White announces delay in cattle quarantine

By DANA PALMER
Harte-Hanks Newspapers

AUSTIN — Gov. Mark White arrived from Washington, D.C., Wednesday with word of a 30-60 day delay in a planned quarantine of Texas cattle, as well as hopes for a compromise to end that threat and the need for a special summer session of the Legislature.

"It may be that some herds can be treated differently than others," White said in a news conference, when asked for specifics of a possible brucellosis-control compromise between feuding factions of Texas cattlemen.

White, several other state officials and cattlemen on both sides of the brucellosis issue are expected to meet in Austin later this week or next week to work on an agreement, an official with the Independent Cattlemen's Association (ICA) said.

If some herds, sold only for slaughter, could forgo testing for brucellosis, a compromise might be worked out, ICA President Roy Wheeler of Pleasanton said after White's news conference.

Wheeler also said he will be attending the meetings with state officials, and he expects former Gov. Dolph Briscoe and fellow Uvalde rancher R.J. Nunley to participate. Nunley is the only cattleman in Texas presently exempt from the federally required brucellosis regulations as the result of a successful state district court challenge.

White said U.S. Department of Agriculture officials backed down for several reasons — they finally realized that Texas is seeking a solution and the brucellosis threat from Texas cattle would not support the need for an emergency quarantine.

Instead, USDA officials told White they will republish proposed See QUARANTINE, page 2A

Farmers plot strategy in battle with drought

By MIKE DOWNEY

In one southwest Texas county, less than an inch of rain has fallen in two years. In another county, cattle are starving for lack of grazing. And in Howard County, cotton producers are planting on a prayer, gambling for a little more moisture.

DON RICHARDSON
...attends meeting

Stories of the effects of this year's drought go on, but in Midland Tuesday, a meeting was held to do something about the situation.

More than 80 persons from 42 counties gathered to hold an open discussion on the problems of the drought. Upton County Judge Peggy Garner organized the drought forum.

Howard County Agriculture Extension Agent Don Richardson was one of the few representatives from cotton-producing counties at the discussion. He said the meeting's purpose was to hear ideas on how to deal with the drought.

"The first thing is to get each county judge to send the governor a resolution to declare his county a disaster area," Richardson said. Members of the drought meeting expect a fairly quick response See DROUGHT, page 2A

GREENHOUSE HOSEDOWN — Nacogdoches fire fighters hose down a greenhouse on the Stephen F. Austin University campus in Nacogdoches Wednesday night. About 1,500 people were forced to evacuate the area surrounding the greenhouse when a toxic insecticide cloud leaked from there. Eight people remained hospitalized Thursday morning.

Cloud of insecticide forces 1,500 people to flee in Nacogdoches

NACOGDOCHES (AP) — A dense, toxic cloud of insecticide sent scores of injured and hysterical people to hospitals and chased 1,500 others away from their beds during the tense hours before it dissipated early today.

The 100-yard-wide cloud leaked from a greenhouse on the Stephen F. Austin State University campus Wednesday night where biology students set off nine pesticide bombs.

During the next four hours at least 118 people were treated at two hospitals for hysteria or inhalation of the fumes. Hospital officials said eight people were admitted, including Nacogdoches' mayor.

"They suffered eye irritation, nausea, mild respiratory distress, burning skin, abdominal pain and headaches," said Medical Center Hospital assistant administrator Linda Lujan.

"There was a tremendous amount of people coming in, but everyone was very cool and very organized at the hospital. Most of the staff was on the premises by the time the first victim arrived," she said.

Forsan rich in oil and local history

In this first of two articles, the Herald takes a look at the history and government of Forsan, the oil city in southern Howard County.

By RICHARD HORN
Staff Writer

FORSAN — Take U.S. Highway 87 south of Big Spring several miles until you smell oil. Then turn left. That's Forsan.

Those are the directions to this town of nearly 300 persons in south Howard County. The oil is important because Forsan (named for the geological "fourth sand" where oil dwells) was once a petroleum boomtown of over 2,000.

Pump jacks are still at work throughout the community. Most of the business at the two grocery stores and service stations are oilfield workers or students and staff at the Forsan school.

"If you're on the road to Forsan, you're either lost or coming to see us," said Nova Scudday, Forsan's city secretary and wife of Mayor Woodrow Scudday. "There's nothing else out here."

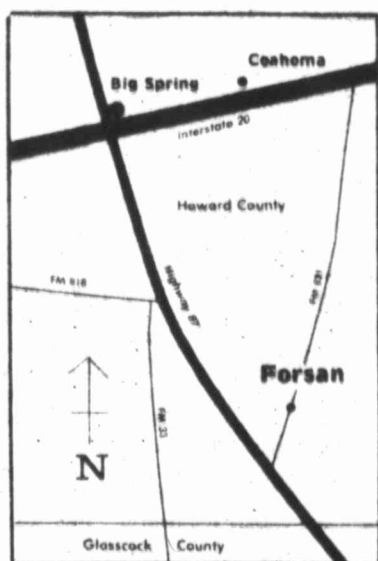

The Scuddays have lived in Forsan since the 1930s. Mrs. Scudday, 63, retired last year as tax assessor-collector for the Forsan Independent School District.

Mayor Scudday, 71, worked in the oil field most of his life, then owned and managed a combination service station-hardware store until retiring in 1978. He became mayor in 1982.

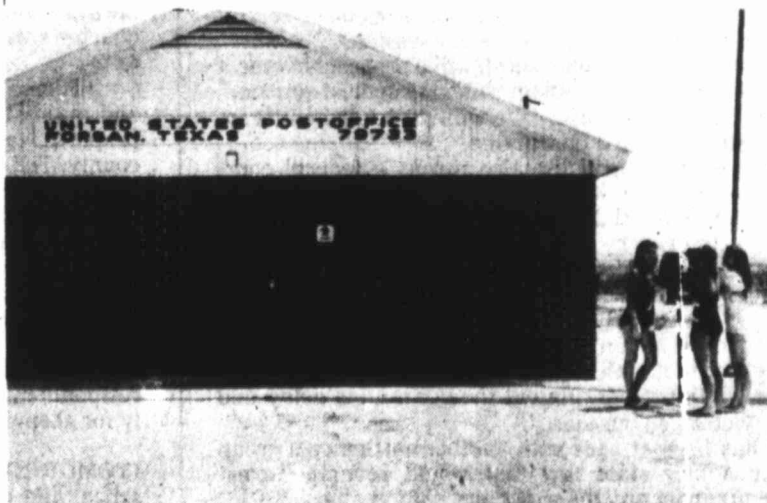

"You name it," he said when asked what his duties encompass. "I air up the tires on the firetruck and try to fix that blinking light that don't blink on the road out there. We need that light so we can give directions to folks."

Forsan City Hall is located beneath the water tower. It's convenient since keeping the town's water system operating is the most vital mayoral function.

The water system was installed in 1962, the same year the town was incorporated. But the town site was laid out and sold in the 1920s from land owned by Howard County rancher G.C. Stewart. It was dedicated to "the people of Texas," Scudday See FORSAN, page 2A

PAST AND PRESENT — Forsan's past and present is mirrored in its buildings. Above, a service station which has been in the community for many years is beginning to show signs of wear from the hard West Texas seasons. And below, a brick building houses the Forsan post office. Three area youngsters take time out from swimming to drop a letter in the mail box.

Brazel declines invitation to appear on 'Today' show

D.H. Brazel has declined to participate in a Today Show feature about his longstanding letters-to-the-editor feud with C.G. Gilstrap, according to an NBC producer.

The network will not come to Big Spring unless Brazel changes his mind, said Bert Medley of NBC.

Medley produces a segment of the Today Show entitled "In Pursuit of the American Dream." He had planned to be in Big Spring this weekend with a crew to film interviews with Gilstrap and Brazel, who were recently featured in Texas Monthly magazine.

Correspondent Bob Nelson also would have interviewed Herald Editor Linda Adams. The producer wanted shots of the press rolling, headlines of the ardent foes' letters, and people at work in the Herald office.

However, Medley called the Herald this morning to say Brazel had declined an interview and thus the story was off.

"He (Brazel) said Gilstrap has created so many problems for elected officials, that this (show) will increase Gilstrap's stature in the community in his own mind, and he will become even more obstreperous," Medley said.

He said it was hoped that Brazel would change his mind so the story could be done on NBC's next swing through Texas.

Neither Brazel nor Gilstrap could be reached for comment.

Focalpoint

Action/reaction: Street wise

Q. Are facilities planned for any of the dirt and gravel streets here in Big Spring?

A. Yes. Although the city council has not established any allocations yet, money for an assessment pavement program is available, according to Public Works Director Tom Decell. The city is accepting petitions from homeowners on where the paving will be done.

Calendar: Hydrants cleaned

TODAY

• The National Association of Retired and Veteran Railway Employees, Inc. will have a potluck supper and business meeting at the Kentwood Center at 6:30 p.m.

• The Big Spring Independent School District board of directors will meet at 5:15 p.m. in the high school boardroom.

• There will be a Harvest of '83 meeting at 7 p.m. at Calvary Baptist Church. Planning for a non-denominational youth rally will be done at this time. All interested persons are invited to attend.

• The Highland Council for the Deaf will change its phone number from today through Sunday. Pam Tingle will be the substitute service provider. Her number is 267-5320.

• The fire department will flush hydrants in the areas from Austin to Owens and Second to 12th streets; on Carl, Grace and Warren streets; and on Navajo, Parkway and Cactus streets. Residents may notice discolored water and water pressure loss.

Tops on TV: Blues for sale

At 7:05 p.m. on channel 11 Elvis Presley stars in "Blue Hawaii." At 8 p.m. on channel 5 the story of eight sailors who challenged the Atlantic Ocean in a yacht race is documented. At 9 p.m. on channel 13 "Hill Street Blues" has an episode in which two radicals are arrested for murder, and a stakeout involving Belker has a tragic outcome.

Outside: Cooler

Partly cloudy and a little cooler to day with a high temperature expected in the mid 80s. A 20 percent chance of rain is predicted for today. Low tonight should be in the low 60s. Winds from the southeast at 5-15 miles per hour. Friday's forecast calls for a high in the upper 80s with a possible chance of showers.

Teachers give Shaw an 'A'

By JAY ROSSETT

Harold Hanks Austin Bureau

AUSTIN — The Texas Federation of Teachers, a union organization, handed out some apples and some dunces caps to Texas legislators Wednesday in its effort to grade the educational work of the 150-member Texas House of Representatives.

Only about 40 percent of the lawmakers received passing grades for the 90-day session that federation president John Cole said didn't address important educational needs and may spawn "the intellectual death of an entire generation of Texans."

The legislative grades, Cole said, were based on five floor votes, adding that to score correctly in TFT's eyes a legislator would have had to vote "Nay" on each one.

It's a report card that Rep. Larry Don Shaw, D-Big Spring, would be proud to take home to his constituents. Shaw earned an "A" by voting "right" on three of the five issues. He was absent for two votes.

Rep. Jim Rudd, D-Brownfield, probably won't be so boastful. He earned a "U" by voting "wrong" on all five of the federation's handpicked votes.

Under the TFT's grading scale, an "A" translates to "excellent - needs promotion to the 69th Legislature"; "B" is "above average" also worthy of promotion; "C" is "average - needs more study on issues"; "D" is "poor - needs remediation"; "F" is a failing mark which means the legislator "needs to be retained in the district"; and "U" which translates to "Unsatisfactory - no attempt made to help on issues."

The group's legislative report card, Cole said, is designed to pinpoint which legislators "need some work before they can pass a competency test."

Even House Speaker Gib Lewis, D-Fort Worth, dubbed by the group as the legislature's principal, didn't escape a grade, receiving a "U."

"He made his position on a number of issues clear," Cole said. "Quite frankly, if there were an award for leadership, Mr. Lewis would be the most likely recipient."

The votes taken during floor debate used in the federation's legislative yardstick were:

- A move to suspend the rules and let a House committee consider a proposal that would reduce the state's contribution to the Teacher Retirement System and net the state $220 million. The proposal, co-sponsored by Rep. Bill Prensall, D-Bryan, and Sen. Grant Jones, D-Abilene, ultimately passed.

- A successful motion to table, and kill, a proposal that would have increased all state employee salaries by 7.0 a month rather than 4.5 percent during 1983-85 as recommended in a budget proposal.

- A House- and Senate-passed plan to let non-certified personnel to teach classes in emergency situations.

- An unsuccessful measure that would have allowed school districts to contract with private bus companies for school bus service.

- Adoption of the House-Senate conference committee report on a $30.8 billion, 1983-85 state spending bill that offers teachers only an average 9 percent increase during the biennium. That raise, pegged to a teacher's tenure, already was mandated by state law.

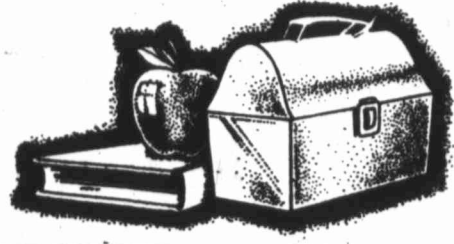

According to the federation's scorecard, Shaw voted "right" on the Teacher Retirement System bill, the certification measure and the private bus company proposal. He was absent during votes on the other two.

Cole said the Senate's education report card has not yet been compiled, but should be ready by next month.

