

Cotton farmers hopeful for comeback crop

DALLAS (AP) — Cotton farmers on the Texas High Plains say their spirits have been buoyed by a moist spring and a bountiful federal farm program that could give them the good crop many need to survive.

"A lot of farmers are gung-ho about getting their crops in," said Richard Barron of Shallowater.

Not since the Depression have farmers needed to have a good year, agribusness observers say.

"For a lot of them, it's the difference between hanging on and not hanging on," said Fred Lundgren, coordinator of a Texas Department of Agriculture family-farm advisory committee.

"This year is going to break or make a lot of people. For the small farmer, he either has to make it this year, or next year, he's going to be closed down by the bank," Barron said.

The early-spring snows have left the ground moist, and farmers hope it will dry by the second week of May, when most of them plant. But the moisture has spared many farmers the expense of pre-watering their fields.

Also contributing to the optimism for 1983 is the U.S. Department of Agriculture Payment in Kind program, which President Reagan unveiled at the American Farm Bureau Federation convention in Dallas in January.

The PIK program is aimed at raising the price the farmer gets for his grain and cotton by depleting the large surpluses of those crops that have kept prices depressed.

Farmers enrolled in PIK agree to take on as much as half of their acreage out of production, and are paid with surplus cotton or grain. The program guarantees them a yield at a lower production cost and without risks of bad weather.

"That's the only alternative we had," said Barron, who let half of his 520 acres lie fallow this year. "There was nothing else to do."

VIDEO JUNKIE — Beulah Routh of Mountain View Lodge enjoys a little video-gaming at the controls of the Pac Man game in the Big Spring nursing home. The game provides an outlet for the residents' competitive instincts and helps keep their minds active.

Peering intently at the video screen, she maneuvered the gobbling creature through the maze, dodging ghosts Blinky and Inky to gather points.

Exclaiming with dismay, Beulah Routh, 80, finally ended her Ms. Pac Man game at the Mountain View Lodge.

The Ms. Pac Man video game at the Big Spring nursing home is the brainchild of administrator Bill Hendrix. The game has been installed in the recreation room since December of 1982, according to Activity Director Alene Witte.

"I love all sorts of games — 42, moon, dominoes. They call us the juveniles; sometimes we play till midnight or so."

"I enjoy any kind of challenge," James said as he sent Ms. Pac Man gobbling through the middle. "I'm working on two Rubik's Cubes now." Beulah says she doesn't like to just sit and "watch the others sit around." Pac Man helps keep her mind on something besides herself, she said.

"I love all sorts of games — 42, moon, dominoes," Beulah said. Gesturing to a group of ladies playing dominoes, she adds, "They call us the juveniles; sometimes we play till midnight or so."

Hendrix said the video game should be good therapy for the residents because it exercises their minds. The game should make them more alert, he said.

"Ahh, I'm getting nowhere," Beulah cried as Ms. Pac Man is stopped again. "I get as nervous as if there was money up on this."

Hunt Oil plans local plant

By BOB CARPENTER
Staff Writer

Hunt Oil Co. of Dallas recently filed for a state permit to construct an amine gas treating plant 4.5 miles southwest of Big Spring.

According to Jim Oberwetter, director of public affairs for Hunt, the plant will remove the liquids and acids, making the natural gas ready for processing.

Oberwetter said although application for construction has been made, Hunt is continuing to conduct tests to determine if enough gas reserves are available to make the plant cost effective.

"We are not sure we're going to build the plant pending development of the field," Oberwetter said. "I can't really say when those tests will be completed other than it will be sometime this year."

In addition to finding adequate gas reserves, the Hunt plan must also win approval from the Texas Air Control Board, showing the company will comply with all the rules and regulations of the TACB and the federal government.

The company proposes to emit sulfur dioxide, oxides of Nitrogen and hydrogen sulfide into the air. Hydrogen sulfide has the characteristic smell of rotten eggs, according to Howard College chemistry instructor Melva Griffin.

Currently, two similar plants owned by Exxon and Gem Petroleum operate in that area of the county, according to Hunt officials.

The executive director of the TACB is now soliciting written comments from the public on construction of the plant and will accept opinions until May 23. The comments will be taken into consideration before the board makes its decision on the permit.

A copy of materials submitted by Hunt Oil Co. is available for public inspection at the TACB Region 6 office at 1901 E. 37th St. in Odessa.

Oberwetter said if all goes as planned, construction would probably begin in fall for a facility that could handle about a million and a half feet of natural gas a day.

He said the plant would be "relatively small" and emit "small amounts of hydrogen sulfide."

Elderly couple bound, robbed

By CAROL DANIEL
Staff Writer

Two tall white men bearing a pot of chrysanthemums and a handgun tied and gagged an elderly Big Spring couple yesterday afternoon and robbed them of $320.

Mrs. Reva Montgomery, 77, said she and her 86-year-old diabetic husband, J.E. Montgomery, were relaxing in their home at Barcelona Apartments about 12:45 p.m. when they heard two knocks at the door.

Mrs. Montgomery — still clad in pajamas — opened the door and saw two white men between 30 and 40 years old and about 6 feet tall. One of them held a pot of chrysanthemums in his hands, she said. They did not wear masks.

"I went to answer, but I didn't open the door too wide because I didn't have clothes on," Mrs. Montgomery said. "The man in front — I noticed there were two of them — had a pot of chrysanthemums in his hand."

"He said 'Mrs. Montgomery?' and I said 'Yes,'" she continued. "He said, 'I have some flowers for you.' I said 'Oh?' So I opened the door to take them and he just pushed me back and came right in."

The men forced their way into the darkened hallway and told her to turn around and place her hands on the wall, she said. Then they bound her wrists together with tape.

"Monty (her husband), he's hard of hearing, he kept calling and yelling 'what's happening, what's happening?'" Mrs. Montgomery said.

One of the robbers told Mrs. Montgomery to quieten her husband or they would tape his mouth, which they did.

"I asked them 'please don't tape my mouth, I'll just stand here and not do anything and I'll keep him quiet,'" Mrs. Montgomery said.

The robbers didn't tape her mouth, but ordered the retired couple to go into the bedroom where they taped their ankles and Mr. Montgomery's wrists.

"I said, 'listen, I have a little money that I'll gladly give to you if you won't hurt us. Just go away and leave us alone,'" Mrs. Montgomery said. "He (the robber) just looked at me. Monty said he had a check he could give them, but they weren't interested in a check."

Hail, habits drive insurance rates up

By BOB CARPENTER
Staff Writer

Every vehicle damaged in Big Spring and Howard County drives up the average resident's automobile insurance premium, and bad driving and bad weather here have put a dent in the area's basic insurance rates.

According to Gaylon Daniel, statistician and rate developer with the State Board of Insurance in Austin, Howard County auto insurance premiums rank high when compared to other sections of the state.

The state board has divided Texas into 40 geographic regions for rating purposes. Howard is in Region 25 along with Scurry, Midland and Ector counties.

Of those 40 regions, only nine are higher than Region 25, Daniel said. Why are Howard County rates higher than some of the surrounding areas?

Daniel said it simply boils down "to the fact that the county's region has more losses which, in turn, causes insurance companies to have to raise premiums to cover those losses."

Capt. George Quintero of the Big Spring Police Department said the city may register more losses because of its distinctive location on Interstate Highway 20 and U.S. Highway 87. While "The Crossroads of West Texas" may make a good chamber of commerce slogan, the traffic created by the roads creates a greater risk for drivers.

The state board's recommendation for Howard County in Region 25 is $442 a year based on coverage for a 1982 sedan used by a person over 25 years old and driven to work, Daniel said.

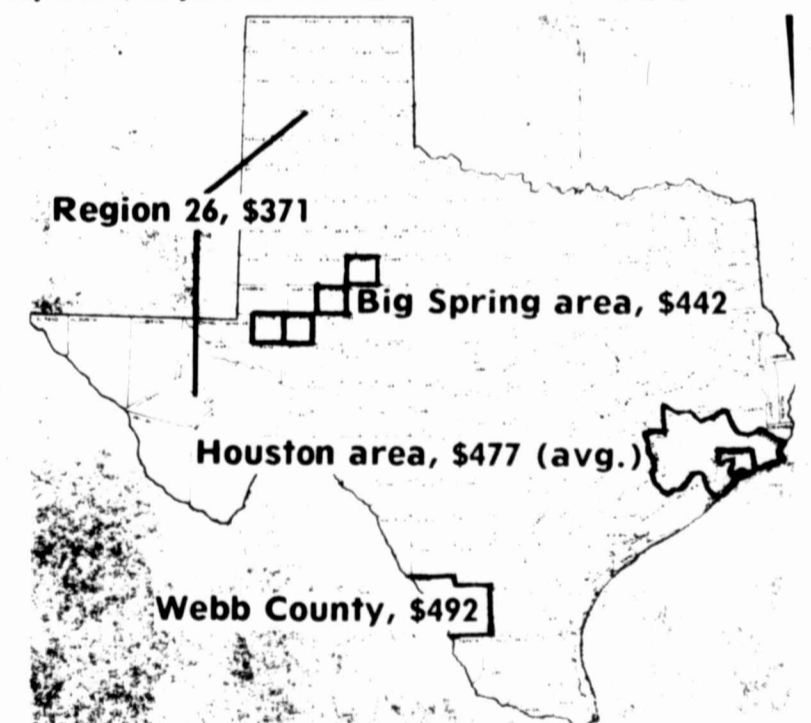

The coverage includes minimum liability protection of $10,000 per person injured in an accident, $20,000 for total medical expenses and $5,000 for property damage. Also included is comprehensive coverage with a $50 deductible and collision with a $200 deductible.

The $442 rate compares with a state low of $342 in Grayson County in the northeast part of Texas and a state high of $542 in Harris County where Houston is located.

Daniel said other areas surrounding Howard County, excluding the counties with large cities like Midland, Odessa, Lubbock, Amarillo and Abilene, have recommended premiums of $371 a year. This area is Region 26 and covers most West Texas, the Panhandle and south to Val Verde County where Del Rio is located.

