After 40 years Intercontinental pen pals meet

By RICHARD HORN
Staff Writer

In 1986, the state of Texas and the state of South Australia will both be 150 years old. The two governments are planning cultural exchanges — and possibly a 13,000-mile air race — for the sesquicentennials.

But a Big Spring man and a South Australian man have a big jump on the festivities. They have been intercontinental pen pals for 40 years, and they met for the first time last weekend in Big Spring.

Ray Fortson of 3204 Cornell and Max Barnett of Adelaide, South Australia, started exchanging letters in 1942 when Ray's brother, Otho, was stationed with the U.S. Army in Adelaide during World War II.

"I was 14 years old and Otho was the first American I'd ever met," said Max, 54, in a soft Australian accent. "I saw him at the motor pool and I said 'What, are you an American?' and he said 'Yup,' and I said 'Are you a cowboy then?' and he said 'Yup,' and I asked him for a pen pal."

He was given Ray's address in Merlin, Texas. "I was 13 and knew very little about Australia," Ray said. "I got the first letter from Max before Otho had ever told me about him."

The two exchanged about four or five letters a year for the first three years, then the writing dropped off. "We were discussing it last night and decided we stopped because we both discovered girls," Ray laughed.

They entered the service — Ray the U.S. Army, Max the Australian Navy — and the written relationship stopped.

But it didn't end. Max was visiting the United States in 1966 and remembered that Ray lived in Merlin. He tried to contact him, but couldn't. When he returned to Australia, he wrote Ray and the two began exchanging two to three letters a year.

"Then I called Ray on Christmas Day, 1980, and that's when the thing really started," Max said.

Max and his wife Doris are on a 7-week vacation through the United States. Their 3-day stop in Big Spring to see Ray and his wife Marilyn was a high point.

"I had no idea what Max looked like when we went to meet them at the airport (in Midland). I'd never seen a picture of him or anything," Ray said. "We just looked for someone who looked lost. And I tell you, it was great seeing him."

"I feel like I've been here months," Max said. "The wives were afraid they wouldn't get along or that the thing wouldn't work out. But it's great. They are wonderful, loving people."

Max and Ray and their wives went to Merlin to see Ray's brother Otho last weekend. The rest of the visit has been spent seeing the sights of Big Spring.

"Texas and South Australia are like sister states, you know. Big Spring and South Australia are a lot alike," Max said, "especially where you have sheep. There are not as many mesquite trees there, but South Australia is finding oil — that's similar to Texas."

Ray had sent chamber of commerce information about Big Spring to Max in the 1960s, but he never thought the two would get to meet.

"I've never been to South Australia," Ray said, "but I'd sure like to someday. This is a relationship I'd like to keep."

They haven't been able to locate any of the letters they wrote as teenagers and say they have trouble remembering what they wrote about.

"More than likely we talked about the differences and similarities between the two countries," Ray said. "It took a long time to get the letters because they went by sea mail."

But the day before Max arrived, Ray found a toy koala bear mounted on a piece of wood that Max had sent him in 1942.

"I had forgotten all about that," Max said. "My Goodness, that was 40 years ago, you know?"

Liquor sales come up dry in C-City permit hearing

COLORADO CITY (SC) — Mitchell County's Precinct 3 has been legally wet for almost a month, but four establishments came up dry in a liquor sales permit hearing Wednesday.

One application was denied and three were withdrawn in the hearing held by Mitchell County Judge Bill Carter.

Carter questioned whether approving liquor sales was "progress" and suggested that profits from sales be donated to support the fight against the effects of alcoholism. But he said that does not mean he intends to dismiss all applications.

"Regardless of my personal views, I want to uphold the law," Carter said this morning in a telephone interview. "That is my only interest. I feel sure we would have approved one (application), but the man forgot to sign his application."

Carter said that of the four applications, the one denied to Colonial Food Store at 1205 Hickory caused him the most anguish.

It was denied because the store is located between Colorado City Middle School and the school administration offices, he said. However, the store is outside the 300-foot limit drawn by the Colorado City Council.

"I am leery of any progress based upon sewage and alcohol. To me they're compatible."

— Mitchell County Judge Bill Carter

"We have 920 square miles in Mitchell County and about half of this is in Precinct 3," Carter said. "They could have located (the store) some other place than a little over 300 feet from a school. That would have created a problem for the school officials. I just had to go on my feelings."

"I know they didn't build that store yesterday, but these people plan years in advance," he said.

"I don't know why he didn't approve it," Jo Chiofalo, district manager of Colonial, said this morning. "I thought the people had already spoken and said they wanted alcohol sales. He (Carter) said we had 9,000 acres to put a store in. Well, if he wants to build us a new store, we'll move into it."

Colonial has 30 days in which to appeal Carter's decision. Ms. Chiofalo said an appeal was under way.

Bobby Joe Tammen, owner of Bojo's convenience store near Lake

Colorado City State Park, withdrew his request after Carter questioned him on his affiliation with the Mitchell County Life Science Church and on a 1979 assault charge that was subsequently dismissed.

"Those applications for sales are very detailed," Carter said. "I asked him about things he hadn't put on the application."

Tammen asked that his application be withdrawn until a later date. "I request that an impartial judge be appointed by the commissioners to hear my application," Tammen told the hearing.

The one application that Carter said would probably have been approved was presented by John E. Snider. He withdrew his request at the meeting because he had failed to sign the application. He will appear at the next hearing on May 10. The fourth applicant, J.N. Baker, owner of Baker's Bar Shop, withdrew his application until he could do more work on his establishment. He said he was not certain when he will resubmit the request.

Carter opened Wednesday's hearing by stating that personalities would not be involved in the proceedings.

He said that during his seven years as county judge he has averaged committing one person every 60 days to the alcoholic unit at the Big Spring State Hospital.

Carter told applicants that if they really want to help the community, they should take some of the profits they are going to make from the sale of liquor to form a detoxification unit in the area.

Additional profits could be channelled to help families who have loved ones in the alcoholic units at the state hospital, he said.

Carter concluded by pointing out that a sewer bond election had recently passed in Mitchell County by a 10-1 margin. He said proponents had used the slogan Vote For Progress. Proponents of liquor sales used the same slogan.

"I am leery of any progress based upon sewage and alcohol. To me they're compatible," he said.

Carter will hold another hearing at 10 a.m. Tuesday at the Mitchell County Courthouse.

Local farmers hoping for rain

Dry May could push planting back

"The top is dry, but we've got some moisture down deep. Of course, we've had to deplete that with plowing. So we'd like to see some rain before planting." — Tim Hall

By MIKE DOWNEY
Staff Writer

To no one's surprise, Howard County farmers are waiting for some late spring rain before planting this year, according to Tim Hall of the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service office.

The planting season is normally complete by June 15, Hall said. However, dry conditions now may push planting deeper into June, he said.

"The top is dry, but we've got some moisture down deep," Hall said. "Of course, we've had to deplete that with plowing. So we'd like to see some rain before planting."

Hall said many producers would probably plant within a week of rainfall.

"If it rained today, we'd see planting by the tenth (Tuesday)," Hall said.

This year's cotton crop will be smaller than in previous years due to farmer participation in the federal Payment in Kind program.

Hall said. County producers are employing a variety of methods to plant cotton while "setting aside" up to 80 percent of their acreage, Hall said.

"Most producers have worked out how they'll do their PIK planting," Hall said. "If not, they're sure pushing the deadline."

Hall said he expected to see an expansion of the skip row method as well as the use of block planting. One popular skip-row pattern will be the two and four, he said.

"We haven't seen that since LBJ's days," Hall said.

Producers will plant two rows of cotton and skip four rows instead of the more common "plant two skip two."

Some producers will use the block method and plant conventionally, Hall noted.

Nearly 100 farms will plant no cotton at all due to the PIK acreage reduction program, Hall added.

New apartments planned for Big Spring

The Permian Basin Housing Finance Corp. in Midland Wednesday will review an application for a multi-family housing revenue bond for a new apartment complex in Big Spring.

The request has been made to the PBHFC by Bent Tree Apartments for revenue bonds in the amount of $4 million.

If approved, these bonds will finance a 120-unit apartment complex to be constructed in Big Spring at a total cost of $4,236,000, according to Pam Hammit, director of administrative services for the Permian Basin Regional Planning Commission.

Delbert McDougal, developer for the project, said there are two sites in mind for the project. He said the most likely prospect is to the south of the Coronado Hills Apartments presently located at the intersection of FM 700 and Wasson Road.

Also being looked at is a site on East 25th St. by the Kentwood Apartments, according to McDougal.

He said the apartments will be luxury one, two, and three bedroom units with access to a clubhouse, swimming pool and hot tub.

McDougal is optimistic that the PBHFC will grant Bent Tree approval for the revenue bonds.

"We feel real good about the project," McDougal said. "Big Spring is in need of a nice project, and all the comments we've had so far from the Permian Basin Housing Finance Corp. have been favorable."

Pending approval of the bond application, McDougal said construction would begin on the project "in the latter part of June, no later than the first of July."

However, Dewey Byers, building inspector for the City of Big Spring, said Bent Tree developers have not yet applied for a building permit.

McDougal and other developers for Bent Tree will offer a presentation on the planned apartments at 2:30 p.m. Wednesday in the regional planning commission offices at the Midland Regional Air Terminal.

Senate approves free ag trucking for state farmers

AUSTIN (AP) — Texas farmers and residential users of natural gas would be affected widely by a House-passed bill that still needs one more approving Senate vote.

The bill tentatively approved Wednesday by the Senate continues the Texas Railroad Commission for another 12 years, under the Sunset Commission Act, but makes widespread changes in some commission policies.

"You have made some far-reaching changes today, and I think there will be some far-reaching results for the people of Texas," said Sen. Ed Howard, D-Texas.

If finally approved by the Senate, the measure goes back to the House for approval of Senate amendments. The major Senate amendment, by Howard, to deregulate trucking for agriculture products was approved 19-12.

"This just says that a farmer or rancher can haul his livestock or farm crops anywhere in the state without having to get a regular trucking permit," Howard said, "as long as he retains title to the products he produced."

Current law limits trucking agricultural products within a 75-mile area. Outside that limit truckers must have a regular state trucking certificate from the Railroad Commission.

"This is completely unrealistic to people in the trucking business to have two sets of rules," said Sen. Bill Sims, D-San Angelo.

Sims said he would be able, under Howard's amendment, to take a load of lambs to market, but if he bought a load of sheep there he would have to pay a regulated trucker to return them to his ranch.

Sen. Ted Lyon, D-Rockwall, offered an amendment to give farmers free trucking until "the first point of manufacture," but it was voted down 21-10.

Sims tried to deregulate all livestock trucking in Texas. It failed 22-9.

Another much-discussed provision would create a separate Gas Utility Regulatory Act covering rate setting and regulation of intrastate gas utilities in Texas.

Each municipal governing body would have original jurisdiction in setting gas rates but would have to use uniform standards in setting the rates. All appeals would be handled by the Railroad Commission.

"This allows a utility a reasonable opportunity to earn a reasonable return," Howard said.

An amendment was added that would allow public counsel to represent ratepayers, if ratepayers asked for such help.

An effort was made by Sen. Kent Caperton, D-Bryan, to transfer regulation and rate-setting of natural gas utilities to the Public Utility Commission if the Railroad Commission abused its authority. It failed 21-10.

This Saturday's for squares

If you're a square, this weekend in Big Spring should fit your lifestyle.

The 14th annual Big Spring Square and Round Dance Festival will be held on May 6 and 7 at Dorothy Garrett Coliseum and the Big Spring Squares Corral on Chaparral Road. The event includes square and round dances, work shops and a Saturday night "After Party" with more dancing and refreshments.

