Brezhnev dies of heart attack

LEONID BREZHNEV
...died at age 75

By STEVEN R. HURST
Associated Press Writer
MOSCOW — Leonid I. Brezhnev, who ruled the Soviet Union for 18 years, pursued detente with the West and raised his country to nuclear parity with the United States, has died of an apparent heart attack. He was 75.

walls of the Kremlin.
Tass said doctors concluded Brezhnev suffered "arteriosclerosis of the aorta with the development of aneurism of its abdominal part ... heart disease with heart rhythm trouble ... after he suffered infarctions."
No new party chief or president was immediately named to fill Brezhnev's posts. But Western experts believe the power vacuum may be filled in the short run by a collective leadership including former KGB chief Yuri V. Andropov and long-time Brezhnev associate Konstantin Chernenko, the two men most often touted as likely successors.

Andropov was named chairman of the high-level committee responsible for funeral details, a move that put him immediately in the limelight. The official Tass news agency said Brezhnev will lie in state in the downtown House of Soviets for three days starting Friday and he will be buried Monday in Red Square.
Tass said the Central Committee of the Communist Party had ordered an official four-day mourning period beginning Friday. It also said all primary and secondary schools will be closed Monday for Brezhnev's burial.

State enterprises throughout the country were ordered to stop work for five minutes at the time of the burial; guns salvos were to be fired at that moment in Moscow, all provincial capitals and several other Soviet cities, and factories and other workplaces were ordered to sound their sirens for three minutes.
The White House said it was unlikely President Reagan would attend the funeral, but that Reagan wrote a letter of condolences calling Brezhnev "one of the world's most important figures," and saying that he looked forward to working with the new leadership to expand areas "where our two nations can cooperate to mutual advantage."

The Brezhnev era was marked by firm action to suppress dissent in the Soviet Union. When Czechoslovakia challenged Kremlin domination in the East bloc in 1968, Brezhnev sent Soviet tanks into Prague to crush

Columbia off on 1st cargo trip

By HOWARD BENEDICT
AP Aerospace Writer
CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. — The shuttle Columbia, an American "space truck" carrying four men and two communications satellites, rocketed flawlessly through deep blue skies today en route to its first cargo delivery, 184 miles above the Earth.
"Columbia now in space for the fifth time," said Mission Control.

OFF AGAIN — The Columbia lifts from the pad at the Kennedy Space Center as the clock at the press site shows five seconds into flight this morning. The launch was flawless.

Vance Brand, 51, who returned unconscious from the 1975 Apollo-Soyuz mission, is commanding the shuttle. Others making up the largest crew ever assigned to one spaceship are pilot Robert Overmyer, 46, and two members of a new breed of astronauts named mission specialists: scientists William Lenoir, 43, and Joseph Allen, 45.

The astronauts were moving at 17,400 miles an hour. Their initial task, a key test of the shuttle's value as a for-hire freighter, was set for late this afternoon with deployment of the first satellite.

During their third orbit, they received a radio call from President Reagan and Brand said, "It's a beautiful world we are going over. We are very proud to be up here representing America."

"Wait until I get my hat and I'll go with you," Reagan said. "I just want to tell you ... how proud we all are of you for what you're doing and how much our prayers are with you for success and how everyone down here is watching and how pleased we were with the beautiful sendoff."

Columbia's Veterans Day launch began in a blinding burst of flame and spreading billow of smoke as the shuttle's three main engines and two solid fuel rockets flashed. See Shuttle, page 2-A

Local man dies after being stabbed 3 times

By CAROL DANIEL
Staff Writer
A 25-year-old man was stabbed to death during an argument last night across from a north side bar, police Lt. Alvis Jeffcoat said. A 38-year-old man, possibly the victim's brother-in-law, was arrested shortly afterwards in connection with the slaying, Jeffcoat said.
Charles Escobedo of 311 N.E. Eighth was stabbed three times in the chest with a pocket knife about 8:30 p.m. across from Talito's Hall, 505 N.W. Fourth, police said. A few minutes later, police arrested Elias Reuben Brown of 1405 Benton "for questioning," Jeffcoat said.

Municipal Judge Melvin Daratt set Brown's bond at $20,000 this morning. Formal charges had not been filed this morning, however, police said they are investigating the stabbing as possible criminal homicide.
Shaffer Ambulance Service contacted police about 10 minutes after the man was slain. Ambulance attendants told police they found Escobedo lying face down on the south side of Fourth street, bleeding profusely from chest wounds.
The body was taken to Malone-Hogan Hospital and Dr. B.R. Owen pronounced Escobedo dead shortly afterwards. Peace Justice Lewis Heflin ordered an autopsy.

Jeffcoat said he didn't know how many people witnessed the stabbing, but that investigating detective Troy Hogue had taken statements from two witnesses.
Funeral services will be held at 10 a.m. Saturday at Trinity Memorial Funeral Home. Rosaries will be held at 8 p.m. both Thursday and Friday at Trinity Memorial Chapel. Survivors include his parents, Francisco and Mercedes Escobedo Jr., eight sisters, and seven brothers.

Profile of a nurse:

Lady veteran enjoys serving her country

By CLIFF COAN
Staff Writer
Fanny Clark has always been a nurse.
And, if she has her way, she will always be a nurse.
"I always wanted to be a nurse," she said in a recent interview. "When I was a kid on my daddy's farm, I'd take care of the chickens when they broke a leg or a wing, and I helped my father with the cattle."
That love of nursing would lead her far from her father's farm in Travis County — to Pacific islands with names like Oro Bay, Mindano and Del Monte. There, she would care for the victims of man's inhumanity to man during the biggest squabble the world has ever seen.
In 1940, the world was tense, sitting on the edge of World War II. Roosevelt was the president then, and a madman in Europe had overrun Poland.

Fanny had just graduated from Seton Hospital School of Nursing as a Registered Nurse.
"He (Roosevelt) felt we would sooner or later get into the war," she said. "The draft was on, and they were needing nurses. He sent a directive saying nurses could enlist for one year and they would be paid whatever scale was at that time."
"I needed a job and I always wanted to go into the service, so I joined in May, 1941."
The decision to do so was a "simple" one, she said. "I'm so used to my American way of life that I don't want anyone or any country to try to change that. Do you know of any country that has the freedom that we do? There's

Focalpoint

Action/reaction: FCC rulings

Q. Is there some kind of FCC ruling that requires a station to run a program in its entirety without clipping the beginning or ending with local commercials?
A. No Federal Communications Commission rule exists requiring complete programs be shown, according to Jeff Malickson, assistant chief of the Complaints and Compliance division of the FCC in Washington, D.C. Malickson said the sponsors of the programs should be the ones concerned about programming completion.

Calendar: Symphony

- The Republican Women's Club will meet at noon at La Posada Restaurant.
- Today is the deadline for having pictures made for the Big Spring Herald Club directory to be published soon. Club presidents who have not had their pictures made should come by the Herald between 4 and 5 p.m. The Howard College Hawks play the McMurry junior varsity at 8 p.m. in Dorothy Garrett Coliseum.
- The Martin County Extension Homemakers Achievement Day will begin at 10 a.m. in the Martin County Community Center followed by a salad luncheon and a style show. Tickets for the event are $3.50.
- The Big Spring VA Medical Center will observe Veterans' Day at 11 a.m. with a ceremony to be held in front of the center. The public is invited to attend.
- Genealogical Society meets at 7:15 p.m. in Howard County Library.
- A performance of the Midland-Odessa Symphony Orchestra is set for 7:30 p.m. at the Big Spring High School auditorium. Tickets are priced at $8 for adults and $4 for students and senior citizens. Tickets can be purchased this week at a symphony box office at the Big Spring Mall from 4-9 p.m. or the chamber of commerce office from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m.
- The Big Spring Independent School District Board of Trustees will meet at 5:15 p.m. at the high school board room.

Tops on TV: 'Private Benjamin'

On channel 7 at 8 p.m. is the movie "Private Benjamin" starring Goldie Hawn. A well-to-do young woman mistakenly joins the Army following the death of her new husband on their wedding night. At 9 p.m. on channel 13 "Hill Street Blues" has an episode in which Chief Daniels asks Furillo to betray an old friend, and Coffey deals with a disturbed Vietnam veteran who has taken eight hostages.

Outside: Cooler

Mostly cloudy and windy with a 20 percent chance of rain. High today lower 70s; low tonight near 50. Winds from the southwest at 20-30 miles per hour. Friday's forecast calls for partly cloudy and colder with a high in the 60s.

Ford found innocent by jury

By MIKE DOWNEY
Staff Writer
When Howard County Judge Bill Tune read the verdict of "not guilty" in the misdemeanor trial of Michael Carl Ford yesterday, several of his friends and relatives erupted into applause and cries of relief as they hugged each other in exultation.
Ford, 24, of 1607 Bluebird, was tried in county court for resisting arrest during a Sept. 19th, 1982 incident at Malone-Hogan Hospital. Three other members of his family were also arrested at that time. Charges against them were dropped after the five-man, one-woman jury delivered the verdict of innocence, according to prosecuting County Attorney Bob Miller.

The jury deliberated one hour before reaching their verdict after hearing two varied stories of the incident from three witnesses.

The bulk of the prosecution's testimony came from Big Spring Police Officer Oscar Everett. Everett testified about events of the night of Sept. 19th leading up to the arrest of Ford.

After receiving a call of an assault in progress on Bluebird Street and a second call of an injured woman, Everett said he arrived to find a vehicle with "between five and seven people" leaving for the hospital with the injured mother of Ford.

Everett said he followed the car to the hospital and talked to Ford's sister, brother and brother-in-law to discover what happened. The two brothers were arguing which upset the mother so much she required medical treatment, he said. "Nobody at this time had said anything about hitting ... I was fixing to leave," Everett said.

The defendant was "upset and rather belligerent ... loud and boisterous," while outside the emergency room, Everett said. "At this point, Sgt. (Jimmy) Wallace came up ... Michael Carl (Ford) started yelling," he said.

Miller asked Everett what Ford was yelling. "Several obscenities, not very pleasant in mixed company ... several nurses were present," Everett said. "Nothing came out of it at this time."
Wallace asked Ford to move the car from blocking the emergency entrance. Everett said, and to settle down. The protest continued, however, and Wallace warned Ford he would be arrested for disorderly conduct. "Ford said he wasn't going to be arrested by nobody," the officer testified.

"He (Wallace) had told Michael Carl Ford to place his hands on the car," Everett said. "He was starting to bring 'em up ... I grabbed one, Wallace the other ... of course he started kicking."

Wallace was kicked near the knee while "all I caught was the heel of his foot" from Ford, Everett said. The defendant kept saying "words that represent intercourse ... fatherless children" during the struggle, Everett said.
While Wallace fought to arrest Ford, Everett said Ford's sister, Carol Ford Neal, started pushing them, saying they had no right to arrest her brother. "I was arresting her for hampering the arrest of Mr. Ford," Everett said. A third relative joined the melee as Corbert Newton tried to hit Wallace "but knocked my glasses off" instead, the officer recalled. All parties were arrested, he said.

Wallace was presently on vacation in the Bermudas, Everett said.
Officer Charles Doan testified next for the prosecution. He told the jury he arrived on the scene Sept. 19th to see Everett "wrestling with a female" and Wallace with "a subject up against a car." Ford had one hand pinned behind his back, Doan testified. "The other was free, (he was) trying to swing with it."
Under cross-examination from Ford's court-appointed attorney, Jack Thompson, Doan said he "never had anything to do with arresting Michael (Ford)."
When the prosecution rested, Thompson called his client to the

Missed pool shot puts chief of police behind eight ball

By GREG JAKLEWICZ
Staff Writer

Contrary to what he's telling his friends, Big Spring Police Chief Rick Turner was not injured in the line of duty.

He was only in the line of fire. If you've seen Chief Turner lately, you'll notice him sporting a bandage on his head. His fellow officers joke their boss rules the department like a sultan. Now, they say, he's even trying to dress the part.

But here's the true story ... Chief Turner was invited to a party for Big Spring High coaches Friday night ... for two reasons. First, he's a loyal Steers fan. Secondly, name a better bouncer than the chief of police.

Engrossed in a private conversation, Chief Turner never saw defensive coach Jack Sharp miss an easy shot during a heated billiards game. Coach Sharp reacted to his muff as a baseball slugger would seeing a belt-high fastball.

He took a big swing with his stick. The problem with his swing was he didn't miss. The cue shattered into three pieces and one jagged piece struck Chief Turner in the forehead, leveling him quicker than a punch from Muhammad Ali.
The Chief was taken to the hospital, probably not in as much pain as Coach Sharp. Already feeling bad about the unfortunate accident, he was cornered and scolded by wife Susan. She reminded him he coached football and not baseball. Why try to imitate Reggie Jackson?
Alas, the story has a happy ending. Chief Turner returned, looking like an Arab sheik. Coach Sharp was the first person to greet him and quickly apologized. Turner smiled, accepted and shook hands with his friend.
Later, Turner was overheard saying, "When I came to Big Spring, I expected to be shot at, stabbed or mugged. But I never thought I'd be assaulted by a pool cue."

Front seat stolen from automobile

Police said they arrested 68-year-old Rosa Hare of 1201 Lloyd yesterday afternoon on suspicion of theft under $5. Ms. Hare paid bond and was released, police reports said.

The suspect was arrested at Furr's Super Market, 900 11th Place, after employees told police they saw a white female shoplift a jar of deodorant and a bottle of seasoning, place it in her purse and leave the store without paying.

- Betty Finley, an employee of Smallwood's Western Wear, 110 E. Third, told police that a black male and black female left the store yesterday afternoon with a $292 brown leather jacket without paying for it. Ms. Finley said she did not see the couple take the jacket, but that it was missing after they left.
- Johnny King of 4201 Oak said someone stole the front seat and two speakers from a car parked at his residence between Saturday and Wednesday.
- Someone stole a $200 rear window shade kit Tuesday night from a car parked at Classic Auto Sales, 500 E. Fourth.
- Sylvia Acuff of 509 Aylford said someone stabbed her car's windshield four times with a screwdriver she keeps to open the car's trunk. The car was damaged while parked at Bowl-A-Rama on East Highway between 12:30 a.m. and 2:15 a.m. today.
- Joseph Wrye of 632 Caylor said two white males he knows came to his residence about 1 p.m. yesterday, harassed him and that one of them struck Wrye in the mouth with his fist.
- Vehicles driven by Herbert L. Hock of 1400 Main and Phoebe I. McCall of 2506 Cheyenne collided at Scurry and West 17th about 12:45 yesterday. Police cited Ms. McCall for disregarding a stop sign. No injuries were reported.
- Garry E. Spence of 1709 Yale was treated and released from Malone-Hogan emergency room after a vehicle he was driving collided with a vehicle driven by Willie M.D. Foster of 1504 State Park. The accident occurred at W. F. M. 700 and Wasson Road about 5:40 p.m. yesterday. Police cited Foster for failure to yield right-of-way.

C-City Lions Club meets

COLORADO CITY (SC) — Ebb Grindstaff of Ballinger, president of Lions International, presented the address when the Colorado City Noon Lions Club celebrated its 60th anniversary recently in the Civic Center.

Receiving distinguished service awards were Dr. Bill Rhode, former Congressman George Mahon and C.C. Thompson.

Real estate firm offers new finance plan for homebuyers

ERA Real Estate in Big Spring is introducing a new program to help qualified homeowners buy a home without the financial burden of owning two properties at the same time, even if their old house hasn't been sold, according to Ken Montgomery of ERA Colkan, Inc.

Montgomery said ERA's new Sellers Security Plan was introduced here after market testing last year in urban and rural areas from Georgia to Utah.

He said the program gives the seller of a home a signed contract guaranteeing to buy a listed home at a price agreed on in advance if the property cannot be sold within 210 days. In addition, he noted, sellers can receive up to $100,000 toward their down payment even if the old house hasn't been sold at closing time.

"ERA initially developed the Sellers Security Plan to provide peace-of-mind protection to persons who are transferred out of town," Montgomery said. "But during the test market they discovered the plan also helps people who just want to move up into nicer housing within the same community."

He added that any profit from later resale of the original property is shared equally with the former owner after deducting any expense incurred by ERA. He said the program is limited to resale houses appraised in the $30,000 to $250,000 range.

MOSCOW MOURNS — This poster of Soviet President Leonid Brezhnev still stands in downtown Moscow today. Brezhnev's death was announced Thursday. The poster reads, "The strength of the party is in unity with the people."

Brezhnev

"socialism with a human face."

As Communist Party chief and president, Brezhnev saw the Soviet Union achieve its aim of becoming a true global power. Strategic balance with the United States was confirmed in 1972 when he signed the SALT I treaty with President Richard M. Nixon.

But when Brezhnev died, the Soviet economy was stagnating and the life of ordinary Soviet citizens was not improving. For the first time since World War II, Red Army soldiers were involved in a war — fighting to prop up a shaky Marxist regime in Afghanistan.

The new Soviet leadership also will face continued turmoil in Poland, the withering of detente, new strains with the United States and no solution to the Soviet-China split.

The official Tass news agency said today that the president and party secretary general had died a "sudden death."

No cause of death was given as given in the official obituary, although Brezhnev has been ailing for years and there were reports he suffered from heart trouble, a stroke and cancer.

stand. Ford's recollections of the night differed primarily about the physical violence and the profanity at the hospital.

Ford said he was upset that night about his mother when Wallace poked him on the shoulder. "Just leave me alone," Ford said he told him. "He kept talking so I got up and walked... I didn't curse him." Ford was unable to move the car after Wallace requested it because he did not have the keys, he said.

"When I got out, he said 'I thought I told you to move that car,'" Ford said. The 24-year-old said he pointed to Newton to get the keys and Wallace thought he was pointing at him. "He told me to put my hands on the car," Ford said. "My sister had one of my arms, she's asking why he's arresting me."

Rebutting Everett's testimony, Ford said the second officer never grabbed his arms nor did he kick Wallace. Wallace "started choking me...he said arrest her too...every last one of us was arrested."

During cross-examination from Miller, Ford said he was convicted in 1980 for breaking and entering. His probation was revoked and he served seven months at the Texas Department of Corrections in Huntsville before being paroled. He was on parole until 1985, Ford said.

Ford said he did not curse except to say "damn" when he was arrested. Asked if he kicked or punched the officers, Ford replied "How could I punch and kick while I was handcuffed?"

Everett returned to the stand to demonstrate with Miller how Wallace was holding Ford when he was kicked and hit by the defendant. With Miller holding his right arm, Everett swung his left forearm into the attorney's chest to duplicate his memory of Wallace and Ford's struggle. He repeated how both officers had grabbed Ford.

During final arguments, Miller told the jury they were the "exclusive judge of the credibility of the witnesses." He asked "how much more do the police have to put up with?" Mistakenly referring to Ford as "Young" on five occasions, Miller told the jury to think about what Ford said during the incident. "You live in this community...you tell us what we should do," Miller said.

Thompson appealed to the jury that a conviction would put Ford back in prison because his parole would be revoked. "You people are the only ones who stand between the people and the strong arm of the law," Thompson said. "Do you want to put Michael in the pen for disorderly conduct?"

As Miller began his final argument, Thompson stood up and the two argued briefly about whether or not a conviction would automatically revoke Ford's parole.

Shuttle

to life at 6:19:0068 a.m. CST.

It was Columbia's second straight on-time launching, something NASA needs to achieve routinely to show paying customers that the shuttle can meet a timetable. Launch director Al O'Hara jokingly apologized because the ship departed 68-thousandths of a second late.

"It was as near-perfect as we could expect," O'Hara said.

Because of the need to have Columbia in the right place at the right time to eject the payloads, the launch team had only a 33-minute period in which to get the delivery truck off the ground today.

Cheers and shouts of encouragement erupted from an estimated 120,000 people who watched Columbia's blazing sendoff. The roar of the engines sent a thunderclap rolling across the Cape, shaking the ground and vibrating buildings at Kennedy Space Center offices several miles from launch pad 39A.

It was the shuttle's fifth perfect liftoff in as many tries; the shuttle's April 1981 flight was the first of four test missions.

Brand, Overmyer and Lenoir rode in the cockpit. Allen rode in a seat installed in a mid-deck area beneath the main cabin. They wore NASA blue-cotton coveralls that replaced the awkward brown pressure suits required on America's 35 previous man-in-space missions.

After about 50 seconds, the shuttle, moving ever more swiftly on its towering pillar of smoke, pierced through the most dangerous point in the ascent — an area where the craft is buffeted by maximum aerodynamic forces.

