Horse race betting bill gets 1st nod

AUSTIN (AP) — One Dallas Republican celebrated a horse race victory in the Senate by exclaiming "I'm happy as hell." Another said the race is not over.

The Senate on Thursday tentatively approved a bill on a 17-12 vote that would legalize pari-mutuel betting on horses in Texas for the first time in 46 years.

Texas has horse racing at 16 tracks, but pari-mutuel wagering — where money goes into a pool to be shared by the state, track, race winners and bettors — has been outlawed since 1937.

Sen. O.H. "Ike" Harris' bill would legalize pari-mutuel betting on a local-option basis if voters pass a November 1984 statewide referendum.

A major change from the bill that was defeated in the House late in the 1981 session is that Harris' proposal would dedicate pari-mutuel tax revenues to welfare payments to dependent children rather than the public school fund.

The Legislative Budget Board has estimated the pari-mutuel tax would generate $58.3 million in the first full year of operation — 1985. That figure would rise to $126.3 million by 1988. Other estimates vary widely.

Harris, R-Dallas, was asked after the Senate vote how he felt, and he replied, "I'm happy as hell about it. I can tell you. I've been messing with it for 10 years."

He was chairman of a special committee created by the 1971 Legislature that strongly recommended pari-mutuel betting, but a bill in the next session never even got a hearing.

Harris still needs a final Senate vote, probably on Monday, to send the bill to the House, where a similar measure is locked in a committee that has refused to budge.

Asked what horse race betting would do for the state, Harris said, "I think it's just a brand new industry, the same thing I've been advocating all along."

On the other side of the issue was Sen. John Leedom, R-Dallas, who stalled a vote for 2½ hours, but sat down at 3:06 p.m., saying, "The only reason I'm stopping is because I love you. I could carry on for six or seven more hours."

Leedom, reading letters from his constituents on the evils of gambling, criticized "the cancer of pari-mutuel betting that threatens our state."

Sen. Ed Howard, D-Texas, also opposed the bill, stating:

"It's taking away the hard-earned money from the people least able to afford it. It's taking food off their tables and clothes off their children's backs."

After the Senate vote, Leedom said he had had 10 times as many letters opposing horse race betting as favoring it.

"I feel very comfortable that this state has a number of people that Shaundra Walker giggles at the antics of Quail Dobbs yesterday at the Coahoma Kindergarten Rodeo. The stickhorse rodeo drew a crowd of nearly 1,000 as well as rodeo clowns Leon Coffee and Dobbs. More than 75 kindergarten students participated in the fifth running of the mock rodeo.

COAHOMA — Ryan McCormick pivoted out of the rodeo chute on his wild, bucking mount. As the crowd of nearly 1,000 yelled its approval, the young cowboy spun and fought to keep his balance atop his ride. When the horn sounded, the announcer requested applause for a good effort.

The cowboy is 6 years old. His mount was a broomstick with a cardboard head. The announcer is still in kindergarten. The rodeo chute was under a basketball goal in the Coahoma elementary school gymnasium. But the crowd and the excitement was very real.

Approximately 900 parents, teachers and students crammed into the Coahoma gym Thursday for the 5th Annual Coahoma Kindergarten Rodeo.

The stick-horse mock rodeo had all the frills of the real thing, from standard rodeo events to authentic rodeo clowns in the form of Quail Dobbs and Leon Coffee.

However, the real stars of the rodeo were the 75 Coahoma kindergarten students, all garbed in hats, bandannas and boots. Whether riding their stickhorses furiously in the pole bending competition or singing off-key to "This Land is Your Land," the 5- and 6-year-olds stole the show.

Scene-stealer — Eric Craft, 5, patiently allowing nationally-acclaimed clown Dobbs to paint his face: "I'm gonna help fight bulls today and one day do the big ones, too."

Scene-stealer — Announcer Kevin Carlile suavely commenting on the princess' competition: "Ain't they pretty? Thank you, ladies."

Scene-stealer — Any little boy or girl shyly waving to mom from under a huge straw hat while galloping along on a stick-horse.

Coffee, who made a special trip from Austin for the event, said he was surprised by the entire event. "I was kinda leery at first, figured I'd do it for Quail," Coffee said amidst the cheers and laughter. "But I'm enjoying this. I can't believe the folks that have come to watch — they're really serious about this."

The popular clown said the kindergarten kids were getting a formal introduction to rodeo. He said rodeo has to have a "breeding ground" somewhere.

Dobbs has acted as technical advisor for the kids' event for five years. He entertained the receptive crowd with his tiny dog and kept the events rolling along.

"We've still got 45 years to catch up with the Big Spring Rodeo and Cowboy Reunion, but we're trying," Dobbs said with a grin.

The four kindergarten teachers — Linda Dick, Tommie Sammon, Laura Lowery and Patty Swindell — their three aides and enormous help from several other departments put together the rodeo, according to elementary school Assistant Principal Frank Pulattie.

Daylight-saving time brought to light

By MIKE DOWNEY
Staff Writer

For those who hate daylight-saving time, it is Benjamin Franklin's fault — sort of. Of course, if a person likes DST, of Ben was right on track.

"The famous — or infamous — daylight-saving time returns Sunday morning at 2 a.m."

DST first visited America in 1918. During the First World War officials proclaimed it would save more energy and aid the war effort.

It was practiced erratically until America officially embraced DST on a regular basis in 1967 with the passage of the Uniform Time Act.

Franklin first noticed in 1784 how wasteful it was to sleep so late and burn lamps at night. He said he was "astonished" to discover the sun shining at 6 a.m. after a sudden awakening.

The hours he slept under the sun he would "in exchange have lived six hours the following night by candlelight."

The modern controversy over daylight saving began in England in 1907.

William Willett wrote in his booklet "The Waste of Daylight" that leisure hours could be increased and artificial light use decreased with daylight-saving time. Basic-ly, everybody would get up an hour earlier and quit an hour earlier during the summer.

Willett's proposal was hotly contested for six years in the British Empire. Astronomer John Milne and other scientists attacked the idea of changing the time as "self-deception."

"The only people that have a shifty time are ... savages, and it is now suggested we should ... join their ranks," Milne haughtily said.

It was not until 1916 that Willett's plan (he died in 1915) began to be accepted, however grudgingly. The British House of Commons passed a

Coahoma teachers get A-plus

By RICHARD HORN
 Staff Writer

COAHOMA — Today's teachers must be seriously dedicated to developing America's most important resource — young minds, the faculty of Coahoma's schools was told last night.

Dr. John Briley, vice president of Howard College, spoke of teachers' responsibilities as the Coahoma school district honored 33 teachers for years of such service and dedication.

"It has been estimated that schools have only 13 percent of a child's available time," Briley said. "What a challenge that is to meet the needs of our children. We can't waste any of it."

He said teachers need motivation so they can help students "get a picture of their best."
 "Too often a school's priority is to keep a firm hand ... hold the noise down ... get through the day," Briley said teachers should never settle for the minimum of what they can achieve with their students.

"If you are satisfied with being an average teacher, you will turn out average students. Today's educators need vision that is telescopic, not microscopic. They must be able to see far ahead," he said.

Outgoing Coahoma school Superintendent Richard Souter and school board member Donnie Reid presented retirement awards to Maxine Hinsley (25 years), Weldon Weaver (11 years) and Jimmy Hinsley (16 years).

Former school board members Don Meyers, Harold Aberegg, Clovis Phinney Jr. and Wayne Davis were honored for their service to the community.

Souter and school board President Bruce Griffith then presented the following teachers' awards for 1983:

- 25 YEARS SERVICE
 Mary Womack, Tye Renfro, Loma Jean Wynn.
 - 20 YEARS SERVICE

 might express themselves" before Monday against betting.

Asked if he thought a majority of Texans opposed it, Legdom said, "I do."

Sen. Bill Sarpalus, D-Herford, tried to block the bill by raising a point of order that revenue-raising bills had to originate in the House, but Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby overruled the objection.

Hobby read from a three-page printed statement that said the fact the bill would produce revenue through license fees and sharing in pari-mutuel pools is "merely incidental" to the primary purpose of the bill, which is legalizing horse race wagering in Texas.

The referendum is viewed as critical to possible passage of the bill, and an amendment by Sen. John Traeger, D-Seguin, to eliminate it failed 25-6. "My people are tired of having elections," said

Traeger.

Harris' bill would create an eight-member commission, with six appointed by the governor, plus the state comptroller and director of the Department of Public Safety, to administer the Texas Horse Racing Act.

The state would get 5 percent of the total money bet, the track 5 percent and the race winners 5 percent. The rest would go to bettors.
 A city or town in which a horse race track is located would have the option of levying an admissions tax of up to 5 percent.

Sen. Ted Lyon, D-Mesquite, added amendments with Harris' approval that would subject everyone associated with horse racing — "from the commissioners to the young people who sweep out the stables" — to extensive background checks.
 Chemical tests on horses would be conducted by the Texas A&M

Veterinary Medical Diagnosis Laboratory or a private lab OK'd by the commission and the A&M lab. Lyon said drugs offer the "highest potential for corruption."

