Man wounded in shooting mishap

By CAROL DANIEL
Staff Writer

A young man, breathless and apparently frightened, brought a wounded Big Spring man to the police station this morning. The victim, Joe Lopez of 602 N. Fourth, was bleeding from a gunshot wound to the buttocks, Shaffer ambulance owner John Korell said. Police are questioning the young man, who cannot hear or speak, in connection with the shooting, Lt. Alvis Jeffcoat said. Police are withholding the suspect's name pending further investigation. Lopez was in satisfactory condition at Malone-Hogan Hospital this morning, a hospital spokesman said. The suspect parked a red and white Ford pickup outside the station about 8:30 a.m. and dashed inside the station for help. Lopez, conscious but apparently dazed, was sitting upright in the pickup. Shaffer ambulance transferred Lopez to the hospital. Left behind in the pickup's floor was a white towel, stained with blood.

Fina strike over Local workers stay in Port Arthur

PORT ARTHUR, Texas — The first shift of 400 union workers returned to work today at the American Petrofina refinery here, marking the end of an 11-month-old strike that was settled during the weekend. However, approximately 60 employees of Big Spring's Cosden Oil and Chemical Company are expected to remain in Port Arthur where they have been working since the strike began, according to Hood Barnwell, director of public relations at Cosden. Barnwell said he hadn't heard anything of any plans for the Big Spring employees to return home, except for Christmas. The strike settlement was all being handled in Port Arthur, and he was "outside looking in" on developments there. Members of the Oil, Chemical and Atomic Workers Union Local 4-23 ratified the new 2½ year contract Saturday. Union spokesman Doug Dubose said the workers agreed to the new contract only because of a management threat to hire replacements for all 400 striking workers. "We're real proud of our people," Dubose said. "They're a solid group and they're still solid. They haven't been broken by any means." He said union members made several concessions, but declined to specify them. Federal mediator Hal Stookey had said the final stumbling block to a settlement was agreement on a back-to-work order. The dispute stemmed from the firing of a union officer during the strike, allegedly for picket line violence. Union members also criticized Fina for announcing a plan to lay off about 90 workers at the refinery.

Fina spokesman Gary Bruner said the company was pleased with the new contract, and said company officials never tried to break the union. "We've made clear from the very beginning that the main issue, from the company's viewpoint, is that we had to have some flexibility in the staffing and managing of our workers at the refinery in order to operate profitably," he said. "This contract allows us to do that." The new contract includes an immediate 9 percent wage increase and a 90 cents per hour boost in eight months. It expires July 1, 1985. The accord was tentatively approved Wednesday night by union negotiators and representatives of the Dallas-based company. Union members walked off their jobs Jan. 8, when the previous contract expired.

Federal spending crisis threatens workers

WASHINGTON (AP) — Hundreds of thousands of federal workers were told to stay on the job today as President Reagan weighed a compromise stopgap spending measure that would keep much of the bureaucracy operating. Presidential spokesman Larry Speakes told reporters that White House aides were going over the compromise, expected to win final congressional approval and be sent to the president later today. Asked if there was anything in the bill to which Reagan objected, Speakes said "I can't think of anything," although he pointed out that aid to Israel was higher than that sought by the president. Later, though, he noted, "the obvious omission is the production funds for the MX."

Committee refuses funding for MX

WASHINGTON (AP) — A House-Senate conference committee has dealt a blow to President Reagan's defense build-up by refusing to approve production of the MX missile, the new nuclear weapon Reagan says is "absolutely essential." The panel left $2.5 billion for MX research and development in the stopgap funding bill it approved Sunday night, but said most of that money can't be spent until both houses of Congress approve a basing plan. White House spokesman Peter Roussel said the decision to eliminate $988 million for production of the first five missiles "might complicate" Reagan's decision on whether to sign or veto the bill after he added. He said the federal workers will be notified of any furloughs late today or before they are due to report on Tuesday. If Reagan has not decided whether to sign the spending bill before Tuesday morning, the workers will be told to stay home. Speakes said the furloughs, if carried out, would affect about 300,000 people. He said the legislation, the product of a compromise worked out Sunday by House and Senate negotiators, was not expected to be approved by the two chambers and reach Reagan's desk "until very late tonight or early tomorrow." At that time, he said, Reagan "will approval by Congress. Reagan wants to build 100 MX weapons, which he renamed the "Peacekeeper," and deploy them in 100 "super-hardened" silos in a "dense pack" formation near Cheyenne, Wyo. The MX proposal includes a compromise that permits construction of substantial numbers of the missiles for research and development. Those weapons could later be used for deployment if Congress approves a basing mode, said Sen. Ted Stevens, R-Alaska. The proposal approved on a voice vote directs Reagan to send Congress a basing plan after next See MX, page 2-A ment of Health and Human Services, spokesman Russ Mack said, "As of now, it's business as usual." Commerce Department operations were also normal. "It's not the first time government workers have been through this," said spokesman B. Jay Cooper. Business was not proceeding as usual at the Federal Communications Commission, however. Spokesman Thomas Campbell said, "We're engaged in the orderly termination of the FCC. We are not issuing licenses, holding meetings or holding hearings. We are also not formally accepting any filings or petitions." Until it becomes clear whether Reagan will sign the bill, Edwin Dale, a spokesman for the Office of Management and Budget, said federal workers should be conducting "shutdown activities." Much of the government officially ran out of money to operate at midnight Friday because the House and Senate and not agreed on, and Reagan had not signed, a stopgap See Spending, page 2-A

5 killed in ship collision

HARWICH, England (AP) — Two loaded ferries collided in a raging night storm off this English port, killing at least five people and sinking one of the vessels in the icy North Sea, police and rescuers said early today. They said another person was presumed dead from the Sunday night smashup, which flung some people into the frigid, gale-whipped water. Helicopters, tugs and other vessels pulled 64 people to safety following the collision between the 4,263-ton European Gateway and 3,514-ton Speedlink Vanguard. Some survivors said they were unable to find lifejackets on the European Gateway or crew members to guide them to liferafts. Flares fired by rescuers over the heaving water lit up Harwich and the surrounding countryside throughout the search in what one rescuer called "a bloody awful night." Chief Superintendent Mike Humberston of Essex County police said all the casualties came from the European Gateway. The ferry capsized and sank in shallow water about 30 minutes after the collision two miles offshore. Harwich is about 75 miles northeast of London. A spokesman for the European Gateway's owners, the shipping firm Townsend Thoresen, said the vessel had left nearby Felixstowe 15 minutes before to sail to the Dutch city Rotterdam with 34 truck drivers and 36 crew aboard. The Townsend Thoresen spokesman said the company would investigate complaints about lifejackets and lifeboats. He said, however, that the ferry had a passenger certificate requiring lifejackets and lifeboat space for every person aboard and that the lifejackets were on See Ships, page 2-A

Arson suspected in blaze

By CAROL DANIEL
Staff Writer

Police and fire officials are investigating possible arson at Northcrest Apartments, 1002 N. Main. Investigating Officer Burr Lea Settles said a camper trailer owned by Curtis Kitrell, manager of the apartment complex, suffered about $3,000 damage in a Saturday night. Four fire trucks answered the call and extinguished the fire, Phillips said. Settles said he is investigating the blaze as possible arson since the trailer apparently was broken into and since he found material inside the trailer that smells of gasoline, Settles said. Firemen also answered another call about 30 minutes earlier at the apartments, however the case turned out to be only a pot of beans on fire, Phillips said. Police reports also indicate two fires at the old Jack Lewis Buick Cadillac dealership at 403 Scurry last night, about 45 minutes apart.

March 1 and requires approval by both houses within 45 days after that. It bans flight testing, which the Pentagon had wanted to begin next month.

The compromise "is not what the administration wants, but it's as good as they could have gotten" in view of the 245-178 House vote two weeks ago against MX production, said Stevens as he agreed to the proposal offered by Rep. Joseph Addabbo, D-N.Y.

Reagan called that vote "a grave mistake" and accused the House of "sleepwalking into the future."

Unless it was reversed, Reagan said, the House decision "will seriously set back our efforts to protect the nation's security."

After the House defeat, Reagan urged Senate approval of missile production, saying, "I believe it is absolutely essential to a strong, secure defense that we vote now on funds for that missile."

But the missile faced strong Senate opposition, too, and Reagan agreed to a compromise proposed by senior Republican senators to retain the production money, but bar it from being spent until Congress approves a basing mode. That compromise won 56-42 Senate approval last week.

"I hope the administration will understand what we've had to do," said Rep. Jack Edwards, R-Ala., the chief MX supporter in the House.

As the conference committee tried to work out a compromise on the MX, Addabbo, leader of the House move to cut MX production, refused to yield, citing the wide margin of the House decision.

"The feeling of the House was made very clear," he said. The missile "is not ready for procurement." He urged the panel to "not put the horse before the cart" and buy a missile without a base.

Coahoma elementary choir to sing on television program

Coahoma's 12:15 Singers will appear on Channel 7's "High Noon Show" at noon Dec. 21, 22 and 23, said choral director William Johnson today.

The 12:15 Singers, a choir composed of 35 Coahoma fourth, fifth and sixth graders, will be performing a series of Christmas carols on the show, Johnson said.

The carols will include both contemporary and traditional Christmas music and feature five pieces from "Ceremony of Carols," written by Benjamin Britten.

All music was arranged for the carolers by Johnson, and the singers will be accompanied by Alicia Curry of Coahoma.

Police said there were no casualties aboard the other ferry. Colin Crowfoot, shipping and port manager for Sealink UK Ltd., said the Speedlink Vanguard was carrying a crew of 28 and no passengers.

Sealink U.K. Ltd. is owned by state-run British Rail which runs the nation's railroad network. Sealink in turn owns Northern Coasters Ltd. which owns the Speedlink Vanguard.

No tourists were believed to have been aboard either vessel. "At this moment we do not know what caused the collision," the Townsend Thoresen spokesman said. "It is the first accident we have had in more than 20 years of operating."

He said the collision occurred at 10:48 p.m. (5:48 p.m. EST), ripping a 200-foot gash in the European Gateway. The bows of the other ferry were reported badly damaged.

Sea water flooded into the engine room of the European Gateway, snuffing out the ferry's generators and causing the vessel to list sharply.

The European Gateway managed to radio a distress call and the captain gave the order to abandon ship. The spokesman for the vessel's owner said some crewmen were able to launch a few life rafts but that others could not be launched because of the list.

The spokesman said one of the rescue ships, the 5,991-ton Danish cargo ferry Dana Futura, picked up between 30 and 40 survivors.

"There was a big bang and I was thrown on the cabin floor," said Simon Dowers, 23, a seaman on the European Gateway. "The lights went out almost at once, and I grabbed some clothes and went on deck."

"There was no panic. Other boats came along quite quickly and some people jumped into the water. They were all picked up almost at once, but all the time the ship was rolling over on top of us."

Truck driver Ivor Harvey, 39, said: "After the bang I looked out to starboard and I could see a ship going along the side, scraping as it went... Nobody panicked or anything. I even finished my drink and went to my cabin for warm clothes."

"There was just no time to launch the lifeboats and I could see only one life raft," said survivor George Lawn.

avoiding a partial shutdown was considered so urgent that a conference committee began working on the compromise even before the Senate officially approved its version of the catch-all spending bill.

But by the time negotiators approved the compromise late Sunday night, the Senate and House had already recessed for the day, meaning the measure could not be approved by both chambers and sent to Reagan until at least this afternoon.

Congressional leaders predicted both chambers would approve the bill, which they had stripped of a jobs-creating provision because of the threat of a presidential veto.

Although Reagan was likely to be pleased on the jobs issue, negotiators also removed the spending bill of $988 million Reagan wanted for production of the MX missile and they banned spending of $2.5 billion for MX research and development until Congress approves a deployment system for the nuclear weapon.

Police Beat

Escaper arrested by police

Police said they arrested 19-year-old Steven Dwayne Barnett Saturday afternoon after he had escaped arrest that morning.

Apparently Barnett fled his arrest on foot Saturday morning as a female juvenile companion jumped the arresting officer, according to police reports. The suspect was being arrested for traffic warrants when the juvenile pinned the officer's hands, allowing Barnett to escape, police said.

When the officer attempted to pursue Barnett, the juvenile jumped on the officer's back, pulling him to the ground.

Barnett currently is in police custody, police reports said.

Ernest Florez, 23, of 1002 N. Main was arrested Saturday night on suspicion of criminal trespass and public intoxication.

Police said they arrested four people yesterday on suspicion of driving while intoxicated.

Jeffery Roy Derks, 18, of 1603 Tuscon was arrested about 1:50 a.m. He also was arrested on suspicion of being a minor in possession of alcohol.

Tony Martinez, 20, of 606 N.W. 11th was arrested about 7:15 p.m. He also was cited for three traffic violations. Martinez was released on a $1,000 bond.

Walter Dugan, 22, of 1601 Meador was arrested about 8 p.m. An 18-year-old companion, Kathy Auwarter of 1709 Aylford, was arrested on suspicion of public intoxication.

Homer L. Williford Jr., 34, of 2403 Rannels was arrested about 9:30 p.m. and released on $1,000 bond.

A woman and two juveniles were arrested this weekend in connection with shoplifting incidents at Gibson's Discount Center, 2309 Scurry.

