No case against fired cop

Chief, DA mix signals over grand jury evidence

By CAROL DANIEL
Staff Writer

District Attorney Rick Hamby said yesterday that he will not present a case against former police officer Allan Lebert at today's grand jury session.

Hamby said he doesn't have enough information for a grand jury case against Lebert, who was fired from the police department Jan. 28 for insubordination. Police Chief Rick Turner asked Hamby at that time for a grand jury investigation into possible illegal activities the former policeman may have committed.

Hamby offered no further explanation for not bringing the case to the jury and said Turner should be contacted for information.

Turner said he was surprised that the case wouldn't go before the jury.

"He (Hamby) told me the first time I went to him that it (the case) would go before the grand jury," Turner said. "Evidently he changed his mind. You'll have to ask him why. I don't run their business for them up there."

Lebert could not be reached for comment. His wife said he is out of town for a few days.

Turner said earlier this month that he fired Lebert for insubordination because the officer had conducted undercover activities without his superior officers' permission.

Fires, courts and city limits...

Gilstrap draws line for county

By MIKE DOWNEY
Staff Writer

Howard County commissioners had their existence questioned at yesterday's meeting but managed to take action to bolster the county's volunteer fire departments anyway.

Cecil Gilstrap, a county resident frequently outspoken at public meetings, took aim at the commissioners. He claimed they had taken no action to prevent the "infringement on your territory" by the city council's proposed subdivision extension. Gilstrap said if the city council was going to run the county, "maybe we don't need you."

The council has been considering since Feb. 8 a proposal to extend city subdivision regulations two miles outside of the city limits. It has taken no action on the proposal. Commissioners said no one had contacted them about the issue. Commissioner Bill Crooker said the city has certain rights granted by state law to extend development regulations outside of its city limits.

County Attorney Bob Miller, contacted later, said Article 970a of the Municipal Annexation Act in the civil statutes grants cities what is known as "extraterritorial jurisdiction" on land next to their city limits.

Miller said the extension would allow the cities to regulate subdivision development matters such as flood control, plats and streets.

C.G. GILSTRAP
... questions commissioners

Crooker added that the city subdivision extension would not affect individual residences.

Commissioners also heard from Paul Roy and Clayton Pairett of the Jonesboro volunteer fire department about problems in the county volunteer fire department program. Roy presented four proposals to improve volunteer service to the community.

Commissioners agreed to move the Jonesboro fire truck to Pairett and Roy's place of business on Gregg Street — West Texas Fire Extinguisher Co. — during working hours to speed their response time to fire calls. The Jonesboro crew was also given approval to maintain radio contact with the city fire department.

Roy told commissioners lists of county volunteer firemen were out. See Commissioners, page 2A

Chamber officials want
new court at law

By MIKE DOWNEY
Staff Writer

Claiming lawbreakers are being freed due to a crowded county court, the Big Spring Area Chamber of Commerce proposed Monday a county court of law to be created by the Howard County commissioners.

However, commissioners questioned whether such a court was necessary and decided to study the issue further before taking any action.

Chamber representatives were mainly concerned with the number of traffic warrants being dismissed after their appeal from municipal or peace justice court to county court.

Paul Shaffer of the Chamber of Commerce told commissioners that too many cases are being dismissed because of a lack of time to prosecute.

"It is too easy to violate the law," Shaffer said. "All you have to do is appeal. Justice is not being served. People that break the law are going free because of the system."

Johnnie Lou Avery, also representing the chamber, suggested a committee be set up by the commissioners to examine the problem.

Commissioner Bill Crooker pointed out that if the system is the problem, the study should be done on the current county court's function to determine if another court will help.

"How can we be sure a county court of law will cure the current situation?" Crooker said.

A court of law is a statutory court created by the Legislature, as opposed to constitutional courts mandated in the constitution such as county courts, according to 18th District Judge Jim Gregg.

The Legislature can determine the jurisdiction of the court through the bill written to create the court, Gregg said. The governor normally appoints the judge who must have a law degree, Gregg added. Criminal, civil, probate, juvenile and domestic matters can be covered by a court of law, he said.

Gregg told the commissioners the cost to the county for a court of law would be "considerable," in the range of $90,000 to $110,000 a year.

Special legislation would be necessary, the district judge said. However, area representatives could propose the legislation only after the commissioners passed a resolution requesting the court of law, Gregg said.

County Attorney Bob Miller said the committee should review whether or not people are getting prosecuted or not. Miller said his office had not been contacted on the possible need for a court of law.

Miller said a city court of record could also be created which could resolve some of the traffic citation dismissals.

BATHED WITH LOVE — Kerre Seright of Big Spring (right) stars with fellow Texas Tech University student Bill Harris of Lubbock in the German play, "The Caucasian Chalk Circle." The play will be performed March 3-5 and 7 in Lubbock and March 25 at the University of Texas-Austin.

Local accent Ex-resident in German play

By KEITH BRISCOE
City Editor

Kerre Seright of Coahoma said she "just kind of stumbled into" studying German when she started at Texas Tech University four years ago.

Now as a graduate student going after a master's degree in the Teutonic tongue, Mrs. Seright, 21, has been cast in a German language production of Bertold Brecht's "The Caucasian Chalk Circle," which bows Thursday at 8 p.m. in the Aualia Room at Tech's Foreign Languages Building.

The 1979 graduate of Coahoma High School will portray one of the main characters' mother in the internationally acclaimed play by the controversial modern German author.

Mrs. Seright, daughter of Melvin and Merlene Brown of Route 1, she said she had never studied German until she began as a student at Tech. Her fascination with the language and literature of the Rhineland country led to a bachelor's degree in the subject and plans for post-graduate work.

She mastered the Fatherland's mother tongue without any secondary school preparation, although she did spend three weeks in Germany when she was 15.

rehearsing for the performance in January. After its debut at Tech Thursday and subsequent performances March 5 and 7, the play will be taken on the road to the Texas Association of German Students convention in Austin March 25.

Mrs. Seright said "Chalk Circle" will mark her second performance in the University's annual German plays. She sounded confident in her ability to perform in a foreign language before the public: "I sound pretty good — I think."

Brecht's epic play deals with his conception of justice and moral action in the framework of revolutionary politics. It is critically regarded as one of his most skillful attempts to blend, a sense of theater, poetry and ethical convictions.

Written in California between 1943-45 when the communist author was in exile from the Nazis, the play represents Brecht's efforts at the height of his maturity as an author.

It is the professionalism and sincerity of Brecht, not his politics, which impress Mrs. Seright with "Chalk Circle."

"I think he had a lot of good things to say," she said. "I don't think it's a Communist play."

So what is a married woman in West Texas going to do with a master's degree in German when the stagelights flick off?

"I guess I'll get a teaching certificate, or just wait until something comes along...I don't want to act."

Odessa shootout will go to grand jury

ODESSA, Texas (AP) — A weekend shootout at a poker game that killed three people will be referred to a grand jury, even though a police investigator says "the guilty ones are already dead." The card players began shooting at each other about 3 a.m. Sunday at the La Cosita Apartments on the west side of this West Texas city, said Odessa Police Sgt. Jerry Smith.

Investigators found $5,000, three pistols, scattered playing cards and pools of blood in the apartment.

"Right now it doesn't make much sense except that we got three people dead over a poker game," said Odessa Police Lt. Rusty Baker. "It's all still very confusing. Sometimes it doesn't take much to cause a shooting."

Baker said that at least seven people — six men and a woman — were in the apartment when the shooting started. A man and the woman escaped injury.

Two men were killed in or near the apartment, one was killed after breaking into a nearby house, a fourth was seriously wounded, and a fifth was slightly injured, officers said.

Baker said the case would be presented to a grand jury, but police did not expect charges to be filed.

"From what it sounds like, the guilty ones are already dead. They more or less shot each other," he said.

Baker said witnesses told investigators that earlier in the evening, there had been an argument among the players. He did not say what the dispute was about.

"But the argument ceased, and it See card game, page 2A

City council filing deadline tomorrow

If you want to run for city council or school board this year, you're running out of time. Tomorrow is the last day for candidacy in the April 2 elections.

Six men have signed up to vie for two council seats in the at-large election. They include incumbents Russ McEwen and Jack Y. Smith, local businessmen Albert Pettus and Rodney Martin. Howard College student Russell Williams and Daniel Ryan III.

Candidates must be at least 18-years-old and have lived here for two years. Those interested should file in City Secretary Tom Ferguson's office at City Hall.

Smith and McEwen are seeking second two-year terms. Smith also served three terms on the council from 1947 to 1952.

Pettus has lived in Big Spring 50 years and owns Pettus Pure Water Co. He also operated Pettus Electric Co. for 25 years. Martin is a 30-year-old lifetime Big Spring resident and owns an oilfield service company. Williams, a 19-year-old Howard College student, is employed at Montgomery Wards and is editor of the HC Hawk Reporter. Ryan, formerly an HC student and Malone Hogan employee, may be withdrawn from the race since he has moved to California.

Eight candidates are competing for three positions on the Big Spring Independent School District board. They are incumbents Al Valdes and Carol Hunter, along with David Huff, Bill Brooks, Margaret Gilstrap, Gilbert Padilla, Chestnut Brown Jr. and Melvin Berry.

Valdes has served as a trustee since 1974 and is employed at Cosden Oil & Chemical Co. Mrs. Hunter, who has served as president of the board, is employed at Gamco.

Huff is an employee of the Big Spring Federal Prison. Brooks is a building designer. Mrs. Gilstrap is involved in an independent oil See Council, page 2A

Focalpoint

Action/reaction: Queen costs

Q. How much is President Reagan's trip to see Queen Elizabeth in California going to cost taxpayers?

A. The White House staff has estimated the cost at $175,000. However, this does not include months of advance trips to California by staff aides nor other costs absorbed by the military or the Secret Service. Realistic estimates put the cost at $875,000 to $1.75 million.

Peace finally comes to 'M-A-S-H'

After 11 years, TV series mustered out

By The Associated Press
 NEW YORK — When peace finally came to "M-A-S-H," the surgeons were in the operating room where CBS at the beginning 11 years ago didn't think a situation comedy should ever be.

The final episode of "M-A-S-H" — number 251 of the hit parade — was true to the ambition of the first one and all of the others in between. It made us laugh, it made us sad, and it made us feel.

This wasn't "Hogan's Heroes." "M-A-S-H" dealt honestly and realistically with the Korean War, its consequences and the sheer irrationality of surgeons saving lives just so they could be splattered again.

