Fire levels Gregg St. paint store

Other stores damaged; no major injuries

By RICHARD HORN
Staff Writer

The third major fire to strike a local business in less than a month destroyed a paint store, heavily damaged an insurance office and slightly damaged three other businesses in the 1600 block of Gregg Street early this morning.

The blaze engulfed the Sherwin-Williams Co. paint store at 1608 Gregg. Flames fueled by exploding cans of oil-based paint, turpentine and paint thinner spread next door to the Stallings Insurance Agency, causing heavy structural damage.

Charlie Lewis Bookkeeping at 1606 Gregg received minor fire damage and heavy smoke and water damage. The Kirby Vacuum Cleaner Co. outlet at 1606-A Gregg and the Super-Save Drive-In Grocery at 1610 Gregg escaped with minor smoke damage.

One fireman suffered a bruised ankle fighting the blaze, Fire Chief Jim Ryals said this morning.

Investigators were on the scene this morning trying to determine the cause of the fire. Officials said they had no reason at the time to suspect arson.

Fire Marshal Carl Dorton said three reports of the fire were received simultaneously at 12:55 a.m. from a police patrol car, a resident on Scurry Street and a resident of Canterbury Apartments behind the buildings.

The fire was contained by 2 a.m. and under control by about 2:30 a.m., Dorton said. He said firemen had "a minor problem" with a fire hydrant, but said there were no difficulties with water pressure.

The blaze apparently started in the back of the paint store, Dorton said. Thick smoke poured out of the top of the building at 1:10 a.m., and flames were visible about three minutes later.

At about 1:30 a.m. flames leaped through the front windows of the store, shattering glass across Gregg Street toward onlookers gathered in the parking lot of Whites Home and Auto store.

Small explosions caused by the oil-based products shot flames 40 or 50 feet into the air.

"The fire was so hot and spread so rapidly because of the materials in the store," Dorton said. "They had some aerosol cans that were almost constantly popping off. It was very hard on the nerves."

Firemen began fighting the fire from the back of the building, where they had to break through heavy metal fire doors to get at the blaze.

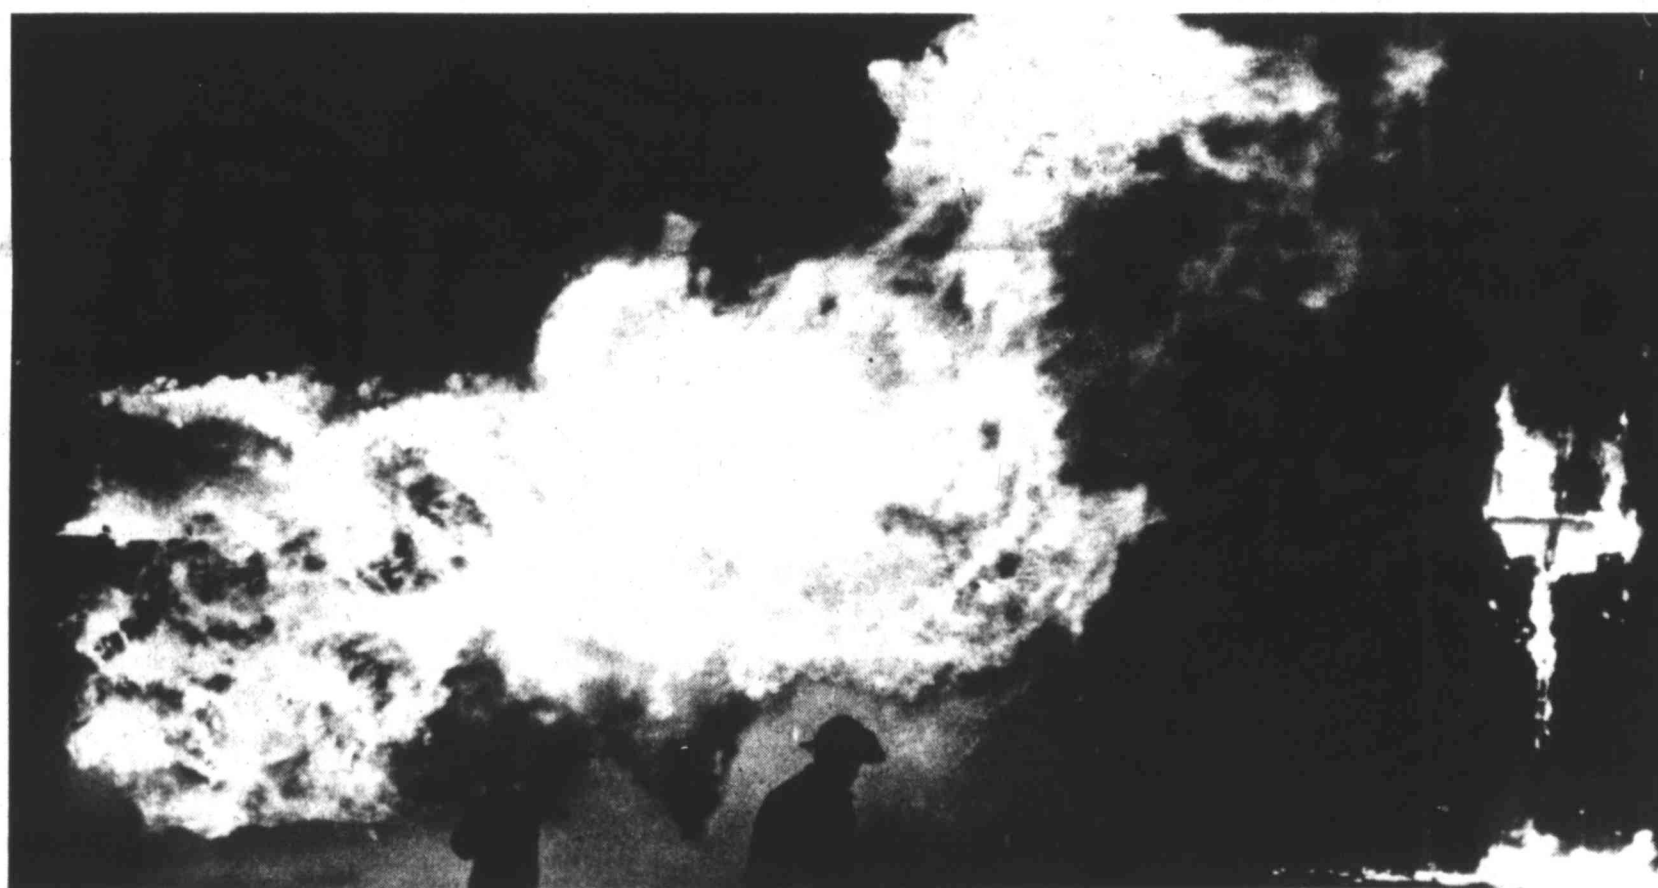

Some witnesses said they thought the fire was started by a blown electrical transformer behind the building, but investigator Rodney Phillips said the blaze probably surrounded the building to fight the fire, but were unable to save the building.

