New gas treatment plant put 'on hold'

By MIKE DOWNEY Staff Writer

Construction of an amine gas treating plant near Big Spring has been put "on hold," according to Hunt Oil Co. officials in Dallas.

The natural gas plant, which will emit certain air contaminants, had just received a construction permit from the Texas Air Control Board in Austin when the company said its building plans would be delayed. It is planned for a site 4.5 miles southwest of town.

Welch Wright of Hunt Oil's public affairs office in Dallas said Friday the company has dropped plans to construct the plant at this time.

"The entire project is on hold," Mrs. Wright said. "We're mainly awaiting developments in the field."

The spokeswoman said approval by the TACB did not mean the comby the TACB did not mean the company would immediately begin construction.

TACB Engineer John Haagensen in Odessa said the plant had been approved July 5. Public notices in April allowed persons who objected to the plant to notify the Austin board by May 23, he said.

Only two letters were received in opposition to the plant, Haagensen said. He said the board cannot legally deny a permit due to the location of a plant.

"Amine gas treating plants have significant emissions of sulfur diox-significant emissions of sulfur dioxide," Haagensen said. "The plant knocks out liquids in the natural gas to ready it for processing."

Other emissions from the burning other emissions from the burning process include hydrogen sulfide and oxides of nitrogen — all of which can have an odor and some health hazard, Haagensen said.

Once a company proves it can build its plant using BACT (best available control technology) to meet the state's ground level standards, the construction permit is issued, Haagensen said.

The next step for the air control board comes 60 days after construction begins, Haagensen said. In this case, Hunt Oil would submit a request for an operating permit and an investigation would follow by the Odessa air control board, the

The Good old days

During a rodeo several years ago, when Modesta Stokes was a teenager, the cowboys matched races out behind the shoots.

Mrs. Stokes, on a mare named Sis, won the first race. After it was over, the men figured she could out race another horse, so they sat up a second race.

In the meantime, Mrs. Stokes' father, Tom Good, found out about the horse races. He laid the law down, ending Mrs. Stokes racing career before she had a chance to race in the second race.

Tom Good was president of the rodeo association from 1933-1961.

Ecuador air crash kills 119

QUITO, Ecuador (AP) — An Ecuadorean jetliner slammed into a mountain and burst into flames as it was about to land in the Andean city of Cuenca today, killing all 119 people aboard, aviation officials said.

They said the Boeing 737 operated by Ecuador's TAME airline carried 112 passengers, including a baby, and seven crew members. Most of the people aboard were Ecuadorans.

Cuenca is 270 miles south of Quito, where the flight originated.

A Cuenca radio station said there was an explosion aboard the plane before the 7:37 a.m. crash.

Ecuador's civil aviation director, Gen. Eduardo Duran, said he did not rule out the possibility of sabotage. Duran did not elaborate.

Duran said the jetliner was the newest belonging to TAME — Military Air Transport of Ecuador — which carries both military and civilian passengers as well as cargo.

Rescue workers said bodies were scattered over a 500-yard radius and that identification would be difficult because they were so badly burned.

People leave behind the strangest things

Just what do people make copies of in Big Spring ... and leave behind in the copying machine?

A sample of items left in the Howard County library copier reveals a diverse lot: a Lubbock Urology Association bill, a Mary Kay Cosmetics booster sheet, a Nashville Banner letterhead, a patio cover instructions booklet, a coloring book page and two canceled checks.

Martha Vierra of the library staff said people have left family pictures, birth certificates, diplomas, even divorce papers and an entire book in the duplicator.

Head Librarian Judith Gray said the staff tries to contact the person if possible, but usually is unable to find the person.

Why do people leave documents and other items important enough to copy behind in the copying machine?

"Most of them are so excited about having a copy, they run off and forget the original," Ms. Vierra said.

Council to discuss who gets air hangar

Big Spring city councilmen Tuesday will consider selecting one of two fixed base operators — firms which provide aircraft service — for space at the Big Spring Airpark.

Q. What do I have to do to keep a large snake in the city?

A. A permit from the city is needed. According to Big Spring City posted before a permit would be issued. Dogs, wild animals and other creatures that are considered vicious and dangerous to humans come under this ordinance, he said.

AMARILLO, Texas (AP) — Quadruplet boys are in the neo-natal intensive care unit and doing "as well as could be expected," officials at Northwest Texas Hospital say.

The mother had taken "the lowest dosage of fertility pills," and took them only once, said the attending obstetrician, Dr. Daniel Schwartz, who said he felt there was no relation between the fertility pills and the multiple births.

The tiny boys weighed 2 pounds, 12 ounces; 2 pounds, 2 ounces; 2 pounds, 6 ounces; and 2 pounds at their birth 6:15 p.m. Sunday, hospital officials said. They are believed the only quadruplets ever born in

The infants, delivered by Caesarian section, are believed to be two sets of identical twins, Schwartz

The quadruplets are the first children for Randy and Jo Beth Hill of Amarillo, who Schwartz said had been trying to have children for several years. The parents declined to be interviewed immediately.

Chances of quadruplets being born are about 1 in 750,000 births, Schwartz said. Mrs. Hill's pregnancy was about 71/2 months along, the doctor added. The mother had been in the hospital the past three weeks. The Hills knew from the onset of the pregnancy that a multiple birth was imminent. By using a test that uses ultra-sonic waves, doctors determined last month that she was carrying quadruplets, Schwartz said. Mrs. Hill began having regular contractions Saturday night, but nurses gave her medication to stop the premature labor, officials said. About noon Sunday. she began having more frequent contractions, and it became obvious a delivery would be necessary within a few hours, Schwartz said.

Several doctors participated in the delivery, including some from the Texas Tech Health Sciences

Homemade bomb hurts 3 Baytown teen-agers

HOUSTON (AP) - A crude bomb that exploded and injured three Baytown teen-agers was made from gunpowder that they found "just lying around the house," a police officer says.

Davey Jones, 14, was in stable condition Sunday in Hermann Hospital's surgical intensive care unit, said hospital spokeswoman Sarah Sharpless. Jones, who lost his left hand and suffered other injuries, was flown by helicopter from Gulf Coast Hospital in Baytown to Houston after the explosion Saturday afternoon.

Clinton Brown, 13, suffered severe cuts and was in stable condition at Gulf Coast. A third teen-ager suffered minor injuries and was treated at the scene.

Baytown police Lt. Marshall Williams said the three boys made the explosive from gunpowder, cans and "They found all that stuff just lying around the house," Williams said.

'The father of one of the boys had used the gunpowder on a construction job in Colorado, and the kids just helped themselves to what was left over. It was sort of like leaving a loaded gun laying around, just asking for trouble. But this was worse," Williams said.
The trio filled a one-pound coffee can with gunpowder, put on a lid and lit the fuse, he said. But when they lit it, the fuse went a lot faster than ney expected and it blew up in their faces," he said. Jones and his 15-year-old friend were standing over: the bomb when it exploded, Williams said. The other teen-ager was standing several yards away, he said. The explosion shattered at least one window in the house, he said. Neighbor Lonnie Ogden said the sound was "deafening."

'It was a mean explosion," Williams said. "It blew the blue jeans clear off one of the boys.'

2 persons contract brucellosis

 $AUSTIN\ (AP)$  — Austin physicians say they have treated two people recently for brucellosis, apparently contracted by eating unpasteurized cheese. Brucellosis is a livestock disease that can be contracted by humans who handle infected cattle, swine or goats or who eat raw milk or dairy products. Dr. Peter Kangos said he has treated a 12-year-old girl who became ill with a high fever, lost 30 pounds and developed an inflamation of the brain after eating unpasteurized Mexican goat cheese. Kangos said she was hospitalized for nine weeks while receiving strong doses of antibiotics. He said the patient has improved but will have to be watched for numerous months. Dr. Barry Hafkin, an infectious disease specialist, said he is treating a 32-year-old woman who became ill after eating unpasteurized cheese. He said she suffered high fevers, chills and lacked energy. She is still under treatment

The Austin American-Statesman said in a story today that unpasteurized milk or dairy products are available in several Austin food stores. All are labelled Grade A, meaning the manufacturing dairy passed tests by the State Department of Health.