As Col. Henry Blake once said on "M-A-S-H," "Rule No. 1 is young men die," and "Rule No. 2 is doctors can't change rule No. 1."

So, on Monday night, the finale began with Hawkeye Pierce (Alan Alda), the surgeon with the toughest shell, slightly cracked in a mental hospital. He had suffered a nervous breakdown.

Hawkeye and a bus full of "M-A-S-H" colleagues and South Koreans returning from an outing at the beach were trying to keep the enemy from discovering them. A baby in the bus was crying, and Hawkeye forcefully told the mother to keep the kid quiet. Scared out of her mind, she strangled her own child.

Hawkeye, who had heroically saved many lives, was devastated by the responsibility of losing this one.

Hawkeye's psychological debilitation and gradual recovery were the major threads running throughout the 2½-hour final program which became a national event, along with "Who Shot J.R.?" segment on "Dallas," the final episode of "The Fugitive," and "Roots."

Hawkeye and the six other regulars survived the war, but one essence of "M-A-S-H" has been that it leaves scars, and this episode certainly did.

Father Mulcahy (William Christopher), the gentle, soothing padre, lost most of his hearing when a bomb exploded while he was rescuing enemy prisoners of war.

The 4077th had become an artillery target because an American tank was stuck there, with no high orders to stay put. Did "M-A-S-H" ever suggest that war made sense?

Finally, Hawkeye, well enough to have returned to the camp, drove the tank away to the M-A-S-H suburbs. Was that the action of a sane or an insane man? The separating line had never been all that clear in "M-A-S-H."

"I don't know why I always have to take out the trash," Hawkeye said.

Maj. Charles Winchester (David Ogden Stiers), who used classical music as a release and refuge during the war, said it was now a tormenting reminder.

He had become attached to enemy POW musicians and was teaching them to play Mozart. The universality of Mozart's language survived here; the POWs did not, in yet another example of senseless killings.

The well-bred Winchester, who left the camp nobly atop a garbage truck, was bound for a head surgeon's job in Boston Hospital. The appointment came after Margaret Houlihan pulled some strings — something the snobbish, self-sufficient Winchester had trouble accepting.

Margaret (Loretta Swit), the all-khaki major, continued her growth as a human being. She decided to leave the army and work in a U.S. hospital. She even buried the hatchet with her nemesis Hawkeye, sharing one of the longest smooches in TV history.

Col. Sherman Potter (Harry Morgan), who rode out of camp on his favorite horse, left with the total respect of his troops. Hawkeye and B.J. Hunnicutt gave him their rarest tribute: they saluted. Potter was looking forward to a semi-retirement as a country doctor.

Max Klinger (Jamie Farr), married a Korean girl, who wore a white dress from Klinger's wardrobe.

The couple remained in Korea to search for her family.

Somehow, Klinger, Potter and Mulcahy will meet stateside next season too work in a veterans hospital in "Aftermath."

Sheriff's Log

Sheriff investigates murder

Howard County sheriff's deputies continue to investigate the brutal shotgun slaying of Robert William Kay, 40, of El Paso. A motive has not been discovered in the Feb. 23 shooting death, according to Deputy Sheriff William Shankles.

The sheriff's office is still seeking information from anyone who might have seen Kay the night of the shooting, Shankles said.

• Sheriff's deputies arrested Ramond Sneed, 38, of Sterling City Route in Big Spring for suspicion of unlawfully carrying a weapon. Sneed was released after posting $2,500 bond, records show.

• Sheriff's deputies arrested Charlotte Edwards, 30, of Route 2 in Big Spring in connection with a county warrant for issuance of bad checks. Ms. Edwards was released after paying a $20 fine and $43.60 in bad checks.

• Randall Lee Rickey, 21, of A-OK Trailer Park was released from county jail after he was found guilty in county court of driving while intoxicated. Rickey was fined $50 and court costs plus three days in county jail. He was given credit for 10 days of jail because he had been in county jail since Feb. 25 and city jail since Feb. 19.

• Miguel Rosas Delgado, 29, of 1107 N. Goliad was released under $1,000 bond after his arrest by police for suspicion of DWI. Bond was set by Municipal Judge Melvin Daratt.

• Robert Dutchover Jr., 22, of 1205 Lamar was released under bonds totaling $6,500 after his arrest by police for suspicion of unlawfully carrying a weapon and theft by appropriation. Bonds were set by Daratt.

• Four persons were released on $1,000 bond each this weekend on separate charges of DWI.

They are Tracey L. Kruse, 18, of Midland; Hollis H. Smith, 63, of 1709 Alyford; Panfilo Garza, 53, of 708 N. Ave. H and Donna Lynn Franklin, 26, of 4009 Dixon.

• Other weekend activity included: Bruce Edward Witty, 26, of 1106 W. 4th was released under $500 bond after his arrest for suspicion of consuming after hours. Rudolph Avalas, 23, of Garden City posted $100 to be released after his arrest for suspicion of public intoxication.

Albert Gonzales Jr., 20, of 404 N.E. 10th posted $500 bond to be released after his arrest for suspicion of theft under $20. Rodney Dean Harris, 17, of 1601 Indian Hills posted $500 to be released after his arrest for suspicion of driving while license suspended.

Card game

Continued from page one seemed like things were going along pretty good. Then, I understand that when the first pistol was drawn they all jumped up and pulled their guns. One person didn't do all the shooting.

Police said they found three pistols — a .380-caliber, a .38-caliber, and a .44-caliber — in the apartment, and more than $5,000 cash they said could have been part of the game stakes. Playing cards were scattered on the ground near the back door of the first-floor apartment.

Baker said a .45-caliber pistol also was fired during the melee, but police had not been able to find the gun.

Police said Douglas Blevins, 43, was found dead in a pool or brook on the kitchen floor. He had been shot four times. Outside the apartment, 10 to 15 feet from the door, was the body of a man identified as Robert Notley, 42, of Odessa, said Baker. Notley had been shot five times.

The third dead man, who has not been identified, was shot once at the game with a .45-caliber pistol. He ran from the apartment, apparently pursuing someone, Baker said.

Witnesses told police that none of them knew the man, Baker said. The man was shot fatally after he went to a nearby house and broke in, the officer said.

"We don't know why he picked this particular house, because the people there didn't have anything to do with the game," Baker said. "He just broke down the door at 3-something in the morning, said he was looking for so-and-so, and started threatening the lady of the house."

Victor Nunez Jr., the owner of the home, told officers that the man was armed with a gun when he burst into the house. The man died from wounds inflicted by Nunez's .22-caliber weapon, Baker said. He had been shot four times.

Blevins' address was listed as a nearby Exxon service station owned by Notley. Blevins worked for Easterling-Wilson Funeral Home, which was handling burial arrangements.

Relatives told the funeral home that Notley also had a residence in El Paso. Blevins' relatives live in Houston, Baker said.

Commissioners

Continued from page one dated and the sheriff's office often had difficulty contacting the various volunteer fire units. He said he and Pairett were working on updating the lists.

A bigger problem concerned a central coordinator for the volunteer fire units. The recent Luther fire was an example of several departments fighting more or less on their own, Roy said.

"Without a farmer and his plow, we would have lost a house and the Luther fire truck," Roy said. "That fire had a six-mile front and jumped two highways."

County Judge Milton Kirby urged the volunteer departments to check on working out the problem. He also asked the Jonesboro volunteers to look into the cost of running county fire phones to their businesses and homes.

Commissioners agreed to attach work lights and an external radio speaker to the Jonesboro truck to improve the department's efficiency.

In other matters, commissioners approved two new sheriff's deputies, John Wolf and Bennie Green. Wolf replaces Paul Silva who has been on a leave of absence since his Feb. 11 arrest by a Department of Public Safety trooper for suspicion of driving while intoxicated, according to Sheriff A.N. Standard.

Green replaces Deputy R.T. Bell who resigned to take a position with the Kermit Police Department, according to Standard.

In other action commissioners:

- Awarded Pollard Chevrolet a bid for two county dump trucks with trade for $35,204.02; Bob Brock Ford for two pickups without trade for $18,066.66; and Hobbs Trailer for two dump beds for $7,512.
- Heard from County Engineer Bill Mims that the courthouse cooling system "won't make this summer" and a replacement will cost an estimated $8,000. Commissioners moved to advertise for bids.

• Decided to study further a request from Shelton Ashley to present a personal assault seminar to county female employees.

• Approved the purchase of a posting machine for the district clerk's office and moved to advertise for bids.

The candidates are seeking three-year terms on the board. Those wishing to enter the at-large election should file at the school administration office at 708 11th Place.

Police Beat

Police say they arrested Henry M. Ortega, 49, of 817 N.W. Sixth last night on suspicion of burglary after they found him hiding inside a fuel supply building at 201 N. Benton.

The arresting officers said they found the suspect inside the building at Sixth and Coleman after someone reported a suspicious person in the area. A window glass and screen had been damaged, police said.

Police reports also show the following:

- No one has been arrested in connection with three assaults on women reported yesterday, police say.
- One aggravated assault case involves a 24-year-old woman who told police a person she knows kicked open the door to her mobile home last night and beat her on the head and left leg with a baseball bat. Police reports say the woman was treated at Malone Hogan Hospital.
- Earlier that day a 23-year-old woman told police a man she knows struck her in the face and on the head with his fist. She also was treated at Malone Hogan Hospital for a cut lip and a bruise on her left temple. The woman said the man left her apartment with her Doberman pinscher.

Another 23-year-old woman told police a person she knows struck her in the face last night. Police reports indicate she did not receive medical treatment.

• Police say they arrested Carlos Vega, 20, of 703 N. Lamesa yesterday on a burglary warrant.

• Linda Foreman, 30, of 1501-B Wood was arrested yesterday on cruelty to animal warrants. Police say the suspect left a dog unattended.

• Howard College student Frank Ortega told police someone stole a $300 stereo last weekend from an HC dormitory room. Ortega said the room's occupant, Dan Ray, is out of town.

• Gena Graham of 2410 Alabama told police someone stole two $90 hubcaps from her 1977 Cadillac while it was parked at Big Spring Mall Saturday night.

• Edward Vela of 402 N.W. 11th told police someone broke into his residence Saturday morning and stole a $933 video recorder.

• C.T. Clay of 1811 Donley told police someone stole a new battery from his tractor that was parked in his backyard last week.

