AUSTIN — Texas Attorney General Jim Mattox ruled Tuesday that the Southwest Collegiate Institute for the Deaf in Big Spring is not like other public junior colleges and can use money for construction and maintenance items.

The opinion was in response to a request logged by House Appropriations Committee Chairman Bill Presnal, D-Bryan. Presnal asked for the opinion to determine whether state funds for SWCID, like other junior colleges in Texas, are restricted only to Mattox's opinion said, in part, that the school is "eligible to receive legislative appropriations for any purpose.'

"That's fantastic," Howard County Junior College District President Charles Hays said this morning. "That's what we always knew it was supposed Hays said this did not affect SWCID's request for $3.9 million in funding to remain open.

"We reached that amount hoping that the attorney general would reach this decision. We didn't know how else they could interpret this.

"The opinion isn't going to help us get more money," Hayes said. "It does, however, make it possible for us to expend whatever money we get for total operating costs. If we didn't get the opinion, then it wouldn't have made any difference how much money we got because we couldn't have spent it the way we needed."

Rep. Larry Don Shaw of Big Spring said today in Austin that he was pleased with the ruling, but did not want to make a specific comment until he had studied Mattox's opinion.

"It's a very positive step," he said. "It gives us some flexibility and breathing room.

He and Sen. John Montford have introduced bills that would make SWCID a state school. Mattox's opinion may make those bills unnecessary, Shaw

"I'd hate to push our luck in this session," he said. "But this is a very favorable thing for our success." See SWCID, page 2A

What do six fashionably dressed, large built, 9-to-5 type women in a fashion show have in common? They are all men.

Gary Steffen, Bill Nehls, Edwin Vela, Tony Williams, Harry Thompson, all J.C. Penney employees, and Doug Pierce, an employee's friend, strutted their stuff to contemporary music wearing women's dresses, lingerie, maternity wear and sportswear at a "Tootsie"

The show, held during Monday morning's store meeting, kicked off Penney's 1983 Fashion Expo campaign. Joyce Elliot, merchandiser of omen's tashions, coordinated the event

Every spring, the company has a large fashion campaign for three weeks. To kick off the campaign, tradition has all male employees at each store volunteer to the fashion department for a show and have the ladies make them up, Don Fisher said. "Its something everybody gets a big kick out of.

"It was something different," Tony said remembering his embarrassment. "I understand the pain that women go through when getting dressed or go on a date now. I feel sorry for them."

Tony modeled a nylon wrap-around robe and frantically tried to keep the robe shut. "If I didn't, everything would come out," he said. 'It was real flimsy. The stuff felt good against my skin. One guy said, 'I'm used to taking them off, but not putting them on.

2 men die in area jails

A Big Spring man was discovered dead in the police department's detoxification unit this morning, and a Sweetwater man apparently hanged himself Sunday in a similar facility at the Mitchell County jail.

Raul Gonzalez, 50, was found at 5:15 a.m. by Sgt. Troy Hogue during routine check of the Big Spring city jail's "drunk tank," said Police Chief Rick Turner.

Gonzalez, who has no permanent address, was arrested last night at 9:15 p.m. for suspicion of public intoxication, the chief said. Turner made the announcement at a press conference at 8:30 a.m. at the police station. An autopsy has been ordered to determine the cause of death, and

Gonzalez' body was transferred to Malone-Hogan Hospital, Turner Turner said Gonzalez had been placed in the tank about 9:30 p.m. along with three other prisoners. Hogue checked the prisoners at regular intervals — 11:35 p.m., 1:25 a.m. and 3:55 a.m. — before making the discovery, the chief said.

"The officer thought he was asleep," Turner said. The unemployed Gonzalez had been arrested previously on public intoxication charges, Turner said. The chief said he suspected Gonzalez may have choked on his own vomit. A 31-year-old Sweetwater man was found hanged in the detoxification cell of the Mitchell County Jail

Boxing team hunting lease

By BOB CARPENTER Staff Writer

County Commissioner Louis Brown went before the Big Spring school board last night and asked trustees to lease the old Lakeview YMCA building to the Howard County Boxing Team for $1 a year. Currently, the boxing team uses the building as a training facility with the stipulation that the school district can elect to sell the property

Brown said the the boxing team has painted the facility and installed several pieces of boxing equipment which he said had raised the value of the property

He said, however, that the club was hesitant to make any more improvements for fear the building would be sold.

"We have 30-35 kids in the program and we don't want them to be without a facility," Brown said. "It's unfair if you put it (the building) up for bid. Let the kids utilize the facilities."

Brown's said the club's work on the property plus the social value of the program was reason enough to let the club lease the facility.

The board did not act on Brown's proposal, saving it would take the matter under advisement. Some on the board said leasing the property to the boxing club would be unfair to other organizations that have expressed interest in bidding on the

Brown also requested on behalf of the Big Spring Cardinal semi-pro baseball team that insurance requirements and rental fees be waived for Steer Park so the team could use the facility

Brown said the $500 insurance cost for the team to use the park virtually makes the facility unaffordable for the team

Trustees said they would take the matter under advisement and seek an attorney's opinion on liability problems arising over such an arrangement.

Shaw sponsoring bill for Agent Orange aid

By JAY ROSSER Harte-Hanks Austin Bureau

AUSTIN - State Rep. Larry Don Shaw, D-Big Spring, said Monday that the struggle by Vietnam veterans to win compensation from the federal government because of exposure to the wartime defoliant Agent Orange is perhaps the most significant story of our times.

There are people in this country and throughout the world who continue to play the game" and refuse to acknowledge the severe and dramatic dangers of the controversial defoliant used to deprive North Vietnamese of food and cover, he said during a news conference.

Shaw, repeating a role he played two years ago, is sponsoring legislation designed to aid the veterans plight

His latest legislative effort would establish an advisory committee of veterans, doctors and medical researchers to oversee operations and administration of the Texas Department of Health's Agent Orange program.

