FEELING THE BEAT — Members of the California-based dance company Musign appeared in Big Spring Tuesday night. The four members of the troupe are hearing impaired and choreograph dance numbers to various types of music with the aid of hearing aids, amplifiers and ear phones. Shown in a scene from their show are, from left, Rita Corey, Bob Hiltermann, Marjorie Tanzar and Ed Chevy.

'Socialist' land rules criticized

Council tables decision

By CAROL DANIEL
 Staff Writer

The Big Spring city council last night tabled a decision on a proposed ordinance that would update land development regulations both inside the city and within five miles outside city limits.

The proposed ordinance does not change the city's current jurisdiction over land development, but it does update standards to fit technological changes since 1961.

After an hour's discussion with rural audience members, councilmen said they couldn't make a decision on the issue because it's unclear whether the state requires the city to regulate, or just record, subdivisions outside city limits. Landowners who attended the public hearing said they wanted the ordinance scrapped because it restricts their independence.

"You don't have to follow a bad law that some socialists down in Austin came up with," said local oilman Cecil Gilstrap.

"American people sure are kind of funny, but we like our independence," Albert Pettus said. "Gradually, slowly, we're losing our independence."

Spatterings of applause and "awens" followed comments from Gilstrap, Pettus and Gene Bryant.

Sounds and signs

Deaf troupe uses imagination in their musical revue

By CAROL HART
 Staff Writer

It was an evening of music and dance delivered with a different beat Tuesday as members of the Musign Theater Company entertained a small audience in the Big Spring Municipal Auditorium.

Musign, a troupe composed of four hearing-impaired performers, uses mime, American Sign Language, sharply choreographed dance numbers and imaginative costumes to present their high-energy level show. They are backed by the sounds and vibrations of New Wave, rock 'n' roll, Broadway melodies and movie tunes.

Their entrance, one of their most dynamic spots, featured all four dressed in stark white costumes and bathed in a sharp blue spotlight, moving like robots down the aisles to the music of Jean Michael Jarre. The beginning set, entitled "New World," featured music of Devo, the Manhattan Transfer and the Pretenders.

Musign is the brainchild of Rita Corey, artistic director of the show.

She explained during a break that the troupe, which also includes Bob Hiltermann, Ed Chevy and Marjorie Tanzar, banded together in 1981.

"The idea behind Musign is old," Miss Corey said. "I've had it since my Gallaudet College days." She explained she, Hiltermann and Chevy did a version of the show while at the Washington, D.C., the play "Children of a Lesser God." Chevy formed a deaf band, and Hiltermann joined the Canadian Theater of the Deaf.

Six years later, in California, Miss Corey contacted Hiltermann, Chevy and Miss Tanzar, when she realized "We had something going for us. I had seen a lot of hearing interpreters do this kind of show. We are the first company of hearing im-aids and amplifiers to listen to and analyze music they want to use in their show. They say they also can feel the beat of the music, beats which pulsate through amplifiers located at either side of the stage.

Each program distributed contains a balloon. For members of the audience who are deaf, these balloons pick up the vibrations of the music in the air.

Miss Corey does most of the choreography for the show, but adds the group works as a collective, and together they develop their material. She said all four are also "dedicated to Musign."

"I'd like to see Musign grow. It is a place where we can share our culture. We are training other hearing impaired people to go on with the idea."

The troupe will appear in Austin Friday, then continue on a tour of the southwest. They have also toured through Japan and Canada, appeared at the World's Fair in Knoxville, Tenn., and did a performance at an alumni convention at Gallaudet College last year.

university. Upon graduation the troupe disbanded.

Miss Corey went on to the National Theater of the Deaf, and also toured with the road company for paired performers to originate our own company," she said.

Q. How much did the "Jimmy" Chagra murder trial cost taxpayers?

A. The Justice Department says it spent approximately $5 million on the prosecution of Chagra, not to mention close to that amount spent on the trial of the man who actually committed the murder.

110-year-old Texan's life mirrors black history

By LINDA GILCHRIST
Beaumont Enterprise & Journal

ROGANVILLE, Texas — To talk with Lee Baltimore is to take a journey back in time to a Texas of illegal slavery, of toiling on the land and of happy memories.

Lee Baltimore remembers all that and more — not as detailed and accurately perhaps as he did 50 or 60 years ago, but at 110, it is his eyes that are failing, not his mind.

Baltimore was born Jan. 2, 1873, on a large farm near Woodville. The son of slave parents who were not married, Baltimore was sent away from what family he had to live with another white family.

He took on the name of his father, John Baltimore, who was abandoned by his owner in East Texas and named after the city in Maryland believed to be his birthplace. Baltimore said he was almost grown before he was told who his parents were.

"They didn't like you to know your people," Baltimore said, resting his hands on his soil-weighted khaki pants. "They thought if you knowed where your people was, you'd run off, so they'd never tell you anything. Even after slave times, colored folks was traded like cattle."

Baltimore said although slavery was supposed to be abolished by the Civil War, it continued throughout East Texas.

"We wasn't free then," he said. "We weren't turned loose (after the war). Fact is, we ain't got quite loose yet."

The old man did not relate stories of abuse and mistreatment he received by his white owners during his time of servitude. For Baltimore, the worst aspect of the situation was not being allowed to worship God.

"In them days, colored folks didn't have no church. When the church (between Woodville and Jasper) first started, people came from 100 miles away," Baltimore said. Work was his life, "and if I had any time left to study, I studied God."

As a young man, Baltimore was free to leave his home to take a job as a waiter for timber baron John Henry Kirby. He then left for Silsbee, where he worked for a doctor. He became a nurse, tending to the local sick of all colors.

Longtime friend Frand Means of Jasper said Baltimore became so respected as a nurse that during World War I, he was sent to Houston to provide medical treatment to soldiers at the Veterans Hospital.

During his life, Baltimore has also been a logger, a baseball player, a farmer and a railroad hand. "I laid steel with four white men (working as subordinates). And I could lay a carload of (railroad) ties in one day. A colored man could work (as employer) with a white man, if he don't boss him."

Baltimore is a true believer in the work ethic.

STRUMMING AWAY — Lee Baltimore strums a guitar from the comfort of his bed on his farm near Roganville, Texas. Baltimore, 110, has been a waiter, a logger, a nurse, a baseball player, a farmer and a railroad hand during his life. He says he's a true believer in the work ethic.

"You got to go to working 'cause if you sit around and do nothing, you'll soon die. Your blood will stop circulating," he said.

As by way of demonstration, Baltimore stands and begins flexing his shoulders and thrusting his arms downward. He then tenses and relaxes his fingers several times and smiles, his warm-up exercises completed.

The weathered old man then picks up his guitar — an old, battered instrument with an electrical pickup for a non-existent amplifier. He wails out "What Would I Do Without the Lord," hitting chords, sliding his strong fingers down the fret board and settling for slapping the face of the guitar when the proper chords won't come.

"At night, music will keep you from worrying. You can't have something on your mind and play," he said.

"I'm going to get me another (guitar) after a while," Baltimore said. He ambles over to the piano, sits down and closes his eyes, rocking side to side as he sings of the rewards of Heaven. The look of approval on the faces of his audience is all that is needed to prompt an encore.

"I started playing the piano when ... I guess I was about 97," Baltimore said. "When I bought it, my children said an old man can't learn nothing. But I did," he said, a smile of satisfaction moving across his face. "When I went blind (from cataracts in 1981), they said I couldn't housekeep, but just go out there and look at that garden."

He has reason to be pleased with his garden. Baltimore's 50-acre tract at the end of a red-dirt road near Jasper is striped by rows of corn, peas, okra and potatoes. He works the fields with a horse-drawn plow — the way he learned to work them so many years ago. He finds the less sophisticated way of the farmer more enjoyable. "I like to plow. Somebody gave it (a tractor) to me, but I gave it back. It gets you down, you see, 'cause it gets down and tears up and you have to pay somebody more than it's worth to fix it," he said.

Baltimore had someone pick most of his crop last year because of his blindness. "My children wanted me to quit after they left. But I brought in five or six bales of cotton by myself the next year." He decided that the 1982 crop would be his last, however.

He gave away most of what he harvested each year, but not to just anyone. The spiritual satisfaction of giving varies "according to who you give it to. I don't fool with people who don't work, and I don't fool with sinners."

Across from the house and barn Baltimore built himself some 70 years ago stands an equally old building he plans to open this year as a school. "It will be a place to learn children how to plow and hoe," he said.

"You know, a panic (in the economy) is the worst thing in the world. If they (the children) can take the land and raise some peas and cornbread, they can live. It (the building) ain't going to be for dancing. It's for discussing."

