Rodeo school

World champion ropers share their talents

ELBOW — Tuesday afternoon, the cowboys were standing and throwing ropes at wooden sawhorses and plastic calves heads lashed to hay bales.

By evening they were on real horses roping real cattle in a lighted arena.

At week's end they hope to be on their way to real competition in rodeo team roping events.

These 40 enthusiastic cowboys from Howard County and as far away as Virginia are being taught roping by a world champion roping team from California.

The school is sponsored by Bob Price and Kessie Kothmann of Howard County and is being taught behind Price's home on his 250-acre ranch near Elbow.

"Our company (P.K. Industries) is dedicated to the teaching and staging of roping events," Price said Tuesday. "We hope to make this an annual thing in the county."

The first school began Tuesday and ends today. Students and teachers all agree it is off to a good start.

Price and Kothmann advertised the school in the Professional Rodeo Cowboy Association's program over the last year. Students pay $250 each and must provide their own horses, transportation and places to stay.

The main draws, Price said, are the two champions — Doyle Gellerman and Walt Woodard. As a roping team, they were 1981 PRCA World Champions and are tied for first place this year.

"This is good refresher for us," Gellerman said as he walked around the arena giving pointers to cowboys tossing their ropes at the sawhorses. "You're dealing with basics, and there's no better way to keep learning and improving."

Gellerman is teaching the "heelers," those who rope the cattle by the heels while their partners try to

White: No use for special session

AUSTIN (AP) — Gov. Mark White says there is no use in calling lawmakers back to town for a special session until he has some assurance they will support his plans.

"There's no sense to keep them after class just to be hard-headed about it," White told reporters Wednesday at his regular weekly news conference. "I am certainly not going to call one (a special session) until the Legislature is prepared to take action in some of these areas."

A pay raise for schoolteachers financed by a tax on luxury items — White's pet project — failed during the regular session, and the governor said he needs time to try to build new support for it.

He said when he visited the House and Senate Monday night just before adjournment of the 140-day regular session. "I had many of them who'd suggested we shouldn't do it at this time tell me that they would be willing to do it as soon as we could, and I think more and more people will be coming to that position."

In the meantime, White denied that a special session was mandatory this summer to address three other major issues left hanging by the Legislature — the possible end of the Texas Employment Commission, a statewide water plan, and a brucellosis control bill.

The TEC required a bill to keep it operating because of the state's "Sunset" law designed to reduce bureaucracy, but the bill was killed

Pilot makes emergency landing in Midland

MIDLAND (AP) — A Federal Aviation Administration official says that low oil pressure prompted the pilot of an American Airlines Boeing 727 carrying 116 people to make an emergency landing here.

The FAA spokesman in Fort Worth said that the plane, Flight 350 from El Paso to Dallas-Fort Worth Regional Airport, landed in Midland Wednesday night after losing oil pressure in one of its three engines.

"He had his Number One engine out. It wasn't much of an emergency," said Rex Hudson, FAA controller in charge of the Midland Airport tower. "He was going up to Dallas at about 30,000 feet and he just swung down here as a precaution."

He said the plane landed without incident and was serviced by mechanics for 90 minutes before resuming its route. Officials said the plane landed safely at the Dallas-Fort Worth Regional Airport Wednesday night. Hudson said the plane's crew reported the engine problem at about 7 p.m. when it was 40 miles west of Midland. He said the plane landed at about 7:25 p.m.

American spokesman Art Jackson said 116 people were on board the flight.

"The engine had a loss of oil pressure and they shut it down, and when you do that, you land at the nearest airport, which happened to be Midland," said Jackson. "It is not an uncommon occurrence, but I don't mean that it is an everyday thing either."

The FAA spokesman in Fort Worth, who declined to be identified, said that loss of oil pressure was given as the reason for the Midland landing.

"There was no emergency declared or anything of that type," the spokesman said.

Judge to consider quarantine order

A U.S. District Judge will this month consider the temporary restraining order issued Tuesday halting the federally imposed quarantine of Texas.

Judge Hipolito F. Garcia of San Antonio will hear the case June 16 in either San Antonio or Austin. However, beef industry officials say the brucellosis issue needs to go before the special session of the Texas Legislature expected to be called this summer.

Kidnapping suspect arrested in El Paso

Two Big Spring police detectives arrested Manuel Arteaga, 25, at the El Paso County sheriff's office yesterday afternoon in connection with last week's aggravated robbery and kidnapping of local businessman Roy Lee Powell.

Arteaga had been arrested at 8:30 a.m. May 26 by El Paso police on an aggravated assault warrant and held there for Big Spring authorities, police Lt. Alvis Jeffcoat said.

Peace Justice Lewis Heflin said today he denied bond for Arteaga because the suspect refused to sign his statement of rights and because an additional kidnapping charge will be filed against the man.

According to police reports, Powell was robbed at knife point and kidnapped from Al's Trading Post at 2807 W. Highway 89 at 10 a.m. Monday, May 23. His kidnapper stole $250 cash and five each of watches, rings and knives from the store. Then he tied Powell's hands with a shoelace from a pair of sneakers at the store, drove him about 180 miles to the junction of Interstate Highways 20 and 10 and left him.

Powell hitchhiked to Pecos and filed a report at the sheriff's office. An all points bulletin for the kidnapper's arrest was issued that night, and Arteaga was arrested three days later.

Powell hitched a ride to Odessa where his wife and a friend picked him up and brought him back to Big Spring, about 14 hours after his abduction.

Jeffcoat said some of the stolen property was recovered after Arteaga's arrest.

Two cases slated for trial

Two cases are slated for trial in 118th District Court next week, including a murder case involving the shooting death of a 10-year-old girl.

Jury selection is expected to begin Wednesday in the murder trial of Nelta V. Thompson, 54, of 1609 Avion in Big Spring. Mrs. Thompson is charged with shooting Michaela Marlene Reeves, 10, on May 17, 1980 in Big Spring.

According to the grand jury indictment returned in June 1980 against Mrs. Thompson, she was attempting to shoot a Patty Howell but shot the child instead. The young girl was identified as Kay Thomas at the time of the shooting, according to the district attorney's office.

The murder case has been set for trial on previous occasions, according to court records. Roy Ford is representing Mrs. Thompson.

A civil case will be tried Monday, with jury selection beginning that morning. Landon Burchell of Howard County is seeking damages from Cap Rock Electric Co-op, Inc. Burchell's suit states electric lines were installed on his property in March 1979, reducing its value.

Focalpoint

Action/reaction: Paper chase

Q. Who does the paperwork for the Howard County court criminal cases?

A. The county attorney's office personnel prepare the plea papers, waivers of speedy trial, judgments and so forth, according to a courthouse spokesperson. Civil cases and probate papers are done by the individual attorneys and the county judge's secretary. Some paperwork in both civil and criminal cases is done in the county clerk's office where the records are stored.

Harvesting firms PIK a message: No Canadians

CANYON (AP) — Americans who make their living harvesting the nation's crops want to stop the influx of Canadian competitors whom they say get unfair advantages because of U.S. government regulations.

AT STAKE IS a harvest diminished by a government program that pays farmers to leave fields unplanted. The U.S. Department of Agriculture estimates this year's harvest will be off by as much as 25 percent because of the Payment-In-Kind program, leaving fewer acres for the competing American and Canadian custom harvesters.

"We have nothing against the Canadian people, but we've got enough machines and less acres, and we don't need them," Swisher County custom harvester J.L. Pettiet told the Dallas Morning News. "We just don't need their equipment."

Pettiet is president of the 180-member U.S. Custom Harvesters Inc., a Canyon-based group seeking to stop the Canadians at the border.

THE GROUP SAYS Canadians can contract harvesting for less than Americans because the government gives Canadians a number of tax and immigration advantages that are not extended to U.S. harvesters working in Canada.

And the group, which was formed in April, has succeeded in getting the U.S. Immigration and Naturalization Service to close loopholes in a 40-year-old policy that exempted Canadian workers from U.S. labor restrictions that normally apply to foreigners.

But the move prompted a sharp response from the Canadian government, and a U.S. State Department official said Canada has asked for talks with U.S. officials on the issue in this month.

ONE CANADIAN WARNED his country was concerned about what it interpreted as a unilateral change in a harvesting agreement between the two nations.

Although the issue has international implications, Pettiet said he and 2,500 other U.S. custom harvesters see it as a pocketbook issue.

"We really don't care if it tees them off or not because they've been fleeing the U.S.," said Pettiet. "We're looking out for our own harvesters. What they (the Canadians) have had is strictly a gravy train."

The harvesters follow the harvest season as it moves from Texas in the late spring to the Dakotas in early fall. They contract with farmers to bring in their grain and work as long as 18 hours a day, seven days a week.

George Weiss, 63, of Canyon said the Canadians can charge from $2 to $4 less an acre because of their advantages and the U.S. Farmer cannot be blamed for hiring the Canadians.

THE 1942 HARVEST agreement between the United States and Canada was drafted during World War II when farm equipment and farm workers were scarce in both countries.

Cooper Jr., Clea Forward, Claudette Green, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Sanches, Mr. and Mrs. Manuel Arsiaga, Mr. and Mrs. Noel Leyva, Mrs. Dorothy Garrett, Lt. Carroll Braun, Brownie Troop 78 and the Optimist Club.

Melodrama auditions set

Auditions for the upcoming Spring City Theater melodrama will be June 7-8 at 7 p.m. at the amphitheater in Comanche Trail Park.

This year's production is featuring dancing girls, and those interested in dancing should also plan to attend the June auditions.

'Rodeo Gold' song aired

Big Spring resident Eunice Choate, remembered for her railroad song about the city's Centennial, has cut a record commemorating the 50th anniversary of the Big Spring Rodeo.

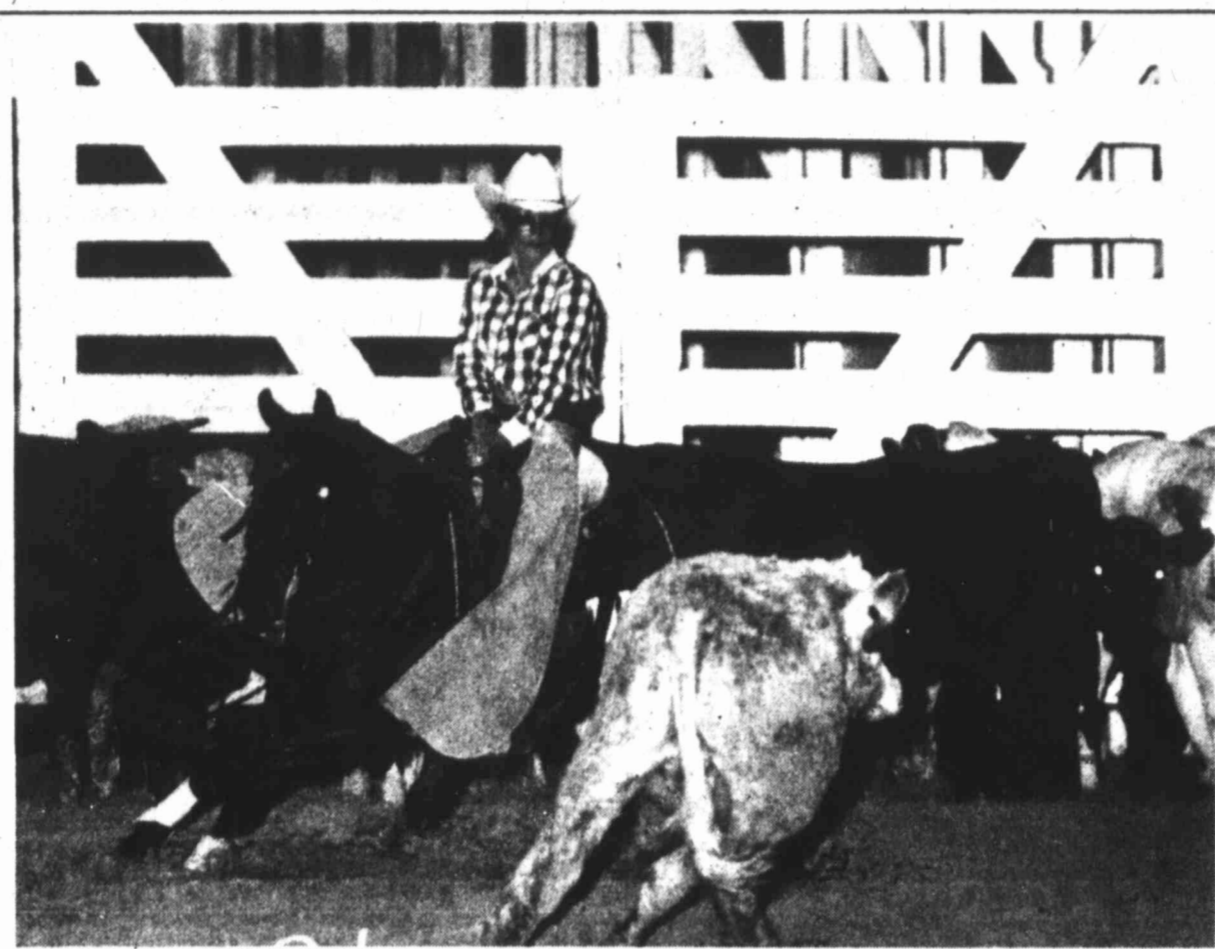

The tune, entitled "Rodeo Gold," was written and sung by Mrs. Choate and contains actual rodeo sounds. The song is now airing on all Big Spring radio stations.