The state health department does not allow restaurants to serve food made with unpasteurized milk or dairy products.

was a "Wrong Way" Corrigan, there was a Plennie

Douglas Corrigan was the flyer who flew the wrong way on a trip from New York that took him to Dublin, Ireland, rather than California as planned. That was in July 1938.

Plennie L. Wingo is the man who walked backward through the United States and continental Europe on an 8,000-mile trip that began April 15, 1931, and ended Oct. 24, 1932, in Fort Worth.

Corrrigan was 31 and Wingo was 36 years old when each started his unprgcedented journey. Corrigan was met with a ticker tape parade in New York upon his return.

Wingo, now 88, returned "a millionaire plus four," which translated, he said, into "a million friends and four dollars in my pocket."

But Wingo gained world-wide publicity, and each time he has re-emerged to capture the public eye, he has drawn nationwide news coverage. Wingo is recorded by Ripley's Believe It or Not and Guinness World Book of Records and others, he said, and his figure is cast in wax in museums. Wingo, who has made Wichita Falls his home since 1978, recently celebrated the 52nd anniversary of his world walk backward. He and his wife are spending the summer touring Texas and promoting his new book, "Around the World Backwards." His decision to walk backward around the world. he said, was the upshot of a conversation he had with high school students attending a party his daughter gave at the Wingo home in Abilene in 1930.

One of the teen-aged boys was lamenting how hard it was to make a living unless a person could figure out some unusual stunt to do, "But he said everything had been done — Linberg had flown across the Atlantic in a plane by himself.

'There was the fellow that pushed a peanut up Pike's Peak with his nose. Every flagpole has a siton it. There was nothing left to do backward.'

And that's where it started, Wingo said. Fortified with only a letter from the chamber of commerce in Fort Worth, where had had walked backward to advertise the Southwestern Exposition and Fat Stock Show, Wingo set out on his trip.

He arranged for Greyhound bus lines to pick up and drop off his luggage on the way to Boston. Western Union, he said, agreed to "stamp my logs in and out of towns."

At Boston he got a job aboard a freighter and worked his way to Hamburg, Germany.
Wingo said he walked backward through eight countries in Continental Europe. But he had to stop at Instanbul, Turkey, "because I couldn't get a visa to go any farther. It was unwalkable territory. I decided then I would make my way back and walk from the West Coast back to Fort Worth and quit with the title of walking across the United States and Europe backward.'

He returned to New York, getting a job on a passenger ship from France, and was given a ride to Santa Monica, Calif.

He walked backward to Fort Worth 1,600 miles, he said. "I never had an accident on the road from traffic. I walked on the right side of highways, facing the traffic," he explained.

"Wingo made his living as a chef and cafe operator during the intervening years, and "helped to open three casino restaurants in Las Vegas." he

He made a Bicentennial walk from San Francisco to Santa Monica July 31 to Oct. 4, 1976, getting a big promotional boost with an appearance on the Johnny Carson show.

Wingo has participated in parades and centennial appearances since that time.

"I attribute my longevity," Wingo said, "to that valk around the world and what I have done since that time."

Wingo interjected that not everything had been

Lady Bird putting down 'burdens'

JOHNSON CITY, Texas (AP) — In the 10 years since his death, Lady Bird Johnson continued to live in the shadow of her husband. But now, at age 70, she says she is ready to lay down those "burdens" and begin a life of her own.

In a recent interview with the Dallas Times Herald, Mrs. Johnson said she was proud of Lyndon Johnson and ignores criticism of him, including recent biographies portraying him as a womanizing, powerhungry politician.

"I lived that life," she told the Times Herald. "I know that man. I don't have the need to see the secondhand story.

"The thing is, I have so much energy and so much life in me and so much ability, and I'm going to try to use it in constructive ways. And getting mad and raking someone over the coals for something I can't retract, why should I spend my hours doing that? I think it would be wasted," she said.

She travels extensively, to Africa, China, Mexico, the Cayman Islands, Martha's Vineyard. This year she plans to visit Portugal, Spain and Switzerland.

But her pet project is close to home — the Wildflower Research Center near Austin.

Sheriff's Log

Deputies receive bomb threat

Howard County sheriff's deputies arrested Francisco Arteaga, 20, of Coahoma for suspicion of criminal mischief and public intoxication. Arteaga posted bonds totaling $1,500 to be released after arraignment before Justice of the Peace Lewis Heflin.

• The sheriff's office received an unusual complaint from Betty Hamilton Sunday night — either they close the Country Lounge, a Highway 350 night spot, or she would blow it up.
Sheriff A.N. Standard said the matter was under investigation. Cyndi Bowman, 24, of Dallas remains in county jail after her arrest by sheriff's deputies for suspicion of felony theft. Heflin set bond at $5,000. • A 16-year-old female juvenile remains in county jail after her arrest by sheriff's deputies as a child in need of supervision. Sheriff's deputies arrested Dennis Ausbie, 18, of 113 W. Ninth for suspicion of theft over $20. Ausbie was released after posting $5,000 bond.

• The following posted bond to be released after their arrests on separate charges of driving while intoxicated: Rosendo G. Jimenez, 20, Route 2; Kaye L. Dennis, 35, 2622 Hunter and William R. Gross, 42, of Route 1

Bonds were set by Municipal Judge Melvin Daratt.

Richard T. Blevins, 27, of 1308 E. Sixth posted $1,000 bond to be released after his arrest for suspicion of possession of marijuana under 2 ounces. Bond was set by Peace Justice Bobby West.

 Drenea Rose Stanhope, 20, of 1208 Mesquite posted $2,500 bond to be released after her arrest on a warrant of issuance of bad checks. Bond was set by Heflin.

Police Beat

Alcohol blamed for 23 arrests

Big Spring police made 23 alcohol-related arrests in three incidents Saturday. Eight officers including Texas Alcohol and Beverage Commission agent Sam Smelser arrested 7 persons at 10:44 p.m. Saturday at the Nashville Tavern on 112

Main for suspicion of public intoxication. Six officers arrested 12 persons in the 700 block of North Lamesa at 2:25 a.m. for suspicion of consuming after hours. Four persons were arrested at the Zodiac Club at 2:34 a.m. for suspicion of consuming after hours.

• Police also arrested Pio Bustamante, 49, of 805 San Antonio for suspicion of driving while intoxicated. Bustamante was arraigned before Justice of the Peace Bobby West and released after posting $1,000 bond. • Two persons were hospitalized Saturday from injuries suffered in separate traffic accidents. Alvin J. Harris of Box 13 remains in Malone-Hogan Hospital today in stable condition after his motorcycle wrecked at 8:08 p.m. at 1015 Ridgeroad. Belton Walker of 111 Grant was released from Hall-

Bennett Hospital this morning after a vehicle he was driving was in collision with a car driven by Thomas Fauver of 109 Algerita Saturday at 5:40 p.m. Saturday.

Lamesa plans swine program

Anything farmers and homemakers want to know about swine can be learned at the South Plains Development Swine Shortcourse this month in Lamesa

The program will be held July 19-20 beginning at the Dawson County Fairbarns.

There will be evaluation of live hogs and hog carcasses, information on pork value and presentations on show prospects, low cost facilities for small producers and show barrows, selection of breeding stock and new ideas in swine production.

