

O.I.L. lays off 80 workers; denies shutdown rumors

By CAROL DANIEL
Staff Writer

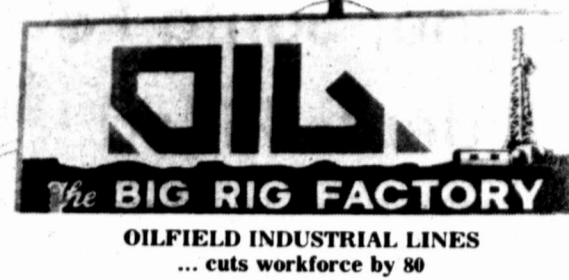

Richard Fackler, chief operating officer at Oilfield Industrial Lines, said today that 80 O.I.L. employees were "furloughed" this morning, bringing this year's total layoffs by the company to 200. No one in O.I.L. management could be reached by telephone to determine from which department the employees were laid off. Fackler said in a press release that "the action is taking place due to rearrangement in the scheduled production of the company."

Rumors that O.I.L. is closing are not true, Fackler said. "Business decisions of this nature are not pleasant steps to take, but are necessary in order to keep this company profitable..." Fackler said. Unofficial sources say the employees were laid off from the company's manufacturing division and that manufacturing operations will be closed down by October. The sources said a skeleton crew of 30 will maintain operations until October.

An O.I.L. secretary said Fackler and other O.I.L. officials could not talk to the Herald this morning because they were in a meeting. In the news release, Fackler praised O.I.L. management's "exceptional business decisions" that kept the company open.

O.I.L. cut back to just over 300 employees Jan. 7 when it laid off 160 workers from every department. Two weeks earlier, 40 workers were laid off. Twenty were recalled in late January.

Big Spring Symphony plans scored

By MIKE DOWNEY
Staff Writer

By 1984, Big Spring should have its own symphony.

Faced with programming and business problems with the Midland-Odessa Symphony Association, the Big Spring Symphony Association voted to form its own orchestra drawn from musicians in a 100-mile radius of Big Spring.

Sam Woodward, director of the Big Spring Chamber of Commerce Arts Council, said the formation of the orchestra will mean a break with the Midland-Odessa group.

"It was time to move and create our own destiny," Woodward said. "We're taking a negative and turning it into a positive."

Big Spring Symphony Association President Rick Hamby said the Big Spring and Midland-Odessa associations "regret the misunderstandings that have occurred as a result of a change in their management."

The two groups have been quarreling over programming and scheduling ever since Midland-Odessa hired a new general manager one year ago.

Hamby said the split will be beneficial to Big Spring.

"Our own organization is moving forward with renewed enthusiasm to bring exciting, entertaining and responsive programming to our community," Hamby said.

Woodward, the former business manager for the Midland-Odessa Symphony Association, said plans are to use an available talent pool to create an orchestra. Some of the same performers local residents have seen in the Midland-Odessa orchestra should be in the Big Spring symphony, he said.

Musicians from Lubbock, San Angelo and Abilene are also expected, Woodward said.

Programming under a local orchestra will better reflect the tastes of Big Spring audiences, Woodward said. Getting music suited to listeners here was a problem the local association had experienced with Midland-Odessa, he said.

"The programming will be imaginative and geared to popular taste — legitimate pieces in the contemporary sense," Woodward said. "Our goal is to have the audience saying 'I don't know what they'll be playing tonight, but golly it's going to be good.'"

In the past, the feeling was some music was "imposed on rather brought to" audiences here, Woodward said.

Control over appearance dates and times will also be an advantage, Woodward said. Ticket buyers can be told exactly when concerts will be and what music will be performed, he said. Tickets could be purchased on a single-concert basis, Woodward added.

Woodward said Big Spring can support its own symphony because the city has already shown a commitment to the arts by forming the Big Spring Symphony Association and also the Big Spring Symphony Guild, Woodward said. A major advantage to having a symphony is its competitive edge in attracting industry to the area, the director said.

"The fact that Big Spring boasts a symphony and commitment to the arts is something top-level executives look at," Woodward said.

Big Springer gets Navy's signal

Special to the Herald

Anthony J. Stevenson of Big Spring has a job that would be recognized by sailors 200 years ago even though he works on one of the Navy's most modern ships.

Seaman Stevenson, a crewman on the guided missile cruiser USS Texas, is a signalman.

"Most people don't realize that the Navy still has signalmen," said the 19-year-old son of George Stevenson of 1410 Nolan. "We use methods of communication — signal flags, semaphore and flashing light — that have been used by ships for centuries, and we still have an important job."

"We work closely with the navigators and send signals to other ships telling them about course changes."

"If we have to maintain radio silence, we still have to be able to communicate with other ships; that's when we use visual communication."

Stevenson works on the signal bridge — high up on the ship's superstructure.

"I really like my job because it's different," he said. "When it's raining or cold it can be miserable standing in the open, but most of the time it's fun."

Because of his viewpoint, Stevenson will have the first look at ports the Texas will visit during its around-the-world cruise.

"I'm really excited about the trip," he said, shortly before the ship's departure. "In civilian life I'd never have a chance like this to see some of the places we'll visit. It's like a magic carpet ride."

"The hardest thing will be not seeing my family for so long. I won't see my second child until it's almost six months old."

Stevenson and his wife, the former Brenda Jones of Sherman, have a son, Bryan, 1, and are expecting another baby in June.

"It's hard on my wife for me to be gone at a time like this," Stevenson said. "She understands that it's part of my job, but that doesn't make it easier for us. She's going to stay in Virginia until the ship gets to San Diego; then I'll come back here, and we'll drive across country together. We plan a stop in Texas to visit our families on the way."

The former Big Spring High School student has served on the Texas since June 1982. He was assigned to the ship after completing recruit and signalman training.

Rainbow Project looks to citizens for supplies

By RICHARD HORN
Staff Writer

Construction on the Rainbow Project may be completed within a month, but hurdles remain before the new home for abused children is ready.

Debbie Holt, a worker with the Howard County Ministerial Fellowship's project to renovate the old No. 6 Fire Station, said money is needed to furnish the building.

She said they have made arrangements with a local store to receive furniture at cost.

"For $150, we can buy a good quality bed and frame," she said. "We need groups or individuals to buy a bed. This way we will be able to make everything standard and of good quality."

She said they could receive a good chest of drawers for $75.

The home at 2906 W. 13th also needs a washer and dryer, large cooking vessels, a cutting board, 20 sets of twin sheets and pillow cases and two sets of full-size sheets, Ms. Holt said.

"We'd be glad to accept donated furniture and other items, but we want to make sure everything is sturdy and long-lasting," she said.

Victor Sedinger, minister of Big Spring First Christian Church and co-chairman of the ministerial alliance, said he hopes to have construction finished by April 9 and to start moving furniture in on April 14.

"April 15 is the time-line for applying for a license from the Texas Department of Human Resources," he said. "They will send someone down to inspect and will respond within 30 days."

He said the project's supervisors would then have a limited amount of time to comply with the department.

"The whole process (of licensing) could take as little as 30 days or as many as 90. We're hoping for 30," Sedinger said.

Persons wishing to donate money are asked to make their checks payable to the Rainbow Project and send them to P.O. Box 2825, Big Spring, Texas 79720.

Checks should be specified if they are to be used for a particular need of the project, Ms. Holt said.

Big Spring cable service

Expansion may include two more channels

By MIKE DOWNEY
Staff Writer

As completion of Big Spring Cable TV's new pay-TV channels nears, two additional channels are also being considered for the Big Spring viewing area.

Big Spring Cable TV Vice President Jim Lancaster said the services of The Movie Channel, MTV and Nickelodeon, announced in February, should be in operation in April. MTV features contemporary musical acts, while Nickelodeon is a channel for children's programming.

Additionally, the company intends to later add two more pay-TV channels: the Nashville Network and the Disney Network, he said.

The format for the new services will be as follows: Customers with Showtime or who choose the Movie Channel will receive MTV and Nickelodeon at no additional charge. Those who wish both movie channels will receive an approximate 10 percent reduction in the $10.30 monthly rate.

"We're anticipating a large order," Lancaster said.

The Nashville service features country-and-western music while the Disney channel will have family-oriented films as well as many of the old Disney classics.

The Disney and Nashville channels will be added at a later date, Lancaster said. He could not specify a time although he said the Nashville Network would not even begin nationally until April 18.

Lancaster said he is optimistic about contractors finishing the labor to ready the area for the expansion of cable services.

"The only material holding us up now is some cable and the time to put it up," Lancaster said.

