Climate improves for home buyers

By BOB CARPENTER Staff Writer

"If I were going to buy a house, I'd buy one now." The above statement sums up the general feeling of area money lenders and Realtors now that mortgage rates have fallen to a more manageable level.

For those people who qualify it appears the American Dream of owning a home may be more than wishful thinking, according to those in the housing industry. However, the drop in mortgage rates is a two-sided coin with some buyers taking advantage of the drop immediately, while other prospective buyers cautiously wait to see if rates drop even further.

Most lenders interviewed agreed it was better to take the proverbial bird in the hand rather than wait to see what the bush had to offer. Lenders feel the mortgage rate's nature is just too restless to depend on in today's economy

Also, when a buyer and seller begin house-buying paper work, the process usually takes four to six weeks to finish and the mortgage rate on closing day used in final figures. Buyers take the chance that the interest rate could rise from the time they strike the deal until they close the deal. However, the law says the buyer is not obligated to go ahead with the deal if they feel the rate has risen too much for them to comfortably afford.

Just last week the U.S. government pared the interest-rate ceiling on federally backed loans for single-family homes to 12.5 percent from 13.5 percent. The ceiling on loans under the Federal Housing Administration and Veterans Administration programs has not been below 13 percent since August 1980. And a move by the Federal National Mortgage Association which dropped the rate it requires for a 30-year, fixedrate mortgage to 13.5 percent from 14 percent has prompted some lending institutions to follow suit.

Locally, conventional fixed-rate mortgages vary from 13% to 13.5 percent. FHA and VA loans are, of course, at 12.5 percent

The drop in mortgage rates has spurred some activity in area home sales, but according to those involved in the industry, the market was never really depressed in Big Spr-

"So far this year in Big Spring there has been $10,700,000 sold through multiple listings," said Patti Horton, presi-dent of Big Spring Board of Realtors. "And last year there was $14,500,000 sold through multiple listings, and we should sell that much this year. So the market has never really been depressed here."

Council hires full-time judge

By CAROL DANIEL Staff Writer

The Big Spring City Council hired Big Spring police Lt. Melvin Daratt as a full-time replacement for Municipal Court Judge Bobby West at their meeting Friday afternoon. Council members also resolved a contract dispute over two new Airpark hangars by voting to lease one hangar to Tran Regional-Air and one to Mac Air Inc. Daratt - currently employed as municipal court clerk - will resign his police commission Nov. 1 to replace West's part-time position on a full time basis. West, who also serves as a Howard County Justice of the Peace, will resign as municipal court judge on Nov. 1.

Police Chief Rick Turner said the change is "one of the best moves to come along ... There will be no conflict there (between police and court). (Daratt) will completely resign from the police force."

Choosing which fixed base operator would lease the facilities from the city generated more than an hour of discussion at the last city council meeting on Oct. 12. FBOs offer aircraft services, including storage, fuel and repairs. Another company, O.I.L., also had applied to lease one of the hangars.

Mac Air's representative, Attorney-at-Law Guil Jones III, told the council on Oct. 12 that Massengill desired both hangars, however, City Attorney Doyle Curtis determined Trans Regional already had a valid lease contract with the city and that the FBO is entitled to one of the hangars. Before they voted Friday, Jones told the council that "after considerable deliberation" Massengill

LOS ANGELES - Hysteria may have caused some of the complaints of symptoms resembling poisoning among 200 people who reported becoming ill at a high school football game, a health official said Saturday.

At least two people remained hospitalized, and Monterey Park Police Lt. Jim Strait said that preliminary information from county health officials indicated the illness may have been caused by copper sulfate contamination in a soft drink dispenser

However, Dr. Shirley Fannin, associate director in charge of communicable disease control for Los Angeles County, said, "We do not have the facts assembled.

And she said "hysteria" over nationwide reports of contaminated products could be to blame for at least some of the complaints.

Eight hospitals checked people who complained of illness after consuming food and drink purchased Friday night from a stand on the north side of East Los Angeles College stadium in Monterey Park, where Franklin and Garfield high schools were playing football.

The sufferers reported a quick onset of symtoms, including nausea, numbness, dizziness and tingling in the extremities, but in most cases the symptoms disappeared within a half-hour, Ms. Fannin said.

Two people remained remained hospitalized in stable condition Saturday morning at Los Angeles County-USC Medical Center, which coordinated emergency efforts, said spokesman Mark Van Slyke said. He said their identities were not being released.

Ms. Fannin characterized reports blaming copper sulfate - a metal salt once used medicinally in small quantities to induce vomiting - as "speculation based on incomplete facts.'

"Some people drank soft drinks from the same machines and did not become ill," she said. "We won't be able to rule anything out, though, until we can look at the set-up where it was dispensed and the drinks themselves.

But the lack of vomiting in at least some of the victims "doesn't fit with copper sulfate," she said, since even in small quantities the substance causes vomiting "a very short time after ingestion." The symptoms reported "could even have come from hysteria," she said. "One could certainly visualize this as a few people getting sick and everyone else panicking - par-ticularly in light of what's been happening with the poisonings," she said.

"But that's just another conjecture," she said. "Until we get the facts, we won't know.

About 7,000 people attended the game, but the only reports of poisonings occurred on the stadium's north side, which was served by a single concession stand, said nursing supervisor Sheridan Smith of the hospital.

Since the deaths of seven Chicago-area residents who ingested Extra-Strength Tylenol capsules laced with cyanide, complaints of poisoned products have surfaced across the nation.

In Dallas, officials were testing samples of nasal spray after a 30-year-old man used a bottle of Vick's Long Acting Nasal Spray apparently contaminated with sulfuric acid, authorities said.

In Clearwater, Fla., a tourist suffered minor mouth burns after using a bottle of Lavoris mouthwash, and four bottles of the mouthwash were found to contain muriatic acid.

Officials said both appeared to be isolated incidents

Southern California has had a recurrent problem with contaminated eye and nose drops during the past year. Some pharmacies and supermarkets have removed such products from open shelves.

The council said the move to a fulltime judge will provide more efficient service and should save the city $550 a month, the amount of West's salary. No one will be hired to replace the lieutenant's position, Daratt continuing to serve as court administrator, City Manager Don Davis said. Daratt's offices will remain in the police building until other arrangements are made, Davis said.

Council members said West supports the change and has volunteered to serve as a court adviser and as municipal court judge as needed. Councilman Russ McEwen commended West for his two years service as municipal court judge.

Also, the council voted to lease two city-owned hangars on the west side of Big Spring Municipal Airport to Trans Regional-Air and the newly formed Mac Air Inc., operated by James Massengill. Mac Air was given their choice of the north or south hangar because the company "offers some services not offered by Trans Regional," McEwen said.

BIG SPRING QUEEN - Amy Ragan, one of five nominees, was crowned Big Spring High School Homecoming Queen at Friday night's Steers-Rebels football game. Amy is the daughter of Robert Ragan of Sterling City. (See Homecoming parade story and picture on 2-A and sports story on 1-B.)

A. According to the World Almanac, historians have been unable to find any historical record of Ross making the first flag in 1776 at the request of a committee headed by George Washington. The Almanac refers to it as a legend.

chili, beans, peppers, cheese and other delectable heartburners wafted through the fall breeze at the Elk's Lodge Chili Super Bowl Saturday afternoon.

All the components that spell a great cook-off - huge pots of steaming chili, high spirits and lots of people were present for the Elk's fund raiser at their headquarters on F.M. 700.

Four judges who remained anonymous - for fear of being "hanged" by irate chefs, Exalted Ruler Kerby Kee said - determined five winners out of the 16 four-member teams that competed. Allen Harry, who recently won an Odessa cook-off, nabbed first place. Second place was awarded to Morris and Peggy Robertson and third to Robert Little, all of Big Spring.

The event was organized to benefit the Handicapped

Children's Foundation in Octene, Texas, said Elk's Lodge Secretary Oliver Cofer. A $600,000 annual budget for the hospital is funded by 28,000 Elks representing 72 lodges in Texas, Cofer said.

Each member donates $4.50 a year to the foundation and the difference is made up by events such as yesterday's cook-off, Cofer said. The hospital cares for children with learning disabilities, Cofer said, Proceeds - expected to be about $1,000 - from the dinner that followed the cook-off will be donated to the foundation. Also, third place winner Robert Little presented his $100 in prize money to the Elks to add to the pot.

Other winners were Boy Scout Post 179 for showmanship and Kay and Ron Enger and Nita Wilson for best display. The Boy Scouts dressed in Indian garb and danced for the enthusiastic crowd.

Kee said the lodge intends to make the cook-off an annual event and "one of the top contests in West Texas."

— Elks Lodge hosts charity chili cookoff

By MIKE DOWNEY

Staff Writer After waiting nearly five hours as the jury deliberated, an emotionless Andrew Marquez heard the words he undoubtedly was dreading: "We find the defendant guilty.

The Howard County jury found the 23-year-old Marquez guilty of ag-gravated assault with a deadly weapon in a shooting incident on June 26th, 1982. The decision followed a day and a half of testimony in 118th District Court. Marquez faces a maximum sentence in the Texas Department of Correction of 10 years and a maximum fine of $5,000

District Judge Jim Gregg told the jurors the trial would be recessed until Monday at 9 a.m. when testimony for the punishment phase of the trial would begin. District Attorney Rick Hamby, who prosecuted the case, pro-mised a brief presentation Monday as did Defense Attorney Elliott Mitchell.

Marquez was charged in connection with an incident in which several shots were fired from a van at a house on 509 N. Lancaster. Yolanda Juarez is the complainant in the case. The prosecution called five witnesses while the defense closed without calling anyone to the stand.

The six-man, six-woman jury's ver-dict followed a afternoon of deliberation in which the jury asked Court Reporter Jerry Spencer to read testimony from the court transcript on two occasions. The jury was interested in the testimony of Mary Juarez and Priscilla Rodriguez, specifically their identification of the occupants in the van that fired shots. At one point, the jury requested the chalkboard with a rough drawing of the street where witnesses say the shooting took place.

