Shaw requests gas regulation

Harte-Hanks Austin Bureau
AUSTIN — A group of West Texas farm group leaders asked a House committee Tuesday for stricter state regulation of their natural gas utilities even though they recognized tighter controls might raise their utility bills.

Supporters of a bill by Rep. Larry Don Shaw, D-Big Spring, said farmers were the only class of utility customers who face climbing natural gas rates and no means to challenge those rate increases. Farmers depend heavily on natural gas for the operation of irrigation wells.

"What we're simply saying is that people have a right to protest and contest rates," Shaw said. Later he added, "What we're seeking from this Legislature is to have the same umpire as residential and industrial customers."

Rep. Joe Hanna, D-Breckenridge, who chairs the House Energy Committee, frequently interrupted supporters of the bill with questions and criticisms. He later referred the bill to a subcommittee for further study. But Shaw said later he expected the subcommittee, chaired by his roommate, Rep. Clint Hackney, D-Houston, to favorably report the bill to the committee.

Ray Sneed, a Dalhart farmer, claimed that currently the only recourse farmers have to challenge rate increases or gas delivery problems is to file suit in federal or district court. Another farmer, Raymond Schlabs of Hereford, said his utility rates have increased 780 percent in 10 years.

Witnesses for and against the proposal were almost evenly numbered in the three-hour hearing. Other West Texas witnesses included Carl King of Dimmit, Wade Mills of Hart, Bill Chestnutt, of Dallam-Hartley Gas Users Association.

Shaw said Texas natural gas prices vary from 48 cents to $6.15 statewide for 1,000 cubic feet. A committee member asked if the proposal might antagonize customers who obtained cheaper rates through long-term contracts. Shaw said he did not believe one group of farmers should subsidize those with long-term utilities contracts.

"There is no reason to believe rates would go up or down. The main thing is to provide for a system of accountability," said Leon Barish, an Austin lawyer representing the Dallam-Hartley Counties Gas Users Association.

The proposal would not affect the price of natural gas at the well.

City council plans widening Birdwell

By CAROL DANIEL
Staff Writer

Big Spring city council members Tuesday night decided to spend at least $457,000 to widen, reconstruct and resurface Birdwell Lane from FM 700 to Third Street.

The plan is an amendment to the second phase of a five-year capital improvements program voted for in a citywide bond election three years ago. Original plans called for Birdwell to be widened only from 15th Street to FM 700, reconstructed and resurfaced.

The council last night voted unanimously to amend its contract with the Parkhill, Smith & Cooper engineering firm of Lubbock to widen the street by 4-6 feet on the east side from 11th Place to about 175 feet north of Yale Avenue. That will open Birdwell to 50 feet wide and allow for four 11-foot wide lanes.

The west side street curb will remain untouched and the entire street will be reconstructed and resurfaced. The work will be done inside the existing city right of way so that no property need be condemned. Electricity, gas, cable television and telephone service lines will be moved at those utility companies' expense.

City Manager Don Davis said the project can be paid for with funds of $240,000 left over from Phase I of the improvements plan, $150,000 in interest earnings on construction money from Phase I and the $213,000 bond money already earmarked for Birdwell reconstruction.

Those funds come to $603,000, leaving a $146,000 balance since the project will cost an estimated $457,000, Davis said.

Davis said that widening the street on the east side only will save the city $150,000. It would cost from $235,000 to $240,000 just to reconstruct Birdwell, he said.

Although Councilmen Jack Y. Smith and Larry Miller were reluctant to make a definite decision without a public hearing, the council decided to go ahead with widening after Davis was able to quote cost estimates of widening versus just reconstructing. Also, Councilman Russ McEwen said improving Birdwell is a high priority item

Oilfield blast kills man

REMNANTS OF A TRAGEDY — The top of an storage tank (above) lies crumpled in the foreground on the oil battery lease south of Big Spring where Randy Wallace, 22, of Big Spring was killed yesterday. The gas tank exploded while Wallace was welding atop the tank, throwing him about 200 feet. A solitary boot (left) marks where Wallace was thrown.

Welding blamed in fatal explosion

A Big Spring man was killed yesterday afternoon when a gas storage tank he was working on exploded, hurling him approximately 200 feet.

Randy Wallace, 22, was declared dead at the scene at 6:10 p.m. by Justice of the Peace Lewis Heflin at an oil battery located in southern Howard County 28 miles from Big Spring.

Heflin ruled the cause of death due to concussion. He said he saw no signs of burns on Wallace.

Wallace and two other Universal Oil Co. employees were welding a vent pipe onto the tank top when the gas fumes ignited, according to Coahoma Volunteer Fireman Robert Turner.

The three storage tanks are located on the Isa Scott lease approximately three miles off FM 821 about 14 miles south of Interstate Highway 20.

Howard County Deputy Sheriff Barney Edens said Wallace "rode the top part way" after the explosion before being thrown another 50 feet.

The other two employees, Timmy Trawick and Johnie Ray Wright, were not injured by the explosion, according to Edens. The two workers were standing by the truck waiting for Wallace to complete the welding when the explosion occurred, Turner said.

Three volunteer fire departments were rushed to the scene to fight the blaze. Edens said the explosion blew the pipe vents off the second tank, releasing the

Police chief debugs department functions

By RICHARD HORN
Staff Writer

The Big Spring Police Department is evaluating every facet of its operation to improve its image and service to the city. Police Chief Rick Turner said Tuesday night.

Turner spoke to about 25 members of the Howard County Democratic Club at its regular meeting in the district courtroom.

He said the department's 15 supervisors had participated in a Texas Commission on Law Enforcement school that discussed officer training and education.

The supervisors agreed there was a lack of productivity among the men, a lack of training that was leading to a lack of confidence for new officers, and a poor community image, he said.

"That was a unanimous decision. I was very proud of that. It means we are all moving in the same direction," Turner said.

The supervisors recommended an evaluation of every person in the department, followed by weekly evaluations to monitor employees' progress.

"It's working like a champ," Turner said.
Lt. Lonnie Smith, who was one of the 15 supervisors, told the group that the supervisors had wanted the responsibility to correct the problems.

"We don't want someone else coming from the outside to clean up the department," he said. "We want to do it ourselves."

The evaluations involved detectives, patrolmen, communications personnel, and the records and identification staff, Smith said. Employees were graded on a scale from 1 to 7 with the minimum rating being 4.

Patrolmen were evaluated on their appearance and attitude, knowledge of the job, how they use that knowledge, and how they handle stressful situations, Smith said. "We're optimistic," he said. "We've found that the people in the department really wanted this kind of feedback."

Turner said that the previous lack of any evaluation in the department was partly responsible for a 32 percent annual turnover rate during the last six years.

He said the evaluation would be taken seriously.

"If an employee can't get a minimum 4 rating in two evaluations

Cable company adds 3 channels

Big Spring Cable TV is now offering three new channels with two more scheduled for the near future, according to Jim Lancaster, manager of the company.

Making their debut in Big Spring are the Movie Channel, MTV, and Nickelodeon.

The Movie Channel, a 24-hour channel offering nothing but movies, will be available for an additional $10.30 per month, Lancaster said.

Subscribers who choose to purchase both Showtime and the Movie Channel will be charged $19.55 per month for both services, he said.

MTV is a 24-hour channel specializing in contemporary rock music video. Singles, albums and concerts are featured, along with interviews with the top names of the record industry.

Nickelodeon is touted as the "first channel for kids." The channel offers movies, specials and education programming and is the only cable channel endorsed by the National Education Association.

Lancaster said MTV and Nickelodeon are offered at no additional charge to the subscriber who has the Movie Channel or Showtime. Neither channel is available to those who do not subscribe to the Movie Channel or Showtime.

The new cable channels can only be received by a converter, a device which expands the channel reception on a normal television, according to Lancaster.

He said most of the converters now in use and equipped with a key lock need to be exchanged at the cable office for a new converter with a larger channel capacity.

Current Showtime subscribers may opt to receive the larger capacity converter by returning their present model, key intact, to the cable office along with a one-time $10 fee.

The new converter also will allow access to two other channels soon to be offered: the Disney Channel and the Nashville Network.

Three men in custody for April 18 robbery

Three men are in custody after being arrested in connection with the April 18 robbery of the Dr. Robert Patterson home on the Garden City Highway, according to Howard County Sheriff A.N. Standard.

David Lee Ayers, 28, of San Angelo is in county jail without bond in connection with revocation of probation and robbery, Standard said. Two other men, Jerry Caudron and Alexis Shillinger, are being transferred from Austin in connection with the robbery, he said.

All three men were arrested in Austin on Howard County warrants, the sheriff said.

Mrs. Patterson was alone in the house when one man entered under the pretext of cutting wood, Standard said. She was bound to a chair while the man ransacked the home, carrying off several items, Standard said.

Sheriff's deputies received a lead on the robbery when one of the stolen items surfaced in San Angelo, Standard said. Working with the Tom Green County Sheriff's Office, deputies identified four suspects, the sheriff said. Ayers was arrested first by Austin authorities "mostly by luck," Standard said.

Sheriff's deputies, Texas Ranger Charles Brune and a city policeman will transfer the two suspects and the stolen goods back to Big Spring. Several burglaries are expected to be solved with the stolen items, Standard said.

Bauer registration set

Registration for Bauer Elementary students interested in the school's new extended-day program set to begin next fall will be from 2 p.m. to 4 p.m. today through Friday in the school's cafeteria.

This registration is for Bauer students only. School officials said it is important that all Bauer students interested in the extended-day program register so that adequate planning can be done for class schedules.

Prisoner sent to Arkansas

Howard County Sheriff's deputies said John M. Lowe, 45, of 1201 Donley was released to Miller County, Arkansas, authorities in connection with a violation of probation warrant. Lowe had been in county jail since his arrest April 22.

● Tony Jesse Reyes, 17, of 500 E. 12th posted $2,500 bond to be released after his arrest by city police for suspicion of false imprisonment. Reyes was arraigned before Justice of the Peace Lewis Hefflin.

● James E. Blackmor, 20, of Mesquite, Texas, was released to Dallas authorities in connection with their warrant for suspicion of robbery. Blackmor had pleaded guilty in 118th District Court in Big Spring to theft by appropriation and received a five-year probated sentence last week.

The Mesquite man was being held in county jail in connection with a Dawson County warrant, records show. That warrant was dropped, according to sheriff's deputies.

● Roland Charles Jefferson, 45, of 313 N.E. 10th posted $1,500 bond to be released after his arrest by city police for suspicion of driving while intoxicated. Bond was set by Municipal Judge Melvin Daratt.

Big Springer named Stenholm intern

A 19-year-old Big Spring man is looking forward to a first-hand look at congressional politics this summer.

Matthew A. Taylor, son of Mr. and Mrs. John L. Taylor of 614 Highland, is one of four persons chosen to work in the Washington office of Rep. Charles Stenholm this summer.

Taylor, a student at Texas A&M University, will work with Stenholm in June as part of the Omar Burleson and Lyndon Baines Johnson Congressional Internships.

"I'm looking forward to it," he said last week. "It's a good chance to learn how we can use our congressman more effectively."

Taylor, 19, is majoring in accounting and prelaw, but he said he has no immediate plans for a political career.

His duties will involve political office work, and he will have the opportunity to attend committee hearings and house debates.

Forty-two applications for the internship were received by Stenholm's office, according to an office spokesman. The other three students selected from the 17th Congressional District were Ellouise Niblo and Brad Calcote, both of Abilene, and Jack Martin of Anson.

The eight member selection committee was headed by former Congressman Omar Burleson of Abilene.

"It's a difficult decision because each of the finalists was worthy and certainly capable of being chosen," he said.

Stenholm was advised of the decision last week.

"We are very pleased to have such outstanding young men and women interested in such a program and we look forward to working with them this summer," he said. "We will give them as broad a knowledge of a congressional office and its workings as possible."

Howard College honors students

By BOB CARPENTER Staff Writer

The Howard County Junior College District honored its scholars and outstanding students last night with an awards convocation ceremony at Dorothy Garrett Coliseum.

The awards were divided in four sections: student life, academic excellence at Howard College, academic excellence at the SouthWest Collegiate Institute for the Deaf, and overall district awards.

Winning the most prestigious award of the night was Coahoma sophomore Lori Phinney, who received the Presidential Award of Outstanding Student of the Year.

Dr. Charles Hays, president of the district, said Miss Phinney best exemplified the personality, character and ability of an excellent student and leader.

Miss Phinney is a psychology major, a member of Phi Theta Kappa Honor Society, a Student Government Association senator, and a member of the Baptist Student Union.

Sam Hill, vice president at SWCID, presented Walker Estes with the Outstanding SWCID Student Award. Estes, president of the SWCID student government, also was named to Who's Who Among Students in American Junior Colleges.

Wall Street Journal Award — Marcie Lykken. American Legion Citizenship Award — Robin Ethridge and Reggie Childers.

Writer's Club Special Awards — Bill Taylor, Sanden Daugheter, Kathleen McChristian, Pepper Sullivan, Ronda Beene and Sandra McCutchan. Outstanding SWCID Preparatory Student — Catherine Corrigan. Outstanding SWCID Freshman — Sonya Gonzalez. Outstanding SWCID Sophomore — Teresa Eckstein. Outstanding SWCID Man — Walker Estes. Outstanding SWCID Woman — Debbie Adams.

Outstanding Organization members — Mike Hassell, student government association; Beatrice Rocha, Texas Association for Continuing Education; Prissy Mann, Phi Theta Kappa; Dan Ray and Chuck Senter, Rodeo Club; Kathleen McChristian, Thistles; Delilah White, Texas Nursing Students Association; Carmen Holman, cheerleaders; Nathan Gens, Hawk Club; Rose Dunn and Denise Pierce, office education; and Kurt Salisbury, press club.

gasoline which caught the surrounding vegetation on fire.

Turner said the second tank did not explode due to the escaped gasoline. Fire units concentrated on containing the fires caused by the explosion, he said.

A third tank was saved by the firefighting units from Coahoma, Sand Springs and Jonesboro, Turner said. An additional unit from Stanton was called to the scene that specializes in oilfield fires, according to Sheriff A.N. Standard.

The accident occurred between 4:15 p.m. and 4:30 p.m., according to officials. The Howard County sheriff's office received the first call at 4:42 p.m., according to reports.

periods, he will not be allowed to stay on the force. If he can't learn the basics, he can't be with us," Turner said.

The department is tackling the community image problem by working with the news media to answer questions and let the community hear positive information about the department, Turner said.

"Our problems aren't solved yet, but I think we're moving in the right direction," he said.

During a question and answer period, Turner said he had abandoned the "quota system" in which officers had to issue a certain number of traffic citations a week.

"That was a mistake on my part," he said. "We were not putting quality with the numbers."

The Democratic Club passed a motion commending Turner, his staff and the department for the evaluation program.

In other club business, D.A. Brazel asked that members protest use of the term "sexual orientation" in the Texas Democratic Party literature.

Brazel said he was angry that the party said it was open to persons of all "races, creeds and sexual orientation."

"I've told them (the party's executive committee) that it is not right. The laws of the Bible teach us that it is not right," he said.

The club approved a motion to ask party chairman Bob Slagle that the term be stricken from party language.

that would cost even more a year from now.

"I travel it a lot, as you do Larry, and it is a problem because it's too narrow," McEwen said. "The people I've talked to say that the $457,000 it would take now to widen it would be 24 to 30 percent higher next year. When we began the capital improvements it was a priority to have a north-south access road, even more of a priority than (reconstructing) Wasson Road.

"I'm very committed to widening Birdwell Lane," he continued. "It's a possibility that if we don't do it now, we won't ever be able to do it."

Miller and the other councilmen agreed to spend the money on widening Birdwell if all home and property owners are contacted and worked with.

"If you can guarantee me that every homeowner on the east side will be contacted, I'll agree to go ahead with this thing," Miller said.

Public Works Director Tom Decell said three home owners had already contacted him and that the city staff "will knock on every door" before beginning the project.

One of the seven utilities serving agricultural customers who would be placed under railroad commission regulation is Pioneer Corp. of Amarillo. Company vice president Bill Lampe commented on the irony of supporters championing more state regulation.

"This is one of the first times I can remember when people wanted to be regulated and called it a right and a privilege," he said.

Librarian asks for new carpet

By MIKE DOWNEY Staff Writer

Howard County Librarian Judith Gray told county commissioners Monday the library carpeting needs replacing and even showed them pictures of its poor condition.

Mrs. Gray met with the commissioners on six items concerning the library at their regular meeting.

Mrs. Gray said the indoor-outdoor carpet currently in the library had been there approximately 13 years. The carpet tiles are peeling, forcing the staff to use thumb tacks to hold the tiles down, Mrs. Gray said.

Traffic through the library continues to be considerable, the head librarian said. The library had 330 persons in Saturday alone, Mrs. Gray said.

Commissioners asked her to get estimates on the carpet.

In other library-related matters, commissioners approved the installation of two new phone lines for the county facility. Mrs. Gray said one would be exclusively for the teletypewriter the Friends of the Library recently purchased. The TTY would be for the deaf students and individuals in the community, she said.