Snake round-up slithers to a halt

The 21st Annual Big Spring Rattlesnake Round-up slithered in as a success this weekend, said show director Kirk Kirkham.

Approximately 8,000 spectators made their way to the Howard County Fairgrounds during the three days of the show, Kirkham said. Snake handling demonstrations, milking demonstrations and an arts and crafts show provided entertainment.

For the snake hunters, the entertainment was in the chase, but the capture provided its own rewards. The American Businessmen's club bought 2,124 pounds of rattlers from 18 hunters at $2.25 per pound, Kirkham said.

The round-up's total snake poundage was down from last year's 2,825 pounds captured, but cold weather and a poor market for rattlesnakes contributed to the decline.

A M B U C S (A M e r i c a n B u s i n e s s m e n ' s C l u b) sold 1,385 pounds of snakes to a market buyer, cooked and sold 740 pounds of rattlesnake meat, and sold the skins of 230 rattlers, Kirkham said.

In addition, the Ambucs received $3,300 for 1/2 quart of venom milked from the rattlesnakes by Dr. John Perez of Texas A&I University. Perez uses the venom in cancer research.

Mexican trains collide; Santa Fe residents killed

CHIHUAHUA, Mexico (AP) — A Santa Fe, N.M., man, his daughter and a Chihuahua child were killed in the collision of two trains near here, officials reported Sunday.

The accident Saturday left 56 other people injured, Mexican authorities said.

Authorities identified the victims as Daniel Phillips Clouse, 33, of Santa Fe, his 2-year-old daughter Mariah, and 2-year-old Leonardo Morales Balios, of Creel, Chihuahua.

Clouse's wife, Teresa Lee, 27, was hospitalized in delicate condition at the Mexican Social Security's Morelos Hospital in Chihuahua City with a fractured pelvis and a broken leg, officials said.

The Santa Fe couple's other daughter, 4-year-old Jena, suffered a small fracture in her right leg and was listed in good condition.

Luis Arturo Sabida, a spokesman for the Public Ministry in Chihuahua, the other 56 people injured were all of Mexican nationality, Sabida said. Thirty were being treated in local hospitals, he said, and three of them were in serious condition.

A passenger train failed to observe its travel plan and collided with a freight train near here, Sabida said.

The accident occurred 96 miles southwest of this city in the Station San Juanito of the Creel-Chihuahua route when a 2,000-ton freight train collided with the 50-ton passenger train with 70 people on board.

Jose Salmeron, spokesman for Ferrocarriles Pacifico-Chihuahua, the state-affiliated company which operates the trains, said the collision occurred because the passenger train failed to divert off the main track to a secondary track as was indicated in its travel plan.

Mrs. Clouse discussed the accident Sunday in an interview from her hospital bed.

"I thought it was just something that had made the train stop really quick," she said. "But the seats were bent back."

Mrs. Clouse said she and her daughter Jena were sitting in the front row on one side of the aisle, with her husband and Mariah on the other side of the aisle.

"They couldn't find a way to get us out," said Mrs. Clouse. "Different men tried different ways of prying us out. They kept trying to pull me out and everytime I must have screamed because my pelvis was broken."

The Clouses had arrived in Chihuahua City last Thursday night and left for Creel Friday morning. The trip between the two cities takes about 10 hours.

Bandit dumps money before police capture

DALLAS (AP) — A suspected grocery store bandit was captured by police after attempting to flee from his car on a jammed freeway — but not before he tossed about $2,000 out the window, authorities said.

The man was shot once by police after he drew a pistol on an officer who confronted him on Central Expressway, investigators said. He was listed in stable condition today at Parkland Memorial Hospital, a hospital spokesman said.

A gun-wielding bandit entered a Safeway grocery store in suburban Duncanville about 8:05 p.m. and took a female store employee hostage before demanding cash from the manager's cage, investigators said.

After loading an estimated $3,000 in a paper bag, he released the woman unharmed in the parking lot and fled in a late-model Chevrolet, police said.

Dallas police spotted the car a short time later and began the chase. The suspect turned north on Interstate 45, throwing money from the car, police said.

The car then sped north on Central Expressway, hated in Dallas for its constant traffic jams, and came upon stop-and-go traffic north of the downtown area, according to police.

The suspect stopped his car and jumped out and an officer at the scene said the man pointed a gun at him. The officer fired once, striking the suspect in the arm, police said.

Police said about $1,000 was recovered from the vehicle. Officers were combing the freeway for the missing money.

7 nabbed in pot smuggling

LUCY, N.M. (AP) — Seven people were arrested early today near this tiny Torrance County community after a four-engine airplane made a pre-dawn landing on ranch land and 10 tons of marijuana were seized, a Torrance County deputy said.

The marijuana was being unloaded from the DC-7 airplane into two semi-trucks when state police and sheriff's deputies moved in, said Deputy Flo Lindholm.

"We have seven vehicles, including two semis, in custody," she said.

Ms. Lindholm said authorities were combing the area southeast of Estancia for other people possibly involved in the incident.

"We believe there are possibly seven or eight more (people) involved," she said.

Ms. Lindholm said there was no information immediately available on the individuals taken into custody.

Lucy is located about 12 miles northeast of Willard.

Police Beat

Man shot in chest recovering

A 24-year-old Big Spring laborer, who was shot yesterday afternoon in his left side, is listed in satisfactory condition at the Malone-Hogan Hospital intensive care unit, a hospital spokeswoman said.

Police were told that someone fired at least seven bullets into a car driven by Carlos Marquez of 610 N.W. Fifth. Marquez was wounded once on the left side of his chest, police said.

Police reports indicate the shooting took place on the 1000 block of N.W. Second. Marquez was taken to the hospital by Shaffer Ambulance service.

No one has been arrested in connection with the shooting, police Lt. Alvis Jeffcoat said. Police reports said the victim knows his assailant and will press charges.

Police reports also show the following:

- A 57-year-old liquor store employee apparently became the victim of his own hospitality this morning. James Howell told police that he invited a black female into his apartment on N.W. Fourth at about 3:40 a.m. today and that she stole the keys to his car, locked him inside the apartment and drove away.

- Howell said he keeps a .22-caliber revolver inside the stolen car, a 1953 Chrysler.

- Oscar Solis of 800 E. 15th yesterday reported a stolen vehicle. He told police that a person he knows borrowed his vehicle and did not return it at the specified time.

- Billy Cauble of Southland Apartments told police he saw a white male enter his neighbor's yard yesterday and steal two pipe jacks worth $150.

- Dennis Sullivan, 35, of Redmont, Mont., was arrested Saturday on suspicion of unlawfully carrying a weapon and public intoxication. Police said they arrested Sullivan and 50-year-old Charles Rippel for public intoxication near the intersection of Interstate Highway 20 and State Highway 350.

- Benjamin Douglas, 38, of 2502 Langley was arrested Saturday night on suspicion of driving while intoxicated.

Marine helicopter crashes, 6 missing

SAN SIMON, Ariz. (AP) — A military CH-53 helicopter crashed on a flight from North Carolina to California, leaving six Marines missing and presumed dead and another critically burned, a Marine spokesman said today.

Lt. Robert Ross, public affairs officer at the Marine Corps Air Station in Yuma, said the copter went down in rugged country 12 miles east of this southeastern Arizona community at about 6 p.m. Sunday night. He said details were sketchy, but the flight originated at the Marine Corps Air Station in New River, N.C., and was headed for military maneuvers in Twenty Nine Palms, Calif.

Ross said the Marines had spent Saturday night in El Paso, Texas, and were scheduled to stay overnight Sunday at the Yuma base.

The cause of the crash was under investigation, Ross said.

Admitted to St. Mary's Hospital in Tucson was Anthony Herrod, described as a passenger. He was reported in critical condition from burns.

Ross said he had no information on the others aboard.

Teen couple shot in Weatherford

WEATHERFORD (AP) — Authorities released few details about the killings of two teen-agers who were found shot to death in a car after they failed to return home from a date.

Autopsies were pending today in the deaths of Vincent M. Tijerina Jr. and Michele Renne, 14, who were discovered by Tijerina's father Saturday morning in the Tijerina's family car, police said.

The car was parked near an abandoned schoolhouse, described by police as a popular hangout for local youths.

"This is a case that needs to be investigated in thorough detail, and we don't want to release anything that would impede the investigation," Parker County District Attorney Mac Smith said Sunday. "At this time there is no more information forthcoming."