Around 4 p.m., the jury told Gregg they were "hung" and could not reach a verdict. The judge ordered them to continue deliberations. About an hour later, they announced a verdict had been reached.

After the jury had been recessed, the sheriff and his deputies began to take Marquez back to his cell. As Marquez left, his impassive face fell somewhat and tears seemed to fill his eyes.

The real star of the Big Spring High School Homecoming Parade was not the numerous floats or the cars or the band, but the lowly mum.

Before, during and after the parade, the air was filled with the sounds of an orchestra of tinkling bells ... and the sight of young females overflowing with golden flowers and ribbons. One large mum was often not enough for several girls; two mums were needed for balance. Some girls were overladen with four, even six

Police said they arrested Clemente O. Sanchez, 23, of 1911 Johnson Friday night on suspicion of driving while intoxicated and aggravated assault of a police officer. He was released from Howard County jail after posting $1,000 and $3,500 bonds set by Peace Justice Lewis Heflin.

Sanchez was arrested after the suspect ran two stop signs in a 1978 Thunderbird, Police Officer Ed Covington said in his report. Covington said the suspect's car fled police on the 600 block of N.E. It was the second reported case of tampering with Visine this month. Earlier in October, authorities said a man in Grand Junction, Colo., suffered minor burns to his corneas when he used eye drops that had been laced with hydrochloric acid.

On Friday, Debra Hill, 30, of Reston, Va., was treated at the emergency center of Fairfax Hospital after complaning of burning eyes.

A hospital spokeswoman said physicians flushed Ms. Hill's eyes and treated them with polysporin, an opthalmic solution. There was no permanent injury to Ms. Hill's eyes, hospital spokeswoman Judy Abbett said.

The solution from the Visine bottle Ms. Hill had purchased at a Drug Fair in Herndon was tested Saturday by the FDA.

"We also tested all the other bottles from that store that police had picked up and they were all the normal product," Grigg said.

A spokesman for the Drug Fair chain said stores in a 10 to 15-mile radius of Herndon were told to remove from the shelves Visine bearing the lot number of the contaminated product.

Airpark Manager Hal Boyd said the hangars should be completed by Nov. 1.

In another matter, the council awarded Advanced Telephone Systems of Big Spring the bid for a new in-house telephone system. Two other companies, Southwestern Bell and Communication Corporation of America, submitted bids. It was determined that the annual cost of a new system from ATS on a leasepurchase plan would be upwards of $4,000 less than the cost of the present system.

The council discussed purchasing the system on both a seven-year leasepurchase plan or buying the equipment out right for half the cost about $89,238. The ATS representative said they would not penalize the city if they decided to buy the system.

City Manager Davis said the equipment would probably be delivered in eight to ten weeks, giving the council time to decide which plan would be in resolution to create a cash reserve the city's best interest. fund for the Industrial Park. In other matters, the council:

TYLENOL POISONINGS ... Authorities in Chicago were unable to find fingerprints on a bottle of cyanidefilled Tylenol capsules discovered last week, a police spokesman says.

The examination was concluded Friday without yielding clues sought in the poisoning deaths of seven Chicago-area residents, Lt. August Locallo said Saturday Locallo said an FBI spokesman disclosed the results of the tests Friday night at a briefing for the agencies involved in the investigation.

The cyanide was discovered Thursday during tests of bottles returned to a grocery store on the city's North Side, according to police Superintendent Richard L. Brzeczek IRISH PEACE EFFORTS ... Britain's hopes of pacifying Northern Ireland appeared ruined today after Protestants sworn not to cooperate with Roman Catholics gained a majority in the new assembly and Catholic radicals won unexpected victories.

But the British Northern Ireland Secretary, James Prior, vowed to press Britain's peace effort, saying "miracles" should not be expected in Northern Ireland.

Final results of Wednesday's polling for the 78-seat advisory assembly, announced today, gave the main Protestant parties 47 seats - 26 for the Official Unionists and 21 for the militant Rev. Ian Paisley's Democratric Unionists.

"ULTIMATE" POLISH STRIKE ... Underground Solidarity leaders, declaring all hope for government reconciliation shattered, appealed for new protests against martial-law enforcers Saturday and urged workers to mobilize for an "ultimate" general strike next spring

The appeal, circulated here Saturday, was the first call for a general strike by the now-outlawed union since its hiding leaders united in April to resist the Communist government's crackdown.

"Solidarity is entering a new phase of conflict," said their appeal, circulated in leaflets. "Weakening the authorities is an important element of preparation for a general strike.'

They called for an eight-hour strike Nov.10 - the second anniversary of Solidarity's registration in a Warsaw court - followed by demonstrations and a week of protests beginning Dec. 13, the first anniversary of martial law

GIVING REAGANOMICS A CHANCE...In recent weeks, more and more Americans have decided that President Reagan's economic policies need more time to work, signaling the effectiveness of Republican efforts to convince the public to "give the guy a chance.

The latest Associated Press-NBC News poll says 52 percent of the public now expresses patience with Reagan's economic policies and more than half also accept the GOP contention that the nation's problems are the result of past presidents, not the current one.

In comparison, the AP-NBC News poll in August before Republican National Committee began its latest flight of television commercials urging patience with the economic polices and to "stay the course" - said only 38 percent believed the president had had enough time to begin improving the economy.

All of this adds up to possibly good news for GOP can-didates with the elections less than 10 days away, since Reagan's economic program has been the dominant issue in many congressional campaigns this fall. Democrats have blamed the policies for high unemployment and Republicans crediting them for lowering inflation.

GOP incumbents counterattack

Challengers gaining as congressional elections near

WASHINGTON (AP) - In Wyoming, Sen. Malcolm Wallop says his challenger is posing as a conservative, even though he led Edward Kennedy's presidential campaign in the state two years ago. "Do you suppose he fooled Ted Kennedy or is he trying to fool us?" asks a new commercial

Sen. Harrison Schmitt's recent television commercials accuse his challenger, New Mexico's attorney general, of failing to prosecute inmates responsible for a 1980 prison riot

And Missouri Sen. John Danforth says his challenger's campaign amounts to the political reincarnation of an 'overpromising and irresponsible" former Democratic governor.

What Danforth, Wallop and Schmitt have in common tough, new advertisements and Republicanism aside - is the uncomfortable feeling that someone's gaining on them.

Quickly

That's enough to prompt all three to make late, risky changes in their strategy of seeking re-election by standing on their Senate records while ignoring their Democratic opponents.

Republican officials expect to hold these three seats Nov. 2, but they agree the races are getting closer particularly in New Mexico and Missouri. That could mean trouble; only a few upsets could topple the GOP's 54-45 majority in the Senate.

These are not the only states where Republican incumbents have taken the offensive - witness Sen. Robert Stafford's challenge in Vermont to Democrat Robert Guest to disclose his personal finances, Sen. David Durenberger's newly sharpened attack against Mark Dayton in Minnesota, and Sen. William Roth's argument that challenger David Levinson is a Delaware outsider.

Only three weeks ago, GOP polls reportedly gave Schmitt a 14-point lead over Attorney General Jeff Bingaman. Now, Schmitt's campaign manager, Diana Welch, says the New Mexico race is "tight tight.

"He's (Bingaman) having an impact with his negative ads ... and you cannot not respond," she said. Bingaman campaign spokesman Mitch Foushee disputes the charge that his advertisements are negative, but in any event, Schmitt now is responding in kind.

Bingaman's ads charge Schmitt with voting three times to eliminate the minimum Social Security benefit. They also say Schmitt voted on one bill to make "grease" payments to foreign government a tax-deductible item for corporations, but to reverse a provision of another law that makes interest on credit card purchases deductible for consumers.

"We don't exactly consider it negative ads to bring forth his record," said Foushee.

Now Schmitt is airing a TV commercial that accuses Bingaman of failing to prosecute inmates responsible for the 1980 prison riot. Foushee says the attorney general was ordered by the New Mexico Legislature to investigate the prison uprising, and was barred by judicial ethics from prosecuting the participants. The local district attorney has prosecuted several cases, in accordance with past practice in the state, the spokesman said.

The race is probably even closer in Missouri, where Sen. John Danforth, said, "We were breezing along, thinking everything was fine," but added he was "shocked and jolted" by a newspaper poll that showed a deadlock.

He decided, he said, the results meant he had not done a "good job of pointing up the differences" between him and Mrs. Woods.

Harrelson's daughter links accused to cash

SAN ANTONIO (AP) - The stepdaughter Chagra's wife, Elizabeth Chagra, 28, chargand former lover of accused hitman Charles V. Harrelson has provided some of the most sensational and potentially damaging testimony to date in the assassination trial of a federal judge Prosecutors, who persuaded Teresa Starr Jasper to become a state witness after she spent six months in jail, are using her testimony to bolster a case based primarily on circumstantial evidence.

Testifying under immunity Friday, the 25-year-old woman helped link the defendants to an alleged "payoff" for the murder of U.S. District Judge John H. Wood Jr. She testified that she was sent to Las Vegas, Nev., to pick up a thick package of $100 bills.

The government alleges the package contained $250,000 from Jamiel "Jimmy" Chagra, a high-stakes gambler who was scheduled for trial before Wood, 63, known as "Maximum John" for his stiff sentences. Wood was shot in the back outside his San Antonio townhouse May 29, 1979. Harrelson, 44, a previously convicted hitman, is accused of murdering the judge for the money. Chagra, who was convicted of drug trafficking in another court, will be tried for Wood's murder separately.

ed with conspiracy to murder Wood and obstruction of justice.

Mrs. Jasper will return to the witness stand Tuesday after a long weekend, which defense attorneys are using to listen to 60 hours of her conversations recorded by her estranged husband-turned-FBI informant, Michael Jasper.

She testified she picked up the wad of money at a time when "the heat was on" her she said contained a gambling debt. She said she was ordered to take the secret "to my grave.'

Mrs. Jasper testified she had an affair with her stepfather from December 1979 to February 1980, and read from 42 pages of love letters he sent her last year while both of them were behind bars.