If local voters rejected or approved horse race betting, another election to change the results could be held in five years.

Bomber keeps Exxon on short fuse

DALLAS (AP) — A man trying to extort more than $112,000 in gold coins from Exxon U.S.A. by planting bombs at service stations has not been heard from in several days, officials of the oil company say.

"We're chasing a lot of rabbits. There have been a number of calls, and we're taking them all seriously and checking them out. But there has been absolutely nothing found in the last few days," Ron Eaton, an Exxon spokesman, said Thursday.

Federal officials say "a dangerous man" exploded two small bombs and planted at least one more at Exxon service stations in the Dallas-Fort Worth area in the past week.

Exxon denied a report Thursday by Dallas television station WFAA-TV that the oil firm tried unsuccessfully to deliver 250 gold Krugerrands to the extortionist.

WFAA-TV reported that "agents close to the case" said Exxon delivered the payment to a specified drop-off point, but that the extortionist never showed up to collect the coins.

The WFAA report also said Exxon officials believe all the bombs were planted over a two-day period. Eaton said Thursday evening that Exxon was cooperating fully with federal and local authorities, but had not delivered the Krugerrands.

"There was no payoff made. We have cooperated with authorities throughout this and are following their instructions," Eaton said.

WFAA said the attempted payoff was made last week.
 Eaton said Exxon had received many calls in connection with the extortion plot, but apparently none involved the first caller.

FBI spokesman Joe Hershey said the federal agency would have no comment on the investigation.

Seven businesses were evacuated Thursday near an Exxon station in Fort Worth after a gas station attendant in Fort Worth spotted something in his gasoline storage tank. However, authorities found nothing suspicious during a thorough examination.

"The dealer looked down into the tank and thought he saw something. We took a look and found out it was just a reflection," Eaton said. "People are understandably edgy right now."

Two bombs have exploded at local service stations without injury, officials said.

N. Mexico GOP meets

ALBUQUERQUE (AP) — The New Mexico Republican Central Committee will meet Saturday to elect new officers and begin a party rebuilding campaign heading into the 1984 elections.

Two Albuquerque men are vying for the party chairmanship — insurance executive Edward L. Lujan, 50, brother of Rep. Manuel Lujan, R-N.M., and restaurateur Joseph J. Carraro, 38.

The main interest in the convention centers on the chairmanship race and the role Sen. Pete Domenici, R-N.M., head of the Senate Budget Committee, will play on party leadership. Domenici is up for reelection next year.

Senate passes credit card bill

AUSTIN (AP) — A bill lowering bank credit card interest rates that apparently pleases everyone but a few bankers has moved from the Senate to the House.

The measure, a compromise resulting from negotiations including legislators, lobbyists, bankers, consumer advocates and the governor, passed the Senate Thursday 31-0.

"The bankers don't like it that much but they have agreed to go along with it," said Sen. Ted Lyon, D-Rockwall, one of the Senate negotiators.

Rep. Bill Coody, D-Weatherford, said that "hopefully" his House Financial Institutions Committee will quickly approve the bill for House consideration.

The negotiated bill, sponsored in the Senate by Sen. Bob McFarland, R-Arlington, and Lyon, would change the maximum interest rate from 24 to 22 percent on credit cards issued by bank holding companies and the minimum rate from 18 to 14 percent.

"If this was to become effective today the effective interest rate on credit cards would be 16.5 percent, the lowest interest rate on bank credit cards in the nation," said Lyon.

The latest posting on credit card interest called for 21 percent interest.

Under the compromise the interest rates would be changed, if necessary, every three months according to the U.S. Treasury bill rate, not annually as at present.

Lyon said the rate on retail credit cards would be decreased from 24 percent for the maximum rate to 21 percent, and the minimum would remain at 18 percent.

The bill would become effective immediately upon being signed into law.

Technically, the compromise was offered as an amendment by Lyon to an original bill by McFarland to continue the operations of the Consumer Credit Commission.

"McFarland and I, as well as many other interests, including the Texas Consumers Association, have agreed to these new ceilings," Lyon told the Senate.

Gov. Mark White, who urged lower credit card interest rates during his campaign last year, entered the negotiations last week. Little progress was made until Tuesday when White made an unscheduled visit across the street from the Mansion to the Texas Bankers Association headquarters.

Rain possible over South Plains

By The Associated Press
An upper-level disturbance in West Texas triggered showers and thundershowers over the South Plains and Edwards Plateau early today, while a travelers advisory was posted in the Coastal Bend for thick fog.
Light rain and drizzle fell over portions of Central and Southeast Texas. Patchy areas of drizzle developed in north central and northeast portions. Fog in the Coastal Plains lowered visibilities to near zero in Corpus Christi and Victoria.
The disturbance extending from the eastern Panhandle southward into the Edwards Plateau separated warm moist air to the east from drier and slightly cooler air to the west. Skies were mostly cloudy east of the dry line.
Early-morning temperatures ranged from 50 degrees at Amarillo to 74 degrees at McAllen. Winds were southerly at 5 to 10 mph east of the dry line and westerly at 5 to 15 mph to the west.
Scattered showers and thundershowers in the west should spread eastward across the state this afternoon and evening. Cloudiness should decrease from the west by Saturday.

TODAY AND SATURDAY
West Texas: Widely scattered showers and thundershowers east of the mountains mainly late this afternoon through Friday, otherwise considerable cloudiness Panhandle and partly cloudy elsewhere except fair mountains westward. Little cooler moist sections Friday. Highs today 70 Panhandle to 70 south except low 90s Big Bend valleys. Lows tonight 44 Panhandle to 56 south and near 40 mountains. Highs Friday 67 Panhandle to 78 south and low 90s Big Bend.
SUNDAY THROUGH TUESDAY
West Texas: Partly cloudy. Warmer Tuesday, otherwise no important temperature changes. Lows upper 50s Panhandle to near 50 south rising to near 50 Panhandle to 60 south by Tuesday. Highs generally 60s Panhandle to near 80 south warming to 90s by Tuesday.

Court to rule on condemned Texan
Evans wins reprieve from judge

ATMORE, Ala. (AP) — Convicted murderer John Louis Evans III won a last-minute reprieve from execution for the second time in four years, but was "ready for anything" today as his fate moved into the hands of the U.S. Supreme Court.
Evans, who shot and killed a Mobile pawnbroker during a robbery in 1977, downed a meal of steak and shrimp, received last rites from a priest late Thursday — then learned his midnight walk to the electric chair had been temporarily blocked by a U.S. district judge.
Word of the stay reached the 33-year-old Evans in his cell at Holman Prison about 9 p.m. Thursday, three hours before he was to be executed.
Frantic legal maneuvering continued, and it was only 11 minutes before his scheduled 12:01 a.m. electrocution when prison officials received word that a federal appeals court in Atlanta upheld the temporary stay.
The reprieve granted Thursday night will hold only as long as the Supreme Court lets it — and Alabama Attorney General Charles Graddick's office filed an emergency motion asking the court to dissolve the stay today.
Under Alabama law, if the stay is not lifted by midnight tonight, Evans' execution date automatically expires. Graddick then would have to ask the Alabama Supreme Court to set a new date.
But if the stay is set aside before then, prison officials can immediately resume preparations for the execution and carry it out.
In Washington, high court spokeswoman Toni House said the justices were not expected to review the case before normal business hours today.
On April 6, 1979, Evans came within six hours of death in Alabama's electric chair before learning that a Supreme Court justice had blocked his execution.
Prison Commissioner Fred Smith said Evans was "joking and laughing with the officers" after learning Thursday that U.S. District Judge Emmett Cox of Mobile had temporarily stayed the execution.

Joe Ingle, a death penalty opponent from Tennessee who has befriended Evans, visited him Thursday night and said Evans remained "at peace with himself" and "ready for anything that comes down the pike."
Ingle, director of the Southern Coalition on Jails and Prisons in Nashville, Tenn., said the Evans family had been on an emotional "rollercoaster" through the day and night, but were "very grateful" for the stay.
The legal see-saw began when Supreme Court Justice Lewis F. Powell refused Thursday afternoon to stay the execution, a decision Powell said six of the other eight justices approved.
From there, Evans' attorneys turned to Cox in Mobile. George Kendall, a lawyer for the Atlanta-based Southern Prisoners Defense Committee, argued that Evans should be granted a stay because of unresolved questions about Alabama's death penalty law.
Cox granted a temporary stay and scheduled a hearing on the matter for 10 a.m. Monday. Graddick then asked the 11th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals in Atlanta to strike down Cox's order. But the appeals court, after a telephone conference call with Cox and the lawyers involved, refused to alter Cox's decision.
Graddick then made an emergency appeal to the Supreme Court.
Evans, once a cocky and unrepentant killer, had demanded the death penalty in 1979 and refused to appeal his case. He was spared then only on a motion filed by his mother, Betty Evans Dickson, against her son's wishes.
But Evans, who grew up in a white middle-class family of seven children in Beaumont, Texas, later decided to appeal. In recent months, he has been described as humbled, holding to newfound spiritual convictions.
There are 56 other inmates on Alabama's death row.