The ship rose into a clear sky and was still in sight when it shed its two 149-foot solid boosters, two minutes into the flight, sending them toward a parachute landing in the Atlantic Ocean where ships waited to recover them for reuse.

Unlike Columbia's fourth flight, when the parachutes failed and the boosters sank, NASA reported the rockets landed intact and were floating about 140 miles east of Cape Canaveral. Engineering changes had been made to correct the problem.

The astronauts, looking forward to five days in space and a return next Tuesday, continued driving upward under the power of their main engines, accelerating ever faster as they plunged into the thinner upper air. These engines burn out after 8 1/2 minutes and thrust the ship into orbit.

During the early hours, the crew thoroughly checked the vehicle's systems, opened the cargo bay doors, reported readings from the SBS satellite looked good and relayed television pictures of the satellites nestled in the bay.

They reported only one minor problem, a faulty screen on a computer readout screen.

"It's a little like your home TV having the picture slip to the lower left corner of the tube and then starts flashing," Overmyer said.

NASA officials gave the final go-ahead to continue the countdown just before midnight Wednesday after evaluating weather problems in the western United States.

At Edwards Air Force Base in California, the shuttle's desert runway was rain-soaked and unusable, and conditions were also bad at the back-up strip on the White Sands Missile Range, N.M. The Kennedy Space Center runway here remained available for an emergency landing.

National Aeronautics and Space Administration officials switched Columbia's landing destination from the desert floor to Edwards' runway 22, a concrete strip used at the end of mission four last July 4.

freedom. Anybody who wouldn't fight for freedom doesn't deserve that freedom."

After the disaster at Pearl Harbor, Roosevelt sent another directive saying that everyone in the service would remain in the service for the duration of the war, plus six months.

To Fanny, freshly enlisted in the Army Nurse Corps, it was an exciting time.

"After Pearl Harbor, we were excited," she said. "We didn't have TV then — we listened to the radio. We stayed up all night. I signed up to go overseas. I'd always had a romantic feeling about the islands — I don't know why."

Assigned to the 172nd Station Hospital, Fanny was first sent to Melbourne, Australia, then to Brisbane, where she cared for casualties from the fighting in the Solomons and Guadalcanal. From there, the hospital island hopped just behind the front lines to a series of battle zones before V-J Day.

"We were in combat the whole time," Fanny said. "I was on night duty most of the time, and at two or three o'clock in the morning, we'd hear the guns and rifle fire."

Amazingly, Fanny says she "wasn't scared. I guess it was just how I was brought up."

"I saw a lot of things, but you see a lot of things over here. Just being in a war and trying to win it gave us the incentive to do our best."

"Sometimes it would almost make you cry," Fanny said. "When you'd run out of materials. Then you have to make do with what you have."

The ship carrying most of the hospital's supplies was bombed and sank, resulting in the hospital being very short on supplies for a while.

"It wasn't too uncomfortable," Fanny said. "It just wasn't too pretty. We even had to save our dressings, and we boiled them in lye water. But we never had a cross infection."

Although she doesn't own a television — she believes in living simply — Fanny has seen the popular "M.A.S.H." based on a field hospital in Korea.

"It's not like that," she said. "You have the tents, the beds and the patients, but you don't have all the love affairs, and it's not so much fun as they make it seem. Then, we worked 12 hours a day. We had to wear men's clothing and sleep under mosquito netting because of the mosquitoes. And you're constantly alert...but it's just a story. I understand that."

Still, Fanny says she made a lot of friends in the military and "sure would go back with 'no hesitation' if she could."

"I was proud of being a U.S. Nurse," she said. "I'm proud of nursing — my sister is a nurse and my mother was a nurse. My father was in the Army. He was real proud when I enlisted. My brother wasn't old enough to enlist then, but he went into the Navy before the war was over."

Fanny says there was never any stigma attached to her being in the "man's world" of the military.

"I think that's mainly against the women going into combat," she said. "I was a R.N., we were right behind the men and we belonged there — that was our place. I don't approve of women going into combat. In some respects, yes, women veterans are sometimes ignored — but sometimes the men are ignored, too. The magazines I get are sort of pushing for separate things for the women veterans, and I think that's a good idea."

After her eventual discharge, Fanny went to work for the Veteran's Administration as a nurse. When her husband died in 1961, she moved to Big Spring to work for the VA because she wanted "something with more teeth in it than office nursing."

"Nursing has changed 'greatly' since her heyday, Fanny says.

"I see a lot of young girls now who were brought up on momma and daddy's pocketbook and haven't worked like I did," she said. "But a lot of them work just like I did through school. We all have to do the same things — there's a certain amount of hours of study and the state board."

"It's easier now," she said. "Now they're paid to go to school. We got a roof over our heads, and food, and some clothing, but that's all. I didn't mind — I had my eyes set on a goal."

Fanny is still active in nursing, working part time at the Big Spring State Hospital and with blood pressure clinics around town.

Fanny calls herself a "simple" person, "humble and honest. I like to work with people and to serve my fellow man."

A military veteran, a nurse for 42 years, Fanny has served her fellow man.

Wood jurors hear jail tapes

By KATHRYN BAKER
Associated Press Writer

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — Tape recordings of Charles V. Harrelson's jailhouse conversations contained no hard evidence of any involvement in the slaying of U.S. District Judge John H. Wood Jr., but did show Harrelson tried to quiet potential witnesses against him.

Jurors in Harrelson's murder trial finished hearing the tapes Wednesday.

The most damaging testimony against Harrelson, a convicted hitman, came not from the tapes but from the jailmate who surreptitiously recorded Harrelson's visitors at the Harris County Jail in April and May 1981.

Convict John Spinelli recorded seven hours of tape on behalf of the FBI while he was in a cell next to Harrelson's.

"If she talks, they're going to burn me for ringing Wood's bell," Harrelson muttered after watching a television news report about his stepdaughter, according to Spinelli.

Spinelli said he was not able to record the remark because he was walking back from the jail shower when he overheard Harrelson.

Harrelson is accused of shooting Wood on May 29, 1979, for a $250,000 fee from Jimmy Chagra.

Also on trial are Harrelson's wife, Jo Ann, charged with conspiracy to obstruct justice, and Chagra's wife, Elizabeth, charged with conspiracy in Wood's murder.

Harrelson's stepdaughter, Teresa Starr Jasper, has testified she picked up an alleged payoff from Mrs. Chagra and delivered it to the Harrelsons.

Chagra, who was to have been tried by Wood on drug charges, will be tried for murder later.

On Wednesday, jurors heard two hours of tapes of Harrelson talking to his wife through a small window in a jail door.

Much of the conversation was unintelligible, and Harrelson frequently spoke in a code, indicating he suspected he was being taped.

But Harrelson directed his wife to carry a message to her daughter, Mrs. Jasper, who was being held in a Uvalde jail for refusing to testify before the grand jury investigating Wood's death.

Gymnast opens exercise facility for Big Springers

Big Spring Gymnastics, 112 E. Second, recently opened its doors with Lee Ann Powers, a certified gymnastic coach, at the helm.

Ms. Powers attended Bethany Nazarene and Howard colleges and she has 10 years of experience giving gymnastic lessons. She also studied under Jan King, a nationally known gymnast.

Ms. Powers has lessons planned for boys and girls, aged three years and older. Lessons include floor exercise, balance beam, parallel bars and the horse. Also planned are meets, competitions, a travel team and exhibitions.

Polish government releases Walesa

By THOMAS W. NETTER
Associated Press Writer

WARSAW, Poland — Poland's Communist government said today it is releasing Solidarity leader Lech Walesa and claimed he had offered to come to terms with the martial law regime.

The announcement came a day after failure of a general strike called by underground leaders of the outlawed labor union and several hours after the announcement of the death of Soviet President Leonid Brezhnev.

Government spokesman Jerzy Urban told foreign reporters at a hurriedly-called news conference Thursday the legendary 39-year-old leader of the independent labor movement would be freed "in a few days" after 11 months in confinement.

He said the release was delayed by technical reasons but did not elaborate.

Urban said Walesa wrote Gen. Wojciech Jaruzelski, the premier, Communist Party chief and head of the martial law regime, three days ago offering to come to terms with the government.

"I suggest a meeting and a serious discussion of the problems of our country," Urban quoted Walesa as saying in his letter. "A solution can certainly be found with good will on both sides."

As a result of the letter, the spokesman continued, the interior minister, Gen. Czeslaw Kiszczak, went to talk with Walesa in southeastern Poland and then ordered the police in Gdansk, Walesa's home on the Baltic coast, to lift the internet order.

Walesa in the past refused to come to terms with the government, and his wife after a visit to him last month reported he was still defiant.

Walesa's wife, Danuta, was at their home in Gdansk but told The Associated Press by telephone she had not been informed of her husband's impending release.

Walesa, a former shipyard worker in Gdansk, became the leader of the independent labor movement and an international hero in the West during the nationwide strike wave in the summer of 1980 that resulted in the legalization of Solidarity, the first legal labor union independent of Communist Party control in the Soviet bloc.

He was arrested last Dec. 13 when Jaruzelski proclaimed martial law as the first step toward outlawing Solidarity. He was held for five months at a villa outside Warsaw, then last May was moved to a government resort at Arlamow, in southeast Poland, where he was kept in solitary house arrest.

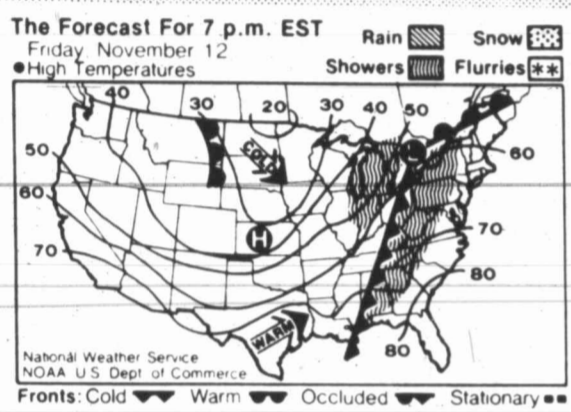

The Sejm, Poland's government-controlled Parliament, banned Solidarity on Oct. 8, and underground leaders of the union still at large called a nationwide protest strike Wednesday. But despite street clashes Wednesday night, the strike call went largely unheeded by workers threatened with harsh penalties for defying the Communist government, authorities said.

Warsaw radio reported overnight that appeals by the underground with the backing of Western centers for a general strike and street demonstrations have ended in a fiasco.

TEAR GAS — Tear gas canisters burst near a group of demonstrators in Warsaw Wednesday as security forces break up a demonstration by workers protesting the outlawing of the Solidarity labor union.

War is 'bunk'

So says America's oldest veteran, age 108

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP) — The man recognized as America's oldest military veteran volunteered to fight in two wars. But now, says 108-year-old Harry Chaloner, beliefs that war is inevitable are just plain "bunk."

"War is 'self-serving,' fought by nations and people for selfish interests," Chaloner said in an interview on the eve of observances planned around the nation today for Veterans Day.

"There should never be any wars at all," he declared. "Ah, it's all bunk."

Chaloner, who has lived for the past 10 years at the 350-acre Bay Pines Veterans Administration Medical Center, is the nation's oldest veteran, according to assistant director Mack Mackall.

The Canadian-born ex-soldier, who has snow-white hair, described how he was 24 when war broke out between Spain and the United States.

He enlisted in the 1st Ohio Cavalry but contracted malaria on the way to Cuba in 1898. His weight dropped from 180 to 118 pounds, and he spent the rest of the war recovering in an Alabama hospital, he told the Florida Times-Union of Jacksonville.

That's how he missed the famous charge up San Juan Hill. But Chaloner says he served under Theodore Roosevelt and found the future president to be "a real nice fellow."

After Cuba won its independence from Spain, Chaloner returned to Cleveland and his job as a railway dispatcher. He married, but the marriage fell apart and Chaloner was single again when World War I broke out in Europe in 1914.

Chaloner again volunteered, but was considered too old for front line service in the United States, so he returned to Canada, which his family had left when he was 7.

The Canadians welcomed him back into their infantry.

For three years in World War I, he fought on the western front in France and Belgium, and spent six months under fire at Ypres, a town that was then a "hell-hole," he says. He attained the rank of corporal and saw brutal, hand-to-hand combat in the trenches.

Once, Chaloner recalled, he and a group of privates were out bathing and an artillery shell zoomed into their living quarters and exploded. Everyone inside was killed, he said.

Reagan holds press conference tonight at 7

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Reagan, holding a nationally broadcast news conference tonight, faces questions on whether he will support a doubling of the gasoline tax, trim Pentagon spending and relax anti-Soviet pipeline sanctions.

The president also is expected to be asked about financing for the troubled Social Security system and if he has decided on a basing system for the MX missile.

Tonight's news conference — at 7 p.m. CST — is Reagan's first meeting with the press since Sept. 28, and his 14th news conference in 22 months in office.

Despite the heavy agenda of pending issues, Reagan probably won't be armed with a pocketful of decisions to announce, aides cautioned. One White House official privately described the news conference as one coming in between major decisions.

For example, Reagan has until Dec. 1 under a congressional mandate to announce his MX decision, and will not announce a decision tonight, aides said. Defense Secretary Caspar Weinberger reportedly favors the so-called "dense pack" plan in which 100 missiles would be deployed in super-hardened silos spaced close together.

Likewise, the gasoline tax decision and defense spending questions are part of budget preparations that will go on for weeks — probably up until January when the package is submitted to Congress.

Transportation Secretary Drew Lewis tried to sell Reagan Wednesday on supporting an increase in the federal gasoline tax — making it 8 cents — to finance repairs of the nation's highways and bridges.

Although officials said the proposal has strong support in the Cabinet, Lewis said Reagan had not made up his mind. He already has rejected the proposal once.

Lewis said the plan would create 320,000 jobs, but insisted that creating jobs is only a welcome byproduct of the rebuilding program.

World powers ready for Brezhnev's death

By BARRY SCHWEID
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON — The Kremlin — and the United States — have been preparing for the death of Soviet President Leonid I. Brezhnev for at least two years, so the shock to both systems is likely to be limited.

In the Kremlin, a makeshift board of directors had already taken over most decision-making powers, and three possible contenders had emerged as potential successors once Brezhnev passed away, according to U.S. officials.

Here, at the other end of the U.S.-Soviet relationship, officials are expecting no great departures from an aggressive foreign policy that has remained relatively static while Brezhnev's energies ebbed away.

Former Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger, who dealt with the Soviets during the Nixon and Ford administrations, expects no fundamental change in East-West relations. He said in Paris the Kremlin will be preoccupied for "the next months and maybe years by leadership problems."

The Kremlin is expected to focus its efforts on an orderly transition, cautious not to jangle the nerves of 262 million citizens experiencing harder times with the shortages of meat and other essentials as winter approaches.

"Their major concern is their domestic legitimacy," said a U.S. analyst last week, as Brezhnev faded away. "Their real concern is that the people — the unwashed — are going to rise up. There is a tremendous concern about people's loyalties. They do believe that Russians are anarchists."

With that in mind, and as Brezhnev's infirmities multiplied, five men in the Kremlin gradually took charge, reducing the Soviet president to little more than a symbol, U.S. officials said.

Without a formal agreement, and even while at least two were jockeying to inherit Brezhnev's mantle, the five — Konstantin Chernenko, Yuri Andropov, Andrei A. Gromyko, Dmitri Ustinov and Nikolai A. Tikhonov — ran the Soviet government. Chernenko, who was Brezhnev's right-hand man, and Andropov, former head of the KGB, the secret police, found their own powers increasing to the point they are considered by Reagan administration analysts to be the two leading contenders to succeed Brezhnev.

Andropov gained immediate prominence today with his appointment as chairman of a committee to arrange the state funeral and burial in Red Square. The gesture could reflect that his star is rising with the Soviet power structure.

Victor Grishin, head of the Communist party in Moscow, is also thought to be in the running. A fourth erstwhile contender, Andrei Kirilenko, is in poor health and no longer figures in U.S. speculation. In fact, when rumors reached here Wednesday that a Soviet leader had died, some administration officials thought it might be the 76-year-old Kirilenko.

Brezhnev no longer chaired Kremlin committees. "He really isn't running the country anymore," another U.S. analyst observed on Monday. But he was kept in symbolic power because "they feel it's better than to have an open leadership fight."

The quiet transition actually began with the death of Premier Alexei Kosygin two years ago and accelerated with the passing in January of Mikhail Suslov, the leading Communist party theoretician.

In the meantime, the Reagan administration came into power here and embarked on a major arms buildup.

Possibly because the transition was under way, or perhaps in response to a toughened U.S. foreign policy, the Soviets were less ambitious abroad.

"As long as the Soviet government is in a transition period, it's unlikely to take any new initiatives, either of a positive or a negative kind," a top administration official noted recently.

Another said the Soviets might have been tempted in the late 1970s to challenge the United States by moving into Iran or into Southeast Asia.

Man hurt in explosion

WEST LAKE, La. (AP) — A nitrogen line exploded at the Olin Corp. chemical plant near Lake Charles today, touching off a fire that critically burned one man in the plant's ammonia unit, Calcasieu Parish sheriff's deputies said.

"About 6:30 this morning they had an explosion going into the ammonia plant at Olin. A fire followed the explosion," said Chief Deputy Larry Dailey.

"One subject was burned real bad, possibly right at 100 percent of his body."

Officials at West Calcasieu-Cameron Hospital identified him as Brian Manuel, 28, of Lake Charles. "I'm sure if he can be moved he will be moved to the burn center in Galveston," Dailey said.

Authorities at one time said two other men were unaccounted for, but later said Manuel was the only person injured.

Veterans deserve our recognition

Da Nang ... Pork Chop Hill ... Normandy ... Iwo Jima ... Verdun ... San Juan Hill ... Gettysburg ... New Orleans ... Valley Forge

The honor roll of places with familiar, blood stained names is easy to remember. Every place where Americans have gone in anger, they have left their mark.

Their mark on the souls and the spirit of their country is just as real, just as permanent, as their sacrifice.

In our day to day living, far away from the steamy, deadly jungles of Viet Nam; the blood-washed beaches of France or the terrifying trenches of the first World War, it's easy to forget the sacrifices these men and women made in the name of the nebulous ideal of freedom.

Called upon by their country, they gave up part of lives to fight for their fellow man.

Some died. Some lost a leg or an arm. Some will carry the emotional horrors of their experiences to their graves. But for some, the scars have partially healed with time.

Many go about their day to day lives with a semblance of normality. Others waste away in Veteran's Hospitals, forgotten by the people for whom they sacrificed.

Do not let today, Veterans' Day 1982, go by without saying "Thank you" to a veteran — his sacrifice may be the reason you are here today, free.

Premarital sex is wrong

DEAR DR. GRAHAM: Why do you keep saying that sex outside of marriage is wrong? It has become very common and accepted within our society so I don't see why you should take the position that it is wrong. — T.B.

DEAR T.B.: I want you to think about what you are really suggesting for a minute. What you are saying is that our moral standards (whether about sex or any other moral question) should depend on what happens to be popular at the moment. If something is accepted by most people, then it must be right.

To take an extreme example, if most people believed it was all right to murder handicapped people, you would have to say that it must be morally right.

I do not agree with this viewpoint, because moral standards do not just depend on what is popular or accepted. Instead, moral standards have been given to us by God, and that is why we should take them as absolute truths which should not be broken. There are some things in life that are always right, and there are some things in life that are always wrong.

Why? Because God has said they are. God has said, for instance, "You shall not commit adultery" (Exodus 20:14). The Bible also commands us to be completely faithful to our marriage vows. "Marriage should be honored by all, and the marriage bed kept pure, for God will judge the adulterer and all the sexually immoral" (Hebrews 13:4).

Why does God give us firm moral guidelines, such as you find in the Ten Commandments or the Sermon on the Mount? I hope you will note this very carefully: God gives them to us for our good. God loves us, and because he is God he knows what is best for us. He knows that a life which treats sexual relationships very casually will never be able to experience the real joy and trust of a committed marriage.

There is much more I could say about this, but I want to close by asking you a question. Have you ever honestly faced your own need of God in your life? He loves you, and he wants you to come to know him personally by faith in Christ. Don't turn your back on him either by your behavior or your attitude. Instead, make it your goal to come to know him and his will for your life.

Around the Rim

A deal in the night

The heat of the South Florida night hung still in the air.

Posed in the doorway of a long abandoned warehouse, the silhouette figure struck a match. The brief flame shadowed the face of a man strangely out of place in the dockyards where tattooed arms lift cargo by day and darkened forms avoid guard lights at night.

Nervous eyes shot up and down the street as he realized the flame had given his hiding place away. He shifted his position and peered at his watch, barely able to make out its 1:07 reading.