The Senate already has endorsed the legislation which has not yet been scheduled for House commit tee consideration

Shaw's 1981 approved legislation directs the health department to set up programs to help veterans file claims for aid and to provide diagnostic screening for possible physical and genetic damages caused by the defoliant.

The Big Spring school board last night elected new officers and swore in new members as it chose Charles Beil president and welcomed Bill Brooks and Dan Wise to the seven-member board.

Dwayne Fraser was elected vice president and Al Valdes was re-elected as secretary

Good news met the trustees as results of the Bauer. Magnet School pre-registration were handed out showing 223 students from schools other than Bauer had

Of this number, 134 have been enrolled with 89 placed on a waiting list, according to Superintendent Lynn

The breakdown of the first 134 students enrolling from other schools is as follows: College Heights, 17; Kentwood, 5; Marcy, 45; Moss, 25; Washington, 37; and private schools, 5.

We should be pleased and grateful that the registration has gone so well," Beil said. In other business the board:

 Approved the resignation of Nedelene Speegle, educational diagnostician, effective March 31.

• Approved an inter-district transfer for a student from Sands ISD to the BSISD because of health and learning disability reasons.

• Amended the budget to include a $4,850 appropria tion for a Radio Shack TRS-80 microcomputer to be used by the district's special education department.

• Voted 3-2 to turn down a suggestion to change the board's meeting day from Thursday to Tuesday

MOD clarifies basis of prize eligibility

The WalkAmerica scheduled for Saturday by the March of Dimes has announced an addendum to the WalkAmerica registration form.

According to previous wording for prize eligibility, persons who collected $100 or more would have been eligible for chances for an all-expense paid trip to Orlando, Fla., provided by Places and Pleasures travel agency in conjunction with American Airlines.

The language of the rule has now been clarified to state the person collecting the greatest amount of money will receive the trip.

Mrs. Bernard Zilberg, executive director of the Caprock Chapter of the MOD, brought an addendum to the WalkAmerica registration form to the Herald

'In order to clarify the words 'a chance to win' we would like to make it clear that only the person who collects the greatest amount over $100 will win the "Great Escape" prize. Your wonderful efforts to help research protect our babies is greatly appreciated.'

Mrs. Zilberg said that maps of the WalkAmerica route will be handed out at registration at 8:30 a.m. Saturday at Big Spring Mall.

She said the Traffic Department had been alerted and a Shaffer ambulance will be at three checkpoints

Participants this week are signing up sponsors who donate funds for each walker's efforts. The money is turned in at the beginning of the walk and is used for research, medical service and professional and public education projects concerning birth defects.

Exemption deadline May 2

Farmers beware. The deadline for filing agricultural-use exemptions with the tax appraisal office is May 2, not May 31 as stated in a Farm Bureau ad in Sunday's Herald.

Producer Larry Shaw said the Bureau doesn't know where the error was made, but farmers need to know the deadline for the exemptions.

The exemption allows a farmer to be taxed on the agricultural productivity of his land rather than the market value of the land, Shaw said. Farmers that haven't signed up in the past have paid as much as five times more tax, Shaw said.

Howard County Chief Appraiser Gene Pereira said the actual deadline is April 30, a Saturday, but he normally extends it to the next working day. Pereira said his office was "far ahead" of last year's turn-out on aguse exemptions.

The ag-use exemptions are formally known as "Open Space Land" exemptions.

Gary thought it would be embarrassing to model women's clothes, then later thought it would be fun. "I had done it in Lubbock once right before the same type of event," he said. "At first I thought it was just going to be store employees watching. Then I found out that the media was going to be there... I never dreamed! I've got my reputation to think about!

Gary sported a yellow "short-all" with a black tube top during the first set. "I wanted something that looked skimpy because I thought it would be fun and prancing around like that in it. I knew it was something they would laugh at and could definitely notice my overlarge chest and all," he said.

"The second outfit I thought I could get a laugh out of was getting a classy, stylish outfit and all the accessories to go with it like pearl earings that matched and a handbag that matched. I wore pantyhose.

One woman said he had beautiful legs. 'Before Bill and I went out there," Gary said, "we agreed we would sit on Mr. Fisher's lap or get on either side of him so it would embarrass him and it did. We decided we were really going to strut and all like high fashion models and dance to the music instead of just

"It was a little awkward," Bill said about putting on women's clothing. "I didn't know you could get this big body into women's clothes, and the trick was getting into the pantyhose. I'm glad I'm not a woman.

"I finally realized you had to unbutton the whole thing (dress) before I could get it on, and once it was on, the trick was stuffing the thing." Using balloons for stuffing, "It was difficult to stay balanced — what you call 'one hung low.

"All (the make-up) I had on was lipstick and I'm glad it comes off easy. I had to get the Kleenex out a couple of times. It's a real trick with a moustache." While Bill was modeling, he kept running into the fixtures, almost knocking a few over. Attending charm school would be of benefit to him before his next modeling assignment. It was reported that Doug came to the store already dressed and wearing his wig. On his way, he had to hide his face as he passed his father on FM 700.

"Gary got the most votes for being best dressed because of his strut," Fisher said. When Fisher was asked why he didn't model, he replied, "Rank has it

Officials investigate 'suicide bomb'

Death toll now 47 in embassy explosion

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — Marine guards raised a single American flag at sunrise today in front of the devastated U.S. Embassy, where officials said an apparent suicide bombing left 19 people dead and 28 others missing and presumed dead.

Embassy spokesman John Reid said the latest casualty count was eight Americans confirmed dead and eight others missing. Ten Lebanese embassy employees were killed, with 20 others believed buried in the huge mounds of rubble, he said, adding that one other person of unknown nationality also was missing.

Police said Monday's explosion wounded 120 people, including 22 Americans, as it ripped open the concrete front of the seven-story embassy.

U.S. Ambassador Robert Dillon, who escaped serious injury in the blast, said it was "very unlikely" any more survivors would be found

Near the shattered building, a U.S. flag fluttered on a flagpole undamaged by the blast.