Marvin Burcham, who co-chairs the festival with his wife Barbara, said they hope to have 160 couples attend the Saturday night event at the coliseum. The Burchams moved here 11 years ago and have chaired the festival once before.

The festival was first organized 14 years ago and was then held at the Big Spring High School cafeteria, Burcham said. Two years ago they moved it to the coliseum because of the large number of persons who are attracted to the festival.

"The whole idea is to promote square dancing as family recreation," Burcham said. "I started taking my son when he was 2 years old."

Burcham said no alcoholic beverages are allowed at the dances. Mayor Clyde Angel will open the Saturday night festivities with a welcome speech, he said.

Music is provided by records, but the callers are live. David Davis of Midland and Tommy White of Odessa will call Friday night at the Corral. Wade Driver of

Dancers twirl in last year's seminar

Houston will call the Saturday night square dance. Dave and Nita Smith of Lubbock will call the rounds Saturday night.

Saturday afternoon workshops will offer the dancers an opportunity to learn new dances, both square and round, Burcham said.

Square dancing involves four couples that follow directions from a caller. Round dancing includes all the couples and involves two-stepping, waltzing and advanced country western dancing.

The public is welcome to watch the dancing at no cost, Burcham said. Couples from clubs in Andrews, San Angelo, Lubbock, Kerrville, San Antonio and Midland-Odessa are expected to attend.

The festival swings into action from 8 p.m. to 11 p.m. Friday at the Corral for $5 per couple. Saturday's dancing begins at 8 p.m. after the 7:45 p.m. grand march. Entry fee is $6.50 per person.

Officers and chairmen are introduced before the grand march, in which all the couples are invited to line up on the coliseum floor and march around in formation.

"It's real pretty," Burcham said of the march. "It's sort of like a marching band."

For more information contact Marvin or Barbara Burcham at 263-2945.

Couple refuses to leave closed shop

LAREDO (AP) — A Laredo couple spent their third night sleeping on the floor, determined to fight eviction from their floral shop in the empty El Paseo mall here. Jerry and Mary Allen have been holed up in their Creative Touches shop since Monday morning, eating fruit and food a friend sneaked in. They are waiting and hoping that their lawyer can break the deadlock with developer Joel Austin of Tri-Source Properties in San Antonio.

"You kind of get used to sleeping on the floor," Allen said early today.

The Allens are the last shop owners in the now-defunct El Paseo Mall. Nine other stores closed last month in the midst of a rent dispute with Austin.

Allen said his lawyer, Humberto Juarez, was trying Thursday to seek an injunction to remove the plywood from the entrance of the mall and to get them a key to their shop and mall.

On Monday, Austin boarded up the entrance of the mall and had the shops' locks changed. The Allens could get out through a back fire escape, but if they did, they couldn't get back in.

Allen, 49, said the developer told the manager of the mall not to let any food in.

"That is silly, you can't starve people," said Allen. He said he and his wife knew the eviction notice was coming and stocked their store with apples, oranges, grapes and bananas. But Wednesday night, fruit was not enough.

"My wife was getting hungry. I had a friend get us some food," Allen said.

The whole matter began last month, when the developer said the stores were not paying their full rent.

Replacing water meters saves city over $16,000

Big Spring will generate over $16,000 more in net earnings each year from water consumption since 405 broken water meters were replaced in 1982, City Manager Don Davis said.

A news release from Davis said a "change out" program in which broken meters are replaced with new ones began in October 1982. Between October and December, 405 meters were replaced, he said.

Davis said the "dead" meters were found through computer print-outs of water consumption. The city contracted Hester and Robertson Mechanical Contractors Inc. to replace meters that showed a very low or zero reading.

The accounts' recording of gallons of water used each month jumped from 44,000 to 2,845,000, or a net revenue increase of $2,280.95, Davis said.

The change out program cost the city $11,262.48. Subtracting this from the expected annual income of $27,371 leaves net earnings of $16,108.52, Davis said.

Davis said the city will continue the replacement program using city personnel rather than contracting an outside company.

April's permits show building upswing levels

The upswing in Big Spring's construction expenditures for fiscal year 1983 levelled off in April, according to a city building inspection division report.

Expenditures in April 1983 are about half of what they were in April 1982, making up for the $1.8 million expended in January that had maintained an overall increase over 1982 in construction dollars spent. The fiscal year increase dropped from about $900,000 last month to about $400,000 this month.

The 45 building permits were issued in April for $514,545 worth of commercial, instructional and residential construction. That brings total construction expenditures so far this fiscal year (October 1982 through April 1983) to $4.6 million.

The largest amount of construction dollars were spent on four new residences for a total of $188,830. The permits went to Arthur Olague for a $10,000 home at 907 Runnels; Donald L. Murphy for a $75,000 home at 2616 Crestline; Wayne C. Durham for a $45,000 home at 3305 Duke; and James M. Norman for a $58,830 home at 2807 Cactus.

Building Inspector Dewey Byers issued a permit to St. Thomas Catholic Church for a $97,000 instructional building at 605 N. Main.

Two new commercial building permits were issued, one to Kay and Kompany Electric at 4010 S. Highway 87 for a $21,000 storage building and the other for a $61,460 restaurant, Sanchos Mexican Buffet at Big Spring Mall.

Byers also issued three permits for residential swimming pools at a total construction cost of $48,500.

Fees for the building permits, sewer and water taps and other permits generated $3,801.80 in April for the city's general fund.

Chamber on lookout for city beauty spot

The search is on for a Big Spring Area Chamber of Commerce "Beauty Spot of the Month," according to Suncha Christensen, chairman of the chamber's beauty spot subcommittee.

Mrs. Christensen and the chamber are asking Big Spring residents to nominate their own or other homes and businesses for the award.

She said that the homes and businesses don't have to be "large and expensive," but simply well tended. She said one of the winners in recent years was a small, modest home which was neatly painted and had a groomed yard.

Qualifications for the award include attractive paint jobs, flower beds, shrubs, use of fences and yard ornaments.

The Beauty Spot Award will be given in May, June, July and August. One business and one residence will be picked each month. Winners will have a sign in the yard signifying that their business or home is a beauty spot. A photo of the premises will also appear in the Big Spring Herald.

Nominations can be called in at 267-3237 or 263-7641.

Kuykendall is suffering from cancer and currently has no income, according to friends. His wife is unable to work because she is needed to help him, they said.

Kuykendall has worked in Luther as an employee of an area farmer.

AS HOUSE DEBATED BUDGET — House Appropriations Chairman Bill Presnal, D-Bryan, confers with House Speaker Gib Lewis during House debate on the $30.8 billion two-year budget. Speaker Lewis predicted a final bill could be voted on Thursday and it would then be up to a House-Senate conference committee to work out a compromise measure suitable to both houses.

Texas House working on 1983-1984 budget

Teachers keep close watch on planned raises

AUSTIN (AP) — The House went back to work on the 1984-85 budget today while Texas teachers kept on an eye on planned attempts to get them a 24 percent pay raise.

The $30.8 billion budget worked up by the House Appropriations Committee includes only the automatic raises — up to 9.4 percent — required by law. But Rep. Betty Denton, D-Waco, said she would push for House approval of Gov. Mark White's 24 percent pay raise plan.

Mrs. Denton said she would not try to get the pay raise into the appropriations bill, which carries a rule requiring balanced amendments. To raise spending in one area, representatives must decrease an equal amount from another area.

The White plan would cost $960 million, said Mrs. Denton.

"Where are you going to find that kind of money?" she said, referring to the tightly-drawn appropriations bill.

Her plan is to amend Center Rep. Bill Haley's public school finance bill, which could be debated shortly after the appropriations debate ends. Haley's bill is a comprehensive program including teacher pay raises smaller than White's proposal.

In a separate bill, Haley proposed a half-cent increase in the state sales tax to pay for teacher pay. That bill is stalled in committee.

Mrs. Denton said a 24 percent pay hike can be accomplished without raising taxes. "The governor has gone to an approach we haven't seen in many years, take care of the teachers first," she said.

But Speaker Gib Lewis expressed doubts. "I would think any amendment added to any bill that creates increased funds would have a provision raising those funds," said Lewis, who opposes any tax hike.

White ventured into the House during Wednesday's debate. He spoke briefly with Lewis and then told reporters, "We talked about several matters on the fiscal side."

Haley and other legislators said White's aides were in the House pushing the teacher pay raise plan.

White said he was pleased with Comptroller Bob Bullock's announcement Wednesday that no revenue estimate decrease is needed now.

"Nothing has happened in our state economy over the past 30 days to cause me to raise or lower the estimate," said Bullock.

The pay-as-you-go provision of the Texas Constitution says lawmakers cannot spend more than the comptroller estimates will come in. In a series of revenue estimate revisions this year, Bullock has cut $2.5 billion from his forecast. He blamed declining oil prices and slumping sales tax collections.

Chinese plane hijacked

Domestic airliner lands at U.S. base near Seoul

SEOUL, South Korea (AP) — Hijackers seized a domestic Chinese airliner today with 105 people aboard, shot two crewmen and forced the pilot to land at a U.S. air base near Seoul, the government said. It was the first confirmed hijacking of a Chinese plane.

There was no official word on the fate of the hijackers, who were apparently seeking to defect, but authorities said all those aboard were taken off the aircraft about nine hours after it landed early in the afternoon.

A government announcement said the two wounded crew members were taken to a hospital, while the other 100 passengers and three crewmen — presumably including the hijackers — were taken to undisclosed locations.

The Defense Ministry said earlier that the plane, which had been on a domestic flight in northeast China, was "under protection of authorities" at the base and apparently carried defectors.

Chinese officials said only that the plane had been hijacked and made no mention of any defectors.

China previously had confirmed only one attempted hijacking of a Chinese airliner. On July 25, 1982, the Chinese said five men tried to take over a domestic flight, but were overpowered by passengers and the crew. The five later were reported executed.

A spokesman for China's state airline, CAAC, said in Peking that the plane had been forced to South Korea by more than one person, but that the exact number of hijackers was not known. The spokesman, who declined to be identified, said the plane carried 96 passengers and nine crew members.

Newspaper reports here said the plane landed with three armed men aboard.

News reports said some of those aboard had relayed word they wanted to contact Taiwan's ambassador to South Korea, and the Taiwan government issued a statement saying it extended a "warm welcome to passengers ... that defected to South Korea to come to their free motherland."

The U.S. military refused to discuss the incident, saying it was a South Korean matter, but other sources said the plane had been guarded by U.S. soldiers until South Korean troops took over.

The Defense Ministry, citing reasons of national security, ordered news agencies not to report the name of the base where the plane landed.

Photographers and television cameramen were allowed onto the base before the passengers were taken off the plane, and their film showed an aircraft surrounded by rifle-bearing guards. Passengers could be seen looking out the open doors, some of them fanning themselves with newspapers against the afternoon heat.

The Japanese network NHK broadcast film of a plane with "Civil Aviation Administration of China" written in Chinese on its side, parked in a grassy field surrounded by U.S. military personnel.

The Chinese spokesman said the plane, Flight 6501 from Shenyang to Shanghai, left Shenyang, about 350 miles northwest of Seoul in extreme northeast China, at 11:30 a.m. (10:30 p.m. EDT Wednesday) and was hijacked some time after that.

Swedes search for another sub

STOCKHOLM, Sweden (AP) — Navy helicopters dropped two depth charges today off the north coast after an intensive hunt by Sweden turned up fresh signs of a suspected Soviet mini-submarine, military officials said.

