

Panel OK's $3.9 million SWCID appropriation

Harte-Hanks Austin Bureau
AUSTIN — A House-Senate budget conference committee has approved a $3.9 million appropriation for the Southwest Collegiate Institute for the Deaf in Big Spring.

The joint budget panel opted for that appropriation during its weekend deliberations. The 10-member conference committee will continue its work Monday afternoon in an effort to resolve differences in a House-passed $30.83 billion state spending plan and a Senate-adopted $30.97 billion two-year budget.

The House budget included the $3.9 million appropriation to the Howard County Junior College District to help fund SWCID during the two-year fiscal cycle that begins Sept. 1.

The Senate budget proposal, however, recommended a $2 million, two-year, appropriation for SWCID. An additional $1.9 million was included in a separate $2.1 billion "wish list" that could be funded only with a tax hike.

Such tax hikes must originate in the House where lawmakers have been reticent to even discuss the matter.

The $3.9 million SWCID appropriation, like the final conference committee report, still must be approved by both houses before it heads to Gov. Mark White for his review.

Howard County Junior College District officials, including president Charles Hayes, have threatened to close the deaf school unless they received a minimum $3.9 million appropriation.

The district currently subsidizes the deaf school, located at the old Webb Air Force Base. Legislative proposals by Rep. Larry Don Shaw, D-Big Spring and Sen. John Montford, D-Lubbock, would make the school part of the Coordinating Board, Texas College and University System.

Approval of that legislation would remove a legal cloud that has hampered the junior college district's ability to use state money for construction and renovation projects at the school.

The proposals, however, are trapped in an end of the session committee logjam and aren't likely to be approved.

Rain dance

CRMWD hopes 'seeding' will yield rain

By MIKE DOWNEY
Staff Writer

Whenever promising clouds gather in the sky, Colorado River Municipal Water District employees begin their rainmaking dance.

But their dance doesn't involve chants and clanky convoluted machinery and smoke bombs — they use a Piper Navajo plane to "seed" the clouds with silver iodide flares.

The CRMWD has been conducting its weather modification program for 12 years, according to consultant Joe Pickle. Cloud seeding itself does not actually create rain out of nothing, Pickle said.

"The fundamental thing is you got to have a cloud to seed," Pickle said.

Convective or cumulus storm clouds are the only ones selected for seeding, Pickle said. The period seeding normally occurs is from March 15 to October 15 — the growing season — he said.

"Basically we try to squeeze it out of the sky," Pickle said.

Three results are sought through the weather modification cloud seeding program. Officials want to determine if cloud seeding works and, if so, if it will increase water run-off into area lakes. A third outcome is whether or not increased rainfall means increased agricultural output.

The majority of funding for the program comes from the state, Pickle said. Threatened with water importation, officials are looking at weather modification as a cheaper and easier process, he said.

Cloud seeding involves a small aircraft equipped with 12-flare racks on each wing. Flares are ignited near the base of promising clouds so silver iodide crystals will be drawn into the updraft, Pickle said.

"It is like a giant heat pump and sucks in crystals that can form moisture easier," Pickle said. "It (the iodide crystals) accelerates the process."

The idea is to promote growth of moderate storm cells into significant ones, Pickle said.

Seeding requires some care by the pilots, Pickle said. The convective clouds can create treacherous winds within their interior, the former Herald editor said.

"A few years ago, a pilot didn't get away in time and it beat the whey out of him," Pickle said.

Statistics over the 12-year program indicate some positive success, according to CRMWD meteorologist Ray Pat Jones.

Within the cloud seeding target areas, rainfall has increased 42 percent while outside the target areas it has gone up only 15 percent, Jones said.

Cotton yields show a greater increase, Jones said. Yields show a 54 percent increase in seeded counties compared to only 9 percent in upwind counties, Jones said.

The figures used compare rainfall and cotton yields with a 35-year period prior to inception of the weather modification program, he added.

Lubbock girl seriously injured in one of three county wrecks

A 17-year-old Lubbock girl was seriously injured Friday in one of three Howard County automobile wrecks this weekend that sent five persons to hospitals.

Natalie F. Ryan of Gail Route is in Lubbock General Hospital today in serious condition with a broken back, possible spinal cord injuries and several broken ribs, according to a hospital spokeswoman.

Miss Ryan was injured Friday at 12:15 a.m. when the pickup she was driving failed to make a curve on FM 669 10 miles north of Big Spring, according to the Department of Public Safety. Her vehicle overturned twice, and she was thrown from the wreck, according to DPS reports.

Miss Ryan was transported to Malone-Hogan Hospital by ambulance and then transferred to Lubbock, according to Malone-Hogan Hospital emergency personnel.

Two persons were injured at 2 a.m. Saturday in a one-car accident when their vehicle went out of control on U.S. 87 4½ miles north of Big Spring.

Robert Lee Oliver, 18, of Gail Route and Jack Crawford, 18, of 511 Benton were both admitted to Malone-Hogan Hospital with possible severe injuries, according to the DPS. However, both were released Sunday, according to a hospital spokeswoman.

of Life to rescue an Odessa man from a station wagon Sunday morning after it had run off the road into a ditch and rolled over on the 2100 block of West Third.

Bobby Jack Ryan, 52, is listed in satisfactory condition in the Malone-Hogan Hospital intensive care unit, and the driver, Betty Ryan, 55, is in good condition at the hospital, a hospital spokeswoman said.