PAINT STORE INFERNO — The fire last night at the Sherwin-Williams Co. paint store on Gregg Street towers over two Big Spring firemen. Officials say the fire began about 1 a.m. and destroyed the store in addition to damaging nearby businesses.

The sign reads MEAT, GROCERIES, BAR-B-QUE. It was almost all barbecue.

The Super-Save Drive-In Grocery at 1610 Gregg was only a few feet away from the fire that completely destroyed a paint store Monday morning. But owner Billy Henkel said he was open for business early this morning and selling more than smoked meat.

Firemen say a brick fire wall helped prevent the blaze from spreading to the store and threatening the gasoline pumps in the parking lot.

But two employees — manager Richard Von Hassell, 21, and stockboy Roy White, 19, — did what they could by climbing on the roof to fight the fire at its early stage.

"We got up there and tried to put it out with a hose we had," White said. "We got off when the (paint store's) roof caved in."

He said they were able to water down the roof of the grocery store and tried to fight the paint store blaze before it grew too intense.

Did they do any good. "They sure didn't hurt," firefighter Rodney Phillips said this morning.

Henkel said there was only a little smoke in the store when he arrived at 2 a.m. County health officials gave him permission to open for business, he said.

"I can't believe it. We were really lucky," he said before dawn this morning as he placed fans to expel the smoke. "I guess we were on the downside of the wind."

Bell asks state for 'business as usual' rate hike

AUSTIN (AP) — Southwestern Bell today asked state officials to forget for the time being that it must break away from its parent company next year, and just consider a "business as usual" rate hike that would boost phone bills an estimated $6.45 a month.

The phone company asked the Public Utility Commission to consider for now $497.2 million of the $1.7 billion rate hike request Bell filed last June. It said it plans to go after the rest of the money later.

Today's proposal would raise the cost of basic residential service by amounts ranging from 60 to 82 percent, depending on the size of the city. Rates are lower in smaller communities.

A spokesman said the phone company hopes to put the higher rates into effect under bond Oct. 31, pending a final ruling by the PUC. But the company promised not to charge any higher than the PUC staff's preliminary recommendation.

Bell spokesman Dale Johnson said the rate increase the telephone company asked for today was a "business as usual" case and did not include any costs related to a court order that Southwestern Bell divest itself from its parent firm Jan. 1. He said the company would address that question — with new information to back up the rest of its rate hike request — by Oct. 3.

Last year the phone company asked for $471 million more and got $249 million more.

Johnson acknowledged the rate hike sought today included the highest percentage jump ever in basic home service.

"Of the $497 million, more would be in local rates than ever in the past, but that's related to need — not divestiture," Johnson said.

In Houston, the basic service rate would jump from $10.75 to an estimated $17.20. In Dallas, the rate would increase from $10.10 to $16.55. In Austin, phone customers paying $9.05 would be billed $15.50, and in Lubbock, the rate would go from $8.80 to $15.25.

Basic home phone rate in towns of 8,000 or less would jump from $7.85 to $14.30 a month, an increase of 82 percent.

"Southwestern Bell has a significant revenue deficiency whether divestiture and access charges are considered or not," said Bell lawyer Jon Dee Lawrence. "This proceeding must go forward."

Lawrence said it may seem like a "consumer victory" if the PUC were to simply throw out Bell's total $1.7 billion case, but he said it would be "devastating" in terms of the company's ability to attract investors.

He said the PUC "must, by law" consider the "business as usual" case filed today.

Major banks raise prime lending rate

NEW YORK (AP) — Several major commercial banks today raised their prime lending rates by one-half percentage point to 11 percent, the highest level in nearly six months.

The banks raising their prime, or base, lending charge included Citibank in New York, the nation's second-largest commercial bank by deposits; No. 3 Chase Manhattan Bank in New York; sixth-ranked Chemical Bank in New York; No. 8 First National Bank in Chicago; No. 10 Bankers Trust, New York, and No. 13 Mellon Bank in Pittsburgh.

The prime rate had stood at 10.5 percent since Feb. 28, when the industry lowered it from 11 percent.

The 10.5 percent rate had been the lowest since Nov. 6, 1978.

The last time a major bank raised its prime rate was when Chase Manhattan raised it to 12 percent from 11.5 percent last Nov. 16. But that was after Chase had undercut the rest of the industry by going to 11.5 percent on Oct. 22, 1982, and no other major banks followed.

The last time all the major banks raised their prime rates was Feb. 17, 1982, when they lifted the charge to 17 percent from 16.5 percent.

The gradual decline in the prime rate from early 1981 until last February had followed declines in open-market interest rates, which in turn lowered banks' cost of obtaining funds for lending.

But market interest rates have been rising since May to their highest levels in a year. Since that has squeezed banks' "spreads" — the price they pay for funds and the interest they charge for loaning money — many credit analysts in the past few weeks had forecast a prime-rate increase.

The prime rate is the base that banks use to calculate interest charges on loans to companies with top-grade credit, although some banks make loans at rates below their stated prime rate. While not having a direct relationship with consumer loans, the prime reflects general movements in other bank lending rates.

The prime rate hit a record 21.5 percent in late-December 1980.

Fire

started inside the store.

Rodney Whaley of Big Spring, manager of the company-owned paint store for the last five years, was called to the fire about 1:20 a.m.

"I don't know how much (paint) is in there," he said as he watched the fire from across the street. "There's a lot of paint thinner and stuff, and if any of it gets hot enough it can blow."

Whaley could make no estimate of the loss. He said he was going to contact the Sherwin-Williams main office this morning.

Louis Stallings said this morning he believes his building is a total loss, estimated at $35,000 for the structure alone.

"I've lost some files," he said.

"In this business those are the biggest loss."

Local accountant Charlie Lewis said he would not know the extent of damage to his office until he could check computer equipment.

"I think the files are all right," he said at the scene. "I have 10 years of records on some accounts in there. You can't replace that."

Dorton said firemen were able to protect the equipment and files in Lewis' office by placing salvage material over them.

