Lobby douses Shaw's firefighting bill

By JAY ROSSER

Harte-Hanks Austin Bureau
AUSTIN — State Rep. Larry Don Shaw's efforts to modernize rural fire department equipment has apparently fallen victim to some last-minute parliamentary procedures and some heavy insurance industry lobbying.

The Big Spring Democrat's legislative proposal, moments before it was to be heard by a Senate committee today, was suddenly "tagged" by Sens. Bob Vale, D-San Antonio, and John Leedom, R-Dallas.

Senators can use tags to demand 48 hours advance notice of committee consideration of particular legislation.

The tag wouldn't clear the proposal for consideration by the Senate Economic Development Committee until Saturday morning. However, the Texas Constitution requires lawmakers to follow a "72-hour" rule that prohibits House and Senate lawmakers from taking final action on any non-committee approved legislation.

That rule goes into effect at midnight Friday, nine hours before Shaw's proposal could even be considered. The only salvation would be a sudden removal of the tag by both senators, an unlikely prospect.

"It's dead — deader than a door nail," Shaw said.

Shaw's plan, already cleared by the House, sought voter approval of a constitutional amendment proposal that would let Texans decide whether the state should establish a fire department emergency fund.

Money from that fund would provide grants, loans or other financial assistance to public fire departments to purchase needed equipment and facilities.

The fund would be fueled with an increase in the state's tax on fire casualty insurance premiums from 1.25 percent to 2 percent. Up to 1 percent of the total taxed premiums could be directed to the fund under Shaw's proposal.

Shaw said the fund is needed because rural and volunteer fire departments are unable to keep up with the skyrocketing cost of firefighting equipment.

Both Shaw and the proposal's Senate sponsor, Ray Farabee, D-Wichita Falls, said heavy insurance industry opposition killed the proposal.

"This bill passed the House 136-0," Shaw said. "I think you can read between the lines. Apparently people in the insurance industry didn't like it so they got it killed. We're just postponing a problem that's already getting worse."

Farabee agreed, saying, "In the House, the insurance groups apparently weren't familiar with it. I guess they hadn't learned about it there, but they sure did when it got over here (the Senate)."

Vale said he leveled the tag because a large number of calls within his district from constituents "upset about a tax that would be paid by everybody...I'm concerned when I hear about a tax to be used only in a few areas and not where most of the tax is going to come from."

Students lacking motivation benefit from Goliad program

By BOB CARPENTER

Staff Writer

Exasperated by those students who rarely worked in class or turned in homework assignments, Goliad Middle School administration and faculty during the last nine weeks of the school year extended instruction for certain pupils.

Initiating 30-minute after school study sessions, the faculty sought to improve the work habits of those students lacking motivation.

These students, according to Principal Jimmy Holmes, "were those not usually motivated by an 'F' on their report card, a conference with concerned parents, or even punishment from the principal."

After garnering the support of most parents, the school started keeping students who had not completed assignments from 3:30 to 4 p.m. Parents were notified a day in advance that their child would be attending these sessions.

Holmes said that during the first week about 50 students per day were staying after school. However, as students began to realize the importance of finishing assignments, the number declined.

"There was an attitudinal change. They saw they were going to have to stay after school if they didn't do their work — and most of them didn't want to say after school," said counselor Lee Freeze.

The average number staying the last week of school was about eight or nine, according to Freeze, the originator of the idea.

"It's been highly successful, more than we thought it would," Freeze said. "It's caused kids to be more conscious of homework...they're more business-like."

Sixth-grade language arts teacher Bill Irwin said the program has not only improved the work habits of students, but also improved the communication between parents and teachers.

"It caused several parents to realize kids weren't getting their work done, and they (parents) cooperated with us to make sure the students did their work," Ir-

Pat Rhoton, sixth-grade science teacher, echoed Irwin.

Quake shakes Japan

32 dead, 67 injured from tremors, tidal waves

AKITA, Japan (AP) — A severe earthquake and tidal waves pummeled a 180-mile stretch of coast in northwest Japan today, killing 32 people and leaving 67 missing, police reported. Fifty-six others were injured.

Waves up to 20 feet high were reported, and a group of students picnicking on a beach "screamed and most of them were swept away," said Tsuyoshi Tsuruga, a farm worker.

Riki Sato, a government spokesman, said he felt a sharp vertical jolt in his six-story concrete building that was followed by about two minutes of side-to-side swaying.

"We couldn't stand still," he said. "I told everyone to hide under their desks and then windows broke and glass fell into the offices."

"I heard the building creak at one point and thought it was going to collapse," he said.

In Tokyo, 280 miles south of the stricken area, upper stories of office buildings also swayed.

The Central Meteorological Agency said the quake, with an epicenter in the Japan Sea west of the main island of Honshu, registered 7.7 on the Richter scale of ground motion.

The South Korean Central Meteorological Office issued a tidal wave warning along the nation's eastern coast, across the Japan Sea from Akita, where waves were as high as 10 feet.

Prime Minister Yasuhiro Nakasone declared a state of emergency to coordinate relief efforts in the rural fishing and farming area as reports came in on what appeared to be the worst quake to hit the region in 44 years.

The National Police Agency said about 50 people, including more than 40 children on a school excursion, were caught in a wave that struck the coast of the Oga Peninsula, near the city of Akita, the state capital.

Police in Akita said two students were killed, 11 were missing and the others were rescued. Officials also reported 14 dead throughout the prefecture, most of them fishermen or construction workers along the beaches.

The national daily Asahi Shimbun quoted Tsuruga as saying a wave "rising to a height I have never before seen," crashed down on the group. "All the children screamed and most of them were swept away."

Toshiharu Hosoi, an official at a coastal Oga aquarium, said a Swiss woman, unofficially identified as Magdalena Brandenberger, 38, from Zurich, was found dead after falling to reach the safety of a rock as the waves "of five or six meters

Teacher trades chalk for fishing pole

School's out for the summer, and for teacher Truett Vines this is going to be a very long summer.

After 35 years of teaching vocational agriculture in the Big Spring school district, Vines answered his last school bell yesterday and traded in his chalk for a fishing pole.

How did the last day feel?

"It's just like closing any other year. The kids are happy to get out...and I'm just as happy as they are," Vines said. "However, I've got the advantage for a change. It's going to be a long, long summer for me, and they've got to come back next year."

Vines said he plans to move to Coleman where he'll dabble in quarterhorse breeding. He also plans to "enjoy the country life" of fishing, hunting and other outdoor activities.

"Monday morning will be mine just like Saturday morning," the 58-year-old Vines said. "That might be hard to adjust to at first, but I bet

I adjust rather rapidly."

The veteran educator voiced no disappointments about his career choice, but he did mention that teachers could stand a pay raise.

"I've thoroughly enjoyed life as a teacher and have no regrets in choosing the profession," he said. "Sometimes when I look at my bank balance I wonder if I couldn't have a little more money if I had chosen another major."

Vines said he's stayed in teaching simply because he's been happy and challenged by the job.

"You bet I'll miss it. It's a real challenge and I like that. It's important for anyone who works to have a challenge," Vines said.

"Those kids keep you on your toes. I worried about trouble kids for the first two or three years I taught, and then it started to become fun and a challenge to see if I could outlast a problem student."

Big Spring man suffers severe shock; hospitalized in Midland

By RICHARD HORN

Staff Writer

A Big Spring man is in serious condition at Midland Memorial Hospital today after suffering a 7,200-volt electrical shock while working on power distribution lines in Midland Wednesday morning.

Weldon Trammell, 34, of 3703 LaJunta was working at 9 a.m. at the intersection of Big Spring Avenue and Golf Course Road in northwest Midland when the accident occurred.

He touched an energized line that sent the electricity into his head and out his left arm, according to Carl Bradley, office manager of H.G. Caldwell Electric Co. of Big Spring.

Trammell, a lineman for the company, was a member of a six-man crew doing contract work for Texas Electric Service Co.

"He was holding a neutral line in his hands and he accidentally raised his head up into the energized wire," Bradley said this morning.

Bradley said Trammell was in a "cherry picker" (an elevator platform) at the time of the accident. He said other crew members brought Trammell down to the ground and called an ambulance.

The Emergency Medical Service unit of the Midland Fire Department responded to the call, according to EMS chief Dean Williams. He said Trammell suffered burns on both of his hands and on the top of his head.

Trammell was unconscious when the emergency unit arrived, but he regained consciousness and was able to communicate en route to the hospital, Williams said.

"He had no problem breathing," he said. "The man is lucky as the devil. He was pretty disoriented, but a shock like that usually messes up the heart. His heart was in stable condition."

Trammell is in the critical care unit of the hospital this morning, according to a hospital spokesman. A doctor could not be reached for comment on his condition.

"Externally, he is in good shape," Bradley said, "but with an injury like this, you never know what kind of internal problems there may be."

Bradley said Trammell was on oxygen for a short time Wednesday afternoon.

"Right now it looks real good," he said. "He is rational and he knows people. The doctors say there doesn't appear to be any brain damage."

"It's amazing, considering what he went through," Bradley said. "The voltage in your house is 120 volts — he had 7,200 go through him."

Trammell has worked with Caldwell Electric Co. since March 1981. He has a wife and two sons in Big Spring.

Convictions drop in county court

The Howard County Court monthly reports for February through April show the court is disposing of an average of 133 criminal cases per month with an average 58 convictions and 50 dismissals.

With a peak of 730 cases pending in February down to 641 cases pending in April, the county court had a high of 71 convictions in February dropping to 35 in April. Sentences involving jail time numbered six for February and March, with four in April.

Other sentences included February: 52 probation and 13 fine-only; March: 42 probation and 20 fine-only and April: 24 probation and seven fine-only.

April dismissals were nearly double the previous months as 74 cases were dismissed in April compared to 45 in February and 30 in March.

Civil cases pending in April totaled 235 after nine dispositions. Five cases had been disposed of in February and March. Probate cases filed for the past three months were 39, 41 and 41 respectively.

Juvenile cases peaked in February with 12 dispositions and one dismissal. Eight cases were findings of delinquency with six granted parental care probation and two committed to the Texas Youth Council.

April juvenile cases reached 10 with six findings of delinquency. Six cases resulted in parental probation and one final judgment without disposition.

The monthly court report is prepared by Wanda Anderson in County Clerk Margaret Ray's office.

SCHOLARSHIP LOCATOR — Ed Rosenwasser, 54, a quadriplegic due to polio 33 years ago, uses a rubber tipped stick held between his teeth to hit computer keys, dial the telephone and operate a tape recorder at his home where he runs a scholarship locator business.

Paralyzed from polio, quadriplegic runs successful business at home

HOUSTON (AP) — Ed Rosenwasser, who spends his nights in an iron lung, uses his days running a successful business — a service to locate financial aid for college students.

Using a rubber-tipped stick which he holds between his teeth, Rosenwasser operates computer keys, makes telephone calls and records messages. He receives about 1,000 calls monthly from high school students across the country.

ROSENWASSER has not been able to move his arms or legs since 1950, when he was stricken with polio. During the day, he uses a respirator. At night, he sleeps in an iron lung.

For a $45 fee, Rosenwasser will locate five to 12 funding sources for which the student qualifies. If he cannot identify at least five realistic possibilities from his data bank containing over 250,000 scholarships, Rosenwasser said, he returns the money.

"There is about a half-billion dollars available each year for private scholarships," Rosenwasser said. "A fourth of that — more than $100 million — goes unused. But if students know where to look for scholarship funds, many of them will be successful."

Rosenwasser retains an optimistic outlook despite his disabilities.

"Happiness is not in your left hand or your right leg, it's in your head," he said. "If most of us are persistent enough, we can succeed at something."

ROSENWASSER was stricken with polio in 1950 after completing a year at the University of Texas Medical School at Galveston. He was vacationing in Europe when he became violently ill and within a day was paralyzed from the neck down.

"Now I had to figure out what to do with the rest of my life," Rosenwasser recalled.

Borden High 12 graduate tonight

GAIL — Twelve students will graduate from Borden High School tonight at 8 p.m. in the school auditorium.

Keith Williams was named valedictorian and Jennifer Wilson was named salutatorian for 1983, according to Borden school Superintendent James McLeRoy.

Keith, son of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Williams of O'Donnell, maintained a 92.97 grade point average. He says he plans to attend Angelo State University in San Angelo this fall.

Jennifer, daughter of Dr. W.C. Wilson of Hot Springs, Ark., and Margaret Wilson of Austin, maintained a 92.77 grade point average. She says she will enroll at Hardin-Simmons University in Abilene this fall.

Stolen cars recovered

Police say two cars stolen last weekend from local dealerships were recovered Tuesday in Del Rio and Ozona. No one has been arrested in connection with the thefts.

A Camara Berline stolen from Pollard Chevrolet was found in Del Rio and a 1983 Lincoln Town Car taken from Bob Brock Ford was discovered abandoned in a used car lot in Ozona, police Lt. Alvis Jeffcoat said.

Jeffcoat said the cars were "drivable" and that the Lincoln was returned to Brock.

"We're checking on leads and working with the PDs (police departments) in Ozona and Del Rio," Jeffcoat said.

A 1982 Ford pickup reported stolen from the Ford dealership on May 18 was seen recently in Presidio, but not recovered, police said. Police are working with the sheriff's office in Marfa to locate that vehicle.

Police do not know if the thefts are connected, Jeffcoat said.

In other action police arrested a 69-year-old Big Spring man yesterday on suspicion of driving while intoxicated after he was involved in two traffic accidents in eight minutes.

John Hollandsworth was arrested at 5:07 p.m. after the Mercury Marquis he was driving collided with a parked Chevrolet Camaro at Newsom's Food Center at 1910 Gregg, police said.