Police reports said Mrs. Ryan lost control of the car about 12:57 a.m. Sunday as she drove west on Third street. The vehicle apparently ran off the road into a ditch near Pronto Drive-In Grocery and rolled over.

Police cited Mrs. Ryan for failure to control speed to avoid an accident and for no driver's license.

General Telephone strike averted

SAN ANGELO (AP) — A strike against General Telephone of the Southwest by the Communications Workers of America was averted late Sunday when a settlement was reached on a new labor agreement.

Both sides announced the agreement just 14 minutes before the old contract was to expire.

Workers were to report to their jobs today, officials said.

Terms of the agreement were not released, pending a ratification vote, negotiators for both sides said.

"The whole contract was a stumbling block," said Paul Gray, CWA District 12 vice president.

The new contract is to be ratified by mail ballots sent to union membership employed by General Telephone in Oklahoma, Arkansas, New Mexico and Texas, officials said.

The company employs 9,200 workers in those four states, "the vast majority of whom are union members," said union negotiator T.O. Moses.

LENDING A HAND — Members of the Big Spring Federal Camp Jaycees participated in a Big Spring Chamber of Commerce Beautification Committee project this weekend. Anthony Brooks, left, and Luis Tamez, right, were two among several men who Painted the planters in downtown Big Spring. Members of area garden clubs plan to replant the planters later this month. May is being observed as Beautification Month in Big Spring.

Gunshots fired; three men arrested

Three Big Spring men in a 1980 black Cadillac with a license plate that reads "Nunez 1" were arrested early Sunday morning on suspicion of firing gunshots at Mary's Disco Palace on the 200 block of Runnels.

Eugene Deleon, 21, of 1504 Mesquite, Armando Deleon, 25, of Route 1 and Richard Nunez, 21, of 710 N. Scurry, were all arrested in connection with the shooting. Eugene Deleon and Nunez are suspected of unlawful carrying of a weapon and aggravated assault and Armando Deleon of aggravated assault.

Police said they also arrested Raymond Torres, 27, of Lamesa on suspicion of carrying a prohibited weapon. Reports said officers saw Torres drive past the nightclub in a 1979 green Thunderbird and stopped him because he was suspected to be involved with the assault. A switchblade knife was found in his possession, Lt. Alvis Jeffcoat said.

Police arrested the men after club manager Emeterio Lozano, 34, of Midland told police that men

Objections to delay troop withdrawal

The Lebanese Parliament unanimously endorsed the U.S.-mediated troop withdrawal agreement with Israel today, despite Syrian objections that will delay its implementation. The Israeli Knesset convened in Jerusalem to consider formal approval of the accord. Lebanon's state radio said all 80 members present out of the 91 members of Parliament voted in favor of the Lebanese government signing the agreement.

Authorities had ordered extra security for the session, and police sealed off approaches to the mid-city Parliament building. Lebanese President Amin Gemayel did not need the Parliament's approval to sign the pact, because of special powers the body granted him last year and renewed last week. But he wanted the vote as a sign of broad support for the agreement, for which Gemayel is trying to rally Arab backing. Israel's Parliament conducted what was expected to be a long debate in Jerusalem in preparation for a vote to approve a signing, which could take place Tuesday. Criticism of the agreement cut across party lines, but Prime Minister Menachem Begin's government was expected to win approval for the accord. "It is not absolutely good, but it can always be said that an agreement could be better," legislator Michael Kleiner of Begin's dominant Likud Party said, defending the pact.

Opposition Labor lawmaker Victor Shemtov criticized the agreement, saying the clause formally ending the state of war between Israel and Lebanon "is not worth the blood of one Israeli soldier."

Federal budget

Reagan urged to get involved

WASHINGTON (AP) — Republican Sen. Robert J. Dole and two House Democrats are urging President Reagan to get involved in congressional attempts to agree on a 1984 federal budget, with Dole observing that the stalled process is "not a spectator sport."

"...I hope the president might indicate he'd like to be a party to the budget process, even though it's a congressional discipline. It's not a spectator sport."

Frustrated Senate Republicans couldn't agree on a compromise budget plan last week and ordered the Budget Committee to come up with another plan by this Tuesday. But new attempts to compromise won't succeed if Reagan doesn't involve himself in the issue, Reps. Timothy E. Wirth, D-Colo., and Richard A. Gephardt of Missouri said Sunday on NBC's "Meet the Press." "It is absolutely imperative that the Senate Republicans get a budget ... and that means the president must become involved," Gephardt said. "We will have a budget that's actually between the two parties — a compromise — if and only if we can get the president engaged in the budget process," Wirth said. Dole, appearing on ABC's "This Week With David Brinkley," was saying much the same thing. "In my view it's time for the president to become part of the budget process. He is the president," the Kansas Republican said. "...I hope the president might indicate he'd like to be a party to the budget process, even though it's a congressional discipline. It's not a spectator sport," Dole added.

Reagan and Republican leaders in the Senate backed a plan last week that would have saved this year's individual tax cut, but at the cost of high budget deficits. A rival group of Republicans, however, wanted the tax reduction limited to $500 per taxpayer and refused to go along.