Dolores S. Cisneros, 26, of 709 N.W. Ninth was arrested Saturday on suspicion of theft under $5. Police said the suspect shoplifted two bottles of cologne.

A 16-year-old girl was arrested yesterday afternoon on suspicion of theft under $5.

A 16-year-old boy was arrested yesterday morning on suspicion of theft under $5.

O.I.L. GUSHES OVER UNITED WAY GOAL — Oilfield Industrial Lines employees contributed a total of $28,458.08 this year to the United Way of Big Spring-Howard County campaign, topping their goal. O.I.L. will match this contribution, making a total donation of $56,916.16. Contract Welder Jack Howard paints the sign as Karen Craft, Industrial Relations coordinator for UW, holds the ladder. O.I.L. Board Chairman Chris Christopher and Chief Operating Officer Dick Fackler (left to right) watch.

United Way totals to exceed goal

The United Way of Big Spring-Howard County is expected to exceed its $220,000 campaign goal this year by some $30,000, according to Executive Director Sherrie Bordsoske.

As of today, the city-county total donations stand at $176,109 with the final total expected Wednesday, Mrs. Bordsoske said.

Totals are as follows: Pacesetters, $72,030; Special, $67,710; Professional, $13,252; Metropolitan, $8,843; Out of Town, $7,402; Residential, $5,440 and Rural, $1,430.

Any persons wishing to contribute to the campaign may leave donations at Room 106 in the Permian Building or mail them to the United Way, Box 24, Big Spring, 79720 or call 267-5201 and donations will be picked-up.

OPEC agrees to price freeze

VIENNA, Austria (AP) — OPEC oil ministers formally agreed today to a daily production ceiling of 18.5 million barrels through 1983 and to freeze their base price at $34 a barrel indefinitely, OPEC president Yahaya Dikko announced today.

But the ministers put off until later a decision on how to divide sales among each of the 13 countries in the oil cartel — an issue that has threatened OPEC unity.

Dikko, Nigeria's oil minister, announced the new production ceiling and the price freeze at a press conference at the end of the second day of the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries' year-end meeting. He said the issue of production quotas for individual members will require further consultations by member governments.

The new production ceiling amounts to 1 million barrels a day less than estimated current production.

Before the agreement was reported, sources close to the talks said Iran and other countries were seeking higher production quotas for themselves at the expense of Saudi Arabia.

The sources said Saudi Arabia was being asked to hold its production at about 1 million barrels a day below its current voluntary ceiling of 7 million.

In a series of closed-door talks Sunday, the ministers pleaded their cases. The cartel has been racked by disputes over how to share oil sales and avert a price collapse.

A system for limiting each members' output is considered by analysts to be essential to OPEC's unity, because a world oil glut has pushed the group to the brink of a price-cutting war.

But Dikko insisted there will be no price war. "We will all exercise our sense of responsibility," he said.

OPEC's official price of $34 a barrel is about $4 higher than equivalent oil sold outside the cartel.

Before agreement was reported, Humberto Calderon Berti, Venezuelan oil minister, said "We have to keep the price at $34."

Iran and Saudi Arabia, who hold the keys to an OPEC agreement, had given little indication Sunday that they were ready to compromise on the production-sharing issue.

Saudi Arabia is by far the biggest producer in OPEC, but Iran is trying to expand its role in the 13-member organization. Iran made a new, though mainly symbolic, step in that direction by proposing that a member of its delegation be named secretary-general of OPEC. Marc Nan Nguema of Gabon, who currently holds the job, is scheduled to step down next year.

A more serious problem for OPEC is Iran's insistence that it be given a bigger share of sales at Saudi Arabia's expense. Saudi Arabian state radio on Sunday accused some OPEC members of "premeditated internal sabotage" and said the country would take suitable measures to protect the interests of the majority in OPEC.

Ex-CIA agent sentenced to 30 years for smuggling to Lybia

ALEXANDRIA, Va. (AP) — Former spy Edwin Wilson was sentenced today to 30 years in prison and fined $200,000 for his conviction on smuggling arms to Libya in the first of four criminal trials arising from his dealings with the Arab nation.

U.S. District Judge Richard L. Williams said the 54-year-old former CIA agent ran "a very sophisticated scheme to engage in the arms business on an international scale." Wilson was convicted last month on seven conspiracy, firearms and export law violations. All are connected to smuggling four pistols and an M-16 rifle from the United States to Libya, a nation the United States says has been a leading supporter of international terrorism.

The seven charges carried a maximum of 39 years in prison and a $240,000 fine.

Williams sentenced Wilson to 30 years in prison. "I can't help but conclude that what you did ... appeared to be a very sophisticated scheme to engage in the arms business on an international scale," Williams told Wilson.

"The evidence of guilt was overwhelming," said Theodore Greenberg, the chief prosecutor. He called Wilson "a merchant of death, selling to the highest bidder."

Wilson's attorney, Herald Price Fahringer, still maintained that Wilson was working for the CIA when he dealt with Libya. "It is shameful he has been abandoned and left out in the cold," Fahringer said.

During the next five weeks, Wilson faces three more trials on various charges of supplying munitions for a Libyan terrorist training camp and conspiring unsuccessfully to kill a Libyan dissident in Egypt.

Two of the trials are in Washington, D.C., and the third is in Houston, Texas, where a federal judge last week turned down

Wilson's claim that he was illegally lured back to the United States by the federal government.

During the brief trial here, Wilson's attorneys claimed his arms dealings with Libya were only a cover to win the confidence of the Libyan leaders so Wilson could glean important intelligence to be fed to the U.S. government.

Weather

Start preparing for warm Christmas

By The Associated Press

Temperatures were generally cool under fair skies across Texas today.

Before dawn, the readings ranged from 25 at Marfa to 54 at Brownsville. Temperatures were mostly in the 30s and 40s early today.

Winds were light and southwesterly except for the Panhandle and lower Rio Grande Valley, where a light breeze blew from the northwest.

The National Weather Service said the weather should be fair and warm through Tuesday, with some brief fog from the coastal bend to the lower Rio Grande Valley on Tuesday morning.

SNOWSTORMS STRETCHED from the upper Midwest to the Northeast early today, changing to rain along the southern edge of the storm system, and rain continued to fall in the Pacific Northwest.

Snow spread from the Great Lakes and the upper Ohio Valley through the North Atlantic states. Rain was mixed with snow over parts of the area, and light rain fell in New Jersey and eastern North Carolina.

Rain also fell over western Oregon and snow covered the inland sections of the Pacific Northwest. Clouds extended eastward through the northern Rockies and dense fog persisted over central California.

Dense fog also formed over central North Carolina and clouds hung over the Tennessee and lower Ohio valleys to the mid- and upper Mississippi Valley.

Skies were clear or partly clear over the rest of the nation.

Snow was forecast for later today through New England, the mid-Atlantic Coast states and the cen-

Rancher arrested for cruelty

PITTSBURG, Texas (AP) — An East Texas rancher has been jailed on five warrants alleging he cruelly treated a herd of wild horses and mishandled the 250 head of cattle he had used to get a loan of nearly $200,000, a sheriff's official says.

Joe Corbett was arrested outside this town Sunday night after he was stopped for not having lights on a trailer he was pulling behind his truck, said Camp County Constable Whit Barnett.

Corbett was being held in the Camp County Jail, Barnett said.

A felony arrest was issued Friday based on a complaint from Pittsburg National Bank, which contended the 250 head of cattle had disappeared, said Camp County Attorney Paul Mayben.

Bank president R.M. Richards signed a complaint accusing Corbett of defaulting on the loan by not retaining the cattle.

Four warrants alleging misdemeanor cruelty to animals also were issued Friday for Corbett's arrest.

Groups fight 'Custer's Revenge'

DALLAS (AP) — American-Indian and women's groups in Dallas have joined forces to seek a local ban on sales of the video game "Custer's Revenge," which has drawn the wrath of several groups nationally for its violent display.

Dallas American Indians say the home-video game, which sells for $55, is degrading to Indians and cruel to women because it depicts a violent rape.

The group plans to ask the Dallas City Council for a ban on the sale of the game within city limits, said organizer Mary Grimes.

The game, manufactured by American Multiple Industries of New York for Atari Inc. home video systems, features a General Custer character wearing only a hat and boots and an Indian maiden wearing only a seafoam and feather. At rows are shot at Custer as he attempts to catch the maiden and rape her, which he sometimes does.

"This is not only an attack on an Indian woman, but it is degrading to all humans," said Mary Hatz, who is part Indian and an opponent of the game.

"Rape is a concern that touches everyone," she said.

Atari is suing to stop sales of the game. Protests have been lodged in several cities across the nation, and the Oklahoma City Council has passed a resolution condemning the game as "distasteful and not in the best interests of this community."

Mrs. Grimes, a counselor at the Dallas Inter-Tribunal Center, said she and 30 others gathered in front of Dallas City Hall Saturday to denounce the game and collect signatures on a petition.

"The public has to say we don't like it, we won't patronize it."

The night before doomsday

Dear Editor,
 'T'was the even of the siege,
 And all through the park
 Not a police dog was stirring
 Not even to bark.

The dynamite was laid by the Icon
 With care
 In hopes that Ted Koppel soon
 Would be there.

The people were watching their
 TVs
 In bed
 While visions of sit-coms danced
 In their heads.

And Nancy with her Seagram's
 and
 Ron with his Schnapps
 Had just settled divorce with
 A numbing night cap.

When out on the law there
 Arose such a clatter
 Ron fell from his bed to See the economy in tatters.

Away to the window he crawled
 Like a snail
 Tore open Down Jones and Made Nixon's Bail.

When what to his speculative Eyes should appear
 But a half-witted terrorist
 With gut full of beer.

The little ole driver so tawdry
 And slick
 (Ron knew it to be just a Democrat fix.)

More rapid than Eagles Dow's
 Level had routed
 On National T.V. Ron
 Joked U.S. and shouted.

Now Stockman! Now
 Ford! Now Mondale!
 Now Bush!
 On Kennedy! On Carter!
 On Nixon! Now Mush!

As dry leaves that before the wild
 Hurricane fly
 Floated commercial C.D.'s, stocks and bonds
 Up to the sky.

So up to the limit the traders all
 Flew
 With their fists full of dollars
 (And Ronny-Boy too!)

In his moment of glory Ron heard
 On his lawn
 The popping and spitting of a terrorist's Gun.

So he optioned to slowly stick out
 His face
 And hear yon deranged terrorist's Case.

He was dressed all in black from
 His head to his foot
 On his face he had smeared
 Radioactive soot.

A bundle of dynamite he had Flung on his back
 And he looked like a sportsman
 A-testin' his pack.

His eyes how they reddened
 His skin, how it glowed
 His back, from the dynamite threat
 It was bowed.

His thin little mouth was drawn
 Up in a snarl
 And he screamed out his rage
 As Ron sat on his laurels.

The stump of a pipe Ron held tight
 In his teeth
 And the smoke of it exited his nose
 Like a Beast.

The Terrorist's words, Ron caught
 From afar
 "Bring on Ted Koppel and stop
 This damned war."
 The Knave was on welfare and Covered with filth
 and Ron laughed when he saw
 Him in spite of himself.

A wink of Ron's eye and a look of Disdain
 Soon told the Terrorist he had Nothing to gain.

He spoke not a word, but went
 Straight to his work
 He set all the timers then turned
 To the jerk.

Displaying his finger and thumb
 his nose
 He turned to the Icon, up
 The stairway he rose.

The dogs sprang to action at the Sound of Ron's whistle
 Up the staircase they flew to Devour the gristle — But —
 To Ronny he waved as he exploded
 The dynamite.

HAPPY DOOMSDAY TO ALL
 AND TO ALL A GOOD FRIGHT.

(Ron laughed softly and smiled
 and
 Withdrew his head
 And said softly to Nancy, "Let's Go to Bed.")

The French connection

PARIS — "I don't have bad feelings toward the United States," Francois Mitterrand said three times in the course of an hour's chat at the Elysee Palace the other day. His unmistakable meaning is that the talk of terrible strain between Washington and Paris is gravely exaggerated.

Cooperation among the Atlantic allies, accordingly, remains assured. But that is only the bottom line of a wide-ranging discussion.

THE RECENT change in Soviet leadership was the first theme evoked by the French president. He said that although in Russia the system tended to count more than the leader, a "succession always offered a chance to wipe the slate clean of past mistakes." Mitterrand did not expect any liberalization in Russia, or any easing up of Soviet assertiveness over Eastern Europe.

"The Russians want to maintain their control there," he explained. But he did see two areas where shifts seemed likely.

Afghanistan was one. Mitterrand said that the occupation had cost the Russians dearly in men and material, and in their relations with the West, China, India and the whole Third World. He could imagine creation of a broader regime in Kabul that might be accepted by India, which he had recently visited, and Pakistan. He thought moves in that direction were being made under United Nations auspices, and that Moscow was interested.

Arms control negotiation with the West was the other area where Mitterrand sensed opportunity for movement. He believes the Russians are "genuinely worried" by the American military buildup. He said that in order to concentrate on arms control, Moscow had recently subordinated several other interests. In that regard, he cited the easing of tensions with China, and relative inactivity in the Middle East and in Africa.