The letters complimented Mrs. Jasper for going to jail for contempt of court rather than cooperate with the FBI in its massive inquiry of the only assassination of a federal judge this century

Soviets promote nuclear freeze

On November 2, voters in a number of states will cast their ballots on proposals urging a "nuclear freeze" - meaning no new strategic weapons for the United States or Soviet Union.

Before confronting that issue, U.S. citizens concerned for peace and national security might want to examine a revealing article in the current issue of Reader's Digest. Written by Cold War expert John Barron, this piece spells out the elaborate efforts of the Soviets to promote the "freeze" idea and get the United States to follow suit.

Soviet dictator Leonid Brezhnev proposed a "freeze" in 1981, and pressure on American leaders to do the same has been increasing ever since. The Soviet logic is apparent. For the past decade, Moscow has been pushing a huge arms build-up, has 315 gigantic missiles aimed at Europe, can mobilize 20,000 tanks against West Germany, etc. All of this while the United States marked time - or in some cases moved backwards - on strategic weapons.

As these ominous trends dawned on U.S. and European leaders, attempts have been launched to counter Moscow's build-up — by deploying "neutron" warheads in Europe to fend off the Soviet tanks, refurbishing our ancient air force, moving to rebuild our Navy. A "freeze" on new strategic weapons would stop this re-building effort in its tracks, locking in the Soviet advantage.

To promote this outcome, the Soviets have run a major campaign of propaganda and "disinformation." They want America's effort to play catch-up, rather than Moscow's huge arsenal and repeated aggressions, to be the focus of concern. The object is to hammer away at fear of anything "nuclear," enlisting non-Communist innocents who think that peace can be obtained by staging marches and signing anti-nuclear petitions.

In February 1981, Brezhnev issued his call for a "freeze," and the WPC set out to mobilize mass sentiment in its behalf. Within a month, an American Nuclear Freeze Campaign was convened at a meeting at Georgetown University - with a spokesman for the Soviet KGB on hand.

Though at first the movement was more suscessful in Europe than here, it has made headway in the United States. The most notable example was this June's rally at the United Nations. Active in that ffort were a group called Mobilization for Sur-vival, which features on its masthead the Communist Party USA, the U.S. Peace Council and such veteran collaborators with the WPC as Women Strike for Peace and the Women's International League for Peace and Freedom. The Communist Party itself is plugging away at the campaign, sending out memos to its members, and bragging that it has played an important role in local "freeze" votes.

George Stone shrugged out of his suit and into faded jeans and a wellworn flannel shirt. He faced a whole afternoon of watching TV and reading the Sunday paper, stretched on the couch.

He'd read the sports, the front page and glanced at the comics; he never missed reading Dick Tracy. Now he crunched a fistful of Fritos and turned to the TV schedule, just to see what he had to look forward to next week. Reading the TV schedule, a weekly ritual, never failed to bring sarcastic thoughts to mind. George delights in sarcasm

On Monday he saw "That's Incredible" listed. This week an escape artist faces the ultimate challenge of getting out of an 1,100-lb. safe hurled from a cargo plane within 40 seconds, a feat he must accomplish to avoid a disaster on the desert floor; a Michigan man with a photographic memory showing how he can play 132 bingo cards at a time.

Later, on Wednesday night, the season premiere of the soapy "Dynasty." George grimaced at the blurb: A shattered Krystle cries out for Blake Carrington, who lies unconscious on a mountain cliff; the kidnapping of Fallon and Jeff's son triggers nightmarish memories of Blake and Alexis' forgotten child; and Alexis plots to marry Cecil Colby as he struggles to survive a massive coronary attack

Ah, next Sunday on "Ripley's Believe It Or Not!" Jack Palance, who always gives George the creeps anyway, reveals delectable exotic dishes - from edible chocolate furniture to a gourmet soup made of bird spittle.

Back to Wednesday, George finds he can enjoy a little jiggly on "The Fall Guy," where Colt and Howie find glamour, glitter, girls, and lots of trouble when they chase a beautiful bail-jumping cat burglar to the posh island resort of Club Aruba.

There the duo learn that there really are two cat burglars, identical twins named Carla and Kitty Ives -and that they are always surrounded by huge athletic men, and somehow connected to a murderous international schemer. George switched channels to an old western and turned the page to read the latest marital problems between Sam and Molly on 'lt Takes Two.'

This time the course of their marriage revolves around Sam's unfulfilled desire to prove himself as Molly's lover. Molly tries to be patient and understanding, but Sam is unrelenting in his desire to prove he is not an inadequate lover. Sam arranges a romantic dinner alone with Molly, but the pressure is too great. The evening becomes "unfulfilling.

George snorted. He could just imagine what grandmother would have to say about that plot.

And then there are the endless series of Tuesday and Thursday night sitcoms. George grabbed another Frito, amazed at the fresh, enlightening plots. On "Happy Days" a karatechopping former crybaby who holds a grudge against Fonzie for a childhood wrong seeks revenge at a civic ceremony honoring the Fonz as a now peaceful model citizen.

Laverne hops into action when she decides to become a Playboy Bunny, and comes face-to-face with the head rabbit, Hugh Hefner, on her way to Bunnydom on "Laverne & Shirley.

On "Too Close for Comfort" the case of the switched baby throws the Rush household into turmoil as they attempt to solve the mystery of which visiting mother left her baby and took precious little Andrew

And finally, on Friday night, "The Greatest American Hero" in which Ralph, an average American schoolteacher chosen by aliens to receive a bewildering super-powered suit, is critically wounded when he rescues agent Maxwell from a band of neo-Nazis, which leads to an eerie high-speed chase into the desert where his alien protectors save his life and reveal the secret of operating his super-powered suit. But George didn't even narrow his eyes at that one. Reading the TV plots had accomplished its ritual purpose. George was fast asleep.

The latest unemployment figures are naturally being taken as proof that President Reagan's economic policies have failed. AFL-CIO President Lane Kirkland said that "never before in history have two crackbrained theories like supply-side economics and cultist monetarism had a more extensive trial and been proved so wrong." In fact, high unemployment is the price of a successful program.

No one scoffs at the human cost of unemployment. But the jobless of the 1980s are not the jobless of the 1930s. They have unemployment insurance, food stamps and welfare benefits. Few match the usual picture of the unemployed breadwinner, out of work for endless periods, leaving his family with no income.

More than a third of the unemployed have been out of work for four weeks or less. Only one in six has been unemployed as long as six months. Two-thirds of the people without jobs live in households in which other family members work, ensuring a steady source of income.

A recession doesn't mean a huge and growing mass of people doomed to joblessness until the economy recovers. What it means is that if someone loses his job, he will need more etime than usual to find a new job. Right now the average person who loses his job is out of work for about 15 weeks - compared to about nine weeks during normal times.

unemployment. This recession, measured by jobs lost, is no worse than past downturns. The jobless rate has increased by 2.9 percentage points since it began last year. In the previous recessions since World War II, the average increase in unemployment was 2.9 percentage points.

Steve Chapman

But this time, rising unemployment started from a higher base - 7.2 percent. The real problem is that unemployment was so high even before the economy turned sour-and, in fact, before Reagan took office.

Unemployment has been rising steadily over the past two decades-from an average of 5.1 percent in between 1955 and 1960 to a 7.1 percent average between 1975 and 1980. The main culprit was inflation, which erodes savings, discourages investment, raises tax rates and overstimulates consumption-in short, robs the economy of what it needs to Inflation is commonly believed to cure unemployment; hence the call for the Fed to pump up the money supply. In the short run, unexpected inflation does reduce unemployment by lowering real wages and thus encouraging firms to hire more workers.

But persistent inflation, such as the U.S. has endured in recent years, leads people to expect inflation. Lenders demand hgiher interest rates and workers insist on higher wages to protect themselves.s When inflation subsides, these expectations keep interest rates and wages high until people are persuaded that it is subsiding for good. Squeezed by the high cost of borrowing and swollen payrolls, businesses cut back or go bankrupt.

That's why so many people are out of work now. Each of the three inflation peaks-in 1969-70, 1973-74, and 1979-80-was followed by a matching unemployment peak within a year or two. Likewise, each sustained drop in the inflation rate (as in 1971-72 and in 1974-76) led eventually to a similar reduction in unemployment. High inflation cuts unemployment in the short run but raises it in the long run. Lower inflation boosts unemployment temporarily but then reduces it.

Is a 10 percent unemployment rate tolerable? Of course not. But neither is double-digit inflation. Unfortunately, it isn't possible to reduce unemployment for any length of time by tolerating an increase in inflation. That way lies more boom-and-bust, with both inflation and unemployment ratcheting higher each time.

The choice is not between heartlessness and mercy, as Reagan's critics insist. Like giving an alcoholic another drink, new inflation would ease the pain momentarily, but only postpone the inevitable reckoning. Doing without the drink now causes immediate pain but holds out the prospect of eventual good health. Anyone who wants low unemployment tomorrow has to accept high unemployment today.

Thoughts

My child, if you finally decide to let a man kiss you, put your whole heart and soul into it. No man likes to kiss a rock.

—Lady Chesterfield

Mankind might be divided between the multitude who hate to be kept waiting because they get bored and the happy few who rather like it because it gives them time for thought.

-Ernest Dimnet

The great question that I have not been able to answser, despite my 30 years of research into the feminine soul, is "What does a woman want?'

-Sigmund Freud

It wasn't too long ago that you could finance a pretty good war for what six months of peace costs today.

-Bil Vaughan

Suppose you go to war, you cannot fight always; and when, after much loss on both sides, and no gain on either, you cease fighting, the identical old questions are again upon you.

-Abraham Lincoln

The only way I ever approved of was the Trojan War; it was fought over a woman, and the men knew what they were fighting for.

-William Lyon Phelps

these if we could, and we may even be tempted to question whether or not God really loves us if he allows these things to come into our lives. Although we may not always understand all the resons why God permits such things, we need to know that God can use them in our lives to teach us and draw us closer to himself. I do not know your full situation, of course, but I have known others wh have passed through similar experiences. They have discovered in a new way what it means to trust God for the future, and have realized that they could probably have never learned that lesson so fully if they had not lost their material security. As long as they had financial security, they gave little thought to God and relied instead on their possessions. But now they have discovered afresh that God alone should be our foundation in life. Paul told the young pastor Timothy, "Com-mand those who are rich in this present world not to be arrogant nor to put their hope in wealth, which is so uncertain, but to put their hope in God, who richly provides us with everything for our enjoyment" (1 Timothy 6:17).