The rendezvous was behind schedule. Again he squinted up and down the eerie-lit street, listening for footsteps but hearing only the harbor sounds. A slight breeze ruffled his neatly-cropped hair and sent a chill down the sweat-soaked spine of his shirt. He was waiting for footsteps yet secretly hoping their arrival never would come.

What was he doing here, he asked himself. The whole plan had seemed so tempting, although so far-fetched at first. He wished he never agreed to meeting Frank's friend at this god-forsaken hour. The last two weeks had been total hell, the fear and anticipation wringing out his brain like a soaked sponge.

His heartbeat kept time with the foot tapping the entrance landing. He remembered how it had been. His rise to prosperity had been too quick, he reflected. Money, that was the poison. When the money came, the pleasures of life followed. At first it was the sports car and then the home in Palmwood. Next came the beautiful women, the parties, the fast times romantically associated with society's elite.

Of course, he smiled, good times demand even better ones and that called for more money. Ah yes, more money. Instead of working for it — his self-made father's hardened advice rining in his ear — he turned to the easy out when times got tough.

When his cash reserve dwindled and the bills could be avoided no longer, he asked Frank for help. Frank — his college roommate, best man at his first wedding, his golf partner — proved to be his worst enemy. He trusted Frank when he promised help. "I have a friend," he remembers Frank saying over a scotch at O'Shaunessy's that evening.

Then a side of Frank he never knew surfaced, like a cube of ice from the bottom of a glass. "Have you ever done... cocaine?" Frank whispered, stirring his scotch with a wry grin. Of course not, he answered firmly. Well lot's of people do, Frank went on. Plenty of money to be made, exchanging a few grams of white powder for cash. A nice, tidy profit... a simple solution to his financial crisis.

Frank looked hard into his eyes. "Christ, Frank, what do think I am... some back-street dope trafficker, he almost yelled to the whole bar. The mere suggestion insulted him but as Frank silently gazed at him, the wicked idea seeped into his senses. As Frank's mouth edged again into a half-smile and his head nodded slowly, the solution to his problems poisoned his senses.

And he had nodded, too. Staring straight-ahead, he heard Frank unveil a plan. It was something right out of a cheap paperback but suddenly he was the main character. His soul was uneasy but Frank's reassurance calmed his fears.

Frank had contacted this "friend," a person invisible as the night air but the one he had expected 17 minutes ago.

Sweaty fingers straightened his glasses. "One thirty. That's all. Then he'd leave."

The thought had no time to sink in when a hand clasped his shoulder. His heart stopped in mid-beat and then pounded tango rhythm as he turned around.

"Full moon tonight, over the Keys," the shadow hissed. He recognized the code phrase.

"Nice for a midnight sail," he replied, his voice quivering. "Are you Frank's friend?"

"Never mind the pleasantries. You got the cash?" the shadow asked, pausing. "It better all be there," he hissed again, now thumbing the stack of bills produced from a knapsack. "My friends like to count but they don't like to find errors," he said, his grin catching the dim street light.

The shadow reached into his pocket and placed a capsule in his customer's hand. He closed his palm, squeezing the life from his white savior. "Take good care of that," the shadow warned before it faded into the dockyard darkness.

And he was alone again. But not by himself. He clenched the capsule and realized he was in now. No turning back. What he was doing here suddenly had no importance. Succeeding with the plan was now everything.

He glanced up the street and began his way down. His pounding heart and short breaths drowned the rush of footsteps behind him. Only when a pair of headlights exploded on him, staggering him back into the hands of the footstep did he realize he had never been alone this evening.

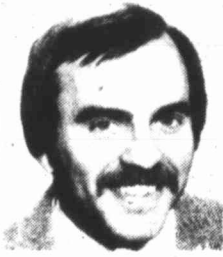

The capsule dropped to the asphalt but was quickly retrieved by a man in uniform. He looked at the capsule in the blinding light and walked up to him.

"You're under arrest," he announced, almost triumphantly.

His heart fell with his eyes, perhaps never to ascend again.

As the patrol car turned the corner towards a return to civilization, he thought he saw the shadow. He blinked his watery eyes.

Oh God, what had he done? He buried his head and cried as his life wisked away in the still heat of a South Florida night.

Politics, fiction and Nobels

Latin America, source of some of the most innovative literature written in recent years, has finally gotten an overdue recognition. This year's Nobel Prize in Literature was given to the Colombian novelist Gabriel Garcia Marquez, author of "One Hundred Years of Solitude."

But this recognition was cause for bewilderment as well as celebration: the Academy once again passed over Jorge Luis Borges, the 83-year-old Argentine who made Latin American literature the object of interest around the world.

Marquez, though much younger, is not unworthy; his works are at once breathtaking leaps into fantasy and scathing portrayals of life in his native region. But his works owe a vast debt to Borges. Even this year's Nobel Laureate says as much: "I hope he receives it, and I still don't understand why they haven't given it to him."

The answer does no damage to Borges' reputation, but much to that of the Nobel Prize. One member of the Swedish Academy has made it known that he simply finds the Argentine's political views intolerable. Borges, whose writings betray no ideological bias, traces those views to his father, an individualist anarchist. He has criticized despotic regimes whatever their coloration — fascist, communist, or, in his own country, Peronist.

"I have never had any sympathy for socialism," he said once. "I have been brought up to think that the individual should be strong and the state weak." Those sentiments can only cause him trouble with the Academy, whose past winners include such leftists as Pablo Neruda, Albert Camus and Jean-Paul Sartre — in addition to Marquez.

Borges is neither well-known outside his own continent nor prolific. His works, which weren't translated into English until 1962, are hard to find in American bookstores. His entire fiction output amounts to only a few dozen short stories.

But, one critic writes, Borges is "someone no Latin American writer can easily escape." Another calls him "the one Latin American writer to have made a permanent mark on the literary world as a whole."

His fiction differs from almost anything that had gone before. It echoes Kafka in its preoccupation with the world's bewildering complexity, and Gogol in its deadpan absurdity. But his stories resemble philosophical essays as much as traditional fiction. They deal with the most intractable questions: free will, the meaning of existence, the nature of knowledge.

The same could be said of most fiction, of course, but in Borges' the metaphysical element dominates to an almost unprecedented degree. He skimps on characterization and dialogue, relying on intricate plots. His stories are small epiphanies, illuminating deep questions in brief flashes.

In Borges' stories, the reader never knows what is real and what illusory. They recall the tale one character concocts to justify a murder, which impressed everyone because it was true. Only the circumstances were false, and the time, and one or two proper names.

A man in "The Circular Ruins" dreams himself a son who passes in the world as real, and then dies — only to discover that "he too was a mere appearance, dreamt by another." "The Lottery in Babylon" tells of a country in which every event, large and small, is determined by a lottery run by a secretive company. But the citizens begin to doubt that the company exists; they fear that, in fact, "life in Babylon is nothing less than an infinite game of chance."

Another story relates the discovery of an encyclopedia entry about the planet of Tlon, where tigers are transparent and the prime unit of speech is the monosyllabic adjective. It is, we learn, a fraud, demonstrating to a "nonexistent God that mortal man was capable of conceiving a world."

Borges is a skeptic, doubting what is obvious to everyone else. But his disdain for dogmatism prevents his stories from becoming mere tracts. He wonders — what if the world is not as we think it is? — and then offers a glimpse of an alternative reality.

It is this liberation of the imagination that has inspired a generation of Latin American novelists (most notably Marquez), as well as writers around the world. Today, it is probably impossible to write serious fiction without being influenced in some measure by Jorge Luis Borges. The Swedish Academy can ignore Borges' achievements, but it can't diminish them.

VIPs misuse official planes

WASHINGTON — When Adm. John Hayes, commandant of the U.S. Coast Guard, wants to fly out of Washington on official business, he doesn't have to check airline schedules like lesser mortals. He simply has his driver take him to an inconspicuous white hangar at the north end of National Airport and hops aboard a Coast Guard plane kept there for his convenience.

When Federal Aviation Administrator J. Lynn Helms wants to take a trip, he uses his agency's $800-a-hour Citation jet, and generally takes his wife along for the ride.

The planes Hayes and Helms commandeer for their trips are just two of the 650 aircraft owned by federal agencies other than the Defense Department. The planes are worth $340 million and last year cost $446 million to operate. Most of them have proper uses, such as inspections and surveillance, but many are routinely abused by officials with an inflated sense of their own importance.

My associate Peter Grant checked the flight records on Washington-based Coast Guard and FAA aircraft for the last six months, and found that they are used mainly to stroke the egos of imperial bureaucrats. For example:

— Adm. Hayes' use of the Coast Guard plane sometimes costs the taxpayers 10 times what a commercial flight would have cost.

— The FAA's two planes at National Airport are intended primarily for use by agency inspectors to monitor the nation's air operations. They require a support staff of 20 persons and an annual budget of $3 million. Yet during the period studied, almost half the flights the two planes made were by Helms or his deputy, Michael Fenello, to receptions, conventions and ceremonies. The General Accounting Office found that Helms' trips during his first eight months in office cost $400,000 more than commercial flights would have.

— Helms is no dog to the manager; when he's not using his plane, he lets Attorney General William French Smith borrow it to keep speaking engagements. And when Helms uses the plane, he not only takes along his wife, Lorraine, but often the wives of crew members and, on one occasion, the wife of an aviation lobbyist.

"Helms is an extremely family-oriented man," a FAA spokesman explained.

— Helms has scheduled four trips to Florida this winter. The agency spokesman said this is the busiest flight season in the South and that Helms, a licensed pilot who usually flies the FAA plane himself, is able to check first-hand on agency systems and programs. His monitoring efforts, of course, duplicate those of FAA personnel whose job is to supervise the programs.

— The Coast Guard's Washington air station (the hangar at National Airport) consists of a Gulf Stream jet and a turboprop plane, a staff of 20 and an annual budget of about $2.5 million. Its mission is "to provide transportation on demand" to the Secretary of Transportation, the Coast Guard commandant and anyone else authorized by the commandant. A Coast Guard spokesman explained that the admiral uses the private planes so that he can change destinations in mid trip when an emergency arises. However, no one could remember when there had been such an emergency.

— The Coast Guard also uses its planes to win friends and influence big shots. Presidential Counselor Ed Meese, his wife and daughter were flown to a Coast Guard Academy football game. Rep. Walter Jones, D-N.C., was picked up at his hometown and flown to a ceremony in Norfolk, Va. Rep. Norman Lent, R-N.Y., was given a tour of Coast Guard bases in Puerto Rico, and Sen. Bob Packwood, R-Ore., was flown to the Coast Guard Academy in New London, Conn., for a visit that included a cruise on the academy's sailing ship Eagle. All of these members of Congress, incidentally, serve on committees that fund the Coast Guard.

— Deputy Transportation Secretary Darrell Trent was ferried on the Coast Guard jet to Dublin, Paris and Zurich. The air fare alone cost $40,000 as opposed to $1,500 on commercial flights. A DOT spokesman said Trent needed the Coast Guard plane so he could be back in Washington for the swearing-in of the new commandant.

— OUT IN THE COLD: The unmasking in 1976 of the CIA's Kremlin mole, cod-named "Trigon," caused a crippling of the agency's intelligence operations in Russia whose effects are still being felt, according to CIA documents. The concern in Washington is that this could seriously hamper efforts at verification of any U.S.-Soviet arms control agreement.

— When Trigon was caught, the CIA was ordered to curtail its agents' inside the Soviet Union until it was learned exactly how the spyspy had been exposed. The suspension lasted more than a year, and greatly degraded U.S. espionage capabilities.

— In early 1977, the Russians began shifting their missile-test re-entry aiming points. Their deception techniques included digging fake craters to fool satellite-gathered information on the accuracy of Soviet missiles.

The Russians also produced forgeries of Western classified documents to undermine arms control and modernization efforts.

As if all this weren't bad enough, genuine intelligence data on Soviet strategic weapons was withheld from some of the CIA's own verification experts, and continues to be to a certain extent. The point of this exercise is to stifle dissent to the administration's political views by denying information to those who might put forward contrary opinions.

— EPA FUROR: When an Environmental Protection Agency official recommended substantial weakening of agency regulations covering environmental impact statements, he stirred up a hornet's nest of complaints from regional EPA officials.

Charles Maneri, a senior staff adviser, told the Council on Environmental Quality that current regulations don't take into account the economic impact of construction delays caused by the necessity of filing impact statements. He also suggested amending the rule requiring that federal agencies "affirmatively solicit" public comment.

"The public may comment if it so desires," he told the council, but there is no need for agencies to "stir up dissension or opposition to a project."

Jail fire suspect cursed, jeered outside arraignment

BILOXI, Miss. (AP) — A man accused of setting a jail fire that killed 27 inmates was cursed and jeered outside his arraignment by relatives of the victims, while his mother said she had warned officials that her son had mental problems.

Robert E. Pates, a 31-year-old drifter, was ordered held without bond on 27 counts of murder during the court appearance Wednesday.

"You killed my brother," yelled Laura Pyles of Biloxi as Pates, handcuffed to a wheelchair, was whisked to the courthouse door. Ms. Pyles' brother, Michael Pyles, died in the fire at the Harrison County Jail early Monday.

Pates, who has a broken leg, had been confined to a padded cell at the jail after being picked up on a charge of public drunkenness after a disturbance at a lounge.

A fire in Pates' cell spread smoke through the one-story prison, officials said, and the only guard with a master key to release trapped inmates was overcome by smoke before he could let them out.

FACULTY LEAVES — A portion of the faculty and staff at Lake Braddock High School in Burke, Va., leave the school Wednesday after it was evacuated when a former student took nine persons hostage. Later in the night, the man released four hostages.

18-year-old distraught over girlfriend

Ex-student holds hostages in school

By GENE GRABOWSKI
Associated Press Writer

BURKE, Va. — Police played a waiting game with a distraught high school dropout today, hoping the armed youth would surrender the hostages he seized in a school building Wednesday while looking for his estranged girlfriend.

Early today, the teen-ager, armed with a rifle, released one female hostage after authorities cut off telephone discussions with him as a negotiating tactic. But the youth was still holding two men, including the school principal, and another woman.

The school's 4,300 students had been evacuated by late Wednesday afternoon and five women hostages released by late evening, police said.

"He's calm and rational, but obviously very tired ... he's calmly communicating," police Capt. Andrew Page said of the young gunman, identified as 18-year-old James Stevens. "We're dealing with a person whose emotion and behaviour you have to be very careful in dealing with," Page said.

Police said the drama began shortly after 1 p.m. Wednesday when Stevens walked into the administrative offices at Lake Braddock Secondary School, had his girlfriend paged over the public address system and then fired three to six shots from a high-powered rifle.

Students said Stevens had gone to the school to see the girl, with whom he had quarreled after she rejected his recent marriage proposal.

No injuries were reported, but one of the released hostages, 57-year-old school finance officer June Harrison, was taken to a nearby hospital "just as a precautionary measure," said Page.

Fairfax County Police Chief Carroll D. Buracker said it was unclear what Stevens wanted. But he said three of the five released hostages were let go after beverages or food was taken to Stevens.

...police suspect

"There is no indication that anyone has sustained any verbal or physical abuse," Buracker said. Asked if the youth was suicidal, Buracker said, "There had been some indication the individual might have a proclivity in that direction."

Just before dawn, Page said the only thing Stevens talked about with negotiators was coffee, food and his girlfriend. Asked if Buracker said there were "indications the individual might have a proclivity in that be said there.

"It's a very slow process and we're not going to push it," Page said of the negotiations. "The hardest part for everyone involved is to be patient."

Students described Stevens as "super nice," and "a quiet guy." They said he lived near the school, had dropped out last year as a senior and was going to night school.

Buracker said Stevens' mood had "vacillated" during the ordeal. "Obviously we have an individual who has placed himself in a very tenuous situation," he said.

"There has been some indication in the conversations that we overheard ... that he has been talking to some people about wanting to run out in the hallway and force the officers to shoot him," he said at one point in the evening.

But the chief said he was following a waiting strategy, because "We think time is on our side."

Though officers were in touch with Stevens "telephonically and through the door," Buracker said police had cut outside telephone lines that Buracker had been using because "we don't want anybody to upset this delicate balance."

There was no indication that Stevens was drunk or drugged, the chief said.

About 5 1/2 hours after the siege began, the gunman asked for a gallon of vanilla ice cream and two cola drinks, Page said. He didn't get ice cream, but Page said Stevens was taken "pizza with everything on it but anchovies" twice during the evening.

Police negotiators on a special weapons team, the youth's parents and the girl all had talked with him by telephone, the chief said. "He is apparently trying to resolve a dispute between himself and his girlfriend."

Police spokesman Wayne Carmichael said all students were evacuated through rear and side doors by 5:30 p.m. Wednesday.

Reagan administration eyes increase in gasoline tax

By H. JOSEF HEBERT
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON — With Congress searching for ways to create new jobs, the Reagan administration is taking another look at raising the gasoline tax to finance a massive highway construction program that could put people to work.

Transportation Secretary Drew Lewis argued for the new gasoline tax at the White House on Wednesday, saying it would produce $5.5 billion a year for highway construction and improvements to mass transit systems.

But President Reagan, who rejected a similar proposal early this year, held off a decision and wanted more detailed information about the plan. Several sources, asking not to be identified by name, said the proposal had strong support from most of the Cabinet members present.

Lewis took pains not to characterize the measure as a jobs bill, but administration estimates are that it would produce 320,000 additional jobs, mostly in the hard-hit construction field.

Officials acknowledged privately the additional jobs could be a major selling point in Congress where the momentum apparently is building for a federal program that would cut into the nation's 10.4 percent unemployment rate.

Democrats on Capitol Hill on Wednesday announced their own jobs program, which skirted the gas tax. It focused on reduced defense spending and increased taxes for the wealthy to pay for repairing roads, federal buildings and mass transit systems.

Sen. Henry Reuss, D-Mich., chairman of the Joint Economic Committee, announced the proposal aimed at producing 600,000 new jobs and sent it to Democratic leaders in the House and Senate.

Congressional sources acknowledged privately that the climate is good for a gas tax increase — probably a 4-cent or 5-cent hike per gallon. But there is little likelihood of passing such a tax without strong support from the White House, they said.

White House Deputy Press Secretary Larry Speakes said the administration did not plan to submit a gas tax proposal when Congress returns Nov. 29, but other administration sources said such a move has not been ruled out.

Lewis has proposed including the new tax, which the administration calls a "user fee," as part of the fiscal 1984 budget early next year.

The proposal outlined by Lewis during a 45-minute meeting with Reagan calls for a 4-cent a gallon hike at the gas pumps and an increase on various truck taxes and fees equivalent to another penny a gallon.

Congress has considered raising the federal gas tax on a number of occasions during the past decade as gas conservation and the introduction of fuel efficient cars cut into the revenue collected into the federal highway trust fund.

But the proposal in the past has met stiff opposition, especially from urban areas who stood to gain little from highway construction. Lewis sought to blunt that opposition by proposing that one-fifth of the increase go for capital improvements to mass transit systems.

As a result, variations of the administration's proposal have gained support on Capitol Hill.

Proposal to shorten election campaign season gets push

By JAY ROSSER
Harte-Hanks Austin Bureau

AUSTIN — With its most vocal and powerful critic ousted from the Governor's Mansion, backers of a proposal to shorten the campaign election season plan to return to the 1983 Legislature to renew the fight.

Currently, the state's official election season extends from early February, the filing deadline for state and congressional positions, through the general election in early November.

State Rep. Bob Bush, D-Sherman, has prefiled legislation to move the state's party primaries from early May to the third Saturday in July, and setting the filing deadline on the third Monday in April.

Republican Gov. Bill Clements vowed to veto similar legislation after it passed the Texas House during the 1981 legislative session. Partly because of Clements' objections, the measure died a lingering death in the waning hours of the session.

"They had better things to do than push through a bill the governor promised to veto," said Bush, also the House sponsor of the 1981 election proposal.

"I didn't file the bill just for my amusement," Bush said. "I still think it has a lot of merit. We campaign all year long and it would shorten the campaign period.

Politicians wouldn't be underfoot as much anymore.

Traditionally, Democrats have favored a shorter election season while Republicans view extended campaign periods as the best opportunity to increase name identification and raise the money necessary to wage a competitive campaign.

The proposal again has the backing of the Texas Democratic Party and its chairman, Sherman attorney Bob Slagle.

"When you shorten the campaign season, you tend to focus voters' attention on campaigns," Slagle said. "With all the other elections the voters get caught in, I think we tend to dull voter interest by dragging it out so long."

Abbreviating the campaign year, Slagle said, also would reduce the cost of political campaigns.

