

Midland bank guarding against loan losses

MIDLAND, Texas (AP) — A bank located in the heart of Permian Basin oil activity says it has taken steps to protect against possible future loan losses.

The First National Bank of Midland announced in a statement Saturday that its board of directors have guaranteed $40 million in capital under a plan to improve the lending institution's liquidity.

In addition, directors made arrangements with other unnamed Texas banks to provide up to $250 million in funds if requested by FNB Midland, according to the statement. FNB Midland has increased its loan loss reserve because of the oil slump.

"We are obviously anticipating future loan losses as our loan portfolio is reviewed," Don McCall, the bank's chief executive officer, told the Odessa American.

Directors also decided to apply the bank's first-quarter earnings to its loan loss reserves, the bank said.

"Although the bank returned a dividend to shareholders during the first quarter, the payment of dividends for the remaining quarters of 1983 is unlikely," McCall said.

Federal banking regulators and other financial institutions have reviewed the bank's plan, the statement said.

The bank also released its first quarter statement of condition, which showed total deposits of $1.185 billion for the quarter, down $228 million from the fourth quarter of 1982.

Net loans amounted to $1.324 billion for the first quarter, compared with $1.301 billion in the previous quarter, the bank said.

First-quarter loan loss reserves totaled $49.467 million compared with $50 million in loan loss reserves in the final quarter of 1982. However, the loan loss reserve jumped $34.858 million from the third quarter of 1982, when the reserve totaled $15.142 million on net loans of $1.351 billion.

One year ago, the bank's loan loss reserve was $11.991 million on net loans of $1.185 billion.

With the $40 million guarantee, the bank's directors have raised about $105 million in capital since August 1982, the bank said.

PAUL FEAZELLE
... Lamesa city manager for five months

City manager Lamesa's Feazelle happy with slower-paced city

By RICHARD HORN
Staff Writer

LAMESA — Paul Feazelle has been Lamesa's city manager for just five months, but he already knows he'd like to stay for awhile.

Feazelle has been around municipal government most of his life. His father has been city manager of Brady and Crosbyton, and Paul was with the City of Big Spring for eight years, the last four as assistant city manager.

Since accepting the Lamesa job last November, Feazelle has taken a crash course in the workings of this town of almost 12,000.

"It has different atmosphere — it's more conservative than Big Spring," he said in his office at the new Lamesa City Hall, "but I really like it. I'm comfortable here. I have no grandiose plans of being city manager of Dallas or San Antonio or anything."

As Big Spring assistant city manager, Feazelle was responsible for city contract services, such as Moss Lake and the tennis center, and for administration of city employees. He absorbs those duties into his job in Lamesa since there is no regular assistant.

He describes his position now as being in the center of a triangle, surrounded by responsibilities to elected officials, citizens and city employees.

"I'm in a bit of an unusual position," he said. "The city manager I replaced (Carroll Taylor) retired after 33 years in the job. Things were in good shape. The job hasn't required a lot of direct involvement on my part."

Lamesa has a five-member city council. In elections in April, eight candidates were running for one vacant position.

"I was afraid everybody was running because there was a new city manager," Feazelle said. "I didn't know what I had gotten into. But I got to know some of the candidates and there was no problem. No one was unhappy. I think there was just a lot of interest in city politics and that's good."

The biggest job he faces is helping Lamesa deal with an unpredictable farm economy. The city has been hard hit recently and now has about 10 percent unemployment, Feazelle said.

"It has been a very stable town," he said. "But probably 60 percent of Dawson County is agriculture — so everything relies on that. When the cotton crop and prices are good, Lamesa is in good shape. When those things are hurting, as they have been, then the local economy suffers."

But Lamesa has not had to resort to any drastic measures. For the fiscal year which began in April, the city has experienced no increases in taxes or fees.

Violent crime is not a major problem in Lamesa, he said, but since Dawson County is dry, the city must try to control bootlegging of alcohol.

Area's outstanding seniors to receive honors Tuesday

Four outstanding seniors from Big Spring, Coahoma, Forsan and Sands will be chosen Tuesday at 6:30 p.m. at the 17th Annual Youth Achievement awards to be held at the Big Spring Country Club.

Finalists for the award are top seniors from each school who were selected on the basis of scholarship, extra-curricular activities, citizenship and community service.

Guest speaker for this year's awards is Dr. William Cunningham, acting dean of the Graduate School of Business at the University of Texas at Austin.

The four finalists from each school are:

- Big Spring — Kimberly Grant, Scott Underwood, Speight Grimes and Bret Crenwelge.

- Coahoma — Cheryl McCoy, Kathi Wallis, Tommy McDaniel and Vickie Buchanan.
- Forsan — Vicky Baggett, Robin Terry, Teresa White and Lewis Boeker.
- Sands — Brandon Iden, John Guitar, Layton Freeman and Cole Hunt.

The awards are sponsored by the Herald, Zale's Jewelers and the Big Spring Rotary. The finalists, their parents, school officials and municipal officials will be guests of Zale's and the Herald at the banquet.

Judges for the awards were Don Fisher and Bill Nehls of the Big Spring Rotary and Troy Fraser of the Greater Big Spring Rotary Club.

Legislators battle for last-minute bills

AUSTIN (AP) — With just three weeks to go in the session, Texas legislators — and Gov. Mark White — are scrambling for strategies to push through their pet programs.

For White it's a matter of squeezing a teacher pay raise and probable tax hike through a House that has shown no interest in either.

For Rep. Hugo Berlanga, D-Corpus Christi, it's a question of finding one more vote on the House Urban Affairs Committee in order to get his pari-mutuel horse race gambling bill to the House floor.

White wants a 24 percent pay hike for teachers, but tax-shy House members last week approved a $30.8 billion budget that includes only modest raises required by law. The House twice voted against major pay raise proposals.

The pay raise debate will be renewed later this week when the House considers a public education finance bill. Rep. Bill Haley, D-Center, said today his bill is "now laying on the table subject to call, which means it's going to come up when I bring it up."

Haley said he would bring the bill up "when we get everybody together." He said he is waiting for White to "give us direction on how he wants (teacher pay raises) funded."

Council agenda

Off-duty cars for police considered

By CAROL DANIEL
Staff Writer

Big Spring city council members tomorrow will consider a program in which patrol officers would be assigned marked patrol cars for personal use. Police say the program would help reduce crime, citizens' fear, motor vehicle accidents, vandalism and law violations.

The program will be discussed at the council's regular meeting at 10 a.m. Tuesday in City Hall at Fourth and Nolan. Councilmen are meeting at an earlier time to award bids on general obligation bonds for the second phase of the capital improvements program.

A memorandum prepared by police Lt. David Spilman proposes that the city purchase seven cars and lease three others to bring the police fleet to 31 vehicles this year. The proposal calls for the program to be implemented over three years to bring the total fleet to 46 vehicles.

The memo said the program would increase the number of patrol units that would be visible in the city at less cost than increasing the number of police officers.

MASSSES OF MOTORCYCLES — About 525 persons on 350 motorcycles from as far away as Ontario, Canada and Alaska gathered at Comanche Trail Park Saturday for a Big Spring Road Rider rally. The event was sponsored by the local club chapter to show that motorcycle enthusiasts are "not a bad bunch of people at all," said Bill Hunter, local Road Riders president.

Focalpoint

Action/reaction: Dirt bike laws

Q. What does the law say about riding dirt bikes and motorized three-wheelers on city streets, sidewalks and public alleys?
A. According to Police Chief Rick Turner, if a motorbike is operated on public property, it has to be properly registered and licensed. Dirt bikes do not meet those specifications in most cases, he added.

Arson suspected in newspaper fire

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — Investigators aid arson was the probable cause of two fires that broke out Saturday morning in the basement of the editorial building of the San Antonio Express-News.

The fire, which had smoldered for some time before it was discovered by a security guard, melted wires carrying phone-connections to some teletype communications and computers in the newsroom. No one was injured in the blaze and news operations were not interrupted.

"There is just no way those fires could have been the result of spontaneous combustion," said Arson Investigator Roger Ojeda.

A damage estimate was still being prepared late Saturday.

Fire Chief Ralph Medina said there were two separate fires that appeared to have been deliberately set in two different rolls of newsprint.

Investigators said someone apparently tried to ignite one paper roll then used loose paper in trying to set other rolls afire.

LISD accepts furniture bid

LAMESA (SC) — The Lamesa Independent School District's Board of Education accepted a bid of $117,000 for school furniture at their meeting Thursday night.

American Desk Co. of Temple, Texas, made the bid. Claude Estes, business manager of the Lamesa school system, said the new furniture will replace existing old furniture during school renovation. Included in the purchase are 500 new desks for classroom use.

In other business, Jim Norris, who was elected to the Lamesa school board in April, took the oath for his position.

Feazelle

"It's not a major problem, but it exists. Because there's no controls, it's available to minors. We have to keep an eye on what goes on."

Although his father was a city manager for 40 years, Feazelle did not always plan a career in city administration.

"I majored in business administration, but I got a job as an administrative assistant in Big Spring just before I graduated. Prior to that, I hadn't given much thought to any job."

He said his decision to move from Big Spring was not prompted by any problem with city officials.

"I had been looking for a job and it was a great opportunity to go to Lamesa. I couldn't pass it up," he said.

He lives with his nine-year-old son Jimmy and coaches a Little League team in his spare time.

"We're about to get our feet on the ground," he said.

"There's a lot to Lamesa that you don't see when you're just passing through. There's not as much to do as there is in a big city, but this is the pace I like."

"The last city manager was here 33 years," he said.

"I don't know if the people will want me around here that long, but I'm enjoying it. I'd like to stick it out here."

PIANO TEACHER — Kate Heard, 87, sits in front of a piano in her Kerrville, Texas home where she teaches about 25 piano lessons weekly. Her students range in age from 7 to "those so old they can't put their fingers on the piano."

Piano teacher recalls long career

KERRVILLE, Texas (AP) — There's a little bit of Kate Heard in the more than 300 students who've shared a piano keyboard with her during the past half-century.

Her students — some of whom she believes are third generation — have learned music, the piano, theory and the exhilaration of accomplishment from this active, articulate woman of 87.

Her thoughts about the music that's been entwined in her life are presented as clearly as the varied melodies her fingers produce on the ivories.

This enthusiasm has left its mark on her pupils, who began learning from her soon after she and her family came to Kerrville in 1933.

Her childhood and early years in South Carolina were spent in a music-oriented household. At 13, she was playing in a music group started by her father that played area towns and introduced her to a wide range of instruments.