RIDING TO A GOOD FINISH — Ellen Reeder of Stephenville, formerly of Big Spring, rides her horse, Brink's Hickory Pat, in the National Cutting Horse Super Stakes in Fort Worth last month. Mrs. Reeder finished third.

Ex-resident cutting horse champ

A former Big Spring woman is having a successful year in cutting horse competition.

Ellen Reeder of Stephenville, daughter of Mrs. Bertie Landrum of 3221 Cornell, placed third in the National Cutting Horse Association's Super Stakes last month in Fort Worth.

Ellen and her 4-year-old horse, Brink's Hickory Pat, placed third against 96 other contestants at the competition held May 1-6.

Earlier this year Ellen rode her horse to the non-professional championship at the Gold and Silver Stakes in Houston.

The horse is owned by Ellen and her husband, Larry. He trains cutting horses on their ranch and training facilities south of Stephenville.

In September, Ellen will compete in a NCHA Derby in Fort Worth. She and Brink's Hickory Pat will then ride in a cutting horse maturity in Amarillo in October.

Ellen is visiting her mother in Big Spring this week. She graduated from Big Spring High School in 1966.

Roping

throw the rope around the neck. Woodard is teaching the "headers."

"I'm breaking the instruction into categories," Gellerman said. "It stress horse position, where to look and how to swing the rope. A lot of these people are intermediates — they've had some roping experience before. Some are beginners. We're teaching them all the same."

Woodard and his students were set up in the Price barn.

"I teach them the right way to practice," he said. "The best way to learn is to practice right — that's what it takes. I also work on the students' attitudes. They need to learn how to handle pressure in competition."

Gellerman and Woodard are celebrities to rodeo followers. They have competed at the Big Spring rodeo in previous years but will not this year because a major rodeo at Reno, Nev., is scheduled for the same week.

"I've been roping since forever, since I was 8 years old," said Gellerman, 27, who lives in Stockton, Calif. He said he has been roping as a professional for seven years, the last six with Woodard.

"I'd seen Woodard rope at the national finals that year (1976) and he was fast. I was accurate, but I needed the speed," he said.

In 1977, they placed fourth with winnings of $5,000. They steadily improved until their first place finish with $48,818 each in 1981.

"Every dollar is a point," said the 30-year-old Woodard, who lives in Oakdale, Calif. "Usually it takes about $70,000 to win a world championship. Right now we've got about $14,000 each."

Woodard and Gellerman will compete in a rodeo at Santa Maria, Calif., this weekend. The professional rodeo schedule starts in January and ends in December.

"There's not much time off," Gellerman said. But it's a schedule a lot of the students would like to keep.

Don Halstead, who journeyed "1,700 good miles" from Dublin, Va., to learn from Woodard, said it takes long drives and hard work to become a professional. He works at a tractor assembly plant when he's not competing in rodeos in Virginia, Maryland and Pennsylvania.

"I'm using my vacation and a week of absence to come here," he said in between practice throws with the "heeler" class. "I'm just one of the guys trying to make it up to being a professional."

The youngest student is 8-year-old T.J. Childress from Big Lake. He is in the "header" class with his father, Tommy.

"When I was 4 I started roping and wanted to learn how to do it," T.J. said. "I told my father the next time he entered a class I wanted to enter, too."

Eight of the students are from Big Spring. One came from Oklahoma City and others are from Sterling City, Terrell and Ballinger.

"The timing is good, because the rodeo is coming up," said Price, who holds roping events at his ranch on Tuesday nights throughout the year. "A lot of these people are here getting ready for the rodeo, and we think this will really help them."

by a deadlock between the House and Senate on the last day of the session. According to the law, the TEC must begin closing down Sept. 1 unless the Legislature takes action.

"I don't think that's as harsh a deadline as some people think," White said. "They have a continuation built into that Sunset process," which gives the agency one year to disband.

Other unfinished business of the regular session included a bill that would have brought Texas into compliance with U.S. brucellosis control standards. It failed in the Senate while federal authorities were trying to impose a quarantine on Texas cattle, and a statewide water plan that White supported died in a conference committee late in the session.

Quarantine

U.S. District Judge James Nowlin halted the quarantine Tuesday, saying it would do irreparable harm to the Texas cattle and beef industries.

Nowlin, federal judge for the western district of Texas, will be on vacation June 16, but told lawyers he plans to take extensive testimony in the case. Many cattlemen say the issue is political. They claim brucellosis infestation in Texas is lower than in Louisiana, Mississippi and Arkansas. None of those states have been threatened with a quarantine.

If allowed, the quarantine would have prohibited the interstate shipment of breeder cattle. Cattle industry officials estimated losses would be up to $100 million.

A meeting of the Texas Brahman Breeders Association is scheduled for June 7 in Austin. Officials say producers may unite to urge Gov. Mark White to put the matter before the Legislature this summer.

Detective makes burglary arrest

Police detective Robert Stapp arrested Enrique Hinojos, 21, of 801 N. Scurry yesterday on a burglary warrant. He was released on $15,000 bond set by Peace Justice Lewis Hefflin.

Hinojos was arrested in connection with a February burglary at Permian Basin Diesel Service at 505 N.W. 12th in which an $800 air compressor was stolen.

Police reports also show the following: Morrison Donaghe of Super-Save Grocery Store at 210 N. Gregg told police that someone broke into the store between 10:15 p.m. yesterday and 12:45 a.m. today and stole $250 cash, $10 worth of food stamps and two cases of beer. Donaghe said the burglars smashed a window to enter the store.

An 18-year-old man told police that his cousin and another white male he knows assaulted him this morning at Barcelona Apartments.

The victim said the two grabbed him and shoved him against a wall, pulled his hair and threatened him with a knife when he went to the white male's apartment to visit at 1:20 a.m.

John Thomas Hangleben, 26, of Dalhart was assessed a 60-day jail term Tuesday after his probation was revoked in a revocation of probation hearing in Howard County court Tuesday.

Hangleben was on probation in connection with a driving while intoxicated conviction. His sentence began May 17, according to courthouse records. Hangleben remains in county jail.

Sheriff's deputies arrested Shirley Franklin, 55, of 4009 Dixon Tuesday in connection with a peace bond. Ms. Franklin posted $1,000 after arraignment before Justice of the Peace Lewis Hefflin to be released.

Texas Methodists favor nuke freeze in convention vote

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — Delegates to the annual United Methodist Church's Southwest Texas conference supported a nuclear weapons freeze and called on Congress to allocate 10 percent of the military budget "to feed the hungry (and) clothe the naked."

IN A SHOW-OF-HANDS vote, delegates on Wednesday also called on President Reagan to take the initiative in seeking a nuclear freeze to end the nuclear arms race.

"We realize this is an idealistic thing," said George Ricker, chairman of the Board of Church and Society, which offered the resolution. "But this is a move in the right direction. Something positive like that is necessary."

The conference here ends today.

THE RESOLUTION TO end the testing, production and deployment of new nuclear weapons systems also urges that 10 percent of the defense budgets of the two superpowers be turned over to some recognized international relief agency "to feed the hungry, clothe the naked, educate the illiterate, care for the sick."

For the United States, that would amount to about $25 billion.

The resolution also commended the National Conference of Catholic Bishops for its recent controversial pastoral letter on the nuclear arms race and called on United Methodists to join the Catholic bishops in the effort to ultimately eliminate the atomic arsenals of both the United States and the Soviet Union.

ATTEMPTS TO AMEND the nuclear freeze statement were all voted down despite heated debate, Ricker said.

"There was a question about whether we can trust the Soviets," Ricker said. He referred to a pledge from Russian leaders that the Soviet Union will not be the first to use atomic weapons.

On Tuesday, a bitter debate over an emergency resolution banning homosexuals from being ordained in the Southwest Texas regional delayed discussion of the nuclear arms issue.

Also Wednesday, delegates approved a resolution calling on the United States to grant "extended voluntary departure status and honorable treatment and respect" to Central American refugees.

THE RESOLUTION URGES that Central American citizens be treated in the same manner as refugees from Poland, Russia, Cuba and Vietnam.

The McAllen District delegation began the debate on the role of homosexuals in the church on Tuesday by offering a petition calling for "fidelity in marriage and celibacy in singleness" by ordained ministers.

An amendment by Seguin lay delegate Jimmy Walker that he said would make the same requirement of the Methodist laity won overwhelming approval.

AFTER MEMBERS QUESTIONED the meaning of "celibacy," saying complete dedication to abstinence of sex would disallow marriage, an amended petition barely passed, 324 to 316.

McAllen District superintendent, the Rev. John W. Platt, said the result of the petition was to prevent homosexuals from holding official posts.

"That will be the end result, but the main purpose was to clarify what we understand the Christian lifestyle to be. There has been confusion and unrest in the church arising out of the election of an avowed homosexual last year to the Church and Society Board," he said.

Platt was referring to Troy Stokes of Austin, who was not renominated to the board this year.

Platt said the petition would be sent to the worldwide general conference to let "them know what the people from the grass roots have to say."

On Tuesday, Gene Leggett, who was removed from the ministry in 1971 after announcing his homosexuality, said that since the conference opened Sunday night, everything has revolved around sexual lifestyle.

Road work continues on Forsan stretches

The Texas Department of Highways and Public Transportation is in the middle of a $664,300 project to improve four miles of road near Forsan.

Construction began March 1 and will be completed sometime this summer, department Resident Engineer Joe Smoot said Wednesday.

Three miles of county road 461 from U.S. Highway 87 to Forsan and a mile of road south of Forsan are being paved and widened.

Howard County furnished the right of way, and state highway funds are being used to pay for the project.

Part of the road south of Forsan is complete and is being used as a detour for traffic rerouted from the closed three-mile section.

When complete, the entire four mile section will become FM 461.

In addition to the paving, a protected left turn lane will be built at Highway 87 and the new road.

Smoot said FM 461 will be of similar quality to U.S. Highway 87.

West Texas Roads Inc. of Big Spring was awarded the contract for the work, Smoot said.

Israeli war 'not plotted'

Israeli Prime Minister Menachem Begin, trying to allay fears of war, says his country is not plotting to attack Syria, and Israeli reinforcements have started pulling back from the cease-fire line in Lebanon.

"It doesn't even occur to us to attack Syrian forces," Begin said in a speech to the Israeli Parliament Wednesday in Jerusalem, after Syria repeatedly charged Israel was preparing to make war.

Begin also conferred with U.S. special envoy Philip C. Habib, who was heading back to Washington today after briefing Israeli leaders on Syria's refusal to accept the Israeli-Lebanese troop-withdrawal pact signed last month. Details of the discussions were not released.

In eastern Lebanon's Bekaa Valley, a growing revolt against Yasser Arafat jeopardized the unity of his Palestine Liberation Organization, which has deployed thousands of guerrillas behind Syrian lines.

A senior Arafat aide announced Wednesday that he and more than 24 other commanders were joining the mutineers, who claim Arafat is not committed to total war with Israel to achieve the PLO's goal of a Palestinian state.

The Syrians conducted military maneuvers near the Israeli-occupied Golan Heights last-week, shot missiles at Israeli reconnaissance jets over Lebanon and increased their forces in the Bekaa. But reporters there said Tuesday the Syrians were thinning out their forces.

