

Tax time

THE 1040 DASH — Last minute tax figuring can lead not only to frustration, heartburn and headache but also mistakes — and that means money. IRS officials say they are braced for the avalanche of last day income tax filings, which frequently are wrought with inaccuracies and incompletions.

Procrastinators begin 1040 dash

By RICHARD HORN
Staff Writer

It's time for the 1040 dash. Tonight — as in every year since 1913 — income tax procrastinators will feverishly work to square with Uncle Sam before the midnight deadline.

"There's almost always a big midnight rush," said Big Spring Postmaster Frank Hardesty. "But if everyone gets their forms in the lobby or the courtesy box outside by midnight, we will make sure they have an April 15 postmark."

Last year, the post office ran out of 1040 and 1040-A forms on April 13 and many late filers had to copy a form at the Howard County Library (whose copying machine broke down for a short time on April 14), or get them from an accountant.

"We ran out a couple of times this year, too," Hardesty said, "but they (the Internal Revenue Service) were a lot quicker about sending us new orders."

This is the first year of the new 1040 EZ form which IRS officials hoped would bring more returns in faster.

"We haven't noticed it doing that," said Peggy Moore with the IRS Dallas District office. "But they have been much more popular than we expected."

She said her office predicted 17 percent of filers would use the simple one-page form. As of Monday, 26 percent had filed them, she said.

But the IRS Austin Service Center, which handles tax forms from Texas, New Mexico, Oklahoma, Louisiana, Kansas and Arkansas, is preparing for some heavy mail delivery in the next days.

"Of the 10 million returns received by the center, three million will come in at the last minute," Mrs. Moore said. "All of those will have been mailed just before deadline."

She cautioned against errors on tax returns from rushing to meet the deadline.

"When your return is ready to mail, go through and check all the arithmetic. A error in arithmetic can delay your refund," she said. "And don't forget to stamp the envelope."

The IRS has estimated that instead of filing their returns, as many as 3 million others will file a Form 4868 with a payment of estimated taxes by midnight, and wait as late as Aug. 15 before filing a completed return.

The Big Spring Post Office is out of Form 4868, but plenty are available from local accountants.

When it's all over with, there should be between 96 million and 97 million 1983 income tax returns filed. That's about one million more than last year, Mrs. Moore said. Close to 80 percent of filers will get refunds.

But the tax season isn't over on April 15. The IRS audits over two million Americans each year.

And the Tax Foundation, a non-profit group, estimates the average worker will have to work eight hours a day through May 2 this year just to pay 1983 taxes.

But there's good news — that's one day fewer than last year, due mostly to the phased-in reduction in federal income taxes.

OIL lays off 86 workers

By BOB CARPENTER
Staff Writer

Oilfield Industrial Lines laid off 86 employees today in what company officials said was a revision of its manufacturing plan.

In a three-paragraph press release, Richard Fackler, chief operating officer, said "O.I.L.'s 1982 manufacturing plan was based on 'Stock Manufacturing Process.' 1983 Manufacturing mode of operation has been revised to be based on 'Prior Order Manufacturing.' The reason for the operating procedure change is due to the need for "Several orders, both domestic and international are in final negotiating stages and as soon as these negotiations are finalized, O.I.L. will immediately begin its re-gear-up for production of these rigs."

Also included in the release was a statement which said, "O.I.L. is alive and well and is not closing its Big Spring facility."

Laid off employees told the Herald this morning that the layoffs started about 9:15 a.m. and affected most of the company's departments.

Employees also said 55 percent of the company's work force was laid off, three buildings were to be closed on the plant, and another furlough was planned for April 22.

Repeated attempts were made this morning to contact Fackler about these statements and to ask how many employees were left at O.I.L. Fackler was reported to be in conference and later away for lunch.

Claudine Cooper, executive secretary, said the reports of 55 percent of the workforce being laid off were untrue.

Officials at O.I.L. would not comment on the press release, which was distributed around noon.

The wholly-owned subsidiary of Kidde Corp. is a manufacturer of oil drilling rigs and oilfield equipment. At its peak, O.I.L. employed almost 800 people and had a payroll of $12,000 per hour.

Layoffs at O.I.L. began in April of last year when the oilfield industry began experiencing a slowdown because of a worldwide oil glut.

Man wounded, suspect sought

A 21-year-old Crosbyton, Texas, man was shot and seriously wounded in downtown Big Spring last night, marring the opening of a new nightclub on the corner of Main and West Second.

Lorenzo Medina Lopez Jr. was listed in stable condition at the Malone-Hogan Hospital intensive care unit after surgery this morning on bullet wounds to the abdomen and chest.

He was taken to the hospital by private car last night after passers-by found him lying by the street outside Pete's Ballroom.

Police Capt. George Quintero said this morning that details of the assault remain sketchy. Lopez was unconscious last night when police arrived at the hospital, and no one they interviewed at the club had seen or heard the shooting outside, he said.

Apparently Lopez and a friend were in the crowded club before the shooting, Quintero said. Lopez's companion reportedly told the manager he was dancing and did not see Lopez leave the club.

About midnight someone ran in and told the manager, Juan Zamorra, that a wounded man was lying in the street between Pete's Ballroom and Nashville Tavern, another Main street nightclub, he said.

The victim was taken to Malone-Hogan emergency room in a private vehicle, and the shooting was reported to police at 12:12 a.m. today.

"I don't know if there was a fight or what happened. His (Lopez's) buddy didn't know anything," Quintero said. "Our information is so sketchy I can't speculate as to what happened."

"There are two stories," he continued. "One person says he left the club by himself and another one says he left with two ladies."

"All we know is he was in (Pete's Ballroom), he left and he was shot," Quintero said.

Library opens doors Monday

By MIKE DOWNEY
Staff Writer

No more futile visits to the Howard County library on Monday that end with frustrated banging on the closed doors — April 18 marks the beginning of Monday openings for the library.

County Librarian Judith Gray said the demand for the county library to open on Monday has been growing.

"I'd do some work on Mondays and the phone would be ringing constantly," Mrs. Gray said. "People were always coming by and banging on the doors."

The original Monday opening date was postponed in January due to the lack of a tax roll, she said.

"We've wanted to do it for quite some time," Mrs. Gray said. "There was a need for it, but the size staff we had before made it hard to divide."

Mrs. Gray said an opening ceremony would be held Monday at 9 a.m. to signal the Monday openings of the library. City and county officials are expected to attend the ceremony.

The additional hours will bring the county facility closer to national library standards, Mrs. Gray said. In the past, the library was open 45 hours a week and is now going to 54 hours a week.

Monday also begins National Library Week, April 17 to April 23, the county librarian said. Ceremonies include the Silver Tea and Open House and the Friends of the Library Book Sale April 22, she said.

The new hours of the library, located on 4th and Scurry streets, will be 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. Monday through Friday and 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. on Saturday.

Mrs. Gray said her next project would be to add evening hours to the library. She said the library was once open in the evening, but was used by few patrons at that time.

"I'd like to add three hours during the week," she said.

OPENING SOON — Howard County Librarian Judith Gray overlooks a sign announcing that the library will be open on Mondays. A ceremony Monday inaugurating the new schedule coincides with National Library Week.

Report blasts top-heavy TEC management

EL PASO (AP) — A forthcoming report by a consultant who studied the Texas Employment Commission will criticize the agency as unmanaged, top-heavy with assistants and too slow to give service, the El Paso Times reported.

One TEC commissioner, Richard Mellado, said he was "completely in agreement" with the report, but TEC Administrator Ernie Tullis said it was wrong.

The Times obtained a copy of the report and said in a copyright story Thursday that the study also criticizes the TEC for insufficient analysis of future wages, taxes and money in the state's unemployment fund.

The report by the Arthur Anderson Co. will be presented Saturday to a task force appointed by Gov. Mark White to study the TEC and the state's depleted unemployment fund.

The Times said the report criticized the TEC for having no long-range plans, no management system to give direction to projects and assess productivity, a top-heavy organization structure and an out-dated computer for processing claims and appeals.

Consultants also concluded the agency has too many unnecessary assistant positions that reduce the money available to hire clerks and examiners to serve the public and that the assistant administrator had too much responsibility.

The report also found duplication of work in various departments and that on several occasions tax receipts were kept overnight in a closet that was not fire proof, the newspaper said.

Mellado told the newspaper the jobs of administrator, associate administrator and other assistant administrators "are superfluous and counter-productive to the mission of the agency."

"(Their) salaries should be concentrated not at the state and district fat cat level but at the local office level where thousands of our fellow citizens are experiencing a crying need for jobs and for unemployment insurance benefits," said Mellado.

He said about a third of the TEC employees are some type of administrator and cost the agency 36 percent of its staff budget, and suggested the agency would be more efficient if the commission could deal more directly with the staff.

However, commission administrator Tullis questioned the ability of the consultant to understand the technical workings of the agency.

Tullis was so upset with the preliminary report, he suggested in a note to the commissioners that the agency stop cooperating with the consultant's investigation, a suggestion for which he was rebuked by commissioners.

Commission Chairman Lias Bubba Steen and Commissioner Ken Clapp in a return note insisted on complete cooperation with the study.

"Has it occurred to you that the attitude reflected in your memorandum might be responsible for some of the problems that the Texas Employment Commission has? In closing, our position is that the Texas Employment Commission has nothing to hide and nothing to gain from less than full cooperation with all parties involved," they wrote.

Man's body recovered from Pecos area lake

PECOS (AP) — Authorities were awaiting results of an autopsy on a 51-year-old New Mexico man whose body was recovered from Red Bluff Lake north of here.

Ronald Hinkle, 51, of Hobbs, was found in the lake shortly before 4 p.m. Wednesday by sheriff's deputies and state game wardens.

Justice of the Peace Cliff Preslar pronounced Hinkle dead at the scene, and ordered an autopsy, which was to be performed in Odessa.

The possibility of foul play has not been ruled out, Preslar said.

"We have no idea yet until we get the results of the autopsy," Preslar said. Hinkle "was evidently camping with one or two other people. Evidently, they became separated and they just couldn't find him anymore."

Reeves County sheriff's officers said high winds on the lake apparently brought the body to the surface.

Deputy Bobby Upchurch said Hinkle, a truck driver, had disappeared on April 5 and was reported missing five days later.

Upchurch said the fully-clothed body surfaced just as divers were dispatched to the area. Searchers found his hat near the lake, he said.

The body was recovered from about 15 feet of water, Upchurch said.

Water district reports drop

Water deliveries by the Colorado River Municipal Water District showed an 8.1 percent decline for the first quarter of the year as compared with the same time last year.

CRMWD officials attributed the drop to cold weather and a slowdown in the economy. The district pumped about 3½ billion gallons during the first quarter, down 300 million from 1982.

ON THE AUCTION BLOCK — Kerri Kirby, junior queen of the Howard County Youth Horseman Club, inspects some of the merchandise that will go on auction

Sunday. The bidding begins at 1:30 p.m. at the club's arena on the Garden City Highway. Items were donated by local merchants to benefit the youth group.

Pearl River threatens more flooding

SLIDELL, La. (AP) — The Pearl River, which overflowed after a record crest and flooded hundreds of homes near Slidell earlier this week before it began dropping, is rising again because of recent heavy rains, the National Weather Service says.

"The river's not going to drop any further," James D. Belville, a weather service hydrologist, said Thursday. "It's just going to rise another six inches."

Flood victims in low-lying areas between Slidell and the Pearl River to the east were waiting for the water to drain from their homes after it started receding by Tuesday.

Then the rains returned Wednesday and Thursday, causing the river to start climbing again. That will probably add a week or more to the time the floodwater stays in the hardest-hit homes, Belville said.