Three Soviet officials expelled from United States

WASHINGTON (AP) — Three Soviet officials — a KGB officer, the acting defense attache, and a diplomat at the United Nations — have been expelled from the United States after the FBI caught them trying to obtain classified documents.
In two cases, the FBI used cooperating Americans acting as "double agents" to trap the Soviets. FBI agents surprised the attache, who is a military intelligence officer, as he picked up a green plastic garbage bag containing films of secret U.S. military documents from a "dead drop" at the base of a tree in a remote, wooded area outside Washington.

FBI officials said that no U.S. secrets fell into Soviet hands in the three unrelated incidents. The Soviets were seeking documents about U.S.-Soviet relations, military matters, the U.S. aerospace industry and weapons technology.

"It was coincidental they all came out at the same time," Assistant FBI Director Roger Young said. The cases are closed; no other people are being sought.

More rocket fire reported near British

By The Associated Press
Unidentified attackers fired two rocket-propelled grenades at Israeli soldiers just south of Beirut today, but caused no injuries, Israeli army spokesman Maj. Yehuda Weinraub said.
Capt. Mike Southworth, spokesman of the British contingent with the multinational peacekeeping force, said one of the rockets whistled 50 yards past British positions near the Beirut suburb of Sheifaif.
"It passed us. Nothing hit our building," Southworth said. "We were not involved. We didn't see where it landed."
American, Italian and French members of the 5,400-man peacekeeping force were not affected by the incident.
In other Lebanese developments today: —A U.S. delegation headed by Undersecretary of State Lawrence S. Eagleburger arrived to escort home the bodies of Americans slain in the bombing of the U.S. Embassy in Beirut. Eagleburger visited the ruins of the embassy and said the attack "will not in any way prevent the United States from carrying forward with its objective of a free Lebanon."

He also said that an American embassy should not be an impenetrable fortress regardless of security considerations.
—Searchers combed the wreckage of the embassy's devastated lobby, cafeteria and visa section looking for two Americans and 16 Lebanese believed still buried in the rubble.
—U.S. presidential envoy Philip C. Habib left Beirut for Israel after five hours of talks on withdrawing foreign troops from Lebanon. Lebanese and Israeli officials say the talks are stalled over security arrangements in southern Lebanon, which is under Israeli occupation.
—Israel Army Radio reported that the troop withdrawal talks with Lebanon have suffered setbacks this week due to Syrian pressure on the Lebanese.

Nuclear test conducted

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — An underground nuclear test, a joint operation of the United States and Great Britain, was conducted today at the Nevada Test Site.
The Department of Energy said the test had a yield of less than 20 kilotons.
The test, code-named Armada, was requested by the British government. It was conducted under an agreement, in effect since 1958, for cooperation in the uses of atomic energy for mutual defense purposes, according to the department.
The test was conducted 870 feet beneath the surface of Yucca Flat, some 81 miles northwest of Las Vegas. Armada was the fifth announced test this year. It brings the total number of tests announced at the test site to 606.

With help, we can win this war

Perhaps you are looking forward to the birth of a child. It could be your own child, grandchild, godchild, niece or nephew or the child of a friend.

You can visualize that child — a healthy, happy human being who will run and play and grow up to be a good person. He or she may become a community leader, a scientist, a doctor, a teacher — the possibilities are endless.

You are full of love and hope for this child even before he or she arrives. As the birth grows nearer, your happiness and anticipation increase.

AT LAST THE HAPPY DAY comes. But your happiness quickly turns to sorrow. The child is retarded. Or blind. Or has no arms. Or has a rare, incurable disease.

Sixty years ago when a dread terror called polio was sweeping the country, the March of Dimes took on the challenge. In 1955, Dr. Jonas Salk, working completing with March of Dimes support, perfected a safe and effective vaccine to conquer polio.

Now the March of Dimes wants to conquer birth defects. Money is needed for research so that the war can be won, just as it was against polio.

Money is also needed for public education of mothers-to-be: proper nutrition and prenatal care are absolutely vital to the health of newborn babies.

The local March of Dimes Chapter will be walking tomorrow during the WalkAmerica — Teamwalk. Registration begins at 8:30 a.m. at Big Spring Mall. Join them, support them, root for them, encourage them. The victory is in sight.

Cowboy call

Walking onto the Muleshoe ranch is like walking back in time 100 years.

Nothing much here has changed in that length of time. The land is still beautiful, rolling hills and the breaks of the caprock. The grass is a little shorter, the mesquites a little thicker, but this land is basically the same as it was when the white men first visited the prairies.

The cattlemen are king here, heads of all their ranches. But if the cattlemen are the heads, the cowboys are the sinew and muscle of the living ranches.

Up in the morning at 5:30 for a sleepy-eyed country breakfast topped with the biting taste of too-strong coffee, the cowboys were out on the job before the sun had begun to climb up the far side of the caprock.

In the gray of the cool morning, saddles creaked with the uncertain rhythm of early-morning, frisky gait.

Weathered and dusty hats rode easily above faces just as weathered and dusty. Bright bandanas were knotted and tucked into jacket collars, as much to keep out the early morning cold as to ward off the dust. Jackets and vests, roping gloves and chaps of all colors and conditions, along with work-worn boots and jingling spurs filled out the picture.

Slickers rode on the cantles of saddles, a precaution against the threatening skies.

Horses danced and jittered, anxious to keep moving in the cool breeze.

THE MEN astride the horses were real cowboys, not the dime-store garden variety so common. Although many had rodeoed at one time or another, they weren't the well-paid athletes who pass for cowboys on the rodeo circuit.

Cowboying's not easy. It means long hours in the saddle and hard work in all kinds of weather.

But it's a kind of life none of these men will forsake.

They're of different ages and backgrounds, but their faces look much the same. And, if you look closely in the right kind of light, the faces are the same ones which stare, tight-lipped, out of pictures taken on long-ago trail drives.

EXCEPT FOR a few modern conveniences, such as propane torches to heat branding irons and pickups to cut down on the time spent horseback, their work is the same today as it was 100 years ago.

"It's a good job," said one, "if that's what you like."

And that sentence sums up how they feel about cowboying. It's not easy, but if you like it, you're hooked.

They can't quit, even if they wanted. The wages aren't real good, they say, but money's not the reason they take the job.

They took the job because they're cowboys, anachronisms in today's world.

Or maybe the world's out of touch with the basic rhythms of life — cool mornings, a good horse, cattle and cowboys.

IRS squealers

I know it is going to come as a surprise to some people, but the Internal Revenue Service has a "squeal" rule. If someone is cheating on his or her taxes, and you tell the IRS where to look, and they manage to collect the hidden money, you can get a reward of up to $50,000.

You would think that the tipster money is what attracts income tax whistle blowers to the IRS, but this is not always the case.

"I would like to see the man in charge of tax cheaters."

"I am that person. May I help you?"

"I want to tell you about a man who bilked you out of two million dollars over five years."

"Before you do, may I ask why you are telling me this?"

"Because I'm a patriotic American, and I feel everyone should pay his fair share of taxes, so we can protect our way of life."

"That's good to hear."

"The person also happens to be my third husband, and you'll never meet a more devious rat in your life."

"Then you have a personal motive in turning him in?"

"There's nothing personal about it. I'd turn him in if he were a stranger. Anyone who runs off with his secretary when he's married to a wonderful woman who gave him the best years of her life deserves to feel the full weight of IRS on him."

"You say he's been cheating on his taxes for five years. Why did you come to us now?"

"I found these love letters in his closet last week. Smell them. Have you ever sniffed such cheap perfume? Now most women would have immediately gone to a lawyer like Marvin Mitchelson. But I'm not the vengeful type. I decided to come here instead. I said to myself, 'Rose, it isn't what he did to you that matters, it's what he did to his country. The money he has cheated from the United States could be the difference between war and peace, freedom and slavery, and prosperity and recession.'"

"Did you say anything else to yourself?"

"Come to think of it, I did. I said, 'Rose, I'd like to see that blonde floozy's face when she sees Milton behind bars.' But that was just a second thought, and it's not why I'm here today."

"I understand that. You say Milton cheated us out of two million dollars. Do you know where the money is?"

"He spend a lot of it. He had a boat, he bought me fur coats, jewelry and a new BMW. Believe me if I knew it was Uncle Sam's money I wouldn't have accepted any of it."

"How did you find out he was not declaring his full income?"

"I discovered he was also paying for a penthouse apartment on Park Avenue for his tootsie, and it suddenly dawned on me it must be coming out of the IRS's pocket. So I immediately came down here to let you know. I can't live with a man who lies on his income tax return."

"Are you aware the IRS pays rewards to people for turning in tax cheaters?"

"I'm not here for the money. I just want to help my country and President Reagan and our fine boys in the armed forces, and the senior citizens and the poor and the homeless, and everyone else who depends on our tax dollars for support. If Milton has to suffer horribly for his cheating ways, I can live with that too."

"Well, Rose, I'll turn you over to our criminal investigators, and you can provide them with the leads for a full investigation. We can't tell you how much we appreciate your visit."

