN DIEGO (AP) — Whoever mutilated at least 10 pelicans by hacking off their long upper beaks might have been under the influence of drugs or alcohol and could have had a motive for harming the birds, authorities say.

The 10th mutilated bird was found Thursday in Dana Point Harbor. Curtis Kastner, Fish and Game Department patrol captain for San Diego and Orange counties, said he had some "firm leads" on the person maiming the endangered species.

The California brown pelicans — graceful, long-winged birds with neck pouches for holding fish — have been found with their upper beaks either sawed or ripped off. The last one found did not have its beak completely severed.

"Yesterday I felt confident something would develop. Today there's no doubt in my mind that we have something," Kastner said Thursday, declining to be specific.

He characterized the person or people involved "as just plain sadistic" and possibly "affected by narcotics or alcohol."

Kastner said the maiming "very well could be" done by someone who has had problems with the pelicans.

The sea birds are known for following fishing boats and diving after baited hooks, often getting hooked.

"We've had incidents of people catching birds on hooks and wringing the necks. But in my 30 years with the department we've never had anything like this," he said.

"It's a sick person of some kind."

The U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service offered a $5,000 reward Wednesday for information leading to the conviction of those responsible.

Other groups and individuals, including the Audubon Society of Sacramento, have started drives to raise reward money.

Brown pelicans were placed on the endangered list in 1970 after the pesticide DDT, now banned, caused reproductive problems. Since being legally protected, the bird has made a strong comeback, with an estimated 90,000 believed to be living along the coast from the Gulf of California to Los Angeles County.

Eight of the birds found in Orange and Los Angeles counties are under care at the Crown Valley Animal Center in Laguna Miguel. Another is being nursed at Sea World in San Diego. One was put to death Wednesday after being found near Carlsbad, 20 miles north of San Diego.

Dr. Gayle Roberts, a veterinarian at Crown Valley, said the injured pelicans, ranging in weight from 6 to 12 pounds, were in "good to excellent" condition. They were being hand-fed chunks of bonita soaked in salt water and chopped-up vitamin tablets.

TIME FOR SNOW TIRES — When Ross Jarvi and Kent Rintals went to school Wednesday morning there were a few snow flakes floating through the air. They don't make snow tires for bikes, but by the time Hancock, Ohio schools let out, 10.8 inches of snow had fallen. The two boys don't seem to mind having to push their bikes home.

War made 'too acceptable'

American history texts called too militaristic

By LEE MITGANG
AP Education Writer

NEW YORK — American history textbooks generally fail to impress upon school children the horrors of nuclear war, according to a new study of 11 of the most widely used texts.

"Not one of the 11 textbooks raised philosophical questions about the acceptability of war," says the survey, titled "Militarism in Textbooks: An Analysis," and published in the current Bulletin of the Council on Interracial Books for Children.

Bradford Chambers, editor of the Bulletin, said in an interview that the study was inspired in part by the current interest in nuclear disarmament. It was co-written by Sergiu Herscovici, a researcher at City University of New York, and Sharon Wigutoff, an author who has studied sexism and racism in children's books.

A few of the books are singled out for praise. "Let Freedom Ring: A United States History," written by Richard C. Brown and others, and published by Silver Burdett Co., is cited for offering "a very moving account" of the suffering at Hiroshima and Nagasaki, where atomic bombs were dropped during World War II.

"The Free and the Brave," a 750-page book published by Houghton Mifflin and written by Columbia University history professor Henry F. Graff, was cited as the only one of the 11 texts with a section that delved into the arms race and the "increased reliance on nuclear weapons."

But the textbook also was challenged by the study for failing to criticize President Dwight D. Eisenhower for threatening nuclear war to break a deadlock in peace talks during the Korean war.

GRAFF, in an interview, said the criticism was a "distortion," adding that "I don't know where you do the preaching in a textbook."

The study says nearly all the books examined fail to help students understand how "public funds spent on arms reduce funds for human needs," or "report on and question U.S. threats to use the nuclear bomb in the years since Hiroshima."

It also said the peace movement during the Vietnam War is given short shrift in some books.

The study is probably the first to analyze the way American history texts treat the subjects of war and the military. Various interest groups have previously criticized history texts, biology books and primers for the way they treat, or ignore, such subjects as creationism and evolution, or the role of blacks, minorities or women in American history.

"There is no evil on the part of writers and publishers," Graff said. "Space is the constant concern of the textbook author."

He added, however, that he thought some of the points in the study are well-taken.

"This study is saying, hey, we ought to do more about peace in these texts. And I'm sure this will be reflected in new editions," he said.

The other history texts examined were: "A People and a Nation," by Clarence Ver Steeg and Robert Hoffstadter, Harper & Row; "American History," by Jack Abramowitz, Follett Publishing Co.; "American History," by John A. Garraty et al., Harcourt Brace Jovanovich; "The Americans: The History of a People and a Nation," by Winthrop Jordan et al., Science Research Associates; "America's Heritage," by Margaret S. Branson, Ginn and Co.; "History of a Free People," by Henry W. Bragdon and Samuel P. McCutchen, Macmillan.

Also, "The National Experience: A History of the U.S.," by John M. Blum et al., Harcourt Brace Jovanovich; "The New Exploring American History," by Melyin Schwartz and John R. O'Connor, Globe Book Co.; and "Rise of the American Nation," by Lewis Paul Todd and Merle Curti, Harcourt Brace Jovanovich.

13-room house may disappear before its mortgage does

McHENRY, Ky. (AP) — Barry and Sue Stone are facing the possibility that their 13-room house in Ohio County will disappear before the mortgage.

Each day, the two-story brick colonial home snaps, crackles and pops — and then sinks a little lower into the ground.

It has been stripped of all furnishings except a telephone that the Stones decided to set up outside, where they figured it was safer to answer it. "We removed all the furniture last Saturday after deciding the place was going to be a total loss," Stone said Thursday.

Stone, a miner, is convinced that a long-abandoned mine shaft is collapsing beneath his house.

About 15 miles away in Muhlenberg County, the Drakesboro United Methodist Church has been sinking for the past month. Stone said he and his wife built their "dream home" through five years of "scrimping and saving."

Now, says Stone, "I've got a huge mortgage and no house for my family."

The first signs of trouble appeared last Thursday when Mrs. Stone noticed a hairline crack above the sliding glass doors that open into the basement. The next day, the cracks were larger.

Early Saturday morning, a window shattered and woke the Stones and their three children — ages 9, 7 and 5.

"We got up and we were just in shock," Mrs. Stone recalled. Floors were sagging toward the center of the house, walls were cracking and the lumber groaned beneath the shifting of the land.

"I went into the basement and the floor looked like a wheelchair ramp,"

Mrs. Stone said. The Stones said they contacted their insurance agent but were told that "such accidents aren't covered."

After the family moved in with relatives, Stone said he checked with officials of the U.S. Office of Surface Mining.

"They informed me that funds might be available to stabilize the ground but that they couldn't pay for the house."

Center for battered wives names director

Irene Davis Clouse has been named new executive director of the Permian Basin Center for Battered Women and Their Children.

Clouse, 32, earned her BS degree at Sul Ross State University and took graduate studies at the University of Texas at El Paso.

Immediately prior to assuming her new post, Ms. Clouse was a counsellor/caseworker at the Midland office of the Permian Basin Community Centers for Mental Health and Mental Retardation.

She spent three years as a U.S. Prison System education specialist and counsellor at La Tuna Federal Prison, where her programs gained her recognition as "Employee of the Month" within the full federal system.

Ms. Clouse also served as a United States Army curriculum specialist at Ft. Bliss, where she was named outstanding teacher, U.S. Army, third cavalry.

Ms. Clouse succeeds Sally Brammer, who served the center as director since the center's inception in 1978.

The Center for Battered Women and Their Children offers protection and counselling to residents of a 17-county area. On the average, about 20 women and their children are housed in the facility each month. It is supported by local donations and was recently accepted as a Midland United Way Agency, and receives money from the Department of Human Resources.

The center is located in Midland at an undisclosed location. For those who need further information, the hot lines (563-0800 and 683-1300) are available at all times.

First child borne to Shaeffers

Larry Don Shaeffer was borne Oct. 1 to Larry and Natalie Shaeffer, 100 Cottonwood. The infant arrived at 10:20 p.m. in Malone-Hogan Hospital weighing 7 pounds and 8/16 ounces and measuring 20 inches long.

Larry Don is the first grandson of his maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. James Osborne, 1807 Settles. His paternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Harry Shaeffer, 1102 Stanford.

