High school choir sings way to top

Big Spring High School choir members recently won top honors at the Region 6A University Interscholastic League Concert and Sightreading Contest in Midland.

The UIL competition is the single most important event for the year for choral groups, according to BSHS Choral Director Marjorie Dodson. The BSHS Meistersingers won Sweepstakes, gaining a first division award in both concert and sightreading. The Troubadors and Girls' Choir each made first divisions in concert and second divisions in sightreading. The Boys' Choir also garnered a Concert first division and a third division in sightreading.

The concert rating comes from evaluation of three prepared pieces sung by the choirs.

The sightreading rating is more difficult, however.

Choirs are given music they have never seen, given six minutes to study it and then they perform it — once with piano and once without any instrument.

The final results showed Big Spring with more first division awards over competitors Permian High School, Lee High School, Midland High School and Odessa High School.

Social Security rescue OK'd

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress sent President Reagan a landmark plan today to assure Social Security solvency into the next century by making workers pay more into the system, increasing the retirement age by two years and taxing benefits.

Shortly before midnight Thursday, the House approved the compromise $165 billion package 243-102. Then a 58-14 vote in the Senate early today ended two years of partisan congressional conflict over the explosive issue, and will avert the impending collapse of the system, which serves 36 million beneficiaries.

Reagan has embraced the legislation and, a White House official said today, is expected to sign it during the week of April 10. The official, who spoke only on condition he not be identified, said there was "no immediate pressure" to have the legislation signed sooner.

The bill follows the blueprint laid out two months ago by the National Commission on Social Security Reform, including:

- Higher payroll taxes in 1984, 1988 and 1989.
 - A six-month delay in July's cost-of-living increase in benefits.
 - A first-ever levy on benefits going to more affluent retirees.
 - Mandatory Social Security coverage for new federal workers and employees of non-profit organizations.
 - An increase in the current retirement age of 65.
- Before the final vote, Senate Majority Leader Howard H. Baker Jr., R-Tenn., pleaded for support.
- "This is not a perfect bill ... but we are not a perfect body. This is not the last word, but it is the best we can make at this time," declared Baker.

With action completed on the bill, Congress has left town for a 10-day Easter recess.

The way was cleared for final congressional action after negotiators bargained for nearly 12 hours Thursday to hammer out a

Water valve tests will save shutoffs

City water customers in the downtown area should be bothered less in the future by water service shutoffs, says Public Works Director Tom Decell.

City employees studied old maps, asked questions and then ran a water line test in the central business district to determine the location of water valves. Previously, there were no records of all the water valves making it necessary to shut off water service to the entire area when water line repairs are needed.

Decell said he plans to continue periodical tests to locate valving downtown so that only small areas will be denied water service during repairs.

Action/reaction: Mall placement

Q. Why are all the new malls and grocery stores being built on the east and southeast side of town? Everybody else has to drive several miles to get to those places.

A. The decision is not a local one, but rather a choice of the people who build those facilities, says Big Spring Area Chamber of Commerce Executive Vice President LeRoy Tillery. "They go where the traffic is," he said.

EXPLAINS CLARK'S DEATH — Dr. William DeVries, left, who implanted the artificial heart in Barney Clark, explains Clark's death at a news conference Thursday. Doctors are searching for another patient, although they say artificial hearts will not replace heart transplants.

New heart implant planned within months

Doctors seek patient 'in better health'

SALT LAKE CITY (AP) — As messages of sympathy poured in from around the world for the family of Barney Clark, his doctors said a review board is considering new guidelines to allow artificial heart surgery for patients in better health.

Other cardiac surgeons on Thursday praised the "experiment" with the world's first permanent artificial heart, but doubts were repeated that the device would ever replace conventional heart transplants.

Clark's doctors said another implant was possible within months, but that a patient in better health than Clark going into the surgery would have an improved chance of survival.

President Reagan telephoned Clark's wife, Una Loy, on Thursday and expressed his "deepest sympathy," a White House spokesman said. Reagan called Clark "a brave and courageous man."

Utah Gov. Scott Matheson, saying the 62-year-old retired dentist "distinguished himself as one of the preeminent pioneers of science," ordered the Capitol flag to remain at half-staff until Clark's funeral Tuesday near his home in suburban Seattle.

"Our phone has continued to simply ring off the hook," said John Dwan, spokesman for the University of Utah Medical Center. Expressions of sympathy after Clark's death Wednesday night came from as far as Australia, England, Brazil and Japan, he said.

At a news conference Thursday, Dr. William DeVries, the surgeon who gave Clark his new heart Dec. 2, described the difficult hours after Clark's brain ceased functioning and before the air-driven heart was shut off at 10:02 p.m. Wednesday, after pumping for 112 days.

Clark entered "a downward spiral" in which several organs failed almost simultaneously, DeVries said. The cause of death was given as "circulatory collapse secondary to multiple organ failure."

"It became obvious at the very end that he was neurologically not responsive to any stimulus we gave him," he said, and Clark's blood pressure could no longer support life. "The artificial heart at autopsy looked as good as the day it was put in," DeVries said.

Clark's doctors and his relatives said they hoped future artificial heart patients would be in better physical condition before surgery.

Reagan puts signature on jobs bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Reagan has signed into law a bill that gives a $4.6 billion booster shot to the economy in public works projects and provides additional billions urgently needed by more than half the states to continue paying unemployment benefits. The House gave final congressional approval to the anti-recession legislation late Thursday and the president signed it shortly after it arrived at the White House, about 9:30 p.m.

With many congressmen eager to leave town for a 10-day Easter recess, there was no formal signing ceremony. Although the major focus of the bill is to create jobs, it also contains a $5 billion emergency supplemental appropriation to replenish a special fund from which 27 states and the District of Columbia are borrowing to meet their unemployment compensation payments.

"We've absolutely run out of money," Jack Hashian of the Labor Department's Employment and Training Administration said Thursday.

He said 19 states either have exhausted their unemployment benefit funds or would today, and that further juggling of accounts — which was done over the past several days — was impossible.

Hashian said federal and state governments pay some $100 million in unemployment benefits daily under various programs and added: "We're flat broke."

The recession-relief portion of the bill contains a provision ensuring that about $2 billion of the money will go to areas hardest hit by the recession.

The measure also provides about $325 million in food and shelter for victims of the longest recession since World War II, as well as several hundred million dollars more for social programs.

It contains $1 billion in Community Development Block Grants to local governments, of which $375 million may pay for public service jobs. That was pushed by women's groups concerned that men would benefit from the public works money in the bill.

Most of the rest of the money will be used for a variety of construction projects, including flood control, highways, Veterans Administration hospital repair, airport improvements and Tennessee Valley Authority programs.

Congressional aides estimate the bill will create tens of thousands of jobs, many of them in hard-pressed regions. But officials were unable to say precisely what type work would be created.

Many of the jobs will be in the construction trades for building highways, repairing hospitals and completing other heavy construction projects. Those jobs will go mainly to highly skilled construction workers.

The bill also provides money for distributing surplus food and establishing shelters for the homeless. There was no estimate of how many people would be helped.

Politically, the legislation was the new Congress' first attempt to alleviate the impact of the long recession.

Mystery professor with several classes holds up to 31 aliases

HARRISBURG, Pa. (AP) — Authorities say they now have 31 aliases for a man who held full-time teaching jobs at two Pennsylvania colleges under false identities while continuing work as an engineering professor in Washington.

Officials at George Washington University in Washington said Pennsylvania police presented them with identification cards Thursday for Paul Crafton, 59, who has taught engineering administration at the school full- or part-time since 1956.

Towson State University officials in Towson, Md., identified the man as having taught at that suburban Baltimore school, said Patrick Boyle, a spokesman for the state attorney general.