"We just had music all the time," Mrs. Heard recalls.

Those early years included a stint teaching piano to high school students and learning at a conservatory.

Perhaps the greatest joy to her then was seeing the Russian court ballet — shortly after it fled following the fall of the czar.

"It was the most wonderful thing I ever remembered hearing," she said.

That love of music is imparted today to the students who visit her modest home.

She teaches about 25 lessons weekly, and while that seems a lot, it's down from the 40 students a week she instructed in the 1930s.

She's saddened by the loss of interest in music today. She bemoans the conflicts that students have with extra-curricular school activities and the demon to most music teachers — television.

Mrs. Heard is adamant that "every child have a foundation of music." And she insists piano teaches a discipline that isn't found elsewhere.

"You're by yourself. You have to tell yourself what to do," she explains. When you're playing the piano, she adds, you use sight, mind, feet and hands.

Seeing her students accomplish goals they've targeted has been one of Mrs. Heard's treasured benefits from teaching.

"I like to see the joy you give them to accomplish something," she said.

Equally enjoyable, she pointed out, has been watching the students' personalities — "they're all different."

Her students range in age from 7 to "those so old they can't put their fingers on the piano."

Parents who ask Mrs. Heard whether she teaches "the old method" tickle her.

"I don't believe I've ever taught that method," she laughs. Beside, Mrs. Heard adds, "You don't teach every child the same way."

Theory is part of Mrs. Heard's teaching, along with scales and chords.

It's all part of building a foundation into each of her understudies and hopefully leaving with them part of her 87-year-old love of people and music.

Police Beat

Rape case reported to police

Police said a 35-year-old Big Spring woman was raped last night at the Industrial Park, apparently by a man she had left Cactus Jack's nightclub with a few minutes before.

Police Lt. Alvis Jeffcoat said the woman had been at the club last night and left with a man who drove about two miles from the area and raped her at about 12:30 a.m. No one has been arrested in connection with the assault, Jeffcoat said.

The man left her at the scene and she walked back to the club to call the police department, Jeffcoat said. She was taken to Malone-Hogan Hospital for tests and treatment.

The woman's assailant was not armed and there were no witnesses to the crime, Jeffcoat said.

Police reports also show the following:

• Cosme Ramirez of 800 N. Scurry told police a group of about five people gathered in front of his trailer house at 11:10 p.m. Saturday night and fired two gunshots into his home. Ramirez said the group called to him to come outside so they could shoot him.

The group gathered about four hours after a fight at the same site that resulted in the arrest of Juan Marquez, 20, of 803 N. Scurry on suspicion of aggravated assault and aggravated assault with a deadly weapon.

Marquez posted bond for his release after his arrest in connection with the shooting of Raul Flores, 25, of 100 Whipkey Drive. Flores was treated and released from Malone-Hogan Hospital for gunshot wounds to the right arm and chest.

A .22-caliber revolver was confiscated at the scene as evidence.

Ramirez said someone fired gunshots at his house also at 10:28 p.m. while trying to shoot another person outside the mobile home.

• Three men told police they were assaulted Saturday night in fights outside Space Station game room at Highland Shopping Center.

F.C. Furniss of 1511-A Sycamore told police a person he doesn't know struck him on the face and body at 11:30 p.m. Police reports said Furniss suffered broken teeth, cuts and head injuries.

Dan Larimer of 1601 Lark told police he was assaulted twice that night. Larimer said a person he doesn't know struck him in the face and body at 11:50 p.m., cutting his lip and bruising his forehead. At 12:20 a.m. Sunday, Larimer said he went back to the parking lot to break up a fight and two men jumped him, striking him on the face and head with their fists.

Ricky Martin of Coahoma told police two men he knows struck him at 11:15 p.m. in the face with their fists and feet.

No arrests were made in connection with the assaults.

• Lawrence McElwee, 28, of Howard House Hotel was arrested Saturday night by an Alcoholic Beverage Commission agent on suspicion of disorderly conduct. McElwee posted bond for his release Sunday morning.

• Ernest Bazan, 18, of Corpus Christi was arrested last night by a Department of Public Safety trooper on suspicion of public intoxication and possession of marijuana under 2 ounces.

• John F. Wilhelm of 1211 Runnels told police someone stole a $1,400 Yamaha motorcycle from his front yard between Friday and Sunday.

• Linda Bedenbaugh of Cowper Hospital told police someone stole an air conditioning unit from a hospital window between Saturday afternoon and Sunday morning.

• Lendora Haro of 703½ Lancaster told police a Hispanic male came to her house Sunday morning with a male dog and enticed away her $200 female pit bulldog. Ms. Haro said the man called her dog, named Alice, out of her house and that her dog followed his away from the area.

Negligent nursing home shut down

GREENVILLE, Texas (AP) — The 74 patients have been relocated and now the bureaucratic battle shifts to Austin over whether the Greencrest Manor nursing home should be allowed to reopen.

The home was ordered closed for at least 10 days while the Texas Department of Health conducts a further investigation into allegations of negligent health care.

A hearing on a move to decertify the home's insurance accreditation is scheduled for Tuesday in Austin.

The last of a dozen patients who had ignored warnings about negligent care left the facility Sunday, completing the state-ordered closing.

Attorney General Jim Mattox delivered an order Friday closing the home, but that was delayed while attorneys for Hillhaven Health Services Inc., owner of the home, asked a state judge for an order restraining the state.

Visiting Judge Tom Ryan of Plano conducted an eight-hour hearing Saturday but refused to halt the state's actions.

A nurse at the home who asked not to be identified said nine of the 12 patients, most of whom were women, left Saturday night and the last three were relocated Sunday. The staff of the home was spending the day cleaning, she said.

Dr. William Hubbard, chief of the longterm care division of the Texas Department of Health, told Ryan that investigators found strong evidence of a lack of care by the staff at the Greencrest Manor nursing home.

Hubbard cited several cases where employees allegedly failed to notify a patient's doctor of "massive changes of conditions," including one case in which a patient with heart disease was not given any treatment for seven days.

That patient complained for six days of chest pains and was only given oxygen, he said, adding that a doctor was finally notified on the seventh day.

Hubbard said the investigation of patient care at the nursing home began after a woman complained to the health department that her father died while a patient at Greencrest Manor.

Student refuses to be ranked 2nd

NEEDVILLE, Texas (AP) — A Needville High School senior says he won't be salutatorian of his graduating class because a mid-year policy change by the school board cheated him of the top spot.

Ian Corbell, 17 and an A student since entering high school, said Friday he notified school officials he will not deliver the opening address at the May 27 graduation ceremony.

Corbell contends he would be valedictorian of his class of 90 seniors if the Needville Independent School District had not changed the procedure determining grade averages and student rankings in January.

"I think it's unfair," Corbell said. "I don't think they should have changed policy in the middle of the year."

Kathleen Graeber, 18, will give the valedictory address to her class.

School Superintendent Leroy Miksch said that under the old method, student rankings were based on six-week grade averages. The new method uses semester grade averages, he said.

Miksch said board members were aware that some student rankings might be affected but decided to make the change immediately.

"We had no idea who was in the top 10 of the class when we made the change. As far as I'm concerned, Ian has nothing to be mad about," said board member Lee Schmidt.

on $30,000 in bonds

Howard County Sheriff's deputies say they arrested Frank J. Holdampf, 48, of Garden City Route Saturday for suspicion of criminal trespass and disorderly conduct. Holdampf was arraigned before Justice of the Peace Lewis Heflin.

He was released later after posting bonds totaling $3,000.

• Juan B. Marquez, 20, of 803 N. Scurry posted bonds totaling $30,000 to be released after his arrest by police for suspicion of aggravated assault with a deadly weapon and aggravated assault Saturday night.

• Carl O. Schwab, 64, of Sterling City Route posted $1,000 bond to be released after his arrest by police for suspicion of driving while intoxicated. Bond was set by Justice of the Peace Bobby West.

C-City teacher wins award

COLORADO CITY (SC) — Mrs. David Scott, a teacher in Colorado City schools, received an award for Outstanding Conservation Teacher when the Region II Texas Conservation District held its annual awards banquet in San Angelo last week.

David McCormick, 11, of Loraine, was presented a third place award for his entry in the essay contest. Radio station KVMC of Colorado City received the runner-up award for public media presentations.

Region II of the Texas Soil and Water Conservation District covers a 51-county area from the Hill Country through West Texas out to El Paso.

Mitchell County's delegation of 17 was the largest at the event.

Houston fifth-grader shot

HOUSTON (AP) — A 10-year-old Cambodian girl was shot in the shoulder as she walked to school today, officials said.

Chansophea Nim was shot about half a block from her southeast Houston apartment, said Laura Jeanes, principal of Golfcrest Elementary School, where the girl is a fifth-grader. The child was in fair condition at Ben Taub Hospital, a spokeswoman said.

"She said she didn't have any idea where it came from," Ms. Jeanes said of the shot. "It frightened her so that she would have had trouble telling."

Ms. Jeanes said she spoke to the girl's parents through an interpreter after the shooting.

Paramedic Robert Koryciak, who picked up the child at a police station where her parents took her, said the wound appeared to be made by a .22-caliber bullet.

"There's some apartment complexes where you can get in a lot of trouble in over there," Koryciak said of the area where the shooting occurred.

He said the girl, who told him she had been in the United States a year and eight months, was "an excellent patient" who spoke fine English despite the brief time she had been in the country.

Shultz predicts Syria will withdraw

By The Associated Press

U.S. Secretary of State George P. Shultz, ending his two-week Middle East peace trip, predicts Syria will withdraw its troops from Lebanon "within a reasonable time" but expects the negotiations to be difficult.

Shultz flew to Paris on Sunday after an exhausting trip in which he helped negotiate a troop withdrawal agreement between Israel and Lebanon and urged Syria to withdraw its troops as well.

A refusal by the Syrians could negate the Israeli-Lebanese accord, but Arab diplomatic sources said Saudi Arabia's King Fahd was trying to convince Syria to pull its troops out from Lebanon. The Syrian troops entered Lebanon under an Arab League mandate to police the 1975-76 Christian-Moslem civil war.

Israel agreed in principle to pull out its 25,000 troops from Lebanon, but says Syria must withdraw its estimated 40,000 troops at the same time. A State

"Yesterday, we had a clear statement of 'no enthusiasm' for the agreement as such, but we had no flat statement of 'we will not withdraw' or anything like that." — Secretary of State George Shultz.