Mark White, the Democrat who thwarted Clements' re-election bid last week, probably is more sympathetic to the problem, Slagle said.

"I don't think Mark would have any problems with it," Slagle said.

"There're two reasons I'm against it," Thorburn said. "For one, I think it would lessen the turnout in the middle of the summer when minds are on different things, like vacations. And, two, it lessens the ability of lesser known candidates to get their names known."

Local man to sing with SWT Chorale

Bruce Webb, son of Mr. and Mrs. Darwin Webb of 1108 Runnels, will be among members of the Southwest Texas State University Chorale presenting a special concert this evening in Evans Auditorium at the SWTSU campus.

The Chorale, the premiere music department choral ensemble, will be one of two featured student ensembles in the concert. The concert is part of a series of music department programs in celebration of the dedication of SWTSU's new music building.

Webb sings first tenor in the Chorale, and is a sophomore music major at the university.

Baby shower held for Mrs. Danny Miller

Mrs. Danny (Tina) Miller was honored at a baby shower Nov. 2 in the Midway Fellowship Hall.

Hostesses were Melba Robinson, Melba Camp, Mae Mayhall, Frances Swann, Grace Karns, Shirley Paige and Fahey McMahon. Hostesses presented Mrs. Miller a corsage made of baby items and a high chair.

Refreshments were served from a table covered with a lace cloth.

Special guests were Mrs. Miller's mother, Mrs. Ralph Walker, and her grandmother, Mrs. J.O. Murphy.

Dear Abby

Molester could be guy next door

DEAR ABBY: Although you have been criticized for printing too many letters pertaining to sex, you cannot alert parents often enough to the danger of children being sexually abused.

I am the mother of a 2 1/2-year-old daughter who has been raped by my 15-year-old brother.

Thank God she was able to tell me what happened in her own words. I could see she was hurting so I took her to a doctor, who is now treating her for gonorrhea! By the way, it wasn't easy for the doctor, since he had never treated a patient that young for a social disease.

Abby, please keep telling parents to take their children seriously when they come to them with stories about sexual matters.

How many mothers would believe a 2 1/2-year-old could be raped? How many mothers even consider the possibility that their child could be sexually molested by a family member or a friendly neighbor?

Parents, I urge you to keep a careful watch over your children, and when they give you any hint that they are being violated, investigate thoroughly.

Thank God, my child will be OK. Will yours?

Dr. Donohue

Varicocele can harm sperm production

Dear Dr. Donohue: I am a male in my early 20's who recently had a varicose seal surgery — left varicoectomy-ligation of spermatic veins. Would you please explain in simple terms exactly what was done and how this will help me? I do feel better. What effect will this surgery have on me? What was done to my left testicle? What about future sexual performance? — No Initials, Please.

A varicocele is a dilation of veins situated in the scrotum, just above the testes. They are very much like varicose veins in the legs or hemorrhoids in the rectal area. If a varicocele is large, it may cause a decrease in sperm production. Perhaps the reason for that is an increased temperature in the region from the pooling of blood. For good sperm production, the testes must be at a cooler temperature than the rest of the body. A varicocele can also cause pain if the pressure builds. In your surgery, the dilated veins were tied off. That ends the problem. The results of the procedure are usually excellent. In no way does it affect your sexual performance. It should have no other effect beyond perhaps raising your sperm count.

What are ulcers? How can you help yourself get rid of ulcers and stay rid of them? Read the booklet, "Peptic Ulcers: The Modern View and Treatment." For a copy write to Dr. Donohue in care of the Big Spring Herald, P.O. Box 11210, Chicago, IL 60611, enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 50 cents.

Dr. Donohue welcomes reader mail but regrets that, due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

Neo-Nazi on trial

Two teenagers testify they watched their friend die

OROVILLE, Calif. (AP) — A neo-Nazi fired eight bullets into the head of a young "snitch" while two teenage friends of the victim watched, according to court documents filed in a murder case.

Chris Jones, 14, and Rafe Barker, 17, who were arraigned Wednesday as accessories to the killing, told Butte County sheriff's investigator Burt Akins how Joseph "Little Joe" Hoover died.

The affidavits were filed Tuesday in Oroville Justice Court when Perry "Red" Warthan, 41, was arraigned on a murder charge. He pleaded innocent.

Barker told officers that before the slaying, Warthan had talked about killing Hoover as they sat smoking marijuana in the National Socialist party office in Warthan's apartment. The affidavits said Warthan called Hoover "a traitor to the race" and said "a snitch is a snitch."

Jones and Barker did not enter pleas during their appearance in Butte Superior Court, and Judge Lueian Vandegrift continued the arraignment to Nov. 24, when a decision will be made whether to try Barker as an adult.

On Tuesday, another judge agreed to release affidavits that discussed details of the case, including the alleged involvement of Jones and Barker.

Hoover, considered by Warthan a "potential recruit" for his party, had told police that Warthan had paid him $5 to distribute racist leaflets in Oroville schools. He later told Jones what he had done.

Hoover disappeared Sept. 30. His body was found Oct. 13 in an isolated spot west of this community of 9,400 people about 150 miles northeast of San Francisco. Jones and Barker told police they lured Hoover to his death and were warned by Warthan to keep quiet about it; the affidavits said.

Jones said he had asked Hoover to come to a tire store, where the youths were picked up by Warthan and Barker in a truck. They stopped on a dirt road, and Jones and Barker got out and started walking, according to the affidavit.

When they heard the first shot, the boys turned to see Hoover being shot, the affidavit said. They said they could see the muzzle flashes in the dark, they said.

"They turned around and ran back to where it happened," the affidavit said. "Barker rolled over the body and checked his pockets, taking Hoover's lighter and cigarettes."

Man indicted for threatening to spike Tylenol in extortion

By The Associated Press

A 34-year-old man who allegedly threatened to spike Tylenol with cyanide unless Johnson & Johnson paid him $100,000 has been indicted on charges of attempted extortion and mailing a threatening letter.

Vernon A. Williams Jr. of Newark, N.J., who was indicted Wednesday, is not a suspect in the cyanide contamination of Extra-Strength Tylenol capsules in the Chicago area, the FBI said. Seven people died there.

Meanwhile, a Michigan teen-ager admitted lying about finding a nail in a frankfurter and a Minneapolis boy admitted he put drain cleaner in some chocolate milk.

Williams allegedly mailed a letter to Johnson & Johnson on Oct. 26, threatening to lace the product with cyanide unless $100,000 in $20 and $50 bills was delivered, the FBI said.

Williams, who is being held in lieu of $50,000 bail, was arrested Oct. 30 after his two sons were apprehended at a pickup point, officials said.

In court papers, the FBI said Williams told agents he never had contaminated any Tylenol and did not intend to carry out the threat contained in the letter.

The charges carry a maximum penalty of 40 years in prison and $15,000 in fines. Johnson & Johnson is the parent firm of McNeil Consumer Products Co., the maker of Tylenol.

In Michigan, a teen-ager faces 90 days in jail and a $100 fine after admitting he lied about finding a nail in a Ball Park frankfurter, authorities said.

Michael McDaniel, 19, of Pittsfield Township, pleaded guilty Monday to a misdemeanor charge of falsifying police records for telling police he put the nail in the frank to scare his girlfriend, authorities said Wednesday. He will be sentenced Nov. 23.

According to Police Chief John Santomauro, McDaniel told authorities on Oct. 29 that he found the nail in a Ball Park frank manufactured by Hygrade Food Products

Corp. of Southfield.

McDaniel's was one of about 15 similar reports Hygrade received about hot dogs manufactured at its Livonia plant, and the company later determined most were either mistakes or hoaxes.

In Minneapolis, police say they plan no action against a boy who admitted he put drain cleaner in chocolate milk he got in a school cafeteria and then drank it.

The Oct. 26 complaint from Marion Barrow, 14, triggered a two-week investigation involving five agencies. Police said Wednesday the youth had admitted he put drain cleaner in the milk.

"We were studying about that Tylenol thing about three weeks before it happened," the boy told reporters. "I got the idea."

"He told me it was more like a joke," said his father, Tilmon Barrow. "But he didn't know it was going to involve people like it did."

"I never thought he would lie about something like that. I think it was to draw attention," said Barrow.

The boy was admitted to a hospital after he reported mouth burns. Doctors found no injury but noticed some reddening of the esophagus. Within the next two weeks, four more students in Minneapolis schools complained of illness after drinking milk. They, too, were taken to hospitals but nothing caustic was found in their milk.

Authorities checked more than 1,200 cartons of milk from the same lot and found no others contaminated.

Marion said Wednesday night he owned up to the prank because "I figured it was the right thing to do. I couldn't keep it hid."

Deputy Police Chief Bernard Jablonski said no crime was committed and the case is considered closed.

De Lorean defendant has his bail lowered

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A federal judge reduced by half the bail for William Morgan Hetrick, a co-defendant with John De Lorean in an alleged $24 million cocaine deal, but Hetrick's lawyer said his client still cannot post it.

The IRS has seized all Hetrick's assets and closed his aviation firm in Mojave, Calif. — defense lawyer Stephen Wilson said Wednesday after U.S. District Judge Robert Takasugi lowered bail from $20 million to $10 million.

Hetrick, 50, was indicted on charges of conspiring with De Lorean and Stephen Lee Arrington, 34, to distribute 220 pounds of cocaine, but is the only defendant facing the most serious count — conducting a continuing criminal enterprise, cocaine trafficking.

Assistant U.S. Attorney James Walsh called Hetrick "an A-No. 1 flight risk," and revealed that the government has 120 audio surveillance tapes and 10 to 12 videotapes involving the defendants.

He said the tapes feature Hetrick discussing his millions stashed in the Cayman Islands, his alleged Colombian cocaine connection and a specially modified aircraft that could fly there nonstop in 17 hours.

Walsh said Hetrick boasted to undercover agents that he had "so much money in the Grand Cayman Islands that he couldn't even spend the interest."

"He indicated he has a direct source in Colombia that can produce 200 to 300 kilos of cocaine at a time," Walsh said.

The prosecutor also cited documents indicating a $1.1 million wire transfer from the Caymans to Hetrick in the last year. Wilson countered that Hetrick put the money into his business and said there was no evidence it was illegally obtained.

Hetrick and Arrington were arrested Oct. 18, one day before De Lorean's arrest at a hotel near Los Angeles International Airport.

All three men pleaded innocent Monday.

Soviets take vital interest in Halley's comet

By HOWARD BENEDICT
AP Aerospace Writer

MOSCOW — The director of the Soviet Institute of Space Research was discussing space science with an American reporter when a colleague entered the room with a message.

A quick reading, and Dr. Roald Sagdeyev smiled broadly, obviously pleased.

"The news in this telex is extremely exciting," he told his visitor in perfect English. "Halley's comet has been detected for the first time by the five-meter telescope on Mount Palomar (in California)."

"So it's really coming," the reporter said.

"Yes, it's really coming," Sagdeyev replied, laughing.

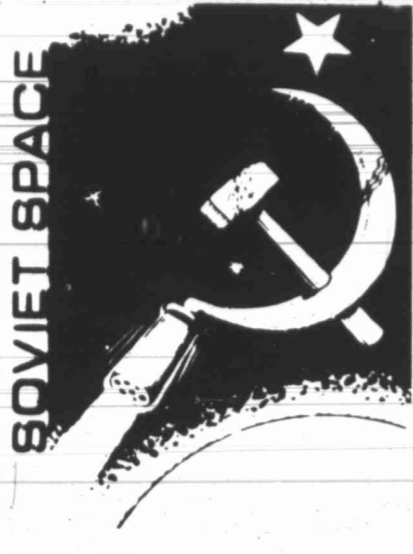

He laughed because he knew that every 76 years, like clockwork, the celebrated comet visits this corner of the universe and lights up the heavens.

"The big news would be if it did not appear," the director said.

Halley's comet, more than one billion miles away, will stage its most brilliant display when it makes its closest approach to the sun in March 1986. The comet rounds the star at 140,000 miles an hour, its head expanding to more than 100,000 miles in diameter and its tail of dust and gases lengthening to more than 50 million miles.

The Soviets have a special interest in Halley's comet. In one of the most ambitious deep space endeavors of the 1980s, they are to dispatch two unmanned spacecraft to within a few hundred miles of the origin of our solar system.

They will have a chance to upstage the United States, which last year was forced to cancel plans to launch a pair of Halley's probes because of a shortage of funds in the National Aeronautics and Space Administration budget. Japan and the European Space Agency each are to send a spacecraft to explore the comet, but their plans are less ambitious than the Russians.

Second in a series

Sagdeyev spoke proudly of the Soviet mission. He said the two identical probes will be launched a week apart in December 1984 on a 15-month journey. In June 1985, both will fly near Venus, parachuting and gathering modules to the surface and using the Venusian gravitational field to accelerate on a path to intercept Halley's.

"In the beginning of March 1986 we will have our first encounter with the comet," Sagdeyev reported. "We have 20 different experiments aboard, starting with a TV camera to take pictures which I expect will be as brilliant as those taken of Jupiter and Saturn by the American Voyager."

"There are several different chemical experiments to measure the composition of the gas plasma evaporating from the comet and the composition of the small dust particles which are released from the nuclei," he said.

Sagdeyev said the Soviets, Japanese and Europeans are coordinating their efforts so each of the four spacecraft will approach the comet from a different direction and at various distances to obtain maximum information.

Although no American spacecraft will join the parade, American scientists are coordinating the International Halley Watch, which will supervise the worldwide observation of the comet and interpretation of the data from the four spacecraft, sounding rockets, balloons, telescopes and other sources.

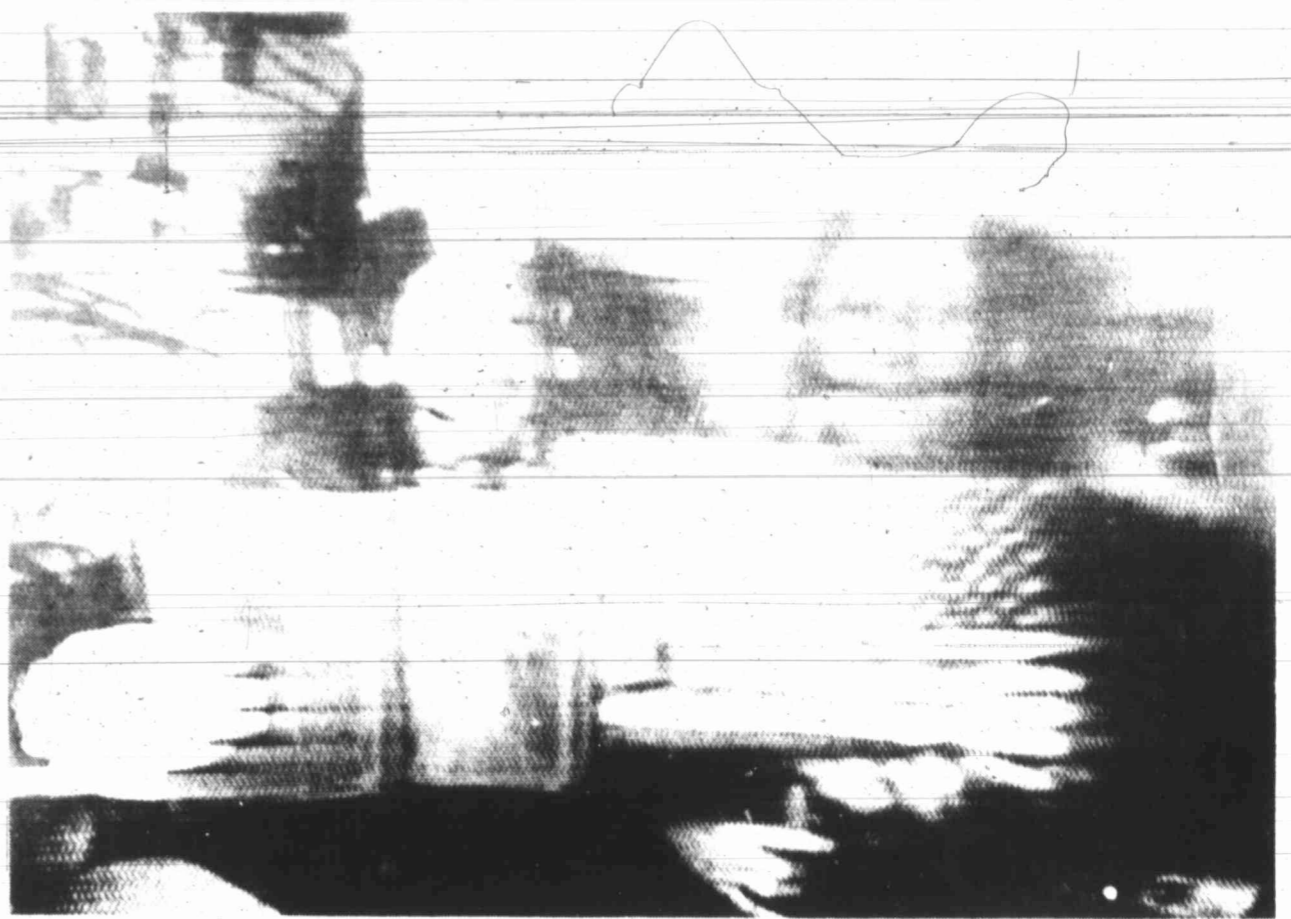

What do scientists expect to learn?

Comets, Sagdeyev said, are debris left from the creation of the solar system 4.5 billion years ago and contain primordial matter in pristine form.

"They preserve this matter in the original state," he said. "It could tell us much about the birth and history of the solar system."

To mount such scientific missions, Soviet scientists, like those in NASA, have to squeeze the funds from a space budget that is increasingly devoted to military projects.

As a result, Sagdeyev strongly advocates international cooperation in space science programs to cut mission in 1975. It was a gesture of peace, but now the United States and the Soviet Union are pursuing different paths in space exploration.

spending and duplication. The Soviet Halley probes, for example, carry experiments designed by scientists of eight nations.

The director said he was extremely disappointed when there was no major followup to the joint U.S.-U.S.S.R. manned space flight in 1975.

"Both sides lost a lot," he said. "Especially the scientists. Because when Apollo-Soyuz first started, people said this is the first step. First we will test the compatibility of the equipment, and the next step would be to use the machinery for science.

"But it was not done." "Would be like to see more joint flights with the Americans?"

California professor tackles murders — via nuclear reactor

IRVINE, Calif. (AP) — Most of the time, Dr. Vincent P. Guinn teaches chemistry at a local university. But he has also investigated some of the country's most notorious crimes, all with the help of a nuclear reactor.

Guinn, who gave expert testimony in the assassination of John F. Kennedy and the Juan Corona mass murders, uses a technique called neutron activation analysis, which he pioneered in the early 1960s.

He bombards evidence samples with neutrons so they become radioactive, then places them in a gamma ray detection device that shows what elements, including impurities, are present. Such impurities — including silver, arsenic, copper and tin — vary between batches of ammunition so that they essentially serve as fingerprints. "You can analyze and compare known samples recovered from a suspect's gun and can tell whether a bullet used in a crime was made from the same melt of lead," said Guinn, a professor at University of California at Irvine.

In the case of Juan Corona, a farm labor contractor recently re-convicted of the murders of 25 migrant farm workers in Northern California, Guinn examined a bullet taken from the only victim who was not stabbed, as well as a hair sample thought to be Corona's that was taken from a shovel.

During the retrial, Guinn took the witness stand and disputed testimony from the first trial linking the evidence to Corona, saying the previous analysis had been bungled.

"I have no way of telling whether Juan Corona is guilty or innocent," he said. "But what I did was present a lot of evidence in the record and I didn't encounter any evidence that proved his guilt."

Guinn has testified at more than 80 trials, some as far away as Canada and South Korea, during the past 13 years.

"The Ivory Tower (of university life) tends to shield you from reality," he said. "If you're going to do research in forensic chemistry you must get involved in criminal cases."

Perhaps the best-known case he's worked on is the Nov. 22, 1963 assassination of President John F. Kennedy.

Guinn was asked to examine the bullets that killed the president and injured then Texas Gov. John Connally and to testify before a special committee of the U.S. House of Representatives when it held hearings into the matter in 1977.

Guinn told the committee that the bullets from Lee Harvey Oswald's rifle were the only ones that hit the presidential motorcade moving through downtown Dallas.

"All I can say is the only one who hit anybody was Oswald," Guinn said, referring to theories that there was more than one gunman. "There may have been 50 people shooting. But what is clear is if there were other people shooting, they didn't hit anybody or anything in the car."