Baltimore was married for more than 70 years to Emma Baltimore. He had seven children, five by his wife. "Colored people didn't know nothing about marrying back then. White folks got married; colored men had common-law wives."

His attitude about society speak of another era. "Poor people can't have the same as rich people. The rich will be over the poor all the days of your life," Baltimore said. "A poor man doesn't have sense enough to make arrangements for you. Rich people will take care of you just like you was one of their own, as long as you stay in your place."

Baltimore said people understand and respect a working man.

"A man's got to keep going. If you let people take care of you, you stop doing things for yourself and then, before you know it, you're in a nursing home. And you know what people in nursing homes do; they grieve themselves to death."

Baltimore doesn't know the secret to long life, only to his own. "I taken what the Bible says — I obeyed my mother and father and I stayed out of bad company. I drank some, but I learned how to drink," he said, indicating he never overdid it. "And I smoked for about 70 years."

When he developed some respiratory problems a few years ago, he went to Beaumont doctors for treatment. After spending about $2,000, he overheard his doctor telling another that Baltimore was in better shape than either one of them.

"And you know, they both died," Baltimore said, almost surprised that not everyone gets to be 110.

Bauer school meeting set

A communitywide meeting concerning the Bauer magnet school will be held Thursday at 7 p.m. in the school board meeting room at Big Spring High School.

The purpose of the meeting is to receive suggestions from the community concerning desirable programs that might be incorporated into a magnet school campus.

For the record

A building permit story yesterday said Jack Barber was issued a permit for a $125,000 residence. It should have read a $125,000 business — Barber Glass and Mirror.

McCarty was born June 22, 1900 at Enloe in Delta County. He lived in Big Spring 55 years and was a retired carpenter. He married Lois Glenn Nov. 5, 1977 in Big Spring. He was a Baptist.

Survivors include his wife; four sons, Herman O. McCarty of Grants, N.M., Hollis McCarty of Tyler, Herbert O. McCarty of Pecos and Alton Paul McCarty of Midland; two daughters, Helen O. Johnson and Nellie Roznovsky, both of Big Spring; a stepson, Darrell Corning of San Angelo; three stepdaughters, Hazel Eppler of Big Spring, Melba Dement of Round Rock and Janiece Kelley of Galveston; two sisters, Vera Mae Huitt and Christal Gandy, both of Big Spring; 17 grandchildren; 23 great-grandchildren; and three great-great-grandchildren.

Council

Continued from page one city the same jurisdiction as the proposed one; however, it apparently hasn't been regularly enforced in 30 years. Landowners said they had never heard of the ordinance, had already subdivided and sold land, and were confused as to what they are required to do.

"Maybe I've already broke it (the law)," Albert Pettus said. "Maybe I should be thrown in jail. I'm just here for information, but like these other folks, I hope you vote this down."

City Manager Don Davis said the purpose of the proposed ordinance was to make sure development standards are met within city limits. This includes requirements for flood damage prevention, plat drawing standards, plat processing fees, survey monuments, drainage channels, street right-of-ways, curve radii, pavement width, street grades and utility sizing.

"This ordinance sees to it that subdivisions won't be a burden to taxpayers to maintain," Davis said. "As far as the outside (city limits), I'm not so concerned. It certainly does not bother me to limit it to within city limits."

Regulating land development outside city limits ensures that subdivisions outside city standards if they are later incorporated. The ordinance does not regulate land use outside city limits, Davis said.

"If a person wants to raise pigs, put in a rendering plant or build a barn, that's fine," he said. "The purpose is so that there would be unity and harmony in planning both outside and inside city limits. The option the city may have is leaving people outside the incorporated limits alone."

City Councilmen Larry Miller and Russ McEwen said they are against regulating subdivisions outside city limits.

"I'm totally against it," Miller said. "We might as well go ahead and annex them."

"The only reason I see to go out five miles is if we expect Big Spring to boom," McEwen said. "I don't disagree with the people at all."

The issue was further confused because the state attorney general once ruled that the city's jurisdiction, based on population, extended only two miles. Two years ago the state legislature ruled that it extends five miles.

The state requires subdivisions within city limits and within five miles outside the limits must be cleared through the city before they can be filed in the county clerk's office. Subdivisions outside the five-mile limit are under the county's jurisdiction.

Councilman said it is unclear whether they are required to enforce standards outside city limits. For that reason, councilmen tabled a decision until their next meeting at 5 p.m. Feb. 21.

Election

the at-large election. Ryan works as a respiratory therapist at Malone Hogan Hospital and has lived in Big Spring two years. His major is religious education.

Fog shrouds North Texas

By The Associated Press

Dense fog reduced visibility to about one-fourth of a mile across much of North Texas early today, prompting the National Weather Service to issue a travelers advisory because of hazardous driving conditions.

The fog was reported over most of the eastern two-thirds of North Texas.

Elsewhere, scattered showers and thunderstorms were reported before dawn in the Panhandle and West Texas as well as in eastern and southeastern sections of the state.

Unseasonably warm temperatures were reported over most of the state early today. Readings in the 50s and 60s were common across northern, southeastern and southern sections of the state. Temperatures were in the 30s and 40s elsewhere except in the Panhandle where readings dipped into the 20s. Extremes ranged from 26 at Amarillo to a balmy 67 at Brownsville.

Forecasts called for showers and thunderstorms in North Texas, South Texas and Southeast Texas. Forecasters warned of the possibility of large hail and damaging winds in Southeast Texas. Skies were to be clear over West Texas.

ANOTHER HEAVY rainstorm pounded the West Coast early today, while snow fell in parts of the Midwest and clouds covered the Northeast.

Rain fell from the northern and central Pacific Coast across Nevada. Gale warnings were in effect for the northern coast of California and the southern and central coast of Oregon.

Light snow and freezing drizzle fell on parts of the upper Midwest. Snow fell from North Dakota to Wisconsin and northern Illinois, with freezing drizzle reported over eastern Iowa and southeast Wisconsin.

TODAY AND THURSDAY

Fair with no important temperature changes through Thursday. Highs Thursday mid 40s Panhandle to near 70 Big Bend. Lows upper teens Panhandle to upper 30s extreme south.

Morris Udall quits White House race

Further opens way for liberal candidates

By MIKE SHANAHAN
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON — Rep. Morris K. Udall of Arizona, a past presidential contender who had been eyeing another try, will not seek the Democratic Party's presidential nomination in 1984, according to sources.

Udall, a party liberal who finished second to Jimmy Carter in five presidential primaries in 1976, was to announce his decision at a news conference today.

But several sources said Tuesday night that Udall, who has Parkinson's disease, decided against the prospects of two years of campaigning. And, they said, he "didn't want to be a spoiler" of other liberal candidates like Sens. Alan Cranston of California and Gary Hart of Colorado.

Udall himself hinted at what his decision would be in a speech to college students here Tuesday night. Recalling his 1976 bid, he said wistfully, "It was a good experience. I just wish I could do it again."

Without saying what it would be, Udall told the students he telephoned former President Carter Tuesday night to tell him of his decision.

Udall, although popular with many Democrats around the country, would have faced a presidential campaign with no organization and little money against others like former Vice President Walter F.

MORRIS K. UDALL
...lost race in 1976

Mondale, who have been campaigning actively for a year or more.

The sources who discussed Udall's decision against running did so on the provision that they remain unidentified.

In advance of his appearance at the National Press Club today, aide Mark Brand would say only that the congressman plan to deliver "a highly upbeat" speech discussing his own future as well as that of the Democratic Party, the House and the nation.

A member of the House since 1961, Udall suffers from Parkinson's disease, a gradually debilitating ailment which made walking occasionally difficult, and caused his hands to shake.

When he began seriously considering whether to run, Udall was examined by a panel of doctors who concluded that despite his affliction, he would be physically fit to serve as president.

"I take my medicine regularly," Udall said when he announced he was considering another presidential race. "I'm in good shape. My doctor tells me I should be in good health for the next 12 to 15 years."

He quoted Dr. Tom Chase of the National Institutes of Health, an authority on Parkinson's disease, as telling him, "I have many active and productive years ahead of me."

Udall is closely allied with the liberal wing of the Democratic party, and when Sen. Edward M. Kennedy of Massachusetts announced he would not be a presidential candidate in 1984, Udall announced he would take a close look at running himself.

For several months before that, Udall had traveled to 22 states testing sentiment for a possible White House bid.

During the past two months, Udall conferred with family and friends and supporters about running.

Many people close to Udall urged him not to get into the race, even while pledging to support him if he did.

Fans attend rites for Karen Carpenter

DOWNEY, Calif. (AP) — Karen Carpenter, singing half of the popular 1970s brother and sister team, was buried following a funeral that drew hundreds of fans as well as family, friends and fellow musicians.