Railroad widows still can board benefit train

DEAR ABBY: I read you faithfully in the Williamson (W.Va.) Daily News. In September 1981, your column was headed, "Full Steam Ahead for Railroad Widows." It caught my eye because in 1930, when I was 16, I married a railroad man. We were divorced in 1962.

The article went on to give me such good news! It read: "Effective Oct. 1, 1981, remarried widows and divorced wives, mothers and widows of railroad workers will become eligible for railroad annuities in the same dollar amount and under the same rules as Social Security."

I couldn't hardly believe my eyes! Had I not read it in your column I would never have known about it. I have not been informed in any other way.

You advised all women who qualified to write to the Railroad Retirement Board, 844 Rush St., Chicago, Ill. 60611.

I wrote immediately. After several letters back and forth, I was informed that I was eligible for benefits, and I have been receiving a monthly check ever since. It is such a help!

How can I thank you, Abby?

MRS. MILDRED H. BEVINS, PIKEVILLE, KY.

DEAR MILDRED: Don't thank me. Thank Rep. James L. Oberstar, 8th District, Minnesota, who wrote to inform me that the law had just been passed. He added, "And I can't think of a better way of reaching the approximately 74,000 eligible women than through the Dear Abby column."

DEAR ABBY: I am a married woman (mid-30s), wife and mother, who has always been overly modest. I just hate going to my doctor for a physical — the kind where you have to take off everything, get up on the examining table, etc.

If I could do it myself, I certainly would. But, Abby, I can check my own breast for lumps, and I do.

Would it be obnoxious of me to tell my doctor I'd rather do it myself? (Check my breasts.) I think he enjoys doing this, as I am oversized.

MODEST TO A FAULT

DEAR MODEST: It would be more foolish than obnoxious. In the first place, don't assume that your doctor "enjoys" checking for lumps. He gets as much enjoyment from it as a grocer checking for an overripe cantaloupe. You are paying for his professional expertise; use it to the fullest.

Dr. Donohue

Avoiding diagnosis of pain is a losing game

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: For the past four months my husband has been getting a mysterious pain in his back, between his shoulder blades. He gets it when he walks a few blocks to buy the paper each morning. The pain is sharp and lasts a few minutes. When he belches it seems to leave him. He plays golf a couple of days a week and gets plenty of exercise otherwise. He says he gets the same pain when mowing the lawn or at the start of his golf game.

We want to solve this mystery. He is not about to have any doctor put him through gastrointestinal examinations and tests, though. Can you suggest anything for him? — R.B.

If the belch always relieves his discomfort it might be logical to assume that it is stomach gas, perhaps from something eaten. But is it that simple, really? He has symptoms that might make one think of angina, even though his pain is not in the classic angina site. Pain felt between the shoulder blades can also be related to disturbance of the gall bladder, which is part of the digestive system. Does he get such pains after eating fried or fatty foods, or are his pains worse after such food intake?

But it is silly for me to run on about what might be amiss. In the above comments, I am not attempting to diagnose. I mention all those things to suggest only one thing to your husband — that he does need diagnosis. He has to find out if the tests you refer to are needed. No physician can force him to take them.

He would like to avoid doctors. Most of us would. Even doctors sometimes like to avoid doctors. But there comes a time when we can no longer avoid them — or a diagnosis. To continue along the path of ignorance is a losing game. He may not need gastrointestinal tests. But until various causes of his distress are ruled out, he will never know just what is wrong.

And may I further suggest that one of angina's classic calling cards is a pain that is predictable from a predictable level of activity. That can easily be diagnosed.

Is angina pectoris dangerous? Is there a cure? If you would like to learn more about this heart condition, write to Dr. Donohue, in care of the Big Spring Herald, P.O. Box 11210, Chicago, IL 60611, for a copy of his booklet, "How to Handle Angina Pectoris." Enclose a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 50 cents.

Couple may be linked to deaths of 8 women

SUMMERVILLE, Ga. (AP) — A couple who recruited prostitutes and are charged with killing one woman "may be involved" in at least eight other slayings of women in Alabama and Georgia in the past 1 1/2 years, a sheriff says.

Alvin Neelley indicated he either was present or had first-hand knowledge of the other slayings but stopped short of claiming responsibility for them, Chattooga County Sheriff Gary McConnell said Thursday.

"He (Neelley) didn't say he pulled the trigger," McConnell said. "He hasn't confessed to the murders, but he has information that leads us to believe that he and his wife may be involved."

Neelley, 29, and his 18-year-old wife, Judith, are charged with murder in the slaying of Janice Chatman, 23, of Rome. Mrs. Neelley also is charged in the slaying of a 13-year-old LaFayette girl, Lisa Ann Millican. Both also are charged with aggravated assault in shooting Ms. Chatman's common-law husband in Gordon County.

The information relating to the murders of the other eight women came during two days of questioning, in which Neelley told authorities that he and his wife were recruiters and enforcers for a prostitution ring, McConnell said.

"Neelley said they were trying to recruit females off the street to act as prostitutes in their prostitution ring," the sheriff said.

McConnell said Neelley was "extremely knowledgeable" about the locations of the bodies of the eight other victims — all slain over an 18-month period — and how the victims were killed. All of the bodies have been recovered, McConnell said.

"He knew where they were found, how the women were killed, and he knew what these other people looked like," McConnell said. "He is familiar with these cases down to the last detail."

Tony Gilliland, chief investigator for the sheriff's department, said Neelley has not been charged in any of the eight slayings.

McConnell said Neelley also had detailed information in the shooting of a pregnant woman that killed her unborn child. The woman is still alive, authorities said.

Phil Peters, director of the Georgia Bureau of Investigation, said his office is checking out Neelley's disclosures.

"There's a lot of misinformation floating around about it," Peters said. "But we have agents talking to them (the Neelleys), and we're just trying to evaluate, find out exactly what we do have and separate the facts from the fiction." He also said the bureau hopes "to see if we'll be able to clear some previously unsolved murders."

Neelley is being held without bond in the Chattooga County jail, with a preliminary hearing scheduled for Monday, McConnell said.

Mrs. Neelley is being held in the DeKalb County jail in Fort Payne, Ala.

Neelley and his wife were arrested last week in Murfreesboro, Tenn., on a charge of attempting to cash stolen money orders. Police in Rome had issued a nationwide alert for the couple.

