SCIENCE FAIR SWEEPSTAKES WINNER — Shelly Withrow, an Andrews High School senior, was awarded the sweepstakes honor at the Permian Basin Regional Science Fair today. The fair featured competition among 651 students this year. Ms. Withrow is now eligible to compete in the International Science and Engineering Fair in New Mexico in May.

An Andrews High School senior captured the Sweepstakes award at the Permian Basin Regional Science Fair awards ceremony this morning. Several Big Spring students also garnered top awards in the senior division competition. Big Spring High School winners in the senior division included Richard Thompson in the zoology division, Jerry Speight Grimes in environmental science, Martha Flores in biochemistry and Dana Kohl in chemistry.

Big Spring High School won the School Award for most first place winners.

Shelly Withrow of Andrews won the Sweepstakes with her zoology project titled "Electrical Stimulation of Regeneration." In addition to the Sweepstakes award, Ms. Withrow won a United States Department of Energy award and a United States Army Ribbon and Medal award.

A winner last year, she said she worked on her project since August using electrical current to determine if it would cause tissue to regenerate faster.

"I picked something I wouldn't be bored with every day," Shelly said.

Thompson, a BSHS sophomore in his first year of competition, won several special awards, in addition to first in zoology, with his study on the hibernation of ants.

Richard said he spent three months working to determine if ants hibernate.

"They stay active in warmth, but hibernate when it gets below 70 degrees," Richard said.

Richard won the Entomological Society of America Award, a certificate of achievement from the U.S. Army and a U.S. Air Force award.

Grimes, a BSHS senior, won first in the environmental division with his project dealing with the effects of electromagnetic current on growth. Grimes said the idea for his project came from an "Omni" magazine article.

"I don't always trust what 'Omni' says, so I decided to do the experiment," Jerry said.

Another BSHS sophomore took top honors in the chemistry division. Ms. Kohl said she spent 15 weeks studying the effects of ultraviolet light on crystal growth.

"I've won certificates before, but this is my first place," she said.

This was her fourth year to compete in the science fair, she said. She also received an Air Force award.

Ms. Flores said she spent about five months working with the regeneration of planaria using vitamin A. She took first place honors in the biochemistry division.

"The use of vitamin A made a difference in the regeneration process," Martha said.

She grabbed a U.S. Air Force award also.

BSISD agrees on magnet

Trustees approve special Bauer curriculum

By BOB CARPENTER
Staff Writer

The Big Spring school board yesterday approved a general curriculum outline proposed for the Bauer Magnet School by a special steering committee.

Trustees adopted a list of academic areas and classes to be used on the campus in the coming year. However, decisions on specifics such as class times, personnel and classroom renovation will come later.

Superintendent Lynn Hise told the board it will be impractical to detail the curriculum until registration for classes is held later this spring. He recommended the board adopt the program so it can be presented to the Department of Justice for approval.

The Magnet School was implemented to satisfy a 1980 suit filed by the justice department over racial imbalance in the district.

"We can't make those type of decisions (specifics) until we have some information back for registration," Hise said. "As we move into this and see what the kids' interests are, we can see what its going to take to get it in place."

Hise said once the results of the registration are known, the administration will tailor plans to meet the students' needs and then present the finished program to the board.

No time has been set for registration, but it will probably be in April.

The areas adopted by the board are as follows by priority: academics, fine arts, vocational, leisure (hobbies), recreation-sports and miscellaneous including first aid, newspaper publishing and video taping.

Computer classes, science, math, foreign language, language arts, reading and cultural studies were highlights of the academic area.

Fine arts included art, music, musical instruments, drama and dance, while the vocational program listed career education, shop classes and homemaking.

The leisure area included hobbies such as photography, puppetry, crafts, local history and spelling bee preparation.

Recreation contained the usual array of sports.

Hise said most of the classes will be implemented on the campus; however, all might not be included during the first year.

Oilmen told to solve problems

By MIKE COCHRAN
Associated Press Writer

MIDLAND (AP) — Raising the specter of an "American energy tragedy," a Texas oil official told industry executives Thursday to stop quibbling among themselves and solve the country's critical energy problems.

"The energy needs of America ... are at stake," declared Mack Wallace, chairman of the Texas Railroad Commission.

"They are in jeopardy not because of a current scarcity of oil and gas resources, but because of petty partisanship and regional bickering.

"Price, instead of principle, has become the rule as one region of the country tries to outmaneuver the other," he said.

Wallace led off the commission's annual "state of the industry" meeting in which oil and gas company representatives tell the state regulatory agency what's right and wrong about America's energy policies.

As usual, the commission set the state's April oil rate allowable at 100 percent of potential and listened to repeated demands for decontrol of the oil and gas industry. "My opposition to federal pricing controls on the energy resources of this nation is longstanding," Wallace told the assemblage.

"...Like it or not, our natural gas prices are being set by the Congress, and our oil prices are being set by Saudi Arabia. I resent it. I believe the American people resent it."

He said it is time the country's energy needs were placed on the highest plane of national interest.

America's energy policies, he said, are routinely conceived in an "atmosphere of panic" during periods of gas and oil shortages or gluts.

"I cannot believe that we once again are reacting to a panic. ... I cannot believe we are willing to see our economy, our domestic stability and our national security imperiled again," he said.

He said price controls must be removed to remedy the "sorry natural gas problem" while increased oil exploration and production is necessary to end America's dependence on foreign sources.

Artists benefit rehab center

Top-name artists from throughout the Southwest will be in Big Spring Saturday night for a special showing benefiting the Dora Roberts Rehabilitation Center.

The exhibit, held in conjunction with the Dora Roberts Rehabilitation Center Community Week, will be at the Brass Nail Club beginning at 7 p.m.

Among the artists will be Andrew Wilkes, a bronze sculptor from Hereford, Mittag, a Western and Southwest landscape painter from Abilene, Rheata Peeler White, a famous artist from Amarillo.

Wilkes' bronzes are originally done in wax, although he has worked with clay and wood. The sculptures are cast at Malone Foundry which he owns and operates.

All of his major pieces are in limited editions of 25-30. He says he prefers the realistic style, and his most recent subjects include a wildlife study of mallard ducks and a wall plaque of an eagle titled "Isaiah 40:31."

His work has been exhibited at the Big Spring Arts and Crafts Festival and other major auctions throughout the state. He was the feature artist for the Top O' Texas Festival in 1980 and has twice received an Award of Excellence at the Texas State Arts and Crafts Fair.

Mittag favors Western landscapes in his paintings, but wildlife and architecture are also prominent.

He has been invited to appear at the George Phippen Western Art Show in Prescott, Ariz., the Beef Empire Western Art Show in Garden City, Kan., The Fort Robinson Western Art Show in Crawford, Neb., the Western Heritage Art Fair in Littleton, Colo., and the World's Richest ARTIST HERE — Andrew Wilkes, a bronze sculptor from Hereford, Texas, will be among several artists presenting a special showing in Big Spring Saturday night at the Brass Nail to benefit the Dora Roberts Rehabilitation Center.

Roping and Western Art Show in Chelsea, Okla.

Ms. White's paper, canvas and copper works portray the scenic beauty of West Texas and New Mexico. Her works are in several private collections in the U.S. and 17 foreign countries.

Other artists participating in the show are Roland Rose of Andrews, David Brownlow of Fort Worth, George Boutwell of Austin, Marianne Caroselli of San Marcos and Jerry Seagle of Austin.

A few reservations for the show are available from the rehabilitation center.

DON YARBROUGH ... won't waive extradition

Yarbrough fights extradition

AUSTIN (AP) — Texas officials were to go to court today to seek to bring former Texas Supreme Court Justice Don Yarbrough back from the Caribbean to face a five-year prison term for perjury.

At a brief hearing Thursday, Yarbrough refused to waive an extradition hearing and return to Texas, claiming he had been "kidnapped" by U.S. officials.

A U.S. district judge on the island of St. Thomas rescinded the $200,000 bond that had been set for Yarbrough, ordering him held until the extradition proceedings are complete.

Texas officials flew to St. Thomas Wednesday night after learning that U.S. marshals had arrested Yarbrough, who was attending medical school classes on the island of St. Vincent.

Yarbrough had been beyond the reach of U.S. officials in Grenada, where he moved with his wife and three children in 1980. The U.S. has no extradition agreement with the Marxist government of that independent Caribbean nation, but when Yarbrough ventured to St. Vincent in the U.S. Virgin Islands, he was arrested.

At the hearing Thursday, Yarbrough's court-appointed attorney requested time to look over extradition documents, and the proceedings were put off until 9 a.m., CST, Friday morning.

Yarbrough, 41, served only eight months as a Texas Supreme Court justice. He resigned amid controversy over his qualifications to hold the job. Then his legal problems escalated.