Only eight minutes before, his car had collided with a Chevrolet Nova on the 300 block of West 22nd, police said. The Nova was driven by Isabel Runyan of 309 N.E. Second.

Hollandsworth was cited for making an improperly wide right turn and failure to stop and leave information. No one was reported injured in either accident.

Bill aimed at halting cattle quarantine

AUSTIN (AP) — Texas senators say they will try again to pass a bill that could thwart threats of a federal quarantine of the state's cattle trade with other states, and a congressman is asking President Reagan to intervene on Texas' behalf.

"Probably Friday," Sen. Bob Glasgow, D-Stephenville, said Wednesday when asked when the Senate would act.

Glasgow's bill, already approved in the House, is aimed at voiding the U.S. Department of Agriculture's announcement of a ban on interstate cattle shipments, effective June 1, because Texas does not have adequate controls for the cattle disease brucellosis.

In Washington, U.S. Rep. Bill Patman, D-Texas, wrote to President Reagan Wednesday requesting that the quarantine be postponed from June 1 until Jan. 1 so that the issue can be more fully examined, a spokesman said.

Glasgow blamed former Gov. Dolph Briscoe and "some other big ranchers in South Texas" for bringing on the crisis.

"They just have stocker cattle that they round up once a year and send to market," Glasgow said. "They don't want to go to the trouble and cost of inspecting them for brucellosis once a year."

"What is an inconvenience to him (Briscoe) can kill the rest of the industry in Texas," Glasgow said.

Briscoe was not available Wednesday by telephone.

Last week Briscoe told reporters in Austin that he thought the USDA quarantine threat was just a bluff.

"The president would not sit by, with an election coming next year, and put a quarantine on the state of Texas," Briscoe said last week.

Brucellosis causes reduced calf crops and lower milk production, although it causes no danger to consumers of meat and pasteurized dairy products.

In his letter, Patman said the question of a brucellosis control program "is a particularly divisive question in Texas" because the disease virtually does not exist in the western and much of the southern part of the state, while it has been a continuing problem in the east and southeast parts.

Patman said a statewide quarantine "would impose a severe economic blow to the Texas cattle industry and therefore to the already depressed state economy."

Patman said that many cattlemen, including himself, believe the USDA's brucellosis control program "is unworkable, unwarranted, of questionable validity, and should be terminated as a waste of taxpayer money."

The Texas Senate tentatively passed the House-approved bill on May 11 that would give the Texas Animal Health Commission authority to adopt rules to comply with the federal program of testing and vaccinations.

However, Glasgow was shy two votes in getting permission for a final Senate vote.

Reaction to the federal quarantine threat has been divided in Texas.

THE MX PASSES — Senate supporters of the MX missile get together Wednesday on Capitol Hill, following approval of $625 million to develop and test the

Reagan's MX victory is sharp contrast to vote in December

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Reagan, praising congressional approval of the nuclear-tipped MX missile, says the Soviet Union and the United States should take a "first giant step" toward reducing nuclear arms levels when the two superpowers resume talks next month.

Reagan's invitation to the Soviets on Wednesday came hours after the Senate voted 59-39 to free the Pentagon to spend $625 million to develop and test the MX.

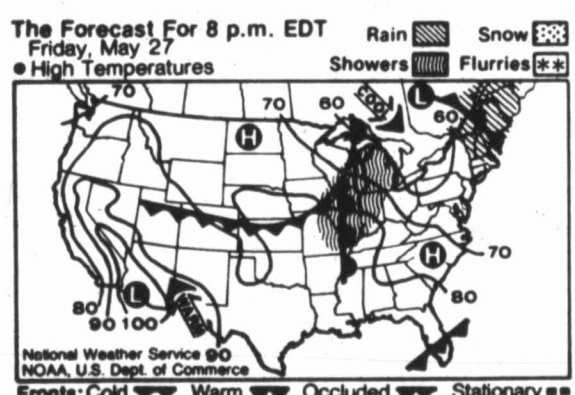

A day earlier, the House granted similar approval by a 239-186 margin.

The victory is in sharp contrast to a White House defeat on the MX last December, when Congress refused to permit the Pentagon to go ahead with procurement of the first five of the 100 planned MX weapons.

The House will vote again on the MX resolution today because of a technicality. The version which passed the Senate carries a different number than the House resolution. They must be exactly the same.

Reagan's MX victory came from a combination of the traditional reluctance of Congress to vote against major defense programs backed by the White House and renewed pledges by Reagan to work harder for nuclear arms control.

U.S. adviser shot in car

SAN SALVADOR, El Salvador (AP) — The deputy commander of U.S. military advisers in El Salvador was shot in the head four times and killed while he sat alone in his car near a San Salvador university, the first U.S. adviser slain in this nation's civil war.

Navy Cmdr. Albert A. Schaufelberger was killed Wednesday evening, U.S. Embassy spokesman Don Hamilton said. He was in charge of security for the American advisers assigned to assist the Salvadoran military in its fight against leftist rebels.

Neither Hamilton nor President Alvaro Magana's spokesman Francisco Jose Guerrero, who announced the slaying, would speculate on who the killer or killers were.

Schaufelberger had replaced the double-plate bullet-proof glass windows in his Malibu with ordinary glass recently because the car's air conditioner did not work and "he did not like baking inside," said a friend who asked not to be identified.

The car, like most U.S. government-owned vehicles here, came equipped with the special windows, which could not be rolled down.

Schaufelberger is the first American adviser slain in El Salvador. Another adviser, Special Forces Sgt. J. Stanley Thomas, was wounded by rebel fire while flying in a helicopter above Usulután province in early February.

Thomas was shot in the leg, but his wound was not serious.

The first group of advisers, numbering 55, was dispatched by the Reagan administration in March 1981. Since then the administration has observed a self-imposed limit of 55 on the number of advisers.

Hamilton said Schaufelberger, dressed in plain clothes, was killed when he went to the Central American University in a western suburb of the capital about 6:30 p.m. to pick up a friend.

As he was waiting in the university parking lot, a car pulled up behind his green Malibu and four shots were fired from the vehicle, striking Schaufelberger in the head, Hamilton said.

He said a passerby placed the officer in his car and rushed him to the Military Hospital, but he was pronounced dead on arrival.

Hamilton said his account was based on reports from witnesses and information gathered by other embassy officials.

A night watchman at the university gave a different version.

The watchman, who identified himself as Roberto Alfaro, said the officer apparently parked along the one-way street that runs through the university.

After he was shot, he drove about 20 feet before the vehicle jumped the curb and smashed into a parked car, Alfaro said, showing an Associated Press reporter broken glass and the tire marks he said were made by the victim's car.

White says excuses for no tax hike poor

AUSTIN (AP) — Lawmakers can complain about not having enough time, or enough information, but they are only making poor excuses for not raising taxes to fund a pay hike for teachers, Gov. Mark White says.

"They have the time if they had the inclination. They will give you a whole list of excuses — we were too late, it was too difficult — but those are merely excuses for their failure to take action," White said at his regular weekly news conference Wednesday.

White's proposals died in a House committee Monday night, and now there are only five days left in the session. But White, who hinted Tuesday at the possibility of a special session, said he has still not given up hope to get his plan passed during the regular session.

"I think there's still time available. If they want to, they can," White said.

In the House, Speaker Gib Lewis said, "I guess I'll have to say again — there isn't (time). My stand has been from the first — I'm opposed to any tax bill."

Rep. Stan Schlueter, D-Killeen, chairman of the committee that voted against the tax package, has said he was willing to work with White on a tax bill if the governor calls a special session.

"I'm delighted to have his support," White said. "I don't know why we have to wait. Now is the time to act."

Hey you, who's in charge here?

Americans are against government but want government to do more for them than ever before.

Americans are against tax increases, but they are also dead set against big government deficits.

Americans want to stop the nuclear arms race, but they're paying for more weapons than at any time in their peacetime history.

Americans don't give a hoot about El Salvador, but they don't want it to go communist.

Americans are for a balanced budget amendment, but they're against balancing the budget this year or next year.

Americans are against runaway government spending but want pension payments and other entitlement benefits to be indexed to the cost of living.

Americans want poor people to get off welfare, but they create a welfare system that punishes people who get jobs by giving them less money than they could get on welfare.

Americans want to buy Japanese cars, but they don't want foreigners to beat out our car companies.

Americans want cheap fresh food harvested by undocumented workers, but they don't want illegal aliens over-running the country.

Seven years

A long time ago, in a galaxy far, far away, I graduated from high school.

The year was 1976, an ancient, unholly and barbaric time existing before such modern inventions as disco, home computers and 50 m.p.g. cars. Although it has only been seven years, disk jockeys are already labeling the 45 r.p.m. records I bought then as blasts from the past.

1976: the 200th birthday of the United States; Pittsburgh 21, Dallas 17 in Super Bowl X; Jimmy Carter rises from peanuts to riches; Legionnaires Disease spurs huge germ hunt; China begins a new era without Mao Tse-tung; women such as Nadia Comaneci, Patty Hearst and Elizabeth Ray make the news; Israelis pull off raid on Entebbe; and Howard Hughes creates more mystery with his death.

Those were major headlines from the year I graduated from high school. Where have we gone since?

1983: the U.S. is hanging on at age 206 1/2; Bradshaw still lead the Steelers while the Cowboys' Staubach is now a memory; Ronald Reagan, the actor, has replaced Carter, the farmer, in the White House; goodbye Legionnaires, hello herpes; Leonid Brezhnev, Anwar Sadat and Idi Amin are gone from view; women such as Martina Navratilova, Deborah Harry and Meryl Streep (and Dustin Hoffman) are making the news now; the U.S. failed on its Entebbe-type raid in Iran; and the Howard Hughes mysteries are still not solved.

SEVEN YEARS difference. Our heroes in '76 were people like Bruce Jenner, Dorothy Hamill and Muhammad Ali. In '83, they are human-like characters Yoda, E.T. and Superman (I, II or III). Of course some oldies, like Kirk and Spock, are still going strong.

Trying to remember 1976 is like leafing through the pages of a dusty history book for me. I was alive and well that year but it took some prodding from "The World in 1976" to clear the cobwebs from my head.

I was a senior in high school. Then, like now, I kept busy with sports, studies and piano; I was trying to perfect a new jump hook in basketball, trying to recover from a disaster in Algebra II the year before and aiming for a return contest performance in Austin. Because of some hard work, I succeeded in all three areas.

But that was long ago. That person pictured over my name in the Wylie High School yearbook must be someone else. It sure isn't me...at least, I don't think so. Have I changed that much?

Wylie High itself has changed so much. Located in the growing southwest part of Abilene, the small country school has been engulfed by Fairway Oaks, the Mall of Abilene and tons of money. The Class A high school has already outgrown a new school built since my graduation and is on the verge of joining the 4-A ranks.

GRADUATION. There was no all-night party after graduation for me. My best friend — who is now married and living in Provo, Utah — and I went to a weiner roast and punch party somewhere in the Wylie suburbs and I was home before midnight.

At 7 a.m. the next morning, my sleep was abruptly ended by my mother's order, "Get up. You're going to get a job...we're not going to support you any more." She was still very disappointed in me because I had not been valedictorian of my class (I was No. 4 with barely a 94.0 average).

So by 8 a.m., I was pounding the sidewalks in search of employment.

Perhaps therein lies the reason for the distance in time. From that early Saturday morning after graduation, my life began to change. I was more or less forced to stand on my own feet and fend for myself. Although my parents and I have certainly had our differences, they deserve credit for getting me started on the rest of my life.

As I looked over the graduates at Big Spring High Tuesday night, I backpacked in time and relived the night at Radford Auditorium on the McMurry College campus when I wore the traditional graduation garb. I remember the empty feeling I had when the secure world of public education dissolved around me.

No more pep rallies, no more study halls, no more history tests each Friday. I didn't think I could get used to life without those things but I survived. By the time college started in the fall, I was already regarding my high school days as a kind of former past.

It's been a long time since those good ole days. Change has ruled my life but I don't think I'd want it any other way.

The great Texas oil bust

AUSTIN — Only two years ago this state was enjoying an oil boom that had Northeasterners enraged at the redistribution of national income from Frost Belt to Sun Belt. There was a danger, they warned, that America would be divided into regions of haves and have-nots, with Texas and other oil states growing rich at the expense of the rest of the country. But oil giveth, and oil taketh away. And in Texas, the oil bust has arrived with a vengeance.

That may not evoke much sympathy elsewhere, but at least it shows how exaggerated those fears proved to be. Cooler heads knew then that the conditions of the oil market in the late 1970s and early 1980s were unique and barring the continuation of obtuse government policies, unlikely to last.

Texans who remember the days before prosperity find the industry's plight particularly unsettling. Never mind the popular images of land barons and oil tycoons: For decades this was a comparatively poor state, sparsely settled and heavily agricultural. Its appeal to outsiders is also new. A quarter of a century ago, most Northeasterners would no more have considered living here than in Guatemala. But that was before the oil boom of the 1970s.

Texas isn't likely to revert to the Dust Bowl, but the signs of the oil bust are everywhere. Unemployment has climbed to about 9 percent — this in a state with a traditional resistance to national economic troubles. Firms in the oil industry and related businesses have laid off thousands of employees, and some of those firms have gone bankrupt. The state and any number of local governments have seen tax revenues drop sharply.

That the oil industry is suffering is beyond doubt. Prices have dropped by about $5 a barrel in the last year. Drilling in the state has fallen by half. Refineries are operating at less than three-quarters of capacity.

ONE RESULT of this slump is a state fiscal crisis, which is a new experience for Texans. Among the chief revenue sources are severance taxes on oil and natural gas, which normally finance more than a quarter of the state budget. During the last decade, high oil prices allowed the state to run consistent budget surpluses despite the lack of either a personal or a corporate income tax. There has been no general tax increase since 1971.