"We hope that now that their exercise is over, they will not attack us," Begin told the Israeli Parliament.

Israel poured reinforcements into Lebanon last week to respond to the Syrian buildup. But combat units headed back to Israel on

Though the threat of war eased, guerrillas persisted in harassing Israeli soldiers, ambushing a convoy with machine guns south of Beirut. The Israelis suffered no casualties and seized one of the attackers, identified by Lebanese radio as a southern Lebanese Moslem.

Syrian President Hafez Assad returned to Damascus on Wednesday after a 24-hour visit to Col. Moammar Khadafy, the Libyan leader, in Tripoli, where Assad renewed his pledge to wreck the Israeli-Lebanese withdrawal accord.

Israel invaded Lebanon last June, routed PLO guerrillas from their Beirut stronghold by late summer and signed the U.S.-mediated troop-withdrawal accord with Lebanon in May.

Under the pact, Israel will withdraw its forces when the Syrians and Palestinian guerrillas pull out. Syria contends the agreement threatens Syrian security and violates Lebanese sovereignty because it would allow Israeli patrols in southern Lebanon to help prevent guerrilla attacks on northern Israel.

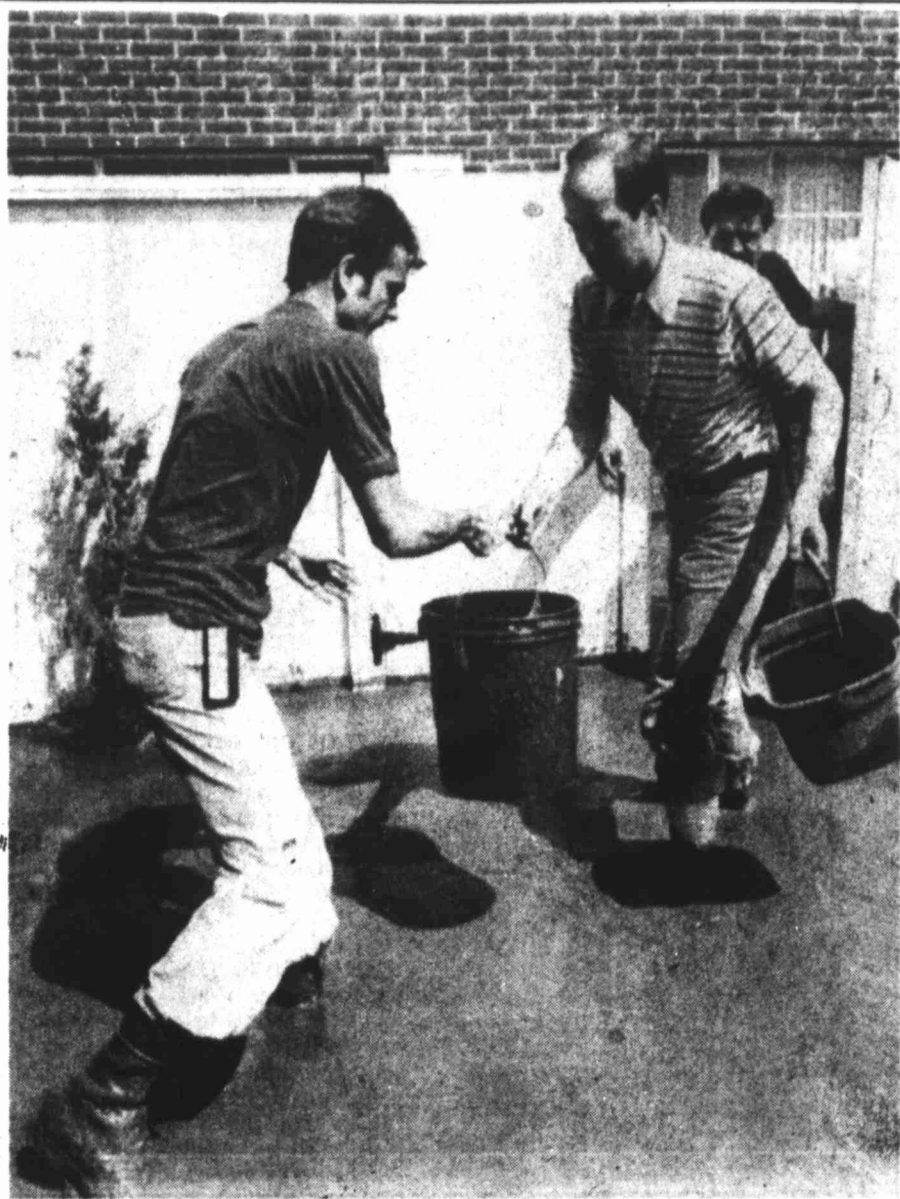

The Syrians have been in Lebanon since 1976 under an Arab League mandate to enforce the armistice that halted the Lebanese civil war.

Mideast

Wednesday, clogging the narrow roads in southern Lebanon.

"The army adapts to realities in the field," said one Israeli military source. "If there is tension, then it acts accordingly, and if there is no tension, then it also acts accordingly."

Diplomatic sources in Beirut estimated Israel moved 10,000 men into eastern and central Lebanon last week, increasing its total force there to 35,000 men. The Syrians are believed to have 40,000 troops in Lebanon, backed by 8,000 to 12,000 PLO guerrillas.

MOVING MUD — These men were among a group of volunteers who helped a resident in Bountiful, Utah, Wednesday after a wall of mud and water slammed into town. This residence had eight feet of mud in the basement. Thousands of volunteers have turned out to help their neighbors in the flood-ravaged state.

Volunteers 'salvation' of flood-ravaged Utah

SALT LAKE CITY (AP) — Thousands of volunteer workers have been the salvation of flood-ravaged Utah, filling sandbags, donating equipment and running through neighborhoods to shout warnings of flash floods, authorities say.

"Other people around the country can't believe we can get out 40,000 volunteers to help," Gov. Scott Matheson said Wednesday. "The sense of community and self-sufficiency is part of the Utah heritage, and in this case the volunteer effort has been unprecedented."

"You ask for 10 or 20 people, and they bring you 30, 40 or 50. I can't believe it," said Rick Olsen, volunteer coordinator for Salt Lake County. "They seem to be happy to do it. They have been the mainstay of the whole system."

"It's hard, backbreaking stuff," said Michelle Lang, 17, of Sandy, after five hours of sandbagging with a group of friends. "But we're coming back at midnight because we're having fun."

The flooding, caused by warm weather melting a record snowpack, has forced hundreds of residents from their homes throughout northern Utah and caused damage estimated in the millions.

Olsen estimated that in Salt Lake County alone during the past four days, as many as 15,000 citizens have responded to officials' pleas for help in fighting mud and water spilling from the Wasatch Mountains.

By Tuesday, county officials estimated volunteers had laid nearly a million sandbags along rampaging creeks, city curbs, around homes and businesses and down streets turned into makeshift rivers.

Olsen said volunteers also went through endangered neighborhoods on foot and by car to announce flash flood warnings.

In dozens of smaller cities and towns elsewhere in the state, officials marveled at the hundreds of people who gave up their Memorial Day weekend to lug sand in 90-degree heat.

The weather turned cooler this week, but the water turned vicious as mudslides and flash floods pummeled the towns of Farmington and Bountiful.

The party atmosphere of the earlier sandbagging efforts was gone, but the volunteer crews remained, slogging through cold, knee-deep muck to shore up levees or help neighbors clean up homes.

At churches and public buildings, helpers formed assembly lines to pack sandwiches, or assisted flood victims in finding clothing and shelter for the night.

Red Cross officials said more than 90 volunteers joined a dozen staff members to set up six disaster shelters. By Wednesday, said spokesman Don Cobb, the agency had prepared and served 41,000 meals to victims and volunteers.

Volunteers are showing up around the clock at Salt Lake City and county garages, where the sandbagging effort has centered, said Ezra Borman, a foreman at the city's public works garage.

Borman said the volunteers come and go as they please, some putting in 16-hour shifts filling and stacking 50-pound bags of sand.

Men offered chance to leave U.S.

SALEM, Ohio (AP) — Three men brought before Mayor Robert Sell on charges of defacing the American flag were given the chance to move to another country — the Soviet Union.

The men declined. Sell, who presides over the local mayor's court, the lowest judicial rung in the state, sentenced Lawrence Lottman Jr., 21, to the maximum 90 days in jail Wednesday and ordered him to pay a $750 fine.

Sell imposed the same sentence Tuesday on Randall Menough, 19, and Rolin Jackson, 20, for the second-degree misdemeanor.

The three Salem men early Saturday ripped down a bracket on the town's main street holding a cluster of four American flags, the mayor said. The flags were part of the town's Memorial Day celebration.

"I told them I would suspend all the sentence and the fine if they would become Russian citizens and leave the country," Sell said.

After the men declined, the mayor said he would reduce the penalty to $250 and five days in jail if they agreed to repeat the pledge of allegiance on the City Hall lawn each day of their jail stay. They also must spend three Saturdays doing community service tasks assigned by commanders of the town's military veteran groups.

"All three accepted, naturally," Sell said. "I wanted to prove a point. I think all three of them got the message..."

Rebels vow to kill U.S. advisers

SAN SALVADOR, El Salvador (AP) — The most radical leftist guerrilla band in this war-torn nation has vowed that all U.S. military advisers working with the Salvadoran government will "return to the United States in coffins."

The warning Wednesday came from the Popular Liberation Forces, which took responsibility last week for the murder of Lt. Cmdr. Albert Schaufelberger, 33, of San Diego, Calif., deputy commander of American military advisers in El Salvador.

Schaufelberger, in charge of security for the military group, became the first U.S. adviser killed in El Salvador when he was gunned down May 25 while waiting in his car for a woman friend at Central American University.

"All the military advisers sent here will return to the United States in coffins," the rebel group said in leaflets sent to local radio stations.

They said Schaufelberger's murder was a warning against "the bellicose Reagan administration so that it does not continue its aggression against our people."

The leaflets said the U.S. advisers, now numbering 51, "have invaded our soil and massacred our compatriots every day." They said the guerrillas "will be implacable with them, until it achieves their total withdrawal from our beloved homeland."

The FPL, as it is known by its initials in Spanish, is the largest and most radical of the five rebel groups fighting for the past 43 months to overthrow the U.S.-backed conservative government.

With only minor language changes, the communique resembled the one the group issued last week when it claimed responsibility for Schaufelberger's murder. The FPL warned then that President Reagan's policies will bring a "harvest" of dead American soldiers.

Reagan has said the murder of Schaufelberger will not deter the United States from continuing economic and military aid to El Salvador.

Greece gave Nixon money, book reveals

WASHINGTON (AP) — Former President Richard M. Nixon received secret campaign contributions from the military government of Greece in his 1968 election campaign, according to a new book by a prize-winning reporter.

The book, "The Price of Power," by Seymour M. Hersh, also reports that Henry A. Kissinger may have blocked a Senate investigation of possible Central Intelligence Agency involvement in the political donations.

The book, scheduled for publication June 13 by Summit Books, suggests that Kissinger courted both sides in the 1968 presidential campaign. Hersh reports that Kissinger not only gave secret information about the Vietnam peace talks to Nixon but offered Democrat Hubert Humphrey data he could use to discredit Nixon.

Asked about his role in the 1968 campaign on ABC television's "Nightline," Kissinger called Hersh's report "a slimy lie."

An aide in Nixon's New York office, Nick Ruwe, asked to comment on the Hersh allegations, said, "Former President Nixon only comments on his own books."

Hersh says the Greek campaign contributions were confirmed by Henry J. Tasca, a career Foreign Service officer who had been ambassador to Greece during the Nixon administration, in secret testimony before the House Intelligence Committee in 1976.

Such contributions were legal in 1968. On Sept. 22, 1970, the Nixon administration lifted an embargo on arms shipments to Greece that had been imposed after a military junta seized power in 1967. The junta, strongly criticized for its human rights record, collapsed in 1974 and parliamentary elections were held.

Hersh says Tasca, who died in 1976, testified that Greek-American businessman Thomas A. Pappas served as a conduit for the campaign contributions. He quotes Elias P. Demetracopoulos, a Greek journalist who moved to Washington after the junta took power, as saying the money amounted to "hundreds of thousands of dollars."

Pappas, who has homes in Boston and Athens, could not be reached for comment.

Demetracopoulos charged in interviews in 1975 that money from the Greek central intelligence agency, known as the KYP, had been funneled into the Nixon campaign.