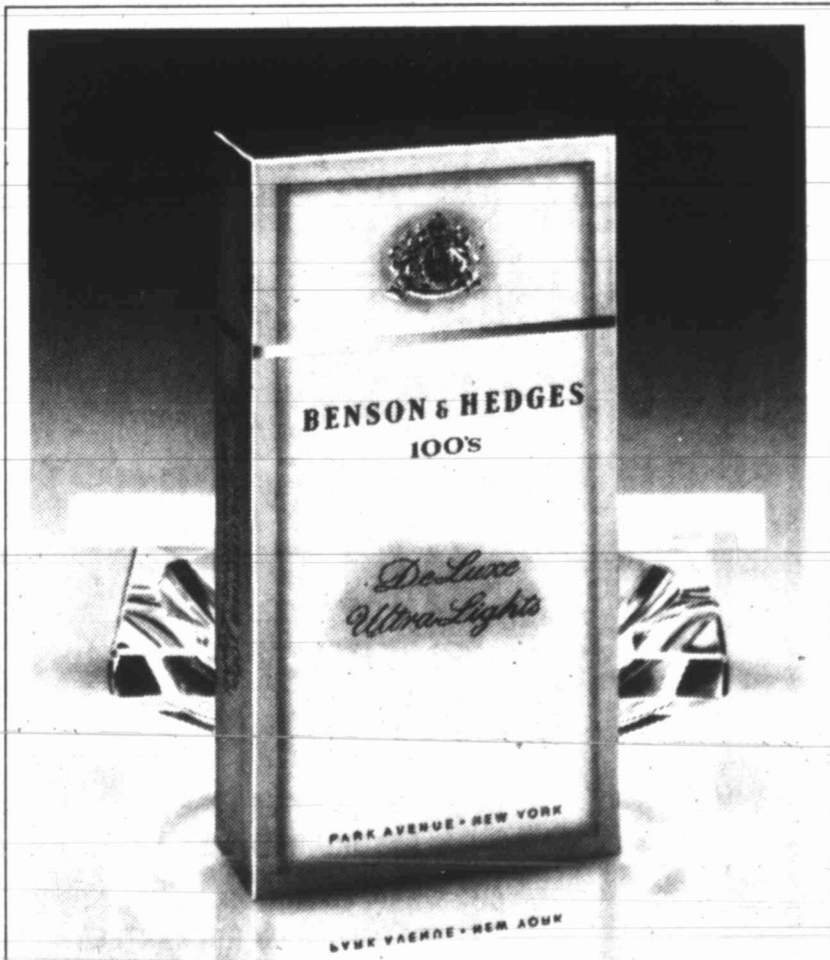

Guinn has also testified that Symbionese Liberation Army leader Donald DeFreeze did not put a bullet through his own head during a shootout with Los Angeles police in 1974 after the Patty Hearst kidnapping. And he took the stand to say that a Riverside County deputy sheriff slain during a shootout after a 1980 Norco bank robbery was not killed by a fellow officer's gun.

He admits that working for a university rather than law enforcement allows him to be selective about what he investigates.

"I'm fortunate that I don't have to take every case," said Guinn, who says he chooses only cases that are particularly difficult or unusual.

Columbia's first mission

Pilot planned to fly commercial

BY PAUL RECER
AP Aerospace Writer
SPACE CENTER, Houston — When Robert F. Overmyer joined the Marine Corps, his plan was to fly fighter jets for three years and then use the flight training to land work as an airline pilot.

His career was derailed, however, by something called "esprit de corps," and Overmyer eventually became an military astronaut. Sixteen years later, long after the military program was put into mothballs, he's finally getting the chance for space flight.

This week Overmyer will pilot the fifth flight of space shuttle Columbia and — though his $58,338 salary doesn't match a civilian airline pilot's — he says he's "just tickled pink" the way things have turned out.

"The spirit of the corps got me long before my time was up," said the 46-year-old Marine colonel. "It was and is a great life... There's no way I could have gotten this opportunity without the Marines."

The flight will be the first with four crewman. Flying with Overmyer will be commander Vance D. Brand and scientist-astronauts Joseph Allen and William Lenoir as mission specialists.

Brand, the only one with space experience, was pilot on the Apollo-Soyuz Test Project, the 1975 Soviet-American flight. The landing almost turned to tragedy.

All went well until the Apollo craft made its descent. Switches were not thrown properly — Brand accepts responsibility — and a vent allowed fuel from rocket thrusters to stream into the sealed cabin.

The astronauts began gagging and coughing, their eyes and skin stinging from the corrosive fumes. Brand got the worst of it. Seconds later, the craft splashed into the Pacific Ocean and turned over. The astronauts were in a submerged cabin filled with poisonous gas.

Astronaut Thomas P. Stafford quickly unstowed oxygen masks. By time he got to Brand, the pilot was unconscious. The oxygen revived Brand and he threw a switch to force the spacecraft upright in the water. Fresh air flooded the cabin and they were quickly rescued.

Brand, asked recently who was responsible for not throwing the switches properly, said: "I was." Then he changed the subject.

Overmyer went into Marines after graduating from Baldwin Wallace College. He went to flight school, quickly became one of the Corps' hottest young pilots, and, in 1966, was selected by the military space program, the Air Force Manned Orbiting Laboratory.

When the MOL program was canceled in 1969, the National Aeronautics and Space Administration tapped Overmyer for the astronaut corps.

The fifth flight of the shuttle will be Overmyer's first voyage into space, but he expects to make many more.

"I suspect I'm going to be like John Young (a five-time space veteran)," said Overmyer. "I'm just going to keep flying until they finally say I can't fly any more, until I can't pass the physical."

Even in the astronaut corps, few approach aviation with the enthusiasm of Overmyer. He owns one airplane and a part interest in a second. His wife, the former Katherine E. Jones of Mount Lebanon, Pa., is a licensed pilot. Their oldest daughter, Carolyn, 16, recently earned her license. She celebrated by flying the family Cessna 150 to Florida. The other Overmyer children, Patricia, 14, and Robert, 12, plan to take up flying.

For a leisure time hobby, Overmyer practices aerobatic flying in a biwing plane he owns with three other astronauts and an airline pilot.

Brand also learned to fly in the Marine Corps. He planned to carry a rifle as an infantryman until he saw Marine jets roar away from the base at Cherry Point, N.C.

"I thought that was the most beautiful thing ever seen and I just had to try it," he recalls, switched to flight school and served four years as a Marine flier.

Shuttle's first guests will be busy in orbit

BY PAUL RECER
AP Aerospace Writer
SPACE CENTER, Houston — Joseph P. Allen and William D. Lenoir, NASA's first mission specialists, spent 15 years learning to fly spacecraft. Now, on their first voyage into orbit, they'll ride along as observers while others pilot the craft.

Allen and Lenoir, both scientist-astronauts, will be the first Americans to travel into and out of space in passenger seats instead of the cockpit. Their jobs start and end while the craft is in orbit.

For the launch, Lenoir will ride in a third seat on the flight deck, behind commander Vance D. Brand and pilot Robert Overmyer. Allen will ride in the middle of Columbia — on a couch with no view. For the landing, the two will change places, with Allen taking the flight deck seat.

Allen, 45, was asked if he wanted a checklist to follow while Columbia was being launched. "Could I have a security blanket instead?" he asked.

Asked what he will do during the Columbia landing, the 43-year-old Lenoir replied, "I guess my major job is (that) I'm in charge of religious activities."

Once they get into space, though, Lenoir and Allen will have few idle moments. They will be in charge of launching two communications satellites early in the five-day mission. On the fourth day, they will conduct a three and one-half hour space walk, the first for the space shuttle.

Lenoir also hopes to have time to conduct scientific observations of the Earth. It's been a specialty of his since days as a scientist at Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

"I worked on remote sensing of the Earth from satellites and in the process did a lot of remote sensing from balloons," he recalls. Lenoir said his "pure science research" included launching, chasing and recovering balloons. Often he hired a truck to haul them back to the base.

"It's not exactly what comes up when I think of a pure science background," he said. "It was kind of a very practical technical. It is much more what I think I'm good at than the pure science."

He became an astronaut in 1967 and put his skills to good use.

Lenoir helped to organize the Earth observation techniques used during the Skylab program and had a hand in developing the space shuttle satellite launching techniques.

The astronaut was born in Miami, Fla. He was accepted at the prestigious Massachusetts Institute of Technology and earned three degrees at MIT, including a doctorate, and worked there for a time as an assistant professor.

After joining the astronaut corps, he was trained as a jet pilot. Although he'll only ride aboard the shuttle, he is qualified to serve as a pilot or commander of the winged spacecraft.

Lenoir met his wife, the former Elizabeth Frost, in Boston where she was a reporter for the Boston Globe. They live with their two children in El Lago, a community of 3,700 where Mrs. Lenoir is completing her second two-year term as mayor.

Many of the astronauts jog to stay in shape, but few with the dedication of Lenoir. He has run twice in the Houston marathon and once in the Boston race.

He was well off the winning pace, said Mrs. Lenoir, but "he finished and that's the thing."

Allen, 45, is a 5-foot-6, 125-pounder known affectionately around the astronaut office as "Little Joe."

Surgeon General says video games harmful to young

By C.W. MRANKER
Associated Press Writer

Defenders of video games rained missiles of criticism on the nation's top health officer after he zapped the fast-growing pastime as unhealthy for young minds.

Surgeon General C. Everett Koop, speaking Tuesday in Pittsburgh, charged the popular games produce "aberrations in childhood behavior" and that in the most popular versions, "Everything is eliminate, kill, destroy."

But supporters, ranging from manufacturers to psychologists, said the games help teach skill development, coordination and togetherness.

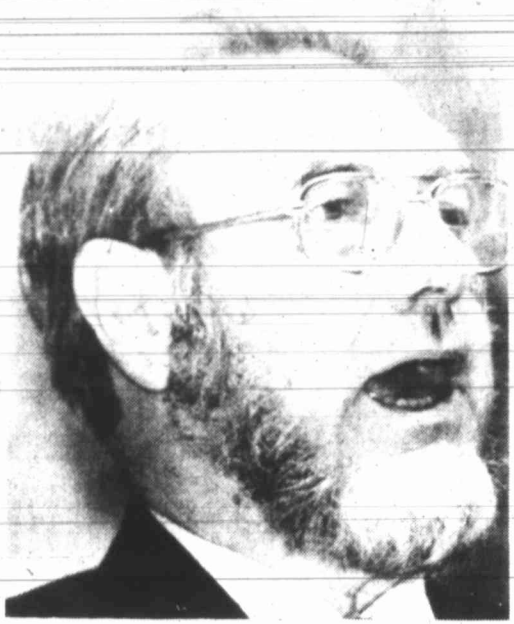

In his speech at the University of Pittsburgh's Western Psychiatric Institute and Clinic, Koop said video-addicted youngsters are "into it body and soul ... and everything is zap the enemy. There's nothing constructive in the games."

Some games are educational, he conceded. But he stressed, "the kind kids like ... are Martians coming in that have to be killed, the enemy is coming here and you have to zap them."

He described symptoms brought on by the games as "tensions, sleeplessness in kids and dreams that have to do with the things they have been doing all day."

But the games' advocates promptly rejected Koop's arguments.

Most games foster "feelings of competence, mastery and self-worth," said Mitchell W. Robin, a New York child psychologist. "Playing them at home brings the family together ... and defending a (fantasy) territory seems to make kids heroes in their own science fiction."

C. EVERETT KOOP
...launches debate

"They're not all zap and kill," said Jack

Woodman, vice president of Telesys Inc., a video game company in Fremont, Calif.

The speech rekindled debate over whether the games are good or bad for children. Nations like Malaysia, the Philippines and Indonesia are suppressing the games. Marlboro, Mass., Bradley, Ill., Coral Gables, Fla., and Mesquite, Texas, are among the U.S. communities that have outlawed or restricted video game parlors.

Aside from the psychological criticisms expressed by Koop, doctors have reported minor physical complaints from avid players who spend hours punching buttons or swiveling joysticks.

But many teachers, health care workers and psychologists have lined up behind the video games.

The Shore Haven Nursing Home in Grand Haven, Mich., uses Ms. Pac Man and Super Bowler to provide physical therapy for elderly residents.

"Even our stroke victims find that this is a really refreshing and rewarding thing," said Christy Tavener, activity director. "It's really been therapy for them, developing eye-hand coordination."

In Fremont, Calif., the Mission Valley School uses video games like "Skiing" and "Frogger" for remedial work with learning-disabled children. "The games do seem to capture them and improve their skills," said Michael Schoop, a research specialist at the school.

Carter reviews shaping of national policy

WASHINGTON (AP) — Former President Carter said today that if he felt it necessary to shape national policy, he would take advantage of a little-known privilege afforded ex-presidents and address the nation from the U.S. Senate.

"I have a legal right to speak in the U.S. Senate at any time," Carter said on the Larry King interview program on the Mutual radio network. "This has not been used."

"It's something I keep in the back of my mind, and when an issue comes along where I think a dramatic appearance by me in the Senate would shape the policies of our country, I intend to go," he said.

During his 90-minute radio stint — which featured repeated mentions by King of Carter's newly published memoirs, "Keeping Faith" — the former president fielded questions telephoned by listeners from around the country.

Several people wanted to know about Iran and the seizure of the U.S. Embassy in Tehran during his final months in office.

Asked whether the United States should have moved militarily against Iran, even at the risk of seeing the U.S. hostages killed, Carter said, "I think the Soviet Union would have done that."

He said his goal was to protect U.S. honor and the lives of the hostages, and "ultimately, we achieved both."

Carter said he "did the right thing" in granting the Shah of Iran permission to enter the United States for treatment of terminal cancer — a move that triggered the seizure of the embassy on Nov. 4, 1979.

A caller from Madison, Wis., wondered why Carter, an outspoken advocate of human rights, supported the late Shah, whose government had been accused of repeated human rights violations.

Carter said that he once talked about this privately with the Shah, who "took issue with me very strongly. He said it was a very few dissidents ... some communists" who were subjected to abuse.

Carter described the Shah as "a very strong ally of ours for 35 years. I wanted to see him stay in power. I thought the best way for it to be done was for human rights principles to be honored."

Asked by a Marin County, Calif., listener whether he would have pardoned former President Nixon for his role in Watergate, Carter replied: "I really don't know what the circumstances were when President Ford pardoned President Nixon. ... I just can't answer that."

Several questions concerned politics. Carter said he would not get involved in selection of a 1984 Democratic presidential candidate. He said he did not favor nomination of Sen. Edward Kennedy, D-Mass., but would support him if he was selected.

A woman in Miami wanted advice on how a woman can get elected president.

FDA approves drug to help slipped discs

WASHINGTON (AP) — Help may be on the way for Americans with painful slipped discs that don't respond to bed rest, traction or surgery.

The Food and Drug Administration on Wednesday authorized sale of the drug chymopapain, which will be sold under the brand name Chymodactin by Smith Laboratories Inc. of Northbrook, Ill.

The drug will be used under limited and closely controlled circumstances on herniated lower back discs — commonly called slipped discs.

Disc problems arise when herniated or protruding material applies pressure to surrounding nerves, causing severe back, hip and leg pain. The drug would work by dissolving the herniated material and thus relieving the pressure on the nearby nerves.

Neither the FDA nor the company could offer estimates of the number of slipped discs treated each year. Until now, the only available treatment for herniated discs when conservative treatment measures failed was surgical removal of the protruding disc material.

Travenol Laboratories first obtained permission to use the drug in clinical trials in 1963. But a study it completed late in 1974 failed to show that chymopapain was effective.

The drug is made from a papaya plant extract.

It's Beginning To Taste A Lot Like Christmas

... at the Energas Cooking School

What do red velvet, a Yule Log and egg nog have in common? They're all symbols of Christmas and, appropriately, they're also names of marvelous Christmas cakes.

At the Energas Cooking School, you'll find out how to make these and many more scrumptious Christmas cakes. You'll get recipes to delight family and friends, see our luscious confections prepared, and taste the delightful results. Plus, you'll take home craft and decoration ideas to brighten up your home for the holidays.

It's all free, so join us at the Energas Cooking School and find out just how wonderful Christmas can taste.

Thursday Notes

It may not be true on the Chinese calendar, but 1982 has definitely been the Year of the Buffalo.

While the other Big Spring area high schools are starting basketball or beginning off-season programs for football, Forsan and Stanton are still strapping on helmets and lacing up cleats in preparation for post-season play.

Buffaloes are considered an endangered species in this country and the neighboring herds are no exception. Forsan must tackle No. 5 state-ranked Eden in its first game while Stanton travels to the outskirts of civilization to battle Marfa.

The Forsan-Eden matchup is a contrast of styles. The Buffs combine size with experience while the Bulldogs are small and young. It'll be size versus quickness. Forsan is 7-2-1 while Eden sports a glossy 9-0-1 record, tying Class AA Menard 6-6 in the third ballgame.

Stanton also has good size and will face another quick team. Marfa tied Clint and Van Horn for the league title (all three teams had 2-1 records) and advanced as the second place team on a coin-flip.

It took Stanton 32 years to get another district title while Marfa was No. 2 in the state in 1977.

Both games should go down to the final quarter. Hopefully, these Buffaloes won't go the way of the wooden nickel.

*****

The final district stats were released at the 4-5A all-district selection meeting Tuesday. Big Spring didn't fare too badly, either.

For the year, the defense finished third behind Permian and Midland High. The Steers gave up 2,215 yards for average of 221.5 a game. That's an amazing figure considering the past nine years when Big Spring was known for anything but defense.

And guess what? The Steers moved ahead of Midland in the final game (on the strength of 306 yards against Central) in team offense. Big Spring had the No. 2 passing offense in the league behind Permian.

For the year, sophomore Jay Pirkle finished as the No. 11 rusher in the league with 384 yards. What's amazing about that is Pirkle was used for three rushes against Snyder, four against Estacado, twice against Abilene, three times against Midland and once against Cooper. In those five games, he gained 37 yards. In the other five games, he rushed for 347 yards.

Pirkle also punted for a 39.4 average for third in the league. AHS's Matt Waldman won the punt wars with a 40.7 average but had to kick just 44 times. Pirkle maintained his high average with 58 boots.

Dale Crenshaw tied with Cal Hendrick of Odessa as the second rated pass receiver with 17 catches and 315 yards. In district play, Crenshaw was No. 1 in the 4-5A, making 16 catches. Quarterback Adam Rodriguez — who split time with fellow senior Dean Gartman — was No. 2 in passing with 566 yards behind Permian's Brent Kelley.

Behind Pirkle in rushing were Eric Sherman at 14th (357) and Danny Stephen at 15th (329).

Yes, football fans. Not a bad season for a team projected to go 0-10 (or 1-9 at best) on paper before the first kick-off.

*****

I couldn't get through the season without a mistake.

The Steers two-point conversion went to non-regular David Johnson Friday night, not Crenshaw. It's easy to get the two mixed, you see. One wears No. 82, the other No. 48. Sorry to dim the spotlight on you. Great play.

*****

Sugar Ray Leonard has retired but not the HC Boxing team.

Undefeated heavyweight Dan Chandler is in Amarillo this weekend for the USA-ABF Region 13 tournament while boxers ages 10-16 are in Odessa.

The rummage sale last weekend raised $115 for travel, most of which will be used this week already.

*****

A final note. Had a sneak preview of the Steers basketball team. If you think the football guys did well, just wait until the hoopstars take the court against 4-5A competition. A district title for Archie Myers in his first season? Could be, could be.

Forsan returns to playoffs

By GREG JAKLEWICZ
Sports Editor

FORSAN — Two oil wells are pumping on the schoolgrounds at Forsan High School. But the black gold coming up from the good earth isn't the only thing getting "pumped up" at the Howard County secondary school.

Forsan is the home of Jan East's Buffaloes, winners of seven football games and a runner-up finish in the north zone of District 7-A this year. For the first time since 1977, the Buffs are in the playoffs. It wasn't easy reaching post-season plays but East, his team, the school and the community are glad to be there.

"Probably the biggest thing we accomplished with the kids this year is getting some confidence," East said Wednesday afternoon. "I think we can go out and beat Eden if we believe we can."

Eden went 9-0-1 this year and won the south zone of District 7-A. Under the new University Interscholastic League playoff format, second place teams can now make the playoffs. Thus Forsan is playing football Friday despite finishing behind north zone champ Roscoe.

Forsan was a Class A powerhouse in the mid-70's, advancing all the way to the quarterfinals in 1977. Then the school moved up to AA and times got hard. Placed in a league with three top-ranked teams, the Buffs didn't notch many numbers in the win column.

But now Forsan is back in Class A ball — for the first time this season — and again the Buffaloes are stampeding over their opponents.