This year, however, severance tax revenues are plummeting, leaving the state facing a budget deficit of $2.3 billion over the next two years. So Gov. Mark White is pressing for a tax increase and the Legislature will probably give it to him.

Cities dependent on the oil industry are likewise pinched. In just one year, Houston's unemployment rate has jumped from 4 percent to 10 percent. The city had grown accustomed to seeing its revenues (mostly from sales taxes) grow by 15 to 20 percent a year, even during national recessions. This year, they will drop by about 7 percent.

Houston and towns in South Texas have also been hurt by the devaluation of the peso, which dried up tourism from Mexico and encouraged Texans to do their shopping across the border. But that too grew mostly out of Mexico's declining oil revenues.

OIL ISN'T the only industry in trouble. Bernard Weinstein of Lamar University, an expert on the rise of the Sun Belt, notes that Texas' Gulf Coast relies heavily on declining "smokestack" industries — not only oil refining and petrochemicals but also steel and shipbuilding. Regardless of what happens to the oil market or the national economy, their best years are behind them.

But Texas' biggest problem is the state of the oil industry. The boom of the last decade was most likely a one-time event that eventually had to be constrained by the economic adjustment. OPEC was able to seize control of the world market, but in time its grip was broken by the forces of supply and demand. That is good for Illinois, but not so good for Texas.

Ironically, the reversal is due mostly to the free market in oil inaugurated by President Reagan, which was pressed by states that produced oil and resisted by those that consume it. But today, the former are suffering, while the latter are enjoying the fruits of a glut.

Texans, for the most part, still recognize that the status quo ante was worse for them as well as everyone else. Given the unexpectedly beneficent consequences of decontrol, the rest of the country ought to admit it, too.

High-tech sales to China

WASHINGTON — A secret debate is raging at the highest levels of the Reagan administration. It points up the classic contradictions in recent Republican policies: the desire to promote American business interests vs. the demands of a Rock-of-Gibraltar defense posture.

The debate concerns the sale of high-technology equipment to mainland China. Commerce Secretary Malcolm Baldrige and the president's science adviser, George Keyworth, favor an expansion of this trade. Defense Secretary Caspar Weinberger and his Under Secretary for policy, Dr. Fred Ikle, don't want to sell the Chinese any technology of potential military value.

The Chinese, of course, are seeking as much high-tech stuff as they can buy, and complain that the administration isn't cooperating. Sources tell me the Chinese have already been allowed to buy scientific technology that has enhanced their military capability.

Under secret presidential directives, the Chinese communists cannot buy nuclear weapons and delivery systems, electronic and anti-submarine warfare technology or goods that will help them in intelligence gathering.

Baldrige and Keyworth, who have been courted assiduously by the Chinese, seem determined to let the Peking regime buy as much as it wants in those vital areas.

Keyworth just returned from China. Baldrige will depart for Peking soon.

Secret White House documents govern the present China trade policy. They are considered highly sensitive because of the peculiar nature of U.S.-Chinese relations, but my associate Dale Van Atta has obtained the most important ones.

The "Presidential Directive on Export Control Policy to China," issued on June 4, 1981, focused on so-called dual-use exports — items that are ostensibly intended for peaceful purposes but which can also be used by the military. The directive was intended to allow the sale of technology to China "at significantly higher technical levels than previously, albeit somewhat below those approved for other friendly non-allied nations."

The directive laid out the formula to govern such sales: two times the level of exports to the Soviet Union before its invasion of Afghanistan, when high-tech exports were banned.

But the "two-times" formula was regarded by the business community as not only inexact but too restrictive for the kinds of high-tech goods their Chinese customer was clamoring for. They found a sympathetic listener in Baldrige.

The result was a secret president memorandum of May 6, 1982, signed for the president by his national security adviser, William Clark, titled, "Export Policy for the People's Republic of China."

"The President expects prompt and full implementation of his more liberal export-control policy, since we do not want to send mixed signals to the Chinese regarding our intent," Clark wrote. And he conceded that the two-times rule had been difficult to apply.

So Clark laid down four rules to clarify the new policy:

— High-tech exports should be "at technical levels significantly above those for the Soviet Union and Eastern Europe... (which would) imply the presumption of acceptable national security risk."

— The two-times formula should be interpreted to mean approval for any sale "unless circumstances apply which entail major risks to national security, i.e. exports which would make a direct and

Commandments are important

DEAR DR. GRAHAM: I think the really important thing in religion is to follow the Ten Commandments and the Sermon on the Mount. Don't you think they really teach us all we need to know about religion? Mrs. A.E.

DEAR MRS. A.E.: The Ten Commandments and the Sermon on the Mount are very important because they reveal to us what God's standards really are and what his will is for our lives. If we obeyed them perfectly, I am convinced our lives (and our society) would be much happier.

But you are wrong in saying that they are the really important thing in religion. There are several reasons for this. First, the center of our religious faith should not be a set of rules — it should be God himself. But what do we learn about God from the Ten Commandments and the Sermon on the Mount? Well, one very important thing we learn is that God is holy and just, and he does not tolerate sin and evil. As the Bible says about God, "Your eyes are too pure to look on evil; you cannot tolerate wrong" (Habakkuk 1:13). The Ten Commandments (and the other moral teachings of the Bible) are reflections of the purity and holiness of God.

But that leads to another thing you need to realize. Let me ask you this: have you kept the Ten Commandments and the Sermon on the Mount perfectly? Can you honestly say that you never told a lie or had covetous thoughts? Of course not. You and I are sinners who repeatedly break God's perfect law. That is why the Bible says, "There is no one righteous, not even one" (Romans 3:10).

What do we need, then? We need forgiveness. And we need the power we do not have in ourselves to do God's will. We have to admit with the Apostle Paul, "I have the desire to do what is good, but I cannot carry it out" (Romans 7:18).

That is why the first step for you should be to seek God's forgiveness which he freely offers you in Jesus Christ. You cannot make yourself pure in God's eyes — but God has made it possible for all our sins to be blotted out because of what Jesus Christ did for us on the cross. Open your heart to Christ by faith, and then seek with God's help to live for him every day through the strength of the Holy Spirit.

Cochlear implant is 'success'

HOUSTON (AP) — An operation which let a deaf child hear is a success, a Houston physician says, but he cautions it will take months to learn how successful.

Amy Fisk, 5, heard her mother's voice for the first time March 31 when doctors implanted a tiny microphone, a signal processor and an outside induction coil behind the child's left ear.

Amy was the first severely deaf Texas child to receive the special cochlear implant, which is attached to the bone behind her ear and connected to her inner ear by an electrode.

"She responded to sounds immediately," said Dr. Ed Maddox, an ear and throat specialist at Memorial Hospital.

"Obviously, we're all delighted. But I would caution against excessive expectations because she and others having the implants have months of therapy ahead before we can know the full scope of their hearing and communicating abilities," Maddox said Tuesday.

Maddox is participating in a clinical trial of the procedure for profoundly deaf children being coordinated by the House Ear Institute in Los Angeles.

About 300 cochlear implants have been reported by specialists at the California Institute. Amy is the first of only four children to receive the implant surgery here.

Maddox said only 1 to 2 percent of deaf children may be candidates for the procedure, and those will be cases of profound congenital deafness where hearing aids are useless.

"With many adults who've had the implants, we've seen some spectacular results," Maddox said. "The kids, however, represent more of an unknown, although I suspect many of them will be able to distinguish sounds and learn speech much as a baby can." The child's mother, Ann Fisk, said her daughter was alternately fascinated and a little fearful upon hearing her first sounds. "We are just thrilled at the early results, although we know it'll take time and lots of therapy before we can tell just how successful it is," Mrs. Fisk said. Amy attends the Houston School for the Deaf, where she will work with school therapists to increase her communication skills.

Teen accused of killing mom given 25-year prison sentence

BELTON, Texas (AP) — A Temple teen-ager who said he fatally shot his mother after she became angry over his school report card has been assessed a 25-year prison sentence.

Quint Reed, 17, testified he was only trying to wound his mother, Mary Jane Schlorman, when he fired a .22-caliber rifle at her Jan. 31.

The jury returned the punishment verdict Wednesday. Reed pleaded guilty to a murder charge Monday after the trial started.

Mrs. Schlorman, 39, was shot in the back three times and pronounced dead within 30 minutes of her arrival at Temple's Scott & White Memorial Hospital.

Reed said his mother was angry at him because of his poor grades and because of speeding tickets he received. When he skipped school Jan. 31, his mother called him at work and told him she wanted to see his report card as soon as he got home.

"When she called me that night ... at the Whataburger, she just seemed so mad that night and I didn't want her taking my job, my truck, my hunting away," Reed testified Tuesday.

Later that evening, Mrs. Schlorman "came into my room and she asked to see my report card," Reed said. "She kind of yelled at me to see my grades and about two seconds later, I shot three times at her. She screamed and ran out and fell in the den on the carpet."

Reed said he only was trying "to get across that I was real scared of her" and did not intend to kill his mother.

"I'm sorry, but I really can't give a reason why," Reed told prosecutor Jeanette Kinard.

Ms. Kinard then asked Reed if he cried the night his mother died. He replied that he didn't cry or try to get medical attention for his mother.

After he shot his mother, Reed said he left Temple in his pickup truck and spent the night at a rest spot near town. The next day, he returned to Temple to check on his mother's condition.

When he found out she was dead, Reed said he went to his maternal grandparents' farm near Giddings. He drove around until he was stopped by Lee County sheriff's deputies.

Psychological murder claim expelled

EDWARDSVILLE, Ill. (AP) — A man who raped an 86-year-old was guilty of murder for her death a month later because the attack weakened the woman and left her unable to expel food lodged in her windpipe, a judge has ruled.

However, Madison County Chief Criminal Court Judge Philip J. Rarick, hearing the case without a jury, rejected prosecution claims of "psychological murder" based on testimony that Elizabeth Windslow had "lost the will to live."

The claims had "no basis in law," the judge ruled Wednesday.

The verdict against Randy Brackett, 23, was "a very important step forward in the protection of the elderly," said State's Attorney Don W. Weber. "It recognizes the frailties of old people. A younger person would not have died in the case."

Weber said the judge "took emotional and psychological factors into account, and our research shows that this is the first case where these factors were considered."

The judge set sentencing for June 6. Brackett, already serving a 60-year term for the attack in October 1981, could be sentenced to life in prison for her murder.

Dear Abby

Diploma may open doors for teen

DEAR ABBY: A friend whose family is divided on this asked me to write. It seems that her nephew was scheduled to graduate from high school, but he got into trouble with the law (an old habit of his) and was sentenced to six months in the county jail. However, he is being allowed to do his homework in jail in order to complete the needed credits and get his diploma.

His mother went ahead and mail his graduation invitations and announcements to family and friends knowing he wouldn't be able to attend his own graduation. My friend thought this was a tacky thing for the mother to do. Of course, those who received graduation invitations and announcements felt obligated to send a gift.

What do you think about this?
NO TOWN OR NAME, PLEASE
DEAR NO TOWN: I think it's to the boy's credit that he chose to graduate instead of dropping out. Having that diploma will make it easier for him to shape up and stay out of trouble. Don't assume that relatives and friends sent gifts because they felt obligated. It could be their way of saying, "Congratulations for graduating anyway. Now we expect better things from you. Don't let us down."

DEAR ABBY: My wife is physically handicapped and needs help in the bathroom. When we go out, which is often, I assist her in the ladies' room.

Should I take her to the men's or ladies' restroom?
We won't cut back on our outings regardless of what people think.

MINNESOTAN
DEAR MINNESOTAN: I posed that question to "June" at the Westside Community for Independent Living in Los Angeles. Her reply: "No problem. The man should ask a woman to please go into the ladies room first and tell whoever is occupying it (if indeed someone is) that a woman who needs assistance from her husband will be coming in. Most people are very understanding and cooperative."

DEAR ABBY: A mother-in-law was upset because her daughter-in-law never made a home-cooked meal for her — instead she always entertained in a restaurant. You said: "Some people just can't handle entertaining at home. The very thought of it is so upsetting they don't even want to make the effort, so accept the restaurant dinners with good grace, and don't let it bother you."

Thanks, Abby. No one else understood. But you did. I, too, am petrified at the thought of entertaining at home. Even when my married children are coming for dinner, I can't sleep for three days ahead of time: I wake up at 4 a.m. in a panic, simply terrified! Books, courses, friends or family can't help me. I can't help being this way. I've fought it for 40 years, and I'm only 60.
Thank you for understanding.
MRS. B., ALABASTER, ALA.

DEAR MRS. B.: If misery loves company, take comfort in the knowledge that you have a lot of company.

Dr. Donohue

Strep germ usual cause of impetigo

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: My daughter, age 12, has been bothered by what our family calls impetigo. It starts as blisters that fill with liquid. She has been using a cream called Mycitracin, which helps some. But I wonder if there is something we can do to stop this from coming in the first place. — Mrs. L.K.

For other readers, impetigo is much as Mrs. L.K. describes it, beginning as a group of small blisters that are pus-filled. The blisters develop honey-colored crusts that appear to be lightly glued onto the skin.

Impetigo is a bacterial infection, and the bacterium usually involved is the strep. Often, that germ gets its hold in a place where the skin has been broken. The most minute skin break can give it entry and then the rash and blisters spread.

Mrs. L.K. is having luck with her anti-bacterial cream, but others are not so fortunate. Creams and lotions do not always work, and one can be faced with incomplete control. Often that person requires oral penicillin to completely eradicate the infection. And Mrs. L.K.'s daughter should also use an anti-bacterial soap.