You could, I know, become bitter and angry at God at this time, but I hope this will not be your reaction. Instead, ask God to help you learn whatever lessons he has for you through this experience. Ask him to help you trust him more, and grow to love him more. Nothing happens by accident to a child of God. Paul could write from an uncomfortable Roman prison, "I have learned the secret of being content in any and every situation, whether well fed or hungry, whether living in plenty or in want' (Philippians 4:12). May that be your discovery also as you trust Christ.

BEDFORD HILS, N.Y. (AP) — Actress Jennifer O'Neill, found bleeding from a gunshot wound to the abdomen in her sprawling 22-room mansion, apparently shot herself accidentally, police said Saturday.

The star of the movie "Summer of '42" was in fair and stable condition and under intensive care after surgery, officials of the Northern Westchester Hospital Center said. Miss O'Neill's wound was "accidental" and 'apparently selfinflicted," said Detective James Salmon

At least four people, including her husband, were in the house at the time of the shooting Friday evening, Salmon said. He refused to identify the other three, but said they had been questioned. Salmon said the former model was alone in her second-floor bedroom, on the bed and bleeding heavily, when police answered a call from a 'hysterical' woman. The bullet passed through her body, police said. The gun was recovered, but police would not disclose its caliber. Miss O'Neill, 33, lives in a colonial-style mansion in this affluent Westmunity with her fourth husband and business manager, John Lederer, and her two children, 15year-old Aimee and 1year-old Reis.

Lederer was downstairs when the shot was fired, officials said.

Police learned of the shooting when Mount Kisco Police Lt. Ted Brugger received a call from a telephone operator at 6:06 p.m. Friday. The operator told him there was a woman on the line saying she had been shot in the abdomen and was in great pain.

Brugger said he asked the woman, whom he described as "hysterical," for her address and it took several seconds before she was able to answer. Brugger said he called Bedford Hills police and also sent Officer Frank McCann of his departchester County comment.

Release of preacher heats school dispute

By STEVE KLINE Associated Press Writer LOUISVILLE, Neb. - Nebraska officials who are trying to get the Faith Christian

School to shut down or abide by state regulations say their job has been made more difficult by church leaders' alleged manipulation of the media. The longstanding controversy, which boiled over last week with demonstrations and the padlocking of church doors, appears to be back where it started - a standoff between state and church leaders.

The Rev. Everett Sileven was released from jail Friday after promising Cass he would temporarily close the school, or-dered shut because Sileven refused to hire that he would stay until authorities came to state-certified teachers. The dispute caught the attention of President Reagan. In a statement issued through White House Deputy Press Secretary Larry Speakes, Reagan said he was happy that Sileven could rejoin his family.

THE PADLOCKING, intended to prevent classes from being held in the church basement, occurred after law officers carried 85 wailing and praying supporters from the church. The event drew 400 fundamentalist sympathizers from across the nation. Led by Greg Dixon of Indianapolis, national secretary of Moral Majority, they demonstrated here and in nearby Plattsmouth until the lock came off the church. the order for the locking was suspended and Sileven was freed. The display prompted Lt. Gov. Roland "disservice not only to education, but to Christianity.

cording to Case, Sheriff Fred Tesch and Cass County Attorney Ron Moravec. Moravec, who issued the first complaint against the school nearly five years ago, said the widespread publicity given the case has made his job more difficult.

The state's largest newspaper, the Omaha World-Herald, also has condemned "madefor-the cameras incidents" staged near the church by the school's supporters.

For instance, his detractors say, Sileven planned his own arrest Sept. 3. He had been ordered last spring to surrender himself to Tesch on Sept. 1 to finish a four-month sentence imposed for defying Case's order County District Judge Raymond Case that to close the school. On Sept. 1, Sileven

> WHEN TESCH arrived at the church, a television crew was on hand. Sileven had gathered a group of children in the church and was leading them in prayer and song when Tesch, followed closely by the TV crew, walked in. The sheriff asked the preacher to step into the hallway to talk. "If you'll tell me why you're here," Sileven replied. "Are you here to arrest me?

In another planned event a year ago, when the church was padlocked for the first time, Luedtke to say that Sileven was doing a Sileven issued a news release saying members of the congregation would "occupy" the church when the lock was taken Most of the reporters covering the dispute off for worship services. Kids protest Monday trick-or-treating BATON ROUGE, La. (AP) - Youngsters upset because Mayor Pat Screen has ordered them to trick-or-treat Nov. 1 instead of on Halloween have flooded his office with letters, petitions and phone calls, the mayor says.

"Maybe Monday is nice to have Halloween for adults, but kids are people too," said one fifth-grader. "Halloween would not be good on Monday because on Monday I have homework. Parties can't be held because Tuesday is a school day. Besides, Oct. 31 is Halloween, not Noy. 1. It would take out the fun.

Screen said he moved trick-or-treating to Monday because more police and sheriff's deputies would be available to patrol parish streets.

But some adults don't think much of the idea, because Monday is All Saints Day - a holy day of obligation for Roman Catholics.

G.M. GOLLAPUDI,

(915) 563-2548

Many telephoned to ask Screen to change his mind immediately after he announced the decision, the mayor said, and he has received petitions signed by about 80 people asking him to leave Nov. 1 for religious services.

Screen, who is Catholic, said other denominations have services on Sunday night and there is less adult activity on Monday to detract from police emphasis on Halloween patrols

Homecoming a big success

The question to ask about last week is what didn't happen at Garden City? In case you hadn't heard the past week was homecoming in the land of Bearkats and the spirits of the entire school soared in anticipation of the Friday night game. The homecoming week actually started last Sunday when several zealous cheerleaders found themselves putting up posters, painting windows, and placing an annoying bell in the foyer of the high school building. In addition to the decorated hallways, the students of G.C.H.S. arrived at school dressed in assorted wardrobes that sported buttons, socks, cowboy hats, rs. And as if the students of the best and even s little spirit house in Texas didn't have enough to do, they managed in their spare time to accumulate a heaing bon fire. The long awaitd day of Friday came only to find the Seniors frantically running around to organize a concession stand and a homecoming supper. The juniors, always in the mood to show the seniors how to do it, coolly completed their mum sale and went on to present a successful post-game dance.

class throughout the entire season and is greatly appreciated.

Added to the pregame hype was the presentation by the magician, Max Armstrong. His magic act was presented Thursday morning. Death toll to date, counting the suicides at report card time and the Sonora Cavern expedition, was 6. The latest casualty was reported at the magic show when Max failed to make a student reappear. Word from the head office at Garden City is that the study groups are making great progress. Mr. Asbill is happy to report that the groups have been reduced by 50 indicating the failure rate is diminishing quickly. The study groups are the brainchildren of the high school administration in which failing students meet twice week with their respective teachers in an effort to receiv extra help with problem areas. Last Saturday, Mrs. Thedford demonstrated a var amount of courage when she was willing to take the entir journalism class to Odessa College. These students a tended workshops that will hopefully improve their skill in the journalistic persuasion. Mrs. Thedford has n reported back to school and it is assumed she is sti recovering from the stress

'Waltz Across Texas' in perfect step

• "Waltz Across Texas" ---Starring Terry Jastrow, Ann Archer and Mary Kay Place. Rated PG.

Even if you have to sell your pet armadillo, take out a loan on your pickup or pawn your boots, go see 'Waltz Across Texas.'

"Waltz Across Texas" is worth its weight in gold black gold, that is.

You'll leave "Waltz Across Texas'' with a good feeling about Texas and Texans; and that's something that can be said for far too few recent movies about the Lone Star State

Stars and co-producers Terry Jastrow and Ann Archer have hit the pay zone with their movie. One cannot but help be swept along by the simple, loving, comedic look at the independent oilman in West Texas.

With loving photography and a wonderful eye for detail, we are not given a Southern California landscape to pass for West Texas. What you see in this movie will be the same scene you see when you step out the front door.

A LOVELY tongue-andcheek sense of humor runs throughout the film – but it's a good-natured laugh at a loved one, not a condescending snicker.

Jastrow and Ms. Archer filmed the movie entirely on location in Midland; and that along with the use of 300 Midland area residents contributes to the striking realism of the film.

The plot matches John Taylor (Jastrow), a fiercly independent Midland land man, with Gail Weston (Ms. Archer), an eastern geologist with her own ideas about how to do things.

When things turn sour for both them and driller Luke Jarvis (Josh Taylor; better known as Chris Kosticheck of "Days of Our Lives"), the three scrape together everything they have to bet on finding oil with a beat-up cable tool rig named Dirty Sal.

The chemistry between

		Some politicians are always looking for a race. They will say or do anything to get elected. They would rather "bar mouth" their opponents, than tal about the issues. Sometimes what they do not say re flects more on their sincerity and ability than what they do say when they ar criticizing their opponent.

BIG SPRING (TEXAS) SUNDAY. OCTOBER 24. 1982

Yes, even sports can get you somewhere

He likes fried zucchini. He likes to mix club soda with his white wine. And he likes extra tartar sauce on his fish dishes. But he forgets these taste-tempting delights when the dinner conversation turns to sports.

The man is Terry Jastrow, a success story several times over before the age of 30. Now he's trying his hand at making films and judging by early reviews, his "Waltz Across Texas" will bring more allocades to the native Midlander.

But sports is where he started. From his Texas state junior golf championship in 1966 to the four Emmys he collected for producing the big-time sports events for ABC-TV, Jastrow's career has been marked with success

He played both golf and basketball at Lee - he couldn't play football because his father said his grades weren't good enough - and went to the University of Houston on a golf scholarship.

ABC hired him his sophomore year as a spotter and he teamed with Keith Jackson high above the galleries in the network's towers. By 1970, he was in New York as a production assistant and by late 1971, he became the youngest producer in American TV history at the age of 22. Like the veteran reporter who gets the best stories, Jastrow began producing the events that made ABC No. 1 in sports coverage — the Olympics, the U.S. Open (golf), the Kentucky Derby.