While awaiting a breakthrough on the budget, the Senate is turning its attention to the problem of illegal immigration. Debate was scheduled today on nearly 20 amendments to legislation overhauling the nation's immigration laws. A final vote on the bill is scheduled Tuesday.

The Senate also was taking up the nomination of William D. Ruckelshaus to be administrator of the Environmental Protection Agency today. The controversial nomination of Alfred S. Regnery to be administrator of the Office of Juvenile Justice and Delinquency Prevention is set to be considered on Tuesday.

The budget is scheduled for the docket Wednesday, followed by the MX missile proposal by the end of the week, if it clears committee.

In the House, the legislators will grapple with repeal of income tax withholding on interest and dividends, an increase in the national debt limit by nearly $100 billion and the Defense Department authorization.

The Foreign Affairs Committee will vote Wednesday on cutting off funds for support of the rebels opposing the Sandinista regime in Nicaragua.

And the House Agriculture Committee, in an effort to avoid as much controversy as possible, is putting before the House a simple one-year extension of federal pesticide regulation programs.

Weather

Texas skies clear

By The Associated Press
Mostly clear skies greeted Texans today following several mornings of heavy thunderstorms. Cloudy to partly cloudy skies lingered across the Lower Rio Grande Valley before dawn while a few high clouds drifted over the Panhandle. Pre-dawn temperatures ranged from 42 at Amarillo to 69 at Brownsville. Northerly winds at 5 to 10 mph were common over Central and East Texas, while southeasterly breezes under 10 mph were the rule over West Texas. The forecast called for a warming trend to begin Tuesday, bringing humid conditions and a chance of thunderstorms back to the state Tuesday night and Wednesday.

Thunderstorms arched through Dixie today, leaving as much as 2½ inches of rain over southern Louisiana and causing locally heavy flooding in Kentucky, while freezing temperatures chilled the upper Midwest.

The National Weather Service said rain extended from southern Louisiana across the Deep South, up through Virginia, Maryland, Pennsylvania and New York state through southern and central New England.

West Texas — Mostly sunny south through Tuesday. Partly cloudy with widely scattered showers and thunderstorms Panhandle and South Plains tonight and Tuesday. Cooler north Tuesday. Highs 75 Panhandle to 87 south and 86 Big Bend. Lows 54 Panhandle and mountains to 64 south. Highs Tuesday 72 Panhandle to 86 south and near 100 Big Bend.

"Losing Hair?" Try This At No Risk

HOUSTON, Texas — For years "they said it couldn't be done." But, now a firm of laboratory consultants has developed a treatment for "sebum" hair loss, that is not only stopping hair loss — but is really growing hair!

They don't even ask you to take their word for it. They invite you to try the treatment for 32 days, at their risk, and see for yourself!

Naturally, they would not offer this opportunity unless the treatment worked. However, it is impossible to help everyone.

The great majority of cases of excessive hair fall and baldness are the beginning and more fully developed stages of male pattern baldness and cannot be helped. But, how can you be sure what is actually causing your hair loss? Even if baldness may seem to "run in the family," it is certainly not proof of the cause of YOUR hair loss. Many conditions can cause hair loss.

Hair loss caused by sebum can also run in your family, and, if you wait until you are slick bald and your hair roots are dead, you are beyond help.

So, if you still have any hair on top of your head, and would like to stop your hair loss and grow more hair... now is the time to do something about it before it's too late.

Loesch Laboratory Consultants, Inc. will supply you with treatment for 32 days — at their risk — if they believe the treatment will help you. Just send them the information listed below. All inquiries are answered confidentially, by mail. ADV

Syrian armies dig new positions, Bekaa residents become nervous

BAALBEK, Lebanon (ap) — Bright yellow tractors scoop up the red soil of the Bekaa, making earthworks to protect Soviet-built tanks. Throughout the valley, which runs through heart of Lebanon, Syrian soldiers are digging new positions.

"Do you think war will come to Baalbek?" asks a young man in this Syrian-Palestinian stronghold. "If it does, we will be hurt. There are too many armies."

On a recent day's drive from Baalbek south, past the towns of Rayak and Terbol to the Beirut-Damascus highway, Syrian men and equipment could be seen constructing new installations. The work is underway as the Lebanese government calls on Syria to remove its estimated 40,000 soldiers from Lebanon and thus clear the way for Israel to withdraw its troops as well. For now, Israeli and Syrian troops confront each other, and the Israelis are reluctant to pull back until the Syrians do likewise. Shored-up Syrian positions could come in handy in case the Israelis decided to attack from their positions to the south and west in an attempt to drive the Syrians from Lebanon.

Farmers work the Bekaa also, tending their grain fields and orchards, which stretch across the valley toward snow-capped mountains. Residents say the Syrian army has been telling farmers to shut off their irrigation equipment, and the implication is that tanks maneuver better on dry ground.

In Baalbek, residents say the Syrians and Palestinians have been reinforcing their garrisons during the past two weeks. U.S. officials have reported that about 1,500 Palestinians as well as some Syrian troops have entered Lebanon from Syria during the past 10 days.

Some of the Palestinians are believed to be from PLO units evacuated to Syria from Beirut last summer following the Israeli siege of the city.

"Every day they are building new positions," one resident said. "We are seeing new faces here all the time."

In the hills outside of town is a unit of Iranian Revolutionary Guards. Israeli frontline positions are less than 30 miles to the south.