He became a fugitive in 1981 when he failed to appear for formal sentencing here after his appeal of his perjury conviction failed. He now also faces possible additional penalties on a bail-jumping charge.

Four weeks ago, Yarbrough moved to St. Vincent to begin his fifth semester as a medical student at the Kingstown Medical College, an affiliate of St. George's University School of Medicine in Grenada, according to school officials.

While in Grenada, Yarbrough had audited four semesters of lectures at the private American medical school without being officially enrolled as a student.

While his family remained in Grenada, Yarbrough shared an apartment with two other students about three miles from Kingstown, the capital of St. Vincent, and commuted daily to school by rented car.

Yarbrough was on his way to class Wednesday morning when island detectives stopped the small brown Mazda car and told Yarbrough he was wanted for questioning, officials said.

Later, Yarbrough was handed over to U.S. marshals, who took him to St. Thomas aboard a plane chartered by the state of Texas.

Allan Wiggins, one of the U.S. marshals who arrested Yarbrough, told the Austin American-Statesman that Yarbrough was "quiet and passive" and concerned about going back to Texas.

Travis County Sheriff Doyme Bailey, Travis County Assistant District Attorney Bill Willms and gubernatorial assistant Gilbert Pena flew to St. Thomas Wednesday night to file the extradition papers.

Yarbrough was sentenced after a Travis County grand jury found that he had lied to them when he denied discussing killing a witness in a forgery case. The discussion had been recorded by law enforcement authorities, officials said.

Yarbrough was convicted of perjury but released on $5,000 bond pending appeal. He lost the appeal in 1981 and did not show up for sentencing.

He became a state Supreme Court justice after a 1976 election considered by many political observers to have been a case of mistaken identity.

Many voters said they thought the Houston attorney, who said God told him to run for the office, was either the Don Yarbrough who ran for governor in the 1960s or former U.S. Sen. Ralph Yarborough.

Suspected Cisco murder weapon found

CISCO (AP) — A shotgun believed used in the slaying of the wife of Mayor Pro Tem Loyal Lundstrom has been found, but authorities remained tight-lipped about any other details of the case.

Lundstrom remained jailed in lieu of $100,000 bond today following his arrest on a murder warrant Wednesday at the Dallas-Fort Worth Regional Airport.

District Attorney Emory Walton refused to reveal any information about the weapon, other than to say, "I think it was found within the last week."

Officials said Lundstrom could remain jailed until the end of the month before learning whether he will be indicted in the slaying of Doris Lundstrom, 27.

Eastland County Sheriff Johnnie Morren said no effort has been made to post the $100,000 bond under which the city official was jailed after turning himself in Wednesday — 13 days after he disappeared.

Mrs. Lundstrom's body was found at the motel the couple operated in this West Texas town. An autopsy indicated the woman died March 3, the same day Lundstrom disappeared after leaving their children in the care of a minister.

Lundstrom, 59, contacted police through an unidentified intermediary, Cisco Police Chief Randy Whittle said.

Officers were waiting when Lundstrom arrived at Dallas-Fort Worth Regional Airport on an Eastern Airlines flight from Oklahoma City about 8 a.m.

It wasn't until Lundstrom disappeared and a nationwide hunt began that Texas authorities — and Cisco residents — learned that Doris Lundstrom's death came 14 years after a Minnesota court overturned Lundstrom's conviction for killing his first wife, authorities said.

Walton said the case probably will go before a grand jury scheduled to meet March 30 at the latest.

Walton traveled to Dallas Thursday with Police Chief Randy Whittle as part of their investigation, said a Cisco police officer.

Whittle and Walton said Wednesday they anticipated no additional arrests in the case, but the police chief said investigators still had "several things we're going to work out."

Meanwhile, the future of Lundstrom's city council seat remained unclear.

"Technically, officially, he's still a member of the council," said Mayor Eris Ritchie. "We, of course, are all very regretful of it. We had no negative impressions of his dealings or actions on the council."

Lundstrom was freed in 1969 from a Minnesota state prison where he served 18 months for a first-degree manslaughter conviction in the death of his first wife, Walton said.

Helen Lundstrom, 41, died in October 1967 at a lakeside resort operated in Merrifield, Minn., 150 miles northwest of Minneapolis.

Lundstrom told authorities his wife hit her head against a wall during an argument between the couple. Authorities, however, contended she was strangled.

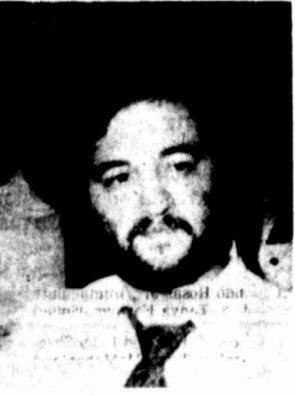

In 1968, Lundstrom was convicted of first-degree manslaughter and was sentenced to an indeterminate term not to exceed 15 years. The conviction was overturned in 1969 and prosecutors opted not to try the case again.

Companion indicted in Belushi's death

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Part-time rock singer Cathy Evelyn Smith, believed to be the last person to see comedian John Belushi alive, has been indicted on murder and other charges stemming from his death, it was reported Thursday.

CATHY EVELYN SMITH

... part-time rock singer indicted on murder charges stemming from comedian's death

Ms. Smith, who moved to Toronto shortly after Belushi's drug overdose death on March 5, 1982, was indicted by a county grand jury that had been hearing testimony on Belushi's death periodically since last September, City News Service quoted her attorney as saying.

Brian Greenspan of Toronto told the news service in a telephone interview that he learned of the indictment from "sources" he did not identify.

There was no answer at Greenspan's home or office

Thursday night.

Local television station KNBC-TV also reported that Ms. Smith has been indicted on "multiple" charges, but did not specify the charges.

"I won't confirm that," district attorney spokesman Al Albergate said of the reports. Albergate had previously said an indictment in the case might not be announced until after an arrest.

The KNBC report said authorities were en route to Canada to seek Ms. Smith's extradition, but Police Department spokesman Officer Sergio Diaz said, "No one from our department is en route to Canada." The Police Department has been the investigating agency in Belushi's death.

The grand jury inquiry was spurred in part by the June 1982 publication of a National Enquirer article in which the 35-year-old Ms. Smith was quoted as saying she injected Belushi with the cocaine-heroin "speedball" that caused his death at age 33.

The Enquirer gave police six to eight hours of tape recordings made by the reporters who interviewed Ms. Smith. Deputy District Attorney Michael Montagna, who presented evidence to the grand jury, said the tape confirmed "in substance" the contents of the Enquirer story.

But Ms. Smith later said through her attorneys that the Enquirer story was inaccurate, and that Enquirer reporters had plied her with drugs and liquor when they interviewed her in Toronto.

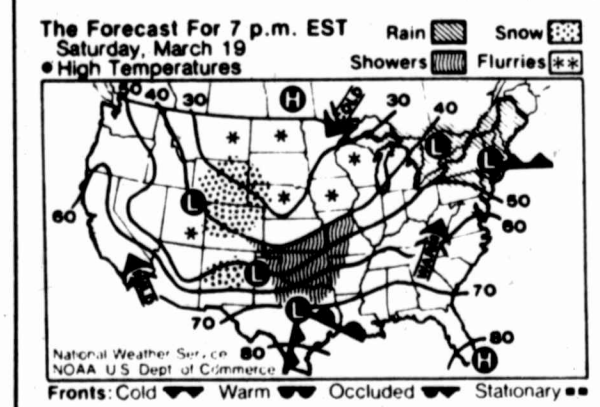

Belushi's manic characterizations were a mainstay of television's "Saturday Night Live" and such films as "The Blues Brothers" and "Animal House."

His body was found by his physical trainer in a $200-a-day bungalow at the Chateau Marmon hotel on Hollywood's Sunset Strip. A coroner's report said the immediate cause of death was "acute cocaine and heroin intoxication." It was ruled accidental.

But the district attorney reopened the case, initiating the grand jury probe in September.

Witnesses before the grand jury included comedian Robin Williams, who reportedly also was with Belushi the night before he died, and two Enquirer reporters who interviewed Ms. Smith.

Weather

Snowy Panhandle, cloud-covered plains

By The Associated Press
Light snow fell over the Panhandle early today as a high-pressure ridge pushed southward into Texas. Low clouds covered the plains northwest of a Midland to Wichita Falls line and a band of high clouds moved over the trans-Pecos region. The remainder of the state was clear.

Early morning temperatures fell into the 20s in the Panhandle and South Plains, with 30-degree readings across West Texas and temperatures in the 40s over most of the rest of the state. The extremes at 4 a.m. were 28 at Amarillo and Lubbock and 53 at El Paso.