One of his first challenges was producing shows involving the infamous Howard Cosell. "Roone Arledge told me 'I'm going to throw you in the fire," he recalls his tough assignment. But despite contrasting public opinion, he calls Cosell "kind, generous, a friend and a good father, hus-

AROUND THE CORNER AND UPFIELD - Big Spring Steers quarterback Adam Rodriquez (11) escapes around right end for a good gainer at midfield, outrunning Lee defensivemen Issac Garnett and Scott Ackroyd

Greg Jaklewicz (38). It was Lee in the end, however, that outran Big Spring as the Rebels scored late and long to squeak out an 8-7 victory over the Steers before a capacity homecoming crowd.

Walter-come-lately stuns Steers

By GREG JAKLEWICZ Sports Editor

Quinn Eudy leaned back in his swivel chair, fumbled with a book of matches and searched the ceiling for answers. The slightly crooked grin on his face replaced the words he could not find.

The Big Spring High head football coach had just seen four quarters of the best football this school has played in years snuffed out in one play. Sophomore Walter Jones, making his variety debut, turned the fairytale story making his varsity debut, turned the fairytale story completely around when he spurted 55 yards for a touchdown with 1:40 to play and Greg Woodberry ran the twopoint conversion to lift Midland Lee to an 8-7 victory in Memorial Stadium.

The loss shocked an overflow homecoming crowd reported to be the largest in several years for Big Spring. Like an underdog prize fighter who goes more rounds than expected, the Steers took eight weeks to bow out of the district title chase. Not since 1970 has Big Spring stayed in the running for a playoff berth this late in October. The Steers are now 4-4 for the year and 2-3 in 4-AAAAA while Lee improved to 6-2 and 3-2.

and goal at the four. One play later, Rodriquez rolled left, cut back sharply upfield and was in the end zone. Carl Green kicked the extra point and with only 14:16 left in the game, the Steers' dream was coming true.

When Rodriguez fumbled the football away at his own 33

On first down, Rodriquez went to the sneaky Crenshaw. The ball was overthrown and somehow Johnson, the defender on the play, gathered the pass in for a dreambursting interception

Lee had to punt after getting the ball back at its 24 but while the kick was in the air, time ran out. The Rebels had risen once again.

'Their coach (former BSHS coach Spike Dykes) came over to us and told us we played a good game. He said we had nothing to be ashamed of ... which we didn't."

"What made us feel good was having their coach come in and say we did a good job," added guard David Moore.

NFL strike talks cease

COCKEYSVILLE, Md. (AP) - Talks aimed at ending the 33-day-old National Fotball League strike were indefinitely suspended Saturday, threatening the remainder of the season

Each side blamed the other for continuing the impasse. Mediator Sam Kagel didn't point any fingers, saying instead that it was "time for the parties to re-examine and reassess their respective positions on the economic issues.

It is those issues - the union's demands for a wage scale, a central salary fund, a fixed percentage of the television revenues - which are at the heart of the first inseason strike in the NFL's 63-year history

Kagel's announcement that talks had been recessed, subject to the call of both parties, ended 12 days of sometimes intense bargaining in this suburb north of Baltimore. Those sessions began when Kage, a 73-yearold private mediator from San Francisco, was brought in to try to bring the two sides to a settlement

Jack Donlan, the owners' chief negotiator, said Kagel had told him the central fund concept was "nonsensical That brought a sharp response from Gene Upshaw of the Los Angeles Raiders, the president of the union.

"Jack Donlan is a liar," Upshaw said. "The mediator didn't say that. The mediator never said our wage compensation package was nonsense

'There's been a lot of talk about the 63-year history - I like the number because it's my number - of the National Football League, and how good it's been," Upshaw went on. "It has been good for the owners, not very good for the players. We feel like the system has to be changed, that the players can be fairly compensated and we're willing to try to help them make that change. ... There is no way the players are going back under the present system."

Donlan accused union chief Ed Garvey of refusing to bargain (a charge also hurled at the owners by the union) and held out little hope that talks would resume soon.

"I don't think there is much sense in coming back until they change their attitude," Donlan said. "I really think we need to see a change in their position.

Garvey was more optimistic, saying the talks could resume as early as Sunday night.

Sports television is a highly pressurized situation and beating the odds probably has made Arledge one - if not the - most powerful men behind the cameras. But it wasn't the run-run-run that turned the cameras in his direction.

"I was a voracious movie-goer but I found most of the movies I saw were despicable," he remembers. "Instead of just complaining about them, I decided to do something about it."

In 1973, he began acting lessons with Lee Strasberg. Since 1978, he has spent 95 per cent of his time as a filmmaker and actor.

He still does three or four major sporting events a year for ABC with his latest effort the dramatic finish by Tom Watson at this year's U.S. Open. "It's the most difficult show to do. It's like doing the New York Times crossword puzzle in eight minutes with 30 million people looking over your shoulder," he laughs. When he gets away from the lights, camera and action, he finds sports production as a "source of real enjoyment."

Coming from "The Little Southwest Conference," Jastrow still keeps up with happenings in the eight-team league. "When I talk with my father, he tells me what's been happening. I got really hot when Lee got beat last week by Mojo," he smiles.

What's he think about the general state of sports in this country?

"I think it's an absolute shame and a travesty," he answers emphatically. "Why is it the guy who supports athletics is the guy who has to pay for it," he says of the current NFL strike situation. "They are very irresponsible and shallow to get bogged down in money. They are robbing a nation of its pro football season. I hope there's a public outrage against it."

On a brighter note, Jastrow is already thinking of his next film project while his first is opening across the state. The subject? Sports, of course, and more specifically...Texas high school football."

He wants to do a film about a small high school team suffering a through a long, long losing spell. How the town and school react to a coach who tries to change the direction of the wind is the subject and Jastrow likes the title "Deep in the Heart."

Judging by his past, the new film - which he is currently scouting out around the Temple-Belton-Killeen area - should be a winner. The Texas flavor will make it that way, just about as good as a big helping of zucchini.

"I guess I'm crazy," Eudy ventured from his desk. "We won the kicking game. We won the defense. We won the offense. And we lost the game.

"They whipped Lee physically," he shook his head. "We totally dominated the game and just came up short. Our kids gave a super effort. Some good things are starting to happen here. The kids know the are winners.

Lee entered the game ranked among the top 20 teams in the state and were a 23-point favorite over the Steers. But when Big Spring stopped the Rebels on a fourth down play at the Steer 36 minutes into the contest, the tone of the game was defined.

Swatting away Lee scoring threats like so many bothersome flies, the Steers turned the game into a defensive struggle until the third quarter when quarterback Adam Rodriquez engineered Big Spring's best scoring drive on the year

Starting at their own 14, he passed 20 yards down the middle to John Roehmer. Jay Pirkle took a handoff and bullied his way for 20 more. A fourth down pass went incomplete at the the Lee 33 but a defensive holding call on the play gave the Steers new life.

Rodriquez dropped in a pass to Dale Crenshaw zipping down the near sideline and suddenly Big Spring had a first with 11:18 left, the skies darkened for the Steers. But a trio of hard hits on Tommy Dewitt at the Steer 17 separated him from the football and Scott Griffin recovered.

Big Spring then ticked precious time off the clock marching from that point to the Lee 24. The drive stalled with 3:04 to go and Green was short on a 41-yard field goal

Lee had 76 yards to go.

Paul Cox hit Luther Johnson - the district's leading pass receiver -- for 15 yards to the 41 (it was Johnson's first and only catch of the night). Cox kept for four yards and then underthrew Willie Long in the left flat. Third down and six. Just 1:51 left.

Then came the play

Lee called the pitch to Jones. Heading right with three blockers out front, he got the first down. Two more blocks got him loosed down the near sideline and only safetyman Pirkle was left.

Dipping in and then stepping quickly out, Jones whizzed past his opponent and ran the final 20 yards into the end zone. Mouths on 4,000 Big Spring fans dropped open

"It's tough," said Crenshaw. "I just wanted to win so much. We just couldn't believe it."

The games still wasn't over, however.

Lee opted for the victory, as penetrations were tied and Big Spring led by a wide margin in first downs.

Again, the pitch, this time to Woodberry. He shook a tackle at the 10 and ran untouched from there into the end zone

Big Spring recovered a squib kick at their 40 and on first down, the hot-handed Rodriguez zipped a completion to

After being outgained 133-79 in total offense in the first half, the Steers absolutely dominated the game in the final two quarters. Lee gained just 11 yards in the third quarter, running just six plays and punting twice.

Until Jones' long distance scamper, the second half total stood at 49 on 17 plays and two first downs. Meanwhile, the Steers had piled up 179 and 13 first downs.

'It was our best offensive game of the year," Moore agreed. "Inthe huddle, we'd get in there and say 'we believe.' We had a couple of good drives but we couldn't punch it in. The defense did a heck of a job. We couldn't ask for any more than that."

Both teams had several scoring chances. Lee drove to the Steer 26 in the first quarter but on fourth down, Woodberry fumbled to Doug Walker. The Rebs - on the strength of a 20-yard scamper by Cox — moved to the Steer 16 late in the first half but Eric Sherman stole a pass right out of the hands of Johnson at the five to save the day with 54 seconds left.

A great punt by Pirkle put Lee in a hole at their own five late in the first quarter and the Big Spring kept the Rebels locked out. A short punt gave the Steers the ball on the Lee

Mauch retires as Angels pilot

ANAHEIM, Calif. (AP) - Two weeks ago, Gene Mauch had the Caliornia Angels just a victory away from winning the American League pennant and earning a spot in baseball's 79th World Series.

It would have beeen the crowning point of Mauch's 23-year managerial career that has been plagued more by failure and near misses than success. However, the coronation never took place. The Milwaukee Brewers became the first team to rebound from a 0-2 deficit and win the league title since the league championship series were established in 1969.

And today, the 56-year-old Mauch is no longer the manager of the Angels, after deciding Friday to resign rather than return for the 1983 season.