"We had new indications of a submarine and dropped the charges — that's all I can say at this stage," artillery Maj. Karl-Erik Lundstrom told the national news agency.

One of the depth charges was dropped northeast of the Alno Island in the Sundsvall archipelago, 250 miles north of Stockholm. The second depth charge was dropped south of the island where military observers believe a mother submarine may be lurking.

A naval vessel anchored a mile south of that area early this morning but Defense Ministry officials refused to say if divers had been sent down. No other action was reported from the area.

During the night, helicopters shined

"We had new indications of a submarine and dropped the charges — that's all I can say at this stage." — artillery Maj. Karl-Erik Lundstrom spotlights on the waters and two seabottom mines were detonated in an attempt to force the suspected sub to the surface.

"It may be that the submarine is not able to come up to the surface," navy spokesman Cmdr. Bertil Daggfeldt said late Wednesday, suggesting the submarine may be crippled at the bottom of Sundsvall Bay.

He said the search, which began a week ago when periscopes were sighted by civilians, would continue today. More submarines were believed to be still in the area, he said.

Local residents gathered in the darkness on the shores of the bay to observe the naval operation.

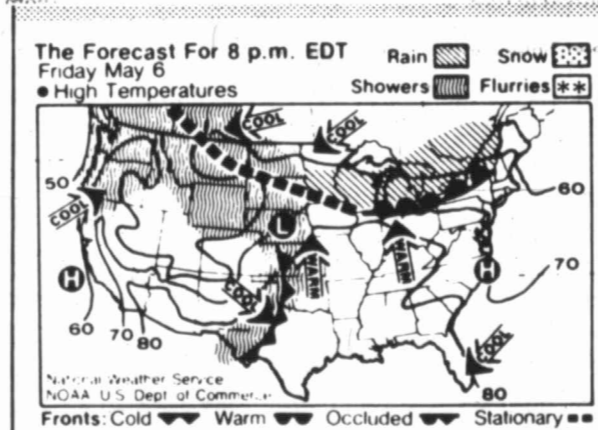

Search command leaders told a late night news conference that mine station operators detonated two seabottom mines at 8:20 p.m. in the bay to the northeast of Alno Island but that the submarine could have escaped.

"You cannot be completely sure until you get up the submarine," Daggfeldt said.

Hakan Nilsson, a Swedish television reporter who witnessed the explosions from his living room window on Alno, said "the whole building was shaking" and that he saw water shooting up into the air.

Nilsson said he may have seen an oil slick on the surface of the water, but the navy said nothing had been found so far by the helicopters combing the area.

Social Security system stronger

President Reagan's signing of the Social Security bill gives us renewed assurance in the financial viability of the nation's basic pension and health care system for present and future retirees.

Called a reform package by some and a bail-out by others, the measure provides an estimated $165 billion in additional funding through the 1980s. Beginning early next century, it gradually will raise the full-benefit retirement age — to 66 by 2009 and to 67 by 2027 — while retaining reduced-benefit options at 62 and Medicare eligibility at 65.

Enactment of the bill in late March was the most significant achievement of Congress in its current session. Consensus became possible through bipartisan compromise after two years of politicking and demagoguery that raised undue alarm and confusion about the soundness of the Social Security concept.

WHAT FINALLY WAS agreed to was a scattershot approach — spreading the pain so much that no one would be hurt too much. Current and future retirees will have to wait six months longer each year, beginning this year, to receive cost-of-living increases. Workers paying Social Security taxes will face accelerated increases in the tax rate beginning next year, as will employers and the self-employed. Some retirees, but none with annual incomes under $25,000, will have to pay income taxes on a portion of their benefits. Beginning next year, newly hired federal employees will be required to enroll in the system.

Some people say this will keep Social Security financially sound for the next 75 years. Don't count on it. The system must be monitored closely, with frequent public reports. Additional fine-tuning almost certainly will be required. But a fundamental adjustment has been made, based on the best forecasts available. There ought to be full confidence in the integrity of Social Security and its capacity to honor obligations now and in the future.

Around the Rim

Sunshine soldiers

How many of you out there like people who are dishonest with you? You know the type; the two-faced individuals who shake your hand one shake too many and flash a toothy smile, disguising their true feelings for you and/or what you represent. Met a few of those, have you?

So have I.
Right here in Big Spring. People who have influence and impact on this town.

I'm sorry to say that there are people in Big Spring who are being dishonest with their fellow citizenry. They're experts at pasting on magazine smiles, almost good enough to fool us. Unfortunately for them and fortunately for us, we're intelligent enough to see through their act.

ABOUT A YEAR ago, perhaps when the Big Spring High baseball team won the district championship, people reflected on the state of their lives in Big Spring. Hmmm, they scratched their collective chins. Economy...not bad. The Yankee recession was still several states away. Civic pride? Big Spring has the best baseball team in West Texas. Great.

The forecast was for sunny and clear. Conclusion: Big Spring wasn't such a bad place to be living in 1982.

Out of the new spirit came a pro-Big Spring campaign informally titled "We Believe in Big Spring." Stickers were stuck on bumpers. The slogan appeared on billboards and portable advertising trailers. People were excited about Big Spring.

Then came football season. Although a 4-6 record doesn't sound impressive to outsiders, the excitement provided by the cardiac Steers pumped the community's blood even faster.

HUMAN NATURE, however, cast its shadow over a good thing.

It seems that whenever something good comes along, there is always someone who can twist it to his advantage. Example: Big Spring, Texas. While most of the people are honestly excited about this town and its opportunities, there are some who are taking advantage of our positiveness to pad their wallets and futures.

Will I name names? No, but I will repeat the worn cliché: if the boot fits, wear it.

It's one thing to support, let's say, the youth of the community by patting them on the back, helping them get a part-time job, filling the seats when they perform in sports, drama, music. Not just at your convenience, mind you, but at their need.

I've come to know some people, however, who show up in these crowds, push their way to the front to let everyone know they're there and try to fake out the kids — or whomever — with their false enthusiasm. Fair weather friends, some call them.

Most of these people have access to cash and therefore can "benevolently" scatter it around town. Money talks and the more these fakes appear to be spending for the community, the more mileage they are getting themselves. It's all calculated...a dollar for this charity could mean three dollars for us...let's do it.

It's a cold-blooded way to make a living.

I HAVE BEEN irritated to the point of writing on this subject because of the upcoming Shriner's Pro-Am golf tournament. Three things should come out of this event: a) the Shriners should benefit; b) Big Spring should benefit; and c) the people involved should have fun.

Nothing else.
There are people working on the tournament who are honestly putting in the overtime and cash to help crippled children and the unfortunately burned. It's their way of being thankful for health and prosperity.

There are some people, however, who are advancing their own selves or businesses. To be frank, I am disgusted.

I am reminded of another tired cliché which hopefully won't pan out; surely these few bad apples won't spoil the work of a bunch of concerned people have put into this town.

You people know who you are. The rest of us have had it with your deception. You want to make an extra buck or extra point with your superiors...fine. Do it with self-sacrifice and not with manipulation of others.

At least save the dignity of the rest of us who really give a damn about Big Spring.

Hitler mania still going strong

Judging from the flurry of accusations and rebuttals flying back and forth this week, it may be years before scholars can decide whether or not the newly discovered "Hitler diaries" are genuine. In the meantime, we can ponder another question: Why are Americans so fascinated by Adolf Hitler?

The attention given the diaries is only the latest evidence of an old phenomenon that shows no signs of abating. It was no accident that two of the most popular television mini-series ever, ABC's "The Winds of War," and NBC's "Holocaust," dealt in different ways with Hitler and World War II.

Similar series could have been made about the origins of World War I or the Korean War, and about the mass murders of Stalin or Pol Pot. But they wouldn't rouse the same interest. The others made money because they capitalized on the perpetual Hitler mania.

Other evidence abounds. The publication "Books in Print" lists 109 different titles under the subject "Adolf Hitler," compared with only 42 for Churchill. "It is likely," writes one historian, "that more will be written about Adolf Hitler than about anyone else in history with the exception of Jesus Christ."

Why do Hitler books have such a large and loyal audience? World War II is four decades past, and the great majority of Americans has no memory of it. But the postwar generation is, if anything, more interested in Hitler than his predecessor. Other wars stir no comparable interest. Americans don't read about Kaiser Wilhelm, much less Ho Chi Minh.

Neutron bombs may turn up in Korea

WASHINGTON — William Ruckelshaus is widely considered the white knight who will clean up the mess at the Environmental Protection Agency. His reputation rests largely on the independence he showed as deputy attorney general by refusing to fire Watergate prosecutor Archibald Cox in the "Saturday night massacre" of October 1973.

But there's a problem with Ruckelshaus — namely, the eight years he has spent as a senior vice president of Weyerhaeuser, "the tree-growing company." For the sad fact is that Weyerhaeuser is one of the nation's major users of poisonous chemicals that the EPA regulates.

Ruckelshaus has promised that he will not take part in any agency decisions involving his former employer. That's fine and dandy. But he has yet to say that he will have nothing to do with EPA decisions on the poisonous chemicals his former employer has been spraying on its vast timberlands throughout the West.

Two of these chemicals — 2,4,5-T and 2,4-D — were the ingredients of Agent Orange, the deadly defoliant used in Vietnam that is suspected of causing cancer and other ailments

World War II. But this nostalgia has its dangers too.

One is that the Hitler mania cheapens the crimes of other governments. Next to the Nazi extermination of 6 million Jews, the sins of the modern world's more barbarous regimes, like Khomeini's or Andropov's, look mild. Even the reputation of Stalin, who by any measure killed more people than Hitler, benefits from his contribution to destroying the Third Reich.

Another is that it encourages us to think of the world as simpler than it is. Conservatives, for instance, tend to regard the Cold War as morally no different from World War II, equating any refusal to engage the enemy as Chamberlainesque appeasement. Liberals tend to see American alliances with right-wing dictators as the morals equivalent of collaboration with the Nazis.

THE PHENOMENON can hardly be a healthy one. Like other totalitarians, the Nazis usefully dramatize the logical conclusion of the 20th-century cult of the state, the implications of repudiating liberal individualism. But there is no shortage of contemporary examples, which are usually ignored. The fascination with Hitler reflects political immaturity, a preference for the simple myths of the past over the vexing realities of the present.

As the Apostle Paul said of childish things, there comes a time to put away the past. If ignorance of history has its dangers, so does a morbid obsession with it. Thirty-eight years after Hitler's death, it is past time we transcended him.

Billy Graham

Don't pursue mind control

DEAR DR. GRAHAM: I recently got something in the mail advertising a correspondence course teaching you how to master your mind. It stresses things like meditation, hypnosis, being able to control spiritual forces, astrology, etc. I am very interested, but do you think these things are legitimate and right? — D.A.

DEAR D.A.: I sincerely hope you will not pursue this. I do not know the details of this course, but at least some of the things you mention could very easily get you involved in occult practices that are not only wrong but ultimately very harmful. The Bible repeatedly warns us against getting involved in occult practices (even when they seem harmless or entertaining on the surface) because they can be involved in evil or demonic spiritual forces.

I am curious, however, why this has apparently attracted you. There may be various reasons for your interest. For example, you may be fearful of the future and hope somehow that you can control it or at least prepare for it. Or you may like the idea of having powers that other people do not have. Or perhaps there are things in your life that you feel unable to change and you hope somehow a program like this can help you get on top of your problems.

Whatever the reasons, my prayer for you is that you would realize your deepest need is to turn to God and allow him to come into your life. You do not need to turn to some type of mystical forces or astrology — and in fact they could never meet your true spiritual needs. What are your deepest needs? You need forgiveness. You need guidance. You need meaning and purpose in life. You need to know that you are going to Heaven when you die.