The season did not open dramatically. The Buffaloes held a 3-0 lead late in the game but dropped a 6-3 decision to Bronte before the home folks. East feels his team was overconfident for that game — "they thought Bronte would lay down for them" — and his squad learned a valuable lesson.

Winning a scoring war with neighboring Garden City helped boost moral and next came Robert Lee. Although Robert Lee didn't have a great team, a 7-7 tie was good for the Buffs because Rebels were in control of a long winning streak over the Buffaloes.

The only other loss was a 21-18 heartbreaker to Roscoe. Both teams scored three touchdowns but the Buffaloes couldn't get a single point on a conversion.

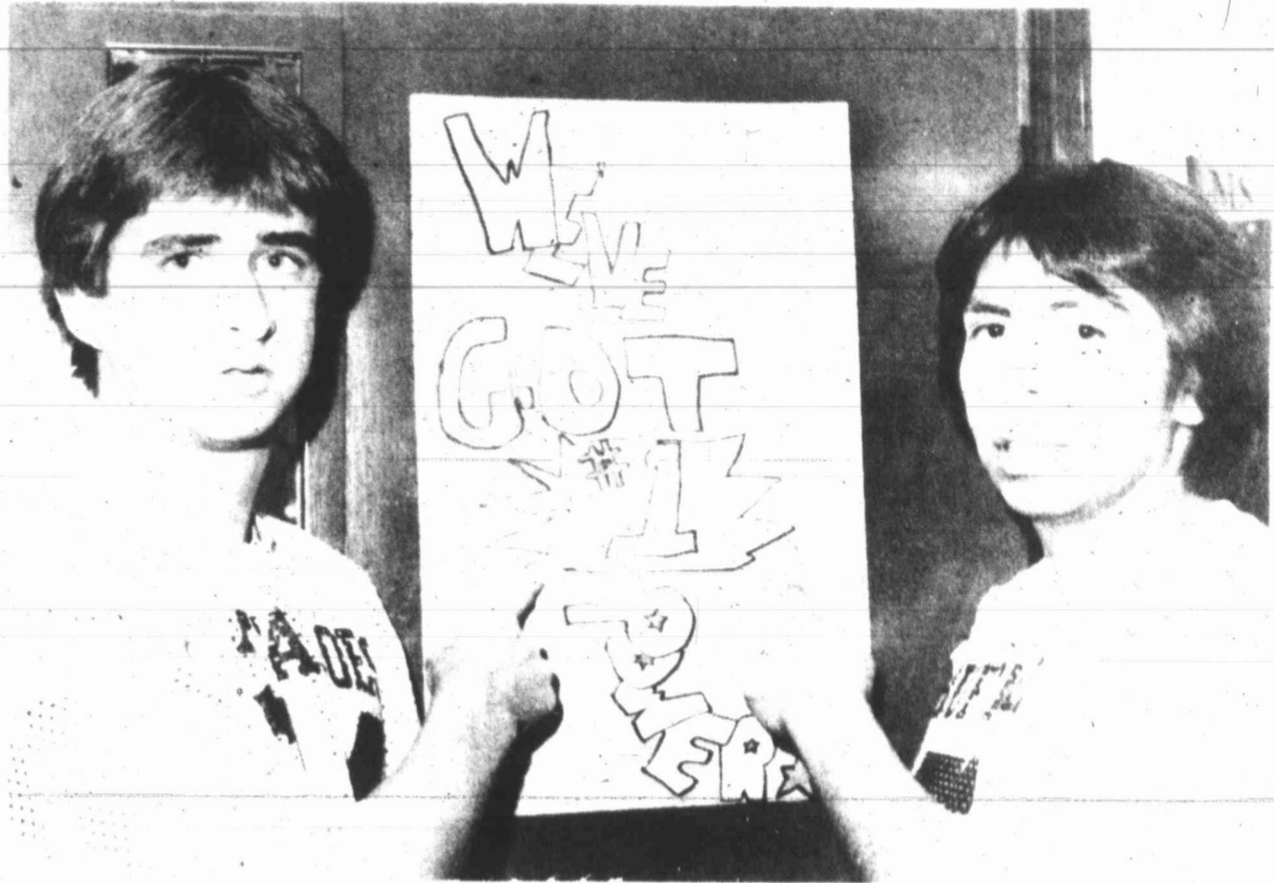

"Our kicking game has been good with the exception of extra points," East says. "There was a stretch when we hit three out of 14. It cost us the Roscoe ballgame. But we kicked six of six this week against Loraine."

East is quick to add his team is much better entering the playoffs than if it was even it met Roscoe in the north zone showdown.

"The biggest thing is turning around their attitude," he explains. "It's been tough the last three or four years. We were playing AA ball and the kids knew they couldn't compete. Now they have more confidence. For four weeks in a row they had to get after it this year in district, playing Sands, Roscoe and Klondike."

The Buffaloes have used their size and experience to run over opponents this year. After scoring over 30 points against Garden City and four times early against O'Donnell, the Buffs gained a good feeling about the offense.

The line is made up seniors with the exception of sophomore Robin Hood. Hood was moved up from the junior varsity to tackle and teams with guard Ramon Miranda and tight end Bobby Little to give Forsan strength to the left side. Hood and Little are two pleasant surprises for East and his coaching staff.

"Hood has ended up grading out as high as anyone on offense," he smiled. "And Bobby has been super at tight end. His blocking makes up for it."

ball off (Forsan throws maybe seven times a game). Every once in awhile, East laughs, he corrects "daddy's mistakes," too.

Defensively, the Buffs have been tough to score on despite giving up big yards. "At times they've played tremendous defense and then we'll let down," East said. "People have made yards on us but haven't done a lot of "Probably the biggest thing we accomplished with the kids this year is getting some confidence." Forsan coach Jan East Croft and Phillip Harrison — "All these kids started last year or spot-started for us. That's one reason why we've been as good offensively as we've been," East says.

In the backfield are halfbacks Daniel Bristo and Brad Jenkins — both juniors — and fullback Lewis Boeker who ground out 71 yards. Sophomore Mitch Hays steps in for relief duty and brings the lineup good speed. In fact, he's broken two kickoff returns for touchdowns this year.

Todd East — the coach's son — is just a sophomore but he's run the team like a veteran. His main job is hand the scoring. Our biggest asset is having 11 kids that will strike you. We do have some hitters."

The biggest hitter is Miranda who is a defense all in himself. Against Loraine, he made 29 tackles himself. But when he lets the other guys play, tackles Bill Melton and Troy Croft, ends Little, Lucas and Harrison and linebackers Jimmy Cannon, Boeker and Bristo are tough. Backing them up are corners Tony De La Garza and Ray Alcantar, Jenkins at strong safety and Mitchell at free safety.

The Bear won't quit Tide now

TUSCALOOSA, Ala. (AP) — A sports writer walked through the door just after Bear Bryant finished his weekly news conference and the Alabama football coach confronted him: "If I gave you a good kick, you would either be on time from now on or stop showing up."

"That's about right," the writer said. "Maybe that's what I need to do with my team," said Bryant, who has been blaming himself for several days because his Crimson Tide has lost two games this season.

In fact, Bryant strongly hinted after Louisiana State's 20-10 victory last Saturday that it might be time for a change.

But the 69-year-old coach said Wednesday: "I want to coach until I'm 80 or 90 if I can get good results. If I get to where I can't get them to play, that's another matter."

Bryant wondered aloud whether he can still motivate teams as well as he once did.

"Fifteen years ago, I could get them to play, no matter who they were," he said. "I could have won at Vassar."

By most standards, Alabama's 7-2 mark would be satisfactory, but Bryant was asked why some Alabama fans are dissatisfied with anything less than a perfect season and a national title.

"I'm not satisfied," he said. "I don't want them to be that way. You know, they come up with 'We love you.' I know people love me. That doesn't do any good when you're six feet under ground. I don't ever want to be satisfied with anything but winning all the games."

Alabama entertains Southern Mississippi on Saturday in its home field, where it has not lost since 1963, but Bryant said he was concerned that the Golden Eagles might be gunning for Alabama, especially since they were put on probation this week by the National Collegiate Athletic Association.

"I'm afraid it's going to make them want to win a lot more," he said.

THIS ARTICLE IS A WARNING!

Soon Russia will launch a military attack against Israel and the oil-rich Middle East. This invasion will initiate a world wide holocaust. Billions will die. But, God has provided an ESCAPE.

God help you to read and respond to this — His message to you. Time is short.

"Tell us, when shall these things be? And what shall be the sign of thy coming, and of the end of the age?" (Matthew 24:3)

"AND THIS GOSPEL OF THE KINGDOM SHALL BE PREACHED IN ALL THE WORLD FOR A WITNESS UNTO ALL NATIONS; AND THEN SHALL THE END COME." Jesus Christ (Matthew 24:14)

The gospel of Jesus Christ is now being proclaimed in every nation on the face of the earth. Any Bible studying, born again Christian, knows that we are in the closing hours of this age. Soon, according to the Bible, Jesus will come to evacuate all born again Christians from the face of the earth. Then, seven years of judgment will be poured out upon the earth.

SOON.

"The Lord Jesus shall be revealed from heaven with his mighty angels, in flaming fire taking vengeance on them that know not God, and that obey not the gospel of our Lord Jesus Christ; who shall be punished with everlasting destruction from the presence of the Lord, and from the glory of his power," (2 Thes. 1:7-9)

We are in the LAST HOURS of this age. According to scripture, we shall see the return of the Lord and the pouring out of God's judgment upon the earth.

SCRIPTURAL SIGNS THAT WOULD HERALD THE END OF THE AGE

(1) The nation Israel: Thousands of years ago, Old Testament prophets foretold the scattering of the Jews among the nations of the world:

MOSES WROTE: "And the Lord shall scatter thee among all people, from the one end of the earth even unto the other

And among these nations shalt thou find no ease, neither shall the sole of thy foot have rest: but the Lord shall give thee there a trembling heart, and failing of eyes, and sorrow of mind.

And thy life shall hang in doubt before thee; and thou shalt fear day and night, and shalt have none assurance of thy life." (Deut. 28: 64-66)

History testifies to the fulfillment of this prophecy. The Jews have been slaughtered by the millions during these past 2,000 years. Only recently the world witnessed the extermination of 6,000,000 Jews under Adolf Hitler.

Yet, the Old Testament abounds in prophecies that at some future date, once again the Jews would return to their ancient homeland and, once again, would possess Jerusalem: "Behold, I will take the children of Israel from among the nations, to which they are gone, and will gather them on every side, and bring them into their own land. And I will make them one nation in the land upon the mountains of Israel..." (Eze. 37:21)

On May 15, 1948, once again, after 2,000 years the Jews are back in their homeland. In June of 1967, once again, after over 2,300 years, the Jews once again control Jerusalem. The Bible makes it clear that these events would occur in the closing days of history, just before the return of Jesus and the gathering together of the armies of the world to the Middle East, where God will pour out His judgment. Speaking through the prophet Joel, God says:

"For, behold, in those days, and in that time, when I shall bring again the captivity of Judah and Jerusalem, I will also gather all nations, and will bring them down into the Valley of Jehoshaphat, and will judge them there for my people and for my heritage Israel, whom they have scattered among the nations..." (Joel 3:1-2)

(2) The invasion of Israel by Russia and her allies: Ezekiel, in the 37th chapter, foretold the return of the Jews to Israel in the latter days. Remember, the nation was not called Israel until 1948. Ezekiel said the Jews would return and the nation would be called Israel.

Then in the 38th chapter Ezekiel tells of a military invasion of Israel in the latter days, (the days just preceding Christ's return to earth):

"Gog, of the land of Magog, the chief prince of Meshech and Tubal... I will bring thee forth and all thine army... and many peoples with thee... in the latter years thou shalt come into the land that is brought back from the sword, and is gathered out of many peoples, against the mountains of Israel, which have been always waste; but it is brought forth out of the nations... it shall be in the latter days." (Eze. 38:2-16)

Gog is the name given to the head of this nation. Magog, Meshech, and Tubal were all early descendants of Noah mentioned in Genesis 10. History records that these individuals, with their tribes, migrated to and settled in the land of modern day Russia after God scattered the peoples from the tower of Babel. Ezekiel tells us three times that this nation will come out of the north parts, literally "the uttermost parts of the north." Look at a map. To the uttermost north of Israel lies Russia.

Ezekiel even lists the allies that will come with Russia:

(a) Gomer and all its borders: Gomer, early descendant of Noah, and his peoples settled in Eastern Europe. Today this includes East Germany and the Warsaw Pact Nations, who, with the aid of Russia, are building up militarily in preparation for the great invasion into the Middle East.

(b) Lybia: (Put) There is little doubt that the Lybia of Ezekiel's prophecy is the Lybia of North Africa, at the present time an ally of Russia.

(c) Ethiopia: The Ethiopia (Cush) of Ezekiel's prophecy is the Ethiopia of North Africa. It came as no surprise to Bible studying Christians when Ethiopia fell some 5 years ago and became sided with Russia.

(d) Persia: The country of Persia changed its name to Iran in 1935. At the time of Ezekiel's prophecy, Persia included Iraq, Afghanistan, etc., already in the Soviet camp. But, in the main, Persia is Iran. Once again, the turmoil in Iran is no surprise to the Bible studying Christian. Iran must go into the Soviet camp.

RUSSIA HAS JUST OVERRUN AFGHANISTAN AND THREATENS IRAN. TIME MAY BE SHORTER THAN WE THINK.

(e) Togarmah: Togarmah not only includes Asiatic portions of Russia, but also the country of Turkey. At this hour we read of the revolutionary activities taking place in Turkey. Turkey must fall to the Soviets.

More than 2,000 years ago, the prophets recorded the aligning of the nations that would herald the darkest hours of the earth's history, culminating in the end of the age and the return of Christ.

Today we read about the great offensive military build-up of Soviet Russia and her allies. The most extensive peacetime preparations for war ever undertaken by any nation in history are taking place at the present time in the Soviet Union, according to our military and political leaders. NATO military leaders have warned that by 1981-82 Russia will have her military divisions at peak strength and the west had better be prepared. Military leaders concede that Soviet Russia's military build-up is targeted against the oil rich Middle East. The Massachusetts Institute of Technology (MIT) oil report warns, after years of research, that by as early as 1981 we may be plunged into a world oil crisis, leading to global war.

Ezekiel 38:13 lists several nations that will protest this great military invasion. Sheba and Dedan are among these, which today is the country of Saudi Arabia, the oil capital of the world. Time is running out. Soon Russia will make that military invasion promised over 2,000 years ago.

(3) The rise of a 10 nation political alliance in Western Europe: Both the book of Daniel and the book of Revelation speak of an alliance of 10 nations that will arise in the latter days and which will be in existence at the time of Christ's return.

In Daniel 2:31-45 and Daniel 7:1-28, God reveals to Daniel the four world empires that will pass across the stage of world history, culminating in the outpouring of God's judgment upon the earth and the return of Jesus Christ.

We will use Nebuchadnezzar's dream, in Daniel 2, in which he saw a huge image of a man. The head of gold, God reveals, is Nebuchadnezzar and the empire of Babylon. The breast and arms of silver represent the second empire, which proved to be Medo-Persia. The belly and thighs of bronze represent the third empire, which proved to be Greece. (Daniel 8:20-21) The legs of iron represented the fourth empire, which history proved to be Rome; but, as represented by the feet and 10 toes, there would be 10 nations to arise out of the ruins of the Roman empire. The Bible says: "And in the days of these kings shall the God of heaven set up a kingdom, which shall never be destroyed..." (Daniel 2:44)

As we look at the stage of the world, and study the prophecies dealing with how the nations would be aligned at the time of the end, there is only one place to look for the 10 nation alliance to arise, the ruins of the Roman empire that today make up Western Europe.

Coinciding with the rise of Israel and the rise of Russia and her allies, we look to Western Europe and right before our eyes, ten nations now make up the European Common Market, and are moving rapidly towards political unification. It is from among these ten nations that will arise the coming world leader, the Antichrist, who will be Satan's puppet during the seven-year period of judgment soon to fall upon the earth.

The stage is now just about set for the holocaust to come. Time is running out.

(4) A world-wide military build-up: The Bible tells us that in the latter days, just before the outpouring of God's judgment, that God will call all the nations to "arm to the teeth"; there would be a world-wide arms race.

Speaking through the prophet Joel: "Proclaim this among the nations; Prepare war, wake up the mighty men, let all the men of war draw near; let them come up; Beat your plowshares into swords, and your pruning hooks into spears; let the weak say, I am strong. Let the nations be awakened, and come up to the Valley of Jehoshaphat; for there will I sit to judge all the nations round about." (Joel 3:9-10, 12)

Instead of spending money on food production, so desperately needed in the world today, the nations will be engaged in a mad weapons race.

In May of 1978, many of the nations of the world met in New York to discuss ways to stop the world-wide arms race. We learned from this meeting that $400 billion a year is being spent on weapons by the nations of the world or $1,000,000 a minute.

Sakharov, father of the Russian H-bomb said: "The pulling of a few levers, the pushing of a few buttons, and the throwing of a few switches would result in the complete annihilation of every living thing upon the earth." This brings to mind the words of Jesus, as He spoke of the last 3 1/2 years of the 7 year period of judgment to come upon the earth: "For then shall be great tribulation, such as was not since the beginning of the world to this time, no, nor ever shall be. An except those days should be shortened, there should no flesh be saved..." (Matthew 24:21-22)

Never before has the world been divided into armed camps on the scale of today. The day is rapidly approaching when God will draw the armies of the world into the Middle East for the last great war of history. At this very hour we see Russia encircling the oil fields of the Middle East.

Space does not allow to go into the multitudes of other prophecies, coming to pass right before our eyes. Judgment is soon to be poured out upon the earth, 7 years of judgment according to the scriptures. The Bible says that God "hath appointed a day, in which he will judge the world in righteousness by that man whom he hath ordained."

The horror of those soon approaching days is summed up in one scripture: "And in those days shall men seek death, and shall not find it; and shall desire to die, and death shall flee from them." (Rev. 9:6)

Nuclear war seems vividly described in the Bible. The prophet Zechariah in describing those 7 years of tribulation upon the earth said: "Behold, the day of the Lord cometh... the Lord will smite all the people that have fought against Jerusalem; their flesh shall consume away while they stand on their feet, and their eyes shall consume away in their holes." Scientists who have studied the atomic bomb explosions on Nagasaki and Hiroshima, Japan say this is a precise description of what happened to many of the victims of the 1945 bombings.

The prophet Malachi wrote: "For, behold, the day cometh that shall burn like an oven..."

The prophet Isaiah wrote: "... therefore, the inhabitants of the earth are burned and few men left."

Peter wrote: "... the elements shall melt with fervent heat; the earth also, and the works that are in it shall be burned up.

"Revelation 9:16 says: "one-third of mankind was killed by the three plagues of fire."

According to the book of Revelation, billions of people will be destroyed. No wonder the prophet Jeremiah wrote: "And the slain of the Lord shall be at that day from one end of the earth even unto the other end of the earth; they shall not be lamented, neither gathered, nor buried; they shall be refuse upon the ground." (Jer. 25:33)

GOD, SPEAKING THROUGH THE PROPHET ISAIAH, WARNED OVER 2000 YEARS AGO: "NOW, THEREFORE, BE YE NOT SCOFFERS... FOR I HAVE HEARD FROM THE LORD GOD OF HOSTS A DESTRUCTION, EVEN DETERMINED UPON THE WHOLE EARTH." (Isaiah 28:22)

(5) World-wide judgment will come suddenly: Jesus said: "For as a snare shall it come on all them that dwell on the face of the earth." (Luke 21:25) The apostle Paul wrote: "For when they (the non-Christians) shall say, Peace and safety, then sudden destruction cometh upon them as travail upon a woman with child, and they shall not escape." (1 Thess. 5:3)

Again Jesus said: "But as the days of Noah were, so shall also the coming of the Son of man be. For as in the days that were before the flood they were eating and drinking, marrying and giving in marriage, until the day that Noah entered into the ark, and knew not until the flood came, and took them all away, so shall also the coming of the Son of man be." (Matthew 24: 37-39)

People will be going about their everyday business then BAM! judgment will strike suddenly.