"The managerial position was offered to Mauch on Wednesday. After 48 hours of deliberation, Mauch notified the club this morning (Friday) of his preference not to return and the Angels have reluctantly accepted," the Angels said in a prepared statement

Calls to Mauch's Rancho Mirage,

Calif., home were not returned.

Mauch coached the Angels to only their second AL West Championship since the team was established in 1961. But he also saw them become the first American League team to lose a best-of-five series with a two-game lead and three games remaining.

ment criticized the way Mauch handled the final three playoff games players such as Reggie Jackson, Rod Carew, Doug DeCinces and Bobby

Grich, was said to number himself among those disappointed with Mauch.

A secretary at the Gene Autry Hotel in Palm Springs, Calif., said the Angels' owner was not available for comment. Calls to Angels Vice President Buzzie Bavasi's office were not returned Mauch had taken the unorthodox strategy of using starting pitchers Tommy John and Bruce Kison in the final two games, on three days' rest. The move was widely questioned after the loss.

Mauch became the Angels' manager in May of 1981, after Jim Fregosi was fired.

Although his first year was interrupted by a major league baseball strike, the Angels finished with a 51-59 record, the fifth-best in the AL West. The Angels 20-30 record in the second half was the worst in the division.

Buffs rumble by Klondike, 25-13

By BOB CARPENTER Staff Writer

2-B

KLONDIKE - The Forsan Buffaloes battled past the Klondike Cougars here Friday night 25-13, in a game that matched strength against quickness. In the end, however, the brawn of the Buffs was just too much for the smaller Cougar team.

Forsan's record now stands at 5-2-1 while Klondike also sports a 5-2-1 slate.

Things went Klondike's way late into the first quarter when running back Mike Barkowsky went off tackle and scampered 53 yards into the Forsan end zone with some classic broken field running. Several Buffs had to put their cleats back on after being faked out of them by Barkowsky's cat-like moves. The extra point was blocked leaving the score at 6-0.

Late in the second quarter, a Forsan punt was downed at the Klondike two pinning the Cougs against the wall. The Cougars could not generate much offense and Blaine Todd quick-kicked out of his end zone to the his 47.

On the ensuing play from scrimmage Buff fulback Lewis Boeker ripped off a 28-yard gain to the Cougar 19. Three running plays moved the ball to the five where Boeker dove into the end zone off a trap play to even the score at 6-6 with 1:01 left in the half.

The action warmed up with 8:29 left in the third stanza when Todd punted to to Forsan's Brad Jenkins who fielded the ball at his own 33 and then streaked up the right sideline untouched for a spectacular 67-yard punt return. The conversion failed once more.

After a couple of exchanges Klondike recovered a Buffalo fumble at the Forsan 24.

After a two uneventful running plays quarterback Tim Cope connected with Barkowsky, the Cougars big-play back, on a screen pass and Barkowsky danced and bulled his way for a 22-yard touchdown. Todd's PAT put the Cougars on top for a 13-12 lead.

On the first play of the fourth period Forsan's Ray Alcantar picked off a Cougar pass and returned the ball to the Klondike

Quarterback Todd East engineered a drive to the Cougar 29 where Forsan's Raymond Miranda broke from a crowd of players and sprinted 29 yards to pay dirt to up the score to 18-13. The conversion failed. With time running out in the fourth period

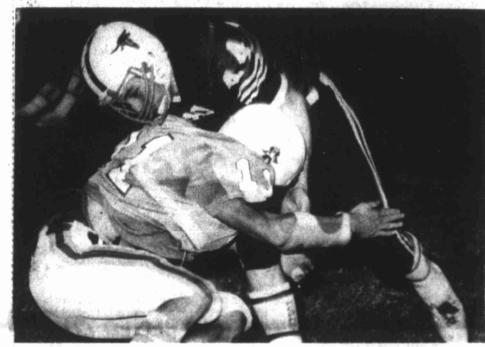

Forsan punted leaving the Cougars with poor field position at their own 1 yard line. Forsan held strong, but Klondike, with nothing to lose went for a first on fourth down and failed giving the ball up to the Buffs

Brad Jenkins needed but one play to run for a 3-yard TD to ice the game. Boeker's kick made the final score 25-13.

Klondike plays at Roscoe next week while Forsan travels to Roby.

GARDEN CITY - The Eden Bulldogs proved they were not just your gardenvariety football team last night as they stopped the Garden City Bearkats 20-8 Friday night

It was a game of few penalties (none in the first half, three in the second) and many turnovers. The ball was lost on fumbles seven times, four times by Eden and three by Garden City. The Bearkats intercepted two passes and the Bulldogs took away one.

But Eden made the most of Garden City's mistakes. They are now 7-0-1 and rated No. 5 in the state. The Bearkats are 5-3 on the year and 4-1 in district play.

The score may appear lopsided, but the Bearkats made a cat and dog fight out of it. The Bulldogs never felt comfortable until the very last of the fourth quarter.

Eden scored early after a long drive on their first possession. Quarterback Jeff Rannefeld moved his team slowly but with a steady hand. Three times on this first drive the Eden squad was faced with fourth down. Each time they got enough to hold on to the Dovle Robles and Benny Robles were the main ball carriers for Eden. Doyle picked up the most yardage, gaining 126 on 20 car ries. He scored the first touchdown for the Bulldogs on a three-yard run at the end of a drive so business-like it seemed natural for them to cross the goal.

recovered by Robert Hefner. The Bearkats moved the ball from their goal to midfield, then lost the ball on another misfired pitchout

With four fumbles in a matter of minutes, it appeared that neither team really wanted to win. But Eden settled down and mounted another systematic drive.

Rannefeld's 25-yard toss to Junior Medders boosted the Eden lead with seconds remaining in the half. The two Bulldogs combined for a two-point play to give Eden a 14-0 halftime lead. The second half began with more furnovers. Garden City took the kickoff and moved the ball to their own 33 before losing it. Eden drew close to the Bearkat 10-yard line but Rannefeld threw the ball into the

The victory keeps Grady in the thick of the league race with a 4-1 record, 5-2 for the season. Borden Co. slips to 1-7 and 1-5 in district action.

Bedwell scored twice in the first quarter on runs of 13 and one yard, passed three yards to Matt McClure for a second quarter score and then ran 18 yards in the fourth quarter for his third touchdown of the evening.

The first half was a trade-off of scores as the Coyotes responded with touchdowns after Grady added points to the scoreboard. Chris Cooley broke for 38 yards and a touchdown to close the first quarter scoring to 12-6.

COAHOMA - The Sonora Broncos tested the Coahoma defense here Friday night as the Bulldogs had to hold on to a first quarter lead. Coahoma passed the test, defeating the Broncs 7-6

The Bulldogs stayed on the ground Friday night, running for 219 yards and throwing the ball only twice, both times with no success

Sonora had no better luck in the air, completing only 2 of 11 passes for 53 yards. Two of those passes were intercepted. The Broncos rushed for 157 yards against the Coahoma defense.

Charles LaRue ran one yard for a TD for the Voyotes but Key broke a 69-f ard run and Bedwell hit Randy Gutierrez for two conversions points to make the final score 54-32.

Key finished the night with 262 yards rushing on just 16 carries as Grady piled up a whopping 425 yards on the ground. Bedwell contributed 139 more yards while Williams led Borden Co, with 139 yards on 25 tries.

Grady played without started Jay Billingsley in the first half. The Wildcat starting quarterback missed school this past week showing livestock in Dallas and had to sit out the early portions of the game.

For the night, Grady had 500 yards total offense and Borden Co. 320.

But the Garden City defense felt up to the challenge, stopping Rannefeld's attempted 2-point conversion cold and keeping the score down to 6-0.

The Bearkats were scoreless during the first half - but then they have been fighting back to victories all year.

Quarterback Richard Batla completed seven of 12 passes for 86 yards. He was also the Bearkats' leading rusher, chalking up 71 yards in 10 carries.

For rushing help, Batla didn't rely on any one man. Doug Schaefer broke through three times for first downs in the first half, but Scott Halfmann and Doug Hoelscher contributed to the effort.

The Bearkats could not gain good field position in the first half. They recovered a fumble early in the second quarter at mid-field, but fumbled the ball themselves a play later

Eden moved the ball to the Garden City 1-yard line, but another Bulldog fumble was hands of Bearkat Joe Lopez.

This time the Bearkats took advantage of the mistake. With the ball on Garden City's 34, Batla carried the ball for 22 yards in three carries, then fired a 10-yard pass that Gilbert Sanchez pulled down. Batla carried the ball in from the Eden 29, then ran for 2 points.

With the score 14-8 and with a quarter left to play, the Bearkats were believers.

Eden took the kickoff, then lost the ball again to Garden City's Nathan Halfmann. Batla put the Bearkats into Eden territory with a 30-yard pass to Barry Holdampf. Another seven yard pass to Holdampf and Batla's 10-yard run put Graden City in position for another score.

But the Eden defense held firm and Garden City ran out of downs on the Bulldog 6-yard line. It was the last scoring opportunity the Bearkats would encounter.

Eden scored again with 2:42 left in the game on a 13-yard run by Doug Robles. The kick was off, but the score was still 20-8. Garden City made it to midfield, but then gave up the ball on an interception to Bulldog James Nicholas. Eden ran out the clock.

Sonora fought back early in the second quarter and scored on a 10-yard pass from quarterback Marty Soren-son to wingback Albert Chavez. The kick was wide of its mark, leaving the score at 7-6 for Coahoma.

The rest of the game was head-knocking defense. Sonora's only other threatening drive came in the fourth quarter. The Broncos were able to get the ball down to the Bulldog 39, where they ran out of downs.

NFL negotiations stall out...again

· Donlan said there was some progress in non-economic issues, "but whenever we encountered the union's wage scale and fund, we banged right into what I call Ed Garvey's brick wall. These two weeks have given Ed Garvey the chance to write a textbook on how not to bargain.

Garvey, conversely, charged the owners with failing to improve their wage package. "Not one dollar has crossed the table. They have not changed their position one iota." Five of the season's 16 weeks have been affected by the strike. The league says three have been canceled and two can be made up.