Department official who requested anonymity said Sunday the United States has accepted Israel's position that its troops can remain in Lebanon as long as Syrian forces are there. Syria has criticized the withdrawal agreement because it allows Israel to keep a small military presence in Lebanon, but Shultz didn't seem discouraged and said Syria "hasn't slammed the door" on it.

"We know there are difficulties ahead," Shultz told reporters in Tel Aviv on Sunday, briefing them on his meeting in Damascus on Saturday with Syrian President Hafez Assad. "Yesterday, we had a clear statement of 'no enthusiasm' for the agreement as such, but we had no flat statement of 'we will not withdraw' or anything like that."

He said he was confident an agreement between Syria and Lebanon "can be concluded in a reasonable amount of time."

Shultz met with Saudi King Fahd in Jidda, Saudi Arabia, on Sunday, and Arab diplomatic sources said he asked the king to convince the Syrians to withdraw their forces from Lebanon.

Assad arrived in Saudi Arabia later in the day for talks with King Fahd, and Arab diplomatic sources said the king was asking Assad to change his mind and cooperate in a troop-withdrawal arrangement.

Saudi Foreign Minister Prince Saud told reporters Saudi Arabia would "exert its efforts for a complete withdrawal of all foreign forces from Lebanon." Shultz called the prince's comments "very significant."

The Lebanese-Israeli agreement will not be released officially until it is signed, but U.S., Israeli and Lebanese officials have described portions of it that show both Israel and Lebanon made concessions on key disputes.

Israel conceded its demand for keeping a residual force in southern Lebanon to ensure that Palestine Liberation Organization guerrillas stay out of the border area, and Lebanon dropped its demand for withdrawal of all Israel troops.

Fraud charges filed against Hitler reporter

HAMBURG, West Germany (AP) — Stern magazine asked the state prosecutor today to charge reporter Gerd Heidemann with fraud, alleging that the person Heidemann said sold him the so-called Hitler diaries "probably does not exist."

Stern publisher Henri Nannen said in a statement that Heidemann "apparently fell into the hands of a swindler and in the end possibly enriched himself."

Heidemann could not be reached for comment. His wife told The Associated Press by telephone that her husband was innocent of fraud and did not have the money from the publication of the "diaries."

The West German weekly reportedly paid $4.1 million for the 62 volumes of writings that Heidemann claimed to have tracked down in East Germany and which he said were the journals of Adolf Hitler.

The government last Friday said the documents were forgeries plagiarized from a 1962 history book and made with material manufactured after World War II. Stern today apologized to its readers for printing excerpts of the documents, saying the publication put it in the unwanted position of "Nazi justification."

Nannen said he filed the complaint with the state prosecutor of the district court in Hamburg, where Stern is based and where Heidemann lives.

The publisher said Stern's complaint "is based on the fact that Heidemann named as a supplier of the purported Hitler diaries a man who most probably does not exist." Heidemann had declared earlier that he received the diaries from an informer whom he could not identify because human lives would be endangered.

"After it was established that the diaries were forged, Heidemann was given an ultimatum to disclose his informant because the right to protect sources does not apply to a supplier of falsified material," Nannen's statement said.

He said without elaboration that statements Heidemann and his wife had given unspecified foreign newspapers "contradict each other."

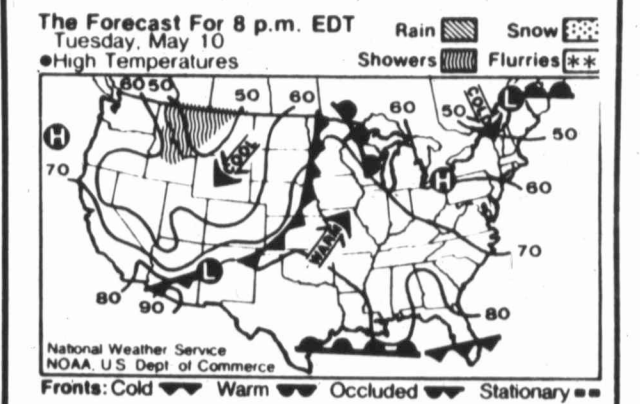

This was an apparent reference to a Sunday Times of London report quoting Gina Heidemann as implying that the diaries came from an unnamed East German official.

Asked if Heidemann kept any of the diary money, Gina replied, "Unfortunately not. Then we might have been able to hire a good attorney. No, my husband has none of that money."

CHARGES FILED AGAINST HEIDERMANN — This picture, taken April 25, shows reporter Gerd Heidemann of West German magazine "Stern" when he displayed three of 62 alleged diaries of Adolf Hitler during a press conference in the "Stern" publishing house in Hamburg. The magazine filed charges of fraud against Heidemann, saying that person he supposedly bought the fake Hitler diaries from "in all probability does not exist."

Polish authorities free Solidarity aides

WARSAW, Poland (AP) — Polish authorities freed at least nine top Solidarity advisers and aides to union chief Lech Walesa who were detained by police after a union strategy meeting, family sources said today.

The nine unionists, including Solidarity lawyers Jan Olszewski and Wladyslaw Sila-Nowicki were released Sunday after being held for 48 hours, the time limit on detention without formal charges.

It was not known if two members of other unions, also picked up Friday, had been freed. Those so-called "branch" and "autonomous" unions were formed along with Solidarity after August 1980 shipyard strikes in Gdansk toppled the old, state-run unions. They were less critical of the government than Solidarity and never cooperated with it, considering the independent union as a rival.

Walesa met with his former rivals and with his old advisers Bronislaw Geremek and Tadeusz Mazowiecki in Warsaw on Friday to draft a letter to Parliament calling for less restraints on trade unions, amnesty and reinstatement of workers fired for their politics since martial law was imposed Dec. 13, 1981.

The meeting was significant since it marked the first time Walesa has sought to forge any sort of alliance with other unions which, like Solidarity, were banned under martial law. It indicated the union chief was pursuing a bolder course.

The family sources said Walesa's aides from Gdansk — including Lech Kaczynski, spokesman Arkadiusz Rybicki and Adam Kinaszewski, driver Mieczyslaw Wachowski and an associate Jacek Merkel — had been released and apparently had returned to their homes in the Baltic seaport.

Police picked up Walesa at the meeting in Warsaw and drove him to his home in Gdansk.

Police searched the houses of the people detained, but did not charge them with anything, the family sources said.

On Sunday, Cardinal Jozef Glemp, the leader of the Roman Catholic Church in Poland, accused police of lobbing tear-gas grenades into churches to smash anti-government protests and told 60,000 faithful that Poland needs "peace, peace, peace."

"We do not want any political demonstrations in churches," Glemp said. "But on the other hand, we do not want that tear gas grenades should be thrown into sanctuaries."

Congratulations to Class of '83

Dear Editor,
A class that sticks together...wins together.
For this year's B.S.H.S. graduating class, victory has descended upon their last of four years at B.S.H.S. Not that they've never had victory come before them because every day, week, month and year that they continued their high school education, victory arose.

Their four years have finally ended and paid off and for some, graduating will be a blessing. For others, it will mean leaving behind a special part of their lives. But for some, it will mean the beginning of a college education.

Among this graduating class of '83, the future leaders of tomorrow will start preparing for the well-being of our prosperous country.

One thing each graduate has in common is that they are all winners. Their seniority is based upon leadership, honor, hard work, and respect. They all stuck together through hard times and therefore have left behind numerous amounts of well-set examples for future seniors to follow.

We hear about how leaders have failed and turned traitors, but we seldom hear about them reaching goals. I for one would like to say that the senior leaders of B.S.H.S., for this year, not only reached plenty of goals, but they attained the grandeur of impressive acts for all to follow.

As the saying goes with me: "It's not so much a failure to fall together as it is to fall alone." This year's class of '83 really made this saying a reality since they have met all things, good and bad, together, thus failure has never been known. Their togetherness is symbol of loving and caring. If they continue with these symbols, failure shall never be met.

For those who attain their respective goals after graduating... self-satisfaction, confidence, and knowledge awaits. Some know what they want out of life, some don't. But, for them all, the future holds a special place for each one to fill.

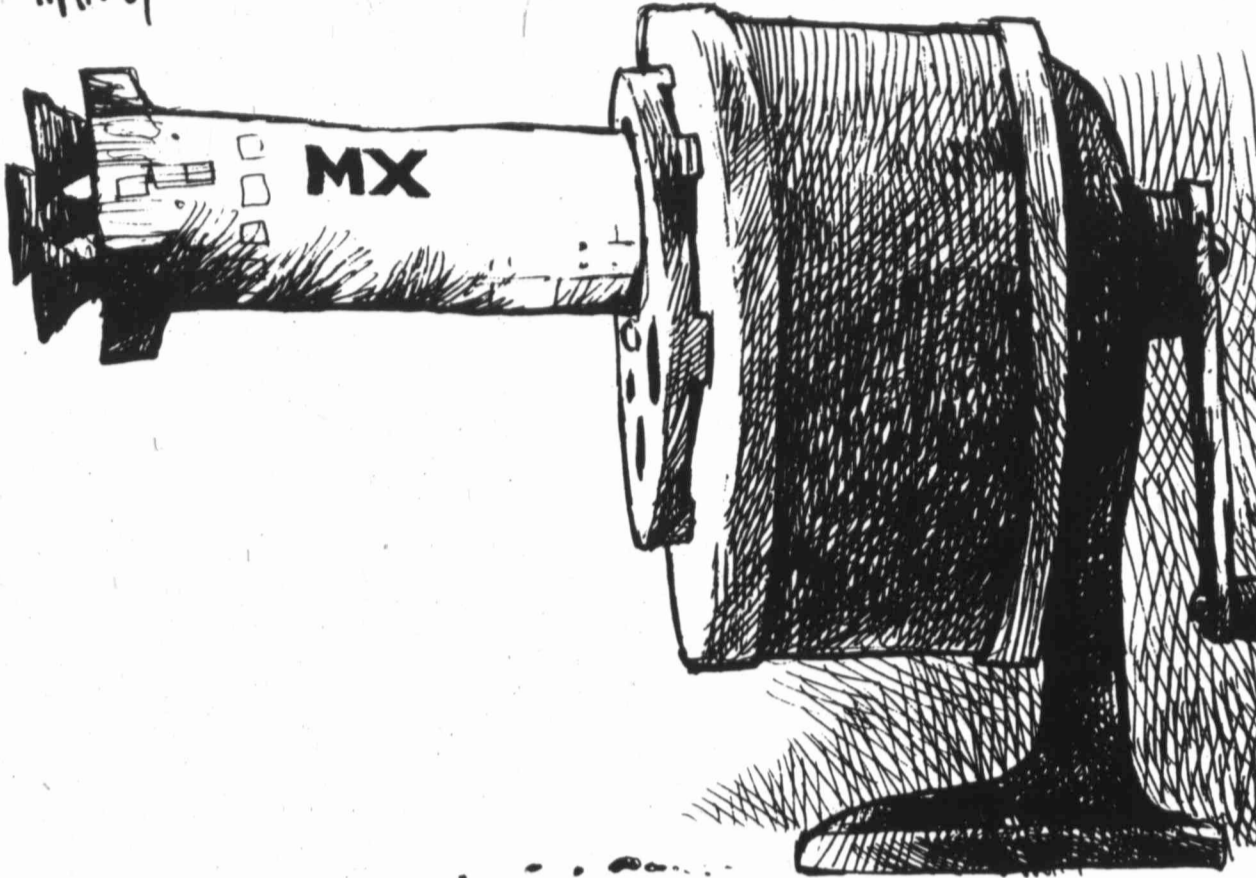

They are envied by some (the overly anxious to graduate who hate putting forth the four years of hard work, which this year's graduates have attained), they are pitied by few (those who enjoy their present status and fear the throes of adulthood), but they are admired by all.