West Texas: Warmer today. Considerable cloudiness Panhandle becoming partly cloudy elsewhere. Partly cloudy and not as cold most sections tonight. Partly cloudy and warmer southeast Saturday, but increasing cloudiness and colder with scattered showers and thunderstorms southwest and north. Highs today upper 40s Panhandle to near 70 south, except mid-70s Big Bend valleys. Lows tonight in the 40s except near 30 Panhandle. Highs Saturday low 40s north to mid-60s southwest with mid-70s southeast.

'Special Bulletin' requires NBC's special precautions

NEW YORK (AP) — The producer of "Special Bulletin" says NBC is ruining his movie, in which a fictitious network news department reports on a terrorist nuclear bomb threat.

Concerned that some television viewers might be fooled by the simulated coverage of the threat to blow up Charleston, S.C., NBC on Thursday ordered "cautionary procedures" designed to reassure viewers of "Special Bulletin" on Sunday night.

Some of those disclaimers include written and verbal messages following commercial breaks, emphasizing that the movie is fiction and not an actual news event, and the advisory, "A Dramatization," placed on the screen during "climactic portions of the program."

"Special Bulletin" was taped like an actual news production, rather than filmed, to add to the realism.

The fictional RBS network frequently interrupts regular programming for reports from Charleston, where a docked tugboat is carrying a nuclear bomb, the terrorists and a TV correspondent who can broadcast live on the network.

Producer Don Ohlmeyer, reached at his home in Hawaii, said he was dismayed by NBC's last-minute treatment of his film. "The only way to do this movie is realistically," he said. "The answer is not to destroy the picture."

Houston cops get legal shot at deer

HOUSTON (AP) — Bambi and his friends ha better stay off the runways at the Houston Intercontinental Airport. Police there have been given permission to shoot any deer that wanders out of the woods at the 8,000-acre airport complex.

Carl Covert, the regional director of the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department law enforcement section, said he approved a permit that would allow 12 airport policemen to legally shoot any deer that roams onto the runways.

Houston Aviation Director Paul Gaines requested the permit because the deer have become so accustomed to the noise of the airport that they couldn't be scared away.

"Measures to scare them away with other noise have not been successful," he said.

Gaines said two deer were killed a year ago when they were struck by an airplane on the runway.

The permit, which is good for the next three or four months, said Covert, will allow the airport police to shoot deer on the runway, but the officers will not be allowed to stalk the animals in the extensive forest land that borders the runways.

Houston applied for the permit earlier this month and Aviation Department spokesman Frank Ward said the report has prompted calls from citizens.

Some of the callers, he said, wanted to save the animals. Others, however, offered to shoot the deer for police.

Ward said one group suggested a roundup of the deer using helicopters and nets.

"The hazard created by helicopters (at the airport) might far outweigh the hazard of the deer," said Ward.

Covert said he has suggested the use of a bait-and-net program to corral the deer and then move them to reserves in East Texas. This, he said, would permit hunters to shoot the animals during the fall hunting season.

Ward said the bait-and-net scheme may be tried later, but said it would not work now because there is so much natural food available to the deer.

Construction union agrees to pay cuts

HOUSTON (AP) — An agreement was announced Thursday that will cut 15 percent the wages received by basic construction craftsmen on all locally-financed public works.

Gale Van Hoy, executive secretary for the Houston-Gulf Coast Building and Trades Council, said the agreement was struck in an effort to open to union members jobs which have in the past been difficult to get because of the prevailing wage scale.

The adjustment for union workers on non-federal public works projects would drop the wage from $17.56 an hour to $14.93 an hour. The agreement will cover about 40,000 members of the council and include all of the basic trades groups, such as carpenters, cement masons and iron workers.

"The unemployment situation here has made us more diligent in our search of work for some of our members," said Van Hoy.

Union members seldom got public works project jobs in the past, he said, because of the prevailing wage scale. Non-union workers could be hired by contractors for less, he noted.

By adjusting the scale for such projects, said Van Hoy, it is hoped that contractors using union labor will have a chance of winning bids on the projects.

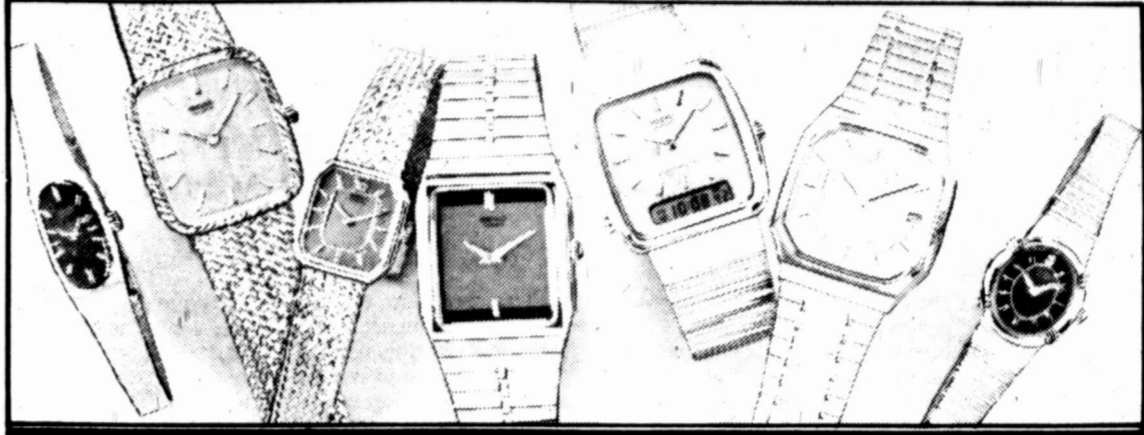

The agreement also eliminates some work rules, including the right to strike, to have coffee breaks and to give premium wages for special skills.

Van Hoy said that the wages on federally-financed projects and construction that is paid for by private concerns will not be affected by the new agreement.

Parents want 3 teachers, principal fired

HOUSTON (AP) — "Grover's Corner," a method of discipline used against a 7-year-old second grader, has helped trigger a petition from angry parents who demand three teachers and a principal be fired.

Residents of the Windsor Village Elementary school area presented the petition to the Houston Independent School District board at a meeting Wednesday.

The petition, signed by about 400 people, stated, "Our children are being subjected to disciplinary measures psychologically damaging and socially demeaning. The administration and faculty of Windsor Village have not consistently reported disciplinary infractions to the parents."

Some of the disciplinary measures were described as "cruel and inhumane."

One example cited was the action of a teacher who banished second-grader Grover Crutch to a boxed-in cubicle that was called "Grover's Corner." The boy's mother claimed he was kept there during school hours for three months, but HISD officials said it was for less than a week.

The petition also alleged that two other teachers "isolated" 7- and 8-year-old children in deserted hallways for up to three hours and forced some children to eat lunch on the floor while academically advanced children were allowed to eat at lunch tables.

Elmae Browder, the teacher who created "Grover's Corner" has been "counseled," but no further action is planned, according to the HISD Superintendent Billy Reagan.

Dr. Donohue

Polycythemia rubra vera

Dear Dr. Donohue: Please give me some information on my condition, polycythemia rubra vera. I am 57. I cannot find much information on this disease, except that it is a blood problem. I have an intense itching with it. Can you comment? — F.W.

"Poly" means too many; the "cy" is a reference to blood cells; the "vera" means you have a true form of the problem.

Polycythemia means that the body is making too many blood cells — red cells as well as white cells and platelets, but chiefly red cells. It is a disease usually of mid-life and beyond. We don't know why it happens, but the symptoms usually are a ruddiness of the skin, sometimes with headaches and dizziness. Clots may form inside blood vessels, and the spleen enlarge. The skin itching is also a common symptom, and it can be an intolerable itch. This is due to a release of a histamine from some of the cells.

Early in the course of the illness all that may be necessary to do is to remove blood from their person from time to time. That keeps the blood count at normal levels. If the illness becomes worse, radioactive phosphorus may be used to stop overactivity of the bone marrow, which is where blood cells are made. Other agents have been used — life busulfan and cholrambucil.

From what you tell me (other parts of your letter) the itching sounds like the worst part of it all for you. You should avoid those hot baths. The itching will only be aggravated by them. Keep your bathwater on the tepid to cool side. It might not be comfortable for you at first, but you can get used to it. The results might be gratifying for you.

And antihistamines, like cyproheptadine, may alleviate some of the itch annoyance. Have you tried antihistamines? Ask your doctor about them.

Dear Dr. Donohue: I have a skin problem, and last week a specialist in dermatology diagnosed it as pitiriasis rubra pilaris. Would you please tell me something about this problem? Is there anything I can do or any medication I can take to help this go away? — J.H.C.