Commissioners also approved new shelving for the library when Mrs. Gray obtains estimates of costs. Several books at the library are stored on the floor due to shelving scarcity, she said.

In other items, commissioners approved buying three Kustom radar units for the Department of Public Safety office in Big Spring. The units are expected to cost $6,885. Department of Public Safety Trooper Bill Jennings said the units usually pay for themselves.

"They are economically feasible," Jennings said. Commissioners decided to study further a request from County Engineer Bill Mims to spend $14,500 to buy a 1978 trailer truck. The truck would replace a 1963 truck, Mims said. Commissioners approved purchasing a $4,337 wheel balancer for the county barn.

Mims also requested placing the Road and Bridge Department's radio antenna on top of South Mountain to improve reception. Mims estimated the cost at $5,000.

"We get the Kansas City bus system, New York and a veterinarian system somewhere," Mims said.

In other action action, commissioners:

● Approved a salary increase to $1,653 a month and title change for Deputy Sheriff Robert Puente. Puente moves to civil deputy, replacing Paul Silva who left the position effective March 1, according to County Treasurer Bonnie Franklin.

● Adjusted the salary of Home Economics-Extension Agent Peggy Kalina to $442 a month. Miss Kalina's salary is augmented by state and federal funding, Mrs. Franklin said.

● Approved the hiring of secretary Irene Rodriguez in the juvenile probation and welfare office. Although a salary of $900 a month was originally proposed, commissioners decided to start Ms. Rodriguez at $863 a month like other county employees.

● Heard a request from Texas Alcoholic Beverage Commission Officer Sam Smelser for a secretary to be shared with Texas Ranger Charles Brune.

● Decided to advertise for bids to replace the extension agent office vehicle. County Agent Don Richardson said the engine blew up on the pick-up truck after causing considerable problems for several months.

Deaths

Randy Wallace

Randy Wallace, 22, died Tuesday evening from injuries received in an oilfield accident. Services will be at 4 p.m. Thursday at Nalley-Pickle Rosewood Chapel with the Rev. Dan Sanford, pastor of the First Baptist Church in Sand Springs, officiating. Burial will be in Trinity Memorial Park.

Wallace was born Dec. 5, 1960 in Big Spring. He had lived all of his life in the Big Spring and Coahoma areas. He attended Coahoma schools and graduated from Coahoma High School in 1979. When he was a senior, he represented Coahoma in the state track meet in pole vaulting. He had worked for Universal Oil Co. for the past 2 1/2 years. He was a Baptist.

He is survived by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Wallace of Sand Springs; one brother, Craig Wallace of Sand Springs; his paternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Wallace of Coahoma; his maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. J.B. Nixon of Coahoma; and his maternal great-grandmother, Mrs. Callie Goodson of Smackover, Ark.

Reagan turns up the heat

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Reagan, in a move that an adversary says "has turned up the heat" in the debate over Central America, is asking a restive Congress to help combat communist advances in the war-plagued region.

Using a tactic reserved for rare occasions, Reagan speaks to a joint session of the House and Senate tonight on his administration's policies regarding the leftists in power in Nicaragua and those seeking power in El Salvador.

On both fronts, Congress is showing reluctance to give him what he is asking for.

The House Appropriations subcommittee on foreign operations cut his request for a $60 million diversion of military aid to the beleaguered Salvadoran regime in half Tuesday, voting by only a 7-5 margin to approve even that much.

But in an interview with Gannett News Service published today, Reagan said he would push for restoration of the full $60 million. "The cup's half full. We need the full cup. We will go back for more," he said.

In New York today, Reagan made a pitch for his Central American program in a speech before the 97th convention of the American Newspaper Publishers Association.

"We are not accustomed to worrying about a military threat in our own hemisphere," Reagan said. "We have almost taken for granted friendly, independent neighbors."

"But we can no longer ignore the fire that is burning in our own front yard. We must respond both with unity and firmness of purpose. The peoples of this hemisphere are all Americans, and all of us share a vital stake in a future of democracy and freedom," he said.

Meanwhile, Rep. Edward Boland, D-Mass., chairman of the House Intelligence Committee, proposed to cut off all aid to insurgents fighting the leftist government in Nicaragua after 45 days.

And Sen. Christopher Dodd, D-Conn., emerging from a closed Senate session that he requested, said he

"... We can no longer ignore the fire that is burning in our own front yard. We must respond both with unity and firmness of purpose. The peoples of this hemisphere are all Americans, and all of us share a vital stake in a future of democracy and freedom." — Ronald Reagan found a "very, very high" level of concern about what he charges is illegal administration support for the Nicaraguan guerrillas.

"Clearly the president has turned up the heat," Dodd said. "This is a rare use of the joint session of Congress. It has only been used, I think, nine times in the last 25 years, normally to announce some good news."

In the Gannett interview which was conducted Tuesday, Reagan said he intends to make it "difficult, in fact, impossible" for Nicaragua to arm guerrilla movements in El Salvador and the region.

If anti-government forces in Nicaragua say they are using U.S.-supplied arms to overthrow the Managua government, he said, "We can't control what they say." His intention, he insisted, is only to stop the flow of arms from Nicaragua to El Salvador.

"The arms and the training and even the direction of guerrilla military movements are all centered in Nicaragua. The operation of Salvadoran guerrillas are directed by radio from the capital of, near the capital of Nicaragua," Reagan said.

Dodd asked for the closed Senate session, which lasted an hour and 40 minutes, so senators could get an Intelligence Committee briefing on covert operations that he says illegally seek the overthrow of the Nicaraguan government. Administration lobbyists were distributing to congressional Republicans a newspaper article by United Nations Ambassador Jeane Kirkpatrick outlining what she said is "a plan to create a communist Central America." She said Congress "seems unwilling to make a serious effort" to prevent this from happening.

The Senate Democratic Policy Committee, on the other hand, distributed a report concluding, "The Reagan administration's policy of supporting paramilitary groups attempting to overthrow the Nicaraguan government has little chance of success and ... promises to bring about events that are plainly against the national interest of the United States."

Senate Democratic Leader Robert C. Byrd and House Speaker Thomas P. O'Neill Jr., D-Mass., asked for television time for a Democratic response, to be given by Dodd.

The compromise $30 million military aid package for El Salvador was approved by the House subcommittee Tuesday after the administration agreed to name a special U.S. envoy "charged with advancing the peace process" in El Salvador.

After the vote, the subcommittee released a letter from Secretary of State George P. Shultz, in which Shultz said the president would "soon be designating a senior U.S. official of ambassadorial rank to act as a special envoy to Central American governments."

The name being most prominently mentioned was former Sen. Richard Stone, D-Fla., who has worked on behalf of Reagan proposals in the Caribbean and Central America.

Boland's proposal regarding Nicaragua would replace CIA covert aid to the rebels with a fund to provide money to democratic Central American governments to interdict arms flowing into their countries, committee officials said.

Rep. C.W. Young, R-Fla., a member of the House committee, said the panel might vote on the proposal Thursday.

RONALD REAGAN ... wants $60 million in aid

SF mayor avoids recall

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Mayor Dianne Feinstein, forced into a recall election by a fringe group opposed to gun control, says her landslide victory at the polls is a "mandate for courage" in her administration.

Appearing before a crowd of about 1,000 cheering supporters as the election results came in Tuesday night, Ms. Feinstein promised that she would be "a mayor that's not going to let the tail wag the dog."

"I see this ... as a mandate for strength, as a mandate for courage, as a mandate for bringing the people of the city together," she said.

Ms. Feinstein, 49, had wept when she first learned that opponents had forced a recall election, the city's first since 1946. But the Democratic mayor raised about $400,000 and unleashed more than 2,000 volunteers who handed out absentee ballots in public places, using ironing boards as impromptu desks.

She won 45,343 of 51,033 absentee ballots counted before the polls closed at 8 p.m. With all 709 precincts reporting, the final total was 127,043 votes for Ms. Feinstein, 29,269 opposed. The margin was 80 percent against the recall, 18.4 percent in favor, 1.5 percent marked for neither choice, and .1 percent marked for both.

An additional 5,000 absentee ballots are expected to be counted by Friday, and 800 ballots have been challenged. Turnout among the 354,000 registered voters was 44.9 percent.

The election was sparked by the White Panther Party, a tiny group angered by Ms. Feinstein's support of a handgun ban. Its 20 members circulated recall petitions even after a court nullified the ban.

The White Panthers were joined by a hodgepodge of other groups, including environmentalists concerned about urban sprawl, preservationists dismayed by the destruction of historical buildings and homosexuals angered by the mayor's veto of a "domestic partner" proposal that would have extended city benefits to the mates of unmarried city workers.

Panthers leader Tom Stevens blamed the failure of the recall on the absentee ballots, calling them illegal, and said the group's reaction would be "in court."

Two courts, including the state Supreme Court, have already thrown out the group's argument that absentee ballots violated a constitutional right to a secret ballot.

The mayor campaigned vigorously, making no apologies for her 4½-year record and gathering a momentum expected to carry her through November, when she seeks re-election to another four-year term.

The strong showing, coupled with her role as mayor of the host city for the Democratic National Convention next July, is expected to bring Ms. Feinstein more national attention.

Her administration of this city has generated a $150 million surplus. Unemployment is several points below the state average, downtown construction is booming and a $54 million renovation of the city's historic cable car system is rolling along smoothly while other cities are pressed for mass transit funds.

Ms. Feinstein, a San Francisco native, was first elected to the city's Board of Supervisors in 1969 and won re-election twice. She was appointed mayor after the November 1978 slaying of Mayor George Moscone and Supervisor Harvey Milk, and won election on her own in November 1979.

U.S. committed to Israel's security

But Shultz repeats request for Israeli troops to leave Lebanon

JERUSALEM (AP) — Secretary of State George P. Shultz declared today that while the United States wants Israeli forces out of Lebanon, the Reagan administration is "committed without qualification to Israel's survival, security and well-being."

In a statement at Ben-Gurion International Airport, Shultz said: "President Reagan has sent me here to work closely with you on new steps toward peace. Our immediate task is bringing peace to Lebanon, restoring Lebanese sovereignty, withdrawing all foreign forces, and ensuring peace and security on Israel's northern border."

Shultz went immediately by motorcade for a meeting with Foreign Minister Yitzhak Shamir.

A meeting with Prime Minister Menachem Begin, scheduled for later in the day, will be Shultz's first with the Israeli leader.

Shamir welcomed Shultz at the airport on his arrival from Cairo, saying his trip here "demonstrates the American commitment to peace and stability in our region."

Indicating some flexibility in Israel's position on a withdrawal of its 25,000 troops from Lebanon, Shamir predicted Shultz's visit would "contribute to a solution of pending problems in Lebanon." In his remarks, Shultz said a "number of difficult issues remain" in the negotiations on a troop withdrawal but "so much has already been accomplished in this negotiation that none of us can allow it to fail."

Shultz told reporters during the flight from Cairo — the first stop on his current Middle East tour — that he will meet with Begin twice before going to Lebanon on Thursday where he will confer with President Amin Gemayel on the withdrawal talks.

He made clear his talks with Begin will be important in shaping the direction of his mission here.

"I expect by the time I go to Beirut to have a very clear idea of things that Israel considers important and where the critical elements of the negotiations are as they see it," he said.

He said he thinks there is "a very good chance of getting a troop withdrawal agreement on this trip."

An agreement between Israel and Lebanon for a withdrawal of Israeli troops is "the first thing we are concentrating on," Shultz said. He will then turn his attention to an agreement for withdrawal of Syrian troops and Palestinian guerrillas.

He told reporters he hopes to go to Syria to meet with President Hafez Assad. The Beirut newspaper Al-Sharq said Assad agreed to meet with Shultz when the secretary goes to Damascus, probably after his visit to Beirut on Thursday.

State Department spokesman John Hughes cautioned that Syria is likely to decide the status of its 38,000-man Lebanon force based on the kind of conditions Israel sets for withdrawing its troops. He said the Palestinians, with an estimated 7,000 fighters in Lebanon, are likely to do whatever the Syrians decide.

Lebanon has a population of less than 3 million.

A senior State Department official who asked not to be identified said Begin may be pressured to withdraw by "growing restiveness in Israel over the mounting number of Israeli casualties in Lebanon."

The Israelis invaded Lebanon last summer to drive out Palestinian guerrillas. The Syrians have had troops in Lebanon since the end of the 1975-76 Lebanese civil war.

In another development today, Lebanese Prime Minister Shafik Wazzan left Beirut for hurriedly arranged consultations with King Fahd of Saudi Arabia about Shultz's trip.

The decision to dispatch Wazzan and five senior aides was made during a four-hour conference Gemayel held Tuesday night with chief advisers on the upcoming talks with Shultz.

Weather

Mostly clear skies, mild temperatures

By The Associated Press
 Cloudy skies blanketed most of South and Central Texas today, while mostly clear skies were the rule across the rest of the state.

Temperatures were in the 50s and 60s before dawn. Winds were light and variable along the coast, while southerly breezes of 10 to 15 mph dominated northern sections. Westerly winds around 10 mph were noted across West Texas.

The forecast called for fair skies in North and West Texas and mostly cloudy skies in South Texas. Afternoon highs were expected to reach the 70s and 80s, with a few readings in the 90s in extreme South Texas, through Wednesday.

West Texas — Fair with warm days through Thursday. Highs 78 Panhandle to 92 extreme south. Lows 45 Panhandle to 62 Big Bend. Highs Thursday mostly in the 80s, except 95 extreme south.

Your chauvinism is showing, Greg

Dear Editor,
Mr. Jaklewicz, your male chauvinism is showing. In your Thursday notes, you featured three of the women body builders from the BodyCentre. You made Cindy, Becky and Charlotte sound like Playboy Bunnies or Strippers.

We would like you to know that body building, whether for men or women, is a professional sport, just like football, baseball, golf, etc. If you had been featuring men you would have censored the pictures and have mentioned PlayGirl magazine?

The Herald may be a family paper but we have seen girls in bikinis taken at the pool on the front page, so if "we" believe in Big Spring, the Herald should support and feature these women for the athletes they are.

Let's clean up our town

Dear Editor,
This is an open letter to each and every citizen in Big Spring.

Several committees have been formed and organizational plans have been underway for some time, preparing to launch the biggest and most thorough clean-up campaign that has ever been undertaken in our city.

To make this project the success that is so hopefully desired it will require the involvement and participation of everyone of our citizens.

First of all the news media management, the school administrators, city management, all merchants, the heads of all civic and social clubs, the heads of all churches and others will be asked to become involved and to participate in the program.

However, with all the parties mentioned participating, the degree of success of the campaign will depend upon how much individual pride and effort goes into the program.

Very soon the kickoff will be announced and the folks in Big Spring will be off and running to prove once again that our people can and will accomplish anything that we set out to do.

If anyone has any question about what they can do to help make "Big Spring Beautiful," please contact any of the following chairpersons: Chuck Benz, 263-7331; Bill Draper, 267-2571; or Leroy Tillery, 263-7641. Sincerely,

H.M. (Mack) UNDERWOOD

Little touches

In the space of two all-too-short hours, the movie "Local Hero" manages to upgrade the image of Texans, support international friendship, promote environmental awareness and generally makes the human race look pretty good.

Perhaps no movie is really this good, but "Local Hero," a whimsically daffy picture, is a great deal of fun to watch. The British film is one of those movies where time passes much too quickly.

THE PLOT of "Local Hero" is fairly simple: a Houston independent oil company plans to build an oil refinery in Scotland, but Ferness, a small fishing village, occupies the prime real estate. The Knox Oil company dispatches a buyer to make the purchase in Scotland.

Here the semblance to normalcy ends. The film begins the slight off-kilter look that happily inhabits the entire film. In a weird, but very human way, people and events drift through in an offbeat fashion that no one really notices.

McIntyre (played by Peter Reiger) is chosen to make the deal because he is thought Scottish. He is, however, Hungarian.

Before his send-off, Mac (as he is called) meets with Happer, the company president, played with relish by Burt Lancaster. Happer is slightly wacky as he combines business acumen with a child's fascination of the stars (he wants to have a comet named after him).

Once in Scotland, Mac works with an odd group of locals that possess minute unexpected characteristics. The final deal on the oil refinery is a poignant return to reality.

ONE UNIQUE touch is the presentation of Texans in the film. Two recent movies made in Texas about Texans — "Eddie Macon's Run" and "Lone Wolf McQuade" — present Texans as stereotyped yahoos who all still wear cowboy gear with a penchant for stupidity.

In "Local Hero," a film made in Texas and Scotland by an Englishman, Texans are intelligent, well-meaning individuals who have brains and good taste. They wear three-piece suits and everything.

One astonishing accomplishment is how writer/director Bill Forsyth manages to make the so-called money-grubbing oil companies and the environmentalists both look decent. He avoids preaching and long-winded speeches, but the messages are there if one looks.