In an interview Wednesday, Demetracopoulos said he knew the money came from the KYP, "through the same sources who tipped me off about the transaction in the first place."

Hersh says Tasca's information "raises the question whether the CIA, which was financing the Greek intelligence operations at the same time, was aware that some of its funds were being returned to the United States for use in its presidential election."

Dr. Donohue

Blood pressure can lead to eye problem

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: I am 70 years old and have been under the regular care of an ophthalmologist. He recently diagnosed me as having macular edema. Would you comment in your column on the causes and the treatment of this condition? I am distressed that I might lose my eyesight because of this. — C.N.P.

The retina is the lining at the back of the eye. Its cells produce changes in the light that is reflected back into the eye, and this is how our eye transmits images of what we see to the brain. The macula is a small part of the retina, the area with the greatest visual acuity. It gives us our keenest vision.

Edema means fluid accumulation. The spaces between those retina cells permit fluid accumulation in certain circumstances. This leads to a blurring of vision because the cells are not quite as adept in altering the reflecting light. Many conditions cause such a fluid buildup — diabetes, obstruction of veins that drain blood from the retina and, yes, hypertension. Inflammation may cause it. But when the cause of the edema is found and treated, then the swelling subsides and vision is improved. That answers a question from G.P. who asked if his retina edema might ease with improvement of his hypertension (high blood pressure). It should.

For a comprehensive care of the Big Spring discussion of how to cope with the change of life, write to Dr. Donohue, in

Dear Abby

Woman's marital ties keep slipping loose

DEAR ABBY: You will probably think this is from a crazy person, but I am quite sane — except when it comes to Rudy and Ralph. I am 29 and have been married six times — three times to Rudy, and three times to Ralph.

Rudy and I were married right after I graduated from high school. I was 17 and Rudy was two years older. We fought from the day we were married. After a year I divorced Rudy and fell in love with Ralph, the young lawyer who got the divorce for me.

I soon realized that I was still in love with Rudy, so I divorced Ralph and remarried Rudy. (That's two for Rudy and one for Ralph, right?) Well, I discovered that I was three months pregnant with Ralph's baby, so I left Rudy to marry Ralph for a second time.

Meanwhile, I kept having these strong feelings for Rudy, so I called him and asked him if he felt the same. He did, so we decided to try marriage for the third time. (Our pastor refused to marry us, so we went to a judge.)

After three years with Rudy, Ralph showed himself to be such a terrific father to our son, "Ralphie," I let Ralphie talk me into going back to his father, so I divorced Rudy a third time and married Ralph for the third time.

Now I can't seem to get Rudy off my mind, and I don't know what to do. I saw a marriage counselor who suggested I discreetly have an affair with Rudy, but I am a very moral woman. I have never slept with either of my husbands while being married to the other.

Please tell me what to do.

TORN IN TWO

DEAR TORN: Don't do anything while you're still "torn." Stay with Ralph and get some psychological help until you are sure of your feelings for both Rudy and Ralph.

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I enjoy artichokes. Recently, however, in addition to scraping the tender portion with his front teeth, as all artichoke lovers do, he is now consuming the entire leaf!

Is this good for him? I don't believe it is. He says he is getting his "roughage" this way. I love him and I'm worried.

What do you say?

EATS THE WHOLE THING

DEAR EATS: Tell your husband that man's digestive system was not intended to assimilate that kind of roughage in large amounts. Cattle, si. Humans, no.

DEAR ABBY: Here is a message I would like to convey to your readers: I am the blind person you often see waiting to cross at a busy intersection, walking down the street or shopping in a store. My dog-guide is with me, leading me safely around people and obstacles, up and down steps, in and out of buildings and across streets.

If I need help, and sometimes I do, I will ask you for it. Please don't grab my arm and try to pull me across the street. I'm sure you don't realize it, but you are confusing my dog when you try to do her job.

Please don't call to her, pet her or feed her. Whenever you see her in harness, even if she appears to be resting, she is "on duty" and should be considered as a working dog, and not your pet. I give her plenty of love and affection at home and lots of praise while she is working. She does not need your affection and attention. In fact, when you distract her from her work, you are endangering both our lives. Her full attention must be on her work and my safety.

So the next time you see us together, please respect my four-legged friend for what she is, a professional dog with an important job to do. I know she looks lovable, but please let me do the loving and let her do the leading.

Classroom transformed into student Congress

BERKELEY, Calif. (AP) — Strange doings on Capitol Hill: A boa constrictor curls beneath a congressman's desk. A rock 'n roll bumper sticker adorns the speaker's podium. Ted Kennedy is 17 again — and wearing a dress.

The president has seen it all before and might even be to blame for this punk-era Potomac.

His name is Steven Teel, and each semester he transforms two Berkeley High School political science classes into a small-scale Senate and House — complete with vociferous debate and back-room dealings.

He calls the class "Politics in Power: The Model Congress," and each semester, a new batch of students discovers that making laws is not as easy as it appears.

"They'll have a lot more respect for the institution of Congress because they have participated in the real thing," said Teel, who has taught the model congress class for about five years.

There's nothing especially realistic about the setting — a second-floor room in a converted elementary school crowded with students in T-shirts carrying notebooks and occasional projects for other classes, such as the boa constrictor.

The students have to learn who they can trust and who they can't, how to write a bill and squeeze it through committees on a technicality, how to win allies and how to craft a compromise.

"I never knew how complicated it was and how much you have to go through," said Naomi Brown, 17, doing business as Sen. Edward Kennedy, D-Mass.

"And the feelings of victory after you succeed," added Sharad Jain, 17, who portrayed Sen. Robert Byrd, D-W.Va.

"I called at least half the class every night," said Jessica Irschick, 17, who impersonated Sen. James McClure, R-Idaho.

Noted Jain, "It takes over your life."

The students spend a whole term in their roles — and often start identifying with their models.

"I was mad when I found out I wasn't running for president," said Ms. Brown.

They also found their political views changing.

"I guess living in Berkeley, you get the idea that Republicans are bad and Democrats are good," said Peter Bull, 18, who portrayed Sen. Robert Dole, R-Kansas. "I really changed. I realized there are good people in both parties."

Coming into the class, Bull said he favored increased social spending and a reduced military budget.

"When I came out, I realized a lot of the social programs could be cut and the military was pretty important," he said. "Some of my friends think I was crazy."

Bull said he tried to portray Dole's position's honestly — and wound up personally agreeing "on almost all of his views." He discovered "the whole system was just about made to spend money. There was no fiscal responsibility."

Teel confesses to a few problems with the class. He had to scrub the money committees because they took too much time, for one thing. And the students don't have to fly home to face angry voters.

In an effort to solve that problem, Teel recently had assistants give the mock senators "letters" from imaginary folks back home.

China to air U.S. commercials

NEW YORK (AP) — Millions of Chinese will get a first look at American-style commercials when China's state-run TV network broadcasts programs from CBS, starting in October, the American network has announced.

CBS's international division will provide the People's Republic of China with 64 hours of entertainment, news and sports programs, complete with commercials, over a 12-month period, John Eger, vice president and general manager of the CBS unit, said Tuesday.

China offers Western businesses a potentially lucrative market, though Eger said the commercials that will accompany CBS programs will be more informational than hard-sell.

Two channels in China reach nearly one-third of the country's 400 million people with access to TV. The government estimates there are as many as 16 million TV sets in the People's Republic.

The China Central

Television network broadcasts about 30 hours of programming each week, including news, instruction, cartoons, variety and drama, and Eger said CCTV will select programs offered by CBS to be shown 8-9 p.m. each Friday, after CCTV's regular news program.

Eger said CCTV also would broadcast a half-hour show from CBS twice a month on Sundays, after the Chinese network's English-language lesson program.

Eger said the Chinese would see travel and cultural programs and some documentaries, rather than shows like "Dallas." Programs will be dubbed in Mandarin Chinese.

China Central Television has purchased selected programs from American producers in the past, but the agreement with CBS Broadcast International is the most extensive arrangement of its kind.

CCTV recently co-produced a 90-minute special, "Big Bird in China," that was broadcast by NBC Sunday night.

Eger said CBS would sell commercial time to 10 advertisers with interest in the multinational market, "companies," Eger said, "that want their name and business known" in China.

CBS and CCTV will cooperate in other areas, Eger said, including technology and possible joint production.

'Jedi' takes Silent Partners

lead in ticket sales

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — After a record launch last week, "Return of the Jedi" rocketed past $41 million in ticket sales during the Memorial Day weekend, making it look like a long, dry summer for the movie competition so far.

"Jedi," the much-anticipated final chapter in George Lucas' "Star Wars" trilogy, rolled up $30 million in box-office sales from Friday through Monday. Its six-day total: $41.1 million.

That surpassed by far the $25 million, seven-day record set by another spaceman, "E.T. the Extra-Terrestrial," last summer, said Barry Glasser, director of West Coast publicity at 20th Century-Fox, where executives were smiling all the way to the bank Tuesday because of the massive "Jedi" numbers.

"It's unbelievable. We're not even finished with the week yet," Glasser said, noting that "E.T." set its mark at 1,271 movie screens, compared with the 1,002 screens on which "Jedi" is playing — 15 of them around the clock.

A distant No. 2 for the weekend was "Blue Thunder," which stars Roy Scheider as the pilot of an ultra-sophisticated police helicopter. The movie grabbed $6.2 million at 1,555 theaters for the four days, Columbia Pictures said.

The Scheider film has grossed a very good $26 million in 18 days through Monday, but it may be tougher for "Thunder" and others now that "Jedi" is here.

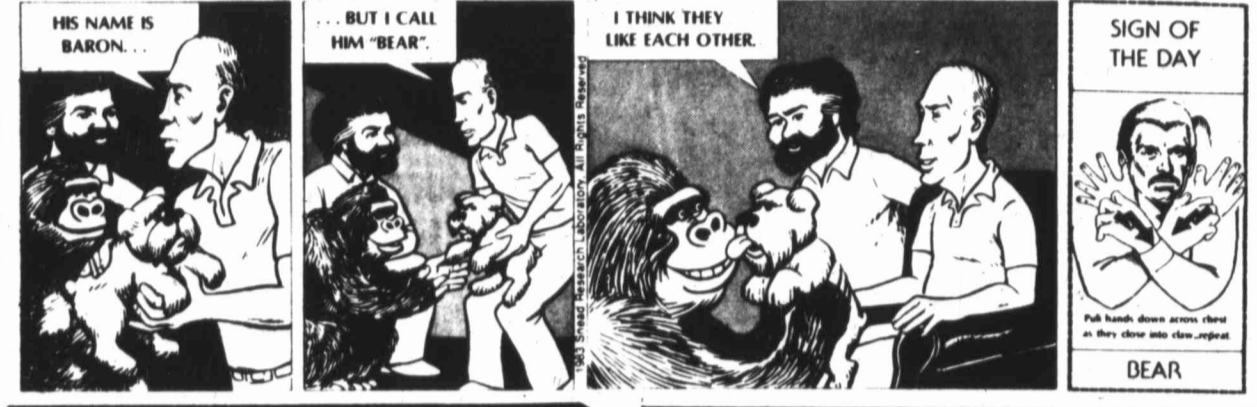

In fact, "Jedi," which set an opening day record last Wednesday with $6.2 million and then a single-day mark of $8.4 million on Sunday, may exert so much pressure on the flock of also-rans in the next few months that some producers and distributors may wish they had saved their films for next summer.

Those doing battle with "Jedi" so far included Paramount's "Flashdance," which drew $4.7 million for the four-day weekend at 1,032 screens.

"Breathless," starring Richard Gere in the remake of the French classic, collected $3.4 million on 1,073 screens for Orion Pictures for the four days, down from $3.7 million the previous weekend. The film has an 18-day total of $14.5 million.

Thursday Notes

A big sports weekend is about to descend upon Big Spring.

The biggest event is the Region IX Tri-State Boxing Tournament scheduled Friday and Saturday nights at the Big Spring High gym.

Over 200 boxers from Texas, Mississippi and Louisiana will be in town for the two-day event which promises great boxing for local sports fans.

Now here's the deal. The event is being sponsored by the Howard County Boxing Team, a team that has been collecting championship trophies by the dozens over the last year. The majority of their wins have come out-of-town; this is a chance for the locals to get to see them in action on their home canvas.