This problem is one seen frequently in children, although it can occur in adults as well. The rash comes on suddenly, the skin developing a reddish, thickened, pimple-like appearance. The pimples are flat and eventually coalesce into red patches.

What has the doctor who diagnosed this suggested? I can tell you that a variety of treatments has been tried to subdue this skin condition. One of the newer ones is large doses of vitamin A and that must be done under a doctor's guidance to be sure you don't get overdosed. Another is application of retinoic acid, a chemical related to vitamin A. Steroids have also been tried.

Dear Dr. Donohue: I am a 72-year-old man. I would like to know if it is unusual for a person to empty his bladder when he urinates? It seems that I don't empty mine completely. Your answer is very important for me. — E.S.

It is common for older men whose prostate gland has enlarged to have this problem. Flow from the bladder is being partially obstructed. It depends on just how much urine is being retained. Retention can lead to infection. And if the amount retained is more than 100 cubic centimeters, the bladder has to forcefully contract to get rid of it.

In time, that constant contraction can lead to bladder enlargement, which holds the potential for real voiding difficulties later. So it is best to deal with things as early as possible; corrections later may be more difficult.

The short answer to your question is that the retention and its seriousness depends on the amount being retained. Your doctor can evaluate that for you. Go in and have it done.

Herpes may be killing the sexual revolution, but having it doesn't mean the end of your life. Or the end of your sex life. In his new booklet, Dr. Paul Donohue separates the truth from the fiction about this controversial health problem. For your copy of "Herpes: Don't Panic," send one dollar and a stamped, self-addressed envelope to Dr. Donohue in care of the Big Spring Herald, P.O. Box 11210, Chicago, IL 60611.

VAMC notes nutrition month

"Say Yes to Less" is the message thousands of dietitians are promoting this month during the 11th annual national campaign for good nutrition and fitness.

Saying yes to less salt, fat and sugar supports recent scientific evidence that too much of the three food ingredients may not be good. Because of those dietary implications, advocates of National Nutrition Month (March), will promote the 1983 "Say Less to Less" theme in an effort to steer the public in a nutritionally wise direction.

"We're not telling people to eliminate salt, fat and sugar by any means," says Carole Caswell, a registered dietitian at the Veterans Administration Medical Center. "We want them to cut back if they consume excessive amounts."

Too much sugar and fat may lead to obesity and scientists have suggested that large amounts of salt and fat may increase the risk of heart disease.

"Cutting back only can improve chances for good health," Ms. Caswell says. Tips for nutritionally balanced eating include planning meals around minimum servings of the four major food groups — two servings of dairy foods, four to five ounces of protein-rich foods, such as chicken, fish, poultry, nuts or dried beans and peas; four servings of fruits and vegetables; and four servings of whole grain or enriched breads and cereals.

National Nutrition Month is sponsored by the American Dietetic Association and its affiliates in 50 states, the District of Columbia and Puerto Rico. With 47,000 members, ADA is the nation's largest group of nutrition professionals.

Dietitians at the VAMC have been hosting a Nutrition Week events this week. A display illustrating the ways to use less fat, less sugar and less salt has been set up in the lobby. Bulletin boards displaying the theme were set up, and patients were invited to nutrition classes.

Similar activities are being observed in other area hospitals.

Club to host bazaar in Coahoma

The Coahoma Extension Homemakers Club met March 3 at the Presbyterian Church in Coahoma for an Easter breakfast. Doris Hale was hostess. Virginia Tinner and Elizabeth Martin were co-hostesses.

Christeen Tindol gave an Easter devotional from the 20th chapter of St. John.

The club will sponsor a bazaar today and Saturday in the home of Mrs. Rufus Parks, 311 Ramsey Street, in Coahoma.

The door prize was won by Mrs. Ralph White. Roll call was answered with "A pet I used to have."

The next meeting will be April 13 in the home of Eloise Davis at 11:30 a.m. A luncheon will be shared.

Andrea (Andi) Denise Burns, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Burns, 501 Scott, was named Queen of the Downtown Lions Club Friday evening.

Miss Burns competed with six other young women to achieve the title. She is a five-foot nine-inch tall junior at Big Spring High School, where she has served as a Key Club Calendar girl, junior class secretary, French club secretary, Tri-Hi-Y vice-president and a member of the Student Council.

She is also a member of the Home Run Honeys and the National Honor Society. She's been named to Who's Who.

Her interests include art, dancing, politics, traveling, volleyball and tennis.

As Queen she will represent the Downtown Lions in district competition at Brownwood April 15. The winner there will advance to the State Convention in Victoria May 20.

Runner-up was Tammy Williams and Kim Jones. Other contestants were Amy Dwire, Dana Cannon, Tammy Smith and Eva Baucham.

Diabetes screening offered

Are you overweight, over 40 years old, under extreme stress or have a relative with diabetes?

one piece of pie (45 grams); and one cup of milk (12 grams.) Because of possible complications known diabetics will not be screened.

A free diabetes screening will be conducted by the Texas Nurses Association, District 24, from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. March 24. Testing will take place at the Medicine Shoppe, 1001 Gregg, with no appointment necessary.

"Our goal is to create awareness and educate the community through this simple, quick test which detects elevated sugar levels that occur in diabetics," says Clint Holloman, Medicine Shoppe pharmacist.

Poor vision, drowsiness, unexplainable weight loss, extreme hunger and slow-are some of the most common symptoms of diabetes.

Control of diabetes can be achieved through insulin injections, oral tablets, controlled diet, exercise, and periodic check-ups.

Dear Abby

Teen-age smoking sparks a warning

DEAR ABBY: My 14-year-old son sent away for your booklet "What Every Teen-ager Ought To Know," and I happened to pick it up. Your message on smoking was something I wish every teen-ager could read. You would be doing your young readers a big favor by printing it in your column. Will you please consider it?

MARK'S DAD
DEAR DAD: Consider it "considered." Here it is:
ON SMOKING

You certainly know by now what doctors say about smoking: that it contributes to lung cancer, heart disease and emphysema (impairment of breathing). In other words, it's bad for your health.

So, let's look at it as a habit. Smoking makes your breath smell, your clothes, (and you) stink and your fingers yellow. It's also expensive.

It makes non-smokers avoid you, particularly indoors. More and more, smokers are becoming social outcasts. It is, to put it bluntly, a stupid habit. It does nothing for you, a lot of things to you, and drives other from you.

If you want to smoke because you think it looks "grown-up" — don't. If you're sneaking it, how "grown-up" are you?

Boys, if you begin smoking to prove you are a man, 30 years later you will try to quit for the same reason.

Girls, a startling number of boys and men have told me they prefer girls and women who don't smoke.

So your grandfather smoke like a chimney and he lived to the ripe old age of 88? Well, good for Gramps. He was one of the lucky ones. Maybe you'll inherit Grandpa's luck. And maybe you won't. It's a fact that nicotine is habit-forming, causes cancer in mice, and it offends others, so what's the sense.

Millions of smokers already have kicked the habit. If you smoke, quit. If you don't smoke, don't start. Never mind that "everybody else" smokes. They don't. And even if they did why be as stupid as "everybody else?"

— Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I know a man who continuously makes dates with me only to show up at my regular "hangout" with another woman. He is very attractive and a real smooth talker.

I'd like to know how to handle him the next time he proposes a "date" because I've had better times at a funeral.

A FOOL IN FLORENCE, S.C.
DEAR FOOL: I am reminded of a little ditty I learned as a child:

"Fool me once, shame on you.
"Fool me twice shame on me."
The best way to handle him is to smother him with indifference.

Women plan book sale

Lynn Griffith of Color 1 Associates of Lubbock presented a program on color theory and use to members of the American Association of University Women recently. The group met in the home of Riette Kionka.

The program showed colors which are considered correct for individuals based on complexion, hair and eye color. Using several members and swatches of cloth and color shades and patterns, she demonstrated what was correct and wrong for each person. She said color should not overwhelm the person but should complement the person.

"You should see the person first, not the color they are wearing," she said.

After the program's conclusion, a brief business meeting was held. The maior topic of business was the book sale to be held at the Big Spring Mall March 26. It was announced that book donations are being taken at Shroyer Motor Company.

On March 19 there will be a work session at 603 Circle Drive from 10 a.m. until the work is finished. All members should bring their books to prepare for the sale. There will be another work session March 25 at the Mall to prepare for the sale.

The next meeting is March 21 at the Texas Electric Company Reddy Room at 7 p.m. The program will be "Taking Hold of Technology," presented by Ellen Galloway.

The business meeting will finalize plans for the book sale. This will include a work schedule. This is the organizations fund-raising project for its operations and philanthropy. Those who cannot attend the meeting, but who are willing to help with the book sale, are asked to call 263-6252, or 267-1437.