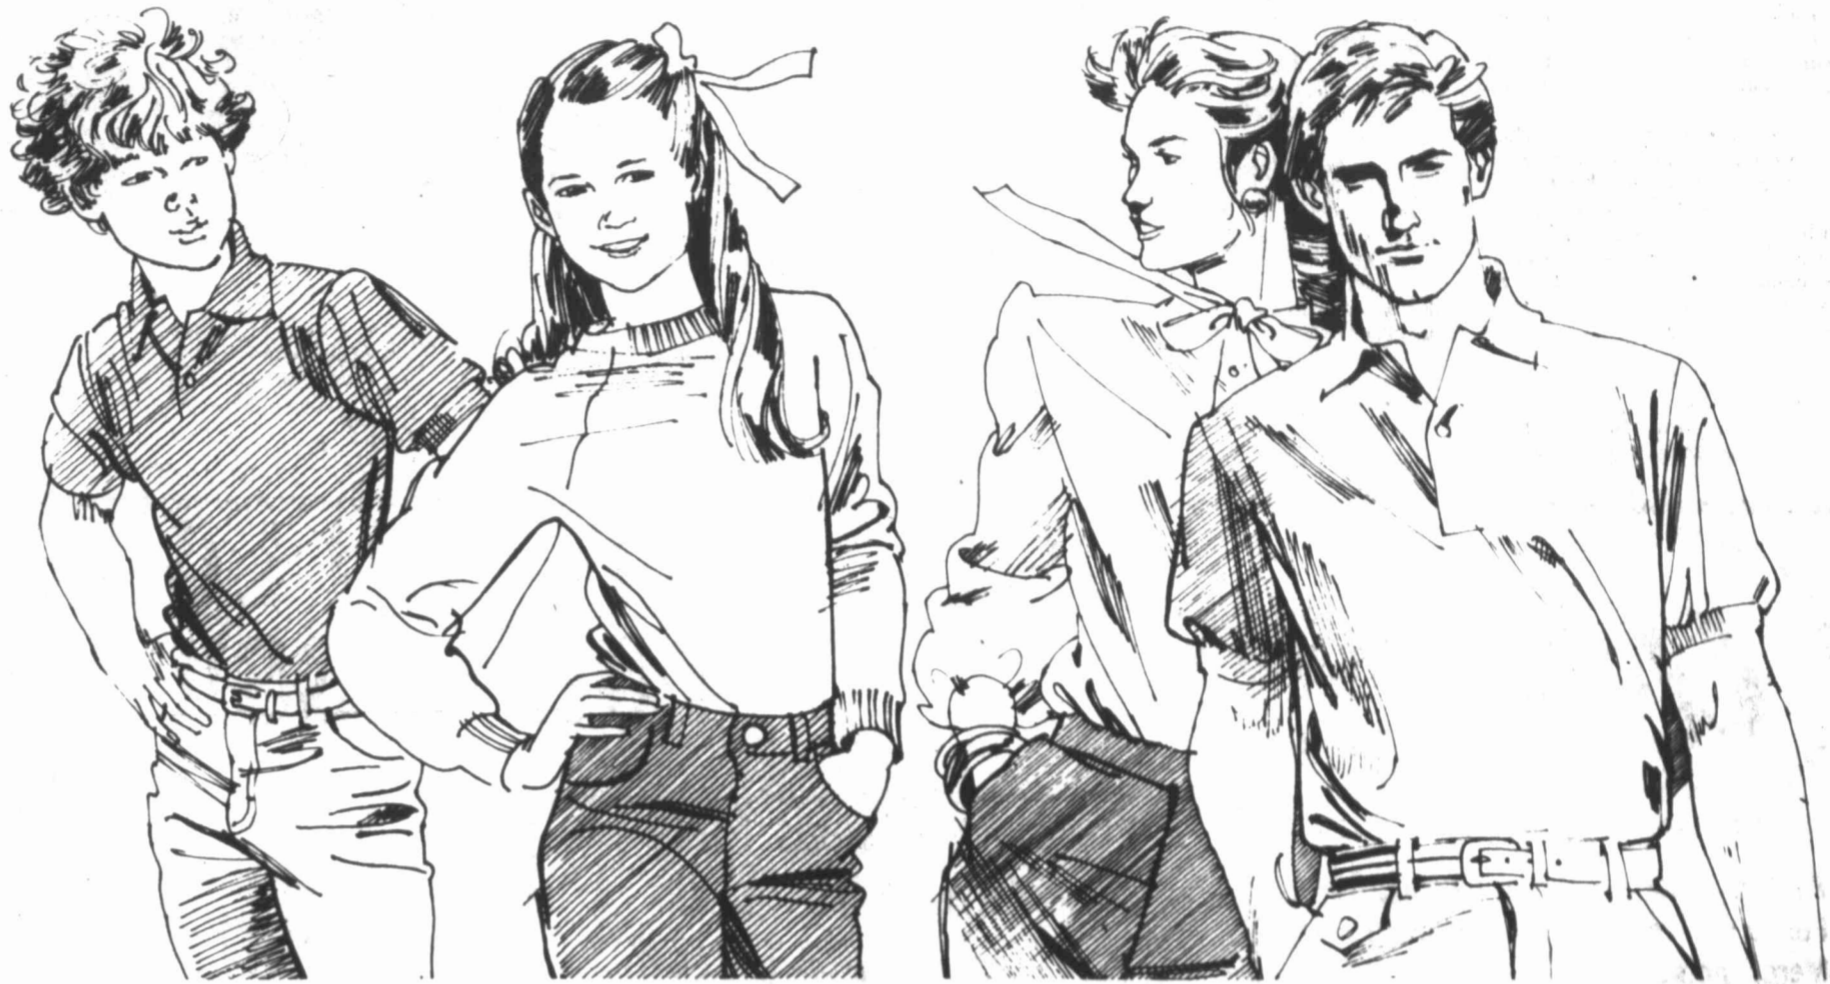

Ms. Chatman's body was found one week ago about 15 miles southeast of Summerville. An autopsy revealed she had been shot three times. She had been missing since Oct. 2, when she and her common-law husband were given a ride by a woman driving a brown car.

The husband, John Hancock, told police he was shot and left for dead in a wooded area, and a woman drove away with Ms. Chatman still in the car. Hancock was treated at a hospital for his gunshot wound and released.

Miss Millican was last seen alive at a Rome shopping mall five days before her body was found Sept. 30 in Little River Canyon in DeKalb County, Ala. She had been shot in the chest, an autopsy showed.

Rome Police Chief Joe Cleveland said preliminary investigations indicated Ms. Chatman, Miss Millican and Hancock all were shot with .38-caliber bullets. He said several .38-caliber bullets were recovered from the Neelleys' cars.

SWCID is given $1,000

The SouthWest Collegiate Institute for the Deaf recently received a $1,000 donation for "unrestricted tax exempt purposes" from the Harry S. and Isabel C. Cameron Foundation in Houston, according to Dr. Charles Hays, president of the Howard County Junior College District.

The contribution was in response to a request for funds for dormitory furnishings at SWCID because state monies allocated for the deaf school are for instructional purposes only and additional resources are needed to cover needs such as dormitory furnishings.

3 students die in crash

GREENE, N.Y. (AP) — Three high school seniors, released from classes early because of a teachers' conference, were killed when their car was rammed by a tractor trailer, police said.

Patrolman Thomas O'Connell said Kenneth Ferguson, Richard Baird and Julia Sage, all 17, died in the crash Thursday at the intersection of state routes 12 and 206 in this central New York village.

O'Connell said Ferguson, the driver of the car, made a left turn into the path of the truck and was slammed broadside.

The three were pronounced dead at the scene by Chenango County Medical Examiner Merrill Phallinger.

Key West gears for biggest Halloween celebration ever

KEY WEST, Fla. (AP) — Man-sized fire ants, Egyptian pharaohs and an undetermined number of Ronald Reagans are heading for the streets of this coral island, as Key West gears up for a 10-day extravaganza that promises to be America's biggest Halloween bash ever.

"When we get done with this party, the entire island will be burnt out," said Townsend Keiffer, director of Key West's Fantasy Fest Carnival '82, which begins Friday. "And I mean thoroughly burnt out."

Residents who revel in Key West's reputation for eccentricity say they expect 25,000 visitors to join the drinking and dancing and costumed fantasies under the palm and banyan trees.

Halloween has always been marked by a festival on this 8-square-mile tropical rock. The tradition began as a sigh of relief at the close of the Atlantic hurricane season. But now Key West hoteliers, restaurateurs and shopkeepers have joined to transform the date into what they hope will be a money-making Mardi Gras in October.

"As I w g as people seem in control and are not losing it, the police will allow almost anything," says Michael Whalton, manager of Sloppy Joe's, a downtown saloon where Ernest Hemingway often tumbled.

Sloppy Joe's is laying in a stock of 25,000 beers, as well as 10,000 shots of liquor, for the party. Keiffer estimates the festival will cost nearly $1 million to stage, but will pump $21 million into Key West cash registers.

Fantasy Fest promises arm-wrestling and suntan contests, a gigantic conga line and a raft race, plus a beer-guzzling and hamburger-munching tournament. Entertainers such as Jimmy Cliff, Peter Tosh and Bertie Higgins will appear.

But the festival's centerpiece — and the root of controversy in this close-knit community of 24,000 — will be Oct. 29's Alexandria masquerade ball and the nocturnal costume parade that will snake past the Victorian homes and gingerbread boutiques of Duval Street.

Thousands of Key Westers and visitors are toiling on elaborate disguises. Last year, Dale Wells captured the best costume prize by donning a clown outfit with a bizarre difference — he came not as one harlequin, but as three enlaced in acrobatics.

"People have been worrying all year about what they are going to wear," said Key West dressmaker

William Sours, stitching costumes for 44 partygoers. "One of my customers is coming as Oscar, you know, the movie statuette. He'll be completely covered in gold glitter, holding a sword and immobile on a black pedestal being pulled by a friend."

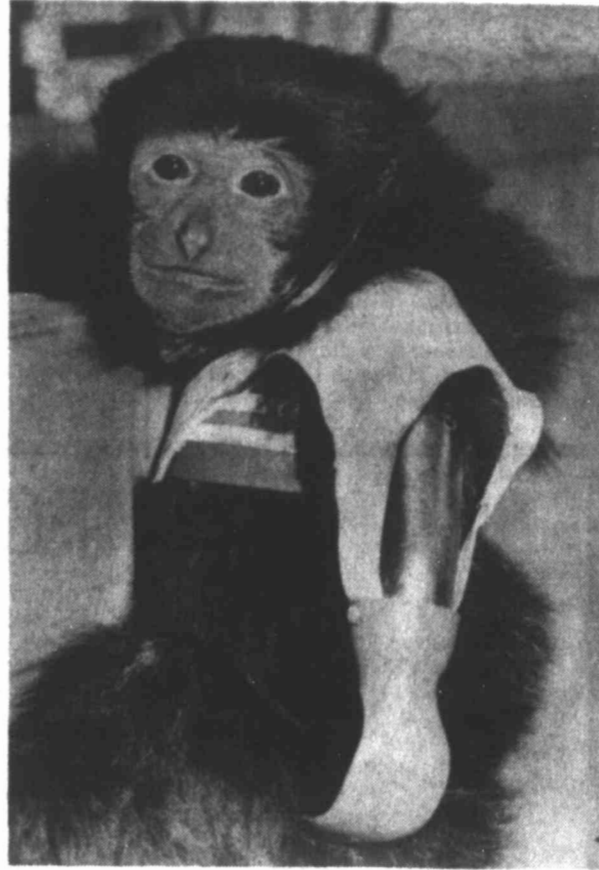

Sours will transform himself into a monarch butterfly with 32-foot day-glow wings. "It's magnificent," he sighs.