It was the second double murder in this North Central Texas town, located about 20 miles west of Fort Worth, in six weeks, police said. On Feb. 14, police found the bodies of a Wichita Falls couple in their pickup and arrested one man in connection with the shooting deaths.

Investigators said they had no motive or suspects in the most recent shootings.

Vincent Tijerina said his son was never in trouble and always returned from dates promptly.

"There was no reason at all (for the shootings). He was the kind of boy who didn't get into any trouble. He didn't drink. He didn't smoke. He didn't pick fights," the father said. "I can't understand why anyone would do such terrible things to kids."

Both youths were freshmen at Weatherford High School, authorities said.

The couple had their first date Friday night, Tijerina said, and he let his son take the family car for the evening.

"It was the first time she was allowed to go out with him," Tijerina said. "It was their first real date."

Kidnapped baby safe, police arrest abductor

DALLAS (AP) — An Oklahoma woman was arrested today in the abduction of an infant who was taken from his mother's arms at a Dallas hospital, FBI agents said.

The week-old baby, Harold Deshawn Patterson, was in good condition at Comanche County Hospital in Lawton, Okla., said Thomas C. Kelly, special agent in charge of the Dallas FBI.

The infant was abducted Thursday evening from his mother's room at Parkland Memorial Hospital.

The Lawton woman was taken before a U.S. magistrate in Lawton and will be returned to Texas to face kidnapping charges, Kelly said.

The boy's mother, 18-year-old Gretchen Patterson, told investigators she was feeding her son at 6:15 p.m. Thursday when a woman dressed as a nurse came into the room and said she needed to take the baby for a checkup.

The woman told Ms. Patterson that she would have to hand over her infant son because she had a fever and should not be nursing him, officials said.

Then the woman walked away with the baby "at a fast pace," said FBI spokesman Joe Hershey.

A patient in a room across the hall saw the woman run toward the elevators with the baby, investigators said.

Soviets, U.S. trade accusations of lies

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Reagan's call for a new missile defense system has touched off a verbal exchange between the two superpowers, with Soviet leader Yuri V. Andropov accusing Reagan of lying and the United States charging that Moscow is distorting the truth.

Defense Secretary Caspar Weinberger entered the fray Sunday, calling Andropov's attack "the simple standard Soviet disinformation that has been poured out for years."

"We regret the tone and content of Soviet Communist Party Leader Andropov's response to the president's speech on defense policy," the State Department said over the weekend.

Andropov, in an interview for the Communist newspaper Pravda published Sunday, said Reagan told a "deliberate lie" in asserting that the Soviets have not kept to a moratorium on deploying medium-range nuclear missiles.

The Soviet leader also said Reagan's proposed missile defense was part of an "extremely perilous" strategy that laymen might find "attractive as the president speaks about what seem to be defensive measures."

"In fact, the strategic offensive forces of the United States will continue to be developed and upgraded at full tilt and along quite a definite line at ... acquiring a first nuclear strike capability," Andropov said.

Reagan outlined his missile defense strategy, and defended his proposed $1.7 trillion defense budget, in a nationally televised address last Wednesday.

Weinberger defended the proposals in an appearance on NBC's "Meet the Press" Sunday.

"The defensive systems the president is talking about are not designed to be partial. What we want to try to get is a system that will develop a defense that is thoroughly reliable and total," Weinberger said.

"I would hope and assume that the Soviets, with all the work they have done and are doing in this field, would develop at about the same time we did the same kind of effective defense," Weinberger said, "which would then have the effect of totally and completely removing these missiles from the Earth." In his speech, Reagan asked the American public to lobby for his defense program. "Tell your senators and congressmen that you know we must continue to restore our military strength," the president urged viewers.

His appeal was too late in the House. A half-hour before the speech, the House approved a fiscal 1984 budget blueprint that calls for boosting Pentagon spending by 4 percent after inflation, compared with the 10 percent increase Reagan had sought.

The fight now moves to the Senate, where the Budget Committee agreed to a White House request to delay voting on a Pentagon figure until after the current Easter recess.

While the Senate panel, and eventually the entire Senate, is expected to approve higher defense spending than the House, the figure is likely to be an increase of no more than 5 or 6 percent.

In addition to his proposal for a stepped-up research program to find a technological shield for the United States, Reagan again warned about the growing Soviet military threat and said the United States needs his $1.7 trillion plan to "rearm America."

"If we stop in midstream," Reagan said, "we will not only jeopardize the progress we have made to date, we will mortgage our ability to deter war and achieve genuine arms reductions."

Initial congressional indicated the president had changed few minds.

Some of the sharpest criticism from Sen. Mark Hatfield, R-Ore., who said he was "deeply troubled by the president's statement."

Hatfield is chairman of the Senate Appropriations Committee, which will have the job later this year, after an overall figure is set, of approving money for the Pentagon and other agencies.

House Minority Leader Robert H. Michel was unhappy, arguing that Reagan's appeal on defense took away from Michel's effort to concentrate opinion on Democratic tax and domestic spending policies.

"For me, it (the speech) couldn't have come at a worse time," said the congressman.

"I don't know what he said was all that convincing to members of Congress," Michel said.

Some of the loudest critics of Reagan's defense proposal are Republicans on the Senate Budget Committee.

Chicago mayoral candidate blames opponent for scene

CHICAGO (AP) — Democratic mayoral candidate Harold Washington blamed his Republican opponent for a hostile demonstration that drove him and former vice president Walter Mondale away from a campaign stop at a Roman Catholic church.

But GOP candidate Bernard Epton bristled at charges of his involvement and asked his supporters not to take part in such activities.

About 200 people, some carrying placards for Epton and shouting "Go home!" surrounded Washington and Mondale as they left Palm Sunday services to greet parishioners at St. Pascal's Church on the city's northwest side.

Washington and Mondale remained smiling and calm despite the hostile crowd. But after spending a few minutes greeting people on the steps of the church, Washington said, "I think we should just leave."

The church is located in a predominantly white neighborhood. If Washington were to win the April 12 election, he would be

Chicago's first black mayor. The pastor of the church, the Rev. Frank Ciezadlo, said of the incident, "I've been a priest for 36 years. Maybe I didn't get the message of love across."

At a huge campaign rally later in the day, Washington suggested that the demonstrators were organized by Epton campaign officials. He told a crowd of about 12,000 at the University of Illinois-Chicago that the incident mirrored "base, crass, anti-attitudes."

"Epton, is this what you call unity, is this what you call managing the city of Chicago?" Washington said. "Sir, you have some explaining to do to that fine pastor (and to) the 1,000 parishioners who were in there worshipping."

Epton denied Washington's accusations. "It's alarming and disgusting for my opponent to suggest I was a party to this. People should certainly be able to go where they please without that kind of intrusion," Epton said. "Let's not descend to the level of my distinguished opponent who sometimes has a problem obeying the law."

Epton's campaign has been hammering at Washington's misdemeanor conviction in the early 1970s for failing to file income tax returns. The protesters who confronted Washington and Mondale at the church yelled "thief" and "crook" in apparent reference to that conviction.

Mondale left the city soon after the incident and could not be reached for comment. A telephone call to Robert Beckel, manager of Mondale's presidential campaign, went unanswered Sunday night.

Peter Foote, spokesman for Cardinal Joseph Bernardin, the city's Roman Catholic archbishop, said Bernardin felt "a deep sense of sadness over the disturbance."

Investigation sought into Watt appointments

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Dale Bumpers is seeking a congressional investigation of reports that the Interior Department dropped 10 scientists from a non-partisan advisory board after the Republican National Committee objected to their appointment.

Interior Secretary James G. Watt on Sunday denied any effort to purge the scientific advisory boards of Democrats, but said he sought advice on selecting their members from a wide range of sources — including, "I would hope," the Republican Party.

Bumpers, who obtained a copy of an Interior Department memorandum on the subject, said Sunday in Little Rock that he has asked for a congressional hearing.

He said he asked Sen. Lowell Weicker, R-Conn., chairman of the subcommittee on energy conservation and supply of the Senate Energy and Natural Resources Committee, to conduct the hearing.

"What it is is a blatant effort on the part of the Department of Interior to make sure the scientists put on that committee make some kind of ideological test," said the Arkansas Democrat, who is expected to enter the crowded field of Democratic presidential contenders early next week. "When you do this, you're guaranteeing that you're not getting the best scientists."

Watt, appearing on the CBS interview program "Face The Nation," said he chose scientific advisers based on expertise, but he also defended his right to change board members.

"You don't have a birthright," Watt said. "Once you've been appointed to a committee doesn't mean you have a right to be their forever."