Winners in the 14-15 age division are eligible to advance to the national championships later this month in Minnesota. Gene Dukes and Jamie Baldwin are a pair of local fighters who will compete in that age bracket.

The punching begins at 7 p.m. nightly. Drop by the gym and support the Big Spring boxers in the tournament.

Who knows? There may be a future Mr. T. in the ring here this weekend.

Also on the sports schedule is the 7th Annual Cotton Mize Fast-Pitch Softball Tournament.

The two-day event begins at 8 p.m. Friday at Johnny Stone Park with 11 teams participating, including the Chippers and McCutcheon Oil of Big Spring.

The Chippers and Everheart Oil Co. of Lamesa are two of the favorites in the tournament, continuing a rivalry that is recent in history but already very competitive.

There's no admission and softball fans will see some of the best fast-pitch in the state.

No golf tournaments are scheduled although the annual Big Spring Country Club Low-Ball Partnership and a Chicano Golf Association Louisiana Draw are planned next weekend.

The Figure Seven Tennis Center is hoping to host a Big Spring stop on the Highway 80 summer tennis tour. Depending upon the number of entries, a tournament will begin Friday at the Center.

And for baseball fans, the Red Sox and Cunningham Oilers square off Sunday in a 1:30 p.m. doubleheader at the Roy Anderson Complex. The Cardinals are in Odessa for the East-West All-Star game.

Talking about your heroes, Glenn Honn thinks he's found a couple.

Honn manages the Cubs, a minor league team in International Little League. Last week, the Cubs met the Rangers in a battle for first place in the league standings.

KEVIN MENGES

CHRIS SALAZAR

Kevin Menges qualified as a hero in Honn's book when he batted three times and slugged three home runs, giving him five in 10 games this season.

Christopher Salazar also homered and pitched, striking 12 of the 15 batters he faced as the Cubs won in a rout, 18-1.

These performances were outstanding but not uncommon for the Cubs who got two homers in one night by Patrick Newton in mid-May.

And finally, a few notes from the Wide World of Fishing.

I have been accused of being anti-fishing but it's really not true. It's just that I've caught only two fish in my life and both were at Long John Silvers.

Anyway, here's some fishing news. The Big Spring Bass Club is sponsoring its annual fishing contest for kids this Saturday. Weigh-in is at 3 p.m. at Comanche Lake.

And, thumbing through fishing notes I get from Joe Pickle, I found the name of Dean Glenn of Big Spring. Dean caught six channel cat, weighing up to two pounds, and a six-pound striper last weekend at Lake Spence.

Dean, by the way, works at the Herald so now I can be accused of favoritism, too. — GREG JAKLEWICZ

Evert-Lloyd in finals, easily

Higuera downs Vilas in quarters

PARIS (AP) — Chris Evert Lloyd outstroked Andrea Jaeger 6-3, 6-1 Thursday and reached the final in the French Open Tennis Championships.

She is bidding to win the title for the fifth time. But this was the first time she had reached the final since 1980.

The wind blew around the center court of Roland Garros stadium, but it seemed to bother Jaeger more than Evert Lloyd.

Jaeger won the first two games, but Evert warmed up and won 12 of the next 14.

However, the rallies, mostly from baseline to baseline on the slow red clay, were often closely fought.

Jaeger had three break points in the sixth game, and another break point in the opening game of the second set.

French Open

Also playing for a place in Saturday's $70,000 final were unseeded Jo Durie of Britain took on Yugoslavia's Mima Jausovec, the 1977 champion here, who also is unseeded this year.

John McEnroe, the last of 27 American men who entered this $1.3 million tournament, was humiliated Wednesday by 18-year-old Swede Mats Wilander, the defending champion. Wilander posted a 1-6, 6-2, 6-4, 6-0 quarterfinal upset over McEnroe, who dropped 23 straight points in one stretch of the match.

No. 5 seed Wilander plays his semifinal match Friday against either No. 4 seed Guillermo Vilas of Argentina or No. 8 seed Jose Higuera of Spain. The Vilas-Higuera quarterfinal duel was halted by darkness and rain Wednesday with Higuera leading 6-2, 6-7, 6-1, 4-6 and 2-1, 15-0 in the final set. Higuera went to win the final set 6-1 to oust Vilas, the 1977 champion.

Vilas made it to the final last year but lost to Wilander, who became the youngest man to ever win a Grand Slam title.

The other men's semifinal will be settled by two Frenchmen when Yannick Noah, the No. 6 seed, plays unseeded Christophe Roger-Vasselin. The Frenchmen have never met as professionals.

Lloyd had defeated Jaeger 14 times in their 17 professional meetings since 1980, the year Jaeger became the second youngest player ever to win a pro tournament at age 14 years and eight months. Jaeger, who celebrates her 18th birthday Saturday, last beat Lloyd in the semifinals in Paris a year ago before losing the final against Martina Navratilova, this year's top seed, who was eliminated in the fourth round.

Lloyd is one of the very rare players who have won titles in all four Grand Slam tournaments. She has amassed a total of 14 singles titles at the French Open, Wimbledon, U.S. Open and Australian Open — the third highest on record.

WALLOPING JAEGER IN THE SEMIS — Chris Evert-Lloyd of the United States outstroked fellow countrywoman Andrea Jaeger 6-3, 6-1 in the semifinals this morning at the French Open in Paris. The win at the Roland Garros Stadium put Evert-Lloyd in the finals where she hopes to win for the fifth time.

On Wednesday, Wilander won the 23 points in a row after McEnroe disputed a call in the third set. The Swedish teenager then allowed the 24-year-old left-hander to score points only seven times in the final set before trouncing him in two hours and 20 minutes.

A day earlier, top seed Jimmy Connors fell to Roger-Vasselin, a 25-year-old ranked 130th who has never won a professional tournament. Roger-Vasselin and Noah are attempting to become the first Frenchman to win in Paris since Marcel Bernard took the title 37 years ago in 1946.

American male tennis players, who have built their reputations on faster, harder surfaces, have not had a winner on the slow red courts of Roland Garros Stadium since Tony Trabert in 1955.

Wilander, considered one of the finest clay specialists on the circuit, said he thought McEnroe lost the match because of his impatience, his disputes over calls and even a change of shirts in the third set.

"Those things don't disturb me," the Swede said. "But I think he gets disturbed by it and should do it less. It makes him lose his concentration. I think he has to be a little more patient and not come in to the net so much on clay."

McEnroe, a three-time U.S. Open and one-time Wimbledon champion, summed it up more tersely: "I think I need more work on clay."

American men have consistently blamed their losses on inadequate practice on the clay courts so prevalent in Europe.

As Connors put it after his quarterfinal loss: "It's my fault for being lazy. I could come here for a few months before the tournament and practice on clay and prepare myself better for this surface, but I don't."

Howard signs Cy-Fair player

Howard College signed a highly-touted prospect when Debbie Hall of Cypress-Fairbanks High School in Houston inked a scholarship agreement with coach Don Stevens.

The all-District 16-5A and honorable mention all-Greater Houston player guided her team to a 22-10 record this past season, scoring 19 points a game, pulling in 9.5 rebounds and hitting 51 per cent of her shots.

She was also named her district's most valuable player and earned considerable recognition despite playing in the shadow of 6-5 Monica Lamb of 5-A state champion Houston Yates. Lamb is regarded as the No. 1 college prospect in the nation, Stevens says.

"Debbie Hall will be a super college player," Stevens said. "She is a great shooter and will quickly make the change from post to wing. She is very strong and aggressive."

"She has to be one our top recruits for this year," he continued, "and will make her mark in this conference."

Hall was a varsity player all four years in high school, earning all-district

DEBBIE HALL ...all-district recruit honors beginning her sophomore season when she scored 12 points and grabbed 5.4 rebounds a game.

As a junior, she was also an all-league choice and led Cy-Fair to a 24-8 record and district co-championship. She was runner-up in balloting as 16-5A's most valuable player, scoring 18 points and collecting 9 rebounds a game.

In addition to her honors as a senior, Hall was selected to play in this summer's Texas High School Girls Coaches Association all-star game in Lubbock.

ACU signs Rutledge

ABILENE — Former Big Spring High athlete Shell Rutledge has signed a scholarship agreement with Abilene Christian University, the Abilene Reporter-News said Wednesday.

The three-sport standout had originally inked a letter-of-intent with Howard College to play basketball. Hawk Queens coach Don Stevens says it is legal for her to sign with a four-year school but "not ethical" for the school to pursue the junior college athlete.

Rutledge was an honorable mention all-district choice in volleyball, all-district in basketball and finished fourth in the Class 5-A 200 meters earlier this spring.

She will play basketball and run track at ACU.

Honeycutt wins again for Texas

ARLINGTON, Texas (AP) — Rick Honeycutt has gone from woeful to wonderful in just one short year for the Texas Rangers.

He lost 17 games in 1982 but rediscovered his sinker in the off-season and has bloomed into the Rangers' ace.

Honeycutt cruised to a 7-4 victory over the Kansas City Royals Wednesday night, earning his seventh victory in 10 decisions.

He snapped a four-game Texas losing streak and the victory was only the third in the sinking Rangers last 12 games.

"It feels good for me just to beat anybody let alone a great team like Kansas City," said Honeycutt. "I thought last year would never end."

Honeycutt coasted eight innings, yielding nine hits and two runs before Odell Jones mopped up in relief.

"I think the team feels comfortable with me out there because they know I'm going to give them a good game," said Honeycutt.

"It felt good to finally get some runs. I kind of lost some intensity when we got ahead 5-0. I've got to learn how to handle it when I get a lot of run support."

Kansas City Manager Dick Howser said, "This is as good as I've seen him (Honeycutt). He's a lot like Tommy John but he throws harder."

"All the ground balls indicated he had the good sinker. When a guy is pitching like that you have to get good pitching to stay close. You've got to give the guy credit. He had a terrible year last year but he's put some good numbers on the board."

White Sox 8, Red Sox 3

Chicago White Sox rookie Ron Kittle spent the last two years raking minor league pitching for 90 home runs. This year, he's continuing his assault on American League hurlers.

Kittle took over the AL home run lead with his 12th of the year Wednesday night, a two-run blast in the sixth inning, as the White Sox went on to beat the Boston Red Sox 8-3.

"It's amazing the way the man hits a ball," said White Sox starter LaMarr Hoyt, 5-6, who was aided by Kittle's towering shot into the left field screen.

Yankees 3, Angels 0

Ron Guidry fired a five-hitter for his third shutout of the season while seldom-used Bobby Murcer homered for his first.

Cubs, hard luck pour on Knepper

CHICAGO (AP) — Everybody was making a big deal of Chuck Rainey's performance, but the veteran right-hander says it was the little things that made the difference.

Little things like practicing tagging up on fly balls during batting practice, as he did before the Chicago Cubs' 3-2 win over the Houston Astros Wednesday.

"It paid off, I guess," Rainey said after allowing just four hits in 8 1/3 innings, during which he walked and eventually scored by tagging on a sacrifice fly in the Cubs' winning third-inning rally.

Keith Moreland's seventh home run of the year tied the game 1-1 in the bottom of the second, and the Cubs went ahead to stay an inning later.

Rainey walked to lead off the inning and moved to second on Gary Woods' bunt single. Houston starter and loser Bob Knepper, 1-8, then hit Ryne Sandberg, who had squared to bunt. Bill Buckner's fly to left scored Rainey and Woods came home on Moreland's single.

A pitchers' duel ensued. Rainey in one stretch mowed down 13 straight Astros, while Knepper set down 11 Cubs in order before being lifted for a pinch hitter in the seventh inning.

The victory broke a four-game Cub losing streak, but extended Knepper's. He lost for the sixth straight time, but Houston Manager Bob Lillis had nothing but praise for the veteran left-hander.

"He pitched well again, good enough to win. I was really sorry to see him lose it," Lillis said.

Dodgers 1, Phillies 0

The way Steve Carlton was pitching, Los Angeles right-hander Bob Welch knew he had to pitch better.

"He's a super pitcher," Welch said of the Philadelphia veteran after winning a taut 1-0 duel with Carlton Wednesday night. "To beat him when he is pitching well is a fantastic feeling."

Carlton had struck out seven batters and was within one of tying the all-time major league strikeout record when Phillies Manager Pat Corrales lifted him for a pinch-hitter after seven innings.

"I was trying to win the ballgame," Corrales said. "If he's going to break the record, he's going to do it legitimately. I know he was throwing great, but we had to get somebody on base."