"I was only doing my duty as a citizen."

"We know that, and as a small token of our appreciation we'd like to present you with this American Flag. If it weren't for selfless patriots like yourself, our job would be so much harder."

Pentagon plays movie censor

WASHINGTON — Sharp-eyed viewers of "Special Bulletin," NBC's recent television movie about nuclear terrorism, would have spotted it as fiction even without the repeated disclaimers: The supposed National Guard troops wore no official U.S. Army insignia.

The reason: Movie critics in the Pentagon's Defense Audio Visual Division had refused to let the Charleston, S.C., National Guard unit take part in the film because they didn't approve of its plot.

"Deals with terrorists using nuclear devices; shows duplicity in the government; kills the one man who could stop the device from exploding," the internal critique explained. So the producers' request for authentic National Guard men and equipment was denied, even though the local guardsmen were gung-ho for the idea of appearing on TV.

The audio visual division is the Defense Department's defense department in movie matters. Its job is to make sure that films that use military hardware, real estate or personnel make the armed services look good — or at least don't make them look bad.

Producers who want that touch of authenticity must submit their scripts to the audio visual office. According to the official guidelines, the story must "benefit the Department of Defense or otherwise be in the national interest... authentically portray military life... and comply with accepted standards of dignity and propriety of the industry."

It's a tricky business. While a pro-communist porno flick obviously would get no Pentagon cooperation, some of the censors' judgment calls are hard to understand. Here are some examples my reporter Rhonda Quagliana found among scripts submitted recently:

— A sequence in an upcoming James Bond movie "Octopussy," was allowed to be filmed at an Air Force base in England. But the makers of a rival Bond movie, "Never Say Never Again," were denied the use of a submarine because of this fatal flaw in the script: "Hijacking of missiles in England through Air Force officer's action due to drug addiction. No value for Defense or the government."

— The producers of "The Thornbirds" TV miniseries wanted an Australian-looking dusty road for Richard Chamberlain to drive along in the opening shot. They found the perfect dusty road at Edwards Air Force Base in Southern California. But the Pentagon turned thumbs down: "Has no association with the military. No reason to extend the courtesy as other locations off military property could be found." Sure enough Warner Brothers found an adequate dusty road nearby.

— The script for a "Quincy" episode was judged unacceptable, so permission to use a Navy boat at the Long Beach Naval Base was denied. "Changes (in the script) could not be made as story involves U.S. Navy commander selling secrets to the Soviets and an admiral leaving his wife with a child in the Pacific," the rejection explained. The producers killed the scene.

— Vietnam is a recurring problem for the Pentagon movie reviewers. "Apocalypse Now" got no help. And the producers of "Crying Time" were denied the use of an Air Force base because "participation not appropriate as cases of Vietnam veterans are in litigation claiming that cancer was caused by sprays used in Vietnam."

On the other hand, "The A Team" was given some stock Pentagon film footage "for use behind title to indicate Vietnam background of some of the team." And the makers of "Magnum P.I." prevailed on the Pentagon for two planes and a helicopter to re-enact a "rescue during the war in Vietnam."

VOICE OF EXPERIENCE: President Reagan's plan to use lie detectors to find government leakers is "a cure worse than the ill," according to one of the champion leak chasers of all time. W. Donald Stewart was the Pentagon's chief investigator from 1965 to 1973. He tracked 222 leaks of classified data to their sources.

Stewart faults the Reagan plan as discriminatory, for one thing, inasmuch as only unapproved leaks will be investigated, not those that have official blessing. For another thing, the new system has no provision to determine whether the leaked information has already been made public.

Finally, Stewart said, the failure to warn would-be targets that they have a constitutional right to remain silent will be self-defeating, because it will spoil criminal prosecution of the truly damaging leakers.

In short, Stewart said, the administration's "vacuum sweeper approach" will bring only abuses, lowered morale and general confusion. It will also, he added, dry up some useful leaks of information the public should have.

POLITICAL POTPOURRI: The only language in the House Merchant Marine and Fisheries Committee report on the new maritime bill is a provision that favors smaller ports like Boston. By no coincidence, much of Boston harbor lies in the congressional district of Speaker Thomas P. O'Neill Jr.

The Democrats have seen two of their biggest issues dry up: jobs and Social Security. The jobs bill was passed by the Republican-controlled Senate and signed by President Reagan. Social Security has been rescued by a bipartisan commission. Now the Democrats have grasped at another issue to enhance their claim as the "party of compassion": $2.7 billion for unemployed workers' health insurance. Of course, if this, too, passes...

The baboon is the largest of the monkeys.

Billy Graham

Husband won't go to doctor

DEAR DR. GRAHAM: My husband has a number of medical problems, but he is stubborn and won't see a doctor about them. He says if God wants him to be well, he can heal him without any doctor's help. Do you agree with this? — Mrs. O.E.W.

DEAR MRS. O.E.W.: Certainly God can heal — but he often uses medical science as his method. After all, modern medicines and doctors are able to heal because God has made it possible. He has established the natural laws which govern the universe — including the laws which govern the human body.

Therefore, I do not agree with your husband that he can simply sit back and assume that God will heal him. God may want to heal him of his medical problems, but God may also want to use a medical doctor as his instrument. Therefore, I believe your husband is wrong in not seeking medical attention if he needs it.

We need to remember that God has given our bodies to us, and we are responsible to him for the way we use them. We are to be good stewards or trustees of our bodies, and are not to abuse them. (That is one reason so many of the laws in the Old Testament given to the Israelites had to do with things like proper diet and safeguards against illness.) The Bible says, "Do you not know that your body is a temple of the Holy Spirit, who is in you, whom you have received from God? You are not your own; you were brought at a price. Therefore, honor God with your body" (1 Corinthians 6:19-20). Christ died for us on the cross, and now we are to honor him in every area of our lives, including how we treat our bodies.

I can't help but feel, however, that your husband is perhaps using this idea that God will heal him as an excuse to avoid seeing a doctor. I'm not sure why it is, but many people will do anything they can to avoid seeing a doctor, even when they know it is for the best. They don't want to face the fact that they may have something seriously wrong with them, and they may even be trying to deny the fact that they are mortal and some day will die. This is a spiritual problem, and I pray that your husband will face his need — not only of medical help, but of committing his life to Jesus Christ and seeking to live for him.

ALL ELSE IS COMMENTARY — Dallas Culwell shows in lucid body language that he's not at all pleased with the balmy spring weather Big Spring has experienced of late. Culwell made his observation from a bench at the corner of Third and Main Streets, where he seemed to rest comfortably, despite the weather.

Montford presents plan to back college scholars

Harte-Hanks Austin Bureau

AUSTIN — Sen. John Montford, D-Lubbock, presented a proposal to a Senate committee Wednesday that would set up a state matching fund to attract faculty scholars to state universities in Texas.

As proposed, the bill would encourage private donations to endow chairs, support faculty research and other faculty development projects.

The bill would provide the legal basis for the state to match the interest on the private contributions. Montford's proposal was left as pending business before the Senate Education Committee.

Don Walker, chancellor of the University of Texas System, said a similar fund, which matches private dollars with Available University Fund money, has worked well for the University of Texas.

The Legislative Budget Board staff estimated the cost to the state at approximately $5 million during the next five fiscal years.

Scholarships open

High school seniors interested in an art scholarship to Howard College must submit a portfolio of four to five pieces to Becky Smiley at the college art department. Deadline is Monday. Awards will be made by May 2.

Applications may be obtained by contacting Mrs. Smiley at HC at 263-3848.

Planned Parenthood kicks off campaign

By CAROL HART
Lifestyle Writer

The Big Spring branch of Planned Parenthood kicked off its 1983 fund raising year with a celebration Wednesday at its clinic, 709 Johnson St.

A goal of $90,000 has been set for the fund raising campaign which will run for six weeks.

On hand for the festivities was the Rev. Bill Henning, co-chairman for the Big Spring clinic's fund raising campaign. He will be assisted by John Currie. Also present were officials from the Odessa headquarters and Linda Crossman, family planning specialist with the local Planned Parenthood clinic.

Members of the local Planned Parenthood board include Ann Weaver, Vickie Wendt, Bob Fuller, Essie Person, Mary Thomas, and Bee Zinn.

Ms. Crossman is aided locally by nurse practitioners from Odessa and local volunteers. The clinic is opened from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Friday to offer advice and counseling and to distribute medication. Physical exams are conducted on Mondays and Thursdays.

The local chapter of Planned Parenthood serves around 150 people a month.

Henning, an honorary member of the Planned Parenthood Board, said he agreed to serve as co-chairman for the fund-raising effort because "Planned Parenthood tries to help women and men plan their families carefully and intelligently. They try to inform people about what happens when pregnancy occurs and how best to deal with the fact of pregnancy."

He added that "Planned Parenthood offers counseling, physical exams and referrals to other helping agencies. They also provide cancer screenings, tests for venereal disease and other lab tests."