Some of the disguises are frankly risque. Although police rules explicitly say "no genitalia," minors will be barred from certain costumed events. "There will be a certain amount of exposure," Keiffer admits.

That has some community leaders queasy.

"No, this is not an 'adult festival,' this is a community festival," says Mayor Dennis Wardlow. "Last year, we had a woman show up on the streets wrapped in cellophane. Period. Just cellophane. And that was mild compared to some I won't talk about."

The Rev. Morris Wright of the 5,000-member Key West Baptist Temple labels Fantasy Fest "a revival of demonism and Babylonianism" bringing divine anger down on Key West.

One-armed ape getting along fine

SEATTLE (AP) — One arm may not be as good as two, but it's all you need to peel a banana, a young Siamang ape has shown zoo officials.

Sai Buri, who lost her left arm above the elbow as an infant ape, was fitted with an artificial arm when she was 9 months old. But a year later, she still won't use it — so zoo officials have decided to let her do without it.

"She (Sai) was adapting extremely well without it, and she seemed more comfortable without it, so the decision was made to discontinue it," zoo spokesman Hank Klein said this week.

Sai lost the arm when her father bit it off, and zoo officials worried about how she would get around. Siamang apes travel mainly by swinging from branch to branch.

So she was fitted with an artificial limb, which she wore a set length of time daily while zoo nursery keeper Harmony Frazier-Taylor tried to show her how to use it. The arm was equipped with a curved, elbow-length hook and attached by a shoulder harness.

But the young ape, who will be 2 years old in January, has been peeling her bananas and swinging from branch to branch with just one arm for about six months now, Klein says. She has adapted well to life in the ape house with her companion Simon, a young Siamang from the Cincinnati Zoo, Klein said.

"I saw Sai two weeks ago at the zoo," said Sharon Greenberg, a University of Washington occupational therapy instructor who helped zoo officials develop the arm. "I could see how limited she was (in mobility), especially compared to her mate ... but in her own environment she's more functional without the arm."

Sai uses her feet to peel bananas, Ms. Greenberg said.

NO LONGER WEARS ARM — Little Sai Buri, who lost her left arm above the elbow when her father bit it off, refuses to wear the artificial arm given to her by Seattle Zoo officials.

Film it again, Sam

There are more Hollywood sequels to come

By HUGH A. MULLIGAN
AP Special Correspondent
RIDGEBFIELD, Conn. — "Go for it again," urge the movie ads. "Rocky III."

"Just when you thought it was all over, the terror begins anew," scream the flacks for another recycled flick. "Halloween III." Or was it "Amityville II"? Perhaps "Jaws IV" or "The Godfather IX." I've lost count.

Nothing succeeds in show biz like sequels and spin-offs of the same old stuff. Thus was it always with the dream merchants, all the way back to "Rin Tin Tin's Pup," except Roman numerals now take the place of family relationships. The old nuclear family that gave birth to the "Bride of Frankenstein," "Dracula's Daughter" and "Son of the Sludge From Six Fathoms Under" has been simplified for easy marketing to the numbers game.

On Broadway the writers are at work on "Annie II." In Hollywood

Rona Barrett hasn't broken the story yet, but Hollywood is rumored to be running so short of second and third-time-around retreats that the movie moguls running it up the flagpole poolside at the Beverly Hills Hotel are seriously considering adding Roman numerals and updated plots to some of yesteryear's boxoffice bonanzas.

My spies in Tinsel Town — a retired make-up man who used to wax Mischa Auer's mustache and an out-of-work key grip holder who was blacklisted for revealing Lassie's real sex — tell me the celluloid recycling mills are tooling up to grind out revamped editions of some great golden oldies.

On your local theater marquee next spring you can watch for:

GONE WITH THE WIND II — Atlanta has risen from the ashes, but Tara has been turned into a shopping mall, where the indomitable Scarlett O'Hara is reduced to running a trendy wool and knitting shop called derbolt." Wyatt Earp's favorite stallion, now called "Clementine." "Chihuahua," the Linda Darnell sexpot role, has also been made more relevant to modern lifestyles and is now played by Al Pacino.

HIGH NOON II — Subtitled "Half Past Eleven." Turns out the clock on the wall was fast, and the sheriff shot up some innocent folk getting off an earlier train, the local from Tombstone. The real baddies in Hell's Angels black leather jackets roar in from the desert on dune buggies, with Willie Nelson and Sissy Spacek in charge of the mayhem visited on the town. Woody Allen is cast in the Coop role of the quiet, conscientious citizen stirred to take a stand in favor of municipal noise abatement.

MALTESE FALCON II — The Sidney Greenstreet character has gone to Weight Watchers, so the fat man has become the Thin Man in this masterful merger of two of Dashiell Hammett's toughest, tautest private eye mysteries. Gumshoe Sam Spade is now security specialist Dora Diamond, played by Goldie Hawn, while all of Charlie's Angels are melded into the old Peter Lorre role. Nudity. Adolescent situations.

DR. ZHIVAGO II — Now chief gynecologist at the Minsk General, the dedicated doctor has to contend with an unfaithful wife, unfaithful mistress, bungling bureaucrats and a herpes epidemic in his fearless crusade to build the first 18-hole golf course in the Ukraine. Rodney Dangerfield gives a memorably poignant performance as the harried head nurse forced to perform an illegal culectomy on a drunken commissar.

HUNCHBACK OF NOTRE DAME II — The old belfry swinger picks himself up off the pavement and menaces the Elysee Palace, where a communist regime is bent on ridding Paris of clanging wake-up calls from the city's many church steeples. Still knocking the gong around with his head, Quasimodo splatters to another tragic end, with the sagacious old coroner (played by Walter Matthau) delivering the picture's unforgettable last line: "I can't remember his name, but the face sure rings a bell." Strong language, some of it in French.

No doubt there's "E.T. II," which sounds like an edited for TV version of Caesar's famous question to Brutus.

"Airplane II" is just getting off the ground, which should not be confused with "Airport II."

There was a second "Poseidon Adventure," but I can't remember whether salvage crews raised the old ship and she turned turtle again or they launched another love boat and deep-sea her. "Poseidon III" should outdo the Spanish Armada in salt water pollution.

No doubt there will be a second sitting of "Diner" and an "E.T. II," which sounds like a sorority house at Ole Miss or an edited for television version of Caesar's famous question to Brutus.

If "QII" sounds too much like a Cunard liner, "Q" may have to be followed by "R," "S," "T" and "U," by which time the script writers may have put the finishing flourishes to the "Second-Best Boredello in Brownsville."

"Frankly, My Dear, I Don't Give A Darn." Rhett Butler has gone off to Washington as a carpetbag congressman, leaving her to haunt the singles bars still lusting after that wimp Ashley Wilkes. Adult theme.

ROCKNE II — Scandal rears its ugly head over the golden dome at South Bend. With the Gipper gone, the crusty old coach has been caught sneaking a newly ordained priest (also played by Pat O'Brien) into the huddle disguised as a field goal kicker to pray for success in the big game against those heathens from Southern Methodist. Parental guidance advised here because of the prayerful language.

MY DARLING CLEMENTINE II — Doc Holliday, who survived the gunfight at the O.K. Corral, is threatened with losing his license by the State Medical Board for performing a sex transplant on "Thun-

Fire damages Sunpaper office

BALTIMORE (AP) — Employees at the Baltimore Sunpapers plant were temporarily evacuated late Thursday when a fire broke out in a room containing pallets of newsprint, fire officials said.

The fire was reported at 10:45 p.m. and 45 minutes later Battalion Chief Michael Dalton said it had been contained. Dalton said there were no reports of any injuries.

Sunpapers Publisher Reg Murphy said he estimated the blaze would cause about a 90-minute production delay, but that most readers wouldn't be affected. The first production run Thursday normally would have been at 11:30 p.m., he said.