The $442 is the average premium cost, or key rate, recommended by the state board to cover most insurance companies' costs for claims and allow them about one-fourth of 1 percent profit, according to Daniel.

The $442 or any other amount is See Insurance, page 2A

Required liability coverage might be increased by bill

A bill now under study by the Texas House Insurance subcommittee proposes to raise the minimum amount of car liability insurance motorists must carry by more than 50 percent.

This does not mean prices will go up 50 percent; coverage would be increased 50 percent, according to local insurance agents.

Rep. Don Lee, D-Harlingen, who is sponsoring the bill, said rates for liability coverage would probably rise by a statewide average of 10 percent for motorists now carrying minimum protection required by law.

Junior colleges may get say-so on construction

Harte-Hanks Austin Bureau

AUSTIN — A House panel approved a proposal last week that would give Texas junior college boards the exclusive say-so on construction on their campuses. Another bill winning the Higher Education Committee's recommendation is aimed at cutting some state requirements on verifying costs of off-campus courses offered by junior colleges in adjacent counties. The courses are offered at school district facilities. Sponsored by Rep. Tom Waldrop, D-Corsicana, both bills were referred to the local and uncontested House calendar — reserved for legislation with no opposition. The Senate version of those bills, sponsored by Sen. Chet Edwards, D-Duncanville, is scheduled for consideration Wednesday by the Senate Education committee.

According to testimony by T.M. Harvey, assistant to the Navarro College president, the Coordinating Board, Texas College and University System, currently has authority to veto renovation, repair and construction projects proposed by junior college boards. This provision was included in previous legislation intended for universities using state funds for buildings, Harvey said, but junior colleges rely on local funds or donations for construction projects, Harvey said. Waldrop's bill would free junior colleges from the regulation. Concerning the problem addressed by Waldrop's other bill, junior colleges must refund to the state the difference between the actual cost of administering the off-campus courses and the amount appropriated for that purpose to the junior college. "Since community college funding formulas are based on average costs of all community colleges throughout the state, any reduced or increased costs for on-campus or off-campus (courses) are already reflected in approved formula rates," Harvey's written testimony stated. "It would therefore appear that any further adjustment of rates would not be necessary in order to appropriate to a college the state funding necessary to carry on its programs."

Mitchell grand jury says hanging suicide

The Mitchell County grand jury Friday decided there was no evidence of foul play in the death of 31-year-old James L. Johnson of Sweetwater, who was found hanged April 17 in the Mitchell County Jail. Johnson's death was ruled a suicide by Justice of the Peace Charles Ray Watlington. Watlington said he arrived at the jail within four minutes of the time Johnson's body was found. He said he conducted an on-the-spot investigation which showed the death resulted from suicide. Johnson was in the jail on a charge of attempted murder.

not without fluctuation, for companies have the option of deviating from the board's average. If a company wishes to lower its premiums — which many do — it must file a claim showing it can adequately cover losses with the requested reduction in premiums, Daniel said. Daniel said most companies operate on rates 15 to 20 percent below the board's average. He said very few are operating at a higher level unless the company is offering coverage for high risk customers. By those calculations, average rates would be between $354 and $376 for this area. Most most companies will offer rates under the average so as to remain competitive in the market, he said. Quintero also said there was a problem of not having enough officers to supervise problem traffic areas in the city. Quintero said officers are already stretched thin making it hard to devote as much time to traffic control as the department would like. "We know there's a problem with traffic," Quintero said. "But the beat officer just has so much time to devote to traffic along with the rest of his duties." Without supervision, Quintero said drivers may begin to drive a little faster than normal and perhaps take chances they might not ordinarily take if they knew a patrol car was in the area. These chances, of course, sometimes lead to accidents. Daniel said another contributing factor to Region 25's rates is the area's harsh weather. Hail storms, wind storms and ice storms occur occasionally in the area, thus adding another risk in the rate makeup. Quintero said the snow and ice Big Spring receives each winter adds to the accident total as inexperienced drivers attempt to navigate treacherous roads. Region 25 receives no worse weather than say the largely rural counties of Martin or Mitchell, yet premiums are higher in Howard County — almost $70 a year, according to Daniel. However, Daniel said there are many more cars registered in Howard's region than in other rural counties. When a hail storm hits the area more cars are subject to damage thus increasing the risk.

Coverage

At present, the law requires liability protection of $10,000 per person injured in an accident, $20,000 for total medical expenses, and $5,000 for property damage. Lee said the $5,000 reserved for property damage will not cover the cost of most cars on the road today. He has proposed raising the limits to $15,000 per person for medical expenses, $30,000 per accident for injuries and $15,000 for property damage. "I basically agree with the reasoning and necessity to raise the limits," said Larry Hollar, local inurance agent. "The cost incurred when a person is injured or a car is damaged is constantly going up. "People will be getting proportionately more coverage for a very small additional increase." By Lee's estimate persons could double their liability coverage 50 percent by paying only 10 percent more a year. A.J. Pirkle Jr., also a local agent, said increasing the coverage would probably not affect most motorists except those with fixed incomes. "The basic part of insurance (the minimum liability coverage) costs the most and increasing the coverage only costs a small amount," he said. "With the high price of vehicles and medical care, the increased coverage will help pay for everything. It's to their (motorists') benefit." Lee's bill is still in the House Insurance subcommittee, according to latest reports. The minimum rates have not changed in the last 20 years, although it was not until 1981 that motorists were required by law to have liability insurance or post a bond.

Robbery

Mrs. Montgomery said the other man had begun rummaging through their drawers. She asked them to take her $320 in $20 bills and not tear up her belongings. "I had about $320. I think it was in my bag in the closet," she said. "I said 'let me show you where it is, we don't have anything else.' 'No jewelry?' he asked. I said 'No, no jewelry. I'll give you the money if you'll not tear everything up. It's all we have.' Mrs. Montgomery said they seemed satisfied with the money and started to leave. "We were both just wrecks," she said. "They told us to sit here 10 minutes and said they'd call someone and let them know we needed help, but they didn't." The men cut the telephone cord before they left, she said. "It was a horrifying experience," she said.

Mrs. Montgomery said they sat quietly for 10 minutes. Then Mr. Montgomery kicked the walls and jumped up and down, trying to gain a neighbor's attention; however, the men had turned up the television volume so that no one could hear them. Mrs. Montgomery said she noticed several inches of loose tape on her husband's ankles and found that she could move her thumb and forefinger. "I said 'Monty, if you can move over here, I can try to work it (the tape) off,'" Mrs. Montgomery said. "I asked the good Lord to help me." Working with just her thumb and one finger, Mrs. Montgomery was able to free her husband's ankles. He went upstairs to a neighbor's apartment and called the police. "It was an ordeal, it really was," Mrs. Montgomery said. "We just sat there more than 10 minutes, we were both just petrified." Mr. and Mrs. Montgomery moved to Big Spring three years ago after he retired so they could be near his doctor. Mrs. Montgomery said she doesn't know if they'll stay here. "I thought last night, I couldn't sleep very well, the one who had the gun, he had sandy hair and a beard with one of those odd looking cowboy hats, I kept thinking I had seen him somewhere, maybe at the cafeteria where we always go to eat," Mrs. Montgomery said. "I don't know if I can stay in this apartment now. Maybe I'll change my mind. "They put a chain on the door and safety locks on the windows," she said. "As times goes on, maybe I can forget." Big Spring police said there have been no arrests in connection with the robbery.

Police Beat

Jannette Hanke, a clerk at Town and Country store at 3104 Parkway, told police a man who appeared armed and to have mental problems robbed the store last night of $1,795.02. Hannah Coleman of 210 Orion told police someone pried open a window of a storage house in her backyard last week and stole $442 worth of camping equipment. The burglars stole three duffle bags, two burner stoves, two Coleman lanterns, a hand saw and a 24-inch machete. Robert Bollier of 2611 Carrol told police someone stole his son's $139 bicycle yesterday from the sidewalk in their front yard. Adela Juarez, 19, of 902 N.W. First told police a person she knows fired three gunshots at her yesterday while she was driving on the 1400 block of F.M. 700. She said the assailant drove up beside her and fired a .25-caliber gun. Police say they arrested Raul Flores, 25, of 304 N.E. Eighth last night on suspicion of criminal mischief over $200.

Council studies plan to widen Birdwell Street

Big Spring city council members plan to employ an engineering firm to draw up preliminary studies and estimates on widening Birdwell Lane as part of the second phase of a capital improvements project. The council will discuss the project tomorrow night at 6:30 during its regular meeting at City Hall. Councilman Jack Y. Smith said information gathered by Parkhill, Smith and Cooper of Lubbock — engineers for the entire CIP — will help the council to decide whether to go ahead with the project. "I want to look at the cost of widening it as compared to how much could be done with that amount of money in resurfacing other streets in town instead of widening Birdwell," Smith said. "I want to weigh it and see if it (the cost) is justified." Smith has said before it might be in the city's best interest to pave other city streets and just resurface Birdwell, rather than widening it. However, since Birdwell is one of the most heavily traveled city streets, the council wants to see if the benefits would justify the cost of widening. Public Works Director Tom Decell said plans include widening Birdwell on the east side so that it will be 50 feet wide from 11th Place north to about 175 feet north of Yale Avenue. Decell said the west side of the street would remain untouched, still allowing for four 11-foot wide lanes. The work would be done inside the existing city right of way so that no property would be condemned, he said. Plans also call for the street to be reconstructed and resurfaced, but not widened, from 175 feet north of Yale to Third Street. The contract designates that the city will pay the engineering firm $6,806 for the design phase and $3,701 for the construction phase.

Sheriff's Log

Five men posted bonds for their release this weekend after being arrested on suspicion of driving while intoxicated. James Ortho Murray, 52, of Ackerly; Rosalio Hernandez Moreno, 55, of Odessa; and Kelly Don Williams, 22, of 1603 Kiowa were each released on $1,000 bonds set by Municipal Judge Melvin Daratt. Halley Paul Knox, 53, of Midland and Alton Lee Pounds, 39, of 2521 Albrook both posted $2,500 bonds for their release. Salvador Chavez, 33, of 1110 N. Noland was arrested Saturday and released to an Ector County sheriff's deputy on a contempt of court charge. Michael Paul Bailey, 20, of 1400 Princeton posted a $1,000 bond for his release after his arrest for making alcohol available to a minor.