Boyle said 16 boxes of papers from the man's Lancaster apartment indicated he had 31 aliases.

"Our immediate goal ... is to pinpoint conclusively the true identity of the suspect," said Boyle. One published report said Crafton had taken the two positions in Pennsylvania at the start of the current academic year to pay for an operation for a crippled daughter. His combined salaries at the campuses came to $58,000.

The Washington Post said Crafton had earned $21,000 a year at George Washington, less than half the salary of his fellow full professors, because the school was dissatisfied with his work. This year, his salary is $14,000 because he is teaching part-time at his request.

The Baltimore Sun reported today that Crafton has had financial problems for at least six years and has been the subject of at least 11 lawsuits because of indebtedness.

The newspaper said the suits were filed in Maryland between 1976 and 1982 by several banks, a department store and a credit card company seeking repayment of more than $17,000.

George Washington has put Crafton on administrative leave, according to an announcement by Dr. Harold F. Bright, university provost and vice president for academic affairs.

The man, being held in lieu of $150,000 bail in Cumberland County Prison, continued to insist that he was Anthony S. Williams, the name used to rent an apartment in Lancaster, about 85 miles northeast of Washington.

"He stated his name was Mr. Williams," said Tom Powers, prison director of treatment, following a classification hearing Thursday morning. "He was in very good spirits ... and pretty much answered our questions."

Infant to get experimental bone marrow transplant

GALVESTON (AP) — Minnesota doctors are preparing for an experimental bone marrow transplant on a 3-month-old girl suffering from a rare ailment that deprives her of protection against disease.

Stephanie Garcia and her parents were scheduled to fly to Minneapolis by private plane today. Several tests were to be conducted and doctors planned to perform the transplant next week, said Dr. Randall Goldblum of the University of Texas Medical Branch at Galveston. Stephanie suffers from severe combined immune deficiency syndrome, or SCIDS, a disorder that leaves her body defenseless against disease.

Goldblum described the infant's condition like "sitting on TNT" because she could at any time develop an infection that would kill her.

She already has developed pneumonia, but the ailment is being controlled by antibiotics, Goldblum said.

Stephanie, the daughter of Rodrigo and Lettie Garcia, was born Dec. 19 in the South Texas town of Raymondville. She has spent most of her short life in an isolation room at the hospital here.

Gandhi never met a Nazi

"Gandhi" should rank as a great movie because it has people thinking. It may also be a dangerous film because it has people acting.

One Oregon resident protesting the rumored train shipment of nuclear submarine warheads through her community was heard to tell a reporter that she was sitting on the railroad tracks in the train's path in a manner Gandhi would have advocated.

Lech Walesa, the Polish labor leader, told the press earlier this week that he is organizing a non-violent resistance movement patterned after Gandhi's tactics.

Mohandas Gandhi was unquestionably a great and noble political leader of the 20th century. His life and writings are certainly worth studying and contemplating. But he must be considered in his historical context.

The world today is not the world of mid-century India where evil was represented by dapper English officers sipping tea with their ladies while watching a cricket game. Gandhi's political tactics are no more applicable today than Napoleon's military tactics. Revolutionaries may draw inspiration from Gandhi's non-violent resistance as military men take pointers from Napoleon's frontal assaults. But as generals will admit, trying to repeat history is always dangerous and often fatal.

Gandhi probably never met a Nazi. Except for a few British excesses, he never encountered the stark horror of evil. He praised the Jews of Europe for proving their moral superiority in the face of German brutality. He was, of course, speaking to a small audience. The Yiddish civilization of Europe was destroyed quickly and easily because it had neither the state nor the army with which to defend itself.

To be moral and dead is not to be envied. Moral superiority does not ensure existence. Neither does brute strength. But a combination of the two provides a good chance of survival. Life's ultimate goal is to remain among the living. Any action which compromises that goal is in itself immoral.

Walesa should realize that while non-resistance may keep the weak Warsaw generalissimos off balance, it will not stop Soviet tanks. And the pious protestors of America's nuclear arsenal must eventually concede that no amount of pontificating about disarmament on our part will disassemble Russian rockets.

Gandhi was a man for his times. He should be studied but not necessarily emulated. Against British colonialism, he was fearless, sublime and effective.

But then, he never had to deal with the Third Reich.

Pandora's robot

Every year is sometime in the distance: the place, a mid-century home.

"Let me fix me a glass of tea," the homeowner says. "When you're done with that, fix the window the kids broke out this afternoon, vacuum the floors and wash the kitchen."

"If I abuse? No, according to the editors of Omnis magazine, the Suzy Ramsey of the future could be a housekeeper.

Today is a long way off, the editors concede. But they claim it will eventually appear.

And with it, the day of the robot will bring questions and dilemmas.

Before that day comes, scientists must solve the problem of artificial intelligence. If you tell a human, "Birds can fly," he will concede exceptions to the rule. Ostriches, for example, can't fly. Neither can a human. Feet are held. Dead birds.

The faculty of common sense, the faculty whereby humans can judge themselves in the real world, has so far eluded the robot makers.

Currently, scientists must program a robot or a computer for every eventuality. The programmer must tell the robot, "Birds can fly unless they are ostriches, or held by their feet, or dead." In addition, the programmer must provide a means of discerning between the various conditions of the bird. The machines cannot think for themselves.

If that problem and others are someday solved, others will be created by the intelligent robots.

How do you justify putting a human being out of work in favor of a cheaper-working machine? What role will robot babysitters play in the growth of our children? Will we lose our humanity toward each other by constant interaction with our metallic helpers and the neglect of our own species?

What happens to the basic industries? One interviewee said Americans would, instead of buying a car, buy a robot, buy the automobile parts, and have the robot assemble those parts. The robot would work around the clock, untrailing, and possibly present its owner with a newly-built car the following morning.

And, if a robot can build a car or other machine, he can certainly service it.

And, as a final problem, how will we spend our leisure time?

At least one interviewee feels the addition of leisure time (after all, if the robot can do all the chores around the house, why bother?) will create a society full of people resembling the Victorians. People of that age dealt with the issue of servants in much the same ways we may one day deal with robots.

The hypothesis advanced in Omnis is that the Victorian luxuries such as extravagance in clothes, buildings and furniture will return.

No, robots probably won't be the shambling metal monsters of the science fiction movies and novels. They also most likely won't be copies of the humanoid-looking C-3PO of "Star Wars" fame.

In fact, they will more likely resemble C-3PO's sidekick, the dumpy trash can called R2-D2.

Cute or cuddly they won't be. But before science opens the box of good things robots will be able to help humans accomplish, science must first find ways to deal with the "Pandora's Box" of problems besetting the development of and use of robots.

Not-so-top-secret information

"Sergeant, we are sending you to El Salvador to advise the government troops there how to fight the left-wing guerrillas who are winning the war."

"Yes, sir."

"Your orders are to train the government forces to search and destroy the guerrillas' hideouts and give the troops moral support when they are in combat. But under no conditions are you to engage in the fighting yourself."

"I understand, sir. I go in with the troops, but I don't fire my own weapon."

"Except, of course, if you are fired upon."

"I got you, sir. What kind of weapons do the guerrillas have?"

"Mostly American. They got them from El Salvadoran troops or bought them from the same troops. One of your jobs will be to see that the government officers don't sell their weapons to the other side."

"Yes, sir. Am I supposed to do anything to win the hearts and minds of the Salvadoran people?"

"Of course. That's why we're sending you there. One of your missions is to make sure the government troops don't kill too many peasants or burn down too many villages that are suspected to be harboring left-wing fighters."

"How do we know if we're winning the war?"

"We're working up a body count system at the Pentagon that will soon go into effect. We'll expect body count reports from you every day."