"It would have gotten out of all the houses by this weekend, early next week," he said. "Now it's going to delay that probably another week. Maybe longer."

He said water from a 6-inch downpour in Jackson, Miss., will form a new crest that will roll to Slidell, and will take until next Thursday or Friday just to get water back down to current levels.

The new flooding will return water to about 30 houses and keep it in about 300, said Capt. Bill Dobson of the St. Tammany Parish sheriff's office's command center.

The weather service said a new crest of 18.4 is expected Sunday. The river crested at a record 21.5 feet last Sunday near Slidell.

"It's the people who are right on the fringe of the flood area right now who are going to be most adversely affected," Belville said. "The guy who has, say, water four inches below his floor today."

"Some guy's out there with water levels four inches below his floor, and he's just getting it cleaned out, he's going to get another two inches in his house."

Sheriff's Log

Man hospitalized after assault

A 23-year-old Big Spring man was treated and released from Malone-Hogan Hospital last night after being assaulted by several men in the Brass Nail parking lot, sheriff's reports say.

Deputy Bennie Green's report said a witness saw four men kicking Truman Edward (Pete) Hofacket, who was lying on the ground, about 2 a.m. The witness, Ricky Johnston of April Lane No. 11, told Green that when he saw the assault, he grabbed a hammer from his pickup and started towards the assailants.

By the time Johnston reached the victim, the suspects had left, the report said. Johnston said he didn't recognize the suspects and didn't see what kind of vehicle they were driving.

Green's report said Hofacket was taken to the hospital in an ambulance suffering from face and head wounds. When Green tried to talk to the victim, Hofacket refused to talk and was "very belligerent," the report said.

• Robert Lewis Valentine, 23, of 205 N.W. Third pleaded guilty in 118th District Court yesterday to a motor vehicle burglary charge. He was sentenced to 10 years probation.

Valentine also faced a marijuana possession charge and was released on a $500 personal recognizance bond.

• Randall Edward Hill, 28, of Mesquite, Texas, posted two $10,000 bonds for his release after he was arrested on Howard County and Dawson County theft warrants. Hill also paid a $112 fine for a traffic violation and a $200 bond for a marijuana possession charge.

• Eric Conrad Etnire, 30, of Alamogordo, N.M., was transferred to Howard County jail from the city jail after his April 5 arrest on suspicion of aggravated robbery and unauthorized use of a motor vehicle. Bonds for his release were set at $30,000 and $20,000.

• Steven Audis Emmens of 1112 Sycamore posted a $2,000 bond for his release after his arrest on a peace

Interstate 10 between Slidell and the Mississippi line was re-opened to traffic Thursday on a limited basis. State police said the eastbound side, heading toward Mississippi, was open by the opposite side hearing toward Slidell was still closed.

St. Tammany Parish officials were still waiting Thursday to learn how many houses had been inundated. Authorities have estimated the number at 700.

Beverly Eddins, coordinator for parish civil defense, said a survey team from the Federal Emergency Management Administration expected to have a more accurate count on Thursday, but was still out.

"I think they're finding the parish a lot bigger than they expected," she said.

FEMA sent survey teams after Gov. Dave Treen asked the federal government to declare a disaster in 16 parishes.

Flooding around Louisiana started after thunderstorms on April 6 and 7 dumped more than a foot of rain in some areas.

The rains also started the Pearl, the Amite and other rivers and streams climbing.

When the Amite overflowing, the Baton Rouge area suffered.

In East Baton Rouge Parish, the floods damaged a total of 2,380 residences, 141 trailers, 126 apartments, a 110-unit motel and a number of commercial buildings, Building Official J. Ben Meyer said Thursday.

The residences, he said, had water inside from 2 inches to 6 feet deep. Some areas that had not been flooded before went under during the flood that was at its peak a week ago.

The rains caused havoc in the New Orleans area by flooding streets and homes, knocking out power, telephones and public transportation for hours on April 7.

New Orleans police warned residents to stay off the streets, and thousands of people stayed home.

• Ramon Conners, 72, of 620 N.W. Fourth was arrested yesterday near the Post Office on suspicion of driving while intoxicated.

• Roger Dale Avant, 19, was arrested yesterday on an assault warrant and released after posting bond.

Water board okays local cloud seeding

Harte-Hanks Austin Bureau
AUSTIN — Texas Water Development Board members voted Thursday to spend $150,000 to continue one more year of experiments aimed at increasing rainfall by cloud seeding.

In a joint research effort with federal land reclamation officials, the Colorado River Municipal Water District of Big Spring will provide an aircraft used to collect and record cloud microphysics data, said Herbert Grubb, staff director of planning and development.

Grubb said the researchers will sample moisture, wind and temperature by flying directly into the clouds. They will experiment with silver iodide, dry ice and sodium chloride to determine their potential for rainmaking, he said.

He said state funds are needed to complete a five-year program that was cancelled in 1980 due to cuts in the federal budget. About $16,000 of federal funds will be used for the cloud-seeding project.

Herald photographers win 3 contest awards

Big Spring Herald photographers have won three prizes in competition against other Harte-Hanks papers.

Cliff Coan won two second places and one third, while Greg Jackiewicz won one second in the annual Harte-Hanks photo contest.

Coan also placed third in the sports category with a photo of a steer wrestling competition.

The feature photos were judged against other Harte-Hanks papers with less than 20,000 circulation, while the sports photo was judged in competition against 31 Harte-Hanks papers.

The picture page competition was also divided into "under 20,000" and "over 20,000" circulation categories.

Coan and James Iley also placed photos in the "Pictures to Warm an Old Editor's Heart" division. Pictures in this division did not win prizes, but were judged worthy of recognition.

Iley placed two photos in the "Editor's Heart" division. His photo of a child surrounded by Christmas wrapping paper was noted in the "Faces" category, while a photo of a youngster mesmerized by a video game was recognized in the "Children" category.

Coan placed in the "Sports" category of the "Editor's Heart" division with his photo of local female bodybuilder Dinah Anderson.

Mrs. Read in critical condition

Mrs. Bill (Marshallene) Read of Coahoma was hospitalized Tuesday at Scott-White Hospital in Temple where she remains today in critical condition, according to latest hospital reports.

Doctors have diagnosed Mrs. Read as suffering from a rare form of encephalitis that has left her unconscious and battling a high fever since Wednesday.

Encephalitis, also known as sleeping sickness, is a virus that causes an inflammation in the brain and abnormal sleepiness.

Reagan: U.S. will not overthrow Nicaragua

RONALD REAGAN
... "complying with the law"

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Reagan says the United States is operating legally in Central America to stop military supplies from reaching rebels in El Salvador, and is "not doing anything" to overthrow the government of Nicaragua.

Reagan's unequivocal statement Thursday was at odds with charges by the chairman of the House intelligence committee and others that the administration apparently was violating the law by providing secret aid to Nicaraguan guerrillas.

Reagan did not deny the United States would like to see a new regime in Nicaragua, but added: "But what I might personally wish or what our government might wish still would not justify us violating the law of the land."

At an 11-minute news conference, the president hailed Senate confirmation, by a vote of 57-42, of Kenneth L. Adelman, his nominee to head the Arms Control and Disarmament Agency. Reagan said he hoped the vote would mark the beginning of "a new bipartisan consensus" in Congress on nuclear arms control.

On another question, Reagan acknowledged his success in finding a job for an unemployed steelworker, Ron Bricker of Pittsburgh, but said it would be impossible to turn the White House into an employment

"We are complying with the law, the Boland amendment ... We're complying with that fully. We are not doing anything to try and overthrow the Nicaraguan government." — President Reagan agency.

"But at any time that I can be in any way help in lining up someone with an employer who's looking for an employee, of course I'd do it because it's a problem on all our minds," the president added.

Reagan was questioned closely about an increasing chorus of charges that the United States is actively supporting anti-Sandinista guerrillas in Nicaragua. Rep. Edward Boland, D-Mass., chairman of the House intelligence committee, said Wednesday "the evidence is very strong" that the law is being broken.

Boland is the author of legislation, which took effect last December, banning the CIA from providing military equipment, training or advice "for the purpose" of overthrowing the Nicaraguan government.

"We are complying with the law, the Boland amendment ... We're complying with that fully," Reagan insisted. "We are not doing anything to try and overthrow the Nicaraguan government."

He refused to discuss the extent of U.S. operations — specifically whether the United States is arming or supplying Nicaraguan guerrillas along the Honduran border. "I could not and would not possibly talk about such things," Reagan said.

"Anything that we're doing in that area is simply trying to interdict the supply lines which are supplying the guerrillas in El Salvador," Reagan said.

The president said the whole controversy overlooks the reality of the situation in Nicaragua. He said the Nicaraguan regime took power by force, is clearly Marxist, and has reneged on promises that it would hold democratic elections and not try to overthrow neighboring governments, particularly El Salvador.

"...And they violated that promise, and they are still violating it," Reagan declared.

While Reagan said he is heeding the Boland amendment, he questioned the wisdom of the ban, as well as restrictions imposed by the War Powers Act. He said any legislation restricting a president's power to deal with foreign nations impinges on the constitutional powers of his office.

The president said Secretary of State George P. Shultz and national security adviser William P. Clark had been in touch with Boland about his charges.

Boland said Wednesday that Shultz and Clark would be called before his committee to discuss U.S. policy goals in Central America.

Adelman confirmed, dispute continues

WASHINGTON (AP) — The 57-42 Senate vote confirming Kenneth L. Adelman as the nation's next arms control chief failed to end the dispute over whether his selection enhances or impairs chances for meaningful arms control.

In the aftermath of the Thursday vote, the culmination of three months of hearings and debate, President Reagan and Adelman called separately for bipartisan reconciliation to move arms control forward while some senators said the choice of Adelman makes such cooperation unlikely.

The Soviet Union's official news agency called Adelman "an outright hawk" and said his selection proves the Reagan White House is interested in amassing more arms, not controlling them.

Principal Senate opponents said Adelman prevailed because Republican senators who might otherwise have voted against him were subjected to intense presidential lobbying.

Some of Adelman's supporters said his victory puts clear responsibility on President Reagan to make headway in arms negotiations. They said they used their support to wrest concessions from the administration that were otherwise unobtainable.

The opponents maintain the administration's triumph in salvaging the Adelman nomination will turn sour as the Soviets move to convert Adelman's arms control views into a propaganda windfall in Europe.

Reagan told a news conference he hopes "that this positive step will mark the beginning of a new bipartisan consensus on the vital issue of nuclear arms reduction."

"I'm convinced that Kenneth Adelman will prove that the confidence which the Senate has expressed in him today is well-founded," Reagan said. "And if we're met with reciprocal seriousness of purpose from the Soviet Union, 1983 can be a year of historic importance in securing a more solid and stable peace through arms reductions," the president said.

Adelman, who personally buttonholed many senators in his own behalf in the days before the vote, promised at a separate news conference in New York City to open immediate arms control consultations with key senators, including those who fought hardest to block his confirmation.

"I believe that such close consultations can help our arms control efforts, which, in my view, must be bipartisan in order to be effective," said the 36-year official who for the last two years has been deputy chief of the U.S. mission to the United Nations. Adelman said.

From Moscow, the Soviet news agency Tass labeled Adelman a foe of arms control and said his confirmation was due to "fierce arm twisting" by the White House.

Tass said many members of Congress and the American public viewed Reagan's nomination of Adelman as "an obvious sign that the White House intends to thwart completely the process of arms control and to gain a free hand for the further runaway escalation of war preparations."

All five of the Senate's contenders for the 1984 Democratic presidential nomination voted against the nomination and four of them spoke against it on the Senate floor.