The strep germ is the cause of impetigo in nine out of 10 instances, but the staph germ can cause it also. If the staph germ is involved, then a penicillin different from the ordinary kind may have to be used. If Mrs. L.K.'s daughter should develop another outbreak of impetigo, she should go back to the doctor. He may suggest a course of oral penicillin.

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: I am a migraine sufferer. I have been pregnant for four months, and I have noted an absence of my headache problem. I am told this is not uncommon. Can you comment? — Mrs. E.A.V.

Migraine attacks usually cease during pregnancy. I cannot tell you precisely why this should happen, but there are many migraine-hormone "connections" that seem to be more than coincidences. For example, some women may experience greater frequency of attacks when using the Pill, which, of course, contains hormones. And some women report migraine attacks in connection with their menstrual periods. Finally, some women report decreased frequency and severity of attacks after entering the menopause, when their own hormone production wanes.

So your present freedom from migraines is very likely related to your pregnancy. In fact, should you have a migrain attack during the rest of your pregnancy, you should report it to your doctor. It might be due to factors unrelated to those involved in your accustomed non-pregnancy episodes, factors your doctor will want to investigate.

Unfortunately, the migraines tend to return when the pregnancy is over. For more information on migraines, other readers can obtain the booklet "How to Tame Headaches" by writing me care of the Big Spring Herald, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope and 50 cents.

Dr. Donohue welcomes reader mail but regrets that, due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

A QUILTING BEE — Students of Mamie Lee Dodd's 5th grade class at Marcy Annex learned the history of Howard County and handsewing and quilting skills while making a quilt this year at school. They made the pictures for the squares on paper and used dressmakers carbon to trace the pictures on to the cloth. The pictures were colored with oil pastels and ironed to remove the oil. The strips were sewn to each block, the blocks were sewn together, and the strips were sewn together. The students plan to enter the quilt in the Howard County Fair in September. Shown quilting are (left to right) Tina Marquez, Kaci McCormick, Becky Dominguez, Kristine Del Bosque, Marcus Gresham, Peter Buske, Mrs. Dodds, Cindy Rios and Edward Hernandez.

Feasting was part of funeral, wake customs

Mrs. Jack Lipscombe presented a program on "Funeral and Burial Customs in Colonial America" at the Tejas Chapter of National Society Colonial Daughters of the 17th Century meeting, May 21.

The chapter met at Big Spring Country Club for a luncheon meeting.

In the 1600's, New Englanders had no religious services at a funeral. They carried their dead in solemn silence to his grave.

Where Scotch-Irish planters had settled, news of a death was a time for a holiday. A gathering was held the night before the funeral where feasting and drinking resembled an Irish Wake. Much New England Rum was consumed at the wake, before the procession to the grave and after the burial, the party returned to the home of the deceased for more drinks. Often it took the family of the deceased years to pay for the rum.

Firing guns at funerals was common practice in the early days. In 1655, Virginia Assembly passed an act forbidding the wasting of powder except at weddings and funerals. Mourning rings, gloves and love scarves were given at funerals.

Two customs prevailed in every settlement of the Colony. One, the presentation of a gift to relatives and prominent citizens who were in the funeral procession. Liberal serving of intoxicating beverages to mourners, visitors and all who had anything to do with the funeral.

The General Assembly in Washington D.C. was reported on. The Tejas Chapter was given the President General Award for Excellency, tied for first place for the Historical Commorative Program of the 17th century.

Members from Snyder, Rotan, Sweetwater, Odessa, Kermit and Fort Stockton attended the May 21 meeting. The next meeting will be held July 30 in Abilene.

Eunice Thixton named Clubwoman of the Year

Eunice Thixton was selected Clubwoman of the Year at the GFWC Forsan Study Club at a meeting at the Brass Nail Restaurant, May 21. Mrs. Thixton received an engraved GFWC charm.

The club received three awards from the Texas Federation of Women Club state convention: a first place for reporting workshop, second place for the community fire truck demonstration, and second place for outstanding club program. They also received a certificate for 100 per cent participation in the Texas Clubwoman Magazine.

Donna Nixon and Valine McMillian were introduced as new members.

Members will meet this summer to compile next year's yearbook. The next meeting will be June 16 at 1 p.m. at Susan Alexander's home.

PTA council installs 1983-84 officers

District 17 Parent-Teacher Association vice president, Carolyn Myers of Odessa, conducted installation services for Big Spring Council PTA at Brass Nail Restaurant, May 13.

New officers are Marcia Rogers, president; Donna Parker, first vice president; Nelda Reagan, second vice president; Wendall Ware, recording secretary; Karen Hyden, corresponding secretary; and Darla Ferguson, treasurer. Outgoing officers were Barbara Claxton, Christina Lawrence, Duanna Chester and Charla Myers.

Several people were recognized for their continued support of PTA. They are Lynn Hise, superintendent of BSISD, and principals Jean Wilder, Wendall Ware, J.B. Cushing, Herman Smith and M.A. Barber. Dorothy Dunnam also was thanked for her contributions.

Certificates and love knots were presented to local businesses who helped with council projects during the year. Those honored were Skate Palace, Cosden Oil and Chemical, Brass Nail Restaurant and Faye's Flowers.

Each PTA outgoing president announced new officers for next year.

Marcy officers are Janice Mayes, president; Frances Gressett, first vice president; Debbie Burton, second vice president; Pam Mitchell, secretary; and Darrel Reagan, treasurer.

Moss officers are Rodney Michie, president; Lynn Barnett, vice president; Charlotte majors, secretary; and Kay Barnett, treasurer.

College Heights officers are Donna Lee, president, and Lana Cools, treasurer.

College Heights reported continued reorganization for next year's PTA.

Washington officers are Debbie Steen, president; Sharon Settles, vice president; Pam Nichols, secretary; and Judy Robertson, treasurer.

Kentwood officers are Donna Parker, president; Vickie La Barge, vice president; and Pat Rinehart, treasurer. The secretary position will be filled later.

Texas life membership in PTA was presented to Barbara Claxton, outgoing council president. The council presented Christina Lawrence, outgoing first vice president, and help in the coming year. She encouraged all officers to attend the Leadership Summer Seminar at Austin and University of Texas, July 17-19. Each PTA needs to be represented, she said. Reservation deadline is June 25. For more information, call Ms. Rogers at 263-6384.

COMPUTER WHIZ — Computers are not just a game to 14-year-old Chris Baker of Dallas. The ninth-grader writes software reviews and is considering starting a software company someday.

Teenage critic reviews software

DALLAS (AP) — Chris Barker, a 14-year-old computer whiz, is on the cutting edge of a new profession: He's a software critic.

"It's kind of like reviewing a movie," says Chris. "But you pay considerably more for a computer game and don't necessarily have as much fun."

Chris launched his career at a software store where he was showing people how to play computer games. He caught the attention of the editor of a local software advertising magazine who worked at the store and who asked him to review new adventure games for the publication.

"We were impressed with Chris' mannerisms and his use of large words for his age," said Doug Stone, editor of Softworld.

Chris received a discount on the adventure games he reviewed in return for his work.

The magazine recently stopped publishing, but Chris is thinking about reviewing software — the instructions that tell a computer how to perform a specific function — for other local computer publications.

"It's both fun and work," he says. "It's fun that I get to play a game that I might not get to otherwise. But sometimes reviewing is a tedious process."

The games he reviews are more sophisticated than those seen in arcades and generally involve more logic than action, Chris says.

"I look for the quality of screens, the complexity of games and special effects," he said.

Chris' favorite game is Ultima II, a graphics adventure. The player can send a man to any spot on Earth to battle aliens, sneak through castles and search for the hidden Enchantress.

Chris, who attends Westwood Junior High School, was introduced to computers in a sixth-grade class for gifted students. Now he owns a 48K Apple II Plus system with two disc drives and a dot matrix printer.

He says he hopes to start a software company someday.

Aside from games, Chris says, few of his fellow students are involved with computers.

"Most of the kids aren't interested," he said. "It's too much bother to learn how to use them."

Child disappearances recalled during day

NEW YORK (AP) — Etan Patz was a friendly child who thought grown-ups were his friends. Adam Walsh was taught to respect adults. One disappeared, the other died a grisly death at the hands of a stranger.

On Wednesday, National Missing Children's Day, the boys' parents came to remember their personal tragedies and to urge local communities to help stop the national tragedy of child disappearances.

"Parents must be aware of the fact their children are vulnerable. That is the hard lesson we've learned. I believe my wife and I are symbols of the fact that this type of crime can happen to anybody," said Stan Patz of New York City.

Patz and his wife, Julie, whose 6-year-old son was last seen on May 25, 1979 walking to his school bus stop, were joined by other parents of missing or murdered children at a news conference for more action from schools and police to prevent similar cases.

No reliable national statistics exist on the number of missing children in the United States, but Child Find of New Paltz, N.Y., the only national non-profit registry for missing children, estimates that 150,000 children disappear each year through parental abductions in custody disputes, kidnappings by strangers, and other unknown circumstances.

Posters drawn by school children with warnings such as, "Don't go in empty houses" and "Never take rides from strangers," hung from the walls as parents and Child Find leaders held a news conference.

Gloria Yerkovich, who founded Child

Find after her own daughter was abducted, displayed a new "Child Finder Kit" that she said could help parents teach their children how to protect themselves.

It includes a coloring book, "Color Me Safe," in which children are told that "not all grownups can be trusted," and has forms on which parents can keep identification records on their children and advice on what to do if a child is taken.

The Patzes urged schools to keep photographs of each child with their school records, and to call the parents of any child who does not show up at school in the morning.

Parents need to teach their children "how to be out on the street and recognize the danger," said Mrs. Patz. She said Etan was like many children, "a friendly, outgoing person."

"If he felt comfortable with someone, he would call that person a friend and go with him," she said. The Patzes do not know what happened to the boy, whom police have never found.

Adam Walsh also fell victim to a stranger, but his parents, John and Revere Walsh, did learn what happened. Adam, 6, was abducted from a Hollywood, Fla. department store in 1981. All that was found was his severed head.

Jay Howell, counsel for the U.S. Senate subcommittee that worked on the Missing Children Act, which became law last Oct. 1, urged police departments to enter data on missing children into the FBI's National Crime Information Center computer.

"Children are a low priority on the crime scene," Howell said.

House pets may cause diarrhea

BOSTON (AP) — A parasite carried by newborn calves and other animals, including dogs and cats, is highly contagious to humans and probably is a major cause of diarrhea, a researcher says.

The illness usually goes away in a few days when otherwise healthy people catch it. But it can cause prolonged, even life-threatening diarrhea in those whose immune systems are weakened, including people taking cancer chemotherapy and victims of acquired immune deficiency syndrome, or AIDS.

Until now, this ailment, called cryptosporidiosis, was thought to be very rare among humans. There is no known treatment for it.

"I think we are going to find that it is a very significant cause of diarrhea," said Dr. William L. Current of Auburn University in Alabama.

The disease was first spotted among calves in 1970. It has spread and afflicts the newborn animals with often-fatal diarrhea.

"There are a number of dairy operations that indicate they're losing up to 90 percent of their replacement herds due to this organism," Current said in an interview. "Just about every bovine herd that you look at is going to have cryptosporidiosis."

Current's research was published in Thursday's issue of the New England Journal of Medicine.

Humans get diarrhea and cramps when they are infected by the organism, a parasitic protozoan called cryptosporidium. Although it is only a passing nuisance for most people, the microbe can hasten the deaths of those whose disease-fighting systems are already damaged.

The Centers for Disease Control reported that 21 AIDS victims have had the infection.

Current reported that a 15-year-old boy with an inherited immune disorder has suffered from it for six years. Because of the persistent diarrhea, he must be fed intravenously.

Although the disease is most often reported among young cows, Current's group showed that it can also be carried by kittens, puppies, goats and mice.

He said he saw one instance in which a man apparently caught the illness from his cat, and he believes that house pets may be frequent spreaders of the ailment.

"It appears that not only is it transmissible from animals to humans but also from human to human, and it can be transmitted quite easily," he said.

Current said that several people who cared for an AIDS victim at the Hershey Medical Center in Pennsylvania caught the diarrhea infection from the patient.

Often when children have diarrhea, the ailment is simply labeled as "nonspecific gastroenteritis," he said. "Right now, I would not be surprised if cryptosporidiosis would comprise a fairly large percentage of those that are not diagnosed."

In his study, the researchers analyzed the stools of 18 students and university personnel who came in contact with calves at Auburn that had the infection. Twelve of them caught the infection, and nine of these people had diarrhea and cramps that lasted between one and 10 days. The other three infected people did not develop the symptoms.

"People with compromised immunity — either AIDS patients or people with congenital immunodeficiencies or individuals on chemotherapy — are in high risk of acquiring a possibly life-threatening infection."

He said these people should be cautious about exposure to sick animals.

"For example, if they're on a farm and there are calves with severe diarrhea, they should not be messing with those animals," he said. "They're taking quite a chance."

Since none of the medicines on the market will wipe out the infection, Current said his team plans to test experimental drugs against the microbe.

County auditor back from Austin meeting

Howard County Auditor Jackie Olson recently attended the 25th Annual County Auditors Institute in Austin.

The 2½ day training institute, held at the LBJ School of Public Affairs, concentrated on cash management and other county financial requirements.

A special workshop was held with the Texas assistant attorney general on new laws pertaining to county auditors.

Thursday Notes

Thursday Notes fans, I have some good news...and some bad news.

First, the bad news. Ted Turner is moving to Big Spring.

No, I'm just kidding.

Actually it has to do with Big Spring High football coach Alan Bollig. That muscle-bound coach from California is getting married Friday afternoon. Women of Big Spring, break out the kleenex.