As they graduate from B.S.H.S., they will leave behind special physical paraphernalia such as, the football gridiron, basketball court, volleyball court, baseball field, track field, etc., but will carry with them — for life — treasured memories of all the athletic games, homecoming week, school dances, newfound loves and friendships, etc., ... but most important of all, they will take with them education, love, respect, and dignity.

So, in closing, a word from myself to the graduating class of '83: "Congratulations! Thank you all for leaving behind such great examples of leadership for the rest of us to follow. The high values of B.S.H.S. shall be upheld in the future to come, and I hope each graduating class that leaves B.S.H.S. will leave behind as well-set examples — as you did — for future graduates to follow. If more virtuous examples are set and followed, then it won't be long before B.S.H.S. is recognized as the kind of excellent school that we have always known it to be."

Cordially and respectfully,

Educational test for conservatives

WASHINGTON — A cultural revolution lies behind the decline in the country's schools recently reported by the President's Commission on Excellence in Education. Mere political and governmental considerations count for almost nothing.

So it says a lot that those pleased to call themselves conservatives are using the report as a stick to beat liberals. It says the conservative movement offers very little in the way of constructive contributions to the solution of national problems.

The education problems identified in the commission report are familiar. The caliber of high school graduates has gone way down, especially in such basic skills as literacy. Teaching has slumped. Students take too many gut courses. Not nearly enough time is spent on homework, and the length of the school year has been shortened too much.

But who's to blame? CONSIDER, first, homework. When the vast majority of those of us who are now adults went to school, there were two parents in the home most evenings. Discipline was enforced by one or the other. Usually there was a kind of backup system. Mother and father worked in tandem.

Since then divorce has zoomed, and standards have changed. Single parents abound. Enforcing discipline at home in these conditions is extremely hard. Especially against the competitive appeal of another relatively new cultural phenomenon — television.

Similarly with the decline in the quality of teaching. Like millions of others who are now adults, I was given a thorough grounding in Latin and mathematics by spinster teachers. But if Amanda Newton and Zelda Colvin — the names, I swear it, of two of my teachers — had been working now, instead of during the Great Depression, they would have come a long way, baby, from teaching in secondary schools. They would have joined the flood of women to more remunerative jobs in the corporate world.

TEACHERS' UNIONS probably do diminish excellence in instruction. Rises in salary go by seniority, not by merit. But why do so many teachers join the unions?

Surely, the rush to join has something to do with the enormous relative disadvantages teachers suffered, the raw deal they got, when most of the rest of us were upping salaries in step with inflation. Maybe it has something to do with the firing of teachers during the recent recession by states as diverse as Massachusetts and Minnesota.

As to gut courses and shorter school years, there has indeed been a kind of student rights movement. But it is a natural spinoff of the civil rights movement. It is, in other words, part of the cultural revolution that has transformed this country in the past 20 years.

The commission appointed by Secretary of Education Terrel Bell appreciated fully the dimensions of the problem. It called for action by students, parents, schools, states and the federal government. It was careful, indeed positively heroic, in not trying to pinpoint blame. "The responsibility for our current situation," it said, "is widespread."

But you'd never know that from the response of leading conservatives. President Reagan, for example, fixed the blame on his favorite whipping boy — "People here in Washington." He said education has declined "during a period when the federal presence in education grew and grew." He deduced that the answer was not more federal money but prayer in school, and concessional help to parents of parochial school children and college kids. "The focus of our agenda," he said, as if the family was exactly what it used to be, "is to restore parental choice."

The Wall Street Journal, on its editorial page, spoke even more plainly. It said: "The liberal educational reformers... blew it. They failed. The state of the schools and the drop in test scores are an unanswerable indictment."

Of course some of those trying to cope with educational problems were based in Washington. Some were liberals. But how much more brilliantly did conservatives do? Did the California schools improve dramatically when Reagan was governor? Would anybody cite his behavior as president as an example of educational excellence? Or diligent homework? Or long working hours?

THE FACT IS that education is a national problem. Solving it is going to require time and patience. It will be necessary to try various approaches, and observe results closely. Liberals certainly do not have a monopoly on good ideas. But neither do conservatives.

On the contrary, education is a subject that severely tests the capacity of the conservative movement to be constructive. For many conservatives have been hooked on vanished pieties and the discipline of yore. Many have been good only at putting down liberal follies. Many, very often in the past, have served merely as a screen for racial prejudice, economic privilege and the self-promotion of certain "personalities."

Billy Graham

I'm not strong enough to care

DEAR DR. GRAHAM: I know I am doing some things that are wrong, but it just seems like I don't care anymore. I know I don't have the strength to be a better person anyway, so why should I bother? — R.A.

DEAR R.A.: You should bother because if you do not, you will make a shambles of your life. Another way of looking at it is to point out that you will be missing a life of meaning and joy that God offers to you. Jesus said, "I have come that they may have life, and have it to the full" (John 10:10). Did Jesus tell a lie when he promised that those who follow him will have a full and abundant life? No! And you can experience that for yourself if you will do what you need to do and give your life to Jesus Christ.

I would like for you to read something that Jesus said in the Sermon on the Mount. He declared, "Enter through the narrow gate. For wide is the gate and broad is the road that leads to destruction, and many enter through it. But small is the gate and narrow the road that leads to life, and only a few find it" (Matthew 7:13-14). Jesus was pointing out that it is easy to go through life doing the same things everyone else is doing — in other words, leaving God out of your life and living in a way that you think will give you temporary pleasure. But that road deceives you, because it ends up in destruction and hell. The narrow road may seem harder, and fewer are on it. It is the way of commitment to Christ and following him. But it is the right road, and it leads to true happiness and Heaven.

Right now you are on that broad road — and that should alarm you. God loves you and he does not want you to stay on that road. In fact, he sent his Son into the world to open up a new way of living — the way of following Christ and trusting him. How can you switch roads? By deliberately turning from the path you are following and turning to Jesus Christ in faith and trust. Accept him as your personal Lord and Savior. Accept his love for you, and then learn to walk with him as his child. And he will give you strength to change your life and become a better person.

Mediocre solution

The recent report by the National Commission on Excellence in Education charged "mediocrity" in the nation's public schools.

Good money was spent by the Reagan Administration for the commission's research that told us that teachers are underpaid, SAT scores are declining and that there is a need for a "back to basics" curriculum.

There's not much in the report that isn't old hat. And that shows how ponderous and behind the government is in working out those problems chronicled in the report.

President Reagan seemed pleased with the report. However, his response was incongruent as to the solutions named for public education.

He said the report's findings were consistent with his administration's attempts to redefine the government's role in education — which is that parents, not the government, have the primary responsibility for the education of children.

WHAT ROLE does the government have in education? Well, it seems detrimental after hearing Reagan's ideas for education. He said his administration will continue to work for the passage of tuition tax credits and vouchers for parents choosing private schools, and Reagan wants to abolish the Department of Education.

It's as if he didn't even read the report. The report clearly states the federal government has the primary responsibility of seeking out educational priorities and assisting in funding them.

While it is the duty of state government and local school districts to carry most of the weight in funding education, those two entities will need money to bring off the solutions asked for by the commission's report.

The report suggested tougher standards, longer school days and pay raises. And while it maintains mediocrity is a national problem, Reagan says the problem is a local one and he's not willing to put money into a local problem.

SO WHERE does the money come from to effect these solutions? State legislatures and school districts are hesitant to raise taxes because people are already reeling from federal taxes, the recession and other economic woes. If the federal government doesn't somehow see fit to put money into education we will remain with our problems and very little progress.

Reagan also says he is in favor of voluntary school prayer. One political observer jokingly said Reagan's endorsement of prayer at least gave students the option of praying for a better education. As it stands now, prayer is about the only hope we have now for education.

Deaf defense worker is sacked

WASHINGTON — The Lilliputians at the Defense Mapping Agency, going strictly by the book, have fired a deaf employee for rules violations that were the direct result of his handicap.

The employee is Edwin J. Seremeth, a scientific illustrator in the hydrographic-topographic center. He is described by one superior as "a very gifted person." His work ratings have consistently been "above satisfactory" and "outstanding."

But as a deaf person, Seremeth relies on a special alarm clock to wake him in time for his ride to work. Last June, the thing broke and he missed his ride four days in a row — until a new clock arrived by mail. On two of those days, the neighbors Seremeth usually relies on to make his phone calls weren't home, so he couldn't notify the office that he had overslept. Obviously, he can't use a regular telephone.

But Seremeth's department chief, John Lyall, would not accept the excuse of physical inability for the failure to phone the office. He slapped a 10-day suspension on Seremeth.

The deaf employee appealed for help from his union, the American Federation of Government Employees. The union raised money to get Seremeth a special teletypewriter phone for his home so he could keep in touch with the office. But Lyall refused to install one at the office.

The union filed an equal-employment-opportunity grievance on Seremeth's behalf, accusing Lyall of violating government regulations that require "reasonable accommodation" of handicapped personnel. This did not endear Seremeth to his superiors.