Police Beat

Three arrested in stabbing fray

One woman was stabbed and three women were arrested about 1:45 a.m. today during an assault inside Cactus Jacks, a nightclub at the Big Spring Industrial Park.

Susie Alexander, 24, of Sterling City Route was treated and released from the Malone-Hogan Hospital emergency room after she was stabbed once in the back with a knife.

Police arrested Sharon Crawford, 22, of San Antonio on suspicion of aggravated assault and public intoxication. Two other women were arrested on suspicion of public intoxication.

Ms. Crawford is being held in city jail in lieu of a $2,500 bond set by Municipal Judge Melvin Daratt. Police took statements this morning from witnesses and from the victim and suspect.

"It looks like they may have had problems in the last few days that brought this on," police Lt. Alvis Jeffcoat said.

Police reports also show the following:
• Charlie F. Winchester, 36, of 511 Aylford was arrested this morning on suspicion of driving while intoxicated, traffic violation and possession of a controlled substance.

Police say they stopped Winchester's vehicle about 12:40 a.m. for driving the wrong way on East Fourth street. The reporting officer said the driver was intoxicated and that after his arrest, police found a match box containing a small white pill in the suspect's possession.

• Lyle Shepperly of 2208 Runnels told police someone stole $1,358 worth of tools from the bed of his pickup between 6:30 p.m. Saturday and 9:30 a.m. Sunday. Shepperly said he doesn't know where his pickup was parked when the theft occurred.

• Someone stole a set of keys yesterday from the ignition of a vehicle owned by the Texas State Department of Highways and Transportation. The vehicle was parked at the intersection of Highway 350 and Interstate Highway 20.

New ordinance clarified

Public Works Director Tom Decell today clarified an ordinance passed by the Big Spring city council Tuesday night that increases rates for tapping into the city's water and sewer systems.

The ordinance increases rates for water taps from $135 to $200 for the standard 3/4-inch tap if it is less than 50 feet long and does not cross a street or road. If the tap is more than 3/4-inch in diameter and crosses a street or road, the charge will be cost plus 20 percent.

The ordinance also changes rates for sewer taps from $130 for all taps to $280 for a standard 4-inch tap that is less than 50 feet long and does not cross a street or road. The charge is cost plus 20 percent if the pipe is more than 4-inches in diameter, longer than 50 feet and crosses a street or road.

Cannibal Draw filling up

According to Mack Underwood, founder of the Cannibal Draw Reunion, this year's gathering could be the largest ever.

The reunion, for men raised on the east side of Big Spring more than 50 years ago, is in its sixth year. The record turnout for the event is 49, Underwood said.

The gathering will be held Saturday at 7 p.m. at the Brandin' Iron Restaurant on U.S. Highway 87. Its for men only, and they will order dutch treat from the menu, Underwood said.

C-City school official named

COLORADO CITY (SC) — A Midland man has been named administrative supervisor of the Colorado Independent School District.

Dr. Walter Bingham, former superintendent of Koppel and Kemp independent school districts, was approved at Monday's meeting of the Colorado City school board.

Bingham also was dean of instruction and assistant principal at W.T. White High School in Dallas.

His salary will be $34,662.

In other action, the board named Mrs. Geneva Findley tax collector and business manager for the 1983-84 school year. She replaces the retiring Jay Craddock.

Mrs. Findley's salary will be $29,558.

Chamber contest opened

The business committee of the Big Spring Area Chamber of Commerce is sponsoring a window and in-store decoration contest during Big Spring Cowboy Reunion and Rodeo week June 20-25.

Awards will be presented in two categories: general retail stores and western specialty stores.

Plaques will be presented at the rodeo to the winners.

Water deliveries rise

Water consumption during May pulled the Colorado River Municipal Water District's deliveries even for the first five months of the year.

Total deliveries were up 24.93 percent or 1.85 billion — a 369 million gallon increase over May of 1982. Municipal deliveries were up 30.86 percent while industrial water dipped 6.67 percent compared to 1982.

Big Spring went up 28.58 percent to 295,310,000 gallons while Stanton was up 19.25 percent to 17,676,700 gallons.

16 indicted in fencing scam

BEAUMONT, Texas (AP) — A fake fencing operation set up by undercover police officers has resulted in indictments of 16 Orange, Jefferson and Hardin county residents on burglary, theft and drug charges.

Over the last 2 1/2 months, police bought four boat, motor and trailer outfits, eight outboard motors, 30 guns, tools, welding and other merchandise for a little more than $7,000, said Jefferson County Sheriff's Department investigator David Reeves.

The stolen goods were valued at more than $50,000, Reeves said, but "times are tough."

Reeves said six of the 16 people indicted by the Jefferson County grand jury Tuesday had been arrested by Wednesday afternoon and law enforcement officers expected to arrest the others soon.

Of the 16 indictments, 10 are for theft and burglary and three are for delivery of marijuana and a controlled substance.

manager in this city of about 28,000 located approximately 175 miles southeast of Dallas, said the cloud had dissipated by early today and authorities began letting people back into their homes and dormitories at about 12:30 a.m. CDT.

"I think we got it fairly well under control now," Ammons said early today. "They have released the road blocks south of the university and are allowing people back in their homes."

Authorities routed students on the southern part of the campus and residents living south of the university from their homes as the gas, kept close to the ground by calm winds and high humidity, drifted across the area.

"We are lucky we didn't have to evacuate the hospital, if it had got much farther south we would have had to," said Ammons, referring to Nacogdoches Memorial Hospital.

He said the city's emergency plan, which had been tested during chemical spills from train derailments in 1974 and 1978, had worked well and enabled authorities to act quickly.

"We were very fortunate it was so well organized. ... There may have been a little over-reaction, but I certainly would rather over-react in a situation like this," he said.

Mayor A.L. Mangham was the most seriously injured. He was overcome by fumes as he watched firefighters hose down the greenhouse.

"He got a pretty good dose of it," Police Sgt. John Chandler said of Mangham.

She said most of the patients were students who had to be stripped of their clothes and scrubbed before they could be treated.

During the town's peak in the years before the Depression, the population lived in tents and small houses.

"Most of those people were oil people," said Merle J. Stewart, son of G.C. Stewart and a retired Big Spring accountant. "They moved on when oil was struck in East Texas. The Depression had something to do with it, too."

Oil remained big business in Forsan, although the population fell to near its present level in the 1950s when petroleum companies started using contract workers in place of local help.

Scudday is Forsan's third mayor. The first, C.J. Lamb, held the post from incorporation until he died in 1978. J.L. Barron took the job until 1978. Scudday ran unopposed in 1982.

He and his wife and one man to maintain the water system compose the city staff. There is a volunteer fire department and a Howard County sheriff's deputy lives in town.

The five-man city council (Oscar Boeker, Loren Casleman, Bennie Pickett, Owen Rawls and Jim Alexander) meet once a month.

"They're a faithful bunch, that's for sure," Scudday said. "They always come when we don't have a quarter's worth of business to tend to."

"Business" includes street repair and maintaining the low sales and property taxes collected by the county. The council is also trying to establish ownership of a number of lots sold in the 1920s to investors.

Forsan is feeling some "growing pains," the Scuddays said. The school district is a big draw and oil workers often move to the town for convenience. Big Spring is just a little over 10 miles away and Forsan residents make the trip almost daily for shopping and entertainment.

(TOMORROW — The mayor, the school and the unknown owners of Forsan.)

Sheriff's Log

Clifford Bart Dunbar, 23, of Santa Monica, Calif., accused of raping three teen-age girls, is in Howard County jail after his transfer from Mitchell County custody.

Dunbar was arrested Jan. 6, 1983 in Midland for suspicion of raping three Ohio juvenile females in Mitchell and Howard counties. He is being held under $12,000 bond on a county bench warrant.

• Johnny Rios, 17, of 404 W. 7th remains in county jail under $15,000 bond after his transfer from police custody. Rios was arraigned before Justice of the Peace Lewis Hefflin for suspicion of burglary.

• Eric Etnire, 30, of Alamogordo, N.M., was transferred from county jail to Rusk State Hospital. Etnire, who has been jailed since his arrest April 5, was found incompetent to stand trial by a Howard County jury last week.

He is charged with aggravated robbery and unauthorized use of a motor vehicle in connection with stealing a gun from Gibson Discount Stores and from government officials, Richardson said.

Attending the Midland gathering were Agriculture Commissioner Jim Hightower, State Rep. Larry Don Shaw of Big Spring, State Sen. Bill Sims, Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service State Director Charles Mayfield and other state officials, including a representative from U.S. Sen. John Tower.

"On a national map, this drought looks pretty small, but when you're here it's pretty big," Richardson said.

The relief expected — since the counties are declared disaster areas — would be an emergency feed program for livestock producers and a similar program for farmers, Richardson said.

"People are pretty well responsive," Richardson said.

In order to increase the effectiveness of the disaster-area proposal, several southern and eastern New Mexico counties are expected to seek relief with the Texas group, Richardson said.

The county extension agent said he expected the resolutions and any subsequent action to be from a week to 10 days away.

Quarantine

new rules for brucellosis control in Texas in a routine manner rather than as a proposed emergency order. That gives the state 30 days to 60 days to work out an administrative compromise that won't require legislative action, the governor said.

USDA officials still maintain that Texas has no effective plan for control of brucellosis, a contagious disease that causes cattle to miscarry and produce less milk and bulls to become sterile.

White said earlier this month that he hoped to talk with USDA officials about lifting the quarantine until Texas could hold a special legislative session to deal with the matter. A bill that would have brought Texas into compliance with federal brucellosis-control regulations failed in the final days of the recent session.

"We're going to be working on some substantive proposals to see if there can be some solution to the problem without a special session," White said, adding that, in any case, "we will not let the cattle industry in Texas be subjected to a quarantine."

The agreed delay in the quarantine also means a federal court hearing on the matter probably won't be held in Austin on Thursday as scheduled, Attorney General Jim Mattox said.

Mattox obtained a temporary restraining order on May 31 that blocked the planned June 1 quarantine. Thursday's hearing was scheduled to consider a state request to give Texas more time to arrive at a solution.

The governor was in the nation's capitol Tuesday night to attend a fund-raiser, but he also met with USDA officials.

Wheeler praised White for working out the quarantine delay and called it a "major victory on our side."

The association has been at odds with another cattlemen's group over the need for a new state law that would revamp Texas' brucellosis-control program and make it more enforceable.

Deaths

Pope embarks on 8-day pilgrimage into Poland

WARSAW, Poland (AP) — Pope John Paul II today embarked on an eight-day pilgrimage to his homeland, declaring he would pray for Poles at the shrine where they have always gathered "in the happy and sad hours of their history."

The pope left Rome aboard a special Alitalia jetliner at 2:55 p.m. (8:55 a.m. EDT) on the two-hour flight to Poland.

In a telegram to Italian President Sandro Pertini who telephoned the pope earlier in the day to wish him a good trip, John Paul said:

"I undertake this pilgrimage to my homeland... to pray at the feet of Our Lady of Jasna Gora for the Polish people who have always gathered around that venerated icon in the happy and sad hours of their history."

Police patrolled the rain-soaked streets of Warsaw and placed guards around Solidarity chief Lech Walesa hours before the start of the papal pilgrimage.

The tight security, designed both to protect the pontiff and to forestall any outbursts of support for the outlawed independent labor union, underscored the stark difference between the Poland which John Paul visited in 1979 and the country still under the shadow of martial law today.

The visit comes at "an immensely difficult moment in the life of my country," John Paul said at his audience Wednesday in St. Peter's Square on the eve of his eight-day, six-city tour.

It is a pilgrimage anxiously awaited by his devoutly Roman Catholic countrymen, who for centuries have sought refuge in the church in times of crisis.

Walesa, one of the faithful but described by authorities as the "former leader of a former union," vowed to meet the pontiff despite security police guarding his home in Gdansk, the Baltic seaport birthplace of the Solidarity movement that many say was inspired by the last papal visit.

"I consider myself under house arrest," Walesa told The Associated Press. "But I want to tell you one thing. I shall pack my things for Czestochowa at 1600 hours (4 p.m. local time) Friday whatever the consequences. And that is that."

This morning, some security police officers accompanied Walesa to work at Gdansk's Lenin shipyards while others remained at a discreet distance from his house, his wife Danuta reported.

"Sometimes I go out in the company of a friend, and then the undercover men call in uniformed policemen to have the other person's I.D. checked," she said.

Moscow and Washington will be closely watching the pope on his pilgrimage. John Paul's itinerary includes meetings with Polish government officials, visits to workers' strongholds and a series of religious events.

"If John Paul takes a stand in his statements that will further stabilization, then he will be making a positive contribution to the lifting of martial law," Deputy Premier Mieczyslaw Rakowski told reporters Wednesday.

Martial law was suspended in December 1982, a year after it was imposed in the midst of workers' demands for human and civil rights, but many of its restrictions on freedom remain in force.

Gen. Wojciech Jaruzelski, who heads the Communist government, and his aides have made no secret of their hope that the trip will improve his regime's image at home and abroad — and perhaps even hasten the lifting of Western economic sanctions imposed after martial law was declared.

In remarks on the eve of departure, John Paul said he hopes his trip will "serve the cause of truth and love, freedom and justice. So that it may serve the cause of reconciliation and peace."

The pope received Walesa at the Vatican in January 1981 and praised the formation of the first independent labor union in the Soviet bloc.