There will also be a question and answer period. Registration is at 8 a.m. July 19 at the fairbarns. The first program begins at 8:30 a.m.

A $5 registration fee includes a barbecue pork lunch to be served at noon July 19.

QUESTION: What is Crimestoppers and how

ANSWER: Have you seen a felony crime committed lately?

Your call to Crimestoppers that helps with an ar-rest and indictment could be worth up to $1,000. You do not have to get involved except with a phone call. When you call you will be given a code number. This will be your number to be used with subsequent dealings with Crimestoppers.

We do ask that you return a call so that you will know where we are in the investigation and for you to advise of other information.

The Crimestoppers program selects a crime of the week. The crime of the week is publicized by the local media. Publicizing a crime every week may help someone remember what they have seen or something they heard.

The investigator will try to develop the information the caller has given for the arrest and indictment. A conviction is not necessary - just the arrest and indictment.

The Crimestopper Program is worth supporting. The combination of the Crimestopper and police work can have an effect on criminals who thought they could get away with their crimes. A reduced crime rate can be achieved with community involvement. This program gives people in the community the opportunity to provide information about felony crimes.

We emphasize that only felony crimes will be eligible to receive cash rewards, but if you have information about other crimes your calls are welcomed.

The definition of "felony," according to the Texas Penal Code, means an offense so designated by Law or punishable by death or confinement in a penitentiary. Some examples are: burglary, robbery, theft if the value of the property stolen is $200 or more, also criminal mischief of the loss is $200 or more.

If you can help support the Crimestoppers Program, all you need to do is send in your donation to Crimestoppers in care of the Chamber of Commerce, 215 West 3rd, Big Spring, Texas 79720. If you want to become a Crimestopper all you need to do is call 263-1151.

Hothouse is closed

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) - The Hothouse, one of the city's biggest and most popular bathhouses for homosexuals, has gone out of busines because of concern about AIDS, its owner says.

"With AIDS, I really didn't think I should stay open," owner Louis Gaspar said Sunday as he sold off mirrors, chains and leather harnesses that filled the massive, four-floor complex.

AIDS, or acquired immune deficiency syndrome, is believed to be transmitted by blood transfusions, contaminated needles or sexual contact. Homosexual men are the most frequent victims of the baffling illness, which usually proves fatal.

Chief's News roundup

Nude week draws 800

LOS ANGELES (AP) - About 800 people who prefer nothing to bathing suits trolicked in the buff at Leo Carillo beach, but not everyone who turned out for National Nude Weekend appreciated the resulting Photographer Michael Tweed, who showed up Sunday for the publicized events, including a nude egg-toss and a nude water balloon fight, said he was verbally harassed by some beach-goers.

A Cable News Network cameraman found a male hand covering his lens as he tried to film the scene.

"Frankly, I'm shocked," said Peter Bieber, a member of Beaches Are Really Everybody's, or BARE. "What happened is everything was just fine and everyone was having a great time, but as soon as somebody saw a news person, one lady went crazy and started a verbal fracas.

'Another fellow was apparently going around and trying to throw a blanket over a cameraman. It's unfortunate," said Bieber, a former member of the nowdisbanded Clothing Optional Society.

The purpose of National Nude Weekend was to 'promote the clothing optional lifestyle wherever it's appropos," said Bieber, estimating 800 nudists were at the beach by noon.

Although it is a misdemeanor in Los Angeles County to take one's clothes off in public, sheriff's Sgt. Charles Putnam said only one man was taken into custody

Putnam said the unidentified Spanish-speaking man. who authorities were trying to place in a mental hospital, indicated he took his clothes to express his feelings about the civil war in El Salvador.

Mystery ends

FORESMAN, Id. (AP) — After four years of wondering how his wife disappeared, Evan Whiteman got the answer in a vacant house next door. He found her body in a cabinet, and the death was ruled a suicide.

Bernice N. Whiteman, 57, disappeared April 10, 1979, after telephoning her husband at work. Mrs. Whiteman, who was suffering from a colon ailment and heart problems, told him she was going to Lafayette with a friend.

"I was going to ask why she was going to Lafayette."
But she hing up," recalled Whiteman, 65, who discovered his wife's skeletal remains last Wednesday. "She'd never done that before. It's the last I ever Found with the body were empty prescription bottles, which once held anti-depressant drugs and tranquilizers. Newton County Coroner David S. Dennis ruled the death a suicide and listed the time of death as the day Mrs. Whiteman was reported missing.

The Whitemans purchased the vacant house nine years ago and used it only for storage. Whiteman had gone into the house Wednesday to get a cabinet to deliver to a daughter.

"I grabbed ahold of some cloth and it didn't move," he said. "It was dark in the cabinet. I shined a flashlight and saw a bone and a foot. I thought, 'Oh, my God. It's Bernice.

Whiteman and his four children buried the remains

"I thought someone had murdered her and stuffed her in there. Far as I know, she never had any enemies ... I still don't think she left on her own," he said.

"Everytning possible runs through my mind. We had a comfortable home and not a lot of money. I thought maybe she married a rich man and went to South

"There were months I didn't sleep all night wondering where she was," he said. "Regardless of how she died, we had 37 years together."

Whiteman and authorities recall searching the vacant house after the disappearance. State Police Detective Barry Rutherford said the clothing cabinet. 48 inches high and 30 inches wide, "is not something you would picture someone hiding in."

Whiteman said despite his wife's health problems, which required spinal surgery to fuse three vertebrae and the discovery of a benign tumor during rolon surgery, he is surprised that she would take her life. He said his wife was convinced she had cancer.

"I think she was in more pain than she let on," he said. "She was pretty gritty."

Too much beefcake

ANNAPOLIS, Md. (AP) - A tavern owner faces possible loss of his liquor license becausean elderly woman touched a male dancer during a striptease performance, officials say.

Charlie Hiltabidle was to appear today before the City Council, sitting as the city liquor board, in a hearing on the opening-night performance of a "beefcake" review at his Charlie's West Side.

The May 9 incident was described by the Annapolis Capital, which said a 62-year-old woman, "with little coaxing ... peeled off" the pants of one male dancer to reveal "a microscopic, gold G-string." It also mentioned women grabbing "greedily" for the dancers.

State law prohibits "encouragement of or permitting any person" in a tavern "to touch or caress or fondle certain parts of other people's bodies while they are performing.

The article prompted a flurry of angry letters to the editor and complaints to alderman Irving Mager Jr., in whose district the tavern is located. He called for the Mager said the newspaper story "clearly indicates that the touching ... was not only permitted, but encouraged by both performers and the club management.

The newspaper's managing editor, Tom Marquardt, said the reporter and photographer were asked to testify. But the officials later agreed to let them submit sworn statements saying the story and photographs were accurate, Marquardt said. Hiltabidle acknowledged "a couple of shows where the ladies got a little overly enthusiastic," but said steps have been taken to modify the show "We've made copies of the law and distributed it to all the tables," he said.

Miss Texas obsessed

FORT WORTH, Texas (AP) — The 1983 Miss Texas Dana Marie Rogers of Berne — says her coronation over the weekend capped a year in which she had become obsessed with the idea of winning. She thought some about it every day, she said.

The 22-year-old University of Texas senior was crowned Miss Texas Saturday night before a capacity crowd of 3,000 at the Tarrant County Convention Center. She will represent Texas in the Miss America contest Sept. 17 in Atlantic City, N.J. Second runner-up in the contest a year ago, she shed 25 pounds over the past year in her drive to win the crown and its accompanying $35,000 package of prizes, she said Sunday. That meant surviving on a diet of 800 calories a day and lifting weights regularly, she said. Miss Rogers — brown-haired, blond, 5-foot-9, 125 pounds, and 36½-24-36 — was the crowd favorite. She won the Miss San Antonio title to win the right to compete for Miss Texas.