As it was, the Phillies didn't — and Welch finished with a one-hitter.

Carlton boosted his career strikeout total to 3,520, one back of Houston's Nolan Ryan, who is currently on the disabled list with an injury. Ryan broke Walter Johnson's all-time strikeout record of 3,508 earlier in the season.

Carlton, 6-5, allowed only three hits to the Dodgers before leaving. Welch, mean-run batted in of the season. It was New York's sixth straight victory.

Murcer, playing in only his fifth game this season, broke a scoreless duel in the sixth inning with the 252nd homer of his career, his first since last July 28. Oscar Gamble added a two-run homer later in the inning to pin the loss on Dave Goltz, 0-3.

American League

A's 7, Brewers 5

Oakland banged out a team-record seven doubles and Rickey Henderson singled in the tie-breaking run in the eighth inning as the A's broke a six-game losing streak. Dwayne Murphy had two of Oakland's doubles.

Orioles 6, Twins 3

Gary Roenicke, who went 4-for-4, including a homer and drove in four runs and Eddie Murray, who doubled twice and singled, were Baltimore's hitting stars. Scott McGregor, 6-3, got the win and Tippy Martinez picked up his sixth save.

The Orioles snapped a 3-3 tie in the seventh on Murray's double and Roenicke's single. Aurelio Rodriguez's sacrifice fly increased the lead to 5-3 in the eighth and Roenicke's sacrifice fly made it 6-3 in the ninth.

Tigers 3, Blue Jays 1

Dave Rozema, 2-0, yielded just three hits in eight innings and Aurelio Lopez pitched a perfect ninth for his seventh save.

With the score tied 1-1 in the eighth, Kirk Gibson singled in one run and Lance Parrish doubled in another to put Detroit ahead. The hits came off Jim Clancy, 4-4.

Indians 8, Mariners 5

Toby Harrah's first homer of the season broke a 2-2 tie in the eighth inning and Miguel Wilfong belted a two-run triple later in the inning to lift Cleveland.

Indians starter Bert Blyleven struck out nine and walked none before running into trouble in the eighth. Neal Heaton came on and got his fourth victory in five decisions.

Harrah's homer came off hard-luck loser Gaylord Perry, 3-7.

National League

Cardinals 8, Reds 3

John Martin scattered five hits in 8 2/3 innings and knocked in three runs, leading St. Louis over Cincinnati. Martin, 3-1, making only his third start of the year and second mound appearance in 19 days, fanned three and walked none before leaving with two out in the ninth.

But it was his hitting as well as his pitching that helped make the difference, as the pitcher singled home a run in a five-run fifth and then doubled home two more in the eighth.

Expos 8, Padres 6

Tim Wallach continued his season-long assault on San Diego pitching with a three-run homer and a run-scoring single as Montreal ended a four-game losing streak by defeating the Padres.

Wallach's seventh homer capped a four-run fifth inning as the Expos squandered a 3-0 first-inning lead, then came from behind as they mounted a 15-hit attack.

The Montreal third baseman is batting .478 against the Padres this year with three homers and seven RBI. Bryn Smith, 1-2, the fourth Montreal hurler, worked the final five innings for the victory.

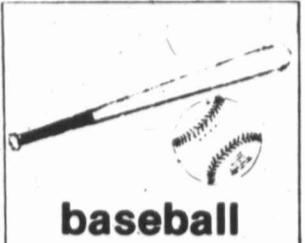

Giants 4, Mets 2

Left-hander Atlee Hammaker allowed just five hits and two unearned runs over 7 2/3 innings to lead San Francisco over New York.

Hammaker, 6-2, left in the eighth after a two-out error by second baseman Brad Weisman set up an RBI single by George Foster. Jim Barr pitched the final 1 1/3 innings for his first save.

The Mets' Tom Seaver, 3-5, allowed only five hits in seven innings, but one of those hits was Jack Clark's eighth homer, a two-run blast in the third inning.

Stadler eyeing Kemper victory

BETHESDA, Md. (AP) — Craig Stadler won't say he's going to win the Kemper Open for the third consecutive time but he exudes the confidence.

Even though his best finish this year has been a tie for second at Greensboro after four victories a year ago, Stadler says he's now ready to make his move in the Kemper, which opened today.

"For some reason I tend to be very patient on this golf course, which has been one of my problems in the past," Stadler said Wednesday after finishing a practice round over the 7,173-yard, par-72 Congressional Country Club course.

"It (patience) is one of the things you have to have out here, especially on this course," said Stadler, who has been known to lose his temper during a tournament.

The 1982 Masters champion, who has not made the cut in six of the 15 events he has entered — including the last two — could not give a reason for his playing well at Congressional, where he has finished second once and first twice in the last three years the Kemper has been held here.

"I don't know what it is about the golf course," he said. "I enjoy playing the golf course. Obviously, it's a good course for me. But nothing stands out why it should or should not be good for me."

"My game is better than it was last year coming in here," he continued.

Texan has rough outing in Scotland

TURNBERRY, Scotland (AP) — It has not been the best week in the golfing life of Randy Sonnier.

On Tuesday, the Woodlands, Texas, player was warned for slow play on the second day of medal play in the British Amateur Championship.

On Wednesday, he was eliminated from the event after more controversy in his head-to-head clash against Scotsman Jamie Moffat.

After several arguments about the rules — including one when the American moved his ball on the 10th green after it got stuck in a pool of water — Sonnier went down 2 and 1 and refused to shake hands with his opponent at the finish.

Pro footballer qualifies in 2 events

HOUSTON (AP) — Texas Christian's Phillip Epps made a decision a year ago to trade possible Olympic gold for a National Football League contract.

He is living comfortably with that decision but the track-or-football dilemma remains for Southern Methodist's Michael Carter and Tennessee's Willie Gault, two key performers in the NCAA Outdoor Track and Field Championships, which resumed today at the University of Houston.

"For me it was the right decision and I don't look back and regret not being able to go to the Olympics," Epps said Wednesday after qualifying for the finals in two events. "I wanted to play football and run track."

"I couldn't do both forever. It came down to a financial decision and for that reason, only that's where it's at now — money."

After playing wide receiver for the Green Bay Packers last season, Epps returned to TCU to complete his final year of track eligibility.

Although he is allowed to compete during the collegiate track season, his status as a professional football player will keep him out of the 1984 Olympics.

Epps ran a 20.6 to qualify for the finals in the 200 meters and ran the opening leg on the Frogs' 400-meter relay team that led qualifiers into the finals with a 39.01 clocking. He also was a 100 meters hopeful in today's qualifying.

Carter, who has never lost in five NCAA indoor and outdoor national meets, is expected to battle Oregon's Dean Crouser for the shot put crown and Gault is a contender in the 110-meter hurdles, 100 meter dash and anchored the Volunteer 400-meter relay team into the finals Wednesday night.

Gault, a senior, says he has no problem juggling football and track but will have to weigh putting off a pro football career for a chance to compete in the Olympics.

NCAA Track

"I've been doing this for seven years, playing football and running track," said Gault. "I am mentally strong enough to do several things at once."

Gault was drafted in the first round by the Chicago Bears as a wide receiver, but the lure of Olympic gold will have a lot to do with Gault's decision.

"There are a lot of great wide receivers in the National Football League, but there's something about a medal winner in the Olympics that stands out."

Carter, a junior, has struggled with the demands of a dual career in football and track throughout his collegiate career. Some track experts believe Carter could be the best ever in the shot put if he gave up football and concentrated on track.

With an Olympic year approaching, Carter has not decided if he will play football his senior year at SMU, one of the top-ranked teams in the nation last season.

"I'll have to sit down and just decide what I want to do," Carter said. "All the decisions weigh against the other. I'll just have to decide which I like best."

North Carolina State's Betty Jo Springs won the only finals event Wednesday, charging into the lead on the final lap to win the women's 10,000 meter run in an NCAA meet record 33:01.02 time.

Springs broke from the pack to take the lead at the first turn on the 25th and final lap to break the former meet record of 33:36.51 set last year by Kim Schnurpfeil of Stanford.

"My plan was to sit back and let the other girls do the work and hopefully rely on my kick and it worked," Spring said. "There are times in a race when you don't feel quite right and there are times when I felt sluggish. You just hopefully try to stay in there and not let the other girls get away from you."

"I was able to do that."

Pokes' Martin evaluates drug center

DALLAS (AP) — In a week, Dallas Cowboys Coach Tom Landry will have a written report on his desk from defensive end Harvey Martin, who spent a week at the Hazelden Foundation Clinic in Minnesota studying its drug and alcohol rehabilitation program.

Landry asked Martin to go so he could have information on the program available should any teammate be curious. Martin came back Tuesday night.

"At first I didn't want to go because I did not know how the press would take it but I decided to go because I had nothing to hide," Martin said. "I became part of the (30-day) program for a week. It's all confidential."

"The Cowboys did a good thing in sending a player there. Many people don't understand the good that a place (Hazelden) does."

Martin called it "one of the most enlightening experiences of my life."

He said "I had no reservations. I jumped right in there and lived with the guys. I had roommates and the guys were nice."

He added, "A person on drugs wouldn't want to go there (without admitting he had a problem) because they would detect it the first day."

Martin said he would not try to force the information he learned on any of his teammates.

"I went for him (Landry) and it was not because I felt I owed him anything," Martin said. "I've been through hell because of my business (bankruptcy) and the rumors of drugs last summer. Coach Landry felt if anybody could go through what I went through and handle it then I could go and be objective."

Landry said, "I feel better that Harvey went ... He was just there as a resource for me ... I feel good about Harvey. He has overcome all his problems and is ready to play good football."

Landry said assistant coach Neill Armstrong will visit the Hazelden Foundation sometime in June for further information.

Cowboys' security director Larry Wansley went through the Foundation one day with Martin on a familiarization trip.

Argovitz's son busted for drugs

HOUSTON (AP) — The son of the managing partner of Houston's newest professional football franchise has been charged with delivery of a controlled substance after he allegedly tried to sell an ounce of cocaine to an undercover agent.

Brent Marc Argovitz, 21, posted his $10,000 bond Wednesday after being arrested Tuesday night, said Sgt. Bill Kessler of the Narcotics Division of the Harris County Sheriff's Department.

Argovitz is the son of Dr. Jerry Argovitz, a Houston dentist and sports agent who is the managing general partner of the Houston Gamblers of the United States Football League.

Feasting was part of funeral, wake customs

Mrs. Jack Lipscombe presented a program on "Funeral and Burial Customs in Colonial America" at the Tejas Chapter of National Society Colonial Daughters of the 17th Century meeting, May 21.

The chapter met at Big Spring Country Club for a luncheon meeting.

In the 1600's, New Englanders had no religious services at a funeral. They carried their dead in solemn silence to his grave.

Where Scotch-Irish planters had settled, news of a death was a time for a holiday. A gathering was held the night before the funeral where feasting and drinking resembled an Irish Wake. Much New England Rum was consumed at the wake, before the procession to the grave and after the burial, the party returned to the home of the deceased for more drinks. Often it took the family of the deceased years to pay for the rum.

Firing guns at funerals was common practice in the early days. In 1655, Virginia Assembly passed an act forbidding the wasting of powder except at weddings and funerals. Mourning rings, gloves and love scarves were given at funerals.

Two customs prevailed in every settlement of the Colony. One, the presentation of a gift to relatives and prominent citizens who were in the funeral procession. Liberal serving of intoxicating beverages to mourners, visitors and all who had anything to do with the funeral.

The General Assembly in Washington D.C. was reported on. The Assembly met April 14-15. The Tejas Chapter was given the President General Award for Excellency, tied for first place for the Historical Commorative Program of the 17th century.

Members from Snyder, Rotan, Sweetwater, Odessa, Kermit and Fort Stockton attended.

Murder charges filed

LAMESA (SC) — Charges of attempted murder have been filed against Felix Gonzales, 51, of Lamesa in connection with the Tuesday shooting of Alejandro Alamonza.

Gonzales was released on $5,000 bond set by Lamesa Municipal Judge Dorothy Miller.

Alamonza was shot five times with a .22 caliber revolver. He remains in serious condition in the intensive care unit of Lubbock Methodist Hospital, a hospital spokesman said today.

PREPARING FOR THE PERFORMANCE — Kim Schaffer prepares for the YMCA Annual Spring Recital for dance students of Ora Burson and her assistant, Janet Paige. The recital will be held in the Big Spring City Auditorium, June 3, at 7:30 p.m. The recital is free and open to the public.