Yet another touch is the beautiful soundtrack by Mark Knopfler of the rock group Dire Straits. Knopfler highlights the movie's action (and non-action) with quiet acoustic guitar and judicious synthesizer. The spare use of instrumentation throughout the movie makes the music that is heard more significant.

WHAT IS resolved in this movie? Not much. Any great truths? Not really. Any big laughs? Not especially.

"Local Hero" is a loony look at life, albeit an unusual slice. From the nerdish loon-like body comedy of Peter Capaldi as Danny to suave Gordon (Denis Lawson) as the chameleon village functionary to Riegert's bemused reactions of absurdity, these are not everyday folks, but no one really cares.

This is a subtle film, edged with moments of quiet humor and wry circumstance. Moviegoers weaned on car crashes and dazzling space operas may find the pace too slow. But for those who have always liked the little touches that make a film special, "Local Hero" is their film, one made solely with little touches.

Lessons of the bomb

WASHINGTON — Publicly, American officials must react defiantly to the bombing of the Beirut embassy. But in private, a little reflection makes sense.

For the bombing teaches in a horrible way a subtle lesson that needs to be more thoroughly assimilated into the American approach to both Lebanon and the problem of the Palestinians.

The lesson is that clear-cut notions of peace, security, sovereignty and borders bear only a loose relation to conditions on the ground.

The starting point for analysis is a devolution of politics throughout the area that increasingly leaves the initiative in the hands of tiny minorities. To reach the parties guilty of the bombing requires passage through an almost incomprehensible mosaic of conflicting minority groups.

Lebanon, as everybody knows, is divided between Christians, constituting about 40 percent of the population, and the Moslem majority of roughly 60 percent. The Christians are in turn divided. President Amin Gemayel leads a clan of Maronites based in the region that runs along the coast from Beirut north to their stronghold of Junih. They are bitterly opposed by another Christian clan based much further north in Tripoli. Each seeks allies against the other in the Moslem population and the rest of the world.

The Moslems are even more sharply split. The Sunni, or orthodox majority, branch is strong around Beirut. It has found allies with the Sunni leaders of most Arab countries, and with the Palestine Liberation Organization.

But Moslems of the Shiite sect also live in Lebanon. Most of them are based south of Beirut. They have been hostile to the central government, the Sunni Moslems and the PLO. They tend to collaborate with the Israeli forces, which now occupy their territory.

A tiny sliver of the Shiite population lives behind the coastal range of mountains in the Bekaa Valley around the town of Baalbek. Cut off from politics at the center, and under the occupation of Syrian forces, they have played host to the ideas of militant Islam. They received a delegation sent to Lebanon from the Ayatollah Khomeini of Iran, which is the stronghold of the Shiite creed.

When I was in Beirut a month ago, Ambassador Robert Dillon singled out the Shiite fundamentalists from the Bekaa as the probable perpetrators of attacks against the Marines in the multinational force guarding Beirut. The preponderance of evidence, including their own claim, fingers them as the bombers of the embassy, too.

Thus the bombing is not just the work of a "bunch of jackasses," to use Sen. Goldwater's typically careful description. It reflects the breakdown of Lebanese politics that gives important scope to minuscule religious enclaves.

A final resolution of the Lebanese crisis, accordingly, has to be federal in character. Reaching the goal must be by slow stages, with the Lebanese government consolidating its authority step by step. A big push for quick Israeli and Syrian evacuation of Lebanon is not healthy. Rather, the need is for a withdrawal schedule that is relatively loose and expands over a longish period of time.

It follows that withdrawal of foreign troops from Lebanon should not be tied to resolution of the conflict between Israel and the Palestinian Arabs. For one thing, there is a need to address the Palestinian problem before the withdrawal from Lebanon has been completed. In that context, it is already widely recognized that the Palestinian portfolio should be removed from the jurisdiction of President Reagan's chief negotiator in Lebanon, Ambassador Phillip Habib.

The model of the Lebanese mosaic, moreover, also describes conditions in the two bits of territory — the West Bank and Gaza — where most of the Palestinian Arabs are concentrated. A solution to their problem has to be federal, too, and not only in the sense explicitly proposed by President Reagan of a Palestinian homeland affiliated with Jordan.

A far deeper federation is ultimately required. It would provide for cooperation among Israel, Jordan and the Palestinians. The Palestinians would enjoy political rights in Jordan and economic opportunities in Israel. Sovereignty would be ambiguous and borders porous.

Little of this, to be sure, has to be for right now. On the contrary, the present is dominated by total confusion. King Hussein of Jordan has shut the door on President Reagan's plan — but not altogether. The PLO leader, Yasser Arafat, is in deep trouble. The Israeli prime minister, Menachem Begin, is sunk in dejection. The Russians, though they have come back in Syria, Iraq and the Persian Gulf, seem unsure of themselves in general, and especially in Iran.

Total confusion argues the need for a period of sorting out. Readjustment of the American stance on Lebanon and the Palestinian problem is required. But only as a small part of a larger breathing spell, a general reassessment.

Soviets worry about papal visit

WASHINGTON — Josef Stalin once sneered at the power of the Vatican by asking, "How many divisions does the Pope have?"

But Stalin's successors in the Kremlin don't share his contempt for the leader of the Roman Catholic Church. In fact, my intelligence sources say the Soviet leaders fear Pope John Paul II more than any other human being.

That's why Yuri Andropov's KGB allegedly tried to have the Pope assassinated two years ago. And that's why the Soviet hierarchy and their puppets in Warsaw are so worried about John Paul's visit to Poland in June. They're afraid the pontiff's visit to his native land will fan the flames of rebellion in Catholic Poland — flames that were supposedly stamped out by the declaration of martial law in December 1981.

The Soviet leaders, as paranoid as any ideological fanatics, believe the Polish-born pope's visit to Poland in June 1979 helped to inspire the formation of the Solidarity movement a year later. They are afraid that equally momentous developments could follow his June visit.

So the Polish communist regime is taking two specific precautions to prevent the papal visit from turning into a political disaster:

— The Polish government is insisting that John Paul's itinerary include a meeting with Gen. Wojciech Jaruzelski, in hopes that this will give the military regime legitimacy in the eyes of the people.

— The regime is trying to discourage a meeting between the Pope and Lech Walesa, the acknowledged leader of the outlawed Solidarity. Any meeting between these two charismatic Poles could strike parks that would scorch Jaruzelski and inflame anew the Solidarity movement.

The Vatican is resisting the Polish government's attempt to manipulate the papal visit. John Paul is no political babe in the woods, and he's not about to give the Polish regime everything it wants.

Sources close to the Vatican have sketched out to my associate Lucette Lagnado a likely compromise: Pope John Paul will meet with Jaruzelski as the Polish

My mother always criticizes

DEAR DR. GRAHAM: All my mother does is criticize me. She complains about my school work, my friends, my habits — everything. How can I get her off my back? — S.E.

DEAR S.E.: You are reaching a point in your life when you are naturally seeking to become more and more independent. This is not necessarily bad, because we each need to learn to make our own decisions as the years go by. But this time also can be a very difficult time for you because in your desire to become more and more independent, you can go to an extreme that is wrong.

What am I suggesting? Simply this. Be on guard against an attitude or emotion in yourself that automatically resists or rejects anything your mother suggests to you, simply because she is your mother and you are trying to become more independent. It is not easy for someone in your position to listen to your parents' advice without getting upset sometimes — but constantly you need to be on guard against this and evaluate carefully what your mother (or father) might be saying. For example, I get letters every day from young people who have gotten involved with "the wrong crowd" — others who seemed to offer them excitement and adventure, but ended up getting them involved in things that were wrong or harmful. So learn to weigh carefully what your mother says — she may have much to teach you, and because she loves you, she wants you to avoid those things that she knows will harm you.

At the same time, I know parents can sometimes be too critical and never praise a young person — and not even realize what they are doing. They love their teenagers and are anxious to see them make right decisions. Have you honestly — and without getting into a heated argument — discussed your feelings with your mother?

But more than this, I hope you will make a very important decision — in fact the most important decision you can ever make. You face many decisions in life right now, and you need Christ to help you and guide you. My prayer is that you will turn your life over to him.

Nelson barred from UT benefit showing

AUSTIN (AP) — The sponsor of a sports event for mentally retarded people says he had to cancel a scheduled benefit appearance by Willie Nelson because University of Texas officials feared the popular singer would attract "undesirables" to the UT campus.

"It's a great disappointment to us," Denis Poulos, executive director of the Texas Special Olympics, told the Austin American-Statesman.

University officials had no immediate comment today. Amy Jo Long, director of the university's publicity office, said,

"All executive officers are in a meeting every Wednesday morning at this time."

Poulos said Nelson had agreed to perform free on May 25 for 15 to 20 minutes to kick off the three-day event. Poulos said he met with UT officials Friday to discuss arrangements for the games, which will take place in the university's Memorial Stadium.

Poulos said university officials considered Nelson's appearance a concert. "There was also discussion about the type of people who would come out to a Willie Nelson concert."

Judging teams hard at work

One of the activities of the Howard County 4-H is a livestock judging team. This team goes to different towns to judge the quality of animals shown to them. The animal groups are of sheep, pigs, cattle and horses, with four in each group. Some contests require that you give reasons for why you placed the animals in the order that you did, such as height, straightness, correctness and muscling. Good reasons can increase your judging score, the highest of which you can make is 50.

The Howard County judging team has been practicing several nights a week for the past month. A judging contest was held here at the fair barns on April 16 at which the local team did well. Members of the senior team are Blair Richardson, Cole Hunt, Jamie Phillips and Kevin Hamlin. The junior team includes Lance Robinson, Kneel Stallings, Duncan Hamlin, Vance Christie, Lex Christie and Jimmy Miller. A district judging contest will be held here May 7, with Dennis Poole leading our local team.

The Gay-hill 4-H club had a meeting this month to elect its new officers for next year. They are president, Kevin Hamlin; vice president, Tessa Underwood; secretary, Dawn Underwood; treasurer, Kneel Stallings; reporter, Duncan Hamlin.

The club also discussed a money making project and a community service project.

On April 29-30 a method demonstration will be held at Alpine. A method demonstration teaches information or tells others how to make or do something.

Also, several 4-H members will be traveling to Texas Tech to attend the district round-up.

Mobile homes on market upswing

John Beddow, president of Cameo Energy Homes, our local mobile home manufacturing plant, gave me some good news this week. He and his staff just returned from a manufactured housing show in Fort Worth which has resulted in a backlog of orders. John said, "This is the first backlog in quiet a few months. We have about 140 orders as a direct result of the Fort Worth show and the business outlook for us is very good."

Cameo recently advertised for applicants to apply for six administrative-management trainee positions. They were overwhelmed with the response to that ad, receiving approximately 300 applications. Of this number 175 were tested and given extensive interviews. The company was so pleased with the quality and experience of the applicants that they hired nine people instead of the six advertised for. The newly hired management trainees are Loren Hastings, Bill Kautz, Bob Florence, Mike Neeley, Ronnie Anderson, Gordon Grinnan, Mary Lou Shank, Mark Choate, and Simon Correa.

You will be reading more about this in a formal release from Congressman Stenholm's office, but I can't wait any longer to congratulate Matt Taylor, son of John and Beverly Taylor, for his having been chosen as a summer intern in Stenholm's Washington office. He will be leaving almost immediately after completing his sophomore year at Texas A&M to go to Washington in June where he will serve as an aide. He was one of four people chosen out of a large and highly qualified field of college students and teachers.

Congratulations also to Dene Sheppard for her debut as an independent sales director of Mary Kay Cosmetics.

We will have the organizational meeting of the Big Spring chapter of Toastmasters International on Thursday, May 5 at 7 p.m. at the conference room, 210 Permian Building. This is open to all people who want to improve their public speaking and leadership skills. The cost is $24 yearly and is an excellent professional development program. For more information, call me or plan to come to the meeting. There's no obligation to join if, after hearing from the sponsoring clubs, you do not wish to be a part of the group. The Twin Cities Professionals and the Midland Toastmasters are the two Toastmaster Clubs who are sponsoring our club.

ATTENTION ALL WOMEN WHO WANT TO BE INVOLVED IN COMMUNITY ACTIVITIES — whether employed outside the home or full-time homemaker — make plans to attend the next Blue Blazers luncheon at LaPosada Restaurant at noon, Tuesday, May 3. Call 263-1451 for reservations and details.

All indications point to a good upturn in store sales in the weeks just ahead. The Kiplinger Washington Letter believes that shoppers are on the threshold of bigger spending because total personal incomes and disposable, after-tax incomes are up and because cash is still piling up in money market accounts and Super-Now checking accounts. Because many have lightened their debt loads, they are in a position to buy again.

Oriental cooking class offered through College

By TINA STEFFEN
Lifestyle Editor
and
CAROL HART
Lifestyle Writer

The Howard College Continuing Education Department will be offering something of interest to area cooks — a course in Oriental Cooking May 2-May 16, on Mondays, from 7 p.m. to 8:30 p.m. at the Kopper Kettle.

The course will be taught by Christie Wang Banerjee, an instructor at Howard College, is an accomplished cook and enjoys spending time in the kitchen preparing oriental delicacies.

Below are some of recipes to get you in the mood for Christie's classes.

SWEET AND SOUR PORK

1 recipe Sweet and Sour Sauce, see below
1/4 tsp. salt
freshly ground black pepper
1/4 tsp. sugar
2 Tbsp. soy sauce
2 Tbsp. sherry
1 lb. lean pork, cut into 1 inch squares, 3/4 inches thick
2 carrots, cut diagonally into 1 inch pieces
1 egg
2 Tbsp. flour
1/2 tsp. salt
1 Tbsp. water
2 Tbsp. oil
2 thin slices fresh ginger root, minced
1 clove garlic, flattened
1 small onion, cut into 3/4 inch wide strips
1 green pepper, cut into 1-inch diamonds
oil for deep frying

Combine the sauce ingredients in an enamel pan. Mix the cornstarch and water for the sauce, but do not add it yet. Combine the salt, pepper, sugar, soy sauce and sherry in a bowl. Add the pork and toss to coat. Let stand 20 minutes. Parboil the carrots three to four minutes in plenty of boiling, salted water. Drain and rinse under cold running water. Beat together the egg, flour, salt and water to make a batter. Heat two tablespoons oil in a wok or large skillet. Add the ginger root and garlic and stir-fry 30 seconds. Remove and discard the garlic. Add the carrots, onion and green pepper and stir-fry two to three minutes. Meanwhile, heat the Sweet and Sour Sauce and add it to the vegetables. Stir in the cornstarch mixture to thicken. Remove from the heat and keep warm. Heat the oil for deep frying to 375 degrees F. Dip the pork pieces into the batter and drop them into the hot oil one by one. Fry three to four minutes until golden brown. Drain on paper towels and add to the sauce. Combine the vegetables and pork thoroughly and serve immediately.

SOY BRAISED CHICKEN

1 3/4 lb. chicken
3/4 cup soy sauce
3 Tbsp. sherry
1 1/2 cups chicken broth
1 1/2 tsp. sugar
3 Tbsp. oil
3 scallions, cut into 1 inch pieces
1 clove garlic, crushed
2 thin slices fresh ginger root, minced

Cut the chicken through the bone into two inch pieces or leave it whole if you prefer. Combine the soy sauce, sherry, chicken broth and sugar in a saucepan and bring to a boil. Cover and remove from the heat. Heat the oil in a wok or casserole. Add the chicken and fry over high heat three minutes until lightly browned. Add the scallions, garlic and ginger root and stir-fry one minute. Add the hot soy sauce mixture and bring to a boil. Lower the heat, cover and simmer 40 minutes. Place the chicken on a serving plate. Strain the sauce and spoon a little over the chicken.

SWEET AND SOUR SAUCE

1/2 cup sugar
1/2 cup vinegar
2 Tbsp. soy sauce
2 Tbsp. sherry
3 Tbsp. tomato sauce or catsup

2 Tbsp. cornstarch dissolved in 1/2 cup pineapple juice
Combine the sugar, vinegar, soy sauce, sherry and tomato sauce in a heavy saucepan and bring to a boil. Add the cornstarch mixture, stirring constantly until the sauce thickens.

STIR-FRIED PORK WITH VEGETABLES

3 dried Chinese mushrooms
4 Tbsp. oil
1/2 tsp. salt
1 clove garlic, flattened
2 thin slices fresh ginger root, minced
1/2 cup sliced bamboo shoots
6 water chestnuts, sliced 1/2 inch thick
4 fresh mushrooms, sliced 1/4 inch thick
1/2 cup bean sprouts
2 scallions, cut diagonally into one-inch pieces
1/2 lb. lean pork, cut across the grain into 1/4 inch thick slices
1 Tbsp. sherry
1/2 cup chicken broth
1 Tbsp. soy sauce
1 Tbsp. cornstarch dissolved in 3 Tbsp. water

Soak the dried mushrooms in warm water for 20 minutes. Squeeze dry and remove the stalks. Slice the caps. Heat two Tbsp. oil in a wok or large skillet. Add the salt and stir 30 seconds. Add the garlic and ginger root and stir-fry until lightly browned. Remove and discard the garlic. Add the bamboo shoots, water chestnuts, fresh mushrooms and dried mushrooms and stir-fry one minute. Add the bean sprouts and stir-fry 30 seconds. Remove the vegetables from the pan. Add the remaining oil and heat until very hot. Add the scallions and stir-fry 30 seconds. Add the pork and stir-fry two to three minutes until it has lost all trace of pink. Return the vegetables to the pan and stir in the sherry, broth and soy sauce. Bring to a boil and stir in the cornstarch mixture to thicken.