A radio-TV-film major with ambitions of becoming a professional entertainer, she sang "New York, New York" for her talent presentation.

"I'm happier than if I had an oil well come in," the Dallas Morning News quoted her father, Russ Rogers, as saying on Sunday.

Rogers, owner of a San Antonio construction company, admitted to being a doting father. He estimated that $20,000 had been spent on his daughter's participation in the pageant, most of which was donated by San Antonio merchants for clothing, accessories and transportation. He spent about $8,000 personally, Rogers said.

The 1983 Miss Texas is the youngest of four children and the only daughter. Her parents are divorced. She grew up in Hurst but moved to Boerne, near San Antonio, when she was 18 to live with her father.

As Miss Haltom-Richland, she could have won the Miss Texas crown in 1982, Rogers said, but "I watched her wait too long to get started and work too hard to lose weight. She lost some of her sparkle.

Her bid for the 1983 Miss Texas crown began as soon as the 1982 festivities ended, she said.

"I started acting the part, so to speak. Every day, basically, I thought about the pageant," she said.

Regulatory deregulation

The Federal Communications Commission is going public. It is soliciting public comment on a proposal to allow television stations to set their own rules on how much news and advertising they present.

In proposing the deregulation plan, FCC Chairman Mark S. Fowler described the federal regulatory agency's existing guidelines as a form of "censorship - pure and simple."

If adopted after public comment, the FCC plan would deregulate the nation's 850 commercial TV stations just as radio stations were deregulated in 1981.

Under the plan, TV stations would be given flexibility in meeting public service requirements that at least 10 percent of their programming be devoted to news or public affairs.

Also, there would be no limits on commercials or required percentages of non-entertainment programs. Broadcasters still would have "a general obligation to serve the public," which would be judged by the FCC, officials said.

In abolishing regulations limiting TV stations to broadcasting 16 minutes of commercials an hour, the FCC apparently would be opening the door to unlimited advertising, which may or may not be what the public wants. If it isn't, the public should let the FCC know how it feels.

In the long run, the public might benefit from deregulation. It could mean better quality and more service because of heightened competition for an audience. If television viewers and radio listeners don't like what they see or hear, all they have to do is turn the dial.

The road to high tech

When autos and steel hit the skids a couple of years ago, there came into vogue the term reindustrialization. While it denoted the need for doing something, it was otherwise empty of content, and came to mean many different things to many different people.

A concrete case is now available as a result of a national competition that ended with the selection of Austin, Texas, as the site of a major new computer concern - MCC. The MCC story indicates that the rebuilding of American industry requires massive investment in education, and an explicit program to ease the pinch in the old centers of basic manufacture.

MCC stands for Microelectronics & Computer Technology Corporation. It is a consortium of a dozen major companies set up to develop the next generation of computer technology. The participating firms have pledged to spend between $50 million and $100 million annually in an explicit race against the Japanese. Though direct employment will probably be less than 500, it is widely believed that the new technology will spawn a network of connected industries.

The location of the new facility was put up for national bidding. Fifty-seven centers in 27 states made offers. The selection provides a kind of guide to the road that leads to high technology.

The principal requirement in the mind of Bobby Inman, the former deputy director of the Central Intelligence Agency who has become president of MCC, was close proximity to universities with sophisticated computer research programs. In addition, Adm. Inman sought a sustained commitment by local communities to the advancement of high technology.

WASHINGTON - President

payers' burdens for needed pro-

Proponents estimated that each million-plus apiece the seven existing libraries cost.

Oddly enough, supporters of the egislation also counted on a total of only 15 presidential libraries over a

THEN THERE was a need for the kind of amenities required to attract researchers able to find work wherever they chose. Under that heading came such matters as recreation, cultural facilities and access to major population centers. A critical item was quality schooling for the children of those working in the new facility A gratifying discovery in the search was the number of universities that have attained high competence in computer sciences. If ony because housing costs have been driven so high, Inman ruled out of consideration the two most established centers of computer sciences - Route 128 in Massachusettes, next to Harvard and MIT; and Silicon Valley, near Stanford and the University of California at Berkeley. Even so, many other universities proved up to the mark.

The University of California at San Diego, though less than 20 years old, has become an absolutely firstclass center of higher learning. Georgia Tech — since Joseph Pet tit, a former dean of Stanford, became president — has developed a faculty its football team can be proud of. A nearby industrial park has fostered big jumps on the science side at Duke and the University of North Carolina. Many of the state universities in the Midwest have kept pace with the most prestigious schools on the two coasts

But the bid for Michigan, which centered around the universities at Ann Arbor and Lansing, fell short because the state system of financing education as a whole seemed weak. San Diego reached the final cut of four, but no further, because Gov. George Deukmejian's opposition to tax increases puts the California school system on an un-

sure footing

North Carolina, in part because of enthusiastic support from Gov. James Hunt, also made it to the final cut. But the MCC board had second thoughts about what would happen to support for research in the event Gov. Hunt went to the Senate next year.

THE WINNING bid by Texas combined many elements. The University of Texas and Texas A&M, working together, offer highquality science. A large endowment - coming at least in part from oil revenues - made expansion at the university feasible. Especially since Gov. Mark White prevailed upon the business community to match dollars put up by the university for new professorships in computer sciences

The obvious conclusion from all this is that high tech makes the rich richer. Texas won because the university and local communities had money to invest. States hard hit by the slump in basic industry canot pull themselves up by their bootstraps. If nothing else, money from the federal government for education is a prime requisite.

Moreover, there is little chance that high tech can soon take up the slack. While nothing can supplant recovery and steady growth in the economy, it does make sense to provide special opportunities in the hard-hit areas. In that respect, programs for improving decaying cities, crumbling roads and overburdened schools and hospitalsl make sense.

Because what government does matters so much, a political component asserts itself. When it comes to restructuring industry, the Democrats have as good a claim as the Republicans.

Reluctance to apply a rules

House buyer is disappointed

My husband and I purchased a house just recently with the written agreement that the sellers would rent for one month meaning 30 days from closing. By law the V.A. states (who has the loan), we must move in on that 30th day.

First, the sellers were not completely out. The kitchen faucet was broke, the front and back screens were broken. The kitchen cabinet was off the hinge. No drapes were left (as stated in the contract). The shower doors were taken off in the main bathroom and the kitchen stove was exchanged with a cheaper model. One tree died and

Both Realtors were notified There was two because of multiple listing), and they both agreed that these damages were not done before we closed and did in fact occur during the time the sellers

One hundred dollars was put into the buyers agreement and one thousand dollars was put into an escrow

We asked for five hundred dollars to cover damages. It took four of us to pick up the sellers belongings over four hours.

We were told by the Realtors that the sellers do not admit to any of the damages, even though we have witnesses and pictures. They also refuse to pay for any of the damages

What good is a legal contract signed and witnessed if the contract does not do what it states!

I had one attorney tell me he could not help me because he was too closely involved with the seller.

I think the sellers should put themselves in our shoes. They did wrong, by damaging the house, taking things out after closing, and not being completely moved out on time. After I told them I would be there at 8 a.m. with a moving crew. Where is justice!

over 4.000 evangelists from around the world will come together in Amsterdam for what we are calling the International Conference for Itinerant Evangelists. "Itinerant evangelists" are those who have been called of God especially to go from place to place and declare the Good News of the Gospel of Jesus Christ. Frankly, we have been amazed at the number of people God has raised up in our generation to do this kind of ministry. Many of the participants will be comming from the so-called Third World nations, although there will be participants from almost every nation strongly that God has led in the preparations for it. One purpose is to bring evangelists together for encouragement and fellowship. Another purpose is to share with each other what God is doing in the world today, and sharpen the methods that can be used to proclaim the Gospel. Still another reason is to challenge those who attend with the task of reaching our world for Christ in this generation. Only God knows, however, what all will really be accomplished, and I hope that millions of Christians throughout the world will be praying for this gathering. There has never been an international gathering of itinerant evangelists on this scale before, and I am firmly con-vinced God "is able to do immeasurably more than all we ask or

Valve prolapse United Nations

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: I have a heart condition known as mitral valve prolapse. Although I have been told by my cardiologist that this condition is not serious and is a somewhat common valve problem, I cannot help but wonder about future complications and effects. The palpitations one experiences from this are very worrisome, at best, and can lead one to think that the condition is more serious than it is being described by the doctor .- D.V.E.