Walesa's superiors at his workplace — the Gdansk shipyard where Solidarity took form — denied him time off to travel to see the pope during this visit.

But there has been speculation that sometime this weekend, Walesa's regular time off, the labor champion would make the 300-plus mile journey to Czestochowa, site of Poland's holiest icon, the Black Madonna, and meet the pope there.

The authorities have banned alcohol sales in stores and restaurants, closed off streets and limited access to papal sites.

Yuri Andropov takes role as Soviet president

MOSCOW (AP) — Communist Party leader Yuri V. Andropov, 69, was elected president of the Soviet Union on Thursday, consolidating his power by filling a post that had been vacant for seven months.

His unanimous election at the opening session of the Supreme Soviet, the national parliament, means Andropov, who is the party general secretary, has taken firm control of this nation of 280 million people.

He was nominated for the position by Konstantin U. Chernenko, who in the past several months had been thought to be his chief rival for power.

"Allow me to express my wholehearted appreciation and gratitude for the high trust and honor given me in electing me chairman of the Supreme Soviet of the USSR," said Andropov, a former head of the Soviet KGB intelligence agency, in a brief acceptance speech.

"Your trust and consideration are a trust placed in the Communist Party and a member of this party for over 40 years... I would like to assure you that I will use my experience... to respond to your trust and confidence," he added.

Andropov, who turned 69 Wednesday, became general secretary on Nov. 12, 1982, two days after former leader Leonid I. Brezhnev died after 18 years at the helm of the Kremlin.

Brezhnev had held both positions, and Andropov, whose health is believed to be failing, was expected to become president last November.

He failed to take the post then, sparking speculation that he had been unable to consolidate his absolute hold on the nation's secretive political apparatus.

But in taking the presidency Thursday, he displayed his strength, having taken hold of the nation's two top positions only seven months after Brezhnev died.

Brezhnev, who became the top party man in October 1964 when he ousted Nikita S. Khrushchev, was not able to take over the presidency until 1977. He took the head of state's job from Nikolai V. Podgorny.

Andropov becomes the ninth president of the Soviet Union since Yakov M. Sverdlov was elected the first head of state in 1917.

Supreme Court rules against laws which restrict abortion

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court has crushed a key right-to-life group strategy for weakening its 1973 decision legalizing abortion by ruling against several local laws restricting the procedure.

The court's decisions, announced Wednesday, may leave right-to-life activists with only one direct avenue for changing the legal status of abortion: an amendment to the U.S. Constitution.

Anti-abortion groups had been seeking adoption of state and local laws limiting the availability of abortion in various ways. But the court, ruling on cases from Ohio, Virginia and Missouri, wiped out most of the restrictions Wednesday, saying they were unconstitutional and in conflict with the original 1973 Roe vs. Wade decision, which legalized abortion.

"If we've learned something, it is let's go back into the federal arena to work on restricting the judges," said Peter Gemma, head of the National Pro-Life Political Action Committee. "We have to get tougher in Congress to put restrictions on the court. It's the only way to go. Our ultimate goal is the right-to-life amendment that even the court would have to obey. That becomes even more obvious today."

The regulations tossed out by the court in the three separate cases required:

- At least a 24-hour waiting period between the time a woman signs an abortion consent form and performance of the medical procedure.
- That all abortions for women more than three months pregnant be performed in hospitals rather in each case about the girl's "maturity" to decide on her own.

Paul Brown of the Life Amendment Political Action Committee said his group and others will push for adoption of similar laws in all states.

The court also upheld a requirement that medical reports to be compiled for all abortions and two doctors be present for abortions performed on women in the last three months of their pregnancies.

Pro-choice groups — those who back the availability of abortion — were happy with the ruling.

Storms return

By The Associated Press

Stormy weather returned to portions of South Texas before dawn today as an upper level disturbance collided with moisture from the Gulf of Mexico.

A few heavy thunderstorms developed from Port O'Connor to Freeport and light showers dotted other portions of South and Southwest Texas. Scattered thundershowers also popped up in the western Panhandle.

Clouds blanketed most of Central and Northwest Texas while the remainder of the state was under clear skies.

Temperatures at 4 a.m. ranged from 60 at Amarillo to 77 at McAllen. Winds were generally light and variable.

The forecast called for partly cloudy skies with a chance of scattered thunderstorms over Southwest and Southeast Texas.

Showers and thunderstorms were scattered across the Central and Southern Plains, the northern Plateau and the mid-Atlantic coast states today in a pattern that has gripped the nation for three days and stirred up tornadoes through the Central states.

Showers also drifted over the Tennessee Valley and parts of Southern Florida.

The National Weather Service said showers and thunderstorms in the Eastern and Central parts of the continent spanned nearly a half dozen tornadoes, accompanied by large hail, high winds and heavy rain.

Several trees were splintered at Campbellsport, Wis., when a tornado touched down, and twisters were reported Wednesday in Oklahoma and Mississippi.

Strong winds uprooted a three-foot diameter tree in Iron County, Mich., and gusty winds downed trees and powers lines in parts of Connecticut and Massachusetts as thunderstorms hit sections of the Northeast. Golf ball-size hail was found at Hartland, Conn., and three-quarter-inch stones fell at Cairo, N.Y., and Webster, Mass.

A trailer park near Tanner, Ala., was flooded as thunderstorms moved across parts of northern Alabama.

Flash flood warnings remained up for parts of Central Texas and the National Weather Service said Nevada should brace for flooding this weekend along the Carson River below the Lahontan Reservoirs, full from the snowmelt.

Temperatures soared into the 90s in the Northeast and southern New England on Wednesday.

West Texas — Partly cloudy with scattered thunderstorms Saturday, fair far west. Becoming fair all sections Sunday and Monday. Lows near 60 Panhandle to low 70s south. Highs generally upper 80s Panhandle to mid 90s far west with up to 106 Big Bend valleys.

Mayor may request more smoke detectors

FORT WORTH (AP) — Acting in the wake of a hotel blaze that killed five people, Mayor Bob Bolen said he will ask city council members next week to require all hotels and motels to install smoke detectors.

The current building code, which requires smoke detectors in hotels and motels built after 1976, did not cover the 10-year-old Ramada Inn Central, where a fire early Tuesday also injured 34 people.

"I believe the majority of the city council feels this is the proper course of action," Bolen said Wednesday. "The installation of smoke detectors in hotels and motels is not that expensive."

Federal investigators were awaiting test results today that could shed light on the cause of the pre-law inferno. Representatives from three national

Cranston should get his act together

A near-the-front running presidential candidate, as Sen. Alan Cranston likes to promote himself, should be able to handle press criticism better than he has this month.

The would-be spear carrier for the Democratic left reportedly is "stung" by two recent articles questioning the ethics of his use of campaign and Senate funds. The Riverside (Calif.) Press-Enterprise alleged that Cranston aide Dan Perry still is paid with U.S. Senate funds even though he has been shifted to campaign duties.

Adding insult to injury was an article in the liberal New Republic magazine that revealed Cranston turned 1980 Senate campaign funds into a "slush fund" to pay for such expenses as his and his wife's attendance at anti-nuclear rallies and a speech coach.

Ouch!

There doesn't appear to be anything illegal about the Cranston expenditures, it should be noted. But the morality of a presidential candidate using funds this way is questionable, especially when Cranston joined other honoraria-collecting members of Congress to find fault in the honoraria and gifts former National Security adviser Richard Allen received from the Japanese.

If Cranston becomes a serious presidential contender he'd better get his finances in order and have his speech coach give him some lessons in handling the tougher media scrutiny.

BY GREG JAKLEWICZ

Mr. Jack

I'm not quite sure how old he is, nor what he finds to do all day. I'm not sure what he'll do when Carl Yazdremski retires or if he'll ever quit raiding the snack jar.

He's a man I genuinely admire although I'm not sure I've ever said that to him.

My dad is the last of a vanishing breed of men, a man who has put a long list of ideals ahead of regards for his own personal welfare for some 70-odd years. The majority of his life was spent in the Marine Corps in which he served for more than 30 years, few of those days easy.

He was in the South Pacific during World War II, dodging grenades and malaria-bearing mosquitoes. Fortunately he evaded the first; the latter put him out of commission for months.

He was in Korea and his stories of that country's bone-shattering cold can make you shiver on a summer day. The Korean War, you see, was not quite as fun as "M*A*S*H."

He was in the jungles of Vietnam — twice — not shuffling papers in a Saigon office but sweating things out within mortar distance of the DMZ.

I DON'T THINK historians would categorize my dad as a war hero but to me he's a hero. He can pull out medals and citations from a treasured foot-locker but they don't tell all the tales of a career that extended across four decades.

My father entered the military without completing a college education. When he retired in 1970, his first priority was getting his degree. It wasn't easy for him to drop back into school with all us know-it-all college whiz kids but he survived. He even went after a master's degree, achieving that goal the same year I graduated from high school.

Since 1976, he's been a part-time schoolteacher in Abilene. He's done it all, from taking over an elementary class to subbing for coaches' history classes. I always wondered how he taught sixth graders music and conducted recess. I have a strange feeling he just told them war stories.

My dad is quite a story teller, anyone who knows him even slightly will state that fact readily. He doesn't tell the grisly stories of war. Instead, he relates the human side, his classics include his "adoption" of war orphans in camp and his friendships with young Marines from all over the country.

I met many of the kids my dad taught through junior baseball programs in Abilene. They all thought "Mr. Jack," as they called him, was a pretty neat old guy.

SINCE HIS retirement, my dad has become house bound. It's tough getting him to go out for a movie or to eat. He'd rather putter around the house, an activity at which he is an expert. He can disappear outside at dawn and not come in until my mother tracks him down by starlight. He manages to stay busy all day, doing what I don't know.

He writes letters and collects stamps. His correspondence ranges from "M*A*S*H" buddies across the country, a woman celebrating 100 years of age he met as a young man in North Carolina and various missionaries across the globe. Want to make quick friends? Slip him some stamps. I would dare say he has the most complete collection in Texas.

Another hobby is ordering our dog about in military fashion. This dog has gone through boot camp for the past 13 years; even with a bowl-full of kitchen scraps in his dish, our dog will sit for hours until given the command to eat by my father.

Our dog and my dad make a good pair, both are aging gracefully together. The hardness of war has worked its way into my dad's bones. Sleeping in — while my favorite hobby — only brings pain for him. But that's something else he's accepted.

Once, he fell off the roof repairing some shingles while my mother and I were out of town. We returned and found only soiled clothing scattered in the house. Fearing the worst, we called the hospital and there he was. Somehow, with a chest full of broken ribs, he dressed and drove himself there. The doctors couldn't believe it.

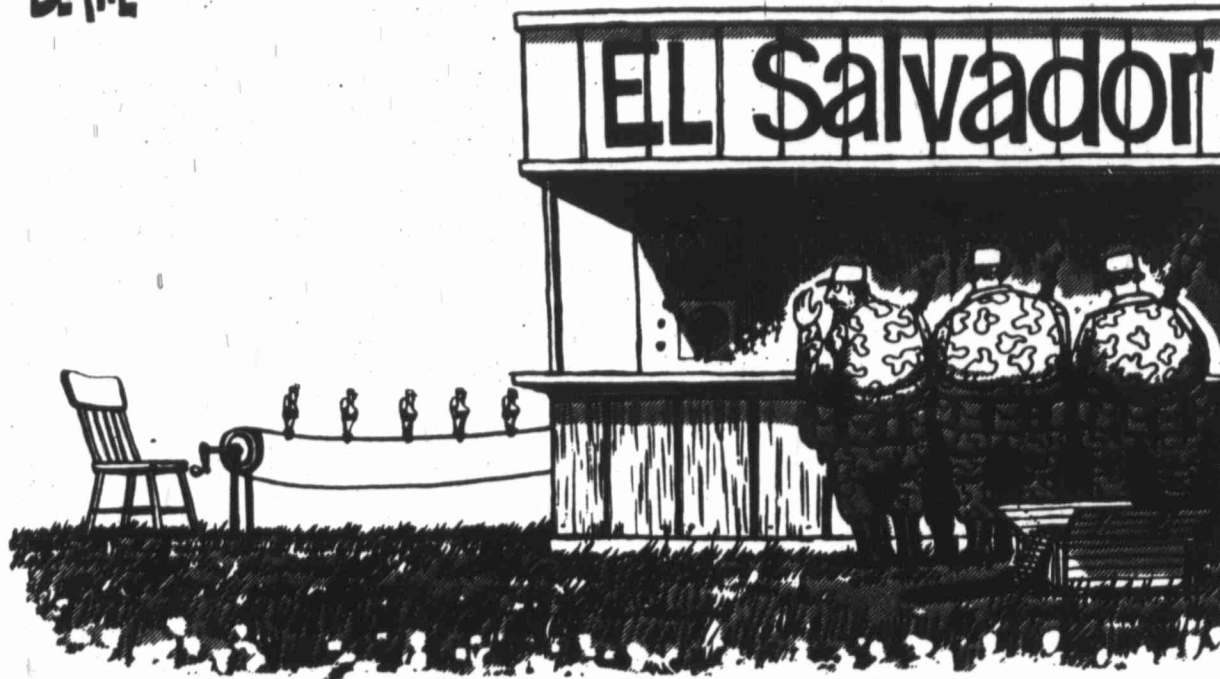

THE TWO OF us never looked too much alike until long hours at the office started taking its toll on me. But my gradual loss of hair is only a physical sign of our similarities. Every day I see us getting more and more alike.