"I feel it is a vital service to the whole community. Without Planned Parenthood, who would do it? People who can't afford or don't have access to medical care and advice would go without. Planned Parenthood helps them understand what's going on and what their options are."

Henning also addressed critics of the Planned Parenthood program, saying "Critics have not offered a viable option. I'm very positive toward Planned Parenthood."

Nancy Raley, director of community relations, Odessa, said "Planned Parenthood provides a complete range of medical services for family planning. We have the information — the pros and cons — of various birth control methods."

The nurse practitioners who work at Planned Parenthood are registered nurses who train for six-months in a special program which focuses on family planning. The nurse practitioners are authorized to pen prescriptions under the auspices of a doctor.

Locally the Planned Parenthood Clinic operates on a sliding fee scale. Patients are charged according to their ability to pay — based on family income and the number of people living in the home.

The non-profit agency depends on private donations and in part of government funds and is no longer affiliated with the United Way.

Ms. Raley said "About 55 percent of our operating funds come from Federal funds. We'd like to see more support from local funding."

Medical services offered at Planned Parenthood include Pap smears, a check for breast cancer, check of the heart, lungs and thyroid, testing for diabetes and anemia, blood pressure check and a pelvic exam.

Lori Broughton honored

Lori Broughton, bride-elect of Steve Johnson, was honored with a bridal shower at Prairie View Baptist Church, April 14.

Hosting the event were Mmes. Hubert Gilbert, Lou Grant, Eston Hollis, Donald Long, David Newton and R.C. Thomas.

The hostesses presented the honoree with a corsage of pink miniature carnations and white Roseum Pom's trimmed in pink ribbon along with individual gifts. Pink and white corsages also were presented to the honoree's mother, Mrs. Harold Broughton, and her grandmother, Mrs. Merlene Rogers.

Additional special guests were her aunts Mrs. Theda Broughton and Mrs. Jewel Forrest.

Guests were served from a table covered with a white linen cloth with lace and centered with a pink floral arrangement in a brass bowl and two brass candlesticks with pink candles.

The couple plans a July 2 wedding at Prairie View Baptist Church.

Moore Community reunites

Former residents and friends of the Moore Community gathered April 17 in Garrett Hall at First United Methodist Church for their 21st annual reunion. Seventy-seven persons were present.

Oran Nichols presided over the program. Invocation was given by Ted Phillips and Truett Thomas led the singing.

Thomas and Mrs. Richard Reagan sang a duet "Back of the Clouds." The girls' ensemble from First Church of God, the "Morning Star," also sang.

Mrs. Fred Whitaker was speaker. The Rev. Wayne Cook of Lubbock presented the memorial service.

Teachers who taught in the Moore School district were recognized, including Twila Lomax, Arah

Phillips, Mrs. Haskell Grant, Anna Smith and Ted Phillips. Milton Newton, a former trustee, was also recognized.

Following the benediction by Elra Phillips, the group adjourned.

Dear Abby

Reader fires shot in battle of sexes

DEAR ABBY: You have contradicted yourself. "Nameless, Please," an 18-year-old female who became pregnant by a 14-year-old male, was advised (by you) to "leave bad enough alone."

Where is the equality between the sexes now? If the roles were reversed, you would have been all over the male like flies on a garbage truck.

Abby, that girl is guilty of statutory rape! I am not saying she should be sent to jail, but if the sexes are to be treated equally in other respects, then what's good for the gander is good for the goose here, too!

Most males are tired of one-sided equality. ME, TOO

DEAR ME: The 18-year-old female could have been charged with contributing to the delinquency of a minor. But statutory rape? Never! The definition of statutory rape: "Sexual intercourse with a female who is below the statutory age of consent." Case dismissed!

DEAR ABBY: I am a 29-year-old school teacher, living and working 1,500 miles from my hometown.

Last year I fell in love with a wonderful man, and we plan to marry this summer. My parents know of our plans, but they have never met him. (They have spoken on the phone.) He is 33, also in education, and, Abby, he's the kindest, sweetest, most wonderful man I've ever known!

I have put off introducing him to my parents because I know they would never accept him. You see, he is half-Indian and half-black. He's also Southern Baptist. He looks like a cross between Wayne Newton and Sidney Poitier.

Should I wait until after we are married, then bring him to meet them? Or should I write and tell them so they won't be too shocked? I've been agonizing over this for the last three months. How should this be resolved?

WHITE AND CATHOLIC DEAR WHITE: I suggest that you write and tell your parents that your fiancé is half-Indian and half-black. Also, that he's a Southern Baptist. (Send a picture along.) But more important, tell them that he's the kindest, sweetest, most wonderful man you've ever met and you love each other.

Dr. Donohue

Calcium stones: different causes and cures

Dear Dr. Donohue: Can you tell me what one should eat or not eat if one is prone to forming kidney stones? My son has had at least 20 stones in the past years. Some he passed, but several had to be removed. He has calcium stones. — Mrs. A.B.

This is a touchy subject. If this were in insurance policy, I'd tell you to read the fine print.

To begin with, even though you know the chemical makeup of your son's stones, the question of diet is not that cut and dried. Sometimes a gland problem can lead to calcium-stone formation. The glands involved are the parathyroids, which make a hormone that maintains the blood calcium level on even keel. If the parathyroids make too much of their hormone the result can be blood calcium overload and eventual stone formation. So repeated stone formation may not result from diet, but from the gland problem and the treatment then directed toward that. I'm sure this search has been made in your son's case.

Now, say there is no endocrine (gland) problem. Then the causes narrow down to either overabsorption of calcium from the food eaten or too much calcium being filtered into the kidneys. Those are two different problems with different approaches. Even now one cannot say that your son would automatically have to limit his calcium intake. Only the doctor can arrive at the ultimate diagnosis and have his say about that.

I am not dodging your question. For those of you who must limit calcium intake, dairy products are the ones that have to be watched. Such people are generally permitted the equivalent of two glasses of milk or 4.5 ounces of cheese daily.

There are other guides for all stone-formers, no matter the cause. They must keep themselves well-hydrated. If they don't stones may form. They should drink three quarts of water during the day and one or two more at night.

Some calcium-stone formers benefit from use of thiazide diuretics. That keeps calcium out of the urine and helps prevent stone formation. I'm not sure which approach is best for your son. He should talk this over with his doctor.

Dr. Donohue welcomes reader mail but regrets that, due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

'Stars' shine for MOD walk-a-thon

Saturday over 200 Big Spring "Stars," including a 7-Eleven store team and a Coors distributorship team from Midland, will walk 10 miles to show their support for the March of Dimes in a nationwide observance of WalkAmerica/Teamwalk.

Volunteer individuals and teams will collect donations from sponsors to be used to fight birth defects and support research.

Registration for the walk is at 8:30 a.m. at the Big Spring Mall on FM 700. State Sen. John Montford of Lubbock and state Rep. Larry Don Shaw of Big Spring will fly in to join Mayor Clyde Angel and other local dignitaries in a 15-minute symbolic walk. A limousine from Nalley-Pickle Funeral Home will carry the symbolic walkers back to the mall.

During registration, WalkAmerica caps and buttons, route maps and balloons will be handed out by Big Spring High School cheerleaders. The high school band will play as the procession starts. The Howard College cheerleaders will cheer on the walkers as the Presidential Classics of Howard College lead the walk with a WalkAmerica banner.

Big Spring police will patrol the walk. At five checkpoints paramedic students and the Presidential Classics will attend walkers. The National Guard will provide water at two checkpoints and 7-Eleven stores will distribute coupons for free drinks at their two checkpoints.

"Poop-out" cars will be available for those who wish to discontinue walking and return to the mall for their prizes.

Those raising sufficient funds for their categories will receive the listed prizes even if the walk is not completed. Those who finish the walk will receive as a bonus a free "Whopper" from Burger King.

Walkers who raise $50 or more will receive a free movie pass; $75 or more a free Burger King meal every month for a year; and $100 or more a WalkAmerica T-shirt and a Grog March of Dimes thermal mug.

The walker who raises the most sponsorship money gets a trip for two to Orlando, Fla., provided by Places and Pleasures Travel Agency and American Airlines.

Two Mgnavox radios donated by Proctor & Gamble will be given to the youngest and oldest participants. One month's supply of Enfamil infant formula donated by Mead & Johnson will be awarded to the first new mother reporting in from the walk.

All participants should report back to the prize desk on their return from the walk. The Outlaws, a band from the Big Spring Federal Prison Camp, will welcome the returning walkers.

Volunteers unable to walk should mail their contributions to the March of Dimes, Box 2767, Big Spring, 79721 by April 30 to remain eligible for prizes. Or phone 263-3014.

Proposal would limit oil well fresh water injection system

Harte-Hanks Austin Bureau
AUSTIN - A House committee has approved a proposal that would prohibit enhanced oil recovery operations from using the state's shrinking fresh water for underground injection unless it is the only fluid available.

Sponsored by Rep. Gerald Geistweidt, R-Mason, the bill was spawned by a House Natural Resources Committee study.

The proposal would require an operator to receive Texas Railroad Commission permission to use fresh water for enhanced recovery. The bill has been referred to the local and consent House calendar — reserved for legislation without opposition.