"Let's change it over," Watt said. "Let's get new blood in there ... and Republicans are qualified contrary to what you might believe."

Watt denied the changes amounted to a purge. "We don't use that word, and we don't carry on those activities," Watt said. "We believe there ought to be input from all segments of society."

According to news reports, the secretary's office sent the GOP national committee a memo last year entitled "Appointment Clearance Request." The memo contained the names of 14 scientists being considered for appointment to the department's non-partisan advisory committee on offshore oil leasing.

The committee returned the memo with four names marked "yes" and 10 marked "no." Congressional sources said the 10 were not appointed, although seven were past members who had asked for reappointment at the end of their term.

Watt said he did not know if the accounts were accurate, saying "I just don't take the veracity of everything that's printed."

But assuming the story was true, Watt said, he saw nothing wrong with checking with the party.

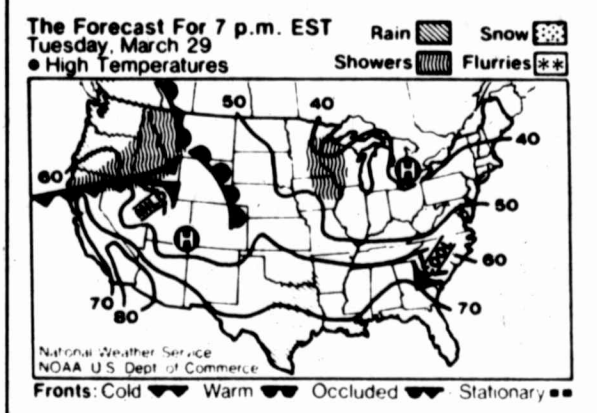

"We have lots of input from a lot of people," Watt said, including senators, congressmen, special interest groups, the National Academy of Sciences — "and I would hope we would have checked with the Republican National Committee because we want as much input as we can to pick the best people."

Jim Bruce, minority counsel for the Energy and Natural Resources Committee, said the memo on the scientists was on Interior Department letterhead. He said it was dated Jan. 29, 1982, from Derrill Thompson, Watt's special assistant, to Carol Williams of the national committee.

He said Bumpers, a committee member, requested the memo under the Freedom of Information Act. The senator received a response saying the department could not find a copy of the memo so he then obtained a copy through other sources, Bruce said.

One of the members of the committee who was not reappointed, and who had a "no" written by his name, was Jack Anderson of Sequim, Wash., a Democrat. Anderson, a marine biologist with a non-profit research organization, was first appointed in 1979 under a Democratic administration.

Massachusetts ends 300 years of blue laws

BOSTON (AP) — Massachusetts ended its 300-year-old Sunday shopping ban with a blaze of bands, balloons and Easter bunnies that lured crowds of shoppers to sales at shopping malls and business districts around the state.

"It's almost like Christmas," said a shoe clerk in the North Shore Mall in Peabody as crowds of Palm Sunday shoppers took chances on a raffle and sported brightly colored balloons.

The ban on Sunday shopping officially ended at noon as state Rep. Timothy Bassett snipped a red ribbon to open Boston's Downtown Crossing shopping district.

"After 300 years we think it is appropriate that it is now legal for Massachusetts citizens to go shopping on Sunday," Bassett said over the sound of a jazz band.

Bassett sponsored the legislation repealing the state ban on Sunday shopping. He said the extra shopping day would bring merchants an additional $1 billion in sales a year, create 15,000 new jobs and generate $44 million in new tax revenue for the state.

Under the new law, larger stores and supermarkets can open at noon on Sunday. Small convenience stores can stay open all day. Liquor stores remain closed.

The ban on Sunday sales goes back to colonial days, when all activities were prohibited on the Sabbath. Violators were fined and whipped. Until Sunday, merchants risked fines up to $200 if they opened Sundays.

Exemptions were tacked onto the old law, permitting small convenience stores to stay open and letting holiday shoppers buy Christmas gifts on the Sundays following Thanksgiving.

The repeal, approved by the Legislature in December, came after retailers and labor officials declared they favored the change.

While many shopping areas reported sizable crowds, merchants gave mixed reviews to sales.

"Everybody's walking through but not buying anything," said Pat Paradiso, a clerk at a clothing store at the Hampshire Mall in Hadley.

But Alfred Christoffersen, general manager of the Jordan Marsh department store at the Cape Cod Mall in Hyannis, said, "People are buying, not just browsing," he said.

Touching bases with summer ball

Dear Editor,
It is once again the time of the year for baseball and softball. I think that no one can better spend their leisure time and have greater self reward than that of helping, teaching, and instructing our youth. I would like to say a word of appreciation and well deserved thanks to those who have helped in these programs in the years past. I would also like to give a very special word of appreciation to those and their families that I consider "Old Timers" in working in these programs. Some of these have been in these programs since they were started. They are: J.W. Dickens, Bill Mims, Huck Doe, Johnnie Hobbs, Bill Battle, Jack Griffen, Darrell Pitman, D.R. Gartman, and

Mrs. Jane Upton, who set up and have continued to work with the Miss Softball America program here.

I do not think you will ever again find a more dedicated and fine group of people who have given so many years of their time, knowledge, and finances to these programs. I can only count it a privilege, honor, and pleasure to have known, worked with, and been associated with this fine group these twenty-five years. It is their love for and dedication to helping our youth that they have taken as one way in helping to make Big Spring a better place in which to live.

I wish there was some way that the whole town could express their appreciation and thanks to these people. Whenever and wherever you see them let them know that you appreciate and thank them for their work in these programs.

Around the Rim

By BOB CARPENTER

Hooked on a groove

The first Buddy Holly song I remember hearing was "Peggy Sue." A friend of mine reached into his sizable stock of oldies and pulled out a Holly record and cranked up "Peggy Sue" for all she was worth. Even though the old recording sounded like Holly and the Crickets were being backed by a cement mixer, I was hooked. Holly was rocking harder in those scratched grooves than most of the rock 'n' roll bands I had heard up until then or since.

Holly's voice and music contained a feeling that's undeniably fresh and joyously alive. From "Peggy Sue" we went through "That'll Be the Day," "Not Fade Away," "Maybe Baby," "Rave On," and others that are forever memorable after just a few listenings.

After that initial exposure, I became a fan for life. I still listen to Holly regularly. I'm fascinated by his hiccupy, hesitation vocal and rapid, chiming guitar breaks. He grabs lyrics, bending and twisting them into a wailing vocal that implores one to listen — and thankfully Holly's gift of music has not been forgotten.

RECENTLY, 10 previously unreleased versions of Holly songs were found by his record company, MCA, and put on an album. The record is comprised of early material Holly recorded with the Crickets in Clovis, N.M. The tracks were laid down not long after Holly failed to record an album in Nashville the way "experienced" producers thought his music should sound.

Holly, acting as his own producer, set out to prove to those corporate music heads exactly what rock 'n' roll should sound like. The tracks on the new release are the result of those sessions.

Primarily rockabilly, the music dances out of the speakers calling forth the spirits of other rockers like Jerry Lee Lewis, Eddie Cochran, Gene Vincent, Little Richard, Chuck Berry, Elvis...

This stuff makes one remember what rock 'n' roll is supposed to be about: a joyous celebration of life where everybody's going to have a good time. Rock should be a fine thing which gives us hope and helps to fight against the stupidity, depression and staleness life can bring.

They should make this record required listening for all present recording groups, radio stations and those guys that program computer playlists of what listeners are supposed to like.

Most recording groups should be ashamed of themselves, here it is, 24 years after Holly's death, and this album with its simple lyrics and music still outrocks almost anything being put on vinyl today. And it does because there's passion in those grooves. It makes most of today's music utterly soulless in comparison.

SINCE HEARING "Peggy Sue" that day, Holly has been an inspiration to me. With his oversized horn rims and rock 'n' roll heart, he gives hope that there's a chance for all of us who don't look the part and can't dance, but feel we have something to say.

Holly's originality affords us the belief that hearing a different drummer is not something to be ridiculed, but something that keeps dreams alive and gives life some freshness.

Assad sits pretty

BEIRUT — Wits in Beirut have taken to attributing jokes to Hafez Assad, the dour president of Syria who has never before been known to say anything funny. The gags are probably apocryphal, but Assad certainly has reason to rejoice.

Americans and Russians, Palestinians and Persians, Arab monarchs and Arab radicals are all bidding for his favor. He has moved almost overnight from a position of weakness into the catbird's seat of the Middle East.