In turn, administration supporters claimed the anti-Adelman effort was politically inspired and based on a misreading of his intentions.

Cheap oil leads wholesale price drop

WASHINGTON (AP) — Wholesale prices, driven down by cheaper oil, fell 0.1 percent in March and 4.1 percent, calculated annually, for the year's first three months, the government said today.

Energy prices overall fell 3.2 percent for the month, the fourth straight decline. Gasoline prices tumbled 6 percent and home heating oil prices dropped 7.6 percent. For the quarter, energy prices overall plunged 34.4 percent at an annual rate.

Not since 1976 have wholesale prices fallen for a full calendar quarter, the Labor Department said in releasing today's price report. The economy's January-March performance was the best for any quarter since 1952.

The report lent fresh support to economists' predictions that, for all of 1983, inflation at the wholesale level may be less than 1 percent, which would be the economy's best showing since the mid-1960s.

As for last month, food prices rose 0.5 percent, their second monthly rise, as food prices for the quarter rose 3.8 percent, calculated annually. Vegetable prices soared 21.3 percent last month in an apparent reflection of bad growing weather in the agricultural regions of California.

Beef and veal prices rose 3 percent; pork prices were up 0.8 percent. Poultry prices tumbled 2.9 percent.

But the higher food prices were more than wiped out by the good news on energy expenses. The overall energy price decline outpaced the previous month's 2.9 percent drop. Energy prices had fallen 4.2 percent in the January report.

The only dark cloud on the energy front today was the 2.5 percent increase posted for natural gas prices. Those prices had risen 3.2 percent in the preceding month.

The energy prices reported today were actually for February; those calculations lag a month behind the rest of the index. Department analysts say energy companies report their prices too late for inclusion in the most current monthly measure.

Energy prices have fallen in recent months largely because of worldwide cuts in crude oil prices. But those reductions are not expected to trigger further retail price cuts; indeed, many oil companies have recently started raising prices to retail dealers.

Today's report gave these other details of wholesale price activity in March:

—Passenger car prices rose 0.8 percent after gaining 1.5 percent in February. Prices for light trucks fell 0.8 percent last month after inching up 0.1 percent in the previous month.

—Capital equipment costs rose 0.4 percent after a 0.5 percent advance in the preceding month. Those costs are for machinery and transportation equipment used by business.

All the price changes are adjusted for normal seasonal variations.

March's overall price decline of 0.1 percent, after seasonal adjustment, compared with a 0.1 percent advance in February and a record drop of 1 percent in January.

If prices fell for 12 months straight at the March rate, the yearly drop would be 1.7 percent.

Texans need strong open container law

Drunk driving is responsible for the deaths of more than 2,000 persons in Texas each year. Stronger laws, stronger enforcement and strong public outcry can reduce this carnage in Texas streets and highways.

One of the most important laws before the legislature now is Senate Bill 2, the open container law. Presently it is not a violation of state law to drive and drink on Texas highways. Texas is one of only a few states with such an outdated law. This is hardly something to which Texans can point to with pride.

The open container laws of other states are strictly enforced. But more important, they help establish the attitude that drinking while driving is a socially and legally unacceptable practice. This is especially important for young, inexperienced drivers who are also inexperienced drinkers.

ALCOHOL-RELATED automobiles accidents are the leading cause of death of young adults between the ages of 16 and 25. Many people in this age group drink in cars. Making it illegal to do so would help save the lives of many young Texans.

A copy of Senate Bill 2 may be obtained by calling Senate Bill Distribution (512) 475-2520. Letters to the governor, lieutenant governor, and Sen. John Montford may be sent to P.O. Box 12068, Capitol Station, Austin. Letters to Rep. Larry Don Shaw may be sent to P.O. Box 2910, Capitol Station, Austin.

Now is the time for all Texans to join together to let our elected officials know in no uncertain terms that we are expecting them to respond.

Under my skin

Everyone has a list of things which get under one's skin. There may be no reason for these hatreds, but they exist just the same.

Naturally, I'm no exception. Ask me why I dislike some of the things I hate and I may not be able to tell you — I just know they irritate me beyond belief.

I hate goats. There's no special reason for this — just that the hirsute, misproportioned, malodorous, omnivorous creatures irritate me. I can just LOOK at a goat and find myself in a foul temper for the rest of the day. I'd rather eat a goat than look at one. Goats.

WAIT, I'M raving — back to the subject.

I hate Wayne Newton. He's just an overpaid, permanently browned lounge lizard with too-tight shorts. The sound of his voice is comparable to scraping fingernails across a blackboard ... or someone skinning a live cat ... or drowning out a Barry Manilow record with one by the Statler Brothers.

I hate automatons ... especially American automatons. Where else in the world could you take a car made by grossly overpaid workers and sell it at a grossly inflated price and get away with it? My full-sized pickup (bought in 1979), which has every available option, sold for the same price new as a stripped-down, pint-sized, motorized rollerskate of a pickup sells for today. And they wonder why the public is buying Japanese cars?

I hate Texans who bend over backwards to avoid being Tex-ns. Why can't they be proud of what they are, rather than trying to be a New York fashion model in West Texas? Why be ashamed of a rich, full Texas heritage? What's wrong with boots and blue jeans? Why can't Larry McMurtry write a decent novel? — because he forsook his Texas heritage (which he understood) to write about California and Washington (which NO ONE understands), that's why.

I HATE roads with potholes. The road into the mobile home park where I live looks like the surface of the moon. Several economy cars have been reported to have disappeared into these potholes, never to be seen again. I don't object to bouncing around a little, but I don't like having a $50 Resistol ruined by bouncing off the ceiling of a vehicle. (Felt hats make poor head protection, by the way.)

I hate a system which rewards an athlete by paying him an annual salary which is more than the gross national product of Ecuador. So what if he can run faster, jump higher or beat some other poor slob's brains out quicker than anyone else? So what if he has the mental capabilities of a block of wood?

By the same token, I hate a system which refuses to reward teachers for using their brains to educate our future leaders. If these people are good enough to be teaching, they're good enough to rate a decent salary.

OTHER miscellaneous personal hates include:

The Osmond family, "society" events, neighbors whose musical tastes differ from mine (but who insist on playing their stereo at full volume), mechanics who don't fix cars, people who are instant experts on everything, moths, punk rock, new wave music (except rockabilly), preachers who condemn any type of religion other than that which they preach.

Also, people who abandon animals in the country, flies, crickets (only those which live in houses), Chihuahuas, "Tootsie," professional baseball, semi-pro anything, un-filleted fish, un-spicy chili, yankees who try to be Texans, Cleveland Armory, soap operas, people with the morals of an amoeba, hangnails, hairy underarms on women, "preppie" clothes.

And, people who think rodeo isn't a sport because it doesn't involve a ball, people who think golfers are athletes, dust- and sandstorms, being put on hold on the telephone, sheep, emptying cats' litter boxes, colds, static electricity, flat tires, areas without trees, dead batteries.

And last, but not least, thinking of ideas for columns every Thursday.

A sizable oak tree typically gives off 28,000 gallons of moisture in a season.

Bonzo goes to Star Wars

President Reagan was relaxing in his office at five o'clock, after putting in a hard day's work, with his best friend Bonzo. The president was sipping a scotch and water, and Bonzo was drinking a banana daiquiri.

"You know what worries me the most, Bonzo?" the president asked. Bonzo looked up, all ears.

"This whole concept of MAD — Mutual Assured Destruction. We can no longer go into the 21st century building bigger and bigger weapons. We have to figure out a way of making nuclear weapons impotent and obsolete so our children and your children will no longer be faced with the specter of war."

Bonzo started to clap his hands. "If our scientists put their great minds to work, we could develop a sure-fire system to destroy the greatest force of evil in the world."

Bonzo jumped off the couch and onto a chair, where he started angrily beating a map of the Soviet Union with both hands.

"The question is, how can we do it?" the president mused.

Bonzo put his hand to his head, which he always did when he was thinking. Then he let out a squeal and went to a drawer and took out a photograph of a chimpanzee and jumped on the president's desk.

The president said, "What have we got here? Why it's a photograph of Ham, the first chimp who went into space. What are you trying to tell me Bonzo?"

Bonzo kept pointing out the window towards the sky. "Ham is dead?"

Bonzo shook his head again. Then he hopped over to the TV set, turned it on and put an Atari Star Wars game on the screen. Bonzo, who amused himself all day long playing video games, started to shoot down objects as they flew across the screen.

"Stop horsing around Bonzo," the president said. "This is very important."

Bonzo hopped over to the president and tugged him on the sleeve, pulling him towards the TV set. The president let Bonzo drag him to the set. "Just one game Bonzo, and then let's get back to my problem."

Bonzo pointed to the TV screen and then pointed to the map of the Soviet Union.

The president realized Bonzo was trying to tell him something. "Don't help me, Bonzo. I think I'm getting it. If we could put something in space we could shoot down Soviet missiles from the sky. Is that what you're driving at?"

Bonzo squealed again and threw his arms around the president. "That's it!" the president said. "All we would need is some powerful death ray that could zap the missiles as soon as they were launched. But how?"

Bonzo went over to a radiator and sat on it.

"The president looked at him. 'Radiator?'

"Radiation? Heat? A heating-cooling death ray that would make their ICBM's inoperable!"

Bonzo squealed again and hugged the president.

President Reagan rushed over to his telephone and got the Joint Chiefs of Staff. "I want everyone in my office tomorrow morning."

Then the president poured Bonzo another banana daiquiri and said gratefully, "Bonzo, you've done it again."

Soviets continue psychological warfare

WASHINGTON — The Soviet Union announced a few weeks ago that it was withdrawing from the World Psychiatric Association.

To most Americans, this wasn't exactly earth-shaking news. But it sent a chill of fear into the heart of Svetlana Evdokimova, a New York City high school teacher. It could mean she will never see her brother again. Here's why.

Soviet affairs experts see the withdrawal as an ominous sign that Soviet boss Yuri Andropov plans to continue, or even intensify, the KGB's cynical campaign to label dissidents as mentally ill. And Evdokimova's 32-year-old brother, Rostislav, is one of the victims.

Even before Andropov took over in the Kremlin, the World Psychiatric Association had condemned the KGB's abuse of psychiatry to lock up political dissidents in mental hospitals. In fact, the association had several resolutions pending to expel or suspend the Soviets when it met in Vienna this July. Rather than risk the indignity, the Russians picked up their marbles and went home.

Neither Evdokimova nor the Soviet affairs experts need to be reminded that it was Andropov, as head of the KGB, who pioneered the loathsome practice of imprisoning troublesome opponents in mental wards. Amnesty International has identified 305 dissidents confined in mental hospitals that are nothing more than KGB torture chambers. Now Andropov will be free to continue the repression without the minor embarrassment of having to defend it before the international professional group.

Rostislav Evdokimov's "crime" consisted of publishing several articles critical of the Soviet government and possessing prohibited books. He was arrested in Leningrad last July. Evdokimova fears the worst for her brother. Because of his connection with the "Moscow working group for the investigation of the use of psychiatry for political ends," he had been threatened, even before his arrest, with confinement in an insane asylum.

Evdokimova's fears are based on bitter experience. She told my reporter Don Corrigan she is the granddaughter, daughter and now sister of Soviet political prisoners. Her father, Boris, was arrested in 1971 and packed off to a psychiatric prison after a three-day court proceeding at which he was not allowed to be present.

Evdokimova's father was released after eight years, dying of cancer. Her brother's arrest last July stemmed in part from his publication of an open letter "to all honest people on earth" the day his father died. In the letter, Evdokimov called his father's death "a murder."