"It sounds more like Vietnam all the time."

"This is not a Vietnam operation, and you're not to refer to it as such. This is a rescue operation to uphold a democratic government in Central America and to protect a freedom-loving people from being taken over by the Communists."

"I gotcha, sir."

"Stop winking. I'm serious. You were chosen to be one of 110 American advisers to turn this war around."

"That's not a lot of advisers for a full-scale guerrilla war."

"It's only a beginning. Once we get enough of you in there, Congress will be in no position to stop the president from sending in more American troops to support you."

"I hope so. I don't want to get my keister shot off."

"Sergeant, I have utmost confidence that you can do the job. And one more thing, don't talk to the press. They'll only write how incompetent and corrupt the El Salvadoran military officers really are."

"Are they?"

"That's top secret information."

"How do I do that?"

"The same way you did it in Vietnam. You explain to the government soldiers that rape, murder and pillaging will not be tolerated by President Reagan. That should stop them."

"It certainly should. Anything I ought to know about human rights?"

"We're not sending you down there to train anyone in human rights. The government of El Salvador has just been given a clean bill of health of human rights by the American government, so I don't want to see anything in your reports on human rights violations on our side. But if you see any committed by the other side, we want to hear about them pronto."

"I understand, sir. How is the morale of the El Salvadoran troops?"

"Excellent, although there have been a number of desertions. Your job is to see that the government troops don't go over the hill."

"Can I shoot them?"

"No, but you can authorize one of the officers you're advising to shoot them. But, for God's sake, don't put anything in writing."

"How do we know if we're winning the war?"

"We're working up a body count

The Air Force manual on strikes devoted to definitions. For generals who have been stationed on the Moon for their entire careers, the manual even defines a strike: "A concerted work stoppage of employees. Also called walkout."

It then lists the various types of strikes: "direct, general, jurisdictional, sit-down, slow-down, sympathetic, secondary and wildcat."

A jurisdictional strike is illustrated in terms that any general can understand:

"If carpenters are engaged to hang steel doors, as part of their work, the metal workers may decide to strike because they consider the installation of metal materials wholly within their province."

Air Force commanders are given a sort of early-warning system that will tip them off to an impending labor problem. Here's what they are told to look for: "Unusual militancy among employees or labor organizations ... a union objective that has not been met ... expressed employee dissatisfaction over pay or working conditions ... persistent emphasis by a labor organization on a particular complaint, demand or issue ..."

Does Miss Bailey pout when asked to take dictation from Gen. Halftrack? Watch out! She may be on the picket line tomorrow.

If the telltale signs of malcontent are somehow sought and worse comes to worst, the manual assures its readers that headquarters will "direct the military Airlift Command to provide movement of personnel as required to support the provisions of this plan." An airlift for strikebreakers, no less.

Footnote: The manual doesn't deal with the only real danger of a strike: employees of defense contractors, who are not bound by the no-strike law.

TIP'S TEMPER: House Speaker Tip O'Neill usually keeps his Irish temper under control. But in the heat of the debate over Social Security reform, he interpreted a casual remark by veteran Rep. Chalmers Wylie, R-Ohio, as a slur on his integrity.

The most sizzling remarks were mysteriously deleted from the public record. The exchange was triggered by Wylie's remark that the Speaker had wielded a "fast gavel" on the previous question earlier in the day.

"Was the gentleman on the floor at the time?" O'Neill demanded. Wylie said he had been.

"Then he had no opportunity (to be recognized), because I looked to both sides," said O'Neill. "I resent the statement of the gentleman."

"Well, I am sorry if the Speaker was offended," said Wylie. He tried to explain, but O'Neill wasn't buying.

"The gentleman said I had a fast gavel and it was not a fast gavel," said O'Neill. He also warned Wylie: "Don't play politics with me."

Wylie insisted he hadn't meant to offend O'Neill.

"Well, the gentleman has offended me, perhaps unintentionally, and I will accept his apology," O'Neill replied.

Wylie said later he thought his "fast gavel" remark was accurate, "but I don't necessarily think it was bad." He said he went up to O'Neill after the exchange and apologized again.

"He told me, 'Don't lose any sleep on it,'" Wylie said.

CONFIDENTIAL FILE: Thousands of Iraqis and Iranians are being killed in a war that is at least partly a personal grudge between Iraqi President Saddam Hussein and the Ayatollah Khomeini. Still furious at Hussein for kicking him out of Iraq in 1978, Khomeini has urged Iraqi Shiites, "If you can kill Saddam before we execute him, stab him in the back."

Reciprocating this personal hatred, Hussein has tried to have Khomeini assassinated — in one case, by using two Palestinians who were Khomeini bodyguards.

House speaker's appointment angers senators

By BRUCE MILLAR
Harte-Hanks Austin Bureau

AUSTIN — House Speaker Gib Lewis paid a peace-making call to the Senate Thursday to soothe the feelings of more than a dozen senators rankled by his appointment of Neal "Buddy" Jones as his top assistant.

Sen. Ted Lyon, D-Rockwall, a sharp critic of the appointment of the former Hillsboro state representative, praised Lewis' 30-minute visit to the Senate floor as a smart political move.

The controversy is the latest in a series of political brushfires Lewis has had to cope during the first half of the 1983 legislative session. He has been under constant criticism since he failed to disclose his business relationships with liquor and horse-racing lobbyists.

Despite Lewis' efforts to defuse the opposition to Jones, several senators said the former legislator's recent political activities hurt his credibility as a loyal Democrat. They predicted he would have difficulties working with the Senate and Gov. Mark White's office.

Lyon said that several senators, himself not included, told Lewis that Jones would not be effective in dealing with the Senate because of his role as a member of former Gov. Bill Clements' "truth squad." That group of legislators trailed Gov. Mark White in last year's campaign, in an attempt to discredit him.

THE ROCKWALL Democrat conceded Jones would be ineffective at times in dealings with the Senate and Governor's office. But he said Jones' key role is in the House and predicted Jones would be effective there.

"I'm sorry, I'm not informed about it," Sen. Bill Sims, D-San Angelo, said when asked about the fuss over Jones. "It's his privilege to hire who he feels will be most effective for him."

The protest also stemmed from Jones' unsuccessful race against Sen. Chet Edwards in last year's Democratic primary and from his support of Republican U.S. Rep. Phil Gramm.

Senate dean, Chet Brooks of Pasadena, who led the drive to meet with Lewis, said he was reassured "to some extent" that Jones would create no roadblocks for legislation.

"Lewis demonstrated some insensitivity. I'm personally convinced there is no malice intended. It was thoughtlessness more than anything else," Brooks said.

"He (Lewis) was very apologetic about not considering the full implications when he hired Jones. We just wanted him to know he can't go rewarding people who aren't loyal to the Democratic party," Lyon said.

Jones said Gramm is a personal friend of his but said he took no active role in last month's campaign. He pledged his cooperation to a smooth working relationship with the Senate.

Jones is expected to begin his duties Monday. His job description includes managing Lewis' staff, scheduling his appointments and assisting the speaker to pass legislation through the Senate and House. A spokesman for Lewis said the salary will be approximately $30,000 a year. He did not know the exact figure.

None of the senators expected Lewis to withdraw the nomination. They just wanted to show their concern, said Sen. John Whitmire, D-Houston.

"We couldn't force that. It wouldn't make any difference if he hired Mao-tse-tung," Lyon said.

Jones was asked in a telephone interview about the timing of his appointment.

"The way I see it (Lewis) sees the session half-over and still a lot of work to be done. There is a need for tight organization and leadership and he hopes I can fill that need."

Pharmacist charged in fencing of Tylenol

FORT WORTH (AP) — A 51-year-old pharmacist has been accused of operating as a fence for Tylenol tablets stolen from an Arlington distribution center, according to federal prosecutors.