Then, last December, Seremeth missed five days of work because of illness, which he confirmed with a doctor's note. But Seremeth drew a two-day suspension because he "failed to follow prescribed procedures for seeking and obtaining leave approval," as Lyall wrote later, adding: "Also, you do not have a balance of sick leave, and leave without pay is not appropriate."

On the day Seremeth returned to work, he left 30 minutes early but signed out for a full day's work. Presumably that also was "not appropriate."

In March, Seremeth was fired. He claims he has been discriminated against because of his handicap. "My department chief refuses to believe that I am deaf, since I can lip-read several of my fellow workers," he said.

The union's local president, Patrick Weed, told my reporter Leslie Adler the bias against Seremeth goes deeper than that. For one thing, Weed said, Lyall resents the filing of the grievance procedure.

The agency director, Capt. Wallace Palmer, was asked why Seremeth drew a suspension for being unable to phone the office last June. "Because," Palmer said, "maybe that's not the whole story." Palmer refused to elaborate, but Weed offered an explanation. He said that Seremeth is a reformed alcoholic who quit drinking after the union found treatment for him. But Seremeth's bosses keep insinuating that he's still on the sauce and blame this for his absences, Weed said.

WELL-REHEARSED

WITNESSES: If you were to drop in on a congressional hearing, you would probably be mightily impressed with the testimony of government witnesses. They are rarely caught by surprise when a committee member asks even the most arcane question about their agency's operations. They seem to have total recall of all the pertinent facts and figures.

The fact is that savvy agency officials sometimes spend months preparing for a budget session or other appearance on Capitol Hill. One recent example was revealed in an internal memo of the Minority Business Development Agency.

The public affairs staff was assigned to prepare a summary of the agency's "past accomplishments." And the congressional affairs office was ordered to "provide profiles on House-Senate Appropriations subcommittee members." The information was to include such details as the members' marital status, religion, education, constituency and even the names of his or her children, if any.

Dear Abby

Wife beats husband out of marriage

DEAR ABBY: God bless "Frightened in Manhattan" for writing to admit that he is a battered husband. You are correct in saying that very few men have the courage to come forward and admit that their wives beat them. I know. I was a badly battered husband for years and had cuts, bruises, burns and broken bones — all attributed to "accidents." How could I tell people that I, a 6-2, 185-pound man, was beaten by a 5-4, 135-pound woman?

My wife showed us a very bad temper before we were married, but I thought I could change her. I couldn't. I've been hit with lamps, ashtrays, books, ice buckets, furniture, shoes, you name it. Once while I was asleep she tied me up and beat me with a golf club!

I finally had to choose between my wife and my life. We're divorced now. No names please. I wouldn't want my mother to know.

Baby's birth announced

Rusty and Shari Stephens, Rt. 1, announce the birth of their daughter, Krystal Allison, at 7:48 p.m. April 28. The infant was born in Methodist Hospital in Lubbock. She weighed 7 pounds, 15 ounces and was 21 inches long.

Her grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. P.E. Moore, Rt. 1, and Mr. and Mrs.

Cecil Stephens, 804 Birdwell. Her great-grandfather is I.D. Shaw, Grady, N.M.

BATTERED IN NEW YORK STATE: DEAR BATTERED: National support groups for the battered woman are all over the place, but I know of no equally effective national support group for the battered man as yet. In this regard, women are "beating" the menfolk to smithereens.

DEAR ABBY: We had three teen-age sons. The eldest (I'll call him Sam) was 18. About six months ago I sent for your booklet, "What Every Teen-ager Ought To Know." All three boys read it, and although we've always answered their questions frankly and openly, there is always something to be learned.

One evening while my husband and I and Sam were watching TV, I asked Sam what he thought of your booklet. He said it was OK, but he didn't agree with your statement that masturbation was normal. (I think he just wanted our reaction.) Sam had not dated yet, but we were aware that he had masturbated because his brother told us that he had seen him. We weren't shocked or upset because we've always felt that it was perfectly normal and nothing to be ashamed of. I hope we succeeded.

He died two weeks later of juvenile diabetes. Thank you, Abby, for helping us to ease his guilty conscience. HIS PARENTS IN OKLAHOMA

Dr. Donohue

Progress made by MS treatment

Dear Dr. Donohue: Recently, I found out that a good friend has multiple sclerosis. Would you write about this and any new treatments? My friend is in her late 40s and found out she had it in 1981. She mentioned something about arm and leg troubles. Does anyone know how you get it? When I saw her most recently, she was in remission. — V.D.G.

Multiple sclerosis is the formation of scars in the nervous system, usually on the large cables of nerves of the spinal cord. It happens because of a disturbance of the myelin, a kind of insulating substance that coats those cables. Beyond that, we know little. One theory is that an old virus infection emerges many years later to affect the central nervous system this way. Another is that MS is an auto-immune reaction — the body falsely sensing that its own tissue (in this case the nerve tissue) is foreign.

Females are affected more than males and the average age of onset is in the mid-30s. Remissions (periods when symptoms disappear) are not unusual. It is this come-and-go pattern of symptoms that makes MS so difficult to suspect and diagnose in early stages. Those symptoms being to appear as muscles in various parts of the body become weakened because of the nerve disturbance in the spinal cord. There can be urinary tract disturbance as well as vision problems. The symptoms are related to the precise location of the scars.

Unfortunately there is no cure, although one is being sought through many research efforts. Besides therapy to maintain muscle tone and to utilize unaf-ected muscles more fully, drugs like steroids or ACTH are used in bad flare-ups. And you probably read about the recent use of hyperbaric oxygen for MS. It is too early to talk of that as a cure, but it does offer renewed hope for people like your friend. Also recently the drug cyclophosphamide has shown promise in treatment for MS.

Dear Dr. Donohue: I have been watching your column for an answer to a letter I wrote about six months ago. My question involves calcium. I have heard doctors recommend that some patients get more of it. I understand one recommendation is for 1,000 milligrams daily. That would take four glasses of milk. All I can drink is two. I also eat cheese and broccoli. Can't I get part of my calcium by taking one of the tablets, each of which has 250 milligrams. I'm 67. — Mrs. J.W.

Sure you can get your calcium from tablets, but it sounds like you are getting plenty of it in your diet. An 8-ounce glass of milk has 288 milligrams, so you are getting 576 just from your two glasses. An ounce of cheese has 213 milligrams, and a cup of cooked broccoli has 132. If you got a three-fourths cup of oatmeal, that would add 154.

Pin-stripes to flameproofs

Stockbroker takes up stunts for kicks and money

NEW YORK (AP) — Flameproof longjohns and pin-striped suits are both part of the working wardrobe of Frank Ferrara, a stockbroker who does stunts for kicks and money — and for the great stories he can tell his Wall Street colleagues.

"Both businesses require quick thinking and good reflexes," said Ferrara. "If I make a mistake as a stockbroker, I lose money. If I make a mistake as a stuntman, I could be dead."

Ferrara now divides his time equally between stunts and stocks, taking unpaid leaves of absence from the brokerage firm when he needs to spend a week or a month on a movie location, where he may jump out of sixth-story windows, crash cars or set himself ablaze.

"At the beginning, I thought it would be just for kicks. But it's gotten to be a full-time profession," he said. "People find it intriguing. The other brokers bring their wives to meet me and ask to hear stories about the actors I've met."

Ferrara, 36, of Staten Island, has worked in finance for 17 years, starting as a page at the New York Stock Exchange and now working as a broker for Troster Singer Stevens Rothchild, based in Jersey City, N.J.

Six years ago, a friend in the movie business took the brawny, 6-foot-2, 215-pound broker to a party, where he was hired as a bodyguard for actress Farrah Fawcett. He soon began hanging around with stuntmen, learning the skills of their profession, and eventually began doing stunts himself.

Ferrara's first stunt, for the movie "King of the Gypsies," involved jumping onto the hood of a moving car and throwing two people off it.

He since has learned to leap from a sixth-story window — "only four stories if I'm on fire" — and to crash a car doing 50 mph.

"I think stunt driving is hereditary. My father was a New York City cab driver," Ferrara said with a smile. A stunt for the movie "Fort Apache, the Bronx" was the scariest of his career.

"I had to hold a 160-pound man over my head and then throw him six stories off the roof," he said. "If I overthrew, he'd hit the concrete. If I underthrew, he'd hit the building."

He threw just right. The man landed safely on an airbag.

He has played the bodyguard of guest actress Morgan Fairchild on "Simon & Simon," and appeared as "a regular bad guy" in about four other episodes of the television show.

"I've even signed autographs. It's embarrassing at times, but it's great for business," he said.

His stockbroker friends especially like to hear about the famous people he meets: like the time he was a stunt double for actor Burt Lancaster in the movie "Atlantic City."

Ferrara successfully leaped between levels of an eight-story structure for that film, but injured himself on his lunch break, tearing cartilage in his knee when he jumped four feet to the ground.

Safety precautions, such as calculating crash speeds and having the fire department standing by during fire stunts, are factors that help a novice live long enough to become a professional, he said.

"People think we're stupid. But we take everything down to a science," he said. "We research everything and take proper measurements before a stunt."

Ferrara classifies 80 percent of his work as "basic stunts, like precision driving and high work. It's the other 20 percent where you're more likely to get hurt, things like fires and spectacular accidents."

PRACTICE MAKES PERFECT — Stuntman Frank Ferrara gets hosed down with a fire extinguisher by a fellow stuntman Pete Buccozzi during a recent practice stunt in Brooklyn where he set himself on fire. The 36-year-old Brooklyn native frequently take time off from his other job as a stockbroker for the New Jersey firm of Troster Singer Stevens Rothchild to perform stunts for movies and television.

Employment commissioner will retire at end of month

EL PASO, Texas (AP) — Failing health is forcing Texas Employment Commissioner Richard Mellado to request medical retirement at the end of the month, the El Paso Times has reported.

Mellado told the newspaper his request must be approved by the governing board of the State Employees Retirement System.

In a copyright story Sunday, the Times said Mellado was told in a letter from his doctor Friday that he would "have to remain at reduced activity levels for the rest of his life."

The letter from cardiologist Dr. Alfred Magill also recommended that Mellado avoid "situations that would cause emotional tension."

Mellado, even while recuperating from a heart attack at his Austin home, has been an outspoken critic of TEC administrator Ernie Tullis and associate administrator Pat Joiner.

Mellado accused Tullis and Joiner of running the agency without regard to the commission's wishes and of trying to usurp the power of the commission.

About two weeks ago Mellado promised to return to work in early May to "throw out" Tullis and Joiner. He said Friday that he was disappointed he could not return to work to try to straighten out the agency.