The Syrian leader and those around him come from a minor Islamic sect — the Alawites — which comprise about a tenth of Syria's population of nine million. They rose in the army, took over the Baath Socialist Party, and then, in 1970, assumed control over the country. As a minority president, Assad has had to be superpatriotic in pursuing the national goal of a Greater Syria embracing, besides his present domain, large parts of what are now Lebanon, Jordan, and Israel. In that spirit, Assad joined Anwar Sadat in the 1973 war that nearly broke Israel.

BUT WHERE Sadat marched with the Americans toward peace with Israel, Assad stuck to the Russians, who restocked his army. Against the Egyptian-Israeli accord at Camp David, he organized a rejectionist front of radical Arabs, including Iraq, Libya, South Yemen and the Palestine Liberation Organization.

Beginning in 1975, Assad moved Syrian forces into Lebanon to hold the ring among Christians, Moslems and the PLO against the Israelis. In 1980, when Iraq attacked Iran, Assad aligned himself with the Ayatollah Khomeini against Iraqi President Saddam Hussein.

Straying down the primrose path

WASHINGTON — For most married men who get caught fooling around, the wife's wrath is punishment enough. But American diplomats who stray down the primrose path in communist countries catch it from Uncle Sam as well.

That's what has happened to Myron Hoffman, a veteran Foreign Service officer with the U.S. Information Agency at our Prague embassy. According to officials to the case, Hoffman was having a liaison with a Czech woman and was found out.

The USIA summarily yanked the indiscreet Lothario back to Washington. He has been languishing in limbo ever since, while his superiors decide what punishment to mete out.

Why all the excitement? Simply this: the diplomat's doxy was a communist spy. Although there's no evidence that the amorous FSO leaked any secrets to his paramour — as an information officer, he may not have had any to leak — the USIA brass was determined to make an example of him.

The only thing holding up his

The Iraqi leader struck back by organizing, with other Arab states, a revolt of the Sunni Moslem majority in Syria against Assad and the Alawites. Assad crushed the rebellion a year ago during a month of bloody fighting in the Sunni center of Hama.

But his troubles only deepened when the Israelis moved into Lebanon in June. For the Israelis destroyed much of Syria's occupying forces, including 86 Soviet jets, a batch of surface-to-air missiles and a mountain of other weapons.

Losing the war, however, proved to be only a prelude for a mighty bid by Assad to win the peace. The peacemaking efforts undertaken by American and Lebanese authorities have concentrated on fostering withdrawal of Israeli forces from Lebanon. It has been assumed all along that if the Israelis pulled out, Assad would simultaneously withdraw Syrian forces.

But that assumption has been based on vague discussion. President Amin Gemayel acknowledged the other day that while "the atmosphere was good" during a recent talk with Assad, "we did not enter into details." Philip Habib, President Reagan's emissary, has generally accepted at face value general assurances from Assad that his forces would only stay in Lebanon as long as the Israeli troops. Habib's theory has been that if Assad went back on the general understanding, it would be easy enough to mobilize pressures against him.

BUT NO LESS an authority than Henry Kissinger describes Assad as a tough negotiator given to endless haggling over fine details. So there is every reason to believe that before pulling his troops out of Lebanon, he will drive a hard bargain. Especially since he is in good position to resist pressure.

The Israeli military threat against Syria, for one thing, has been neutralized. The Russians, after a period of looking the other way, have sent massive arms shipments to Syria, including a new batch of surface-to-air missiles, which are manned by Soviet specialists. Soviet diplomats here in Beirut have asserted that Moscow will oppose any Israeli move against those weapons.

The PLO radicals opposed to any deal with Israel look to Assad as their last hope. Through them, he exerts pressure against the PLO leader, Yasser Arafat. Through Arafat, he puts a check on King Hussein of Jordan. And Hussein, of course, is the point man in the Reagan plan to settle Arab-Israeli differences through direct negotiations on the Palestinian question.

In the Iran-Iraq war, Assad continues to back Khomeini. But only for the limited goal of unseating Saddam Hussein. Saudi Arabia, which is in contention with Iran for leadership of the Gulf, sees Assad as a kind of insurance policy. For if Iran wins the war, the Syrians can broker a peace that will involve only pushing out Saddam Hussein. The Ayatollah would thus not go on to a direct assault on the Saudis. So they have been paying heavy subsidies to Syria.

Thus Assad has a finger in every Middle Eastern pie. It strains credulity to think that he will make concessions without asking something in return. On the contrary, the record suggests that he will move slowly, exacting a price at every step. The price will be all the higher if Washington tries to move rapidly toward all-or-nothing solutions.

Billy Graham

Rock music has an effect

DEAR DR. GRAHAM: I have always loved rock music a great deal, but recently I began to listen to the words of some of the songs on my records. Do you think it is wrong to listen to that kind of music? — R.M.

DEAR R.M.: You need to remember that your mind is molded in many different ways — often in ways we are not aware of at the time. I am convinced that many things — the films we watch, the television we see, the music we listen to, the books we read — have a great effect on us.

Furthermore, you need to realize that if you belong to Jesus Christ you are called to live a life of purity and holiness. God wants your mind to be shaped by him so that your thoughts and your goals reflect Christ. That is why the Bible often places a very high value on our minds and stresses the importance of what goes into them. The Bible tells us that we are not to live as unbelievers do "in the futility of their thinking... You were taught, with regard to your former ways of life, to put off your old self, which is being corrupted by its deceitful desires; to be made new in the attitude of your minds" (Ephesians 4:17, 22-23).

It is important, therefore, for you to pay attention to the words of the music you mention. Much modern music has strong sexual overtones in the words (and some people feel even in the rhythm). Some music today speaks favorably about drug experiences, or suggests that certain patterns of life are best — patterns which are wrong to a Christian who is seeking to please God. When this is the case with your music, then it is time to turn from it.

But beyond this is a deeper question — the question of what your goal is in life. Are you seeking to live for Christ, wanting to please him in all you do? My prayer for you is that you will commit yourself to him and put him first in your life. Then you will want everything you do to honor him.

UNDER THE DOME: Rep. Henry Reuss, D-Wis., left a small but significant legacy when he retired from Congress in January. For the first time, the Federal Reserve Board has agreed to give congress the economic forecasts it uses to set its monetary policy. In private meetings last fall, Reuss pleaded with the Fed's chairman, Paul Volcker, to put its forecast in writing and let Congress look at it. It would give lawmakers a chance to coordinate their attack on the recession, Reuss argued. The Fed's forecast, incidentally, is rosier than the administration's. The only dark spot is unemployment, which the Fed sees remaining high through 1983.

WATT-WASH?: After Secretary James Watt's reference to "socialism" on Indian reservations, Interior Department officials quickly drew their wagons into a circle. An internal memo sent to the White House by Watt's special assistant, Douglas Baldwin, outlined a multi-pronged counterattack:

- Blame it on the media.
- Show a "positive videotape" of Watt to Indian leaders.
- Invite "select members" of Indian groups to breakfast with Watt.
- Have Assistant Secretary for Indian Affairs Kenneth Smith, an

Dr. Donohue

Neuralgia has new treatments

Dear Dr. Donohue: I have these electric-like shocking pains in my face. My doctor says I have trigeminal neuralgia. Is this a kind of seizure problem? Can this be cured? Please give me all the information you have on this. Could bad teeth cause it? I have pain sometimes when I am eating. I am presently taking Dilantin for it. Are there other things to do when this does not help? — Mrs B.S.

No, this does not fall into seizure category at all. Another name for it is tic douloureux, a French term, the English translation of which (painful twitch) only hints at the actual symptoms — short lived, but excruciatingly painful spasms. The pain originates in the trigeminal nerve, the one that carries pain messages from the face to the brain. What causes the disorder in this nerve is unknown, but some who have the problem can identify certain trigger zones. For example, lightly touching a part of the cheek, or chewing may fire off the painful sensations.

It is not an uncommon problem and there are many treatments, of which your medicine (phenyton) is one. Carbamazepine is another. And there are surgical procedures for those who get no relief from medicine. In one, a small needle is placed in the nerve root and then heated electrically to destroy the pain-carrying fibers. Another procedure involved placement of a sponge-like material between the nerve root and its adjacent blood vessel. This eliminates pain emanating from the pulsating of that vessel. There are other surgical procedures also.

However, you want to try to control the pain first with medications. Then, if they fail, you turn to the other treatments. Dental decay pain is a different matter, and should have no direct bearing on the tic douloureux itself, although it is certainly one of the facial pain causes to be ruled out.