Still, we don't get along as well as we should. The years away from home put distance between us that time won't ever bridge. Especially during my adolescent years, I resented any authority he cast in my direction; I had grown up without him and could stand on my own. So I thought,

I don't think my father knows how highly I think of him. He never pressed nor did I favor a career in the military but I still think he's proud of what I chose instead. But his pride compares nothing with mine when I look a metal plate once used by newspapers. On it is a picture of my father, youthful and looking sharp in his uniform.

I'm glad he's my father and maybe this Sunday I'll finally tell him so.

Reining in the bureaucracy

It has been 100 years since Congress, reacting to the assassination of President James Garfield by a disappointed office-seeker, established the federal civil service system. The best that can be said of it is that it often makes the spoils system look good. But the Reagan administration has proposed a modest package of improvements.

Federal bureaucrats are widely disliked by sober-minded Americans, and not without reason. Try getting some information out of a government agency, if your memory needs refreshing. But they are not so much bad people as they are people working under bad incentives.

Besides being generally overpaid for their skills and responsibilities, civil servants enjoy the closest thing to permanent tenure. For all purposes, they can be neither fairly punished for performing badly nor justly rewarded for performing well. Most of them, accordingly, do the bare minimum.

SAY YOU'RE a supervisor in a federal office. You want to reward a good employee? Well, 99 percent of federal employees already get "merit raises" every year. You want to get rid of a bad one? Charlie Peters of the Washington Monthly notes that the "government's rate of discharge for inefficiency is less than one-seventh of 1 percent." If you want to fire somebody, expect to spend up to half your working time on the case for at least six months.

The Reagan administration has several ideas for improving things. The first is to freeze all federal salaries for a year and base future pay increases on performance, instead of handing them out to nearly everyone. Government workers say these proposals are unfair because their pay already lags 18 percent behind the private sector.

But less partial experts say it isn't so. The U.S. Chamber of Commerce says they get 35 percent more than their private counterparts; the federal Office of Personnel Management (the old Civil Service Commission) says the gap is 11 percent in favor of the bureaucrats.

IF PAY WERE so bad, the government would no doubt go begging for workers. In fact, it rejects eight applicants for every one it hires — and did so long before the recession hit.

Aside from good pay, applicants are attracted by job security and lucrative pensions. Until the layoffs under President Reagan (known in Washington as RIFs, for "reduction in force"), it was almost unheard of for a federal employee to find himself out of work. Even Reagan has laid off only 11,000 people out of more than 2 million — about one of every 20,000.

Those RIFs illustrate one problem. Under the current rules, performance counts for little in deciding whom to get rid of. The issue is settled almost entirely by seniority. That not only protects bad workers who have been there a long time at the expense of good ones who haven't, but also penalizes women and minority employees, most of whom have little seniority.

The administration would place more importance on performance and less on seniority. It would also crack down on a practice known as "bumping," which allows a worker to choose between being laid off and accepting a lower job at his or her current salary. This leads to absurdities like the former $50,000-a-year data processor who get the same pay for cleaning out animal cages, and the $46,000 typist who used to be a supervisor.

THEN THERE are those pension benefits which are extraordinarily generous by the standards of private programs or Social Security. They are also available at an earlier age: Federal employees can retire with a full pension at age 55 with 30 years' work, or at 60 with 20 years' work.

This generosity has made federal pensions one of the most expensive programs in the budget, costing more than $21 billion this year. Federal employees pay only about a seventh of the total cost of their benefits, with taxpayers paying the rest. Even so, a huge deficit looms on the horizon. The administration's answer is to boost employee contributions, gradually raise the retirement age and eliminate next year's cost-of-living increase.

The cost-cutting measures are long overdue: Americans pay for much better government than they get. As for the reforms designed to improve its performance — well, the American Federation of Government Employees complains that they would "base promotions and layoffs on subjective factors, devalue seniority and undermine the ... collective bargaining process," besides signaling "a return to the spoils system." Given the alternative, most Americans might say, the sooner the better.

Firemen want a fighting chance

Dear Editor,

In regard to the article in Tuesday's paper concerning the County Commissioners meeting, the point we were trying to get across was that we need a spare truck and some decent equipment to operate with. The county shop does not have time to drop everything just to work on our trucks and equipment. Their work load is heavy enough but we need dependable equipment.

While the Jonesboro truck was in the shop being refurbished we had a house burn down across the street from the station. But I quote one County Shop Official as saying, "We don't have time to be fooling with you."

This kind of attitude is what bothers us. We get calls while at work and in the middle of the night which doesn't bother us. What does bother us is when we get a call at 2 a.m. and it turns out to be a prank call.

It's an attitude toward the volunteer fire department. Why? We have nine stations which we find hard to staff and the people we do get are hard to keep.

We don't get much recognition for the work we do. For instance, a trailer house fire which was contained and extinguished before major damage was done, or when we stop a grass fire before it gets to someone's house.

Most of the people in the communities that we serve don't even support us. Most of us furnish our own Fire Equipment and training which isn't cheap. We asked our communities once for suggestions to make our department more efficient and received no response.

How would you feel after spending six hours fighting a grass fire or four hours on a house or barn fire? We try our best and it really bothers us when we're not there in time to save a house, but what is harder even more is when the victims blame us.

Help us to help you.

Blind woman misses foster kids

WASHINGTON — In their zeal to save a few nickels, the White House budget busters have managed to break the heart of a 74-year-old blind woman, damage one of the most successful social programs in the country and leave the president's wife with egg on her face. Here's what happened:

In her book, "To Love a Child," Nancy Reagan told the poignant story of Mary Lee Wright, who volunteered her time as a foster grandparent to two blind and mentally impaired children. For almost two years, Mrs. Wright had poured out her love to her two foster grandchildren. They depended on her gift of love, and in time she grew to depend on theirs.

But the First Lady's touching story was published before her husband's budget cutters went to work on the program. Last February, ACTION, the federal agency which administers the Foster Grandparent and other volunteer programs, decided the New York state agency which sponsored Mrs. Wright's foster grandparent activity was spending too much money on administrative expenses.

So the bureaucrats in Washington, without so much as a formal hearing, canceled the state agency's Foster Grandparent sponsorship — shrugging off the fact that ACTION had incorporated several of New York's innovations into its handbook of model programs.

Rather than deal with the state, ACTION "decentralized" the program by handing out sponsorships to local community agencies. The federal agency's deputy director, Betty Brake, promised that foster grandparents, placed under new sponsorships, would continue to be with the children they had grown to love.

THAT PROMISE was broken. When new sponsors couldn't pick up the transportation costs and the state wouldn't, Mrs. Wright and others were assigned to children closer to home.

For more than two months, Mrs. Wright sat home alone, cut off from her foster grandchildren. Finally, in desperation, she wrote to Mrs. Reagan, whom she had met a few months before in Washington. My associate Corky Johnson obtained a copy of Mrs. Wright's handwritten letter. Here is part of what she wrote:

"My meeting you in Washington was an experience I will always treasure, but the turn of events here in New York State since then makes it a bittersweet memory. It really breaks my heart to sit at home with nothing to do ... and to know that Jason and Marion must be lonely and wondering why I have deserted them. They can't understand why this had to happen, and frankly, neither can I ...

"Without sight, I need special help to get to my children every day, so this wonderful program can no longer make my life worth living.

"Many of the other 'Grandparents' who aren't handicapped might be able to work with children in public schools, but Mrs. Reagan, these youngsters don't have the 'special' need that our disabled children have ...

"We found that our loving them is all that this world can give them. Because they are 'special' children with 'special' needs, they are the children we want to be with. They are the children ACTION said we would remain with. However, now our love has been cut off by ACTION and our new sponsor."

Mrs. Wright got no response from Mrs. Reagan. An aide said the First Lady does not interfere in administrative matters.

Footnote: Mrs. Wright was recently assigned to work with a mentally impaired 19-year-old girl. But she still worries about Jason and Marion. "They probably feel they are being punished," she said, with concern.

DISASTER PLANS: The administration's $184 million Integrated Emergency Management System seems to be panning out. State and local governments, no doubt encouraged by the prospect of matching federal funds, are backing the idea of a system set up to handle any major disaster: nuclear attack, flood, tornado, toxic spill, radiation leak, earthquake or aid crash. The initial purpose of the program — planning for nuclear attack — has been played down because of the nuclear freeze movement.

Federal and state planners met last month in Emmitsburg, Md., for preliminary talks. The system should be in place by October 1984.

One major hitch: Each region will have an "incident commander" for each emergency, and there is considerable competition among police and fire chiefs, mayors and city managers for the potentially high-profile assignment.

DIPLOMATIC DIGEST: Though better known for its forced labor camps, the Soviet Union has branched out into the summer camp field. State Department sources report that the Russians send about 1,200 Afghan youngsters to summer camps in the Soviet Union. Parents have complained that the kids get political indoctrination from their Soviet camp counselors, as well as hikes and swimming lessons.

Incredible as it seems, the State Department has apparently decided that Africa — with its million of refugees, racial apartheid, tinhorn dictators and civil wars — doesn't have enough human rights problems to merit its own "desk" in the Human Rights Bureau. The department is considering merging the Africa human rights desk with another regional bureau.

NOT HANDICAPPED — Barbara Deatherage, right, checks out at a Wichita Falls grocery store recently. She and her husband, Tim, both are dwarfs and have adopted dwarf children from Korea. Daughter Amanda, 2, left, charms the checker. They say their short stature is not a handicap and that's what they are teaching their children.

'Little people' not handicapped

By HELEN BURDICK
Wichita Falls Times

WICHITA FALLS — Tim and Barbara Deatherage and their children, Todd, 5, and Amanda, 2, view the world from heights not quite equal to the ordinary levels.

However, their love and concern for one another, and for life, are immense.

THE DEATHERAGES ARE DWARFS, "little people," Deatherage said and laughed, adding "that term is all inclusive."

The couple and their adopted Korean children, also little people, are very much involved in home, school, church and friends, in spite of a few nuisances such as not being able to reach the top shelves in the grocery store and standing on a stool to cook at the kitchen stove.

"We're not handicapped," Deatherage said. "And that's what we are teaching our children — that they can do anything that tall people can except maybe play pro football."

"THE ONLY HANDICAP will be the lack of goals they set for themselves," said Deatherage, a certified public accountant who was born and reared in Wichita Falls and graduated from Midwestern State University.

The couple met at a convention of the Little People of America and they married in 1977.

"There are 60 types of dwarfs," Deatherage said. "Barbara and I are both achondroplastic — which means we are the most common type of dwarf, with normal trunks but short legs and arms."

And because they are identical types, their child would inherit genes from each parent and would have little chance of survival, he said. "So we decided we would adopt children."

"We went to the adoption committee of the Little People of America, and with their help, we got Todd in 1981," Mrs. Deatherage said. Todd had been in an orphanage in Korea about a year.

"When we brought him home, he ate nonstop for weeks. Once I served rice, and he dropped a grain and got down on the floor and began hunting for it. Now," she said, laughing, "he has become Americanized and he's picky about what he eats."

WHEN THE COUPLE DECIDED they wanted to adopt a girl, the same committee found Amanda. She came to the Deatherages in 1982.

"They are wonderful children," their mother said. "We're blessed."

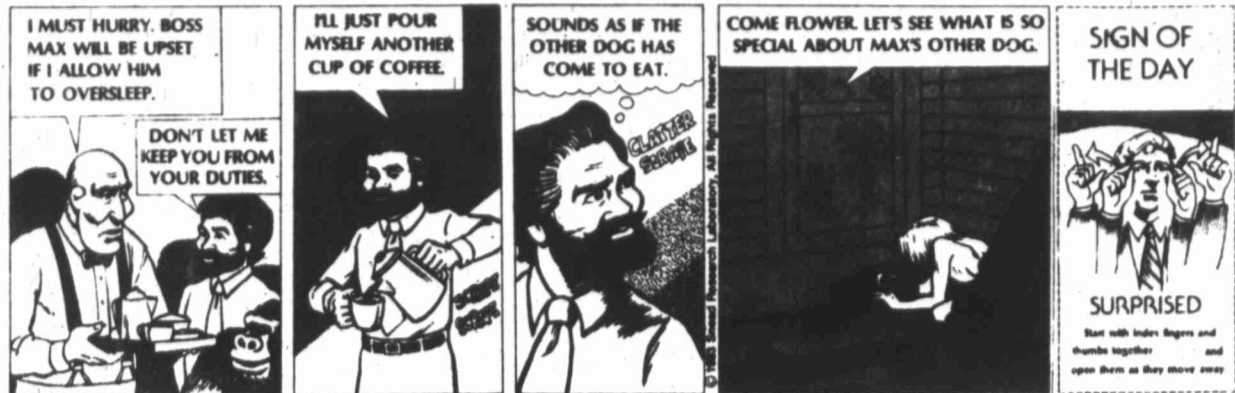

Todd is aware that he is small people, his father said. "We feel the term 'midget' is slang and we use it in a light and joking manner, so when the children hear it for the first time, it won't bother them."

"Todd and I play video games and I take him to play putt-putt and golf. Those are two games he will be able to play," said Deatherage.