The champ Big Spring woman takes U.S. body title

By MIKE DOWNEY
Staff Writer

Dinah Anderson of Big Spring captured the Junior USA Body Building Championship for women last weekend in Birmingham, Ala., as she defeated regional winners from across the nation.

Miss Anderson, 30, won her middleweight division in early competition, then took the overall crown by defeating the lightweight and heavyweight division winners.

The Junior USA contest is only one of three national titles available for female bodybuilders.

Before moving to Big Spring in November 1982, Miss Anderson had won 11 of 15 women's bodybuilding contests she had entered. She took second in the Miss America Bodybuilding competition last year.

The Big Spring bodybuilder will next prepare for the Miss USA competition to be held in Las Vegas, Nev., in August, according to Doug Beams, owner/operator of The Body Centre where Miss Anderson trains.

"This (win) is quite an accomplishment," Beams said. "She has only been training three years."

Miss Anderson placed fourth in the Miss USA Bodybuilding Championship last year, Beams said. Her chances to win this year are considerably better following this victory, he added.

In an earlier interview with the Herald, Miss Anderson said bodybuilding competition is divided into three categories.

"First is symmetry," Miss Anderson said. "They want everything in proportion — a pleasing balance. Second is muscularity and definition. They want to see how well developed all your muscles are... third is free-style posing, where you want to show off your body in the most complimentary manner."

...another title

Two other Big Spring women bodybuilders were also competing last weekend in sports competitions. Becky Lunsford took second and Cindy Philips took fourth in the Permian Basin Bodybuilding Championship in Odessa.

Lobby douses Shaw's firefighting bill

By JAY ROSSER
Harte-Hanks Austin Bureau
AUSTIN — State Rep. Larry Don Shaw's efforts to modernize rural fire department equipment has apparently fallen victim to some last-minute parliamentary procedures and some heavy insurance industry lobbying.

The Big Spring Democrat's legislative proposal, moments before it was to be heard by a Senate committee today, was suddenly "tagged" by Sens. Bob Vale, D-San Antonio, and John Leedom, R-Dallas.

Senators can use tags to demand 48 hours advance notice of committee consideration of particular legislation.

The tag wouldn't clear the proposal for consideration by the Senate Economic Development Committee until Saturday morning. However, the Texas Constitution requires lawmakers to follow a "72-hour" rule that prohibits House and Senate lawmakers from taking final action on any non-committee approved legislation.

That rule goes into effect at midnight Friday, nine hours before Shaw's proposal could even be considered. The only salvation would be a sudden removal of the tag by both senators, an unlikely prospect.

"It's dead — deader than a door nail," Shaw said.

Shaw's plan, already cleared by the House, sought voter approval of a constitutional amendment proposal that would let Texans decide whether the state should establish a fire department emergency fund.

Money from that fund would provide grants, loans or other financial assistance to public fire departments to purchase needed equipment and facilities.

The fund would be fueled with an increase in the state's tax on fire casualty insurance premiums from 1.25 percent to 2 percent. Up to 1 percent of the total taxed premiums could be directed to the fund under Shaw's proposal.

Shaw said the fund is needed because rural and volunteer fire departments are unable to keep up with the skyrocketing cost of firefighting equipment.

Both Shaw and the proposal's Senate sponsor, Ray Farabee, D-Wichita Falls, said heavy insurance industry opposition killed the proposal.

"This bill passed the House 136-0," Shaw said. "I think you can read between the lines. Apparently people in the insurance industry didn't like it so they got it killed. We're just postponing a problem that's already getting worse."

Farabee agreed, saying, "In the House, the insurance groups apparently weren't familiar with it. I guess they hadn't learned about it there, but they sure did when it got over here (the Senate)."

Vale said he leveled the tag because a large number of calls within his district from constituents "upset about a tax that would be paid by everybody...I'm concerned when I hear about a tax to be used only in a few areas and not where most of the tax is going to come from."

Bauer racial imbalance being corrected, school officials say

By BOB CARPENTER
Staff Writer

Recent student registration for the new Bauer Magnet School shows the racial imbalance at the north side school will be corrected in the fall, according to Big Spring Independent School District Superintendent Lynn Hise.

In a progress report to the school board, Hise said the magnet school's enriched extended-day program has drawn interest from 237 students from across the district. Due to limited space at Bauer, only 141 have been accepted at the school, with 93 being placed on a waiting list.

Hise said the new students, plus the fourth and fifth grade gifted and talented students who will be housed at Bauer in the fall, will give the school an acceptable racial balance.

Hise said preliminary reports show the school will have a 56 percent minority makeup and a 44 percent Anglo enrollment.

SCHOOL OFFICIALS said they were confident these figures would satisfy the recent agreement with the U.S. Justice Department to rid the district of traces of a dual school system.

"I would think the government would certainly be pleased with those figures," said board president Charles Beil.

Hise said Bauer would have a total enrollment of 312 students in the fall with 214 signed up for extended-day classes.

In addition to the enrollment report, Hise also told board members that the Bauer computer lab will cost $33,500, which will be paid from state and federal funds.

THE LAB will consist of 22 terminals, 10 of which will be microcomputers complete with software for a variety of programs. The other 12 terminals will be for computer assisted instruction in basic subjects. Computer assisted instruction is already available at Goliad Middle School and Runnels Junior High.

Hise said the district has in storage 16 terminals left over from the Goliad and Runnels programs. This means the district will not have to buy the 12 terminals needed for the computer assisted instruction program. However, the district must purchase the 10 microcomputers.

The board yesterday rejected bids from four companies on the microcomputers because it said the bids were too high. The district will again advertise for bids in the near future.

Hise's report estimated that transportation for students to and from Bauer probably will involve two more bus routes with an additional bus and driver. Hise estimated the cost at between $16,000 and $20,000.

IN OTHER ACTION the board:

- Adopted a motion concerning the rental of Steer

Park that says anyone wanting to use the facility must provide a $45 fee, a $200 refundable damage deposit, insurance that covers $300,000 in bodily injury and $100,000 in property damage, and one policeman for crowd control.

- Asked the administration to solicit bids for seal-coating several of the district's parking lots.
- Asked the administration to research information for a questionnaire to be sent to the public to gauge the strengths and weaknesses of the district.

Big Spring man suffers severe shock; hospitalized in Midland

By RICHARD HORN
Staff Writer

A Big Spring man is in serious condition at Midland Memorial Hospital today after suffering a 7,200-volt electrical shock while working on power distribution lines in Midland Wednesday morning.

Weldon Trammell, 34, of 3703 LaJunta was working at 9 a.m. at the intersection of Big Spring Avenue and Golf Course Road in northwest Midland when the accident occurred.

He touched an energized line that sent the electricity into his head and out his left arm, according to Carl Bradley, office manager of H.G. Caldwell Electric Co. of Big Spring.

Trammell, a lineman for the company, was a member of a six-man crew doing contract work for Texas Electric Service Co.

"He was holding a neutral line in his hands and he accidentally raised his head up into the energized wire," Bradley said this morning.

Bradley said Trammell was in a "cherry picker" (an elevator platform) at the time of the accident. He said other crew members brought Trammell down to the ground and called an ambulance.

The Emergency Medical Service unit of the Midland Fire Department responded to the call, according to EMS chief Dean Williams. He said Trammell suffered burns on both of his hands and on the top of his head.

Trammell was unconscious when the emergency unit arrived, but he regained consciousness and was able to communicate en route to the hospital, Williams said.

"He had no problem breathing," he said. "The man is lucky as the devil. He was pretty disoriented, but a shock like that usually messes up the heart. His heart was in stable condition."

Trammell is in the critical care unit of the hospital this morning, according to a hospital spokesman. A doctor could not be reached for comment on his condition.

"Externally, he is in good shape," Bradley said, "but with an injury like this, you never know what kind of internal problems there may be."

Bradley said Trammell was on oxygen for a short time Wednesday afternoon.

"Right now it looks real good," he said. "He is rational and he knows people. The doctors say there doesn't appear to be any brain damage."

"It's amazing, considering what he went through," Bradley said. "The voltage in your house is 120 volts — he had 7,200 go through him."

Trammell has worked with Caldwell Electric Co. since March 1981. He has a wife and two sons in Big Spring.

at Bauer in the fall, will give the school an acceptable racial balance.

Hise said preliminary reports show the school will have a 56 percent minority makeup and a 44 percent Anglo enrollment.

SCHOOL OFFICIALS said they were confident these figures would satisfy the recent agreement with the U.S. Justice Department to rid the district of traces of a dual school system.

"I would think the government would certainly be pleased with those figures," said board president Charles Beil.

Hise said Bauer would have a total enrollment of 312 students in the fall with 214 signed up for extended-day classes.

Slogan picked for cleanup

COLORADO CITY (SC) — "Cleaning up is down everyone's alley."

That is the winner of the slogan contest for cleanup week next week in Colorado City.

The winning entry was submitted by Geneva Bynum. For her prizes she will receive a shovel and a yard rake.

Second place winner Joe Earnest submitted the slogan "There's no romance in junk — Don't flirt with it."

He will receive a garden sprinkler.

Maggie Hamrick of Loraine came in third with "Respect your town and use the dump ground." She will receive two circular sprinklers.

C-City rodeo successful

COLORADO CITY (SC) — The first annual Bill Hudson Memorial Art Exhibit, rodeo and barbecue this weekend was a tremendous success, according to Virginia Jones, co-organizer of the event.

"It will be several days before we know the total profits," she said, "but some $1,542 was taken in for barbecue sales and donations at the gate before the roping."

Big Spring's unemployment rate falls for first time in months, figures say

By BOB CARPENTER
Staff Writer

Big Spring's unemployment rate has declined for the first time in three months, according to Texas Employment Commission figures.

April's statistics showed the city as having an 8.6 percent jobless rate — two-tenths of a percent below March's rate. Previously, the rate had risen 1.8 in January and 1 percent in February.

Local TEC supervisor Joe Wallis said the declining rate may be a trend, but he is remaining cautious in his judgment.

"Hopefully, it's beginning to turn down, but we'll just have to wait and see what happens when the graduating seniors hit the job market," Wallis said. Wallis said his office had already begun to see an flux of summer job hunters from area schools. Last year's statistics show that the jobless rate climbed 1 percent in May, perhaps due to students entering the job market.

April's statistics show the labor force increased from 17,954 in March to 18,006. The number of persons employed increased from 16,372 to 16,449.

While more persons were in the job market and more were employed over last month, the number of persons out of work decreased from 1,582 to 1,557, according to statistics.

Texas and the nation as a whole experienced a decrease in unemployment as the state rate dropped from 9 percent to 8.1 percent. The national figure fell from 10.8 percent to 10 percent.

Dear Abby

DEAR READERS: Just when I think I've heard everything, I get a letter from the Department of Defense Dog Center at Lackland Air Force Base, Texas, asking me to help recruit dogs for a rewarding career in the military!

Dogs are needed to be trained for guard duty, narcotic detection and explosive detection work. Some facts: The dog must be between the ages of 1-4, weigh a minimum of 50 pounds and can be either male or female. German shepherds and Rottweilers are desired. The dog does not have to be purebred or registered, but it must have the predominant features of the breed it represents.

The Defense Department will pay $250 per dog. If you have a dog that you think qualifies, write to: D.O.D. Dog Center, Detachment 37, Lackland Air Force Base, Texas 78236.

You will receive a form to fill out. If your dog qualifies, take it to a local military veterinarian to be evaluated and examined. The examination is free. If you use a private veterinarian, you must pay the charges.

If your dog passes his physical, a large metal crate will be provided for shipping purposes. All you have to do is take the dog to the airport and put it in the crate. It is then flown to Texas at government expense.

So if you want to do something patriotic for your country, send your dog.

DEAR ABBY: I have a friend who worries me. When she is in a group, she either does all the talking or she is completely withdrawn. There is no conversing with her. She either talks non-stop without letting anyone else get a word in, or she just sits there and pays no attention to what's being said.

Every once in a while she will break into a conversation while others are talking and introduce an entirely different subject!

What on earth could be wrong with her? She is very intelligent and extremely well-read. I really care for her.

A FRIEND DEAR FRIEND: Your friend's behavior is typical of one who has a serious hearing loss. If you "really care for her," tell her in a kind and gentle way what you have observed. Urge her to have her hearing checked. And if she is hard of hearing, encourage her to get the help she needs immediately.