Bollig is one of three coaches who gave up the Great Northwest for Texas, venturing from Linfield College in McMinnville, Ore. The Steer line coach — who graduated from Oceanside High in California where I lived for two years — is the first of the trio to get hitched.

Fortunately, he's marrying a local girl...Cheri Lamb, who's brother, Chris, played shortstop for the Steer baseball team this past spring. Kind of like a sequel to An Officer and a Gentleman, huh?

Sorry girls. First it was Mike "NBA" Randle and now "Beachboy" Bollig. Is there no justice in the world?

And now for the good news.

Big Spring bowler Phil Ringener cashed in at the Houston Open last week. Phil finished eighth in the event, earning a check for $2,800 to boost his season winnings near $17,000.

He's planning to spend most of the summer in Big Spring where he has heavy interest in the local Little League program (I'm telling you, should you see him throw strikes...).

Speaking of bowling, the Big Spring Bowl-a-Rama team remains in first place in the Class A division of the Texas Women's Bowling Association tournament standings. The foursome rolled a 2,683 team score the second weekend of the 14-week tournament and the score has remained on top, tied with Mid Coast Logging and Perforating of Victoria.

And now, report from the Notes outdoors editor.

Hello readers and meet Foy Dunlap of Big Spring, pictured below. Dunlap is showing two black bass he caught recently as Lake Colorado City. He pulled in his big catches using plastic worms in five feet of water.

FOY DUNLAP AND HIS BIG CATCH
...Big Springer is longtime fishing fan

Like to share fish stories? Dunlap says he will take a "time-out" from his "busy" retired schedule to talk fishing with anyone.

While filing Steer baseball stats, a note from Cotton Mize (date May 1) fell out of the folder.

The 7th Annual Cotton Mize Invitational is coming up June 3-5 in Big Spring. For those unfamiliar with Mize, his teams play fast-pitch softball and he guarantees you a great weekend of tournament action at Johnny Stone Park.

The city fast-pitch league is going strong for several weeks now with six teams — Cotton's Tater Tots, Trio Fuels, McCutcheon Oil, Stanton Super Sports and teams from Coahoma and Odessa participating. Mark your calendar for the big tournament next week.

Also the weekend in June is the Big Spring stop of the Highway 80 tennis tournament circuit. Contact Lenny Prudhomme at the Figure Seven Tennis Center for more information on this major tournament.

Want something else to do that weekend? Stop by the Big Spring High gym for the Tri-State Boxing Tournament hosted by the Howard County Boxing Club. Teams from Texas, Mississippi and Louisiana will be in town for the big boxing event.

That's about it this week. We'll keep an eye on Carla Jackson as Abilene Christina competes in the NCAA Division II national meet in Cape Girardeau, Mo., this week. — GRIG JAKLEWICZ

Shriver hurt, McEnroe mad

No. 5 seed sprains ankle, John fined for 'ball abuse'

CONCENTRATING ON TENNIS...FOR THE MOMENT — American John McEnroe returns the ball to opponent Ben Testerman, also of the United States, during a first round match Wednesday at the French Open. Between tirades and kicking a photographer's camera, McEnroe won the match 3-6, 6-1, 6-2, 6-7, 6-3.

PARIS (AP) — American Pam Shriver fell and seriously sprained her right ankle today and was forced to withdraw from the French Open tennis tournament.

It happened during a third-round match against Jo Durie, British Wightman Cup player. Durie won the first set 6-2 and Shriver, who was seeded No. 5, then withdrew.

"She has hurt her ankle badly," said her Australian coach Don Candy. "She was in a lot of pain, and she told me afterwards she thought she was going to be sick."

Durie was leading 4-2. In the seventh game the British player dropped a short shot and Shriver raced forward, fell and remained stretched on the ground.

A doctor was called to the court and Shriver was allowed a 10-minute rest under the rules.

She resumed with her ankle strapped and was moving well enough to save two set points. But as soon as Durie won the set Shriver went forward and shook hands.

"I wrong-footed her, and I was quite close to her when she crumpled up, Durie said. "I could see she was in a lot of pain."

"After we started again I thought she was going to be all right for the rest of the match. When she shook hands she told me she didn't want to take any chances with Wimbledon ahead."

Candy said Shriver turned her ankle slightly two days ago — the first sign of ankle trouble she had ever had.

"She once had shoulder trouble and pulled out of a match against Virginia Wade in Dallas," Candy said. "Apart from that I have never seen her hurt."

Durie became the first woman to reach the last 16.

Chris Evert Lloyd, one round behind, defeated Christiane Jolissaint of France 6-4, 6-2. Evert Lloyd is seeded to meet defending champion Martina Navratilova in the final.

In the second round of the men's singles Marcos Hocevar of Brazil ended the hopes of Thierry Tulasne, one of France's bright young hopes, 6-3, 6-1, 6-1.

Another of France's rising stars, Catherine Tanvier, upset No. 9 seed Romanian Virginia Ruzici 6-3, 6-4 to advance to the fourth round.

Tanvier, who will be 18 Saturday, is attempting to become the youngest woman to win the French Open since Britain's Christine Truman took the title in 1959 at the age of 18 years, 4 months.

Ruzici was the 1978 French Open champion and a finalist in 1980.

Argentine Guillermo Vilas, the No. 4 seed, easily eliminated South African Mike Myburg 6-1, 6-2, 6-1 in a second-round match.

Vilas, 30, the oldest player among the top 10, won the French Open in 1977. He lost last year's final to Swedish teen-ager Mats Wilander.

Wilander, the No. 5 seed, was to play Frenchman Christophe Bernelle in a second-round match today.

On Wednesday, John McEnroe kept his "bad boy of tennis" reputation intact. Seeded second at the $1.3 million event, McEnroe returned today to play Alberto Tous of Spain, a 6-2, 7-5, 6-3 winner over Givaldo Barbosa.

The match comes after McEnroe's tumultuous opening encounter Wednesday against Ben Testerman, a tall 22-year-old from Knoxville, Tenn. McEnroe shouted obscenities at linesmen, slammed balls and kicked a photographer's camera before defeating the 22-year-old Testerman 3-6, 6-1, 6-2, 6-7, 6-2.

French Open

He was fined $350 for "ball abuse" and was officially warned about exceeding a 30-second time limit between points.

"I don't think I deserved the fine," the 24-year-old McEnroe said.

The New York resident decided to enter the French Open at the last minute despite a doctor's warning that his participation could aggravate a shoulder injury and hurt his chances at Wimbledon, which begins June 20 — two weeks after this event ends.

A three-time U.S. Open and one-time Wimbledon champion, McEnroe has never captured the singles on the slow red clay courts at Roland Garros Stadium.

"I prefer to play on other surfaces but I want to show that I can play on this one," he said. "Maybe this year, or certainly sometime, I want to prove it."

McEnroe is seeded to meet Jimmy Connors in the $93,900 title match June 5. Connors easily moved into the third round Wednesday with a 6-4, 6-4, 6-3 victory over Australian Paul McNamee. It was the second consecutive straight-set victory for Connors, the 30-year-old top seed who got a day of rest today.

Among the women Wednesday, Navratilova and Lloyd, the top two seeds, both cruised to straight-set victories.

Navratilova, the 26-year-old defending champion, only lost two games in her second-round 6-1, 6-1 victory over Czechoslovakia's Katerina Skronska.

Lloyd dropped only three games in her 6-1, 6-2 first-round defeat of Brazilian Pat Medrado.

Malone, Sixers craving NBA champions' rings

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Moses Malone doesn't want to spend any more of his considerable salary in a jewelry store.

"It's time to win it," the Philadelphia 76ers center said Wednesday after practice for tonight's second game of the National Basketball Association championship series. "I'm tired of having to go to a store to buy a ring. I want to win one."

Malone, who earned more than $2 million in the first season of his six-year, $13.2 million contract, is itching to beat the Los Angeles Lakers in the best-of-seven title series, which the 76ers lead 1-0 after winning the opener 113-107 last Sunday.

In the playoffs, Malone said, "you don't worry about getting tired."

With Johnson out, Earl Cureton, who has played in only three of Philadelphia's 10 playoff games for a total of six minutes, is Malone's primary reserve.

"We don't expect him to be a dominant force, we just hope he will play up to his capabilities," Philadelphia Coach Billy Cunningham said of Cureton. "Moses could play more. We have three additional TV timeouts and we can spread our own timeouts to give him more rest."

"When teams in the playoffs play each other the first time, it always gets more intense after that," he said. "Players get more in tune with who they are playing against."

"The effort always intensifies when a team gets behind," Lakers center Kareem Abdul-Jabbar said. "Desire manifests itself with intensity because winning is really the only reward for playing. You get paid the same whether you win or lose."

The Lakers, who beat the 76ers in the opener of the championship series in 1980 and last year and went on to win the title in six games both times, will go into Game 2 at less than full strength again.

In addition to the loss for the entire playoffs of rookie star James Worthy, Bob McAdoo still is slowed by a bruised thigh. But McAdoo said he possibly could play some tonight.

"There's been a noticeable improvement every day," the veteran forward-center said. "I believe I can give the team a few minutes on Thursday without hurting myself."

NBA Championship

"Those 65 games we won in the regular season won't mean anything if we don't win the championship," Malone said.

The two-time NBA Most Valuable Player, who is considered likely to win that award again after this season, had 27 points and 18 rebounds in 41 minutes of action in Sunday's victory. But reserve center Clemon Johnson is sidelined with a urinary tract infection, so Malone could see even more playing time tonight.

"I've played 48-minute games a few times," Malone said. "It's no big deal. I was ready to go Tuesday night. I didn't see any reason to wait four days between games."

NJ Nets reportedly hiring Spurs' Albeck this week

SAN ANTONIO, Texas (AP) — San Antonio Spurs coach Stan Albeck will sign with New Jersey this week and take the Nets head coaching job for $250,000 a year, the San Antonio Express reported today.

Albeck, who has led the Spurs to three straight NBA Midwest Division titles, does not have a written contract with the Spurs, team president Angelo Drossos confirmed.

"Stan Albeck is still the coach here," Drossos said, "and until he tells me otherwise, I'm going to take everything I hear with a dose of salt."

The coach's wife, Phyllis, told The San Antonio Light that Albeck has coached his last Spurs game.

Of New Jersey, Mrs. Albeck said: "I don't know if that's a lock, but I know what is a lock — Stan won't be here next year."

Before Albeck left town Tuesday, he denied reports he was leaving San Antonio's National Basketball Association club. He has had no further comment.

Spurs General Manager Bob Bass has received permission from the Dallas Mavericks to talk with Dallas assistant Bobby Weiss.

Albeck negotiated a three-year contract with the Spurs last season that pays him an estimated $175,000 a year.

However, the contract never was signed after San Antonio did not provide Albeck with a second assistant coach or include a written clause allowing him input in player personnel decisions, said Jerry Davis, the coach's New York attorney.

Old and new lift KC past Rangers

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP) — A utilityman hitting less than his weight and a pitcher making a third stab at the big leagues proved the difference in Kansas City's 5-2 conquest of the Texas Rangers Wednesday night.

It was enough to make Kansas City Manager Dick Howser predict, cautiously, better things to come. But Ranger boss Doug Rader was reflecting on baseball's unpredictability.

Bud Black, a righthander with a live fastball, gave up only six hits through seven and two-thirds innings in his first start after being called up from Omaha to replace the slumping Vida Blue. Black outdueled Texas starter Danny Darwin, 3-4, who surrendered only seven hits in going the distance.

And Joe Simpson, who has played both first base and the outfield this season, snapped an 0-for-22 skid with a two-run blast into right field in the seventh inning. Simpson kept coming and slid across home plate after rightfielder Larry Parrish bobbled the ball.

Simpson continued to play the sharp defense he's been flashing while filling in for injured first baseman Willie Aikens.

Black, who was up with the Royals for parts of 1981 and 1982, blanked the Rangers on four hits for seven innings and allowed two more hits in the eighth before giving way to Dan Quisenberry, who got his 10th save.

George Brett gave the Royals a 1-0 lead in the first inning with a home run, his 11th, tying him with California's Doug DeCinces for the American League lead.

Twins 7, Orioles 4

When the Minnesota Twins come to Baltimore, they usually turn into birdseed for the Orioles. This time, however, they only added to the Birds' recent attack of indigestion.

Kent Hrbek drove in four of Minnesota's six runs in the first two innings as the Twins defeated Baltimore 7-4 Wednesday night to complete a three-game sweep and pin the Orioles with their sixth straight defeat. Except for a one-game stop in 1968, it was the Twins' first sweep in 51 series in Memorial Stadium since the Minnesota franchise started in 1961.

Madden tosses Astros by Cubs

HOUSTON (AP) — Mike Madden doesn't like playing the waiting game.

And thanks to a pregame talk with Houston manager Bob Lillis, he no longer has to.

"Before the game, I told Mike that no matter what happened, he was going to get more starts," Lillis said. "And he did a great job."

Madden allowed only one hit in six innings of work in his first major league start Wednesday as the Astros defeated the Chicago Cubs 1-0.

National League

Madden, 3-0, walked five batters, including three of the first six he faced.

The only hit against him was a fourth-inning single by Bill Buckner.

Fran LaCorte, Frank DiPino and Bill Dawley allowed only two hits among them over the final three innings.

The Astros took advantage of a mixup in signals between Cubs starting pitcher Craig Lefferts and Davis in the second inning to score the game's only run.

With one out, Ray Knight doubled to right field, took third on Luis Pujols' grounder and scored on a passed ball charged to Davis.

Braves 6, Pirates 0

The Atlanta Braves walked all over Pittsburgh. They couldn't help it. The Pirates' pitchers wouldn't let them hit the ball.