Senate okays 4 as A&M regents

AUSTIN (AP) — Without a dissenting vote, the Senate Nominations Subcommittee today cleared appointments to the boards of regents of the University of Texas and Texas A&M systems.

The appointments will go before the full Senate later this week, with a two-thirds vote needed for final confirmation.

Sam Barshop of San Antonio, head of La Quinta Motor Inns and an appointee of former Gov. Bill Clements, was approved 7-0.

The A&M regents approved by a 6-0 vote were Dr. John Coleman, a Houston physician; Joe Reynolds of Houston, a reappointment; Joe Reynolds, a Houston trial attorney who served eight years previously on the board; and David Eller, a Houston businessman. All four were appointed by White.

Coleman's appointment was protested by two people who said he was not of good moral character because he operates a clinic in Houston where abortions are performed. They were Margaret Holtze of Houston, representing Life Advocates of Texas, and Lewis Berry Jr. of the Texas Foundation for Life.

Grand jury convenes to issue indictments

The Howard County grand jury convened today to consider indictments for 38 persons including two cases of murder, one rape case and eight cases involving burglary.

The grand jury will consider indictments in separate cases of eight persons charged with possession of marijuana and four persons involved with aggravated assault. Indictments will also be considered in four felony driving while intoxicated cases and five cases involving theft.

Two forgery cases are expected to be presented by the district attorney's office. Other cases involve injury to an elderly person, unauthorized carrying of a weapon and credit card abuse.

Deaths

Johnnie Crittenden

Mrs. Morris (Johnnie Marie) Crittenden, 64, died at 3:27 p.m. Monday at a local hospital after a sudden illness. Services will be at 5 p.m. Wednesday at Nalley-Pickle Rosewood Chapel with Dr. Kenneth Patrick of First Baptist Church officiating. Burial will be at Trinity Memorial Park.

Mrs. Crittenden was born May 8, 1918 in Canton. She moved to Big Spring at an early age with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Howie. She attended school here and lived all her life in Howard and Glasscock counties. She was a telephone operator for Southwestern Bell for 43 years and retired in 1960. She married Morris Crittenden Jan. 17, 1947 in Midland. She was a Methodist.

Survivors include her husband; a son, Eddie Bruce Crittenden of Big Spring, a daughter, Mrs. Rickey (Lana) Smith of Big Spring; a brother, R.W. Howie of Big Spring; three sisters, Mrs. Hollis (Lois) Webb of Big Spring, Mrs. L.W. (Polly) Smith of Lubbock and Mrs. Dick (Maxine) David of Stockton, Calif.; and four grandchildren, Faith and Hope Crittenden and Cody and Cal Smith.

Funeral services will be David Pope, John Stone, Tomms Mansfield, Clarence Wayne Smith, LaRoy Schafer and Alton Black.

Palbearers will be Alton Underwood, Garland Morrison, Leonard Coker, Lonnie Coker, Clem Jones and Billy Smith.

Steve Clyde Bynum, 88, died Monday in Norman, Okla. Graveside services will be at 10 a.m. Thursday at Trinity Memorial Park under the direction of McManan Funeral Service of Noble, Okla.

Bynum lived most of his life in Big Spring and was a self-employed carpenter until he retired. He moved to Norman in 1981 from Big Spring. He was a Methodist.

Survivors include a daughter, Mrs. Bud (Lois) Hill of Norman; a sister, Celia Erwin of Colorado City; two grandchildren and five great-grandchildren.

Palbearers will be David Pope, John Stone, Tomms Mansfield, Clarence Wayne Smith, LaRoy Schafer and Alton Black.

Leonard West

Leonard West died Monday in a Lubbock hospital. Services are pending with Nalley-Pickle Funeral Home.

Homer Franklin

Services for Homer T. Franklin, 78, who died Sunday, will be at 3 p.m. Wednesday at Nalley-Pickle Rosewood Chapel. Dr. Kenneth Patrick of First Baptist Church will officiate. Burial will be at Trinity Memorial Park.

Franklin was born Sept. 30, 1904 in Limestone County. He married Willie Robert Oct. 22, 1927 in Henderson. They came to Big Spring in 1970 from Bitburg, Germany after he retired from 24 years of civil service. He was a member of the First Baptist Church and a deacon.

Survivors include his wife; two daughters, Mrs. Dell (Annie) Hemingway of Atascadero, Calif., and Mrs. Stephen (Jeannie) Nye of Ogden, Utah; a son, John H. Franklin of Oak Lake City, Utah; a sister, Mrs. L.C. (Callie) Wilbanks of Big Spring; 12 grandchildren and 26

Storms hit West Coast

Storms pounding California with hurricane-force winds and floods sent residents of some communities scrambling to their rooftops today, while mudslides blocked major highways and the death toll climbed to seven.

March also roared in like a lion in the Southeast, where storms brewing in the Gulf of Mexico prompted gale warnings and coastal flood watches from northeast Florida to Virginia on the Atlantic Coast and from northwest Florida to Louisiana on the Gulf Coast.

In Southern California, the winds toppled at least three trucks on rain-slickened Los Angeles freeways and mobile homes were afloat at a trailer park north of Castaic Lake.

Widespread flooding along the Sacramento River in northern California forced the evacuation of more than 100 people early today in Tehama County.

In Red Bluff, about 115 miles north of Sacramento about 60 people were evacuated by boat to an old fire hall.

"We were rescuing people off roofs," said police dispatcher Susan Myers. "It's at least four feet deep in several houses," said Officer Bruce Bonner.

Tehama County sheriff's officers were evacuating residents of Tehama and Los Molinos, where the river was expected to climb 6 feet above flood stage.

"I would imagine when it's all figured, it's going to be a tremendous amount of damage," said Under-sheriff Mike Blanus. "We're getting a lot of flash flooding all over the county in low areas."

The first of a pair of Pacific storms — following two others over the weekend — hit California late Monday and early today, and forecasters said the storm system could develop into the worst yet in a winter of fierce weather for the Golden State.

Hurricane-force winds up to 84 mph in northern California felled trees and downed power lines Monday, cutting off the electricity to thousands of homes. Mudslides today blocked two sections of the Pacific Coast Highway in the Malibu area of southern California and another was reported in the area north of Castaic Lake.

Waterlogged hills, soaked by a week of heavy rains, also collapsed Monday onto California 101 at Leggett, about 150 miles north of San Francisco, and along U.S. 1 near Stinson Beach in Marin County.

In San Jose, at the south end of San Francisco Bay, resident Marty Olson said the wind lifted the metal roof off his patio, carried it over his house and dropped it onto his parked car. "My neighbor told me it looked like a flying saucer," Olson said.

The storm's winds knocked out power briefly on Monday for 50,000 Pacific Gas and Electric Co. customers in Santa Clara County, company spokesmen said.

Storms in California over the weekend were blamed for five deaths, but officials reported no additional fatalities Monday.

In the Southern California enclave of Malibu, where high surf in late January and early February wrecked dozens of beachfront homes, firefighters brought in 12,000 sandbags Monday to supplement 4,000 already in store, police Capt. Michael Idol said.

"We're just taking precautions based on what we're hearing," Idol said.

The National Weather Service had warned that the storm system "should not be underestimated." But officials said Monday's storm didn't produce the catastrophes of earlier storms that caused some $100 million in damages to homes, businesses, crops and public works and left 11 people dead.

A second storm was expected to arrive early Wednesday, extending the heavy rains and high winds

THE QUEEN'S IN COMMAND — Queen Elizabeth II sits at the controls of a space shuttle simulator Monday during a visit to Rockwell International in Downey, Ca. Rockwell is the prime contractor for the space shuttle.

Queen whirls through L.A.

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Queen Elizabeth II zipped from an aerospace plant to a sparkling City Hall gathering, visited a British nursing home and dined with Bob Hope and Frank Sinatra in a wet, whirlwind visit to the nation's second-largest city.

Along the way Monday, she jokingly reminded Los Angeles residents that Sir Francis Drake had claimed the area for the British crown 400 years ago, but she was not here "to press that claim."

She also gave the first public speech of her West Coast visit, expressing Britain's gratitude for United States support during the war to recapture the Falklands from Argentina.

"The support of your government and the American people touched us deeply and demonstrated to the world that our close relationship is based on our shared commitment to the same values," the queen said in the City Hall speech.

The British monarch — who arrived in California on Saturday — left her yacht at Long Beach harbor in the southwestern tip of Los Angeles County and by the end of the day had motored to the British Home in Sierra Madre, 35 miles to the northeast. The tour was marred by intermittent showers, heavy at times, which also forced hasty revisions to plans for visiting President Reagan today.

The queen and Prince Philip began their only full day in Los Angeles by taking a simulated space flight at Rockwell International's engineering and assembly complex in suburban Downey.

Wearing a deep blue dress and shawl, white hat and gloves, the queen looked somewhat ill at ease at the controls and after a brief stint in the commander's seat moved over to let her consort — who is a trained pilot — complete a simulated landing.

She then received a glass-enclosed souvenir model of the space shuttle from Robert Anderson, Rockwell's board chairman.

Several thousand employees waving small British and American flags lined the queen's pathway as she toured the complex. On leaving the assembly building she was greeted by 150 Downey schoolchildren, including two 5-year-olds who gave her a bouquet of flowers. Then it was on to a tightly-secured City Hall, where she told Mayor Tom Bradley that her West Coast tour follows the route Drake took 400 years ago when he claimed the area for Queen Elizabeth I.

"But I want to assure you, Mr. Mayor, that I am not here today to press that claim," the queen said, smiling.

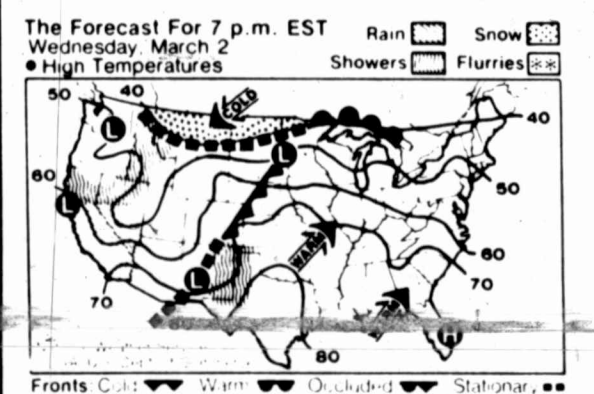

She said Britain went to war over the Falklands — called Malvinas by Argentines — to defend the principle of self-determination.