WONTON SOUP

Wontons:
16 wonton wrappers
1 dried Chinese mushroom
1/3 cup lean minced pork or beef
1/4 cup minced shrimp
1 water chestnut, minced
1 scallion, minced
1/2 tsp. soy sauce
1 tsp. sherry
pinch of sugar
1/4 tsp. salt
1 egg, slightly beaten
Soup:
3 cups chicken broth
1 scallion, white part only, thinly sliced

Prepare the wonton wrappers as directed above. Soak the mushroom in warm water 20 minutes. Squeeze dry, remove the stalk and mince the cap. Combine the mushroom, pork or beef, shrimp, water chestnut, scallion, soy sauce, sherry, sugar and salt and mix thoroughly. Let stand 30 minutes. Place about one half tsp. of the mixture barely off center of each wrapper. Fold the wrapper in half and press the edges to seal. Fold in half again. Pull the corners down into a crescent shape, overlapping the corners. Seal the overlap with a little beaten egg. Bring plenty of salted water to a boil. Add the wontons one at a time and simmer gently seven minutes. Remove the wontons with a slotted spoon and drain on paper towels. Bring the broth to a boil. Add the scallion and wontons and simmer until heated through.

DEEP FRIED SHRIMP

1 egg, lightly beaten
3-4 Tbsp. water
cornstarch
Sift the flour and salt into a bowl. Make a well in the center and add the egg and two Tbsp. water. Mix until blended. Add the remaining water a little at a time, using only enough to make the dough stick together. Knead until smooth. Cover with a damp towel and refrigerate 45 minutes. Dust a board with cornstarch. Divide the dough into two pieces and roll out paper thin. Cut into three inch squares. Stack the wrappers and cover with a damp towel until ready to use.

WONTON WRAPPERS

Makes 40 to 50
2 cups all purpose flour
1 tsp. salt

ORIENTAL COOKING — Christie Wang Banerjee, an instructor at Howard College, will be teaching a continuing education course in Oriental Cooking at the Kopper Kettle. Christie is pictured about with some of the essentials to oriental cooking. The class will be offered May 2 through 16.

Batter: 3 Tbsp. flour
1 Tbsp. cornstarch
1 egg, lightly beaten
1 tsp. salt
1/2 tsp. sugar
1 Tbsp. sherry
4 Tbsp. water
Sauce:
3 Tbsp. soy sauce
3 Tbsp. tomato sauce
1 tsp. brown sugar
1 tsp. lemon juice
1/4 tsp. Tabasco sauce
Oil for deep frying
Shell and devein the shrimp but leave the tail intact. Combine the batter ingredients and beat until smooth. Mix the sauce ingredients and place in a small dish for dipping. Heat the oil for deep frying to 375 degrees F. Dip each shrimp in the batter and drop into the hot oil. Fry only a few at a time. When the shrimp are golden brown, transfer them with a slotted spoon to drain on paper towels. Arrange the shrimp on a serving plate around the dish of dipping sauce. You may also serve Salt and Pepper Mix and Plum Sauce, see below, for dipping.

SALT AND PEPPER MIX

3 Tbsp. salt
2 Tbsp. Szechuan peppercorns or crushed black pepper corns Heat a small heavy skillet until very hot. Place the salt and pepper in skillet. Lower the heat and stir the mixture about five minutes until the salt is light brown. Transfer to a bowl and crush the peppers with a pestle. Sift through a strainer and store in a tightly covered jar.

PLUM SAUCE

1 cup finely chopped fresh plums
1/4 cup dried apricots, soaked in warm water one hour and finely chopped
1/2 tsp. cayenne pepper
1 tsp. salt
1 to 2 Tbsp. water
1/2 to 3/4 cup sugar
1/2 cup vinegar
Place the plums, apricots, cayenne pepper, salt and one Tbsp. water in a heavy saucepan. Bring to a simmer over low heat and cook 15 minutes. Add a little water if the mixture becomes too dry. Stir in the sugar to taste and the vinegar and simmer 20 to 30 minutes more until the mixture attains a chutney-like consistency. Store the sauce in a covered jar in the refrigerator. It will keep several months. Serve with hot or cold meats.

Serves 4
3 dried Chinese mushrooms
4 Tbsp. oil
1/2 tsp. salt
1 clove garlic, flattened
2 thin slices fresh ginger root, minced
1/2 cup sliced bamboo

shoots
6 water chestnuts, sliced 1/4 inch thick
4 fresh mushrooms, sliced 1/4 inch thick
1/2 cup bean sprouts
2 scallions, cut diagonally into one inch pieces
1/2 lb. lean pork, cut across the grain into 1/4 inch thick slices
1 Tbsp. sherry
1/2 cup chicken broth
1 Tbsp. soy sauce
1 Tbsp. cornstarch dissolved in 3 Tbsp. water

Soak the dried mushrooms in warm water for 20 minutes. Squeeze dry and remove the stalks. Slice the caps. Heat two tablespoons oil in a wok or large skillet. Add the salt and stir 30 seconds. Add the garlic and ginger root and stir-fry until lightly browned. Remove and discard the garlic. Add the bamboo shoots, water chestnuts, fresh mushrooms and dried mushrooms and stir-fry one minute. Add the bean sprouts and stir-fry 30 seconds. Remove the vegetables from the pan. Add the remaining oil and heat until very hot. Add the scallions and stir-fry 30 seconds. Add the pork and stir-fry two to three minutes until it has lost all trace of pink. Return the vegetable to the pan and stir in the sherry, broth and soy sauce. Bring to a boil and stir in the cornstarch mixture to thicken.

Dear Abby
Tinnitus

DEAR ABBY: Thank you for the letter signed "Hearing Things in Illinois," from the elderly couple who described a high-pitched, humming, ringing, buzzing-type noise that seemed to come from inside their heads. They said they heard it constantly but were ashamed to mention it to their doctor for fear they'd be told they were "going crazy."

As a result of that column, all day I've been hearing from people saying they have had that problem for years but were also reluctant to mention it.

You explained that they probably had a condition called "tinnitus," from which literally millions of people suffer.

In addition to the many causes you listed, the use of aspirin — yes, plain old ordinary aspirin — should be listed. It's especially important because so many older patients take large doses of aspirin to ease the pain of arthritis. This information will not stop the ringing of their ears, but it may comfort them to know that they're not imagining things or going crazy.

It also helps people to know that they're not the only ones afflicted with this annoying problem. And it sure makes my job a lot easier.

PHARMACIST IN IOWA CITY

DEAR PHARMACIST: Many physicians wrote to suggest that I mention aspirin as a possible cause for tinnitus. This may give the manufacturers of aspirin an Excedrin headache, but I feel an obligation to pass the information along to my readers.

I also heard from many in the dental profession informing me that "buzzing in the head" is sometimes caused by ill-fitting dentures, tooth grinding or malocclusion (abnormality in the "bite"). Dentists who focus on the treatment of TMJ (temporomandibular joint) have also offered some relief from tinnitus.

CONFIDENTIAL TO HURTING IN WORTHINGTON, MINN.: It takes a friend and an enemy to really hurt you: the enemy to say something rotten about you, and the friend to tell you about it.

You're never too old (or too young) to learn how to make friends and be popular. For Abby's booklet on Popularity, send $1, plus a long, self-addressed, stamped (37 cents) envelope to Abby, Popularity, P.O. Box 38923, Hollywood, Calif. 90038.

Dr. Donohue

Ovulation depends on complex gland system

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: I have been trying to get pregnant for more than two years. I have had D&Cs done, have been placed on fertility drugs, and have had the test to see if my tubes were open. I have charted my temperature. The tests showed that my tubes were not blocked. I am still charting my temperature. My husband has had the sperm test and is OK.

I guess my question is, what are some of the general reasons a person will not ovulate? When I asked my GYN, he said there could be any number of reasons, but did not give me them. I would like to know some reasons. I become so discouraged at times. — C.C.

Your letter was much longer and much more detailed, so I hope you will forgive my editorial liberties. Your doctors seem to be taking the accepted route toward trying to unravel the mysteries of your lack of ovulation, which is causing your infertility. That route is frequently confused by many road signs and unexpected detours.

The fact is that the reasons for lack of ovulation are myriad. The production of ova depends on an intact endocrine gland system as well as upon the healthy intact ovary itself. Let me give you just a partial list of the hormones that affect ovulation: follicle stimulating hormone, luteinizing hormone, prolactin, thyroid hormone. Those are just a few. Setting out to unravel the mystery of ovulation lack leads one to various glands and all their hormones.

Up to now the more common causes of ovulation lack have been eliminated. Your fallopian tubes are not blocked. And, since you have had all those tests, it is presumed that a problem such as ovary cysts is not involved. Now, there are all those "other factors" your doctor mentioned. Sometimes the answer to lack of ovulation is found in unexpected places. For example, a rapid and excessive weight loss can lead to it. A certain amount of body fat is necessary for ovulation. That's why women who have anorexia nervosa fail to ovulate. There's one non-medical cure for infertility, and it's adoption. Have you considered this?

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: I went to my doctor and showed her your article on diabetes insipidus and asked for the medicine you mentioned as treatment for it. I had been urinating frequently. She took a urine sample and said it was fine. She wouldn't give me the prescription. She said I could get a second opinion if I wanted to. I told her you were my second opinion. Would the medicine hurt me if I didn't have diabetes insipidus? — H.W.B.

Your letter is very flattering, but I think you have earned me the enmity of your physician. I hope the scene you describe is not repeated in other doctor's offices.

Diabetes insipidus is a relatively rare cause of frequent urination, and its symptoms are quite dramatic. Incidentally, it has nothing to do with the other, more common, diabetes — diabetes mellitus (sugar diabetes). The causes of the urinary frequency and really great thirst in diabetes insipidus are quite different. And, in addition, H.B., there are other causes of such frequency — infection, for example.

Do yourself and me a favor. Let your doctor do the diagnosing from her firsthand knowledge of you and your problems. No, you should not have the medicine I mentioned for diabetes insipidus (ADH). It will make you retain too much water.

FOR F.R. — Why would you want to raise your blood pressure? You have one of 102/52. People with pressures like yours live longer than those with "normal" readings. You have good health and feel energetic. Don't mess around with Mother Nature. In your case, she knows what she is doing.

Interest Rates Going Up... Or Down?

These days nobody knows for sure. But one thing is certain, whatever happens, First Federal can provide a means for you to make the most of your money.

If you think interest rates will go up, First Federal has Money Fund Accounts or short-term certificates that provide early maturities... giving you the option of withdrawal if rates escalate.

If you think interest rates will continue to fall in the future, First Federal has Money Market Certificates with long-term, fixed rates that will safely lock up high interest rates now. And, if you like, interest from these can be distributed to your First Federal savings or checking account. With the safety of FSIC insured funds, you can't go wrong whether you choose long-term or short-term certificates at First Federal Savings.

Call to commission may alert other buyers to faulty goods

What do you do if you purchase a product that is unsafe?

Unless the product is new and can be returned to the store, most persons simply throw it away and grumble to themselves about the problem. But informed consumers will do more than grumble.

Consumers can do themselves a favor by understanding the role of the Consumer Product Safety Commission (CPSC), and reporting unsafe products to them. For example, if a toy with sharp edges cuts a child, similar toys will cut other children unless the product is reported to the Safety Commission.

The CPSC is one of several federal agencies which protects consumers in the marketplace. The CPSC has jurisdiction over more than 15,000 consumer products.

The CPSC protects the public from unreasonable risk of injury, aids in evaluating product safety, develops safety standards for products and investigates the causes and prevention of death, illness and injury related to consumer products.

The agency works closely and cooperatively with industry to improve the safety of products, to recall hazardous products and to educate and inform consumers. This cooperation between business and the Commission has produced many "creative, effective information and education programs," says Nancy Harvey Steorts, CPSC Chairperson.

For example, the CPSC and toy manufacturers successfully designed a holiday safety program to help consumers select toys appropriate for a child's age. A major public awareness program on smoke detectors also resulted from CPSC and industry cooperation. As a consumer, you can make use of the CPSC to improve product safety. You can get safety information or report hazardous products and resulting injuries by calling the CPSC toll-free hotline. The number is 800-638-CPSC and for the hearing-impaired 800-638-8270. For further information about the CPSC or other consumer topics, contact the Howard County Extension Office.

TASER — Lauren Donder, administrative assistant to Rep. Ed Emmett, R-Kingsville, holds an electric dart-gun named a Taser. Rep. Emmett is pushing a proposal that would allow Texans to buy the weapon, which resembles a flashlight and shoots two small darts, which immobilize a victim with a low-amp, 50,000-volt jolt of electricity.

House wary of Texans bearing Tasers

AUSTIN (AP) — A House committee is trying to decide if Texans should have the right to bear Tasers — a futuristic weapon now used by some Texas police. "I'd a heck of a lot rather have them using a Taser than a .38," said Rep. Ed Emmett, a Kingwood Republican pushing a law that would allow Texans to plunk down their $400 and buy the weapon.

The Taser looks somewhat like a flashlight and shoots two small darts. Thin, 14-foot wires trail behind the darts and lead to the Taser. Basically, the Taser immobilizes a victim with a low-amp, 50,000-volt jolt. The darts have very little penetration power, and the idea is to get them stuck in a victim's clothing.

At a recent House Criminal Jurisprudence Committee meeting, the Taser's force was demonstrated on Roy House, a Houston policeman who volunteered to be the "Taseree." House shook and crumbled to the floor when the charge was put to him.

He quickly rose to his feet and said he felt OK, but a little shaken.

"It's very humane," Emmett said after the startling demonstration. "Although it does look very violent."

The legal problem, according to Emmett, is that no one is quite sure if a Taser is a firearm as defined and regulated by Texas law.

"It's like trying to make airplanes function under traffic laws," he said.

There's apparently no doubt that police can use the weapon. Emmett said Houston Police SWAT teams are Taser-equipped, as are a Houston constable's deputies.

But now Taser Systems Inc., of California is pushing the Taser as a self-defense device.

"Maybe tomorrow's headline will convince you to buy a Taser," says a company brochure that calls the device an "electronic defense weapon."

"We believe the Taser is the first means of defense that does not depend on the destruction of living tissue or vital organs to be effective. If you fire it at a fellow human, you are not left with irrevocable consequences for the rest of your life," says the brochure.

Taser inventor Jack Cover told the committee that the electric impulse leaves no lasting damage.

Attorney will appeal death tape conviction

HARLINGEN, Texas (AP) — Harlingen attorney James Mardis says he'll cite a judge's error in appealing a young farmer's murder conviction in a case involving the tape recording of a related killing.

Mardis said he planned to file notice of appeal Tuesday of Paul Wolf's murder conviction in State District Court in Brownsville.

Wolf, 21, of La Feria, was convicted of murder last Wednesday for the July 16, 1982, slaying of schoolteacher Leticia Castro, 26.

He was sentenced to life in prison and fined $10,000, the maximum sentence possible in the case.

Wolf had pleaded innocent by reason of insanity to the slaying.

He is scheduled to go on trial July 25 with his wife, Sherry, for the slaying of Miss Castro's fiancé, Billy Staton, who unwittingly tape recorded his own slaying.

The tape recording, which prosecutors called "23 minutes of murder" was introduced as evidence during the recent trial.

Wolf, who testified in his own behalf, was admonished by State District Judge Darrell Hester during the trial for putting on an "act."

Wolf had answered his attorneys questions lucidly during the trial, but slurred his words, hung his head and seemed confused during cross-examination.

Hester said he had to presume Wolf had taken drugs or alcohol and ordered that he be confined to jail during the remainder of the trial. He had been free on bond.

Hester refused Mardis' request that Wolf be examined by a doctor at state expense to determine if he had taken drugs or alcohol.

Hester denied the request, but said Wolf could be examined at his own expense if Mardis desired.

"Mr. Wolf, if you think you've got 12 fools for a jury you're going to be sadly surprised... Any 10th grader could see through the act," Hester had told Wolf after he excused the jury hearing the case.

But Mardis said Monday that Texas law requires a separate trial be held if a defendant's competency is questioned.

"The regular trial must be stopped and a separate jury trial held to determine whether he's competent or incompetent to stand trial," Mardis said.

Mardis said a blood sample taken from Wolf the day he was admonished by Hester revealed no drugs or alcohol in his system.

But, Mardis said, "There's no question there was something wrong with Paul... because of the way he was acting on the stand."

Increase noted in college donations

NEW YORK (AP) — A hefty increase in private donations to colleges last year despite difficult economic conditions shows "the giving public is sensitive to the financial pressure on higher education," the head of a group that surveys contributions said Tuesday.