Signal stages Shakespeare

The sixth and seventh grade Signal classes of Goliad Middle School will present portions of Shakespeare's "Julius Caesar" and "Macbeth" tonight at 7:30 at the school's gymnasium. The performances are free to the public. Refreshments will be served after the performance, and the Signal classroom will be open for parents to view samples of student work. The Signal students, members of a class for superior students, will be directed in the plays by Mrs. Kathleen Newman.

Deaths

Historians say Hitler diaries may be fake

HAMBURG, West Germany (AP) — Two prominent historians, including one who had at first vouched for the authenticity of the purported Hitler diaries, said today that further study was needed before they could decide if the papers are genuine.

British historian Hugh Trevor-Roper had written in the Times of London Saturday that he believed the papers were Adolf Hitler's own, but said today he had new doubts about the way Stern magazine had obtained the hand-written documents.

Trevor-Roper and American historian Gerhard L. Weinberg appeared at a news conference here at which the magazine had said they would back its claim of having discovered Hitler's 60-volume diaries.

However, the historians took a more cautious view than the magazine apparently had expected. There was no immediate comment from Stern officials on the historians' statements.

In opening the press conference, Stern Editor-in-Chief Peter Koch described the magazine's discovery of the purported Hitler diaries as "the journalistic scoop of the post-war period."

Koch, who said Stern would give the documents to the government after publishing a series of excerpts, declined to say who gave the papers to the magazine or how much it paid for them.

Trevor-Roper, who holds the title Lord Dacre, said, "A final judgment (of authenticity) cannot be given until the whole text of the documents can be examined."

The Hitler-era expert said he had thought one man could prove the papers were the same materials reportedly found in a wrecked airplane carrying documents taken from Hitler's Berlin bunker shortly before he committed suicide in 1945.

"I am now told that this is not so, and that I must have misunderstood," Trevor-Roper said.

"There can be such a thing as a perfect forgery, so I defer to experts on that," he added.

Weinberg, a professor at the University of North Carolina and author of two books about Hitler, said: "I don't consider (the documents) a forgery, but there are further tests that are necessary. It seems to me essential that scholars familiar with the period have an opportunity to examine a transcript of the whole text."

Stern began publishing portions of the purported Hitler diaries today.

Trevor-Roper, author of a 1947 book "The Last Days of Hitler," wrote in Saturday's edition of the Times of London that he had reviewed the diaries and believed they were genuine.

On Sunday, he told reporters in London that there was always the "possibility that the diaries were forged," but said their quantity and range means "it would have been a very difficult operation."

Some other experts, as well as some former Hitler aides, have suggested the diaries are part of an elaborate fraud.

Two of Hitler's aides were quoted Sunday in a Hamburg weekly as saying the bound notebooks — said to have been found in a plane wreck by a German army officer and hidden in his hayloft for 35 years — are fakes.

SCHULTZ IN CAIRO — U.S. Secretary of State George P. Shultz tells reporters on arrival Monday in Cairo that he has come to the Middle East to push forward the peace process. Shultz was greeted by Egyptian Foreign Minister Kamal Hassan Aly (right, with glasses).

Shultz to Middle East, tries to save peace plan

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of State George P. Shultz was headed for the Middle East today, hoping to arrange an Israeli troop withdrawal from Lebanon and save President Reagan's Middle East peace initiative.

The trip reflects a reluctant judgment by the administration that agreement on a troop withdrawal is essential if Reagan's Sept. 1 peace plan is to have any chance of success.

Officials no longer think, as they once did, that Jordan's King Hussein will join Reagan's peace strategy until there is an agreement on Lebanon.

Reagan decided to send Shultz to the region Friday. The secretary of state planned to go first to Egypt and then to Israel and Lebanon. He apparently is prepared to shuttle back and forth, if that is what it takes to achieve a withdrawal agreement.

Once there is an agreement on Israel's 25,000 troops, Shultz would then focus on getting a withdrawal of Syrian and Palestine Liberation Organization forces. He may include Syria among his stops.

If Shultz succeeds in getting an accord on a troop withdrawal, he next would turn his attention to trying to get Jordan to join in talks with Israel aimed at an overall Middle East peace. That leg of his trip would take him to Jordan and Saudi Arabia, and possibly Morocco.

If Shultz concludes from his first stops that he won't be able to resolve the withdrawal issue, his trip may last only a week. But if there is a prospect of success, he may remain two weeks, or even longer.

Shultz was known to be reluctant to go on the trip, but was pressed into it by White House officials. It was his first trip to the Middle East since he became secretary of state nine months ago.

Shultz was said by aides to worry that a trip at this time would raise expectations that might not be met, and instead of scoring the foreign policy success the White House seems desperate for, the trip might be perceived by the public as a failure.

But last Monday's terrorist bombing of the U.S. Embassy in Beirut, which killed 17 Americans, led the administration to conclude it had to send Shultz to demonstrate its commitment to peace and stability in Lebanon.

Win predicted for SF mayor in recall vote

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Some opponents of Mayor Dianne Feinstein joined her supporters in predicting she'll "win big" Tuesday in a mayoral recall challenge mounted by a coalition of fringe groups.

With more than 2,000 volunteers working for her, a $450,000 war chest and a vote-by-mail campaign aimed at tens of thousands of voters, including every registered Republican, the Democratic mayor's polls predicted she'll take 75 percent of the ballots cast.

Elected city officials, Republican groups, political clubs for homosexuals, Chinese-Americans and Irish-Americans were among groups that have lined up behind Ms. Feinstein, as well as people who simply feel the recall process has been misused.

But the White Panthers, the group that started the nine-month drama because it was upset at the mayor's stand against handguns, has refused to concede.

"As far as we're concerned, the election hasn't happened yet," said Panther spokesman Thomas W. Stevens.

"She's going to win big," predicted Dave Brigode, head of a pro-recall group, Citizens for a New Mayor, who termed the recall election the "best shot the common people have had in a long time" to oppose gun control.

The only ballot question is: "Shall Dianne Feinstein be recalled (removed)

Libyan planes freed to leave

MANAUS, Brazil (AP) — The government says three Libyan planes detained for a week are free to leave Brazil today, but without their cargo of Nicaragua-bound weapons.

A fourth detained aircraft, a U.S.-made C-130 transport, was under repair at the air force base in Recife, a northeastern port 2,380 miles east of this city in the Amazon jungle, and apparently would not be ready to take off with the three Soviet-made Ilyushin jets.

The pilots and diplomats from the Libyan Embassy inspected the Ilyushins Sunday afternoon and returned to their hotel. It was not immediately known when the planes would depart, but they will leave behind a cargo that the Brazilian government said included weapons made in the United States and the Soviet Union.

Brazilian officials said the cargo would be returned to Libya at an unspecified future date.

Libyan leader Col. Moammar Khadafy said the arms were destined for Nicaragua's leftist Sandinista regime, which is fighting an effort by exiled opponents to overthrow it. The Colombian government charged that the Libyan planes planned to drop off weapons to leftist guerrillas in its Amazon region.

The planes were unloaded in secret over the weekend after army troops on Friday sealed off the airport and evacuated civilians at rifle-point. The armed forces whisked the cargo away, apparently to a military air base on the other side of the city.

Brazil's military-run government did not describe the weapons or show them to the public because of what it said were security and safety reasons.

In a note released Sunday by the government news agency EBN, presidential press spokesman Carlos Atila said three of the planes were "free to take off, whenever they want, for any destination."

Flavio Sapha, Atila's assistant, told reporters in Manaus that "only the Presidential Palace in Brasilia" could say if and when the arms would be shown to the public.

He said the government "will give back, later and by another means of transport, the war material removed from the four planes."

The government ordered the cargo unloaded despite Libya's refusal to open the locked planes or to send a representative to accompany the inspection.

Young people should grow up

Dear Editor,

I am weary of trying to deal with younger people who believe that there is no tomorrow and fail to prepare for it by their inaction.

As a teenager, I practiced a choice few of the things that I now have grown to truly abhor. The illegal use of alcohol to name one.

I wrecked no less than three autos and one motorcycle during my teenage years. All of these mishaps were directly related to the abuse of bodily additives that, indisputably, cause harm and loss of motor functions. You might say that I was wild.

Big Spring is not like any other city that I have lived in. The people are friendlier, but:

—I have been cut off while driving, cursed at and physically accosted on Gregg Street by the youths.

—I lost, according to a university examination, more than 10 percent of my much-missed hearing. The loss came from the loud-mouthed and much-revered, but pitifully ineffectual lord, Rock and Roll. This disturbing music is a cacophony of noises coupled with angry and maligning lyrics.

—After speaking to several acquaintances in Big Spring I have come to the conclusion that a majority of our teenage sexual activity is spawned on Gregg Street. Anyone who says that kissing and hugging, something that I will wholeheartedly indulge in, given the chance, does not lead to sex, is a fool.

I advocate self control.

—Several weeks ago I spent nights at Cowper Clinic, sitting with my sick aunt. As late as 1:30 a.m., both of us were disturbed by the sounds of screeching tires emanating from Gregg St. Definitely not good for a sick, elderly person. Her room was situated near the rear of the clinic. I will not say anything about those people who are unfortunate enough to secure a room near the front.

—You want hard evidence that assemblages are directly co-related to disturbances? You will remember the recent "Who" concert in Ohio that resulted in several deaths.

Make the logical conclusions, readers.

"We Believe in Jesus Christ" should be the byword of the entire world, in word, thought, and action.

If anyone out there has pined or suffered over unnecessary problems due to the lies that the world has to offer, go to 313 Runnels St. on your weekends. You will never regret it.

Woman thanks fine young men

Dear Editor,

Prior to my husband's death, I did not have the mechanical responsibility of a car and home.