Two months after Argentina invaded the South Atlantic islands last summer, Britain recaptured them.

In her speech, the queen also mentioned the global recession, saying that Britain shares with the U.S. "the strongest possible determination to find a way forward... to seek just solutions for the economic problems of the world."

While Prince Philip attended an Olympic Equestrian Federation meeting at Santa Anita racetrack in Arcadia, the queen paid a visit to 38 elderly residents of the British Home in Sierra Madre, one of four residences for senior women of British ancestry.

Reagan wants to increase involvement

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Reagan administration may expand both the number and the role of American military trainers in El Salvador to meet what one congressman calls a rapidly deteriorating military situation.

An escalation of U.S. manpower in El Salvador would be in addition to the administration's request for a $60 million increase in military assistance this year.

A senior American official traveling aboard President Reagan's plane to California on Monday told reporters the administration has been reviewing policy toward El Salvador for the past four weeks under orders from the president.

The official, who insisted on anonymity, said Reagan has not yet made up his mind on what course to take, partly because he has been receiving conflicting advice from his subordinates.

Since March 1981, the administration has set a ceiling of 55 military trainers in El Salvador and limited their role to non-combat situations. The current number of trainers is 37.

The administration's reassessment of the situation appears to reflect dissatisfaction with the performance of the Salvadoran military in recent weeks.

Contrary to American advice, the Salvadorans have been mounting massive sweeps of the countryside rather than frequent small-scale patrols.

One theory for the Salvadoran tactics was offered Monday by Robert S. Leiken of the Georgetown Center for Strategic and International Studies.

"Large-scale brigade size operations are more lucrative for the commanders," he told the House Foreign Affairs Committee. "They are able to skim off the top expenses for food (and) fuel. Small patrols mean that the pie is sliced in smaller portions."

Leiken said that "cronyism and corruption is rampant in the Salvadoran army, which is not under present circumstances capable of winning the war or of containing the guerrillas."

Presumably, the lifting of restrictions on the U.S. trainers would permit them to be present at the brigade and provincial command levels, thus giving them the opportunity to have more direct influence over counter-insurgency operations.

A month ago, three American trainers were sent home after they had been involved in tactical operations against the guerrillas.

For the past several weeks, the administration has said publicly that the military situation in El Salvador has remained essentially unchanged despite an increase in guerrilla activity.

Secretary of State George P. Shultz altered that position somewhat on Monday when he told a Senate subcommittee that the battlefield situation had "stagnated" because of a decline in U.S. military aid.

However, Rep. Michael Barnes, D-Md.,

chairman of the House Foreign Affairs subcommittee on inter-American affairs, said Monday. "The situation is deteriorating very rapidly. The left has been able to do things militarily in the last couple of months that I don't think most people would have thought possible."

Barnes was one of a group of senators and House members who met with Reagan Monday morning to discuss the possibility of an aid increase.

The administration, recognizing the political sensitivity of any escalation of American involvement, appears intent on consulting fully with Congress before reaching final decisions.

"I think there are an awful lot of questions that members of Congress are going to want to have answered before they vote for a big increase in military assistance to El Salvador," Barnes said.

The administration sees the additional $60 million as a means of maintaining aid at the levels in effect last year.

For this year, Congress has approved only $26 million.

They believe in Big Spring

Our deepest congratulations to the Man, Woman and Industrialists of the Year who were revealed at the recent Chamber of Commerce banquet.

Certainly no woman deserved the award more than Jane Thomas. Her work in establishing and supporting the Westside Community Center is just one of the many services she has given the community with no thought of reward. As Sidney Clark, past Chamber president, read to the audience, "She can and does accomplish more worthwhile projects than almost any one person we know. She loves people — old and young. She is also a lover of animals — dogs, cats, birds, and perhaps a raccoon or skunk, etc. — she gives them a good home or nurses them back to health."

Ralph McLaughlin, Man of the Year, was an exceptional choice for his award. He is one of only four individuals who have served on both the school board and the city council, and he has been president of the Chamber of Commerce and subsequently president of the Big Spring Industrial Foundation as well.

"Ralph's belief in Big Spring was evident when he gave the Saunders Company buildings to the Industrial Foundation and built an entirely new plant on the east side last year," wrote John L. Taylor, chairman of the selection committee.

Our congratulations also to Tom Rutledge, Russ Rutledge and John E. Freeman, Jr., officers of Fiberflex Products, Inc. The company employs 120 to 130 persons and has contributed not only to Big Spring's economic well-being, but to many civic and charitable endeavors as well.

Lastly, we congratulate members of the selection committee for their outstanding work. They selected winners who truly believe in Big Spring, and who have helped make this city what it is.

Crazy Marvin

There is quite a flap going on between the People's Republic of China and the United States concerning some railroad bonds the Manchu Dynasty issued in 1911 to build a rail line between Canton and Peking. A federal judge in Alabama ruled that the present Chinese government had to make good on the bonds held by Americans, which have been in default since the 1930s.

"If you promise not to tell anybody, I found it in a fortune cookie. It said, 'This is your lucky day. Invest in the Hukuang Railway Sinking Fund.'"

"It was a very old, soggy fortune cookie, and didn't taste very good, but the message was loud and clear. I'm only passing the information on to you because you're a friend, and because I've invested so heavily in railroads. I can't afford to pay for my lunch."

"How are you doing with your investment?"

"My bonds are worth $20 per thousand," he said. "On paper I've doubled my investment."

"How did that happen?"

"When I placed my order with Merrill Lynch I drove the price up. You'd be amazed what $200 can do to the market in defaulted Chinese railroad bonds."

"Why don't you sell out, and take your $400?"

"First, because the CIA reports the railroad is going strong, and secondly, I've been reading Time Magazine and they still believe Chiang Kai-shek will take back the Mainland. Once he does I could make my big score. I'm now the biggest holder of Hukuang Railway Bonds in northern New Jersey."

The years passed and Marvin and I lost touch. Then I read the story in

The Wall Street Journal that the federal judge had ruled in favor of 280 bond-holders in a class action suit against the Chinese government. I immediately called Kitman to congratulate him.

"I have to hand it to you," I said. "Merrill Lynch is not going to call you 'Crazy Marvin' any more."

He said modestly, "I can't take all the credit. I owe a lot of it to Nixon."

"Why Nixon?"

"He opened up new relations with the People's Republic. If he hadn't we never could have sued them. I wouldn't be surprised if Nixon owned some Hukuang Bonds himself."

"What happens now, Marvin, if the Chinese refuse to pay off on the sinking fund?"

"I intend to seize three Chinese restaurants in New York City. Peking has to realize they can't flout a federal judge's order on defaulted railroad notes and get away with it. The integrity of Wall Street's bond market is at stake."

"I'm happy for you, Marvin, but I have to tell you something. I never did buy that story that you found the tip on the Hukuang Railway in a fortune cookie. Tell me the truth. Why did you invest?"

"The truth? Okay. One day I interviewed J.P. Morgan. I asked him, 'What is the secret of your success?' and he replied, 'I always bought Chinese Imperial Bonds when they were low, and I always sold Chinese Communist bonds when they were high.'"

Billy Graham

I don't know about this guy

DEAR DR. GRAHAM: My boyfriend is not perfect and sometimes I wonder if he would make a very thoughtful or sensitive husband, but I am afraid of letting go of him because I wonder if I will ever find another husband. What should I do about him? — H.K.

DEAR H.K.: I suspect there are many women reading this who would like to write you and say, "Don't feel you have to take the first eligible man who comes along! If he is insensitive and selfish now, he will be insensitive and selfish as a husband. This is what I did, and I have regretted it ever since!"

No husband is going to be perfect, of course; after all, you probably have your faults as well! But seriously, my concern for you is this: more than anything else, you need to learn to trust your future to God and obey him. This is true for everything in your life, including your marriage.

One of the greatest truths of the Bible is that God loves us. And because he loves us, he wants to give us what is best for us. I firmly believe that if it is God's will for you to be married, then he has already chosen a young man who should be your husband. Seek God's will and trust him, because his will is best.

Which of you, some day, if a son asks for bread, will give him a stone? ... If you, then, though you are evil, know how to give good gifts to your children, how much more will your Father in heaven give good gifts to those who ask him! (Matthew 7:9, 11).

This is why I am convinced the most important thing you can do right now is to give your life to Jesus Christ and ask him to come into your heart and live within you. You need forgiveness for your sins, and you need God's guidance for the future as you commit each detail of your life to God and seek his will.

"Trust in the Lord with all your heart and lean not on your own understanding; in all your ways acknowledge him, and he will make your paths straight" (Proverbs 3:5-6).

Look for a husband who honors Christ in his life and wants his will. That man will be loving and sensitive, and it will be your joy to be loving and sensitive to his needs in return.

Around the Rim

By RICHARD HORN

Dandy Gandhi

Sometimes you have to beware of a historical picture that becomes a huge popular success. "Gandhi" is a fine, important movie, for me, it was also troubling.

Because of the new movie-inspired interest, India's Mohandas Gandhi, 1869-1948, is on his way to becoming a "cult-figure for the 80s." Get this: One film critic, in his survey of 1982's best movies, said that Gandhi is this year's most enchanting hero... next to E.T.

I liked the movie fine, although its very British pace and concise, deliberate presentation drains a lot of the passion out of the subject (It's not boring; it just doesn't get your blood going.)

GANDHI IS surely one of the most respected men in modern history, for his spirit and his personality as much as for these accomplishments:

- He did more than any other person to free India from British rule and single-handedly set the non-violent strategy for independence.

- His belief in "active pacifism," while he used it in India only, was influential throughout the world, especially in the civil rights work of Martin Luther King Jr.

But how are we supposed to take him today? Americans are being led by a man who says we are to arm ourselves to the teeth and convince the world that we will nuke somebody if we have to. What happened? Why can't Gandhi's philosophy of non-violence work today?

Richard Attenborough's film was made with the same sort of reverence Christians have for Jesus. The comparison is not far-fetched. He was a lawyer and a politician, but he is now a religious figure to Indians — and to many Westerners.

I feel the attraction to the man. I would like to go all the way with non-violent protest, but I'm afraid it can go only so far. Gandhi, at least this movie's Gandhi, believed it would work in all situations.

First of all, I have trouble with Gandhi's decision to oppose British and American involvement in World War II. Would Hitler have stopped because nobody would fight him? A lot of people, like Jews in Nazi death camps, were unable to put up much resistance and were killed anyway.