Mrs. Deatherage likes needlepoint and she enjoys cooking, but has to stand on a stool to reach the stove, she said. "The kitchen is the one room I'd like to have scaled down, especially the cabinets."

Dallas has a chapter of Little People of America, Deatherage said, "and we go sometimes. Little people are lawyers, engineers, plumbers — they are in almost every profession. Little People also is a good place for parents of dwarfs, so they can get to know that their children are as normal as others. And as happy."

Pun is intended in fair contest

MILWAUKEE (AP) — In case last year's slogan — "Cheese and Quackers" — wasn't bad enough, Wisconsin State Fair officials have unveiled a new crop of puns for 1983.

Julie Carlson, public relations director for the fair, told the State Fair Board on Tuesday that the 1982 slogan had won a national advertising award.

She then listed some of the ad slogans designed to attract people to the fair's Aug. 4-14 run this summer, including:

—"The Duck Stops Here;"
—"Oinkle Sam Wants You;"

—"Udderly Fun;"

—"Whinny Ya Coming." She said another offering for 1983 would feature barnyard animals in Milwaukee Brewers baseball attire, with the slogan, "We're the Farm Team."

The slogans have begun appearing on Milwaukee area billboards and will soon be seen in Green Bay and Madison, she said.

Puns have also invaded the daily schedule for the fair. Some entries in a pun contest last year will be used to designate certain days, including:

—"Ewe Ain't Seen Mutton Yet;"
—"Hog Day Afternoon;"
—"Cheepers by the Dozen;"
—"Poultry in Motion."

Volcanos threaten Hawaii, Alaska

Molten rock oozing from Kilauea Volcano in Hawaii today threatened residents near the east rift zone, and in Alaska steam and ash spewed from Mount Veniaminof about 500 miles southwest of Anchorage.

Residents of the remote Royal Gardens subdivision near Volcano, Hawaii, were warned Tuesday night that they may have to leave their homes for the fourth time this year, as lava came within 1 1/2 miles of the subdivision boundary.

"Some residents have been advised to be ready for a possible evacuation," said Harry Kim, director of Hawaii County Civil Defense. "The lava flow is headed toward the northwest corner of the subdivision."

The lava river was fed by fountains of molten rock shooting about 60 to 90 feet into the air, Kim said, but added that there appeared to be a sharp dropoff between the lava flow and the residences.

There are about four residences located in the northwest section of the relatively undeveloped subdivision on the island of Hawaii, where residents live without telephone or electrical utilities.

Kilauea began its latest activity Monday morning, after a hiatus of more than two months. The volcano has been erupting sporadically since Jan. 3.

TALENT WINNER — Tiffanie Evans, 13, daughter of Barbara and John Evans, 806 Johnson, received five first place trophies during the Silhouettes of America pageant at Howard College, June 4. The trophies were for tap dance, jazz dance, swimwear, sportswear and southern belle gown. She was also second runner-up in the overall pageant. Miss Evans, sponsored by Parks Agency, Inc. was one of seven to perform her dance routine in the pageant's talent division.

Cauble School Reunion held

Guests of the Cauble School Reunion of 1983, held Friday and Saturday, viewed a scale model of the school designed and displayed by Claud Russell, an ex-teacher of the school.

At age 32, Russell spent six months constructing the model in his spare time. A photograph of the model appeared in Monday's issue of the Herald. Russell previously designed other replicas of homes for members of his family. His talent is exceptional in detail work.

Three members of the Russell family who attended Cauble School were present at the reunion.

From 50 to 65 people attended the reunion Friday and Saturday. Guests included four ex-teachers: Mrs. Aline Long, Mrs. Nadine Hodnett, Mrs. Ethel Cunningham and Mrs. Anne Martin of Santa Barbara, Calif. Two additional ex-teachers were present. They were Sarah Findley and Jim Ferguson.

Out of town guests came from Midland, Plano, Lubbock, Lamesa, Monahan, San Angelo, Stanton, Amarillo, Mississippi, Virginia, Oklahoma and New Mexico.

Present officers will continue through 1984. The reunion date will remain the second weekend in June.

Sandy Kuykendall honored

Sandy Kuykendall, the bride-elect of Steve Thomas, was honored with a bridal shower at the parlor of First Presbyterian Church, Saturday.

The bride-elect is the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. James W. Kuykendall.

Hosting the event were Lida Boland, Markay Brashears, Betty Earl, Katie Grimes, Nancy Koger, Kathy Tedesco, Dorothy Lusk, Jane Lusk, Kim Porter, Norma Porter and Myra Robinson.

Peach-colored corsages were presented to the bride-elect and her mother.

Guests were served from a table draped with an Army Navy lace cloth from Brussels, Belgium. The peach-colored centerpiece used for decoration also was presented to the bride-elect.

The couple will be married June 25 at First Presbyterian Church.

Soft shoes may look cute on a non-walking baby, but they may hinder foot development. A baby learning to walk should go barefoot as much as possible.

Coital pain can usually be helped

Dr. Donohue

Dear Dr. Donohue: This is a difficult letter to write. I am now 67 and have had an enjoyable sex life. I have a very serious problem. I just cannot tolerate intercourse. The pain is so severe that I could scream. I have the pain for hours. I have tried normal things like Vaseline and other lubricants, but they don't help much. I have a very loving and understanding husband and I am being unfair to him. Please check on this problem and give me an answer. I am sure there are other women like me. Thanks for listening. Just sign me "no sex." — No Sex exercises performed in the privacy of your home.

Your doctor can give you instructions in those. Don't suffer with this problem any longer without seeking help. Treatment is available and it can make a great difference. The general topic is discussed in the booklet, "Vaginitis: The Hidden Ailment," which other readers may order by writing me care of this newspaper, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelop and 50 cents.

Herpes may be killing the sexual revolution, but having it doesn't mean the end of your sex life. Or the end of your life. In his new booklet, Dr. Paul Donohue separates the truth from the fiction about this controversial health problem. For a copy of "Herpes:

Don't Panic," send one dollar and a stamped, self-addressed envelope to Dr.

Donohue in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 11210, Chicago, IL 60611.

Jo Ann Guitar honored by 4-H

Two area 4-H leaders were among 28 in Texas honored at the 1983 State 4-H Roundup at Texas A & M University, June 8.

Jo Ann Guitar of Big Spring and Myrtle Campbell of Fort Stockton were recognized as top adult volunteers in the Far West District of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A & M University System. The Extension Service is the parent organization of 4-H in the state.

Each honoree received a special plaque provided by the Texas 4-H Foundation, the service organization of 4-H in the state.

Ms. Guitar has had a great impact on the 4-H members of Howard County due to her teaching abilities.

She is involved in many areas of 4-H but primarily works with the Trap and Skeet Shooting Program in Howard County. Ms. Guitar was instrumental in promoting and organizing 4-H Trap and Skeet Shooting throughout West Texas, including Borden, Ector, Midland, Upton, Reagan, Martin, Glasscock and Howard counties.

Her efforts led to a districtwide 4-H shooting sports contest which later became the West Texas Invitational Meet. This meet attracts more than 200 participants each year.

4-Hers she has recruited and trained in the country have become district and state winners. Guitar is frequently requested to address civic clubs and other groups about her work in the shooting sports program.

KRISTY MATHEWS
...Hockaday graduate

Kristy Mathews, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. James E. Mathews of Big Spring, graduated from the Hockaday School in Dallas, May 28.

Dressed in the traditional long white dress with picture hat garlanded with fresh flowers and carrying a basket of flowers, Miss Mathews participated in the school's 69th commencement ceremony.

While at Hockaday, Miss Mathews served on the newspaper staff, The Fourcast, and the Vespers committee and was manager for the basketball team. She also was a member of the swimming team and the lacrosse team.

Miss Mathews plans to major in communications at Southern Methodist University in Dallas this fall.

The Hockaday School is a college preparatory school for girls founded in 1913 by Ela Hockaday. More than 800 students are enrolled in preschool through twelfth grades including high school boarders from thirteen states and nine foreign countries.

WWI Barracks plans for convention

Plans were finalized for delegates' attendance at World War I State Department Convention when members of the World War I Barracks No. 1474 and its Ladies Auxiliary met at the Kentwood Center Saturday.

The convention will be held July 5-8 in Fort Worth. Delegates to attend are Marion Irland, state commander; Maxie Irland; C.D. Phillips, district commander; Eula Phillips; Virginia Younger, state chaplain; Virginia Bryant, state legislative chairman and national color bearer; Bernice Micallef, auxiliary president; Viola Younger, auxiliary guard; and Jennie Barber, auxiliary color guard.

Directives regarding preparation of reports were discussed. Several members participated in the Memorial Day services at Howard County Courthouse, May 31. Jim Baum spoke.

Cakes and coffee was served to hospitalized veterans at Veterans Administration Medical Center, May 24.

The next meeting will be held July 9.

Zena Clark feted at bridal shower

Zena Clark, bride-elect of Paul Bedwell, was honored with a miscellaneous bridal shower in the Fellowship Hall of East Fourth Street Baptist Church, May 14.

Hosting were Mmes. Francis Plowman, Marguerite Cooper, Lena Macomber, Dick Davis, Bertie Stocks, Edward Slate, Ben Hitt, Loy Anderson, W.F. Harrell, Reuben Hill, Jerry Oliphant, J.J. Willingham, H.D. Stewart

Jr., David Rhoton, M.L. Kirby and Jeanette Mansfield.

The hostesses presented the honoree with an electric toaster broiler and steam iron. They also presented peach and blue carnation corsages to her and her mother, Mrs. Hugh Clark.

Other special guests were Deana Clark, the honoree's sister, and Mrs. Chris Chavez, her future sister-in-law.

Guests were served from a table covered with a blue cloth and centered with an arrangement of peach and blue flowers in a silver bowl and peach-colored candles in crystal holders.

The couple will be married June 25 at East Fourth Street Baptist Church. The Rev. Bob Webb, pastor of First Baptist Church in Sterling City and cousin of the bride, will officiate.

Charter draped for Wilkerson

The charter was draped in memory of A.C. Wilkerson during the Tuesday meeting of Big Spring Rebekah Lodge No. 284.

Olean Melton, Mary Leek, Johnny Kemper and Lillian Rhyme assisted with the draping. Mrs. Melton won the gift.

Mrs. Melton celebrated her birthday with the group. Past Noble Club will meet June 27.

Dear Abby

Hostess's put-on upsets woman

DEAR ABBY: A woman friend (?) phoned and invited me to a wedding anniversary party for mutual friends. She said, "I'm having a money tree for the honorees, so make your check out to me. I will cash it and hang the money on the tree, and put your name on the card listing all the donors."

I agreed to send my check, although I thought the idea was in poor taste since the honorees were wealthy and had much more than I.

Then she said, "I'm sure you won't want to attend as the party is set up for couples only and you are a single woman, so just mail the check to me. Goodbye." Since I had already agreed to send a check, I meekly mailed it.

I later learned that several single men attended the party and had a good time. The honorees never acknowledged my gift, and since they're not the type to disregard a gift, I can only assume that my name was not put on the card.

I welcome your comments.

STUNG IN COLUMBIA, MO.
DEAR STUNG: Your "friend" could author a book on how to lose friends and alienate people. As any Monday-morning quarterback can tell you, when your friend said she was sure you wouldn't want to attend because the party was set up for couples and you were single, you should have told her you would either bring an escort or come alone and take your chances.

It's not too late to tell her that your gift has not been acknowledged, and knowing it is unlike the honorees to ignore a gift, you are writing them to ask if your name was on the card — or inadvertently omitted.

DEAR ABBY: When flying on a commercial plane, I find that it is a rare flight when an infant doesn't scream or cry for a good part of the trip. I am extremely sensitive to noises, and the constant cries of a baby upset me no end.

I pay a large sum of money to fly, while the infant who flies for free ruins my trip. I feel that this is an infringement on my rights.

What are your thoughts about having a section on planes for passengers with infants? Just as there is a "No Smoking" section, there can also be a "No Infant" section.

ALLERGIC TO CRYING BABIES
DEAR ALLERGIC: "No Smoking" sections on planes are not entirely smoke-free because smoke has a way of drifting.

A "No Infant" section would offer little relief from a screaming baby because sound (like smoke) also "travels." Given a choice, I'd opt for the crying baby and use earplugs or a headset.

Getting married? Whether you want a formal church wedding or a simple, "do-your-own-thing" ceremony, get Abby's booklet. Send $1 plus a long, self-addressed, stamped (37 cents) envelope to: Abby's Wedding Booklet, P.O. Box 38923, Hollywood, Calif. 90038.

AIDS victim shunned on talk show

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Moments before a live TV talk show intended to "demystify" AIDS, fearful technicians refused to hook a microphone to a victim of the incurable disease, forcing him to participate off-stage by telephone.

"I'm hurt and I'm a little frightened about being isolated," Paul Castro said after Tuesday's incident at KGO-TV. "I feel we're being shunned and put into a leper colony and kept away from the public."

AIDS — acquired immune deficiency syndrome — destroys the body's ability to fight infection and leaves victims prey to a variety of rare diseases. The mysterious disease predominantly afflicts homosexuals, drug abusers, Haitians and hemophiliacs, but has been found among heterosexuals.

Although AIDS is not believed to be spread by casual social contact, the studio incident was among several recently where people have been afraid to associate with victims for fear of catching the disease.

A Manhattan courtroom was cleared of spectators and uniformed court officers wore surgical masks Tuesday during a court appearance by a prison inmate diagnosed as having AIDS.