The NATO decision to deploy nuclear-armed Pershing and cruise missiles in Western Europe he thought was particularly disturbing to Moscow. "The Pershings," he said, "can reach Soviet territory in about six minutes." Unlike the previous French president, Valery Giscard d'Estaing, Mitterrand supported the deployment of the Pershing and the cruise missiles by 1984 unless the Russians agreed to wind down their nuclear missiles in Europe, especially the SS-18s. But he thought the Russians, in the present talks in Geneva, were genuinely interested in such a bargain.

Precisely what kind of offer the Russians might make, Mitterrand did not want to say. He thought an acceptable outcome would be somewhere between President Brezhnev's proposal for a freeze at 300 SS-18s and the American proposal that the number should go down to zero. He implied that a Soviet reduction of SS-18s in return for an allied agreement not to deploy the Pershings would be okay with him. But in any case, France would support the American position in Europe if the Russians did not come up with a compromise offer.

THE MIDDLE EAST was cited by Mitterrand as another area in which French and American policies were in harmony. He pointed to the presence of French troops alongside American troops in Lebanon. He said co-operation was even easier now that Washington had expressed support for Palestinian rights in the "Reagan plan" of September 1.

On economic issues, he acknowledged there have been more difficulties. He mentioned with some bitterness the fight about the American effort (which he called "absurd") to block the gas pipeline between Western Europe and Russia. He said France would not participate in future studies of allied economic dealings with Russia if they involved creating new institutions. "We do not favor an economic NATO," he said.

But he minimized as a "misunderstanding" the dispute which flared when France refused to accept President Reagan's assertion that the ending of the pipeline sanctions followed "an agreement" to tighten economic pressure on Moscow. He also said he welcomed the American interest, expressed by Secretary of Treasury Donald Regan at a meeting of finance ministers in Frankfurt last week, in working with other advanced countries to promote general economic recovery and to overhaul the international monetary system.

THE QUESTION of personal relations with President Reagan was the final subject raised in our talk. Mitterrand said that he had always found the President "attractive" and "likable." He intimated that the two men rarely spoke in detail about concrete items of business. "I can't fly to Washington every four mornings," he said.

But he explicitly denied the charge that he felt Reagan had misled him, or that there was little correspondence between what Reagan said and what his senior associates did. His chief complaint seemed to be that the Reagan administration did not take France seriously, and sometimes acted as though it was "not an independent country." "The Atlantic alliance," Mitterrand put it, "does not authorize you to tell us whether or not we can sell green peas to Russia."

Since the French are now closer to the Germans than ever, Mitterrand's relatively friendly attitude means the Atlantic alliance remains in relatively good working order. It is not, as many of us had feared, about to fall apart. There is no Atlantic crisis.

But there could have been far more cooperation, for Mitterrand stands far closer to the American position on international security than any French leader since Gen. De Gaulle came to power in 1958. The pity is that the Reagan administration, for doctrinaire reasons, has had a thing about his Socialist beliefs. So while no terrible damage has yet been done, an opportunity has been missed.

Taxpayers almost funded terrorist camp

WASHINGTON — The taxpayers came close to funding a terrorist-training camp in Virginia five years ago. They were spared the expense only because the ex-CIA agent who planned the stunt wasn't getting along with his wife.

This is just one of the startling revelations that turned up during an exhaustive closed-door investigation of renegade ex-CIA agent Edwin Wilson by the House Intelligence Committee. Wilson has just been convicted of illegally supplying weapons to agents of Libyan dictator Muammar Qaddafi.

Investigators for the House committee interviewed more than 100 witnesses. All of them were assured anonymity and warned not to speak to the press.

The committee's staff director, Thomas Latimer, seemed especially determined to keep my associate Dale Van Atta from finding out what the witnesses were telling the committee. Van Atta has been investigating the Wilson episode for more than two years.

To one witness, Latimer said: "I'll tell you our experience with (Van Atta), and I have never talked with (him), but people in the press will call up and they will lie to you and they will say, well, I know you are doing such-and-such and I know somebody you can talk to, and they are just fishing ..."

On one of his recent "fishing" expeditions, Van Atta hooked the committee's secret transcripts, from which the above quotes were taken. The transcripts are replete with allegations against Wilson which have never before been disclosed.

Wilson has been charged with supplying and helping to run a school for terrorists in Libya. According to federal investigators, the "supplies" provided to Qaddafi included explosives concealed in common household items like ashtrays. Such terrorist organizations as Italy's Red Brigade, the Irish Republican Army, Japan's Red Army and radical Palestinian groups are also believed to have enjoyed access to Wilson's "materials."

ACCORDING TO the intelligence-committee transcript, Wilson almost got the Justice Department's now-defunct Law Enforcement Assistance Administration to put up the seed money for training terrorists at his 3,000-acre, $5-million farm in Virginia's posh horse country.

Although the LEAA was set up to provide federal grants for improving law-enforcement work in this country, one witness told the committee that Wilson's idea was "to have people trained here (in America) and then shipped to Libya."

Billy Graham

My mother is dying

Dear Dr. Graham: My mother has always been such a sweet and good person, but now she is dying of incurable cancer. How could God let that happen to such a good person? — Mrs. C.O.

Dear Mrs. C.O.: One of the hardest things for any of us to understand is why there is suffering and evil in the world. It is especially difficult when we see it happen to someone who seemingly does not deserve to suffer. We must honestly admit that we cannot fully understand why these things happen; that is why the Bible speaks about evil as a "mystery" (2 Thessalonians 2:7).

The Bible makes it clear, however, that sickness and death were not part of God's original creation. When God created the world there was no evil in it, and "God saw all that he had made, and it was very good" (Genesis 1:31). But the human race rebelled against God, and sin and death entered the world. Our world has a disease — the sickness of sin — and it affects everyone one of us, no matter who we are.

But I want you to know two very important things. First, God loves us with an everlasting love. Even in the midst of difficulty and pain we can know that he loves us. How do I know this? I know it because God sent his only Son into the world to die for our sins. God knows what suffering is, because Christ took upon himself our sufferings. He did it so you and I could be freed from the curse of sin.

That leads me to the second great truth I want you to know, and that is the wonderful fact that we can go to Heaven when we die. Death is not the end, but the beginning for those who put their faith in Christ — the beginning of eternal life with God in Heaven, where "there will be no more death or mourning or crying or pain" (Revelation 21:4). If your mother has never turned to Christ and trusted him for her salvation, I pray that she will do that right now. Then she can know that some day soon all the pain she is now suffering will be banished and she will be with Christ forever.

Footnote: Through his attorney, Wilson denied having attempted to set up a terrorist-training camp.

Greedheads

Every now and then the U.S. government does something stupid. Some people would say the feds are doing something stupid all the time. And the marathon circus that went on in Congress last week didn't help the government's reputation.

Take for example when the House voted itself a 15 percent pay increase in the midst of today's recession and unemployment. One had to wonder if senility had settled into the heads of our elected officials.

It doesn't even matter if the measure is changed or revised in Senate-House committees — the fact they did it left a lot of Americans feeling betrayed.

It was poor timing and a bad idea for the House to take any kind of raise at this point in our economy. Others are doing without, so why can't congressman weather the storm also.

The way the pay hike came about makes political sense, but not good sense.

You see, a $17,000 raise would have gone into effect automatically last Friday if the House had not acted beforehand and voted itself a "mere" $9,000 raise.

However, the House did have another chance to give up any kind of raise and freeze salaries at current levels. The vote came up 208-208 with the Speaker breaking the tie in favor of the raise.

IF YOU LOOK at it in political terms the House sacrificed and cut its raise nearly in half. However, for those unemployed among us or to those that view $9,000 as not a raise, but an entire salary, the politicians seem out of touch with the people.

Even with the possibility that the Senate could make the House see the light and cap salaries at present levels, the follies on Capitol Hill must make Americans wonder if government has any sympathy for the working class.

A case could be made for a smaller increase. There are those in the Congress who need that money to make house payments, pay income taxes and meet bills just like everyone else.

We need to pay our representatives for their tiring work and grinding schedule. We need good salaries to attract good people and not just those who are rich enough to hold office without steady compensation. However, now is not the time for a raise.

What is the electorate to think when it sees its leaders using a double standard to measure who gets what? When the voters look at the insane salary increase the House came up with, they can only feel dismayed.

They don't see leaders, but rather greedheads dining off their tax dollars with no apparent remorse.

THANKFULLY, our own Rep. Charles Stenholm voted to forego a raise altogether. Which means he at least has an idea of what his constituents want him to do. One can only wonder about the future political security of those voting in a raise.

Whatever happened to leaders like George Washington who ate and slept in the same conditions as his men? Our leaders might want to take a glance back at history and refresh their memories. It's time for us to pull together, not pull apart.

Reagan may OK Fed insurance on home loans

By ROBERT FURLOW
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON — The Reagan administration, long critical of federal insurance for home loans, is changing its tune now that it looks as if such loans might help end the nation's recession.

Make room for more, President Reagan is asking Congress, less than a year after sending exactly the opposite message.

Federally backed loan programs have been popular for years. Buyers like them because they carry relatively low interest rates and often require only small down payments. Lenders like them because of the federal guarantee of repayment.

But Reagan officials have opposed wide use of them on philosophical grounds.

Private insurance firms already cover a big majority of home loans, but the administration says they should handle almost all the business.

Now, it seems a record surge of applications for loans insured by the Federal Housing Administration is making a real contribution toward bringing the housing industry back from several years of near-depression.

Falling interest rates, led by FHA, have encouraged buyers to buy and builders to build. And that could lead the entire economy to recovery from the long recession, some analysts and officials say.

Early this year, the administration tried to persuade Congress to limit the amount in FHA loans the government would insure to $35 billion in 1983.

Congress voted a $39.8 billion ceiling instead. But the higher amount now appears inadequate in light of FHA applications that soared past an annual rate of 1 million last month.

No one wants to jeopardize recovery at this point — least of all the president.

So Reagan asked Congress on Friday to raise the ceiling to $45.9 billion for the year that began Oct. 1. Congress is expected to agree.

Housing and Urban Development Secretary Samuel R. Pierce Jr., whose department runs FHA, called Reagan's action "a clear signal to the economy that the administration is committed to strengthening the housing industry and increasing homeownership opportunities for Americans."

That was a far cry from Budget

Director David Stockman's statement last year that FHA was among federal credit programs "that serve middle and upper income families and ... need to be curtailed."

Stockman told Congress the administration would "carefully review the need for FHA mortgage insurance."

Many people in the housing industry still believe some administration officials would like to do away with FHA, at least as a major program.

Pierce himself implied as much at a recent news conference.

He said he hoped the recent flood of FHA applications would put to rest the idea the program was not important. But he added, "There are still some critics out there, as we know, so we might have that battle again."

The critics are not the people who make the loans.

Mark J. Riedy, executive vice president of the Mortgage Bankers Association of America, conceded Friday that administration officials "don't talk publicly about phasing out FHA."

Riedy, whose group's members handle a majority of FHA loans, said he was pleased with the move to raise the limit. But he asked why there should be any limit at all.

"When you put restraints on the program, you run the risk of strangling the housing recovery which is concentrated in the FHA and Veterans Administration markets," he said.

The administration's budget documents for the current fiscal year said the proposed $35 billion limit "reflects projections of future housing activity" — projections now apparently outdated.

The recommended figure also reflected "the recognition that private mortgage insurers will be able to adequately serve a larger share of the housing market" — an idea now discarded.

Pierce's Friday statement, distributed by aides, said HUD officials have changed their estimate for total FHA applications this year to 800,000 from 625,000.

Recent months' increases have accompanied declines in interest rates for the economy as a whole, and for FHA-backed home loans in particular. The ceiling rate for FHA loans is currently 12 percent compared with rates of 13 percent to 14 percent for other home loans.

Italy links Bulgaria to attack on John Paul II

By VICTOR L. SIMPSON
Associated Press Writer

ROME — Defense Minister Lelio Lagorio charged today that Bulgaria was involved in the attempt to assassinate Pope John Paul II, and called the attack a "true act of war in peacetime."

It was the first time an Italian official publicly accused the Bulgarian government of having a hand in the shooting of the pontiff on May 13, 1981. Italian and U.S. press reports have been speculating about such a link for some time, but officials had refused comment on the reports.

Lagorio also called the attack on the Polish-born pontiff "a protective and alternative solution to an invasion of Poland." He did not say whom Italy suspected of planning an invasion of that country, whose Solidarity labor movement was strongly supported by the pope.

Lagorio addressed Parliament after Justice Minister Clelio Darida formally confirmed that three Bulgarians have been implicated by Italian investigators in shooting. He also disclosed that two others are under investigation for alleged espionage and called the Bulgarian capital "a principal contact point" for arms and drug trafficking.

He said the Defense Ministry had "firm evidence" of links between Italian and foreign terrorist groups and "clues" linking Italian terrorists and foreign states.

Lagorio said that since 1980, the Italian counterespionage service had recommended the "expulsions of 31 diplomats, two-thirds of them Libyans and the others from East European countries."

He said Italian agents believed from the start that the shooting of the pope by Turkish gunman Mehmet Ali Agca was an "international plot."

Italian agents have for some time been monitoring coded radio traffic between Bulgaria and Italy and "two anomalies were revealed during the days of the Dozier kidnapping and the attack on the pope," he said, without elaborating.