Rest assured. When your cardiologist told you your case was not serious he knew whereof he spoke. He is not minimizing the seriousness to make you feel

About five out of every 100 persons have mitral valve prolapse, and they're not suddenly keeling over. It means that your mitral valve (the one that allows freshly-oxygenated blood to enter the left ventricle) is a bit floppy. It is somewhat rubbery and balloons upward a bit into the chamber above in with each beat.

Most people with the condition have no symptoms whatever. A few may have palpitations, as you do. Fewer still have chest pain of shortness of breath. And, since that valve also prevents leakage into the upper chamber, some may have blood backup. Generally, no serious problems rise, and if they do they can be taken care of. If palpitations become frequent they can be reduced by the drug propranolol or some other similar

Knowing you have this can be important. Some people who have the condition have to take antibiotics before seeing their dentists. THat's to prevent infection of the valve (from particular germs in the mouth that may get into the blood during certain dental procedures). That's for some forms of mitral valve prolapse, and your physician can advise you on that. The antibiotic kills those germs before they can get to the

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: Our son started wearing glasses at 13. Then while in high school he wanted to wear contacts. He is now married and 25 years old. He recently had his eyes checked for regular glasses and was referred to a medical doctor and was told he had keratoconus. He has been advised to wear his contacts. I would like to know if his problem was caused by wearing contacts to begin with. If he had kept on wearing his regular glasses would this have been prevented?--Mrs. T.P.

It did not come from wearing contacts. Keratoconus is a condition, often running in families, where there is a thinning of the cornea, the transparent covering of the iris and pupil. As the cornea thins it forms an outward bulge. Vision becomes distorted. And as a matter of fact, in early stages of keratoconus contact lenses are used for vision correction

I cannot predict the future. If the thinning and bulging progress, then the central part of the cornea can be removed and a corneal transplant put in its place.

FOR M.M. - Your is one of my highest-frequency questions. Yes, many high blood pressure medicines have a tendency to cause impotency in a few males taking them. It is NOT a universal effect for every high blood pressure medicine for every male. If it does happen it should be reported and the doctor can prescribe another medicine. That's exactly what you should do.

Much heart trouble is preventable. Write to Dr. Donohue, in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 11210. Chicago, IL 60611, for a copy of his booklet, "How to Take Care of Your Heart." Enclose a long, selfaddressed, stamped envelope and 50 cents.

it more difficult to shop for resource management, some products and services than others," says Nancy Granovsky, home economist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System.

In a Lewis Harris poll of attitudes toward the consumer movement conducted recently for the Atlantic-Richfiend Company, consumers rated the food and gasoline markets at the top of the list for ease in shopping around, she reports. It's easier to shop for good buys in food and gasoline because product information is easily available, there are many vendors, and prices are well-posted and

Crabtree visits

Pete Crabtree, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bo Crabtree, 2709 Carol, returned this week from a United Nations Pilgrimage for Youth. Rebekah Lodge #284 and Mullin International Order of Odd Fellows #372 chose and sponsored Crabtree as a delegate for the 15 day

Crabtree travelled with 43 other delegates from Texas, Kentucky and Tennesse, touring several states. The students saw several historical sites on their way to New York.

The students toured Washington D.C. for two days, then spent four days in New York studying and observing the United

After leaving New York, the group toured Ontario, Canada, and Niagra Falls.

Crabtree, who will be a senior at Big Spring High School this year, won the trip by writing an essay on why he would like to visit the United Nations.

The trip is opened for students who will be seniors the following year.

Parents need quality day-care for children

care centers in Texas is greater now than ever.' says Delores Stegelin, family life education specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System.

Texas has over 900,000 children from infants through age 14 whose mothers work. Yet in 96 counties, state-regulated day-care centers are available for fewer than 100 children.

"The greatest concern of most parents is how to find a quality day-care center for their children," says Stegelin.

A safe environment and appropriate equipment are obvious necessities for any day-care center. The center should display a sign indicating that it has passed state and local licensing standards, which insure a safe building and equipment.

In addition Stegelin vises parents to check the amount of space available

"The need for child day- 100 square feet of outdoor space for each child.

> Day-care facilities should include a cot and a private place to nap for each child, as well as childsized furniture and bathroom equipment. The center should also provide nourishing lunches and frequent nourishing snacks for the children.

> 'But the most important sign of a quality day-care center is the staff," states Stegelin. Two or three adults should be available to care for each group of eight to ten children.

According to Stegelin, a philosophy of parent involvement is an important indicator of staff quality. The day care director and teachers should want parents to be a part of the daily routine and learning activities. Most successful day-care directors will welcome parents into their centers, and will be eager to answer questions and discuss their concerns, says Stegelin.

"Visit several day-care per child. A quality center centers to observe daily will contain 40-50 square routines before making a feet of indoor space, and choice," advises Stegelin.

Mon.-Sat.

By now you've probably read about the company's rate request for $1.7 billion. How did we come up with that figure? Why is this request so much larger than previous rate filings? In this column, I hope to provide some answers

Local rates subsidized by long distance

If somebody else were to pick up half your lunch check, what would you say? Probably, thank you. But what if they started paying half of all your meals? At some point it would be human nature to start taking them for granted. Our situation is

You've been paying an average of $11 a month for something that costs about $29 a month: residence telephone service.

Long distance and other services have been picking up the difference. This came about because the company wanted to keep local service as cheap as possible. That way everyone could afford to have a phone. And as long as Southwestern Bell operated as one big system. this worked fine. But with recent government rulings, things have changed. Southwestern Bell can't continue to subsidize local rates with the money we make on optional services. As Paul Roth, vice president of revenues and public affairs, said in a recent press conference, "Local rates no longer can hide behind long distance, because we're just about out of the long distance business." For the most part, the long distance business is going to other carriers like AT&T and MCI. And, we're virtually out of the customer equipment business. As a consequence, local rates must go up...substantially.

Three main components make up rate request

Basically, the company's request for local rates can be divided into three parts: -The company is requesting an increase of $502 million statewide to recover the costs of doing business, and to produce a fair return on Texas investment.

-We're asking for an increase of $450 million in depreciation expense and other capital recovery changes that is more consistent with today's technological changes.

The company is seeking $249 million in access charges to partially replace the subsidy provided by intrastate long distance revenues to local rates. The filing also proposes additional charges of $504 million to intercity carriers such as AT&T and MCI.

Lower cost options due later this year

We are concerned about how these increases will affect our customers...particularly those on fixed incomes. That's why we're researching several lower priced offerings as alternatives to flat-rate unlimited service.

Under such offerings, customers would pay for each call made, but the monthly rate for most would be substantially less than unlimited service.

With local rates rising to meet costs, it doesn't make sense for all customers to pay the same flat rate no matter how much or little they use their line. People who use less should pay less. This is no different than rates charged for other utility

For further information and background about the rate filing, send for our free booklet. "Telecommunications Changes and the Cost of Telephone Service." Address requests to: Rate Request Booklet, Southwestern Bell, P. O. Box 225265, Dallas, Texas 75265.