"The world is weeping because Karen's story graced this world with life and with song," the Rev. Charles A. Neal said Tuesday in his eulogy at the packed United Methodist Church in Downey, the Los Angeles suburb where Miss Carpenter and her brother Richard rose to fame in the early 1970s.

The singer was found dead of cardiac arrest at age 32 in her parents' Downey home Friday morning.

About 650 invited guests, including entertainers Herb Alpert, Olivia Newton-John, Burt Bacharach, John Davidson, Toni Tenille and Dionne Warwick crowded into the church sanctuary and an adjoining hall for the service.

A private interment ceremony followed at Forest Lawn Memorial Park in nearby Cypress.

Israel's Sharon fights pressure for resignation

By LARRY THORSON
Associated Press Writer

TEL AVIV, Israel — Pressure mounted on Defense Minister Ariel Sharon today to resign as recommended by the judicial report that gave him a large share of blame for the Beirut massacre. But Sharon was said to be resisting efforts to force him out.

The three-man panel urged Prime Minister Menachem Begin to fire Sharon if he did not, ~~step down voluntarily~~, and Israeli newspapers said most Cabinet ministers favored removing the defense minister.

Israel radio said most Parliament factions believed that in light of the the commission's criticism of himself and his government, Begin's only viable option was to resign and schedule an early election.

The prime minister met with his Cabinet for two hours Tuesday without reaching a decision on Sharon's status and scheduled a second meeting for today.

The news reports said some ministers were willing to give him another government post, but Sharon was determined to keep his ministry.

Most major newspapers urged the government to accept the findings of the commission.

The daily Haaretz editorialized, "The commission having said what it said about Mr. Ariel Sharon, he has no place in the Israeli government, plain and simple."

Already, which usually is more friendly to Begin than other papers, said:

"If we throw the conclusions of the commission in the trash can, we will once again be giving ammunition to all the enemies and slanderers whose arguments were silenced when Israel decided that there would be an Israeli investigation into the circumstances of the massacre."

The right-wing Tehiya faction, which belongs to Begin's coalition, sought to forestall Sharon's ouster by presenting a private bill to Parliament setting elections on Oct. 25, two years ahead of schedule. It was not clear when the bill would come up for debate.

A key figure in the ruling coalition said Begin would not dismiss the former general, a bulwark of the prime minister's popularity with his right-wing constituency.

Attorneys in other Wood cases claim acquittal helps

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — Defense attorneys say Jamiel "Jimmy" Chagra's acquittal in the assassination of U.S. District Judge John H. Wood Jr. could help three co-defendants win appeals, but two jurors say the three received fair trials.

A Jacksonville, Fla., jury on Monday found Chagra innocent of hiring a hit man to murder Wood.

However, in a separate trial here last year, Charles V. Harrelson was convicted of accepting $250,000 from Chagra to kill Wood. Chagra's wife, Elizabeth, was convicted of conspiring to murder Wood and to obstruct justice, and Harrelson's wife, Jo Ann, was convicted of conspiracy to obstruct justice.

Harrelson's lawyer, Tom Sharpe Jr. of Brownsville, said Tuesday that extensive publicity in San Antonio made a fair trial impossible.

Chagra was acquitted, Sharpe said, because "you had a forum in Florida who were not prejudging everything."

But two of the jurors in the San Antonio trial said the proceedings were fair and unbiased.

"I live in San Antonio and I was not up to date on things," said jury foreman Kathleen Mills. "In fact, I was amazed at how little I knew."

Patricia Schultz-Ormand, who broke down in tears as the verdicts were read Dec. 14, said the defendants "got a fair trial."

Sharpe said he filed a motion in federal court Friday to have the case against his client dismissed, and that more motions were forthcoming. He said he planned to meet with Harrelson today.

Bexar County District Attorney Sam Millsap Jr. says he still wants to seek the death sentence for Harrelson in state court.

But Sharpe questioned "whether the state of Texas can try Charles Harrelson on capital charges. Someone would have had to pay Harrelson to kill Judge Wood and we have a jury finding that that was not the case."

Harrelson is in federal prison in Bastrop, Texas, awaiting his March 8 sentencing.

Freighter evacuated in Gulf

GALVESTON (AP) — A crack in the forward hold of a 259-foot Panamanian freighter forced the U.S. Coast Guard to evacuate the crew and move the crippled vessel to shallow water.

The Eaglecliff, laden with 3,500 tons of milo, was anchored offshore when the crack in the starboard side was discovered, said Petty Officer Don Hope.

Water began leaking into the ship but could not be pumped out because the milo was absorbing it and vessel was listing about 20 degrees, Hope said.

Hope said a crew of 19, mostly from the Philippines and Honduras, the captain and a pet dog named Blondie were taken off the ship and to a Galveston hotel.

Don't just sit; do something

If you spend your free time watching the tube or simply daydreaming, if you spend your working hours hating the present task and dreading the next, you're letting life happen to you, and that's too bad.

The authors of "How to Take Charge of Your Life" — Mildred Newman and Bernard Berkowitz — believe it's possible to take a creative stance toward your life and wipe out that tiresome passivity.

They suggest some steps to take and some attitudes to change that will help you get to know yourself and define your goals.

TO BEGIN WITH, no matter what you find in your self-examination, it's important not to put yourself down. There are reasons you are the way you are, but if you see something you're not just crazy about — you really can change.

A fertile indication of what you'd like to be can be found in your daydreams and fantasies. Ask yourself what you'd do if a wealthy uncle left you a large inheritance — it can open up a rich vein of secret goals you may not even be aware of.

BERKOWITZ AND NEWMAN stress "tuning in" to yourself: your negative feelings as well as your positive ones. "If you stand ground and face a difficult feeling — such as anxiety or depression — it has a way of shrinking to manageable size," they write. "In fact, anxiety can be a signal that new adventures, or new possibilities, lie ahead."

Great philosophers, poets and playwrights have been saying all along: "Know thyself"; "To thine own self be true"; "You can't please everyone." And this is the key to creative living. Define yourself. Describe what makes you you. Then, when you know better who you are and what you stand for, don't let anything or anyone persuade you to go against yourself.

Around the Rim

Gift of no-gab

Ever read an ad that sounds a little weird?

Although few people in electronic or print media will dispute the necessity of commercial advertisements, many will raise objections against certain aspects of advertising.

Advertising suffers from an inherent handicap: having to say the most in the least. Trying to persuade the public to buy a product is difficult enough, but the attempt is always crammed into a 30-second commercial or the corner of a page.

These limitations lend themselves to some unfortunate misjudgments of public intelligence and some strange word play.

FOR EXAMPLE, what is an "extremely giftable" shape and size? Although a degree in etymology is not necessary to determine this actual advertisement means "these shapes make good gifts," where in Webster's name did the word come from?

I have yet to find "giftable" in any dictionary, but in some offbeat way, it works. So does "caressively soft," but at least it is in the dictionary.

Another unusual choice of terminology is the old deodorant favorite: "keeps you drier." Drier than what? The Caspian Sea? The Mojave Desert? (Remember the old "99 and 44/100 percent pure"? Pure what?)

Even a "than before" tacked on would help "drier," but unadorned, the phrase leaves too much to the imagination.

What about "as natural as leather"? Everyone has seen those words on everything from coats to car seats to aftershave. As natural as polyester would be just as accurate. The process of destroying an animal, skinning it and then tanning the hide is not exactly a "natural" process.

AND ANOTHER thing, just exactly what are "fun colors"?

Do the colors tell jokes or something? Do they guarantee a good time or your money back or what? When something is advertised in "fun colors," a regular phantasmagoria of possibilities comes to mind.

Try this familiar refrain for perfume: "a fragrance not soon forgotten." I know plenty of "fragrances" that I can't soon forget, but I certainly do not plan to buy them to deliberately splash on someone.

Ever pass by an oil refinery or a cattle yard when the wind is right? Now, there are some odors that are hard to forget, no matter how hard you try — Eau de Bovine or Petro-Pew Perfume.

The problems of advertising terminology are not likely to be resolved soon — if at all. As long as products and services require attention in order to be sold, somebody, somewhere will be coming up with gems like "huggable bears with pot bellies."

Thoughts

Courage is the first of human qualities because it is the quality which guarantees all the others.

— Winston Churchill

Keep your fears to yourself, but share your courage with others.

— Robert Louis Stevenson

The way to convince another is to state your case moderately and accurately. Then scratch your head, or shake it a little, and say that is the way it seems to you, but that of course you may be mistaken about it; which causes your listener to receive what you have to say, and as like as not, turn about and try to convince you of it, since you are in doubt. But if you go at him in a tone of positiveness and arrogance you only make an opponent of him.