Alvin Eugene Langley was charged with purchasing stolen property, according to a complaint filed Thursday by Assistant U.S. Attorney Jimmy Tallant.

U.S. Magistrate Alex McGlinchey set a $50,000 bond for Langley, who operates a pharmacy in southeast Fort Worth.

According to a Drug Enforcement Administration affidavit filed in McGlinchey's court, an employee of the McNeill Pharmaceutical Center said he stole Tylenol and other drugs "for several months" and delivered them to Langley.

McGlinchey told Langley not to comment on the charges until he has received legal advice.

Car hits house, kills infant

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — Paul Gonzalez, 36, and his wife were driving on Interstate 10 when a car passed them "going at least 70 miles an hour," he said.

Moments later, the car hit a curb and flew through the air for about 100 feet before smashing into a house at the corner of the freeway and an access road, Gonzalez told police after the accident Wednesday night.

The car plowed through a front room and into a bedroom where a 7-month-old boy was sleeping in his crib. The infant was killed and his mother was injured, authorities said. Cleotilde P. Longoria, 34, was charged with involuntary manslaughter and driving while intoxicated and jailed on bonds totalling $12,400. She was released after posting the bail at 4:15 a.m. Thursday, a Bexar County jail official said. The baby's mother, 27-year-old Alicia Garza, was listed in fair condition Thursday at Medical Center Hospital.

Dear Abby
Judge's drug

DEAR ABBY: Recently, a 17-year-old Florida boy pleaded guilty to possessing hallucinogenic drugs. He also had been charged with violence toward a Miami Beach police officer.

Judge Alfonso Sepe sentenced the youth to one year in the county stockade and four years' probation. The comments of the judge so impressed me that I ordered the transcript from the court reporter so that I may read it to my own children.

Your column is so vividly read I am sending you the "lecture" Judge Sepe gave that boy in the presence of the grieving parents. I hope you will publish it and give it the national forum I think it deserves.

MRS. A.L. CATES, MIAMI, FLA.

DEAR MRS. CATES: Rarely do I devote an entire column to one letter, but I agree, this is worth it. Here it is:

Judge Sepe spoke directly to the youth and said, "Do you know who's going to serve that year? Not you; your mother and father will serve that year."

"That is what's wrong. They get sentenced. They get sentenced for a lifetime."

"You serve a year. Your body is in the stockade for a year, but their souls are tormented for a life-time. Why? Because you are a selfish, spoiled boy, that's why."

"There is no punishment in the world that I could inflict upon you that could in any way compensate for what you are doing to your mother and father. I have not spent 5 cents raising you. I didn't know you from Adam. But you mother and father have put their lives, their hearts, their sweat, their money and everything else they have into bringing you up. And now they have to sit in this courtroom and listen to a total stranger who had nothing to do with your upbringing scold you and put you in jail."

"This is at a time when phony kids your age are yelling, 'You adults have your alcohol, we want our drugs; you have polluted our water and our air, you have polluted this and that,' and all the rest of the garbage that comes out of your mouths."

"Meanwhile, you put yourselves above everybody else. I feel sorry for you."

"I want you to think of this for one year, and the reason why I say it:

"If you are sick, a doctor will treat you and he won't be on drugs. The lawyer who represent you won't be high on drugs, and the people in whose custody you'll be won't be on drugs."

"And your engineers who build the bridges that you drive across and the tunnels that you drive through are not on drugs, and those who build the planes that you fly in and the cars that you drive are not."

"Neither are those who build the bathrooms that you sit on with your lunny, toilet drugs."

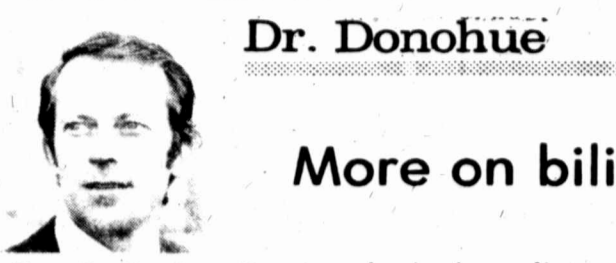

"None of them have been on drugs, and this is because of people like your mother and father."

"But in the world of the future," Sepe went on, "the same may not be true. Teachers, doctors, lawyers, legislators — products of the new drug-oriented generation — may well be high as kites."

"You won't know whom to send your child to, or whom to trust your life to."

Sepe sighed and closed the case file.

"Let's see what kind of world you leave to your children," he said, "before you talk about the world that we left ours."

Dr. Donohue
More on bilirubin and blood cells

Dear Dr. Donohue: You have spoken about bilirubin in the past, but you have never really told us exactly what it is. I have wondered why it makes the skin yellow. Please comment further. — H.H.

Dear Dr. Donohue: Exactly what is bilirubin? Medical books give only very sketchy descriptions. What would cause it to go from a high normal of 1.2 to 1.3 and then to 1.7 in six-month intervals? Can this be controlled with diet? All my other blood readings are normal. — W.C.

Why is it that when you think you've made something crystal clear, you really have only clouded the issue? OK, bilirubin revisited.

Bilirubin comes from the hemoglobin in red blood cells. Every day about 1 percent of red blood cells are broken down and their parts recycled to make new red cells. Hemoglobin is broken down into bilirubin, from where it is supposed to be processed by the liver into a substance suitable for elimination via the kidneys. Are you with me so far?

Bilirubin levels rise for two basic immediate reasons — either because too many red blood cells are being broken down or because the liver is not up to processing the normal amounts it gets each day. Example: If there is some inflammation in the liver (hepatitis) the organ's cells cannot function well, so a lot of those old used red cells aren't being processed. Bilirubin builds up in the blood and is finally deposited in the skin, giving it that yellow cast.

Your bilirubin levels are not high, W.C. (second letter), certainly not in the range where yellowing would occur. But I cannot say why you have the mild elevation. It may be nothing more than the harmless condition called Gilbert's disease. With that, levels rise slightly without any liver problem or other apparent cause. It's just an individual body's quirk.

You cannot control bilirubin levels by diet or with vitamins. If your doctor is convinced that your milk bilirubin rise is insignificant, believe him and stop worrying.

Dear Dr. Donohue: In reading a description of costochondritis, I was struck with the similarity of the symptoms to those I have been suffering of late. Pleurisy is a word we seldom hear used anymore. Is what is called costochondritis what you old-timers used to call pleurisy? You can just answer yes or no. — D.N.

It would be easy to answer yes or no, but you know I'm too much of a windbag to ever do that. D.N. New-timers still call pleurisy pleurisy. It is an inflammation of the lung covering, the pleura. Often it's from infection, as from a virus.

Costochondritis is different. It is inflammation of the cartilage that connects the ribs to the breast bone. To find out which condition you have, if either, you have to be examined. If what you have is pleurisy, you would find your discomfort dramatically increasing from things like taking deep breaths.

Having trouble getting to sleep at night? In his new booklet Dr. Donohue examines the insomnia problem and offers some ways to help you get your need rest. For a copy of "Why Can't You Sleep?" send 50 cents and a stamped, self-addressed envelope to Dr. Donohue in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 11210, Chicago, IL, 60611.

Theater owners stung

AUSTIN (A) — A federal court jury has ruled that Warner Bros. misrepresented to theater owners the potential box office success of the 1978 disaster film "The Swarm."

Warner Bros. was assessed triple damages of $168,170 Thursday after the jury ruled the practice of "blind bidding" on films violates the Texas Deceptive Trade Practices Act.

Presidio Theaters filed the suit in 1979, claiming it lost $56,056 during the July 1978 run of "The Swarm," an Irwin Allen film about a killer-bee invasion.