The embassy Marines put it up at sunrise," said Col. James M. Mead, commander of the U.S. Marine contingent in Lebanon.

Lebanese soldiers raided the Palestinian refugee camp of Sabra and the nearby Tarik Jedida neighborhood today and made an undisclosed number of arrests in connection with the bombing, the privately owned "Voice of Lebanon" radio said without

Details of the attack were still unclear, although it appeared a terrorist drove a explosives-laden vehicle into the embassy compound and may have died in the Police said two witnesses reported separately that they saw a man wearing a black leather jacket drive a black pickup truck into the embassy driveway. The witnesses said the truck then blew up.

Asked about the reports, Dillon said, "We don't know for sure. Two competent witnesses saw a very heavily loaded van force its way in. How it was detonated, I don't know.

It could not be determined if Dillon and the police were referring to the same two witnesses.

A Lebanese army explosives expert said he believed the bomb was made of 330 pounds of hexogene, a highly explosive gas four times more powerful than dynamite. He said there was no evidence of a remote control detonating device.

Mead told reporters today that the unwalled embassy complex facing the busy seaside highway was an easy target for terrorists.

"It was not adequately protected, that's for sure, he said. "The location is not good."

The bomb exploded about 1 p.m. Monday, shattering the main section's seven-story facade, hurling bodies into the Mediterranean and blowing apart the ground floor's visa wing. It was the worst attack on a U.S. facility in Lebanon.

About 400 U.S. Marines and Navy personnel, part of the multinational peace force that has been policing Beirut since the massacre last fall at two Palestinian refugee camps, provided security and helped hunt through the rubble.

Warrant officer Bill Henderson, 34, of Artesia, N.M. said many of the troops were guarding a temporary embassy office set up at Dillon's residence in the hillside suburb of Yarze, five miles east of Beirut.

Dillon, who suffered minor cuts in the explosion, told reporters he had been trapped in his office by the embassy's falling roof but was rescued by his assistant and suffered only minor cuts.

"I was standing up with a telephone in one hand and a T-shirt in the other preparing to go out and jog when all of a sudden my office collapsed," Dillon said.

Dear Editor, In Matthew, Chapter Seven, verses one and two, we read in part, "judge not, that ye be not judged. For with what judgment ye judge, ye shall be judged ...

How true this applies to some of us. Reference the letters and ads that have appeared in the Herald concerning our city manager, Don

If only there was some way these people would have used the time and effort spent writing those letters to help the sick, handicapped, Scouts, Chamber of Commerce, Crimestoppers or their church, they would have accomplished something worthwhile for our city, county, state and country. This would help to make our world a better place to live

It is heartbreaking that so many of us try to see what we can say derogatory about a person instead of praising their good points and outstanding accomplishments. We never pat them on the back for a job

Don Davis is one of the finest young gentlemen Big Spring has ever had as city manager. Don is ready to lend a hand where possible and has an open mind to hear a person out. Needless to say, many of us within our city say our minds are made up so don't bother us with the facts. I believe if Don Davis were not doing a proper job as city manager, our Honorable Mayor Clyde Angel and the City Commissioners would handle the situation.

When you stop and think of all the flack Don Davis is taking from some of the people of our city, it makes one do two things. First, admire him for standing up and taking it on the chin. Second, still being open-minded, conscientious and working for our city. I urge everyone to join together, stand behind our city manager and watch our city prosper.

I support Don Davis. Don, if there is any way I can help you or our city, be assured you may count on me. I will be waiting, willing and happy to help. Thank you Don, for the fantastic job you have done in the past, are presently doing and will do in the future for our city. Many of us are counting on you for

Mothers worried about children

Dear Editor,

Could you please tell me how it is possible for four children to be able to beat up kids, steal, tear down fences, cuss a grown-up with language so profane most adults don't use it, and be allowed to get away with it?

My five-year-old daughter has been threatened with a beating by these children, ranging in ages from 11 to 5, if she is found without me. I walk my daughter from school every day to make sure she's safe! I know several kids who have been hurt because of these children. One boy suffered a severe concussion from being hit with a lunch box.

Other children have been hit, slapped, kicked and beaten ever since the first day of school. My friend had to take her daughter to school because these children would not allow her to catch the bus. After talking to the mother of these children it became worse. More stealing, more beatings.

I say enough! Besides, how is it possible for these children to walk from Pinkie's on 3rd Street to Boydstun on 6th and Benton to catch a bus and go to Moss School? Why do our children have to put up with being hurt?

Sincerely. MARY C. PRICE 511 Owens TERRI CATE

As an ex-athlete of B.S.H.S., I would like to congratulate the Bleacher Burns, for the excellent job they have done in bringing back the pride and fan support not only to B.S.H.S. but to the community of Big Spring

When I attended B.S.H.S., we did have fans in attendance at our athletic games. We had very good teams in all sports, but we didn't have the support from groups like the Bleacher Bums, etc., etc.

I at times do not agree with some of the profane cheers that are used, but all in all, I'd like for the Bleacher Bums to continue to go to every athletic game and do their great job in promoting school support.

I think that Dr. Cranford, Mr. Battle and Mr. Anderson were entitled to give their opinions towards the Bleacher Bums. But let's not forget the great job they have done in helping bring back school pride, dignity and respect.

I have refereed some of the boys' and girls' basketball games at B.S.H.S. and up until this year the year the Bleacher Bums united I saw fan apathy descend upon

Now, after the Bleacher Bums formed, I have not only seen more student support towards all sports, but I have seen more fan support arise form the citizens of Big Spring, If they cannot be congratulated for being part contributors toward the great interest fans have shown for B.S.H.S. athletics, then I don't know who else should be congratulated.

I also think that Mr. Ron Logback (A.D.) has done an excellent job in bringing together a great group of coaches, who have brought together a great group of athletes. As the saying goes: "Great Coaches Bring Great Athletes."

In all I'd like to say that they are doing a great job. But those few cheers which contain unnecessary words should be omitted in school and community respect.