Residents had heard rumors of dissension among Palestine Liberation Organization units in the area but had no first hand information on any mutiny as alleged by PLO sources in Damascus who oppose PLO chairman Yasser Arafat.

PLO commanders have been refusing to see Western reporters who come to the Bekaa.

70-year-old ship sails on private aid mission

ST. AUGUSTINE, Fla. (AP) — A 70-year-old vessel has embarked on a private aid mission to the Caribbean, its hold packed with farm equipment, medical supplies and soybeans for poverty-stricken island nations.

The Fri, long associated with environmental and world peace movements, left St. Augustine on Sunday for some of the poorest countries in the Western Hemisphere.

The 106-foot vessel, built in 1912, carried solar water heaters, tools and equipment for island schools, vitamins and members of PLENTY, a volunteer group on its own Caribbean initiative.

"We're just trying to do something real and sane in a world that's not too sane sometimes," said Sean McCarthy, a seven-year resident of the Fri, a Tennessee commune where PLENTY was started.

McCarthy and 15 others, including a child, are making the one-month voyage to the islands, where they say most of the population is undernourished or starving.

They plan to visit St. Vincent, St. Lucia, Dominica, Antigua and Haiti, where PLENTY has been involved with Mother Theresa's order, the Missionaries of Charity.

UPGRADED EQUIPMENT — Anne Looney, an employee in the laboratory at the Veterans Administration Medical Center, demonstrates the Honeywell Differential Cell Counter at a recent open house at the facility. Open house was held in conjunction with National Hospital Week, which concluded Saturday.

Open House marks 'Hospital Week'

National Hospital Week, May 8-14, was observed with an open house at the Veterans Administration Medical Center.

Points of interest during the open house was a tour of renovated facilities at the hospital. Among areas being renovated are the ambulatory care unit, the canteen, the learning resource center, the main entrance and lobby, and patient privacy rooms.

Other areas are the upgraded fire alarm system, the patient recreation hall and the surgical intensive care unit.

According to hospital personnel, most wards at VAMC have undergone some type of renovation and many areas are still under construction.

VAMC operates 223 beds for medicine, surgery, psychiatry and intermediate medical care. An additional 40 beds are assigned to a nursing home care unit. The primary service area consists of 54 counties within which 128,600 veterans reside.

Surgical services include general surgery, orthopedic, intensive care unit, urology, anesthesiology, podiatry, thoracic, vascular and ophthalmology.

VAMC is affiliated with the Texas Tech University School of Medicine, Howard College nursing program and Our Lady of the Lake School of Social Work.

Dr. Donohue

Woman worries about hypoglycemia

Dear Dr. Donohue: I am a 55-year-old woman. I have always been healthy, but in recent months I have noticed a nervousness and fast heart that usually comes on a couple of hours after I eat, particularly after an evening meal, but also in mid-afternoon. Do I have low blood sugar? Can it be caused by a tumor. I worry about this particularly, because I read of the tumor problem recently. — Mrs. F.F.

Low blood sugar (hypoglycemia) is one of the most self-diagnosed illnesses of our society, but that does not mean it isn't a very real medical problem. Let me try to put it in perspective for you.

There are two kinds of hypoglycemia. Let's talk about the tumor kind. The tumor is in the pancreas, the gland that produces insulin, the substance that "burns" sugar in the blood, keeping the sugar level on even keel. Now, since the tumor tissue mimics the actual gland, it begins making insulin. With too much insulin being produced, blood sugar levels drop and the symptoms (nervousness, etc) appear. That kind of hypoglycemia produces its symptoms upon waking in the morning. The extra insulin is being produced silently through the night, so the person awakes with a very low blood sugar level.

The other kind of hypoglycemia is called "reactive." It does not involve a tumor anywhere. It is, rather, a lack "fine tuning" of insulin. The results are the same, nervousness, fast heart, etc. The symptoms usually occur a couple of hours after the meal.

Do you have reactive hypoglycemia? I cannot say. Diagnosis requires a study of blood samples taken at regular intervals after drinking a glucose solution. Even then, tests may show abnormal drops in blood sugar without confirming hypoglycemia. Such drops can be normal for some people. But such tests along with reports of symptoms and a history can verify the problem. Since you have the symptoms, you should probably be examined. From what you tell me, if you do have hypoglycemia it would not be the tumor variety.

Dear Dr. Donohue: Do you have any information on solar urticaria? What causes it? How long does it last? How can it be avoided? — D.C.M.

Many physical agents cause urticaria (hives) in people susceptible in such skin problems. Coldness, water, and the sun are some of those precipitating agents. Solar (sun) urticaria causes the typical stinging and itching and welts of hives. Some people who are really sensitive may get chills, fever, stomach cramps, or may even faint.

For most, the symptoms subside in hours. Of course, avoidance of direct sunlight as much as possible is the way to avoid the problem. Sunscreen lotions help, and the drugs chloroquine or plaquenil can be given to increase the person's tolerance to sunlight.

Low blood sugar is often the cause of faintness, headaches, visual and emotional disturbances. To learn how it can be identified and brought under control, write to Dr.

Donohue, in care of the Big Spring Herald, P.O. Box 11210, Chicago, IL 60611, for a copy of "Help for Hypoglycemia," enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 50 cents.