"Blind bidding" is a practice by which theater chains bid on a movie without having seen the film, depending upon promotional material provided by the studio.

The practice has been banned in more than 20 states. However, the laws have been challenged on constitutional grounds in some states, attorneys said.

"This is a very significant verdict," said Presidio co-owner Charles Chick. "It shows blind bidding is a deceptive trade practice."

Dick Chick, a partner in the chain, said the verdict signals a change in the way Hollywood will do business.

"Any movie company who blind bids a picture now does so at their own risk, and that may be considerable," he said.

Warner Bros. attorney Chris Harvey said he planned to appeal the verdict. Harvey would not comment further, but said he thought an appeal would be successful.

The studio tried to have the case thrown out of court, saying the theater group could not sue the company for violating the consumer protection law. But during the 3½ years of pre-trial pleadings, two federal judges ruled that a theater is a consumer and entitled to sue for triple damages.

In its advertising campaign, Warner Bros. compared "The Swarm" with box office successes like "Towering Inferno" and the "Poseidon Adventure," according to trial testimony.

But Presidio's attorney, Phill Maxwell, presented evidence that Warner Bros. had marketing studies indicating viewer interest in the movie was average or below average.

Witnesses for Presidio also testified that Warner Bros. revenue projections for the film at the box office were $10 million to $12 million.

Andrews tips BSHS

By GREG JAKLEWICZ
Sports Editor

So what if the victory makes Andrews 10-4. So what if pitcher Floyd Cornejo is now undefeated in five starts. So what if Big Spring has failed in all three chances against 4-A teams.

Steer coach Frank Ibarra isn't so-whating anything at the moment.

"They just caught us looking ahead," Ibarra said after the Mustangs outslugged Big Spring 10-8 in a non-district game Thursday afternoon at Steer Park. The loss snapped the Steers' three-game winning streak and drops their season record to 9-6.

In other non-league games around the district, Abilene swept Graham 10-4 and 3-0 while Snyder battered San Angelo 10-1.

"We didn't try to get the kids up for this game," Ibarra admitted, "but we made a lot mental mistakes. We didn't put that much effort into getting the kids up and it showed. We've just got to be ready to play Saturday when it counts."

Needing to save some spark for an important 4-5A against Cooper, Ibarra and his coaching staff may wish now the Steers had taken the game more seriously. Big Spring committed four errors and at least as many mental mistakes. As a result, the Mustangs swept the two-game series, already having won 5-3 behind Cornejo in Andrews.

Combined with an equally embarrassing 7-0 loss to Snyder, the Steers fall to 0-3 this year against AAAA teams.

Pitcher Tom Cudd, 2-2, worked out of bases loaded jam in the first inning and was coasting along until Andrews struck for three runs in the third to tie the game. Run-scoring singles by Marty Rodriguez and Alan Trevino had keyed a three-run second for Big Spring.

The Mustangs knotted the score when Bill Morrison singled and scored when Trevino bobbled the ball on Tudy Gonzales' single to left. Darrell Collins later rapped a two-run single to center to tie the game.

The Steers grabbed the lead back in the third on an unearned run and Rodriguez's second RBI hit. Andrews rallied into the lead in the fourth as Mike Gonzales drove in a pair of runs and Eric McCullough laid down a perfect squeeze bunt.

Andrews added to that 6-5 lead with three runs in the sixth. Tudy Gonzales singled up the middle for two runs and McCullough scored while Omar Trevino forced a rundown between first and second.

Big Spring finally came to life in the sixth as Andrews committed two errors (the Mustangs had six on the day). Jinx Valenzuela walked in a run and Tom Cudd hit a sacrifice fly.

McCray's tip-in' topples Arkansas

By The Associated Press

Bluegrass rivals Kentucky and Louisville have a basketball date for the first time in 24 years, while Tobacco Road foes Virginia and North Carolina State will meet for the second time in two weeks and fourth time this season.

Those NCAA matchups will take place Saturday as a result of Thursday night's regional semifinal action. And the fans of the respective teams seem certain to get more excited than the players and coaches.

"It means getting a chance to go to the Final Four," is the way Louisville Coach Denny Crum summed it up. "This time of year there are only eight teams left. They (Kentucky) just happen to be here. We don't care who we play. I think Kentucky feels the same way."

Actually, 12 teams are left. But four more will be eliminated tonight when third-ranked St. John's meets No. 18 Georgia and eighth-ranked North Carolina, the defending NCAA champion, plays Ohio State in the East Regional at Syracuse, N.Y., while top-rated Houston faces No. 17 Memphis State and No. 13 Villanova goes against Iowa in the Midwest Regional at Kansas City, Mo.

In Thursday night's Mideast Regional at Knoxville, Tenn., Melvin Turpin scored 16 points and 12th-ranked Kentucky survived a late Indiana rally to defeat the No. 5 Hoosiers 64-59.

Then, Scooter McCray's tip-in at the buzzer capped Louisville's comeback from a 16-point, first-half deficit to give the second-ranked Cardinals a dramatic 65-63 triumph over No. 9 Arkansas. That set up the first meeting with Kentucky since the 1959 NCAA Tournament.

In the West Regional at Ogden, Utah, fourth-ranked Virginia withstood the loss of All-America center Ralph Sampson for more than 12 minutes in the second half and defeated No. 11 Boston College 95-92, while No. 16 North Carolina State shot 68 percent — 28 of 41 — and routed Utah 75-56 behind Dereck Whittenburg's 27 points. N.C. State won the Atlantic Coast Conference Tournament by defeating Virginia on March 13.

Kentucky Coach Joe B. Hall had no trouble accounting for the Wildcats' triumph over Indiana that avenged a December loss to the Hoosiers.

"We had excellent shot selection, but mostly we played with patience," Hall said. "Our bench really gave us a big lift," he added, mentioning Bret Bearup, who had eight first-half points, and freshman Kenny Walker, who scored 11 of his 13 in the second half.

Kentucky, in one of its finest efforts of the season, surged to a 57-47 lead over Indiana's Big Ten champions with 8:31 remaining. The Hoosiers pulled within two with 2:49 left but Kentucky continued its delay game and got one free throw from Dirk Minniefield and two from Charles Hurt. Melvin Turpin led the Wildcats with 16 points.

"A lot of people told us we were chokers and couldn't win in the tournament," said Minniefield. "We proved Wake Forest and Nebraska handily won their National Invitation Tournament games Thursday night and rolled into the semifinals of the nation's oldest post-season basketball tourney.

Danny Young scored 17 points while Alvis Rogers and Delaney Rudd added 14 each as Wake Forest defeated South Carolina 76-61 in Greensboro, N.C. Stan Cloudy's 18 points paced Nebraska past Texas Christian 67-57 at Lincoln, Neb.

Fresno State eliminated Oregon State 76-67 late Thursday night at Corvallis. The NIT quarterfinals conclude Friday night when Mississippi meets DePaul at Rosemont, Ill.

Nebraska's victory marked the third straight game that Cloudy has led the Huskers to a homecourt victory in the tournament. The 6-foot-4 junior also led the Huskers in rebounding for the third straight game with nine.

The Huskers took control early, building a 15-4 lead 4½ minutes into the game with Cloudy scoring eight points. The Huskers expanded the margin to 36-19 by halftime and continued to build the lead against the Horned Frogs to 62-38 with six minutes left in the game.

Rains stop TPC play

PONTE VEDRA, Fla. (AP) — The Players Club course, site of the rain-delayed Tournament Players Championship, continues as a point of controversy.

The tournament schedule was set back one day when overnight rains flooded portions of the course and wiped out Thursday's scheduled opening round. Single rounds now are set for today and Saturday, with a double round of 36 holes on Sunday.