The Bleacher Bums are a great virtuous influence on all B.S.H.S. sports, so let's keep them. Let's let every team in 4-5A know that it's no longer a disgrace or downgrade to compete with B.S.H.S. because B.S.H.S. has earned back all respect and pride. Next time another 4-5A team or any school steps foot on our football gridiron, basketball court, baseball or track fields or wherever it may be, let's let them know that they're no longer just dealing with athletes or the proud fan, but also with THE Bleacher Bums of Big Spring High.

Thank you BILLY PINEDA ("Ex Proud Steer") P.O. Box 1621

P.S. See you at the ball games, "Bleacher Bums."

Women should drop sour grapes

Dear Editor,

A few days ago there was a young female athlete on the sports news

She stated that being a woman in sports was more of a handicap than being a member of a minority group.

This does not have to be so today. Women have the right to vote, there are more women than men in the country, so get out there women and minority groups and exercise this

We are blessed in the USA by having this right. Many countries do not even let certain classes of men vote.

Also many churches and service organizations have extended invitations to women and minority groups to take more active roles in these

When the bond of friendship and opportunity is extended - take advantage of it. Grab the brass ring as it goes around and hang on.

United, results can be obtained. Divided, nothing is gained.

Come on women and minorities, cut out the sour grapes approach and participate. E. PEDRO

Let Palestine be Palestine

The Jordan is Palestine Committee recites several facts in support of this view: "There is a Moslem country where Palestinians are welcome. Where they have automatic citizenship. Where Palestinians make up two-thirds of the population, hold three-quarters of the government posts and control 70 percent of the businesses. The country is Jordan. It is a Palestinian country. It occupies 77 percent of the original Palestinian Mandate

"Two million Palestinians already have a homeland in Palestine." So says a group called the Jordan is Palestine Committee in ads in The New York Times. It takes the same view as the Israeli government: The Palestinians already have a Palestinian state, namely Jordan. This fiction helps to justify Israel's expansionism and its resistance to Palestinian selfrule. But it is nonetheless a fiction.

The committee also uses the opportunity to repeat some familiar criticisms of the Arab nations. "Since 1945," it says, "West Germany has resettled 20 million refugees from Poland, Czechoslovakia and East Germany

Yet, for nearly 35 years, the Arab world has failed to resettle 600,000 of their brothers - Palestinian refugees

ONE PROBLEM with the portrayal of Jordan as the Palestinian homeland is that it is rejected by the Jordanians and the Palestinians. King Hussein did accept several hundred thousand Palestinian refugees in the wake of the 1948 and 1967 wars. But he no more sees this as making his a Palestinian state than New York City regards itself as a Jewish state.

MAT DO YOU SAY TO HANGING

ON WITH TWO FINGERS THEN?

When Hussein says now that "Jordan is Palestine and Palestine is Jordan," he is, as the committee knows, speaking metaphorically. If Arafat and Hussein believed it literally, there would be no argument and thus no need for these ads.

Hussein recognizes that he, a Hashemite, can hardly claim the right to rule a Palestinian state. And it isn't clear that his arms are open to more refugees. Palestinians note that Jordan no longer automatically grants them citizenship, though they can be naturalized.

In any case, the Palestinians don't regard themselves as Jordanians. The two groups are ethnically distinct. Moreover, though a third of the world's Palestinians live in Jordan, the bulk of them regard Palestine as their home and themselves as refugees

The ads make much of 1970 quotes from King Hussein and Yasser Arafat that Jordan and Palestine are one and the same. In 1970, that was literally true: Jordan still claimed the West Bank. But Hussein has since endorsed the Palestine Liberation Organization's right to the land. The Jordan-is-Palestine argument also requires a twisted view of history. The Palestinians are in Jordan (and in other Arab countries) only because of Israeli policy. Those who fled to escape the fighting in 1948 and 1967 had their homes expropriated by Israel and were forbidden to return. Having forced millions of Palestinians to their residence in Jordan to justify yet to be persuaded.

ACCUSING THE Arab countries of failing to resettle the Palestinian refugees overlooks the crucial point, which is that the Palestinians don't want to be permanently resettled in those countries. They want the opportunity to go back to Palestine, preferably to an independent Palestinian state. If the Arab world has done too little for the Palestinians, that merely strengthens their claim to a state of

The claim that Jordan occupies most of the original Palestine mandate is true, but irrelevant. Jordan (then called Transjordan) was nominally part of the mandates established in 1920. But it was distinct from historical Palestine, which denoted the land west of the Jordan River. And Britain removed Transjordan from the mandate in

A more interesting fact, ignored by the Jordan is Palestine Commit tee, is that Jordan occupies none of the land set aside for a Palesltinian state in the 1947 United Nations partition plan. That area, on the West Bank and the Gaza Strip, is controlled entirely by Israel.

If Prime Minister Menachem Begin has his way, Israel's control will be permanent. The only obstacle is the existence of 4 million Palestinians who insist on their right to just what the Israelis have a sovereign homeland in Palestine. He and this committee may beleive that Jordan is Palestine, but the only people with a become refugees, Israel now uses right to make that judgment have

Nurse becomes very discouraged

DEAR DR. GRAHAM: I am a nurse, and I get very discouraged and depressed because of all the suffering I see. For the first time in my life I am beginning to think

DEAR MRS. B.B.A.: I can understand why you get discouraged and depressed as you deal with suffering and death each day. Frankly, if I were not a Christian I too would get depressed because there would seem to be little hope in the world. But Christ makes all the difference and he can make a difference in your life as well.

about God. Do you think he can help me in my job? — Mrs. B.B.A.Z

There is much we may not fully understand about suffering and why God allows it The Bible speaks of evil as a "mystery" (2 Thessalonians 2:7). But there are several important truths I want you to know. First, God loves us and he understands what it is like when we suffer. In fact, he suffered far more than we could ever suffer, because he took upon himself the punishment and burden for our sins.