John R. Haire, president of the Council for Financial Aid to Education, held a news conference to discuss the group's latest survey which showed private donations rose by 15 percent to an estimated $4.86 billion in the 1981-82 year.

The survey said the amount was boosted by large bequests to Harvard and Washington universities and by a tax law that encouraged corporations to give research equipment to schools.

But the survey also found a greater portion of alumni — 19 percent — donated to their colleges than in any year since 1967-68. The average gift was $104.16.

Researchers at the council, which sponsors the "Give to the college of your choice" advertising campaign, said they could not pick out any single factor as the cause for increased donations.

"This generous outpouring of private support for colleges and universities, in the face of continued adverse economic conditions, dramatizes America's commitment to higher education," said Haire.

He said one sign at the public's sensitivity to the pressures on higher education was that more of the gifts were earmarked for student aid.

The council had estimated that $4.23 billion was donated to higher education in the 1980-81.

A sizable chunk of the $630 million increase for the year starting July 1, 1981, stemmed from bequests by the late Edward Mallinckrodt Jr. of $77 million to Harvard and $38 million to Washington University. The chairman of Mallinckrodt Chemical Works was an alumnus of the two schools.

Man awarded $7.8 million in bank suit

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The Philadelphia National Bank showed "malice" and "vindictiveness" by spreading false credit reports to drive a cut-rate auto broker out of business, says a judge who ordered the bank to pay $7.8 million damages.

The award to Frank Maiorana, 55, and his National Auto Brokers Corp. was the largest ever made against a bank for engaging in malicious conduct, according to the businessman's attorney, Gustine J. Pelagatti.

Officers of the bank's Conshohocken branch in suburban Montgomery County deliberately sent false credit information to other banks in 1966 and 1967 in a successful effort to persuade them not to extend credit to Maiorana's company, Common Pleas Judge Bernard Snyder said in a ruling released Monday.

Pelagatti said the bank's action apparently was caused by "bad blood" resulting from a 1964 legal dispute with Maiorana.

"There was no justification, no justification whatsoever" for the bank's actions, Maiorana said after learning of the ruling.

In the 46-page ruling, Snyder said an assistant to the vice president at the Conshohocken branch of the bank exhibited "malice, vindictiveness and wanton disregard of plaintiff's rights" by spreading "willful falsehood" in depicting Maiorana as fraudulent and deceitful.

Snyder ordered the bank to pay Maiorana's corporation $2 million for the loss of anticipated profits and $5.6 million in punitive damages. Maiorana was awarded $100,000 for emotional distress and $100,000 in punitive damages.

Damages against the bank for delaying disposition of the suit could add more than $3 million to the award, Pelagatti said.

Gregory M. Harvey, a lawyer representing the bank, said he would appeal the decision to a three-judge Common Pleas Court panel.

"We don't regard this as having any merit," said Harvey.

Maiorana founded National Auto Brokers in 1966 to sell cars cheaply by eliminating the costs and profits of factory-authorized dealers, Pelagatti said. Buyers could save $400 to $500 by purchasing cars with Maiorana's firm acting as broker, the attorney said.

National Auto Brokers stopped doing business in 1974 after Maiorana was unable to obtain bank financing, Pelagatti said.

In 1964, Maiorana had filed a lawsuit charging PNB with negligence in allowing an employee of Allcrest Auto Leasing, of which Maiorana was president, to embezzle $180,000 from the firm, Pelagatti said.

Wooden bullion bars found at gold exchange

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (AP) — A Broward County circuit judge has revised his order against the beleaguered International Gold Bullion Exchange, predicting the precious metals firm will file for bankruptcy by Wednesday.

Judge Joseph Price has ordered the Fort Lauderdale firm, which also has offices in Dallas and Los Angeles, to submit a federal bankruptcy petition by Monday or face turning its assets over to a receiver.

Meanwhile, a court-appointed curator on Monday discovered about 50 pieces of wood painted to look like gold in the company's vault.

The fake bullion bars were found along with records, stationery and computer tapes when curator William F. Leonard opened the vault in the company's now quiet offices.

None of the real gold, silver or platinum the exchange sold to investors over more than three years could be located, although Glenn Leonard, an attorney assisting his father, mused that the imitation bullion bars might have had a purpose.

"I can see where they would have looked good in a pamphlet," he said. When an exchange employee explained that the wooden bars were used as paperweights, several people accompanying the Leonards laughed.

"They looked like one-pound gold bars," Glenn Leonard said. "We picked one up and it was very light. There was no doubt it was not a gold bar."

"Otherwise there was nothing of value in there. We left it just like it was and locked it back up."

The firm, over the objections of the Florida Attorney General Jim Smith's office, asked Price Monday for an extension of the bankruptcy-filing deadline, which he consented to.

Price did not say whether he would order the firm into receivership if it does not file for bankruptcy by Wednesday.

The possibility of being forced into receivership is just one of several legal problems confronting the firm and its owners, William and James Alderdice.

The exchange, which has been targeted by complaints from hundreds of consumers fearing for their investments, was ordered temporarily closed last week.

Broward County Circuit Judge Robert Andrews, acting on Smith's request, ordered the firm last Thursday to cease operations temporarily. A hearing on extending the shutdown, which is effective for 10 days, was set for Wednesday.

Smith's complaint also charges the Alderdices, who are brothers, with civil theft for knowingly and unlawfully using for personal gain money paid by consumers for precious metal purchases.

Last Friday, Broward County Circuit Judge Joseph Price appointed a curator to secure the firm's assets.

Business Briefs

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — As of today, the pay of union workers at Wilson Foods Corp., the nation's largest processor of fresh pork, will be cut by as much as 50 percent.

Saying its labor costs far exceed the competition's, the company on Friday filed for reorganization under Chapter 11 of the federal bankruptcy code.

Kenneth J. Griggy, chairman and chief officer of the Oklahoma City-based company, said there are no plans to close any plants or lay off workers.

But Griggy said that as of today, hourly employees will be under a new pay and benefit schedule that is 40 percent to 50 percent less than they now receive under a union contract.

Currently, Griggy said, pay and benefits for hourly workers total about $17 an hour, a rate he said "is up to 80 percent more than some of our competitors."

He said wages for Wilson plant employees begin at $10.69 per hour and average $10.94 per hour, while wages at some new companies are only $4, $5 and $6 per hour.

"For us to be competitive, it will require a 40 percent to 50 percent cut in the total package (wages and benefits)," Griggy said.

NORTH KINGSTOWN, R.I. (AP) — The picketing will continue at Brown & Sharpe Manufacturing Co., even though its president declared the nation's longest-running industrial strike over.

"For all practical purposes, the strike is now over," Donald A. Roach told the company's annual meeting on Friday, despite the fact picket lines remain outside the plant.

But there was another view: "Let me assure you that the strike is not over," said Robert V. Thayer, business agent for District 64, International Association of Machinists and Aerospace Workers, which struck the giant tool maker 18 months ago.

"We'll continue to picket until such time as both parties get back to the bargaining table and find a mutually acceptable resolve to the current dispute," Thayer said.

About 1,600 IAM members walked off their jobs Oct. 19, 1981.

The company has hired some replacements and continues operating on reduced shifts.

Roach said that inside the plant, "life has by now resumed a pattern fairly close to what we used to call normal."

DETROIT (AP) — General Motors Corp. today will raise prices on its popular larger cars and luxury models between $85 and $242.

In a statement Friday, GM said the move, effective on cars built after Sunday unless they were ordered earlier, is equivalent to an increase of about 0.7 percent, or $79, for the average-equipped GM car.

Dolphin Pools at 1001 E. Third is gearing up for its busiest time of the year. The swimming pool business primarily handles customers' needs for in-ground swimming pools and spas. Dolphin Pools also offers many options for summer fun, according to owner Johnny Rutherford.

While the business does offer new pools and spas and installation, Dolphin also has pool service available for existing pools. The business also stocks chemicals and parts for pools and spas, Rutherford said.

Rutherford said pools come with a 15-year manufacturer's warranty, while spas have a 5-year warranty. Pool and spa installations carry a one-year builder's guarantee, he said.

The business is open Tuesday through Saturday from 10 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. Dolphin Pools is also franchised in the Permian Mall in Odessa.

Dr Pepper announces increased earnings

DALLAS (AP) — Troubled Dr Pepper Co., the nation's third-largest soft drink company, Monday announced first-quarter earnings this year were slightly ahead of projections but still well below last year's results for the same period.

Chairman W. W. Clements called the earnings "a significant turnaround" from the fourth quarter 1982, in which the company lost $4 million.

Clements told shareholders Dr Pepper earned $382,000 between January and April 1983, on record sales of $107 million. That compares to earnings of $5.9 million on revenues of $98.6 million in the first quarter of 1982.

Economy plagued by deficit

By The Associated Press
A new report that the huge federal budget deficit expanded last month is reviving fears that the economic recovery could be stifled by government borrowing.

The Treasury Department's report Monday that the deficit rose to $26.04 billion in March — the second-highest monthly total on record — dampened bond prices. Interest rates in the open market rose after the report came out.

The March deficit pushed the total for the first half of the government's fiscal year to $129.2 billion — exceeding the record $111 billion for all of last year.

Many economists consider the widening deficit a threat to the economic recovery. They fear it could stifle a business expansion by reducing the amount of credit available to the private sector and possibly forcing up interest rates.

Among the industries that could least afford an increase in interest rates is housing, beginning to recover from a slump that began more than three years ago.

A trade association reported Monday that resales of single-family houses in March rose 9.8 percent from the month before.

The National Association of Realtors said the March resales figure was the highest in more than two years. The resales, at an annual rate of 2.7 million, were up 45.2 percent from last August, which was the low sales point of the 1981-82 recession.

The report also said prices of single-family houses at resale rose 1.6 percent to a median of $69,300. The median is the point at which as many houses sold for higher prices as for lower.

In other economic developments Monday:

—The major U.S. auto companies said new car sales in mid-April rose 5.8 percent from the same period a year ago. The companies said they sold 189,367 autos, or 21,041 per day, between April 11 and April 20, compared with 159,124, or 19,890 autos daily, in the year-ago period. The daily sales rate was the best for mid-April since 1979.

—Despite rising sales, American Motors Corp. said it lost $66.1 million in the first quarter of this year — its 12th straight quarterly loss. The last time AMC made money in a three-month period was the first quarter of 1980.

Consumers haunted by inflation ghost

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business Analyst
NEW YORK (AP) — You can feel it in the bond market and in attitudes toward stocks. You can view it in the grocery stores and you can see it on display in showrooms. You can measure it by the fears and hopes it engenders.

It is inflation — not necessarily the physical presence of inflation, but sometimes the ghost of it. You cannot ignore it. Seldom do you go anywhere without feeling that it and its cohort, high interest rates, shadow you.

Fears that it might return make many people lower their expectations and buy down to smaller houses and cars. Some people believe it will return, and so they are positioning themselves with caches of gold. Some say it's dead, and they invest in stocks and bonds and other long-term securities.

The consensus of forecasters credits President Reagan's administration with having brought inflation under control. But the fears show, and advisers are growing rich warning people that inflation and interest rates will rebound with the fury of Mount St. Helens.

In West Palm Beach, Fla., investment adviser Martin D. Weiss attracts clients with the warning that interest rates will reach all-time highs this year or next, with the prime rate hitting 28 percent to 30 percent.

He tells readers that gold will fall to $150 an ounce, that the stock market will reach a new low, that unemployment will rise to 20 percent or more, and that General Motors, U.S. Steel and Dupont could "go belly up."

You have extremes of the other end too, but the point is that Americans are having a difficult time believing that economic moderation can return as a way of life. They have seen too much of unstable interest rates and prices.

You can see it in sluggish retail sales, including automobiles. February retail sales were down from the year before and March fell a bit more. And you can see it in the rather low levels of consumer installment credit expansion. People remain uncertain, or perhaps unable, to spend heavily.

It is evident in the bond market. In the first three months of the year business sold $12.7 billion in bonds, up 175 percent from the $4.6 billion of the first quarter of 1982, according to Moody's Investors Service.

The reason, of course, is that with interest rates falling companies feel they can afford to refinance. Top grade corporate bonds have dropped from 16 percent to 11.5 percent over the past two years.

Even so, they haven't fallen nearly as much as interest rates have, and the most widely cited reason is fear of inflation. Investors in bonds are demanding and getting a premium yield of 6 to 8 percentage points over the inflation rate. In times past, that premium amounted to only 2 to 4 points.

Yes, inflation dropped to just one-tenth of one percent as measured by the March consumer price index. But its presence still remains.

Texan returns to his Panhandle Walden

SURVEYING THE LAND — Tom Draper looks across his Buck Creek Ranch near Memphis, Texas. Buck Creek is Draper's Walden, a wind-swept sanctuary of sand and solitude. Draper, 69, has been coming to the ranch for 20 years and will continue to go to the ranch to ponder life's mysteries.

MEMPHIS, Texas (AP) — Buck Creek is Tom Draper's Walden, a wind-swept sanctuary of shinnery, sand and solitude tucked away in a remote corner of the Texas Panhandle.

A man can think here — even meditate — in the evening glow of a mesquite fire, and ponder life's great mysteries, which might include himself.

"There's no greater miracle in the Bible or anywhere else that compares to what happens right here on Buck Creek," says the 69-year-old hound dog man who'd prefer to be regarded as a wore-out sod-buster from Hereford. "A turkey hen will sit here amid bobcats, coyotes, rattlesnakes, coons and other varmints to hatch and raise her young. It's a miracle they survive."

Draper, clad in blue denim overalls, brogans and Paymaster seed cap, has been coming to his 1,800-acre ranch for 20 years to refine the art of coon-hunting, a sport hardly suited to the squeamish or the faint of heart.

He lets Earl Patterson, who has withstood droughts, depression, disease and Democrats, do all the serious work and moderate-to-heavy fist-fighting.

Hunting occupies Draper's attention practically full-time. "Cat if by day, coon if by night" reads a roadside sign at his rural Hereford home. During last year's Texas gubernatorial campaign, the rabid Democrat revised the sign to read: "Mark White if by day, Mark White if by night."

Twenty years ago, Buck Creek Ranch was accessible only by four-wheel drive vehicle or horse. Now, a farm to market highway borders its rust-red arroyos and their towering cottonwoods. Native plum bushes dot the meandering creek and wild grape vines flourish amid the bluestem and grama grasses.

Arriving for a lunch of chicken-fried steak, black-eyed peas, cornbread muffins and iced tea, Draper's guests scan a vista little changed since the Comanches left. His grudging concession to the 20th Century is a new eight-cylinder GMC truck. "What makes me mad," he grouses, "is that I paid more for this pickup than for my first 800 acres of farmland." The farm in 1942 cost $10,000.

He detours past Club Lake, a private resort patrolled by a nearly-deaf caretaker whose hobby is taming and feeding wild turkeys and other game.

"Mr. Taylor, would you mind if we shoot some pictures of your turkeys?" Draper shouts to the caretaker.

"If you shoot one of my turkeys," snarls Joe B. Taylor, "I'll shoot you!" The caretaker hates West

DEWINTERIZING

If you used a winter cover and it hasn't blown into the pool (ablated by 70 MPH winds), you are among the lucky ones. Dewinterizing is fairly simple. If, however, you lost your cover or never covered the pool, your biggest concern is removal of sand and debris from the bottom. Don't drain the pool. This exposes plaster, vinyl, fiberglass or whatever to the hot, dry, West Texas climate. If you have been draining your pool for the winter, I suggest you stop. Many of the pool filtering systems I have seen locally are inadequate for removal of heavy debris. Even the best systems can be damaged. Rent a portable pump and cartridge filter and vacuum the pool. Get your water level up and supershock the pool to 8 to 10 parts chlorine per million. Begin circulation for 48 hours straight. Adjust PH to proper level. Add a coagulant to assist in filtration of microscopic material.

Texas for its dust storms that aggravate his sinuses, and he hates his lousy pension, but mostly he hates his wife being sick. It's hell when your wife is sick.

Once he understands his visitors want photographs, Taylor brightens and strolls into a nearby thicket yelling, "Here, Turk! Here, Turk!" Four large bronzed toms standing 50 yards away gobble loudly at Taylor, then retreat. It's the wrong time of day for feeding, he explains, but a drive around the lake should find some wild turkeys.

Through binoculars, we see a half-dozen turkeys on a far hill. Later, two gobblers appear beside the road, then vanish over a bluff gliding majestically on five-foot wingspans. Back at the caretaker's cottage, three more gobblers, sporting five-inch "beards" on their chests, eat contentedly until the strangers approach.

Mating rituals have already begun. The strutting gobblers drag their wings provocatively in front of the indifferent hens.

Draper summons his guests to inspect Buck Creek Ranch and select their positions for dawn's opening day of the spring turkey hunt.

At the first location, nearly two miles from the tin-roofed ranch house, a 55-gallon barrel trickles grain on the ground. Tracks show heavy turkey traffic. Eighty-five yards away, more turkey tracks appear in a fresh-water tank. Willie Jacobs finds a plum thicket where he'll conceal himself between the feeder and the water hole.