Some changes have been made for this tournament. Eight greens have been rebuilt, removing some of the most severe rolls and mounds.

Tom Watson, the 1982 Player of the Year and current holder of the U.S. and British Open titles, while obviously taking pains to be diplomatic, said playing the course "is a chore."

•The Big Spring Steers resume District 4-5A play Saturday when they travel to Abilene for a 2 p.m. game with the Cooper Cougars.

The Steers are 9-6 for the year after Thursday's 10-8 non-district loss to Andrews. Despite the loss, Big Spring is tied with Midland Lee for first place in the 4-AAAAAA standings, both teams at 3-0. Designated hitter Jinx Valenzuela is batting .545 in league play with third baseman David Anguiano hitting at a .462 clip, center fielder Jay Pirkle and first baseman Tom Cudd at .455 and first baseman Danny Arista at .400.

Cooper is 11-5 for the year and 2-1 in league play. Leading hitters on the team are Greg Badgett and Nathan Jones.

Adam Rodriguez, 2-2 on the season, is the probable starter for Big Spring. Rodriguez lost to Cooper 4-3 in eight innings during the Abilene Invitational Baseball Tournament.

•The Howard College Hawks look to extend their 12-game winning streak when they host Central Arizona Saturday at 2 p.m. on the HC campus.

The Hawks are 20-7-1 for the year and take a break from Region V conference play. Coach Bill Griffin says pitchers Roane Smith, Jeff Hodges and Moe Rubio will split time on the mound for the Hawks. Outfielder Doug Hatch continues to lead the team in batting with a .453 average while first baseman Bobby Behnisch is hitting .449 and shortstop Stephen Hodge .416.

Howard swept a 3-game conference series from Hill Junior College this week with catcher-pitcher Kelly Smith hammering four home runs with outfielder Billy Mitchell hitting a pair.

TENNIS

•The Big Spring High tennis team is in Fort Stockton for an invitational weekend tournament.

GOLF

Big Spring High golf team is the host of the second leg of the District 4-AAAAAA tournament today at the Big Spring Country Club. The Cooper No. 1 team leads the league race after last week's first round in Abilene with golfer Kyle Coody the leader in the medalist standings.

•Hoping to continue its improvement on the track, the Big Spring Steers are in San Angelo for the San Angelo Relays Friday and Saturday.

Among the top hopefuls for the Steers are long jumper Tony Randle who won his second gold medal with a 20-9 leap at the ABC Relays. Other possible point-getters are hurdler David Johnson (2nd at the ABC meet), distance runner John De Leon and Scott Griffin in the discus.

Big Spring was fifth in the ABC Relays last week with its best showing of the season.

•The Lady Steers are in Lubbock for their fourth meet of the season.

Big Spring was fourth in the ABC Relays, won by district rival Permian. Shell Rutledge returned to the 200 meters to win her specialty in 25.91 while Sylvia Randle debuted with a first place leap of 35-103/4 in the triple jump.

The Lady Steers can score more points in the sprint and 800 meter relays and in the low hurdles with Janet Fleckenstein.

NBA talks break, strike looming

NEW YORK (AP) — The way Larry Fleisher was talking after the National Basketball Association and its players' union stopped talking, a strike on April 2 is a virtual certainty.

After a 20-minute meeting on Thursday, Fleisher, general counsel for the NBA Players Association, said negotiations on a new collective bargaining agreement have been a waste of time in recent weeks.

"It is clear to us that, based on today, we've been wasting our time the last few weeks," he said. "My feeling is there is no alternative. There will be a strike April 2. I will be shocked if it didn't occur."

"They backed off everything that had been agreed to and their offer would effectively remove the players' right of free agency," Fleisher added following the quick meeting, at which, he said, a full committee of NBA owners appeared.

NBA Commissioner Larry O'Brien claimed the club owners made a proposal that would guarantee the players 50 percent of revenues for the next four years. O'Brien said the union rejected it, demanding 53 percent, and walked out of the meeting, held at a secret site as were two previous negotiating sessions this week.

Bargaining for the league were O'Brien, nine of the 11 members of the NBA's labor relations committee and the league's negotiating team.

Fleisher said, "The NBA proposal today was a change in gross income from what was originally discussed and what the teams had to spend. They said

$1.5 to $1.6 million a year (would be the salary cap). It would eliminate all free agency. The intent of the owners was apparent today. They want to take away free agency and we won't go for that."

Since a team would not be able to sign free agents if it exceeded the salary cap, Fleisher said the new proposal by the owners was "ludicrous."

Mavs win again, Rockets lose again

SAN DIEGO (AP) — Dallas Coach Dick Motta, thrilled by the Mavericks' pinpoint shooting, says he's hanging onto the boxscore because he still can't believe his team was that accurate.

"This has never happened to me before," Motta said after Dallas shot 67.6 percent from the field en route to a 118-113 victory over the San Diego Clippers in a National Basketball Association game Thursday night.

"This is too unbelievable," Motta said. "I have never had a team that shot 68 percent. I think I'll keep this," said Motta, clutching a statistics sheet.

Although the Mavericks converted 44 of 65 floor shots, it wasn't until Kelvin Ransey hit a 20-foot jumper with 1:14 remaining that Dallas went ahead for good, 113-111. Prior to that, the game had been tied 29 times.

The victory, the fifth in the last seven games for Dallas, pushed the Mavericks' record above the .500 mark at 36-35. San Diego, attempting to win three games in a row for the first time in more than two years, fell to 23-47.

Portland 104, Houston 97

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — The Portland Trail Blazers had barely finished breezing by the limping Houston Rockets 104-97 when Portland coach Jack Ramsay started looking ahead to the National Basketball Association playoffs.

"We have 12 games left and most of the teams we have to play are teams we are contending against for playoff position," Ramsay said after Thursday's game.

Jim Paxson scored 25 points and Calvin Natt added 21 in the win. The Blazers nursed a 48-43 halftime lead, then outscored the Rockets 39-26 in the third period with Natt and Paxson scoring 10 points each.

Elvin Hayes scored 20 points coming off the bench for Houston, while Allen Leavell and James Bailey added 16 points each. Houston has the worst record in the NBA at 12-57.

from the CARROLL RIGHTER INSTITUTE

FORECAST FOR SATURDAY, MAR. 26, 1983

GENERAL TENDENCIES: A good day to get together with congenials and plan how you and they can become more successful in your relationships. Fine also for entertaining and romance.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Concentrate on having more harmony with allies and become more successful in the future. Try to make life more pleasant.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Plan some time for recreation that can take you away temporarily from the stress and strain of regular duties.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) You are now able to come to a fine understanding with family members and have more accord in the future.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) A day to visit good friends, relatives and business allies and come to a better understanding with them.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Check your surroundings and make needed improvements. Ideal time to catch up on your correspondence. Handle money wisely.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) A time to think about improving your financial status. Avoid one who has an eye on your assets. Be wary of outsiders.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Think along lines of gaining your personal aims. Be more efficient in handling routines. Don't neglect an important payment.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Make plans that could produce greater income in the future. Don't waste money on persons who are ungrateful.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Make it a point to keep in touch with persons you really enjoy. A personal goal can be easily attained now.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) A time to contact loyal friends and get their backing for something that is important to you. Relax at home tonight.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Forget dull routines now and make new contacts with those who can liven up your life. Strive for happiness.