In a more recent example, the refugees slaughtered in the Lebanese camps were killed precisely because they were unarmed. Getting down and telling a soldier to "Go ahead, butcher me" would not have made much difference.

Gandhi and later Martin Luther King Jr. were successful because there were enough sympathetic people around to shake their heads in horror and create a public outcry.

His fasts and his decisions to let himself and others be beaten were very courageous, but they were also shrewd political manipulations. He took this approach from Jesus' call to turn the other cheek, but I don't think Jesus intended us to do so just to make the other guy look bad in the newspapers.

Passive resistance worked only because it shamed Britain. To have shamed Britain there must already have been a great majority of people who agreed with Gandhi and wanted to see his demands met.

What made Gandhi great was this: He was a timid, rather awkward man with no public office or clerical title, yet he became a leader of a huge nation through sheer spiritual authority and quiet will.

THE MOVIE closes with a quote from Gandhi: "All through history, the way of truth and love has always won."

Today, it's hard for us to think of life as being that neat and simple. People will come out of the movie loving the man for what he did. That's fine, but our lives today are far from his ideals.

He said that he is too much of a sinner to punish someone. Take that at face value and what does it do our system of justice? What about the death penalty, which is really getting cranked up now?

"Gandhi" deifies its subject, and men are always ready to embrace a God. But he's not one, and he'd be the first to say so.

He was a man who hoped he could rise above human nature. Being human, he couldn't. But the movie doesn't really show that, or at least doesn't draw much attention to it. Instead it tells you to admire what he stood for — as a movie hero — while at the same time lighting incense in his memory.

I'm glad people are lining up to see it. But I hope that if they are drawn to the man they will look at other sources to try and understand him.

Non-violence and civil disobedience are issues that have confused many of us. In "Gandhi," as fascinating a movie as it may be, the ideas are trivialized and tossed off too easily as something "nice."

Feds foul up protection

WASHINGTON — The hired assassin who broke the notorious Orlando Letelier murder by confessing his part in it has been the victim of a bureaucratic foulup — a mistake that could cost him his life. His identity was inadvertently revealed to a fellow prisoner by an incredible clerical error.

Michael Vernon Townley, now 40, was born in Waterloo, Iowa. But he's hardly your All-American Boy. He became an expert in explosive devices and went to work for DINA, the notorious Chilean secret police. He was given the assignment of assassinating Letelier, the exiled Chilean leftist who had taken refuge in Washington, D.C., after the bloody overthrow of his Marxist President Salvador Allende.

On Sept. 21, 1976, Townley and some Cuban-exile accomplices carried out their mission. Driving along Embassy Row in the morning rush hour, Letelier was blown up in his car. The explosion also killed a young American passenger and colleague, Ronny Moffitt.

A lengthy FBI investigation led to Townley's arrest, and he decided to cooperate with the prosecution, implicating DINA and the Cuban exiles. In return, Townley was allowed to plead to a single count of conspiracy and draw a 10-year sentence.

But the most important part of Townley's deal with the prosecutors was his enrollment in the federal government's witness-protection program. Aware that his life would be in danger from those he had betrayed, the authorities gave Townley a whole new identity. The prison where he is serving his sentence is also kept confidential.

Obviously, such a masquerade involves a whole chain of federal agencies — and it can be only as strong as its weakest link. In Townley's case, the weak link was the U.S. Parole Commission.

After serving three years, Townley became eligible for parole, and was given a hearing before the commission. Another prisoner at the same facility, who had no connection with Townley, went through the same procedure.

But when the second prisoner asked for and received a tape recording of his parole hearing, he was astonished to discover Townley's hearing — in all its revealing detail — on the flip side of the tape.

The prisoner sent the tape to my associate John Dillon, along with a letter describing what happened when the authorities discovered the mistake. They "tore the place apart" looking for the tape, he wrote, and an FBI agent asked the prisoner "what I wanted" for it.

"My reply was nothing," wrote the prisoner. "I just want to be left alone." He said he had been harassed and punished.

Prison officials confirmed the FBI visit to the prisoner, and said he was disciplined for trying to "blackmail" them into giving him

"certain benefits" in exchange for the tape.

The Townley tape reveals the importance of his testimony in the Letelier case — and the deadly peril he is in from his former associates. Prosecutor Lawrence Barcella told the commission Townley had provided "complete, total, candid and truthful cooperation" and should be paroled.

An FBI agent said Townley went "far beyond his agreement" in cooperation with the government and had "put the life of himself and his family in jeopardy." As chilling evidence of this, Townley's attorney, Barry Levi, read the commission a letter from Virgilio Paz, a former accomplice of his client.

"You will pay with your life," Paz warned Townley. "In no part of the world will you ever live in peace. The long arm of the Cuban exile movement will over take you ... Your wife and your children are the most precious things you have. Don't allow the blood in their veins to stop running because you are a traitor. Everything depends on your loyalty."

Footnote: A Parole Commission spokesman said the release of the Townley tape was "some kind of clerical error." Barcella said the government has taken extra precautions to protect Townley, whose parole appeal was denied.

PROFITABLE PRECAUTION?: Members of the Commodity

Futures Trading Commission have normally been forbidden to trade in most of the commodities they regulate. But an amendment slipped into the commission's reauthorization bill last year lists a new exception that allows the regulators to dabble in mineral leases.

Oddly enough, the amendment originated with Commissioner Kalo Hineman and was included in the legislation at his request. And Hineman, a Kansas farmer, is the only commissioner with a significant personal interest in mineral leasing: He has leased 2,720 acres of his land to oil companies.

The amendment allows commissioners to lease mineral rights through a trust. Though Hineman's holdings had already been OK'd when he was appointed to the commission in 1981, the new procedure could make it easier to collect profits if his leaseholders strike oil. (So far, their $1-an-acre leases have produced only dry holes.)

Hineman acknowledged that he had pushed for the mineral-lease exemption and voted for it when it was approved by the commission. But he told my reporter Jock Hatfield there was no conflict of interest involved.

"It was simply a matter of clarification, not a substantive change," he said. "I was already approved. I had nothing to gain."

WASHINGTON (AP) — Richard Nixon threw him a snappy salute. Jimmy Carter hugged him. Gerald Ford shook his hand. And 500 other people paid $1,000 apiece to honor retired Adm. Hyman Rickover, the Jewish emigre from Poland who made it big in the United States Navy.

Rickover took it in stride. "I was in the Navy more than 63 years, longer than any naval officer in our history," he said. "Nevertheless, I do not believe I have done enough for my country. I did what I wanted and was paid well for my work."

And, the wispy admiral said, "I obeyed all orders that I agreed with."

It wasn't for just anybody that three former presidents traveled to Washington, put on black tie, and willingly listened to each other's speeches Monday night. This was for Rickover, who put nuclear power in the Navy; who was considered so indispensable that each of the three presidents extended his tour of duty — two years at a time, to a total of 20 years past normal retirement.

Ronald Reagan, who put an end to the string last year when Rickover was 82, was at his rain-soaked ranch at the other end of the continent. He sent neither message nor surrogate.

The dinner was a fundraiser to get the new Rickover Foundation off to a healthy start. It brought out the likes of Alexander Haig and James Schlesinger and Mel Laird and Lyndon Johnson's daughter Linda, and former Nixon secretary Rose Mary Woods. The foundation will encourage promising young people in mathematics, science, philosophy and English literature with scholarships and youth programs.

Carter remembered Rickover as "omnipotent, omniscient and omnipresent" and said again that next to his father, Rickover "above all other men, has had an impact on my life."

Rickover, who once interviewed the young Carter for the Navy's nuclear submarine program, is credited with efforts that led to the building of the nuclear-powered Nautilus in 1954. He guided the United States to dominance in naval nuclear propulsion until the Soviets caught up in 1970.

SALUTE FOR RICKOVER — Three former presidents gather around a birthday cake Monday night in Washington at a dinner given to salute the man who is called the father of the nuclear navy. From left are former Presidents Gerald Ford, Jimmy Carter, Adm. Hyman Rickover and Richard Nixon.

The dinner was only the second gathering attended by all members of the president's club — the first was the funeral of Anwar Sadat in 1981. Ford told why they all came.

"All three of us admire a person who achieved a far higher rank in the United States Navy than any of the three of us," he said. "All three of us admire a person who can hold a job in the federal government far, far longer than any of us."

Nixon recalled being moved, after pinning on the admiral's fourth star, that Rickover "saluted me, who had only been a lieutenant." Then Nixon said, "Tonight, we are all proud because of his enormous achievements ... we are proud to salute him."

Mexico to lower petroleum prices

PARIS (AP) — Mexico has reportedly decided to lower its oil price, despite days of courting by OPEC nations hoping to avoid an international price war among petroleum producers.

Meanwhile, fears of drastically lower petroleum sent the price of gold tumbling on international markets.

Analysts blamed panic-selling for a plunge of $7 an ounce Monday in European trading. If countries with huge international debts, like Mexico, take in less revenue from oil exports, they might be forced to unload their gold assets, market-watchers say.

The oil ministers of Venezuela, Kuwait and Algeria met privately for an hour here Monday in the Kuwaiti Embassy with a Mexican oil official, sources in the respective embassies said.

The ministers would not identify the Mexican or disclose what was discussed.

In London, where Mexico's oil minister, Francisco Labastida Ochoa met with British officials, industry sources said Mexico had decided to go ahead with a price cut, which it delayed last week at Venezuela's request.

Officials in Mexico City refused to comment on the report.

Mexico, which is not a member of the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries, now charges $32.50 for a 42-gallon barrel of oil — below the $34 OPEC benchmark price but higher than the newly reduced prices set by Norway, Britain and Nigeria.

Oil ministers of Persian Gulf members of the once-mighty cartel have been trying to line up support for a uniform price to help OPEC keep its profits and clout in a sluggish market.

SMU scientists to reconstruct ancient whale

DALLAS (AP) — Bob Slaughter will have a whale of a tale when he returns from Egypt.

Slaughter will lead a group of Southern Methodist University scientists to Egypt next month to discuss reconstructing a huge, ancient whale that 42 million years ago swam in an ocean that covered what is now a desert.

Slaughter, director of the Shuler Museum of Paleontology at SMU, said the group will to discuss rebuilding the whale with officials of Cairo's new Museum of Egypt.

"This will be the largest animal ever reconstructed both skeletally and the way it appeared when it was alive," Slaughter said.

"I feel it is time to get away from the traditional Halloween-type museum skeleton and try to bring this magnificent animal to life for museum visitors," Slaughter said.