The union says the whole schedule and how it will be made up is a negotiable issue. League officials have said at least 12 games would have to be played to save the "integrity" of the sease

Garvey insisted that Sargent Karch, counsel for the fanagement Council, had said the season could still be played in its entirety with the Super Bowl moved back into February.

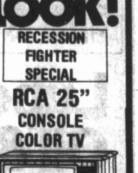

"That is untrue," Donlan said. "Garvey is just trying to hold his players together by saying they will get paid for the games that have been lost. They will get nothing."

On Sunday, the union representatives from each of the eague's 28 teams will meet in Washington, D.C., to discuss the status of the negotiations. It is the first player representatives' meeting since Aug. 31.

DRRC aids handicapped

Therapists help people gain control of their bodies and lives

bifida (open spine). He has paralysis of some muscles in his lower extremities and was the local March of Dimes Poster Child last year.

By TINA STEFFEN Lifestyle Editor What do you do when one side of your body doesn't function? Following an accident, crippling illness, or because of birth defects, therapy to regain use of body parts - such as limbs or mouth — is often necessary. Doctors refer patients to Dora Roberts Rehabilitation Center for the treatment "Making people involved in their lives again," is what the DRRC therapists' work is all about, according to Jo Adams, secretary to Larry Bristo, the center's executive director.

Picking up a brush and combing hair is a simple task for most people. But for some, lifting an arm is a difficult task, let alone picking up the brush. Those people do not take "simple" movements for granted because movements aren't simple for them.

A PERSON IN THERAPY may go through weeks, months and sometimes years of exercises just to be able to move a muscle, arm, finger or any other part of the body a certain way

Any physically handicapped individual referred by a physician will receive treatment by the expertise of the disciplines of physical therapy, occupational therapy, speech pathology and audiology," said Larry Bristo, executive director of the center. The center belongs to the people of this area, he said. "It is the people who cared enough to give to the center that keeps the center functioning to help all who need their help," Bristo said. The center receives no federal funds; its operating funds primarily come from donations and grants.

According to Kathleen Morton, people come to the center because: they are hurting and the center offers relief; they have a disability and need some independence; they have hearing and speech problems or learning disabilities.

The center sees a variety of patients suffering from arthritis, strokes, accidents and all kinds of debilitating disease processes or delays including cerebral palsy, muscular dystrophy or any birth defect.

Physical therapy helps a person regain use of gross Physical therapy helps a person regain use of gross motor movements of the body, such as raising an arm or leg. Occupational therapy is for the fine motor movements of the body such as writing, buttoning a blouse, or picking up a fork to eat. Other forms of therapy provided are audiology, which is hearing evaluation, and speech pathology. Speech pathology is involved with the correct production of speech and articulation, stuttering and voice. It deals with development of language skills and language concents. and language concepts.

Therapy is designed to help an individual solve the problems of day-to-day living. If there is a developmentally delayed child, therapists want to find out what reasons caused the delay in the child's development. The therapist retrains the patient so it will develop or regain the skills needed for living.

The people working with patients at Dora Roberts Rehabilitation Center are physical therapists, physical therapist assistants and aide, an occupational therapist, an audiologist and a speech pathologist.

THE CENTER started out as an idea of the Howard County Easter Seal Society during the Polio epidemic in the late 1950s. It became a reality in the early 1960s when Jim Thompson, a licensed physical therapist, was hired to provide services.

The first building was built on a landfill close to the Y.M.C.A. It was made possible by totally donated HE'S WALKING - Michael Bessent, a victim of birth defects, has been in rehabilitation at the Dora Roberts Center most of his life. Today he is able to walk with the aid of crutches. Kaki (Kathleen) Morton, physical therapist, assists Michael down-the hall.

BALANCE AND CONTROL -- Richard Cypert has spastic diplegic cerebral palsy. His legs are more involved than his upper extremities. Therapists work more on balance and control of Richard's lower extremities - particularly his ankles, hips and knees - during therapy.

A NEW PATIENT - Harold Hall recently had surgery on his knee for cartilage repair and patellar shave (reshaping of under surface of knee cap). He is on a Cybex isokinetic exerciser which measures the strength of quadriceps and hamstrings. It used for testing both the good and involved legs.

materials and labor. Shortly after completion, a big washed out the landfill and the building was ruined.

The center rented a house at 402 Edwards behind Don Newsom's Groceries. Two bedrooms were used as treatment areas, the living room was the reception area, dining room for speech therapy and the kitchen was used for hydrotherapy.

With funds provided by the Dora Roberts Foundation, the present facility, housing the Howard County Health Unit and the rehabilitation center, was built. It was first occupied Oct. 1, 1965, and an addition was added in 1975. The name was changed to Dora Roberts Rehabilitation

Center in 1966

During the polio era, the need arose for polio debilitative services. The center was established to provide those services and expanded to provide services for other debilitative illnesses.

At the time and still today, the closest rehabilitation centers were in Abilene and Odessa. People believed these centers were too far and unhandy for most persons needing therapy several times a week. So the the rehabilitation center was established to provide a more accessible location for treatment to any person referred.

With rehabilitation, aneurysm victim regains use of body

By TINA STEFFEN Lifestyle Editor

Looking at Bill Sheppard, he appears to be a happy, healthy man of 48 with a glowing face and positive attitude. Only nine months ago, he was seriously ill, went through brain surgery and lived in hospitals for four months

Bill was getting ready for work the morning of Jan. 21, 1982. He went into the kitchen, poured some coffee, went into his bathroom and passed out.

Dene, his wife, found him lying unconcious on the floor. As he came to, she and their son, Scott, helped him to his bed and soon went to Dr. Roscoe B.G.Cowper's office. Bill felt sick and had a headache.

At first, the doctor thought Bill had suffered an oxygen starvation possibly due to an unvented gas wall heater in the bathroom, Bill said. The doctor ran tests and found blood in the spinal fluid, indicating bleeding inside Bill's head.

"I don't regret having it happen to me - the whole thing. I don't want to go through it again, but it has changed my outlook on life."

Unable to obtain help here, Cowper sent Bill to Dr. Lloyd Garland, a neurosurgeon in Lubbock. Garland ran an EEG (electroencephalograph) test and Cat Skan on Sheppard's brain and circulatory system. An aneurysm (a blood-filled dialation of a blood vessel) was found on the right side of Bill's brain. Bill had brain surgery a few days later

As Bill describes it, when a person bleeds in his head they can't bleed to death because the artery reacts in spasms to close off the bleeding. With 50-50 odds, a person will die when an aneurysm occurs. If they survive the burst, they experience the arterial spasms periodically to hold down the bleeding for seven to ten days. The spasms can shut off the blood supply to the brain which won't kill a person instantly, but shuts down their bodily functions. Sheppard says, a doctor has to watch the person's condition and wait for the time when the artery quits having spasms. At this time, the doctors perform surgery.

AS A RESULT of the surgery, Sheppard was paralyzed of motor responses (movement) on his left side; however, be still had sensory response. Bill stayed at the hospital for the remainder of February, and was transferred to St. Mary's Hospital in Lubbock for therapy. At that time, he could not sit up in a typeschair on his own and had to be held up. wheelchair on his own and had to be held up.

Sheppard began a rigorous therapy program of recreational, occupational, and physical therapy at the hospital. Seven days a week, each week, he would have breakfast then begin going through each form of therapy.

DON'T NEED IT NOW - During part of Bill Sheppard's rehabilitation, he used a wheelchair, walker, cane with base and the cane above. Today, he can walk without these aids due to therapy he recieved in the hospital and at Dora Roberts Rehabilitation Center.

By the time he was finished, lunchtime had arrived. After lunch, he went through the same therapy routine again. When he was finished, he was exhausted and ready for supper and rest.

Dene remembers one of his first victories, "the first day Bill tied his shoe strings." She said there were many victories since March when he couldn't speak or move.

"God just had work for Bill to do and it just wasn't intended to be his time yet. Bill's attitude has helped him. He has a positive attitude that got him going.

"Concentration was the big thing. He had to concentrate on everything, even on how to chew. He had to learn how to chew food, and then when the food was chewed he had to learn how to swallow. It would take him 30 minutes to go through things, but his attitude got him through.

When Bill first started to get around without a wheelchair, he used a walker, later changed to a cane with a base and then to a regular cane. He had the cane a week and barely used it. He was assisted when going to the Physical Therapy unit on the first floor. After the first two or three weeks, he was responsible to getting to therapy on his own. "That was quite enjoyable to get to do that," he

While in the hospital, the therapist told Bill he was making "amazingly good progress," he said. He received his first weekend pass to go home the weekend of April 10. Since then, Bill was able to come home each weekend.

SHEPPARD WAS ABLE to come home and witness his daughter's wedding April 17. He didn't have the stamina to escort Cindy down the aisle, so his son escorted her as far as Bill's seat, and he escorted her from there to the altar and her future husband.

Sheppard was released from St. Mary's Hospital May 15. He continued therapy at Dora Roberts Rehabilitation Center three times a week. Although he's regained use of his body, he continues therapy because he lacks the stamina he had prior to the aneurysm and he has some problem with his left foot.

In therapy, Bill worked on ceramic projects, paint by number and other creative things that helped him regain control of his movements and fine motor control. For awhile, nurses and therapists would help him dress, bath, etc. but he had to gradually regain strength to do these things again.

Once he began getting the strength to set up and get around a little on his own, he was responsible for dressing and bathing in his own bathroom instead of in the community bathroom, and taking himself to therapy. Everyday things were a part of his therapy for regaining strength and coordination gradually so that he could lead a normal life.

Sometimes Bill gets frustrated because his strength is not totally back and he is not making as fast progress as he wants now. "If I'm active all day, I tire out about 3 or 4 p.m.," he said. Prior to surgery, he didn't tire as early. According to Bill, Garland wasn't sure he would survive the operation and didn't know if he would regain movement. Now "he says I'd probably still be making gains for about two years after the surgery. It will be one year in February," Bill said.

"WHEN YOU GET to doing therapy, your body craves exercise." He plans to start walking each morning and night in addition to his physical therapy.