The blaze occurred on a third-floor room in the northeast section of the building, which houses all departments of the Baltimore Sun, Evening Sun and Sunday Sun.

Dalton said the cause of the fire had not been determined.

'Dangerous step'

Autoworkers will vote next week on strike

By ANNJOB WOOLLEY
Associated Press Writer

DETROIT — United Auto Workers President Fraser says it could be a "dangerous step" if union members vote to go on strike when they decide next Tuesday what to do about stalemated negotiations with Chrysler Corp.

Fraser said Thursday that the referendum will ask workers whether to strike Nov. 1, or continue working until early next year under a contract that expired Sept. 15. The vote was called after the rank and file turned down a tentative pact and the company rejected a new union demand for an immediate pay raise.

Chrysler, which was on the brink of bankruptcy between 1979-1981, has said a strike could cripple the company.

"Obviously this is a very, very serious situation. We want the Chrysler workers to express their opinion before we take this very important, critical and perhaps dangerous step," Fraser said at a news conference.

THE OTHER ALTERNATIVE on Tuesday's ballot will call for delaying negotiations "until sometime after the first of the new year when, hopefully, the economy will have improved," the union said in a letter being sent to Chrysler autoworkers.

Further negotiations at this time would be "futile," Fraser said.

Doug Nicoll, a Chrysler spokesman, said the car maker would "wait to hear from Doug Fraser" before making any comment on the UAW decision.

Joe Games, president of UAW Local 1183 in Newark, Del., which was the first major Chrysler local to reject a tentative pact reached Sept. 16, said he thought most workers would choose to keep working, but predicted the nationwide vote "would be close."

But Larry Leach, president of Local 1264 at the Sterling Heights, Mich., stamping plant, said he would recommend a strike.

"The company has something to lose, but so do my members," said Leach, whose local rejected the tentative pact by a 20-1 margin.

All 43,200 working U.S. Chrysler autoworkers will be eligible to vote along with former workers on indefinite layoff who are still in good standing with the union. There are approximately 40,000 employees on indefinite layoff, Fraser said.

VOTE RESULTS should be in by Tuesday night and a simple majority will determine the outcome, Fraser said.

The two sides broke off contract talks Monday after Chrysler said "there simply is no money" for an immediate pay raise demanded by the union.

The UAW says the tentative accord — after a strike of several hours when the old contract expired at midnight Sept. 15 — was rejected by autoworkers by a 7-3 margin because it did not contain an up-front pay raise. The contract did provide for reinstatement of cost-of-living protection and pay raises tied to profits, both to begin in December.

Fraser denied that delaying a strike until Nov. 1 would give Chrysler time to build up a backlog of cars for sale.

"They have the cars stockpiled now — that's nothing new," he said.

Analysts said a strike of no more than two weeks would not hurt Chrysler, which has about a 70-day supply of unsold cars, according to Ward's Automotive Reports. A short walkout also would not hurt the union, which has accumulated a multimillion-dollar strike fund, they said.

FRASER WOULD not comment on union tactics if the economy is no better early next year than now. "I am hopeful and that's all," he said.

A new vote is necessary because the rejection of the tentative contract was not strike authorization, Fraser said.

His comments came after an hour-long meeting of the 150-member Chrysler council, made up of local union officials from Chrysler plants nationwide.

In the first half of 1982, Chrysler earned $256.8 million, most of it from the sale of its profitable defense subsidiary.

Pt. Conception oil discovered

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Chevron U.S.A. says it has discovered a possible "giant oil field" in drilling tests about 15 miles west of Point Conception on the most expensive offshore tract ever leased.

The discovery was announced Thursday by L.W. Funkhouser, vice president of Standard Oil Company of California. Chevron is the domestic oil and gas unit of Standard Oil.

Rebels ride into Steertown

By GREG JAKLEWICZ
Sports Editor

Bonfires, floats and mums. The essentials of high school homecoming activities. And don't forget the football game which, incidentally, has been the most important thing in the minds of the Big Spring Steers.

After perhaps taking the Cooper Cougars too lightly and seeing their two-game District 4-AAAAA win streak evaporate in a 37-15 loss seven days ago in Abilene, the Steers went back to the proverbial drawing board to work on basics in preparation of facing speedy Midland Lee.

Lee enters the game with a 5-2 record, losing both games (10-7 to Odessa and 27-0 to Permian) in district play. Big Spring head coach Quinn Eudy compares the Rebels to Lubbock Estacado with one exception. "They are a better football team," he says of tonight's opponent.

Lee boasts the No. 2 offense team in the league, running out of the wishbone formation, unique in 4-5A. Quarterbacks Mike Mercurio and Paul Cox run well with the ball but would rather pitch back to Clarence Smith (276 yards) and Darrell Fennell (213 yards) or dive it fullback Leonard Freeman (83 yards).

"They have a triple option and like to use misdirection," Eudy warns. "We have to defend the run with nine people but still play pass defense."

The pass is a dangerous weapon of the Rebels with Luther Johnson on top of the league receiving stats with 14 catches for 286 yards (20.4 a catch) and a touchdown. Eudy says the Rebels throw when least expected, that usually coming on the obvious run situation.

"They'll throw on first down," he predicts. "They like to use the pass as an element of surprise."

Mercurio will start at quarterback but will split time with Cox. "Both are very fast and operate the offense well. There's very little difference in their performance levels."

On defense, Lee comes at its opponents with a 4-3 set. "They have good size up front," Eudy says of the 198-pound average of the front four, "but they're not as big as Cooper. Leonard Freeman, their middle linebacker, is their best defensive player. Their secondary is good and quick."

"We are facing a speed team," Eudy continues, comparing their breakaway potential to Lubbock Estacado which blanked the Steers 12-0 in non-district play. "They play better defense than Estacado because they are more disciplined."

Big Spring will try the game plan it used against Estacado, that is, pushing the ball upfield as quickly as possible. The Steer passing game is much improved from earlier games and Eudy will use the airways as much as needed after he tries to establish a solid running game.

In the backfield will be Danny Stephen (245 yards) and Eric Sherman (201 yards). Quarterbacks Adam Rodriguez and Dean Gartman will split time behind center Emmitt Bartee.

The Steer passing game has brightened up with Dale Crenshaw and Robert Porras providing a good 1-2 punch. Crenshaw is No. 2 in the league with 13 catches for 199 yards while Porras is fifth with nine for 168.

The defensive set is slightly different with Pat Burke moving to defensive end from noseguard. Danny Arista will take over in the middle. Cornerback Scott Eggleston was injured in practice Wednesday and may not play Friday. His replacement would be Porras. Eggleston had his best game of the year against Cooper, intercepting a pass that set up a field goal and blocking a punt which led to a Big Spring touchdown.

A big weapon for the Steers has been the kicking game. Carl Green has hit four of six field goals while sophomore Jay Pirkle is second in punting with a 40.1 average for the season. Steer kick coverage has been even all year.

"We want to be emotional and hit... be physical in the game," Eudy said of his desires for Friday night. "Against Cooper, we didn't run to the football all together. But we haven't backed away from anyone and I don't feel like we ever will." "Lee still feels like they have a shot at being a playoff team and they ought to come over here ready to play football," he continued. "They should be in a hostile frame of mind after playing Permian."

Attention should be centered on Bartee

By GREG JAKLEWICZ
Sports Editor

Being the center of attention is usually nice but being a center in football doesn't always draw a lot of attention.

That's the job Big Spring High senior Emmitt Bartee is holding down these days and despite the non-recognition, he thoroughly enjoys his work. In fact, he wouldn't do anything else.

"At first I didn't like it," he said of the news he received as a sophomore, "but once I started playing it, I wouldn't play any other place."

The distinction about centers is that no play can start without them. And if the ball doesn't get the quarterback, punter or holder smoothly, the first person blamed is the center. That doesn't worry Bartee as much as lining up across from a heavy-breathing noseguard.

"It's hard against a noseguard," he admits. "It's our job to keep him out of the backfield. It's the only thing I don't like about playing center."

That's a 5-2 defense but most teams in District 4-AAAAA get down in a 4-3. "I'm supposed to hit their two technique (defensive tackle) and chop their legs. You have to get over there and chop him before he can get going."

Bartee got into the hiking business two years ago. "I was a guard but I was too little. I wasn't fast enough to be a running back. So they put me in at center."

He started as center and linebacker that year for the junior varsity and last year, moved up to second team center on the varsity. He's held the starting center's position most of this year.

Bartee hasn't given up on his linebacking days. Against Loveland, he played the entire game next to George Bancroft when starter Danny Stephen sat out with an injury.