Leapfrogging Lebanon

WASHINGTON — Much more has deteriorated recently in the Middle East than relations between American and Israeli forces in Lebanon. There has, in fact, been a splintering of all the major elements in President Reagan's peace plan.

So it is not enough simply to complain about Menachem Begin and the Israelis. The real trick is to leapfrog the Lebanese affair, the better to make an early run at King Hussein of Jordan and the far more critical problem of the Palestinians.

The present American approach is based on an analysis by the president's special ambassador to the Middle East, Philip Habib. The Habib view was that Lebanon could be cleared of all foreign forces — Israeli, Syrian and those of the Palestine Liberation Organization — by the end of 1982.

The focus would then shift to negotiations on the status of the Palestinians living in territories occupied by Israel on the West Bank of the Jordan River and in the Gaza Strip. Those negotiations, originally mandated by the part of the Camp David Accords guaranteeing Palestinian autonomy, would take on a new character. It was thought that the PLO, having been humbled in the Lebanese fighting, would moderate its demands for an independent state. PLO moderation would allow King Hussein of Jordan to join Israel and Egypt in the negotiations. The presence of Hussein — a conservative monarch in an existing state — would provide the Israeli assurance against the radical nationalist ambitions of the Palestinians.

IN FACT, arranging withdrawal from Lebanon has proved to be extremely hard. Inside the Begin government, a faction under Defense Minister Ariel Sharon has insisted on a continuing Israeli military presence in Lebanon. A faction of the Lebanese government, under President Amin Gemayel, has been prepared to go along. Only after a lot of jostling, with both Gemayel and Begin standing aloof, did the negotiations finally reach an impasse.

The slow going in the Israeli withdrawal negotiations gave the Syrians second thoughts about leaving Lebanon. Especially since Damascus has recently been reinforced by Soviet weapons manned by Soviet crews. With the Syrians reluctant to get out, the PLO stand has hardened.

Diehard factions hostile to the top leader, Yasser Arafat, have taken a new lease on life. Under their fire, Arafat has been less and less keen to flash the green light for King Hussein to enter the Palestinian negotiations with Egypt and Israel. The latest reports from Amman suggest that Hussein, always a master of ambiguity and delay, will not soon be coming back to Washington with a clear mandate to participate in the Palestinian talks.

The temptation to blame Israel, in these conditions, is very strong, and those who love to bash the Israelis anyway are now having a field day. But a little thought shows that these instincts yield negative results. Magnifying differences between American and Israeli troops only complicates withdrawal from Lebanon. For the Israelis will cede ground only to an American presence in the area they abandon. If they are convinced American soldiers are hostile, the Israelis will be that much more loath to get out.

One of the few favorable signs in recent times, moreover, has been the relatively subdued behavior of Prime Minister Begin. He may be getting ready to disown Gen. Sharon, or even to ease himself out in the event of a very bad report from the commission looking into the Beirut massacres. But public application of American pressure would bring him roaring back in an assertive way.

The right approach, as usual, is to address the issues carefully. Ambassador Habib returns to the area this week, and it is barely possible that he can get the talks between Israel and Lebanon unstuck. If so, some progress toward Israeli withdrawal is possible, and all the other parties can move accordingly. Still, given the splintered character of Lebanese politics, and the jockeying within Israel, progress will be slow.

So the critical thing is to disengage the Palestinian negotiations from the issue of Lebanese withdrawal. What is required at this point is an all-out effort to bring King Hussein to the bargaining table. The Egyptians, judging by the talk of President Hosni Mubarak on his visit here, are more than eager. So are other Arab leaders, many Palestinians, and not a few Israelis. The chance to bring Hussein into the talks at this juncture presents far too great an opportunity for it to be thrown away in the shifting sands of Lebanese politics.

Nor should Hussein be allowed to hide in the Lebanese labyrinth. If he does not want to play, if in fact there is no Jordanian option, then the world should know about it — and the sooner the better. For in that case all of us will have to rethink approaches to the Mideast. The U.S. in particular will need to adopt a different strategy — towards Arabs as well as Israelis.

Palming the right people

WASHINGTON — With a habit he developed in the CIA, renegade agent Edwin P. Wilson was able to lubricate his illicit international business deals by greasing the palms of key officials here and abroad.

I reported last week the allegations by a former Wilson aide that he witnessed Sen. Strom Thurmond, R-S.C., accept cash payoffs on two occasions. The Justice Department is investigating the allegations, which Thurmond flatly denied.

Another ex-associate claims he witnessed payoffs to several members of Congress. One was actually bold enough to visit Wilson's corporate headquarters in Washington, D.C. and pick up envelopes full of cash.

On one occasion, a senator, no longer in Congress, accepted a payoff in a Capitol Hill bathroom, relates the source. Fearful of discovery, the senator insisted that he and Wilson's courier crowd into a stall, where the swag was passed to the sound of a flushing toilet.

ONE THING is certain: Wilson knew at least half a dozen members of Congress he felt entitled to ask for favors. One former associate said Wilson sometimes paid off his congressional pals by picking up the salaries of various secretaries.

In many cases, the initial contacts were made at Wilson's sprawling Virginia estate, where the hunting was considered some of the best in the Washington area. Intoxicated by the camaraderie of the sporting life, and impressed by the other movers and shakers who knew Wilson, the congressional guest would figure that his host must be all right.

At least two high-level officials in the Carter White House got to know Wilson that way. One of them may have delayed the investigation of Wilson because of their friendship — or because the prosecutors were getting uncomfortably close to Billy Carter's Libyan shenanigans.

One June 25, 1981, I reported that the Justice Department had evidence that Wilson and his partner, another ex-CIA man named Frank Terpil, were "known to bribe U.S. government officials to enhance their businesses." I referred to a former Energy Department official who subsequently was convicted of taking illegal gratuities from Wilson.

Terpil later told Mike Wallace of "60 Minutes" that he and Wilson had bribed military officers for inside information, that they had also paid off a State Department official for help with false passports.

A FORMER employee of Wilson's told my associate Dal Van Atta how his ex-boss' bribery worked:

"Ed always carried thousands of dollars in his pocket," the source said. "He would often drag me to the bathroom of whatever restaurant we were in and hand me wads of hundred-dollar bills, instructing me what particular job he wanted done."

"He made constant payoffs to a variety of Washington (D.C.) undercover policemen, some of whom would come directly to his office, others of whom we would encounter on late-night visits to the city's watering holes."

The former employee said one or another of Wilson's people would travel to Geneva and withdraw large amounts of cash from Wilson's accounts there. Usually, he said, it was two female employees, but he pulled the courier duty three times himself.

"I flew directly from Geneva to Montreal and followed Ed's careful instructions to go through the customs line manned by someone wearing a multicolored ribbon," the source recalled. "From Montreal I flew to Dulles Airport, where a special badge signaled the safe

Billy Graham

Only God can give happiness

DEAR DR. GRAHAM: Why do you think it is that some of the most glamorous people in life also seem to be so miserable? I think of some of the movie stars, for example, who can't seem to find a happy marriage and even end up committing suicide. — H.S.L.

DEAR H.S.L.: The Bible tells us that we were made for God, and when we refuse to give him his rightful place in our lives then things go wrong and our lives become distorted. I have discovered that often people who seemingly have everything in terms of fame and fortune believe that somehow they will eventually find happiness by pursuing those things even more. But it is a dead end road, for lasting happiness and peace can only come from God.

This is what King Solomon discovered in his life. During his reign, Israel had peace and was very wealthy. Solomon could have anything money could buy, and in search for happiness he tried everything imaginable — wealth, sex, power, pleasure, alcohol, even religion (although it was only a dead and formal kind of religion for him). "I denied myself nothing my eyes desired; I refused my heart no pleasure!" (Ecclesiastes 2:10).

But what was the result of Solomon's search? "Yet when I surveyed all that my hand had done and what I had toiled to achieve, everything was meaningless, a chasing after the wind" (Ecclesiastes 2:11). Finally he realized that lasting happiness and meaning in life could only be found in God.

These things should be warnings to us, to be sure that we do not seek to fill the emptiness in our lives through things that can never satisfy our hearts. Only God can do that — and he will if we will open our hearts to Jesus Christ. Jesus said, "I have come that they may have life, and have it to the full" (John 10:10). This has been the experience of Christians throughout the ages, and it can be your experience as well as you open your heart and invite Jesus Christ into your life.

Centuries ago, God, through the prophet Isaiah, declared, "Why spend your labor on what does not satisfy? ... Give ear and come to me; hear me, that your soul may live" (Isaiah 55:2,3). This is his invitation today as well, inviting you to come to Christ and find the true meaning of life.