Later, I worried that I would not be capable in an emergency.

I worried needlessly; my neighbors, my friends and their husbands, and my husband's cronies at a commercial garage have taken over.

Why am I writing? Two of my neighbors are fine young men. I want the public to know there are good young people around.

A few days ago, as I was leaving for the hairdresser, I heard water running and discovered a leak in the hot water heater. I phoned one of these neighbors. He turned off the water in the heater. When I returned he and another young neighbor had not only repaired the 17-year-old water heater, they had also added a line, which in case of another leak, would divert the escaping water to the ground.

Both of these men were at home when I needed them, thanks to the last layoff at O.I.L.

I do not need to mention the names of all who have helped, they know who they are.

P.S. I would like to mention another fine young man, who, because he is active military is geographically unavailable — my son-in-law.

CIA in the mud

WASHINGTON — The Central Intelligence Agency is back on page one, getting caught red-handed doing in Central America the same kind of dismal dirty tricks that gave it such a bad name a decade ago. So you have to wonder who didn't learn any lessons.

For the discovery and exposure by press and television, and the recoil by the Congress and public, were not only predictable. They were predicted at the highest levels of the administration by a figure the White House is now trying to cast as the villain of the piece.

Former Secretary of State Alexander Haig has been dragged into the case by a series of leaks from on high. The disclosures finger him, first, by dating the basic decision to support covert operations in Central America on Nov. 17, 1981 — that is, while he was in office. The original idea, it is said, was to have the dirty tricks performed by Argentine security forces. That scheme supposedly fell through when Haig tilted toward Britain and away from Argentina during the Falkland crisis. Now, the argument concludes, the CIA is merely picking up the slack.

topus — Castro's Cuba.

Proposals for forcing confrontation with Castro were repeatedly advanced by Haig. His most ambitious project was to round up the misfits sent here by Cuba in 1980. Haig wanted to send them back to Cuba aboard an American ship under escort of the Atlantic fleet. Force, including reimposition of the blockade set up during the Cuban missile crisis of 1962, would be used if there was any interference. Haig's theory was that Castro (and Moscow) would back down, and come off subversion in Central America.

That scheme and others like it were discussed at length in the Situation Room of the White House. President Reagan was there. So were his main White House attendants. Also present were Secretary of Defense Caspar Weinberger, representatives of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, and CIA Director William Casey.

Opposition to the Haig approach, rightly in my view, prevailed. The chiefs, backed by Weinberger, exposed military problems. White House officials worried about political fallout.

to happen. It cannot decently claim it was sandbagged by the media or sabotaged by the Congress. The opposition that has built up in this country is as normal an ingredient of the covert operations as the weather or the availability of transportation.

Not only did the administration know the risks, and elect to run them. It did so cynically. For the logic of the covert operations lies in the possibility of a deal. The U.S. would call off the dogs if it has snapping at the regime in Nicaragua in return for the Sandinistas calling off the dogs they have snapping at the regime in El Salvador. From the beginning, in other words, the Reagan administration has had in mind pulling the plug.

IN THOSE conditions, the Congress is right to push very hard into the muck of the covert operations. This administration has shown that it is ready to ask the CIA for anything it can get away with. It is prepared to overlook the fact that the CIA works for this country with its well-known aversion to illicit interference in the affairs of other nations. So a smart rap on the knuckles is in order.

IN LIEU OF the direct approach against Castro, the White House decided to mount against the Sandinistas in Nicaragua covert operations organized by the CIA around former military men from the deposed Somoza regime. But not before Haig had repeatedly pointed out that the scheme would not work. Not before, citing his own experience in Vietnam and in dealing with Castro in the 1960s, he had warned that the operations were bound to be disclosed and to provoke scandal and a public uproar.

So the Reagan administration made its decision in full knowledge that what has happened was going to happen. It cannot decently claim it was sandbagged by the media or sabotaged by the Congress. The opposition that has built up in this country is as normal an ingredient of the covert operations as the weather or the availability of transportation.

Not only did the administration know the risks, and elect to run them. It did so cynically. For the logic of the covert operations lies in the possibility of a deal. The U.S. would call off the dogs if it has snapping at the regime in Nicaragua in return for the Sandinistas calling off the dogs they have snapping at the regime in El Salvador. From the beginning, in other words, the Reagan administration has had in mind pulling the plug.

Housewife wants to do something

DEAR DR. GRAHAM: I am just a mother and housewife, but some day I would like to do something significant for God. What opportunities might be available to me? — Mrs. K.E.T.

DEAR MRS. K.E.T.: No, don't feel that you are insignificant and of no use to the Kingdom of God. Quite the opposite! Your job as a mother and a housewife can be the most important job in the world if you are in God's will.

Why do I say this? I say it because you have the privilege and responsibility which no one else in the whole world has — the care of your family. As a mother, you have great responsibility — not just to provide for the physical needs and comfort of your children, but to help them understand God's love for them. By your words and by your example, you can share God's love and you can give them guidance for the future. They will in large measure be molded by the direction you and your husband give them, and that is a great opportunity. A good example of this in the Bible is found in the life of Timothy, who became one of the Apostle Paul's strongest helpers and a pastor in the early church. His mother (and grandmother) did all they could to help him spiritually, and eventually he became one of the great Christians of his time. (See 2 Timothy 1:5 and 3:15).

At the same time, there certainly may be other things that you can do for Christ. There are people around you — in your neighborhood, among your relatives — who have special needs that you can meet. Also, have you asked your pastor if there are ways you can help within your church? Almost every church has opportunities for people who are sincerely seeking to serve.

As you seek to serve Christ, I hope you will take special steps to grow in your own spiritual commitment and your relationship with God. Spend time alone each day with God and his Word, the Bible. Make prayer a regular habit every time something comes up that needs to be committed to God. But most of all, seek with God's strength to be the best example you can to your husband and your children so they will know Christ lives in you.

The world's largest gem is in the American Museum of Natural History in New York City. The gem is a topaz of 1.38 million carats.

Domino effect

Discipline is a lost art. I realized this recently when I watched a young mother struggle and consequently fail to control her two preschool-age children.

Her kids were racing around a laundromat, shrieking and generally getting in everyone's way. The mother, who seemed unconcerned and unembarrassed about her children's behavior, tried once or twice to control the urchins, but with little success. The children only gave her quizzical looks and continued their riotous conduct.

About the time the patrons in the laundromat were ready to pounce on the brats and strangle them, the family left amid sighs of relief from the rest of us.

I can't stand undisciplined children, nor do I hold any respect for their parents. If a couple is going to have kids then it's their responsibility to see they behave correctly, but the more I observe kids, the more I think discipline is indeed a lost art in parenting.

I feel unnerved and frightened if this is a trend. Not scared of rampaging brats terrorizing a laundromat, although that does strike fear in one's heart, but worried that kids are growing up without a clear sense of right and wrong. To be sure, all children are not mini-tyrants, but I fear more than a small percentage of these untamed kids are on their way to adulthood — a place where they can only become worse.

IF CHILDREN aren't told no when the situation requires a no or punished when a wrongdoing is committed they grow up without a clear-cut moral base.

The child will move from abusing his parent's leniency to disrupting and striking out against other forms of authority such as teachers, and later employers.

The undisciplined child becomes blind to the feelings of others. He becomes thoughtless and narrow as he begins to think the world revolves around him, and in that world there are no rules to bind him.

These types of kids grow into immature, spiteful adults who throw childlike tantrums when things don't go their way, a commodity we don't need.

IT'S IRONIC that parenting, one of the most important and hardest jobs we do, has few guidelines. Oh, one can read books and do some independent research, but parenting is largely unstructured.

However, we, or most of us, do have our beliefs and morals from which to draw on. These are the basic tools of discipline.

Parents should not be afraid to exercise their own good judgment when a child misbehaves. Children, like adults, need a moral and philosophical base from which to work — it helps them attain maturity, understanding, compassion and all the other things which make a good person.

When this occurs, parents have succeeded, children become productive instead of destructive, and innocent bystanders in laundromats are appreciative.

DESPITE THAT implicit smear, Haig is not talking for publication. But many of us knew his approach to Central America when he was in office. Previous impressions have been confirmed by officials still on the job. Haig does not deny the story.

Communist penetration of Central America was very much on his mind when he came to the State Department in January, 1981. But he did not want to concentrate fire on the Sandinista regime in Nicaragua, or the guerrilla insurgency in El Salvador. He regarded those as mere tentacles. He sought to go after the body of the oc-

Terrorists write bloody Mideast history

WASHINGTON — Following last week's bombing of the American embassy in Beirut, U.S. intelligence agencies are taking a closer look at the terrorists in the Middle East. In a highly competitive field, one man has emerged as the most bloodthirsty, irresponsible Arab terrorist in the world.

He is Abu Nidal, and he has written his record in blood. His fanatical group's latest victim was Dr. Issam Sartawi, a U.S.-trained cardiologist who was the Palestine Liberation Organization's Western European representative.

The "crime" for which Sartawi was murdered in Portugal was being a moderate, the highest-ranking PLO leader to advocate recognition of Israel. That was enough to mark him for assassination by Nidal's gunmen.

Nidal's single-minded aim is the destruction of Israel. Like the Serbian "Black Hand" terrorists who touched off World War I with the assassination of Austrian Archduke Franz Ferdinand at Sarajevo, Nidal's killers don't care how many people die as they pursue their goal. In fact, Nidal also ignited a war.

Here is Nidal's sorry record, as revealed by secret State Department documents and interviews with intelligence sources by my associate Dale Van Atta:

— After defecting from the PLO's mainstream organization, Fatah, in 1974, Nidal tried to assassinate Yasser Arafat and was sentenced to death by Fatah's military court.

— Nidal took refuge in Baghdad, and with the Iraqi government's help, sent Palestinian death squads against Arab opponents in the Middle East and Europe. In 1978, his gunmen — numbering fewer than 100 — assassinated at least eight PLO representatives.

— In 1980, Iraqi President Saddam Hussein kicked Nidal out. The Syrians accepted him, even though he had seized a Damascus hotel and murdered four hostages just four years earlier.