KALAPANA, Hawaii (AP) — Kenny Webb says he keeps his generator-powered refrigerator and his stove next to the front

"It takes three of us to move these things when we're evacuated," he said. "Leaving them by the front door makes it easier."

Webb, 28, and the residents of about 70 other structures in the wild, hillside development known as the Royal Gardens subdivision have learned how to cope with an unpredictable neighbor - Kilauea Volcano.

Since Jan. 3, when the volcano began erupting, life hasn't been the same for the people seeking tranquility in this remote area on the island of Hawaii. They've been evacuated five times and have seen about 15 percent of the subdivision covered by lava. Civil Defense officials estimate that 16 structures have been destroyed, with the last eruptions occurring

Most of the residents are secretive, reclusive people who came here to escape the pressures of the outside world. They are often protective of their anonymity and speak warily to strangers.

None considers Kilauea a great hazard. "Living here is like living anywhere else," said a middle-aged resident who refused to give his name. "It (The volcano) is part of nature. For instance, if the sea or the surf is high, you take precautions.

Duane Kanuha, assistant planning director for the county of Hawaii, said there are no county regulations regarding construction of homes in areas threatened by lava.

'In essence, the whole island is threatened," he said. "You wouldn't be able to build anywhere on the island."

He said proposals were made in 1975 by the Community Development Plan for the Puna District, which covers the Royal Gardens area, that would have limited construction of single-family homes in areas with greater seismic activity. But the measure was defeated by landowners who did not want to be restricted in what they could build.

"I think they felt whatever risk may occur, they should have the right to decide," whether to build or not, he said.

Royal Gardens has no running water or electrical utilities. Many of the roughly 70 structures in the subdivision are little more than shacks or modified lean-tos. The remoteness of the area has been what has brought many people here.

"We're like the last pioneers in Hawaii," said John Clarke, 22, a resident in the subdivision for just over one year.

"I knew there was a chance that it (lava flows) would happen when I bought land here," said Clarke, whose house has not yet been threatened by lava. "Even if it eventually gets my house, I'm still going to live up here and enjoy my land.'

Thomas Beddoe and Joan Kukel moved away from the subdivision after their $55,000, one-bedroom house was destroyed during a lava flow three months ago.

'I'm just glad it's over with," said Beddoe. "It was a pretty hard life to go through. We were evacuated three times, and we never knew if the house would be there when we got

On April 9, it wasn't. 'There was nothing to go back for, the entire lot was covered in lava," said Beddoe. "I wouldn't want to be living up there now and going through this over and over again." But many residents say they have been attracted by the chance to own land in Hawaii. "I've wanted to own a piece of land for a long time," said Frank Douglas, whose property has not yet been threatened. "If my house were destroyed, I'd move down the block and build again.

"If it hit there, well Hawaii County Building Director Herbert Hiyama said the island has certain building requirements intended to minimize damage to homes from tsunamis or huge waves and flooding, but none for lava flows.

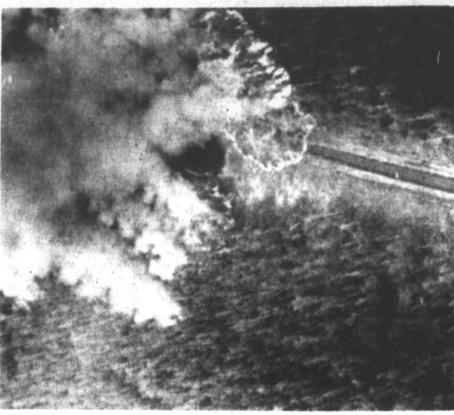

Nelson Fukuhara, agent for State Farm Home and Casualty in Hilo, which has issued policies in the subdivision, said his office hasn't handled any damage claims from the subdivision.

But he said residents whose houses are destroyed by lava would be able to collect on their fire insurance, as long as the house burns before the lava hits it.Lava flows put out an enormous amount of heat, and many houses go up in flames before being swallowed.

Friction has developed on several occasions between residents and county authorities during evacuations.

On July 1, one resident, Andrew Silva, was arrested and charged with failing to obey a police officer's traffic direction after authorities say he ran a police roadblock in an attempt to reach his threatened home. The house was later destroyed.

"If I had money to spend on land, I don't think I would spend it in Royal Gardens," said Police Capt. Arthur Hoke, who was responsible for evacuations and security operations at the subdivision during the recent lava flow. "It's a rather dynamic natural setting."

LAVA FLOW — Lava flows down a street in the Royal Garden subdivision on the Island of Hawaii. Residents of the area have been evacuated five times this year due to lava flows from nearby Kilauea Volcano. Sixteen structures have been destroyed since the volcano began erupting Jan. 3.

Krishna leader ousted for strange behavior

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) - One of 16 original Americans to join the Hare Krishna sect in 1966 has been excommunicated because of his "bizarre, aberrant behavior," a spokesman for the group says.

Hans Kary "no longer respected our governing body," said Michael Grant, spokesman for the religious group whose members are known for shaving their heads, wearing saffron robes and soliciting donations in airports and on downtown streets.

Twenty-one leaders of the Krishna movement, all members of the cult's Governing Body Commission, came to their Miami Beach headquarters from around the world to make a decision Saturday on Kary. At one time, he led the Krishna operation for the West Coast of the United States, Southeast Asia, southern India and Ceylon Kary's secretary, Paramahamsa Swami, said he felt Kary was expelled because commission members considered him "too spiritual, too mystical.

"It's a character assassination and it all comes down to money," Swami said. "Our leader no longer wants to go to the airports any more (to collect money). He said that turns people off to our movement."

By 1978, Kary had founded temples in Boston Germany, some Soviet-bloc nations, Berkeley, Calif., and Vancouver, British Columbia.

His troubles with the Krishna leadership started in 1980, when he was arrested three times on weapons charges in northern California. Once, Lake County police confiscated 300,000 bullets and gunpowder. Another time, officials seized a variety of ammunition and weapons from him, including an automatic pistol and two foreign-made military assault rifles. Kary called it "self-defense.

'Kary seemed to be developing a fascination with these things," Grant said.

In 1977, Kary was tried in Frankfurt, West Germany. for begging and collecting more than $1 million under false pretenses. In a trial disrupted by drumming and chanting, he was acquitted. In November 1982, he announced his followers would build a 100,000-square-foot temple in mountains north of San Francisco. At that time, he was renting space in Berkeley from the First Church of Divine Life, a source of mail-order divinity degrees, officials said. Kary's visions of a mountaintop temple evaporated when he was pressed for back rent and he filed for

'59 Heisman winner involved in counterfeiting

BATON ROUGE, La. (AP) — Former college and pro football star Bily Cannon Sr. may have orchestrated the $6-million-dollar counterfeiting scheme in which he and two others are charged, a federal prosecutor says.

Cannon, 46, a former Louisiana State All-America quarterback who won the Heisman Trophy in 1959, tried to plead guilty to counterfeiting charges at an arraignment Saturday.

But U.S. District Judge Frank Polozola refused Cannon's guilty plea and ordered him to return to court with his lawyer this Friday. "I want to make sure this is what you want to do," he said.

Cannon, now an orthodontist, was released on $100,000 personal recognizance bond. His two codefendants are being held on $2.5 million bond each. Those men — Charles Whitfield, 44, also known as Oscar Olsen of Ponce de Leon, Fla., and Timothy Melancon, 41, of Thibodaux — apparently were buying the counterfeit bills from Cannon, U.S. Attorney Stanford O. Bardwell said Sunday.

More arrests are expected in the next few days, including that of the person who printed more than $5 million in bogus $100 bills, Bardwell said.

The man who printed the bills was "one of several prime suspects," but investigators were not sure until Cannon named him, Bardwell said. Others involved also are known to police, he said.

"We recovered slightly over $5 million. We have reason to believe that close to $6 million was actually produced," Bardwell said.