Ron Wurm, acting manager of the Kirby vacuum cleaner office, said he was on Gregg Street when he saw smoke and came to investigate.

"I'm just hoping they can stop it," he said from a parking lot across the street. "I'm from New York — I see this all the time. But it's never happened where I was working before."

The buildings housing Lewis' office and the vacuum outlet are owned by Tom Ross of Big Spring. Ross could not be reached for comment this morning.

Stallings owns the building which housed his office.

Ryals said 23 firefighters — 11 on-duty and 12 off-duty — were called to the fire.

Phillips said he believes arson was responsible for a July 20 fire that destroyed the Hudson Furniture store in downtown Big Spring.

Stuckey's Pecan Shoppe on West Interstate Highway 20 was destroyed by fire on July 29.

Both fires are still under investigation by city and county officials.

Plane crash kills 3 from San Angelo

EL PASO (AP) — Three men stationed at Goodfellow Air Force Base in San Angelo were killed when a single-engine private plane crashed on takeoff at El Paso International Airport.

The crash of the Cessna 172, which took place Sunday morning, also injured a woman. The Department of Public Safety in Midland identified the pilot as John Patrick Stahlke, 19, of La Puente, Calif.

The other dead were listed as Joseph McKelvey, 22, of Lindenwood, N.J., and Howard Culppeper, 24, of San Angelo. Leslie K. Campo, 24, of Brookfield, Mass., was in critical condition at William Beaumont Army Medical Center in El Paso with severe head and internal injuries, authorities said.

The aircraft, which belonged to a Goodfellow Air Force Base flying club, was en route to San Angelo when it fell 200 to 300 feet into an area at the eastern end of the airport, officials said.

Two of the men were dead when rescue workers arrived at the scene. The other man and the woman were airlifted by a military rescue helicopter to Beaumont Army Medical Center.

The third man died after arriving at the hospital, said Capt. Stephen Markelz, Beaumont officer of the day. The woman was taken into surgery to treat multiple head wounds and other possible injuries.

William McCombs, Federal Aviation Administration supervisor, said the plane took off at about 11:25 a.m. for San Angelo.

"He climbed out, and it didn't look like he had any (significant) altitude, then the tower saw him turn toward the ground," McCombs said.

Hitchhiker steals car, clubs owner

Elroy Garcia of Knott told police he picked up a hitchhiker early Sunday morning and gave him a ride into Big Spring; however, when Garcia stopped at a traffic light at Third and Gregg streets at about 1:45 a.m., the hitchhiker struck Garcia with a club and stole his 1974 green Pontiac, according to reports.

Police said Garcia received an abrasion on his head, but was otherwise unhurt. No arrests have been made in the incident, police said.

Reports also contained the following:
• Susie Roach of 1108 E. Fifth told police that at 7:30 p.m. Saturday someone she knows drove by her home and discharged a shotgun into the air. Ms. Roach said the subject previously had made threatening remarks.

• Cinda Cason of 118 E. 18th told police that between June 10 and Aug. 4 someone stole two bicycles valued at $550 from a room attached on the rear of her home. Police said entry was made by prying a lock from the room's door.

• Frank Gonzales Jr. of 1204 Stanford reported to police that between June 31 and Aug. 2 someone entered his home and stole seven posters, a pair of ankle weights and a pair of speakers.

• Cathy Perez of 1600 Mesquite told police a bicycle was stolen between 12:30 a.m. and 1:15 a.m. from her home.

• Charles Johnson of 1110 E. 13th reported to police that someone had entered his home between 9 a.m. Saturday and 2 a.m. Sunday. He said, however, that nothing was taken.

• Jose Gonzales of 212 N. Goliad complained to police that at 10:30 p.m. Friday a subject known to him took his 1976 Mercury Cougar without his permission.

• Ricky McNallen of No. 2 January Circle told police that between July 29 and Aug. 7 someone entered his home and stole a rifle scope, a pair of binoculars and $50 in change.

• Marie Barry Dunnam of 800 Marcy told police that between 2:30 p.m. Saturday and 9:30 a.m. Sunday someone entered her car at the above location and stole two speakers from the vehicle. Police reports show the vehicle was unlocked.

Council goes shopping for 2 new fire trucks

The Big Spring City Council will consider advertising for bids to purchase two new fire trucks at its regular meeting Tuesday night.

The councilmen meet at 6:30 p.m. in the city council chambers at City Hall at Fourth and Nolan.

In a memo to City Manager Don Davis, Fire Chief Jim Ryals recommends the purchase of a pumper and a booster to replace old equipment.

Ryals said the department's 1964 booster — used for fast application of water — has passed the point of economical repair. He said replacement of parts for the 1956 pumper has become a major problem.

He estimates the cost at $100,000 to $110,000 for the booster/pumper combination.

The council last month approved a revenue sharing budget revision of $100,000 for fire truck purchases.

The council also plans to:

• Consider keeping the Comanche Trail Park Swimming Pool open on weekends until after Labor Day.

• Consider hiring the firm of Parkhill, Smith and Cooper, Inc. to assist in applying for Texas Community Development grants.

Trash-hauling ordinance tops Coahoma's agenda

COAHOMA — The Coahoma city council meets tonight to discuss its trash-hauling ordinance and to reorganize the council. The meeting is at 7 p.m. at the city park.

The council is expected to consider additional applicants for reduced trash-hauling rates. The city recently began a new trash-hauling service.

Another agenda item includes hiring former mayor Joe Swinney in the city's water department. The item was tabled at the council's last meeting.

Roger Whitson is scheduled to meet with the council concerning yearly raises. The council is also expected to agree to borrow money for a new city pickup and a computer.

Search resumes for fireman

ATHENS, Texas (AP) — Authorities continued searching today for a Dallas Fire Department captain missing and presumed drowned after his disabled boat was found drifting in Cedar Creek Lake, officials said.

J.D. Beets, a 25-year veteran of the department, was reported missing when he did not report to work Saturday morning, a fire department spokesman said.

Beets failed to return from a Friday night fishing trip, said Game Warden Mike Warren. Authorities dragged the lake Saturday and Sunday without turning up a body, Warren said.

Warren said Beets' boat was found late Saturday with the prop missing and a spare prop and tools were in the bottom of the boat.

The fire department spokesman said an open bottle of nitroglycerin tablets was also found in the boat, and that firefighters who helped search for the body feared Beets suffered a heart attack and fell overboard while trying to repair the boat.

AT&T strike enters 2nd day

WASHINGTON (AP) — Management and labor are far apart on wages and other issues as American Telephone & Telegraph Co.'s 675,000 operators and technicians are striking the company for the second time in 12 years. Only minor service disruptions were reported Sunday, the first day of the walkout, as managers and supervisors worked in place of the striking employees.