William Douglas served on the Supreme Court for 36 years—longer than any other justice in history.

Chamber's Women's Division holding luncheon next Tuesday

All women in the community are urged to come to a brown-bag lunch Tuesday and join up with the Women's Division of the Chamber of Commerce. This will be a splendid way to get involved in great things for this community. The working committees have been formed and a nucleus group has already done all the hard work — setting up the goals and plan of action for the rest of the year.

The Division will be divided into eight task forces: community service, personal and career development, membership, governmental affairs, networking, resource/research, public information, administration. In addition, there will be a mediation and appeals board. The unifying force of the whole Women's Division will be The Blue Blazers. Every woman who is a member of the Women's Division will automatically become a part of this group destined to be a distinguished core of "diplomats" who will serve as a support group for functions in Big Spring. You will be hearing much, much more about this group in the days ahead.

In the meantime, please call 263-1451 for information about the luncheon Tuesday. It is important that you get signed up now if you want to participate in the Women's Division and as a part of the Blue Blazers.

Joyce Wash, chairperson, and Linda Fraser, vice chairperson, have a cadre of helpers working on this year's Dora Roberts Rehabilitation Benefit Gala to be held on March 19. It will be another unique event for a worthy cause.

Very important upcoming dates:
 Tomorrow, Feb. 10 — Chamber community luncheon at the coliseum hosted by the Big Spring Mall, celebrating its first anniversary.
 Feb. 11 — Media party at the Brass Nail to kick-off actions leading up to the Signal Peak Shriners Pro-Am Tournament.
 Feb. 14 — Valentines Day — take time to spread

Lake poisoning threatened

HUNTSVILLE (AP) — Authorities at Huntsville and Livingston were operating on water wells today after an anonymous caller said pollutants and poison were going to be dumped into Lake Livingston.

Huntsville and Livingston as well as some small water districts in the area normally use water from Lake Livingston, a 90,000 surface feet lake covering a 56-square mile area of Southeast Texas.

Grady Manis, spokesman for the Trinity River Authority at Huntsville, said the call was received at the TRA district office at Huntsville Tuesday afternoon.

Alcohol test halts students' drinking

By ELISSA McCrARY
Associated Press Writer

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (AP) — High school students in Mecklenburg County who drink and go to class will find a test waiting for them — a test to check for alcohol.

All 10 of the county's high schools have Alcozyzer test kits this year to administer to students suspected of being under the influence of alcohol. High school principals say they think the test may keep students from drinking at school.

"I like to think it dissuades at least some of the students from drinking and coming to school or drinking at school," said Joe Peel, principal of Harding High School. "They know if they come to school drinking, they're going to get caught."

School officials say Mecklenburg is the only county in the state to use the tests in the schools, as far as they know.

The tests come 10 to a $12 kit and contain a chemical that turns green when it comes in contact with alcohol on a person's breath. The tests indicate whether a person's blood-alcohol level exceeds 0.10 percent. School officials say they consider a student under the influence if the test shows any alcohol.

"Drinking doesn't belong at school, period, so any alcohol in a student's blood shouldn't be there," Peel said. "It isn't possible for a student to do what he should be doing at school or learn what he should be learning if he's under the influence of alcohol at all."

The tests are voluntary, school officials said. Smith said some Mecklenburg high schools have been using the tests for years. But he said last year, school board members adopted a strict discipline policy on drugs and drinking. Smith said he offered the kits to principals at all 10 high schools.

"They're all using them this year, as far as I know," Smith said. "With the new policy, they're necessary."

Under the new policy, students caught drinking or using drugs at school for the first time are required to take a drug-counseling course. Second offenders are suspended from regular classes for the rest of the semester and all of the following semester.

From the mouths of babes...

DEAR ABBY: This isn't a problem, but as it concern you, I thought it was worth sharing. I love children and have served as a summer camp director for many years. A few years ago, the children asked me to tell them a Christmas story, so I told them about the story of Abigail, the innkeeper's daughter in Bethlehem. Briefly, my story goes like this: An innkeeper had a daughter named Abigail who was the brat of the village. Nobody could stand her, and she was generally known as the Bethlehem brat. However, on the night that Jesus was born, when she heard the goings-on in the stable, she went down to have a look, and there she found Mary and Joseph and the baby. Mary let Abigail hold the baby Jesus, with the result that she became a very changed little girl, and she never again was known as "that brat, Abigail," or the brat of Bethlehem.

At this point in the story, a 10-year-old boy raised his hand and said, "I'll bet I know what they called her!" I said, "Do you, Luv?" And he replied, "Yes, 'Dear Abby'!" I'd never have thought of that in a million years, would you?

KATHLEEN PEATIE CUMMING

DEAR KATHLEEN: Probably not. But the folks back in Sioux City, Iowa, might have guessed: "One of the Friedman twins."

DEAR ABBY: I had guests for dinner three times during the holidays. I set a beautiful table and take a great deal of pride in my cooking.

Color creates illusions in art, physical appearance

Virginia Whitten, a professional artist and color analyst, spoke at a meeting of the Beta Kappa Chapter of Delta Kappa Gamma, a professional organization for women educators. The program was one part of the Annual Silver Tea meeting recently held in the Cactus Room at Howard College.

Mrs. Whitten reminded those present that they all attempt to create an illusion. Color, more than any element of art, arouses. Wearing the proper colors bring out one's natural beauty.

Mrs. Whitten said color illusions may be divided into two groups cool tones, blues, and warm tones, yellows. First considering natural hair color and complexion, Mrs. Whitten demonstrated with color swatches on her model Andrea Sink. Marta Whitten modeled spring fashions from Miss Royale.

Silver tea donations are presented to March of Dimes and Big Spring State Hospital. Thelma Ragland, area coordinator from Abilene, was special guest.

During the business meeting, changes requiring a foreign language for college admission was reported. Applications for scholarships for members who plan to further education or enrichment may be picked up from Carol Simmons.

The next meeting will be a covered dish luncheon March 19 in the Sterling City Community Center at 11:30.

Do you need a table for that microwave oven you got for Christmas?

Dr. Donohue

Blastomycosis usually a mild disease

Dear Dr. Donohue: Recently our dog died of blastomycosis. We live in an area where nine dogs died of this disease. There is very little information available. Can our children contact this or get ill effects from it? It preys upon the lungs and can go undetected for a long time. How can it be undetected for so long? Can it be determined by X-ray? Your advice will be greatly appreciated. — M.E.

Blastomycosis is an illness caused by the fungus, blastomyces, an organism found in many sections of the country. Experts are not positive where it makes its home, but the soil is a good guess. The fungus usually gets into the body by being inhaled. The infection is most often mild and goes away on its own.

But to your concerns, especially about members of your family: You must realize how very common this fungus is in nature and how few are made sick by it. The chances of your children becoming seriously ill from it are slim. The serious infection can be detected on chest X-ray; at least the X-ray will show certain changes to suggest blastomycosis. When such changes are found, the fungus is looked for in sputum coughed up from the lung.

Second, I am sure you wonder if this fungus is passed on from person to person or from animals to people. The usual form of the infection is a lung illness, but recently it has been reported that a dog bite can spread skin infection with the fungus. This, however, is rare.

That raises another question in my mind. May I ask how this diagnosis was made in the dogs? Are you positive each one actually did have the disease, or is this only a rumor? Certainly, if there were many cases of human illness in your immediate area at the same time, the local public health department would have launched an investigation to find out why it was happening. It probably would have even made the national news wires.

Finally, you are not living in an unhealthy area. In fact, it is a very wholesome place. I once lived not far from where your letter was postmarked.

FOR MRS. W.B. — Lufyllin is the trade name for dyphylline which is a drug related to aminophylline. That kind of drug is used to open airways for people with asthma. The other drug you ask about, propranolol (Inderal) is an entirely different medicine. It is a beta adrenergic blocker, and has many uses — for angina, high blood pressure and prevention of migraine headaches, to mention a few.

To learn of the many factors involved in the treatment of hiatal hernia (which concerns the esophagus), write to Dr. Donohue, in care of the Big Spring Herald, P.O. Box 11210, Chicago, IL 60611, for a copy of his booklet, "Hiatal Hernia, Heartburn and Acid Reflux." Enclose a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 50 cents.

Dr. Donohue welcomes reader mail but regrets that, due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

Clark's shot lifts Forsan

By GREG JAKLEWICZ
Sports Editor

FORSAN — There were plenty of players with great area-wide reputations on the court here Tuesday night but none was more valuable to its team than Forsan's non-superstar Deana Clark.

After Greenwood had erased all of her team's 10-point lead and gone ahead with 25 seconds to play, Clark calmly sank a 15-foot jump shot with 11 seconds to go, lifting the Buffalo Queens to a nerve-wracking 48-47 non-district victory over the visiting Rangerettes.