Suddenly, ol' Streak barks nearby. He's tracked a two-year-old female coon that's on the ground and hissing its warning. Usually, Streak's announcement brings other hounds running, but today he's by himself.

The coon, with its sharp teeth, long claws and a fierce disposition, refuses to be freed, safe from the baying hound. In water, a coon can climb atop a dog and drown it, but this is hardly a fair fight with Draper's big hound.

Streak circles and attacks. The coon darts sideways and clamps its fangs and claws in the hound's muzzle. Streak shakes free and barks threateningly at the coon.

Draper decides to spare the coon, and moves to intervene, but Streak won't be restrained. He charges for the ring-tail's throat, clinches it in his massive jaws and shakes it violently from side to side as life drains from the coon. Death comes swiftly and quiet solitude returns to Buck Creek.

At close range, coon-hunting stirs the blood and races the senses. Whether it — like Spanish bullfights, high school football, cockfighting or professional rodeo — is great sport remains for others to answer.

Draper is proud of ol' Streak's grit. After all, he's nearly 14 — an age most hounds would be crippled, dead or retired. Something in ol' Streak makes him hunt and risk his life for his master — a trait that Draper finds endearing and noble.

Back in the pickup, a contemplative Draper ponders the human animal, which he generally regards with less respect than some of his hounds and feathered friends.

"Ol' Earl was baling hay last year where a turkey hen had hid her nest in the alfalfa," Draper recalled. "He didn't see her until it was too late. But the amazing thing is that she wouldn't leave her nest even if it killed her."

That mothering instinct, so precious in the animal kingdom, seems to be waning in the human family, Draper muses, citing worrisome increases in the number of child neglect cases and the predilection for day care centers. What's more unnatural than a mother with no instinct for mothering her young?

The hound dog man prefers the companionship of animals, whose rhythm and somber struggle — while seemingly cruel — make mankind's "civilized society" a thing to mock.

Approaching the second feeder a mile-and-a-half away, Don Schneider selects a concealed spot to observe turkeys on the morrow.

Jacobs and Schneider are experienced bird-hunters (mostly quail and doves), but they've never hunted turkey. Draper and Patterson don't hunt turkey and offer little advice to improve their chances.

The hunters load their 12-gauge shotguns with No. 4 shells. Wild turkeys, in contrast to their stupid domestic cousins, are extremely cagey, thanks to keen eyesight and hearing, as well as wary nature.

Turkeys rarely venture into open areas, seeking instead the scrub vegetation along creek bottoms. A dog is useless hunting turkey here and stalking is futile. Calls (both diaphragms and box type) have moderate success. The hunters decide to conceal themselves and silently wait for the turkeys to come feed.

In the chill, pre-dawn darkness, Jacobs and Schneider pull on camouflage suits and steal into position. Forty-five minutes later, Jacobs hears gobblers behind him near the water tank. He gingerly rolls onto his stomach, trying to muffle the rustling leaves that would flush his quarry. Minutes drag as the turkeys linger in the distance. Suddenly, from the opposite direction, comes the rustle of leaves that sounds like an intruding cow.

Looking back to his original position, Jacobs sees a big gobbler about 35 feet away, leading six more turkeys. What to do? He's aiming in the wrong direction, and any movement will flush the birds. Seconds pass. The birds are passing. He stands and sees the gobbler look at him momentarily before racing toward the tank. Jacobs levels his Winchester and fires one shot. The big bird drops. Others scamper away unhurt.

Jacobs treks the weary two miles from the creek bottom shouldering his shotgun and turkey.

"Now I know why they have a limit of one," he sighs at the ranch house. "By the time I got here, he weighed fifty pounds."

Schneider, who heard Jacobs' distant shot, listened to turkeys approach his location, but he went home empty-handed.

Before his "good-byes," Draper tells his visitors that he has accomplished all of his ambitions except one: to produce brave and cunning bobcat hunters. He sees great promise in a pair of young hounds that he calls Matthew and Mark.

He'd also like to know more about Jewish antiquities, principles of petroleum extraction, the later writings of Thucydides and why female possums don't have enough tits to feed their young — just a few of life's mysteries that keep bringing him back to Buck Creek.

LEAPING LIZARDS, ER, PANTHERS
...Permian third baseman Mark Fowler gloves a high throw

ritt's throw to third. Above, Pirkle slides safely under Fowler, dumping the Permian infielder in a cloud of dust. After all the trouble, Pirkle was stranded at third but the Steers still won the game, 5-4.

Errorless fielding spurs Steers, 5-4

By GREG JAKLEWICZ
Sports Editor

Strange things can happen when a baseball team plays flawlessly in the field. They might even win the game.

After committing 33 errors in their five second half District 4-5A games, the Big Spring Steers survived seven innings without a mistake and topped the Permian Panthers 5-4 Tuesday at Steer Park.

The win puts Big Spring in a tie with Abilene High for third place in the league race, both teams owning 7-6 records. The Steers, 14-13 for the year, travel to San Angelo Saturday to complete their season against the first-place Bobcats.

"You know we've got to lead the league in errors," BSHS coach Frank Ibarra said. "But the kids did well. Even knowing they are out of the district race, they went out and didn't make any errors."

How bad was the error situation? Against Abilene and Cooper, Big Spring made nine errors in each game. Both were losses. Against Lee Saturday, the Steers were charged with seven errors. The result, an 11-3 setback.

But Tuesday, Big Spring kept themselves in the game with its fielding. Permian batted 12 hits but left 13 baserunners stranded, thanks to a combination of Steer defense and clutch pitching.

You can't forget clutch hitting, either.

With the game tied 4-4, Tom Cudd lined a one-out double to left field. After an intentional walk to Matt Warren to set up the doubleplay, first baseman Danny Arista delivered the game-winning hit with a single up the middle.

Arista's basehit made a winner of Adam Rodriguez who tossed three-hit shutout baseball in relief of starter Jinx Valenzuela.

Permian led 2-0 early on Kirk Stahan's bloop two-run double to left. Marty Rodriguez reached and scored on an error in the bottom of the second inning to make it 2-1.

Vance Washington doubled in a run to give Permian a 3-1 lead in the third but Cudd — who has always hit well versus Mojo — blasted a two-run homer to right to tie the game. "That's a 'Gone Johnson,'" he said in the dugout. "It's about time I hit another one of those."

Valenzuela followed Cudd's homer with a single and courtesy runner Joey Herrera scored on David Anguiano's double to left.

The game was tied again in the fifth when Mark Fowler bunted home Washington who led off the inning with a walk.

"We were relaxed out there today," Ibarra said, "but at the same time we were alert."

Pirkle, Cudd and Anguiano had two hits each for the Steers.

4-AAAA Roundup

Rebels upset, Bobcats alone in first

Thanks to Cooper, the San Angelo Bobcats may have won a District 4-5A baseball championship.

The Cougars upset district co-leader Midland Lee 8-5 Tuesday while the 'Cats downed Odessa High 9-3 to Central on top of the league race with one game to play.

In other games, Big Spring downed Permian 5-4 and Midland overcame Abilene 14-13.

Here's how they went around the league Tuesday:

Cooper 8, Lee 5

ABILENE — Cooper scored seven runs in the first inning off Kerry Robertson and went on to down the Rebels.

Lee loaded the bases in both the sixth and seventh inning but Cooper's relief pitching shut down both rallies.

Henry Klepac went 3-for-4 with a solo homer in the fourth inning, Scott Bingham banged an inside-the-park shot in the second and Mark Smith walloped a three-run shot in the first inning.

San Angelo 9, Odessa 3

ODESSA — The Bobcats

won for the 10th time in 11 games behind a three home run attack.

Jeff Schkade, Lance Harris (5) and Henry Klepac, Tommy Olivias and Leroy Rodriguez, W — Schkade, L — Olivias, HR — Henry Klepac, Scott Bingham and Mark Smith (SA); Tommy Olivias (OHS).

Midland 14, Abilene 13

MIDLAND — After three luckless efforts in extra innings, Midland finally pulled out a win with two runs in the bottom of the seventh.

Eagle third baseman David Oden mishandled Tom Davis' grounder with one out and the bases loaded, allowing James Pitts to score the winning run.

NFL Draft

Cowboys get players they need

DALLAS (AP) — The Dallas Cowboys needed a linebacker. They got a linebacker.

The Cowboys needed a defensive lineman. They got two defensive linemen.

They needed a tight end. They got a tight end.

Dallas, which prides itself on drafting the best athlete available when the National Football League has its annual lottery, opted for need Tuesday.

An just for kicks they took a quarterback playing in the United States Football League, Reggie Collier of Southern Mississippi and Birmingham, in the sixth round.

Collier's selection came in the sixth round and club President Tex Schramm said "You never know what might happen. We waited four years on Roger Staubach when he was in the Navy and it paid off. Reggie is a great player. Maybe we'll get him some day."

Oilers make Earl happy with picks

HOUSTON (AP) — Earl Campbell's mind is at ease and the Houston Oiler veteran offensive line may be ill-at-ease following the Oilers' selections in the National Football League draft.

Coach Ed Biles chose Southern Cal's Bruce Matthews in the first round and Harvey Salem of California early in the second round Tuesday to underscore the Oilers' intention of improving on last year's last place finish in league total offense.

Biles said developments in the draft also should end rumors that Campbell was on the trading block

"It (rumors) put pressure on Earl and his family," Biles said. "Every time he'd go to the grocery store people would ask him where he would be living next year."

Campbell's run production dropped to a career low 538 yards and a 3.4 yards per carry average last season as the Oilers finished with a 1-8 record.

But he'll apparently have the same address in the 1983 season. "No one in the Houston organization (See 'Oilers' on page 2-B)

FORECAST FOR THURSDAY, APR. 28, 1983

GENERAL TENDENCIES: A time when you can make important decisions and get excellent results. You can easily put your personal affairs on a more solid structure and gain added goodwill.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Take time to clear up any misunderstandings with associates and increase harmony. Ease tensions at home.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) A health defect can be alleviated or done away with altogether by taking the right treatments now. Be wise.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Day hours are best for putting some latent talent to work and making headway with it. Be more active and cheerful.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) You know how to add to present income, so get busy and do so. Be sure business affairs are running smoothly.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Study important papers carefully so that you truly understand content. Don't leave yourself wide open for trouble.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Be more cooperative with those you are dealing with and get fine results. Avoid unnecessary expenditure of money.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Make long-range plans that could give you added security in the future. Use practical sense in all your business dealings.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Obtain the data you need to advance in career activities. Get rid of small tasks that impede progress. Use care in motion.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Find better ways of gaining personal aims and they are soon yours. The evening can be happily shared with friends.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) An outside matter could be troublesome, but you can solve it nicely by being more objective. Show that you are sincere.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Know your true position in financial arrangements and make plans for improvement. Establish more order around you.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Plan ways of improving regular routines. Care in motion must be exercised now to avoid possible accident.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he or she will want to be kind and generous with others, but may have difficulty doing so and therefore should have more affection and understanding from parents. Then upon reaching maturity your progeny will be successful.

Gilbert, Buchanan honored at Coahoma High

By GREG JAKLEWICZ
Sports Editor
COAHOMA — Versatile Vickie Buchanan and dedicated James Gilbert were named the Most Outstanding Athletes at the annual spring All-Sports Banquet Tuesday evening at Coahoma High School. Athletes in football, basketball, track, tennis and golf were honored with a most valuable player selected in each sport. Special recognition went to head football coach and athletic director Larry Hudson. Coahoma coaches honored the first-year head coach with a plaque in appreciation for his service to the school.

Buchanan was an all-district choice in basketball and qualified for the state meet in the district for the third year this past weekend at the Region I-AAA meet in Odessa.

Gilbert was a first team all-district pick as linebacker and second team choice as center for the Bulldog football team. He also played basketball for CHS and is a regional qualifier in the shot put.

Gilbert was the most valuable football player in addition to the top honor he received. Both players doubled in major awards, accepting scholarship honors from Booster Club president Sammy Buchanan.

Other most valuable player winners were Melissa Paige in girls' basketball, Tobie Henry in girls' track, Dee Cagle in boys' basketball, Monte Waters in boys' track, Dana Souter and Mila Gallido in girls' tennis, Vince Kingsley in boys' tennis and Ricky

Long in golf.

The elder Buchanan praised the Coahoma coaching staff, saying "They've got a lot of plans and programs in mind to help Coahoma athletics in the future."

Hudson, although admired by his fellow coaches, had words of gratitude for his staff. "I think we're fortunate to find outstanding people in their fields who love children."

Golf coach Craig Besent told the large crowd he grew up in Robert Lee but "always heard about Coahoma and the 'Big Red Machine.' It's an honor for me to be here."

The Coahoma girls' track team members were special honorees, winning their sixth straight district championship three weeks ago, sending 10 individuals to the regional meet and qualifying three — Buchanan, Henry and sprinter Julie Nairn — for the state meet in Austin in two weeks.

The boy's track team finished a surprising fourth in district, qualifying Gilbert, long jumper David Gross and miler Donald Ewing for the regional meet. "Track is not a fanfare sport," coach Bruce Mitchell said, "but it still takes a lot of hard work to run every day. It's a tough sport."

pick Jana Griffin, Paige and Pam Riddle, an honorable mention all-District 6-AAA selection. Hudson said the foot-are seniors. They weren't the biggest or the fastest but they were the hungriest."

"Some folks we play better buckle them down tight next year," he continued.

Other football honorees included Tony Burnett, honorable mention nose guard, Jeff Dever, second team defensive end and honorable mention tackle; and James Sanders, first team offensive guard and second team kicker.

As for all sports at Coahoma, Hudson told the crowd Coahoma is moving up in the world. "I've had other coaches say 'What in the world are you doing over there?' I tell them 'We just come out to compete.'"

"And folks, we're not through," he added.

Outgoing Booster Club officers are Buchanan, president; Johnny Justiss, vice-president; Louise Callaway, treasurer; and Judy Dobbs, secretary. New officers are Justiss, president; Joe Swinney, vice-president; Darlene Reid, treasurer; and Joan Musser, secretary.

ATHLETIC, SCHOLASTIC HONOREES — Seniors Vickie Buchanan and James Gilbert were double award winners Tuesday night at the Coahoma High All-Sports Banquet. The duo were named male and female Most Outstanding Players and scholarship award winners for 1982-83.

THANK YOU, COACH — Coahoma High head football coach and athletic director Larry Hudson was given a plaque by his fellow coaches in appreciation for his work at the school during the 1982-83 school year.

Hudson kidded the boy's team, saying, "We needed calendars to time these guys instead of those $30 and $40 watches I bought."

Joining Buchanan on the girl's basketball honor list were all-district ball season went well despite the Bulldogs' 3-7 record. "I wish a few more of those would have been on the left side," he said, "but just give me five more minutes back and we would have been 5-5. All but seven players

Smithson stifles Jays

ARLINGTON, Texas (AP) — Rick Honeycutt and Mike Smithson are giving the Texas Rangers something they, in the past, have had very little of — outstanding pitching.

Honeycutt leads the American League with an ERA of 0.59 while Smithson, who scattered five hits to beat Toronto 2-1 Tuesday night, moved into a third-place tie with Milwaukee's Don Sutton at 1.74.

Smithson, 3-0, struck out seven of the last 13 batters he faced to preserve the win for the Rangers, now 10-8 with a team ERA of 2.36.

Between Smithson and Honeycutt stands Toronto's ace, Dave Stieb, who came up on the short end of the game to drop to 3-2 on the year with an ERA of 1.61.

"Stieb pitched a good game. Both of them did," Blue Jays manager Bobby Cox said. "It takes a pretty good pitcher to strike out the last three hitters, especially when they are all left-handers."

In the ninth, Lloyd Moseby singled and stole second with no outs. But the righthanded Texas hurler fanned Rance Mulliniks and pinch hitters Hosken Powell and Morge Orta.

Royals 10; Yankees 4
The ball is looking good to George Brett these days ... which is why George Brett is looking so good.

"I'm seeing the ball better and have a lot of confidence up at the plate," said Brett after belting a two-run homer and single to lead the Kansas City Royals to a 10-4 rout of the New York Yankees Tuesday night.

Brett's performance extended his hitting streak to 14 games and boosted his batting average to .481. Brett's fifth homer put him a tie for the American League lead. He also is first in average.

Mariners 7; Red Sox 6
Rick Sweet drove in two runs, including the game-winner, and Gaylord Perry gained his 309th career victory as Seattle beat Boston. Sweet's RBI-double capped the Mariners' four-run, first inning and his seventh-inning, bases-loaded groundout produced the eventual winning run.

A's 4; Orioles 3
Carney Lansford drove in two Oakland runs as the A's snapped a four-game losing streak.

Baltimore starter Jim Palmer, 1-1, went into the game with a 0.00 earned run average but lasted only 32-3 innings, allowing seven hits, four runs and four walks.