Skate-a-thon set to aid projects

Members of TARS (Teen Aid the Retarded) will sponsor a skate-a-thon Sunday from noon until 4 p.m. at the Skate Palace. The skate-a-thon is being sponsored to raise money for various activities locally and statewide sponsored by TARS.

Activities sponsored by TARS include bowling, swimming and other social events for mentally retarded citizens. Money will also be used to sponsor the Special Olympics.

For the person collecting the most pledge money, the Rink Grand Prize will be the winner's choice of an Atari video game, a ten speed bike or an AMFM stereo radio and cassette recorder.

For person's receiving pledges of $350 or more, prizes will be Precision Roller Skates, a Super Skate trophy and a Super Skate T-shirt. For pledges of $250 or more, prizes will be AMFM radio headphones, Super Skate trophy, and Super Skate T-shirts. For $125 or more, prizes are Super Skate trophy and Super Skate T-shirt; and $50 or more, Super Skate T-Shirts.

Pledge sheets may be obtained at the Skate Palace. Teen Aid the Retarded regularly works with retarded citizens in this area.

VETERAN AT 22 — Amy Grant signed a gospel music recording contract at age 15 and has impressive credits in the seven years since then, including a Grammy.

Gospel singer is in a hurry

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Gospel singer Amy Grant does not waste time. It took her only five hours to record a song for her first album. That was seven years ago when she was 15.

Since then, she has won a Grammy award for her album "Age to Age," one of the biggest selling gospel albums ever with 250,000 copies sold and more than six months on the charts as No. 1.

She also has been nominated for six Dove awards for gospel music and made a concert tour of Europe. And, in Tulsa, Okla., last year, her concert sold out more quickly than one by the Little River Band.

"I got an opportunity from God," says Miss Grant, the daughter of a Nashville physician who specializes in treating cancer.

Miss Grant was just 15 when Word Records heard a tape of her singing and signed her to a recording contract to do Christian music.

After graduating from high school, she attended Furman University in Greenville, S.C., and then Vanderbilt University in Nashville, where she majored in English. She dropped out last year after failing two courses. She was spending too much time singing at concerts, even though she took an electric typewriter on her concert dates to complete course assignments.

"I was living the life of two people," the soft-spoken singer said in an interview a few days before leaving on a cross-country concert tour. "It became a no-win situation. I plan to go back sometime."

Miss Grant, who attends an inner city, interdenominational church, has cultivated a loyal following among college and high school students and not just because of her age. There's an informality, yet a sincerity, to her music and manner that the young people seem to admire.

She started to believe in Jesus when she was 14, but rarely details the experience on stage. It is this testimony that has long been the cornerstone of many gospel music concerts.

"I don't feel like I'm a preacher," she says. "And I don't have the wisdom of a great teacher. But I'm honest."

Still, there is some soul-stirring from the stage. She talks about self-esteem, loneliness, friendship, seeing the best in others.

Miss Grant, who is married to singer-songwriter Gary Chapman, likes the work of some pop and rock 'n' roll musicians, especially Kenny Loggins, the Doobie Brothers, Quincy Jones, Boz Scaggs and the late Buddy Holly.

But she feels most comfortable singing contemporary Christian music. "It's not just a style. It's a lifestyle," she says.

Houston champ steer disqualified

HOUSTON (AP) — A teen-ager has not explained why he left his steer with a veterinarian for two months, an act which led to the animal's disqualification as the grand champion at the 1983 Houston Livestock Show and Rodeo, a show official says.

Clifton Smith, 18, said only that he had left the 1,255-pound Chianana steer with the Cordell, Okla., animal doctor "much longer than he had intended to," Leroy Shafer, the show's assistant general manager, said Thursday.

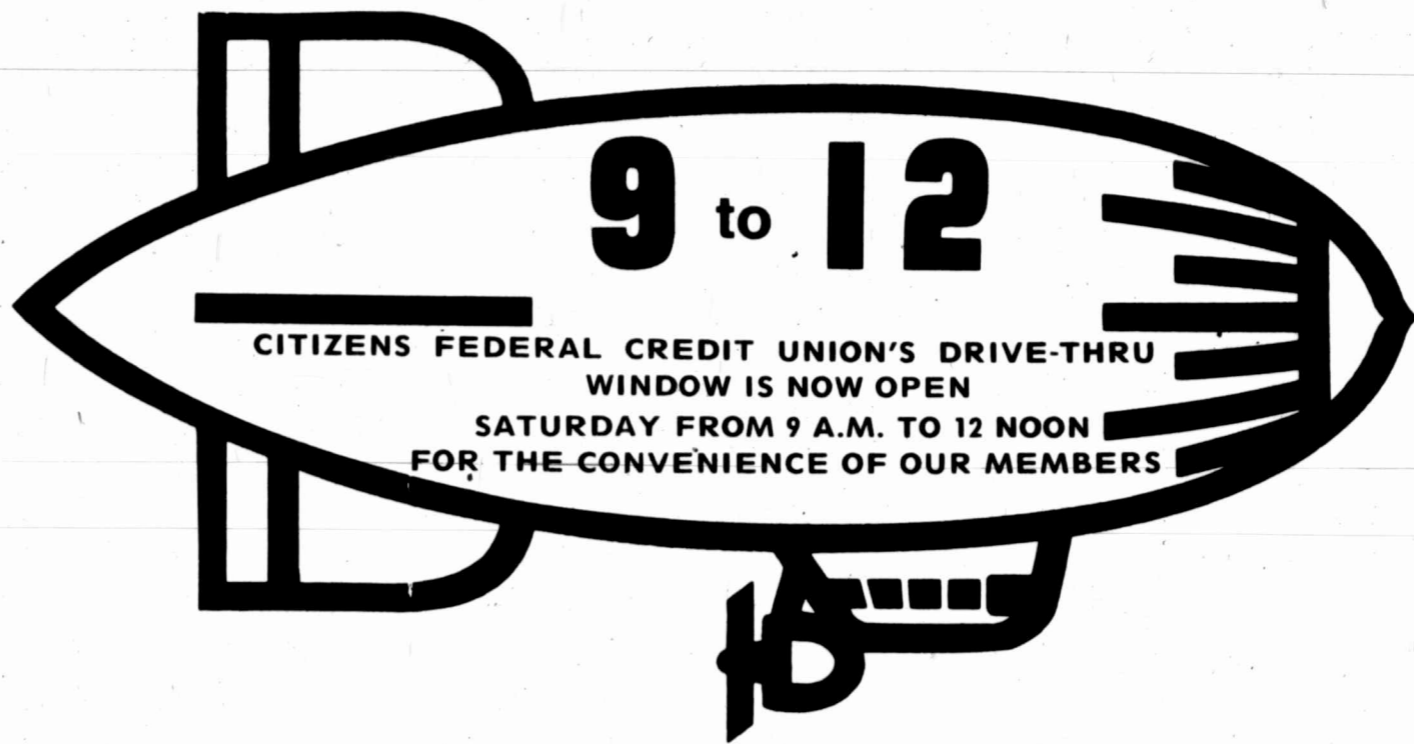

Show rules require exhibitors to feed and care for their animals personally from July 1 of the previous year until the beginning of the livestock show. Shafer said Thursday's announcement marked the first disqualification in the show's 51-year history. He said Smith, of Lyford, admitted the violation Wednesday night when show officials confronted him in Harlingen.

"I don't know that we can say what he gained by the violation," Shafer said. Smith told KTRK-TV Thursday he was not aware he was breaking a rule when he left the animal with the vet.

Lutheran Church to expand

Pastor Carroll Kohl of St. Paul Lutheran Church said new construction at the church is a "venture of faith" on the part of many parishioners who are donating time and money to what will be a new fellowship hall, an expanded nursery and a new kitchen.

Groundbreaking for the new project was held Sunday. Kohl said members of the church have been discussing an expansion for about two years now but were concerned with the amount of money they would need to begin building.

Because of people positive about the church and its future, the expansion was made possible, Kohl said. Members of the church have made "sacrificial commitments," which means they are giving the money themselves to pay for the building.

"One family was intending to build another bedroom on their house, but chose to give that money to the church. A number of families have borrowed from the bank themselves and donated to the church, several have borrowed against their retirement insurance. Another woman sold her car and gave that money to the church.

"Another family gave the money from their 1981 income tax return," Kohl said. "Former members have donated money, too. Others have remembered us in their wills."

Kohl added that "The Lord gave us a blessing" in that the project, which was estimated to cost $89,000 is now estimated to cost $67,000. That figure is for the shell of the building only, being constructed by D.D. Johnson contractors. Parishioners are volunteering their time and talents to complete the inside of the building. Completion will include doing all of the electrical wiring and building cabinets and painting.