Jim Bibby and Jimmy Winn helped put the Pirates in the record book Wednesday, issuing a record-tying seven consecutive walks in the third inning of the Braves' 6-0 victory.

It was, in fact, 1909, when Washington's pitchers walked seven consecutive Chicago White Sox. The National League record for successive passes was six. It happened five times, most recently in 1944 when the New York Giants were the recipients of the Brooklyn Dodgers' wildness.

Giants 7, Mets 6

Johnnie LeMaster's three-run homer in the fourth inning and Jack Clark's decisive solo shot in the seventh carried the Giants past the Mets, saddling Neil Allen with his first loss as a starting pitcher. Dave Kingman and George Foster homered for New York.

Expos 2, Padres 0

Montreal's Steve Rogers pitched a seven-hitter for his sixth consecutive victory, his sixth complete game and his third shutout this season.

Chris Speier and Bryan Little hit RBI singles in the bottom of the sixth. In the top of the inning, right fielder Warren Cromartie fired a strike to the plate to nail Alan Wiggins of the Padres, trying to score from second on Juan Bonilla's single.

Cardinals 7, Reds 2

John Stuper survived early wildness and went on to pitch a five-hitter against Cincinnati for his second complete game. Ken Oberkfell had three hits and Darrell Porter a two-run homer for the Cardinals.

Dodgers 6, Phillies 1

The Phillies got a run for a change, but that didn't change the outcome. They lost their fifth in a row as Burt Hooton and Dave Stewart of the Dodgers combined on a six-hitter.

The only hit that hurt was Gary Matthews' two-out homer in the eighth inning. It halted the Los Angeles pitchers' shutout string at 35 innings and the Philadelphia batters' scoreless streak at 42-3-3 innings.

nine hits against his former team and Ellis Valentine and Bobby Grich homered. It was John's first appearance as an Angel against the team that traded him to California last Aug. 31. The veteran left-hander, who turned 40 on Sunday, struck out two and walked one in recording the 241st triumph of his career.

Loser Shane Rawley allowed all the California runs.

Tigers 6, Blue Jays 2

At Toronto, Kirk Gibson hit his first home run of the season, a two-run inside-the-park shot in the first inning, and Detroit went on to snap the Blue Jays' five-game winning streak. The loss dropped Toronto into a first-place tie with Boston in the AL East.

American League

Red Sox 2, White Sox 0

At Chicago, Reid Nichols rapped a two-run single with two out in the ninth inning and Bruce Hurst pitched a three-hitter for his first major league shutout. Hurst walked two, struck out six and retired the final 13 White Sox batters. Dennis Lamp was the loser after taking over for starter Britt Burns in the ninth.

Brewers 7, A's 6

At Oakland, Cecil Cooper smacked a two-run homer and Robin Yount slammed a two-run triple. Cooper capped a three-run third inning with his seventh homer after Jim Gantner tripled and Ned Yost singled. The A's eventually tied the score 4-4, but scored three times in the seventh. Cooper drove in the go-ahead run with a bases-loaded grounder before Yount's triple, which offset a two-run homer by Oakland's Wayne Gross in the bottom of the ninth.

Mariners 2, Indians 1

Pat Putnam's two-run homer broke up a pitching duel between Seattle's Jim Beattie and Cleveland's Juan Eichelberger. Putnam delivered his two-run shot into the second deck in right with two out in the fourth inning for his sixth homer of the season after Jamie Allen led off with a walk. Beattie gave up five hits in 7-2-3 innings, including Rick Manning's eighth-inning homer.

Madden tosses Astros by Cubs

HOUSTON (AP) — Mike Madden doesn't like playing the waiting game.

And thanks to a pregame talk with Houston manager Bob Lillis, he no longer has to.

"Before the game, I told Mike that no matter what happened, he was going to get more starts," Lillis said. "And he did a great job."

Madden allowed only one hit in six innings of work in his first major league start Wednesday as the Astros defeated the Chicago Cubs 1-0.

National League

Madden, 3-0, walked five batters, including three of the first six he faced.

The only hit against him was a fourth-inning single by Bill Buckner.

Fran LaCorte, Frank DiPino and Bill Dawley allowed only two hits among them over the final three innings.

The Astros took advantage of a mixup in signals between Cubs starting pitcher Craig Lefferts and Davis in the second inning to score the game's only run.

With one out, Ray Knight doubled to right field, took third on Luis Pujols' grounder and scored on a passed ball charged to Davis.

Braves 6, Pirates 0

The Atlanta Braves walked all over Pittsburgh. They couldn't help it. The Pirates' pitchers wouldn't let them hit the ball.

Jim Bibby and Jimmy Winn helped put the Pirates in the record book Wednesday, issuing a record-tying seven consecutive walks in the third inning of the Braves' 6-0 victory.

It was, in fact, 1909, when Washington's pitchers walked seven consecutive Chicago White Sox. The National League record for successive passes was six. It happened five times, most recently in 1944 when the New York Giants were the recipients of the Brooklyn Dodgers' wildness.

Giants 7, Mets 6

Johnnie LeMaster's three-run homer in the fourth inning and Jack Clark's decisive solo shot in the seventh carried the Giants past the Mets, saddling Neil Allen with his first loss as a starting pitcher. Dave Kingman and George Foster homered for New York.

Expos 2, Padres 0

Montreal's Steve Rogers pitched a seven-hitter for his sixth consecutive victory, his sixth complete game and his third shutout this season.

Chris Speier and Bryan Little hit RBI singles in the bottom of the sixth. In the top of the inning, right fielder Warren Cromartie fired a strike to the plate to nail Alan Wiggins of the Padres, trying to score from second on Juan Bonilla's single.

Cardinals 7, Reds 2

John Stuper survived early wildness and went on to pitch a five-hitter against Cincinnati for his second complete game. Ken Oberkfell had three hits and Darrell Porter a two-run homer for the Cardinals.

Dodgers 6, Phillies 1

The Phillies got a run for a change, but that didn't change the outcome. They lost their fifth in a row as Burt Hooton and Dave Stewart of the Dodgers combined on a six-hitter.

The only hit that hurt was Gary Matthews' two-out homer in the eighth inning. It halted the Los Angeles pitchers' shutout string at 35 innings and the Philadelphia batters' scoreless streak at 42-3-3 innings.

DENNIS THE MENACE

"How can things so pretty and clean come out of dirt?"

THE FAMILY CIRCUS

"Mommy? The barber won't give me a crewcut unless I bring a note from you."

Your Daily HOROSCOPE
from the CARROLL RICHTER INSTITUTE

FORECAST FOR FRIDAY, MAY 27, 1983

GENERAL TENDENCIES: You are in a state of mind that could lead to a confrontation with an associate, but you would be wise to maintain a peaceful attitude. Make plans to have more abundance.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Use tact instead of forcefulness with others and accomplish a lot more. Discuss the future with financial experts.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Don't waste time with the wrong persons today. Go to the right source for valuable information you need.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) A financial arrangement may be annoying in the morning but solve it wisely and make better plans for the future.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Take steps to improve your health and appearance, and then go after your most cherished desires.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) A secret worry should be forgotten now and later you can easily resolve the matter. Adopt a logical outlook on life.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Contact friends you have not seen in a long time and deepen the relationships. Enjoy the social side of life tonight.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Strive to have increased harmony with family members. Bring your talents to the attention of influential persons.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) You may find it hard to step out of that convenient rut you are in early in the day, but later you can do so easily.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Don't neglect duties you have assumed and discharge them with true efficiency. Be careful of outsiders.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Study what close ties expect of you during the day and then try to please them in the evening. Avoid trouble.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Try to enlist the help of loyal friends for a new project you have in mind. Avoid one who is a gossip.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Contact congenials for recreational purposes since you are in need of fun. The evening can be especially happy for you.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he or she will have great capability for solving problems of others, so be sure to give the right education to make the most of this ability. Direct it toward salesmanship for best results. A good family person in this chart.

"The Stars impel, they do not compel." What you make of your life is largely up to you!

Yankees' Brawling Billy in trouble again

ANAHEIM, Calif. (AP) — Billy Martin, the fiery manager of the New York Yankees, is embroiled in yet another controversy. He maintains he's done nothing to deserve it.

A man who said he was struck by the Yankee skipper and roughed up by Dom Scala, New York's bullpen catcher.

But the version of Martin and Scala as to what happened early Wednesday morning, a couple of hours after the Yankees had suffered a 7-6, 10-inning loss to the California Angels, was totally different.

Police said Wednesday that no charges have been filed, but that they are continuing their investigation of the incident that occurred at the Anaheim Hyatt Hotel bar.

Robin Olson, 27, of El Toro, Calif., filed a report with police alleging that he was hit in the face by Martin.

Olson also claimed that Scala banged his head to the floor several times in rapid succession while holding him by the hair.

"I told the police I didn't even touch the guy," Martin said after the Yankees' 7-1 loss to California Wednesday night. "The guy came up four or five times and wouldn't leave us alone and one of the coaches (Scala) collared him.

"Nothing happened as far as I'm concerned. The guy was just looking for publicity. He came behind me and it seemed like he threw something at me. We threw the security guards and they threw the guy out of the place."

Scala said, "In a nutshell, I was trying to prevent an altercation. I would have done it for anybody on the team. The guy was hassling him (Martin) for about 20 minutes and he (Olson) was shouting obscenities. I didn't hit him or anything."

Olson gave The Associated Press his version of what happened nearly 24 hours later.

"I went over and I bought him a beer," he said. "I'm a real happy-go-lucky type person. I asked the bartender if he had Lite beer. I was excited, here was my opportunity to meet him. I thought it was going to be really nice."

Olson said he went over to Martin, who has appeared in several Lite beer commercials, and handed him the beer. Then, Olson said, Martin called him an abusive name, said something obscene about the beer and told him to get away from him in a profane manner.

"My bubble was just burst," said Olson. "I went back and asked him why he called me that name, what had I done. And he called me that again as I walked away."

"When I went to leave, I told him that I wasn't what he had called me. He mentioned his friend (Scala), who grabbed me by the arm and walked me outside. He told me if I didn't leave him (Martin) alone he would take care of me."

"I walked back over to tell him (Martin) I was sorry. I tapped him on the shoulder, just to get his attention, I was behind him. He got on his knees to turn around in the booth, grabbed me and ripped my shirt at the collar and then took a swing at me.

"When he hit me it grazed me on the right cheek. At the same time Dom grabbed my hair and pulled me down to the floor and banged my head to the floor about 15 times."

Olson, who said he is involved with "real estate and finance," maintained he was not intoxicated, that he had three drinks at Anaheim Stadium during the game and one more at the hotel several hours later, at the time of the incident.

"I was sober, that wasn't what the problem was, the problem was the guy (Martin) was insulting."

Jack Jewell, 62, the security chief of the hotel, said he did not know if Martin had hit Olson.

"All I know is that I got the call on it about 1:35 a.m. and that there was a fight, so I went into the bar to take care of it," Jewell said. "One guy was getting dragged off another guy when I got in there."

"I think it was Scala. I made sure he was neutral in a corner. The guy he was tangling with took a seat behind Billy Martin and started jawing at Martin."

Schlichter was near suicide, SI reports

NEW YORK (AP) — Art Schlichter's lawyer says there is "some indication" that the beleaguered Baltimore Colts' quarterback contemplated suicide because of his gambling debts.

"I only have his word for it," John Chester of Columbus, Ohio, is quoted as saying in Sports Illustrated.

The magazine, in its May 30 issue released Wednesday, said it also was told that Schlichter's gambling-related debts actually exceed $750,000, almost double the $389,000 the quarterback has acknowledged losing.

The one-time Ohio State star, currently undergoing treatment for compulsive gambling at an undisclosed hospital, was suspended indefinitely last week by National Football League Commissioner Pete Rozelle for his gambling activities.

In the SI story, Chester would not divulge the exact size of Schlichter's gambling debt, but did acknowledge, "It's terrible. It's so bad that I don't know how he's going to make it."

The magazine did not reveal the source of its figures.

Of the gambling addiction, Chester said, "It's a terrible, terrible burden. It's the type of thing where you don't want to get up in the daytime because you know you're faced with the same thing all over again. And this is what leads people to suicide."

The lawyer was not immediately available for comment on the SI report. His office in Columbus said he was in court. Schlichter has been unavailable for comment since the reports of his gambling surfaced last month.

On March 15, Schlichter approached the FBI for help in dealing with four bookmakers who had threatened to tell the Colts about his gambling habits. Schlichter told law enforcement officials he had lost $389,000 and still owed the four men $159,000.

But the magazine reported the debt is far worse because of money Schlichter borrowed from what Chester believed was every source the player could think of.

Chester told SI it was possible for Schlichter to run up huge gambling debts because he was "a frenzied bettor. It didn't make any difference what he was gambling on. He had no sensitivity to that. He just needed to gamble ... the wilder the better."

Chester didn't give details of Schlichter's betting patterns, but did say his client once lost $100,000 "in a short period of time."

As Schlichter fell further behind in debt, he went to San Diego and borrowed money from his accountant, an Ohio State grad, Bill Cheng.

It was Cheng, according to SI, who directed Schlichter to a San Diego psychiatrist, Thaddeus

Kostrubala. His first visit with Kostrubala apparently started a chain of events that eventually brought Schlichter to Columbus attorney Charles F. Freiburger, who in turn helped Schlichter contact the FBI.

Red Sox sweep Sonors 45's

SONORA — The Big Spring Red Sox ran their season record to 10-3 with a doubleheader sweep of the Sonora 45's Sunday.

David Cruz picked up his fifth win of the season as the Sox won the opener 14-1. Luis Rodriguez, 5-2, was the winning pitcher in the second game as Big Spring claimed an 11-1 victory.