Most likely, your chewing is really a trigger for your tic douloureux. Phenytoin is also used for seizure control, and that may have been behind your question. But it does not mean that your problem is a "seizure" disorder. It is not; it is a nerve disorder.

Dear Dr. Donohue: I have pain in my left shoulder and neck up all my spine, mostly the lower part. I was treated once for a disc problem. Is there anything I can do to help my back? I use heat and a vibrator. I am married and have to do housework. — Mrs. J.S.

The back is a complex region, with many muscles and ligaments. In fact, the majority of back problems are related to those kinds of structures rather than the spine itself. But there is the spine and certainly many such symptoms as yours can originate there. With your history of disc problems, that would be something that would have to be checked out. Anything short of doing that would be engaging in dangerous guesswork by both of us. Perhaps you have another disc problem. Heat and a vibrator are fine for relieving any muscle spasm, which can be part of general back disorders, but I would not advise you to use a vibrator without knowledge of what's going on in your back.

Later, when things settle down (and I hope they do), you can adopt some lifting techniques to save your back. When you lift heavy objects, do so with your knees bent and hold the object close to your body. Don't bend over at the hips and raise the object with outstretched arms. When you do that you increase the stress on the back dramatically. Don't ask me to justify this mathematically, but I'm told that such an improper lift of a 30-pound object (an infant, for example) can exert stresses on the back equal to 450 pounds of pressure. If you can manage it, sleep on your side with knees bent. Don't sleep on your stomach.

I'm not going to give you exercises to strengthen your back muscles, because I don't want you fooling around with that kind of therapy until you learn just what is wrong. And your pain won't disappear until you get at the cause, be it spinal or muscular.

DEAR HARMONY: It's not always easy to know when a reader is joking. This off-the-wall lady may have really wanted to end up on the ceiling.

DEAR ABBY: In regard to "Holding Out and Proud of It," the 27-year-old virgin who tells guys up front they're wasting their time if they expect to get her into bed before they put a wedding ring on her finger: She's a very wise girl, but with that approach she may never get married.

I used to tell my dates the same thing, and after that, I never saw them again. Then a very wise, moralistic brother-in-law told me I shouldn't state my puritanical views so quickly and emphatically — I should give the guy the "not-tonight-but-maybe-tomorrow" approach until he slips the wedding ring on my finger. A bit devious perhaps, but it keeps him coming back for more.

I tried it, and it worked for me.

SAVED MYSELF FOR MARRIAGE

DEAR SAVED: Game-playing is for children. And the "not-tonight-but-maybe-tomorrow" approach will not keep a man on the string indefinitely. Honesty is the best policy for girls who are saving themselves. And it's a great time-saver for everyone concerned.

Operator recalls work emergencies

Handling hundreds of calls that routinely turn into emergencies isn't the easiest job in a hospital, but Peggy Smith, PBX operator at Malone-Hogan, does it well, hospital officials say.

PEGGY SMITH ...is honored

She has been chosen the employee-of-the-month at Malone-Hogan for March.

Mrs. Smith's husband, Roy, is a retired Missouri-Pacific railroad man.

Upon being named employee-of-the-month, Mrs. Smith said "I'm pleased, but a little embarrassed. I do like people. But I'm afraid that I'm not always the positive person they say I am."

Many of the calls coming into a hospital switchboard come from people justifiably upset. She says her heart goes out to them. Sometimes things become hectic at her post, though.

She remembers one night in particular. The emergency room was filled with people involved in a shooting. The lobby was quiet, but the switchboard shined solid red with incoming calls. She was trying to reach family members to notify them of the accident.

She heard people at the locked front door of the lobby, kicking against the door. She knew they hadn't seen the telephone outside the door, which would have allowed them to identify themselves.

"I couldn't afford to let them in without identification, and I was answering 'stat' calls from emergency room by that time. I heard glass break, and angry voices coming toward me. When I looked up, I saw that one of them was badly hurt, a stabbing victim, it turned out."

They walked straight into the arms of the police, who were all around that night, she said.

Although not all nights and days are like that, Mrs. Smith likes the urgency of her job. She says "Sometimes I'm able to help people at a time they need it very much."

Rodney Michie named Moss PTA president

Rodney Michie was elected president of the Moss Elementary PTA March 8.

Other officers are Lynn Barnett, vice-president; Charlotte Majors, secretary; and Kay Barnett, treasurer.

During the March 8 meeting, activities for Public School Week were discussed. Room count was won by Miss Maurer and Mrs. Tipton's classes. Clovie Shirey received the door prize. Open house followed the meeting.

Do-nuts for Dads were distributed March 10 from 6:30 a.m. to 10 a.m. There were 75 dads, granddads and friends registered.

Four generations of one family registered for do-nuts. They were great-grandfather Charles Hedges, grandfather Doug Hedges, father, Johnny Hedges and son Matt Hedges.

Texas mystique writer's mystery

AUSTIN (AP) — The "Texas mystique" may be dead to the rest of the country but it still haunts Texas writers.

Expatriates and stubborn resident chauvinists alike joined in an unprecedented discussion this weekend at the University of Texas to claim the "mystique" does not exist — and that it will never leave them.

Larry McMurtry, author of the state's best-known modern fiction, including "Horseman Pass By" (which became the movie "Hud") and "The Last Picture Show," was the star of a panel discussion ostensibly about "the '80s," but which quickly degenerated into an argument over whether a writer must be in Texas or only born in Texas to claim the title.

"To be a Texas writer, all you have to do is be born," said A.C. Greene, a journalist, fiction writer and biographer of the late "Texana" king, J. Frank Dobie. "I am the only Texas writer here," Greene complained. "Everybody else has left. Everybody's gotten jobs. They talk about writing in Texas. They don't do it."

The rest of the panel included Shelby Hearon ("Armadillo in the Grass"), Beverly Lowry ("Daddy's Girl") and UT professor Jose Limon.

Ms. Hearon lives in New York; Ms. Lowry is from Mississippi and recently moved to Houston. Limon said he is not a writer, but an "academic."

McMurtry, who lives in Washington, D.C., said he comes back to Texas to write, but that "it doesn't make any difference to me how much time I spend in Texas. It isn't going to change my depth of reference." "One should guard against a regional self-pity," McMurtry continued. "You have the same task wherever you are. The essential thing — the writing — is not any easier in New York or anywhere else than it is in Texas."

Later, Greene, who made no secret of a feud with McMurtry, said he wanted to make "an unselfish statement."

"The man on my left has done more for Texas literature than anyone since 1960," he said of McMurtry. "Even when he denied it exists, he did more for it any anybody."

"One should guard against a regional self-pity. You have the same task wherever you are. The essential thing — the writing — is not any easier in New York or anywhere else than it is in Texas." — Larry McMurtry, Texas writer.

Texas Observer editor Joe Holley, who led the discussion, challenged the writers to come up with the great urban Texas novel and leave rural self-analysis behind.

"I think Mr. (James) Michener is going to do that and leave the rest of us to our whimsy," quipped McMurtry. Michener, a non-Texan who has turned to Texas as the latest subject of his successful, sweeping style ("Hawaii," "Chesapeake"), was in the audience but did not participate in the discussion.

A later panel discussion was aimed specifically at the elusive "Texas mystique." It included three writers who are associated more with movies than books: Bill Withliff, the screenwriter behind "Raggedy Man," "Honeysuckle Rose" and "Barbarosa," Pete Gent, author of "North Dallas Forty," and Aaron Latham, whose 1978 article in Esquire magazine spawned "Urban Cowboy."

Latham said he tried to convey both in his article and in the film that he co-wrote a direct descension of the "urban cowboy" from the ancient knights of Europe. His protagonist, he said, was supposed to be a modern-day Don Quixote, jousting with a spinning mechanic bull in place of the turning windmill.

He also suggested that the "Texas mystique" may find a resurgence this fall when the screen version of Tom Wolfe's book "The Right Stuff" is released.

"Houston and the spaceman may be the next extension of the myth," Latham said — with a rocket for a horse, a space helmet for a cowboy hat.

Withliff, who steadfastly has refused to move to Hollywood from Austin, said the mystique followed him to the West Coast.

"They assume we're all drunks and they're sure we all have killed at least one Mexican," he joked.

"You learn that it's going to be with you forever," said Gent, who came to Texas to play for the Dallas Cowboys "before they were America's team" and now lives in Wimberley.

"You become a hero and then you see what the back side is," Gent said. "Then you've got to scramble to get back on the front side. I've lived the back side. Well, this is my new front side."