That is why I urge you to turn to Jesus Christ in faith and trust. God loves you. He created you for a purpose, and there is no greater joy in life than discovering God's purposes and fulfilling them. By a simple prayer of faith you can invite Jesus Christ into your heart. And then turn to him and his Word, the Bible, every day to find the principles that should guide your life. You can have a personal relationship with God — and that starts when we yield ourselves to Christ as our Lord and Savior.

department, which had used the defoliant on roadside weeds.

In September 1980, a Weyerhaeuser chemist and a company community relations official met with Ashford families who were concerned about the rash of miscarriages. It was apparently an incredible session.

Molly Brewer of the Succotash Alliance, a citizens group, told my associate John Dillon that the Weyerhaeuser chemist said at one point that "babies are replaceable." The chemist also reportedly added that if the women of Ashford were really worried about miscarriages, they should plan their pregnancies around the company's spraying schedule.

Footnote: Ruckelshaus would not comment. A Weyerhaeuser spokesman denied that the company's spraying had anything to do with the Ashford miscarriages, and said the company chemist's remark was merely an attempt to explain that if women were really nervous about the spraying, there was "plenty of time to plan a pregnancy" around the spraying schedule.

Falcon makes Senate committee appearance

AUSTIN (AP) — A falcon who can fly as fast as 275 mph perched almost motionless on a woman's gloved hand as a symbol of wildlife that would benefit from a bill in the Legislature.

Members of the Senate Natural Resources Committee questioned Jane Lyons about the rare peregrine falcon Wednesday and seemed amazed when she told of its speed in the air.

Ms. Lyons brought the wounded falcon, which is an endangered species, to the hearing in support of a bill that would create a special fund to protect non-game wildlife in Texas.

The Parks and Wildlife Department would raise money for the fund by selling stamps, decals and art prints of non-game wildlife.

Ms. Lyons said she got the falcon from a Temple-area veterinarian who was caring for it. She said the falcon had broken a wing, probably by colliding with a barbed wire fence.

The committee approved the bill 8-0 and virtually assured its passage by placing it on the local and uncontested calendar.

Hippie-stopping sheriff indicted

COLDSRING, Texas (AP) — A former San Jacinto County sheriff has been accused of using beatings and water torture to gain a confession from a prisoner and of misusing department funds.

J.C. "Humpty" Parker, who resigned March 18 from the post he had held since 1969, and three former deputies were charged in a five-count indictment returned Wednesday by a San Jacinto County grand jury.

Earlier this year, Parker had been accused of operating a "marijuana trap" along a heavily traveled highway and pleaded guilty to federal extortion and civil rights charges. But he withdrew the plea and the charges were dismissed after a federal judge rejected the terms of a plea bargain.

Wednesday's indictment accused Parker and former deputies Floyd Baker, Carl Lee and Aaron Edwards with hitting a theft suspect in the face with a slapjack and then using water torture to get incriminating statements from the suspect, said District Attorney Joe Price.

Grand jurors also accused Parker of keeping $2,100 appropriated for reserve deputy uniforms, $500 in bond money from a man charged with assault and $325 intended as restitution to a savings and loan association in a forgery case.

Parker resigned after entering a guilty plea in an agreement later withdrawn. The three deputies were among 27 department employees fired by the new sheriff, Robert Brumley.

Under terms of the plea bargain rejected by U.S. District Judge Gabrielle McDonald, Parker pleaded guilty to two counts of civil rights violations and a single count of extortion.

Federal prosecutors, in turn, recommended he serve three-years in a minimum-security prison for the civil rights charges and five years' probation for extortion.

The judge called the agreement "most inappropriate" because it was too lenient.

Federal prosecutors then dismissed the charges and a federal grand jury has resumed its investigation of the case.

Prosecutors had accused Parker of operating a "marijuana trap" along U.S. Highway 59 and subjecting jail inmates to water torture to gain confessions and testimony.

The former sheriff also was accused of ordering deputies to stop "hippies," blacks and people whose cars bore bumper stickers advertising a Houston rock radio station.

Comet to visit

Earth next week

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — An infrared telescope launched in January to search for undiscovered astronomical bodies has spotted a comet that will pass near Earth early next week, scientists say.

The discovery marks the first time a comet has been found by an instrument that measures temperatures, rather than visible light, Jet Propulsion Laboratory spokesman Allen Wood said Wednesday.

It also is the first time a comet has been seen at far-infrared wave lengths, where very cold objects emit most of their radiation.

JPL officials discovered the new comet in data relayed to Earth on April 25, at the same time two amateur astronomers sighted the distant object, Wood said.

The comet was named IRAS-Araki-Alcock after its discoverers — Genichi Araki of Japan and G.E.D. Alcock of England.

The comet, which will pass about 3.1 million miles from Earth on May 10, will not be visible to the naked eye unless the sky is very dark, Wood said. It will move the equivalent of four times the Moon's apparent diameter each hour, he said.

Astronomers believe comets have a nucleus made up of frozen gases and water mixed with dust particles, sometimes compared to a dirty snowball. As comets approach the sun, heat causes the outer layers of the nucleus to evaporate, sending out a trail of dust and gases that make up the visible "tail."

Comets have been observed since ancient times. The best-known of all comets was named for Edmund Halley and has been observed every 75 to 76 years.

Dr. Donohue

Stress test

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: I have just had a "stress test" (treadmill) and it showed abnormal. My doctor thinks I have angina because I occasionally get pain in my jaws, nowhere else. I've tried to find out what is meant by "abnormal," but have had no success. Can you help? — J.H.A.

Angina is pain that happens when the heart muscle isn't getting enough blood. The arteries serving the heart are blocked with fatty deposits. We routinely think of it as being chest pain, but that's not always so. True, the pain is most often felt in the chest area, but it may be felt in the neck or the jaws.

To your question about use of the term, abnormal: I know that you understand what that term means — not normal. You are really asking me what it means in your case. An abnormal stress test (an ECG done while the person exercises) generally means that at some point in the exertion your heart showed evidence of not getting sufficient blood. That's proof that the pain is angina.

But there are always exceptions. A test can be falsely abnormal. The ECG irregularities may not be due to poor blood supply to the heart, but to some harmless quirk of the heart itself. So there are other ways to clinch the diagnosis of angina pectoris. A most important guide is whether or not you had pain. If that occurred and the ECG was abnormal, you have pretty strong evidence of poor heart circulation.

If doubt still existed other tests could be run — a heart scan during exercise, or catheterization to tell if arteries are clogged. Dye is injected through a tube in your arteries and X-rays taken. Usually, diagnosis of angina does not require much more than you had.

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: Do you know of any diet that will slow up the progress of cataract formation? — W.W.

No I don't. I am sending along a booklet, "Cataracts and Glaucoma," which will also dispel some of the other misinformation you are getting along this line. Other readers may order a copy by writing me care of the Big Spring Herald, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope and 50 cents.

DEAR DOCTOR DONOHUE: I am writing to you not to get an answer but to tell you what I think of a few things. I am 82 years old and feel I have a right to. They are talking too much about cancer these days. I think by talking so much about it, it just scares people, and they get it from just being scared. I used to work in a hospital when I was younger and heard something about this at the time, that people who get cancer were those that were most afraid of getting it.

They are also talking too much about heart trouble. I never did smoke or drink more than one or two highballs. I rode on one of the last stage coaches in Montana, where I grew up, and as I look back on the old West it seemed more civilized than what we have today. — D.W.

I'll have to reserve judgment on some of your views, but I agree that you have every right to state them. I think they are talking too much about herpes.

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: I am taking propranolol for migraine. Does this cause weight gain? I want to stop the medicine. Can I safely do so? — M.P.

Insomnia, fatigue, constipation and lightheadedness are the most common side effects from propranolol (Inderal). Weight gain might be one, too. Anyone can react to a drug in a way unique to him or to only a very few. I suppose you could ask your doctor if it's all right to stop and then see what happens to your weight. Why don't you talk this over with your doctor. I should note here that patients who are using propranolol for angina treatment have to cut down slowly or their angina may get worse.

Dear Abby

Manners and discipline

DEAR ABBY: Henry (not his real name) and I have a fairly good marriage (14 years), but we don't see eye to eye when it comes to disciplining our only child, Dougie, who is 8.

Example: At dinner last night Dougie started talking with his mouth full, so I corrected him. Then he belched (loudly), so I said, "You're supposed to say, 'Excuse me.'"

He ignored me. Then he turned to his father and asked, "Do I have to Dad?" Henry replied, "No, you don't. You can eat any way you please at home as long as you remember your manners when you're eating in a restaurant or in someone else's home." Then Henry said to me, "I wish you'd lay off the kid. You're always picking on him for something."

I don't like to quarrel in front of our son, but I wish you'd comment on this in your column, and I'll serve it to my husband for breakfast.

SILENT BUT SEETHING

DEAR SILENT: It's possible to disagree with your husband without being disagreeable. It would have been appropriate to tell him that good manners should be practiced at home in order to be remembered elsewhere.

But there's something else going on in your "fairly good marriage" that's at least as important as manners. Your son is using the "divide and conquer" technique.

Don't let him get away with it. You and Henry could profit by a short course in parenting.

DEAR ABBY: My name is Sibyl and my friend's name is Myra. We've been friends for a long time, are both unmarried and in our late 20s. We both enjoy the company of men, but neither of us has anybody special right now.

This bugs me. Myra and I will make a date to have dinner and take in a movie one evening, and about 5 o'clock Myra calls me to tell me "some man" just called and invited her out, so she won't be able to keep her date with me.

I pretend I don't care and tell her to go ahead and have a good time. Meanwhile, I'm left high and dry.

Am I wrong to feel hurt? And how should I handle it if it happens again?

SIBYL: DEAR SIBYL: You are not "wrong" to feel hurt, but you are wrong to pretend you don't care when you do.

Don't wait until it happens again. Tell Myra now that when you and she make a date, it is not subject to cancellation should a more appealing invitation (from a man) come along.

DEAR ABBY: A very interesting point was raised in the letter signed "Virgo on the Cape." (Virgo wanted to keep her ex-mother-in-law's family silver that had been given to her and her husband when they were married.)

Since it had been in her husband's family for several generations, I hope she had the decency to return it.

I have some lovely silver, linen and antiques that I would like to give to my only child — a son — but I can't figure out how to prevent their being "lost" in case of a divorce. If they left the family, I'd be heartbroken. Any suggestion?

REALISTIC MOMMA

DEAR REALISTIC: As indelicate as it may seem, make it clear that these heirlooms are to remain in your son's family — and get it in writing. If you assume that your son's marriage will end in divorce, you have a 50 percent change of being right.

You're never too old (or too young) to learn how to make friends and be popular. For Abby's booklet on Popularity, send $1 plus a long, self-addressed, stamped (37 cents) envelope to Abby, Popularity, P.O. Box 38923, Hollywood, Calif. 90038.

Family discussion of wills, estate planning important

Estate planning was the topic of Mrs. Joy Boyd's program to the Big Spring Credit Women International at a recent meeting.

Mrs. Boyd said it is very important for people to have wills. Taxes will be saved and it will insure that one's belongings will be transferred as desired.

Mrs. Boyd said husbands and wives should talk over what they have and how the survivor will manage. An uninformed wife is an uninformed widow. A lock box or safety deposit box should be rented and important papers kept there.

A list of all the papers should be kept in a safe place and given to children.