In San Francisco, AIDS sufferer Andrew Small said at a news conference Tuesday that when he appeared for jury duty in Municipal Court, other jurors wouldn't sit with him.

In Coronado, Calif., the fire department recently dropped a course on cardiopulmonary resuscitation because of fear AIDS would be transmitted from contact with a mannequin used for practice.

Two nurses who feared they would contract the syndrome refused last week to treat an AIDS patient and quit their jobs at a San Jose, Calif., hospital, rather than face disciplinary action.

Castro, a 31-year-old San Francisco resident, was scheduled to appear on "A.M. San Francisco" with a doctor who runs an AIDS clinic and the director of the AIDS and Kaposi's Sarcoma Foundation.

The program was part of a series on the disease diagnosed in more than 1,500 people since 1979, killing nearly 600 of them.

When one TV technician said she was afraid of catching the disease and threatened not to work if Castro stayed on the set, the TV crew refused to put a microphone on him or allow him on stage.

After discussion between management and crew members, Castro finally spoke about the disease from a telephone in a separate room.

Such reactions make life even tougher for AIDS victims, said AIDS foundation director Rick Crane, who witnessed the incident.

"He and others with AIDS are literally fighting for their lives and they don't need more stress," he said. "I understood what happened, but I couldn't condone it. We talked about the fears on the show."

"The whole purpose of the program was to demystify AIDS, to overcome the myths and fears people have about it," Crane said. "We wanted to tell people there was no fear of contagion, that all the evidence shows that it can only be transmitted by intimate sexual contact or blood transfusions."

Bob Woodruff, KGO program director, said he was "a little embarrassed" about Tuesday's incident but hoped it would result in greater public awareness about the disease.

Dr. Paul Volberding, coordinator of the AIDS clinic at San Francisco General Hospital, had said on the show there was no medical evidence that AIDS can be contracted by casual social contact, such as using a microphone or sitting on a stage.

Margaret Heckler, U.S. Health and Human Services secretary, told the nation's mayors Tuesday at their annual convention in Denver that study of AIDS has become a top federal priority. But the risk of the disease to the public should not be exaggerated, she said.

Astronauts train for launch

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — Astronaut Sally Ride and her four male colleagues are cramming in a few final hours of training before Saturday's launch of the seventh space shuttle mission.

Ms. Ride, commander Robert Crippen, pilot Rick Hauck and mission specialists John Fabian and Dr. Norman Thagard were to arrive at Cape Canaveral for the training late today, piloting three T-38 jets from the astronaut training base in Houston.

Ms. Ride is the first woman named to a U.S. space flight.

At the launch pad, crews were preparing to start the countdown at 3 a.m. EDT Thursday, aiming for liftoff of the shuttle Challenger at 7:33 a.m. Saturday for the six-day orbital flight. The count will begin when launch director Al O'Hara issues a formal "call to stations," which will summon more than 50 engineers and technicians to launch control center consoles.

O'Hara said the countdown for the mission has been cut in half — from nearly five days to slightly more than two — because of experience gained on the first six shuttle flights.

The T-38s will end their flights from Houston on a 3-mile-long concrete runway, the same strip on which the crew is to land Challenger at the end of its space mission on June 24. It will be the first shuttle flight to return to this swamp-surrounded runway which is just five miles from the launch pad.

Earlier missions have touched down on desert runways in either California or New Mexico and the ships had to be ferried back, each bolted atop a Boeing 747 jet.

Crippen, Hauck and Ms. Ride, who will serve as flight engineer on liftoff and landing, will make practice landings on the runway Thursday and Friday in a Gulfstream jet modified to handle like the shuttle on touchdown. During the mission, Ms.

Ride and Fabian are to launch two commercial communications satellites — for Canada and Indonesia — from Challenger's cargo bay. Later they will use the shuttle's 50-foot robot arm to deposit a third payload in a separate orbit and then retrieve it for return to Earth.

While the payload is floating free, Crippen and Hauck will practice maneuvering the spaceship to meet it, rehearsing for a flight next year when another shuttle crew, also captained by Crippen, is to repair a scientific satellite which failed in orbit three years ago.

Thagard, a medical doctor, was added to the crew in December to study motion sickness which has afflicted seven of the 16 astronauts who have flown on the shuttle.

Police seize 40 pounds of cocaine

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Police on Tuesday seized 40 pounds of nearly pure cocaine worth more than $9 million and arrested a Colombian for investigation of possessing the drug for sale, culminating a year-long probe of a smuggling ring, detectives said.

Leonardo Gomez, 23, was arrested after he left a downtown motel carrying a suitcase allegedly containing the cocaine, Detective Bob Pollock said.

Pollock estimated the drug's street value at $9.1 million.

Detectives from the sheriff's office had joined Los Angeles police and officials of the federal Customs Service and Drug Enforcement Agency in the investigation, Pollock said.

Seizures of kilos of cocaine — 2.2 pounds — have become fairly routine in Los Angeles, but 40 pounds is an unusually large amount, said Detective Stan Fea.

SCANS TANK — A technician uses an infrared scanner Tuesday at Kennedy Space Center, Fla., where he created a map of temperature readings on the external tank, center top, of the space shuttle Challenger's launch vehicle. The procedure will be repeated on Saturday when the shuttle is scheduled to be launched.

Shuttle to carry wings of dead flight student

CORPUS CHRISTI (AP) — The space shuttle Challenger will carry into orbit a set of shiny, gold Navy pilot's wings awarded posthumously to a flier who wanted to be an astronaut and become the first woman on the moon.

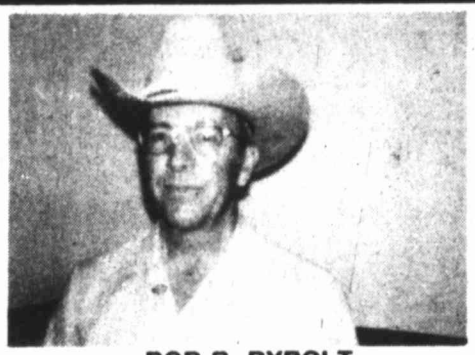

Ensign Cary P. Jones and five other people were killed last summer in the collision of two T-44A training planes over the Corpus Christi Naval Air Station.

On Saturday, when Challenger lifts off from Cape Canaveral, Fla., Sally Ride, America's first female astronaut, will be among the crew of five.

And along with a cargo of expensive communications satellites and scientific instruments will be the pilot's wings that one day would have belonged to Miss Jones.

Mission commander Capt. Robert Crippen agreed to carry the wings aboard the flight after a friend of the Jones family, who was working with the astronauts, mentioned it.

The Navy awarded Miss Jones her pilot's wings posthumously. Crippen will carry them along with his personal effects, a NASA spokesman said.

'Atomic veterans' sought by widow

BURLINGTON, Iowa (AP) — When Orville Kelly died of cancer in 1980, he left behind a widow, two children and a struggling group that represents "atomic veterans" — the 220,000 servicemen exposed to radiation during U.S. atomic testing.

Today Kelly's widow, Wanda, leads a drive to find those servicemen. From a cramped office in the basement of her home, she tracks down atomic veterans and their children.

"This is our national headquarters," said Mrs. Kelly as she sidestepped files filled with names and medical histories of servicemen who participated in atomic tests in Nevada and the Pacific between 1945 and 1962.

"What we're doing is looking for clusters of illnesses," said Mrs. Kelly, who now runs the National Association of Atomic Veterans. "Like men who served on one ship who are all dying of a certain illness."

The task hasn't been easy. The Veterans Administration has denied most of the disability claims of atomic veterans, and many veterans refuse to believe illnesses and birth defects might have been caused by their military service.

"The VA says these guys did not receive enough radiation to even worry about," said Mrs. Kelly, who cites an NAAV survey that found abnormally high incidences of cancer and other illnesses in a group of 700 veterans.

Mrs. Kelly said many veterans who suffer illnesses later in life fail to connect them with their military service. In addition, miscarriages and birth defects are difficult to trace to radiation exposure.

But unless a large number of atomic veterans can be surveyed, effects of the atomic testing program may never be known, Mrs. Kelly said. "We need to hear from all of them in order to put the whole story together."

Some social wasps in tropical countries build huge nests. One kind, often builds a home six feet long.

Triplets to be together again

BERKELEY, Calif. (AP) — Orphaned triplets who were separated as infants 57 years ago have rediscovered each other in what one of the identical brothers calls a miracle.

"The coincidence of three people being brought together out of 230-plus million people is absolutely astronomical," said one of the triplets, John Jones, on Monday. "It can't just happen by chance."

Jones, a campus police lieutenant for the University of California at Berkeley, said he had known no family until recently. Now he has two identical brothers and seven nieces and nephews.

"It's been a merry-go-round," he said. "I've never seen such phone bills ... After 57 years for each us, that's 171 years of living we've got to catch up on." Jones and his two brothers, James Hahn and John Burch, were born in Springfield, Mo., and were turned over to a children's home near St. Louis where they were adopted by separate families. Jones and Hahn grew up within 35 miles of each other.

Hahn is now in Missouri and Burch in Arkansas. The three haven't gotten together yet, but they've talked on the phone a lot.

Jones said he learned of his brothers a month ago. He received a call from the Missouri Children's Home Society, after Burch asked the agency to find a possible third brother. But the news had to wait for legal clearance, including the signed release from Jones' 85-year-old foster mother, the only surviving foster parent.

Hahn, a state highway department inspector in Cape Girardeau, Mo., and Burch, a retired lumber company employee in Warren, Ark., met over the Memorial Day weekend.

MAKESHIFT SWING — Eight-year-old Josh Jones of Leavenworth, Kan., finds out that hard way that determination and patience don't always pay off, as he winds up in a less than desirable position on his makeshift swing.

Sperm tests show no damage

BATON ROUGE, La. (AP) — No evidence of reproductive damage was found in sperm samples taken from workers at an Exxon refinery here, where an earlier study indicated an increased risk of miscarriage among some workers' wives, health officials say.

Dr. Michael Rosenberg said Tuesday the study he conducted for the National Institute of Occupational Safety and Health found no evidence of significantly reduced sperm cell production or increased cell abnormality.

The federal agency undertook the test after a private study prepared for Exxon indicated that wives of some workers in the refinery's wastewater treatment plant had miscarriages or stillbirths eight times more often than normal.

Rosenberg said sperm samples from 42 wastewater plant workers were compared to those of 74 other refinery workers and administrators who worked away from the plant.

He said the wastewater plant workers had an average sperm cell count of 68 million, compared to 80 million for other workers. Rosenberg called the decreased count statistically insignificant.

Wastewater plant workers had an average of 44 percent abnormally shaped cells, compared to 49 percent among the other workers.

Rosenberg said both test results indicated no significant reproductive damage. "I don't think there is a pressing need for any further study," he said.

Rosenberg met earlier Tuesday with refinery union leaders to go over his results.

"I think people generally accepted the results of the study," he said.

Exxon executives released a statement saying the company is "gratified" by the results.

Rosenberg cautioned, however, that his findings do not necessarily contradict those of the earlier study. He said it could be that the wastewater plant workers suffered temporary reproductive damage from some condition that was no longer present at the site.

Rosenberg and the Exxon statement said engineering and safety improvements have been made at the plant since the first study.

That research was conducted by Dr. Robert W.

Morgan of Environmental Health Associates Inc., of Berkeley, Calif.

Morgan complained after his results were made public last year that Exxon had refused to pay him to compare the history of wastewater plant workers' wives with an independent control group.

He said at the time that his findings indicated only a need for further study.

The 42 wastewater plant workers participating in the study comprised 60 percent of that unit's workforce, Rosenberg said.

He said that was enough participation to give credibility to the test results.

Thursday Notes

Here are some Notes that will have to last a couple of weeks. I begin my vacation tomorrow and unless I phone in some Notes from the Texas coast, this space next week probably will be occupied by Will Grimsley.

*****
The first Notes I come across are from the world of golf.

First of all, to the Herald Hole-In-One Scrapbook, we add the name of Joe Shuler. This Big Spring golfer recorded an ace June 5 on the 135-yard, par 3 No. 6 at Comanche Trails. He used an 8-iron with Lark Leazar and Paul Bradley watching.

Secondly, two local golfers are playing in the Texas State Amateur today in Abilene.

Dan Wilkins, a 3-time Country Club champ, and John Basden, all-District 4-5A golfer two years ago, are among an elite field battling for top golfing honors in Texas. They'll have stiff competition in the form of Scott Verplank who won this tournament last year before moving on to Oklahoma State. All he did there was finish second to Jim Carter of Arizona State for the NCAA individual title.

Also playing are Kyle Coody, son of pro Charles Coody and Class 5-A runner-up medalist this year for the Cooper Cougars, and John Slaughter, another former Cougar golfer who has gained all-American status at the University of Houston.

On to softball, fast-pitch variety... Cotton's Chippers finished second in a big-time tournament recently in Carlsbad, N.M. The Chippers lost 7-4 to the hometown favorite Potashers in the championship game. The Big Spring team outthit the Potashers 11-9 but lost to a team that remains undefeated with 22-0 record.

To make the finals, the Chippers down the Ducks 6-5 as Johnny Mize knocked in Paul Spence with the winning run in the bottom of the seventh inning. The Ducks, you may remember, won the 7th Annual Cotton Mize tourney at Johnny Stone a few weeks ago. Spence, the Chippers' center-fielder, was the leading hitter in the tourney, batting at a .705 clip.