— In May 1981, Nidal claimed credit for the murder of Heinz Nitel, chairman of the Austro-Israeli Society and a personal friend of Austrian Chancellor Bruno Kreisky.

— In August 1981, Nidal's thugs attacked a synagogue in Vienna, killing two persons with Polish WZ-63 machine pistols.

— On June 3, 1982, Nidal's group seriously wounded Israel's ambassador in London, Shlomo Argov, using the same Polish weapons. The assassination attempt was the immediate cause for Israel's invasion of Lebanon three days later.

— In August 1982, Nidal's group used machine pistols and grenades in an attack on the defenseless patrons of a well-known Jewish restaurant in Paris. Six persons were killed, including two Americans.

In the wake of the Israeli invasion of Lebanon, one secret State Department report speculated that if Arafat were toppled from his shaky control of the PLO, "the Palestinian movement will probably disintegrate into radical splinter groups, which, in combination with other revolutionary forces in the region, would pose a grave threat to the moderate Arab governments."

The report added mysteriously: "Israel seems determined to vent this threat... and can be expected to greatly expand its covert cooperations with revolutionary movements."

Asked what this meant, two well-placed intelligence sources explained that it was in Israel's interest to "divide and conquer" — to disrupt the PLO by setting one faction against another. The sources said Israel had secretly provided funds to Abu Nidal's group.

No credible source, incidentally, suggested that Israeli leaders knowingly supported the assassination attempt on their own ambassador to provide a pretext for the Lebanon invasion. Several sources pointed out that intelligence agencies — including the CIA and the KGB — have been known to provide money to groups over which they have no significant control.

Woman of the Year

Vonna Lee Davis takes Cactus chapter honors

Vonna Lee Davis was elected Woman of the Year by the Cactus Chapter of the American Business Women's Association April 18 during a banquet held in the Cactus Room at Howard College.

Mrs. Davis is a physician's assistant in family practice for Malone-Hogan Clinic.

She began her career in the Russell County Hospital in Kansas where she was night nurse on the surgical floor. She was clinic nurse for three physicians for the next four years at this hospital. Since 1972 she has been associated with Malone-Hogan.

She was on the founding board of the Malone and Hogan X-Ray School of Technology.

She has been a member of the Cactus Chapter of ABWA since 1976. She held the offices of corresponding secretary and vice president, and served as president of numerous committees. She is now president of the chapter.

She is now a candidate for the Association's top ten women of the year. From this group, the "American Business Woman of the Year" will be chosen. Announcement of the national award will be made at the ABWA's 1983 National Convention in Las Vegas, Nev., Oct. 26-30.

WOMAN OF THE YEAR — Vonna Lee Davis, right, a physician's assistant at Malone-Hogan Hospital, has been named Woman of the Year by the Cactus chapter of the American Business Women's Association. Mrs. Davis is running a blood pressure check on Elaine Howard here.

Las Vegas, Nev., Oct. 26-30.

Mrs. Davis and her husband, Lowell, are members of the First United Methodist Church. She is a past president of the Big Spring Choir Boosters, Buttons and Bows Home Demonstration Unit, Big Spring Women's Forum, Big Spring Concert Association, Community Concert Association and chaplain of the BPOE Does.

She also served as the first woman on the Big Spring Chamber of Commerce Board of Directors.

Dear Abby

Bald woman not afraid to date

DEAR ABBY: I had to write when I read the letter from the woman who's afraid to date because she has terrible hair and wears a wig. She thinks if a man finds out she's wearing a wig, it will turn him off.

Abby, I'm 17, and I've been completely bald since I was 8 and have worn a wig for two years. I have "alopecia areata," a condition many people have, although doctors still don't know what causes it.

Honestly, that lady is using her wig as an excuse not to date. I date a lot, and all the guys know about my wig. One special guy calls it "Wiggy" and treats it like a pet!

When I was younger I even thought of self-destruction, but now I see how dumb that was. Believe it or not, this condition has helped build my character and develop a sense of humor. Almost everybody has something he or she has to learn to live with, and there are plenty of people lots worse off than I am.

I want to tell that woman who wears a wig not to feel like a freak, and other people will accept her as she is.

If you print this, sign me...
WIGGY AT 17

DEAR WIGGY: What a terrific young woman you are! A dermatologist in Schenectady, N.Y., wrote to tell me about the National Alopecia Areata Foundation, a support group of people who have suffered permanent hair loss. He sent one of the organization's newsletters, which I found very informative and extremely encouraging.

For information write to: The Alopecia Areata Foundation, P.O. Box 5027, Mill Valley, Calif. 94941. This is a non-profit organization, so please include a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope.

DEAR ABBY: Please tell "Tried of Waiting" that sombody is doing something about the frustration of long waits in doctors' offices.

Recently a group of doctors and dentist from Shawnee Mission Medical Center in Merriam, Kan., got together to form health care centers in two suburban shopping malls in the Kansas City area (a third is planned). When you arrive for your appointment, if there is going to be more than a 15 minute wait, the receptionist gives you a little beeper to carry while you browse, shop, eat, play video games or whatever. When you hear a "beep," it means the doctor will be ready to see you in 10 minutes.

The beeper can also be used by a friend or family member who brought the patient to the doctor. This frees them to come back for the patient when the visit is completed.

Doctors carry "beepers" to conserve their time. Why not patients?
BEEP BEEP
DEAR BEEP: Why not, indeed? Everything's up-to-date in Kansas City!

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I have been married for 43 years. Yesterday when I arrived home from work, I found a birthday card addressed to his former girlfriend who jilted him 45 years ago! It was marked "Return to Sender," because the girlfriend was not at the address my husband used, and there was no forwarding address. I was burned to a crisp!

How would you handle a situation like this, Abby? I have not spoken to him since.

Please answer soon, as I am terribly upset.
LOST LOVE

DEAR LOST: Your husband was probably just reminiscing about years gone by and sent the card in a playful mood. Not to worry. The card came back, which proves he doesn't even know where she is.

Dr. Donohue

Primary biliary cirrhosis

Dear Dr. Donohue: I hope you can help me. I had some tests made and was found to have "primary biliary cirrhosis." The doctor said the cause was unknown. It has something to do with antibodies. At first, the doctor recommended that I go to a major hospital for additional help. But I have been told that this would only be a waste of time and money because there wasn't much knowledge about the condition or any proven effective therapy. I would be deeply grateful if you could help me with any information about this. — Mrs. A.C.

Primary biliary cirrhosis is predominantly an illness of women in the 40-60-year age group. The cause is not known, but there are hints that it might be a self-allergy problem, one of those conditions where the body makes antibodies against certain tissue, in this case in the small biliary channels that drain bile out of the liver to the gallbladder to aid in digestion. Those antibodies, along with the undrained bile, damage liver cells; eventually cirrhosis results in some patients. In cirrhosis, the normal liver cells are replaced by scar tissue.

While there may be no specific cure for the problem, there are things to do. Because bile is not getting to the digestive tract, you have to reduce your fat intake. It is bile that makes fat digestible. Also, you may need vitamin supplements, especially those that depend on fat for absorption, most especially vitamins D and K. And you may also require extra calcium to prevent bone softening because vitamin D is important in how the body handles calcium.

Beyond all this, I don't think you will be wasting your money by going to the institution your doctor suggested. It is one of the finest in the country. There you will find doctors who specialize in treatment of liver disease. They will be able to assess the severity of your illness and give you the best possible advice (dietary and other) on how to control it. And they will be the first to inform you of any breakthroughs, should you need treatment.

Dr. Donohue welcomes reader mail but regrets that, due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

DPS officer talks to scouts about bike safety

Music lives in Pittsburgh jukeboxes

TELEPHONE JUKE BOX — Helen Reutzel takes a call for one of some 100,000 selections she stocks at her "live" juke box in Pittsburgh. The service has operated since 1929 and is the only live juke box business left in the world.

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Crooners and divas, rockers and waltzers all make music in Helen Reutzel's "live" jukeboxes. Just drop in a quarter, pick up the telephone and choose — from among 100,000 selections.

That's about 999,950 more tunes than in a standard juke, but these vintage deco-style jukeboxes, solid mahogany with red stained glass panels, contain no records, just amplifiers and telephone wires. They are more than a half-century old and can be found in 13 Pittsburgh taverns.

Telephone operators, who go by first names only, answer 16 hours a day, seven days a week. After 26 years, Jean can pick out most any song from the clutter of records piled in the small, ramshackle studio.

Choose from among toe-tapping big bands on heavy, scratchy 78 rpm discs to new wave hits on their way up the charts. There's likely to be every song you know and quite a few you don't.

Dedicate a song to the good-looking guy across the room, and Jean will deliver your message live throughout the bar.

She knows thousands of songs by heart. Request "Burning Bridges" and she immediately thinks "A888," the song's file number. Ask for a Neil Young song, and Jean, though not of the rock generation, rattles off a dozen titles.

Ms. Reutzel says Telephone Music Service, operating since 1929, is the only live juke box business left in the world.

Her father, William Purse, designed the system and had 120 jukeboxes across the country before World War II, when telephone lines were inexpensive.

"During the war, the trend was away from going to a bar with friends and talking," Ms. Reutzel said. When television was a novelty, "people didn't want the music in the bars," she added.

Telephone Music Service declined. Purse subsidized the business by running a tavern. At his death seven years ago, the equipment was obsolete, and just five jukeboxes were left, in "rough neck" Pittsburgh bars.

"In the hospital, my father told me to lock it up, it isn't worth it," said Ms. Reutzel, who shunned the advice. "What can you do when someone dies and leaves you something? You can't just leave it."

Instead, Ms. Reutzel left her career as a dream analyst and dream interpretation teacher. "I kept it going to get Dad out of debt," said Ms. Reutzel. "It was a matter of survival, and now it looks like I can make it. "Now that everyone has a television, there's a trend to go back and sit and talk."

She has all the original 120 jukeboxes, most in storage and in need of repair.