RAINBARREL GENERAL STORE — Rainbarrel General Store recently moved a few doors down in the College Park Shopping Center to adjoin the Gold Mine. The Rainbarrel has expanded its line of merchandise

Rainbarrel has new location

The Rainbarrel General Store (formerly the Rainbarrel) recently opened next door to the Gold Mine in College Park Shopping Center. Open Monday through Saturday from 10 a.m. to 5:30 p.m., the store offers a diversified line of merchandise.

Owner Steve Lewis said the business has crafts specializing in needle work and cross stitch. The store stocks pattern books and the popular DMC thread for stitchery works. In the hobby line, Rainbarrel has model trains, cars and rockets with accessories. Other merchandise includes miscellaneous gifts, candy, fresh-ground gourmet coffee, kitchen conveniences, stained glass, wind chimes, gag gifts and gift wrapping. Rainbarrel adjoins the Gold Mine which is also owned by Lewis.

Survey shows business optimism up

NEW YORK (AP) — A new survey says business executives are more optimistic about the prospects for profit in the current business quarter than earlier this year. Dun & Bradstreet, the business information and commercial credit reporting unit of Dun & Bradstreet Corp., said Tuesday its index of profit optimism jumped 17 points in the February survey, to 46. It was the highest level since the third quarter of 1981. Dun & Bradstreet said it surveyed 1,500 executives in retailing, wholesaling and manufacturing about their outlook for business conditions in the April-June quarter. Dun & Bradstreet's index of sales optimism rose 18 points to 55, its highest level since the fourth quarter of 1981. Manufacturers of durable goods showed the biggest gain in optimism from the first quarter, but they remained less optimistic than other groups. Manufacturers of non-durable goods were the most optimistic. Durable goods generally are defined as goods expected to last at least three years, such as major appliances. The survey also said the executives were increasingly optimistic about the outlook for new orders, hiring and inflation.

Vitamin derivative may be effective leukemia fighter

ATLANTA (AP) — Emory University researchers say retinoic acid, a derivative of Vitamin A, has been found to slow down, and in some cases halt, the growth of some leukemia cells in children.

Dr. Abdel Ragab, professor of pediatrics and head of the childhood hematology-oncology program at Emory, and Harry Findley, senior research associate in the Department of Pediatrics, said their findings may be an effective therapy for children with acute myelogenous leukemia.

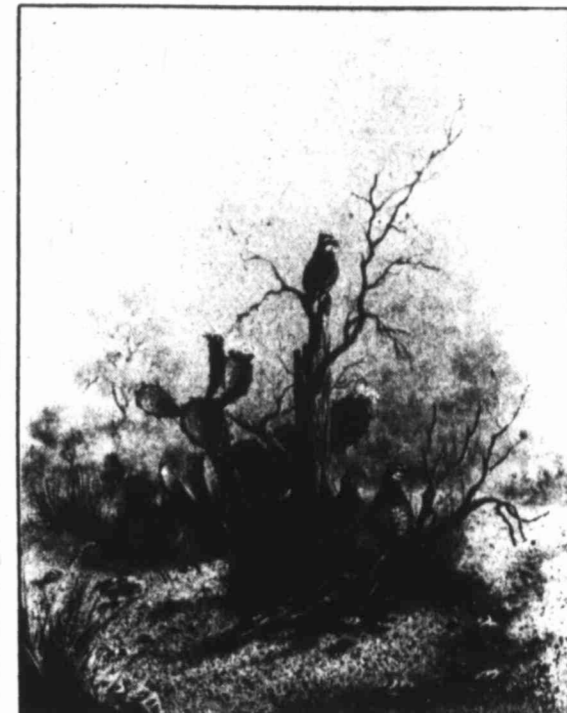

Results of the study were presented Tuesday at the Society for Pediatric Research which was meeting in Washington, D.C.

Researchers found that retinoic acid, unlike many anti-leukemia drugs, is not harmful to normal bone marrow cells.

In some instances it appears to increase slightly the number of normal cells, which would provide leukemia patients with more white cells able to function in fighting infection, the most common cause of death in children with leukemia.

The Emory pediatrics team said it hopes to begin treating young leukemia patients with oral doses of purified retinoic acid within two years. Their study involved adding varying dosages of retinoic acid to tissue cultures of bone marrow cells obtained from leukemia patients.

TOUGH LADY — Sgt. Kathey Atchley from Alabama is shown in Ft. Dix, N.J. She is Ft. Dix's "Drill Sergeant of the Year," and was one of the finalists in a national competition for barking out orders to the troops.

The sergeant's no soft touch

FORT DIX, N.J. (AP) — Although new soldiers sometimes tower over Kathey Atchley, the 5-foot-3 drill sergeant — named one of the best in the nation — says she has little trouble commanding her mostly male recruits.

"She just does everything better than they do. Most men are motivated when they see me doing the exact same things they have to do. There is nothing more intimidating than having a female drill sergeant out there running circles around you," said the seven-year Army veteran.

"We've had female drill sergeants here since 1978, and it's been a long hard road to prove ourselves," said Ms. Atchley, a staff sergeant who finished third in last week's national competition at Fort Monroe in Virginia and was named Fort Dix's drill sergeant of the year.

Ms. Atchley, who served in West Germany before coming to New Jersey, made the nationals after receiving high grades for her ability to mold young recruits into disciplined soldiers during basic training.

"It's sort of like taking children and raising them up in eight weeks," said Ms. Atchley, who is single. "You have to be very tough and still have the flexibility to be not so tough depending on the individual cases."

The 31-year-old from New Hope, Ala., said Wednesday she gave little thought to being selected post drill sergeant for 1983, an honor that had always gone to a man. And she didn't dream of finishing well in the national competition.

"I had sort of been told it was impossible and I started to believe it. I didn't expect to win at the post level," said Ms. Atchley, who was one of two women among the nine finalists. The other woman, Sgt. Galen Grant of Fort Jackson in South Carolina, was not among the top three finishers.

Reagan in San Antonio

SAN ANTONIO, Texas (AP) — President Reagan planned a two-hour visit to San Antonio today to join in a Cinco de Mayo celebration, but local Democrats said the visit was nothing but pure politics.

The president was to land at Kelly Air Force Base about 1:30 p.m. and head for La Villita along San Antonio's Riverwalk to make brief remarks and meet with Mayor Henry Cisneros and city council members.

Councilman Bernard Euseste, a Democrat, said Wednesday that he would not be among those closeted with Reagan after the president's speech.

Euseste said he would be out pounding the sidewalks with other protesters — and threatened to carry a "Mondale in '84" placard.

"If he's going to the start with the politics, we might as well start the campaign in 1983, too," Euseste said.

Also invited to meet privately with the president were key Hispanic Republicans.

Cinco de Mayo, translated May 5, is a national holiday in Mexico that celebrates the Battle of Puebla, which the outnumbered Mexican army won over invading French forces in 1862.

Bill Siebert, head of the Republican Party of Bexar County, said the protest of Euseste and others will simply be "out of place."

He said a partial aim of the president's trip is to get his message over to Hispanics, who make up about 57 percent of San Antonio's population.

But local AFL-CIO leader Jaime Martinez said Reagan's Cinco de Mayo visit was "an insult" and invited "victims of Reaganomics" to join his picketing of the president's visit.

Martinez told The San Antonio Light that Reagan's immigration policies have kept the border with Mexico closed and the Canadian border open.

Thursday Notes

No. No. No. No. It is not true that the Dallas Cowboys have traded Danny White, Tony Dorsett, Randy White, Everson Walls and Harvey Martin to the Denver Broncos for John Elway. Nor is it true that Tom Landry has bought a summer home southwest of Boulder in hopes of getting the Stanford all-American into Texas Stadium.

The Cowboys might be thinking about unloading a couple of players but I'm sure if they do, it'll make the national sports wires. I have a sneaking suspicion it would even make the front sports page of the Herald. So, no more calls about Elway. Yes, Tom Landry and I party together in Big D every weekend, by I get no more scoops on Cowboys than Vern Lundquist or Brad Shamm.

Besides, who wants Elway? Let that prima-donna try to throwing touchdowns in Mile High Stadium blizzards.

DAVE MANLEY
...Air Force pitcher

David Manley, a 1979 graduate of Big Spring High, is earning another varsity letter with the Air Force Academy baseball team.

The AF senior is pitching for the Falcons who compete with the big boys in the Western Athletic Conference (BYU, UTEP, Wyoming, etc.).

His parents — Mr. and Mrs. Don Manley — live in Lufkin now.

Bobby Fishback. Now here's a guy who could be a celebrity at the Shriner's Pro-Am Golf Tournament.

Fishback recently played his first round of golf. Nice going, Bobby. But that's not the whole story. On the No. 13 hole at Comanche Trails, using a 4-iron on the 165-yard hole, he rammed his first shot into the cup. A hole-in-one.

A veteran of 12 holes of golf, and he gets an ace. Guys play golf for 60 years and never get close.

Witnessing the event were Jan East, George White and Mike Poyner, leaving me with the impression that no one in Forsan was working that afternoon.

Way to go, Bobby. Whenever you start giving lessons, give me a call.

Speaking of golf, entries in the Shriner's Pro-Am have picked up considerably this week.

That-a-way to go, Big Spring. And that's the spirit, John Price.

You may know John better as Big John of Big John's Feedlot. Big John said today that just getting out and playing with people from Big Spring and around the area is reason enough for him to enter the tournament. Sure he's glad to see the celebrities come in but he wants to meet his own neighbors.

Since the celebrities are coming in play free and help out the Shriner's, Big John has offered them free dinner tickets at the Feedlot.

Now, those are the type of people we're looking for.

By the way, I'm playing in the Pro-Am. Yesterday I finally got Country Club pro Gary Hammer to sign a release saying I will not be responsible for damage to the golf course May 18-20. I'm sure my golfing prowess will make a big impression with Derrick Dolls.

From time to time, former Herald editor Joe Pickle stops by with fishing news. This week's report says that John Leech and John Ramsey of Big Spring caught 47 white bass, weighing up to 21 1/2 pounds, at the Wildcat Fish-a-Rama at Lake E.V. Spence.

Since I'm not a fishing expert — fried catfish is as far as I go — I guess that's pretty good, John and John.

Wondering about where some of the senior Big Spring High Steers are going to school next fall?

George Bancroft, District 4-5A's MVP, is going to North Texas and says he hopes to play football "if there's nothing else to do." He'll be working out this summer in hopes of making the Mean Green.

Linebacker buddy Danny Stephen is going to Tarleton State. He's not sure whether he'll play in cleats or boots but is looking forward to a stint with the Texans. — GREG JAKLEWICZ

Spurs rout Denver, 145-105

GILMORE MAKES HIS FAKE — San Antonio center Artis Gilmore (53) fakes out Dan Issel (44) of the Denver Nuggets on his way to the basket. Gilmore scored 17 points to help the Spurs rumble by the Nuggets 145-105 and win their best-of-seven series, four games to one. The Spurs now meet the defending NBA champion Los Angeles Lakers.

SAN ANTONIO, Texas (AP) — The crowd started yelling it during the Spurs National Basketball Association playoff semifinal clincher with Denver and even San Antonio guard George Gervin, known as "Ice" for his cool demeanor, admitted he was thinking it.

"We want LA," the fans said. "We want LA." The Spurs got Los Angeles — by blowing out the Nuggets 145-105 Wednesday night to clinch their best-of-seven Western Conference semifinal series 4-1.

"I knew we had this game won after three quarters," said Gervin, who was the game's high scorer with 26 points.

San Antonio meets the Lakers in another best-of-seven series that begins Sunday in Los Angeles. The winner goes on to the NBA championship series.

"We feel very confident we can play with the Lakers," Spurs Coach Stan Albeck said. "Even in Los Angeles."