"I was pretty scared at first but I knew Monday I was going to play there and so I practiced all week," he recalls. "I was pretty scared when I went out on the field but after the first lick, it started being fun. I got the Top Steer Award (for best defensive performance in a game) and shared high tackles with George."

"That was probably the funnest game of the year for me. I usually play five or six downs of linebacker each game when George or Danny rest or coach wants to talk to them," he continued.

Bartee has been impressed with the Steers improvement with each game this year.

DOUBLE TROUBLE FOR MIDLAND LEE
...Emmitt Bartee plays both center, linebacker

Eden (6-0-1)

at Garden City (5-2)

The second big game of the year for the Bearcats... Eden is rated No. 5 in the state and sports a 4-0 district record as does Garden City... GC has come along since successive losses to Forsan and Grandfalls earlier in year... double-pronged attack of Richard Batla — passing and running — and running of Doug's Hoelscher and Schaefer... Eden very basic and average size but what they do, they do well... a game Bearcats are capable of winning if they play in the first half instead of waiting for second half. (Game time is 7:30 p.m.) GARDEN CITY 14, EDEN 12

Colorado City (3-4)

at Ballinger (5-2)

Ballinger has had good year but lost super running Matt Allen Monday... C-City has steadily improved, losing to Ozona last week when a fumbled punt at 15 led to winning Ozona touchdown... leading the three victories in last four games in running back Larry Hamilton who is averaging 150 yards an outing... Wolves should be underdogs but problems with Bearcats may put game on even terms. If so... (Game time is 7:30 p.m.) COLORADO CITY 21, BALLINGER 14

Roscoe (5-2)

at Sands (6-1)

Roscoe played a tough non-district slate against AA schools and toughened up for district play... last week won a thriller against big Forsan... Sands, after dropping a big game to Forsan, rebounded with a fourth quarter rally that nipped Roby on the road... running attack has been slowed but passing of Alden Franco has picked up... still, Roscoe has too much size and experience for young Mustangs. (Game time is 7:30 p.m.) ROSCOE 20, SANDS 7

Grady (4-2)

at Borden Co. (1-6)

Grady is playing a team which had not won a game before upsetting Hermleigh by two points last week... Wildcats are coming off homecoming victory and having success with new people in offensive lineup... Borden Co. will run, pitching ball to a favorite back... Grady will have to play good defense but needs win to stay in thick of league race. (Game time is 7 p.m.) GRADY 40, BORDEN CO. 25

Pecos (4-3)

at Lamesa (1-5)

Pecos is rated No. 58 in state and far ahead of Lamesa... the learning Tors have misfortune of playing in a rough AAAA district with four teams rated among top 30 and three among top 20... Pecos downed Snyder by two touchdowns while Lamesa lost by one... Tors will face a team more in line of talent they have and it should be a close game... Tornadoes need more offense to win, however. (Game time is 8 p.m.) PECOS 21, LAMESA 8

Forsan (4-2-1)

at Klondike (5-1-1)

Who will win this game?... I can't say for sure... Klondike has had good year but will be playing their toughest three opponents beginning with the Buffaloes... Coogs have quickness and throw and run equally well... Forsan has the size and likes to play ball-control football... as with Sands, the Buffaloes should win because of size and patience. (Game time is 7:30 p.m.) FORSAN 20, KLONDIKE 18

Sonora (3-4)

at Coahoma (2-5)

Coahoma is the big mystery team... after playing like no-shows against Colorado City, they played good football and could have beaten undefeated Crane last week... Sonora doesn't have the great record but they've played some tough games this year... Broncs have a good tradition... question is, what type of team will Bulldogs show up with?... any slack in effort will help Sonora. (Game time is 7:30 p.m.) SONORA 14, COAHOMA 12

Stanton (4-3)

at Big Lake (2-4-1)

Stanton seems to be back on track after three-game losing streak... Big Lake is much better than at start after putting in new looks and getting RB Greg Fisher back after injury... Buffs have had good offensive performances in last three weeks while defense — the early-season strong going — fell off... against Miles, both phases of game were in high gear... despite Fisher, the Buffs keep rolling. (Game time is 7:30 p.m.) STANTON 23, BIG LAKE 21

Bronte (2-5)

at Greenwood (2-5)

Greenwood has won three straight after playing all the biggies to open the season... Rangers are 3-1 in district and have a good playoff shot... need a win over Bronte which lost 30-0 to Garden City last week... Greenwood is playing better defense and while Stu Burleson continues to excel at quarterback, offense is becoming more diversified... at last, G'wood reaches the .500 plateau. (Game time is 7:30 p.m.) GREENWOOD 26, BRONTE 12

LAST WEEK: 7 RIGHT, 3 WRONG, 700 PER CENT
SEASON: 44 RIGHT, 17 WRONG, 2 TIES, 730 PER CENT

No more Billyball as A's fire Martin

OAKLAND (AP) — The Oakland A's won't be playing "Billy Ball" any longer.

Fiery Billy Martin, who led the A's from fifth place to an American League West title in two years and helped rekindle fan interest with his daring brand of baseball, is back in the job market following his firing Wednesday.

Both the New York Yankees, the team Martin managed to two AL pennants and one World Series title, and the Cleveland Indians, previously expressed interest in hiring the 54-year-old manager whose career has been punctuated by controversy and success.

Yankee Vice President Bill Bergesch said he had no idea if owner George Steinbrenner planned to enter into serious discussions with Martin.

"I know absolutely nothing. This is the first I've heard about Billy. George does all the hiring. I don't know if George has spoken to him."

"It's big news but I don't think it's going to affect our position. We'll just keep talking with him," said Indians General Manager Phil Seghi.

Both clubs earlier had received permission to talk to Martin. The contract of Indian Manager Dave Garcia has not been renewed while the status of Yankee pilot Clyde King has not been determined.

A's President Roy Eisenhardt and club executives Walter and Wally

Haas, made their decision Tuesday after a three-hour discussion with Martin, who then went duck hunting.

Success, failure fill Martin's term

But Martin and the A's ownership had been hotly feuding the past three months. At one point, according to published reports, Martin punched holes in the wall of his office after being denied a request to renegotiate his contract.

Martin, who cried at a press conference when he quit the Yankees in 1978, left the A's dugout in tears during a game in Toronto last season. The emotional former Yankee second baseman was involved in turmoil with each of the five AL teams he has managed since 1969.

In Minnesota, where he led the Twins to the AL West crown in 1969, Martin decked pitcher Dave Boswell outside a bar. He was fired at the end of the season.

He called both Steinbrenner and outfielder Reggie Jackson liars in an interview in 1978, then denied saying it and resigned under pressure. He was reinstated in the middle of the 1979 season but fired during the offseason for fighting with a marshmallow salesman.

Martin, whose three full seasons with the A's was the longest continuous tenure of his career, also managed Detroit, where he won the AL East in 1972, and Texas.

Prior to Martin's arrival in Oakland, the team drew a shade over 300,000 fans in 1979. That figure grew by nearly a half million in each of the next three seasons and with heavy promotion of the "Billy Ball" theme, reached an Oakland Coliseum record of 1,735,493 in 1982.

But the team, just a year after winning the AL West title, fell to 68-94, by far Martin's worst showing as a manager. And Martin's relationship with the front office faltered.

"The whole club knew" about the conflict, said team captain Dwayne Murphy. "We didn't know the details but we had a pretty good idea what was going on."

Eisenhardt, saying he was "totally drained," refused to elaborate on his differences with Martin. He would not speculate on a successor.

A source close to the team, when asked about the contract hassle was quoted as saying, "It wasn't the same between them after that. Billy started saying some nasty things about the organization."

He had three years left of his $1-million, five-year contract.

Eisenhardt said he didn't blame Martin for the team's plunge to fifth place, but said he felt the team had to make the change.

In an open letter to Martin, Eisenhardt said he stressed the club's "respect for his professionalism," adding: "One must recognize the inevitability of change as a solution for difficult circumstances even when no party may seek or want that change."

"The club does not attribute the fifth place finish this year to a failure on your part. It resulted from a combination of circumstances beyond anyone's control. The challenge now is to reverse the results of last year and achieve the long term stability which underlies the club's ownership philosophy."

Persistence pays off for spikers

By GREG JAKLEWICZ
Sports Editor

You can push a team just so far before they retaliate. And that's what happened to Big Spring Thursday night.

After growing tired of watching Lesa Burnett and Felicia Farias blast rocket shots back in their faces in the first set, the Lady Steers kept the ball away from the two Midland Lee spikers and rolled to an 11-15, 15-2, 15-9 District 4-A-A-A-A-A victory in the BSHS gym.