(6) If you are saved, a born-again Christian, God will remove you from the earth before the 7 years of judgment strike the earth: The Bible teaches that there will be one group of individuals that will not experience physical death, those Christians that are alive on earth just before the 7 years of judgment fall upon the earth. The Bible says: "For the Lord himself shall descend from heaven with a shout, with the voice of the archangel, and with the trump of God; and the dead in Christ shall rise first: Then we who are alive and remain shall be caught up together with them in the clouds, to meet the Lord in the air; and so shall we ever be with the Lord." (1 Thess 4:16-17)

Jesus spoke of that time when He would come to steal away His own: "Then shall two be in the field: the one shall be taken, and the other left. Two women shall be grinding at the mill: the one shall be taken, and the other left." (Matt 24:40-41)

Born-again Christians have been delivered from the wrath to come. We are instructed "to await for His Son from heaven, whom he raised from the dead, even Jesus, who delivered us from the wrath to come." (1 Thess. 1:10) We are to look for Jesus, not judgment. We will be removed from this planet before judgment falls:

"BECAUSE THOU HAST KEPT THE WORD OF MY PATIENCE, I WILL ALSO KEEP THEE FROM THE HOUR OF TEMPTATION, WHICH SHALL COME UPON ALL THE WORLD, TO TRY THEM THAT DWELL UPON THE EARTH." (REV. 3:10)

(7) What must you do to be saved? This is the urgent question of the hour.

a. The Bible says: "for all have sinned and come short of the glory of God." (Rom. 6:23) We are all born into this world infected with a disease called SIN. The Bible says: "For the wages of sin is death..." (Rom. 6:23) The wages of sin is not only physical death, but spiritual death as well. We are born condemned to hell and eternal separation from God.

b. BUT, "the gift of God is eternal life through Jesus Christ, our Lord." 2000 years ago, Jesus Christ left heaven and came to earth to die a bloody death on a cross. He paid the penalty for my sins and your sins.

c. NOW, WHAT MUST YOU DO ABOUT IT? Jesus, in John 3, told how simple it was for a man to be saved. He referred back to Old Testament times when Moses was leading the children of Israel through the wilderness. The Israelites sinned against God with their constant complaining and rebelliousness. Finally, God sent deadly serpents in to the Israelite camp to bite the Israelites. As they lay there dying, God told Moses to get a long pole and put a brazen serpent at the top. God then told Moses to tell the Israelites, as they lay dying upon the ground, to look at that brass serpent and they would live. "And the Lord said unto Moses, Make thee a fiery serpent, and set it upon a pole; and it shall come to pass, that every one that is bitten, when he looketh upon it, shall live." (Numbers 21:8)

Look and live, how simple.

Jesus said: "AND AS MOSES LIFTED UP THE SERPENT IN THE WILDERNESS, EVEN SO MUST THE SON OF MAN BE LIFTED UP, THAT WHOSOEVER BELIEVETH IN HIM SHOULD NOT PERISH, BUT HAVE ETERNAL LIFE." (John 3:14-15) That word "believeth," translated from the Greek, means much more than just a "head knowledge" about Jesus. It is an action verb meaning "committed trust". YOU MUST DO SOMETHING. WHAT????

"FOR WITH THE HEART (mind) MAN BELIEVETH UNTO RIGHTEOUSNESS; AND WITH THE MOUTH CONFESSION IS MADE UNTO SALVATION." (Rom. 10:10)

HOW DO YOU CONFESS WITH YOUR MOUTH? "FOR WHOSOEVER SHALL CALL UPON THE NAME OF THE LORD SHALL BE SAVED." (Rom. 10:13)

Right where you are, you can receive the gift of eternal life. RIGHT NOW, wherever you may be, believe God and act on what He says.

You may be a drug addict, you may be a prostitute, you may be a murderer, you may be a homosexual, you may be an alcoholic, you may be MR. GOOD CITIZEN, you may be a college professor, you may be the richest man in the county, IT DOESN'T MATTER. GOD IS NO RESPECTER OF PERSONS. WE ARE ALL SINNERS AND GOD HAS PROVIDED A WAY OUT FOR US. You must repent, be willing to turn from your sins and turn to God to save you.

WOULD YOU LIKE, RIGHT NOW, TO MAKE SURE YOU HAVE ETERNAL LIFE WITH CHRIST AND THAT YOU WILL ESCAPE THE TERRIBLE SUFFERING SOON TO COME UPON THE EARTH? IF SO, PRAY THIS PRAYER AND MEAN IT, AS BEST YOU KNOW HOW:

Dear Lord Jesus, I am a sinner. I now come to you and ask you to forgive me for all my past sins and to come into my life to be my Savior and Lord. Thank you for dying on the cross for me. Now, make me the Christian you want me to be. Thank you Jesus. Amen.

IF YOU PRAYED THIS PRAYER ASKING JESUS TO BE YOUR SAVIOR, AND MEANT IT AS BEST YOU KNEW HOW, GOD PROMISES THAT YOU ARE SAVED, YOU CAN NEVER LOSE YOUR SALVATION. IF YOU PRAYED TO RECEIVE CHRIST, THE BIBLE SAYS: "But as many as received him, to them gave he power to become the children of God..." (John 1:12)

(8) What happens when you pray to receive Christ?

GOD SAYS:

a. Turn you at my reproof... (Proverbs 1:23) Did you just turn to God, by inviting Jesus into your life as Lord and Savior? The Bible says it pleased God by "the foolishness of preaching to save them that believe." Did you respond to the "preaching" in this article? If so, GOD SAYS:

b. "behold, I will pour out my spirit unto you..." (Proverbs 1:23) Remember, Jesus said in John 3 that to enter into the kingdom of heaven we must be "born again." We must, Jesus said, at some time in our life be "born of the Spirit." God says if you turn to Him, He pours out His Spirit unto you. The Bible says, in Ephesians 1:12-13, that Christ "in whom ye also trusted, after ye heard the word of truth, the gospel of your salvation; in whom also after ye believed, ye were sealed with that Holy Spirit of promise..."

IF YOU JUST TRUSTED CHRIST AS YOUR PERSONAL SAVIOR, ON THE AUTHORITY OF GOD'S WORD, YOU HAVE BEEN SEALED WITH THE HOLY SPIRIT. YOU HAVE BEEN "BORN OF THE SPIRIT". BORN AGAIN. WHAT ELSE DOES GOD PROMISE?

c. "I will make known my words unto you" (Proverbs 1:23) God says He will now make His word, the Bible, understandable to you. WHY? BUT THE NATURAL MAN RECEIVETH NOT THE THINGS OF THE SPIRIT OF GOD: FOR THEY ARE FOOLISHNESS UNTO HIM; NEITHER CAN HE KNOW THEM, BECAUSE THEY ARE SPIRITUALLY DISCERNED." (1 Cor. 2:14)

Now that God has placed His Spirit within you, you will be able to begin to understand the great truths in God's word.

(9) WHAT DO YOU DO NOW? You must grow. The Bible says, "If any man be in Christ he is a new creation; old things are passed away; behold, all things are become new." (2 Cor. 5:17)

The evidence of your being "born again" will be your life changing for the better. Your "want to's" will change, you will no longer desire to engage in your old sinful practices. You will have a "hunger" for the things of God.

IN THE TIME THAT REMAINS BEFORE THE LORD RETURNS TO EVACUATE THE CHRISTIANS:

a. Read your Bible daily — begin in the New Testament with the Gospel of John — Read every day.
b. Pray daily as best you know how.

GOD WILL TEACH YOU: HIS WORDS WILL CHANGE YOU.

(10) ONE NOTE TO ANYONE WHO FELT THIS ARTICLE WAS FOOLISHNESS:

"The preaching of the cross is foolishness to them that are perishing..."

IF THIS MESSAGE SEEMED SILLY OR RIDICULOUS TO YOU, YOU HAVE JUST REVEALED THAT YOU ARE PERISHING. THE DOOR IS STILL OPEN, BUT WILL SOON CLOSE:

"I am the door, by me if any man enter in, he shall be saved..." — Jesus Christ

"SEARCH THE SCRIPTURES, FOR IN THEM YE THINK YE HAVE ETERNAL LIFE; AND THEY ARE THEY WHICH TESTIFY OF ME, AND YE WILL NOT COME TO ME THAT YE MIGHT HAVE LIFE." — Jesus Christ

If you, through the reading of this message, have sincerely asked Jesus Christ to be your personal Saviour and Lord, please write in to the following address so that we can send you material to help begin your Christian growth:

'This Week with David Brinkley' begins second glowing year Sunday

By FRED ROTHENBERG
AP Television Writer
NEW YORK — The technical foul-ups on ABC's "This Week with David Brinkley" are, oddly, a measure of the show's imagination and an indication of how it has helped wake up Sunday mornings.

Los Angeles. Wilson said he could hear Hecht, and the quick-witted Brinkley suggested that maybe Wilson "could tell us what he said."

Beginning its second year this Sunday, "This Week" utilizes satellites and other technical advances to great advantage. There are unique risks, but live TV makes for lively TV. With or without Hecht — and his hook-up was eventually restored — last Sunday's show was entertaining and informative.

Interviewers, too. CBS' Phil Jones in particular was diligent in trying to pin down Rep. Jack Kemp, R-N.Y., last week's guest on "Face the Nation."

Television

Last Sunday, when "This Week" stretched television's technological trickery by having all five new U.S. senators-elect on its live broadcast, the Las Vegas signal from Chic Hecht, the winning Republican from Nevada, was missing.

are studio panel interviews, often taped before broadcast. "Meet the Press," which began its 35th year last week, highlighted the occasion by recalling the program's original introduction — newspaper presses in action, symbolizing that this was a print program on television.

The five newcomers were questioned by Brinkley, Sam Donaldson and George Will on such subjects as Social Security, federal deficits and defense spending. Their comparative views and political rhetoric were eye-opening.

Last December, at the height of the scare over the purported hit squads from Libya, "This Week" scored with a satellite interview of the Libyan leader, Col. Muammar Khadafi.

News director finds story at doorstep

CASA GRANDE, Ariz. (AP) — The news director of radio station KSAZ didn't have to look far when it came to finding her top crime story of the day.

Donna McBride said she was alone at the station Wednesday afternoon when she stepped out of the control booth after a newscast and a man confronted her and demauded money. The man pulled a knife and threatened Mrs. McBride when she told him there was no cash on the premises, but he ran away when she picked up a ringing telephone.

boss, but was still trying to figure out how to interview herself for a story on the evening news.

Mrs. McBride called police and resumed her broadcasting shift after telling her in this central Arizona community of nearly 15,000 for almost a year.

She said the item would definitely make it on the air. "News is so slow here, we have to make our own," she said, laughing.

Mrs. McBride, in her early 20s, has worked at the station

Social Security facing $150 billion deficit, panel says

ALEXANDRIA, Va. (AP) — The members of the National Commission on Social Security Reform reached quick, unanimous agreement today that the system is facing a deficit of $150 billion to $200 billion during the rest of the 1980s.

Still ahead for the 15-member panel lies the much harder problem of trying to agree on how to close that gap between revenues and benefit outlays.

The initial agreement, achieved without a formal vote, was hailed by liberals and conservatives alike on the commission, which began a three-day meeting in this historic city in the Washington suburbs.

Sen. John Heinz, R-Pa., said that "it could well turn out to be the most significant thing that we can agree on. It's nice to see a 15-0 vote at the outset, even if no vote was taken."

Economist Alan Greenspan, the panel chairman, said that according to various economic forecasts, the combined old age and disability trust funds are expected to be $150 billion to $200 billion short of the amount needed to maintain a 15 percent reserve by the end of the decade. A 15 percent reserve is less than two months' worth of benefits.

Greenspan cautioned that the deficit could get worse, and he said panel members should devise "a fail-safe mechanism" to protect Social Security if the economy grows worse than expected.

Sen. William Armstrong, R-Colo., said, "Thoughtful people could certainly imagine a much worse economic environment."

Rep. William Archer, R-Texas, said the forecasts used by both Social Security and the Commerce Department are brighter than the actual economic conditions of the past three years.

Sen. Daniel Patrick Moynihan, D-N.Y., said he was accepting the deficit figure "in the interests of harmony," but said conditions could be considerably better in the years ahead.

Greenspan said the deficit cannot be reduced unless the economy already has begun an upswing that will continue through 1989.

"Regrettably, the evidence is to the contrary. There seems to be very little indication at this point that the economy has turned or is about to turn," said Greenspan, who was former President Ford's top economic adviser and is a private adviser to President Reagan.

Police Beat

Car dealership reports burglaries

Big Spring police say they arrested two women last night at a reported fight at Cactus Jack's in the Big Spring Industrial Park. Deborah Stewart, 30, of 410 Circle, and Sharon Crawford, 22, of Andrews, were arrested at 12:57 a.m. after the manager reported a fight in progress at the club. Both women remain in police custody this morning.

• Bob Brock Ford Inc. was the victim of auto burglaries between 11 p.m. Monday and 8 a.m. Tuesday, according to police. Eleven vehicles on the dealership's parking lot were burglarized as unknown subjects broke windows to gain entry to steal the vehicles' stereo units. The loss was valued at $4,030.

• Robert Lara of 1100 Scurry reported his Grand Prix automobile was stolen between 8 and 8:30 p.m. Tuesday while it was parked in front of the Greenhouse on 1102 Scurry. He valued his loss at $3,000.

• Gary Newman of 1503 E. 3rd reported to police a wallet containing $240 in cash and a check for $134 was stolen from his residence between 1 and 6 a.m. Tuesday.

• Hira Patel of 1000 W. 4th told police a subject stayed at his motel and caused $81 in damage after leaving. The damage occurred between Oct. 2 and Nov. 2, Patel said.

• Howard Walker told police his business, Harley Davidson Shop, was the victim of criminal mischief as subjects spray-painted words on the front and back of the business' building. The offense occurred between Sunday between 3:30 a.m. and 4 a.m., Walker told police.

Suspect released on $5,000 bond

Howard County sheriff's deputies say they arrested Gary Ray Turner, 25, of Forsan, for suspicion of contributing to the delinquency of a minor. Turner was arraigned before Justice of the Peace Bobby West and released after posting $5,000 bond.

• Sheriff's deputies also arrested two persons on separate peace bonds. Charles Stansel, 31, of 628 Caylor, was released under $1,000 bond as was Darren Lamb, 17, of 2714 Cindy. Bonds were set by Peace Justice Lewis Heflin.

• Jessie Lee Clark, 52, of Midland, was released today from county jail after not being charged with any offense. Sheriff's office records indicate Clark was arrested Tuesday for suspicion of public intoxication, but was being held for protective custody.

• Raymond Leroy Harris, 47, no address listed, is in county jail pending a revocation of probation hearing. Harris was returned to Howard County from Taylor County where he was sentenced to four years in the Texas Department of Corrections. Harris was sentenced to four years probation in May for unauthorized use of a motor vehicle in 118th District Court in Howard County.

• Bob Lloyd Moore of 1212 Madison received a seven-year sentence in Martin County yesterday after pleading guilty to aggravated robbery. Moore was indicted by a Howard County jury on two charges: the Aug. 6th armed robbery of Safeway while dressed as a woman and the Aug. 20th armed robbery of Pinkie's Liquor Store on East Third.

Moore was to be transferred to Midland to await further sentencing there, according to the district attorney's office.

Class sings to NARFE members

The fourth grade class from St. Mary's Episcopal School, under the direction of Karen Baker, will give a program of musical numbers at the monthly meeting of the National Association of Retired Federal Employees, chapter 1095, at 9:30 a.m. Thursday.

The meeting will be held in the Kentwood Older Adults Activities Center on Lynn Drive.

Dr. Donohue

Diet for weight gain

Dear Dr. Donohue: Some five months ago I developed an illness that went on for several weeks. Because of diarrhea, I lost weight. I want to gain that weight back, but I can't. I have yet to see anything written on gaining weight. My recent health checkup indicated no problems. I have a good appetite, but don't seem to gain back what I lost. Will be watching for your answer. — H.C.

I'm sure you could find a book on gaining weight in your library, but you would probably have to have it dusted off. Your problem is the opposite of the dieter's, but you can follow his example. He wants to eat fewer calories than he burns so he can get rid of the surplus stored as fat. You want to take in more calories than you are using so that you can correct a deficit, or what you perceive to be a deficit.

To do it, you have to become a mathematician, just like the person who is trying to reduce. If what you say is true, your weight is staying the same on what you are now eating. In that case, you have to start with that calorie total. To do it, you get a calorie chart. Figure out what, on average, you are taking in daily. Figure it out for a week and divide by seven.

That is your starting point.

To gain, you should add about 500 extra calories over what you are taking in daily with your present diet. If you do that you should gain a pound in a week. That's all you need do. If you don't gain a pound in a week, something's wrong with your chart or your arithmetic.

It's not hard to come up with a 500-calorie snack. A cup of dried fruit and a cup and a half of malted milk is 660 calories. You don't have to use those; just make the snack anything that pleases you, so long as it is nutritious. The only problem I would foresee is that once you regain the weight you might join the reducing dieter in his basic problem — quitting that extra daily snack habit you developed over the course of your program.

Dear Dr. Donohue: What can you tell me about a prescription drug called Nolvadex. What are the side effects? Does the body become adapted to it after a period of time, more able to tolerate it? Has it been proven to be an effective drug in the treatment of cancer, or is it still in the experimental stage? After having a mastectomy a year ago, I was put on chemotherapy and finished treatments. My oncologist then put me on Nolvadex. I seem to have lost my appetite and the desire to prepare food. My doctor seems to think the body will tolerate the medication in time. Please comment. — Mrs. M.P.

The generic name for your medicine is tamoxifen, a synthetic hormone that works against estrogen. Some breast cancers are sensitive to the effects of that female-produced hormone. It makes them thrive. When that is the case (and it is not the case in each and every instance of breast cancer), tamoxifen is very useful.

It is not in the experimental stage, but has been around for some time. There may be some nausea, even vomiting, when the medicine is first used, but this tends to get less as time goes on. Sometimes the dosage has to be decreased to control those side effects. You should mention any continued symptoms periodically to your oncologist.

Other side effects that have been noted in some taking it are an increase in blood calcium levels, a temporary drop in the white blood cells and platelets (clotting elements). Most of the reports of side effects have not been of the serious kind. So long as they are not unduly disturbing, the person is better off concentrating on the important benefits being derived from the medicine.

Pizza and peanut butter pie both favorites

By TINA STEFFEN
Lifestyle Editor and
CAROL HART
Lifestyle Writer

This week Mrs. Claude Kendall from Ingram writes to the Recipe Exchange seeking a recipe for a Sour Cream Cake. Anyone who has this recipe and who is willing to share it is urged to send it to the Recipe Exchange, c/o of the Big Spring Herald, P.O. Box 1431, Big Spring, Texas, 79720.

Last week a reader wrote requesting a recipe for a peanut butter pie. According to Carolee Caudill, the recipe was published in last year's Fair Cookbook. The one she mentions is the Peanut Butter Chiffon Pie recipe by Johnnie Lou Avery. Carolee says the recipe is delicious, so we're passing it on to you here.

We also had good reports on the Hummingbird Cake recipe we published several weeks ago. While on the phone with us the other day, Mammie Roberts said the cake was delicious even without the icing. Mrs. Roberts cut the recipe down to make a one-layer cake for herself. Then out of the kindness of her heart, she baked the Hummingbird Cake and a German Chocolate Cake for us at the Herald. Both were scrumptious.

Following are a variety of recipes we collected at the Recipe Exchange. Included is a recipe for homemade pizza, always a popular after school treat.

WHOLE WHEAT PIZZA CRUST

1 (1/2 oz.) pkg. dry yeast
1/2 cup warm water
1/2 tsp. honey
4 to 5 cups whole wheat flour
1 Tbsp. oil
1 cup water
Dissolve yeast in warm water. Add honey and stir. Let stand 10 minutes. Place four cups flour in large mixing bowl. Stir in oil, one cup water and yeast mixture. Mix thoroughly. Coat hands with flour and turn out dough onto floured surface. Knead thoroughly eight to 10 minutes. Divide dough in half. Form dough into balls and place on floured surface. Cover with towel and let rise one hour. Punch down and form two balls. On floured surface roll out each ball to fit 16-inch pizza pan. Place dough on pan and shape to size of pan. Using fingers, make small raised ridge all around rim. Place cool sauce in pizza crust for baking. Makes two large or four medium pizzas.

PIZZA TOPPING

1 clove minced garlic
2 Tbsp. olive oil
1 (1 lb.) can crushed plum tomatoes
1 tsp. salt (optional)
dash pepper
12 sm. sliced mushrooms butter
1/2 lb. shredded mozzarella
1 lb. precooked Italian sausage
1 seeded and chopped bell pepper basil
1 Tbsp. grated Parmesan or Romano cheese

In large pan saute garlic in olive oil. Pour in tomatoes, season with salt and pepper and cook over low heat for 30 minutes, stirring occasionally. Let cool to room temperature. Meanwhile saute mushrooms in butter in small saucepan. Set aside. Spoon cooled sauce evenly over pizza dough. Lay mozzarella over top. Slice sausage thinly and sprinkle over cheese. Add mushrooms and bell pepper. Sprinkle with basil and oregano. Place pizza on floor of 500-degree F. preheated gas oven or lowest shelf of electric oven and bake 8-10 minutes until all cheese is melted and the outer crust is crisp. Sprinkle with Parmesan or Romano cheese. Remove pizza from oven and let stand about 5 minutes before cutting into sections. Makes enough sauce for two large or four medium pizzas.