Dear Abby Living Will

DEAR ABBY: I had given little thought to sending for a Living Will until recently when I witnessed the suffering of my sister. For seven long months she was kept alive with machinery. She didn't know anybody. She was unable to speak because of instruments in her throat, had to be fed through a pipe in her nose and couldn't even lift her arms to ease an itch! She was nearly 80, and I pray to God that I will not be forced to endure such torture if it is known that my illness is terminal. Please tell me where to write for a Living Will. Also tell me how much it costs, and I will gladly pay the price.

I am over 75 and I've lived my life. When my number is up, and it's God's will, I would like to die with dignity.

HAPPY MOTHER, DAUGHTER — Maria Bitting holds her terminally ill five-month-old daughter, Suzanne, on Sunday, the infants first day home from the hospital since birth. The Bittings want to keep Suzanne at home although doctors predicted she may die before her first birthday.

Little pioneer

Fatally ill infant comes home

TEANECK, N.J. (AP) — Maria Bitting says her terminally ill daughter is "a little pioneer" whose struggles against bureaucracy may inspire other families who want to bring their children home to die.

Afflicted by a rare form of muscular dystrophy, 5-month-old Suzanne Bitting left a hospital for the first time Sunday after her parents fought to ensure that her treatment at home would be covered by Medicaid insurance that dying babies get automatically while hospitalized.

"We missed a lot of her life, and that wasn't fair," said Mrs. Bitting. "It is bad enough to face her death, but to have to go through the terrible injustice of not having her home is unfair."

To other parents of dying children, Mrs. Bitting offered advice: "If you love your child enough, fight to get her home."

"I wanted her to be home to be part of the family," said her husband, Barry. "We know her illness and we have cried a lot. But we brought her home."

Suzanne, who weighs just over nine pounds, nestled in a pink blanket and wore a delicate eyelet bonnet as she took her first sniffs of fresh air from the Bittings' front porch. Two high school bands greeted the infant, and the family's modest brown frame house was decorated in pink bunting, balloons and a hand-lettered sign reading, "Welcome Home, Suzanne."

Ex-senator's apartment burns

WASHINGTON (AP) — An early morning fire burned through the top-floor apartment of former Sen. George McGovern, D-S.D., today, forcing tenants of the fashionable building to flee in their night clothes, fire officials said.

McGovern, the Democratic presidential nominee in 1972, and his wife, Eleanor, were not at home when the fire broke out, officials said. Their son, Steve, escaped from the seventh-floor apartment after he was alerted by a smoke detector, fire officials said.

"I heard the buzzing and came out and it was a very advanced stage of a fire, flames and smoke," the younger McGovern said. "I couldn't stand in there for very long."

Flames were shooting through the roof of the building when firefighters arrived shortly after 3 a.m., officials said. Firefighters battled the two-alarm blaze for about an hour before it was declared under control, officials said.

The fire was confined to the building's top floor and no injuries were reported, firefighters said. The extent of the damage to McGovern's apartment was not immediately known.

Testimony begins in Sharp trial

OZONA (AP) — Attorneys who completed the tedious two-week long process of selecting a jury were ready to open the capital murder trial today of an Odessa man accused of stabbing a woman and her daughter.

A six-man, six-woman jury was selected last week to hear the case of Michael Eugene Sharp, 28, who is on trial for the stabbing death of Brenda Kay Broadway, 31, of Kermit.

A conviction on a capital murder charge carries a possible maximum penalty of death by injection. Sharp already has been sentenced to life in prison for his murder conviction in the death of the daughter, 8-year-old Christie Elms. State District Judge

James H. Clack of Kermit, who granted a change of venue in the trial, will preside.

Sharp was convicted of murder in Lubbock on Nov. 17 in connection with the death of the girl. The slain girl's sister, Selena Elms, testified against Sharp during that trial, and is expected to testify again in Ozona.

Sharp is accused of abducting Ms. Broadway and her daughters from a Kermit car wash shortly after midnight on June 11.

Criss aids Buck's win

MILWAUKEE (AP) — The Milwaukee Bucks are still alive in the playoffs, thanks to the smallest player in the National Basketball Association.

Charlie Criss, a 5-foot-8 reserve guard, sank nine of 10 free throws, including four in the last 11 seconds Sunday. He also contained Philadelphia playmaker Maurice Cheeks as the Bucks defeated the 76ers 100-94 in the Eastern Conference playoff finals.

The 76ers lead the best-of-seven series 3-1 and can clinch with a victory in Philadelphia Wednesday night. But while no team in NBA history has won a series after having been down 3-0, the Bucks regained a large measure of confidence after three narrow defeats.

"This is nothing but positive because we were overdue," Bucks' forward Alton Lister said. "We were playing them close and losing in the last minutes. Today we got over the hump, and Charlie had a lot to do with that."

"Charlie Criss has a heart as big as Bob Lanier's feet," Bucks' Coach Don Nelson said.

That would be size 18 1/2 EEE, and Criss' prominence was proportionately large. Besides helping to hold Cheeks to 4-of-14 shooting, he directed the Bucks' offense which played at a faster tempo than in previous playoff games.

"Charlie was really active," Bucks' Coach Don Nelson said. "I decided to use him a little more today because it's no secret that Brian Winters has trouble with Cheeks."