*****
A running Note.

Robert Fuller, part-time city councilman and full-time runner, ran a personal best of 42:00.0 at the Run in the Sun recently in San Angelo. Winning the 8-kilometer event was Steve Stallings of Stanton, the same guy who breezed to a win in the Spring Run. Coahoma's Donald Webb won the 50 and over division while Sherill Easterling was the women's 30-40 champ.

*****
Now we roll on to bowling.

Big Spring bowling czarress Joycece Davis is extremely proud of five junior bowlers who took second place in the West Texas Regional Championships held last weekend in El Paso.

Over 200 junior-senior teams were competing for the two berths at the state tournament. The local fivesome was led by Diane Arnold and Butch Crawford, both of whom rolled 180 averages. The remainder of the team is made up of Brad Thomas, Mark Sanders and Ernie Crawford.

Davis says this is the third straight year Big Spring will be presented at the state tournament which is scheduled for mid-July in Houston.

BIG SPRING BOWLING FIVESOME

*****
Finally, a whopper of a fish story. Kenneth Orr pulled in a 48-pound king mackerel at Port Mansfield on the Texas Coast. According to reports from the scene, it took Orr two hours to land his big catch. A 48-pound fish has to be near some sort of record, unless we're talking whales and they're mammals. All I can say is, "Holy Mackerel!" — GREG JAKLEWICZ

The challenge of Oakmont

U.S. Open Revisited

Nicklaus shines at '62 Open

By WILL GRIMSLEY
AP Special Correspondent

OAKMONT, Pa. (AP) — Oakmont revisited — 21 years later.

Who can forget the June of 1962 when the pendulum of bigtime tournament golf swung from the fabled, charismatic Charger to the dour, workmanlike fat kid from Ohio?

"I let the Bear out of the cage," Arnold Palmer was to remark later in reviewing his playoff defeat at the hands of the bulbous, 22-year-old rookie, Jack Nicklaus, in the 62nd U. S. Open Golf Championship.

"If I had been able to beat that strong, young dude in that tournament, I might have held him off for another five years. But Jack gained such confidence and momentum there was no stopping him after that."

It is now two decades plus a year later and this storied old course still lies here tucked in the side of a mountain outside Pittsburgh — hardly a blade of grass changed.

Arnie and Jack are back, too, but the same can't be said of them.

Arnie is 53, his hair a silvery sheen, his oldtime ability to struggle a golf ball pulled by the years but still, not-brown and lean, a magnetic, macho personality.

Nicklaus is no longer the kid whose Ohio State teammates called "Blobber," "Whaleman" and "Baby Dumpling."

He shed some 20 pounds, let his gold-colored hair grow to a fashionable length and turned into a Hollywood matinee idol type while amassing the greatest collection of major championships — 19 — in the history of the game.

The "Golden Bear" became the "Golden Boy," one of the most popular personalities in all sports. But at 42, without a tour victory in a year, he is looking over

...Arnold Palmer loses in '62 playoff

This adulation was multiplied in this mine and steel area where Arnie grew up, married and raised his family in Latrobe, Pa., a stone's throw from the course. Arnie played his round and drove home for dinner. Oakmont galleries were understandably standing over a putt seemingly an eternity before moving the club.

As Palmer and Nicklaus toured the course in the playoff, the crowd kept up constant abuse against the young challenger.

"Miss it, Fat Boy!" they'd yell when he prepared to putt.

"Go get him, Arnie!" "Get lost, Fats!"

Several times Palmer raised his arm and asked the crowd to behave.

"I appreciated the crowd being for me," Palmer said. "But I didn't want them to be unfair to Jack."

The crowd cheered every Palmer shot, booed when Nicklaus uncorked one of his gargantuan drives.

"You must remember I was 22 years old and knew I had come close to winning the Open the last two years. I wasn't awed or nervous. I just tried to keep my mind on what I had to do."

Palmer felt he should have won the tournament in regulation, missing birdie putts on the last three holes.

"Jack beat me on the greens," Arnie said. "I had 10 one-putt greens. He had one. I gave him 12 strokes on the greens."

"If I had been able to beat that strong, young dude in that tournament, I might have held him off for another five years."

Arnold Palmer

amateur, Nicklaus had finished second to Palmer in the U. S. Open at Denver in 1960 and won the NCAA and his second U. S. Amateur title in 1961 before turning pro. As a brash, raw rookie, he now was daring to challenge the great Palmer in his own backyard before all his neighbors and friends.

Palmer was at the height of his game, already winner of three Masters, the British and U. S. Opens. He was a national idol. People stayed close to their TV sets on weekends to watch him stage one of his patented miracle finishes.

hostile to Nicklaus. To them, he was a brash young outsider who threatened their hometown hero.

Palmer and Nicklaus ultimately tied for the championship at 283, forcing a playoff. Big Jack won the playoff, 71 to 74, suffering some of the grossest indignities ever heaped on a competitor.

A chubby kid with a crew haircut and a baby face, looking like a young Boog Powell, Nicklaus lacked Arnie's flair. Appearing grim at times because of intense concentration, he was a slow, methodical player, often

NBA lauds Malone, Cummings

NEW YORK (AP) Terry Cummings' acceptance speech for the National Basketball Association's rookie of the year award sounded like he was campaigning for next season's comeback player of the year.

"I want everyone to know I'll come back next season and will do my best to live up to this award," Cummings said after receiving his rookie of the year trophy Wednesday.

Cummings already had established his strong rookie-of-the-year credentials for the Clippers — 23.7 points and 10.6 rebounds per game — when heartbeat irregularities were discovered early in April. The San Diego forward missed the last two weeks of the regular season and there were whispers that his career might be over.

"I'll definitely be back," Cummings said. "Some of the doctors say I might be at only 90 percent (effectiveness), but I believe I can play to my full potential."

Cummings said doctors aren't sure what caused his heart problems, and his treatment, for now, consists of a special diet.

"I'll be a little smarter now and eat more fruits and vegetables and broiled foods," Cummings said.

He said the shock of finding out he had a heart problem was "like buying a brand new car and finding out it doesn't work. It was frustrating because I never had problems with my body before."

Philadelphia's Moses Malone, in a near-unanimous vote, was named the NBA's 1982-83 Most Valuable Player for the third time at the same awards luncheon.

Malone, who was first in the NBA in rebounding with 15.3 per game and was fifth in scoring with an average of 24.5, also was the MVP of the NBA championship series, during which the 76ers swept Los Angeles in four games.

The last player to win both the regular-season and championship series MVP was Kareem Abdul-Jabbar, who was known as Lew Alcindor when he did it in 1971 for the Milwaukee Bucks.

Malone, who also won the NBA's

MVP award in 1978-79 and 1981-82, received 69 first-place votes from a nationwide panel of 75 media members. Julius Erving of Philadelphia had three first-place votes, Earvin "Magic" Johnson of Los Angeles two and Larry Bird one.

Bird, however, was second in the voting based on a 10-7-5-3-1 system for first through fifth-place ballots.

Other honors announced were coach of the year Don Nelson of Milwaukee, comeback player of the year Paul Westphal of New York, defensive player of the year Sidney Moncrief of Milwaukee and the "Sixth Man" award-winner, Bobby Jones of Philadelphia.

Cummings easily outpolled Clark Kellogg of Indiana and James Worthy of Los Angeles. The San Diego forward had 60 first-place votes to 11 for Kellogg and three for Worthy.

Moncrief edged Wayne "Tree" Rollins of Atlanta for defensive player of the year, while Jones averaged 9.0 points and 4.6 rebounds off the 76ers' bench for the inaugural "Sixth Man Award."

Navratilova makes Eastbourne semis

EASTBOURNE, England (AP) — Martina Navratilova overcame the challenge of Britain's Jo Durie and a partisan home crowd to move into the semifinals of the $150,000 BMW women's grass court tennis championships today.

The world No. 1, the top seed here and at Wimbledon next week, won 6-2, 6-1 in 83 minutes and has now dropped only 10 games in four matches in her build-up for the big event starting Monday. Several games went to deuce but Navratilova won almost all the big points. In the fifth game of the second set, Durie hit four blistering service returns but still lost the game.

She broke Navratilova's serve twice but was under constant pressure to get her own first serve in as the top seed rushed to the net at every opportunity.

Joining Navratilova in Friday's semifinals were Tracy Austin, Zina Garrison and the winner of today's match between Andrea Jaeger and Wendy Turnbull.

Earlier, Garrison, playing inspired, spectacular tennis, swept into the semifinals with a convincing 6-3, 6-2 victory over the world's sixth-ranked player, Bettina Bunge of West Germany.

Golfers face slick greens, tall rough

OAKMONT, Pa. (AP) — Jack Nicklaus and Seve Ballesteros are in agreement on at least one point: For the most part, the driver stays in the bag during the 83rd U.S. Open Golf Championship which began today. The rough is so deep, so severe, if a player challenges it with the driver "he's out of his tree," Nicklaus said.

John Hand, director of competitions for the sponsoring USGA, said "the only word to describe it is 'penal'."

Ballesteros, the young Spaniard who won the Masters and established himself as a solid favorite here when he won the Westchester Classic last Sunday, said he used a one-iron off the tee 11 times and the driver only on the three par-5 holes on treacherous Oakmont during his final practice round Wednesday.

"You don't hit the driver very often," agreed Nicklaus, who will be seeking the record fifth American national championship that was denied him by Tom Watson's dramatic chip-in a year ago at Pebble Beach.

But, in taking the driver out of the hands of the players, "they've taken an awful lot of the gamble out of the golf course," Nicklaus said.

"They've forced you to play safe. As a result, the scores are going to be lower. If the gamble was left in, the scores would be higher."

Ballesteros predicted the scores will be high enough in any event.

"The fairways are very narrow. There is too much rough. The greens are fast, very fast. You cannot chip. The scores will be high. Maybe two over (par) will win," he said.

Ballesteros, 26, now the winner of two Masters and a British Open crown, said "my confidence is very, very high," coming into today's first round.

He noted, however, "this tournament has not been any good to me." He once was disqualified for missing his starting times and failed to qualify for the final two rounds on another occasion.

"Seve is a very good player," agreed Nicklaus, at age 43 seeking still another addition to the record 19 major titles he's collected in an unmatched career.

"But he hasn't yet proved he can win on an Open course."

Among those most likely to succeed on the rolling hills of western Pennsylvania are PGA champion Ray Floyd; two-time Open winner Hale Irwin; Lanny Wadkins, the Tour's leading money-winner; former Open champion David Graham; Australian Greg Norman; recent winners Ben Crenshaw and Tom Kite; Andy Bean; Craig Stadler, and Cal Peete, the most accurate player in the game.

A purse of $500,000 is up for grabs, with $72,000 to the winner.

ABC will provide national television coverage of portions of the final two rounds Saturday and Sunday. ESPN will televise the first two rounds Thursday and Friday.

State Amateur begins

ABILENE, Texas (AP) — Defending champion Scott Verplank wants to be the first man to win back-to-back Texas Amateur Golf Tournament titles in more than four decades, but he says the tournament's toughest field stands between him and his goal.

"People were saying that last year was the best field ever," said Verplank. "Judging by the players I know who are in it, I think it's tougher this year."

Verplank, an 18-year-old Oklahoma State freshman from Dallas, is one of the favorites to win the 72-hole tournament at the 7,077-yard, par 72 Fairway Oaks Golf & Racquet Club course here.

The field includes Big Spring golfers Dan Wilkins and John Basden.

Verplank won the tournament last year in Lufkin with a total of 287, and he finished second in a playoff with Jim Carter of Arizona State in the NCAA golf tournament last week in Fresno, Calif.

Taste is all it takes to switch to Jim Beam.

Mariners cool off streaking Texas

ARLINGTON, Texas (AP) — Al Cowens was desperate.

He was hitting a paltry .186 with only one game-winning RBI when he faced Texas Ranger ace reliever Odell Jones Wednesday night with the Seattle Mariners trailing 4-3 in the top of the ninth inning.

There were two on, two out, and Cowens had a 2-2 count.

"I had tried everything to break my slump and I would have stood on my head at the plate if you had guaranteed me a hit," Cowens said.

Cowens didn't have to go that far as he lined a triple into right centerfield that gave the Mariners the tying and go-ahead runs in a 6-4 victory that snapped the Rangers' five-game hitting streak.

Jones fell to a 2-3 record.

Cowens' triple scored Domingo Ramos and Steve Henderson who had singled and John Moses scored Cowens with a single.

American League

Yankees 8, Indians 5

Shane Rawley didn't feel all that well — but he was better than the batters he faced.

Rawley, fighting a fever, struggled to a nine-hitter as the New York Yankees snapped a four-game losing streak by beating the Indians.

"I had a pretty high fever last night, a sore throat, and I ached all over," Rawley said. "I was just a little weak, and it affected my velocity just a little." He walked five batters and struck out only two.

White Sox 5, Angels 2

LaMarr Hoyt seemingly didn't mind getting lifted by Chicago Manager Tony La Russa after seven innings, during which he fanned four batters and walked one.

Evans' 3 homers blast Astros, 7-1

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Darrell Evans stayed up to watch his own version of the late show — then put on a show all by himself against the Houston Astros.