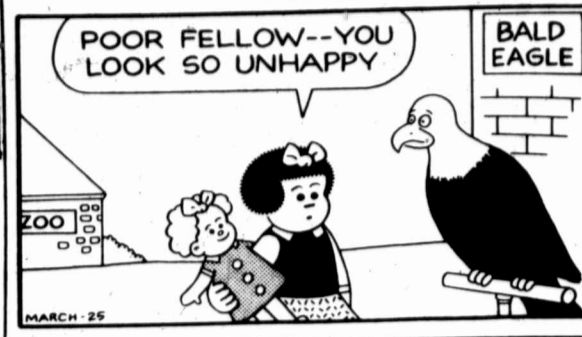

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Take care of your personal obligations early in the day for best results. Show more interest in a civil matter.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he or she will get along well with just about everybody because of the real charm in this nature, so be sure to direct the education along lines that will require being with the public a good part of the time.

"The Stars impel, they do not compel." What you make of your life is largely up to you!

You're invited to attend the Second Annual "Exciting" Easter Celebration at the Dorothy Garrett Coliseum featuring "Breakfast In Galilee" presented by the Music Ministry Hillcrest Orchestra Puppet show for children

Easter Sunday Morning April 3rd - 10:00 a.m. (Nursery Provided)

Hillcrest Baptist Church 2000 FM 700 Big Spring, Texas
Dr. Phillip W. McClendon—Pastor
John D. King—Minister of Education

Randy Anderson—Minister of Music
Bill Sloan—Associate Minister

THE DENIAL — John Preston, who is taking the role of Peter in a musical-drama "Joy Comes in the Morning," is shown from a scene in the production, slated April 1 and 2 in the First Baptist Church main auditorium. More than 80 people from the church choir are involved in the production, which begins at 8 p.m. each evening.

First Baptist to present Easter cantata twice

By CAROL HART
Religion Editor

The stage area in the main auditorium of First Baptist Church, 705 W. Marcy, will be turned into an improvised hillside at 8 p.m. April 1 and 2 when more than 80 members of the First Baptist Church choir present the musical-drama "Joy Comes in the Morning."

The cantata is one in a series of special productions the First Baptist Church Choir has presented during the last 10 years, Joe Whitten, minister of music, said. "We have produced different types of things from here (at the church) to the (Dorothy Garrett) Coliseum. This year we wanted to keep it in a church setting, so we engaged some people to make the choir rail removable, portable."

The removable rail makes it possible to stage large productions at the stage area. "We were preparing for this and future productions," Whitten said.

The Easter cantata reflects "experiences of sorrow turned to joy," Whitten said. The production is under the direction of Kelly Draper. The cast has rehearsed music for more than two months, and staging began earlier this month.

Joining the company is Harold DeCou, "an internationally known organist from Phoenix, Ariz.," Whitten said. DeCou has appeared in concert in Big Spring before, and was the organist who performed the dedication recital for the organ at the church.

Each choir member is taking a dramatic role in the show, as scenes from the Bible, including the Triumphal Entry into Jerusalem, the Last Supper, Jesus in the Garden of Gethsemane, the Betrayal, the Denial, the Crucifixion, the Tomb and the Resurrection, are portrayed.

Among principals in the production are J. Phinney, Luke; Clem Jones, John; Micah Goza, Jesus; John Preston, Peter; Dr. N.J. Ellis, Judas; Butch Fraser, James; and Susan Cranford, Mary Magdalene.

Each person in the production will wear a Biblical costume which they made themselves or had made. "That's quite an undertaking for 80 people," Whitten said.

Whitten chose "Joy Comes in the Morning" after viewing the premiere performance of the cantata at Glorieta, N.M., in the summer of 1981, during a Baptist church music conference.

"It was a moving experience," Whitten remembers of the cantata. "I wanted to present it here in Big Spring."

Whitten and members of the choir elected to present the cantata on two nights "so people with conflicts will have a choice. It is open to the public. This is something we want to share with the city."

Whitten chose Friday and Saturday nights so "we would not interfere with other churches and their Easter programs."

Divorce is topic of seminar

A Divorce Recovery Help Seminar will be held in Lubbock Saturday, April 2. This seminar entitled "Starting Over" will be held in the lower level of the Broadway Education Center at 1924 Broadway, from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. The seminar is sponsored by the Singles Ministry and the Family Care Ministry of the Broadway Church of Christ.

Dr. Gayle Napier, Dr. Jim Anderson and Ron Rose will direct the day long seminar. Napier is chairman of the psychology department at Lubbock Christian College. Dr. Anderson is a marriage and family therapist and is directing the Christian Counseling Clinic in Lubbock. Rose is the family care minister at Broadway Church of Christ. Tim Talley, singles minister, will coordinate the day's events.

Topics will include "Coping with the Emotional Readjustment of Divorce," "Transitional and Reestablishment Stages in Divorce Adjustment," "Children of Divorce and Single Parenting," and "Establishing a New Identity."

Registration is $15. Nursery and babysitting facilities are available for children up to age 11.

Church moves service to Garrett coliseum

Members of Hillcrest Baptist Church will move their Easter Sunday morning services to the Dorothy Garrett Coliseum for an Easter celebration entitled "Breakfast in Galilee," Randy Anderson, minister of music, said.

Anderson said "we would like to invite the community to this service." Last year members of Hillcrest Baptist Church held a similar service in the auditorium at Big Spring High School and 1,000 people attended the event. This year, members of the church decided to move the services to the Dorothy Garrett Coliseum and are hoping 2,000 people will attend.

RANDY ANDERSON
discusses services

Dr. Phillip W. McClendon is pastor of Hillcrest Baptist Church. He will present an Easter message at 10 a.m. at the coliseum.

At 11 a.m., "Breakfast in Galilee," an Easter cantata, will be presented with members of the Hillcrest Baptist Church choir and orchestra taking part. Members of the music department are working on special costumes and lighting for the coliseum now, Anderson said. A puppet show will be staged for the children in the audience.

Anderson said the community is invited, and he extended a special invitation "to people with no church home" who would like to attend an Easter service.

A nursery will be provided for small children.

'The Witness' to be staged

The youth and young adults of First United Methodist Church will present "The Witness" at 7 p.m. Sunday in the sanctuary of the church, Charles Parham, minister of music, said.

"The Witness" was written by Jimmy and Carol Owens in 1978, and has proven to be one of the most popular Christian musicals ever written," Parham said.

Chris Showalter will sing the lead role of Peter, the witness. "Chris's excellent singing voice and strong stage personality brings the character of Peter alive in a very moving way," Parham said.

The troubled personality of Judas is portrayed by Pete Crabtree in a gripping, moving manner. Debbie Drake sings the Mother Mary role beautifully. Amy Ragan portrays James and John's mother who is interested only in their success while Peter's wife, Holly Parham, finds she married a traveling man. Garry Tibbs and Nat Hart sing the roles of James and John.

Other singers and actors are Michelle Bowers, Becky Stevens, Charley Ragan, David Duggan, Cindy Shelby, Annette Fowler, Richard Moren, Jim Cearley, Tammy Skiles, Tonya Stevenson, Amy Dwire, Stacey Bott, David Deal, Laura Wilson, Debbie Donelson and Suzanne Bowers.

Choreographer is Laurie Churchwell. Kelly Draper is stage director. Charles Parham is music director.

The musical will be accompanied by a small ensemble, and will utilize special lighting and interesting stage effects.

The public is invited to attend the special presentation, Parham said.

Dr. Hedrick to be speaker at Presbyterian services

Dr. William K. Hedrick, Austin, will be the guest preacher at the First Presbyterian Church during Holy Week, beginning Sunday.

Hedrick is vice-president for development at Austin Presbyterian Theological Seminary. He will speak at morning and evening services Sunday and three times on each of the next three days, and twice on Thursday. The public is invited to all of the services.

The Rev. Bill Henning, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church, said "This is a part of the Presbyterian's annual preparation for Easter. Holy Week, the week before Easter, is observed by Christians the world over as a time of prayer, study, and preparation for the joyful festival of Easter."