The Sox plays the Lions in San Angelo this weekend. The teams split a twinbill earlier in the season.

Rebels blast UGSA Stingers

The Rebels outscored the Stingers 23-11 in a United Girls Softball Association Division II game Monday night.

Monica Armendariz blasted a home run, double and single while Missy Wilson also homered among her five hits. Teresa Averette, the winning pitcher, had four hits.

Liza Alvarez homered for the Stingers while Mary Reyes had three hits.

Panthers top Elks, 14-6

The Panthers downed the Elks 14-6 in an American Little League game this week.

Josh Wooten tossed the win for the Panthers, striking out nine batters.

Youth swim begins today

A youth open swim has been scheduled from 2-3:30 p.m. daily at the Big Spring YMCA.

The swim begins today with a lifeguard on duty at the pool. Cost per child is 75 cents.

Sharp guilty

OZONA (AP) — Michael Eugene Sharp, convicted of capital murder in the abduction and fatal stabbing of a Kermit woman, continued to protest his innocence even after jurors sentenced him to die by injection.

Sharp, 29, was found guilty Thursday of the June 11, 1982 murder of Brenda Kay Broadway, 31.

AIRPLANE DISPLAY — Thomas Gay of the Big Spring Model Aircraft Association argues the ability of his Smurfs plane Saturday at the association's show in the Big Spring Mall. Gay, along with members John Turner, Layne Mims, Bob Karwedsky and others, were promoting their hobby and their first model aircraft fly-in July 17. The association members fly their radio-controlled and static-line model planes every Sunday at the old Howard County airport.

Coahoma grads keep tradition

By MIKE DOWNEY
Staff Writer

The seniors trailed in without warning at Coahoma's graduation last night, accompanied by a distant processional theme.

Boys in red and girls in white, most adhered to standard graduation apparel, although the occasional blue jean and Nike sneakers peeked from under the somber robes.

As the 52 graduates streamed down both aisles in the high school auditorium, flashes flared like sudden suns as moms, dads and others tried to freeze an early moment on film.

The usual crying babies accompanied the opening remarks by the superintendent. Their cries punctuated the speeches by the top students and the main speaker.

A low rumble of voices gently rose and fell during the speeches as people commented on Dr. Bob Riley's points and laughed at his quiet jokes.

At 8:38 p.m., the presentation of diplomas began by Principal Ronnie Bourland. As the roll was called and another robed figure strode forward, calls of support could be heard from the auditorium.

Most were just names; others were nicknames; some brought applause. One graduate held his diploma high in exultation as he exited the stage. At 8:48, it was over.

As the crowd applauded, the graduates turned to the gathering and sang the school song. After a rousing cheer, the 52 followed with the Lord's Prayer, then exited quickly.

Outside in the hall, most waited in their gowns for hugs from proud parents, backslaps from friends and kisses from boyfriends and girlfriends. Laughter dominated the scene.

In the cool air of the night, more graduates, family and friends momentarily paused before heading to celebrations. A

52 graduate in Coahoma

The speaker at the Coahoma High School Graduation last night exhorted the graduates with the words of Top-40 Radio personality Kasey Kasem: "Keep your feet on the ground and reach for the stars."

Dr. Bob Riley, vice president of Howard College, told the 52 graduates to avoid being "non-winners" who go through the "motions of life."

Riley touched on many topics during his speech, including the signers of the Declaration of Independence, Winston Churchill and Rafer Johnson.

"They met a challenge and were willing to pay the price," Riley said.

The graduates were warned to not lead lives of "quiet desperation" by the Howard College official. Riley challenged the graduating seniors to set goals they could reach.

"Find out who you are and try to make a living at it," Riley said.

Valedictorian Cheryl McCoy spoke briefly on her class' year and credited it to parents and faculty.

"We look at the past and cherish the memories. Our accomplishment tonight is yours," Miss McCoy said.

Prior to her speech, Superintendent Richard Souter said Miss McCoy's 99.03 grade-point-average was the highest he had known in 23 years of educational work.

Salutatorian Rickie Long first mentioned the hours spent working in the Future Farmers of America with agricultural teacher Stanley Blackwell.

"Graduation is a sad and a glad time of life," Long said.

Council honors 3 volunteers

Rebecca Valencia, Dan Conley and Hosea Young were selected outstanding senior citizens by the Howard County Council on Aging Council's board of directors for their civic and volunteer work. May is Senior Citizens Month.

Mrs. Valencia, a native of Shafter, has taken care of the sanctuary and educational building of the First Presbyterian Church in downtown Big Spring for 25 years.

The Council formerly used the old Presbyterian Church before receiving the Webb Air Force Base building no. 487. Mrs. Valencia assisted the Council.

In 1940, Mrs. Valencia married Jose Valencia in St. Thomas Catholic Church, where they have been active members. They have three daughters, Lupe, Berta and Linda. They have two grandsons.

Conley is "the busiest retired man I know," says his church's minister. Conley has served the congregation at 14th and Main Church of Christ as deacon, song leader, elder, ministerial selection committees, construction and maintenance supervision. He also visited the church's missions in Brazil.

He directed the concert and marching bands at Big Spring High School until his retirement in 1974. He was active in the schools, church, various musical organizations and the Lions Club. Conley enjoys singing and has organized several choruses, choirs and quartets. He is currently involved with the Signal Mountain Singers, a barbershop quartet.

Conley was the first manager of the Education Employees Federal Credit Union where he is currently chairman of the supervisory committee.

One of his regularly scheduled duties is delivering lunches to the elderly with the Mobile Meals service of the Council.

Hosea Young, originally of Anson, attended school in Tinesville, Texas. He has also lived in Rule, Texas, prior to coming to Big Spring in 1946. He has worked cleaning offices and doing various jobs.

He is a member and head steward of of Bakers Chapel African Methodist Episcopal Church. Young enjoys helping people who are in need.

Primarily, the Howard County Council on Aging directs the Mobile Meals program. Approximately 80 meals are served each day by volunteer delivery.

To qualify for the meals, a person must be unable to prepare their own or have anyone to see that they have at least one good hot meal.

Those qualifying may make a donation, but no fee is charged for the meals. This work is funded primarily by the Dora Roberts Foundation. Some individuals and clubs help finance the program. The meals are purchased from schools.

School district honors 47 teachers

Forty-seven teachers and employees of the Big Spring Independent School District were honored last night in a service pin ceremony.

Also singled out for recognition were seven retiring employees with a combined service of 158 years in the district.

Receiving the only 35-year pin was retiring vocational agriculture teacher Truett Vines, who was treated to a standing ovation by his peers. Vines has taught all of his career in Big Spring.

Getting 30-year service pins were Assistant Superintendent Don Crockett and Marcy Elementary teacher Ruby Simms.

Lynn Calvert, E.S. Dawson and Morris Molpus were honored for 25 years of service.

Twenty-year pins were given to Wilene Humphrey and Billie Knopp.

Fourteen teachers were lauded for 15 years of service. They were Karen Adams, Ruby Allgood, Carrie Barber, M.A. Barber, Norma Crockett, Esther Hernandez, LaQuita Hicks, Cruz Martinez, Ruth Nanny, Mary Lou Salazar, Loren Spencer, Carol Stephens, Anna Walker and Sharon White.

Ten-year pins were given to Lila Adkins, Mary Bell, Joy Burned, Patricia Conway, Mike Cowley, Rue Ann Cox, Pat Deanda, Barbara Drake, Craig

Fischer, Marva Forman, Joseph Gonzales, Pat Rhoton, Bobby Grant, Juan Hernandez, Betty Knight, Betty Lepard, Kathleen McFarland, Jeanine McKimney, Maria Munoz, Jo Ann Ritchey, Sarah Roberson, Elsie Rogers, Andre Sink, Nollie Teague and Kathryn Terrazas.

Retiring teachers and their years of service are: Adaline Madison, 33 years; O.A. Madison, 33 years; Glenn Phillippe, 11 years; Laura Phillippe, 10 years; Alberta Stanaland, 17 years; Jessie Utley, 19 years; and Truett Vines, 35 years.

Also introduced were the 1983-84 officers for the three teachers' organizations in the district.

Texas State Teachers Association officers are Joe Horton, president; Dorothy Humphreys, president-elect; Carol Stephens, treasurer; and Betty Cluck, secretary.

Classroom Teachers Association officers are Rebecca Dorton, president; Guy Griffith, president-elect; Sylvia Henson, secretary; and Sharon Richardson, treasurer.

Association of Texas Professional Educators officers named are Andre Sink, president; Jeaninne McKimney, president-elect; Nancy Wiseman, secretary; and Dorothy Dunnam, treasurer.

Big Spring teen dies in wreck

A 15-year-old Big Spring boy was killed Thursday afternoon when an end of school celebration turned to tragedy.

Gregory Turner, son of Vera Turner of 1405 Lincoln in Big Spring and George Turner of Coahoma, died of multiple head injuries when the pickup truck he was riding in collided with a dump truck during an "initiation," Texas Department of Public Safety trooper Jim Lasater said.

No one else was injured in the accident.

According to Lasater and eyewitnesses, Gregory, a student at Coahoma Junior High School, was one of four boys in the back of the truck trying to spray shaving cream on a Coahoma school bus on the north service road of Interstate Highway 20 east of the Moss Lake Road exit.

The pickup truck, driven by Todd Coker, 15, of Sand Springs, was traveling east on the service road and was approaching the westbound bus when a dump truck driven by Roy Lee Pierce of Route 3, Big Spring, exited the interstate and collided with the pickup nearly head-on, Lasater said.

Gregory was thrown from the pickup bed into the front of the dump truck and was then thrown 137 feet from the point of impact, Lasater said.

Lasater said the vehicles were traveling about 40 mph. He said none of the vehicles braked at the time of the impact.

Gregory was taken to Malone-Hogan Hospital by Shaffer Ambulance personnel and was pronounced dead at 4:10 p.m. by Howard County Justice of the Peace Lewis Heflin. The accident occurred at 2:50 p.m.

"The boys in the back were rocking the truck, trying to spray the bus as a sort of an initiation the kids do," Mrs. Jim Coker, Todd's mother, said this morning. "Todd turned around to look at what was happening. When he turned back around he saw the truck coming and swerved."

Chris Parker, 13, one of the two other boys in the pickup's cab, said he yelled for the boys in the back to watch out.

"Something seemed to grab him (Gregory) out of the truck," he said yesterday at the scene.

Shawn Harrison, 15, was also in the pickup cab. The boys in the pickup bed besides Gregory were Stanley Miller, Kevin Ball and Randy Crawford, all 15 years old.

No charges have been filed in the accident, Laster said. He said the school bus was not involved in the accident.

The school session ended yesterday.

A 19-year-old Big Spring man is free on bonds totaling $30,000 after his arrest Sunday morning on suspicion of shooting Bernard J. Robinson, 18, in the legs.

Police say they arrested Samuel Johnston of 2107 Runnels at 1 a.m. Sunday on suspicion of aggravated assault, unlawful carrying of a weapon and attempted murder.

Donna Byerley, an 18-year-old waitress, told police that she and Robinson were visiting in a vacant lot across the street from Herman's Restaurant at 1601 S. Gregg about midnight Saturday when Johnston and another person drove up in a red 1982 Chevrolet Camaro.

Ms. Byerley told police that the driver pointed a .357 magnum revolver at her and fired, but the bullet missed her and struck Robinson, police said.

Robinson was taken to Cowper Clinic and Hospital by private vehicle and treated for bullet holes in both calves, police reports said.

Using a description given by witnesses, a patrol officer found Robinson about an hour after the shooting and arrested him on the 1500 block of South Gregg. The officer found a Smith and Wesson .357 magnum and six bullets in the suspect's possession, reports said.

The Saturday shooting was the first since a nine-day series of six shootings that ended May 15.

Wreck claims teen

A 15-year-old Big Spring girl was killed early Sunday morning when a pickup truck in which she was a passenger went out of control on Chapparral Road east of Big Spring.

Sylvia Hinojos, 15, of 1003 N. Runnels was killed at 2:24 a.m. after the pickup slid 436 feet and overturned three and a quarter times to come to rest on her, according to Department of Public Safety Trooper Glen Redmon.

The teenager was thrown from the vehicle, the trooper said.

The driver of the vehicle was a 13-year-old Big Spring boy, Filameno Franco of 411 N.W. 11th Place, according to Redmon. He and two other passengers, Sylvia's sister, Lydia Hinojos, 13, and Ruben Trevino, 15, suffered only minor injuries in the wreck, the DPS trooper said.

The vehicle was traveling west on Chapparral Road, nicknamed "The Rollercoaster," when the driver lost control and went off the left side of the road, according to DPS reports.

The case has been turned over to Juvenile Probation Officer Margy Thompson, Redmon said. Mrs. Thompson said today criminal charges probably could not be brought against the driver.

Services for the girl are pending with Nalley-Pickle Funeral Home.

Boxers fight to keep their Northside home

By CAROL DANIEL
Staff Writer

A ragged frame building on Northwest Fourth street has seen in the past year the emptiness of abandonment, the cheers of a championship team and, currently, contention between its occupants and the Big Spring school board.

Originally an elementary school, the structure now houses the Howard County Boxing Team, an enthusiastic group of 30 youngsters who have punched their way to wins in regional and state competition.

Strife arose recently because the team believes they may be faced with losing their home. The property owner — the Big Spring Independent School District board of trustees — may sell it.

The old Lakeview YMCA building had been long abandoned when County Commissioner Louis Brown asked the school board if the team could use it for a training facility. At that time the structure was rotting and served only as a shelter for transients.

The board granted the team permission in March 1982 to borrow it without cost until the property could be appraised and advertised for sale.

Boys, parents and boxing fans descended on the building to clean it and make it palatable as a training center.