Both Tullis and Joiner say they simply have different ideas about management than Mellado.

Tullis sent a letter two weeks ago to the attorney general's office asking whether a commissioner must be removed from the payroll if he does not return to work after using all of his vacation and sick leave.

The attorney general's office said it would research the question.

Mellado suffered his first heart attack in August and another in November during a commission meeting.

He reacted emotionally at the meeting to a press report that his daughter had worked temporarily for a TEC office in Houston, in violation of nepotism laws. Mellado had ordered his daughter fired when he discovered she was working in that office.

Mellado said he had been campaigning against nepotism within the agency at the time of the report and accused agency staff of deliberately leaking the information to the press to embarrass him.

Mellado was selected by then-Gov. Bill Clements as the workers' representative on the commission.

Abdul-Jabbar puts jump on the Spurs

INGLEWOOD, Calif. (AP) — Even though he stands 7-foot-2 and weighs 260 pounds, Artis Gilmore was never a factor in the opener of the National Basketball Association Western Conference championship series.

And mainly because he wasn't, the defending NBA champion Los Angeles Lakers got the jump on the San Antonio Spurs.

Los Angeles center Kareem Abdul-Jabbar easily won the battle of the big men Sunday, scoring 30 points, grabbing eight rebounds and blocking three shots as the Lakers whipped the Spurs 119-107.

Game Two in the best-of-seven series will be played at the Forum Tuesday night before the action switches to San Antonio for the third and fourth games next Friday night and Sunday afternoon, respectively.

"Kareem had his way today and obviously it was a little frustrating for me," said Gilmore, who scored seven points, pulled down six rebounds and blocked four shots before fouling out with 5:18 to play. "We're just gonna have to play harder, that's all."

The Spurs, who were swept in four games by the Lakers in last spring's Western Conference championship series, acquired Gilmore during the off-season to keep the Lakers from dominating them in the middle.

NBA Playoffs

It worked well for the Spurs during the regular season as San Antonio won four of its five games against Los Angeles. But it was no contest Sunday.

"He's proved in the past, and in the playoffs, Kareem Abdul-Jabbar is the greatest center ever to play the game," said Los Angeles Coach Pat Riley. "It was an exceptional basketball game. We had spurts on defense in the second half and that really turned the game around."

The Lakers took command by outscoring the Spurs 22-6 over a span of 6:24 late in the third quarter and early in the fourth. That turned an 81-78 San Antonio advantage into a 100-87 Los Angeles lead with 7:40 remaining and the margin was at least seven points the rest of the way.

"In recent memory, this was one of my more successful games against Artis," said Abdul-Jabbar, the Lakers' 36-year-old team captain. "But it was only one game and I'm sure he will be heard from before this series is over."

Because of his foul problems, Gilmore was limited to 32 minutes of action while Abdul-Jabbar played all but four minutes.

"Kareem was sensational, there is no question he won the duel (against Gilmore) today," said San Antonio Coach Stan Albeck. "Our inability to do a good job on (Norm) Nixon, (Jamaal) Wilkes and Kareem hurt us."

"You will see a better team on Tuesday. We are confident we can win one here. It is going to be a physical and aggressive series and they won round one."

Albeck wasn't around to see the end of it. He was hit by a pair of technical fouls, which means automatic ejection. The second technical was called with 3:53 remaining and the Spurs trailing 106-99.

Nixon had 30 points and eight assists while Wilkes added 20 points and grabbed eight rebounds for the Lakers. Earvin "Magic" Johnson contributed 15 points and 12 assists for Los Angeles.

"I feel good for everyone on the team that we won this one," said Wilkes. "The first one is always the big one. They not only beat us during the regular season, but they beat us darn good."

Mike Mitchell led San Antonio with 26 points and seven rebounds. Johnny Moore added 25 points and was credited with a game-high 18 assists and George Gervin had 24 points and a game-high nine rebounds for the Spurs.

Bob McAdoo, who has the fourth-highest playoff scoring average in NBA history behind Gervin, Abdul-Jabbar and Jerry West, the Lakers' general manager, made his first appearance for Los Angeles since dislocating the fourth toe on his right foot in practice last Feb. 16.

McAdoo came on to a standing ovation from the crowd of 15,063 with 11 seconds remaining in the first quarter. He missed his first two shots before scoring on a dunk early in the second period and wound up with four points, making two of his seven field goal attempts, and six rebounds while playing 22 minutes.

CHEEKSON THE RUN — Philadelphia 76ers Maurice Cheeks is pursued by Milwaukee Bucks' Brian Winters during third quarter NBA playoff action Sunday in Philadelphia. Cheeks scored 26 points to lead the 76ers to a 111-109 overtime victory.

76ers fight back tough Bucks rally

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Clint Richardson shook his head in disbelief.

"Never in my life have I scored all the points in an overtime period," the three-year pro from Seattle said.

The 6-foot-3 Richardson scored all seven of Philadelphia's points Sunday in overtime as the 76ers beat the Milwaukee Bucks 111-109 in the first of their best-of-seven series for the National Basketball Association's Eastern Conference championship.

The second game will be played Wednesday, then the action shifts to Milwaukee for the weekend.

The winner will face the Western Conference champions for the NBA title. The Los Angeles Lakers beat the San Antonio Spurs 119-107 Sunday in the first game of that series.

Guard Maurice Cheeks led the 76ers' scoring with 26 points, and gimpy Andrew Toney scored 22. But Richardson was the star of the game and even overshadowed Marques Johnson, who topped all scorers with 30 for the Bucks.

The 76ers led in the second period by 16 points, but Milwaukee rallied to trail by just two at halftime, 59-57, with Johnson scoring the last 12 points in the comeback.

The Bucks got ahead for the first time at 90-89 when Johnson completed a 7-0 fourth-period spurt. The 76ers went ahead again on a driving shot by Toney, but the score was tied four times, ending in regulation at 104-104 after a short hook by Milwaukee's Junior Bridgeman.

In the overtime, Richardson tied the score at 106, and after Milwaukee went ahead 109-106 with 2:14 left, he made two free throws and the winning basket.

Richardson gave Bobby Jones credit for the game winner.

"I got a good pass from Bobby, and I said to myself, 'Nobody is going to block this shot.'"

The play began with Jones stealing the inbound pass by Milwaukee's Alan Lister after Richardson's two free throws. Jones flipped the ball to Richardson, who leaped and dunked it to give the 76ers a 110-109 lead.

Richardson scored the final point on a free throw with nine seconds left.

Richardson said he wasn't looking to score during the overtime.

"My philosophy in a situation like that is play good defense and keep the other team from scoring," he said.

Milwaukee still had another chance. With two seconds left, Brian Winters launched a three-point shot that bounced off the front of the rim, after Johnson had missed two free throws with 26 seconds to go.

"I was worried on that last shot (by Winters)," Philadelphia Coach Billy Cunningham said.

"It looked straight as an arrow to me."

Milwaukee Coach Don Nelson declined to talk about his team's strategy against the 76ers' huge center, Moses Malone, who scored just 14 points and made 12 rebounds.

But Nelson didn't have to spell it out. The Bucks collapsed everybody on Malone inside, but they also allowed Cheeks and Toney to buried them from the outside.

McEnroe puts quick stops to Gerulaitis

NEW YORK (AP) — With his second consecutive title in his pocket, John McEnroe now is taking aim on the French Open.

"It's really nice to win on clay," McEnroe said after downing Vitas Gerulaitis in straight sets Sunday to capture the $500,000 Mercedes Tournament of Champions at the West Side Tennis Club. "Until now, I basically have won nothing on clay."

The victory on the Har-Tru courts at Forest Hills, where the U.S. Open was staged until 1978, followed by one week McEnroe's five-set victory over Ivan Lendl of Czechoslovakia to win the WCT Finals at Dallas.

"I feel good about that match in Dallas, to win it in five sets," the New York left-hander said. "It was nice to win these last two weeks, but it's not the French Open." The first of tennis' Grand Slam events — the others are Wimbledon and the U.S.

T of C Tennis

and Australian Opens — will be staged at Paris' Roland Garros Stadium beginning May 23. McEnroe, who has been hobbled with a shoulder injury and suffered a thigh muscle strain during the tournament here, said he will make up his mind by the end of this week as to whether he will enter.

"I have to be more physically fit," he said, noting that where the T of C is best-of-three sets, the French Open is best-of-five on slow, red European clay.

But, his semifinal win over Argentina's Guillermo Vilas and his 6-3, 7-5 victory over Gerulaitis in Sunday's final has proven to McEnroe that he can play successfully on clay.

"McEnroe is a threat anywhere," Gerulaitis said after the match. "He is more patient. He has more experience. He's definitely playing better."

McEnroe mixed touch and power, adding a dash of panache to stop Gerulaitis for the first time in their three meetings on clay.

The left-hander broke his fellow New Yorker at love in the fourth game of the first set, then the two traded service breaks in the sixth and seventh games. That left McEnroe with a 5-2 lead, and he wrapped up the set at love on his next serve.

With lobs and drop shots, McEnroe continued to keep Gerulaitis off balance in the second set, although the blond right-hander fought his foe on even terms through the first 10 games.

But in the 11th, McEnroe jumped out to a 15-40 lead as Gerulaitis made three errors. One point later, McEnroe earned the break with a rifling forehand passing shot down the line.

With victory riding on his own serve, McEnroe wrapped up the match, losing only one point when he double-faulted.

Gerulaitis earned $40,000 for his effort. Johan Kriek and Tracy Delatte teamed up to defeat the top-seeded team of Steve Denton and South Africa's Kevin Curren to capture the doubles title 6-7, 7-5, 6-3.

Graham triumphs in final round

THE WOODLANDS, Texas (AP) — David Graham's biggest mistake of the tournament turned out to be the biggest comeback of the 1983 pro golf tour.

Graham, winless since making a dramatic comeback to win the 1981 U.S. Open, ignored the trauma of a quadruple bogey on the first hole in Saturday's third round and rallied to a five-stroke victory Sunday in the final round of the $400,000 Houston Coca Cola Open.

Graham got his revenge on the No. 1 hole with the first of seven birdies to start Sunday's round and finished with a seven-under par 64 for a 275 total, nine under par for the tournament.

It was the biggest comeback on the tour this season, but it was made possible, Graham said, by overcoming his mistake in playing the No. 1 hole on Saturday.

"I kept telling my caddy it would be a hard pill to swallow if I got beat by one or two shots," Graham said.