Johnny Moore, who scored 20 points Wednesday and wound up with an NBA playoff series record 71 assists, said the Spurs won by helping each other out.

"They had to score their points on the Spurs, not just individuals," Moore said. "It was a team effort."

NBA Playoffs

That team effort added up to four playoff records for an NBA playoff five-game series — 181 total assists, 274 field goals made, 51.6 field goal percentage and 664 total points scored.

San Antonio set another playoff record, this one for a single game, with 51 assists Wednesday night.

Five other Spurs were in double figures besides Gervin and Moore and San Antonio outrebounded Denver 75-46.

"There was nothing we could do," Denver Coach Doug Moe said. "We really didn't want to get blown out as badly as we did."

"We got things going in the first quarter, but it wasn't enough," said Denver forward Kiki Vandeweghe, the league's No. 2 scorer in the regular season, who finished with only 13 points. "Once you start missing, it's contagious."

The Nuggets' only lead, 12-11, came early in the first quarter.

But San Antonio steadily pulled ahead and had Denver led 35-21 after the first period on nine straight points, including a three-pointer from Mike Dunleavy.

San Antonio scored 12 consecutive points in a two-minute stretch in the second quarter to build the margin to 67-38 with 3:12 left in the period. It was 72-46 at halftime.

San Antonio continued to dominate the Nuggets in the third quarter, leading 112-75 going into the final period.

Albeck emptied the bench in the last quarter — and his team still ended up hitting 54 percent of its field goals in the game, compared to 38 percent for the Nuggets.

Gene Banks scored 23 points for San Antonio, Edgar Jones 14, Mike Sanders 10 and Roger Phegley 12, including two three-pointers. Artis Gilmore had 17 points, 15 rebounds and blocked five shots.

Billy McKinney led the Nuggets with 20 points, while Alex English and Rob Williams added 18 apiece.

Texans await Kentucky Derby

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Late Saturday afternoon the town of Marfa, Texas, will switch its attention from doggies and cow ponies to a 3-year-old thoroughbred racehorse named Marfa.

At 5:38 p.m., EDT, Marfa, the colt, will race in the Kentucky Derby.

"Yes, there's definitely interest in the horse," said Bobby Martinez, 36, the $1-a-year mayor of the West Texas ranch town from which the colt gets his name.

"It's created a lot of national publicity," he said during a telephone interview Wednesday from Marfa, where he owns a food store. "Because of it, a lot of people are coming in for the celebration and we're full," he said, referring to the packed local motels and hotel.

The town and its 2,500 residents will begin a centennial celebration Friday. On Saturday, the big event will be a rodeo for ranch hands, but the competition will be halted so folks can watch the Derby on television.

"They're going to set up TV screens," said Shelley Gilbert-Allison, a staffer at the weekly Big Bend Sentinel newspaper. "Interest is very high. We've gotten calls from everywhere...from Los Angeles, Cincinnati, Lexington."

A crowd in the neighborhood of 125,000 is expected at Churchill Downs Saturday to watch Marfa run in the Derby.

The colt was named by two of his three owners, Bob French, who owns a large ranch near Marfa, and Barry Beal, a Midland oilman. They also have named other horses after Texas towns.

Terlingua, a daughter of Secretariat who won important 2-year-old filly stakes in 1978, was named for a town about 100 miles southeast of Marfa, which is the site of an annual national chili contest.

Ft. Davis, another 3-year-old colt, trained by Wayne Lukas, who trains and also co-owns Marfa, is named for a town about 25 miles from Marfa.

Marfa's interest in Marfa began "about the Christmas holidays when a local fellow saw him race in California," said Martinez. Marfa finished second in a six-furlong maiden race at Santa Anita Jan. 1.

Marfa really began following Marfa when the gray colt won the Jim Beam Spiral Stakes at Latonia and the Santa Anita Derby April 16.

In his last start, the Blue Grass Stakes April 28 at Keeneland, Marfa interfered with two horses and was disqualified from second to fourth.

Should Marfa win the Derby, there is one drawback. The Big Bend Sentinel won't be able to run a story about it until it comes out next Thursday.

Mike Schmidt and Bo Diaz accounted for seven runs between them for the second straight game to lead the Philadelphia Phillies to a 9-4 victory over the Cincinnati Reds Wednesday night.

Padres 10, Cardinals 0

Mario Ramirez backed Eric Show's fine performance by driving in four runs with a single and bases-loaded double.

Dodgers 3, Pirates 2

Pedro Guerrero blasted his seventh home run of the season in the bottom of the ninth inning, leading Los Angeles over Pittsburgh.

LaCoss survives Mets, 4-3

NEW YORK (AP) — Houston's Mike LaCoss hadn't completed a game in almost two years, and after eight innings of six-hit pitching against the Mets, he didn't want to blow it.

When George Foster and Ron Hodges smacked consecutive singles leading off New York's half of the ninth, LaCoss put his head down, smacked his glove against his leg, walked toward the third base line, and looked toward Astros Manager Bob Lillis in the dugout.

Lillis left LaCoss in, and the 26-year-old pitcher got the last three batters in order, including a sacrifice fly by Rusty Staub. LaCoss finished with a six-hitter Wednesday night as the Astros edged the Mets 4-3.

The victory made LaCoss 1-2, and it was his first complete game since May 16, 1981, when he shut out the Pittsburgh Pirates 4-0, while with the Cincinnati Reds.

Dedicated Hal Sutton hot for Houston

WOODLANDS, Texas (AP) — Hal Sutton reached a point in 1981 where he had to make a decision about tagging along after his father, learning about the oil business.

Now Howard Sutton occasionally follows his son around the golf course watching Sutton become the No. 2 money-winner on the PGA tour going into today's first round of the $400,000 Houston Coca Cola Open golf tournament at Woodlands Country Club.

Sutton, with $471,397 in career earnings in less than two years on the tour, clearly made the right decision.

"I was more or less goofing off and working a little for my Dad," Sutton said. "At the same time I was not really going anywhere in life and I finally decided that I had devoted a lot of my life to golf to that point and there was no need in throwing that away."

Sutton won the U.S. Amateur Championship in 1980 after a college career at Centenary College and thought of remaining an amateur and following in his father's footsteps.

"I followed him around trying to learn some of the decision processes that he went through and made," Sutton said. "Well, I guess I enjoyed it but at the same time I missed golf and golf is what my life is all about."

Houston Open

Sutton had a memorable rookie season in 1982, capped with his first tour victory in the Walt Disney Classic.

Sutton has six top 10 finishes and a victory in the Tournament Player's Championship this year and is one of the favorites here along with defending champion Ed Sneed, Hale Irwin, Tom Kite and Gil Morgan.

There is no mystery to Sutton as to why his career has sky-rocketed.

"The biggest reason I started clicking was I just devoted my life to golf," Sutton said. "I do other things but everything is predicated by golf."

"I make all the decisions about what I'm going to do with my life around my golf game."

"I don't practice any more than the average pro but when I'm on the course my concentration is there."

The arrangement has made Sutton happier, his financial statement healthier and pleasant family visits.

"My dad has his identity and I have my identity," Sutton said. "He chose his in the oil business and I chose mine in golf. We can sit around at home and talk about each other's business just like friends that have our own businesses."

Leal stifles Texas, 7-1

TORONTO (AP) — Of all the people who witnessed Luis Leal's shutout bid, the least impressed sat in the Texas dugout.

Leal, who struggled through April with an 0-3 record and a 6.38 earned run average, came within one out of posting his first major-league shutout Wednesday night. He lost it in the bottom of the ninth inning when Larry Parrish doubled and Dave Hostetler singled him home.

The two hits were only the fourth and fifth off Leal, who pitched the Toronto Blue Jays to a 7-1 victory.

American League

Leal had to beat a tough opposing pitcher in Rick Honeycutt — the league's pitcher of the month for April with a 3-1 record and league-leading 0.72 ERA.

Honeycutt wasn't at his sharpest. He gave up six runs, five of them earned, on 10 hits in 6-3 innings.

"He just wasn't as sharp tonight," said Sundberg. "His breaking ball wasn't as effective as in his other starts."

Angels 16, Orioles 8

Doug DeCinces didn't have his own number — but he sure had Baltimore's. And so did the rest of the California Angels.

They battered the Birds 16-8 Wednesday night, two of the big shots homers by ex-Oriole DeCinces, wearing a numberless, nameless uniform for the second night in a row. "My jerseys were either stolen or weren't packed," he said. "It doesn't make any difference."

It also didn't make any difference who was pitching for the Orioles or batting against them. The Angels pounded out 18 hits against Scott McGregor and three relievers. Rod Carew had four of them to raise his batting average to .489. Juan Beniquez also had four hits and Tim Foli three. Carew, Bob Boone, Brian Downing and Bobby Clark each drove in two runs.

Red Sox 7, A's 1

Southpaw Bruce Hurst, who underwent surgery on his left elbow last winter and had to battle his way back onto Boston's pitching staff, stymied Oakland with a five-hitter, the first complete game for the Red Sox this season and his first in 36 starts since he first joined the team in 1980.

Indians 11, Twins 7

Mike Fischlin drove in three runs for Cleveland and Chris Bando hit a tie-breaking grounder to spark a four-run ninth inning that beat the Twins. Fischlin had a sacrifice fly and two RBI-singles and Pat Tabler added a two-run homer for the Indians.

White Sox 3, Brewers 2

Rookie Lorenzo Gray's first two major-league RBI capped Chicago's three-run burst in the second inning that sent winless Bob McClure down to his fifth loss of the season.

Tom Paciorek doubled, Carlton Fisk singled and Rusty Kuntz singled for the first run by the White Sox. An infield hit by Mike Squires loaded the bases before Gray singled up the square.

Mariners 5, Tigers 1

Todd Cruz' two-run homer and Pat Putnam's solo shot boosted the Mariners past Detroit, which got a solo homer from Alan Trammell.

Jim Beattie scattered six hits in seven innings and Roy Thomas earned his first major-league save. Both of Seattle's homers came off Jack Morris, who has given up eight in 471-3 innings.

Yankees 8, Royals 1

Dave Winfield and Don Baylor slugged solo homers. Shane Rawley scattered nine hits and Kansas City catcher Don Slaught gave the Yanks three runs with a wild throw.

Winfield singled, Baylor was hit by a pitch and Steve Kemp walked to load the bases in the eighth inning, then Lou Piniella grounded to third baseman Greg Pryor. His throw home forced Winfield, but Slaught, trying for the double play, threw wildly past first and three runners sprinted home.

Your Daily HOROSCOPE

from the CARROLL RIGTER INSTITUTE

FORECAST FOR FRIDAY, MAY 6, 1983

GENERAL TENDENCIES: You need to be careful that you are not too fixed and determined in your viewpoints today and tonight or you could encounter more trouble than you had hoped for.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19): Don't be forceful with others who disagree with your views. Come to a better accord with co-workers. Be wise.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20): Listening to suggestions of associates is wise now and be sure to cooperate more with them. Try to be helpful to others.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21): Schedule your work activities wisely and then carry through with them in a positive manner. Don't waste time.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21): You may want to have a good time now, but it's to your best interest to save money now instead of spending it.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21): You have to be diplomatic at home today to avoid trouble. Study a new project well since it is bound to have some flaws.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22): Be tactful with others so that they don't take their ire out on you. Avoid a tendency to splurge when you can't afford it.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22): You have to be careful in the handling of investments and other financial matters to avoid trouble at this time.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21): Be more thoughtful of others in going after your aims and avoid unpleasantness. Take steps to improve your health.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21): Keep personal worries to yourself since others have their own problems to think about. Think constructively.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20): Take advantage of an opportunity coming your way that could give you added income. Strive for happiness.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19): Study new activities that interest you early in the day but don't make decisions until the evening.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20): Put off until tomorrow an activity that is concerned with improving your welfare. Take positive steps to gain your goals.