The commission could grant the permit for fresh water use only if it determined that no other substance was economically or technically feasible.

While making their study of natural resource problems last year, legislators heard testimony that decreasing fresh water supplies are being used for oil recovery operations — especially in West Texas.

Geistweidt said the proposal is "a bill the industry says it can live with." Shell Oil Co. representative Jim Conner, testified that the legislation is "good policy."

Scott Anderson, representing the Texas Independent Producers and Royalty Owners Association in support of the bill, said group members were uncomfortable with the "state interfering with their inalienable property rights" but agreed that the "last drop" of water in West Texas shouldn't be used for oil recovery.

Ralph Hoelscher, a San Angelo-area agriculture producer who has testified frequently on behalf of preserving fresh water, said there is plenty of underground salt water available for the job.

Enhanced oil recovery operations call for the injection of substances into the oil reservoir to increase pressure and thereby boost production.

Another Geistweidt proposal, which was part of legislation recently approved by the House to create a well plugging fund, also has won unanimous committee approval. The bill would guarantee that landowners would not be held responsible for the cost of plugging an abandoned well on their property.

Lady Steers aim for state

By GREG JAKLEWICZ
Sports Editor

LUBBOCK — Big Spring High entered quality, if not quantity at the Region I-5A girl's track meet here today.

The meet for Class AA and 5-A schools began this morning at 9:30 a.m. on the Texas Tech campus. The first local entry was Shell Rutledge who long jumped at 11 a.m. Running prelims begin this afternoon at 1:30 p.m. with the Lady Steers hoping to qualify both sprint and 800 relays and Rutledge in the 200 meters for Saturday's finals.

Big Spring, runners-up in District 4-5A last year, were third as a team at this meet as Carla Jackson won the triple and long jumps and the 200 meters. Rutledge was third in the 200, getting nudged out of a trip to Austin by Patty Pope of El Paso and Andrea at the tape.

The Lady Steers finished only fifth in the district meet this year as Odessa Permian sped away with the league championship.

Mojo won both the sprint and 800 relays, both times nipping Big Spring at the tape. The Lady Steers led in the sprint relay only to have Juanita Kelly, a transfer from Ector, overtake BSHS freshman Aretha Cork in the final stretch. Permian was clocked in 50.1 and Big Spring in 50.2.

Amarillo, Tascosa and Copperas Cove have all run under 50 seconds meaning Big Spring must run its best time of the year to make it to the state meet.

With Rutledge running the anchor leg, the Lady Steers almost caught Permian in the 800 relay. Mojo broke the district record with a 1:44.3 but the BSHS senior closed to within a step as Big Spring was clocked in 1:44.4. That time also topped the previous district best.

Big Spring's biggest hope is Rutledge. Both Jackson and Pope have departed the high school ranks leaving the speedy Lady Steer as the favorite to win the event.

She ran a 24.98 here last year to finish third. Her best this season was a 25.07 in San Angelo but in a special preliminary race she ran by herself, Rutledge clocked a 24.9. That was just two-tenths of a second off her own district record of 24.7.

She ran a 25.02 in the finals to win.

Rutledge is also long jumping. With a 16-10 her season best, she changed her take-off foot to her left and sailed 17-7 1/2 in the finals at district to zoom from seventh place to second. Penny Griffin of Midland won with an 18-1/4 effort.

Janet Fleckenstein is the alternate in the 800 meters after finishing third in district.

Workouts this week were light said coach Anna Ezzell Thursday. The main emphasis was on handoffs, a stumbling block for the Lady Steers this year. Smooth handoffs could make the difference in both relays, along with avoiding a false start. Fleckenstein jumped in the 1,600 relay here last year, disqualifying her team.

REALLY READY FOR THE RELAY — Coahoma High sent 10 individuals to the Region I-AAA meet today in Odessa. All three Bulldogette relay teams qualified including the 1,600-meter unit. The

Area girls travel to regionals

Few track teams can muster 10 quality athletes. The Bulldogettes of Coahoma High School are 10 strong today at the Region I-AAA meet in Odessa.

Coahoma won its sixth straight district title two weeks ago and hopes to improve on a third place finish at the regional meet here last year. The Bulldogettes totaled 55 points to finish behind Dalhart and Slaton last year.

Three athletes advanced to the state tournament in Austin. Becky Creech was second in the high jump (5-3); Vickie Buchanan second in the discus (114-5); and Gayla Paige second in the 100 hurdles (14.95).

Paige has left for Howard College but Creech and Buchanan are two favorites to repeat their trips to the state meet.

Creech, only a sophomore, won the high jump again at district and matched her regional jump with a 5-3 at a regional qualifier's meet in Wall. Buchanan pulled a groin last week and was hampered at Wal. She has tossed the discus over 120-feet this year.

Two other Bulldogettes with good shots at winning gold or silver at Odessa College are multi-talented junior Tobie Henry and senior Julie Nairn.

Henry runs the 400 consistently under 60 seconds and finished third at regionals last year in 58.4. She's back in her specialty and has improved her long and triple jumps. She's triple-jumped 35-6 at the Wall qualifier's meet and coach Bill Dennis thinks she can advance to Austin in one of the two jumping events.

Nairn has improved dramatically this spring. She qualified in both the 100 and 200. Dennis again thinks his athlete could make the state meet in one of the two sprints.

Forsan, Garden City running in Abilene

ABILENE — Athletes representing Forsan and Garden City compete today in the Region II-A meet at McMurry College here in Abilene.

The meet began Thursday with finals in the shot put and long jump in field events and the 3,200 run.

Forsan entered Lorri Roman in the 400 and 100 low hurdles. Teresa White in the 400 and high jump and Vicky Baggett in the 1,600 and 3,200. Baggett finished fourth in the 3,200 with a 13:14.62.

Competing for Garden City is half-miler Gena Schaefer and both the 800 and 1,600 relays. Schaefer has run a 2:23.0 in the 800. The foursome of Marianne Hoelscher, Jana Hunter, Carole Hoelscher and Stacy Wilkerson has run a 1:52.0 in the 800 relay while the Hoelschers, Hunter, Schaefer and Wilkerson have gone 1,600 in 4:14.0.

Both Schaefer (2:30.20) and the 1,600 relay (4:14.12) had the best qualifying times Thursday.

Coahoma is entering all three relays teams. The sprint foursome is made up of Henry, freshman Leslie Kirkpatrick, sophomore Gina Hudson and freshman Stephanie Dobbs. On the 800 relay are Kirkpatrick, Buchanan, Creech and Dobbs while the 1,600 team is comprised of Henry, Buchanan, Hudson and Nairn.

Since Buchanan has been hobbled, freshman Shellie Dorn or Nairn could substitute for her on the relays.

Other entries for the Bulldogettes are senior Jana Higgins in the high jump and junior Jana Griffin in the 800 meters.

That's a lot of folks to be taking to a regional meet. "We had 30 plus in our program this year out of 55 or so girls we have out for athletics," Dennis said. "They compete out here, they really get it up. You've got to have some talent...most of the coaching I do is preparation. Occasionally I will work their hines off. But I admire kids who will come out and work."

Colorado City will also be well-represented at the regional meet. Sandra Williams won both the 100 and 200 at district to qualify for Lubbock while the Wolves will run the spring and 800 relays.

Making up the sprint relay, which has the No. 5 best time (50.65) in the Abilene area, are Holly Caplen, Stacy Free, Tomika Randall and Williams with Robyn Turner replacing Randall to form the district champion 800 relay team.

Stacy Hamric and Loretta Morris have also made the trip. Hamric was second in the discus while Morris finished No. 2 in the low hurdles at the chilly 6-AAA meet hosted by City.

Region I-A at Levelland
LEVELLAND — Representatives from Grady, Greenwood and Klondike began their quests for regional gold here today.

The top performer from the area is Cougarette Dawna West who qualified for the Region I-A meet in four events. She will triple jump with Greenwood's Renny Evans at 10 a.m. Saturday after running preliminaries today in the 100 low hurdles, 100 meters and 400

Youthful Steers face uphill day at 4-5A meet

By GREG JAKLEWICZ
Sports Editor

ODESSA — Coach Randy Britton capulized his team's strategy at the District 4-5A meet in one sentence Thursday: "We don't have a chance to win it, so we'll just try for our personal bests."

That's prevailing attitude today as the Big Spring High Steers track team tests its youth and inexperience against seven other schools at the district track and field meet here at Ratliff Stadium.

Britton knows his team will be fighting just to stay out of the cellar and just scoring points will be a major victory. Big Spring took 22 varsity athletes to the all-day meet and 19 junior varsity performers, 15 of which are freshmen.

"That's where our future is," Britton said. "We'll just try to pump the other kids up...for some of them, it's their last meet. Maybe they can go out and leave something for next year."

The meet began today at 12 noon with field events and continues with running preliminaries at 1:30 p.m. Finals resume at 7 p.m. under the lights.