As he walked through the first hole on Saturday, Graham said he realized he should have taken a penalty stroke and started over on the first hole.

"That was my fault, I could maybe have turned it into a six instead of the nine," Graham said.

But Graham covered all his mistakes Sunday, as he played almost flawlessly. The third-day leader, Doug Tewell, blew to a final round 78 and gallery favorite Lee Trevino ended his bid for victory with a two-over-par 73 to finish in a three-way tie for second with Lee Elder and Jim Thorpe with a 280 total.

Elder shot a final-round 69 and Thorpe had a 70.

Graham started Sunday's final round five strokes off the pace and when he reached No. 17 and saw on the leader board that he was five shots in the lead, he couldn't believe it.

"I turned to my caddy and said

"what the hell is going on here," Graham said.

Graham's comeback was similar to the 1981 U.S. Open when he rallied from three strokes down to beat George Burns and Bill Rogers for the title. But there is no comparing the two comebacks, Graham said.

"It's a different golf course, this course is much easier than Merion (at Ardmore, Pa.)," Graham said. "The pressure is different. This is not the U.S. Open."

"But the last two days I really did play well. I hit it long and straight and the big thing for me today was that I made my putts. You can't score in the 60s if you don't make your putts."

It all started at the No. 1 tee. Graham said he reached the par-5 first green in two shots, two putted for his birdie and then said "stick that in your ear," and got on with the rest of the round.

Graham earned $72,000 for his victory and the three runnersup got $29,867 each.

CHAMP WEARS A SMILE — David Graham looks confident as he comes onto the 17th green Sunday in the final round of the Houston Open. Graham started the final round with a two under par and finished nine under with a 275.

Late Brewer homer rips Rangers

WINS GOING AWAY — Janet Coles reacts as a putt misses its mark during Sunday's final round of the Lady Michelob LPGA tournament in Atlanta. Coles finished with a 10 under par 206, six strokes better than second place Sandra Post.

Coles dominates Lady Michelob

ROSWELL, Ga. (AP) — Janet Coles simply gave no one else a chance.

The 28-year-old Californian who had led after each of the first two rounds completed her task easily Sunday, shooting a steady 3-under-par 69 for a six-shot victory in the $150,000 Lady Michelob golf tournament.

It was only the second triumph of her career and the other was in the same event on the 6,123-yard Brookfield West Golf and Country Club course five years ago.

Lady Michelob

"This means more than the first one," she said. "The last six tournaments I've been in contention every week, then finally I won."

"It is good for my confidence," she said.

Coles left little room for excitement Sunday, building a commanding five-shot advantage with seven holes to play on her way to the 10-under-par 206 total that broke the tournament record of 207 set by Kathy Whitworth last year.

"She had the momentum," said Sandra Post, who finished second at 72-212, and made only a brief, early run at Coles.

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Odell Jones remembered the pitch he used to strike out Robin Yount. The trouble was, Yount remembered it, too.

"Jones struck me out on a fastball on the outside part of the plate the other night," Yount said, recalling an embarrassing, bases-loaded strikeout Friday night against the Texas Rangers.

The Milwaukee shortstop didn't let it happen again, though. Faced with another crucial situation, Yount belted a three-run homer this time against the Texas reliever with one out in the ninth inning Sunday to give the Brewers a 6-3 victory.

"You've got to look for his fastball because that's his strength," Yount said. "This time he threw me a fastball inside. I was fortunate to get the bat around quick enough to hit it."

Jones, of course, was looking to duplicate Friday night's result — or at least keep the ball in the park.

"I wanted the pitch more inside, hoping for a ground ball," said Jones. "I didn't make the pitch where I wanted. I got him Friday, but today he was lucky."

Royals 6, Blue Jays 1

George Brett hit his eighth home run of the season, a two-run blast in the fifth, and Steve Renko scattered six hits in 7-2/3 innings to lead Kansas City over Toronto.

Renko, 2-2, struck out four and walked two before needing relief help in the eighth from Dan Quisenberry, who recorded his seventh save.

Double play spells doom as Astros fall

ATLANTA (AP) — Braves reliever Terry Forster was all concentration when he came in with one out and the bases loaded in the ninth and induced Houston pinch hitter Tim Tolman to hit into "a pitcher's best friend."

The game-ending double-play in the Braves' 4-3 victory Sunday came after Atlanta manager Joe Torre and the Astros' Bob Lillis engaged in a classic battle of managerial wits. Torre won.

"You normally wouldn't let a left-handed pitcher face a right-handed batter in a situation like we had," Torre said. "But all their experience and power is left-handed. So it worked out just as I hoped it would."

The Astros had scored a run on consecutive singles by Tony Scott, Dickie Thon and Phil Garner to pull to within a run of the Braves and reliever Gene Garber had just walked Ray Knight intentionally to load the bases.

Lillis brought in lefty Denny Walling to face the right-handed Garber. But Torre then replaced Garber with the left-handed Forster, prompting Lillis to remove Walling for right-handed Tolman.

Mets 10, Reds 5

The New York Mets are beginning to put things together, with Jesse Orosco and George Foster leading the way. And Cincinnati Manager Russ Nixon is about to take something apart, namely his pitching staff.

Brett's homer, which extended his hitting streak to 19 games and raised his RBI total to 26, keyed a three-run Kansas City fifth.

Tigers 5, Angels 1

Howard Johnson and Lance Parrish hit home runs and Jack Morris pitched a five-hitter to lead Detroit over California. Morris, 3-4, struck out eight and did not walk a batter, giving up the Angels' only run in the eighth on Daryl Sconiers' RBI triple.

Johnson hit a full-count pitch off California starter Ken Forsch, 3-1, for his first homer of the year. Kirk

American League

Gibson walked and scored on Parrish's third homer of the year.

Mariners 4, Red Sox 2

Matt Young pitched a shutout for five innings before retiring with a bruised shoulder and Seattle hung on to snap Boston's five-game winning streak.

Young, 3-3, was struck behind the left shoulder by a line drive hit back to the mound by Jeff Newman in the fifth. The ball caromed high in the air to shortstop Todd Cruz for the putout. Young remained in the game but was forced to leave when the arm stiffened while warming up the next inning.

The Mets rallied on Sunday from a 5-0 deficit and beat the Reds 10-5 — thanks to some perfect relief by Orosco and Foster's three-run homer. On Friday night, New York rallied from a 3-0 deficit and beat the Reds 7-4 in 13 innings thanks to some perfect relief by Orosco and Foster's three-run homer.

"I'm beginning to get superstitious," said Mets Manager George Bamberger. "Maybe there's something to that Orosco-Foster business. I'll have to look out for that."

National League

Giants 12, Pirates 1

Darrell Evans and the Giants are on a tear. His two home runs Sunday — five RBI — and homer on Saturday have helped San Francisco win five in a row. "These kind of things come in streaks," said Evans. "I'd been waiting a long time."

"I was hoping we'd put a streak like this together," added Giants Manager Frank Robinson. "I can't say I knew it could or would happen, but I was sure hoping. Now we're close to .500, and I know the fans consider that a kind of magic number."

Twins 6, Yankees 5

Gary Ward hit a three-run double in a five-run fifth inning and Gary Gaetti decided the game with a sacrifice fly in the seventh as Minnesota beat New York and ended a six-game losing streak.

Reliever Len Whitehouse, 3-1, gained the victory after taking over for starter Bobby Castillo in the seventh and pitching hitless relief. New York reliever Dale Murray, 0-1, took the loss.

Indians 13, White Sox 6

Julio Franco's three-run homer capped a wild, six-run sixth inning, leading Cleveland over Chicago. The White Sox made three of their six errors in the sixth, which also included two wild pitches by reliever Steve Mura.

Franco also singled in a run in the fifth when the Indians scored four times.

Winner Bert Blyleven, 3-3, gave up six hits in seven innings. The White Sox scored five runs off reliever Dan Spillner, including a two-run homer by Jerry Hairston in a four-run ninth.

A's 1, Orioles 0

Wayne Gross hit a leadoff home run in the eighth, powering Oakland over Baltimore in a rain-delayed game. The game was delayed a half-hour in starting by rain, was held up for one hour in the first inning, halted for 48 more minutes in the eighth, and then delayed a fourth time for 23 minutes.

Blitz blisters Federals in 31-3 romp

By The Associated Press

The powerhouse teams of the United States Football League lived up to their billing over the weekend, headed by Chicago's 31-3 romp over the hapless Washington Federals.

In Sunday games, the victory by the Blitz, 7-3, kept them in a tie for the Central Division lead with the Tampa Bay Bandits, who survived a furious Oakland rally for a 17-10 victory over the Invaders.

Elsewhere Sunday, the Philadelphia Stars, topping the new league with a 9-1 record, had to rely on David Trout's strong right foot to squeeze out a 6-3 triumph over the Denver Gold.

On Saturday, the Michigan Panthers, 6-4, remained one game behind Chicago and Tampa Bay in the competitive Central Division with their fifth straight triumph, a 21-10 victory over the Arizona Wranglers at Tempe, Ariz., and the Los Angeles Express, 5-5, held onto a one-game lead in the Pacific Division by tipping the Boston Breakers 23-20.

Philadelphia's Kelvin Bryant ran for 94 yards against the Gold, moving at least briefly into a tie with Herschel Walker of the New Jersey Generals for the league rushing lead with a total of 1,023 yards. However, Walker, who has had five straight rushing performances over 100 yards, and his teammates play tonight against the Birmingham Stallions.

Jimmy Jordan, who later left the game with a separated shoulder, fired touchdown passes to Eric Truvillion and Danny Buggs to lead the Bandits. Jordan became a starter when John Reeves broke his wrist three weeks ago. About 10,000 of the 26,989 ticketholders were no-shows for the nationally televised game at Oakland, where the Invaders trailed 17-0 after three quarters. The Oakland rally fell short despite a 3-yard touchdown run by quarterback Fred Besana and a 30-yard field goal by Kevin Shea.

At Chicago, Tim Spencer and Kevin Long each scored two touchdowns for the Blitz. The Federals, 1-9, have now lost six straight, but they averted a shutout when Dale Castro booted a 21-yard field goal in the third period following a 55-yard pass from Kim McQuilken to Billy Taylor. That was the longest play by the Federals this season and the longest play allowed by Chicago's league-leading defense.

McQuilken started in place of Mike Hohensee, who was hospitalized moments before the game with what doctors diagnosed as an appendicitis attack. The hard-luck Hohensee missed several games early in the season due to an injury.