Pirates 3; Giants 0
Larry McWilliams threw a one-hitter,

Philadelphia errors — including an uncharacteristic two by center fielder Garry Maddox — as Pascual Perez upped his record to 4-0. Perez, who allowed Mike Schmidt's sixth homer of the season, a three-run blast, has now won eight straight over two seasons.

Reds 7; Mets 0
In Cincinnati, Tom Seaver was facing the team that traded him during the off-season back to the Mets, where he started his career.

But the Reds roughed up Seaver for five runs in five innings as the Mets remained winless on the road.

Padres 10; Cubs 8
The wind was blowing out at Wrigley Field as Steve Garvey smacked a two-run homer and drove in another run with a grounder, giving him 1,001 RBI in his career.

Terry Kennedy and Tim Flannery also homered to highlight San Diego's 17-hit attack.

Dodgers 3; Cardinals 1
Burt Hooton and Steve Howe combined on a five-hitter and Greg Brock tripled in two runs during Los Angeles' three-run third inning.

RBI, total bases, doubles, on-base percentage and slugging percentage.

Indians 7; Twins 1
Lary Sorensen pitched a three-hitter to snap a personal 10-game losing streak and Broderick Perkins' pinch single broke a seventh-inning tie as Cleveland defeated Minnesota.

Brewers 4; White Sox 3
Ben Oglivie lashed his first home run of the year leading off the Milwaukee ninth inning to power the Brewers over Chicago. Oglivie drilled an 0-1 pitch by loser Kevin Hickey, 0-1, into the right field bleachers at Milwaukee's County Stadium.

The winner was Jim Slaton, 2-0, who pitched the last two innings in relief of

American League

Brewer starter Moose Haas.

Mariners 7, Red Sox 6
Rick Sweet drove in two runs, including the game-winner, and Gaylord Perry gained his 309th career victory as Seattle beat Boston. Sweet's RBI-double capped the Mariners' four-run, first inning and his seventh-inning, bases-loaded groundout produced the eventual winning run.

A's 4, Orioles 3
Carney Lansford drove in two Oakland runs as the A's snapped a four-game losing streak.

Baltimore starter Jim Palmer, 1-1, went into the game with a 0.00 earned run average but lasted only 32-3 innings, allowing seven hits, four runs and four walks.

Pirates 3, Giants 0
Larry McWilliams threw a one-hitter,

Philadelphia errors — including an uncharacteristic two by center fielder Garry Maddox — as Pascual Perez upped his record to 4-0. Perez, who allowed Mike Schmidt's sixth homer of the season, a three-run blast, has now won eight straight over two seasons.

Reds 7, Mets 0
In Cincinnati, Tom Seaver was facing the team that traded him during the off-season back to the Mets, where he started his career.

But the Reds roughed up Seaver for five runs in five innings as the Mets remained winless on the road.

Padres 10, Cubs 8
The wind was blowing out at Wrigley Field as Steve Garvey smacked a two-run homer and drove in another run with a grounder, giving him 1,001 RBI in his career.

Terry Kennedy and Tim Flannery also homered to highlight San Diego's 17-hit attack.

Dodgers 3, Cardinals 1
Burt Hooton and Steve Howe combined on a five-hitter and Greg Brock tripled in two runs during Los Angeles' three-run third inning.

allowing only Bob Brenly's fifth-inning single. McWilliams, 2-2, struck out eight, walked five and was aided by three Pittsburgh double plays.

Knepper blanks Expos

MONTREAL (AP) — Knowing he would have a tough act to precede, Bob Knepper, the Houston Astros pitcher, set the stage splendidly for his teammate, Nolan Ryan.

Ryan, a right-hander, will try to become the all-time strikeout king of major league baseball today when he faces the Montreal Expos. He needs five strikeouts to shatter the mark of 3,508 set 36 years ago by Walter Johnson.

But Tuesday, Knepper offered a fine warmup act, tossing a four-hit shutout at the Expos for a 2-0 National League baseball triumph. It was Knepper's first shutout since Sept. 2, 1981, and his first victory since Aug. 14, 1982.

Knepper, 1-2, plodded to the victory like a circus performer walking a tightrope. While he yielded only four hits, Knepper issued seven walks and constantly seemed on the verge of having them come back to haunt him.

The Expos had every chance to inflict considerable damage. Thirteen times they had a man in scoring position, and 13 times they failed to deliver. In all, Montreal stranded 11 baserunners.

The loss was a painful one for Gullickson, 1-3, who allowed only four hits. But one of them was a triple by Omar Moreno in the first and he scored on Dickie Thon's sacrifice fly. Another was a two-out homer by Jose Cruz, his first, in the ninth inning.

Braves 10, Phillies 4
Atlanta unveiled a 19-hit attack Tuesday night to bury the Philadelphia Phillies 10-4 as the Braves matched a team record with their 10th straight victory at home.

The Braves took advantage of five

Spurs rip Nuggets in record-setter

SAN ANTONIO, Texas (AP) — To hear San Antonio's Mike Mitchell tell it, his team's record-breaking National Basketball Association playoff game with the Denver Nuggets was, no hum, high scoring.

"The high score didn't surprise me," Mitchell said. "I think the whole series will be like that."

The Spurs dominated the Nuggets throughout Tuesday's first game of their best-of-seven Western Conference semifinal game, winning 152-133.

The teams meet again here tonight. San Antonio's George Gervin had 42 points and 10 rebounds, but he was only looking forward.

"Denver will play better ball tomorrow," he said. "They know if they win tomorrow, they go home with a split and that's good for a series on the road."

Gervin's game-high points were one highlight of the record-breaking game, in which playoff marks were set for most points and most assists by both teams in a game and most points by one team in the first half.

NBA Playoffs

The combined 285 points bettered by six the 279 points St. Louis and San Francisco scored in a 1967 playoff game. The Spurs' 82 points at intermission was five more than Milwaukee scored against Philadelphia in 1970.

The Spurs and Nuggets combined for 78 assists to break the mark of 76 set by Milwaukee and Denver in 1978 and tied by Phoenix and Los Angeles in 1980.

San Antonio's biggest lead Tuesday came in the fourth quarter, when Gervin hit an 18-foot jumper to put the Spurs up 146-123 with 2:51 left in the game.

Johnny Moore had 24 points and 17 assists for the Spurs, and Mitchell and Gene Banks both added 22.

Dan Issel was high scorer for Denver with 28 points and Kiki Vandeweghe had 22.

Both teams were hot on free throws, with the Nuggets hitting 91 percent and the Spurs 81 percent.

Lakers 112, Blazers 106

Kareem Abdul-Jabbar continued to dominate the Trail Blazers. After scoring 32 points in the opener, he pumped in 37 points in Game 2.

The Lakers trailed 89-85 heading into the final quarter but outscored the Trail Blazers 27-17 in the last period. Los Angeles held Portland to just two points in the final 3½ minutes as the Lakers pulled away from a 104-104 tie.

Calvin Natt scored 26 points for Portland, but just four in the second half. Jim Paxson added 25 for the losers, and Darnell Valentine had 18 points and 16 assists.

Norm Nixon chipped in 23 points for Los Angeles, the defending NBA champions, and Earvin "Magic" Johnson had 18.

Other Games

The Philadelphia 76ers hope to move two games up on the New York Knicks, who may not have leading scorer Bernard King, who reinjured his ankle Sunday and didn't play in the second half.

Milwaukee faces Boston without Dave Cowens, the former Celtic who has been on and off the Bucks' injured list all season. Boston might be without Danny Ainge, who suffered a lacerated finger after being bit during a fight in Sunday's miniseries clincher against Atlanta.

Lamesa upsets Snyder, 6-5

SNYDER — A throwing error by Snyder third baseman Charles Bollinger in the ninth inning allowed Richard Diaz to score the winning run for Lamesa as the Golden Tornadoes upset the No. 1 Tiger 6-5 here Tuesday afternoon.

The loss is the first in seven games for Snyder, now 16-5 overall. The Tors have won four straight games in District 2-AAAA play and stand 4-3 in league play and 11-12 overall.

Relief pitcher Gilbert Arrendondo entered the game in the second inning and tossed 7 2/3 innings of two-hit, shut-out baseball to improve his record to 2-1 in league play. He walked just two and struck out four.

The wild end to the crazy game began with Keith Williams' one-out single to open the ninth inning. Richard Diaz walked and Blake McKinney singled to load the bases.

Coach Lee Almaguer called for the suicide squeeze but when batter Tim Thompson missed the pitch, Williams was tagged out the plate. Diaz then was caught in a run-down between second and third but Bollinger tossed the hot-box throw into right field, allowing Diaz to score the winning run.

The game might have been over in the eighth inning when Arrendondo hit a long fly to center field. Although both Snyder center-fielder Curtis Gafford and the entire Lamesa team thought the shot had cleared the fence, it was ruled a ground-rule double. The Tornado pitcher was left stranded at second.

Snyder scored all five runs in the second inning and had a 5-1 lead entering the seventh inning.

Steve Teague struck out to open the frame but reached first on a passed ball by catcher Johnny Overton on the third strike. With one out, David Lee Smith and John Joe Hernandez singled to load the bases. Bollinger bobbled Keith Williams' grounder, allowing one run to score. McKinney then singled down the right field line on a 3-2 pitch and with all runners moving, three runs scored to tie the game.

Snyder scored all its runs in the second inning. With one out, Bollinger walked, Monte Gambol rapped an RBI double and Overton singled to make it 2-0. Casey Peterson doubled in another run with two out and scored on Britt Vincent's RBI single. Arrendondo relieved Teague and surrendered Brent Roemisch's RBI single upping the score to 5-0.

Gambol had a no-hitter going for 5 1/3 innings but after Williams reached on an error in the sixth, Diaz — the No. 9 batter in the Tor lineup, singled in the first run.

TO ALL OF OUR FRIENDS IN HOWARD COUNTY.

We deeply appreciate all of the acts of kindness shown to us during Marshallene's illness and death. We appreciate the cards, calls, visits, flowers, food and prayers during the last few days. A special thank you goes to Dr. Cowper and his staff of nurses for their attentive care of Marshallene while she was in Big Spring. Mr. Johnny Justiss, Mr. Larry Clawson and Mr. D.L. Dorland and his pilots for arranging the efficient transfer of Marshallene from Big Spring to Temple. Although we can never repay or even personally thank each of you for your compassion, we are sincerely appreciative. Your flowers, calls and attendance at the funeral were a very special tribute to a very special lady.

Districts fight tax regulations

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — More than a dozen Texas school districts are banding together to fight tax regulations that they say unfairly penalize communities with high ratios of older citizens, the San Antonio News reported today.

The effort could culminate in a court battle that could affect taxpayers statewide, the News said.

Spokesmen for Texas over age 65 is not taken into account when state aid to local districts is computed. The tax value on such property is frozen when citizens reach age 65, but it is reported at full market value to determine state aid to the school districts.

"They count it, whether we can collect the money or not," said Calvin Gross, superintendent of the school district in Alamo Heights, a San Antonio suburb, said he was filing a lawsuit contesting the issue in Austin state district court.

Gray said the situation is severely affecting several Texas school districts and "is a form of double jeopardy for the other taxpayers."

FROM RUSSIA WITH PEACE — 10-year-old Samantha Smith of Manchester, Maine, holds up a letter from Soviet leader Yuri V. Andropov that gave her personal assurance that the Soviet Union "will never, but never, be the first to use nuclear weapons against any country." The fifth-grader had written to Andropov earlier this month congratulating him on his new job.

Fifth-grader: Andropov sounds like a friend

MANCHESTER, Maine (AP) — Ten-year-old Samantha Smith, whose hand-written letter to Soviet leader Yuri V. Andropov brought a flood of international publicity, says his response sounded like "a letter from a friend."

In his 2 1/2-page letter to Samantha, which she received Monday, Andropov pledged that his country would never start a nuclear war. He also invited her to visit Russia this summer.

But Samantha liked best the part where Andropov said she seemed to be a "courageous and honest" girl who reminded him of Becky Thatcher in "Tom Sawyer." She said she considered that a compliment and proof that Andropov is not as grim as she had imagined.

White House spokesman Robin Grey said Monday that the administration had no comment on Andropov's letter.

And Samantha's father, Arthur Smith, also was skeptical about Andropov's motives, noting that "nations do things for political reasons" and that the Soviet leader obviously "didn't write to her simply because he's one of her fans."

But he said the letter sounded sincere, as if Andropov had written it himself, instead of assigning a member of his staff to do it for him.

"When you think of Yuri Andropov, you really don't think about him having any humor," the dark-haired 5th-grader said in an after-school interview Monday at the family's home in this rural community west of Augusta.

Andropov, 68, who succeeded the late Soviet Communist Party chairman Leonid Brezhnev last November, invited Samantha to visit the Soviet Union in the summer. He said he would like her to meet Russian children of her age, tour the country and "see for yourself: everybody in the Soviet Union stands for peace and friendship among nations."

Today, Samantha was recognized on the floor of the Maine Senate, where Democrat Peter Danton of Saco suggested that the state pick up part of the expenses for her trip to the Soviet Union. Earlier in the morning, Samantha appeared on NBC's Today show.

Samantha's father, an English instructor at the University of Maine at Augusta, tried to manage the flow of calls from reporters, including one from the Soviet news agency Tass.

Junior colleges may get say-so on construction

Harte-Hanks Austin Bureau
AUSTIN — A House panel approved a proposal last week that would give Texas junior college boards the exclusive say-so on construction on their campuses.

Another bill winning the Higher Education Committee's recommendation is aimed at cutting some state requirements on verifying costs of off-campus courses offered by junior colleges in adjacent counties. The courses are offered at school district facilities.

Sponsored by Rep. Tom Waldrop, D-Corsicana, both bills were referred to the local and uncontested House calendar — reserved for legislation with no opposition. The Senate version of those bills, sponsored by Sen. Chet Edwards, D-Duncanville, is scheduled for consideration Wednesday by the Senate Education committee.

According to testimony by T.M. Harvey, assistant to the Navarro College president, the Coordinating Board, Texas College and University System, currently has authority to veto renovation, repair and construction projects proposed by junior college boards.

This provision was included in previous legislation intended for universities using state funds for buildings, Harvey said, but junior colleges rely on local funds or donations for construction projects, Harvey said.

Waldrop's bill would free junior colleges from the regulation.

Concerning the problem addressed by Waldrop's other bill, junior colleges must refund to the state the difference between the actual cost of administering the off-campus courses and the amount appropriated for that purpose to the junior college.

"Since community college funding formulas are based on average costs of all community colleges throughout the state, any reduced or increased costs for on-campus or off-campus (courses) are already reflected in approved formula rates," Harvey's written testimony stated. "It would therefore appear that any further adjustment of rates would not be necessary in order to appropriate to a college the state funding necessary to carry on its programs."

She was on the founding board of the Malone and Hogan X-Ray School of Technology.

She has been a member of the Cactus Chapter of ABWA since 1976. She held the offices of corresponding secretary and vice president, and served as president of numerous committees. She is now president of the chapter.

She is now a candidate for the Association's top ten women of the year. From this group, the "American Business Woman of the Year" will be chosen. Announcement of the national award will be made at the ABWA's 1983 National Convention in Las Vegas, Nev., Oct. 26-30.

Mrs. Davis and her husband, Lowell, are members of the First United Methodist Church.

She is a past president of the Big Spring Choir Boosters, Buttons and Bows Home Demonstration Unit, Big Spring Women's Forum, Big Spring Concert Association, Community Concert Association and chaplain of the BPOE Does.

She also served as the first woman on the Big Spring Chamber of Commerce Board of Directors.

WOMAN OF THE YEAR — Vonna Lee Davis, right, a physician's assistant at Malone-Hogan Hospital, has been named Woman of the Year by the Cactus chapter of the American Business Women's Association. Mrs. Davis is running a blood pressure check on Elaine Howard here.

Mitchell grand jury says hanging suicide

The Mitchell County grand jury Friday decided there was no evidence of foul play in the death of 31-year-old James L. Johnson of Sweetwater, who was found hanged April 17 in the Mitchell County Jail.

Johnson's death was ruled a suicide by Justice of the Peace Charles Ray Watlington.

Watlington said he arrived at the jail within four minutes of the time Johnson's body was found. He said he conducted an on-the-spot investigation which showed the death resulted from suicide.

Johnson was in the jail on a charge of attempted murder.

Five post DWI bonds

Five men posted bonds for their release this weekend after being arrested on suspicion of driving while intoxicated.

James Ortho Murray, 52, of Ackerly; Rosalio Hernandez Moreno, 55, of Odessa; and Kelly Don Williams, 22, of 1603 Kiowa were each released on $1,000 bonds set by Municipal Judge Melvin Daratt.

Halley Paul Knox, 53, of Midland and Alton Lee Pounds, 39, of 2521 Albrook both posted $2,500 bonds for their release.

- Salvador Chavez, 33, of 1110 N. Noland was arrested Saturday and released to an Ector County sheriff's deputy on a contempt of court charge.
- Michael Paul Bailey, 20, of 1400 Princeton posted a $1,000 bond for his release after his arrest for making alcohol available to a minor.