Then I want you to know that death is not the end, but the beginning of a new dimension of life eternal life. Yes, there is hope for life beyond the grave, because Christ made it possible. By his death he made it possible for us to go to Heaven if we will turn to him in trust and faith. By his resurrection from the dead he demonstrated beyond doubt that there is life after death.

Christ also is able to strengthen you and help you every day. He wants you to become his child, and he wants you to be a blessing to other people - including those you work with every day.

My prayer is that you would turn to Christ by faith. You can invite him into your heart by a simple prayer of faith. And then seek to walk with him every day. In the midst of all the suffering you see, Christ can give you hope and strength.

Dr. Donohue

People and pain endurance

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: I have a curiosity-type question. I have always heard that some people are able to edure greater amounts of pain than others, that the threshold of pain is greater than in others. Can you tell me if this is a fact, or is it in mind? Do some of us actually have ability to endure pain better? -- N.E.

This gets into gray area where body chemistry and psychology meet. There can be no emphatic yes or no answer to your question, although certainly there's ample evidence that some people are able to cope with pain-provoking events better than others.

One theory involves how pain is produced. It begins with receptors of the central nervous system — the brain and spinal cord. These receptors are triggered by nerve fibers that send messages back from all points in the body. You bang a shin and the chainreaction occurs. Along the route a substance called serotonin is thought to be the means by which the signals are allowed to travel. When the messages gets to the brain, you wince.

Further research has uncovered another substance that seems to serve as a kind of dampener of the signal process. They are called endorphins, and they act much the same way opiates do. It is thought that some people may be genetically endowed with greater amounts of endorphins than others, hence may be able to endure pain better

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: Will you please send me your booklet "How to Stop Leg Cramps and Foot Pains"? I quite often have severe leg cramps, especially in the feet and toes, and especially at night. The exercise you mention sometimes works well, and sometimes doesn't. My legs up to my knees feel numb, very numb. Do I have tarsal tunnel syndrome, which you mentioned recently? - Mrs. J.D.

In tarsal tunnel syndrome, the nerve to the bottom of the foot is being squeezed, causing burning pain and tingling, in the soles. Your description of numbness (up to your knees) doesn't sound like that problem. You'll have to see a doctor so that he can sort out various possibilities - leg nerve disturbance, poor circulation, etc.

Now, to the cramps. Again, there are numerous possibilities. People who must take water pills may as a result lose too much potassium, causing muscle cramping. People who have longstanding kidney disease (uremia) may get cramps. Thyroid hormone disturbance can also cause them.

For most, however, night cramps are not terribly significanit. If one sleeps on his back, bedclothing pressing down on the front of the foot can set up tension that causes cramping.

Keep on with the exercise. I should explain for other readers that this is done standing near a wall and leaning forward, bracing yourself with youir outstretched hands, keeping the feet flat while doing it. Again, even though I said nighttime leg cramps are usually not a sign of illness, in your case you need an examination because you also report the numbness. Your booklet is on the way. Other readers may obtain a copy by writing me care of the Big Spring Herald, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope and 50 cents.

Dear Abby

Some mothers can't read to children

DEAR ABBY: Thank you for urging parents to read to their young children in an effort to inspire them to learn to read for themselves

However, one of the reasons some parents don't read to their children is because they themselves can't read! Today in the United States there are over 23 million adults who can't read well enough to read a children's bedtime story; to read the notes that come from school; to read a medicine label. These illiterate adults must be taught to read.

Literary Volunteers of America, Inc. (LVA) trains volunteers to teach adults and teens who can't read well enough to function. There are over 160 programs in 29 states. Between 1981 and 1983, 12,000 LVA volunteers taught over 17,000 to read. Both numbers continue to grow, and we hope that one day we will be a totally literate society.

Please pass this along. JONATHON McKALLIP, DIRECTOR OF FIELD SERVICES, AVA

DEAR MR. McKALLIP: Thanks you for writing. I learned something today. I checked out LVA and I learned that it was founded in Syracuse, N.Y., in 1962 to combat the problem of illiteracy in the United States and Canada. Its primary premise is that well-trained volunteers can be effective tutors of adults. The organization has been enormously successful, and con-

It might be because of the many services offered, it might be the rocking chairs, it might even by the plants or the stone sculptures of otters that the children "pet" — but something in that place is outdrawing the TV and video games!

DEAR REBECCA: That's the good news. The bad news is that your town's library will probably be hearing from hundreds of librarians asking for details.

AUSTIN (AP) — A Senate committee has cleared for debate a bill to give auto dealers bigger commissions on credit life insurance they sell. Auto dealers are pleased, although opponents protested it would increase costs to

"The domestic automobile industry has been in a slump," said Jim Boyle, spokesman for the Texas Consumers Association, "More and more auto dealers have turned to insurance and other gimmicks to make up for the lost revenue in the sale of new automobiles.

Despite the protests, the Senate Economic Development Committee voted 7-1 Monday for the measure by Sen. Ike Harris, R-Dallas.

'This is nothing but one lobby's attempt to grab off a larger share of the market place," protested Tom Blomstrom of Sugar Land, who represented Professional Insurance

Harris said his bill would force the State result of litigation started by the Texas Automobile Dealers Association the 1980 rule has never become effective.

He said the benchmark of 35 percent commissions was in effect before the state board attempted to make it 25 percent for credit life insurance and 20 percent for accident and health insurance in 1980.

"This will not affect consumers," testified Gene Fondren, general counsel for the TADA. 'It is solely a matter on division of commissions between the agents and the insurance companies. If the 1980 rule goes into effect the agents will have their commissions cut and the companies will be making additional

"The state board's rule favored insurance companies to the extreme detriment of agents," Fondren said. "TADA is here today because about 50 percent of the income in the auto business today is from credit life insurance premiums," said Lyndon Olson, chairman of the State Board of Insurance. "Consumers are almost held captive to purchase this insurance'

Harris pointed out another state law allows a vehicle purchaser to turn down insurance offered by the auto dealer and furnish his own insurance.