Note: Dough and pizza freeze well. You may want to make one large pizza and save the rest of the dough for another time.

SESAME POTATO STICKS
6 to 8 medium baking potatoes
3/4 cups sesame seeds
1/2 cup melted butter
1/2 tsp. salt
1/4 tsp. paprika
Cut potatoes lengthwise in sticks one inch thick.

Sprinkle sesame seeds in a thin layer on a waxed paper. Dip potato sticks in butter; coat one side of sticks with sesame seeds. Place sticks, seed side up on a well-greased baking sheet. Sprinkle with salt and paprika. Bake at 400 degrees F. about 40 minutes or until done.

MEXICAN SALAD DRESSING

1/4 tsp. cracked red pepper
1/2 tsp. chili powder
1/4 tsp. paprika
1/2 tsp. dry mustard
1/2 tsp. garlic powder
1/2 tsp. onion powder
1/2 tsp. salt
1/3 cup vinegar
2/3 cup oil

Place all ingredients in quart jar and shake vigorously. Store three to four days in refrigerator before using. Pour over salad greens just before serving. Makes 1 1/4 cups.

SOY PANCAKES

1 1/2 cup soy flour
1/2 cup cornmeal
2 cups whole wheat flour
2 tsp. baking powder
1/2 tsp. salt
2 cups milk
5 eggs
1/3 cup honey
1 1/2 cup warm water
Mix dry ingredients. Beat milk, eggs and honey together and stir flour mixture into liquid. Refrigerate overnight. Add 1 1/2 cups warm water in the morning and bake on a medium-hot oiled grill.

QUICK AND EASY FONDUE

16 slices American cheese
1 cup milk
1 tsp. prepared mustard
1/2 tsp. Worcestershire sauce

salt and pepper to taste
2-3 Tbsp. beer

Combine cheese, milk, mustard and Worcestershire sauce in a medium saucepan. Cook and stir over low heat until cheese melts. Sprinkle with salt and pepper. Transfer to fondue pot and keep warm. Thin with beer one tablespoon at a time until desired consistency is reached. Serve with your favorite dippers. Makes two cups.

WHOLE WHEAT SUGAR COOKIES

1 cup sugar
1/2 cup butter
1 egg
2 cups whole wheat flour
1 tsp. baking powder
1/2 tsp. baking soda
1/2 tsp. salt
1/2 tsp. nutmeg
1 Tbsp. grated orange peel
2 Tbsp. milk
1 tsp. vanilla
1/2 tsp. cinnamon
2 Tbsp. sugar

Cream sugar and butter; add egg. Mix dry ingredients except cinnamon and sugar together and add to creamed mixture with milk and vanilla. Shape into one-inch balls and place on ungreased cookie sheet two inches apart. Flatten slightly and sprinkle sugar and cinnamon on top. Bake 8-10 minutes at 375 degrees F. or until brown. Makes three dozen.

FOR TOP-QUALITY USED BOOKS...see Bea Walker at the Book Exchange

Book Exchange buys and sells fine books

If you are looking for books you can't find at popular book stores, and if you want them at a good price, there's a store in Big Spring tailor-made for you.

It's called the Book Exchange, located at 901 1/2 Johnson, and it is the perfect place for book lovers who are looking for that one certain book.

OWNED AND OPERATED, by Bea Walker, the Book Exchange has over 16,000 paperbacks to sell at half their list price. In addition, the Book Exchange will buy and trade slightly used books that are brought in.

The Book Exchange is a real inflation fighter. It allows you to buy books at a price much cheaper than they can be bought in regular book stores, and in addition will pay for old books that you've already enjoyed.

The Book Exchange only stocks slightly used books, ones that are still in good condition. They have books for every taste, from popular fiction to classics of literature, as well as gothic novels, mystery novels, and non-fiction books. They also stock a selection of hardback books.

Many of the books on the Book Exchange shelves are still on bestseller lists. There are books by Irving Wallace, Peter Benchley, Joseph Heller and Robert Penn Warren. If you enjoy romantic novels, The Book Exchange has a huge selection of Harlequin Romances.

FOR THOSE who collect comic books, there are many available that are available no place else. The Book Exchange also carries many children's books.

If you are looking for a hard-to-find book, The Book Exchange is a great place to browse and discover. They are moved to a new location at 901 1/2 Johnson and are open for business from 11 a.m. to 5 p.m. Come and look. You'll be surprised at the fine selection, and pleased at the finer prices.

Businesses talk of tyranny of northeast

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business Analyst
NEW YORK — At their wits end because of recession and the "tyranny of the northeast curve," business today often turns to the independent think tank for help in growing — through innovation, better marketing or acquisitions.

The northeast curve, as management planners explain, is the direction of projected sales or market share, and generally encompasses a good deal if not an excess of enthusiasm. In reality, the sales line often sags to the east. "Close the gap," said R. Donald Gamache. "We hear it all the time."

Gamache is president of Innotech Corp. In size, it isn't up there with Arthur D. Little, Stanford Research Institute, or Booz, Allen & Hamilton. But, like several other smaller think tanks, it seeks some of the same goals.

Generally speaking, that goal is to push the curve counterclockwise, and each think tank does it in its own special way. Innotech has a 4,000-member brain bank which, says Gamache, seeks by design what Edison did naturally.

When faced with a challenge many corporations feel they must go outside the company for new ideas. Otherwise, says Gamache, they find themselves looking in the same old directions and covering badly worn ground.

Says Irving Calish, chairman of the Trumbull, Conn., company: "Our business is the commercialization of an idea." Calish stresses "focus" as opposed to "random" and "discipline" rather than "chance." Innotech, he says, seeks "targeted innovation," the planned invention rather than chance discovery.

When a client presents a challenge, Innotech seeks information. "In Edison's day all the information on electricity was in a few books," Calish states. He agrees that Edison was unique, but he argues that Edison was preinvention explosion and didn't have to wade through masses of data.

After clarifying discussions between Innotech and the client, Innotech seeks out those in its brain bank who may possess the information needed.

The brain bank took years to build from searching through literature, interviewing, developing contacts with universities, and discussions with trade editors who are exposed to vast numbers of people and ideas. The company seeks those who have been involved with or exposed to change — political, social, economic. Upheavals produce needs; needs produce ideas, the company believes.

From the brain bank is picked a team of knowledgeable people who are sent a briefing document and then paid an honorarium of $150 and expenses for spending a day cross-fertilizing ideas in the creative session rooms at headquarters. Discussions are recorded and probed for information and leads. Idea cards that participants drop into a trough are examined and the information distilled.

smooth. Pour over turkey; simmer 25 to 30 minutes, stirring occasionally. (Filling will be thin consistency at this point.)

To assemble crepes: In baking dish, spoon one-third cup filling down center of one crepe. Roll up; place seam side down in ungreased 13 by 9 inch baking pan. Repeat with remaining crepes. Cover with aluminum foil; bake 20 to 25 minutes. Serve with sour cream. Makes 12 crepes.

Note: Crepes and filling may be made one day in advance and stored in refrigerator. Proceed as recipe directs, baking for 25 minutes or until heated through.

Beat margarine and sugar until light and fluffy. Blend in one cup whipped topping, pumpkin and eggs. Add combined dry ingredients; mix well. Stir in dates and nuts. Pour into greased and floured 10-inch fluted or standard tube pan. Bake at 350 degrees, for one hour. Cool 10 minutes, remove from pan. Serve warm with Spicy Orange Sauce.

PEANUT BUTTER CHIFFON PIE

By Johnnie Lou Avery
1 envelope unflavored gelatin
1/4 tsp. salt
2 eggs, separated
1/4 cup brown sugar, firmly packed
1/4 cup sugar
1 cup milk
1/2 cup creamy style peanut butter
1 cup whipped cream topping
Bake pie shell. Cool. Combine gelatin, 1/4 cup sugar and salt in heavy sauce pan. Add milk, slightly beaten egg yolk and peanut butter. Cook, stirring constantly over medium heat until mixture is smooth, chill until slightly thickened. Beat egg whites until frothy. Gradually beat in brown sugar, until stiff peaks. Fold into peanut butter mixture. Fold whipped topping into mixture. Pour into crust, chill thoroughly and garnish with remaining topping and shaved chocolate.

Turkey crepes mole

Since the holidays are rapidly approaching, you may want to cut out this recipe for Turkey Crepes Mole and save it to use with those turkey leftovers which always remain after holiday meals.

There are special touches to this recipe which make it a tasty treat. The addition of corn meal to the crepe batter gives an authentic Mexican "corn" flavor to crepes. In fact, you'll find these light, delicious corn meal crepes are easier to make than corn tortillas.

The filling is called mole — pronounced mo-lay — because it blends the additional mole ingredients — chili peppers, cinnamon and chocolate — but in their most common, convenient forms.

And, on the subject of practicality, note that you can make Turkey Crepes Mole ahead. Just fix the crepes and filling the day before, refrigerate, then assemble and bake right before you serve.

TURKEY CREPES MOLE

Crepes:
1 cup milk
2/3 cup all-purpose flour
2 eggs
1/2 cup enriched corn meal
1/4 tsp. salt
Filling:
2 cups chopped cooked turkey or chicken
2 Tbsps. vegetable oil
1 1/2 oz. can whole tomatoes, drained
1 10 1/2 oz. can condensed chicken broth
1/4 cup chopped onion
1 1/2 oz. can green chilies, drained
4 Tbsps. unsweetened cocoa
1/2 tsp. garlic salt
1/2 tsp. cinnamon
Dairy sour cream
For crepes: Combine all ingredients; beat until smooth. Pour about 2 tablespoons batter into hot, lightly greased crepe pan or small skillet. Immediately tilt pan to coat bottom evenly with thin layer of batter. Cook 45 seconds or until top looks dry; turn. Cook about 20 seconds. Stack crepes between sheets of wax paper.

For filling: In large skillet, cook and stir turkey in oil until golden brown. In blender or food processor, combine remaining ingredients. Blend just until nearly

HOMEMADE PIZZA — Pizza doesn't always come in a box from a fast-food restaurant or the frozen food section of the supermarket. It can be made right in your own kitchen. In the Recipe Exchange today there is a recipe for pizza made with whole wheat crust and a sausage-mushroom-pepper filling.

Road Riders elect officers

New officers for 1983 were elected during the Big Spring Road Riders Motorcycle Club meeting Thursday in the Brass Nail Restaurant.

The officers are Bill Hunter, president; Willie Nichols, vice-president; Judy Hunter, secretary-treasurer; and Howdy Williams, road captain. Others are Bob Oliver, alternate road captain; and Betty Condray, parliamentarian.

Several members were recognized for their participation in the KBST

M A S H blood drive held in October, which resulted in a $100 prize for the club. Honored were Willie Nichols, Neal Watkins, Chuck Richardson, Harold Aberegg, Howdy Williams, Lisa Dean and Warren Dean. Plans were made for a float to be entered in the Christmas Parade in December. A pot luck supper was scheduled for Nov. 20 at 7 p.m. in the Kentwood Older Adult Activity Center.

Anyone interested in the club is invited to attend and may contact Bill or Judy Hunter at 267-3400, or Willie Nichols, at 263-3705, for more information.

The next meeting will be Dec. 2, for a Christmas party.

DEAR ABBY: There are 13 of us working in this office — seven women and six men — and we all agree that your advice to "Lone Star State" stank. She was the lady whose father left her an inheritance, which she didn't want to put into the family pot for her husband to share equally.

You said the money was left specifically to her and she should give her husband an outright "gift" and spend the rest as she saw fit.

We all agree that if the husband had received the inheritance, Abigail Van Buren would have choked before she told the husband to give the wife "a gift" and spend the rest as he saw fit.

No, Abby, that money, when it came into the family, should go for the good of the family, just like a paycheck does.

FANS IN DEMING, N.M.
DEAR FANS: My mail concerning that item has been running 50-to-1 against my advice, in favor of yours. But read on for an opposing view:

DEAR ABBY: "Lone Star State" obviously lives in Texas — a community property state. However, an inheritance is separate property, which should be kept separate in case the husband should file bankruptcy. Then the creditors cannot take the wife's separate property. Also, in case the husband dies first, the IRS should tax the wife's separate property. The best advice would be to see a lawyer and tax consultant.

Lamesa chamber has year-end celebration

LAMESA (SC) — Last night the Lamesa Area Chamber of Commerce held their annual banquet as they saluted the retail businessmen and women of the community.

Ray Renner served as master of ceremonies with Rev. Bob Hawkins of the First Presbyterian Church in Lamesa giving the invocation. Charles Baldwin talked of the importance of the retail business and the role it plays in Dawson County. Doyle McCada, the retiring president of the chamber, paid recognition to the retiring directors and holdover directors that helped him conduct chamber business during his term.

McCada also presented Patsy O'Neil with a special honor at the banquet, honoring her for her outstanding job in the role as executive vice president's secretary of the Lamesa chamber.

Jack Mars will take over the reins as chamber president for 1983. Mars introduced the incoming officers and directors for this year, Joe Coffee, John Hegi, Murray

Murphy, Jack Prather, Ed Fulbright, Terry Adcock, Carol Hagle and Jack Brooke. The guest speaker for the evening was the president of Western Texas College, Dr. Don Newbury.

CRMWD releases latest delivery figures for area

If the Colorado River Municipal Water District deliveries in the last two months of this year as much as match those of 1981, the district will surpass 18 billion gallons this year.

Another substantial increase in deliveries occurred in October, boosting the total to 15,802,094,445 gallons during the initial 10 months. Of this, 13,773,441,200 gallons went to municipalities — up 5.35 percent.

The total of 1,430,778,376 gallons delivered in October was up 3.94 percent over the same period last year. The bulk of this was in municipal deliveries of 1,229,929,000 — up 5.42 percent for the month.

The October city record included Big Spring with 208,129,000, down 1.96 percent; Midland 328,330,000, down 6.75 percent; Odessa, 590,633,000, up 35.64 percent; Snyder 86,170,000, up 11.18 percent and Stanton 10,060,000, up 37.75 percent.

Local agency joins Key network

Big Spring's Jasper Mallicote Agency has been appointed as a charter member of the Keys Broker Network, it was announced recently by Duncan Ragsdale, director of the network.

The firm will serve as a local representative of Keys Broker, which is a association of brokers dedicated to locating, investigating, packaging and marketing high selected real estate opportunities statewide.

Members of the network can offer their clients unequal marketing, advertising and consulting services through the headquarters in Houston, and a network of brokers throughout the state for their special opportunities.

By utilizing its combined strength, the network can offer member firms exclusive opportunities that generally would be unavailable to individual brokers.

Ragsdale said member are selected for their professional reputation and good standing with the Texas Real Estate Commission.

Recreation assistant drives away hospitalized veterans' boredom

By CLIFF COAN
Staff Writer

Life is boring in a hospital. In Big Spring's Veterans' Administration Hospital, things are no less boring than in any other hospital. Patients shuffle on their seemingly aimless way down corridors and wake up to face the same walls and the same routine every morning.

Life is boring here. Unless, that is, you know Nancy Woodward.

"I'm a people person," the 29-year-old recreation assistant with the dark brown hair and blue eyes said. "That's why I'm in the field I'm in—I enjoy working with people."

Nancy's comfortable around the veterans in the hospital. That's no surprise, though, for she's one of them.

The native of West Virginia enlisted in the Air Force straight out of West Virginia University, and served a four-year hitch, mostly in Berlin.

She was a voice processing specialist. Most of her work was classified, so she's reluctant to talk about exactly what she did.

However, she will say, "I spent nine months in the defense language center learning Russian, then I was in San Angelo at Goodfellow Air Force Base for three months, where I learned the rudiments of radio—not transmitting, just receiving."

From that description it's not too hard to make a guess at what Nancy was doing in Berlin.

Her roots in the military go back much further than the doors of WVU. Nancy's father was stationed at Pearl Harbor when it was bombed in 1941.

"He used to tell me about it when I was younger," she said. "He served four or six years, and met my mom in a service hospital. She was a librarian bringing books around."

With a degree from WVU in Parks and Recreation under her arm, Nancy looked for new areas.

"When I graduated, I went into the service," she said. "I had thought about going in right out of high school."

County court sets resisting arrest trial

Jury selection completed this morning for the trial of Michael Ford, 24, and Raymond Ford, 18, both of 1607 Bluebird, are charged with resisting arrest during a Sept. 19th incident at Malone-Hogan Hospital.

According to police reports, officers had asked the older Ford to move his vehicle from blocking the emergency entrance at the hospital. Police say he responded with obscenities and assaulted officers when he was placed under arrest. The younger Ford was arrested for hindering the arrest of his brother.

Testimony in the case is expected to begin this afternoon or Wednesday morning.

George H. Zarafonitis, 74, died at 12:05 a.m. today in a local hospital following a brief illness. Graveside services will be at 10 a.m. Friday in Trinity Memorial Park under the direction of Nalley-Pickle Funeral Home.

He was born Dec. 6, 1907 in Bonham. He married Ernestine Taylor in Spring Hill, La. She preceded him in death. He had attended grade schools at Waco and Temple and had attended high school at Ranger and Breckenridge where he was a star football player. He attended Burleson Junior College and later graduated from Texas A&M. He had been active in football most of his college career. He taught school at Big Spring High School from 1933-34 and served as assistant football coach under Obie Bristow. He was a retired chemical engineering consultant having worked with FluorLumunus Foster Wheeler Combustion Engineering and numerous other companies in the planning and designing of petrochemical plants. He began his career at Caden Oil and Chemical when he was employed by Alcorn Combustion Co. which was working on additions to the plant. He had served in World War II as a lieutenant in the Army of Engineers. He served in the Pacific campaigns and was stationed in Japan after the armistice. He was a member of several professional engineering associations and a member of the Greek-Orthodox Church.

Survivors include three brothers, James H. Zarafonitis of Austin, N.H. Zarafonitis of Dallas and William H. Zarafonitis of Big Spring; two sisters, Mrs. Paul (Anne) Darrow of Big Spring and Mrs. Jay (Patsy) Huckabee of Snyder; several nieces and nephews and great-nephews and nieces.

Saturday night in a large... had been a hectic... ready because of the election... might forgive Winston Friday... the wedding rehearsal if he... seemed to have his attention divided. He was also possibly thinking of the Steer game being played about the same time as he was listening for his instructions for the wedding - after all, this was the first Steer game he had missed in many, many years. Saturday night came and everyone had the jitters except calm and collected Winston. The wedding music began softly and the ushers escorted in the grandparents, then the parents of the groom, then Betty - and Winston fell right in behind them.

walked down the aisle, sat down beside Betty and then began to wonder if something was wrong. That's when the usher slipped back in to tell him he's supposed to be escorting the bride down the aisle! Undaunted, Winston got up and trudged back up the aisle, to the APPLAUSE of the congregation. He took Susan's arm and the wedding went on. Later, someone asked what he was thinking of and he replied, "Well, I always just follow Betty - I've been doing it for 25 years, so when she started down the aisle, I just naturally took off after her." What was Susan thinking? "She was too nervous to even notice." Betty said, "It wasn't all that bad a mistake - and it sure broke the tension." When you see Winston, ask him if he's heard the latest Aggie joke - the one about how many times it takes an Aggie father to walk down the aisle before his daughter can get married.

The national growth rate for U.S. cities in the 1980s is estimated to be 1.9 percent. Those likely to grow at a rate of 3.5 percent or more include Dallas, Houston, Las Vegas, Tucson, Austin, El Paso, Orlando, Phoenix, San Diego, Tulsa and West Palm Beach.

We're in the midst of Texas Nurses Week (Nov. 7-13) for which the purpose is to inform the public what nurses do, to emphasize nursing's major contributions to health care, and to create public support. Nurses are the largest group of health providers in Texas and in the nation. Micki Potter, RN at the Big Spring State Hospital, reminded me about this and about the District 24 Texas Nursing Association meetings on the second Tuesday of each month at 7:30 p.m. All registered nurses are invited to attend these meetings at the Horace Garrett Building at Howard College and support their professional organization.

In 1882, Americans spent 40 percent of their income on food; today, groceries are covered by 17 percent of the paycheck.