Trout converted field goals of 53 — the longest of his career — and 18 yards for the Stars, sending Denver to its sixth defeat in 10 games. The Gold had an opportunity to tie the game with 2:07 remaining after driving to the Stars' 6-yard line. However, Brian Speelman, who hit on a 23-yarder in the second quarter, never got the 23-yard field goal attempt off because the ball was snapped wide to the right of holder Ken Johnson and Philadelphia recovered the ball.

Michigan's Whit Taylor, a rookie from Vanderbilt, replaced starter Bobby Hebert, out after complaining of dizziness following a hard hit, in the second half and directed a pair of third-quarter scoring drives. Two of the Michigan touchdowns were set up by long pass plays to wide receiver Anthony Carter and the other came on Taylor's 51-yard bomb to wide receiver Derek Holloway. Taylor completed five of eight passes for 198 yards.

Pandas top Elks in girls softball

The Kiwanis Purple Pandas picked up their second win in two days Friday when they slipped by Elks Lodge 10-7 in girls softball action.

Jennifer Hernandez was winning pitcher for the Purple Pandas. Michelle Chavarria was loser.

The Elks scored a run in the top of the first, but fell behind quickly as the Purple Pandas pulled together four runs in the first and four in the second. Elks Lodge scored three runs in the third and three in the fourth, but they were not enough to overtake the Kiwanis girls.

Both teams picked up three hits in the game. Pam Gill had two hits for the Pandas.

In an earlier game, the Pandas tripped the Eagles 14-8 as Gill scattered seven hits to pick up the pitching win. She had three hits while JoAnn Gonzales went 2-for-3. Karma Morrow had three hits and Ashley Erickson two for the Eagles.

The Eagles led 3-2 entering the bottom of the third inning but the Pandas scored six runs in their next two turns at bat to run away with the win.

In other games, the First National Bank Green Bombers started their season with a 25-4 victory over the Gressett Gulf Stingers and returned with a 7-5 win over the Downtown Lions Rebels.

Against the Stingers, Brenda Hernandez slugged three homers,

Katrina Thompson and Lori Gonzales pounded two and Debbie Lee hit another to pace the Bombers. Lisa Alvarez hit the Stingers' only homer.

Thompson legged out an inside the park homer for the Bombers against the Rebels. Gonzales, Hernandez, Lee, Veronica Viera, Janette Ferguson and Mandy Franklin contributed hits to the Bombers' victory.

The Security State Bank Blue Jays defeated the Gressett Gulf Stingers 26-17 in a game Friday. Connie Edens picked up the win and Nikki Rodriguez was charged with the loss.

Nikki Rogriquez pounded out three doubles and a single and Danelle Castillo hit a homer and three doubles to lead the Blue Jays offense.

For the Stingers, Liza Alvarez hit a homer and two doubles.

Yankees, Rangers are LL victors

The Dibrell's Yankees and the Big Spring Herald Rangers collected victories this weekend in National Little League play.

The Yankees fought past the State National Bank Cardinals 10-5 Friday. Wade Salvato picked up the win. Juan Somaro was charged with the loss.

Garry Watkins went an inning of relief for the Yanks and Billy Hicks helped out in the last inning for the Cardinals.

Salvato collected two singles and James Williamson collected two for the Yankees. Top hitters for the Cardinals were D.J. Tedesco with two singles, John Sotelo with three singles, and Jamie Moss and Mark Richardson with one single each.

Both teams committed two errors. There were no homeruns.

Thomas Moore went the distance, struck out 14 batters and gave up five hits to lead the Rangers to victory. Tracy Hudgins went three innings and Chad Soles went three for the Lions. Hudgins was charged with the loss.

Both teams committed three errors.

This was the first defeat for the Lions. They have won three. The Yankees are also 3-1. The Rangers stand at 2-2 and the Cardinals are winless in four outings.

Women's golf tournament ends

Bernice Jordan scored a 149 to win the Handicap and Putting Tournament held by the Women's Golf Association of the Big Spring Country Club.

The tournament ended Saturday. Peggy Marshall and Flo Hallam tied for second one stroke back at 150. June Waters took third with a total of 151. Beth Tevis and Jennan Cook tied for fourth at 153.

In the putting contest, Eileen Womack won first with 55 putts, Margy Thompson was second with 59, Mauvis Jones took third with 63 and Madeline Atkins was fourth with 64.

Regular weekly play is Tuesday. Tee-off time is 9:30 a.m.

DENNIS THE MENACE

"I WAS TRYING TO TELL TIME BUT THE LITTLE HAND IS ON THREE AND THE BIG HAND IS ON THE FLOOR."

THE FAMILY CIRCUS

"Can I keep him, Mommy? He followed me home."

Your Daily HOROSCOPE

from the CARROLL RIGTER INSTITUTE

FORECAST FOR TUESDAY, MAY 10, 1983

GENERAL TENDENCIES: Until sundown you have much foresight and are able to accomplish a great deal. Be prepared to extend your influence and activities beyond present boundaries. Make plans for the future.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Studying details of a new project is wise. Be sure to get the advice of higher-ups you know. Strengthen your aim in life.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Use your intuition in the morning and learn how to get along better with others. Handle new duties efficiently.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Make sure you follow through on any promises made and then you can relax happily later in the day. Be wise.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) You can now accomplish a great deal during the day if you apply yourself seriously. Take health treatments.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Engage in a commercial enterprise with increased confidence. Your creativity is high early in the day. Keep poised.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) If you listen to the views of others at home, you can make conditions there more harmonious. Strive for happiness.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 23) Do whatever will improve regular routines. Find the right appliances to make working conditions easier. Relax tonight.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Study financial matters of importance before making an investment. Go to the right sources for the data you need.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Give more thought to your personal life and make constructive plans for the future. Keep up your appearance.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) If you are objective in the handling of your affairs, you get excellent results now. Obtain the information you need.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Ideal day to get together with good friends and discuss mutual aims. Attend an important social affair tonight.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Engage in a civic affair and improve your position in the community. Show others that you have wisdom.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he or she will be one who will speak up at every opportunity, and should first learn to have the correct facts and figures before speaking. Include foreign languages in the education since there could be much travel here.

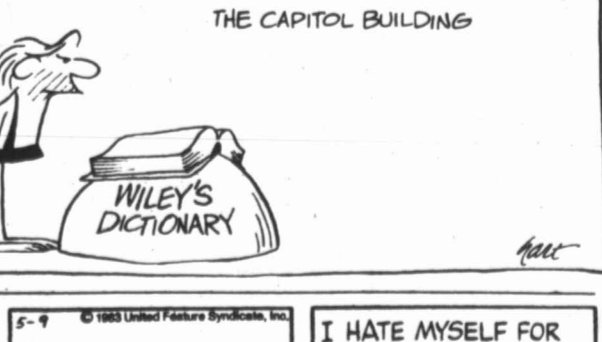

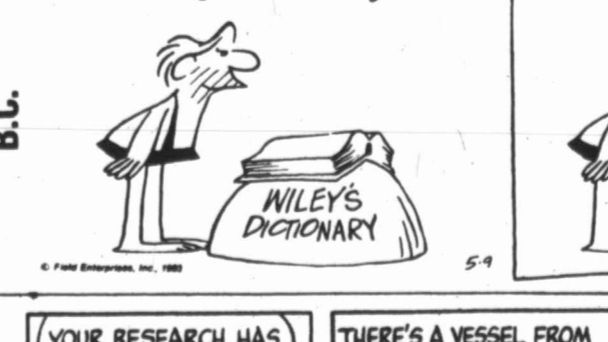

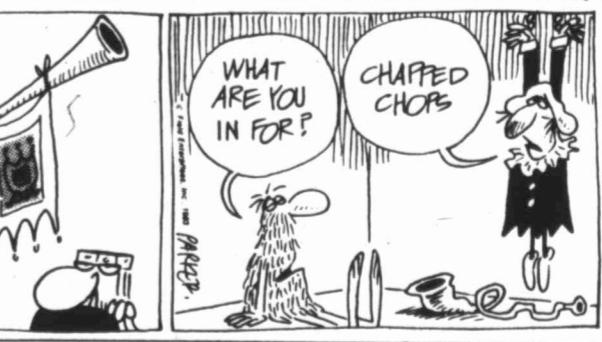

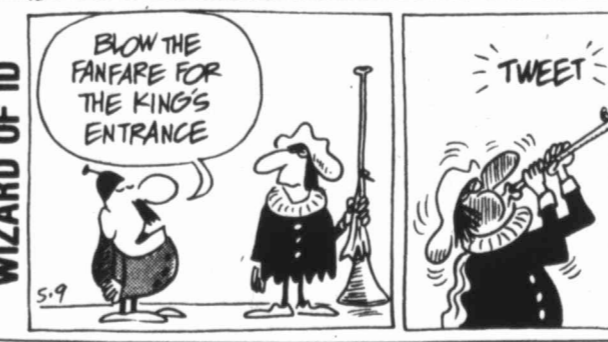

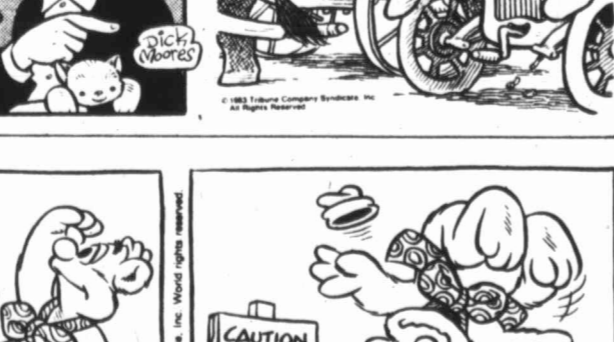

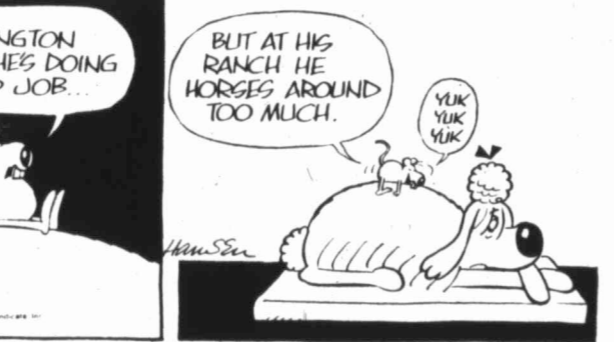

"The Stars impel, they do not compel." What you make of your life is largely up to you!