Lagorio was referring to the kidnapping of U.S. Brig. Gen. James L. Dozier, freed by Italian police in January after six weeks in a Red Brigades "people's prison."

Foreign Minister Emilio Colombo told the chamber that Italy will toughen visa requirements for Bulgarians seeking to enter the country and is considering reducing the staff of the Bulgarian Embassy in Rome, which he said is larger than the Italian Embassy in Sofia.

Italy recalled its ambassador Dec. 11, and last week Premier Amintore Fanfani said the envoy's stay in Rome will be extended.

Sergei Ivanov Antonov, the Rome station chief of the Bulgarian national airline, was arrested in Rome on charges of complicity in the assassination attempt. A warrant has been issued for Maj. Zhelyo Vasilev, a former Bulgarian Embassy employee, while another Bulgarian, Todor Aivazov, also an embassy employee, was named as a suspect although no warrant was issued because of his diplomatic immunity.

Darida, citing investigations by Ilario Martella, who is heading the probe into the papal shooting, said the two other Bulgarians are under investigation in connection with the alleged espionage activities of an Italian labor union official, Luigi Scricciolo, who was arrested last February.

The justice minister charged that Scricciolo had contacts both with Bulgarian agents and the Red Brigades terrorists who kidnapped Dozier. He also charged that Scricciolo had attempted to obtain NATO military secrets and information on the position of the United States and the Western Alliance regarding events in Poland.

Darida did not elaborate, but Scricciolo as head of the Socialist-led UIL union's international section visited Poland four times and helped arrange Solidarity leader Lech Walesa's visit to Rome in January 1981.

Darida identified the two Bulgarians being investigated for espionage as Ivan Dartchev and Simeon Guernev and said they were both employees of the Bulgarian Embassy in Rome.

The justice minister said Italy is seeking the extradition of three Turks charged with giving Turkish gunman Agca assistance in the papal shooting.

Dr. Donohue

Disease is blanket term

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: I just had an aunt die of Bright's disease. My mother kept insisting all through her illness that I, too, had Bright's disease when I was 5 years old and that the doctor had cured it. The doctor is now deceased. Mother said that I swelled up in my face and hands and had pus in my urine.

I, of course, don't remember anything about it except that I had to be carried everywhere I went and I spent one whole summer in the swing on the porch. My mother now says that the other doctor could have cured my aunt the way he cured me. Is my mother off her rocker, or did my aunt die needlessly? Have you ever heard of anyone being cured of this disease? — L.W.H.

Bright's disease today is really an obsolete term. Many years ago, when Dr. Bright (Dr. Richard Bright, a 19th-century physician) first studied and wrote about kidney disease, he didn't have the kind of technical help that we have developed over the years. The term "Bright's disease" has remained to cover many kidney problems. Today we know enough to differentiate kidney illness from different symptoms and different causes. Yet, although the term is not used medically, years of reference to it has fixed it in people's minds.

I cannot speculate on the exact kind of kidney problem your aunt had, but I am sure it had some additional name besides Bright's disease. And I am equally certain that your childhood illness was different than the one that was fatal to her. Just as a guess, I would say you had something on the order of glomerulonephritis, which probably followed a strep throat infection. That does happen now and then. The strep throat can be followed by the kidney inflammation, but for most there is complete and lasting recovery.

So even though your aunt's and your problem did involve the kidney, and both might fall into the Bright's disease category, you can be sure they were two entirely different illnesses. And I'll bet that if you check with your aunt's doctor, he can give you a name other than Bright's disease.

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: Would appreciate information on how to treat candida, which I have developed within the last year, since I started wearing dentures. My dentist has had me try various medications, but cannot seem to come up with anything that helps. It is indeed, a very uncomfortable situation. It feels as though my tongue were coated with sand, and there are creamy-white patches. The dentist tells me it is candida. — F.K.

Candida is fungus that causes the infection called candidiasis, which occur on mucous surfaces. It can be very unpleasant. Has your dentist suggested a course of Nystatin for you? It usually works. It comes in a liquid from that you let bathe your mouth.

And if that doesn't work, there is a tablet you swallow, and that is quite effective. This medicine is called ketoconazole, and you take one of the tablets a day. You may have to remove your dentures and go without them for a time. Also, you do have to clean the dentures meticulously. If neither of the medicines I mention has been tried, I would inquire about them.

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: My doctor advised me that I have a low blood count. He said I may have anemia. Please tell me the difference between a low blood count, anemia and leukopenia. — J.M.K.

I think you have just enough information to confuse you.

Let's look at a complete blood count. In that, the numbers of red blood cells, white blood cells and platelets (the cells that make clots) are counted; also the amount of hemoglobin (the oxygen-carrying chemical) is determined. Any or all of these may be low. If your red cell count is low, you have an anemia, which is what anemia means — a low red cell count. If your white blood cell count is low, you have leukopenia (leuko-white; penia-low). If your platelet count is low, you have what is called thrombocytopenia (thrombo-platelet).

I could not understand another part of your letter. I think you also mention leukemia. Leukemia is quite different. It is an abnormal multiplication of white blood cells, so the count is quite high. I think that now you have just enough additional information to ask your physician what your blood count means.

Help for transsexuals

DEAR ABBY: I would like to express my thanks for all the kind words and support you have given to transsexuals over the years. (A transsexual is a person genetically of one sex with a psychological urge to belong to the opposite sex — an urge sometimes so overwhelming that it leads to a sex-change operation.)

While addressing a national convention of electrologists recently, I was frequently asked, "Where should we refer our transsexual clients?"

In the past, Abby, you have recommended the Janus Information Facility as an information and counseling source for transvestites and transsexuals.

It might be helpful to provide your readers with other sources, since thousands are seeking help.

General Information Service: Janus Information Facility, 1952 Union, San Francisco, Calif. 94123.

Treatment Programs: Gender Dysphoria Program of Orange County, Inc. (a non-profit corporation), 31815 Camino Capistrano, Suite L, San Juan Capistrano, Calif. 92675.

CONFIDE Personal Counseling Services, Inc., Box 56, Tappan, N.Y. 10983.

Individuals requesting information should include a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Again, Abby, thanks for your help and understanding over the years.

CHRISTINE JORGENSEN

DEAR CHRISTINE JORGENSEN: Because the whole subject of transsexuality has been so universally misunderstood and those who need help don't know where to get it, I am printing your letter.

Read on for a letter that will make your day:

DEAR ABBY: This is truly a story with a happy ending, which I hope you will print for others who might be suffering as much as I was.

After years of anguish and worry, wondering what was causing my son's unhappiness, nine months ago, at age 32, he confided to me that he was a transsexual and had made his decision that he must finally live the truth and become what he was mentally and psychologically intended to be — a female.

At first I suffered guilt, shame, confusion, fear, and I even went into mourning for the son I had lost. But then, the love for my child transcended these feelings, and above all, I realized that he needed my love and support more than ever. He had already sought the necessary psychological counseling and hormonal therapy, and four months ago he successfully underwent the sex-change surgery.

I now have a happy daughter, at peace with herself, and it fills me with joy to hear her laughter — something I had never heard before.

Desk, Derrick club installs officers

The Desk and Derrick Club of Big Spring held their Christmas dinner meeting Tuesday at 7 p.m. in the home of Kaye McDaniel.

Officers for the 1983 year were installed by Thelma Rains, past president. Officers are Ann Drake, president, Jennifer Largent, vice president, Sheri Burleson, secretary, Sherri Kloss, treasurer, and Venita Blassingame, immediate past president.

The next meeting is scheduled for 7 p.m. Jan. 17 at the Kopper Kettle in the Big Spring Mall.

Mrs. Jim Lewis were hostesses.

Each member answered roll call with a favorite passage from the Bible. Mrs. Clyde Angel presented the program "A Christmas Carol," by Charles Dickens.

This classic of English literature immortalizes the spirit of the holidays, and carries a plea to humanity for charity, mercy and tolerance.

"A Christmas Carol" has been called "The greatest little book in the world."

There were 21 members present at the meeting. Mrs. Harlan Huibregtse was introduced as a new member.

Mrs. Rich Anderson, president, presided over the business meeting. Mrs. Aubrey Stokes, vice-president, introduced the program.

The meeting closed with Mrs. Chesley McDonald leading the group in a prayer. They used the 23rd psalm.

Artificial elbow helps woman

CHICAGO (AP) — Russie Berndt doesn't mind when people call her a "bionic woman" because her five artificial joints allow her to move around by herself for the first time in years, and she thinks that's "marvelous."

Rheumatoid arthritis during the previous 23 of Mrs. Berndt's 34 years had left her unable to hold anything in her hand, climb stairs or step onto a street curb. She said she was afraid to go out of the house.

But in the last 18 months, her life has been transformed with an artificial hip, an artificial wrist, an artificial elbow and two artificial finger joints.

By the time doctors have completed overhauling her body, Mrs. Berndt figures she will have nine more new artificial joints to replace those in her knees, other elbow and hip, two shoulders and at least three more fingers.

"Everybody kids me about being a bionic woman," said Mrs. Berndt. "They want to know which piece of me is real. I think (the joints) are marvelous. It is truly amazing the difference they have made in relieving pain and letting me get around.

"The first artificial joint was scary, but after I saw the results of that one I was ready to go for another," she said. "I've got a lot of joints to be replaced and they'll be done slowly but surely."

Mrs. Berndt is gaining her freedom through surgical procedures and technology arising from the first successful silicone rubber finger joint, developed and implanted early in the 1960s.

Since then, millions of Americans have been fitted with artificial joints, said Dr. Jules Shapiro, assistant professor of orthopedic surgery at Rush Medical School.

Artificial shoulder joints are promising but still experimental because although they can relieve pain, they do not improve function significantly, said Shapiro, who installed the world's first artificial shoulder joint in Oslo, Norway, in 1969.

Dolls say 'Kill Mommy'?

GASTONIA, N.C. (AP) — Talking dolls that seem to be saying "Kill Mommy" at the pull of a string are actually saying "Kim Loves Mommy," a distributor of the "Baby Darling" toy said.

"It's a matter of psychology," said Frenk Berkley of Gastonia. He said he was among 500 distributors of the doll worldwide. "They (buyers) get it in their heads that (the doll) is saying that and that's what they hear."

At least six dolls that apparently said "Kill Mommy" were reported found in Gastonia and several were reported last week in South Carolina.

Berkley said Sunday the dolls are manufactured in Hong Kong, but a buyer reported the voice box had the words "Ozen, Japan" on it.

Bobby and Ajzeleen Payne of Rural Hall said they bought one of the dolls for their 7-year-old granddaughter at an auction in King.

"It was a pretty little doll and I thought I got a good buy," said Payne, who paid $10 for the doll.

But when he pulled the pacifier from the doll's mouth, it cried "like it's being beaten" for a few seconds before delivering the death threat, Mrs. Payne said.

"It was like a 'Twilight Zone' show ..." said Susan Young, Payne's daughter.

CHRISTMAS HELP — Salvation Army volunteer Darlene Womack, right, escorts Ester Best through the group's toy store in downtown Washington recently.

ly. The store provides free toys to clients in a holiday season where Americans are giving to more charities than they have in recent years.

Americans giving more to charity

WASHINGTON (AP) — Americans are giving more to charitable organizations this holiday season than they have in previous years, but the groups say donations still do not meet the soaring number of requests for help.

And there is "a different kind of person" asking for help this year, say charity spokesmen who are being tapped for assistance from people who in previous years were donors.

"In terms of contributions, we're up 12 percent over last year," said Keith Jones, spokesman for the Salvation Army in the Washington area. "But requests for our Christmas services such as groceries, gifts to shut-ins and toys for children in poor families are up in excess of 20 percent."

Jones said the demand for emergency financial assistance for such items as food, medicine, clothing and fuel is up close to 30 percent over last year.

Lt. Col. Ernest Miller, national spokesman for the Salvation Army, said this year the organization has received many letters from regular donors saying they are now in financial distress.

"So many of those who had been our donors now find themselves unemployed," Miller said. "Suddenly they are finding themselves in the embarrassing position of having to ask for help."

Miller said many of those asking for assistance are unaccustomed to charity.

"These are people who are not eligible for public assistance because they own their own home," said Miller. "We had a letter from a man in suburban Detroit who has helped us in the past who is now selling his furniture piece-by-piece to put food on his table."

Miller, who has worked for the Salvation Army for 48 years, said donations are greatest in areas most in need of assistance, like Detroit, where contributions are running about 10 percent higher than last year.

"There is an acute awareness of need that is more intense than any time in my memory," he said.

Congress heard testimony last week on the plight of 2 million homeless and jobless Americans who could freeze or starve this winter unless helped.

"The homeless population is growing astronomically and changing radically," Mary Ellen Hombs of the capital's Community for Creative Non-Violence said before the House subcommittee on housing. "Unemployment, Reaganomics and the economy have combined to drive hundreds of thousands of middle-class people into utter and absolute destitution."

At the United Way of America, one of the nation's largest fund-raising organizations for health and welfare agencies, contributions are up about 6 percent over last year, said spokesman Stephen Delfin.

He said this year the organization expects an increase of $100 million in donations over $1.68 billion raised last year.

"People give more in hard times if they're working because they like to help people in a worse state than they are," Delfin said. "But giving would have to increase 100 percent in one year to cover the new needs."