Bill Daves, a member of the insurance board, said the 35 percent benchmark allows auto dealers to make 50 to 55 percent commission on a five-year credit life insurance policy with the full premium paid in advance.

"They get 35 percent up front as soon as the sale is made and then the rest is refunded in retro commissions at the end of the policy (if no claims are made on it)," Daves said. Will Davis, representing the Texas Legal Reserve Officers Association, said commissions are an integral part of rate making and influence the rates set by the insurance

"You cannot allow the commissions to auto dealers to be greater than the benefits to the insurance companies," he said.

"It is inappropriate for the Legislature to set insurance rates," said Gordon B. Richardson, Caldwell, speaking for the Texas Association of Life Underwriters. "This bill will guarantee higher rates for the buying public.'

BEAUMONT, Texas (AP) — Power and phone service at Lamar University were knocked out in an electrical accident which burned a worker, college

wards, Pam Martinez, Patricia Jones and Sandra Arellano. "They have as good a chance as any," Coach Howard Stewart said.

High school golfers headed for regionals

By GREG JAKLEWICZ Sports Editor

It took three years to do it but Big Spring High golfer Patricia Jones has finally made it to

And what's even more fun, four teammates will join her at the Region I-5A tournament which begins Wednesday at the Meadowbrook Municipal Golf

The Lady Steers shot a team score of 1,169 to finish 10 shots behind Midland High in the recent District 4-5A spring tournament and coach Howard Stewart is taking a team to regionals for the first time in six years.

"They have just as good of a chance as anyone," he predicts. "El Paso Coronado — the team that won here (Big Spring Girl's Invitational) — and Midland High will be the teams to beat."

If that's the case, the Lady Steers have a good shot at advancing to state. A key will be the performance of Jones, the talented senior who finished second behind MHS's Kelle Mobley in the league medalist race.

"I've been hoping to get there," she said of the trip of Lubbock. "Now I hope we can make it to state. I'm just real glad that we made it. We want to represent the school as best as we can by playing as well as we can."

well as we can."
Joining Jones in Lubbock is fellow senior Dianah
Jones, sophomores Sandra Arellano and Deborah Edwards and freshman Pam Martinez. They've been taking the tournament seriously, Stewart says.

"If they had worked as hard all year," he says, "as they have this past two weeks, we'd have run away with district." All the girls have been playing on their own, he says, with both Joneses having already been to Meadowbrook on their own to preview the course.

"I played it last weekend," Patricia Jones reports. "It's not in very good shape...it's king of a letdown to go and play on it after some of the course we've played on."

Jones had not shot in the low 70's this year as she had hopes but her scores have been dropping. In practice rounds last week, she shot a 79 at Comanche Trails and a 76 at the Country Club. "I'm hitting the 70's almost every time I go out in practice but I don't think I've peaked. I had a 73 at the end of last summer."

Since the team plays most of its golf in West Texas, all five girls are used to the wind. If the temperatures remain warm, Patricia Jones feels Big Spring has a good shot at playing one more tournament in Austin.

The main problem is keeping everyone healthy. Jones spoke with a hoarse voice Monday and Dianah Jones missed practice with a minor illness. "She's been sick all through March," her teammate said. "I've been fighting being sick the last three tournament, too."

"I think the second person on the team is the most important in this tournament," Patricia Jones said. "She can make up the most ground. If the other two girls can shoot below 100, we'll have a real goof

Stewart wants Patricia Jones, his top player to do well also. "She's the key. If she can shoot well, she'll spirit the rest of the team to help her out."

The tournament begins with 18 holes Wednesday and concludes Thursday with a final round of 18 holes.

Greg Meyer flies to Boston victory

Women's marathon record smashed

BOSTON (AP) — On a cool day when Greg Meyer sped to a Boston Marathon victory in the third-fastest time for the 87-year-old race, Joan Benoit stole some of his thunder by obliterating the women's world record.

"Joanie is one of the best athletes in the world, not just among women," said Meyer. "It's time people recognized that."

Benoit set a blistering pace Monday to finish in two hours, 22 minutes, 42 seconds, shaving nearly three minutes off the women's best of 2:25:29. She led most of the way and won by almost seven minutes.

"I don't think it's hit me yet. It will probably hit me tomorrow when I can't get out of bed," said Benoit, who won the 1979 Boston Marathon in 2:35:15.

Meyer's only other Boston Marathon was in 1981, when he led from the 16th mile to the 19th mile before fading to an 11th-place finish.

"I took the lead just about where I lost it two years

"I took the lead just about where I lost it two years ago," said Meyer, whose winning time was 2:09:00. "In 1981, I think I made some mistakes and let the course destroy me. We planned for this race."

Meyer, a Grand Rapids, Mich., native now living in Wellesley, Mass., and Benoit, a Portland, Maine, native living in Watertown, Mass., didn't disappoint the forecasters who had installed them as heavy favorites in a field of 6,515 official entrants, including 5.814 men and 701 women.

"I felt it a lot this week," Meyer said of the pressure of being the favorite. "I think I handled it well. I won so it must not have hurt me."

Meyer has won four of his seven marathons. He also has been victorious in his last five races at varying distances.

Ron Tabb, of Eugene, Ore., finished second in 2:09:32, followed by Benji Durden, of Stone Mountain, Ga., in 2:09:57, Ed Mendoza, of Flagstaff, Ariz., in 2:10:06, and Christopher Bunyan, of Carbondale, Ill., in 2:10:54.

Bill Rodgers, seeking his fifth Boston Marathon win in 10 tries, had a cold last week and finished the 26-mile, 385-yard race in 10th place in 2:11:58.

"I was thinking maybe this will be my last marathon so I should try to finish," Rodgers said. "I'm already thinking about the next one."

He missed qualifying for the World Track and Field Championships in Helsinki, Finland, Aug. 7-14. The top three finishers Monday qualified, but Meyer said he would concentrate on the 10-kilometer race and didn't plan to participate in the marathon in Helsinki.