Members of St. Paul Lutheran Church contacted architect Daryl Hoherz in 1982 to draw up a master plan for the church. This master plan "includes everything we could want through the year 2,000." Eventually, members of St. Paul Lutheran Church hope to add a new sanctuary and more classroom and office space.

St. Paul Lutheran Church owns all the property between Scurry and Gregg streets bordered by Ninth Street on one side and a residence on the other. This space gives them room to expand, Kohl explained. A large house which once set on the property was recently removed, and church members are planning to put a parking lot and recreational area there in the near future.

St. Paul Lutheran Church is enjoying a period of growth, Kohl said. "We've had to go to two worship services on Sunday. The congregation has grown that much. When Webb Air Force Base closed our attendance dropped to about 75 people. It now exceeds 160 people a week."

Kohl said the church is growing because the parishioners are "enthusiastic people who are pleased with the church. They are working together and are positive about the future of the church. Much of our growth comes from members of our congregation inviting others."

The shell of the new project should be completed "sometime in May," Kohl said. When the new fellowship hall is ready, the old fellowship hall will be divided into classroom space.

St. Paul Lutheran Church has not done any building for about eight years, Kohl said. Remodeling was done at that time. Four years ago property extending to Gregg Street was purchased in preparation for future expansion. Kohl himself has been pastor of St. Paul Lutheran Church for more than 11 years.

"We are optimistic about the future," he said. "We will be continuing to meet a need."

A GOING CHURCH FOR A COMING SAVIOR

Religion briefs

By CAROL HART
Religion Editor

Race to benefit Christian School

A Spring Run Classic has been scheduled May 21 at 10 a.m. Craig Bailey, coordinator of the event, said. Benefits from the race will go to Hillcrest Christian School. Entry forms are available at Hillcrest Christian School.

Participants in the Run are encouraged to pre-register. Entries should be mailed to Craig Bailey, 3611 Dixon, Big Spring, Texas, 79720. Pre-registration cost is $7, and registration on the day of the race is $9. Checks may be made payable to the Spring Run Classic. Packets may be picked up on the morning of the race.

Trophies will be awarded in the 10 kilometer race to the top three finishers in each class, both male and female, and in each of the following age divisions, men, 18 and under, 19-29, 30-39, 40-49 and 50 up; and women, 25 and under, 26-40 and 40-up.

Plaques will be awarded to the top three male and female finishers in each class in the two mile run. T-shirts will be given to the first 350 entrants. Door prizes will be selected in a post-race drawing.

More information on the Spring Run Classic may be obtained from Bailey or by contacting Hillcrest Christian School.

'Life of Christ' to be depicted

The Kendrick Religious Pageant, "The Life of Christ," will begin the 1983 season with the annual Easter pageant at 3:30 a.m. on April 3, ending at sunrise.

The pageant will be presented at the Kendrick Amphitheater halfway between Cisco and Eastland on U.S. Highway 80. Further information may be obtained by contacting the Kendrick Religious Pageant, Route 2, Box 46, Cisco, Texas, 76437, or by phoning 817-629-8672.

Director presents final study

The Women of the First Church of God held their regular meeting recently in the sanctuary. Betty Reagan, missionary education director, presented the final study on "The Church of God in Europe." The program was presented in a talk show format, with Vera Blackburn and Kathryn Thomas taking roles.

The next meeting is a salad supper April 4 at 6:30 p.m. in the Fellowship Hall.

La Fe Baptist plans revival

Raul Ortiz, an evangelist from Sweetwater, will preach at a revival planned by La Fe Baptist Church March 21 through 27. Services will be at 7 p.m. each evening. Song leader will be Tomas Revilla.

La Fe Baptist Church is located at NW 10th and Scurry. Pastor Ramon Galindo invites the public to attend. More information may be obtained by calling Galindo at 267-9770.

'Image of the Beast' slated

"Image of the Beast," a motion picture about the Great Tribulation period predicted in Bible prophecy, will be shown at the Upper Room, 313 Rannels, at 8 p.m. tonight.

Sponsors of the film said "As the movie begins, the Rapture has removed Christians from Earth, a new world government has been established and those who refuse to take its computerized "mark" are being executed. As the viewer sees prophecies take place, the Gospel is clearly presented along with the urgency of making a decision for Jesus Christ while the opportunity still exists."

In order to capture scenes of the "plagues of destruction," film crews for "Image of the Beast" were sent on a moment's notice to the sites of natural disasters such as the eruption of Mt. St. Helens to gather real footage.

'Breakfast in Galilee' planned

Hillcrest Baptist Church will sponsor "Breakfast in Galilee" at 10 a.m. Easter Sunday Morning, April 3, according to Phillip McClendon, pastor, and Randy Anderson, minister of music. The event will be staged in the Dorothy Garrett Coliseum and is open to the public.

This is the second annual Easter program to be presented by Hillcrest Baptist Church in a setting outside of the church. Last year the church presented an Easter morning service which drew 1,000 people to the Big Spring High School auditorium. This year church officials are hoping 2,000 people will attend.

"Breakfast in Galilee" will feature performers from the Music Ministry at the church, members of the Hillcrest Orchestra and a puppet show for children. A nursery will be provided.

Christian Church books film

The film "Music Box" will be presented Sunday evening at 6 p.m. at the Christian Church 2 Nolan, according to Keith Gibbons, pastor.

"Music Box" is the story of joy and the sharing of that joy, Rev. Gibbons said. "In the tradition of Christ's parables and the allegorical fiction of C.S. Lewis, 'Music Box' is a musical-filled parable that explores the joy of the believer in a simple story about an ordinary factory worker, five tuxedo-clad angels and a very special music box.

"Music Box" is the perfect prescription for a renewed joy in Christ. The public is invited to attend. Refreshments will be served after the movie."

Gene Wolfenbarber to speak

Faith Baptist Church, 1209 Wright, will begin revival services Sunday and continue through Friday with evangelist Gene Wolfenbarber speaking.

Wolfenbarber will be speaking Sunday at 10:50 a.m. and at 6:30 p.m. Evening services will be offered Monday through Friday at 7:30 p.m.

Pastor Bill Berryhill said "If you enjoy good singing and Gospel preaching you will not want to miss a service."

Berryhill added that the public is invited to attend.

Choir plans Saturday sale

Members of the Immaculate Heart of Mary Catholic Church choir will hold a bake sale Saturday from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. at the Big Spring Mall.

Proceeds from the bake sale will go toward the choir's trip to the Musicians Pastoral Conference in St. Louis, Missouri, April 18 through 24.

Bi-lingual revival offered

A weekend revival is slated for the Church of God of Prophecy, 15th and Dixie. Services will be bi-lingual (English and Spanish). The evangelist is Jesse Salazar. Friday and Saturday services will begin at 7:30 p.m. Sunday service is at 6 p.m.

Indictments returned in alleged rape

NEW BEDFORD, Mass. (AP) — A bar patron laughed and joked as a young woman was raped repeatedly on a pool table, and he urged the woman's attackers to "go for it, go for it," a prosecutor said today.

District Attorney Ronald A. Pina said 23-year-old Virgilio Medeiros helped encircle the woman during the March 6 ordeal at Big Dan's Tavern. Police have said the 21-year-old woman was raped while a crowd of onlookers cheered.

A grand jury Wednesday indicted six men. Four had previously been arrested on rape charges. Two, including Medeiros, were indicted on charges of being accessories.

The indictments were kept secret until today.

At an arraignment today, the district attorney said Medeiros was laughing and joking during the attack and egged the others on. Pina said Medeiros, of New Bedford, prevented the bartender and other customers from summoning police.

The accessory indictments also named Jose Medeiros, 22, of New Bedford. The men are not related.

Virgilio Medeiros pleaded innocent, and Superior Court Judge James McDaniel Jr. set $50,000 bail. Jose Medeiros had no lawyer and his arraignment was delayed.

Daniel C. Silva, 26, and John Cordeiro, 23, pleaded innocent to aggravated rape, which carries a maximum penalty of life in prison. The judge continued bail at $50,000 for Cordeiro and $200,000 for Silva. Prosecutors earlier said Silva tried to buy an airline ticket to leave the country after his arrest.

Arraignment also was delayed for Victor Raposo, 23, of New Bedford, who had no lawyer. Joseph Viera, 26, of Pomfret, Conn., made a late appearance and was to be arraigned later. He was freed from the Bristol County jail Wednesday on $50,000 bond.

Police previously charged both Raposo and Viera with raping the woman.

The Boston Herald quoted both Medeiros men, who were arrested at the courthouse where they had appeared expectin to testify, as saying the woman had hugged and kissed one of her assailants before the attack.