The Texas scientists plan a month-long expedition to Egypt's Western Desert, where the remains of the whale were found.

The desert was once covered by an ocean. Remains of sea creatures 42 million years old have been found in the desert, dating to a time when most of North Africa was covered with sea water.

Area Briefs

Doug Warren, a Big Spring High School senior, has been selected to receive a Permian Basin Scholarship.

The Permian Basin Scholarship Foundation, Inc. provides a minimum of $1,600 to qualified students who wish to attend an area college and the University of Texas of the Permian Basin over a four-year period.

Warren, son of Mr. and Mrs. Doug Warren, has chosen to study biology and computer programming. He is a member of the National Honor Society, Midland Naturalists and participates in cross-country track.

Susan Martin of Ackerly, a senior elementary education major at Angelo State University, has been selected to the 1983 edition of Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities.

She was one of 46 ASU students chosen based on academic achievements, service to the community, leadership in extracurricular activities and potential.

Nine Big Spring students received bachelor degrees and one received a law degree during winter commencement at Texas Tech University.

Receiving bachelor degrees were William Arencibia, Warren Rice, Samuel Morgan, Denise Young, Noel Gilstrap, Paula Sawyer, Johnny Mize, Lisa Thomas and Huu Phu.

Donna K. Webb received a law degree.

"HAVE YOU TRIED INSULATION?"

P&S Insulation can help lower fuel bills

Today's home-buyer is justifiably worried about spiraling heating and cooling costs — for this year, and the years to come.

Gas companies have estimated that the average residential gas bill will be $1,609 per year by 1990. That's a 317 percent increase during this decade.

The problem is that a lot of your hard-earned fuel-buying dollars are going through the roof, unless your house is properly insulated.

Big Spring's P&S Insulation wants to help. Managed by Pat and Sue Warren, P&S Insulation will come to your home to check out the trouble spots. They'll fill every heat-leaking crack and crevice with pure white Insul-Safe II, the noncombustible fiberglass insulation from Certain Teed.

Insul-Safe II is designed to make a big difference in your fuel bills — a difference you'll feel during the coming cold months. Not only will it provide protection today for tomorrow's high energy costs, but it's quality means excellent value. Because it's fiberglass it won't rot or decay, and won't cause any odors.

P&S Insulation will also show you how to qualify for a federal income tax credit. It's a fact. A well-insulated home can cut the cost of heating bills. But it can also cut air-conditioning costs in the summer months. The cost of insulation will be offset by these savings. It will pay for itself.

So give Pat and Sue Warren a call at P&S Insulation today. Their phone number is 267-1264. Call them before the cold weather really sets in.

Dr. Donohue

Why older means colder

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: Because age tends to creep up on us, I guess some of the problems associated with age do also. I am thinking in this winter season about hypothermia. I recall you writing about this. Could you give us a timely update on the problem of hypothermia? Why does the body lose its ability to stay warm this way? — Mrs. P.L.

Yes, low body temperature (less than 95 degrees) can creep up on a person almost imperceptibly, both in terms of a person's age and also in how episodes occur. There are three ways we keep our surface skin warmed, and they all tend to decrease with age. One is shivering, which is nothing more than tiny muscle contractions that generate heat. As we lose muscle mass with age, that mechanism is less effective. Another has to do with surface blood vessels. Normally, they contract nicely to preserve heat. Again, this ability tends to lessen with years. Finally, there is diet. As we age we just do not take in as many heat-generating calories.

All this leaves older people easy prey to hypothermia, and if a home is left much below 68 degrees, the elderly can easily develop the problem. I can't really add much to the previous discussion. You have to make sure the body as well as the home is well-insulated. Lightweight layers of clothing are more efficient heat preservers than single, bulky garments. Two pairs of socks (wool over cotton) are better than a single, bulky pair. The head should be covered, including the ears. Much body heat is lost through the head.

What symptoms should the elderly person look for? They include things like fatigue, incoordination, weakness, general apathy. If hypothermia progresses, it can even lead to coma.

Mrs. P.L. asks me about hypothermia in air travel. I would not worry about that. Cabins are usually kept quite warm. If you do feel chilly, the cabin crew will supply a blanket for you.

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: I am an elderly woman who has very hot feet. It is almost unbearable. What causes this? Can vitamins bring it on? — Mrs. G.M.

There are several possible causes of hot feet. Disturbance of nerves can cause it — as from diabetes, for example. Thiamine (one of the B vitamins) deficiency can bring it on, but I should note that this would be rare, since we get a good supply of that vitamin in foods fortified with it. However, in alcoholics, who get an abnormal diet, this is a possibility.

One of the rarer causes of burning feet is erythromelalgia, which becomes more pronounced with a rise in surrounding temperature. Along with the burning there is, with this, redness and pain. It often occurs at night when the feet are under covers. Keeping feet uncovered and wearing sandals help.

For people who have this tendency toward burning feet from moderately-increased temperatures, things like aspirin, prednisone, methysergide and propranolol have been tried. You might have your doctor look you over to try to track down one of the many conditions that can contribute to this problem. The booklet "Relief of Burning Feet" might be of some help. Other readers may obtain a copy by writing me care of the Big Spring Herald, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope and 50 cents.

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: I have been having a breast discharge. It looks rather clear, and I understand that means it is insignificant. Am I right? What kind of discharges are cause for a checkup? — S.C.

You tell me those initials stand for "still concerned," that's appropriate. Although most breast discharges mean nothing, the most prudent approach is to be examined. Terms like "clear" and "cloudy" can be pretty relative. Bloody discharge is usually the hallmark of cancer. A milky discharge may point to a problem of the endocrine glands. Cloudiness often means there is some infection present, and a greenish discharge is seen with cystic disease of the breast. A clear discharge can occur from many causes, even from a gentle chafing of undergarments.

BEDWETTER

LET THEM HAVE A DRY BED

The greatest gift you can give a bedwetter and the rest of the family, too, is an end to this serious problem, and make no mistake, bedwetting is serious. It can cause complicated psychological problems that last a lifetime. It's so needless because bedwetting, when not caused by organic defect or disease, can be ended. Send for our free brochure, "Bedwetting — What It's All About and How To End It," a report by two medical doctors. No obligation.

Dear Abby

CB plea for help may be wrong

DEAR ABBY: A woman signed "Sitting Duck" asked what to do should her car break down while she's alone late at night in the middle of nowhere. You told her if she had a CB radio she could call for help and thereby be a "lucky duck."

Abby, if this stranded lady called for help on her "CB" giving her exact location, she would be advertising to the world that she was alone and helpless!

Instead of the police officer, highway patrol person or good samaritan she hopes will come to her aid, a "bad guy" could pick up her damsel-in-distress signal and do her harm before help arrived. Then she'd be a "dead duck."

CAUTIOUS IN COLORADO

DEAR CAUTIOUS: Thanks for the warning. Many others wrote to say the same. Read on for another helpful item on the subject:

DEAR ABBY: Thanks for that column telling women what to do if they have car trouble while they're alone at night. You said, "Turn your emergency blinkers on, or lift the hood, to let passers-by know you have car trouble, then sit in your car with your windows rolled up and wait for help."

Abby, I wouldn't recommend getting out of the car even to lift the hood. I bought an inexpensive reflective banner with large red letters bearing the message: "Please Call Police." It should be placed on the inside of the back car window so the driver does not have to get out of the car. It also discourages would-be robbers or rapists from attacking because they might assume the police are already on their way!

The 3-foot reusable plastic banner folds up to glove-compartment size. To obtain one, call your local rape crisis center or hot line and ask if the organization has the banners for sale. If it does not, you can obtain a banner by sending a $4 tax-deductible donation to: The Los Angeles Rape and Battering Hotline, 543 North Fairfax Ave., Los Angeles, Calif. 90036.

GLAD I HAVE ONE

DEAR ABBY: We had a family dinner at our home. Our son brought a girl from another state as his guest. When we gathered at the table for the blessing, his guest — a total stranger — remarked, "Another pagan gesture!"

I immediately retorted, "Pagan?" There was instant silence. I then proceeded with the blessing as best I could — visibly shaken.

The rest of the day went smoothly. In your opinion, how should this have been handled, and am I due an apology?

I AM APPALLED

DEAR APPALLED: Welcome to the thorny thicket of "free speech," often honored more in theory than in practice. You honored it. Now let it go.

Anniversaries

MR. AND MRS. GEORGE SMITH
...celebrate silver anniversary

Mr., Mrs. Smith

George and Elizabeth Smith celebrated their 25th wedding anniversary during a surprise party held in their honor Saturday at 7:30 p.m. The party, held at their home at 606 Bell, was hosted by their daughter and her husband, Mr. and Mrs. Bobby Bradberry, their daughter Lisa Smith, and their son and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Danny Smith, Lubbock.

Smith was born in Big Spring, and his wife, the former Elizabeth Largent, was born in Forrest La. They met at a bank in Big Spring and were married by the Rev. C. W. Parmenter.

The couple has resided in Big Spring since their marriage. In addition to their three children they have one grandchild.

Smith works as an electrician at Cosden. Mrs. Smith is the librarian at Moss Elementary School.

The couple enjoys camping.

MR. AND MRS. CLAYTON WEATHERBY
...celebrate 35th anniversary

Mr., Mrs. Weatherby

Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Weatherby celebrated their 35th wedding anniversary Sunday in the home of their daughter, Brenda S. Powers, 1512 Tuscon.

Other hosts are their son, Fred C. Weatherby II, Route 1, and daughter, Ruby Moseley, 1504 A Wood. The couple's other sons are Luther Weatherby, Odessa, and the late Albert Lee Weatherby.

Weatherby, a native of Arlington, met his wife, the former Aubrey Riggins, through her brother-in-law, who introduced the couple.

Mr. and Mrs. Dalton Hamby
...to celebrate 60th anniversary

Mr., Mrs. D. Hamby

Mr. and Mrs. Dalton Hamby, 1004 Sycamore, will have their 60th anniversary Friday. An open house to celebrate the event will be held Sunday from 2 to 4 p.m. Friends and relatives are invited. Hosting the event are Eunetta McAnally and Winona Fincher, daughters of the couple.