"This is incredible. I've never done anything like this before," said Evans after his three home runs and six RBI powered the San Francisco Giants to a 7-1 victory over the Astros Wednesday.

Perhaps Evans wouldn't have been as successful had he not stayed up late to do his homework. Hitless in 17 previous trips against the Astros, Evans studied video tapes of himself for a couple of hours after Tuesday night's 12-inning, 3-2 loss to the Astros. He said he paid particular attention to his hands and feet and made some adjustments.

"I can hardly wait to get up to the plate when I'm hitting like this," said the 13-year veteran after boosting his home run total to a National League-tying 18 and RBI to 44. He also is hitting .315 and has a slugging average of .653.

National League

Braves 3, Dodgers 2

Jerry Royster tied the game with a run-producing infield single, then Dale Murphy's sacrifice fly provided the deciding run as Atlanta rallied for two runs in the ninth to beat Los Angeles.

With the bases loaded, Royster bounced a hard grounder off the foot of reliever Dave Stewart, 5-2, to tie the score. Murphy then followed with his game-winning sacrifice fly.

Expos 7, Pirates 4

Andre Dawson drove in four runs, two during a four-run fifth inning, and belted a homer as Montreal rallied to defeat Pittsburgh.

Padres 5, Reds 1

Ed Whitson pitched a three-hitter and helped himself with a two-run single as San Diego defeated Cincinnati. Whitson, 1-4, making his fourth start since coming off the disabled list May 20, struck out five and walked one.

Tigers 6, Royals 2

Scott Uliger and Frank Viola teamed their talents for the Twins to turn back Kansas City.

Uliger, replacing injured Kent Hrbek at first base, drilled three hits — two doubles and a single — to match his previous total big-league output and Viola scattered eight Royals hits.

Orioles 11, Brewers 8

Baltimore, riding five runs batted in by Cal Ripken Jr., rallied from a seven-run deficit after six innings and beat Milwaukee on John Shelby's single that produced the Orioles' winning run in a four-run 10th inning.

"This might top them all," Brewers Manager Harvey Kuenn muttered. "It probably does, getting a 7-0 lead and losing in extra innings." Mark Brouhard hit a two-run homer for Milwaukee.

Cardinals 7, Phillies 6

David Green lashed a two-out RBI single in the eighth inning, capping a four-run rally that led St. Louis over Philadelphia in a game that saw Steve Carlton regain the all-time career strikeout mark.

The Cardinals' rally marred a seven-strikeout performance by Carlton, boosting his lifetime total to 3,542 — seven more than Nolan Ryan, with whom he had been tied. Both Carlton and Ryan earlier this year topped Walter Johnson's lifetime mark of 3,508.

Cubs 7, Mets 4

Jay Johnstone's bases-loaded, two-run single in the 10th led Chicago over New York. Mell Hall opened the inning with a single and moved to second on Ryne Sandberg's sacrifice which saw Mets' first baseman Rusty Staub charged with an error for missing the tag, and advanced to second on Bill Buckner's sacrifice.

Ron Cey was walked intentionally to load the bases and Johnstone delivered his two-run single off Scott Holman, the fifth of six pitchers used by the Mets. Holman, 1-5, was lifted in favor of Mike Torrez after walking Cubs winner Lee Smith, 2-4. Larry Bowa then greeted Torrez with an RBI single to make it 7-4.

Mariners 6, Rangers 4

Seattle's ace pitcher, Nolan Ryan, pitched a complete game, striking out 11 batters and walking one, to lead the Mariners to a 6-4 victory over the Rangers.

Twins 6, Royals 2

Scott Uliger and Frank Viola teamed their talents for the Twins to turn back Kansas City.

Baltimore, riding five runs batted in by Cal Ripken Jr., rallied from a seven-run deficit after six innings and beat Milwaukee on John Shelby's single that produced the Orioles' winning run in a four-run 10th inning.

Cardinals 7, Phillies 6

David Green lashed a two-out RBI single in the eighth inning, capping a four-run rally that led St. Louis over Philadelphia in a game that saw Steve Carlton regain the all-time career strikeout mark.

Cubs 7, Mets 4

Jay Johnstone's bases-loaded, two-run single in the 10th led Chicago over New York. Mell Hall opened the inning with a single and moved to second on Ryne Sandberg's sacrifice which saw Mets' first baseman Rusty Staub charged with an error for missing the tag, and advanced to second on Bill Buckner's sacrifice.

Braves 3, Dodgers 2

Jerry Royster tied the game with a run-producing infield single, then Dale Murphy's sacrifice fly provided the deciding run as Atlanta rallied for two runs in the ninth to beat Los Angeles.

Expos 7, Pirates 4

Andre Dawson drove in four runs, two during a four-run fifth inning, and belted a homer as Montreal rallied to defeat Pittsburgh.

Padres 5, Reds 1

Ed Whitson pitched a three-hitter and helped himself with a two-run single as San Diego defeated Cincinnati. Whitson, 1-4, making his fourth start since coming off the disabled list May 20, struck out five and walked one.

Your Daily HOROSCOPE

from the CARROLL RIGTER INSTITUTE

FORECAST FOR FRIDAY, JUNE 17, 1983

GENERAL TENDENCIES: Today will be a day in which changes in attitude are not in your best interest. Continue in the status quo. The evening is best used staying out of any ensuing controversies.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) You are inclined to be slipshod in your work now. Be more careful. Don't upbraid a co-worker who doesn't do what you want.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Keep working on your talent for desired results. Control that tendency to pick up and let go. Be happy tonight.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Clear up your domestic situation. Don't have any guests in today. Make sure you pay some pressing bills.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Be particularly careful in making out reports and in communications with others. Drive very carefully today.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Seek out financial expertise where your monetary affairs are concerned. Study your property to see what repairs are needed.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) You are upset about not gaining personal goals. Friends cheer you up. Learn how to budget more carefully.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Schedule your time wisely to accomplish a good deal in the outside world. Plan time to help one in dire straits.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) If you are too demanding in going after your wishes, others resent it. Steer clear of group affairs which result in arguments.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Others are apt to criticize unjustly today. Make sure your credit is good. Handle public work wisely.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) A new contact could suggest some new plan that is not right for you, so thank him and go about your own business.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Don't run away from your job in favor of new ventures. Be understanding with a co-worker. Use kindness at home.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Take care in communicating with a loved one. Be sure to spell everything out. Be careful when signing contracts.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he or she will want everything in precise order. Teach to allow for human error and be more understanding of fellow human beings. There is ability for correct analysis, so be sure to give a fine education. Stress religion.

20 ways to help hold down your electric bill.

A checklist to help you save energy and money at home.

Energy Conservation Practices

The following low- or no-cost home conservation practices can help you save energy and money.

- Do not use air conditioning until absolutely necessary.
- Keep your thermostat set as high as possible. We recommend 80° in the summer. For added comfort, use ceiling or portable fans to circulate the air.
- Check your air conditioner filters each month to see if they need cleaning or changing. And make sure that the outside unit is free of grass, leaves and trash.
- When leaving home, turn off air conditioning. If away for two days or more, turn off water heater.
- If you use an automatic dishwasher, set water heater to 140°; otherwise, set temperature to 120° or lower.
- Use scrap insulation to plug air leaks from attic and around window air conditioners.
- Repair water leaks in pipes and faucets, and seal air duct leaks.
- Use drapes, blinds, shades, awnings or plants to block sunlight.
- Try to minimize traffic through outside doors.
- Economize in the kitchen. Plan meals so several dishes can be cooked in the oven at the same time.
- Save when you do laundry. Wash and dry only full loads of clothes.

Energy Conservation Measures

These home installations and modifications require an investment, but may return their cost to you in the form of savings on utility bills.

- Caulk and weatherstrip around doors and windows to reduce air leaks.
- Add insulation to ceilings, walls and floors.
- Insulate ducts, especially in the attic.
- Insulate hot water pipes in attic.
- Install insulation blankets on water heaters, especially in garage or basement.
- Investigate cost-effectiveness of storm doors and windows.
- Add solar-reflecting materials to glass doors and windows on east/west exposures.
- As a convenience, install a clock thermostat to automatically set air conditioner and heating unit to desired temperature. Even when you're away from home, the clock thermostat can control your air conditioner for more economical operation.
- If your central air unit is more than five years old, you may want to consider replacing it with one that's more energy-efficient. We recommend new units with a Seasonal Energy Efficiency Rating (SEER) of at least 9. For information on how energy-efficient equipment can save you money, ask your dealer or call Texas Electric Service.

'Octopussy' another thrilling Bond flick

The latest James Bond caper, Octopussy, is rated PG and now showing at the Ritz Twin downtown.

"My name is Bond... James Bond."

With that introduction, need anything more really be said about this summer's latest work taken from the writings of Ian Fleming?

Oh all right, perhaps a few comments...

Roger Moore is back as Agent 007, and for some reason, the original idea of the globe-trotting British Secret Service agent thrills again even in this day and time of space age heroes.

How has the suave Bond survived? Two reasons.

The first is action. For 13 films, James Bond (played by either Moore or Sean Connery) has dazzled audiences with spectacular action. Producer Albert Broccoli spares no dollar in putting the imagination to work in his Bond capers. I'm sure CIA and KGB chiefs are in the audience somewhere taking notes on the gadgetry that Bond uses to stay one step ahead of his enemies.

The second reason is Bond's unflappable character. Whether he's fighting off the bad guys on skis in the Alps, battling villains in space or tiptoeing across hungry alligators in the Caribbean, Bond saves the day time and again with quick-thinking.

Add beautiful co-stars such as Maude Adams, playing the mysterious Octopussy, Barbara Bach, Barbara Carrera or other lovelies and action fans have movies that remain distinguishable among a flood of imitators in the hero-adventure category.

Octopussy is an overly complicated film, with alliances, cross-alliances, semi-alliances and sometimes-alliances making things confusing. But who cares? It's Bond and action the audience wants, and Bond and action is what the audience gets.

Agent 007 does his usual bit of traveling, beginning in Cuba and stopping off in Britain, Germany and India before the final credits roll. The plot appears to be simple: jewelry is being smuggled out of Russia for sale in the free world. Bond — and the audience — quickly figure out that there's more at stake than sneaking egg-shaped jewels from the USSR. It's a typical Bond flick in that you can laugh at the same moment you're watching a bad guy get done in. The highlight of the movie comes when Bond wards off Indian attackers along a crowded Deli side street. With the help of a sword-swallower, man dozing on a bed of nails and a snake charmer, Bond and his companion (played by Indian tennis star Vijay Amritraj) get away. The audience oohs and aahs the whole time as Bond uses his quick-thinking to outwit his attackers.

Of course, Bond is human and he needs a little luck. He gets shot once...but the wad of money he's just won at the backgammon boards (stuck conveniently in his left shirt pocket) stops the bullet. Sometimes the movie-makers get a little carried away...

Another characteristic of Bond is his dry wit. A few of his lines in Octopussy are pretty worn (he tells a snake to "hiss off") but you can grin and bear most of them nonetheless.

Of course there are tons and tons of women and most would give their left earring for a personal encounter with Bond.

Another trademark is theme songs, almost as famous as past films like Goldfinger. Sheena Easton took "For Your Eyes Only" to No. 1 while Paul McCartney did well with "Live and Let Die" and Carly Simon the same with "The Spy Who Loved Me." Rita Coolidge is the guest artist this time out, singing the title song "All Time High."

Octopussy continues in the Bond tradition of PG ratings. As always, there is innuendo and plenty of full-bodied beauties but it's all lost in the shuffle of adventure. If summer is the time for escape movies, then Bond will take you, pardon me, on an all-time high.

'Star Wars' director plans to divorce wife

SAN RAFAEL, Calif. (AP) — Director George Lucas, whose "Star Wars" extravaganzas have made him one of the most successful filmmakers in movie history, is getting divorced from his wife of 15 years, a source at Lucasfilm reported today.

Lucas and his wife, Marcia, a film editor who edited "Star Wars" and the movie, "Taxi Driver," assembled the staff at Skywalker Ranch, Lucas' filmmaking compound north of San Francisco, to make the announcement Monday.

The couple held hands as they told employees their marriage was ending.

The source, who asked not to be identified, said Lucas, 39, would get custody of the couple's adopted daughter, Amanda, and that Mrs. Lucas would move to Los Angeles.

The announcement came less than a month after the third part of the "Star Wars" trilogy, "Return of the Jedi," opened across the country to rave reviews and the best financial start of the three "Star Wars" blockbusters.

The Lucas' were married in 1968, two years before the University of Southern California film graduate made his first movie and five years before the release of "American Graffiti" won him international recognition.

In an interview with the Chicago Tribune last month, Lucas said he planned to take off two years because, "I've got a family now and really want to focus on my family."

"I've got a daughter now and she's growing up around me and she's not going to wait... I don't want her to grow up to be 18 and have her say, 'Hey, Dad, where have you been all my life?' She's 2 already, and I've missed things."

Singers Peter, Paul, and Mary perform 'oldies' in Jerusalem

JERUSALEM (AP) — Peter, Paul and Mary sang some of their "golden oldies" and about 10,000 fans joined in at the foot of the walls of old Jerusalem.

Performing under an acoustic shell in a valley alongside Mt. Zion, the folk trio filled the warm summer air Tuesday night with such old favorites as "Blowing in the Wind" and "If I Had a Hammer."

Members of the audience, many holding candles, called for three encores.