The man then pushed her over, removed her pants and unbuckled his trousers before carrying her to the pool table, the Herald quoted the Medeiroses as saying. The man was too drunk to have sexual intercourse with her, the two said.

"She kept saying, 'What did I do to you guys?'" Virgilio Medeiros said, according to The Herald.

THOUSANDS GATHER — A group of protestors estimated at over 2,500 gather outside the New Bedford, Mass., city hall to protest the alleged rape of a woman in a bar last week by four men.

Big Spring limbers up for ABC relays

By GREG JAKLEWICZ
Sports Editor

Anna Ezzell can't figure out where to run Shell Rutledge. Randy Britton wants to know how much his youngsters will improve. Both Big Spring High coaches will know the answers to those questions at the conclusion of the annual ABC Relays Saturday.

Field events for the four-division meet and running preliminaries begin at 10:30 a.m. at Blankenship Field, located on the BSHS campus. Finals in the running events are scheduled for a 1 p.m. start.

Joining Big Spring in the varsity girls division will be Abilene Cooper, Hobbs, Monahans, Lubbock Coronado, Lubbock Dunbar, Plainview, Permian and San Angelo, Dunbar, Lubbock Monterey, Lubbock High, Midland and San Angelo battle the Steers in the boys division.

Junior varsity boys and girls divisions will also be run.

Central is the defending boys champ while girls champ Lubbock Estacado will not be back to defend its title. Cooper finished second and Big Spring third last year in the girls' race.

Ezzell's problem is similar to the one she had last year when Carla Jackson was on the team. Rutledge is the meet record holder in the 200 but last week ran an easy 59.17 to win the 400 meters at the West Texas Relays. That time is better than the ABC mark in the event and Ezzell would like for her senior to try for the record.

The next question is on what relays teams will Rutledge run? She was the anchor on the 800 and 1,600 relays last week but Ezzell is thinking about a slot for her on the sprint relay.

Senior Sylvia Randle may participate in the Relays, triple jumping and running relays legs.

As for Britton, this season has been a struggle for his young team. Big Spring's only points in the West Texas Relays came on Scott Griffin's discus throw.

Top hopes for BSHS Saturday lie with John De Leon in the 3,200 meters, hurdlers Griffin, Dale Crenshaw, David Johnson and Derek Logback and Griffin and Monte Lamb in the discus. Tony Randle won the long jump in Lubbock two weeks ago and Britton is hoping his senior can get over 21 feet again.

Eric Sherman, Randle, Alvin McVea and John Roemer will make up the sprint relay while Roemer, Sherman, Mike Higgins and Logback will be the run on the 1,600 team.

Pole vaulter Billy Wegner is back to defend his championship in that event.

Permian should be the team to beat in the girls division after Mojo ran away with the team championship at the West Texas Relays. San Angelo — although not a team of many first places — has good overall talent and is the favorite in the boys division.

Hawks swipe two from Knights

By GREG JAKLEWICZ
Sports Editor

Compared to a rainy Wednesday, Thursday was a beautiful day at the ballpark. For two Howard College pitchers named Smith the day was made even sunnier by complete game victories.

Northwood at Howard

RECORDS — Howard 14-7-1 (3-5), Northwood 12-7-1 (2-0)
SCOREBOOK — The Hawks will start Jeff Hodges, 1-1, against Northwood while Knights coach Calvin Wells will go with either Cliff Vance, Greg Sillivent or David Joutras...HC's Doug Hatch had five hits and Stephon Hodge four — including the game-winner in game one — as the Hawks swept Northwood Thursday.

W. Oklahoma at Howard

SATURDAY
WHEN — 1 p.m. (doubleheader)
WHERE — HC ballpark
SCOREBOOK — Hawks return to non-conference action against Western Oklahoma...the visiting team is making its first appearance on the diamond this season...Hawks complete final four games of 11-game homestand.

Kelly Smith tossed a five-hitter in the first game and Roane Smith notched his first victory of the season as the Hawks swept Northwood Institute 5-4 and 12-2 in Region V conference game at the HC ballpark.

Howard has now won six straight on its current homestand, improving its overall record to 14-7-1 and Region V mark to 3-5. Northwood — runners-up in Region V last year with a 33-13 record — slips to 12-7-1 and 2-2.

Kelly Smith had the toughest outing, all because of one inning when Northwood collected three of its hits and all four runs. Howard scored once in the fifth and twice in the bottom of the seventh to pull out the victory for the freshman hurler from San Antonio.

"That's the first time I've ever had to start...ever," Smith said after the doubleheader. Did he mind having to wait until the seventh to get the victory? "The guys were real confident. When I started to get tired in the seventh, they told me to just get them down and they'd get the bats going."

Down 4-3, the winning rally began with John Friesenhahn's lead-off single. Gary Carr followed with a single and after Cliff Vance relieved starter Mike Serviente, Doug Hatch lined an RBI single to right field.

Kenny Spears tried to bunt the runners up a base but his attempt was too good. The Hawk center-fielder beat out the roller to third to load the bases. Stephon Hodge watched two balls and then lashed a single to left to drive in pinch-runner Hector Sanchez with the winning run.

Howard scored first in the game as Hodge tripled in a run and scored on a wild pitch in the first inning. Northwood retaliated with its four-run second as Joe Carillo and Steve Parramore banged RBI doubles and Tabb Turner a two-run single.

"I guess that was due to a lack of experience," Smith said later. "I guess I just let it get to me. I might have lost my concentration."

The concentration returned when Gilbert Saenz popped up to end the inning. After that, Smith allowed two hits and walked just two over the final five innings.

Howard got a run back in the fifth when Hatch singled in Friesenhahn who walked with one out.

BASEBALL

• The Big Spring Steers meet Midland High at 2 p.m. Saturday in Midland in a District 4-AAAAA baseball game.

The Steers are 1-0 after Tuesday's 8-5 victory over Abilene. Midland also won its opener, rallying by Permian 6-3 behind Jose Carrasco's 13-strikeout performance.

Adam Rodriguez, who last just three innings against AHS, is the probable starter against the Bulldogs.

Sophomore Jay Pirkle boosted his season average to .429 with two hits, including his fourth home run. Jinx Valenzuela was moved into the designated hitter's spot and is hitting .471 for the year. Alan Trevino is hitting .323.

TENNIS

• The Big Spring High tennis team is completing play at an invitational tournament in Andrews.

MEETINGS

• Sign-up for the United Girls Softball Association is scheduled from 9 a.m.-6 p.m. Saturday at Goliad Middle School for girls ages 8-19.

Fee is $12.50 with girls needing to bring a parent or adult guardian and a birth certificate to the registration.

• The Big Spring Church Slowpitch Softball League is meeting at 2 p.m. Sunday at the VFW building.

• A reception honoring longtime Lamesa High coach O.W. Follis is scheduled from 2-5 p.m. Saturday at the Dawson Co. Women's Building. A game between ex-players is scheduled for 7 p.m. at the Lamesa Middle School.

Golfers cut Midland's lead

Big Spring chopped 10 strokes off Midland High's first-week lead as the District 4-AAAAA girls golf race tightened up considerably after 18 holes at the Big Spring Country Club.

BSHS fired a 384 while Midland Lee carded a 382 to deadlock the two teams at 757, just one shot behind Midland High. The Bulldogs swelled to a 394 Thursday. San Angelo Central remains fourth after a 387, giving the Bobcats a 769 total.

Midland High's Kelle Mobley shot an 80 to give her a two-round total of 153, now nine shots ahead of Big Spring's Patricia Jones. Jones recorded an 82 and stands second with a 161 total.

Other Big Spring team scores were Diana Johnson 98, Pam Martinez 99, Sandra Arellano 105 and Deborah Edwards 115. Individually, Barbara Holmes shot a 109, Margie Kestiemier at 119 and Susan Degroff a 121.

The final leg of the district tournament is March 31 at San Angelo's Bentwood Golf Course. The top two teams and two low individuals advance to the Region I-AAAAA tournament in Lubbock.

Spring gardening guide

SPRING-FLOWERING BULBS — Mrs. Lucy Knox is a bulb lover. Her yard was filled with blooming bulbs this spring. A member of a local garden club, she has researched and provided tips for planting bulbs to garden club members. She gives tips for preparing the bulbs for next year's growth in her article below.

Prepare bulbs for next year's growth

By LUCY KNOX

Big Spring Garden Club

Now is the time to prepare spring bulbs for growth next year.

If spring bulbs were watered during the winter, they should be providing a lovely display of blooms.

As the blossoms fade, clip them off so they won't retard next year's growth. Do not clip the foliage; after foliage is totally dead, it may be removed. For appearance sake, the foliage can be tied together and laid over so it will be neat looking.