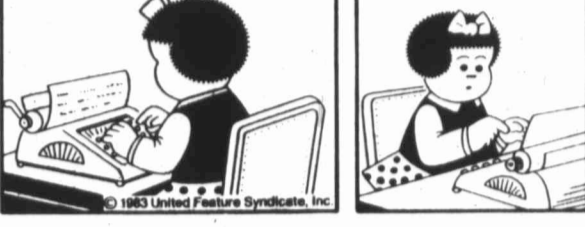

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he or she will have the ability to solve problems that are difficult for others, so be sure to give as fine an education as you can afford and teach to be objective for best results. The latter years will be most self-satisfying.

"The Stars impel, they do not compel." What you make of your life is largely up to you!

Boston down, not out of NY Islanders series

BOSTON (AP) — Boston goalie Pete Peeters emerged throughout the National Hockey League season without the help of his defensemen. Now they've proven it.

Without the help of his defensemen, Peeters was a sitting duck as the New York Islanders erupted for five third-period goals to rout the Bruins 8-3 Tuesday night.

That gave New York a 3-1 lead in the best-of-seven Wales Conference final series and a chance to advance to the Stanley Cup final against Edmonton if the Islanders beat the Bruins tonight in the Boston Garden.

"The defense didn't give Pete too much help. We have to regroup," said Boston defenseman Ray Bourque.

Peeters led all NHL goalies in shutouts, wins and goals-against average during the regular season, but "a good goalie can face just so many good shots," said John Tonelli, who scored the Islanders' first goal Tuesday.

New York, gunning for its fourth consecutive Stanley Cup, has the momentum, but Boston, which had the NHL's best regular-season record, hasn't given up.

"We won't just roll over for them," said Boston center Barry Pederson. "We'll give it our best shot and who knows what will happen after that."

"They still have to play one more game, and I'm sure we can play better than we did in this game," Bourque added.

"They've had a fantastic season," said Mike Bossy, who had three Islanders goals Tuesday. "And I expect they'll play their best game of the playoffs Thursday night in Boston."

The Bruins have to avoid Tuesday's pitfall of being caught deep in New York's zone, only to have the Islanders get the puck and start repeated 2-on-1 attacks. They'll also have to play harder.

"We just didn't skate," said Boston Coach Gerry Cheevers. "It's the least skating I've seen a team do in a long time. When you don't skate you get the hell kicked out of you."

After consecutive victories of 7-3 and 8-3 at home, the Islanders are pumped up. "We had a hell of a lot of intensity and that has an effect," said Dennis Potvin, who scored twice for the Islanders on Tuesday. "If we keep our intensity at the same level... we will win any game."

To help keep that from happening, the Bruins will have to get better scoring opportunities. Although they've outshot New York 129-124 in the series, they haven't made the best of their chances as the Islanders have with theirs.

The Bruins have come back before. They were down 2-1 to Buffalo after three games but captured the Adams Division final in seven games.

If necessary, two more games will be played, Saturday in New York and Tuesday in Boston.

Astros' Ryan placed on disabled list

HOUSTON (AP) — Strikeout king Nolan Ryan, who suffered a mid-thigh hamstring strain in his left leg, should return to the Houston Astros lineup in top form without surgery, the team physician says.

"We're gonna blame the ghost of Walter Johnson (for the injury)," said Dr. William J. Bryan, an orthopedic surgeon.

Ryan was placed on the 21-day disabled list Wednesday after an examination. The pitcher started the season on the disabled list because of a prostate infection.

"Injuries are part of the game," Ryan said, "but they are hard to deal with from the standpoint that you want to get out there and get going. But you have to give them time."

"I've had enough to know you don't rush these things, because if you do you just create more problems for yourself," the 35-year-old fireballer said.

Ryan, who suffered the injury Monday night against New York, will be placed in an aquatic rehabilitation program, Bryan said.

"It's going to take the better part of three weeks to get him back to pitching form," Bryan said. Ryan will be given anti-inflammatory drugs and the application of heating pads, he said.

Bryan said Gene Coleman, a physiologist who is the team's conditioning coach, will supervise Ryan's rehabilitation program. Ryan will run in place in deep water during the two one-hour daily sessions.

Little League teams notch victories during week

The Panthers, Rangers and Royals were big winners in Big Spring Little League this week.

In the American League, the Panthers winning pitcher Josh Wooten allowed just one run and rapped a single and double to lead his team to a 24-1 victory over the Warriors. Cam Clinton tripled and Sammy Viera had two hits for the Panthers who turned a double play in the second inning to back Wooten's pitching.

The Rangers pounded out 11 hits and topped the Cardinals 11-4 in a National League game. Alfredo Garcia and Gino Flores teamed for a two-hitter for the Rangers. Flores and Jason Peterson had three hits each while Shay Howard had two singles.

One of the two hits by the Cardinals was Juan Samoro's solo home run in the fifth inning.

It was a battle Royal in International Little League Tuesday night as the Royals outslugged the Indians 10-7 in seven innings.

The Indians led 5-3 going into the sixth inning but the Royals rallied to tie the game and send it into extra innings. In the seventh, the Royals loaded the bases through walks and then got a grand slam home run from Eric Meldahl to take a 10-5 lead.

The Indians got two runs back in the bottom of the seventh but they rally fell short.

Tryone Foster had three hits and Casey Mauldin two for the Royals while Robert Evans had two for the Indians. Pitchers Evans and Michael Hilario struck out 12 Royals.

Which Texas district has the most bathrooms?

Everything you always wanted to know about Texas congressional districts

WASHINGTON (AP) — Which Texas congressional district has the most bathrooms?

Which has the highest fertility rate among women? In which district do more people walk to work than any other?

If such miscellany is of interest to you, you might want to consider running for office.

For politicians pay an awful lot of attention to the population characteristics of the election districts they run in.

In fact, reference books are published regularly that provide analyses of the nation's congressional districts.

But nothing compares with the reports being released by the U.S. Census Bureau for such districts, based on the 1980 census.

The recently released 107-page report on Texas districts, for example, has statistics on everything from the number of homes with bathrooms in each district to the fertility rate and how many people walk or drive to work.

Of course, not all of this will interest the professional politician, who usually is concerned with more politically significant data — such as a district's ethnic composition or its earning levels.

There's plenty of that in the census report.

But for the bystander, the report also amounts to a kind of Poor Man's Texas Political Almanac, full of just plain trivia on the state's political makeup, the stuff of cocktail party chatter.

For example, more children under 5 years of age, 52,624, were to be found in the 15th District of South Texas than any other; the fewest, 31,259, were in the Dallas area's 3rd District.

None could vote, making this among the least interesting of statistics to the politician.

Other examples:

—There were 140,511 homes with at least two bathrooms in the Houston area's 7th Congressional District, the most of any Texas district. But there were only 21,374 in the neighboring 18th District, the least of any.

—Fertility was highest in the 15th District of South Texas, with 1,743 children born per 1,000 women during their lifetime, and lowest in the Dallas area's 3rd District, with 991 born.

—More than 21,000 workers walked to work in central Texas' 11th District, most of any district, while only about 4,210 walked to work in the Houston area's 8th District, the fewest.

—There were more divorced men, 16,691, in the Dallas area's 5th District than any other, and more divorced women, 24,316, in the Dallas area's 3rd District. The 15th District of south Texas had both the fewest divorced men, 4,796, and women, 9,099.

—The district with the greatest number of native-born Texans was the 14th in southeast Texas, with 431,387; the district with the fewest was the Houston area's 7th, with 262,555.

—More children, 9,999, attended nursery school in the Houston area's 7th District than any other. The fewest attending, 4,057, were in the 1st District of northeast Texas.

—The 13th District in the Panhandle had the most homes with individual room air conditioning units, 95,050; the Houston area's 7th District had the fewest, 14,685.

—The Dallas area's 3rd District had the most salesmen and others involved in selling, 49,240, while Houston's 18th District had the fewest, 18,230.

But however detailed the report on Texas districts, the Census Bureau will likely find itself having to issue another one soon — titled, perhaps, "Starting Over."

For the Texas Legislature is poised to again redraw, at least partially, the boundaries for the state's congressional districts.

Flashdancer didn't really flash ... or dance

LOS ANGELES (AP) —

Actress Jennifer Beals didn't "flash" in her new movie, "Flashdance," nor did she really dance.

Ever since Paramount Pictures released the film two weeks ago, the 19-year-old Chicago beauty has been at the center of a minor controversy: Did she, or did she not, flashdance?

Dancer Marine Jahen has said that she doubled for much of Miss Beals' dancing in the film and received no screen credit. With refreshing candor, Miss Beals said in an interview with the Los Angeles Times: "I went back to see the film and I must tell you, Marine did all the dancing in the sequences they finally used on the screen."

In a recent interview

"I went back to see the film and I must tell you, Marine did all the dancing in the sequences they finally used on the screen." — 'Flashdance' star Jennifer Beals with The Associated Press, Miss Beals said: "I think it was unfortunate she didn't get screen credit, but doubling is not uncommon in the picture business. It's all part of the technical artifice, like sound and editing."

The dancing Miss Jahen does in the movie was special. "Flashdancing is totally original," says Gordon Weaver, a senior vice president at Paramount.

"It is really your personal experience — your feelings enhanced by lights, movements. There are no limitations. This is dancing that totally relies upon your own experiences."

There is little nudity in the film. But it does not involve Miss Beals.

"I wasn't nude," she said. "In fact, when I had auditioned for the picture and first read the script, I sent it back, saying I didn't want to appear in the nude. Maybe I'm prudish, I don't know. I just don't like the idea."

Miss Beals, who's in her freshman year at Yale University, was asked by director Adrian Lyne to make a test.

"When he decided he wanted me for the part, he asked me to trust him about the nudity," she said. "I still wouldn't do it, but I gave him the option to use a nude double."

"When we came to the bed scene, they covered my chest with a huge moleskin, like a giant Band-Aid, so I would appear to be nude. Just so they wouldn't use the full shot, I printed across my chest: 'Hooray for Hollywood!' As it turned out, the scene was cut from the movie."

Like another young actress, Jodie Foster, Miss Beals decided to pursue a degree at Yale while still on the brink of a meteoric film career. Why?

"Because you need to learn," she says. "Because I enjoy being with people my own age. Because school is very important. Film work and modeling will go away, but an education never leaves you until you die."

A bright student at Chicago's Francis Parker School, Miss Beals' darkly beautiful looks attracted photographer Victor Serebrenski three years ago, and she began appearing in fashion magazines. She also worked as a "special extra" in Tony Bill's Chicago-made "My Bodyguard."

She auditioned for "Flashdance" almost as a lark to play the steel mill welder who spends her evenings in Pittsburgh discos.

She won the role in her first weeks as a Yale undergraduate, was granted a leave and returned to her studies when the film was completed. She's become friends with Miss Foster at the New Haven, Conn., campus.

"You might say it's 'Yale 2, Harvard 0.'"

Ullberg bronzes to visit Heritage

What is being called the most significant showing of bronze sculptures to be held in Big Spring can be seen this weekend at the Heritage Museum.

The showing, co-sponsored by the local museum and Midland's Folgers Ranch Gallery, will feature Kent Ullberg of Corpus Christi.

Ullberg's sculptures can be found in art galleries in Africa, Sweden and China. He has won awards in numerous countries including France, Sweden, China and the United States.

The Heritage Museum will present one of Ullberg's sculptures for the first time anywhere. The quail on a fence post bronze is part of Ullberg's continued interest in natural life.