"Management people are handling the jobs very capably and efficiently," AT&T spokesman Pic Wagner said Sunday. "I expect that the same will be true when the need for equipment service arises."

However, Wagner acknowledged that the real test of the system would start today, when business calls flood the lines.

Across the country, picket lines were set up outside Bell System offices, where striking workers predicted the company would be unable to keep up with the crush of service requests.

No new talks were scheduled between AT&T and the three unions representing the strikers — the Communications Workers of America, the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers, and the Telecommunications International Union.

"It's been a pretty quiet day," Charles Dynes, an AT&T spokesman, said Sunday night. "After the last two long, hectic days, today's been a sort of breather."

Dynes said that while the negotiating process had not been broken off, no new talks were scheduled. Rozanne Weissman, a spokeswoman for CWA, the largest of the three unions with 525,000 members, also said she was unaware of any scheduled negotiations.

Wages and job security were at issue in the talks, which were adjourned as the old pact expired at midnight Saturday, local time.

YOUNG PICKET — Five-year-old Jimmy Byrnes, whose father is Denver's regional vice president of CWA's local union, carries a picket outside a Mountain Bell office Sunday.

"I would not expect a settlement in the next day or two," CWA President Glenn E. Watts said Sunday on the ABC television program "This Week With David Brinkley."

"We want at least double the kind of money they're (AT&T) talking about... The company knows the area in which we must go and they're unwilling to meet that," he said.

Appearing later on the same program, AT&T Chairman Charles Brown said that although the two sides differ widely on a new wage package, other unspecified bargaining issues related to the scheduled divestiture of the huge telecommunications company remain unresolved.

"There are a lot more issues than economics, I assure you," Brown said. "The divestiture has caused some complexities in bargaining."

The CWA had been stressing employment security in the negotiations, seeking guarantees that AT&T and the Bell companies will retrain employees for new jobs as each moves separately into different segments of the telecommunications industry.

The company's last money offer would have limited wage gains for experienced workers to 3.5 percent per year for the next three years. It also would have retained cost-of-living protection that has provided percentage raises equal to three-quarters of the annual increase in the Consumer Price Index.

As a sweetener to entice union officials into accepting the contract, the company had offered a $2.50 a week one-time pay raise for inexperienced workers earlier last week. Union spokesmen said that offer was unacceptable.

Among CWA employees, a top-scale systems technician makes $565.50 per week. A top-scale operator makes $389.

Most reported problems with telephone service Sunday were minor, and directly dialed calls were unaffected. AT&T's Wagner said some delays in directory assistance help were occurring because managers were operating computer terminals with which they were unfamiliar.

In some areas, people seeking to place operator-assisted long-distance calls were being told by a recording that only emergency long-distance calls could be placed with operator help.

Customer-dialed long-distance, which Wagner said comprises 97 percent of all long-distance calls, was unaffected.

Leading the blind

Summer camp caters to sightless

STOWE, Vt. (AP) — Winded from their long hike up Mount Mansfield, an athletic young couple paused to marvel at the youngsters behind them, blind hikers feeling their way up a rocky slope they couldn't see.

The youngsters stepped gingerly, gripping their counselors' hands, their small frames bent under the weight of their bulging backpacks.

"I know I'm gonna make it," said Eric Randolph, 11, a cheerful blind youngster who told his companions he couldn't wait to recount the adventure to his friends back home in the Bronx.

Eric was one of five children from Camp Wapanacki selected for the overnight hiking expedition up a two-mile stretch of the Long Trail to the top of the 4,393-foot Mount Mansfield, Vermont's highest mountain.

The trips are organized each summer at the camp in Hardwick, which has been operated by the New York Institute for the Education of the Blind since 1937. The camp is for visually impaired youngsters, ages 7 to 21, most of whom live in the New York area.

Campers pay only for transportation and personal expenses; the rest is financed through the institute and private donations.

Youngsters who want to go on the overnight hikes are carefully screened to choose only those willing to risk scraped knees, a few scares and plenty of frustrations.

"We were picked because we're the toughest of the tough," boasted 12-year-old Andre Donatien, a gangly, soft-spoken New Yorker who said he wanted to become a camp counselor some day.

Holding counselors' hands or venturing out carefully on their own, the campers began their hike under an already hot morning sun.

"If we're not back by 2, call the police," joked Mark Baxter of Waterbury, the only Vermont in the group.

Mark, a seven-year-veteran of the camp who is partially sighted, has hiked, swum, canoed and played ball and "I have the battle scars to prove it," he said.

For youngsters who are used to being pitied and restricted, the chance to spend a few weeks playing and learning like normal children is exhilarating, said camp director Joseph Ingram.

"Whenever you mention the word blindness, pity immediately comes out, and they don't want that," Ingram said.

He said he has spent countless hours on the telephone reassuring parents who are terrified at the idea of sending their blind children hiking or canoeing.

"We tell them that it's good for them to hand their children over to us for a few weeks, since many of them tend to be overprotective," Ingram said.

Each year, he takes a few of the children on his recruiting visits "as living proof that the kids really do come back from Vermont."

Three of the youngsters who took part on the Long Trail hike were blind; two had some sight.

Even with a counselor by their sides, the children took a few tumbles as they scaled the rocky slope, occasionally sending a rock sliding into the path of a startled friend. But they quickly got up, brushed themselves off and forged on.

After falling to his knees on a rock damp from the previous night's rain, Eric felt a tear widen in his worn jeans.

"When I get home, my mother's gonna iron some new patches on," he assured his counselors.

The hikers remarked at the musty odor of the pines and the noise of an unidentified animal scuttling to its hole.

Chad claims Libyan jet shot down by missile

N'DJAMENA, Chad (AP) — Chadian authorities today put on display before a large crowd a man they claimed was the pilot of a Libyan plane shot down over the weekend at the desert town of Faya-Largeau.

The man was brought before 50 journalists and 5,000 civilians at the Palace of Congress and identified as Abdassalam Charfadine, pilot of a Soviet-built Sukhoi fighter.

Libya repeatedly has denied making bombing runs on Chad, although it says it is providing logistical support for rebel forces seeking to topple the government of President Hissene Habre.

Charfadine told the crowd today he was shot down Saturday and that there were 12 Sukhois based in the Aouzou strip, a region in northern Chad that Libya occupied in 1973.

An official at the Chadian Embassy in Paris said the plane was shot down by a SAM-7 missile that presumably was captured from the rebels by government forces.