Hedrick is speaking on the theme of "God's Surprises." The topic for the Sunday morning worship at 11 a.m. is "The Unpredictable Rider." On Sunday night at 7:30 p.m., Hedrick will speak on "A Fearsome Goodness."

All of the evening services will be in the chapel at First Presbyterian Church, 701 Runnels Street. Each will begin at 7:30 p.m. Subjects Monday through Wednesday are "Uncanny Consequences," "The Death of Jesus," and "The Dark of God."

Monday through Thursday mornings Hedrick will lead Bible studies on the general theme "Why Bother with Obedience?" On each morning at 7 a.m. there will be a breakfast meeting followed by the Bible study, which will end at 7:50 a.m. There will be a mid-morning Bible study time at 10 a.m. in the church parlor. Rev. Henning will speak at the breakfast meeting Friday.

At 7:30 p.m. Thursday, a traditional Maundy Thursday service of Holy Communion, recalling the Thursday of the first Holy Week, when Jesus shared the Last Supper with his disciples.

The Holy Week services will conclude on Friday. From noon to 1 p.m. there will be a service of prayer and meditation in the chapel of First Presbyterian Church. This service will be divided into three segments of 20 minutes each, beginning at noon, 12:20 p.m. and 12:40 p.m. Persons who wish to worship during their lunch hour may come to one or more of these periods of meditation.

Hedrick is a native of Arkansas. He has served churches in Louisiana, East Texas, and Midland, before assuming his duties as vice-president for development at Austin Presbyterian Theological Seminary.

Religion important, survey finds

Organized religion plays an important role in the lives of many or most Americans, according to the Merit Report, a public opinion survey.

Specifically, a large majority of adult Americans (69 percent) say that organized religion "is an important element" in their lives, while only 27 percent say that it is "not an important element," and 4 percent have no opinion. All regions of the country, sex, age and income groups agree that it's important to their lives.

It is, however, interesting to note that women (73 percent) put more emphasis on religion in their lives than do men (66 percent) and those 50 and older (76 percent) say religion is important in their lives compared to those 18 to 34 (63 percent.) The West differs from the rest of the country in saying religion is an important factor by a fairly close 54 percent to 42 percent margin, while two-thirds or more of people in other regions of the country concur.

On a related issue, Americans believe that parents should have influence in determining the religious beliefs of their children. Half (49 percent) think that parents should have either a "great deal" (35 percent) or "total influence," (14 percent) in determining their children's beliefs. Additionally, 33 percent say parents should have "a fair amount" while fewer, only 13 percent in total, think they should have "little influence" (6 percent) or "none at all" (7 percent).

WHEN ARE WE GOING TO ACT OUR AGE!

From Adam to the atom it has been a long process. But progress does not necessarily mean progress. Only when we recognize our need for God will we begin to come of age. Then, and only then, will progress mushroom into progress.

Texas tips

Yanks, 4-0

POMPANO BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Larry Parrish ended his spring home run draught with a three-run shot in the seventh inning as the Texas Rangers posted a 4-0 win over the New York Yankees.

Rick Honeycutt, Ron Musselman and Odell Jones also combined on a four-hit shutout in Thursday's exhibition game.

Parrish's home run, his first of the spring, came off Yankee left-hander Bob Shirley and followed Dave Hostetler's RBI single, plating the game's first runs.

The win lifted Texas to 8-9 for the spring. New York is 10-5.

Rangers trade for pitcher

POMPANO BEACH, Fla. (AP) — The Texas Rangers acquired righthanded relief pitcher Dave Tobik of Detroit Thursday in exchange for outfielder Johnny Grubb.

Tobik had a 4-9 record for the Tigers last year with nine saves. He allowed 86 hits in 98 innings and had a 3.56 earned run average.

"We probably will use Dave in long relief starting out," said Manager Doug Rader. "We'll need somebody to spell Odell Jones and Tobik could be the man."

Grubb came to the Rangers in 1978 for outfielder Dave Rivera and pitcher Bobby Cuellar.

He had a high of 10 home runs and 37 runs batted in with the Rangers in 1979. He hit .273 that season.

Bluegrass bout materializes them wrong. All the time, we knew we would be in this position in March. We believe in ourselves."

McCray's decisive tip-in for Louisville came after the Cardinals' third missed shot in the final 11 seconds. McCray and Lancaster Gordon sparked the rally that produced Louisville's 15th victory in a row after a 16-0 burst gave Arkansas a 35-19 lead in the first half.

McCray scored 11 of his 17 points and Gordon had 12 of his 19 in the second half as the Cardinals methodically sliced the deficit and finally tied it 61-61 when Gordon stole an errant pass and hit a layup with 3:03 to go.

After McCray's game-winning tip-in, Crum's thoughts immediately flashed back to the 1981 tourney when Arkansas ousted the Cardinals 74-73 on a halfcourt fling at the buzzer by U.S. Reed.

"I thought it was turnabout's fair play," Crum said. "Ours was a six-incher and theirs was a 50-footer, but they both counted two points."

Despite picking up his fourth personal foul just seconds into the second half, Virginia's 7-foot-4 Sampson scored 19 points and was a dominating force inside against Boston College. A 15-1 burst gave the winners a 68-57 advantage with 10:23 left and it was 70-64 when Sampson returned with 7:27 to play.

"We came out at halftime with a play designed to try to make him block a shot," said B.C. Coach Gary Williams. "It worked, and it was a good feeling when he picked up his fourth foul."

But the strategy backfired. With Sampson on the bench, Rick Carlisle, Othell Wilson, backup center Kenton Edelin and sub guard Ricky Stokes took charge for the Cavaliers. Carlisle was Virginia's leading scorer with 22 points, 16 in the second half, and Wilson added 18. Boston College was paced by John Garris with 25 and Jay Murphy with 23.

"Obviously, you tend to relax a little bit when you think he (Sampson) is out of there," Williams said. "We hear so much about Ralph that maybe we thought it would be easy after that."

North Carolina State's hot shooting had Utah Coach Jerry Pimm shaking his head. He was especially impressed with Whittenburg, who bombed unerringly from long range.

"He was unbelievable! Those were three-point shots in the pros," Pimm said.

Whittenburg said State's strategy was to shoot from outside.

"We knew they were going to slough off on our big men," he said. "The team had a lot of confidence in me."

"We felt we had the opportunity to take the outside shot and we were convinced we could get that shot tonight," said Coach Jim Valvano. "We had more control of this game than in the other postseason games where we had a more frenzied time of it."

Sophomore forward Lorenzo Charles added a career-high 18 points for the winners.

Snoozing Steers fall, 10-8

The rally was one run short and Andrews added an insurance run in the seventh on Destry Simpson's pinch-hit. Further scoring was prevented by three BSHS doubleplays.

The Steers looked the worse on the Mustangs' run-down plays. With runners at the corners, the man on first would force a rundown, hoping to get his teammate in from third base. Twice the ploy worked for Andrews.

"I had people falling asleep on me," Ibarra moaned. "That first and third play is something that we had worked on in practice. If it had been something new, it wouldn't have been so bad. But we had worked on that. That's what bothers me."

Ibarra also saw the heart of his batting order — Danny Arista, Jay Pirkle, Valenzuela and Cudd — collect only four singles. But it wasn't the hits but a walk and sacrifice fly that produced runs.

The Steers tagged Cornejo for 11 hits while Cudd surrendered 10 to the Mustangs.

"I guess it's different for 17 and 18 year old kids," Ibarra shrugged. "They look at playing teams like Lamesa and Andrews a lot differently than they do teams like Cooper or Lee."

After playing Cooper Saturday, the Steers hosts Lee — also unbeaten in three league games — Tuesday at Steer Park.