Last fall, dissident sources learned that Rostislav was undergoing psychiatric examinations designed to show that he suffers from "hereditary schizophrenia." When the Voice of American broadcast the news of his internment on January 22, along with a statement from his sister, the Soviets abruptly announced that Rostislav would be brought to trial.

Evdokimova believes the only chance her brother has — a slim one — is to be allowed to join her in the United States under a provision of the Helsinki agreement permitting the reunification of families. She has appealed to Secretary of State George Shultz and to Congress for help.

EXECUTIVE MEMO: Officials at the Housing and Urban Development Department pressed a new computer into service before it was ready, with results that one regional official described as "horrendous." The computer sent out mortgage payment notices to some 29,000 people who hold HUD-administered loans, but instead of asking for the usual monthly payment, most bills demanded payment in full for the mortgage balance. A HUD loan specialist looked on the bright side. "This will bring a lot of realization to these people of just what is owed," he said.

The Environmental Protection Agency, whose benefit to the general public has been seriously questioned lately, just issued a ruling that the nation's largest conservation group doesn't benefit the general public. In order to keep the 4.2 million-member National Wildlife Federation from getting documents at no cost under the Freedom of Information Act, EPA bureaucrats ruled that the federation doesn't qualify for a fee waiver for acting in the public interest. The fee the EPA watchdogs insisted the federation ante up was $24.50.

Congressional critics want to know why the Labor Department doesn't have a nationwide directory of jobs available to the unemployed. Department officials claim they do have one. An employer can report a job opening to a state unemployment office. If it's not filled within 30 days, the listing is sent to Albany, N.Y., put on microfilm and distributed to state unemployment offices across the country. The 30-day wait can be waived if the employer requests. But critics say this system is inefficient and time-consuming, so few employers use it. Experts say a good nationwide computerized jobs directory would cost only $6 million.

It's hard for me to believe

DEAR DR. GRAHAM: For many years I have been searching for something to believe in. I admire people who can believe in religion, but somehow I just can't get over my doubts. Am I destined to be a doubter all my life? — Mrs. A.R.A.

DEAR MRS. A.R.A.: No, not necessarily. Doubt can be a very bad thing if it only keeps you from believing and searching for answers. But doubt can also be helpful if it makes you investigate and realize that there is no reason to remain in doubt all your life. Doubt is somewhat like hunger. You can be hungry and spend all your time complaining that you are hungry until you starve to death. Or your hunger can make you seek for food, which you take until your hunger is finished.

Belief in Jesus Christ is not just wishful thinking, hoping somehow that the story we read in the Bible is true but not really having any evidence to support it. No, the Bible is true based on facts! Jesus Christ was not a myth or an idea dreamed up by people a long time ago. Jesus Christ was a real flesh-and-blood person. But was he more than that? As a Christian I am convinced he was. I am convinced he was the one and only Son of God, sent from Heaven to bring us back to God through his death on the cross for us.

That is why I want to urge you to read the Bible. Begin with the New Testament — I suggest the Gospel of John — and look closely at Jesus Christ. What did he do? What did he claim for himself? And what did he do to support that claim? When you read, I believe you will realize that Jesus Christ was completely unique — and the proof of that is that he rose from the dead.

God created you, and he does not want you to be wandering around all your life with no certainty and no purpose. He loves you, and more than anything else he wants you to come by faith to Christ and become his child. He has promised, "Ask and it will be given to you; seek and you will find; knock and the door will be opened to you."

roniously identified as the only living ex-president in 1955. Actually, as readers point out, Herbert Hoover was still living then. He died in 1964. The point of the reference remains valid: It cost only $64,000 to take care of ex-presidents' expenses that year.

IS THIS POSSIBLE?: The Republican National Committee is reported to be suffering financial strains. But committee officials aren't exactly poor-mouthing. They claim they're cutting back on staff and programs only to save money for 1984. And they still plan to spend $12.5 million this year.

But GOP sources say the committee is at least relatively hard up. The party spent too much last year, and now has $1.5 million in loans to pay back for their 1982 congressional campaign expenditures. Since January 1, about 100 committee employees have been let go, and education and training programs have been sharply reduced. Perhaps most significantly, the committee had to drop its plan to extend its computerized direct-mail fund raising into a number of key states. And Republican donors, hit so many times for money last year, are giving less this year. Donations are reported down between 3 percent and 5 percent.

Meanwhile, the Democrats have been copying the GOP's direct-mail technique — with some success.

WATCH ON WASTE: It looks as if the vice-presidential mansion on Embassy Row will get more than a housecleaning this spring. Vice President Bush has asked Congress for $39,000 to upgrade the kitchen. The third-floor bathroom has already been refurbished at a cost of $12,000, and the roof on the Victorian veranda has undergone a $37,000 repair job.

Oilman sets sail in search for Titanic

ABILENE (AP) — A third expedition will sail next summer to search the bottom of the North Atlantic for the elusive wreck of the luxury liner Titanic that sank 71 years ago Thursday, oilman Jack Grimm said.

Grimm, who financed unsuccessful hunts in 1980 and 1981 for the Titanic, said Wednesday a 30-member crew will leave Halifax, Nova Scotia July 15 and make a two-week survey of the area where the ship is believed to have sunk.

The British liner that was hailed as "unsinkable" struck an iceberg in the fog off Newfoundland during its maiden voyage from Great Britain to New York on April 14, 1912, and sank early the next day.

Various inquiries determined between 1,490 and 1,517 passengers and crew perished when the Titanic sank.

The expedition will begin in an area where a crew in the last hours of the 1981 search located an object they said could be the ship's propeller.

During the initial expedition, scientists were able to comb 60 square miles of ocean bottom and pinpoint 14 possible resting places of the ship, Grimm said.

If he finds the ship, Grimm hopes some day to salvage diamonds and other jewels believed to be on board and valued between $17 million and $300 million.

However, Grimm said if the ship is found, exploration will have to wait because a diving craft is not scheduled for use this summer.

"We can't dive on it," Grimm said, "but we'll have a drag line and drag bucket" to scour the ocean bottom alongside the wreck if it is found.

Grimm said a research vessel from Columbia University will be used along with a video camera system to map and film the ocean floor.

The equipment recently was used by the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration in 9,000 feet of water near the Juan De Fuca Straits off the coast of Washington, Grimm said.

The NOAA project achieved "excellent sonar images and photographs of the ocean floor along the earth's crustal plates," he said.

It was a case of double jeopardy

DALLAS (AP) — A man convicted and fined $75 dollars for writing bad checks protested his innocence too well.

Justice of the Peace Robert Cole asked Dallas County sheriff's deputies decided to check on the man after he insisted convincingly in court Tuesday that his real name was Graig Mendenhall and he was not the Edward Lee Alex who was accused of writing $40 in bad checks.

Sheriff's detective Jerry Hunter said when deputies ran the name Graig Mendenhall through the county's computer they found Mendenhall was wanted on eight warrants, including one felony, accusing him of writing bad checks.

Mendenhall, said Hunter, was arrested again and returned to jail. His bail, originally set at $75,000, was increased to $97,000.

Murder defendant breaks down, claims he acted in desperation

BROWNSVILLE (AP) — A young farmer accused of killing two people testified Thursday he acted out of desperation when he clubbed his wife's former husband, a man prosecutors say tape recorded his own slaying.

"I couldn't take it no more," an emotional Paul Wolf testified at his trial for the slaying of school teacher Leticia Castro. Wolf also faces trial for the slaying the same night of Miss Castro's fiance, Billy Stator.

Defense attorney James Mardis of Harlingen said Wolf, 21, of La Feria, was "legally insane" the night he attacked Stator and Miss Castro.

Wolf broke down several times Thursday as he explained his version of what happened on July 16, 1982, the night Stator and Miss Castro were killed.

He said he and his wife, Sherry, were locked in a fierce court battle with Stator over custody of Stator's and Mrs. Wolf's 2½-year-old child Melanie.

Melanie, Wolf said, didn't like her father and would scream and kick when Stator tried to take her out of the Wolf home for weekend visits.

On July 16, Wolf testified, he and a friend, Glenn Henderson, planned to make a movie of Melanie's reaction to Stator's visit.

Prosecutors have said Stator, at the same time, was secretly recording the visit on a mini-cassette recorder he had hidden under his shirt. The tape, that District Attorney Rey Cantu called "23 minutes of murder" was played for the jury Wednesday.

Wolf testified he wanted to make the movie and use it as evidence in court against Stator.

Henderson, who has pleaded guilty to killing Miss Castro, was hiding in the dining room when Stator arrived and was going to film the visit, Wolf said.

But as Stator sat in the Wolf living room talking with his daughter and former wife, Wolf said he went into the kitchen and picked up an iron bar.

"I was afraid, I couldn't handle it no more," he said. "I began hitting Billy in the head."

He testified he hit Stator about five times in the head with the bar.

Krueger begins 2nd campaign

AUSTIN (AP) — Bob Krueger, former U.S. ambassador to Mexico and unsuccessful U.S. Senate candidate in 1978, will meet with supporters Saturday to begin organizing his statewide campaign for a second try to unseat Sen. John Tower, R-Texas.

"We expect at least 300 people," said Harmon Lisnow, Krueger's campaign manager. "We want to start building our organization county by county."

Lisnow said Thursday the Krueger campaign committee had sent out about 35,000 letters telling of the meeting in Austin's Palmer Municipal Auditorium and is expecting backers from as far away as El Paso to attend the Saturday morning work session.

Lisnow said Krueger would not formally announce his candidacy until next September.

Dr. Donohue

Surgery just one hernia answer

Dear Dr. Donohue: I am an active 37-year-old man who enjoys his activity and job as a firefighter. I have hurt my back and a CAT scan showed a herniated disc. My job has come to a halt and I am reduced to the role of a "housemother" and it driving me nuts. Some say the only answer is surgery. What about traction or rest? — P.M.D.

Surgery is but one way to treat a herniated disc, a part of the vertebra that has slipped out of position. Often, the discomfort from a herniated disc can be relieved by strict bed rest and use of traction — weights attached to the body to pull the spine so that the disc can sort of slip back into place. So, yes, traction and rest have a definite place in treatment of the problem. Also helpful are muscle relaxants and heat. Much of the pain is caused from muscle spasm in the spine area, not from the disc itself.

Now another alternative to traditional surgery has emerged. It's really not new, because it has been used for a long time in Canada. My Canadian readers have been ragging me about this for years. I am happy to be able to report to them that at last the procedure is available in the U.S. It's called chemonucleolysis. Translated, that means dissolving of the herniated material with enzymes injected into it.

I cannot tell you the best way to treat your herniated disc. Only the doctor caring for you can be a judge of that. But there are those options available. Now, I presume that you mean you have become the "housemother" for your fire station crew. Fine. We need every single fireman we can get, and somebody has to be the housemother. But you should be able to return to active duty in time.

Dear Dr. Donohue: I heard a discussion on TV recently in which a doctor used the term "genetic marker" in discussing some disease, or research. I can't recall much, just that term. Can you discuss genetic markers? — Mrs. O.P.

Genetic marker research is one of the newest and more exciting areas of medicine. A simple definition of it is the search for certain genetically implanted "guideposts" that may point to the cause of a particular illness. An example of markers are the human leukocyte antigens (HLAs), which are bits of protein on the surfaces of white blood cells. There are different kinds and they're all genetically determined. That's why they're called genetic markers. They're inherited.

One area being studied, just for example, is a possible relationship between a person's proneness to ulcer development and certain kinds of HLA markers on that person's white blood cells. There are many other examples. I sometimes wish television had instant replays for medical discussions the way they have for football games. But they don't, so much of my mail involves what people have heard or thought they heard on TV.