Delfin said a recent survey of hotlines operated by United Way in 15 major cities showed there has been a sharp increase in requests for such basic services as food, shelter, job training and family counseling.

In Compton, Calif., the Compton Welfare Rights Organization reports between 600 and 700 applications for Christmas aid, compared to 150 applications last year.

Glenn amused at White House prediction

HOUSTON (AP) — Sen. John Glenn says he's pleased, but cautious, about a report that a recent White House computer analysis indicated he would defeat President Reagan in a presidential race if the election were held now.

"I hope the administration's political predictions are a lot more accurate than some of their economic predictions," said Glenn, D-Ohio, at a fundraiser Thursday night.

Glenn harshly criticized the Reagan administration, saying many of its budget cuts have endangered the future of the nation's children.

Clumsy Cowboys clip sinking Saints

SAINTS PLAYED UNHOLY DEFENSE — Dallas running back Tony Dorsett (33) gets stacked up at the line of scrimmage by New Orleans Saints linebacker Jim Kovach (52) and defensive tackle Derland Moore (74) during the second half of Sunday's game in Texas Stadium. Dorsett did manage 105 yards on 25 carries and scored twice as the Cowboys stopped the pesky Saints 21-7.

Pokes win 21-7, in playoffs again

IRVING, Teas (AP) — Visits to the National Football League playoffs don't get the Dallas Cowboys excited any more unless they make the Super Bowl.

The Cowboys earned a record-breaking eighth consecutive playoff appearance and their 16th post-season visit in 17 years Sunday with a lackluster 21-7 victory over New Orleans.

The dressing room was like a tomb, and there were soft drinks instead of champagne.

Dallas, winning its sixth consecutive game, upped its record to 6-1 to remain in a tie with Washington atop the National Conference standings.

New Orleans dropped to 3-4 in its struggle to make the NFL "tournament" format.

The Cowboys struck for all 21 of their points in the second period, and then started clock-watching. They also watched George Rogers tear through their flex defense for a Saints record of 166 yards on 33 carries.

"It wasn't a great second half," said a disgusted Dallas Coach Tom Landry. "It was a game we won."

New Orleans surprised the Cowboys with a Power I three-back offense and rushed for 245 yards, but could score only one touchdown on a 6-yard run by Rogers.

Interceptions by Anthony Dickerson and Everson Walls and a pass interference penalty in the Saints end zone on Dave Waymer gave Dallas the breaks it needed.

Running back Tony Dorsett, who scored two touchdowns and rushed for 105 yards on 25 carries, said it was important for Dallas to win its last two games going into the playoffs.

"We can't afford to lose," he said. "Washington is going very well right now. It is important to play at home. We don't like that travel time. Playing at home, you get the fans behind you."

Defensive end Harvey Martin said, "We'd like to play in the playoffs at home. We don't want to try to make it to the Super Bowl by knocking on the back door."

New Orleans quarterback Ken Stabler completed only two of 10 passes for 32 yards and was sacked twice and intercepted twice before he was hurt in the third period.

Stabler suffered a bad bruise to his left elbow, his throwing arm.

"If Kenny is well we can still make the playoffs," said New Orleans Coach Bum Phillips. "I'd be in the wrong profession if I didn't think we had a chance."

"Rogers had a fine day, but it's not much consolation when you lose," he said. "We did what we started out to do and that's run the football. But you have to hand it to Dallas. They had more poise in the clutch than we did."

Stabler left the Saints' dressing room with his arm in a sling.

"My arm is okay, but I don't know if I can play next week," he said. "I think it might be the ligaments in the elbow."

About the only fun the Cowboys had was quarterback Danny White's first career spike after he hit tight end Doug Cosbie with a 3-yard touchdown pass.

White rolled out on a bootleg and could have run for the touchdown. Instead, he pulled up and hit the wide-open Cosbie.

"Cosbie gave me the ball and said 'Merry Christmas' so I decided to spike it," said White. "Besides, those touchdown runs don't help your passing average."

Landry wasn't laughing. "We can't play like we did today and beat Philadelphia next week," Landry said.

Eagles rip punchless Oilers

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — It wasn't exactly an artistic triumph, but Philadelphia Eagles Coach Dick Vermeil would have taken it by forfeit.

The Eagles snapped a four-game National Football League losing streak, and boosted their record to 2-5 in the National Conference, with a 35-14 victory Sunday over the hapless Houston Oilers.

The American Conference Oilers, now 1-6 with five straight losses behind them, trailed the Eagles 28-0 before scoring.

No-shows accounted for 26,773 empty seats among the 44,119 fans the Eagles said were on hand.

And despite the victory, the fans booed the Eagles much of the game. They even booed when it was announced that quarterback Ron Jaworski had tied one club career record and broken another.

"I'm disappointed at the fans," said Vermeil. "The quarterback sets an all-time Philadelphia passing record and they boo him."

"It's different if a guy is out there doing a lousy job, and it's the last quarter of the ball game, and you're getting your butt beat," Vermeil added. "But he had a lot of completions and a touchdown bomb and all that kind of stuff. To me, that hurts. It really does."

Said Jaworski, "There's nothing I can do about it. I don't think I should comment about people in the stands and their feelings and reactions. It's just not my personality to make negative remarks."

He added, "It's just great to get a win and get people thinking positive things about the Philadelphia Eagles again, especially with it coming during Christmas week when people can smile again."

Jaworski completed 11 passes in 20 attempts for 193 yards and a career total of 15,700, breaking the record of 15,672 compiled by Norm Snead. He also tied Snead for Eagles career touchdowns with 110, when he connected on a 49-yarder to rookie Mike Quick in the second quarter.

Wilbert Montgomery gained 147 yards on 17 carries, and scored three touchdowns. His third-quarter 90-yard run gave the Eagles a 28-0 run and broke the club record of 80, set by Leroy Harris against Green Bay in 1979.

"That's the longest run I've ever had — high school, college and the NFL," Montgomery said.

For Vermeil, the defense was the highlight in a victory that "takes the monkey off our backs." Last in the NFC before the game, the Eagle defense intercepted four passes, sacked Oilers quarterback Archie Manning seven times, and held Houston to 43 yards on the ground and a net 175 yards passing.

"The defense had something to prove to themselves," Vermeil said. "They were upset with their performance the past few weeks and were mad."

The Eagles took a 7-0 lead less than two minutes into the first quarter when cornerback Richard Blackmore intercepted Manning and returned 20 yards for a touchdown. They made it 14-0 in the second period when Montgomery's 3-yard run capped a nine-play, 61-yard drive. And it was Philadelphia 21-0 on Jaworski's 49-yard pass to Quick, for the rookie's first NFL touchdown.

In the third quarter, the Eagles made it 28-0 on Montgomery's 90-yarder. Houston finally scored on a 16-yard pass from Manning to tight end Dave Casper, and it was 28-7 with 3:24 left in the third.

Rookie Donnie Craft caught a 5-yard TD pass from Manning in the fourth period for the Oilers' final points. It followed a six-play, 23-yard drive after a sack of Jaworski, who fumbled the ball away.

Montgomery scored from the 2 to end a five-play, 58-yard Eagles advance in the final period.

Houston coach Ed Biles said his team was overpowered at the line of scrimmage.

"We let them make the big plays," Biles said. He was particularly upset about Blackmore's interception for the game's first score.

Manning took the blame for that. "It was a dumb, stupid play," Manning said. "I lost the defensive back. I thought he was an offensive receiver."

Running back Earl Campbell gained just 26 yards on 18 carries, with the longest just 6 yards.

"I'm somewhat disenchanted," said Campbell. "I've always been a winner. Now I'm a loser. It's not easy to go home to your wife and kid a loser."

ANOTHER LONG DAY FOR HOUSTON — Oiler wide receiver Harold Bailey gets topsy-turvy after catching a pass by Eagle John Bunting during the third quarter of Sunday's game in Philadelphia. The Eagles ended a four-game losing streak with a 35-14 victory over the now 1-6 Oilers.

Moseley boots mark; 49ers blow it; Colts tie

Mark Moseley of Washington sure can kick, and so can Pittsburgh Coach Chuck Noll — about his offense.

While Moseley was breaking the National Football League record for consecutive successful field goals on Sunday with his 21st — and getting the 42-yarder in the snow to beat the New York Giants 15-14 in the process — Noll was watching quarterback Terry Bradshaw and the Steelers' offense fall apart again.

Bradshaw, benched a week ago when he managed to complete only two of 13 passes in the snow during a 13-0 loss in Buffalo, played the entire game in Cleveland, with little improvement. This time he completed 12 of 39 attempts and was intercepted four times, twice by Hanford Dixon in the final 65 seconds, as the Browns won 10-9.

Redskins 15, Giants 14

For Moseley, one of the few straight-ahead players in a game dominated by sidwinding soccer-style kickers, it was simply a matter of doing what comes naturally — putting the ball through the uprights as he had done 20 previous times to tie the record set by Garo Yepremian.

"I was just trying to concentrate on what I had to do," Moseley said. "A kick has got to be natural. I hit it as well as I ever hit a ball."

"Moseley was fantastic," said Washington Coach Joe Gibbs. "It's almost like we have a patent on winning; just keep it close and let him kick the field goals." "Last night I had a dream that this is how it would happen," said Redskins quarterback Joe Theismann, who holds the ball when Moseley kicks it.

Browns 10, Steelers 9

Despite Bradshaw's poor performance, Noll refused to lay the blame for the Steelers' recent failures solely at his quarterback's feet.

"Terry Bradshaw has the highest credentials I know of," said the Steelers' coach. "He's been to four Super Bowls and three weeks ago he was leading the league in passing. Today I think the problem was — with the bad footing — that he just wasn't getting set early enough with the ball."

NFL

"We missed some passes, too. Today was pretty much like last week. For whatever reason, there was no execution whatsoever. Our defensive guys did everything they could do to win the game, but offensively we just had no execution. You could go right down the line and the problem starts with the quarterback and goes right to the whole offense."

Bradshaw, too, said he was dismayed by his recent string of poor performances. "There's no reason for it," he said. "I don't have the answers. We're just not moving the ball with any consistency at all. I don't know who's been good or bad for us."

Paul McDonald, getting his first NFL start in place of Cleveland quarterback Brian Sipe, passed 22 yards to Ozzie Newsome to set up Johnny Davis' 1-yard TD run in the third period that wiped out the Steelers' 7-3 lead built on Bradshaw's 6-yard scoring pass to John Stallworth.

"I wouldn't be human if I didn't have butterflies," said McDonald. "Sure, you're apprehensive, but you just go out and try to play your own game. You don't try to win the game on your own." McDonald completed 19 of 40 passes.

Vikings 34, Lions 31

Tommy Kramer threw three TD passes in Minnesota's victory over Detroit, but it was nose tackle Charlie Johnson, formerly of the Eagles, who scored the winning TD, scooping up a Gary Danielson fumble and racing 44 yards with 2:08 to play. Danielson passed for three TDs, two in the closing minute.

Cardinals 10, Bears 7

Neil O'Donoghue of St. Louis didn't have a streak going — he was wide to the right on a 48-yard field goal attempt with a couple of minutes to play — but the 48-yarder he did hit with 25 seconds remaining was just as decisive as Moseley's kick.

"I played that one the same as the other one," he said. "But I started this one further out to the right. I hit the first one good, but it tailed off too fast. I gave myself a little more room for adjustment the second time around."

The victory kept the Cards unbeaten on the road. They're winless at home.

Bucs 24, Bills 23

Doug Williams' two touchdown passes and Cedric Brown's key fumble recovery carried Tampa Bay past the Bills. Lee Roy Selmon forced the last-minute fumble by Roosevelt Leaks, who had scored two TDs for Buffalo, and Brown pounced on it at the Tampa Bay 18-yard line.

Chiefs 37, Broncos 15

Denver quarterback Craig Morton made a brief speech in his official retirement, but the Chiefs' quarterback, Bill Kenney, ruined the day for the Bron-

BASKETBALL

●The Big Spring Lady Steers open District 4-AAAA play tonight against Permian in Odessa.

The Lady Steers enter the first league game for both teams with a 6-7 mark following a 64-54 non-district loss last week to Midland High in Big Spring. Senior Shell Rutledge, who leads the team in scoring and rebounding, had 24 points in the loss.

Permian is 6-9 on the season and lists no players in double figures.

Rutledge, junior Paula Spears and senior Sylvia Randle are scoring in double figures for the Lady Steers. Ballhandler Monette Wise is another good scoring threat for first-year coach Annette Fowler's team.

TOKYO (AP) — Ralph Sampson, still recovering from an intestinal infection, scored 14 points as No. 1 Virginia beat Utah 80-57 to win the Suntory Ball basketball tournament Sunday.

The 7-foot-4 Sampson, who has been troubled by the infection for about a week, played half the game. He scored four points in the first half as Virginia took a 43-27 lead. Sampson added 10 points in the second half.

Virginia had beaten 14th-ranked Houston in the first round of the tournament, which is sanctioned by the NCAA.

cos with two second-half touchdown passes. And safety Gary Barbaro returned an interception of a Steve DeBerg pass 43 yards for another Kansas City score.