Although a team championship is just a dream, Britton has several hopes in the meet. The best chance for points comes in the pole vault where senior Steven Croyle, junior Billy Wegner and sophomore Mike Owens are entered. Senior Tony Randle could place high in the long jump while senior weightman Monte Lamb is a possible in both the discus and shot put.

Big Spring could score in the relays. Junior Eric Sherman, Randle, junior Dale Crenshaw and senior John Roemer make up the sprint relay which ran a season best 45.0 in a dual practice meet last week against Midland High.

Roemer, sophomore Derek Logback, Sherman and Richard Hilario make up the 1,600 relay which has turned in a best of 3:35.0.

How do those compare with the rest of the district? Midland Lee has run a 41.7 in the sprint while Permian has gone 3:15.5 in the 1,600 relay.

Other entries for Big Spring include senior Bret Crenwelge, junior John DeLeon and sophomore Preston Harrison in the 3,200; junior Teddy Hernandez and sophomore Lupe Garza in the 800; and Crenshaw, senior David Johnson and sophomore Mike Higgins in the high hurdles.

Hilario, Higgins and junior Roddy Fair will run the 400 while Crenshaw, Logback and Johnson will try the 300 intermediate hurdles. Roemer, Randle and Fair are entered in the 200 with Garza, junior Danny Rubio and junior Ricky Garza will go in the 1,600 meter run.

Big Spring has no entries in the 100 meters.

Randle will also high jump while juniors Jimmy Crealey and Fabian Salazar will put the shot. Both will toss the discus along with Lamb.

"You know, even with our seniors we're still inexperienced," Britton said, smiling. "Monte and Bret really are our only two experienced kids."

"They've done a good job this year," he continued, "but we've just been short on talent because of inexperience and our youthness. We do look good for the future."

Kansas inks Burleson

LAWRENCE, Kan. — Stuart Burleson, the all-state basketball, track and tennis standout at Greenwood High School, has signed a national letter of intent with the University of Kansas.

Kansas coach Bob Timmons made the announcement Thursday. "Stuart is an outstanding student-athlete," said assistant coach Steve Kueffer.

Burleson will compete in the high jump for Kansas. He soared over 7-0 as junior at the state meet in Austin last year and won the District 6-A title Wednesday.

A multi-talented athlete, he was a four-time all-district choice in basketball and was twice named all-state. Burleson also won the Class A singles title last year and again entered the playoffs with a 6-A championship.

The Greenwood senior may try to make the Kansas basketball team.

Reagan Co. was second.

Jones falls in sudden death

PATRICIA JONES falls in sudden death

LUBBOCK — Patricia Jones bogeyed the first hole of a sudden death playoff to miss out on a trip to the state Class 5-A golf tournament here Thursday afternoon.

In the final team standings, defending state champion Westwood High School of Round Rock fired a 724 to win the Region I-5A tournament by 22 strokes over Fort Worth L.D. Bell. Big Spring finished seventh in the 16-team field, matching Wednesday's 406 score.

Midland High's Kelle Mobley, fourth in the medalist race after a first round 86, blew by the field with a 79 Thursday to capture top individual honors. She left three golfers tied for second including Jones.

Denton at 166, a shot of Mobley's pace. On the first playoff hole, She was tied with Kim Derks of Arlington Heights and Biffy Klein of Jones shanked her second shot and could only bogey the hole. Derks and Klein pored the hole to remain alive in the playoff.

Derks three-putted the second hole while Klein pored, sending the Denton player to state.

"I think the pressure might have gotten to Patricia," coach Howard Stewart said. "There were about 75 people watching and I don't think she was used to that. I'm real proud of them to get this far."

Big Spring played the two-day tournament with only four players. Freshman Pam Martinez shot a 96-104 — 200, Sandra Arellano a 112-105 — 217 and Deborah Edwards a 116-113 — 229.

Paducah won the Class AA tournament while Vonnie Gomez of Van Horn claimed medalist honors with an 84-90 — 174. Stanton finished with a 1,043 total while district rival

Atlanta gears up for Boston

By The Associated Press
The Atlanta Hawks, having played a confidence game the past couple of days, now have to play Boston again, knowing that a loss to the visiting Celtics will bring their 1982-83 National Basketball Association season to an end.

It's the second game of their best-of-three mini-series, with the eventual winner advancing to the Eastern Conference semifinals against the Milwaukee Bucks.

In tonight's other mini-series meeting, the Portland Trail Blazers can eliminate the visiting Seattle SuperSonics and head for Los Angeles and a meeting with the Lakers in the Western Conference semifinals.

On Thursday night, the New York Knicks completed their two-game sweep of New Jersey, beating the visiting Nets 105-99 to advance to the second round against Philadelphia.

Astros edge Reds, 4-3

HOUSTON (AP) — The scenario was all too familiar for reliever Frank LaCorte and the Houston Astros. Another loss for LaCorte in late innings appeared to be in store after the Cincinnati Reds scored in the top of the 10th inning Thursday night.

But Phil Garner came to the rescue, driving in two runs with a ground-rule double in the bottom of the 10th, to lift the Astros to a 4-3 triumph.

After starter Bob Knepper and impressive rookie Bill Dawley had held the Reds to a stalemate over nine innings, LaCorte entered with his 0-2 record and 8.10 earned-run average.

LaCorte did nothing to improve his statistics, giving up a run on Johnny Bench's two-out single to left.

"I thought, here we go again," LaCorte said. "I was going to be the goat for the third time."

The Astros, who have won four of six games after an 0-9 start, got to Reds reliever Tom Hume, 0-2, for the second time in three nights.

Omar Morena and Kevin Bass led off the 10th inning with singles, and Dickie Thon was walked intentionally. Garner, who knocked in all four Houston runs, lofted a fly over center fielder Eddie Milner to the warning track to end the game.

"When I first hit the ball, I felt like it was deep enough to score the tying run,

Tough Oriole pitching stymies Rangers, 3-2

BALTIMORE (AP) — It's been difficult to score against Baltimore pitchers of late, except when the Orioles make defensive mistakes.

After scoring two unearned runs in the first inning Thursday, on top of a whopping nine tainted tallies on Wednesday night, the Texas Rangers were throttled at the plate.

Jim Palmer, Tippy Martinez and Tim Stoddard allowed only four hits the rest of the way before the Orioles won 3-2 in the 14th inning as the Rangers failed to turn an inning-ending double play.

After George Wright and Bobby Johnson singled in the fifth, only two of the next 31 batters reached base — one on an error.

Nicklaus grabs lead at Champions tourney

CARLSBAD, Calif. (AP) — Jack Nicklaus had a quick, and possibly tongue-in-cheek, explanation for the 7-under-par 65 that staked him to a two-stroke lead in the $400,000 MONY Tournament of Champions.

"I didn't have an opportunity to have my Masters letdown this year," Nicklaus said Thursday after he had scattered eight birdies across his card in his lowest round of the year, an effort that erased any doubts about the lingering effects of his ailing back.

"You found a way to end all that talk about your back, didn't you?" he was asked. Nicklaus responded with an elaborate wink.

Nicklaus, winner of a record 17 major professional championships, had to withdraw from the Masters in Augusta, Ga., two weeks ago when he suffered severe back spasms.

"I always try to build up for Augusta," said Nicklaus, 43. "This year I had prepared well, had my game in good shape. And then I didn't get a chance to use it. Maybe I'm just having some carry-over," he said.

Nicklaus, a five-time winner of this event that brings together only the winners of PGA Tour titles from the last 12 months, won his first T of C title 20 years ago and his last in 1977.

"About time to have a renewal," said Nicklaus, who birdied all of the par-5 holes on the La Costa Country Club course and dropped a couple of 30-foot putts.

"Obviously, I played well. It's my low score of the year. Not only did I play well, I putted well and that's a nice thing to have happen," he said.

Defending champion Lanny Wadkins, the first man off the tee at the 6,911-yard resort course, shot a 67 in a round that required only two hours, 50 minutes to complete. "That's fun," said Wadkins, one of the fastest players in the game. "I can't remember not having to wait on any shot. That's great."

After 18 holes, he was tied for second with Hal Sutton, who holed a bunker shot for a birdie on the 10th, and Gary Koch.

Ray Floyd, the PGA champion, was next in the field of only 28 players with a 68.

At 69 were former T of C winner Johnny Miller, Craig Stadler and Tom Kite, the year's leading money-winner.

Tom Watson continued to have his problems, however. Watson, who missed the cut last week as the defending champion in the Heritage Classic, lost four shots to par over the last three holes, a 5-7-5 finish, and shot 76.

THE LIGHT TOUCH
By Sherry Wegner

Hi! This is Lusara Wegner filling in. Sherry, my mother-in-law being a mellow together person called me asking if I would do "A" small favor for her while she was out of town. I said I'd be glad to, then she began:

- Would I bake a birthday cake for Billy.
- Would I babysit the teenagers Billy & Toni, plus Marga an extra she volunteered to keep. One goes to track practice, one to an after-school job, and one to driver's ed. They are finished at 6:00, 7:00, and 5:00.
- Would I work at the store. (Only 3 weeks of tickets to post, the phone, the customers, and one truck of feed to unload.)