Charfadine said the planes were rotated in and out of the strip by twos under command of the Libyan air force, and that their mission was to cover the movements of rebel troops led by former President Goukouni Oueddei.

He told the crowd another attack was planned on Faya-Largeau, "but I do not know when."

Charfadine said the weapons on his fighter included fragmentation bombs, phosphorus bombs and napalm. He said he was ordered to strike government positions in preparation for the planned attack.

In addition to the Sukhois, he said Soviet-built Tupolev 22 bombers also were engaged in action as well as light tanks that returned to Libya between missions.

Habre, who returned to the capital Friday after personally leading his forces in retaking Faya-Largeau, has appealed several times to France to intervene with its air force against the Libyans.

However, French Defense Minister Charles Hernu said Sunday there was no possibility of an immediate French intervention. He cited a 1976 military accord between Paris and its former colony that provides only for logistical support.

"France will supply Chad's government with assistance adapted to the situation in the framework of the 1976 accord," Hernu said. "There is no question of going outside that framework."

However there were reports of French air activity from a base in Libreville, Gabon, south of Chad. Western sources said the four French Jaguar planes based there left and several transport planes arrived.

Airliner lands with flat tire

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — Passengers "were just praying that we would make it" after a tire blowout forced a Republic Airlines DC-9 with 102 people aboard to land with only one engine and a jagged six-inch hole in its wing.

As fire trucks and ambulances stood by, the jet touched down smoothly Sunday with no injuries.

It was the fifth emergency landing or aborted flight on Republic since April because of equipment failures or human error.

A Republic spokesman denied there was any emergency, but passengers said they were told to assume the "brace" position for the landing. And the pilot circled for an hour, dumping extra fuel, before coming in.

The Tampa, Fla.-bound flight, which originated in Eureka, Calif., had stopped in Las Vegas and had just taken off for its next stop in Memphis when a tire blew out, Republic spokesman Redmond Tyler said in Minneapolis.

"Just at the very end of the run there was a big bang. And then we were up off the ground and then bang, bang, and we seemed to lose power after about maybe on the order of a mile," said Louis F. Stolar, 50, of Milwaukee.

When the DC-9 landed, a jagged six-inch hole could be seen in its right wing above the blown tire.

5 die in house fire

TOLONO, Ill. (AP) — Fire swept through a two-story house today, killing a couple and three children, authorities said.

Champaign County Coroner Tom Henderson said the five died of smoke inhalation. Their bodies were found in second-floor bedrooms of the house, in this east-central Illinois farming community.

The victims were identified as Lawrence Bleichner, 44; his wife, Anna, 39; his stepson, James Miller, 14; a son, Eugene, 12; and daughter Kimberly, 9.

Authorities were investigating the cause of the fire, which apparently started in the basement or on the first floor of the house.

Earthquake shakes Japan

TOKYO (AP) — An earthquake jolted Japan today, knocking out electricity for several hours, halting railroad service in some areas and damaging a dozen buildings, police said. One woman was killed and 28 people were injured.

The Central Meteorological Agency said the tremor measured 5.8 on the Richter scale of ground motion and had its epicenter about 56 miles west of Tokyo. It struck at 12:58 p.m.

Police said a 53-year-old woman in a mountaineering party was killed and eight others with her were injured by falling rocks while they were posing for a photograph in Kanagawa, the state hit hardest by the quake.

Eleven others were injured in Kanagawa and nine more in Tokyo and Shizuoka, Yamanashi and Saitama states, police said.

The meteorological agency said the quake would not cause any tidal waves, although minor aftershocks were expected. Police said the quake damaged six houses and six other buildings and triggered a landslide.

Rubber plant sketches point

The United States depends a lot on imports of a wide variety of things. One such substance is rubber. Now, however, scientists in Texas have made a discovery that could reduce U.S. dependence on imported rubber. Researchers have found a chemical treatment that doubles rubber production from a desert plant. The research on the shrub guayule was made by a team of scientists from Texas A&M University and the U.S. Department of Agriculture. Their findings were reported to the National Science Foundation, which financed the research. Now that scientists have bounced back on rubber, maybe researchers could find new sources for some of the metals the United States is forced to import, such as manganese and cobalt. But that may be stretching a point.

Around the Rim

BY BOB CARPENTER

Taking a poke

I am not a Dallas Cowboys fan. There, it's out for good or ill. For years I have avoided revealing this piece of information for fear overzealous Cowboy fans would compel the Legislature to draft a law exiling me from the state. Or worse, having fans lock me in a room and forcing me to watch a videotape of all the times the network cameras have panned the Cowboy sidelines, focused on Tom Landry's slightly frowning face, and the commentator announcing "There he is, Tom Landry, the only coach the Cowboys have ever had." Since grade school I have listened to my friends, who were also Cowboy fans, discuss and tell Cowboy stories. I've heard about Roger Staubach, Danny White, Tony Dorsett, Too Tall Jones, Harvey Martin, Tony Hill, Everson Walls and others until I have begun to see the little silver and blue stars that are emblazoned on Cowboy helmets swimming in front of my eyes. Only to a same band of non-Cowboy fans have I admitted that I root for the Redskins when they play Dallas, that I have never thrilled to a Staubach to Pearson completion and that I don't care if Butch Johnson, Tony Hill and Drew Pearson are jealous of one another. The primary reason I have never liked the Cowboys, especially since they began their winning ways, is that the organization seems so cold and calculated. Rarely, when I watch a Dallas game, and I rarely do, I never see much enthusiasm or emotion from the team. The team seems too professional and ultimately mechanical. I always get the feeling Landry and Company have already played the game out earlier in the week on the organization's big computer system and are simply going through the motions of sending in their robots to carry out the computer's wishes. I know that may be harsh, but to me enthusiasm and emotion are what makes any sporting event, and I see it lacking when I watch Dallas football. One might also say I'm being rough on the Cowboys because all pro sports have their dehumanizing elements, but Dallas is "America's" team, so why not make them an example. Also, fans of the team seem to feel cheated if they are delivered anything less than a Super Bowl championship. Probably no other team since the onset of the 1970s, outside of the Pittsburgh Steelers, has given fans any more to cheer about than Dallas. But Cowboys fans are spoiled and fickle, which means quick to cheer and equally quick to jeer. To me, being a fan means sticking by a team even through a 0-16 season. I'm not sure Cowboy fans could endure such a season, especially with all the moaning now being heard about not winning a NFC championship for three years running. Maybe I just don't understand the complexities of the pro game that Dallas epitomizes. I grew up thinking the game itself was enough. But now it's a business, and winning is a prerequisite before anyone wants to get involved. Irate fans are by now phoning their local representative to draft legislation to get me on the next rail out, but, man, I feel better.