Patriots 16, Seahawks 0

New England, which shut out Miami in the snow a week ago, blanked the Seahawks indoors this time. The Pats picked off four of Jim Zorn's passes and recovered two Theotis Brown fumbles to blunt Seattle drives. Steve Grogan passed 5 yards to Mark van Eeghen for the game's lone TD and John Smith kicked three field goals.

Packers 20, Colts 20 (OT tie)

Baltimore Coach Frank Kush was far from happy after the Colts avoided a seventh loss. None of that "moral victory" business for him. "As far as I'm concerned, it is still not a win," he said. "We still haven't won one yet."

NFL

The Colts got a 1-yard TD run by Randy McMillan with 1:22 left in the fourth quarter to tie Green Bay, then each team missed a field goal attempt in the extra period.

Falcons 17, 49ers 7

William Andrews accounted for 176 yards rushing and receiving, and Atlanta shut down San Francisco quarterback Joe Montana as the defending Super Bowl champions fell to 2-5 and nearly out of the playoff picture.

Montana, who had thrown for more than 300 yards a league record five straight times, was held to 177. The 49ers' only touchdown came on a 7-yard pass from Montana to Dwight Clark to give them a 7-3 lead in the second period.

Andrews rushed for 108 yards and caught passes for 68 more to set up 1-yard scoring runs by Steve Bartkowski and Gerald Riggs as the Falcons all but clinched a playoff berth by improving their record to 5-2.

Your Daily HOROSCOPE

from the CARROLL RIGHTER INSTITUTE

FORECAST FOR TUESDAY, DEC. 21, 1982

GENERAL TENDENCIES: Consider your long-range plans where home and family are concerned and take the rights to gain your aims. Study your surroundings and make needed improvements.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Talk over new plans with family members and get their ideas, suggestions. Avoid one who has an eye on your assets.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Consult associates and make long-range plans for the future. A good day to contact an old friend on the telephone.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Find better ways of adding to present abundance and be sure you are practical. Consult an expert for advice you need.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Plan the right social activities that could bring advancement in the days ahead. Gain the assistance of good friends.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Be more practical in your regular routines for best results. Try to be more devoted to the one you love.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Contact good friends who can be helpful in a business matter. Attend a social affair and make a fine impression on others.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Engage in civic work at which you are most adept and get excellent results. You can easily gain the support of a higher-up now.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Put new ideas you have in operation as quickly as possible and you get excellent results. Sidelstep a troublemaker.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Be sure to keep promises you have made. Don't neglect business matters early in the day. Be optimistic.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Know what partners expect of you and do your best to please them. Avoid one who could give you trouble.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) This is an ideal day when you can accomplish a great deal. Carry through with plans exactly as you made them.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Being more romantic with loved one brings fine results now. Go to the right sources for the information you need.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he or she will be one of those interesting persons who will get along well with others. Give a good practical education so that there will never be want in this lifetime. Give good religious training and include music lessons.

"The Stars impel, they do not compel!" What you make of your life is largely up to you!

Earl dissatisfied with Oilers

EARL CAMPBELL... hints at dissatisfaction

PHILADELPHIA (AP) - Although stopping short of saying he will ask to be traded, running back Earl Campbell says he may have to go elsewhere if things don't improve for the Houston Oilers.

Campbell gained 26 yards on 18 carries in Sunday's 35-14 thrashing at the hands of the Philadelphia Eagles, in a game where he was outshined by Philadelphia back Wilbert Montgomery's 147 yards in 17 carries.

"I am disenchanting. I still like Texas - I'm not saying Houston - because that's where I come from. I don't want to leave Texas, but I will if I have to. Wilbert was great out there today, but that should have been me," said Campbell, a former Heisman Trophy winner from the University of Texas.

Philadelphia defensive end Carl Hairston said the Eagles had felt they needed to shut down Campbell to win. "He was running real hard, but we played good defense. We shut down his back, shut down his holes," Hairston said.

Campbell said there were no holes to shut.

"I'm 26 years old and in good physical shape. I can still run, but you have to have the men up front, and we don't have them. I'm not downgrading anybody, but I have to think of myself. I'll play here until they say stop," Campbell said.

His mediocre statistics and the Oilers' 1-6 record is an embarrassment and a frustration, he said.

"I'm too good of a football player to be stopped here," Campbell said. "If my little boy - Earl Campbell Jr., who is 3 months old - could talk, he'd ask me, 'Daddy, do you still play football on Sunday?' But you got to live with it. I hope things can turn around. I love football too much to be turned back by this."

Hurst came close to state title

By The Associated Press

Hurst L.D. Bell fallback Tom Jenkins was red-eyed but defiant when he talked of how close the Blue Raiders came to putting it all together for a state schoolboy football championship - by inches, he said.

Beaumont West Brook quarterback Gerald Landry connected with Darrell Colbert on a 30-yard touchdown pass and Terrance McCarty dashed 9 yards for another score to take the state 5A crown 21-10 Saturday.

"We got beat," said Jenkins, who was held to 64 yards. "Losing does something to you - to me at least. I don't like it. This is my last game. I didn't want to lose it."

"I'll be able to sit back tomorrow or next week and say we had a hell of a season," he added. "This loss doesn't shoot all of that out. But

West Brook, which lost its first two regular-season games and four of its first eight, became the first Class 5A school to win the state championship in its first year of existence.

The new school was formed by a judge who ordered Hebert and Forest Park to combine for integration purposes.

In their championship games, senior running back Ron Garner dashed for two short-yardage, fourth-down TD runs to help Fort Bend Willowridge earn the Class 4A title with a 22-17 win over Corsicana.

The Tigers scored first and last, outgained the Eagles in total yardage and blocked two punts, one for a touchdown.

Refugio rallied from a seven-point deficit for the Class 3A championship in Brownwood, getting its winning points on a fourth-quarter safety and a 38-yard touchdown run by Eugene Whitmire, his second scoring romp of the day.

At Waco, Eastland quarterback Jay Hess threw two touchdown passes to split end Justin Owen and ran for another to aid the Mavericks in dominating East Bernard from the opening kickoff.

Eastland, a preseason favorite to win the Class 2A crown, held the Brahmas to 11 first downs.

In Weatherford, defensive end Eric Lynn returned an intercepted pass 28 yards 1:11 into the game to give Union Hill an early lead it built into a 13-0 shutout of Roscoe.

Union Hill forced four turnovers, turning one of them into a touchdown just one minute and 11 seconds into the contest for its Class A victory.

Garvey talks wind down

SAN DIEGO (AP) - The slow-paced negotiations between free agent Steve Garvey and three National League teams are about to enter the "closing stages," according to his agent.

"I am sure after my discussions with the three clubs on Monday (today) Steve and I will have the most complete picture of where each club stands," Garvey's agent, Jerry Kapstein, said Sunday night.

"I fully expect we will be in the closing stages of the negotiations tomorrow (today)," he added.

Kapstein is reportedly seeking a five-year, $8-million contract for Garvey.

But the two teams thought to have the best chance of signing Garvey - the Chicago Cubs and the San Diego Padres - are balking at the salary demands. The San Francisco Giants also are reported in the bidding competition.

"We made a very substantial offer and that's as far as we can go," Padres President Ballard Smith said Sunday.

Smith, who reportedly increased the Padres' offer $500,000 to $6.5 million over five years, expressed disappointment when talks broke off Saturday night with no resolution.

"I thought we were going to reach agreement," Smith said. "We're close enough that we should be able to. I don't know what the problem is."

Meanwhile, the executives spoke with Kapstein on telephone Sunday. The Chicago club has reportedly offered Garvey a five-year, $6.75 million package.

"I'm sure his purpose (Kapstein's) was to see if we would budge," Cubs Chairman of the Board Andrew McKenna told the Chicago Sun Times. "We're firm. Maybe he thinks he can wait us out, but it's not going to work out that way."

Garvey, who turns 34 on Wednesday, became a free agent after he rejected a four-year, $5-million package with the Los Angeles Dodgers.

The 12-year National League veteran has a lifetime batting average of .301 and has averaged 21 home runs a year and 98 runs batted in over the last nine seasons.

"My feeling is we'd like to have Steve Garvey," Smith said. "I feel as strongly as ever that he would make tremendous contribution to the ballclub and to the community. But there is a limit to the type of contract we can enter into, and quite frankly, we have gone far beyond what I originally thought that limit was. We did it in an attempt to meet their needs, but at some point you reach your outer limit and I guess that's where we are."

"He's an exceptional ball player and an exceptional person, and for that reason we have gone a long way, but we can't go any further."

"We need to start moving again," said Smith. "That's probably what we'll start doing next week."

"We have geared all our plans with the thought that we would sign him," Smith said. "But you get to point where you have to consider the possibility that you're not going to sign him. So, we're going to have to start making contingency plans."

Mavs fall short; Spurs pounded

LOS ANGELES (AP) - Kareem Abdul-Jabbar, returning from a two-game layoff with a sinus infection, provided some good medicine for the Los Angeles Lakers.

"Kareem gave us a shot in the arm," said Lakers Coach Pat Riley after Los Angeles' 110-108 National Basketball Association victory over Dallas Sunday night. "He obviously gave us a lift."

Abdul-Jabbar scored 33 points and grabbed 17 rebounds, both personal highs this season, to pace the Lakers to victory in the nip-and-tuck contest.

Los Angeles had battled back to take the lead after trailing by 15 points early in the third period. But they fell behind again, at 101-96, with 3:35 left in the contest.

The Lakers came back once again, taking a 107-106 edge on a layin by Earvin "Magic" Johnson. Bill Garnett hit a pair of free throws to put the Mavericks in front once more, but then Garnett was called for goaltending on a Jamaal Wilkes shot to give the Lakers a 109-107 advantage with 50 seconds remaining.

Johnson made a free throw with 13 seconds left, then the Mavericks missed three consecutive field goal attempts as time ran out.

"It feels good to win a close game like this," said Abdul-Jabbar. "I felt just good enough to play tonight. I wanted to go out and contribute until I got tired, but to my surprise I didn't get tired."

"I've always played well with rest my whole career," said the 7-foot-2 center. "A whole lot of games in succession usually wears on me."

Wilkes and Johnson chipped in 20 points each for the Lakers.

Mark Aguirre led Dallas with 20 points and Jay Vincent and Pat Cummings added 19 each.

Bucks 113, Spurs 98

MILWAUKEE (AP) - Sidney Moncrief wanted to share the credit, but the figures spoke for themselves.

Moncrief, despite a painfully bruised knee, scored 27 points Sunday night. Milwaukee's all-star guard also helped hold San Antonio's George Gervin to 16 points, 13.3 below his average, as the Bucks rolled to a 113-98 National Basketball Association victory.

"With George, you just hope and pray he has a bad ball game," Moncrief said. "I can't take credit for his off-night. He's a great offensive ballplayer."

"We just two-teamed him as much as we could, and we were fortunate to get a lot of loose balls and rebounds," he said.

Moncrief was partially right, for the Bucks' 50-39 rebounding advantage enabled them to run their fast break and establish many open court shots.

Moncrief and his relief man, rookie Paul Pressey, had double-team help on Gervin most of the time. Center Artis Gilmore also was double-teamed whenever the Spurs posted low.

That gave the Spurs plenty of open perimeter shots, but they sank only 36 of 87 field goal attempts, a 41.4 percentage.

"Their team defense was good overall, but if my other guards had shot well from the other side, their team defense was really not valid," said Gervin, who sank only 5 of 21 shots.

Moncrief poured in 16 of his points in the third quarter to help the Bucks open an 87-72 spread going into the final period

Hoffman perfect in 'Tootsie' drag

• "TOOTSIE" — Directed by Sydney Pollack. Starring Dustin Hoffman, Teri Garr and Bill Murray.

Dustin Hoffman has never been one to shun demanding movie roles. He was convincing as an aged Indian chief in "Little Big Man" 12 years ago and he is over-whelming as a testy female soap star in this year's Christmas release "Tootsie."

After a serious and highly successful outing in "Kramer vs. Kramer" (1979) in which he won an Oscar, Hoffman returns for a comical role that is sure to bring many ho-ho-ho's from movie audiences this holiday season.

Playing the dual roles of out-of-work actor Michael Dorsey and teisty daytime TV heroine Dorothy Michaels, Hoffman had to change clothes, voices and habits to succeed while maintaining his strong-willed character.

Movies

The zaniness starts when Dorsey is told by his agent, Sam Fields (Sydney Pollack) that no one in New York will hire him because of his insistent mouth. No matter what the part, Dorsey has to do it his own way which usually doesn't make a good impression on his directors.

"You're a wonderful actor but you are too much trouble," Fields says. How much trouble he doesn't have any idea.

When friend Sandy (Teri Garr) doesn't get a part in a daytime drama — they prefer that label to "soap opera" — Hoffman dons high heels and makeup and wins the part.

Work is work and Dorsey is glad to join the ranks of the employed. He breaks the news to his agent over lunch one day. "Michael, I begged you to get therapy but..." he moans in total disbelief at Dorsey's planned drag.

Things get really wired when a) Dorothy Michaels with her "not going to put up with you men" attitude becomes a No. 1 star, b) falls in love with fellow actress Julie Nichols (Jessica Lange), c) can't work in a relationship with Sandy, and d) is being romantically pursued by a fellow actor, and Julie's father (Charles Dunning).

Lake spinning a fork in a big plate of spaghetti, the plot becomes more tangled until Dorsey has no choice but to reveal his true identity. The last straw comes when Dorothy's popularity is so great she gets a new one-year contract.