(ALONE)
• Would I write the Light Touch, you have one hour before deadline.

The deadline to sign up for All-Risk and Multi-Peril Crop Insurance is April 30. It may not protect you from your mother-in-law, but it will protect your crop. Big Spring Seed & Chemical, 602 N.E. 2nd.

from the CARROLL RICHTER INSTITUTE

FORECAST FOR SATURDAY, APR. 23, 1983

GENERAL TENDENCIES: A day to take no chances, but make a special point to coordinate your efforts with others so you can handle duties requiring your undivided attention. You can accomplish much now.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Try to avoid arguments with allies today or it could turn into something serious. Make sure to keep your promises.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Keep busy attending to chores without relying so much on others. Do something thoughtful for a special friend.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Be content with simple pleasures that don't cost much money. Follow your intuition which is accurate at this time.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Try to be more considerate at home and establish more harmony. The evening can be a most exciting time.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Make sure you listen to ideas of associates and try to cooperate more with them. Speak more clearly and concisely.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) If you are too extravagant now, you could jeopardize your present comfortable position. Improve your health.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Take a deep look into yourself and make plans for improvement, healthwise and careerwise. Express a talent you have.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Not a good day for investigating so get busy attending to necessary duties. Lend a helping hand to a good friend.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Keep away from an individual who never fails to either bring trouble or be in trouble. Make plans for the future.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Listen to what good friends have to say and follow their ideas to the letter for best results. Show more affection for loved one.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Spend some time looking into the facts and costs of new project before getting yourself involved. Use common sense.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Your hunches are not working as accurately now as usual, so don't follow them. Use your finest judgment instead.

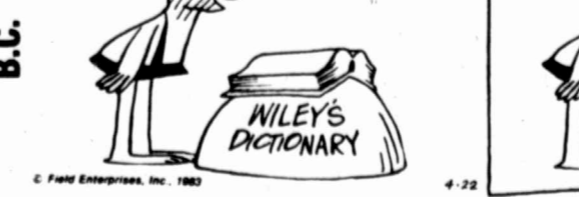

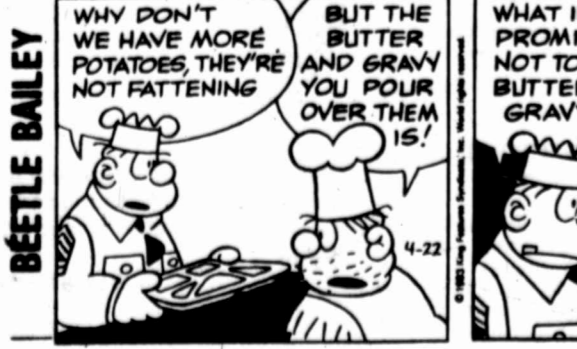

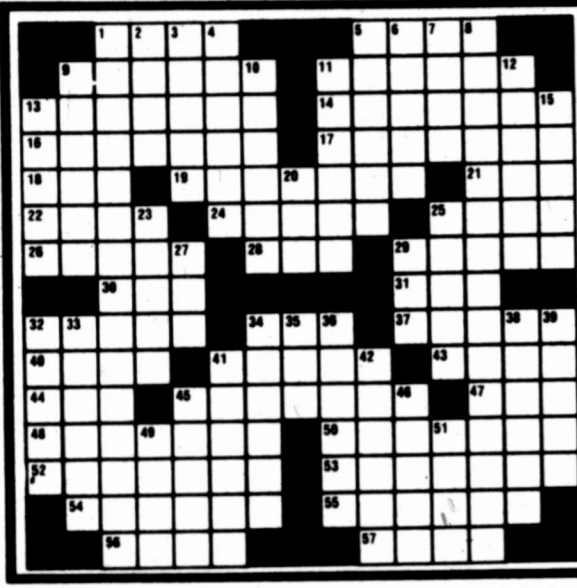

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he or she will be eager to get along well with others, but if too many favors are extended, it could lead to trouble. There is much talent in this chart, so send to the finest schools. Give ethical training early in life.

"The Stars impel, they do not compel." What you make of your life is largely up to you!

Spring Festival set Saturday

Several activities are planned for the Immaculate Heart of Mary Catholic School Festival slated Saturday at the school, 1009 Hearn Street.

At noon today a Festival King and Queen will be crowned in the school cafeteria. Sister Lucy Keene, principal of Immaculate Heart of Mary School, said that every penny students earn for the school is counted as a vote. First, second and third runners-up also will be named.

The Festival officially opens at 10 a.m. Saturday. Indoor meals, available throughout the day, will include coffee, tea, burritos, tamales, gorditas, Mexican dinners, barbecue and desserts.

Parents of children at the school have spent the last two weeks preparing for the festival.

Merchandise booths will be set up at the school grounds. Booths will feature arts and crafts, cascarones, balloons and green plants.

Concession booths will feature nachos, cokes, cotton candy, popcorn, potato chips, pickles, candy, hamburgers and snow cones. A country store booth will be set up on the grounds.

Game booths will include baseball pitch, basketball throw, bean bag toss, cake wheel, penny pitch, darts, dime dish, fish pond, golf, ring toss and tic tac toe.

Other games will be stuffed animal wheel, dice game, prize wheel, sponge throw, jailhouse, racing cars and rip off bingo.

Spanish and country western bands are scheduled to play throughout the day Saturday.

Bingo is scheduled for 7 p.m. And raffle tickets will be on sale throughout the day. Names of winners in the raffle will be drawn at 10 p.m. First prize is a 1982 Mazda Sports Truck. Second prize is a set of tires. Third prize is a gun cabinet. Fourth prize is $100. Fifth prize is an Atari. Winners need not be present to win. Tickets are $2.

Frances Flores is festival chairman.

Society to celebrate birthday

The Saint Vincent de Paul Society of the Greater Permian Basin will celebrate its 150th birthday at 3 p.m. Sunday in Stanton at St. Joseph's Catholic Church.

The Saint Vincent de Paul Society is a charitable organization which aids the needy. According to June Wiggins, president of the local Society, the organization was formed in Paris by a group of college students who were asked "What are you doing to show your faith?" They began working in the community visiting shut-ins and providing food to the needy.

From its small beginning, the Society has now grown into an international organization.

Although locally it is based at the Immaculate Heart of Mary Church, it is open to persons of all faiths interested in aiding the needy. Mrs. Wiggins said "we are encouraging people to attend the special Mass" on Sunday, which will be celebrated by the Rev. Louis Droll.

The birthday Sunday will be hosted by the Saint Vincent de Paul Society council and will be open to guests from throughout the diocese. Wayne Rock, spiritual director for the local organization, will present a program during the celebration.

In addition to the Mass, the host chapter in Stanton will give programs on the importance of helping the sick, providing for transients and aiding the hungry of the area.

Refreshments will be served.

Handbell festival nears

The First United Methodist Church will host their third annual Handbell Festival today and Saturday in the church fellowship hall.

The festival will feature clinic director David R. Davidson, national president of the American Guild of English Handbell Ringers, Inc., from Cincinnati, Ohio.

About 300 registrants from 22 handbell choirs across Texas and New Mexico are scheduled to participate.

Friday night will be the directors workshop. Mass ringing and solo groups will be featured Saturday.

The public is invited to the festival finale Saturday from 4:15 p.m. to 5 p.m. in Garrett Hall.

Sunday morning activities will include bell choirs participating in worship services in local churches. Davidson will direct the First United Methodist Bell Choirs. The Highland Christian Church Ringers of Dallas will ring at First Christian Church. The First Presbyterian Church Agape Bell Choir of Longview will ring at the First Presbyterian Church.

Drug kingpins netted in sweep, officials say

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — Most of the 59 people indicted on narcotics charges in two states were in custody today, capping a year-long federal investigation that netted three alleged drug kingpins, authorities said.

The indictments paralyzed one of this country's "largest and most organized criminal organizations," according to Marion W. Hambrick, special agent-in-charge of the Drug Enforcement Administration office in Houston.

The arrests began Wednesday, and the indictments were unsealed the next day in San Antonio, Austin and New Orleans.

A 20-count indictment naming 32 people was unsealed here Thursday as part of the investigation, dubbed Operation Bushmaster after a deadly South African snake.

Sixteen people also were indicted in Austin on related narcotics charges and 11 in New Orleans, according to Charles Carter, head of the DEA's office here.

Three Houston men were indicted here on charges of continuing criminal enterprise, accused of acting as kingpins for international operations.

The focus of the investigation, Hambrick said, was the Dempsey Merida organization of Houston, which the indictment said imported and distributed large quantities of heroin, cocaine and cocaine paste, marijuana and methamphetamines.

Merida, 55, attorney Charles T. Newlin, 36, and William Thomas "Red" Follis, 51, were jailed on bonds of $1 million each on the continuing criminal enterprise charges.

Thirty-one other people were in custody today on bonds ranging from $50,000 to $1 million.

The bulk of the indictments came out of San Antonio because the defendants traveled through the Western District as part of their drug dealings, according to Assistant U.S. Attorney Bill Blagg.