Having trouble getting to sleep at night? In his new booklet, Dr. Donohue examines the insomnia problem and offers some ways to help you get your needed rest. For a copy of "Why Can't You Sleep?", send 50 cents and a stamped, self-addressed envelope to Dr. Donohue, in care of the Big Spring Herald, P.O. Box 11210, Chicago, IL 60611.

Dr. Donohue welcomes reader mail but regrets that, due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

Agent has cleaning product recipes

"Cleaning on a Shoestring" was the topic of the program given by Naomi Hunt at the Elbow Extension Homemakers Club meeting in the home of Myrl Sales April 7.

Mrs. Hunt, county extension agent, handed out recipes and showed the group how to make low cost household cleaners. She used the cleaners on porcelain, marble and a mirror. She compared the prices of homemade cleaners with popular brands of cleaning products. She said the homemade products are easy to make and are a great savings.

Kelli Ballard and Tonya Jones became new members of the club.

Some members of the club will attend the Extension Homemakers District Meeting in Crane Thursday.

The next meeting is in the home of Ruth Morton, April 21. Joyce Mills of Malone-Hogan Hospital will be the speaker. Her subject is "When Food and Drugs Don't Mix."

Chapter plans for Founder's Day

The Rainbow Project, a child abuse shelter located in Howard County, was discussed at the meeting of Alpha Tau Rho. Beta Sigma Phi, Monday in the home of Sheri Lepard. Arlene White presented the program.

Plans for the Founder's Day meeting, to be held April 25, in Coahoma State Bank, were discussed. A bake sale, planned April 30, was also discussed. Our next meeting will be at 7 p.m.

Dear Abby

Plumber leaks truth about pipe

DEAR ABBY: The letter from the traveling man who spends five days a week on the road interested me. He said he came home to discover a well-used pipe in the pocket of his bathrobe, and since neither he nor his wife smoked he was not only bewildered but a bit suspicious. Upon questioning his wife, she denied any knowledge of how the pipe came to be in his bathrobe pocket.

The following day when he went to get the pipe, it was nowhere to be found! He asked for your opinion of this puzzling incident, and you dismissed it with, "Too bad the evidence went up in smoke."

Well, Abby, this clears up the mystery of my missing pipe. Being a plumber, I was summoned to the home of an attractive woman to repair a faulty shower nozzle that was spraying water all over her bathroom.

While waiting for my clothes to dry I slipped into a robe hanging on a hook in the bathroom, and I must have thoughtlessly put my pipe into the pocket.

After searching for it high and low later, I suddenly remembered. When I went back to that house, the door was open and I could hear a loud argument coming from another room, so I sneaked in and quietly retrieved my pipe.

I hope this explains it for all hands.

PETE MCG.

P.S. Could you find out for me which five days that man is on the road?

DEAR PETE: Sorry, no help from this corner for a plumber who can't keep track of his pipes.

DEAR ABBY: What is the difference between a lady and a tramp?

Ministering to hospital patients in crisis situations will be the topic of a seminar April 21-22 at Howard College, sponsored by the Malone-Hogan Hospital Volunteers.

Called "The Kneeling Bench and Medicine," the workshop, which is opened to all area ministers and physicians, will be lead by Dr. G. Howard Linton, Baptist Memorial Hospital, San Antonio. The event will be held in the Coliseum East Room. Registration deadline is Monday.

...to lead seminar

Dr. Linton is director of the department of Religion and supervisor of the Center for Clinical Pastoral Education in the Baptist Memorial Hospital System of San Antonio.

"The hospital is a controlled, crisis-oriented environment and therefore usable as a laboratory for training people to minister," Dr. Linton said. He added that the hospital is an intense setting in which ministers can learn the skills they need in the pastorate.

The seminar will be comprehensive because of limited time, Emily Ward, public relations director at Malone-Hogan Hospital, said. But participants will have time for discussion with faculty.

Dr. Lee Butler, director of pastoral care at Big Spring State Hospital, is coordinator of the seminar. Dr. Butler says "I know of no man in the country who understands better the crisis experience than Howard Linton."

Dr. Butler started his career as a chaplain in a general hospital. He said the seminar has been planned with an eye toward meeting as many needs in as many areas that the seminar time-frame would allow.

"Every minister is familiar with the middle-of-the-night or afternoon automobile accident that leaves a family distraught and sometimes temporarily unable to cope," Dr.

Butler said. Or, he added, those times when a doctor has done all he can do, has said all he can say, and turns to leave. "That's when a minister can step in and help the family, and sometimes the patient, accept what it is that has happened to them."

Participating in the seminar will be Dr. Don Crockett, surgeon, Malone-Hogan Hospital; Dr. Gordon Golden, internal medicine specialist, Malone-Hogan Clinic; Royce Clay, minister, 14th and Main Church of Christ; Father Bernard Gully, Immaculate Heart of Mary Catholic Church; and Rick Davis, pastor, Midway Baptist Church.

Helen Draper is president of the Malone-Hogan Hospital Volunteers, the group sponsoring the seminar. Dan Wise is volunteer director.

The theme for the conference is "Bible Believers: Responsible Today, Accountable Tomorrow."

Speakers are Dr. Lory Hildreth, Dr. Robert Polk, and the Rev. James Harrell.

Dr. Hildreth recently retired as director of the Stewardship Division of the Baptist General Convention of Texas. He will lead sessions on "The Biblical Basis of Christian Stewardship," and "Preaching on Christian Stewardship."

Harrell is secretary of the estate stewardship program for the BGCT. He will lead a session on "Money Management."

Further information may be obtained from Mike Patrick, pastor, Baptist Temple Church.

'Rock 'n' roll ripoff?'

Emmett Barnard, pastor of Odessa's Westover Baptist Church, will be in Big Spring at 8 p.m. Friday to discuss rock 'n' roll music. He has written a book titled "Rock 'n' Roll Rip-Off," and has spoken to hundreds of people in this area concerning hidden "messages" contained in rock 'n' roll music.

Barnard will speak at the Upper Room Mission, 313 Runnels.

Barnard has researched "backward masking." He says backward masking is "the method of putting messages on a recording in a backward fashion."

Barnard said "Rock 'n' roll has long been the sword of rebellion," and added "Good music ministers to the spirit...Anytime you have an imbalance where the rhythm or harmony overrides the melody, you begin to get away from spiritual music."

Midland is conference site

The Diocese of San Angelo is offering a Spring Catholic Charismatic Conference April 29, 30 and May 1 at St. Ann's Gym, 205 N. Main Street, Midland.

The workshop is opened to people of all faiths. Workshops on evangelism, healing, scripture, and music will be held.

The conference will begin at 6:30 p.m. Friday. There is no charge for registration. Translation into Spanish will be provided, as will housing and a nursery.

House rejects COGs plan

By JAY ROSSER
Harte-Hanks Austin Bureau
AUSTIN — The Texas House gave strong indications Tuesday it wants to hold the line on state spending to avoid a bloody tax fight and rejected an attempt by a West Texas lawmaker to place the state's 24 regional planning councils under legislative review.
The measure, sponsored by Rep. Gary Thompson, D-Abilene, was defeated 65-78, a vote that ended one of the most lengthy and controversial debates undertaken by the House since it convened last January.

Thompson's proposal would have ordered a decennial legislative review of the regional planning agencies, commonly known as councils of governments, beginning in 1985. It also would have adjusted the state's current funding formula to the COGs and required each council to appoint a legislator to its membership roster.

Old woodcarver continues hobby

LUFKIN, Texas (AP) — For Joe Templeton, being 88 years old doesn't mean that he's going to sit back and relax.

"I've always got to be doing something, and this little hobby of mine is something that I really enjoy," he said.

The "little hobby" refers to wood carving, and much of his work is something that would be a big accomplishment to many people half his age.

Templeton's collection of wood carvings is a sight to see. A wall in his den holds everything from reproductions of an old-timey log wagon pulled by oxen to an outhouse complete with toilet paper — with all of the fine detail hand-carved.

Templeton began his hobby only 13 years ago. He came up with the idea as he was reminiscing about his earlier days.

"I started thinking and I told my wife I was going to make me one of those buggies that we used to ride in, and I started to work on it," Templeton said.

He didn't have to try to find a pattern or find a picture, but built the replica from memory.

"I'd spent enough time in one to know exactly how it should look," he said.

After the buggy was completed, he began to think about other things he could build with his hands.

From that first horse and buggy rig, his collection expanded to include more than 40 covered wagons, numerous replicas of log wagons, miniature houses, furniture and other pieces, most of which he has given away to family and friends.

Oddly enough, Templeton says he has never sold any of his work.

"I've had people tell me I could make a fortune selling them, but I've never WOODCARVER — Joe Templeton, 88, sands a wagon wheel in his work shop in Lufkin. Templeton began his hobby only 13 years ago. He came up with his "little hobby" as he was reminiscing about his earlier days. A wall in his den holds everything from reproductions of an old-timey log wagon pulled by oxen to an outhouse complete with toilet paper — with all of the fine detail hand-carved.

had any desire to have that kind of pressure of having to make them instead of doing it just for the fun of it," he said.

Templeton's daughter, Mrs. Norvella Doty of Lufkin, said that she thinks the work has been therapeutic for her father.

"I'll be honest; I think that's what's preserved his life so long," she said. "So many older people don't keep active, but I think the sense of accomplishment he gets from his hobby really helps."

Mrs. Doty said that after watching him at work, most people would find it hard to believe that he's almost 90, and still able to do such tedious work.

"His nerves have stayed steady for years, and when he works, his hands don't shake a bit," she said.

Templeton takes his time and doesn't let the tedious work become a burden.

The exact replica of his house on Ellis Street, a perfect match of the real house inside and out, took him three months.

"It was quite a job," Templeton said. "Right down to the 3,000 wood shingles on the roof."

Building his wood articles has become an expensive hobby, which has restricted the number of carvings he makes.

"I use a lot of birch plywood and that costs me $16 a sheet, so it does run into some money," he said.

For Templeton, who retired years ago from working out of state with the Carter Oil Co., the hobby has given him a new purpose in life, something to help pass the hours and the days. He says he'll keep it up as long as he's able.

Soldier gets probation in family's death

NEW BRAUNFELS, Texas (AP) — An Army private whose car struck and killed four members of a family, including the pregnant mother, has been sentenced to 10 years' probation.

William Dale Savage also was fined $5,000 on Thursday and ordered to defray some of the hospital and funeral costs for the family of Ruben Saucedo Sr.

The Fort Sam Houston soldier could have received up to 10 years in prison.

Savage, 23, wept

Wednesday when the jury convicted him of involuntary manslaughter in Saucedo's Oct. 30 death.

A spokesman for Mothers Against Drunk Drivers in San Antonio criticized Savage's probation sentence.

"It's a mockery of justice," said Suzanne Hildebrand of MADD. "This case was not strenuously and arduously prosecuted."

Savage also is charged with the deaths of Saucedo's wife, Hortencia, 23, and their children Victoria and Ruben Jr., 23 months and 11 months.

But Comal County District Attorney Bill Schroeder said that it was not likely Savage would be tried in the other three deaths.

All four family members died when they were struck by a car as they walked across old U.S. Highway 81 in this city north of San Antonio.

Savage, the sole defense witness, testified that he was "pretty coherent" when he left Wurstfest, this city's annual celebration of its German heritage. He said he drank six beers in an hour.

The private said he "didn't see anything" in the moments before the crash.

"I discarded a cigarette and adjusted the radio," he said. "I looked up and that's when I hit them. I felt a bump. When I looked up, the windshield was shattered."