"There's times when you could buy it (the business) for a song. Others, I wouldn't give it away for a million," she said. "I'm living a dream — it was Dad's dream and now it's mine."

It may be easy to get clients for her "Juke Box With A Heart," but it's not easy to become a client.

"If someone wants a jukebox, I go in anonymously and have a beer, see if I like the place," Ms. Reutzel said. Each tavern is wired separately, so songs play only where they are requested.

Jim Costanzo, who owns two bars with Telephone Music Service, said the jukeboxes bring him business.

"Most jukeboxes have just 50 songs," he said. But with the music service, he added, "people come in and have a party around the jukebox. It's a lot cheaper than hiring a band."

"A lot of guys don't have families. They come in and talk to the girls on the telephone and it makes their day," said "Chicago Red," a bartender who is now the boyfriend of a Telephone Music Service operator. They became friends on the phone, six weeks before they met.

"One guy says the only time he feels loved is when he calls the jukebox," Ms. Reutzel said.

The jukeboxes can also affect what happens in the bars, Ms. Reutzel said.

Spelunkers trapped in Kentucky cave

MOUNT VERNON, Ky. (AP) — A rescue diver crawled into a southeastern Kentucky cave today trying to find eight amateur spelunkers believed trapped inside by high underground water, state police said.

The water has begun to drop, state police said today, but the diver wore special breathing apparatus as he entered the cave.

"As far as we know, they are safe and they are probably in a dry pocket up there," Kentucky State Police Trooper Stanley Hale said late Sunday. "They apparently did have some dry clothing and some foodstuff with them." Other rescue crews were standing by outside prepared to join the search for the amateur explorers, who entered the cave Saturday. Once the lone diver returns from the cave, plans for another search will be made, state police said.

The search was delayed until after it was light today because it was "too dangerous" for rescue crews to enter the cave during the dark, Hale said. "They are not acquainted with the cave, either," he said.

The six men and two women trapped in the cave were in no apparent danger of drowning, authorities said. It was not known how deep underground they were, and their identities were not released.

A state police diving team was on the scene with rescue squads from Rockcastle, Warren and Laurel counties, said Roger Maggard, a state police dispatcher at the London post.

The spelunkers, members of the Greater Cincinnati Grotto Club, apparently had camped inside the cave Saturday night, but their exit was blocked when a passageway leading to the cave entrance became flooded with about 40 feet of rainwater, Hale said. Shelley Page of Cincinnati, a club member, said the explorers had gone into the cave to do some mapping.

Two members of the group did not enter the cave, police said, but planned to meet the others at the cave mouth on Sunday. When the spelunkers did not reappear, the other two set off to find assistance.

Hale said the cave is "way out in the country" and it may have taken several hours for the two club members to walk to a phone and call police.

Sniper fires on vehicles

SAN ANTONIO, Texas (AP) — A sniper who fired on five vehicles, including one driven by a suburban police chief, remained at large today.

No injuries were reported, but Leon Valley Police Chief Bill Stannard said he was lucky he wasn't hit after the gunfire on Interstate Highway 410 early Saturday.

Shots were fired from a green, late-model pickup at four other vehicles along I-410 about the same time as the Stannard incident, police said.

Stannard, 36, said he was on his way home from a friend's house at 2 a.m. when he saw the speeding pickup in his rearview mirror. The truck pulled up next to him and a blast of gunfire from a high-powered weapon shattered the windshield of his truck, Stannard said.

"I was lucky it shattered on the passenger side," he said. "It hit the chrome piece on the top portion of the windshield" and went over the cab of his truck.

Spring Drills

WATCHING THE ACTION CLOSELY — Big Spring High coach Jack Dorsett studies a hitting drill during the first day of spring drills this morning at Big Spring High.

Steer workouts stress hitting

By GREG JAKLEWICZ
Sports Editor

Spring has sprung
The grass has riz
I wonder where my shoulder pads is

If you're a football player at Big Spring High, that question might have passed through your mind early this morning.

Spring football drills began for over 100 athletes bright and early at 7:30 a.m. today, sessions continuing twice daily for the next three weeks.

Varsity football players are working out from 7:30-8:30 a.m. and 4 p.m. to quitting time in the afternoon. Sophomores and freshman are practicing from 8:25-9 a.m. and with the varsity in the afternoons.

Coach Eudy, how long are you guys working out?
"Until..." the Steer head coach answered, flashing a quick grin.

Quinn Eudy may define "until" as the "minute after the sun sets." Whatever his definition, he has several goals in mind for the special three-week workout session.

"We are stressing," Eudy said, "being fundamentally sound and being physical. We're stressing that hopefully when people play Big Spring, they will be in a very physical contest for four quarters."

He smiled again.
"We want people to hate playing Big Spring because we hit so well."

Big Spring finished 4-6 last fall, losing twice in District 4-5A by one point on two occasions. The record was the best since 1970 for the Steers.

Eudy reports that 102 athletes are out for football. "That's more than we've ever had at this time," he said. The Steers have seven offensive and four defensive starters back and Eudy says, "Their attitude is real good."

The Steers will have their first intra-squad scrimmage Friday at 4 p.m. in Memorial Stadium featuring split varsity teams. Two more scrimmages are planned. On May 6, the seniors of 1984 battle next year's juniors and sophomores while the 1983 seniors play one more time May 13 against next season's varsity.

MOBILE, AGILE AND NILE — Greg Miller (11) goes through an agility drill at Steer spring drills Monday morning. He was part of sophomore and junior varsity workouts.

NFL Draft: Oilers trade away; Elway hot item

NEW YORK (AP) — The lowly Houston Oilers continue to wheel and deal as Tuesday's National Football League draft of college talent approaches, but the Baltimore Colts, who pick first, still covet Stanford quarterback John Elway, who apparently wants no part of them.

The Oilers, who exchanged first-round draft picks with the Los Angeles Rams Saturday, made another trade Sunday, swapping first-round picks with the Seattle Seahawks.

First, the Oilers gave their No. 1 pick — second overall — to the Rams in return for Los Angeles' first-round pick — No. 3 — and the Rams' fourth-round selections this year and next.

As a result, the Rams are in position to grab Southern Methodist tailback Eric Dickerson, who broke Earl Campbell's Southwest Conference career rushing record last fall. Dickerson, who comes from nearby Sealy, Texas, had indicated he did not want to play for Houston because of the Oilers' problems in the offensive line.

"If Earl Campbell can't run behind them, I don't know if I could either," he said, citing a preference for Los Angeles or San Diego. "Hollywood," he said. "You might see me in a movie or two."

In Sunday's deal, the Oilers traded the pick they acquired a day earlier from Los Angeles to Seattle for the Seahawks' first-round choice — No. 9 overall — plus Seattle's second- and third-round selections.

Houston had planned to use the No. 3 pick to take Arkansas defensive end Billy Ray Smith, who will play linebacker in the NFL. Smith might not be around for the Oilers in their newly acquired No. 9 position, but the latest deal gives the Oilers eight of the draft's first 88 picks.

The San Diego Chargers have three picks in the opening round, while the Buffalo Bills and Chicago Bears have two apiece.

In addition to their own pick — No. 22 overall — the Chargers also acquired the fifth pick from San Francisco as part of the Oct. 2, 1981, deal in which the 49ers acquired defensive end Fred Dean, plus the No. 20 choice from Green Bay in the John Jefferson trade of Sept. 17, 1981.

Cowboys want 'best athlete'

DALLAS (AP) — The Dallas Cowboys still are working hard behind the scenes to make a trade before the National Football League draft but if they don't they'll go back to tradition.

Tradition for the Cowboys is drafting the best athlete available. Last year that athlete was Rod Hill, the defensive back from Kentucky State who contributed to Dallas' loss in the National Conference title game to the Washington Redskins with a fumbled punt on his own goal.

"We'd still draft him again," said Gil Brandt, the executive vice president for personnel development.

Chicago has its own pick — No. 6 — along with the 18th selection which the Bears acquired from Tampa Bay in return for their second-round pick a year ago. Buffalo will draft 12th with its own

The Cowboys drafted Hill when they needed help at linebacker and in the defensive line.

That requirement is even more dramatic this year. Linebacker Guy Brown will not return at weakside linebacker because of injury problems.

Also, Mike Hegman had an off year at strongside linebacker. Dallas is also getting rather long in tooth in the defensive line and needs an infusion of young blood.

Would Dallas still draft another defensive back or an offensive lineman — areas where they really don't have an immediate problem?

"Ideally, we would like to draft a linebacker or defensive lineman," said Brandt. "If it doesn't work out we'll still take the best athlete."

Dallas hopes to trade up for Arkansas' Billy Ray Smith, who is projected as a linebacker.

The Cowboys own the 23rd selection. They'd like to make a deal with the Denver Broncos for their fourth-round pick.

The Cowboys have made Denver an offer which reportedly includes disgruntled tight end Jay Saldi, wide receiver Butch Johnson, quarterback Glenn Carano and Dallas' first-round pick.

Denver, San Diego, Chicago, Kansas City, Philadelphia, Houston, New York Giants, Green Bay, Buffalo, Detroit, Buffalo, New England, Atlanta, St. Louis, Chicago, Minnesota, San Diego, Pittsburgh, San Diego, Dallas, New York Jets, Cincinnati, Los Angeles Raiders, Miami and the Super Bowl champion Washington Redskins.

Meanwhile, the Colts have done nothing to indicate they will not pick the rifle-armed Elway, son of San Jose State Coach Jack Elway and one of the premier passers in college history. Elway has said he prefers to play for a West Coast team or the Dallas Cowboys and also is weighing an offer to play baseball in the New York Yankees organization.

The Chargers, who are in the midst of a salary squabble with quarterback Dan Fouts, might find the Colts tempted by those three first-round draft picks.

Seattle, which now owns the No. 3 pick as a result of the deal with Houston, is expected to snap up Penn State running back Curt Warner.

Nuggets use overtime; Celts bite back

By The Associated Press

The Denver Nuggets gave the Phoenix Suns a taste of their own poison.