The investigation that climaxed in Cannon's arrest Saturday began Dec. 15, when guards at a suburban mall noticed the same serial numbers on several $100 bills, Bardwell said.

"We obtained information from a confidential source that he (Cannon) had provided a quantity of counterfeit funds to persons we had previously arrested," Bardwell said.

"We believe he arranged for its production and accepted delivery on the full supply," Bardwell

Bardwell said that he did not know how Cannon got involved.

"I would speculate that since most such activities are promoted by persons in need of more funds than they are able to generate legitimately, that would apply here.

'Why he was in need of more funds I couldn't say. Whether it was investment losses or what," Bardwell said. Cannon is the only prominent person involved in the case, he said.

Panthers rip Invaders, advance to USFL finale

Cannon signed with the Houston Oilers of the American Football League in 1960 after a stellar career at Louisiana State University. He later was traded to the Oakland Raiders and retired from professional football in 1970.

He was arraigned on a charge of conspiring to possess and deal in counterfeit $100 bills. Whitfield and Melancon also were charged with conspiring and with one charge each of counterfeiting and dealing in counterfeit currency, charges which could result in prison terms up to 25 years and a $10,000

The two were arrested Friday after they dug up more than $2 million in counterfeit $100 bills buried in ice chests on property owned by Cannon, Secret Service Agent Michael James said.

Hatalsky needs sudden death

MILWAUKEE (AP) - Morris Hatalsky dropped in a six-inch putt for a par on his second extra hole Sunday, defeating George Cadle in a sudden-death playoff for first prize in the $250,000 Greater Milwaukee Open golf Hatalsky, whose only other tour victory was the 1981 Hall of Fame Classic, shot a final-round 66, six under par at the 7,010-yard Tuckaway Country Club course in suburban Franklin.

Cadle, seeking his first tour victory, shot a finalround 64 and surged into a tie when Hatalsky bogeyed his final hole in regulation.

quarter, Ken Lacy raced 18 yards for a touchdown.

"Doing that on fourth down, normally, is not me," Stanley admitted. "But, it depends on the type of game. On the Lacy touchdown, we needed six points more than a field goal. We felt we could move the ball, but so could they, with their great quarterback, and we had to stop

Oakland Coach John Ralston said the crowd-noise bothered his team, but refused to use it as an excuse for the defeat.

Oakland's Fred Besana, the secondranked quarterback in the league behind Hebert, put the Invaders ahead with a 1-yard plunge in the first quarter.

The Panthers got a 5-yard TD run from John Williams, a 38-yard field goal from Novo Bojovic and Hebert's flip to Carter in the second quarter to go off with a 17-7 lead at halftime.

But linebacker David Shaw picked off an Hebert pass and returned it 19 yards for a quick Oakland touchdown on the third play of the second half to narrow the lead to 17-14.

Hebert then marched the Panthers 80 yards in 11 plays — including a 45-yard pass and lateral combo from Hebert to Lacy to Williams — on Michigan's next possession and Lacy's 18-yard jaunt at the end of the third quarter put the Panthers back in command.

Milwaukee Open

Richard Zokol shot a final-round 69 and was at 277, along with Dan Pohl and Mark Calcavecchia. Dan Pooley, who held a one-stroke lead after 54 holes, was at 278 with a final-round 73. Also at 278 were D.A. Weibring, Jim Colbert, Jay Haas and Tze-Chung Chen. Hatalsky, who tied for fifth place in the Milwaukee tournament last year, pocketed $45,000 with his second tournament victory. Mize had a chance to tie for the lead, but bogeyed his final hole. Cadle's final-round 64 included birdies on five of his last six holes Jay Haas, a pre-meet favorite, birdied six of his first

USA grabs a little gold

EDMONTON, Alberta (AP) -American college-trained athletes swept the first three places in the men's and women's 200-meter dashes in the XII World University Games, but the United States team collected only three medals! It was typical of what has been happening in track and field at these biennial games - American schools producing medalists from foreign countries.

The most noticeable of these athletes have come from Nigeria.

The 10-man Nigeria team increased its gold medal total to five Sunday night, as Innoncent Egunike, a junior at Azusa (Calif.) Pacific, won the men's 200 with a personal-best time of 20.42 seconds, beating Elliott Quow of Rutgers (20.46) and Bernard Jackson of Mesa (Ariz.) Community College (20.57).

Egunike's victory, accomplished with a strong stretch run, gave the Nigerians a sweep of the men's sprints. Earlier, Chidi Imoh, a sophomore at Missouri, won the 100 and Sunday Uti, a freshman at Iowa State, took the 400.

Nigeria also got golds from Yussuf Alli, a senior at Missouri, in the long jump, and Ajayi Agbebaku, formerly of New Mexico Community College and Missouri and now taking his Masters Degree at the University of Texas-El paso, in the triple

In the women's 200, Randy Givens of Florida State University won the gold in 22.47, with her collegiate teammate Marita Payne, representing Canada, second in 22.62 and Grace Jackson, formerly of Alabama A&M and competing for Jamaica, third in 22.69.

Sunday's other gold medalists were world record holder Anisoara Cusmir of Romania in the women's long jump with a wind-aded leap of 23 feet, 2 inches; Natalya Lisovskaya of the Soviet Union in the women's shot put at 67-11/2, and Dave

All-star event starts tonight

The District III Little League All-Star Tournament begins with a pair of first round games tonight in Big Spring.

At the American League ballpark, the host team tests defending champion Lamesa with Big Spring National squaring off against Midland Western at National's home field. Both games are scheduled for 8 p.m.

The double-elimination events continues through the championship game July 25. The winner of the American-Lamesa game plays Midland North Central while the National-Western survivor tries Big Spring Texas League, both in winner's bracket games Wednesday

In other first round game Tuesday night, Coahoma debuts against Odessa West at the American League park while two Midland teams, Eastern and Tower, battle at National's ballpark.

A total of 12 teams are vying for District III honors including four from Big Spring and an all-star squad each from Coahoma and Lamesa. The other six teams come from Midland and

FORECAST FOR TUESDAY, JULY 12, 1983

GENERAL TENDENCIES: Although the early morning finds you apt to make some mistakes where the emotional and social part of your life are concerned, you will later find that you are able to achieve much.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Analyze your finest talents and get them across to those who can best help you to cialize on them.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Show more gentility at home and get conditions improved there considerably. Invite guesta in.
GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Steer clear of that partner who is on the warpath and then you can get aid you need from a close comrade. Handle correspondence. MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Analyze that property affair that needs more intelligent handling and then you can easily find the right solution.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) You are confused. Think clearly and make the right moves to gain your aims. Relax in the evening.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) You may be confused.

Soon your good judgment takes over and you can plan a campaign that is very wise.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) The afternoon is best for approaching friends for the favors you need, and you can also do something nice for them.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Use care in the handling career work during the day and gain more public support, also. A bigwig can also give you backing SAGITTARIUS (Nev. 22 to Dec. 21) First study some new venture thoroughly so that later you can get into it

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Study your obligations and then formulate a plan so that you can discharge them intelligently. Be patient. AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) A careful partner may seem annoying, but has the right ideas for mutual progress, so go ahead with them.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Make some improvements in your surroundings so that you can operate more effi-ciently. Socialize this evening. IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY . . . he or she will need much encouragement during childhood and should be complimented for any very fine work done. Plan for a fine education so that your progeny can become most successful since the quality of leadership is here.

"The Stars impel, they do not compel." What you make of your life is largely up to you!

EDMONTON, Alberta that left him in critical condition with severe head injuries after he struck the 10-meter platform at the XII World University > Games. "That kid shouldn't have been doing that dive," U.S. swimming coach Bob Rydze said after American diver Greg Louganis used the same dive to win the gold medal in the 10-meter platform competition Sunday night.