Steer workouts stress hitting

By GREG JAKLEWICZ
Sports Editor

Spring has sprung
The grass has riz
I wonder where my shoulder pads is

If you're a football player at Big Spring High, that question might have passed through your mind early this morning.

Spring football drills began for over 100 athletes bright and early at 7:30 a.m. today, sessions continuing twice daily for the next three weeks.

Varsity football players are working out from 7:30-8:30 a.m. and 4 p.m. to quitting time in the afternoon. Sophomores and freshman are practicing from 8:25-9 a.m. and with the varsity in the afternoons.

Coach Eudy, how long are you guys working out?
"Until..." the Steer head coach answered, flashing a quick grin.

Quinn Eudy may define "until" as the "minute after the sun sets." Whatever his definition, he has several goals in mind for the special three-week workout session.

"We are stressing," Eudy said, "being fundamentally sound and being physical. We're stressing that hopefully when people play Big Spring, they will be in a very physical contest for four quarters."

He smiled again.
"We want people to hate playing Big Spring because we hit so well."

Big Spring finished 4-6 last fall, losing twice in District 4-5A by one point on two occasions. The record was the best since 1970 for the Steers.

Eudy reports that 102 athletes are out for football. "That's more than we've ever had at this time," he said. The Steers have seven offensive and four defensive starters back and Eudy says, "Their attitude is real good."

The Steers will have their first intra-squad scrimmage Friday at 4 p.m. in Memorial Stadium featuring split varsity teams. Two more scrimmages are planned. On May 6, the seniors of 1984 battle next year's juniors and sophomores while the 1983 seniors play one more time May 13 against next season's varsity.

Council studies plan to widen Birdwell Street

Big Spring city council members plan to employ an engineering firm to draw up preliminary studies and estimates on widening Birdwell Lane as part of the second phase of a capital improvements project.

The council will discuss the project tomorrow night at 6:30 during its regular meeting at City Hall.

Councilman Jack Y. Smith said information gathered by Parkhill, Smith and Cooper of Lubbock — engineers for the entire CIP — will help the council to decide whether to go ahead with the project.

"I want to look at the cost of widening it as compared to how much could be done with that amount of money in resurfacing other streets in town instead of widening Birdwell," Smith said. "I want to weigh it and see if it (the cost) is justified."

Smith has said before it might be in the city's best interest to pave other city streets and just resurface Birdwell, rather than widening it. However, since Birdwell is one of the most heavily traveled city streets, the council wants to see if the benefits would justify the cost of widening.

Public Works Director Tom Decell said plans include widening Birdwell on the east side so that it will be 50 feet wide from 11th Place north to about 175 feet north of Yale Avenue.

Decell said the west side of the street would remain untouched, still allowing for four 11-foot wide lanes. The work would be done inside the existing city right of way so that no property would be condemned, he said.

Plans also call for the street to be reconstructed and resurfaced, but not widened, from 175 feet north of Yale to Third Street.

The contract designates that the city will pay the engineering firm $6,806 for the design phase and $3,701 for the construction phase.

DPS officer talks to scouts about bike safety

Department of Public Safety education officer Jack White presented a program on bicycle safety at the Elbow Cub Scout Troop 29, Den 1 and 2, and Webelos meeting April 19 at the Forsan Elementary Cafeteria.

Pamphlets on bicycle and pedestrian safety were given to each cub scout.

Pack master Pete Rosenbaum conducted the meeting. Badges and awards were presented to qualifying cub scouts and webelos.

Upcoming activities, such as a bike rodeo, Scenic Mountain hike and cookout, softball game and ice cream supper were discussed. The Scouts also discussed entering a float in the rodeo parade.

Pac Man fever bites oldsters

By MIKE DOWNEY
Staff Writer

Peering intently at the video screen, she maneuvered the gobbling creature through the maze, dodging ghosts Blinky and Inky to gather points.

Exclaiming with dismay, Beulah Routh, 80, finally ended her Ms. Pac Man game at the Mountain View Lodge.

The Ms. Pac Man video game at the Big Spring nursing home is the brainchild of administrator Bill Hendrix. The game has been installed in the recreation room since December of 1982, according to Activity Director Alene Witte.

"I love all sorts of games — 42, moon, dominoes. They call us the juveniles; sometimes we play till midnight or so."
— Beulah Routh

"I enjoy any kind of challenge," James said as he sent Ms. Pac Man gobbling through the middle. "I'm working on two Rubik's Cubes now." Beulah says she doesn't like to just sit and "watch the others sit around." Pac Man helps keep her mind on something besides herself, she said.

"I love all sorts of games — 42, moon, dominoes," Beulah said. Gesturing to a group of ladies playing dominoes, she adds, "They call us the juveniles; sometimes we play till midnight or so."

Hendrix said the video game should be good therapy for the residents because it exercises their minds. The game should make them more alert, he said.

"About 10 residents play regularly," Mrs. Witte said as Beulah wrenched the joystick back to avoid oncoming ghosts. "There's more playing all the time."

Beulah is joined at the video game by James Rothell. The nine-year resident of the lodge confidently sends Ms. Pac Man across the screen, avoiding the rampant ghosts. The 44-year-old James is an aficionado of video games, having his own Atari set.

VIDEO JUNKIE — Beulah Routh of Mountain View Lodge enjoys a little video-gaming at the controls of the Pac Man game in the Big Spring nursing home. The game provides an outlet for the residents' competitive instincts and helps keep their minds active.

Three artists honored this month

Last week I mentioned a little tidbit about MR. AND MRS. AL LONG'S children, FRAN BALLANTYNE of Austin and ALICE ALLEN of Fort Worth. Well now I have more news about this talented family.

CHARLES ALLEN, husband of Alice Allen, is being honored by Texas Women's University in Denton as Wildflower Artist of the Year today during Wildflower Day. Charles creates metal flower sculptures which have been exhibited at the United States Arboretum in Washington, D.C., at Callaway Gardens in Georgia, and the Heard Natural Science Museum in McKinney. His artistry will be on display at the Botanic Garden Center in Fort Worth during May and June.

Charles began doing wildflowers 11 years ago when he was inspired to make a metal flower during a vacation in Colorado. Alice encouraged him to create more flowers from painted tin, and eventually he showed his creations to a gallery owner in Dallas. The owner was impressed, accepted them for display and sold all of them the first week.

Charles's profession is as a pharmacist, and his hobby in art work takes up most of his spare time. He wants his artwork to be near-perfect reproductions of nature.

FRAN BALLANTYNE was featured in this month's issue of ULTRA magazine. The article "In Search of Texas Finest Crafts" mentions Fran's work with boldly colored fabrics, appliques, paint, antique lace and buttons. Fran makes "paintings" using these materials. "I like to put all those independently beautiful things together and package them into a meaningful statement," she says in the article.

The article also describes how her travels to Haiti, Mexico and Europe have influenced her work. Her pieces can be found at Ellen Younger Studio and Gallery, The Quilt Collector, both in Houston, The Peachtree Gift Gallery in Fredericksburg, Kerbey Lan Gallery in Austin, and Southwest Craft Center, Ursuline Gallery and La Villita Galleria in San Antonio. Another popular local artist is VIRGINIA WHIT-

TEN, wife of JOE WHITTEN. During the month of April, this art teacher has a one man show in the faculty lounge in the new English building at Texas Tech University in Lubbock.

The Texas Library Association Conference was in San Antonio April 13 to 15, and local librarians JUDY GRAY, REBBECCA TAYLOR AND ROSE VON HASSELL attended the event.

"We walked our feet off," Judy said as she described the excursion to me the other day. She said the three of them attended workshops, seminars, the Public Library Division meetings, programs and debate on networking.

They learned new library trends in electronic publishing, facility planning, personnel, publishing, personal and professional development. They met several authors of childrens books and brought back many new books for the library.

Of course the conference wasn't all work and no play.

PLANS ANNOUNCED — Mr. and Mrs. H.K. Speck of Friendswood announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Lisa, to Steve Sargent, son of Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Sargent of Marion, Ala., and formerly of Coahoma. The couple will be married May 14.

Waterless cooking not new

Despite claims and advertisements, waterless cooking isn't anything new or fantastic. It simply involves cooking food by steam rather than water — so great quantities of liquid aren't necessary.

Salesmen for "waterless cookware" have several sales pitches.

Some include "reducing the amount of food needed" and "increasing flavor and nutritive value of food prepared."

However, wise consumers know that cookware will not improve family health or decrease food bills.

Sometimes sales pitches offer additional temptations — "discounts" or "free bonuses" such as glassware or silverware.

However, prices are usually set very high to allow the salesman to offer such so-called bonuses. Be sure to compare prices and quality to cookware with that offered in local stores before you buy.

Prospective brides, single women on their first jobs and young people in school often make prime targets for zealous salesmen.

Actually, waterless cooking can be done in any heavy metal pan which has a tight-fitting lid. The tight lid allows only a small amount of steam to escape. Utilizing low heat is extremely important in keeping vapor losses to a minimum.

In general, waterless cookware is made of a heavier gauge metal than normally used in top-of-the-range pans.

However, it's usually sold in sets — so use caution when considering a purchase.

Pots included in a large set may not come in sizes needed — and buying a set that includes items you won't use is hardly a bargain, emphasized.

When purchasing cookware — whether it's waterless or regular — a pan should possess several characteristics.

- A good pan is:
 - made of thick, durable, non-wrapping material
 - constructed of a material that heats quickly and evenly
 - designed with wide, flat bottom; wide, smooth rounded corners and straight sides

Dear Abby
Bald woman not afraid to date

DEAR ABBY: I had to write when I read the letter from the woman who's afraid to date because she has terrible hair and wears a wig. She thinks if a man finds out she's wearing a wig, it will turn him off. Abby, I'm 17, and I've been completely bald since I was 8 and have worn a wig for two years. I have "alopecia areata," a condition many people have, although doctors still don't know what causes it. Honestly, that lady is using her wig as an excuse not to date. I date a lot, and all the guys know about my wig. One special guy calls it "Wiggy" and treats it like a pet! When I was younger I even thought of self-destruction, but now I see how dumb that was. Believe it or not, this condition has helped build my character and develop a sense of humor. Almost everybody has something he or she has to learn to live with, and there are plenty of people lots worse off than I am. I want to tell that woman who wears a wig not to feel like a freak, and other people will accept her as she is. If you print this, sign me...

WIGGY AT 17
DEAR WIGGY: What a terrific young woman you are! A dermatologist in Schenectady, N.Y., wrote to tell me about the National Alopecia Areata Foundation, a support group of people who have suffered permanent hair loss. He sent one of the organization's newsletters, which I found very informative and extremely encouraging.

For information write to: The Alopecia Areata Foundation, P.O. Box 5027, Mill Valley, Calif. 94941. This is a non-profit organization, so please include a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope.

DEAR ABBY: Please tell "Tried of Waiting" that somebody is doing something about the frustration of long waits in doctors' offices.

Recently a group of doctors and dentist from Shawnee Mission Medical Center in Merriam, Kan., got together to form health care centers in two suburban shopping malls in the Kansas City area (a third is planned). When you arrive for your appointment, if there is going to be more than a 15 minute wait, the receptionist gives you a little beeper to carry while you browse, shop, eat, play video games or whatever. When you hear a "beep," it means the doctor will be ready to see you in 10 minutes.

The beeper can also be used by a friend or family member who brought the patient to the doctor. This frees them to come back for the patient when the visit is completed.

Doctors carry "beepers" to conserve their time. Why not patients?

BEEP BEEP DEAR BEEP: Why not, indeed? Everything's up-to-date in Kansas City!

Primary biliary cirrhosis

Dear Dr. Donohue: I hope you can help me. I had some tests made and was found to have "primary biliary cirrhosis." The doctor said the cause was unknown. It has something to do with antibodies. At first, the doctor recommended that I go to a major hospital for additional help. But I have been told that this would only be a waste of time and money because there wasn't much knowledge about the condition or any proven effective therapy. I would be deeply grateful if you could help me with any information about this. — Mrs. A.C.
Primary biliary cirrhosis is predominantly an illness of women in the 40-60-year age group. The cause is not known, but there are hints that it might be a self-allergy problem, one of those conditions where the body makes antibodies against certain tissue, in this case in the small biliary channels that drain bile out of the liver to the gallbladder to aid in digestion. Those antibodies, along with the undrained bile, damage liver cells; eventually cirrhosis results in some patients. In cirrhosis, the normal liver cells are replaced by scar tissue. While there may be no specific cure for the problem, there are things to do. Because bile is not getting to the digestive tract, you have to reduce your fat intake. It is bile that makes fat digestible. Also, you may need vitamin supplements, especially those that depend on fat for absorption, most especially vitamins D and K. And you may also require extra calcium to prevent bone softening because vitamin D is important in how the body handles calcium. Dr. Donohue welcomes reader mail but regrets that, due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

Hail, habits drive rates up

By BOB CARPENTER
Staff Writer

Every vehicle damaged in Big Spring and Howard County drives up the average resident's automobile insurance premium, and bad driving and bad weather here have put a dent in the area's basic insurance rates.

According to Gaylon Daniel, statistician and rate developer with the State Board of Insurance in Austin, Howard County auto insurance premiums rank high when compared to other sections of the state.

The state board has divided Texas into 40 geographic regions for rating purposes. Howard is in Region 25 along with Scurry, Midland and Ector counties.

Of those 40 regions, only nine are higher than Region 25, Daniel said. Why are Howard County rates higher than some of the surrounding areas?

Daniel said it simply boils down to the fact that the county's region has more losses which, in turn, causes insurance companies to have to raise premiums to cover those losses.

Capt. George Quintero of the Big Spring Police Department said the city may register more losses because of its distinctive location on Interstate Highway 20 and U.S. Highway 87. While "The Crossroads of West Texas" may make a good chamber of commerce slogan, the traffic created by the roads creates a greater risk for drivers.

The state board's recommendation for Howard County in Region 25 is $442 a year based on coverage for a 1982 sedan used by a person over 25 years old and driven to work, Daniel said.

The coverage includes minimum liability protection of $10,000 per person injured in an accident, $20,000 for total medical expenses and $5,000 for property damage. Also included is comprehensive coverage with a $50 deductible and collision with a $200 deductible.

The $442 rate compares with a state low of $342 in Grayson County in the northeast part of Texas and a state high of $542 in Harris County where Houston is located.

Daniel said other areas surrounding Howard County, excluding the counties with large cities like Midland, Odessa, Lubbock, Amarillo and Abilene, have recommended premiums of $371 a year. This area is Region 26 and covers most West Texas, the Panhandle and south to Val Verde County where Del Rio is located.

The $442 is the average premium cost, or key rate, recommended by the state board to cover most insurance companies' costs for claims and allow them about one-fourth of 1 percent profit, according to Daniel.

The $442 or any other amount is not without fluctuation, for companies have the option of deviating from the board's average.

If a company wishes to lower its premiums — which many do — it must file a claim showing it can adequately cover losses with the requested reduction in premiums, Daniel said.

Daniel said most companies operate on rates 15 to 20 percent below the board's average. He said very few are operating at a higher level unless the company is offering coverage for high risk customers.

By those calculations, average rates would be between $354 and $376 for this area.

Most most companies will offer rates under the average so as to remain competitive in the market, he said.

Quintero also said there was a problem of not having enough officers to supervise problem traffic areas in the city. Quintero said officers are already stretched thin making it hard to devote as much time to traffic control as the department would like.

"We know there's a problem with traffic," Quintero said. "But the beat officer just has so much time to devote to traffic along with the rest of his duties."

Without supervision, Quintero said drivers may begin to drive a little faster than normal and perhaps take chances they might not ordinarily take if they knew a patrol car was in the area. These chances, of course, sometimes lead to accidents.

Daniel said another contributing factor to Region 25's rates is the area's harsh weather. Hail storms, wind storms and ice storms occur occasionally in the area, thus adding another risk in the rate makeup.

Quintero said the snow and ice Big Spring receives each winter adds to the accident total as inexperienced drivers attempt to navigate treacherous roads.

Region 25 receives no worse weather than say the largely rural counties of Martin or Mitchell, yet premiums are higher in Howard County — almost $70 a year, according to Daniel.

However, Daniel said there are many more cars registered in Howard's region than in other rural counties.

Chamber hosts art groups

The Big Spring Area Chamber of Commerce Arts Council will host a consortium meeting of art show organizations within a 150-mile radius of Big Spring Tuesday at 9:30 a.m. in the chamber's meeting room. Guest speaker will be Alan Longacre, director of the Texas Regional Exchange Office in Austin and former executive director of the Texas Commission of the Arts.

Longacre will direct the consortium in exploring ways in which quality arts events can be brought to West Texas through the collaborative efforts of the organizations.

Signal stages Shakespeare

The sixth and seventh grade Signal classes of Goliad Middle School will present portions of Shakespeare's "Julius Caesar" and "Macbeth" tonight at 7:30 at the school's gymnasium.

The performances are free to the public. Refreshments will be served after the performance, and the Signal classroom will be open for parents to view samples of student work.

The Signal students, members of a class for superior students, will be directed in the plays by Mrs. Kathleen Newman.