DEAR ABBY: I am the wife of a clergyman (please don't say which denomination or what town).

My husband visits members of his congregation for a variety of reasons. It's part of his job. He is a very busy man who is well-respected in the community. As a matter of policy he never telephones in advance to make an appointment for his visits. He doesn't want anyone to fuss or go to any special trouble for him, so he just drops in unexpectedly.

A few women have told me that while they appreciate my husband's visit, they would prefer that he call in advance to let them know he is coming.

What is your thinking on this, Abby?

MINISTER'S WIFE DEAR WIFE: I think everyone has the right to know when a visitor is coming regardless of who the visitor is.

A visitor is always more welcome when the host or hostess has had an opportunity to prepare. I could be wrong. And if I am, I'm sure to hear from those who take an opposing view.

If you put off writing letters because you don't know what to say, send for Abby's complete booklet on letter-writing. Send $2 and a long, stamped (37 cents), self-addressed envelope to Abby, Letter Booklet, P.O. Box 38923, Hollywood, Calif. 90038.

Group hopes to unite north side

By CAROL DANIEL
Staff Writer

In one week a new community center will open on the north side of Big Spring that a recently formed organization, named People and Community Development (PACD), hopes will become a social and information center for neighborhood residents.

Marianne Brown, president of PACD, said the idea for the community center surfaced while she and her husband, Chestnut Brown, campaigned this spring for his election to the Big Spring school board.

"We found that people had a mistrust, a misunderstanding of how the government works," Mrs.

Brown said. "Most of all they needed a place to go for answers to their questions."

Of the 1,200 voters registered in Precinct 4, which encompasses the city's north and west sides, only about 100 voted in the last city election, Mrs. Brown said. Her husband was defeated.

"They could have made their man, but only 100 turned out to vote," Mrs. Brown said. "They have a voice; they just have to get off their duffs and not sit down and cry."

PACD's members believe one reason so few voted was apathy generated by not knowing or caring how "the system" works. They hope that by providing a center and a staff to answer questions and act as an intermediary between citizens and city organizations they can encourage more people to become civically involved.

Currently, the only places to congregate for north side residents are in churches or restaurants. PACD members decided they needed a neutral place in which to hold meetings.

"When some people are down, church is the first thing they turn against," Mrs. Brown said. "They're asking 'Why God, why did he do this to me?' We needed some place neutral."

Brown, a federal prison industry foreman, asked the city council for the former Northside Day Care Center at N.E. Eighth and Rannels.

"Everyone said 'They'll never let you have it,'" Mrs. Brown said. "They (city council) were all for it. They were just wonderful."

Council members said PACD could use the building rent free for six months if PACD pays for utilities and insurance. After six months they will renegotiate the contract based on how many persons participate in the center's programs.

Mrs. Brown said she is not sure how people will react to the center.

"I think it's going to be rough," she said. "But if two try, they spread the word. As one member said last Saturday, it's better to try and fail than to never try at all."

PACD is in the process of becoming a certified non-profit organization so that any donations will be tax deductible. Members also are asking for donations to furnish the building.

So far all money has been used to repair windows and fixtures that have been vandalized while the building stood empty, Mrs. Brown said. She said they need "everything," particularly a stove and refrigerator, folding chairs and reception room seating.

Man kidnapped, freed

By CAROL DANIEL
Staff Writer

It was not business as usual yesterday for Roy Lee Powell.

The owner of Al's Trading Post at 2607 W. Highway 80 was robbed at knife point yesterday morning at his shop, bound with a shoelace, driven about 180 miles away from Big Spring and dumped near the junction of Interstate Highways 20 and 10.

Powell told police last night, about 14 hours after he had been abducted, that a black male walked into his business at 10 a.m. and flashed a butcher knife at him.

The man robbed Powell of $250 cash, five watches, five rings and five knives. Then he tied Powell's hands with a shoelace from a pair of sneakers at the store and took him for a ride in a truck.

Where did they go?

"Good God, all over the country," Powell said this morning. "He got himself lost and me too."

Powell said they went to various spots in Lomax, Midland and Stanton.

"He finally kicked me out on a service road on Interstate 10, about three miles from Interstate 20," Powell said.

Powell said he walked back to Interstate 20 and four miles west before he caught a ride to Pecos. There he filed a report at the sheriff's department and called his wife.

Pecos issued an all points bulletin at 10 p.m. for the kidnapper's arrest. No one has been arrested in connection with the case.

Someone gave Powell a ride to Odessa where his wife and a friend picked him up and brought him back to Big Spring.

"I got to bed at 4:30 this morning, trying to get all this (police reports) done," Powell said.

His experience didn't keep him from work today, though.

"I'm up and going again today," he said.

JP collects on 527 cases

Justice of the Peace Lewis Heflin of Precinct 1, Place 2 collected $22,719 in fines for the first three months of 1983 through disposal of 527 criminal cases.

A total of 675 criminal cases were filed in the peace justice's court.

Judge approves two more liquor licenses

COLORADO CITY — Mitchell County Judge Bill Carter approved two more liquor store applications Monday but denied a third because of questions about the applicant's character and involvement with a church at his store.

Carter approved a wine and beer permit for Joe E. Davis of Abilene, owner of Skinney's Convenience Food Store at 542 Hickory. J. Martin Bassinger of Slaton was granted a package store permit for B&B Liquor Store at 548 N. Interstate Highway 20.

Those are the third and fourth licenses granted by Carter since Mitchell County Precinct 3 voted in April to allow liquor sales for off-premises consumption.

However, Carter turned down an application from Bob Tammen, owner of Bojo's convenience store at the entrance to Lake Colorado City.

Tammen's hearing was an extended session as Carter heard motions from Tammen's attorney, John W. Smith of Odessa. The court called six witnesses of its own to the stand.

Smith asked Carter to remove himself from the case and requested the local bar association elect a judge to hear the testimony.

Carter denied the motion by quoting from the Texas Criminal Code. "Prejudice of the judge is not grounds for disqualification," he read.

Smith said Tammen's hearing was not a criminal proceeding and Carter was acting as an advocate of the people of Mitchell County, as well as himself. He told Carter, "to get yourself a neutral judge in here who doesn't know this man."

The second motion by Smith concerned Carter's right to subpoena witnesses for the hearing. Again, the court denied the motion.

Carter then called to the stand Mitchell County Sheriff Wendell Bryant, County Attorney Pat Barber, former chief deputy sheriff Jim Reynaud, adult probation officer Donna Hurt, Mitchell County Juvenile Officer Garrett Randall and secretary to the district attorney Sue Thompson.

All except Ms. Randall testified against Tammen's reputation. Ms. Randall said she had no firsthand knowledge of Tammen.

Carter then denied the application by Bojo's, stating that he believed the applicant failed to meet the state qualifications.

"I question your sincerity, your credibility, integrity, and your moral values. And because of that, I cannot accept your application," Carter said.

"I spoke to you in your chambers and I have implored you to excuse yourself from this case and to put yourself in a position where neither my client nor myself would want to carry this on," Smith said after the ruling.

"But you have refused and gone further by calling the county attorney, the sheriff and others. I resent the fact you called those folks and we're going to appeal this, your honor. And I believe your decision will be overturned."

Carter said in a telephone interview this morning that Tammen had founded the Mitchell County Life Science Church near his store.

"This was never denied at the hearing and no one told me that the church was closed, so I felt I couldn't allow liquor sales," Carter said. "We have a law that says you can't sell liquor less than 300 feet from a church or school."

Carter said there were other problems with Tammen's application, but he refused to discuss them over the telephone.

Tammen refused to comment on the matter when contacted this morning, but Smith said this morning that the Mitchell County Life Science Church was no longer in existence.

"The judge just drew that conclusion (that the church was still operating)," he said. "Listen, he's nice guy, but he is obviously opposed to liquor sales. He has approved four applications now, but he's done it with clenched teeth."

"We expected the judge to rule as he did, but he was incorrect," Smith said. "That is why we have the appeal process."

The appeal will be to the 32nd District Court in Mitchell County.

Model rockets available at Rainbarrel General Store

Where in town can you find model rockets, exotic candy, hamburgers and kitchen gadgets all under one roof? At the Rainbarrel General Store in College Park Shopping Center.

The Rainbarrel has moved into a larger building adjacent to the Gold Mine restaurant. Steve and Amy Lewis, the owners and managers of both businesses, have made some changes to the character of the store and have added a lot of items that are hard to find in the area.

Like model aircraft and rockets. Before, hobbyists had to mount an expedition to Lubbock or Odessa to find Estes model rockets and accessories.

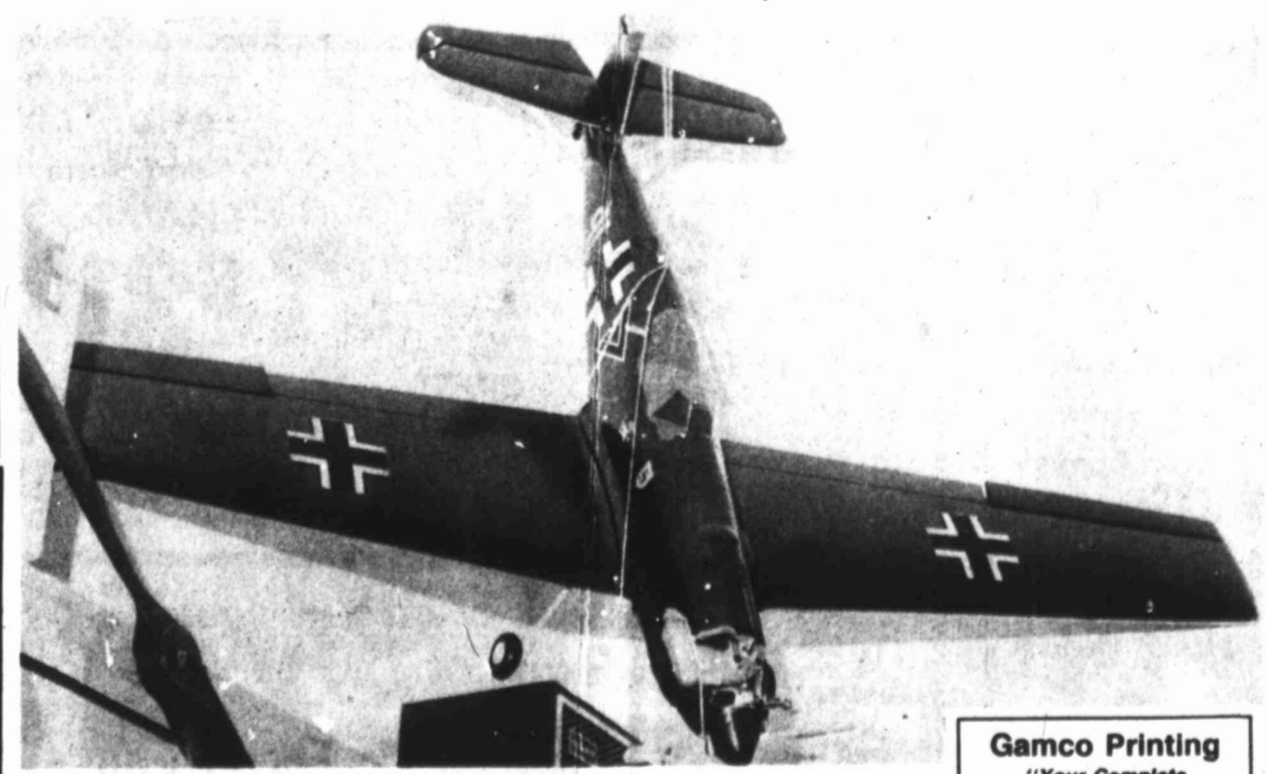

No more, Lewis — a long-time hobbyist himself — has brought a complete collection to town, not only the Estes brand, but also MRC ready-to-fly airplanes and all the parts and accessories.

If your hobbies are more down to earth, Rainbarrel also carries Bachman electric train sets.

And of course Rainbarrel still carries the items that have made it such a popular store in Big Spring. Their candy counter is as well-stocked as ever, with Jelly Belly jelly beans, famous Fudge Loves and Gummie Bears from Germany.

They have gourmet coffees, stained-glass wind chimes, assorted kitchen utensils, cross stitch materials and the best selection of candles in town.

The Rainbarrel General Store is open from 10 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. Monday through Saturday.