Rydze and Canadian diving expert Don McGavern say it is the worst accident in the history of competitive diving. During qualifying for the competition Saturday, Shlibashvili attempted the standing 31/2 reverse somersault in the tuck position, one of the most difficult dives in competitive diving. The 21-year-old Soviet diver struck the back of his head on the wooden platform on his way down and then tumbled into the water feet first bleeding profusely. The 10-meter platform is the same height as a threestory building and divers reach a speed of about 30 mph from that point to the water. Shlibashvili immediately was pulled from the water and taken to the University of Alberta Hospital where he was listed in stable but very critical condition and on life support in the neurological intensive care unit late Sunday night. He underwent surgery Saturday night for 48 minutes to relieve pressure on the brain. Hospital spokesman Dr. John Read, at a news conference Sunday, said Shlibashvili still had not regained consciousness and it was "very likely" that permanent brain damage and possible paralysis would be the result of the injury. Read said there were multiple skull fractures, along with other injuries which he would not describe. A Soviet doctor and of- " fical are attending Shlibashvili 24 hours a day male, 1 female, both have blue eyes. 267 1488 or 267-1380. but have turned the treament of the diver over to the Edmonton doctors who performed the operation. MOVING! NEED to sell new Kimball Piano. $1100 off list price. 267-5447.

McGavern said he had watched Shlibashvili in practice and "he was coming so close to the board it scared me. But McGavern, Canada's national technical diving advisor, said it was not his place to say anything to the Soviet coach.

Both he and Rydze felt it wasn't the difficulty of the dive but rather that the Soviet diver was not ready.

stros get sour taste from Strawberry

NEW YORK (AP) - Earlier in the year, Darryl Strawberry would have watched reliever Bill Dawley's O-2 cuveball for a called third strike. But now, after two months in the major leagues, the 21-year old rookie was ready and swinging. With the scored tied 5-5 in the eighth inning Sunday afternoon, Strawberry smashed Dawley's pitch for a towering two-run homer into the right field seats, leading the New York Mets to a 7-5 victory over the Houston Astros.

Strawberry's sixth game-winning hit snap-ped the Mets' four-game losing streak and gave New York its second triumph in 11

Hubie Brooks started the inning off Dawley with a single to center. Strawberry followed, first fouling off a fastball and then swinging through a curve.

Dawley shook off catcher George Bjorkman's fastball sign before going with the breaking pitch

"I guess he'd like to have that pitch back," said Strawberry, who has 14 runs-batted-in his last 11 games.

Dodgers 10, Pirates 3

Greg Brock's three RBI led Los Angeles to its win over Pittsburgh. "It's all mental," said Brock, who entered the game hitting just .219 and mired in a 4-for-43 slump. "I haven't lost any confidence, it's just a little thing in my swing and I haven't been able to correct it. Hopefully, the slump is behind me.'

The Pirates led 3-1 entering the bottom of the third when the Dodgers rallied for three runs. Dusty Baker's ground-rule double brought in one run before Brock singled home the tying and go-ahead runs. Brock also singled home the Dodgers' fifth run in the fifth

National League

Expos 7, Braves 6

Tim Raines scored from third base on Al Oliver's forceout grounder in the eighth inning, lifting Montreal over Atlanta. Raines led off the eighth with a triple off reliever Donnie Moore, 2-1.

The Braves rallied from a 6-3 deficit to tie the game in the eighth on Bob Horner's sacrifice fly.

Cardinals 4, Padres 2

Mark Thurmond and reliever Luis DeLeon had shut down the Cardinals on four hits until Steve Braun tripled with one out in the ninth. George Hendrick then socked an RBI single, his third hit of the game, and Gary Lucas, 4-5, relieved DeLeon.

Lucas surrendered a single to Andy Van Slyke, and when Tommy Herr followed with a single to left Hendrick scored the tying run when Padre catcher Terry Kennedy dropped Alan Wiggins' throw home.

Brummer followed with his two-run double that gave the victory to Dave Von Ohlen, 2-2,

Phillies 2, Reds 0

Bo Diaz singled home the tie-breaking run and Marty Bystrom and two relievers combined on a seven-hitter to lead Philadelphia over Cincinnati. Bystrom, 3-4, developed a blister on a finger of his pitching hand, forcing him to leave the game after five innings.

Giants 12-4, Cubs 8-2

Joel Youngblood drove home the winning run in the eighth inning with his third hit as

San Francisco won the first game. Atlee Hammaker rebounded from his embarrassing seven-run shelling in the All-Star game to pitch the Giants past the Cubs in the second game.

Jays take third from Rangers

TORONTO (AP) — The pitching duel between American League All-Stars Dave Stieb of the Toronto Blue Jays and Rick Honeycutt of the Texas Rangers never materialized. Stieb, the winning pitcher in baseball's All-Star Game last Wednesday in Chicago, left his good fastball at Comiskey Park and asked to be taken out Sunday after six innings, having given up three runs on six hits.

Honeycutt, the league earned-run average leader, fared worse. In 51-3 innings, he was tagged for 12 hits, three home runs and six earned runs as the Blue Jays swept the three-game series by dropping Texas 6-4.

The result left the first-place Jays three games up on Detroit, Baltimore Orioles and the New York Yankees in the East Division, while Texas fell into a tie atop the West with California.

Brewers 12, White Sox 9

The toals for the Milwaukee Brewers and Chicago White Sox were 21 runs, 30 hits - and 251 minutes

Sunday's 4 hour, 11-minute slugfest, won by the Brewers 12-9. thus became the longest nine-inning game in American League history, surpassing the 3:57 which Cleveland used to beat Boston 19-9 on April 10, Tigers 5, A's 3

At Detroit, Lance Parrish slammed a grand slam home run to cap a five-run rally in the bottom of the ninth inning. Chris Codiroli, who limited Detroit to two singles through eight innings and retired 16 batters in a row, walked pinch hitter Alan Trammell to start the ninth and gave up a single to Lou Whitaker. Tom Burgmeier surrendered an RBI single to pinch hitter Larry Herndon and John Wockenfuss, another pinch hitter, drew a walk from Dave Beard to load the bases and set the stage for Parrish's ninth home run

American League

Orioles 2, Mariners 0

At Baltimore, rookie Mike Boddicker pitched a five-hitter, while a sacrifice fly by Benny Ayala after Baltimore loaded the bases with the aid of two misplayed bunts broke a scoreless tie in the seventh inning.

Angels 5, Red Sox 3

At Boston, Rick Burleson and Reggie Jackson ripped run-scoring singles to cap a four-run seventh inning. Jim Rice put Boston on top 3-1 with a two-run homer in the fifth off winner Tommy John, his 23rd of the season. But California pounced on loser Bruce Hurst and Bob Stanley in the seventh.

Ellis Valentine led off with a single, Bobby Grich walked and Tim Foli's one-out RBI single chased Hurst After another out, Clark scored on a passed ball to tie the game, Rod Carew was walked intentionally, Burleson broke the tie with his single and Jackson drove in an insurance run.

Yankees 6, Royals 4

At Kansas City, Don Baylor and Lou Piniella drove in two runs apiece to help Ray Fontenot post his first major league victory. Fontenot, making his second appearance, scattered five hits before he developed a blister on his pitching hand and left with one out in the seventh after allowing three runs, two of them unearned. The Yankees knocked out Paul Splittorff with five runs in the third, including Baylor's two-run double and RBI singles by Graig Nettles, Piniella and Steve Balboni.

Twins 6, Indians 4

At Minneapolis, a solo homer by Randy Bush and an RBI single by Ray Smith in the sixth inning brought the Twins from behind and gave them a winning streak of more than one game for the first time since June 16.