The couple was married in 1923 in the home of "Brother Willey" at Center Point. Paul Morris and his wife-to-be, the former Loucell Harris, were witnesses. The couple has lived in Big Spring 21 years. They have seven children: Marie White, Ozona; Elton Hamby, Aztec, N.M.; Edith Mandry, Bandera; Winona Fincher, Midland; Eunetta McAnally, 1004 Sycamore; Myrna Unbehend, Anchorage, Alaska; Darel Hamby, Plano. The couple also has 25 grandchildren and 34 great-grandchildren.

Linda Ainsworth wins scholarship

Linda Ainsworth, Big Spring senior nursing major at West Texas State University in Canyon, is one of 10 seniors to receive the Don and Sybil Harrington Nursing Scholarship this spring semester.

Four freshman and 10 senior West Texas State University nursing students have received Don and Sybil Harrington Nursing Scholarships for the semester. Freshman students each received $600 renewal scholarships. Students must maintain a 2.5 grade point average on a 4.0 scale to renew the scholarship each semester. In addition, students have agreed to practice nursing in the Texas Panhandle area upon graduation. Senior nursing students received $300 scholarships. The students will graduate during the spring and summer commencement. The scholarship fund was created in 1981 by the Don and Sybil Harrington Foundation in Amarillo. Scholarships are awarded from the interest on a $175,000 donation used to create the fund. Full-time nursing students are awarded scholarships as incentive to practice nursing in the Texas Panhandle area upon graduation.

PUBLIC NOTICE

Notice is hereby given by the Parks and Wildlife Department that a public hearing will be held at 2 P.M. on March 24, 1983 at the County Courthouse at Big Spring for the purpose of gathering information concerning proposed hunting and fishing regulations for Howard County.

As the result of action by the Texas Legislature, the Texas Parks and Wildlife Commission, under the authority of the Uniform Wildlife Regulatory Act, Chapter 61, Texas Parks and Wildlife Code, is responsible for the setting of seasons, bag limits, means, and methods for taking the wildlife resources in Howard County. THE THREE BATS-A-STEERS — Big Spring High coach Frank Ibarra thinks his team will be stronger at the plate this season. Three reasons why are, from left, senior left fielder Alan Trevino — who also boasts great speed, consistent catcher Marty Rodriguez and line-drive hitting right fielder Tom Cudd.

Steer baseballers open in Andrews

By GREG JAKLEWICZ
Sports Editor

Hoping to keep the momentum of a championship season going, the Big Spring Steers travel to Andrews today for their 1983 baseball opener against Andrews. Adam Rodriguez, the senior right hander who was 5-1 in District 4-5A games last spring, will fire the first pitch for Big Spring. Four veterans are in the starting lineup for coach Frank Ibarra, who has a 36-24 record in two years at BSHS.

Back in starting roles are senior third baseman David Anguiano, senior left fielder Alan Trevino, senior right fielder Tom Cudd and junior catcher Marty Rodriguez. Cudd served as the team's designated hitter last year.

Rodriguez and those four defensive players around him helped guide the Steers to a 23-11 record and District 4-AAAAA title. Big Spring lost to Denton in bi-district, dropping a doubleheader in East Texas after winning the series opener at home.

The new faces in the lineup are junior first baseman Danny Arista, senior Matt Warren at second and sophomore Chris Lamb at shortstop. Joining Trevino and Cudd in the outfield is sophomore Jay Pirkle in center field.

Sophomore Mark Walker or senior Jinx Valenzuela will take over Cudd's spot as the designated hitter. Valenzuela, Pirkle and Cudd complete the starting mound corps for the Steers.

Big Spring has its home opener Friday at 10 a.m. against Abilene High when the annual District 4-5A baseball tournament begins play at Steer ballpark. The Eagles handed Big Spring three of its 11 losses last year.

league games before running off a 12-2 mark in district play. The Steers tied AHS for the first half title at 6-1 and then won the second half championship outright with a 6-1 mark. In between came a victory over Lamesa.

Big Spring begins defense of its first championship March 15 when the Steers return for a 4 p.m. ballgame.

Hawks clip T-Birds' wings

103-96 win puts HC in tourney

HOBBS, N.M. — No doubts. Call it a sweet victory. The Howard College Hawks fought hard and kept fighting to whip New Mexico Junior College 103-96 last night.

It was the final game in the new Western Junior College Athletic Conference tournament, and it gave the Hawks a spot in the Region V tournament this week. They will play McLennan Community College Thursday night in Midland.

"It was an intense game, but it was one of our better-played games," Hawk Coach Harold Wilder said of the victory. "The lead flowed back and forth, but there was no commanding lead."

The Hawks and Thunderbirds were tied 42-42 at halftime. With between five and two minutes to play in the game, the lead changed hands each time down the court, Wilder said.

"We were ahead 95-94 with two minutes to go," Wilder said. "The last eight points were made on free throws by (Maurice) Hoskins."

Leon Issac led the scoring for the Hawks with 26 points. Following him were Dwight Harris with 23, Nate Givens — 20, Reggie Childress — 13, Hoskins — 8, Willie James — 5, Danny Grayson — 4, and Antoine Morris — 2.

The key to the game, Wilder said, was Leon Issac's defense of the Thunderbirds' Kenny Smith. He was held to 12 points. "Keeping him quiet really helped us," he said.

LEON ISSAC
...defense praised

Dennis Johnson scored 29 points and Wallace Williams scored 28 for NMJC.

"They got ahead a number of times, but each time we answered and came back," Wilder said. "The team was really determined to win and they used good judgement."

The Hawks are now 23-10 on the season. The Thunderbirds finish 22-11 after the loss. The two teams played last Thursday, NMJC winning 90-88. Earlier in the season, Howard defeated the T-Birds 98-87 in a Big Spring game.

Wilder's squad is gearing up for the Region V game against McLennan Thursday night in Midland. The Waco junior college won their league, Wilder said.

Sampson, Ewing honored

NEW YORK (AP) — Virginia's Ralph Sampson, Georgetown's Pat Ewing and Memphis State's Keith Lee are among those chosen as players of the year for the U.S. Basketball Writers Association all-district college teams announced today for the 1982-83 season.

The players and coaches, respectively, from each of the nation's nine districts were:

- DISTRICT 1 — John Pinone, Villanova; Rollie Massimino, Villanova
- DISTRICT 2 — Pat Ewing, Georgetown; Lou Carnese, Georgetown
- DISTRICT 3 — Keith Lee, Memphis State; Lew Hill, Mississippi
- DISTRICT 4 — Ralph Sampson, Virginia; Dean Smith, North Carolina
- DISTRICT 5 — Randy Wittman, Indiana; Eldon Miller, Ohio State
- DISTRICT 6 — Steve Stipanovich, Missouri; Norm Stewart, Missouri
- DISTRICT 7 — Clyde Drexler, Houston; Guy Lewis, Houston
- DISTRICT 8 — Sidney Green, Nevada-Las Vegas; Jerry Tarkenton, Nevada-Las Vegas
- DISTRICT 9 — Kenny Fields, UCLA; George Raveling, Washington State

Cagey Cougars grab top spot in AP poll

HOUSTON (AP) — The Houston Cougars have scratched and clawed their way steadily up the college basketball ladder throughout the season and finally achieved the No. 1 ranking in The Associated Press poll.

So what happens in their first game after receiving the honor Monday in a tabulation of 58 sports writers and sportscasters?

They will put their No. 1 spot in jeopardy Thursday by traveling to Fayetteville, Ark., to meet fifth-ranked Arkansas in Barnhill Arena, where the Cougars have never won in seven tries.

The Cougars will take a 23-2 record and the nation's longest winning streak — 18 — into the game, but they will also carry the No. 1 jinx that has felled the six previous AP standard bearers.

Adding to Houston's misery is the fact that Arkansas Coach Eddie Sutton has lost only six of 106 games in Barnhill since becoming head coach eight seasons ago.

Houston players have chosen a "upper lip and business as usual" attitude. "I've been saying we were No. 1 since last Friday, so this is no big deal," guard Michael Young said. "I just have to keep playing our best and not let anyone get big-headed and play our regular game."

Benny Anders, dubbed "Instant Offense" for his off-the-bench performances, said the Cougars would ignore speculation of the rankings. "We were picked to win the (Southwest) conference last year and we didn't, and we were picked to win it again this year, and that's what we're aiming for now," Anders said. "The SWC is what's on our minds."

Virginia, currently rated No. 2 behind the Cougars, spent four weeks in the lead followed by Indiana, two weeks; Memphis State and UCLA, one week each, and North Carolina and University of Houston out-balled the Cavaliers 42-15 in first-place votes and had a 1,130-1,081 advantage in points.

Houston has not reached the No. 1 position in the AP poll since the Elvin Hayes-led Cougars won 31 straight games in 1967-68. The only other Southwest Conference team to gain the No. 1 distinction was Arkansas in 1978.

Louisville, 24-3, with victories last week over Wright State and Western Kentucky, jumped from fifth to third and Villanova, 20-4, moved from seventh to fourth ahead of No. 5 Arkansas, 24-1 and 13-1 behind the Cougars in the SWC.

UCLA, 21-3, drew the other first-place vote and took the No. 6 spot, followed by Kentucky, 20-5; North Carolina, 23-6; UNLV, 24-2, and St. John's, 23-4, to round out the top 10.

Completing the top 20 were No. 11, Indiana, 20-5; 12, Wichita State, 23-3; 13, Missouri, 22-6; 14, Ohio State, 18-7; 15, Boston College 20-5; 16, Georgetown, 19-7; 17, Memphis State 19-5; 18, Syracuse, 18-6; 19, Tennessee-Chattanooga, 21-3 and 20, Purdue, 18-6.

DRIVES TO TOP — University of Houston basketball coach Guy Lewis and wife, Deana, flash the top rank Monday in Houston after the Cougars were ranked No. 1 in the nation by the Associated Press College Basketball poll.

Koch caps comeback with Doral win

MIAMI (AP) — As late as last fall, Gary Koch was considering two career choices: either go back to the PGA Tour school or take up another line of work.

"I came to the stark realization that I had to make a decision," Koch said. "I'd backed myself into a corner where I either had to produce, and produce right now, or maybe even find something else to do."

He smiled broadly. "I'm glad it worked out the way it did. I kind of like doing this. It's a lot more fun than working," Koch said after he capped his comeback with a front-running, five-stroke victory Monday in the rain-delayed wind-up of the Doral-Eastern Open Golf Tournament.

The victory was worth $54,000 from the total purse of $300,000. And, only eight tournaments deep in the schedule, Koch already has surpassed his previous high money-winnings for an entire season. He now has $50,402.