Ullberg comes from a background that combines a seafaring life with a love of animals. His parents both shared artistic lives: his mother, a textile artist, and his father, a landscape painter.

Ullberg went to sea young as a merchant marine. After a short time at sea, he entered the Swedish State School of Art in Stockholm.

While attending art school, Ullberg worked as a taxidermist at the Swedish Museum of Natural History. Animals became his favorite subject for sculpture.

OLD FIDDLER ... sculpture to be at Heritage Museum

However, in his third year at the art school,

Ullberg became disenchanted when he discovered his freedom to create was restricted by the teacher's personal tastes.

Moving to Germany, the former sailor began working for a company making natural history teaching aids. In addition to sculpting anatomical whale models, Ullberg had the gruesome task of cleaning skeletons — including some human ones.

After an enjoyable respite in Paris, Ullberg traveled to Botswana, Africa, where he remained for seven years.

Six other artists' original works will also be on display this weekend.

Firemen fire up chili

By MIKE DOWNEY
Staff Writer

Question — Just what was in the winning chili at the Big Spring Fireman's Association chili cookoff Saturday?

Man held on 5 warrants

Jamis Bryant Cunningham, 37, of 2506 Central is in Howard County jail under bonds totaling $46,500 after his arrest by city police in connection with five separate warrants.

Cunningham was arrested on warrants for unauthorized use of a motor vehicle from Kermit, Texas, Midland and Hobbs, N.M., as well as a theft warrant from Kermit and an issuance of bad checks warrant from Howard County, sheriff's records show. Justice of the Peace Lewis Heflin set bond for Cunningham.

Carroll Wayne Jones, 38, was transferred from Huntsville Texas Department of Corrections Friday in connection with a bench warrant. Jones is serving a 16-year sentence for rape.

Harold Stanley Spencer, 29, of #5 Oasis Trailer Park posted $10,000 bond to be released after his arrest by city police for suspicion of theft over $200. Spencer was arraigned before Heflin and released after posting $10,000 bond.

Answer — "Coffee, brown sugar, a little cerveza, chili and tender loving care," according to winning cook Randy Condit from Gaines County.

The two judges for the cook-off — selected since they were the first women at the event — picked Condit's concoction as the best.

"It has better texture than the others," Elaine Tubb said, holding a spoonful of the brown mixture to the light.

"More spicy and better flavor" were the comments from Becky Dorton as she finished the last of her sample.

Stirring his winning compound on the tailgate of his pickup, Condit said he had no secrets to making his chili. A pot takes about four hours to cook, he said.

Don Clark pulled in second place with his chili and beans. Larry Tubb was relegated to last place — even with his wife as one of the judges.

Big Spring firemen held their community chili cook-off Saturday to raise money for their disaster fund to aid fire victims. The association gave over $4,500 last year to victims of fires, according to Tubb.

"Our fund's getting a little low and we just want to build it up again," Tubb said.

Saturday's events at the Howard County fair barn also included a cow chip tossing contest, a tobacco-spitting contest and a washer tossing contest.

UT dean to speak at achievement awards banquet

Dr. William Cunningham, acting dean of the Graduate School of Business at the University of Texas at Austin, will be the speaker at the 17th annual Youth Achievement Awards dinner May 10.

The awards, which are sponsored by the Herald, Zales's Jewelers and the Big Spring Rotary, will honor the top students from Big Spring, Forsan, Coahoma and Sands High Schools. The dinner will begin at 6:30 p.m. at Big Spring Country Club.

Finalists for the top awards for each school are seniors who were selected on the basis of scholarship, extra-curricular activities, citizenship and community activities.

The four finalists from each school are:
• Big Spring — Kimberly Kay Grant, Richard Scott Underwood, Jerry Speight Grimes and Bret Anthony Crenwelge.

• Coahoma — Cheryl Lanette McCoy, Kathi Malyn Wallis, Thomas Robert McDaniel and Vickie Lyn Buchanan.

• Forsan — Vicky Lee Baggett, Robin Renee Terry, Teresa Kay White and Lewis Theodore Boeker.

• Sands — Brandon Ellis Iden, John Kelly Guitar, Layton Earl Freeman and Robert Coleman Hunt.

The finalists, their parents, school officials and municipal officials will be guests of Zales' and the Herald at the dinner. Judges for the awards were Donald Fisher and William Nehls of the Big Spring Rotary Club and Troy Fraser of the Greater Big Spring Rotary Club.

Burglary suspect 'socked'

Working on a tip from an alert neighbor, Big Spring police arrested a man with socks on his hands for suspicion of burglary of a West 6th residence Friday.

Ingacio Suarez, 49, of 23C Airbase Road was arrested 11:55 p.m. at 406 W. 6th after police observed him running from the residence wearing socks on his hands. Police had been called to the scene by a neighbor who said she observed a man "trying to break the door down," according to police records.

Water plan sponsors are catering to voters

By BRUCE MILLAR
Harte-Hanks Austin Bureau

AUSTIN — Eight Senate sponsors of a long-term Texas water resources plan predict that their program — which stresses conservation over grandiose development plans — has something its predecessor lacked: voters will accept it.

In 1981, voters rejected a constitutional amendment that would earmark half of the state budget surplus for a water development plan. The 1983 version places the emphasis on conserving existing water supplies and contains specific proposals for funding local water development projects through state-backed general obligation bonds.

"As Agriculture Commissioner Jim Hightower told a committee hearing, there are no provisions to bring glaciers down from the Arctic and melt them," said an aide to Sen. John Montford, D-Lubbock.

"This package — unlike the so-called 'Water Plans' the voters have rejected in the past — is a practical, workable solution to Texas' water problems, not a dream that can probably never be accomplished," said Sen. Tati Santiesteban, D-El Paso.

The West Texas lawmaker is chairman of the Senate Natural Resources Committee which last week recommended the "Water for Texas" program to the Senate. It has the support of Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby and approval by the Senate is expected this week. But as the final 30 days of the legislative session wind down, the plan faces a race against time in the House, where it must be set for committee hearings.

Supporters said the plan is designed to ensure that Texas has adequate supplies of water to meet its future needs. It includes three constitutional amendments authorizing state guarantees of a new water bond program, tighter restrictions to protect bays and estuaries and a controversial proposal aimed at controlling water pollution from oil and gas related activities.

If approved, the constitutional amendments would be placed on the November 1984 ballot. The eight proposals in the package are:

*A program, sponsored by Sens. Ed Howard, D-Texarkana and Carl Parker, D-Port Arthur, under which the state would guarantee repayment of bonds issued by local governments to finance water development, conservation or quality improvement projects.

The program, not to exceed $250 million, is aimed at reducing taxpayers' costs for water projects by boosting local governments' bond rating and lowering interest ratings. The state bond guarantees could not exceed $250 million.

*A constitutional amendment authorizing the bond guarantee program. The proposal also authorized the establishment of a program for lower-interest, long-term loans to local governments for water development, conservation or quality improvement projects.

Hard work defines practice

By GREG JAKLEWICZ
Sports Editor

A new offensive star was born and the defense began making a habit of running to the football at Big Spring High's first spring scrimmage Friday evening at Memorial Stadium.

"We looked kind of ragged," head coach Quinn Eudy told his players after their workout, "but we ran to the football and the knocked the heck out of some people. Even when we were tired, we still played hard."

The new man on offense is junior Mike McKinley, a transfer from Coahoma, who broke away for touchdown runs of 20 and 30 yards. McKinley played on the junior varsity last year but is likely to become a familiar face on the Steer varsity in four months.

The first half of the two-hour workout was devoted to defense and a combination of defensive units shut out its opposition. Seven touchdowns were scored when the first team offense made its debut — four on the ground and three through the air.

Against the second team offense, the No. 1 Steer defense gave up only 41 yards on 16 running plays while all four passes went incomplete.

"The defense played well," Eudy said. "They ran to the football well and hit with some enthusiasm."

It was almost the reverse situation when the Steer offense cranked up as junior Eric Sherman dashed 60 and 80 yards for touchdowns. When it was time to pass, quarterbacks Mark Johnson, Ted Gillis and Tommy Gartman found all-district receiver Dale Crenshaw and returning starter Robert Porras open for scoring passes.

Crenshaw hauled in scoring tosses of 30 and 80 yards while Porras got behind the secondary to pull in a 75-yarder.

"The quarterbacks came along as the scrimmage went on," Eudy said. "At first they were a little tentative but they began to read better as they went along."

Eudy said his defensive players tired near the end of the scrimmage, thus accounting for some of the long-range scoring plays.

"We played with a lot of enthusiasm," he said. "When they got tired, they continued to play hard. We fumbled too much and we're still making a lot of mistakes but I think we'll overcome that."

McKinley, Porras and potential two-way starter Doug Walker were named by the coaching staff as the top performers in the scrimmage.

Deputies arrest man for concealed weapon

Sheriff's deputies said they arrested Palemon Diaz and Ramona Polanco Sunday at North Third and Gregg on charges of public intoxication and unauthorized use of a concealed weapon.

They were released on bond set by Peace Justice Lewis Heflin.

Ernesto Rodriguez, 1901 Donley, was transferred from city jail after arrest on a charge of criminal mischief. He was released on $1,000 bond set by Heflin.

Edwin Matthews, 1311 W. Second, was arrested for simple assault Sunday afternoon. He was released on $200 bond.

Ricky Wallace, 1800 Main, was arrested for simple assault this morning at his residence. He was released on $200 bond.

DAY GOING UP IN SMOKE — Howard Stewart, golf coach at Big Spring High school, fires out of the boondocks on the front nine Sunday at Comanche Trails Golf Course. Stewart and partner Royce Cox were four-over after nine holes but rallied on the back nine to finish second in the annual Big Spring Golf Association two-man partnership.

J. Stewart-Shaffer capture BSGA weekend partnership

By GREG JAKLEWICZ
Sports Editor

Consistency paid off for Jimmy Stewart and Bob Shaffer Sunday. But a last-gasp rally almost pulled Royce Cox and Howard Stewart through.

In the end, it was missed six-foot birdie by Howard Stewart that allowed J. Stewart-Shaffer to win the annual spring Big Spring Golf Association partnership at Comanche Trails Golf Course.

J. Stewart-Shaffer followed a four-under-par 67 Saturday with a two-under 69 Sunday — the best round of the day — to win the two-day event with a 136 total. The duo was playing in front of Cox-H. Stewart who struggled the length of the front nine but made a valiant recovery returning to the clubhouse.

Cox-H. Stewart were four-over on the front but pulled their act together on the back side. After three pars, the duo birdied Nos. 13 and 14, eagled 15 and birdied 16 to move one-under on the day and within a shot of the leaders. They could only par the final two holes, however, and finished second with a 137 card.

Stewart drove his tee shot pin-high on No. 18 and chipped to within a few feet of the cup. His tournament-tying putt didn't fall, leaving the rally a shot short.

First round leaders Brad Hull and Jim Graves of Stanton watched their game fall apart on the back nine Sunday after playing the front at even par. They bogied three holes and birdied only one on the back to finish at two-over and in a tie with George Murphy and Jimmy Newson for third place, both teams at 139.

The team of Bob Rogers and Jackie Touchstone matched J. Stewart-Shaffer's low round of 69 to run away with the first flight championship with a 73-69 — 142.

Ben Garcia, Jr. — the defending city champion — and Gil Rodriguez fired a 77-71 — 148 to win the second flight while Bill Chrane and Earl Cota took a two-stroke victory in the third flight with an 81-75 — 156.

Ties were broken returning to Saturday's scorecard and looking for the best score beginning at No. 7.