Party politics and Central America

WASHINGTON — What vital interest justifies a major American military effort in Central America? Certainly not human rights or economic improvement — two themes that merely muddy the waters. A Soviet military presence, however, poses a genuine threat. But desatellization down south can be negotiated, and that is where the diplomatic effort should concentrate, and what the Democrats should require as a condition for support of President Reagan. Human rights, to be sure, get raped every day in most of Central America. The Sandinista regime in Nicaragua is gradually strangling elements in the governments of El Salvador, and Guatemala subjects parts of the civilian population to brutal repression as a matter of course. But the U.S. lived easily in the past with gangster governments running Central America. This country's capacity to improve political conditions in banana republics is limited in the best of circumstances. Economic revitalization is equally beside the point. Western Europe retained, after being prostrated during World War II, abundant skills and resources, and a potential for political cohesion. So the Marshall Plan worked. But Central America lacks skills, resources and political stability. Economic improvement can only come as a part of a genuine world recovery — particularly of commodity prices. Even that is threatened if American politics becomes the plaything of partisan controversy over Central America. Witness the great difficulty, in the present climate, of pushing through the Congress the crucial measure authorizing additional resources for the International Monetary Fund.

A Soviet presence in Central America, of course, is something else again. It would tilt the balance of world power in ways readily comprehensible to most Americans. To avert or if necessary erase such a development, the country would be ready to support the use of force — even the intervention of American troops in a big way. But cheaper and better means exist — at least for now. Using the threat of force to instill a measure of caution among Soviet sympathizers in Cuba and Nicaragua is one. In that respect, sending an armada to the area and dispatching troops on maneuvers make a certain amount of sense. Still it is hard to believe mere huffing and puffing will cause disciplined revolutionaries to give up. Especially since they know full well that the Reagan administration quailed before a confrontation with Havana when Secretary of State Alexander Haig pushed for it back in 1981. Negotiations offer another way to build barriers against the Soviet presence in Central America. The so-called Contadora group — Mexico, Venezuela, Colombia and Panama — has proposed a formal accord whereby all countries in the region forswear resort to foreign military assistance. The government of Nicaragua has given a positive response to that proposal. A good-faith diplomatic effort along those lines would be well received in this country. If it failed, or the accord was subsequently violated by the Communists, the ground would be prepared for serious military moves. The Democrats, in particular, have a strong interest in rallying around such an approach. They have abundant reason to suspect the administration does not know what it is doing in Central America.

Everyday brings new evidence of supposedly clandestine operations seeing the full light of day, and of military plans so alarming to the professionals that American officers of all ranks come running to blow the whistle. Hence the observation by Speaker Tip O'Neill — unusually sharp in a foreign policy matter — that the military buildup was "absolutely awful." At the same time, the Democrats cannot afford to take a purely negative stance. For one thing, they would be giving a blank check to subversives working all over Latin America. Moreover, they would deliver themselves bound and helpless to the divisive forces set in motion within the party by the Reagan administration. A flat no would draw down thunder from the ideological Democrats, led by U.N. Ambassador Jeane Kirkpatrick, who likes to beat the drum for Ronald Reagan on the theme of human rights. It would drive off the Florida Democrats — including Ambassador Richard Stone, who have to serve as tribunes for the Cuban refugees. It would embarrass many Southern Democrats — including former party Chairman Robert Strauss, now of the Kissinger commission on Central America — who like to be seen standing tall on defense. Making support for the president conditional on diplomatic negotiations on the other hand, fosters Democratic unity. It aligns Democrats with a position that commands majority support in the country and in the party. It puts the onus of performance on the back of the administration. It puts Democrats on high ground for dealing with a president whom no serious follower of events can take on trust.

Business as usual with S. Africa

WASHINGTON — The Reagan administration has justified "business as usual" with segregationist South Africa on grounds that cutting economic ties would have a negligible effect on its economy. But the administration's business-as-usual apologists have been seriously understating the total financial investment by U.S. banks and business firms in South Africa — and thus playing down the potential impact of "disinvestment," which is being urged by human rights advocates. In fact, the true investment figure is almost six times larger than what the administration has been saying to defend its policy toward South Africa. This shocking disclosure was made in a classified cable to the State Department from the U.S. consulate in Johannesburg, the commercial capital of South Africa. My reporter Susan Benesch has seen a copy of the cable. "According to information we have recently obtained, the total (financial involvement) is probably in excess of $14.6 billion," the cable states. It points out that the figure "we have always glibly bandied about" is the Bureau of Economic Analysis estimate of $2.6 billion in direct investments. It's obvious that the loss of $14.6 billion in loans and investments would have measurable effect on the South African economy, which is only one-fifth the size of the U.S. economy. There is also the strong possibility of a snowball effect, with other countries following the U.S. lead. The cable notes that the U.S. share is 57 percent of all foreign holdings on the Johannesburg stock exchange in gold mines, mining houses, platinum houses, DeBeers and Palamin. It also cites more than $4 billion in U.S. bank loans to South Africans and adds: "Sixty-five percent of the loans to South Africa were made by the nine largest U.S. banks, and an additional 18 percent by the next 15 largest banks." The cable points out that "divestment proponents who target U.S. companies doing business in South Africa and banks lending to South Africa are aiming only at the tip of the iceberg." It notes that 250 of the "Fortune 500" biggest U.S. corporations maintain subsidiaries or affiliates in South Africa. The cable concludes: "All of this suggests that the potential for U.S. disinvestment could be more important to the South African economy than we had previously assumed." The Investor Responsibility Research Center lists the top five U.S. employers in South Africa as Mobil, Standard Oil of Ohio, Ford, Caltex South Africa and General Motors. About 70 percent of their employees are black, and all five companies adhere to the so-called Sullivan Principles of fair-employment drafted seven years ago by Rev. Leon Sullivan, a Baptist minister from Philadelphia. The Reagan administration claims that implementation of the Sullivan Principles will be of more benefit to South African workers than divestment. The Sullivan Principles are followed by 146 of the 300 U.S. firms doing business in South Africa, though some of them have been criticized for merely token efforts, such as desegregating workers' facilities inside the plants. Among the U.S. employers who do not adhere to the fair-employment charter are International Playtex, Chesebrough-Pond's Inc., Dun and Bradstreet International, Rep. Stephen Solarz, D-N.Y., has introduced legislation that would make observance of the Sullivan Principles mandatory.