Lanier, the former All-Star center who may retire because of damaged knees, contributed 17 points in 31 minutes in his second game in as many days. Lanier also helped check 76ers' center Moses Malone, whose 17 points and 12 rebounds were well below his averages.

"This could have been my last game," Lanier said. "I wanted to be productive."

"People had written us off and sent us to the funeral parlor," he said. "We said the heck with it. If we were going to go down, we wanted to be competitive. We were going to be sure we wouldn't be embarrassed."

Andrew Toney scored nine of his 24 points in the third quarter to help the 76ers open a 73-66 lead, but the Bucks took the lead to stay at 89-88 on a baseline jumper by Marques Johnson with 4:42 to play.

Lanier tipped in a rebound moments later, then slapped the ball away from Malone. Paul Pressey retrieved the loose ball and fed Sidney Moncrief for a layup for a 93-88 Bucks' lead. A hook by Lanier made it 95-88 with 1:42 left.

Two baskets by Julius Erving and two free throws by Toney pulled the 76ers to within 96-94 with 17 seconds left, but Criss clinched the Bucks' victory with his four free throws.

REJECTION — Milwaukee's Bob Lanier blocks a shot by Philadelphia's Maurice Cheeks in NBA playoff action in Milwaukee.

Lakers take 3-1 lead

SAN ANTONIO, Texas (A) — It was a "must win" game for the San Antonio Spurs and they didn't, but guard George Gervin cautions not to take the Spurs out of the NBA championship picture yet.

The Los Angeles Lakers need only one more win to clinch their Western Conference final series with the Spurs and move on to the National Basketball Association title game.

Los Angeles snuffed out a fourth-quarter San Antonio rally Sunday to grab a 129-121 playoff win and jump to a 3-1 lead in the best-of-seven series.

"The game kind of slipped away in the last four minutes," said Gervin, who finished with 20 points. "They made some easy hoops and some fast breaks. I'm confident we can beat them."

Game five shifts to Los Angeles on Wednesday, where the defending NBA champion Lakers will continue their quest to become the first team to win consecutive titles since the Boston Celtics did it in 1968-69. "The Lakers came out here ready to play — the way we should have," San Antonio Coach Stan Albeck said.

Los Angeles' Earvin "Magic" Johnson played true to his nickname Sunday, racking up a team-high 31 points, 17 assists and eight rebounds. He was in double figures in those categories Friday.

The Lakers' Michael Cooper and San Antonio's Gene Banks were ejected with 11:01 left in the game when they got into a shoving match at Los Angeles' end of the court and had to be pulled off each other.

Earlier, Cooper and the Spurs' Edgar Jones exchanged heated words and were warned to cool down or head for the dressing room.

The Spurs battled back to whittle a 12-point halftime deficit to two at the end of the third quarter with the help of 10 third-period points from Mike Mitchell, who was game-high with 35 points, and 11 points from center Artis Gilmore.

Gervin was held to eight points in the first half, four in each quarter, and the Spurs trailed 71-59 at halftime. San Antonio was behind 36-29 after one period.

The Spurs tied the game 98-98 with a Billy Paultz jumper that opened the scoring in the final period, but Los Angeles built up a nine-point pocket, 120-111, with 2:45 left in the game.

Mitchell hit a three-pointer to cut the lead to eight with 2:10 remaining, but the Spurs got no closer the rest of the way.

The Lakers' Kareem Abdul-Jabbar scored 26 points and grabbed six rebounds, to Gilmore's 19 points and nine rebounds.

Jamaal Wilkes finished with 25 points for the Lakers, while Bob McAdoo had 14 and Nixon 13. Cooper scored 12 points for Los Angeles before he was thrown out of the game.

Colbert edges out Colonial victory

FORT WORTH, Texas (AP) — Time and again, Jim Colbert heard a voice from the crowd telling him: "You can get him, kid. It ain't no big deal."

Well, the guy was half right.

It took six holes of a sudden death playoff Sunday before Colbert gunned down Fuzzy Zoeller to win the $400,000 Colonial National Invitation golf championship.

And for Colbert, it was a very big deal. "The guy was trying to relax me and I guess he really did," grinned Colbert, winning at 42 what he called the most important of his seven tour titles.

"This is the biggest championship I've won, because of the tradition and the golf course. ... This course is a hell of a challenge."

A sizable hunk of the national television audience had been tuned out when Colbert rolled in a 6-foot par putt at the 18th green and 24th hole to capture the $72,000 prize and his first victory in three years.

"Hell, I'd have given him the money," Colbert quipped. "I just wanted the title."

"You should have told me," laughed Zoeller, who cushioned his disappointment with a $43,200 consolation check. "I would have taken it."

Zoeller, the 1981 Colonial champion, caught a tree off the 18th tee, trapped his approach shot and then missed a 12-foot putt to bring the drama to a merciful twilight close.

"I'm glad it's over with," confessed Zoeller later. "I know that's a helluva thing to say when you've lost, but I was getting tired."

It was an exciting but hardly artful conclusion for the first sudden death playoff in the tournament's 37-year history, and an unlikely one at that.

With three holes to play, Colbert was cruising along at five under par and nursing a 2-stroke lead. He bogeyed all three for a 2-over-par 72.

"It's hard to explain, but I knew I wasn't choking," he said.

At the par-4 18th Zoeller socked his tee shot under a bridge while Colbert's approach shot caught the water, and both made five.