"We begged and borrowed for paint and carpet," said Sarah Garza, who has two sons on the team. "Nobody wanted this place before. We even had to clean human excrement from the walls where the bums from the trains had been."

Though the building still is weathered and worn, the team is gushingly proud of their handiwork. As mothers lead a tour of the center they point out the sheet rock they've installed, the plumbing they've repaired and the carpet and curtains they've hung.

The center room is furnished with a boxing ring surrounded by walls splashed with patriotic red, white and blue paint. The mothers arranged the snack room so they can watch the boxing bouts while they serve refreshments.

"When we go out of town, other people envy us because we have a building at all," Mrs. Garza said.

In essence, the Howard County Boxing Team has come to think of the building as their own and do not want to see it taken away. They have plans for further refurbishing, but those improvements have been abandoned until they know what is to become of the building.

Also, the young team was asked recently to host the Texas Region 9 Boxing Tournament on June 3-5, a request they consider an honor reflecting outstanding performances in Amateur Boxing Federation competition.

So the potential sale of the property seems a slap in the face to those involved with the program.

"For what little they get for the building, how does it compare to what they take away?" Mrs. Garza asked.

School board member Jimmy Anderson said Friday that the board has not made a decision on the facility's future, although the matter was discussed at an April 18 board meeting.

"There hasn't been brought to this board member's attention any results from the appraisal or any plans to sell the building," Anderson said.

Safety mulled

Ten years after the Consumer Product Safety Commission was founded, the hazards of the marketplace remain, but the chairman of the agency is optimistic about the future.

Nancy Steorts, who became head of the commission in August 1981, says both sellers and buyers are more concerned about and aware of the importance of safety.

"I see a new awareness on the part of most industries," said Ms. Steorts in an interview, as she compared the situation today with that in May 1973 when the commission began operations.

"I feel that industry today is much more product-safety conscious," she said. "We are seeing the corporate executive with a real concern about the safety of his or her products and that I think is new."

Ms. Steorts said there are practical reasons for the change. Industries are concerned, she said, "because their customer — the consumer — is concerned. And I think also the threat of a product-liability suit and ... the threat of a recall ... are putting added emphasis on the safety of products in the marketplace. It's a lot cheaper and a lot more effective if they will make those products safe before they ever leave the manufacturing plant."

Commission figures show that 33 million people are injured and 28,000 are killed each year in accidents involving consumer products.

Under Ms. Steorts, the commission has stressed voluntary rather than mandatory safety standards — an approach that has led to some criticism from consumer activists.

Ms. Steorts said, however, that voluntary standards are just as good — and just as safe — as mandatory ones "if you have industry cooperation and if you have the product safety commission totally involved in development."

She also said voluntary standards are "much faster and much more cost effective."

The commission has had its successes and failures during its 10-year history. Critics charged it was concentrating on frivolous issues during many of the early years, proposing safety standards for matchbooks, for example.

In a recent Louis Harris poll, however, the public gave the commission the best marks of any government agency. Forty-four percent of those surveyed gave it a positive rating and 26 percent gave it a negative rating.

The agency's budget has been cut by 25 percent and its staff has been reduced by 28 percent during the past two years. The budget for the current fiscal year is $33.5 million.

Congress currently is considering both the agency's future and its financing. The administration requested a two-year reauthorization, with budgets of $32 million for each of those years. A Senate committee has approved the two-year plan, but set budgets of $35 million a year. A bill proposed in the House would give the commission five more years of life, with budgets beginning at $47 million for fiscal 1984 and rising to $57 million in fiscal 1988.

Stanton trio rules Spring Run

Window Shopper, Big Spring Tx, May 26, 1983

By GREG JAKLEWICZ
Sports Editor

Saturday's first-ever Spring Run could measure the experience of its participants in extremes.

There was Stephen Stallings, the defending 5-mile champ from San Angelo's 1982 "Run for Fun," who is approaching 20 years of competitive running.

And there were five-year-old Kirstie Moates and six-year-old Jeri Lynn Tucker, competing in the first race of their running careers.

All three runners were part of the two-race event sponsored by the Hillcrest Christian School and held in Big Spring's Industrial Park.

Stallings, a CPA from Stanton, won the 10-kilometer (6.2 miles) event with a time of 33:51.0 while two more Stanton residents, Tony and Tommy Ramos, finished 1-2 in the two-mile run.

"It was kinda windy," Stallings observed. His personal best in a 10-K race is 31:24.0, "so the time wasn't really so bad. I can run a 32 right now if I had a good day and good competition."

Stallings left his competition behind on this particular morning. Former Big Spring High 3,200 meter runner Karl Wolfe was second but was almost 800 meters behind the Stallings when the Stanton runner finished.

Running since he was in junior high, the 31-year-old Stallings ran one semester of track at Baylor before finishing college at Texas Tech. He runs 50-60 miles a week and tries to maintain a five minute mile pace in a 10-kilometer run.

The Ramos brothers will graduate from Stanton High Tuesday night. Tony ran the 3,200 meters at the Class AA regional meet earlier this spring in Lubbock while Tommy competed in the 1,600 meters. "We haven't worked out since regionals," Tony said.

Tony ran an 11:17.0 while Tommy finished in 11:24.0. "This is the best thing for us to do," Tony said, "because everything else we're too short for."

Cheryl Hoyle of Colorado City was the top female finisher in the 10-kilometer run, covering the distance in 53:57. Anita Flores was tops in the two-mile, leading a trio of female student-athletes to the tape in 15:02. The Big Spring High junior was followed by class and cross country teammate Dora Dominguez and Rannels eighth grader Christian Gribble.

Perhaps the most heart-warming feature of the morning were the performances of Kirstie and Jeri Lynn.

Kirstie ran with her mother, Sheree, while father, Mike, also competed. She is a student at Hillcrest, just finishing up her kindergarten year. "She's been practicing for it for two weeks," her mother explained. When asked if she would be a future competitor, she nodded her head up and down in agreement.

Jeri Lynn traveled to Big Spring from Westbrook and "out-ran" her father, Jerry, who is a 1962 graduate of Big Spring High.

"We've never done anything like this," he said. "We just wanted to see how we'd do." Son Tommy, 12, finished strong in the two-mile race.

Race organizer Craig Bailey said between 180-200 runners participated. "That's excellent for a first-year race," he reported. Julie, his wife, is a first grade teacher at Hillcrest. Bailey said the race was his idea, mainly to have one in Big Spring.

Senior receive awards

The Annual Recognition banquet honoring all retired senior volunteers was held in the Howard College Cafeteria, May 17. Seventeen volunteer stations, where senior volunteers serve, were recognized by RSVP Project Director, Joy Decker. Johnny Lou Avery expressed the community's appreciation for the volunteer service of 285 RSVP volunteers, who served approximately 4000 hours at the volunteer stations.

Victor Sedinger, pastor of First Christian Church, gave the keynote address on the Rainbow Project, which will open soon. He spoke on the abused and neglected children and how volunteers can make a big difference in the lives of children. Awards were based on years enrolled in RSVP. Joe Dunn, Tom Castle, Arnold Loyd, Johnny Shortes, Billy Miles and Emily Whetsel provided the music for the banquet.

Officers elected for auxiliary

Officers were elected for the Permian Basin Medical Auxiliary at a luncheon meeting at La Posada, May 18. Officers elected were Cheryl Cox, president, Jo Rember, vice president, Mary Ernsing, secretary, and Susan Conrace, treasurer. Outgoing president, Maureen Haddad, installed the officers. Dene Sheppard of Mary Kay Cosmetics presented a program on skin care.

Proposal to discontinue bus service not viewed as problem in Coahoma

By RICHARD HORN
Staff Writer

COAHOMA — Greyhound Lines Inc. has proposed discontinuing bus service to Interstate Highway 20's smaller towns like Coahoma.

The proposal was denied last week by the Texas Railroad Commission, but Coahoma sent no indignant delegates to Austin to fight the corporation.

"We didn't care anyway," said Cindy Bobo, Coahoma city secretary. "I didn't even know it stopped here until we got a petition in the mail."

The petition sent by Greyhound was a copy of one given to the Texas Railroad Commission asking that the bus line be able to cancel service to 58 Texas cities.

Residents say they've had to flag both the Greyhound and Trailways buses down for years.

Today most bus passengers from Coahoma prefer to make the 10-mile trip to Big Spring, but during World War II several buses stopped daily at the 1,500-person community.

There was never a station, but both east and west-bound buses pulled into Ted Fowler's Texaco station at the intersection of the I-20 north service road and First Street.

Fowler moved his station around the corner and off the service road last June.

"After that the bus quit stopping," said Fowler, who has worked at the station since the early 1940s. "But during wartime there were several stops a day and quite a few customers."

"It's their (Greyhound's) business, I guess," he said. "They can stop where they please."

"We've stopped for years on a flag stop basis," said Jim Owens, manager of Greyhound's Big Spring terminal. "And we will continue to let passengers off if they want. But 90 percent — no, I'll go even higher — 98 percent of the customers would just as soon come on to Big Spring."

Trailways says they operate a similar flag-down basis. No freight service is available to or from Coahoma.

According to the Associated Press, the commission voted 3-0 to deny the request last Monday, saying "substantial evidence in the record demonstrates a compelling public need for continuation of the service."

According to the commission, 235 witnesses testified at public hearings in Austin, Gonzales, Eagle Lake, Weimar, Flatonia, Anthony-Canutillo, Van Alstyne and Merkel that they needed Greyhound service.

Several kidney dialysis patients said they depend on Greyhound to travel to large cities for treatment, and the commission said the same problem was voiced by cancer patients who travel by bus to receive chemotherapy.

The commission said under the federal Bus Regulatory Reform Act, Greyhound may appeal the commission's decision to the Interstate Commerce Commission. Before passage of the federal law last year, the Railroad Commission had regulated bus service under the Texas Motor Bus Act since 1927.

The state commission said the 1982 federal law enables applicants to circumvent state regulatory agencies by appealing directly to the ICC.

C-City rodeo successful

COLORADO CITY (SC) — The first annual Bill Hudson Memorial Art Exhibit, rodeo and barbecue this weekend was a tremendous success, according to Virginia Jones, co-organizer of the event.

"It will be several days before we know the total profits," she said, "but some $1,542 was taken in for barbecue sales and donations at the gate before the roping."

Dr. Donohue

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: Two questions. Doctor's orders are for six aspirin tablets daily until I can see him. Problem is pain in knees. I have doctored with this doctor before. (1) I purchased cheap aspirins (a third off), but the label read five grains. Are they as good as the popular brand name I used to buy? (2) Can six aspirins a day have an effect on sex life? I ask because since I've started aspirin my sex life has decreased approximately 50 percent. — R.G.

Regardless of brand name, five grains of acetylsalicylic acid is five grains. The question is, will you get the same amount into your blood for it to deliver the benefits to your joints? That depends on how the aspirin tablet is made.

Most brands give equivalent blood levels of aspirin. Sometimes cheaper brands may fall apart when they are stored for very long. Then all you have is a bottle of aspirin powder, and that does you no good and doesn't save you any money. If you are getting regular tests for blood levels of aspirin, you have a pretty good gauge of the effectiveness of this cheaper brand.

Aside from these considerations, five grains are contained in the tablets sold with that figure announced on the bottle. I can't answer your second question. I have never heard that aspirin has any direct effect on one's sex life. I would be surprised to learn that it does.

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: Can taking thyroid tablets cause a goiter? I have an underactive thyroid gland (burned out). — J.B.

Thyroid hormone (your tablets) will not cause goiter. Here's how a goiter (an enlarged thyroid gland) develops: For many reasons, the gland may stop making enough of its own hormone. Blood levels drop, which is a signal for the body to send out another hormone, called thyroid stimulating hormone. And even though the gland is making all it can at that time it gets stimulated and enlarges. That's the goiter.

When the gland is making too little thyroid hormone, the answer is to supply it from the outside (tablets). As the level rises in the body, the thyroid stimulating hormone machinery is turned off and the problem ends.

Now there are other ways for goiters to develop. An inflammation of the gland can produce one. But, in general, what I described for you is the most likely cause of your goiter. The booklet you asked for will answer some of your other questions. Other readers may obtain a copy ("Your Thyroid: How it Works for You") by writing me care of the Big Spring Herald, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope and 50 cents.

QUALITY CLOTHING AT LOWER PRICES
 ...Billie DeWees offers it to you

Spring is in the air at DeWees Fashions

Billie DeWees and her husband, owners and managers of DeWees Fashions, have been in business in Big Spring for 19 years. Their successful businesses have included a beauty salon operated by Billie and an Exxon station that her husband operates on Interstate 20. Billie heard many women's complaints about the lack of fine fashions in Big Spring, so she opened DeWees Fashions, on 4200 W. Highway 80. Billie feels there is a need for quality fashions to fit the hard-to-fit. Not everyone can wear a size five. DeWees Fashions specializes in stout sizes. They handle stock in sizes to 42. Because Billie owns the buildings where the store is located and because she does much of the work herself, she doesn't have to have the mark-up you find in most other stores. Billie has found that many women enjoy shopping at her store, even though it is a small building. After shopping at DeWees Fashions, you will admit that the prices are lower and that her clothes are of just as good quality. DeWees Fashions carries such brand names as Perception, Jerrell, Strait Lane, Melisa Petites and Simon Sez. She also has some beautiful ultra-suede suits for spring, made by Abe Schrader. Now is a good time to visit DeWees Fashions. Summer will be here soon, and you'll want to step out in style when it gets here. DeWees Fashions is located at 4200 West Highway 80. Drop in and see Billie today. She has just what you're looking for in clothing and prices. And remember, at DeWees Fashions, they have the young look for every woman.