ANOTHER BLOCK FOR OLAJUWON — Houston center Akeem Olajuwon (34) leaps high to block a shot by Villanova forward Ed Pinckney (54) in the second half of Sunday's NCAA Midwest Regional championship game in Kansas City. Houston won 89-71.

'Dream' team in Final 4

Olajuwon's defense destroys Wildcats, 89-71

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP) — Guy Lewis' team didn't sneak up on anybody this time. A year ago, the Houston Cougars were the surprise of the NCAA Basketball Tournament, upsetting Tulsa and Missouri before bowing in the semifinals to eventual champion North Carolina.

But this time, everybody expected the high-scoring Cougars to be in the Final Four — and that's just where they are.

"We wanted to go to Albuquerque very bad," said Lewis after top-ranked Houston capitalized on a bruising inside game to overpower Villanova 89-71 Sunday for the Midwest Regional championship.

"Last year, nobody expected us to go to the Final Four, and it was a great feeling. This year, almost everybody expected us to, and that's even tougher. But it's still great."

The Cougars will take a 30-2 record and a 25-game winning streak into their semifinal game next Saturday against Louisville, 32-3, which thumped Kentucky 80-68 in overtime Saturday for the Midwest Regional title.

Lewis called the Cardinals, who also are making their second consecutive trip to the Final Four, a very good basketball team.

"They have quickness and great jumpers. But I'm concerned with Louisville's whole team, not just one aspect of their play," said Lewis. "They have great talent and a great coach (Denny Crum)."

Quick or not, the Cardinals may have their hands full with the taller Cougars, nicknamed Phi Slamma Jamma for their fondness for dunks and blocked shots.

Houston's dominance under the basket was the difference against No. 13 Villanova, 24-8, which shot only 34.1 percent from the floor in suffering its worst defeat of the season.

The Cougars boasted 10 dunks and 13 blocked shots against the Wildcats, who trailed 37-27 at halftime and never got closer. Houston had 12 of its blocks in the final 20 minutes and finished with a 47-43 edge in rebounds.

And no one stood taller than Akeem "The Dream" Olajuwon, the Cougars' 7-foot sophomore from Lagos, Nigeria, who was voted the regional's outstanding player.

The big center scored 20 points, snared 13 rebounds and jammed eight Villanova shots back into the Wildcats' faces. Olajuwon hit 10 of 11 shots from the floor, including five slams.

"I think it was my best game," said Olajuwon, who had 21 points, six rebounds and five blocks in Houston's 70-63 regional semifinal victory over Memphis State on Friday night. "I blocked more shots and got more rebounds."

Senior forward Larry Micheaux was just as effective, scoring a season-high 30 points, crashing the boards for 12 rebounds and blocking four shots.

"I think this was one of the best games I've played," said Micheaux. "I have a lot of confidence in Akeem. We play great together. We back each other up on blocked shots."

Despite considerable evidence to the contrary, Villanova's senior center John Pinone claimed the inside presence of Olajuwon had little effect on the Wildcats' play.

"He wasn't intimidating at all," said Pinone, who hit seven of 17 shots. "I've been saying that all week long. We just didn't shoot the ball very well. We got it inside whenever we wanted. The shots just wouldn't fall."

"There were a few shots that I thought were goaltending, but it's not up to me to call them.

But Olajuwon wasn't the difference in the game today."

"I don't see how anyone can say that," Lewis said in amazement after being told of Pinone's statement. "Of course his presence made a difference, blocking shots, making them change shots."

"I'll tell you something: He made a difference in the way I felt on the sidelines. I'm glad to have him on our side."

Villanova owned an 11-8 lead with 13½ minutes left in the first half, hitting five inside shots and a free throw. But Houston ran off the next 10 points — six by Olajuwon — to make it 18-11.

Dwayne McClain's baseline shot helped the Wildcats cut the lead to 22-20 at 5:24, but the Cougars answered with an 8-2 run and went into the dressing room ahead by 10 at halftime.

Houston, which fired away at a 58.2-percent clip from the field, removed all doubts about the outcome in the first five minutes of the second half, outscoring Villanova 16-6 to make it 53-33.

The Wildcats could come no closer than 10 the rest of the way.

"I was disappointed in the loss, but not to the point of being embarrassed," said Villanova Coach Rollie Massimino. "We played hard and never stopped trying to get back in the game."

Guard Michael Young added 20 points for Houston, while Pinone and forward Ed Pinckney scored 18 apiece for Villanova and McClain had 17.

"Talent-wise, they are the best team we've played this year," said Pinone. "They are going to be tough to beat in the Final Four. I think Louisville has the best chance of beating them. You've got to keep them off the boards to win."

Vaqueros drop Hawks

By GREG JAKLEWICZ
Sports Editor

A team can score plenty of runs when it gets the lead-off batter on base. And that's exactly what Central Arizona did Sunday afternoon at Hawk Park.

The Vaqueros put the lead-off man on base in eight of nine innings and scored at least one run each time to drop the Hawks 12-3.

Central swept the two-game series by a combined score of 35-17 to improve its record to 15-4. Howard, winners of 12 straight entering Saturday's game, dropped to 20-9-1 on the season. The Hawks host Paris College in a 1 p.m. doubleheader Tuesday with Bobby Behnsch expected to start the opener.

It was a slow death for the Hawks as Central scored in every inning but the eighth to notch the victory. The Vaqueros banged out 15 basehits against pitchers John Wilson and Kelly Smith and made the most of six HC errors.

"We didn't play well," Howard College coach Bill Griffin said simply. How come, coach? "I wish I knew. That's just part of it."

After reeling off 12-straight victories, the Hawks went inept against the Vaqueros. Howard was charged with 13 errors in the two-game series.

George Gutierrez opened the game with a double and scored on Mark Delgado's sacrifice fly one out later. The Hawks rallied back into the game briefly when third baseman Blake Rosson rapped his second home run of the weekend in the bottom of the first to tie the game.

It was Central Arizona the rest of the way. The Hawks scored just twice more, with unearned runs in the third and sixth innings. Four Vaquero pitchers limited Howard to seven hits and their defense backed their efforts with three doubleplays.

A three-run fifth inning put the game away for Central. Phil Telford singled in one run, Keith Ross walked in a second and Gutierrez lofted a sacrifice fly to knock in a third. All three runs were unearned against Smith, who took over for Wilson to begin the fifth.

Bret Williamson had three hits while Gutierrez, Telford, Cordell Ross and Mike Anderson had two each for Central.

"We were playing a good ball club," Griffin said, "and if make you make mistakes, they'll take advantage of it. It doesn't hurt to get your tails kicked around...it gets you back down to earth."

Dawgs chew up Tar Heels

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP) — With a regional championship and a berth in the Final Four nailed down in Georgia's first try at the NCAA basketball championship, Coach Hugh Durham thinks his team merits some respect.

"They deserve a little attention because they've accomplished something this year," he said Sunday after the 18th-ranked Bulldogs surprised defending national champion North Carolina 82-77 in the East Regional final to qualify for the NCAA semifinals Saturday at Albuquerque, N.M.

Georgia, 24-9, goes up against 24-10 North Carolina State, another unlikely survivor from the 52 teams that began tournament play.

"I told them I had tickets to Albuquerque regardless, and it would be nice if the team came along," joked the 45-year-old mentor, whose 1971-72 Florida State team lost to UCLA in the NCAA finale.

Coincidentally, Durham and the Seminoles defeated Coach Dean Smith's Tar Heels in the Final Four that year before going up against UCLA.

North Carolina, ranked No. 8, finished the season at 28-8.

Smith said "the book" on the Bulldogs was that they couldn't shoot from the outside. He said he feared the team's explosive fast break but expected to make up points on the inside game.

"But they did a real good job on (6-foot-9 Carolina center Sam) Perkins," he said. "And they scored from outside. In the stretch run, we had to score every time we had the ball. We didn't, but if we had it would have been a more interesting ball game," he said.

Georgia responded to Durham's invitation with near-perfect execution of his game plan: hit the outside shots which were supposedly absent from its arsenal, collapse on Perkins defensively and force the taller, slower Tar Heels into mistakes.

Forward James Banks scored 20 points, netting five of his seven field goals from the perimeter, and Georgia guards Gerald Crosby and Vern Fleming contributed 17 each, making up for the absence of 6-7 center Terry Fair, who picked up his fourth foul early in the second half and never re-entered the game.

Rangers beat Royals, 3-2

FORT MYERS, Fla. (AP) — Bill Stein cracked a two-run homer in the ninth inning as the Texas Rangers posted a 3-2 victory over the Kansas City Royals in an exhibition baseball game.