Zoeller could have won it with a 6-footer but, as he so graphically explained:

"I threw up on my putt on the 72nd hole. The tournament was mine for the taking but I pulled the putt and missed the cup by three inches."

Zoeller also closed with a 72 and the 278 total was but two under par for four trips around a course nicknamed "Hogan's Alley" because of Ben Hogan's five victories here.

Both Zoeller and Colbert lipped out birdie putts on the first playoff hole, the par 3 16th. Zoeller missed from 20 feet, Colbert from six.

"That ... putt blew my mind," Colbert said. "It disappeared and then appeared on the other side of the hole. I was in total shock."

They parred the next four holes before arriving at the 18th for the third time. "I just got tired of looking at that hole," grumbled Zoeller, whose three tee shots on the 434-yard 18th Sunday were awful.

"I was zero for three," he sighed. Bruce Lietzke, with a closing 71, and Lon Hinkle, with a 70, tied for third a stroke behind the leaders and each picked up $23,200.

It is bitterly ironic that a whiffed tap-putt by Lietzke on Thursday would eventually provide the one-shot margin that knocked him out of the playoff.

It was that kind of tournament. Defending champion Jack Nicklaus opened with a 66, came back with a 75 and a 74 and then, with a 69, was only one of four players to break par on Sunday.

Colbert and Zoeller entered the final round at four under par and tied for the lead with Peter Jacobsen, Mike Reid and Bobby Wadkins. Jacobsen and Reid led briefly but, like Wadkins, closed with 74s and ended in a three-way tie for fifth at 280.

As Colbert said, "It was really tough out there today."

OH SO CLOSE — Fuzzy Zoeller reacts to missing a putt on the first hole of sudden death at the Colonial National Invitation Tournament. It was to be an omen as Zoeller was edged by Jim Colbert for the win.

Tampa Bay whips Arizona

The United States Football League found a new star in its 11th week as Gary Anderson of Tampa Bay made an impressive debut after turning his back on the San Diego Chargers.

Anderson, playing with only four days of practice, gained 99 yards in 18 carries, scored a touchdown and caught four passes for 54 yards to lead the Bandits to a 20-14 victory over Arizona Sunday.

The triumph, combined with Chicago's 31-24 loss to Philadelphia, left Tampa Bay in first place in the USFL's Central Division with an 8-3 record.

Three games are scheduled tonight — New Jersey at Michigan, Denver at Boston and Washington at Oakland.

Anderson was a first-round draft choice of New Jersey in January, but failed to sign until after he was drafted in the first round by the Chargers of the National Football League. The Bandits traded a draft choice to New Jersey for the rights to him.

Anderson had several dazzling plays in the game, including a zig-zagging 31-yard run up the middle, a 26-yard dash after taking a screen pass from quarterback Mike Kelley, a 15-yard sweep of left end and a 12-yard sweep to the right on which he pranced untouched into the end zone for a touchdown.

Kelley, a former Georgia Tech quarterback who took over for the injured John Reaves and Jimmy Jordan, also stood out for the Bandits. He completed his first six passes and tossed a 4-yard touchdown pass to Eric Truvillion that gave the Bandits a 10-7 lead they never lost.

Kelley went on to complete 21 of 39 passes for 249 yards.

McGee's homer gives Cards win

Willie McGee is a gosh-oh-golly type of player, not a hot dog. That's why he seemed just a bit embarrassed by a sixth-inning ovation at Busch Stadium on Sunday.

McGee had just hit an inside-the-park homer, the second of his two-year career, to help the St. Louis Cardinals defeat the Montreal Expos 4-2. An insistent ovation from 36,157 drew a cap-waving McGee from the dugout.

McGee, a catalyst in St. Louis' seven-game World Series victory last year over Milwaukee, also singled and scored a run in the third inning in front of Keith Hernandez's double. Hernandez had two doubles and two singles for St. Louis.

Braves 9, Astros 4
The Atlanta Braves pounded out 14 hits, and Terry Harper drove in four runs to stun Houston and hard-luck lefty Bob Knepper, now 1-5. Harper's two-run double keyed a seven-run second-inning against Knepper, who has not won since April 26.

Rookie Craig McMurtry, 5-1, was the winner, holding Houston scoreless until giving up a fifth-inning run on Dickie Thon's single. McMurtry, a left-hander, left after giving up three runs in the eighth, having allowed eight hits.

Harper also drove in a run with a third-inning double and added his fourth RBI in the fifth with a ground ball.

Johnny Bench homered for the Reds.
Phillies 5, Cubs 3
Philadelphia scored two unearned runs with two out in the 10th inning, giving Steve Carlton his 291st career victory. In nine innings' work, Carlton, 6-2, scattered seven hits and struck out three, giving him 3,507 in his career and leaving him one shy of Walter Johnson. Nolan Ryan, with 3,521, passed Johnson last month.

An error by Cubs shortstop Larry Bowa on Von Hayes' grounder allowed Larry Milbourne to score from third, and Gary Matthews followed with a run-scoring single. The victory ended Philadelphia's three-game losing streak and interrupted a three-game winning streak by Chicago.

National League

Giants 5, Reds 2
The Giants notched their fourth straight victory in a game delayed three times by rain in Cincinnati. Jack Clark's eighth-inning single snapped a 1-1 tie and started San Francisco's four-run rally.