A year ago, Phoenix beat Denver to become only the fifth team since 1975 to come back to win a National Basketball Association mini-series after losing the first game. On Sunday night, the Nuggets got even, beating the Suns 117-112 in overtime to advance to the second round against San Antonio, starting Tuesday.

"This team has a lot of character and it showed tonight," center Dan Issel said. "We've been the underdog all season, but we've handled the adversity. We had to win three games last week or be eliminated and we won them all."

The Suns had won the series opener in Phoenix last week before the Nuggets evened it in Denver.

Denver, which won its first best-of-three series in four playoff appearances, got 42 points from NBA scoring champion Alex English and clutch shooting down the stretch from substitute guard Mike Evans.

Evans hit a three-point basket with 37 seconds left in regulation to send the game into overtime deadlocked 106-106.

A free throw by English and a basket by Evans put Denver ahead 111-106 and a steal and layup by Evans gave the Nuggets a 113-106 margin with 2:02 left.

Kiki Vandeweghe added 28 points for Denver, while Issel had 16 and Evans 13. Walt Davis led Phoenix, which played without injured all-star Maurice Lucas, with 29 points.

Celtics 98, Hawks 79
Boston literally battled its way past Atlanta, but guard Danny Ainge was the only major casualty.

Faced with elimination at the hands of the Hawks, a team that lost 13 more games than Boston this season, the Celtics got 26 points, nine rebounds and nine assists from Larry Bird, who hit only four of 18 shots in Boston's second-game loss.

NBA Playoffs

Midway through the third period, with Boston in front 68-52, the 6-foot-5 Ainge, after being elbowed by Tree Rollins, put his head down and tackled the Hawks center. Both benches emptied, but Boston Garden security forces and cooler players prevented a free-for-all.

Ainge, however, as bitten on the finger and sustained a five-stitch cut. The Celtics guard blamed Rollins and photographs appeared to back him up, but Rollins denied it.

"He just stuck my finger in his mouth and I thought he was going to bite it off," Ainge said.

"When I play aggressive, people call me dirty," Rollins said. "When other players play aggressive, they call it aggressive."

The Celtics, who play host to the Bucks on Wednesday, raced to 11-2, 21-8 and 32-13 leads in the first period. They widened the advantage to 59-45 at halftime with Kevin McHale hitting 14 of his 16 points in the second quarter.

76ers 112, Knicks 102
Moses Malone, despite two injured knees, thoroughly dominated New York inside, scoring 38 points and pulling down 17 rebounds for Philadelphia.

"The post-game questioning hurts more than my knees," said Malone. "You (the media) all make it seem like I'm dying in here. I just like to keep a low profile."

Malone, who hadn't played in two weeks because of tendinitis in one knee and inflammation in the other, hit 15 of 23 shots from the field.

Lakers 118, Blazers 97
Kareem Abdul-Jabbar scored 14 of his 32 points in the first quarter as Los Angeles took a 29-12 lead eight minutes into the game and held off Portland rallies thereafter.

Jamaal Wilkes scored 25 points for Los Angeles, which Earvin "Magic" Johnson added 19 points and 18 assists.

Sutton tops Texas, 3-1

ARLINGTON, Texas (AP) — Texas Rangers Manager Doug Rader is just about ready to give up his "big bang" theory. Scoring just three runs in the last 39 innings and a .223 team average has caused the rookie manager to rethink his big-inning inclinations. Rader has disclaimed the bunt and his strategy was questioned after Sunday's 3-1 loss to Milwaukee. He had runners on first and second with no out in the fifth inning and ninth-place hitter Bucky Dent at bat. Instead of the bunt with his team trailing 2-1, Rader ordered Dent to swing away. Dent did and produced a rally-killing doubleplay groundout.

Royals 7, Blue Jays 1

Mr. Consistency is at it again. "He doesn't surprise me," said Toronto Manager Bobby Cox of Kansas City's George Brett. "He and Cecil Cooper (of the Milwaukee Brewers) don't surprise me by anything they do." Brett, who seriously challenged the 400 batting mark in 1980 before finishing at .390, continued to hit the ball hard, hitting a double and run-scoring single in three trips Sunday to boost his average to .471 and lead the Royals to a 7-1 victory over the Blue Jays.

American League

Angels 7, Orioles 3

Brian Downing homered to snap a 3-3 tie in the sixth inning to lead California over Baltimore. Following Downing's second homer of the season, Juan Beniquez doubled to knock out Dennis Martinez and Rob Wilfong singled off reliever Sammy Stewart to score Beniquez for a 5-3 California lead. Mike Witt relieved starter Dave Goltz with two out in the sixth and blanked Baltimore the rest of the way.

White Sox 9, Indians 3

Scott Fletcher knocked in four runs and scored another as the Chicago snapped a three-game losing streak with a victory over Cleveland. Chicago right-hander Richard Dotson allowed seven hits, walked four and struck out three in seven innings before getting relief help from Kevin Hickey.

Red Sox 4, A's 2

Dwight Evans smashed two homers, including a game-winning, three-run blast in the eighth, to lead Boston over Oakland.

Evans opened his one-man show with a first-inning solo shot against A's starter and loser Mike Norris. After Norris departed following singles by Ed Jurak and Wade Boggs in the eighth, Evans greeted reliever Steve Baker with another homer, his third of the year.

Tigers 4, Mariners 2

Larry Herndon's RBI triple keyed a two-run, third-inning rally as Detroit beat Seattle to complete a sweep of their three-game series.

Winner Jack Morris scattered eight hits, struck out six and allowed just one walk in 71.3 innings.

Cruz's hit lifts Astros

HOUSTON (AP) — Jose Cruz used to be a pushover for lefthanded pitching in general, and Philadelphia Phillies ace Steve Carlton in particular.

But Cruz collected two hits off Carlton and then drove an 11th-inning, bases-loaded single into center-field Sunday to give Houston a 3-2 victory over Philadelphia.

The game-winning hit capped a perfect day for the lefthanded Cruz, who went 3-for-3 at the plate, including two walks, against Carlton and lefthanded reliever Tug McGraw, who gave up the winning hit.

Cruz has a weak history batting against southpaws, but this season he is 10 for 26 against lefthanders for a .385 average. Last season, he was one for 12 against Carlton.

"I was swinging (away) against lefthanders before, particularly against a hard thrower like Steve," Cruz said. "Now I am just swinging for contact, and it seems to be working."

National League

Cards 2, Padres 1

Dave LaPoint, the St. Louis Cardinals' second-year pitcher, set the scenario.

"The first pitch I was throwing was low to the backstop for a ball," he says. "The next pitch is two inches higher, and they hit it into a double play."

LaPoint teamed with Bruce Sutter Sunday to pitch a 2-0, six-hit shutout against the San Diego Padres. But LaPoint's 71.3 innings were not without incident. He yielded only four hits but walked five, benefitting from three double plays.

Expos 5, Reds 4

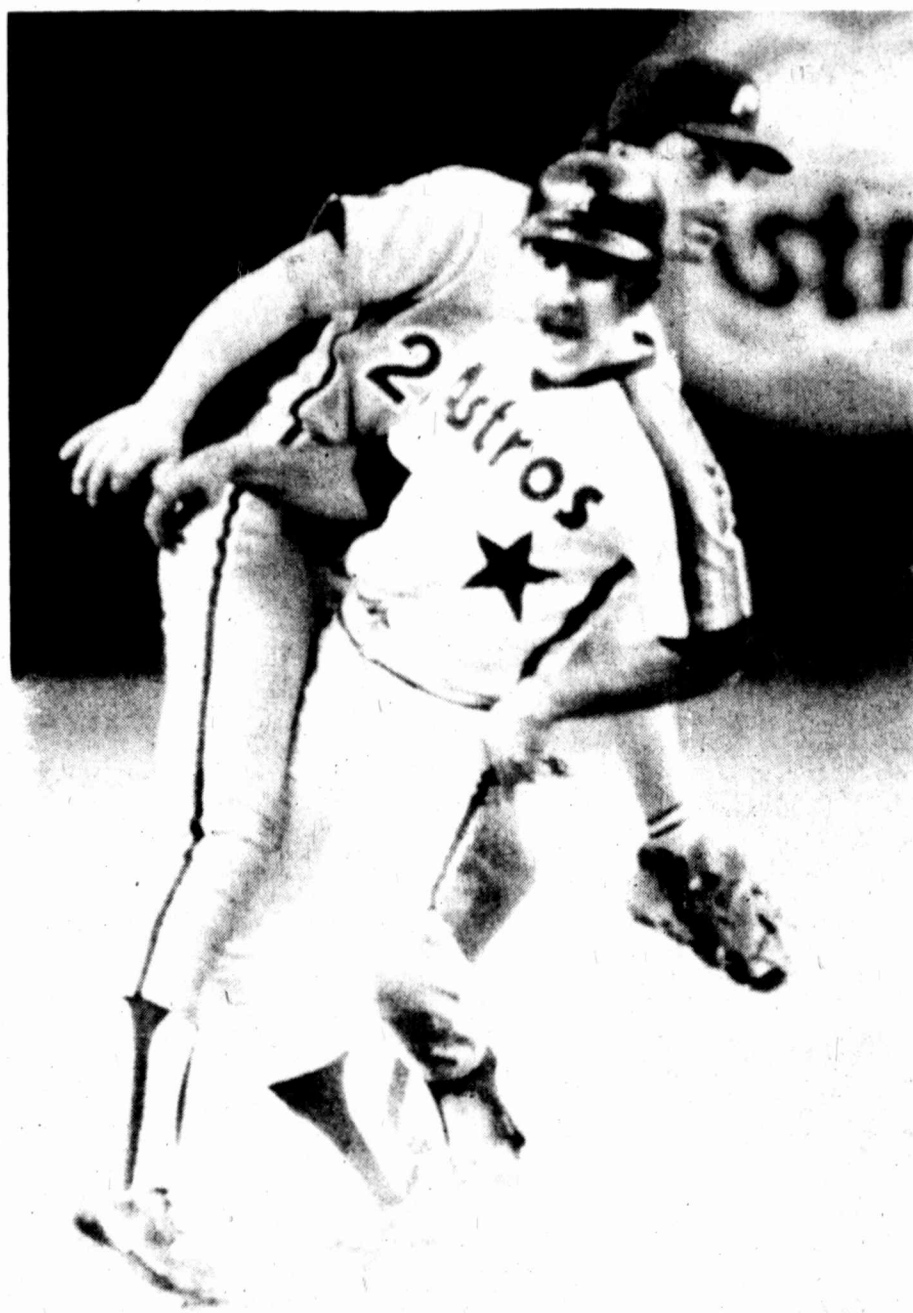

The Expos rallied twice, from 1-0 and 3-2 deficits, to beat Cincinnati behind three RBIs by Andre Dawson and two by Brian Little. Little's run-scoring single in the eighth inning pulled Montreal into a 3-3 tie, and Dawson followed with a homer, his fourth, for the winning runs.