Stein's homer Sunday came with two outs off losing pitcher Danny Jackson. Stein's homer followed a double by catcher Bob Johnson.

The Royals had taken a 2-1 lead in the eighth inning when Onix Concepcion doubled home John Wathan.

Texas scored first in the second inning when Jim Sundberg doubled off the center field wall to score George Wright. The Royals tied the score in the bottom of the inning on a home run by Willie Aikens.

Royals' starting pitcher Dennis Leonard held the Rangers to four hits over six innings. Rangers' starting pitcher Mike Smithson limited the Royals to six hits over seven innings.

The Royals dropped to 5-12 in exhibition play. The Rangers raised their mark to 9-10.

Navratilova gets respect

NEW YORK (AP) — Respect was what Martina Navratilova wanted. Respect is what she got — along with the $80,000 first-place prize, reconfirmation of her No. 1 ranking and another tennis title.

"I'd been hearing all week and seeing how well Chris (Evert Lloyd) had been playing and hearing how determined she was," Navratilova said. "Some players were picking her to beat me for the match."

"I think I deserved a little bit more respect than I was getting because I really had been dominating, been beating everybody."

On Sunday, Navratilova added another victory, a crushing 6-2, 6-0 rout of Lloyd in the final of the Virginia Slims Championships of New York.

"She really cleaned my clock," said Lloyd, who earned $45,000. "That was one of her better matches — I hope."

Even Navratilova was impressed.

"It was one of the best matches I've ever played," she said. "I don't know if I can play better."

The victory — Navratilova's seventh in her last eight meetings with Lloyd — raised her career earnings to more than $5.16 million. And it ran her winning streak to 26 consecutive matches and 114 of her last 117 outings since the beginning of 1982.

But this one had to be one of the sweetest. It was against her arch-rival, the only player besides Navratilova who is even considered for the No. 1 ranking. And it was decisive.

"I thought I hit some pretty good shots," Lloyd said. "I don't think I played poorly by any means. After that first game, she played flawless tennis."

"Everything I tried didn't seem to work. I tried a few things and she came back with an answer."

Controlling the tempo from the very first serve, Navratilova stayed on the baseline, chipping, slicing, occasionally hitting top-spin, occasionally slipping in a drop shot.

In the fourth game, Navratilova reached break point, but Lloyd, playing her steady, flawless baseline game, held service when Navratilova committed two unforced errors.

That made the score 2-2 and, as it turned out, was the last game Lloyd would win.

But it didn't appear that way at first as she ripped off the first three points of the fifth game to grab a love-40 lead. The next five points went to Navratilova and she had held serve.

LA defeats hapless Rockets

INGLEWOOD, Calif. (AP) — The Los Angeles Lakers were angry, and they took it out on the poor Houston Rockets. Then again, it seems like just about everybody is taking out something on the Rockets.

Rookie James Worthy connected on all nine of his field goal attempts while scoring 21 points Sunday night as the Lakers rolled to an easy 114-93 National Basketball Association victory over the pitiful Rockets.

The Lakers, 51-18, led all the way, scoring the game's first five points and quickly racing to an 11-2 advantage. The Rockets, who at 13-58 have the NBA's poorest record, weren't closer than seven points after that.

It was 29-20 after one quarter, 55-40 at halftime and 87-66 after three periods. The Lakers employed reserves throughout most of the final 12 minutes.

"We learned a lesson against San Antonio Friday night," said Los Angeles Coach Pat Riley. "They beat us 124 (132-120). We watched films for 45 minutes this morning. We figured out what we didn't want to do again.

"We wanted to pick up all their men at halfcourt. When we do press, it opens up the court for us. We will work hard and drill hard on our full-court press for the playoffs. That's what will get us through the playoffs."

Earvin "Magic" Johnson of the Lakers led all scorers with 26 points and was credited with a game-high nine assists. Kareem Abdul-Jabbar and Jamaal Wilkes added 17 and 14 points, respectively, for Los Angeles.

The Lakers have won nine of their last 11 games while the Rockets have lost 12 of their last 14 outings.

"The big thing was the Lakers' fast break," said Houston Coach Del Harris. "We banged with them on the boards (the Rockets outrebounded the Lakers 51-49) but spent a lot of time looking at their backsides. We knew they would be alert coming off of a loss and play good ball."

"The strain of the season is wearing on me. It's a test to all of us. If I say you have problem; losing three in a row, you can imagine what 12 of 14 is like."

Holmes out-punches Rodriguez at 'home'

SCRANTON, Pa. (AP) — The fight was dragging and promoter-champion Larry Holmes thought it needed a little life.

So with about a half-minute left in the fifth round of his title defense against Lucien Rodriguez of France, Holmes let out a war whoop that would have made Tarzan proud.

"I was bored," Holmes said later after pitching a shutout with a unanimous 12-round decision over the European champion Sunday in a National Guard Armory.

It worked. The fans started chanting "Lar-ry, Lar-ry," saluting the man who had promised to bring the heavyweight championship back to this town where he began his pro career and fulfilled the pledge.

The fight — what there was of it — turned out to be significant because Rodriguez took Holmes to a decision, only the third time in 14 title defenses that has happened.

Rodriguez seemed more intent on surviving and going the distance than taking the crown away from Holmes. He was stung often and appeared to go down from a stiff right uppercut in the sixth round. But referee Carlos Padilla ruled it a slip. And when the fight ended, the Frenchman raised his hands, almost the way he might have had he won the fight.

Tampa Bay remains undefeated

By The Associated Press

The victories are piling up for the Tampa Bay Bandits, the losses are mounting for the New Jersey Generals — and the empty seats are multiplying all around the United States Football League.

Four weeks into the USFL's inaugural season, the Bandits are the only unbeaten team and the Generals the only winless one.

George Allen has always preached defense. The Blitz practiced it against Los Angeles, recovering a fumble and intercepting two Tom Ramsey passes in the final 6½ minutes to preserve the victory.

passes to boost Washington into the win column. His second of the game to Joey Walters, a 23-yarder, was the game-winner 2:43 into overtime.

He also passed 8 yards to Walters and 40 yards to Mike Holmes, while Bobby Hebert of Michigan had scoring strikes covering of 33 yards to Anthony Carter and 69 yards to Derek Holloway. Novo Bojovic of the Panthers forced overtime with a 43-yard field goal on the final play of the fourth quarter.

USFL Round-up

"We're having a lot of fun playing 'Bandit ball,'" Tampa Bay quarterback John Reaves said after returning to Philadelphia — the scene of the downward slide of his career as a pro — and throwing a TD pass that triggered Tampa Bay's 27-22 triumph over the Stars.

Reaves was the No. 1 draft choice of the National Football League's Philadelphia Eagles in 1972. But a year later he was a benchwarmer

Jim Fahnhorst's recovery of a LaRue Harrington fumble set up John Roveto's second field goal, a 24-yarder with 2:04 to play that gave Chicago its winning margin, then Wally Pessut and Eddie Brown intercepted Ramsey to kill the final chances by the Express.

Kevin Long's 1-yard run and Greg Landry's 5-yard pass to Doug Cozen accounted for Chicago's TDs. Ramsey passed 40 yards to Tony Boddie and 18 yards to Ricky Ellis for the Express' points.

Birmingham's cozy crowd saw Scott Norwood kick first-half field goals of 48, 36 and 32 yards and Cornelius Quarles sprint 39 yards for a fourth-quarter touchdown to beat Arizona.

The Wranglers' score came on Alan Risher's 15-yard TD pass to Jackie Flowers, cutting Birmingham's lead to 9-7. There was 1:35 to play when, on fourth-and-1, Quarles broke free and ran for the Stallions' TD.

Young talent evident in TPC tournament

PONTE VEDRA, Fla. (AP) — It is not by accident, said Bobby Clampett, that three young men — friends and golfing foes from their amateur days — are setting the pace going into today's weather-delayed wind-up to the $700,000 Tournament Players Championship.

"I like this golf course, I think the young players like this golf course," said Clampett. "They like the newness of it, the excitement and the challenge. I think some of the older players have voiced discontent about it."

"The public better realize there's talent they haven't seen yet. It's just starting to come out," John Cook said after a solid, third-round 71 that left him one in front of Clampett going into the final 18 holes of the chase for a $126,000 first prize, the largest yet offered on the American tour.

Cook, 25, has a 210 total for three trips over the Players' Club course that has undergone a full week of criticism, often harsh and derisive, from some of the game's more established pros. Clampett, 22, who shot a third-round 70, is at 211.