Sheppard is the president of W.J. Sheppard and Company, Inc. which as the management contracts on Park Village Apartments here and in Snyder and W.J.S. Rentals. He was 47 years old during most of his con-valescence. "The odds are against living through an aneurysm bursting, and if you live through it, the odds are against you remaining about 20 percent of nermal funcagainst you regaining about 70 percent of normal func-tions. I beat the odds," Sheppard said. "I'm about 98 percent recovered.

"I don't regret having it happen to me - the whole thing. I don't want to go through it again, but it has changed my outlook on life. A lot of things I used to think were pretty important are insignificant now and the things that were insignificant are pretty important now.

"Personal relationships are probably the most im-portant thing. I always thought they were important, but I think they are most important now. Living is important, out i think they are most important now. Living is important. The job will wait for you," he said. "When I first got up there (in the hospital's therapy unit), it was terribly depressing. But when you are there, it isn't. You see the victories.

So many things were going on this weekend. The Miss Howard College Miss Southwest Collegiate Institute for the Deaf Pageant, the Big Spring High School Homecoming Festivities and the Shriners Convention were some of the big events to attend.

Congratulations are extended to DANA ERWIN and LUANN BURKHALTER for winning Miss Howard College and Miss SouthWest Colligiate Institute for the Deaf respectively. All girls competing for the titles were so beautiful and poised. I know the judges had a difficult decision to make. While I was watching the pageant, I had a hard time trying to pick out the winner myself.

The members of the Bible classes at Big Spring High School have such loving hearts. The teenagers honored ELIZABETH JOHANSEN with their float and cars in the homecoming parade Friday afternoon. Mrs. Johansen has taught Bible for about 35 years at the high school. She has been in Scott and White Hospital in Temple.

The people involved with the homecoming parade provided a very nice parade for Big Spring fans to enjoy Friday afternoon. They really helped to keep the Big Spring spirit rolling. The pep rally in Highland Mall was great too. Let's keep up the good Steer support.

JONES AND C.G. GRIFFIN spent a week together in Acapulco, Mexico. The couples rented a villa complete with a swimming pool and servants. JAN MORGAN said they spent the week sight seeing, shopping and eating too much.

EDNA WOMACK will be traveling with a group of approxiamately 30 women to New York City this week while husband RED stays home and holds up the walls. Mrs. Womack will travel with the Women's Financial Services of Interfirst Bank in Odessa. She will dine in Tavern on the Green, in the delegates dining room at the United Nations, and Sardis among other places. She will stay at the Waldorf-Astoria and will tour the Statute of Liberty, Commodities Market at the World Trade Center, the "Search for Alexander" exhibit at Metropolitan Museum of Art and the United Nations. While there, she will see the Broadway plays "Cats," "42nd Street" and "Woman of the Year." Sounds like an exciting trip.

Speaking of trips, LINDA and BILLY ADAMS, along with Linda's mother and sister, flew to Chicago last Thursday, week ago. They visited another of Linda's sisters and the sites of the windy city.

By NAOMI HUNT County Extension Agent-H.E. As the fall school term progresses, both parents and teachers will begin planning for joint conferences which can be mutually rewarding.

The skills of effective parent-teacher teams can build a quality finished product - an inquisitive, well-adjusted growing child.

Parent-teacher conferences can be a vital, constructive. learning situation for parents as well as teachers. The conferences should be planned for a specific time in a quiet, comfortable atmosphere. Serious pre-planning can help both parents and teachers make better use of their time.

Parents and teachers should agree on fair, reasonable goals that benefit the child and bring pleasure and learning to the youngster.

Quality teams, quality product

Together parents and teacher can figure out the strengths of a child. When you know what's right with a child and not what's wrong with himher, school and home provide a complementary support system that tends to accelerate the talents a child possesses and play down poor school habits.

Plotting together in hopes of bringing about changed behaviors in a child is not fair to a child. Parents and teachers can identify necessary changes sought, but involve the child in choices, decisions and changes to be made for his own benefit.

Closing a parent-teacher conference is important, too. When a conference is treated like any other professional appointment, it begins and ends on time. Care must be taken not to spoil a good conference at the last minute by sudden and abrupt eviction.

A competent educator and an effective parent are like an accomplished musician ... they devote years and effort to acquiring skills and techniques. Once acquired, they are unseen. Good communication skills between parents and teachers are the "silent force" behind good students.

Dr. Donohue

Fartlek: Exercise like a child

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: Can you please discuss the exercise theory called fartlek, which I understand is a Swedish word meaning child's play. How did it get that name and what is its value for an athlete in training? ---J.D.F.

It is, indeed, a Swedish word that translates as "child's play." Perhaps a better description of what goes on would be "speed play," but since the idea was conceived when watching children at play, the name fartlek has stuck. Have you watched children playing? They are never still. They alter their pace of activity in bursts. They dash to one corner of the playground, jump around there for a few minues, then wander elsewhere and do a couple of twists, or skip off somewhere else. That's the idea behind fartlek.

Swedish and many other professional runners have adopted it to bring variation to their training. You will notice another thing about children at play. They never lack for variation and they seldom get bored. Fartlek staves off the inevitable boredom that can set in if an athlete maintains a steady pace of training

There's another advantage. Different styles of running bring stress to different sets of muscles, so the result is a more symmetrical muscular development with fartlek. How do you do it? The same way children do it. You run as you usually do, but when you feel like it you pick up the pace. Then just as suddenly, you slow down. You alter running terrain, running up hills, then down long paths on flat surfaces. You may even want to turn around and do some backward running (be careful). Backward running, in fact, calls into play an entirely different set of muscles.

The variations are whatever your imagination can devise. Walk for five to 10 minutes, jog for five then do wind sprints. There's no recipe for it. And, in fact, that is what makes the idea so appealing. You do what you want to do on whim. It brings to training a mental invigoration and a variety of running styles that make your body respond to new training stimuli. It shocks you out of any rut you might be in.

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: I have been told I have some cartilage damage in my knee. A procedure called arthroscopy has been mentioned. What is it and what kind of procedure is done with it? - J.R.

The arthroscope is a telescopic device that looks into a joint. With it, many times a joint problem can be fixed without need for surgery as such.

The knee is one of the most easily injured joints. Torn cartilage is an example of one of the many knee-related problems. Cartilage is a cushion material of a joint. In the knee it is right at the spot where the knee joins the thigh bone, or more precisely where the large thigh bone (femur) meets the lower leg (tibia). It lets those two bones glide over one another.

This cartilage can be disrupted and get free from its moorings. Sometimes a piece can slip up into the knee joint, causing pain and locking of the knee. Until arthroscopy came along, the only answer was to open up the knee and remove the cartilage. Today, the arthroscope permits a telescopic view of the joint and simultaneous removal of a damaged bit of cartilage. New cartilage can grow back from what is left behind

The arthroscope has revolutionized treatment of knee injuries and has avoided many problems that can remain following regular surgery, such as arthritis. There is minimum joint disturbance, while at the same time the offending damaged cartilage is removed.

Dr. Donohue welcomes reader mail but regrets that, due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

Unfriendly neighbors

DEAR ABBY: Poor "Agnes in Culver City"! She lived in the same house for 25 years and complained because her neighbors never said hello to her

Your suggestion that she could have broken the ice and said hello to them might have worked anywhere else in the world except in Southern California

We lived in Northridge in the San Fernando Valley for 5 1/2 years. One New Year's Eve a couple invited the entire block to their home for a party. At 3 a.m. as the guests were leaving, we overheard one guest say, "This has been so much fun let's plan to get together again next New Year's Eve!'

DON IN FONTANA, WIS.

DEAR DON: You were topped by a lady in Fullerton, Read on:

.DEAR ABBY: I was born and raised in Salem, Ore., where neighbors always welcomed newcomers with some kind of food and an offer to help them get settled and make friends.

A new family moved in next door, so I baked a lovely chocolate cake and took it over to welcome them. The Mrs. handed it back to me and said, "Sorry, I'm allergic to chocolate." DEAR ABBY: In answer to the 11-year-old girl who complained because her boyfriend, age 12, dumped her for an "uglier" girl: Last year our 12-year-old son had his first

'girlfriend'' - another seventh-grader. She invited him to school socials and other "dates." followed him to football practice and phoned him constantly. If he didn't return her calls or didn't want to go on a date, she complained. Pretty soon he became uncomfortable and began avoiding her. She pursued him. They had a fight, which ended in some name-calling. Then he refused to talk to her.

We discussed the situation with him, trying to help him understand that it wasn't his fault -that reacting with anger to the pressure she had put on him was only natural. We encouraged him to talk to her and explain that he didn't "hate" her, he was just not ready for the kind of relationship she wanted. They are now on speaking terms, but the friendship was wrecked.

I wish that girl's mother had had a talk with her about the constant phone calls and the rest of the chasing. Even if they'd both been older, that kind of behavior would have been inappropriate. At 11 and 12, it was ridiculous! Two nice children

I've talked with other mothers of adolescent sons who report similar experiences. The fact is, boys age 11 to 15 are not ready to have a "girlfriend." And regardless of how "grown up" an 11- or 12-year-old girl may feel, she's not ready for a "boyfriend," either. The bottom line is: Mothers should not permit their young daughters to chase boys

ONE MOTHER'S VOICE DEAR VOICE: You have voiced an important message for which I thank you. But a still louder voice is being heard throughout the land. Peer pressure!

. During any given week, no less than 300 letters from "desperate" girls between 10 and 13 cross my desk with this sad refrain: "Other girls my age have boyfriends, why can't I get one? There must be something wrong with me."

TONI CHOATE KATHRYN PERRY Bachelor Party The male counterpart of the bridesmaids' luncheon is the bachelor dinner. It can be sponsored by the groom or given for him by his best man or by the ushers. It can be an informal cocktail party or a complete dinner - and we here at the ACCENT SHOPPE have even suggested you schedule the bachelor party for the same day as the bridesmaids' party and have the two groups join together afterwards. At any rate, the traditional toast to the bride is the starter, followed by refreshments, sometimes presentexchanging - and always, one less bachelor in the days to come! Accent Shoppe