Cubs 5, Giants 1

Leon Durham's two-run homer in the fourth inning snapped a 1-1 tie, and Wayne Nordhagen drove in a pair of insurance runs in the eighth with a pinch single to lead Chicago over San Francisco.

Braves 6-5, Mets 3-3

Bob Horner homered in both games to help Atlanta remain unbeaten in nine home games this season, while the Mets remained winless in eight road games. Rafael Ramirez's squeeze bunt broke a seventh-inning tie in the nightcap. The bunt single scored Brett Butler, who was running for Bruce Benedict. Benedict had singled, and Butler reached third when Steve Bedrosian's grounder went through second baseman Brian Giles' legs. In the opener, Horner's three-run homer offset solo homers by New York's Dave Kingman and George Foster. The score was 2-2 when Horner homered in the sixth inning off Craig Swan.

WHICH POSITION ARE YA PLAYIN,' MIKE? — Philadelphia Phillies shortstop Mike Schmidt makes the tag on Houston Astro Phil Garner at second base during the ninth inning of Sunday's game in the Astrodome. Garner was out on the attempted steal, tagged by Schmidt who is the normal Phils third baseman. The Astros won the game in the 11th inning, 3-2.

Weekend Golf Wadkins eases to win

CARLSBAD, Calif. (AP) — Lanny Wadkins set a goal for himself for the 1983 PGA Tour.

"In terms of money won ($306,827) and tournaments won (three), last year was my best season. I want to surpass what I did last year," Wadkins said.

And he's on schedule, perhaps even ahead of schedule.

Wadkins' successful title defense Sunday in the MONY-Tournament of Champions marked his second victory of the season. And the $72,000 he collected from the total purse of $400,000 made him the year's leading money-winner at $229,048.

"And that's in only 10 or 11 tournaments," Wadkins said. "I plan to play a lot, play a lot of golf tournaments and have some fun doing it."

His immediate schedule, however, has him at home in Dallas for three weeks. He'll play in the Byron Nelson Classic this week, then will take two weeks off.

"These last four weeks have been pretty good to me. That'll just make the time at home that much more pleasant," said Wadkins, who opened play in April with a victory at Greensboro, won $164,225 for the month.

The triumph Sunday came on a 280 total — the same figure he compiled in last year's victory in this gathering limited to those who had won on the Tour over the past 12 months. He finished one stroke in front of PGA titleholder Ray Floyd.

Wadkins won with a closing round of par 72, which included bogeys on two of the last three holes.

"I didn't think par golf would win it," Wadkins said, "but that's the way things happen. That's just the pressure of Sunday golf."

Floyd had a closing 69 and got his 281 total, 7-under-par on the 6,911-yard La Costa Country Club course before Wadkins finished.

MONY T of C

"I didn't think a round of 3-under would give me any chance to win," Floyd said.

But it did. Wadkins was coming off a couple of bogeys and was forced to make a par on the 18th hole to salvage the title. He did, 2-putting from about 40 feet for the 12th victory of his career.

Jay Haas, who holed a 6-iron shot for an eagle-2 on the first hole, was in a head-to-head confrontation with Wadkins most of the final round but fell back on a string of three consecutive bogeys coming home. He finished with a 73 and third at 282.

Hal Sutton was next at 74-283.

Isao Aoki of Japan, Bobby Clampett and Fuzzy Zoeller followed at 284. Aoki had a 70, despite a double bogey on the 18th. Clampett shot 71 over the last 18 holes and Zoeller 70.

Jack Nicklaus, who shared the lead after the first 36 holes, played the last 36 with only two birdies. The five-time winner of this event shot a closing 73 and was at 287.

Charles wins playoff

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP) — Pro tour veteran Bob Charles credits his cunning and not his golf clubs with a dramatic victory in the Tournament Players Series Tallahassee Open.

"Twenty years ago, it was just go, go, go — charge the holes and put it in," the 47-year-old New Zealander said Sunday after pocketing the $36,000 first prize. "Now in my old age, I reason with myself about each shot, question why I made this shot or that putt."

Charles sank a 48-foot birdie putt on the first hole of a sudden-death playoff to beat local favorite Greg Powers, after both he and Powers finished the fourth round at 6-under-par 282 after 72 holes of play at the 7,024-yard, par-72 Killearn Golf Club course.

Mark Lye carded 68 for the best round of the day and Kenny Knox scored 71 as they tied for third at 283.

"I was thinking at various times during the tournament that a lefty had won Tallahassee," the left-handed Charles recalled.

ed. "I told my caddy yesterday that it might just be in my favor."

He's the second left-hander to win a Tournament Players Series event. His last PGA victory was in the Greensboro Open in 1974.

Stacy collects top prize

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP) — Hollis Stacy considers herself an inventive golfer who plays her best when she's in trouble.

Stacy, however, is not one to go looking for trouble and that's why she resorted to a conservative style of play Sunday as she defended her title in the $150,000 LPGA S&H Golf Classic.

"I played some pretty smart golf out there," Stacy said after easing to a par 72 and six-stroke victory over Patty Sheehan and Deedee Lasker. "When I didn't feel comfortable going for a shot, I sat back and went for it."

Her attack, she admitted, did little to create excitement for fans following the leaders.

"I felt sorry for the gallery, but I just wanted to win the tournament," said Stacy. "When you have a 6-stroke lead, you have visions of making an 11."

"I was just trying to make par," she continued. "As far as excitement, there was none."

S&H Classic

Stacy, who won this tournament in 1982 when it was a 54-hole event, finished with a 72-hole total of 11-under-par 277. Sheehan and Lasker settled at 283 after rounds of 69 and 70, respectively.

Your Daily HOROSCOPE from the CARROLL RIGHTEER INSTITUTE

FORECAST FOR TUESDAY, APR. 26, 1983
GENERAL TENDENCIES: A good time to wind up unfinished tasks before launching into new projects. Seek the company of congenial persons who can help you gain your objectives. Be more optimistic.
ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Home conditions should be handled cleverly during your spare time. Try not to be overly critical of others.
TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Take extra time to get caught up with routines that have been piling up. Avoid trouble by being wary of outsiders.
GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Take care of matters which you have been neglecting lately. Use your own good judgment now for best results.
MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) You may feel a little despondent today, so take it easy and rebuild your energies. Be happy with yourself.
LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Use tact in the handling of a private matter and all works out to your satisfaction. Strive for happiness.
VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Not a good day to expect help from friends who have problems of their own at this time. Show kindness to others.
LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Taking any risks where your good reputation is at stake today is unwise. Make an effort to alleviate a personal problem.
SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Study new outlets for increasing your income. Use your own good judgment in making an important business decision.
SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Don't postpone routine duties at this time because you have an urge to go on a fun spree. Be more cheerful.
CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) A good day to settle a dispute of long standing with an associate. Strive for more harmony with close ties.
AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Make plans now to handle the work ahead of you more efficiently. Take time to improve your appearance. Be thoughtful.
PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Plan sensible recreational activities for the days ahead. A business matter should be handled promptly for best results.
IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he or she will want to complete whatever has been started but could easily get into a rut by being too dependent on one activity. Expose your progeny to a wider range of activities. Don't neglect ethical training.
"The Stars impel, they do not compel." What you make of your life is largely up to you!

Hazard revives rock'n'roll

ROBERT HAZARD - RCA Records

If one shred of justice still exists, this five-song EP would revitalize the entire rock 'n' roll industry.

In the best tradition, Hazard's adrenalin-fueled rockers are instantly memorable (where have I heard that before?) and imminently danceable (let's rock).

As Pete Townshend once said, "Rock can't solve your problems, but it can let you dance all over them."

Hazard, a would-be novelist who gave up his 9-to-5 job to sing rock 'n' roll, draws from every element of rock: the energy and drive of punk, the New Wave synthesizers, the Sixties trashy humor, even the folk movement (a dynamite version of "Blowing in the Wind").

The killer cut on this too-short record is the absolutely gorgeous "Out of the Blue" — a rocking anthem unsurprisingly detailing reality, but reveling in its final defiance.

Possibly a nod to Neil Young's "Out of the Blue (Into the Black), Hazard's tune opens with powerful punk drumming reminiscent of early Clash (See "I Fought the Law").

Guitars and keyboards mesh and build until an echoing, quavering vocal draws the battle lines:

"Out on the street/All of you trouble boys/you're all alone now/you got to make your choice."

Then, the tune soars into the stunning chorus that is uplifting even in its ultimate sadness ("Yo-ho, out of the blue... back to nowhere").

As Dave Marsh once said about Springsteen's "Born To Run," you smile through the tears at the beauty of the music.

The incredible interplay of guitar, organ and drums is astonishingly powerful despite the harsh reality of desperation, compromise and failure.

"You want to win/you got to play their games. 'Cause when you go, kid, you're gonna walk... just like you came."

The grandiose chord flourishes on the chorus brings a new dimension to the song, a new energy and a new anger.

The other two tunes are solid rock. "Change Reaction" (nice play on words) is a pure rocker without substantial lyrical finesse ("You cried till you danced all night"). (I Just Want to) Hang Around with You" features strong synth's and boasts a remarkably-catchy guitar figure.