"I can foresee the next few years being very good for me, the best of my career," Koch said after posting his 271 total, 17 strokes under par on the wind-lashed Blue Monster course at the Doral Country Club.

"I'm a little older, more mature, more relaxed now," he said. "I think my golf game is in better shape than it's ever been. And I'm more in control of myself than I've ever been."

Ed Fiori, who finished a distant second, seemed to agree.

"Gary just out-played us out there. We were never in contention. He only missed one shot all day. And by that time I was seven or eight shots down and it didn't matter," Fiori said.

Koch, who had established a four-stroke lead before Sunday's play was rained out, slammed the door to any would-be contenders with a last-round 70 — 2-under par — in gusty winds that prohibited any major challenge.

The conditions, Koch said, "provided me with the luxury of having my pars look pretty good."

No one ever got closer than four strokes and his margin ranged up to a high of seven. It was the third victory of his eight-year

Tour career, but his first in five years, a period in which he suffered a hand injury that plagued him for several seasons and then forced him to undergo an operation and re-structure his game.

As late as last fall he was in danger of losing his playing rights, but played well in the last five tournaments of the year and gained his spot in the all-exempt Tour. Now, he's also secured a position in such prestigious events as the Masters and Tournament of Champions.

"I've been saying for several months that the next win will be the best one. And it certainly is," he said.

"It's been so long. I've been through such adversity. There's been all the frustration, all the self-doubt. This is the best one."

George Burns had a 71 and was third at 277. Tom Kite and PGA champion Ray Floyd, each with a last-round 70, were at 278. Masay Kuramoto, who had the best round of the day at 68, was tied at 279 with Tom Purtzer, who matched par 72.

Third time to be charm for Billy in NY?

By WILL GRIMSLEY
AP Special Correspondent

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. — It's sweeter the third time around, concedes Billy "The Kid" Martin, starting his third hitch in eight years as manager of the New York Yankees.

"There's an awful lot of talent out there," he said, pointing a finger toward the locker room where some of the finest baseball beef money can buy was suiting up for another training session.

"I like what I see." A black Western hat lay upside down on the desk, cluttered with guides, charts and papers, including pitching rotation for the first exhibition games, starting here this weekend against the Baltimore Orioles.

A pair of black cowboy boots stood upright in the open closet. He wore only his skivvies except for a pinstriped Yankee shirt with a big "1" on the back.

Numero Uno. Make no mistake about it. The trail boss is back — still feisty but assured and more relaxed than friends have seen him in years.

A man at last, it seems, in charge of his destiny.

The cozy room just off the dressing quarters was filled with newsmen, most but not all longtime followers of the Yankee team.

"Is it true that you and George Steinbrenner have buried the hatchet?" asked one of the foreign guys.

"Yeah, we're sleeping together," snapped the little skipper.

He paused momentarily, as if regretting his spontaneous remark, and added:

"I've been thinking of mimeographing some sheets saying that everything between me and George is fine and passing them out."

"I don't mean you New York guys. I mean for all the outsiders. It would save me a lot of trouble. That's the question everybody will be asking."

Billy reached down and picked a small jar out of a bag. It contained two hard-boiled eggs. He broke one and began peeling the shell.

"No, I don't boil them myself. The guy back in the trailer (lunch trailer) fixes them for me," he replied to a question.

He filled his pipe from a can of Captain Black tobacco.

Routine questions came thick and fast. Martin fielded them all with grace.

"Yeah, the guys are pretty loose why shouldn't they be?"

"Lineup? There are guys out there who've never played for me. Ask me the week before the season."

With Steve Kemp and Don Baylor, a pair of free agents picked up over the winter at $5.5 million and $3.7 million, respectively, he knows he's going to have power in the meat of his lineup.

AFTER ALL THAT MONEY... San Diego Padres' equipment manager Ray Peralta, right, and clubhouse attendant Brian Prilaman display uniforms ordered by the team for first baseman Steve Garvey. Wilson Sporting Goods misspelled the million dollar free agent's name on both home and away jerseys...er, jerseys.

Baseball camps in full swing

By The Associated Press

As the major league baseball camps officially opened, several veteran players found themselves in new locales — or in new positions.

The most notable changes involved Steve Garvey and Don Sutton, a pair of former Dodgers who are beginning this season with new teams, and Bob Horner and Jack Clark, who will experiment at different positions.

All major league players were required to report by today, with the exhibition games beginning on Saturday. Garvey arrived in the San Diego Padres' training camp at Yuma, Ariz., while Sutton reported to the Milwaukee Brewers' base in Sun City.

"It's like my rookie year in 1970," said Garvey, 34, who signed with the Padres as a free agent during the off-season. "The excitement is there, the challenge is there."

The right uniform wasn't, however: The No. 6 uniform supplied him had his name spelled G-R-A-V-E-Y.

Sutton, who finished 1982 with the Brewers, pitching the division-clincher on the final day of the season, had no uniform problems. Nor does he expect to have any fitness troubles.

"The last thing I can afford at my age is to get out of shape and try to get back into it," said the 38-year-old Sutton, who has won 258 games in 17 major league seasons.

Sutton is aiming at winning 300, though he has set no goals for this season.

"A few years ago, I stopped setting short-range goals," he said. "I set some long-range goals. If I do everything in my power to reach the long-range goals, the short-range goals will take care of themselves."

Clark, the slugging right fielder with the powerful arm, might be moving from the outfield to first base. San Francisco Giants Manager Frank Robinson hasn't made up his mind on that switch, however.

USFL holds a fashion show

NEW YORK (AP) — Mike Friede, one-time New York Giants wide receiver, stood outside the hotel ballroom clad in white football pants and a red jersey with a big white "88" on it. The uniform of the New Jersey Generals.

"I feel a little silly dressed like this," he said as people in business clothes swirled around him. "All for the cause," he added.

The cause was a United States Football League fashion show, the latest in a long-running series of promotions by the USFL leading up to the opening of the league's first season on Sunday.

"I can't do any more," said USFL Commissioner Chet Simmons. "Now it's up to the players and coaches."

There were 12 players present, each modeling the uniform of his team.

College Roundup

"We know we're gonna really have to play well, but if the Aggies play like we did tonight, we'll be okay," Riley said.

The Aggies had little trouble with Texas, which took an early 3-point lead before A&M raced away. A&M led by 20 by halftime.

Texas Coach Bob Weltlich was disillusioned by yet another loss.

"It's tough sitting there and not being able to do anything," Weltlich said.

"There is such a big disparity in athletic ability at some positions. It's like they have a bunch of 9.2 sprinters going against our guys who are, say, 11.0, and that's not being disrespectful to our guys. It's just alarming to watch the difference in athletic ability. They simply can jump higher and run faster."

Tyren Nauls had 15 points for A&M. Reggie Roberts scored 12, Lowell McHenry had 11 and Kenny Brown added 10 for the Aggies.

Carlton Cooper led Texas with 19, while Bill Wendlandt and David Seitz scored 12 each.

Elsewhere, it was Providence 72, Pittsburgh 69; St. Bonaventure 68, Rutgers 66 in overtime; Furman 67, Virginia Military 64; Louisiana State 91, Florida 87; New Orleans 83; Middle-Tennessee 67; South Carolina 79, Florida State 76; Vanderbilt 71, Georgia 70; Tulsa 61, Illinois State 59 in overtime; Western Carolina 92, Davidson 74; Drake 75, New Mexico State 73; Evansville 83, Detroit 81 in OT; Oklahoma City 60, St. Louis 55; Long Island 77, Baltimore 68; Texas A&M 96, Texas 59; Colorado State 70, San Diego State 55; Hawaii 56, Air Force 55, and Mary Washington 100, St. Mary's, Md., 69.

In the only post-season conference tournament action, St. Peter's edged Fairfield 70-67 in the first round of the Metro Atlantic Conference play.

Ags topple Texas; take aim at Tech

By The Associated Press

Texas A&M's hopes for a third-place finish in the Southwest Conference could hinge on Saturday afternoon's game in Lubbock against Texas Tech.

The Aggies moved into a tie for the No. 3 spot Monday night with an easy 96-59 win over hapless Texas in a game played at College Station.

The win lifted the Aggies, 16-13 and 9-6 in SWC play, to a third-place tie with Texas Christian. Texas, which has won only one of 15 conference games, fell to 6-20 for the year.

Not long after his team celebrated the win, Aggie Coach Shelby Metcalf already was looking forward to the Tech contest.

"When A&M and Tech get together, those games have been the closest games that we've been involved in. They've got super fans. It'll be a big ball game. I know they have only eight players left, but... all eight of them can play.... I know we're in for the fight of our life," Metcalf said.

Claude Riley, who scored 20 points to lead the Aggies, also pointed to the pending Lubbock clash as crucial.

College Roundup

"We know we're gonna really have to play well, but if the Aggies play like we did tonight, we'll be okay," Riley said.

The Aggies had little trouble with Texas, which took an early 3-point lead before A&M raced away. A&M led by 20 by halftime.

Texas Coach Bob Weltlich was disillusioned by yet another loss.

"It's tough sitting there and not being able to do anything," Weltlich said.

"There is such a big disparity in athletic ability at some positions. It's like they have a bunch of 9.2 sprinters going against our guys who are, say, 11.0, and that's not being disrespectful to our guys. It's just alarming to watch the difference in athletic ability. They simply can jump higher and run faster."

Tyren Nauls had 15 points for A&M. Reggie Roberts scored 12, Lowell McHenry had 11 and Kenny Brown added 10 for the Aggies.

Carlton Cooper led Texas with 19, while Bill Wendlandt and David Seitz scored 12 each.

Elsewhere, it was Providence 72, Pittsburgh 69; St. Bonaventure 68, Rutgers 66 in overtime; Furman 67, Virginia Military 64; Louisiana State 91, Florida 87; New Orleans 83; Middle-Tennessee 67; South Carolina 79, Florida State 76; Vanderbilt 71, Georgia 70; Tulsa 61, Illinois State 59 in overtime; Western Carolina 92, Davidson 74; Drake 75, New Mexico State 73; Evansville 83, Detroit 81 in OT; Oklahoma City 60, St. Louis 55; Long Island 77, Baltimore 68; Texas A&M 96, Texas 59; Colorado State 70, San Diego State 55; Hawaii 56, Air Force 55, and Mary Washington 100, St. Mary's, Md., 69.

In the only post-season conference tournament action, St. Peter's edged Fairfield 70-67 in the first round of the Metro Atlantic Conference play.