"I didn't see the bodies until one hit the windshield," Savage said.

He cried when he described attempting to administer mouth-to-mouth resuscitation on the 26-year-old father.

ANOTHER HAWK QUEEN GOES TO WACO — Post Susan Cordell, right, signed a scholarship agreement with Baylor University coach Pam Davis Thursday afternoon at Howard College. Cordell is the third HC player to go to Baylor; she holds a picture of Hawk Queen all-American Kelly Lyons who is a senior at BU.

BECOMING A BLUE RAIDER — Howard College guard Leon Issac, right, gets fitted with a Middle Tennessee practice jersey by Hawk coach Harold Wilder. Issac signed with the Blue Raiders Thursday.

The direction was east Thursday afternoon when Howard College basketball standouts Susan Cordell and Leon Issac signed scholarship agreements.

Cordell, the 6-6 shot-blocker from Euless-Trinity, inked a two-year agreement with Baylor University coach Pam Davis while Issac joined the Blue Raiders of Middle Tennessee State when he signed with head coach Stan Simpson.

Three Howard College players have now found four-year schools since national signing began Wednesday. Hawk Reggie Childress teamed with Texas A&I University Wednesday afternoon.

Cordell-Baylor
"Her biggest asset is her defense," coach Davis said. The four-year Baylor head coach wasn't kidding.

The 6-6 sophomore blocked 11 shots in three of her first four games this past season and went on to lead the Western Junior College Athletic Conference in the category again. She made major improvements in her scoring and rebounding this past season, upping her point production to 14 a game and added eight rebounds a contest.

She was named first team all-WJCAC and gained a spot on the all-Region V team.

Baylor had its eyes on Cordell out of high school but thought she needed more playing time than she would get as a freshman at BU. She visited Howard and found a two-year home. "We have been fortunate that athletes from Howard College have come to us well-coached," Davis said. Cordell joins Hawk Queen all-American Kelly Lyons at Baylor; former player Jo Ann LeFridge went to Baylor in 1980 and gained a starting position.

Davis operates a single-post offense in which she hopes to place Cordell. "She'll have to adjust to a different style of transition game and the level of competition will be different," Davis said, "but I'm sure working against Nell Haskins helped her."

The Baylor coach added Cordell underwent "tremendous improvement" in her two years at Howard. She set the conference record for most shots blocked in a game (13) and a season (151) her freshman year but concentrated more on scoring, rebounding and overall defense this past season.

"I like it there," said Cordell, an advertising arts major. "They have a real good art program. I made sure that everyone I looked at had that. But I didn't visit anywhere else. And it's close to home."

"Susan will be good for Baylor," her new coach said. "We try to give the athlete as much as they give us."

Issac-Middle Tennessee

Middle Tennessee has also known about Leon Issac since his high school days. Recruiter Coleman Crawford coached in Mississippi while Issac was attending high school in Clarksdale where he scored 30 points a game to lead the state.

"We've been very impressed with his quickness and his defense," Simpson said. His Blue Raiders won the Ohio Valley Conference in 1982 and knocked off Kentucky in the first round of the NCAA playoffs that year.

"He's a very unselfish team player. We needed a guard who could put the heat on the opposing player...we were a little slack there this year," Simpson said.

Middle Tennessee is coming off its first losing season in 12 years with Simpson on the staff. "We're rebuilding," the four-year head coach acknowledged. MTSU was 22-8 in 1982 but lost seven of its top eight players to graduation and two potential starters to begin the 1983 campaign.

"I like their program, they have a real nice campus," said Issac who scored 15.3 points a game for the Hawks this past year. He was a first team all-WJCAC choice.

Middle Tennessee is located in Murfreesboro which is near Nashville.

Saldi wants out of Dallas

DALLAS (A) — Tight end Jay Saldi says he'll never play for the Dallas Cowboys again.

Saldi, who played out his option with the National Football League club in 1982, had pleaded with the Cowboys to trade him for almost a year. He had until today to sign an offer sheet with another club, but didn't. Now, Dallas has sole NFL negotiating rights.

The seven-year veteran said if he's not traded, he'll consider signing with the United States Football League.

"My locker has been cleaned out for some time. I've got a job in the business world with a future and I'll work for six months rather than play for the Cowboys again," Saldi said. "Then I'll look into the USFL. I was close to signing with them this year, but things were not right."

Saldi missed most of last season with ankle and knee injuries and wound up playing behind Doug Cosbie and Billy Joe DuFree.

Denver has expressed the most interest in obtaining Saldi. The Dallas Morning News reported. But Saldi said the Cowboys are holding up a possible deal by demanding a third-round draft choice.

Denver would be willing to give up a No. 5 choice, Saldi said.

Niland charged with cocaine possession

DALLAS (AP) — Former Dallas Cowboys lineman John Niland was charged with two felony counts of possession of cocaine after police laboratory tests determined the white powder he had in two vials when arrested was cocaine, authorities said.

Police vice division Lt. David Davis said Niland was charged Wednesday when the lab reports were complete on powder found in Niland's possession on March 3 and April 6.

Municipal Court Judge Mike O'Neal set bonds totaling $10,000. If bond is not posted, Niland faces arrest, said Jim Ewell, a spokesman for the Dallas County sheriff's department.

Ranger's Rader red-hot after rally rained out

CLEVELAND (AP) — The mood of Texas Rangers' Manager Doug Rader was darker than the storm clouds above Cleveland after his team's 4-1 lead over the Indians was washed out.

"We could have played at least a half hour — at least — after the time they stopped play," Rader said.

Rich Garcia, the umpiring crew chief, had ordered a tarp onto the field when a drizzle began shortly after 3 p.m. Thursday — just moments after Jim Sundberg had clouted a two-run homer to put Texas up 4-1.

Garcia said weather forecasters were predicting heavy rains for 30 to 40 minutes, followed by clearing.

"My intention was to save the field, to stop the game and try to play it after the rain stopped," Garcia said.

He said the field had absorbed substantial amounts of rain this week and he was afraid the grounds crew would be unable to get the tarp down quickly enough once the expected downpour began.

"Then, it might have rained 30 minutes and stopped, and we wouldn't have been able to get the game in," Garcia said.

He said the tarp was on the field only 10 or 15 minutes before the heavy rains began, anyway. That would not have been enough to complete the fourth and fifth innings, making it a regulation game, Garcia said.

"If you've ever seen two innings played in the American League in 10 minutes, I'd like to know about it," he said.

Rader, however, said the game should have continued until the heavy rains arrived.

"I didn't believe it," he said. "I told the crew chief the same thing. He said he knew it was going to rain."

"No kidding! It's going to snow sometime this winter, too, so you better cover the field now."

Rader said he telephoned Rangers' General Manager Joe Klein to look into the matter, but he did not know if any official protest was possible.

The game was finally postponed after an hour and 56-minute delay, during which the field was thoroughly soaked. Forecasters told Garcia a second storm front had unexpectedly followed the first rains into town.

The game is to be made up Sunday, Aug. 7, as part of a doubleheader.

The Rangers went ahead on Mike Richardt's solo homer in the first, Billy Sample's RBI single in the second and Sundberg's fourth-inning blast.

HOT UNDER THE COLLAR — Texas Rangers manager Doug Rader bounces a baseball against the dugout wall while the rains fall Thursday afternoon at Cleveland Stadium. The game was finally called, keeping Rader riled because it was not completed in five innings.

Winfield puts Yankees back on track

By The Associated Press

Dave Winfield confined his aggressiveness to home plate and the basepaths and got the New York Yankees back on the right track.

Winfield, thrown out of Wednesday night's loss to Detroit when he jumped on pitcher Dave Rozema in the fifth inning after a pitch sailed over his head, jumped on a Jack Morris pitch in the fifth inning Thursday night. He ripped it for a tie-breaking single that led to a three-run burst and a 6-3 victory over the Tigers.

It was Thursday night. Dave Righetti, who has two of the Yankees' three victories and none of the losses, scattered three runs and seven hits and fanned seven batters before George Frazier took over with two outs in the seventh and picked up the save.

"It's early, but it's good to get a game like that," said Righetti. "We needed the win."

With the score tied 2-2 in the fifth, Ken Griffey doubled and scored on Winfield's hit. Winfield sprang from first to third when left fielder Larry Herndon threw home and the throw was wild. He came home on Steve Kemp's grounder and the Yanks got another run on a walk to Don Baylor. Roy Smalley's single and a grounder by Gray Nettles. Smalley homered in the seventh.

American League

White Sox 12, Orioles 11

The temperature was near freezing, the wind was howling, rain and snow spilled down on Chicago's Comiskey Park.

"Let's face it," said Baltimore Manager Joe Altobelli, "we're talking about a game that's supposed to be played in the summertime."

Rookie Ron Kittle, who had a three-run homer in Chicago's six-run fifth inning, hit a two-run single in the three-run eighth that finally subdued Baltimore. Kittle also had a first-inning sacrifice fly in the game, which took almost four hours to complete.

Brewers 5, Blue Jays 4

Jim Gantner's tie-breaking two-out homer in the ninth inning gave Milwaukee its victory over the Blue Jays. The Brewers pulled into the 4-4 tie with two runs in the eighth on Robin Yount's single, Cecil Cooper's triple and Ted Simmons's single.

A's 5, Mariners 3

Wayne Gross' two-run homer and RBI single carried Oakland to its fifth victory in the past six games.

Gross' first-inning homer came after Bill Almon, who had singled, was safe with a stolen base when shortstop Todd Cruz dropped the throw. His infield single drove in the first of three runs in the third inning. Chris Codiroli was the winner with relief from Dave Beard, who gave up Ken Phelps' homer.

Jones snaps slump in Padres' victory

By The Associated Press

The numbers tell the story for Steve Garvey, but not for Ruppert Jones.

Garvey, playing in his 1,116th consecutive game, one shy of the National League record, doubled home the Padres' winning run in the fifth inning as San Diego toppled the San Francisco Giants 6-4 Thursday.

Jones' consecutive-game streak doesn't come close. But the Padres' All-Star center fielder, who was batting an anemic .156 entering the game, slammed a three-run homer in the victory.

"I really feel good, better than everything indicates," said Jones, who hit .324 in April last year. "I'm not worried about the slow start. I've been hitting the ball well. I'm just not finding the hole."

Jones' smash off rookie right-hander Andy McGaffigan snapped a 2-2 tie in the fourth inning.

"The ballpark is so big, I didn't know it would go that far," he said of his first homer of the year.

National League

McGaffigan, making his first major league start, also was touched for a two-run homer by Terry Kennedy, a two-run shot in the first inning.

"He looked all right," Giants Manager Frank Robinson said of McGaffigan, who gave up seven hits and six runs in 41-3 innings. "If it hadn't been for two big hits, he would still be in the game."

Former Giant John Montefusco, 1-0, went six innings and was touched for six hits, all singles.

Expos 4, Cubs 3

Tim Raines tripled home two runs and Scott Sanderson tossed seven-hit ball over seven innings as Montreal stopped Chicago.

Andre Dawson also homered for the Expos, his first of the season, a solo blast into the left field seats in the fifth.

Pitcher Dan Schatzeder, who came on for winner Scott Sanderson, 2-0, to start the eighth, was struck on the right arm by Jerry Morales, the first batter he faced.

"It hit my index finger first and tore the nail back a bit," Schatzeder said. "Then it went up and struck my arm. It left my finger numb. We'll just have to see how it feels tomorrow."

Cardinals 7, Mets 1

St. Louis chased Mike Torrez with a seven-run first inning highlighted by David Green's two-run triple as the Cardinals won their fourth in a row and the Mets dropped their fourth straight. Torrez lasted only two-thirds of an inning and gave up six hits.