Now is the time to feed spring bulbs for good blooming and growth next year.

Clean and feed iris beds to prepare for blooming in April. To keep aphids off, wash with streams of cold water.

Flowering shrubs need watering and feeding now. Do not prune until after they have bloomed. By bringing in a flowering fruit tree or shrub branch into the home, beautiful line arrangements can be made with the branch.

Be sure to pick violets and pansies regularly for continuous blooming.

Separate small daisies and chrysanthemums now from the old stalk. Throw the old stalk away for a better display in the fall. Prune back half way when resetting the plants by breaking back the tops from each stalk. This act will foster faster root growth.

Landscaped yards can cool the home

If you think the purpose of landscaping is to beautify your yard, you're right. But do you know that landscaping can help cool your home as well?

Landscaping reduces direct solar radiation and reflected ground radiation on homes during the summer, as the dark, broad surfaces of carefully positioned plants absorb the heat.

Plantings reduce air leakage through the cracks and joints around windows and doors, at roof eaves, building corners, and at the foundation line by lowering wind velocity at building surfaces. Low, dense shrubbery creates "dead air space" when planted against the foundation line. This insulates the home and earth from abrupt temperature changes.

Shading your home is important too. In one experiment, the roof of an unshaded home reached 170 degrees during one 90-degree day. The roof of an adjacent home, shaded by a tall deciduous tree (one that drops its leaves in the fall), stayed near room temperature.

Although it may be the most neglected strategy available for conserving energy, landscaping is one of the most pleasing to the eye and the pocketbook. Keep that in mind when you get your energy bill this summer.

Is landscaping a good investment

The first impression is often the most important and that maxim holds true for a home.

A few shade trees, a manicured lawn and a some well-placed shrubs can make a home the envy of the neighborhood. And if the house is ever for sale, buyers will generally give the house serious consideration because of the smart landscaping.

Local experts agreed that landscaping was a worthwhile investment for the average homeowner whether he plans to one day sell his home or has visions of retiring to the old homestead.

"BUYERS ARE MORE apt to choose a place that's well landscaped," said local Realtor Jeff Brown. "It tells them something. Most buyers believe that if the house is nice on the outside, then the owner has probably taken care of the inside, the appliances and so forth."

He also said landscaping just for the sake of a pretty house can carry an intrinsic value for the owner even if he never plans to sell the home.

Although favorable of landscaping, Brown cautioned that an individual is not assured of gaining back the total amount spent on landscaping when selling a house.

"I'd be hesitant to say if a person has spent $5,000 on landscaping that he's going to get every penny of it back in a sale," Brown said. "In the long run he might, but not right away."

Patti Horton, another Realtor in Big Spring, believes proper landscaping is a selling point for most buyers. "It's (landscaping) important as far as viewing the home," Mrs. Horton said. "It may not necessarily carry over in the appraisal, but it is when showing the home to prospective buyers."

Mrs. Horton said prospects looking for a home in this area generally are interested in trees, a fenced yard, and a patio.

She said these extras lend a "pleasant feeling" to a home which ups the selling potential.

However, landscaping is more than just watering the lawn and setting out a few trees at random, according to Howard County Extension Agent Don Richardson.

"GOOD LANDSCAPES don't just happen, they are planned," Richardson said. "Too often the homeowner plants anything and everything everywhere and hopes it will somehow turn out looking okay. Usually the unplanned landscape turns out to be very expensive, moneywise and timewise."

Richardson suggests the best way to come out with a suitable landscape is to plan it first on paper.

"Set aside or arrange for the areas your family needs or wants," he said. "Priorities may be things such as vegetable gardens, rose beds, privacy screens, play areas, wind breaks, fruit orchards, ground covers or even sound barriers."

Richardson said to stick with simple designs to avoid cluttered yards which require a lot of hand clipping and edging.

He also suggested considering the mature size of trees and shrubs so that when they reach full height they will not interfere with utility wires.

Use West Texas tips to grow trees, shrubs

The author who penned the lines "I think that I shall never see a poem as lovely as a tree" probably did not live in West Texas.

Here trees are as scarce as the water they require for nutrition. And the few hardy hulks that survive the Caprock climate are little inspiration for poetry.

But some trees — beautiful, leafy, green ones — can be grown here, and they are most successful in the garden where growing requirements can easily be integrated with the needs of other garden foliage.

Terri Johansen of Johansen Landscape & Nursery says fruit trees, such as apple and apricot, are best for gardens here. Other trees that do well outside the garden are live oak, red oak, non-bearing mulberry and Arizona ash, she said.

Shrubs that do particularly well in a garden setting are the wax leaf ligustrum, the honeysuckle and the holly, she said.

Trees and shrubs can be planted all year round, she said, as long as the roots are contained in a burlap sack, box or bucket. The planting hole should be deep enough to cover the roots of the tree or shrub.

According to the Texas Agriculture Extension Office, trees planted in sandy soils should be fertilized once a year. The amount of fertilization depends on the size of the trunk, officials say, and the frequency of watering likewise depends on the size of the tree or shrub and the amount of natural moisture available.

The word garden usually conjures up thoughts of ferny and flowery plants — or in Big Spring, cacti and small shrubs.

Trees are to gardens, however, as roofs are to architecture.

They cover the lower foliage, protecting it from the West Texas sun and retain the precious moisture applied to garden plants.

According to some horticulturalists, a sufficient tree covering can actually raise the level of humidity in the garden, enabling the growing of more exotic and non-indigenous greenery.

Gardeners grow herbs for seasoning and fragrance

By ANNIE MATT ANGEL

Big Spring Garden Club

An old Chinese proverb says "He who plants a garden, plants happiness." This is especially true of an herb garden.

Growing herbs brings double pleasure — pleasure in their color, texture and fragrance during the growing season when they add interesting flower and aroma to many foods, and pleasure in the winter when they can be dried and frozen.

The herb's importance dates back thousands of years. Herbs are the oldest plants to be grown in gardens and are mentioned many times in the Bible. (Gen. 1:12 and 29). They open an extraordinary world of flavor, fragrance, forelore and beauty to growers.

A large garden, a small flower bed or an indoor planting are perfect for herbs. Most herbs love indoors so a planter in the kitchen window, den or living room is ideal. Culinary herbs for a garden are sage, thyme, mint, marjoram, tarragon, basil, chives, parsley, garlic and rosemary. For herbal fragrance, a number of aromas can be used in bouquets, sachets and potpourri by using plants with aromatic foliage such as bay, myrtle, lavender and scented verbena.

In landscaping, herbs are great as fillers between plants, ground covers and hedges. They lend themselves to contrast and highlights in gardens.

Gardeners must give careful consideration to how they grow them.

Many herbs can be started indoors and later moved outside. Inside herbs need four or five hours of direct sunlight daily. Turn the herbs around weekly to keep them full. Keep moist at first with good ventilation and no strong drafts.

When planting herb seeds, use peat pots or flats. Cardboard milk cartons cut in half serve well as planters. Be sure to punch holes for drainage.

For a soil mixture, equal parts of loam, peat moss and sand is best for planting. Put a loose fitting plastic bag over the pots or flats. Remove plastic for a few hours a day. Water by putting pots or flats in a tray of water for 30 to 45 minutes.

Modern science is re-evaluating many old-time herbal folk remedies. New technical methods and laboratory equipment show plants contain an abundance of healing properties.

Keep those pesky pests from ruining your plants

By CAROL HART

Lifestyle Writer

A basic rule in gardening is "Insects must constantly be fought," says Debra Lusk, owner of Green Acres Nursery.

"Check weekly for new invasions. Don't forget that chemical sprays, such as Sevin and Malathion, are necessities to any garden."

Several books available on what kinds of bugs attack what kinds of plants, Mrs. Lusk said. Once you know what kind of infestation you have, you will be better equipped to spray.

For people unsure of what type of insect problem they are having, break off a section of the infested plant and bring it to nursery owners trained to identify insects.

"Once you see the bugs, you must spray immediately. Some people see them and don't spray. They must, because those insects will kill the plants." Chemical sprays such as Sevin, Malathion and Diazinon will kill almost any kind of insects, Mrs. Lusk said.

It usually takes two or three applications of insecticide to take care of an infestation. Another tip is to spray in the early morning or evening, because spraying the insecticide on a hot leaf or plant will burn the leaves.

One method of dealing with an infestation is pruning out the real bad leaves. But spraying is the best thing to do. Also keep debris out of your flower beds. That's where they (insects) hang out."

Maintaining a routine is important for lawn and garden care, Mrs. Lusk said. It is important "to use a regular spraying program. Stop the trouble before it starts."