The movie's funniest moments come when Dorsey is Dorothy. He is genuine in the part — not something you have to get used to, but an immediate identity when he puts on his wig, makeup, glasses and skirt. An overly aggressive doctor on the set follows her home one night and loses control of his emotions in her apartment. In walks roommate Jeff (Bill Murray) who saves the day for Michael.

When the door closes, Jeff turns to the rumped Dorothy and cracks, "You slut."

In between avoiding kisses from passionate Dr. Brewster and dinner dancing with lovestruck Mr. Nichols, Dorothy wins the affection of the country's TV addicts with her feisty ways. Her on-the-set changes in the script don't go over well, but the mail that keeps pouring in and popularity of the Southwest General series keeps the producers happy.

The movie is total fun. The audience can usually sense what's going to happen next, but it still brings a laugh because of Hoffman's ability to play Dorothy to the hilt.

The Sidney Pollack film leaves a sound message — if wearing a dress and earrings can get a guy a job and a girl, why not try it?

On second thought... —By GREG JAKLEWICZ

Manilow gives too much sugar-sweetness this year

• "HERE COMES THE NIGHT" — Barry Manilow. Arista Records.

Barry Manilow's 11th or 111th album, whichever it is, will undoubtedly rocket into the Top 40 like his other albums and achieve platinum sales no matter what this review says, but here goes anyway.

"Here Comes the Night" is yet another in a long, long line of Manilow sugarcoated records, utterly bursting with what Manilow's press release calls "wearing his heart on his sleeve." How uncomfortable.

In all fairness, Manilow does try a few different sounds, getting away from the insipid, banal repetition that makes every song sound exactly like "Weekend in New England." The single from this album — "I Wanna Do It With You" — has a bouncy, upbeat arrangement that complements the airhead lyrics.

Ultimately, it fails due to its passionless presentation, and it becomes just another blow-dried Fifties retreat.

Manilow plays synthesizer on some tunes, pathetically attempting to inject some New Wave energy into the cuts, despite his disclaimer that his music — "permanent wave" — eschews that movement.

Records

Nikki Chinn and Mike Chapman, who produced Blondie's New Wave breakthrough album, penned "Some Girls," a perky pop rock tune, for the album. Despite the obvious humor inherent in the tune, Manilow misses it and also reveals just how badly he needs glandular orchestration.

Worst of all, the party sounds of people laughing and such are just turned on like a machine at appropriate times — a flawless, but ultimately soulless, song.

"Heart of Steel" is an unintentionally-funny synth rocker with Manilow the tough proclaiming "Loving you gave me a heart of steel" with about as much threat as the Pillsbury Doughboy.

This is like the Ray Conniff Singers doing Devo. Enough for the good songs — the bad ones are the ones Manilow has built his fortune upon: over-orchestrated "heartfelt" ballads. This sound is best exemplified by "Getting over Losing You," significantly published by Miserable Melodies (no kidding).

The others, including a horrid rendition of "Memory" from the Broadway play "Cats," are predictably slow songs with greeting-card lyrics and somnambulist music.

"Here Comes the Night" is not just another Manilow album; it's a warning. As Manilow says in his press release, "I'm not just a singer of notes. I am a singer of thoughts."

Huh? —By MIKE DOWNEY

Pac-Man blamed for truancy

PTTSBURGH (AP) — Two women, convinced their children have been skipping school to play video games, want the city to prohibit businesses from letting children play the games during school hours.

Mae Norris and Patty Martin of Pittsburgh said their children were caught playing Donkey Kong and Pac-Man during school hours. That prompted them to circulate petitions in the Homewood-Brushston area supporting enactment of an ordinance.

"The problem has gotten worse. The more games they bring out, the more children will play with them," said Ms. Norris, whose 7-year-old son, Darnell, plays the games "any chance he gets." She said he learned that the boy was arriving late at Belmar Elementary School because he was stopping to play the games after leaving home.

"You'd be surprised. Some of these children are very good at these games," said Ms. Martin. "All it takes is a quarter and they can be going for hours."

The women said their efforts haven't drawn unanimous favor among city residents. Some have refused to sign the petition because they claim their children know better than to skip school.

But the petition drive has the support of District Justice Dennis Schatzman.

Beauty, humor mark concert of symphony

By MIKE DOWNEY
Staff Writer

As the last wistful note of "Silent Night" died away Friday night in the Big Spring High School auditorium, surely no one in the audience was untouched by the performance of the Midland-Odessa Symphony and Chorale.

From the opening Christmas carol sing-a-long with the chorale soaring from the aisles to the humorously-touching Christmas story narration to the exultant renditions of Yuletide classics, the symphony and chorale gave a Christmas program of power, passion and remembrance.

The crowning note on a jubilant evening of music was the closing visit by Santa Claus and the subsequent candlelight recessional to the poignant strains of "Silent Night."

Following a hilarious talk with Conductor Dr. Thomas Hohstadt, Santa exuberantly conducted the orchestra and chorale through "Rudolph the Red-Nose Reindeer," losing his cap in his excitement.

Santa then led the chorale, all bearing lit candles, out through the darkened auditorium as they sang "Silent Night." The symphony continued playing the haunting chords after the singers left. Section by section, the members left carrying candles until only Gene Purdue on violin remained playing the melancholy music in the shadows.

Then, he left with his violin and his candle in the hush of the building.

Other highlights of the concert included a delightful Christmas story narrated by Dwight Whitsett of the chorale. "G.A.G.E., a Christmas Story" was punctuated with flourishes of orchestration from the symphony.

The humorously-presented story of an Austrian musician who created great music with four angel-sent musical notes (GAGE) turned out to be the composer of "Silent Night."

Another highlight was the stately beauty of a Pachelbel canon that opened the second half of the program. On a shadowed stage, the conductor-less orchestra played the achingly-pure notes, beginning with only a cello and violin, then adding instruments to an ineffably elegant conclusion.

Chorale Conductor Dr. Stanley Engebretson directed the entire ensemble through three resplendent numbers: "Jubilate Deo," "Nativity Carol," and "Star Carol."

The only drawback of the chorale numbers was the chorale's location onstage behind the symphony, which sometimes blunted the full effect of the voices. The a cappella parts were stunning, however.

"The Many Moods of Christmas" featuring five Christmas tunes had some excellent touches from the sleigh bells in "Joy to The World" to the harp accompaniment of "Away in a Manger." "March of the Kings," with its martial drums, has to be one of the most rousing Christmas songs in the world.

Emma Hillger

Emma Hillger, 96, of Garden City, a member of a pioneer Glasscock County family, died at 12:05 p.m. Sunday in Stanton Nursing Home.

Services will be at 10 a.m. Wednesday at Nalley-Pickle Rosewood Chapel with the Rev. James T. Holman, pastor of St. Paul's Methodist Church in Midland, officiating. Burial will be in Garden City Cemetery.

Born April 14, 1886 in Paris, Texas, Mrs. Hillger moved to Glasscock County in 1903 with her family. She married George Hillger who died in 1948. A Methodist, she was preceded in death by one daughter, Gladys Haley, in December of 1960.

Survivors include four sons, Jim Hillger of Stanton, Henry Hillger of Garden City, Harvey Hillger and George Hillger, both of Midland; two brothers, Herman Hillger of Mesa, Ariz. and Lorán Hillger of Fort Stockton; one sister, Ellen Schafer of Garden City, 14 grandchildren, 30 great-grandchildren and eight great-great-grandchildren.

Escapee arrested by police

Police said they arrested 19-year-old Steven Dwayne Barnett Saturday afternoon after he had escaped arrest that morning.

Apparently Barnett fled his arrest on foot Saturday morning as a female juvenile companion jumped the arresting officer, according to police reports. The suspect was being arrested for traffic warrants when the juvenile pinned the officer's hands, allowing Barnett to escape, police said.

When the officer attempted to pursue Barnett, the juvenile jumped on the officer's back, pulling him to the ground.

Barnett currently is in police custody, police reports said.

Ernest Florez, 23, of 1002 N. Main was arrested Saturday night on suspicion of criminal trespass and public intoxication.

Police said they arrested four people yesterday on suspicion of driving while intoxicated.

Jeffery Roy Derks, 18, of 1603 Tuscon was arrested about 1:50 a.m. He also was arrested on suspicion of being a minor in possession of alcohol.

Tony Martinez, 20, of 606 N.W. 11th was arrested about 7:15 p.m. He also was cited for three traffic violations. Martinez was released on a $1,000 bond.

Walter Dugan, 22, of 1601 Meadow was arrested about 8 p.m. An 18-year-old companion, Kathy Auwarter of 1709 Aylford, was arrested on suspicion of public intoxication.

Homer L. Williford Jr., 34, of 2403 Rannels was arrested about 9:30 p.m. and released on $1,000 bond.

A woman and two juveniles were arrested this weekend in connection with shoplifting incidents at Gibson's Discount Center, 2309 Seurry.

Dolores S. Cisneros, 26, of 709 N.W. Ninth was arrested Saturday on suspicion of theft under $5. Police said the suspect shoplifted two bottles of cologne.

A 16-year-old girl was arrested yesterday afternoon on suspicion of theft under $5.

A 16-year-old boy was arrested yesterday morning on suspicion of theft under $5.

Monica Delgado of 402 N.W. Sixth told police someone stole a television, stereo, telephone and western hat from his residence yesterday.

C.T. Cannon of 1319 Mulberry told police a person he knows stole $190 worth of tools from his residence Stereo Center Saturday night and stole $329, $279 and $169 radio cassette stereos.

Conrad Mezick of 1908 Main told police a person he knows choked and kicked him about 12:55 a.m. yesterday.

Police Lt. Alvis Jeffcoat said that laboratory reports show no contamination to a bottle of Excedrin tablets brought to police about two weeks ago. A Big Spring woman had found two tablets on top of the cotton wadding inside the bottle she purchased at a local store and took it to police for testing.

Vehicles driven by William H. Bolingbroke of Round Rock and Myrtle F. Tatum of 2406 Cheyenne collided at South Gregg and West Fifth about 12:45 p.m. yesterday. Police cited Bolingbroke for running a red light. Police reports indicated Mrs. Tatum and Fred Tatum may have suffered minor injuries.

Mr., Mrs. Bill Stephens

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Stephens of Garden City will be honored at a family gathering and dinner in commemoration of their 50th anniversary Saturday. The event will take place at 4 p.m. in the Garden City Cafe. Hosting will be the couple's children and grandchildren.

Stephens, originally of Stephenville, met Mrs. Stephens, the former Retta Bagwell of Bradshaw, in a maize field on a farm between Winters and Bradshaw. The couple was married Dec. 16, 1932 in Winter.

The couple has three children: Mrs. Robert (Emma) Doe of Garden City, Mrs. Lee (Retta) Moore of Austin and Clifford Stephens of Eunice, N.M. The couple also have 11 children and nine grandchildren.

The couple lived in Stephenville, Abilene and California prior to living in Garden City for the past 36 years. They own and operate Garden City Cafe.

Aliteracy is probed

Because aliteracy — non reading even though one knows how — has received little attention, there are no statistics on how widespread the problem is. However, educators attending a recent conference on aliteracy said that they were sure there was an aliteracy problem in the United States.

Car seat is shower gift

Linda Miracle was honored with a baby shower Dec. 4 in the home of Leona Ebersole, 118 Lincoln.

Guests included Elizabeth Horner, maternal grandmother, and Mrs. Gerry Miracle, paternal grandmother, both of Kermit.

Hostesses included Donna Newell, Paula Sherrill, Becky Smiley, Joan Curtis, Rosalie Reed, Cindy Guzman, Rose Stukel, Ruth Vineyard, Ray Roberts and Marci Lykken.

They presented the honoree with a safety car seat. Baby Miracle is expected early in January.

Desk, Derrick club

The Desk and Derrick Club of Big Spring held their Christmas dinner meeting Tuesday at 7 p.m. in the home of Kaye McDaniel.

Officers for the 1983 year were installed by Thelma Rains, past president. Officers are Ann Drake, president, Jennifer Largent, vice president, Sheri Burleson, secretary, Sherri Kloss, treasurer, and Venita Blessingame, immediate past president. The next meeting is scheduled for 7 p.m. Jan. 17 at the Kopper Kettle in the Big Spring Mall.

MR. AND MRS. JESSE E. ANGEL
...plan reception

Mr., Mrs. Jesse Angel

Mr. and Mrs. Jesse E. Angel, Stanton, will celebrate their 50th anniversary with a reception in Cap Rock Auditorium in Stanton from 2-4 p.m. Dec. 26. The couple's children and grandchildren will host the event.

Angel was born in Ira of Scurry County. He met the former Obera Hazlewood of Cisco at a church in the Courtney Community in July of 1926. The couple was married 6½ years later on Dec. 28, 1932 in the Baptist parsonage in Stanton.

The couple had four children. They are Tom Ed Angel of Stanton, Mrs. Charles (LaRue) Pierce of Euleess, Mrs. Marc (Zanna) Trawek of Midland and the late Mrs. Larry (Melrae) Kelso. The Angel's also have 10 grandchildren and four great-grandchildren.