Bob Forsch pitched a four-hitter for the Cards, losing his shutout on Hubie Brooks' fifth-inning homer. Forsch also had an RBI double in the big first inning, as did Darrell Porter.

Umps file case with NLRB, may call one-day protest

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Bill Emslie, an unemployed minor league umpire, is the subject of an unfair labor practices charge filed against the National and American leagues by the Major League Umpires Association.

Richie Phillips, counsel for the union, filed papers with the National Labor Relations Board Thursday, accusing the leagues of discriminating against Emslie in the aftermath of the umpires' strike in 1979.

In another development, the New York Times reported that National League umpires are prepared to stage a one-day walkout next week to press the union's demand that Commissioner Bowie Kuhn suspend New York Yankee owner George Steinbrenner.

The umpires claim their integrity was impugned by a remark attributed to Steinbrenner that National League umpires in exhibition games between American and National League teams give the benefit of the doubt to the National League. The Times quoted a source as saying that instead of appearing at games one day next week, they might all show up at Kuhn's office.

Emslie is credited by the union with spearheading the refusal of 11 top minor league umpires to move into the majors during the strike. Ten of those umpires have subsequently been promoted but Emslie remained behind.

In 1981, he was dismissed by the International League but then was reinstated as part of the collective bargaining agreement reached between the union and the two leagues last April. At the end of the 1982 season, he was dismissed again.

Harold Cooper, president of the International League, could not be reached for comment.

Trevino, Mudd lead Heritage

HILTON HEAD ISLAND, S.C. (AP) - It's coming to an end, Lee Trevino, said, those two years of frustration that made him a non-winning also-ran and even prompted thought of quitting competitive golf.

"It never crossed my mind that I might not win again," the 43-year-old Trevino said Thursday after he had played the back nine in a course record-matching 30 on the way to a 66 and a share of the first round lead in the $350,000 Sea Pines Heritage Classic.

"I'll win again this year. No question in my mind about it," Trevino said, then flashed that famous grin.

"And it might be a biggie. Yeah, it might be one of the biggies. I just might jump up and sting somebody."

He stung the 6,650-yard Harbour Town Golf Links — which he called his favorite course in the world — with six 3's on the back nine as he barged out of the pack late on a cloudy day and tied South African Mark McNulty and young Jodie Mudd for the top spot.

A single stroke off the lead at 67 were Donnie Hammond, Bob Eastwood, Larry Mize and Fuzzy Zoeller, the former Masters champion who twice holed from off the green.

Ben Crenshaw, who did not have a bogey in his round, topped the big group at 68. Also at that figure in the scoring that was exceptionally low for this course, were Steve Hart, Morris Hatalasky, Dan Forsman, Mac O'Grady, Jim Nelford and Scott Simpson.

Tom Watson, the defending champion and current holder of the U.S. and British Opens, struggled to an erratic 74 and was in danger of not qualifying for the final two rounds Saturday and Sunday.

"I had four 6's," Watson said. "That's good in poker, not so good in golf." His round included an eagle-3, four birdies, three double bogeys and three bogeys.

Trevino's string of 14 consecutive seasons in which he had won at least once, a streak that started with his 1968 U.S. Open triumph, ended last year as he struggled through the worst season of his career.

He played in near-constant pain and eventually, late in the summer, had surgery on his back.

"I told you at San Antonio that if the back didn't get better I might quit," Trevino said.

"Well, the back is 100 percent now. I can play again. And I'm ahead of schedule. Off this round, I'm ahead of where I figured to be.

"I have to play a lot to play good. I have to play and practice a lot. That's why I never play good in the spring. It's too cold. And there isn't enough daylight for me to practice enough."

"This year, I've had a lot of television. And that's cut it down even more.

"But after the next couple of weeks, the TV schedule gets lighter. I start my real playing schedule at Houston (May 5-8)."

And would another victory be important to him?

"In the sense that it would grind me up inside, no," he said. "If I never won another one, I've already had more than my share, more than I ever expected to win."

"But it's important to me, yes. Winning again is very important to me.

"And I'll win again this year. No question about it."

Twins' domed roof collapses under snow

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — The Hubert H. Humphrey Metrodome deflated after a landslide of snow broke a lightning rod and tore a hole in the bubble roof.

No injuries were reported in the incident late Thursday night, which followed by hours postponement of a scheduled American League baseball game between the Minnesota Twins and the California Angels.

It was the third time since the Metrodome officially was inflated in November 1981 that snow has caused the roof to go down. This time it was caused by a heavy, wet snow which struck the Twin Cities Thursday and dropped an April record of 13.6 inches of snow.

An official in Metrodome operations, who didn't want to be identified, said the lightning rod caused the rip on the west side about 11:15 p.m. but he couldn't say how big the hole was. Officials decided to deflate the dome completely to prevent the hole from growing larger from the pressure, he said.

Jerry Bell, executive director of the Metropolitan Sports Facilities Commission, was to issue a statement today.

After the deflation, vent holes in the roof were opened and water was draining onto the artificial surface. There appeared to be no other damage to the stadium. Lights and speakers hung low but appeared stable.

Tom Mee, public relations director of the Twins, said a decision would be made later this morning on postponement of tonight's game with the Angels. However, he said it was doubtful that the 7:35 p.m. game would be played.

"If it's a small hole, they might be able to fix it. If it's a large hole, we're in trouble," Mee said.

Thursday's game was rescheduled for Aug. 1. Also, the Angels were unable to get to Minneapolis because wind and snow forced their flight to be diverted to Chicago.

Your Daily HOROSCOPE

from the CARROLL RIGHTER INSTITUTE

FORECAST FOR SATURDAY, APR. 16, 1983

GENERAL TENDENCIES: A day when you are able to find out more readily just where you are headed. It's advisable that you handle any questionable matters in the right manner. Study to gain knowledge.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Take time to make plans for the future. Be more sociable with persons of character and influence. Show that you have poise.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Engage in activities today that appeal to you the most. Put prejudices aside for best results. Show devotion to loved one.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Getting together with good friends today is worthwhile. Show that you are a wise and considerate person.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Make sure you carry through with agreements you've made with others. You can easily handle a civic affair now.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Ideal day to start building on a new foundation that could increase your income. Be more willing to accept change.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Study the promises you have made and be sure to carry through conscientiously. Come to a fine accord with loved one.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) A good time to improve your surroundings. Don't permit an opponent to take unfair advantage of you. Be happy.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Take care of matters you were unable to do earlier in the week. A good time to catch up on your reading. Be more optimistic.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) A day to engage in recreations you really enjoy. Showing more affection for loved one is wise at this time.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) If the situation is tense at home, don't make matters worse by using the wrong words. Count your blessings.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Handle communications in a most intelligent way and remain cool at all times today. Obtain important data you need.

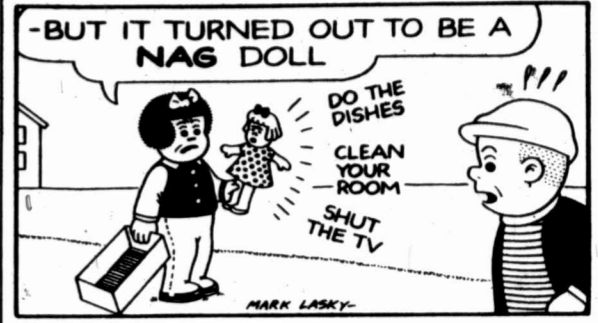

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Study new ways of advancing in your line of endeavor. Look to a successful person for new ideas. Relax at home tonight.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he or she will be full of ideas, but should be taught to differentiate between the good and the bad. Your progeny requires a good academic training in order to become successful. Religion is a must in this chart.

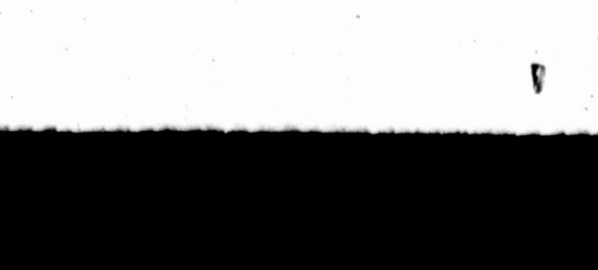

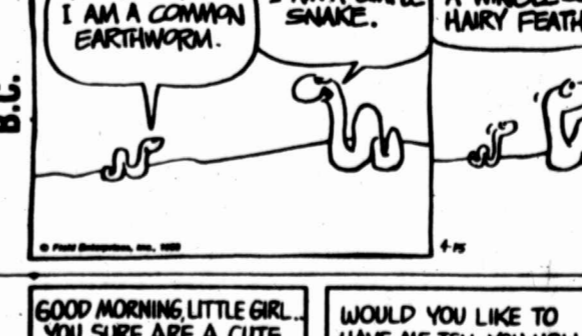

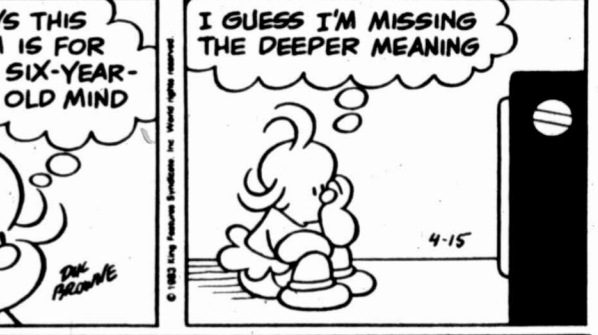

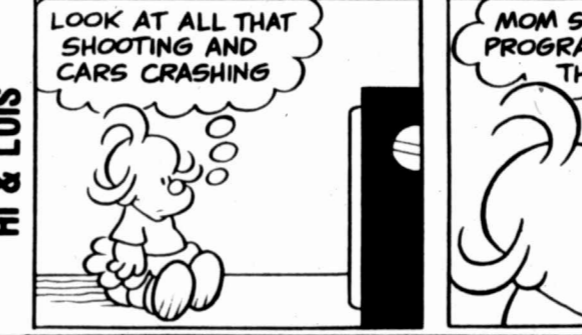

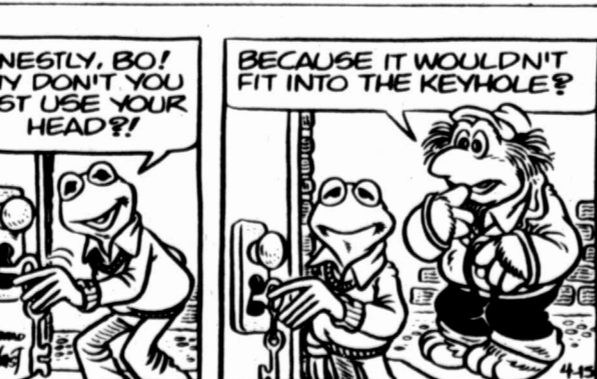

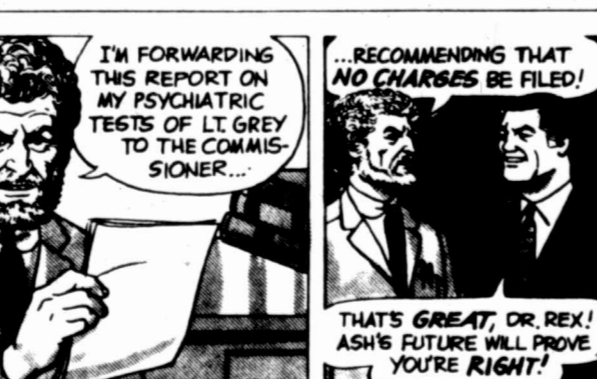

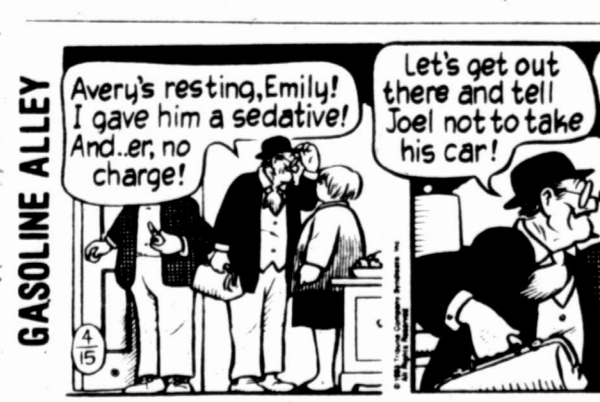

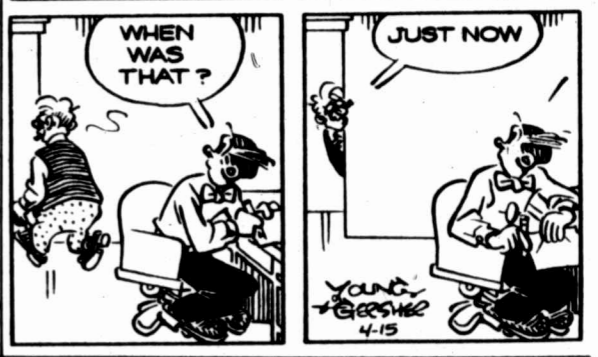

"The Stars impel, they do not compel." What you make of your life is largely up to you!