Defending champion Alberto Salazar didn't compete. He finished fifth April 9 in the Rotterdam Marathon. Salazar holds the world record of 2:08:13 and the Boston mark of 2:08:51.

Monday's race was run under nearly ideal weather conditions — cool with a tailwind.

Abraha Aregha led early, but Durden spurted in front at around the eighth mile and held it until Meyer made his move between the 19th and 20th miles. About two miles later, Meyer figured his lead was big enough and his legs strong enough to carry him to victory.

"I just found myself in the lead frequently in the early stages. It was mystifying," said Durden, who was second in the Houston Marathon last Jan. 16. "I had a tail wind and I wasn't breaking any wind ahead of me so I said why not go ahead and run hard. I did and I almost got away with it."

almost got away with it."

But the determined Meyer wouldn't let him.

"My strategy from the start was whoever went out, no matter who it was, I would stay with him. If it was a rabbit (who) I knew was going to die after five miles I was going to go out and chase him," Meyer said. "I was hoping what Benji was doing was trying to take the sting out of everybody and then see who could crawl home."

But Meyer, 27, had plenty left at the end, and said he could have made one last surge if he needed it.

GREG MEYER
...third fastest time

Benoit started extremely fast and didn't know if she had much energy remaining. It became obvious early that she wouldn't need it.

"The 10-mile split of 51:38 scared me a little bit," said the 25-year-old women's distance running coach at Boston University.

Cooney picks an unknown

NEW YORK (AP) "It was a question of who was available and we wanted to pick somebody who the press would not criticize," co-manager Dennis Rappaport says in explaining the choice of Philip Brown as the first opponent for Gerry Cooney since Cooney was stopped by World Boxing Council heavyweight champion Larry Holmes June 11, 1982.

Brown, a one-time Cooney sparring partner, who is unbeaten, but 27 years old and relatively unknown, has thought about his being chosen.

"I thought about that, and I can't be anybody's scapegoat," Brown, of Lake Charles, La., said Monday at a news conference to formally announce the scheduled 10-round fight June 18 at Las Vegas, Nev., which will be televised live nationally by CBS tionally by CBS.

Guidry powers Yankees past Toronto ball down again. The New York Yankees lanky left-hander, blasted in his first two starts this year when he tried to be too clever with the ball, just reared back and threw it Monday night against Toronto's batters. The result: a two-hit 3-0 vic-

Ron Guidry is up because he's keeping the tory over the Blue Javs. Elsewhere in the American League it was Baltimore 4, Cleveland 1; Minnesota 8, Seattle 5; Milwaukee 14, Boston 0, and Oakland 5, California 3.

"I think I worry too much about spotting the ball," said Guidry. "What I wanted to do tonight, if nothing else, was throw the ball hard. I challenged them. I wanted to go right after them. That's the way I used to pitch.' Guidry, who struck out four batters and didn't walk any, gave up a game-opening single to former Yankee teammate Dave Collins, retired 15 consecutive batters, was nicked for an infield hit by Buck Martinez opening the sixth inning, then set down Toronto's final

"He went with the fastball tonight and when he needed a good overpowering fastball he had it." said catcher Butch Wynegar. "The key to him tonight was that he kept the ball down. I think the last couple of times he was getting the ball up. I don't care if you're Nolan Ryan, you are going to get hit if you get the April 19 Boston at Atlanta, (n), Friday, April ball up."

In the Yanks' opener in Seattle, Guidry lasted only 2 2-3 innings and allowed four runs on seven hits. He also pitched New York's home opener against Detroit, surrendering six runs on five hits in 5 1-3 innings.

Luis Leal might have matched Guidry baseman Damaso Garcia, another ex-Yankee, bobbled Roy Smalley's two-out grounder. Graig Nettles then walked and Jerry Mumphrey tripled for two runs. Mumphrey came home on Wynegar'a single.

Orioles 4, Indians 1

Designated hitter Jim Dwyer's fifth-inning leadoff home run snapped a 1-1 tie and propelled the Orioles past Cleveland.

'If he keeps hitting like that, he may be the DH for eternity," said Baltimore Manager Joe Altobelli. Dwyer is the DH only because Ken Singleton is hurt. Rick Dempsey drove in two runs for the Orioles with a sacrifice fly in the third inning phy's double-play grounder drove in the other and a double in the seventh. Scott McGregor pitched a seven-hitter for Baltimore.

Randy Bush's two-run double in the third inning and Mickey Hatcher's two-run single in American League the seventh led Minnesota out of the West

Division basement and dropped the Mariners Mike Moore walked Gary Ward, Kent Hrbek and Gary Gaetti before Tom Brunansky's sacrifice fly broke a 1-1 tie and Bush doubled. The Twins made it 5-1 in the sixth on

Ward's sacrifice fly. Brewers 14, Red Sox 0

Boston's scoreless streak stretched to 25 ingoose-egg for goose-egg had not second nings as Don Sutton checked the Red Sox on six hits through seven innings and Tom Tellmann wrapped up with two hitless innings of relief.

Charlie Moore had four of the Brewers' 22 hits and drove in three runs, and Paul Molitor, Robin Young, Cecil Cooper and Roy Howell added three hits apiece. For Howell, it was particularly welcome, since he had gone 0-for-35 in a streak dating back to the end of the 1982 season

A's 5, Angels 3

Mike Davis' two-run single triggered a fourrun burst in the third inning against Mike Witt. Wayne Gross' single and Dwayne Murruns in the inning. Rod Carew had a two-run single and Reggie Jackson a homer for the

Padres' 15-hit attack buries Atlanta

Tim Flannery was only one of nine San Diego Padres with an RBI on the night, but his contribution may have been just a little bit bigger.