During their marriage, the couple lived in Courtney Community and Stanton. Angel is a retired farmer and interior decorator. Mrs. Angel was a salesperson in Midland during the 1940s and 1950s. Prior to her retirement, she was a teacher for Head Start in Stanton.

Angel is a member of Masonic Lodge No. 851, Odd Fellows No. 473. Both Mr. and Mrs. Angel are members of Eastern Star No. 409, Rebekah Lodge No. 951 and High Sky Strollers Travel Club. The couple enjoys spending summers in Ruidosa, N.M. Angel enjoys reading, and Mrs. Angel does china painting.

Daughter's birth announced

Mr. and Mrs. Dale Ferguson, 600 E. 12th, announce the birth of their third child, a daughter, Chelsea Dawn, Dec. 9 in their home. The infant arrived at 6 a.m. weighing 6 pounds, 6 ounces at birth and measuring 19 ¼ inches long.

Maternal grandparents are Richard Pachall, Odessa, and Mrs. Camilla Bassham Pachall, 1008 Runnels. Paternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Don Ferguson, 1510 Vines.

Maternal great-grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. E.R. Brown, 1301 Nolan, and Mrs. Marie Bassham, Lake Colorado City. Paternal great-grandfather is Jim Ferguson, Wilson Road.

Chelsea was welcomed home by her sister, Shelby, 2, and her brother, Jarrett, 1.

United Way totals to exceed goal

The United Way of Big Spring-Howard County is expected to exceed its $220,000 campaign goal this year by some $30,000, according to Executive Director Sherrie Bordofsky.

As of today, the city-county total donations stand at $176,109 with the final total expected Wednesday, Mrs. Bordofsky said.

Totals are as follows: Pacesetters, $72,030; Special, $67,710; Professional, $13,252; Metropolitan, $8,843; Out of Town, $7,402; Residential, $5,440 and Rural, $1,430.

Any persons wishing to contribute to the campaign may leave donations at Room 106 in the Permian Building or mail them to the United Way, Box 24, Big Spring, 79720 or call 267-5201 and donations will be picked up.

Murder ruled in death of Kim Alexander

Howard County Justice of the Peace Lewis Heflin today ruled murder in the death of Kim C. Alexander, 27. Ms. Alexander was found dead in her home on 1303 Elm around 4:25 a.m. Dec. 9, 1982.

Heflin was the magistrate called to the scene and ordered an autopsy performed to determine cause of death. Police arrested a suspect in the woman's death the same day.

Heflin based his ruling on Dr. Robert Rember's autopsy, performed the morning of Dec. 9, which stated the cause of death as "multiple blows to the head by a relatively blunt object."

Robert Arista Jr., 1511 1/2 South Scurry, remains free under $25,000 bond in connection with the murder.

Howard County sheriff's deputies say they arrested Jeffery E. Prosen, 21, of 1905 Wasson Road in connection with a county warrant for issuance of bad checks. Prosen was arraigned before Justice of the

MRS. JAMES ERMAN BURGIN
...formerly Deborah Grace Phillips

Phillips-Burgin

Mr. and Mrs. James Ergan Burgin are on a honeymoon trip to San Antonio today following their wedding Saturday evening at First Baptist Church in Arlington.

Mrs. Burgin is the former Deborah Grace Phillips of Arlington.

Parents of the bride are Ted Phillips of 1308 Runnels and Mrs. Charles Butler of Harlingen. Parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. Bob Burgin of Arlington.

The couple exchanged wedding vows before an altar decorated with two white gladioli arrangements, an arched candelabrum flanked by two swivel candelabra with Christmas decor. The Rev. Dr. Charles Wade, pastor, officiated the 7 p.m. rite.

Music was provided by Kay Ellen Goodyear, pianist; John Tarver, organist; David Phillips, brother of the bride, vocalist; and Karen Hargrave of Arlington, vocalist.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She wore a formal-length gown of ivory satin and re-embroidered Alencon lace. Matching lace covered the entire bodice and made the standup collar. The A-line satin skirt fell from the waistline into a chapel-length train. The skirt and train were edged in lace and up the back of the train. Crystal and pearls highlighted the gown. To complete her ensemble, the bride wore a picture hat embellished in matching lace.

The bride carried a cascading bouquet of burgundy roses with white stephanotis and white baby's breath. The bouquet was tied with trailing burgundy and white ribbons.

Lila Ingraham of Midland served her sister as matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Cynthia Harvey of Austin, Emily Boyd of Arlington and Patsy Winnop of Charlotte, N.C. Candlelighters were Mary Jane Wright of Waco and Julie Hairston of Arlington.

Rick Burgin served his brother as best man. Bradley Dowdy of Arlington, David McGhughy of Sweetwater and David Mobley of Waco were Groomsman. Ushers were Steve Thornton of Waco, John Horn of Waco, Doug Eugene, Jim Dennison, both of Arlington, Nathan Phillips and Doyle Phillips of Mill Valley, Calif., both brothers of the bride.

Following the ceremony, the couple was honored at a reception in the church's Fellowship Hall. The bride's table featured a three-tiered off-white cake decorated with shades of burgundy roses and lily-of-the-valley. The cake was trimmed with puff borders and pink ruffles. The bridegroom's cake was German Chocolate.

The bride is a graduate of Big Spring High School and is attending University of Texas at Arlington. She is employed by Arlington Sporting Goods. The bridegroom is a graduate of Korea Christin Academy in Taejeon, Korea and Baylor University in Waco. He is attending Southwestern Baptist Theological Seminary in Fort Worth and is employed by the City of Arlington.

Following the wedding trip, the couple will make their home in Fort Worth.

Dr. Donohue

Disease is blanket term

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: I just had an aunt die of Bright's disease. My mother kept insisting all through her illness that I, too, had Bright's disease when I was 5 years old and that the doctor had cured it. The doctor is now deceased. Mother said that I swelled up in my face and hands and had pus in my urine.

I, of course, don't remember anything about it except that I had to be carried everywhere I went and I spent one whole summer in the swing on the porch. My mother now says that the other doctor could have cured my aunt the way he cured me. Is my mother off her rocker, or did my aunt die needlessly? Have you ever heard of anyone being cured of this disease? — L.W.H.

Bright's disease today is really an obsolete term. Many years ago, when Dr. Bright (Dr. Richard Bright, a 19th-century physician) first studied and wrote about kidney disease, he didn't have the kind of technical help that we have developed over the years. The term "Bright's disease" has remained to cover many kidney problems. Today we know enough to differentiate kidney illness from different symptoms and different causes. Yet, although the term is not used medically, years of reference to it has fixed it in people's minds.

I cannot speculate on the exact kind of kidney problem your aunt had, but I am sure it had some additional name besides Bright's disease. And I am equally certain that your childhood illness was different than the one that was fatal to her. Just as a guess, I would say you had something on the order of glomerulonephritis, which probably followed a strep throat infection. That does happen now and then. The strep throat can be followed by the kidney inflammation, but for most there is complete and lasting recovery.

So even though your aunt's and your problem did involve the kidney, and both might fall into the Bright's disease category, you can be sure they were two entirely different illnesses. And I'll bet that if you check with your aunt's doctor, he can give you a name other than Bright's disease.

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: Would appreciate information on how to treat candida, which I have developed within the last year, since I started wearing dentures. My dentist has had me try various medications, but cannot seem to come up with anything that helps. It is indeed, a very uncomfortable situation. It feels as though my tongue were coated with sand, and there are creamy white patches. The dentist tells me it is candida. — F.K.

Candida is fungus that causes the infection called candidiasis, which occur on mucous surfaces. It can be very unpleasant. Has your dentist suggested a course of Nystatin for you? It usually works. It comes in a liquid from that you let bathe your mouth.

And if that doesn't work, there is a tablet you swallow, and that is quite effective. This medicine is called ketoconazole, and you take one of the tablets a day. You may have to remove your dentures and go without them for a time. Also, you do have to clean the dentures meticulously. If neither of the medicines I mention has been tried, I would inquire about them.

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: My doctor advised me that I have a low blood count. He said I may have anemia. Please tell me the difference between a low blood count, anemia and leukopenia. — J.M.K.

I think you have just enough information to confuse you.

Let's look at a complete blood count. In that, the numbers of red blood cells, white blood cells and platelets (the cells that make clots) are counted; also the amount of hemoglobin (the oxygen-carrying chemical) is determined. Any or all of these may be low. If your red cell count is low, you have an anemia, which is what anemia means — a low red cell count. If your white blood cell count is low, you have leukopenia (leuko-white; penia-low). If your platelet count is low, you have what is called thrombocytopenia (thrombo-platelet).

I could not understand another part of your letter. I think you also mention leukemia. Leukemia is quite different. It is an abnormal multiplication of white blood cells, so the count is quite high. I think that now you have just enough additional information to ask your physician what your blood count means.

Dear Abby

Help for transsexuals

DEAR ABBY: I would like to express my thanks for all the kind words and support you have given to transsexuals over the years. (A transsexual is a person genetically of one sex with a psychological urge to belong to the opposite sex — an urge sometimes so overwhelming that it leads to a sex-change operation.)

While addressing a national convention of electrolgists recently, I was frequently asked, "Where should we refer our transsexual clients?"

In the past, Abby, you have recommended the Janus Information Facility as an information and counseling source for transvestites and transsexuals.

It might be helpful to provide your readers with other sources, since thousands are seeking help.

General Information Service: Janus Information Facility, 1952 Union, San Francisco, Calif. 94123.

Treatment Programs: Gender Dysphoria Program of Orange County, Inc. (a non-profit corporation), 31815 Camino Capistrano, Suite L, San Juan Capistrano, Calif. 92675.

Gender Dysphoria Program, 2126 1/2 The Strand, Galveston, Texas 77550.

CONFIDE Personal Counseling Services, Inc., Box 56, Tappan, N.Y. 10983.

Individuals requesting information should include a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Again, Abby, thanks for your help and understanding over the years.

CHRISTINE JORGENSEN

DEAR CHRISTINE JORGENSEN: Because the whole subject of transsexuality has been so universally misunderstood and those who need help don't know where to get it, I am printing your letter.

Read on for a letter that will make your day: DEAR ABBY: This is truly a story with a happy ending, which I hope you will print for others who might be suffering as much as I was.

After years of anguish and worry, wondering what was causing my son's unhappiness, nine months ago, at age 32, he confided to me that he was a transsexual and had made his decision that he must finally live the truth and become what he was mentally and psychologically intended to be — a female.

At first I suffered guilt, shame, confusion, fear, and I even went into mourning for the son I had lost. But then, the love for my child transcended these feelings, and above all, I realized that he needed my love and support more than ever. He had already sought the necessary psychological counseling and hormonal therapy, and four months ago he successfully underwent the sex-change surgery.

I now have a happy daughter, at peace with herself, and it fills me with joy to hear her laughter — something I had never heard before.

C-City woman indicted Friday in son's death

COLORADO CITY (SC) — A Mitchell County grand jury Friday returned two indictments against Pearl Lee Dering in connection with the Nov. 29 death of her 21-month-old son, Shawn.

The first indictment is for murder and the second is for failure to provide medical care for the child, court officials said.

The murder indictment charges Mrs. Dering, 25, with beating her son in the abdomen with a wooden shovel handle and then scalding the child's body in a bathtub of hot water.

Assistant District Attorney Lonnie Markley said a charge against the woman's husband, Rocky Joe Dering, 25, for failure to provide medical care was not presented to the jury.

Mrs. Dering remains in the Mitchell County jail in lieu of $100,000 bond.

The couple was arrested Dec. 1 when Colorado City Police Chief Ed Wheat was called to the Root Memorial Hospital emergency room to investigate the death of the infant.

Wheat said Mrs. Dering was charged with murder later that day after she signed a confession stating that she had immersed the baby in scalding water.

The couple's 4-year-old daughter, Dawn, was placed in the care of the Texas Department of Human Resources.

County grand jury meets today

The Howard County grand jury will consider 21 cases and two investigations today. Cases to be considered for indictment will include an attempted capital murder case, four aggravated assault cases and 10 theft cases.

The grand jury, meeting at 10:30 a.m. in the county courthouse, is expected to complete its work today.

O.I.L. GOAL

O.I.L. GUSHES OVER UNITED WAY GOAL — Oilfield Industrial Lines employees contributed a total of $28,458.08 this year to the United Way of Big Spring-Howard County campaign, topping their goal. O.I.L. will match this contribution, making a total donation of $56,916.16. Contract Welder Jack Howard paints the sign as Karen Craft, Industrial Relations coordinator for U.W., holds the ladder. O.I.L. Board Chairman Chris Christopher and Chief Operating Officer Dick Fackler (left to right) watch.

Coahoma elementary choir to sing on television program

Coahoma's 12:15 Singers will appear on Channel 7's "High Noon Show" at noon Dec. 21, 22 and 23, said choral director William Johnson today.

The 12:15 Singers, a choir composed of 35 Coahoma fourth, fifth and sixth graders, will be performing a series of Christmas carols on the show, Johnson said.

The carols will include both contemporary and traditional Christmas music and feature five pieces from "Ceremony of Carols," written by Benjamin Britten.

All music was arranged for the carolers by Johnson, and the singers will be accompanied by Alicia Curry of Coahoma.

FILM & FLASH for Christmas

Remember last year when you said "I wish we'd gotten a picture of the Christmas tree and the packages BEFORE they were all unwrapped"?