Admired all the hot district races, this was the game of the season. Greenwood brought a glossy 23-1 record east to Forsan where the Queens ruled the castle with a 21-1 mark. The difference this night was the second quarter during which Forsan could do little wrong and built its 10-point halftime spread.

Leads have a way of evaporating and this one did a vanishing act as the Rangerettes edged back into the game. Renny Evans — who led all scorers with 24 points — popped in a short jumper to close the score to within two points with 2:20 to play. Moments later Cindy Lea sank one of two free throws to make it a one-point ballgame.

Forsan tried to run out the clock and with Clark handling the basketball, the Queens almost did just that. The senior ballhandler dribbled through, around, by and past the desperate Rangerettes for 72 seconds. Her pass off to Connie Strickland near midcourt was her only mistake.

Belinda Duke swiped the ball away and freshman Terri Busic was open downcourt to hit her only two points of the night. With 25 seconds to go, Greenwood led for the first time since early in the second quarter.

Forsan brought the ball back the other way and most fans would have thought the last shot would go to either Vicky Baggett — 18 points and owner of Friday's game-winning shot over Robert Lee — or Teresa White who finished with 12 points.

But it was Clark who was open on the left side and her jumper touched all net and sent the Forsan bleachers in delirium.

The game was far from over, however. After a time-out, Greenwood regrouped and the ball went to — you guessed it — Evans. "I swallowed my tongue when I saw her take the shot," Forsan coach Ron Taylor said later. The high-scoring Rangerette's shot bounced off the iron into the arms of White.

The Clash of the Titans II was history. "I told them at halftime that we were getting outlasted," said Greenwood coach Cliff Stephens. "We needed to work harder on our offensive rebounds and it paid off for us. In the first half, we just weren't mentally in the game."

The Forsan girls definitely had their minds on the game in the second quarter, turning a 14-12 deficit into a 29-17 lead at its peak.

The Queens rolled off to an 8-2 start but baskets by Kay Wallace, Evans and Andrea Graham tied the game. Marla Morgette — a newcomer to the Rangerette lineup this spring — scored with 57 seconds left to give her team its first lead but White's close-in hoop tied the game after a quarter.

Greenwood took its last lead until the final moments of the game when Evans hit a jumper. Baggett immediately tied the game and White followed two misses later with a basket to give Forsan the advantage with 5:51 left in the half.

It was then momentum changed. Greenwood turned the ball over seven times and Forsan went on a 13-3 tear that opened up the game as Baggett scored eight and White four points. A lay-up by Evans cut the score to 29-19 at the half.

"That probably cost us the game," Stephens would say on retrospect. "We played only one good half and that wasn't enough."

The third quarter was a struggle for Greenwood. After Morgette scored to cut the score to five (35-30), the Rangerettes had a chance to make it a three-point game but turned the ball over. Karla Nix and Baggett made Greenwood pay with downcourt hoops and it was suddenly 39-30.

Evans, however, scored the next five points and Forsan led by four entering the final period.

Her basket at 5:23 made it a 42-40 ballgame and it was tension city the rest of the way. Busic came off the bench and could have been the heroine before Clark stole the show from her with her clutch basket.

"It was just a great ballgame," Taylor panted. "We had some mental lapses in the second half. They're a good team and were going to make something happen. We had to change our press offense three times. Renny Evans is by far the best player we've seen this year. We had her defended on that last shot but she's a pressure player."

Mullins accepts Lamesa AD job

LAMESA — Don Mullins, known as a rebuilder of high football programs, has accepted the position of head coach and athletic director at Lamesa High School.

Mullins replaces Jim Warren who resigned his position in January to enter private business.

The 20-year veteran of coaching served at Hale Center High School the past two years, guiding the Owls to the Class AA semifinals both seasons. His two-year record at Hale Center was 24-3-2.

Prior to coaching at the Panhandle school, Mullins won district titles at Rotan and Knox City High Schools. His overall record stands at 85-36-3.

According to school officials, the 45-year-old Mullins comes highly recommended by coaches, administration and the communities in which he has served.

He is expected to take assume his new duties within the next three weeks sources report.

Warren recored a 4-25-1 record in four years at Lamesa High. The Tors snapped a 12-game losing streak with a win over Brownfield in the second game of the season but lost their final eight games and went ~~undefeated~~ in District 2-AAAA action.

BEST-ON-BEST — Vicky Baggett (52) of Forsan wins this duel with Greenwood's Renny Evans during first quarter action Tuesday night in Forsan. Baggett scored 18 points while Evans led all scorers with 24 but it was the Queens winning the showdown 48-47.

Jets' Michaels retires

HEMPSTEAD, N.Y. (AP) — New York Jets coach Walt Michaels announced his retirement from the National Football League club today.

"I have spent 32 years in this game and I've enjoyed them all, but in that time I have never taken a vacation and never spent enough time with my family," Michaels said in a prepared statement.

"Now I think it is time that I should."

The decision took the Jets by surprise.

Michaels had led the team into the NFL playoffs the last two years with New York losing the American Conference championship game to the Miami Dolphins 14-0 last month.

"The Jets, of course, are disappointed to lose a coach of Walt's stature," said Jim Kensil, the club's president. "Our priority now is to fill the vacancy created by his decision."

Michaels met with Kensil Tuesday to deliver his decision. That was one day after he returned from Honolulu where he coached the AFC All-Star team in the Pro Bowl. The AFC lost that game 20-19.

WALT MICHAELS ...retires Wednesday

"I wish my assistant coaches, the players and the rest of the organization and the next head coach good luck in the future," Michaels said.

"I am proud to say that I leave a much better team than the one I took over six years ago. The Jets are a team that I am proud to have personally chosen and developed."

There was immediate speculation that Michaels would be succeeded by the Jets' offensive coordinator, Joe Walton, who has been credited with much of the club's improvement the last two seasons.

Walton was an unsuccessful candidate for head coaching vacancies in Atlanta and Kansas City and has been mentioned as a possibility for the only other head coaching job available, with the Los Angeles Rams.

Steers steal Cooper blind

By GREG JAKLEWICZ
Sports Editor
Basketball and Oliver Twist?

Jolly good, mate. Following the lyrics of the song "Consider Yourself" from the movie version of the Dickens classic, the Big Spring Steers ran the Cooper Cougars right into the English Channel with a 65-48 District 4-AAAAA victory in Steer Gym Tuesday night.

Both teams entered the game standing 4-6 in the 4-5A race, Big Spring advancing to 5-6 while Cooper fell to 4-7. The Steers' win not only kept their slim playoff hopes alive but guaranteed Big Spring a winning season for the first time since the Artful Dodger and friends roamed the streets of London.

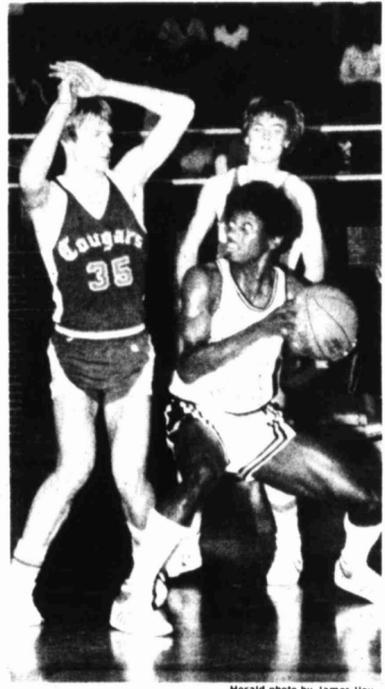

"This was a big win for us," Myers nodded, "because now we can have the first winning season Big Spring has had here in 10 years. We were so worried about winning district, that we looked and found out we were third from the bottom. This good team we were supposed to have could wind up on the bottom. I presented it to the kids and they responded tonight. I'm impressed."

So was Cooper coach R.M. Curren who saw his team's hard-earned lead vanish into thin air as the Steers played like pick-pockets on defense. "I felt like their defense and team quickness got to us right before the half," Curren said. That's precisely when Jerald Wrightsil and his sticky-fingered teammates went to work.

The Cougars dominated the early portion of the game, keeping Big Spring off-balance with a man-to-man defense and cautious play on offense. "Consider yourself at home, consider yourself part of the family" the song goes and the Steers were the proper hosts, allowing the Cougars to grab a 21-10 lead.

With 3:21 to go, however, the thieves started earning their keep.