Billy Graham

A prison sentence shows need for God

Dear Dr. Graham: I am 23 years old, and I have just been sentenced to five years in prison for a robbery charge. I feel like the world is coming to an end, and I just don't see how I can stand it. For the first time I am beginning to think about God.—W.N.

Dear W.N.: Sometimes it takes a catastrophic event to make us wake up and realize our need of God. Suppose, for a minute, that you had continued in your life of crime for many years to come, and you had never been caught. Do you honestly think you would ever have decided that you needed God? I seriously doubt it. You should be thankful you have not been allowed to go on and on in your old life. Not only would you have hurt even more people than you have so far, but your heart would have become more and more hardened to God. I know it may be hard for you to accept what I say about being thankful, because the next five years will not be easy for you I am sure. But God can make the difference, if you will open your heart to Christ and look to him each day for the strength you need. How can you come to know God personally? First, realize that God loves you, in spite of the fact you have broken his moral law and have been neglecting him all your life. Maybe you wonder if anyone could love you after what you have done—but God does. Also, realize that God is holy and just, and you need forgiveness because you have sinned against him. However, realize that God has done everything possible to make forgiveness possible. This is true because of what Jesus Christ has done for you on the cross. Right now you are about to begin a prison term because of something you have done that is wrong. But imagine for a moment that the judge in your case, instead of sentencing you to prison, stepped down from the bench and offered to go to prison in your place! Yet this is what Christ has done for us. We deserved to die for our sins, but he died in our place. Ask Christ to come into your heart by faith, and then learn to pray each day and study your Bible so you can grow closer to him.

Carpenter needs balanced views

Dear Editor, I have just finished Bob Carpenter's article expressing his contempt for Richard Nixon. Frankly I find his article disgusting. Richard Nixon was a talented man. He ran for the presidency and vice presidency five times (matched only by Franklin Roosevelt). His misfortune was to be eminently dislikeable which led to his downfall. How quickly the vultures gathered to pick his bones! Volumes could be written on political dirty tricks that have occurred since George Washington. There are few angels in politics. Generally a politician is without talent and influence — or he has influenced and all too often is bought and sold to some degree by special interests. I would suggest that Mr. Carpenter read Robert Caro's Path to Power (Lyndon Johnson) and Wheeling and Dealing by Bobby Baker. He will find no shortage of politicians for future columns. Most politicians, including presidents, have a fair degree of tarnish on their halos. Richard Nixon was a husband and father and had desires to succeed like all of us. Why should Hunter Thompson be such a harsh judge? I personally wish Richard Nixon well for the rest of his time. I don't begrudge his pension or the money from his memoirs. He's earned them. American politics is a strange corrupting world. However, as Winston Churchill once said: "Democracy is a poor form of government — but all the other forms are worse." Please, Mr. Carpenter: a little more tolerance and balanced judgment in your columns would be welcome. Sincerely, JAMES W. KUYKENDALL 2608 Rebecca

Readers like women to phone men

DEAR READERS: A woman wrote: "After 20 years of dating, I have come to the conclusion that my mother was wrong when she said, 'A lady never calls a gentleman — she waits for him to call her.'"

"I recently met a very attractive man and we seemed to hit it off very well, but instead of his taking my number and saying the usual, 'I'll call you,' he gave me his number and asked me to call him."

"Perfect! I had the option of either calling him or not. It was all up to me. I'd like to hear the opinion of men on this."

DON'T CALL ME.
I'LL CALL YOU

My mail has been running 300-to-1 in favor of women calling men. Some of the choice responses:

DEAR ABBY: The notion that it is not proper for a lady to call a gentleman should have gone out with the invention of the telephone. I am flattered by any serious call from a woman who is interested in me.

S.B. IN BEL AIR, CAL.

DEAR ABBY: I'm a 26-year-old male who has never been out on a date. Why? To say that I suffer from a crippling case of shyness is putting it mildly. I'd give anything if a woman called me. Then I'd be sure she wanted to go with me. The feminist movement has helped some, but it isn't moving fast enough for me.

FRUSTRATED IN PHOENIX

DEAR ABBY: As a 23-year-old single woman I say bravo! Why shouldn't the woman take the initiative instead of waiting for a man to call her? The same goes for dancing. I love to dance, and when I'm at a club and the music is great, if nobody asks me to dance, I'll ask a man. It takes nerve for a woman to ask a man to dance, but I can take rejection if I'm turned down. It's only fair. Men have had to risk rejection for years.

UP FRONT IN GEORGETOWN

DEAR ABBY: In all my years of dating, I've seen very few relationships that weren't loused up in the end when the woman took the initiative and pursued the man. Somehow the male ego automatically goes into overdrive and then burns out as soon as the woman becomes aggressive. I'm sure it goes back to prehistoric days, when it was instinctive for the male to hunt, pursue and then conquer the female.

Your mother was right, and so was mine. A lady never calls a gentleman.

LEAVE THE CALLING TO ME

DEAR ABBY: Life has become much simpler since I quit asking ladies for their phone numbers. I just hand them my card with a simple, "Call me." If they do, they're interested. If they don't, it's no big deal. From the lady's standpoint, she avoids the creeps, reserving the right to make or not make contact.

Dr. Donohue

Jaw misalignment causes pain

Dear Dr. Donohue: This is my fourth letter. My questions have never been answered. Sometimes you include what I have asked for in another letter, but not enough. I'm getting nowhere trying to find out what causes my trouble. I am a female, 67, who since a child has had a cracking noise in my jaw. Now I have pain when eating, pain that sometimes lasts all day, sometimes only a short time. I do not chew much on my left side because I have two upper teeth missing on that side. What kind of doctor should I see for this? — H.R.

I apologize, but, as you say, I have dealt with this subject before and as I often must, I hoped that you might apply general information given to others to your own situation. Beyond that I can offer a surmise.

You may have temporomandibular joint syndrome. It's a slight misalignment of the hinge arrangement formed where the jaw (mandible) joins the rest of the skull (at the temporal bone). If that is slightly out of line or if ligaments there are loose, pain can occur with use, shooting up the side of the face. You may hear a click when you move your jaw.

A dentist will be able to tell you if this is your problem or whether your missing upper teeth are contributing. Bad positioning of teeth or jaw muscle tension can result in muscle spasm and pain. Sometimes a bite plate is used. That's an acrylic mouthpiece that helps reposition the jaw to take stress from the joint.