The win sends Big Spring to 3-2 in the second half league standings, tying the Lady Steers with San Angelo Central (the first half champs) which lost to Midland High Thursday night.

Midland is 4-1 and leading the second half.

The Lady Steers were just going through the motions of playing a volleyball match until Sylvia Randle stepped to the service line in the second set, her team up 3-2. When she finally stepped away from the line, Big Spring led 14-3 with only a saving shot by Lee's Sylvia Ochotorena preventing a 12-point sweep.

Four of points were won on Randle serves while spiker Shell Rutledge contributed three points at the net. A snaking serve by Tracey Williams won the final point to tie the sets at one each.

The Lady Steers fell behind in the third set 4-1 but rallied into a 6-5 lead as Leslye Overman served three points. After the set was tied at seven, Monette Wise served three point and the Lady Steers were off and running to a fifth victory in their last eight matches.

"We had a slow first set...we may have been a little overconfident," said coach Becky Holliday. "We still weren't up to par on what we have been playing. But we played well enough to win."

The junior varsity also rallied to win, downing Lee 14-16, 15-9, 15-11. Coach Elaine Smith played two players — Monique Jones and Tammy Green — just moved up from the freshman team. Beverly Tubb scored four points in the opening set while Vickie Halfmann had eight and Sheri Graham four in the two wins.

Graham starred on offense and Tonya Gilstrap on defense as Big Spring rallied from a 9-4 deficit in the final set to claim its third victory in second half play.

Runnels wins, Goliad falls

Runnels swept to two victories while Goliad stumbled twice in junior high volleyball matches Thursday against Lamesa.

The Runnels A team claimed a 10-15, 15-13, 15-6 victory over Lamesa as Kelli Preston accounted for 17 points. The B team had no less of an easier time, squeaking by Lamesa 15-13, 16-14. Priscilla Banks had nine points.

The Goliad A team fell 15-2, 15-11 to Lamesa as Brenda Hernandez tallied five points from the service line. The B team lost 15-13, 15-0 while Jeanie Pulesday scored seven points.

IN UNEMPLOYMENT LINE
...Billy Martin fired again

"We have concluded that a managerial change is an unavoidable component of this process. In no way does this action reflect adversely on you or the job you did. You are a valuable asset to baseball and we will always be among your greatest admirers. Hopefully, you may return to this organization someday in an advisory capacity when the time is right."

The A's also said that Martin's No. 1 uniform would not be reissued under current ownership.

In a separate statement released through the club by Martin's New Orleans attorney, Eddie Sapir, Martin declared he bore no hard feelings against the A's.

"Billy Martin wants to thank Roy Eisenhardt for the close association they have shared and for Roy's personal input," Sapir's statement said. "Billy would also like to thank (owner) Wally Haas for his dedication and friendship and Mr. Walter A. Haas Jr. for everything. If there is a prince of people it is Mr. Haas."

"Most of all he would like to thank all of the great Oakland fans for their tremendous support. They saved baseball in the Oakland area. He hopes they will continue to support the A's. Seeing them come back to the ballpark was Billy's biggest thrill in baseball."

Swim relays spur Big Spring

By GREG JAKLEWICZ
Sports Editor

Sweeping to three victories in four relay events highlighted a District 4-A-A-A-A-A dual swim meet for the Big Spring at the local YMCA pool Thursday evening.

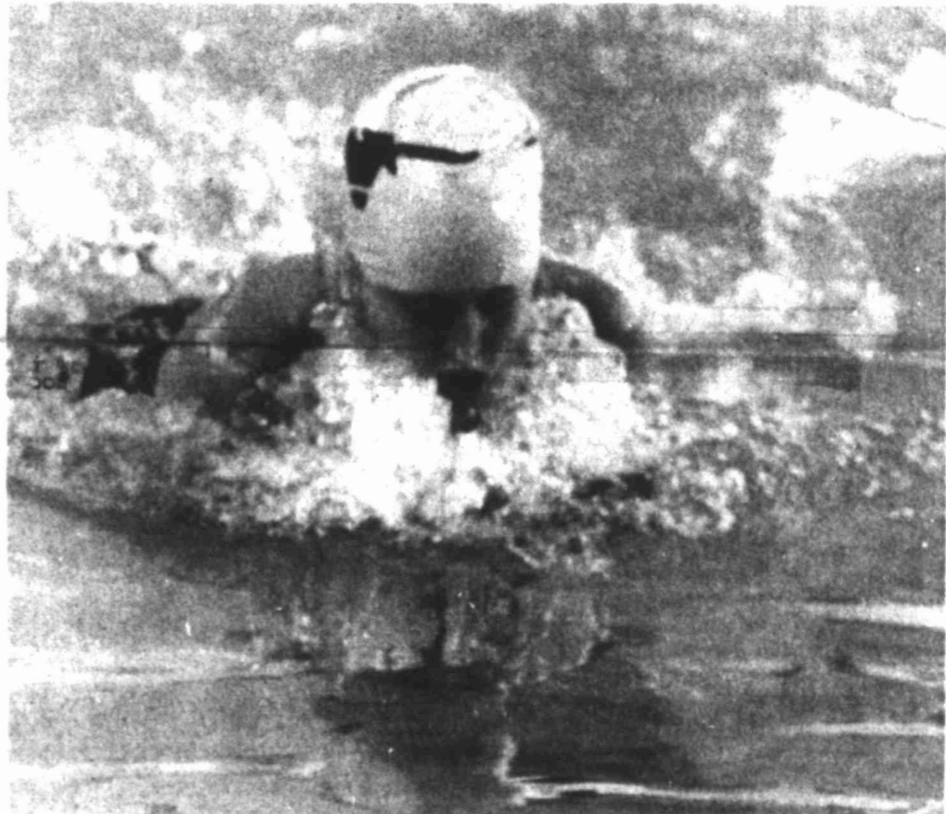

Despite losing "ground" in the relay events, Odessa Permian outpointed the Steers 71-48 and the Lady Steers 33-48 in the opening district meet of the swim season. Big Spring hosts Seminole in a non-league swim Saturday at 1 p.m. at the Y.

The foursome of Carol Davey, Hartley Newell, Rita Fleckenstein and Amanda Gauer swam to a 1:44.50 in the medley relay, the opening event of the meet. The time was four seconds better than Mojo's runner-up team.

The same four girls teamed again for a victory in the freestyle relay, splashing to a 4:35.0 first place time.

The Steer freestyle squad of Tim Plew, Terry Bordsky, Cecil Willey and Speight Grimes recorded a 3:52.08 to run away with the boys relay. Permian was second but 44 seconds behind the champs.

Permian did win the medley relay but only by an inch as Eric Selinger outouched Chris Williams at the finish. Both teams were clocked in 1:30 times.

Other first places finishes for the boys were by Mike Minding in the diving competition and Bordsky in the 100-yard backstroke. He swam to a 1:09.34 to beat Mojo's Kyle Carver (1:13.05).

Newell got a first in the 100-yard fly with a 1:19.7 clocking to nip Lesa Hitt of Permian, second in 1:23.12. Fleckenstein was first in the 100-yard breaststroke in 1:21.07, outracing Shelly Van Dusen of Permian (1:23.66).

Second places went to Davey and Plew second in the 100-yard fly and to individual medley and to Davey in the 100-yard backstroke. Willey was second in the 200-yard free, Grimes second in the individual medley, Williams second in the 60-yard free from the CARROLL RICHTER INSTITUTE

FORECAST FOR SATURDAY, OCT. 23, 1982

GENERAL TENDENCIES: You are able to devise a better course of action by thinking out an intelligent plan of action and gaining the support of a very influential person. Make long-range plans for the future.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Keep busy at civic affairs and you can accomplish a great deal and gain added prestige. Follow the advice of an expert.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Keep working steadfastly on a new plan you have in mind and gain the success you want. Think constructively.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Attend to necessary chores early in the day so you will have more time for interesting activities later. Be wise.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Good day to come to a more heart-warming relationship with loved one. Strive for increased happiness.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Study your surroundings and make plans for improvement. Engage in social activities but avoid tendency to spend lavishly.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Take time to make plans for reachable goals in the future. Sideswipe one who is all bluff and wants to waste your time.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 23) Use good sense in handling monetary affairs that are important to you. You may become bored, but don't let others catch on.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 to Nov. 21) Try to be more consistent in your routines, otherwise you could run into trouble. Obey rules and regulations that apply to you.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) You can obtain good advice now from an expert on how to handle business affairs and gain benefits.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Follow the advice of a dynamic friend and you can profit by it in the future. The evening can be a happy one for you.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Plan just what should be done to gain the goodwill of a higher-up in your line of endeavor. Your hunches are accurate now.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Extend your circle of friends and make sure they are worthwhile. Think along more constructive and logical lines.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he or she will be a born organizer and upon maturity will be able to get an accurate picture of a situation. Teach not to be so demanding of others, but to use tact. Don't neglect ethical training early in life.