TALL OBSTRUCTION — Big Spring High forward Tony Randle (34) finds Cooper's Greg Mendenhall (35) in the way of two points in the second half of Tuesday's 4-5A game in Steer Gym. Randle scored 10 points as the Steers tripped the Cougars 65-48.

scored twice to knock off six points. Kevin Watson snatched a dribble away and hit a free throw. Wrightsil took his turn, stepping in front of a pass and driving the length of the floor to jam in one of three slams for the evening. His rebound basket moments later cut Cooper's lead to 23-21 at halftime.

"We've taken to you so strong, it's clear, we're going to get along." The larceny continued in the second half as the Steers appeared more familiar with Cooper's offense than the Cougars. Wrightsil stole the ball again and fed to Randle for the tying basket. His rebound hoop gave Big Spring the lead for good at 27-25 with 6:10 to go. His blocked shot led to another lay-in and the Cougars were lefted defenseless.

When Coogs counted their change at the 2:28 mark, the Steers had not only spirited away their lead but had gone on a 29-4 binge to take a 37-25 lead.

BSHS led 43-31 entering the final period and the pick-pockets continued their work, setting up easy baskets with quick-handed defense. Eleven times after that early deficit did the Steers take the ball away. Wrightsil getting half of the loot.

"We played together good tonight," said Wrightsil who also found time for a game-high 28 points and 11 rebounds. "Our good defense complements our offense."

"We played tonight," Watson smiled. "Our defense was tough." Jimmy Brown? "I was on the floor tonight like that black paint."

Public Notice

In order to implement prior orders of the Public Utility Commission of Texas in Docket No. 3957, notice is hereby given of Southwestern Bell's proposal to implement a new schedule of intrastate long distance rates, effective April 1, 1983, unless otherwise determined by the Commission.

It is expected that the proposed rate schedule will not increase the company's net intrastate revenues, but rather, the increased rates will offset increased settlements paid to certain other telephone companies.

A complete copy of the new rate schedule is on file with the Public Utility Commission at Austin, Texas, and is available for inspection in each of the company's public business offices in Texas.

Notice to Customers of Other Telephone Companies

Changes in intrastate long distance rates would also affect customers of other telephone companies because such companies provide intrastate long distance service in accordance with rates specified in Southwestern Bell's tariffs.

Aviso Público

Southwestern Bell, con el objeto de cumplir con el decreto previo del Public Utility Commission (Comisión de Servicios Públicos) del Estado de Texas, Acta No. 3957, por la presente hace saber su intención de establecer un nuevo arancel de tarifas para servicio intraestatal de larga distancia, con vigencia a partir del 10 de abril de 1983, a menos que la Comisión haga otra determinación.

Se espera que el nuevo arancel de tarifas que Southwestern Bell se propone establecer no aumentará sus ingresos netos intrastatales, sino que servirá para compensar el aumento de los ajustes que se le paga a algunas otras compañías de teléfono.

Una copia completa del nuevo arancel de tarifas se ha archivado en las oficinas del Public Utility Commission (Comisión de Servicios Públicos) en Austin, Texas, y esta disponible para inspección pública en todas nuestras oficinas en el Estado de Texas.

Aviso a los Clientes de Otras Compañías de Teléfono

Cambios en las tarifas para servicio intraestatal de larga distancia también afectarían a clientes de otras compañías de teléfono porque dichas compañías proveen servicio intraestatal de larga distancia en conformidad a tarifas especificadas por Southwestern Bell.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) An associate can help you solve a difficult problem in the morning. Show increased devotion to loved one.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Positive thinking will help you gain your aims at this time. You can make a fine impression on others now.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Put those creative ideas to work now and get excellent results. Avoid one who has an eye on your assets.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Find out what family members desire of you and then do your best to please them. Show others you have wisdom.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Listen to ideas of a long-time friend and follow through for good benefits. Make as many new contacts as you can.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he or she will be one who can become a great success in life because of the ability to understand the needs of others. One with a retentive mind, so be sure to give the best education you can afford. Don't neglect ethical training.

William Agee resigns Allied position

Big Spring (Texas) Herald, Wed., Feb. 9, 1983 7-B

MORRIS TOWNSHIP, N.J. (AP) — Bendix Corp. chairman William M. Agee, who triggered a mammoth takeover war that ended in the sale of his company to Allied Corp., "reached an understanding" with the head of Allied and announced his resignation.

The resignation, effective June 1, was announced by Agee and Allied Chairman Edward L. Hennessy Jr. in a statement released Tuesday by Allied here and at Bendix's Southfield, Mich., headquarters.

It was the second surprise departure of an Allied executive since stockholders of both companies approved the $1.8 billion merger Jan. 31. Bendix announced Monday that company President Alonzo L. McDonald Jr. would "step aside" March 1.

Agee, 45, became president of Allied while staying on as chairman of Bendix. He is resigning both positions but will stay on Allied's 17-member board and come up for re-election at the annual shareholders' meeting April 25, Hennessy said.

"If your basic question was, 'Was he fired?' ... they reached an understanding," said Jim Simon, a spokesman for Allied.

As a director, Agee will remain in a "key advisory role. It's just not in the day-to-day (operation)," Simon said.

McDonald and Agee were among 22 key Bendix executives granted lucrative termination agreements, or "golden parachutes," to be paid if they were fired or demoted after the takeover.

Allied will honor "reasonable" commitments, said Simon. Agee's agreement called for him to receive his annual salary of $825,000 for six years, said Jim Purks, a spokesman for Bendix.

Allied has been searching for a chief operating officer, and analysts said it was clear that Agee was on his way out when he did not assume that post.

"Agee is a chief executive and there is only one chief executive at Allied — Hennessy," said Leonard Bogner, a securities analyst who follows Allied for Prudential-Bache Securities Inc.

The takeover fight began in August when Agee made an offer for Martin Marietta Corp., an aerospace company, and Marietta countered with an offer of its own for Bendix. Neither company would back down, and Marietta eventually enlisted United Technologies as a partner.

Bendix turned to Allied for help, and after weeks of proxy battles and courtroom disputes, a compromise left Allied in control of Bendix.

Shareholders of Allied, a petrochemicals company, and Bendix, an auto parts and aerospace firm, approved the merger of the two firms Jan. 31. The transaction made Bendix a wholly owned subsidiary of Allied.

Agee was married last year to Mary Cunningham, who resigned from Bendix in October 1980, three weeks after Agee announced her promotion to vice president at age 29.

Area code rings change in East Texas

A new area code will go into effect March 19 for telephone customers in parts of east and southeast Texas.

The new area code, 409, will replace the current 713 area code for about 180 cities and towns, including Beaumont and Galveston, according to Darlene Gifford, community relations manager for Southwestern Bell.

Houston and about 30 nearby towns will remain in the 713 area code; however, all other cities in the existing 713 area code will switch to 409, she said.

Population growth, especially in the Houston area, created the need to split the existing 713 area code. Forecasts indicate that without the new area code, all available 713 area code telephone numbers would be exhausted by early 1984, Ms. Gifford said.

All customers in both the 713 and 409 areas will keep their same seven-digit local number. The change will have no effect on long distance calling rates.

For three months after the conversion to the new code, calls made to the 713 area code instead of the correct 409 code will be automatically transferred. After the three-month period, a recorded announcement will instruct the caller to dial the new 409 number.

Among locations which will change to 409 are Angleton, Bay City, Beaumont, Brenham, Bryan, College Station, Conroe, Crockett, Diboll, El Campo, Freeport, Galveston, Hearne, Kountze, La Marque, Lufkin, Nacogdoches, Nederland, Port Arthur, Port Neches, Schulenburg, Silsbee and Texas City.

Coronary care unit to be named for Barney Clark

SALT LAKE CITY (AP) — A new coronary care unit at a Seattle hospital is to be named for Barney Clark, the first recipient of a permanent artificial heart.

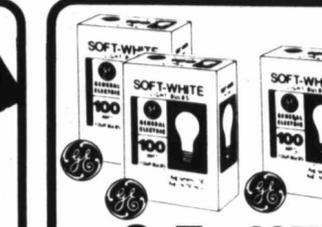

Clark remains in serious but stable condition at the University of Utah Medical Center. Today was his 70th day of life on the Jarvik-7 air-driven, polyurethane heart.

The Highline Community Hospital in Seattle, where Clark was a cardiac patient five times between June 1980 and June 1982, announced that its new cardiac care unit would be named after Clark.

The hospital's board of directors said a plaque inscribed with Dr. Barney Clark Coronary Care Unit would be placed in the unit when it is completed.

Meanwhile, Clark "continues to gain strength, but very slowly," according to a statement released Tuesday by the University of Utah Medical Center.

It was another day of exercise, rest and recovery, the statement said. Clark has been exercising with an exercycle, hand grips and a walker for several days.