Atlee Hammaker, 4-1, pitched seven innings for the victory while maintaining his league-leading earned run average of 1.24.

The Giants also benefited from an error by rookie center fielder Gary Redus in their eighth-inning rally, and Bob Brenly capped the inning with a two-run double.

Dodgers 3, Padres 2
Pedro Guerrero hit two home runs, and the Dodgers rallied for their third victory in four games with San Diego this season and ninth in 11 meetings. Steve Howe pitched three innings of shutout relief, extending his scoreless streak to 21 innings, to save the game for Bob Welch, 2-3.

Minnesota sweeps 3 games from California

Following a three-game sweep of the California Angels, the Minnesota Twins now feel that they can play with the big boys.

"We could have come into this ballpark and gotten blown away, and that would have hurt," said Minnesota Manager Billy Gardner. "But when you can take three games like this, all of a sudden the players are saying to themselves, 'Hey, we can play with the big boys.'"

One of the "big boys" in Minnesota's 8-6 victory over California Sunday was Kent Hreb, who slammed two home runs, his fourth and fifth of the year.

Hreb's first homer started a five-run sixth inning and his second, a two-run shot in the ninth, gave the Twins a cushion as California's ninth-inning rally fell short.

Rangers 2, Orioles 1
Danny Darwin and Odell Jones combined to hurl a four-hitter, while Jim Sundberg and Bucky Dent had two hits apiece in Texas' victory over Baltimore.

singled a run across in the second inning, doubled to break a 1-1 tie in the fourth and singled a run home in Chicago's three-run seventh. He later scored from second base on pinch-hitter's Greg Walker two-run sacrifice fly.

Red Sox 6, Brewers 1
Dave Stapleton's two-run homer backed the six-hit pitching of Bob Ojeda and Luis Aponte to lead Boston past Milwaukee.

It was Stapleton's third homer of the year and first since April 7.

Ojeda cost himself a shutout in the sixth when he gave up a single and a sacrifice fly while walking three batters.

American League

Sundberg and Dent each drove in a run for Texas in the second inning. Baltimore scored its lone run in the seventh when Cal Ripken singled, moved to second on an infield out and scored when Lenn Sakata hit a blooper between first and second base. Sakata's hit was bobbled by Texas second baseman Wayne Tollema, who then picked up the ball and tossed wildly toward first base.

Tigers 6, Royals 4
Rick Leach singled home Glenn Wilson with the go-ahead run in the 11th inning and Chet Lemon scored on a suicide squeeze as Detroit outlasted Kansas City.

Royals rookie outfielder Pat Sheridan, playing in his first major league game, tied the game 3-3 with a one-out solo home run in the ninth. Then Larry Herndon's third RBI of the game, a single with two out in the 10th, gave Detroit a 4-3 lead.

White Sox 7, Yankees 3
Marc Hill drove in three runs with two singles and a double as Chicago snapped its five-game losing streak by defeating New York.

Hill, catching in place of slump-ridden Carlton Fisk,

A's 3, Mariners 0
Tom Underwood returned to the Oakland starting rotation by hurling three-hit ball over 6-2 innings, and reliever Steve McCatty gave up just one hit the rest of the way as Oakland shut out Seattle.

McCatty, a former starting pitcher, has given up just one hit in his last nine innings of work.

losing the tilt. Shay Howard had two doubles for the Rangers with help from Alfredo Garcia and Clint Tannis who had two hits each. Jackie Turner contributed three singles.

The Cardinals' Mark Richardson at a single and a double, and John Sotelo hit a double.

The Rangers are 4-2 in competition, while the Cardinals are 0-6 for the year.

In National Little League action, the Downtown Evening Lions defeated the Dirbells Yankees 6-4 on Friday, and the Big Spring Herald Rangers walloped the State National Bank Cardinals 14-3 on Saturday.

Winning pitcher in the Lions-Yankees game was Sammy Corillo with the loser being Wade Salvato. The Lions are now 5-1 in league play and the Yankees dropped to 3-3.

Thomas Moore was the winning pitcher for the Rangers with Juan Samoro

GENERAL TENDENCIES: Don't upset loved one as emotions run high in the early morning. Influential persons are willing to help you get ahead. Go after the things you want and deserve.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) You are at a creative high which reaches the attention of those who can help you commercialize on it. Be charming.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Confide in family members what your plans are to add to your income. Be more direct with loved one. Express your devotion.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Get together with those in your community that affect you.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Expand your business activities and make new arrangements with co-workers. Relax at home tonight.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Today is favored for increasing income and property holdings. Plan enjoyable, as well as profitable, amusements.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Recognize what your true desires are. Entertain important people as something good can come of this.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Friends can help you attain your goals. Attend an important social event. Be sure you dress in elegant style.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Seek assistance you need to execute business matters. Add to present wealth. Do some volunteer work today.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Be on the lookout for new interests. Contact someone far away for any backing you may need for that project.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Get your business affairs on better footing with the aid of trusted personnel. Be most careful while traveling.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Reach for greater understanding with partners and friends. Be direct with them. Avoid someone who is jealous.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Know what your position is with both higher-ups and co-workers. Get your surroundings more as you desire them to be.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he or she will comprehend the overall picture of any situation or project. Give the finest academic education you can afford. Teach to be understanding of others. This individual can easily become a philanthropist later in life.