The Comforts of Home

To our forefathers, this was living at its best but the hard chair, the iron pot and the open grate would not be our idea of comfort.

Today kitchens sparkle with bright, easy-to-clean metals, and cupboards are filled with helpful appliances. We relax in foam-padded chairs and sleep on spring-filled mattresses. Almost every aspect of modern life is slanted toward speed and convenience.

Man, with his marvelous God-created brain, has overcome many obstacles, and there seems to be no limit to his inventiveness. God has given us a world full of possibilities, and minds that constantly seek to improve our environment.

But to make the most of our opportunities, we must ever develop and renew the resolute "faith of our fathers." Come worship with others and receive that heritage of inspiration and light.

Lutherans set special services

St. Paul Lutheran Church will begin a series of special worship services, entitled Celebration Praise Renewal, Sunday, church officials say.

Called CPR for short, services are scheduled to begin at 8:30 a.m. Sunday, followed by a service at 10:45 a.m., and evening services set for 7:30 p.m.

Services will be held Monday through Thursday night beginning at 7:30 p.m. Guest speaker is the Rev. Edwin Pieplow, Fort Worth.

Rev. Pieplow was born in Elberta, Ala., Nov. 17, 1908, and attended Lutheran Day School in LaPorte, Indiana. At 14, he enrolled in Concordia College in Fort Wayne, Indiana, and in 1929 entered the Concordia Theological Seminary in St. Louis, Missouri. He graduated from there in 1934. While still a student, he served as a vicar for two years in Washington, D.C.

After graduation, Rev. Pieplow began working in the ministry at Trinity Mission in Mt. Rainier, Md. On July 8, 1934, he was ordained into the holy ministry at Trinity Church in Washington, D.C., and one week later was installed as Pastor of Trinity congregation in Mt. Rainier.

While in the Washington, D.C. area, Rev. Pieplow founded Trinity Church at Mt. Rainier, and established six other mission congregations. He also established a Christian Day School, Trinity Lutheran School, in Hyattsville, Md.

The pastor remained in the Washington, D.C. area for 18 years before moving to the Iroquois Avenue Christ Lutheran Church in Detroit, Michigan. And in 1959 he again moved, this time to St. Paul Lutheran Church, Fort Worth.

In 1963, Rev. Pieplow was installed as pastor of the Hales Corners, Wisconsin, Lutheran Church. While there, the congregation grew from 1,068 to 2,375 members. Church services increased from one to four times on weekends.

REV. EDWIN PIEPLOW ...to preach locally

He has served the Lutheran Church-Missouri Synod on various committees and boards at the local, District and Synod level. He has been a guest speaker for the International Lutheran Hour, Lutheran Guidepost's and Answers for Today.

The pastor has also delivered numerous speeches on college campuses and has spoken to groups across states in which he has worked.

He also has held membership on the Board of Home Missions for North and South America, the Evangelism Committee of the Lutheran Church-Missouri Synod, Milwaukee Lutheran High School Association Steering Committee, and has served as chairman or committee member of many local, District and Synod conventions and conferences.

Although Rev. Pieplow has officially retired, he still continues his ministry as a vacancy pastor. Shortly after he retired from the Hales Corner Church, he was contracted to serve as pastor in the Christ Memorial Church in Houston. He has also served in the St. Mark Lutheran Church of Mineral Wells, and Trinity Lutheran Church in Weatherford.

He is presently serving as vacancy pastor at the St. John Lutheran Church in Mansfield.

In addition to sermons by Rev. Pieplow, special music will be featured each evening, church officials say. The St. Paul Church Choir will sing Sunday morning. That evening, the Big Spring Federal Camp Choir will perform, beginning at 7:30 p.m.

On Monday, members of the First United Methodist Church Bell Ringers will appear at the church. Tuesday, Mrs. Joyce Bradley will sing several selections.

The Big Spring High School Ensemble is slated to perform at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday, and on Thursday, the St. Paul Church choir and the children's choir will be performing.

The public is invited to attend the event.

Church news briefs

By CAROL HART Church Editor
Carpenter Family to sing
The Carpenter Family will present a concert of favorite hymns and contemporary sacred music at the East Fourth Baptist Church at 6 p.m. Sunday. The public is invited to attend, church officials say.

The Carpenters are a family of five who combine traditional and contemporary music in a program which includes both family and individual vocal and instrumental music. The children, Barbara, 14, Scott, 12, and Judy, 10, contribute to the concert both vocally and instrumentally by playing the violins, piano, organ, accordion and melodicas. They provide their own keyboard accompaniment as well as having taped ensemble and orchestral background music.

The Carpenters have traveled extensively during the last seven years, appearing in concert before thousands of people.

The Rev. Guy White, pastor of the church, extends a cordial invitation to members of the community, and he said "the concert will appeal to the entire family."

Group to attend assembly
The members of the Big Spring congregation of Jehovah's Witnesses are finalizing plans to attend their two-day assembly in Abilene Oct. 30-31.

The highlight of the assembly will be the public discourse delivered by Watchtower District Supervisor Frank Bartell on the theme "How Does the Truth Affect Your Life?" The discourse will identify truth of the Bible and attempt to help others see how they can bring their lives into conformity with Bible truth, local church officials said.

The assembly program begins Saturday, Oct. 30, at 9:55 a.m. at the Civic Center in Abilene, located at 1100 N. 6th Street. The public is invited to attend.

Ministers' Fellowship studies center
By CAROL HART Church Editor
Members of the Howard County Minister's Fellowship are studying the feasibility of opening a protective home for battered and abused children, Victor Sedinger, pastor of the First Christian Church, said.

Sedinger and Tim Winn of the Knott First Baptist Church have been gathering data on abused children in the Howard County area, Sedinger said. The Minister's Fellowship was first alerted to a possible need for such a home when they heard a presentation last spring by Lee Henry, a child abuse case worker for the Department of Human Resources here in Big Spring.

"I was the outgoing president of the Fellowship in May," Sedinger recalls. "I made a recommendation that we study the situation over the summer."

Sedinger said he and others working on the project believe they have "identified a specific, present need" for a child abuse center. He said figures compiled with the help of Department of Human Resource workers shows that there are "three kids per day in the county who need the use of this kind of shelter." The services which would be offered through such as shelter are not now "available in local agencies," Sedinger said.

Although the Fellowship has studied the situation, "we still have a long way to go" before making their dream a reality, Sedinger said.

Steers progress by togetherness

"We keep getting better each week," he says. "We talk more and know what to do. Communication is a lot of it. We have to know who to get. Even when the other team changes, we've got to adjust. 'I'll get this man, you get him.' We've got to work together."

Against Cooper, the Steers had their toughest first quarters of the season. "We didn't play as a team. We just didn't have it...nothing clicked. This week practice has been good, real good. We've been hitting a lot. We're not going to get overconfident again."

Why are the Steers a different team this year? "Last year's team wasn't really a team," he explains. "We didn't have any fights or anything but we were just little groups. This year we don't have as much talent but we try harder. That's the main thing...we try harder. We do it together."

Another helpful factor is the positiveness the students, administration and community has shown for the Steers Barteas adds.

"I love it. People have come up and hugged me that I have never seen before and tell me I did a good job. At school, they used to ask 'Are you going to win this week...I bet you don't.' Now it's 'You're doing a great job...I hope you win this week.'"

Players have to concentrate on the game and not the surrounding but the recent crowd participation has had its effect. "You can hear them when everyone stands up and yells 'Defense, defense.' It helps when everyone does it."

Barteas is a member of the BSHS Key Club which is a community service organization and has been named an honorary member of the Student Council for his volunteer help. Away from school, he enjoys four-wheeling and photography.

His parents and their friends are big fans of Steer football. "My parents come to all the games and the people my dad works with come. Sometimes there's eight-nine-10 people that are friends of my mom or dad at the game watching me play."

What does it look like for Lee tonight?
 "It's going to be a tough game. They have a lot of speed so we've had to work on containment. They're not as big as Cooper."
 Will homecoming be a plus factor for Big Spring?
 "Yes! Man, it's been a long time since we won a homecoming game. It would be great," he smiled.
 A homecoming win over Lee would put the center of attention on Big Spring and surely some of the notice will fall on Mr. Barteas.