Budget allows $740,000 for construction at Goodfellow AFB

PAUL SUSSMAN
States News Service

WASHINGTON — President Reagan's 1984 budget proposal includes $215 million for construction at military sites in Texas, including $740,000 for Goodfellow Air Force base in San Angelo.

Goodfellow would use its funds to install a fire protection system and to acquire real estate. Congress must first approve the Defense Department's budget.

Laughlin Air Force Base, near Del Rio, would receive $2.1 million to purchase land.

Fort Hood, an army base north of Austin, would receive the most funds of any military facility in the state. The $68.5 million allotment would be used for aircrafter maintenance facilities, training ranges and tactical equipment shops.

The second-highest total in the state, $34.7 million, would go to Fort Bliss. The El Paso Army base would spend $26.5 million on new training ranges and $4.3 million to modernize its dining facilities.

Sheppard Air Force Base, near Wichita Falls, would get $12.9 million, most of it to build housing for enlisted personnel and visiting officers. The Johnson Space Center would receive $700,000 to make security modifications.

Three Air Force bases near San Antonio — Kelly, Lackland and Brooks — would receive about $41 million under the president's budget proposal.

Of the money spent at Kelly, $7 million would go to renovate the base's electronic system command headquarters, which are currently in a ramshackle hut," according to an aide to Sen. John Tower, R-Texas, chairman of the Senate Armed Services Committee.

Another $3 million would go toward expanding Kelly's air freight terminal.

The base would also spend an estimated $11 million to upgrade its industrial waste treatment system. As an overhaul center for B-52 aircraft, Kelly has to process waste containing chemicals and heavy metals before putting it into the regional waste system, the Tower aide said.

Brooks would use $5.3 million of its allocation to add to and alter the base's occupational health laboratory, and $2.7 million for construction of a new consolidated support center.

C-City Briefs

COLORADO CITY (SC) — The Colorado City Chamber of Commerce agreed to seek a federal grant for the old Baker Hotel.

Jake Merritt, chairman of the Colorado City Housing Authority, said the owners of the Baker had told him they believed Department of Housing and Urban Development funds would be available in June.

The city recently listed the hotel for condemnation agreeing it would be demolished if efforts aren't made to secure it against vandals and transients.

City manager Rick Crowley told the city council last week that the Baker was one of three buildings that had been selected for possible action by the Housing Standards Board.

"Our primary concern with the hotel," said Crowley, "is getting it closed up. People come and go, and we understand that some people are attempting to live there."

He said the owners have been notified that the building is open to the public. However, he said, they have not done anything about closing the building.

Merritt told the chamber directors he thought $10,000 would have to be put up as escrow money in order to get the HUD grant. He also said the Baker owners want to improve the facility.

Chamber of Commerce board member Brenda Tarter made the motion that the chamber lead the effort to secure funding for the hotel, which may someday become a 35-40 unit apartment complex, she said.

The hotel was built about 1927.

COLORADO CITY (SC) — The Colorado City Area Chamber of Commerce paid tribute to three local citizens during last night's annual banquet.

Named outstanding citizen was Barbara Gray, Wallace Center Education Coordinator. Her award was presented by last year's recipient, Tandy Curlee.

The James Clifton family of Loraine was named this year's farm family, with the award being presented by T.C. Moore.

The woman of the year award went to Mildred Free, who received the Business and Professional Women's Club tribute from Christine Cooley.

Hollis Gaaney, assistant athletic director of the Lubbock School System and former Colorado City athlete, was the banquet speaker.

County 4-Hers enter livestock shows in Fort Worth, El Paso

After the successful Howard County Junior Livestock Show, some 4-Hers had their animals ready to leave for the Southwestern Exposition and Fat Stock Show in Fort Worth and the Southwestern International Livestock Show in El Paso.

Those who exhibited animals at the Fort Worth show, which ended Sunday, were Blair Richardson, Cole Hunt, Duncan Hamlin, Gregg and Kelly Newton, Leigh Ann Wallace, Ricky Long, Ron Brooks, Dutch Barr, Lance Robinson and Andrea and Darren Ray. The El Paso Show ends today.

The Gay Hill 4-H Club will have a meeting Monday, Feb. 14th, at the Prairie View Baptist Church.

The Howard County 4-H Council will meet for a "Dutch Treat" meal and meeting at Alberto's Restaurant at 6:30 p.m. on Feb. 21st.

All 4-H parents and volunteer adult leaders have the opportunity to attend the new program "Know America" at the National 4-H Center in Washington, D.C., May 4-17, 1983. The application and deposit deadline is March 1, 1983.

This program is designed to give 4-H leaders an opportunity to come together and share ideas and experiences, to develop a greater understanding and appreciation of American history and heritage, to gain inspiration to fulfill their responsibilities as a citizen of their community, and to gain a greater awareness of their nation's capital, branches of government and places of historical importance.

The 4-H is an exciting youth program that helps young people learn how to do new and interesting things through learn-by-doing projects. Boys and girls ages 9 thru 19, living in urban, suburban and rural areas, take part in 4-H by joining a 4-H club. The 4-H club participates in projects, run their own club, elect officers and develop their own program with the help of adult volunteer leaders. Each boy and girl selects one or more projects according to his interest, abilities and situations. There is no membership fee, but each member is usually responsible for financing his or her own projects. Improving leadership and citizenship are two of the greatest benefits of 4-H club membership.

The 4-H Club is the largest volunteer youth organization in the world. It now circles the globe with more than 70 countries having adopted all or part of the plan to their needs and conditions.

In the United States, over two million 4-H members annually "Learn by Doing". 4-H is a non-profit, educational program which is open to all youth regardless of race, color, religion or national origin.

Wichita Falls water supply dwindling

WICHITA FALLS (AP) — City officials, faced with a dwindling water supply because of a broken pumping system, warned residents Tuesday to cut back usage.

Tuesday afternoon the water supply in the staging reservoir was "dangerously low," said Acting City Manager Dane Bennett.

Midwestern State University closed Tuesday, Sheppard Air Force Base stopped using city water and switched to its reserve supplies, and some industries curtailed production.

A control panel shorted out Saturday night, shutting down pumps at Lake Arrowhead, the city's major water source 12 miles southeast of town.

Lake Kickapoo, a backup supply 25 miles to the southeast, had its pumps out for routine maintenance. Lake Wichita on the city's south side has not been used for years.

"The next 12 hours are critical for the city," Bennett told residents Tuesday morning.

"We have asked you to conserve water — now we are telling you that if you do not use only the minimum amount necessary for health and sanitation purposes, our city will be out of water."

Residents were asked to cut consumption by 80 to 90 percent through the critical stage, which could stretch into Wednesday, officials said.

Steers work on 'D'

Why the slow start, guys? "We had to adjust to the game, that's all," Watson answered.

Coach Myers agreed. "They came out in a man-to-man and we hadn't seen that in awhile. Most of the time we've been having to run our zone attack. It just took us awhile to adjust."

After the slow first quarter, the profits mounted for the Steers. Big Spring hit just nine of 26 shots (34 per cent) in the first half but blistered the stats with a 19-28 effort in the last half (52 per cent for the game).

Wrightsil hit 13 of his 21 tries to raise his district-leading average. Randle had 10 points and contributed 11 rebounds. Bob Estes led Cooper with 16 points while Greg Wilcox had 11 and Joe Melson 10.

In the junior varsity game, Dale Crenshaw exploded for a season-high 22 points to lead the Steers to a 59-53 victory over Cooper. BSHS, now 6-21 and 3-8 in league play, also got 13 points from George Roman and 10 more from Mike Leuschner.

MIDLAND — Leading by 11 points early in the fourth, the Bulldogs had to resort to Johnny Pannell's heroics to defeat the Bronchos.

Boyd Cowan put in a rebound basket with six seconds left to cap an Odessa rally that put the Bronchos ahead 58-57. Doug Hixon passed in to Tony Carrasco who threw a length-of-the-court pass to Pannell. The MHS senior put up a 15-footer at the buzzer and the shot fell through to knock OHS from first place.

Pannell and Hixon finished with 17 points while Joe Terry led all scorers with 22 for the Bronchos.

Central 61, Abilene 53

ABILENE — Central's new press in the third quarter resulted in a turnaround the score and enabled the visiting Bobcats to join the Eagles in first place.

Sore-wristed Lorand White and Mike Pfluger had 12 points each for Central while Mike Simmons had 15 and Les Hines 14 points for AHS.

Permian 37, Lee 27

ODESSA — Mojo kept its surprising season going with its win over Lee, now 3-24.

The Panthers led only 13-9 at halftime as both teams had a hard team scoring points. PHS gradually pulled away in the final half to win its sixth league game.

Rodney Hendrix of Permian and Derek Westbrook of Lee had 14 points each.