Flannery singled, tripled, scored twice and drove in a run as his contributions in a 15-hit. attack that helped San Diego bury the Atlanta

Braves 10-3 Monday night. In addition, he played another flawless game at third base in place of Luis Salazar, who had made two errors before being replaced by Manager Dick Williams. "I know my role," Flannery said. "With me, it's only one day at a time. When I'm in there, I go as hard as I can. And when someone else is in there, I cheer for him. I know if I don't produce, I won't be in the lineup

With his two hits, Flannery upped his average to .375. Gene Richards was the only Padre with more than one RBI Monday night, driving in a pair with a single in the second inning. Steve Garvey hit a solo homer.

National League

In the only other games played, Los Angeles edged San Francisco 4-3 and Philadelphia clobbered the Chicago Cubs 8-3.

Every Padre that got into the lineup against Atlanta — with the exception of San Diego's three pitchers — had at least one RBI against four Atlanta pitchers. Right-hander Eric Show, 2-0, worked the first 51-3 innings for San Diego for the victory.

It was the first win of the year for the Padres over the Braves, who swept a fourgame series over San Diego in Atlanta last week. Rookie right-hander Craig McMurtry, 1-1, lasted only two innings for the Braves. Dodgers 4, Giants 3

Giants relief ace Greg Minton walked the bases full, and Los Angeles' winning run scored in the top of the ninth inning on Ken Landreaux's ground ball. It was his 11th RBI of the new season.

Trailing 3-0, San Francisco tied the score in the eighth off Burt Hooton on Milt May's tworun homer and a pinch RBI single by Joel Youngblood.

Tom Niedenfuer, who faced only one batter in the eighth, got the victory, and Dave Stewart worked out of a one-out, two-on jam in the ninth to earn his third save.

Phillies 8, Cubs 2

Gary Matthews and Mike Schmidt each homered for the Phillies, backing the eight-hit pitching of John Denny.

The Phillies trailed 2-0 in the third when Matthews led off with a solo shot off Paul Moskau. After Joe Morgan walked, Schmidt homered for the fourth time this season to put Philly ahead 3-2.

Denny walked one and struck out three in evening his record at 1-1. It was his first for Philadelphia, which acquired him from Cleveland last September.

Steinbrenner fined for umpire remarks

Whiteside wins scratch

division in golf tourney

NEW YORK (AP) - New York Yankees owner George Steinbrenner has been hit with one of the heaviest individual fines ever levied against a baseball club owner, but umpire union head Richie Phillips feels the punishment doesn't fit the crime

Baseball Commissioner Bowie Kuhn reportedly fined Steinbrenner $50,000 Monday for remarks critical of National League umpires.

Contacted by the New York Daily News in Tampa, Fla., Monday night, Steinbrenner was quoted as saying: "It's $50,000, and, yes, that's a stiff one. But I'll pay it especially if it'll help assure the National League umpires I did not mean to question their integrity Phillips said from his home in Philadelphia on Monday that he was "sorely disappointed in the type penalty imposed." He added that he had hoped Steinbrenner would be suspended. "I don't think fining George Steinbrenner serves as any kind of a deterrent to someone with pockets as deep as his from continuing to engage in this kind of conduct." Phillips said urged by Phillips, head of the Major League Umpires Association, who charged that the Yankee owner had attacked the umpires' integrity in remarks during a March 25 exhibition game against the Montreal Expos Steinbrenner had complained that NL umpires gave teams in their league a break on close calls in games against American League teams. The Yankee owner was standing on the sidelines at the time and questioned a call at first base. He later said his remarks were made privately to a friend and were not meant to be overheard by reporters.

Phillips later quoted Steinbrenner as saying the umpires were acting on the orders of Chub Feeney, the NL president.

The Yankees had issued a succinct statement Monday in which Steinbrenner said the fine would be paid and apologized to Feeney and the league's umpires if they felt their integrity had been questioned

(AP) - Ted Turner said Monday night he has sent telegrams to his fellow major league baseball club owners complaining he does not feel the contracts signed with NBC and ABC were fair and he wants to do something about it. All Meyer wanted was to win in Boston

BOSTON (AP) — Greg Meyer said he was running the 87th Boston Marathon strictly to win the race — not necessarily to set a world best.

'Boston is my goal, Boston is what I want," Meyer insisted prior to Monday's 26-mile, 385-yard trek from Hopkinton, west of Boston, to the finish line in downtown Boston

"If you don't run the race, you're not accepted in the (Boston) running community. You're an outsider.'' Meyer fulfilled his goal in the annual Patriots Day

He ran the race, he won the race, but he did not erase Alberto Salazar's world best of 2 hours, 8 minutes, 13

His time of 2:09, however, was the 10th fastest in history, and made him the No. 8 performer of all time, since Salazar and Robert de Castella of Australia have each run faster twice

"It's good to get a good time, but the breakthrough comes when you win," said the 27-year-old Meyer, a native of Grand Rapids, Mich., who was coaxed to the Boston area (he now lives in Wellesley, Mass.) about five years ago by Bill Rodgers, four-time winner of the Boston Marathon.

"I knew I was running fast, but I had no concern for the record," he added. "Records will come and go, but winning Boston will be there forever

"The victories are the important things."

Meyer's victory was important in many ways. It rocketed him into the elite of long-distance

It vindicated his "embarrassing" 11th-place place finish in the Boston Marathon in 1981, the only previous time he had run the race.

It proved that he could cope with the pressure of being the favorite.

It earned him berths on the United States teams that will compete in the World Track and Field Championships at Helsinki, Finland Aug. 7-14 and the Pan American Games at Caracas, Venezuela, Aug. 14-29. However, he said he probably would skip the marathon in the World Championships and shoot for a spot as a 10,000-meter runner in the qualifier, the National Championships at Indianapolis in June.

And it put him in position to make a sizeable amount of money in endorsements and appearances over the next year, a figure estimated at $150,000 by his coach, Bill Squires.

Meyer, who called himself an adopted son of Boston and had trained heavily over the course, which runs through Wellesley, grabbed the lead from Benji Durden of Stone Mountain, Ga., shortly before the 20-mile mark and coasted to a 31-second victory over runnerup Ron Tabb of Eugene, Ore.