Coliseum gains another victory

LOS ANGELES (AP) — As the Raiders and Los Angeles Coliseum Commission celebrated a $49.5 million damage judgment against the National Football League, a judge denied a separate attempt to halt the deal that brought the team from Oakland.

The Raiders and Coliseum got their second victory in two days when two Los Angeles area taxpayers sued Thursday to invalidate the pact that brought the Raiders from Oakland, but failed to get an immediate injunction.

Attorney Dana Cole and John Shur of Marina del Rey, claimed in their suit that the $6.7 million the Raiders are to get in rent credits and other payments in their first four years of tenancy is an illegal gift of public funds.

They asked Superior Court Judge John L. Cole to issue a preliminary injunction prohibiting any further payments and occupancy by the Raiders in the Coliseum until the issue can be tried.

But Cole said that nothing warranted an immediate injunction, although he declined to dismiss the suit.

"The court cannot, either now or at trial herein, determine whether it is wise or proper for the Coliseum Commission to contract with the Raiders. That is not a matter for judicial determination," Cole said.

"It is highly unlikely that plaintiffs will prevail in this action. There is no reasonable probability of injury to support the issuance of an injunction."

Attorneys for the Coliseum and the Raiders had asked Cole to throw out the suit on the ground that the commission had acted properly and legally.

Last Dec. 9, William Robertson, leader of the Coliseum Commission negotiating team that reached agreement with the Raiders last July, said that the $6.7 million in payments to the Raiders was not really the loan it was said to be and would never be fully repaid. He explained that it was called a loan "only for tax purposes" for Raiders' managing general partner Al Davis.

While Thursday's court action was taking place, the NFL said in a statement that it would appeal Wednesday's jury award in the antitrust suit as well as the initial verdict that the league had violated federal law in holding up the Raiders' move.

"In attempting to require the Raiders to remain in Oakland, the member clubs were adhering to a long-standing NFL policy favoring franchise stability," said a statement from the NFL.

"The league will appeal the jury's verdict on damages, as it has already appealed the earlier jury trial decision."

OFF TO A FAST START — Big Spring's Tony Randle takes the baton on the second leg of the sprint relay Thursday afternoon at Blankenship Field. The Steers ran a dual meet against Midland High and won this event with a 45.07.

Petite Benoit Boston favorite

BOSTON (AP) — Joan Benoit will be one of the smallest runners in Monday's Boston Marathon, but also one of the big favorites among the women.

The 5-foot-1 1/2, 101-pound Benoit, the 1979 Boston Marathon winner and the American record holder with a clocking of 2 hours, 26 minutes, 11 seconds in the Nike-OTC Marathon at Eugene, Ore. Sept. 12, 1982, has been rated the woman to beat, despite the presence of New Zealand's Allison Roe, the fastest woman marathoner in history (2:25:28 at New York in 1981) and the 1981 Boston winner (with a course record of 2:26:45).

"I wouldn't agree with those who have made me the favorite," said the 25-year-old Benoit, a native of Portland, Maine, now living in Watertown, Mass. Allison Roe is the world record holder and she wouldn't be running Boston if she didn't think she could win."

Roe, who was sidelined most of 1982 with injuries to an Achilles' tendon and a knee, hasn't run a marathon in more than a year — since winning the Korea Marathon at Seoul in a slow 2:43:11 on March 28, 1982. She also thinks Benoit deserves to be the favorite Monday.

"Joan is definitely the woman to beat," said Roe. "She's run some fantastic times recently. She'll be the one I'll be watching for."

Benoit also has been a victim of Achilles' problems. She underwent double Achilles' surgery Dec. 28, 1981, and didn't race again until May 9, 1982.

But she came back strong, winning a 25-kilometer (15 1/2-mile) race in Grand Rapids, Mich. She also had several other notable performances last year, including the American record in the marathon, American records for 10,000 meters (32:30.8), 10 miles (53:18) and the half-marathon (1:09:02) and a victory in the Falmouth (Mass.) Road Race (in 36:34, a course record).

This year, Benoit has won indoor races at a mile, 3,000 meters and 5,000 meters, and set an American record (31:43) for 10 kilometers at New Orleans March 27.

San Antonio may get USFL franchise

SAN ANTONIO, Texas (AP) — San Antonio will be awarded a United States Football League expansion franchise if the proper documentation is completed and a school board votes to allow use of a stadium, league officials say.

A San Antonio group of investors, headed by South Texas millionaire rancher Clinton Manges, also must pay a $6 million franchise fee and expand the stadium to seat 30,000 people by next season.

"We are prepared to go forward with these people, but the deal is not complete yet," said USFL general counsel Steve Erhart.

"Until documentation is completed, San Antonio does not have a franchise," USFL Commissioner Chet Simmons said. "Nothing is official."

Investors Roger Gill and Morris Atlas announced the pending franchise Thursday at a City Council meeting.

"They (league officials) would have preferred to wait until all the details had been worked out, but we felt that we needed to be candid and let the community know where we were," said Atlas, a McAllen attorney.

The San Antonio franchise would begin play in February and base its home games in Alamo Stadium, which is owned and operated by the San Antonio Independent School District.

The franchise would operate under name "South Texas Sports Inc."

San Antonio has not had a professional football franchise since the Wings of the World Football League folded in 1975.

Arnie to construct 2 Florida courses

WINDERMERE, Fla. (AP) — Golfing great Arnold Palmer says he will build two golf courses surrounded by an exclusive country club community on the site of a 1,600-acre grove near Disney World.

Palmer, a principal owner of Bay Hill Club near this wealthy Orlando suburb, will be backed in the venture by the Concord Corp. of San Antonio, Texas.

"This will be a first-class, exclusive, family type country club residential community," said Palmer.

"Barring anything unforeseen, we should have the first 18-hole course open and playing within two years."

Palmer, who lives in the Orlando area part of the year, would not disclose financial terms. But other sources said the property owned by Chase Groves is valued at $27 million. It is located about a mile northwest of Bay Hill and several miles east of Disney's Magic Kingdom.

Proper zoning and environmental clearances should take about a year, Palmer said. "As soon as we get them, we'll break ground immediately."

The courses will be designed by a company owned by Palmer.

"The pleasing aspect of the land is the transition," said Ed Seay, the company's principal golf course architect. "The courses will progress through groves, open land and waters areas. I know that Arnold is very excited about the prospects of the type of course we can build here."

The Palmer-Concord offer was reportedly one of several received by the property owner, Chase Groves. Several real estate brokers have described it as one of the choicest development tracts remaining in Central Florida.

The land was originally bought from the state of Florida in 1894 by citrus pioneers Joshua C. Chase and Sydney O. Chase.

As part of a federal land grant to the state in 1845, it had previously been used as collateral to secure payment on paper script issued by the state to its returning Confederate soldiers.

Palmer's attorney, William Doster, said in a prepared document: "Preliminary indications are that the master plan for the property will call for low-density, oversized single-family, lakefront, golf course and interior homesites."

It said Palmer would be "personally and integrally involved in the planning, execution and operation of the entire project to ensure that it will reflect the quality which has historically been associated with his name."

Windermere officials have been concerned about development of the area and had raised the possibility of annexing properties surrounding the town to preserve their rural character.

Orange County Commissioner Vera Carter of Windermere said the Palmer proposal was "probably the best project that we could have gotten for this area."

Shelly West

Singer brings her baby along

TRAVELING TOT — Country music singer Shelly West has taken daughter Tess with her to concert appearances across the country. Tess, born last April, is the granddaughter of singer Dottie West.

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — When country singer Shelly West goes on the road, her bus is loaded with teddy bears, dolls and diapers as well as guitars, sound equipment and lights.

Her daughter, Tess Marie Frizzell, who was born last April 27, has spent more time on her mother's special bus than in a baby carriage or stroller. And her infancy has been much more than bibs, burps and baby food.

The brown-eyed, sandy-haired tot has appeared on television, has traveled to every part of the United States except the Pacific Northwest, has been to Canada and even has had a stint on stage.

Miss West, daughter of singer Dottie West, decided after Tess was born that she would take her baby on the road with her like Barbara Mandrell and other entertainers have done.

"She's got her own luggage — a little case with a hang-down bag," Miss West said.

The daughter of Miss West and her husband, Allen Frizzell, won't remember it, but she was on national television when she was one day old, in a touching surprise that viewers still fondly recall.

Tess was born in Nashville when Dottie West was in Los Angeles to be a host of the Academy of Country Music awards show. A film was made of the baby and flown to California so it could be shown during the live show, where the proud and tearful grandmother saw her first grandchild for the first time.

"People mentioned that to me for six months," Shelly West recalled.

The 24-year-old Miss West, whose song, "Jose Cuervo," is in the top 10 of the country music charts, often will show off her young one during concerts.

"She's beginning to steal the show," she says.

Tess hit the road with her doctor's approval and with her mother's friend, Nancy Gaydos, helping to care for her. She sleeps well on the bus — it's like a pacifier — and continues to be a healthy, happy baby.

"She's loved and passed around by the (11) guys on the bus," Miss West says.

Miss West and Frizzell, Allen Frizzell's brother, became a popular duet two years ago with their successful single, "You're the Reason God Made Oklahoma."

Their other hits include "A Texas State of Mind," "Husbands and Wives," "Another Honky Tonk Night on Broadway," "I Just Came Here to Dance" and "Pleasure Surrender."

They have released three albums, "Carrying on the Family Names," "The David Frizzell and Shelly West Album" and their current, "Our Best to You."

The Academy of Country Music and the Country Music Association have voted them top duo.

In January, they decided to pursue solo careers as well as continue as partners. Miss West's debut album as a solo artist is "West by West."

The Frizzells and the Wests are two of the most musical families in the country business. Allen Frizzell is a guitarist and singer and leads Miss West's band. He and David Frizzell are brothers of the late country music star, Lefty Frizzell. Miss West's father, Bill, is a steel guitar player.

Miss West says her mother is a typical doting grandmother.

"I'll call her and she'll say, 'Put my baby on!'"