Muscle relaxers can help ease jaw muscle spasms, and sometimes simply fixing the teeth and replacing missing ones will get the jaw back in line. Finally, arthritis can produce bone changes in that joint and cause such pain.

Dear Dr. Donohue: I have a problem that is disturbing me. In a routine physical it was discovered that my thyroid gland was putting out less than the normal amount of T4 fluid into my blood. I since have had three tests and my doctor wants me to go to an en-doocrinologist. I am 44 and a person who has enjoyed activity. I presently ski, golf and jog, also run marathons. I am terrified at the possibility that the doctor will put me onto thyroid medicine for the rest of my life. What will happen if I just continue as I have been and ignore the problem? — A.H.

T4 is one of the thyroid gland hormones. What happens without it depends on how much you lack and for how long. When the levels are very low, you become sluggish, mentally slow, get dry skin, coarse hair, and many other signs of deficiency. Thyroid hormone is a regulator of metabolism. Trying to get along without it is like taking your foot off your car's accelerator. Eventually, you slow down and gradually come to a near stop. With your lifestyle, you cannot afford to perform at idle speed.

I can appreciate your reluctance to take medicine for life. But a little pill a day is really a small price to pay for feeling well and enjoying health and activity. Don't ignore your problem. Listen to your doctor.

Vietnam vets thank Shaw for Agent Orange measure

AUSTIN (AP) — Vietnam veterans on their way to Washington stopped at the Texas Capitol on Saturday to thank state lawmakers for approving legislation to help servicemen exposed to Agent Orange.

At the Texas Capitol, the veterans congregated, Rep. Larry Don Shaw, D-Big Spring, for winning approval for his bill directing the state attorney general to represent Vietnam veterans in class action suits to obtain information about Agent Orange.

Dan Jordan of Austin, national commander of the United Vietnam Veterans Organization, said many Vietnam veterans "have it in their mind that the American public really doesn't care" about their problems.

LARRY DON SHAW ...sponsored bill

Jordan was an infantryman in Vietnam in 1968. He said his two children were born with deformities he attributes to his exposure to "chemical cocktails" used in Southeast Asia.

"We don't know the effects of all these substances mixed together," he said.

Jordan said a third child died before birth because of problems he attributes to his exposure to Agent Orange, a defoliant, and other chemicals used in Vietnam.

The Agent Orange convoy started in Houston on Saturday, and will travel to the West Coast before going to Washington to push legislation to help Vietnam veterans.

Oil well fire put out after burning 5 days

WEATHERFORD, Texas (AP) — Work crews planned to begin reopening a gas well that burned out of control for five days before experts used a chemical to extinguish the fire.

The blaze was put out Sunday morning when a 15-second blast of a chemical called dry powder was sprayed on the well, said Saul Nier, a spokesman for Houston-based Red Adair Co., a company that specializes in fighting well fires.

The same procedure failed Saturday because of an equipment malfunction, Nier said. The firefighting team completed installation of a new well head Sunday afternoon.

The well blew out Wednesday, burning six workers.

Fred Williamson, president of Williamson Drilling Co., owner of the rig, said work on reopening the well would begin today.

Three of the workers injured in the blast, Dennis Barrett, 24, of Weatherford, and Douglas Dumas, 20, and Paul Ruland, 20, both of Mineral Wells were in serious condition at the Parkland Memorial Hospital burn unit in Dallas.

Robert Walker, 33, of Poolville, was in satisfactory condition, a spokesman at Campell Memorial Hospital said.

A spokesman at John Peter Smith Hospital in Fort Worth said Jay Shelton, 32 of Weatherford was in fair condition and Robert Sullivan, 23, was in stable condition.

Sutton staves off Bear's late charge

FALTERING UNDER THE PRESSURE — Golfer Hal Sutton of Shreveport, La., misses a birdie putt on the No. 9 hole during Sunday's final round of the PGA national championship in Pacific Palisades, Calif. Sutton struggled to an even par 71 but held off Jack Nicklaus' late challenge to win the $100,000 first prize.

Clutch pars save youngster's PGA payday

PACIFIC PALISADES, Calif. (AP) — In dramatic and spectacular fashion, Hal Sutton and Jack Nicklaus each proved their critics wrong.

The young Sutton demonstrated that he can play solid golf under intense pressure as he thwarted Nicklaus' late charge Sunday and won the PGA Championship by a single stroke.

Nicklaus, 43, showed he can still play the game superbly, coming from six shots off the pace with a closing 66 that almost carried him to his first major victory since 1980.

After struggling to a demoralizing three bogeys in a row on the back nine and realizing Nicklaus had moved to within one shot, Sutton coolly parred the final three holes to win his first major championship.

"I'm relieved to cure that label of choking that's been put on me," said Sutton, 25, referring to his having blown a six-stroke lead on the final day of the recent Anheuser-Busch tournament.

Nicklaus, whose declining success on the tour raised speculation that he was finished as a first-rate player, showed his old brilliance as he came close to collecting a record sixth PGA Championship.

"When I'm playing well, I'm playing as well as I ever have," said Nicklaus, who had to settle for pars on the final two holes. "It was fun, coming down 18 and knowing that a major championship was on the line."

Nicklaus, who had played in the threesome just ahead of Sutton, watched as his approach on the final hole fell within 25 feet of the hole. Sutton putted to within a foot, then tapped in for victory.

Sutton, who led all the way in the tournament at Riviera Country Club, shot a closing par 71 to finish at 10-under-par 274 for the tournament.

Peter Jacobsen came from back in the pack with a closing 65 that gave him the third spot.

PGA National

a stroke back of Nicklaus. Another stroke behind was Pat McGowan, who shot 69. John Fought, with a 71 for a 278 total, was fifth.

Nicklaus said he was pleased with his comeback after an opening 73 and added that he was not overly disappointed by not winning. "I congratulated Hal and told him that will be the first of many major titles for him," Nicklaus said.

Sutton set a rookie tour earnings record of $237,734 last year and leads the earnings list this year with $397,684, including $100,000 for the PGA victory. He is off to one of the most impressive starts on the tour since Nicklaus' debut more than 20 years ago.

"I think if there's anybody coming along who's going to dominate the tour, Sutton has a head start on everybody else," said Nicklaus. "Only time will determine whether he will."

Sutton, who now has three tournament wins in his brief career, took the PGA Championship lead for good with a first-round 65. Being the frontrunner, however, made him recall his final-round collapse in the Anheuser-Busch Classic two weeks ago.

"I was thinking about it all week," he said. "And it was very much on my mind when I made those three bogeys in a row."

"But I just wasn't going to let it happen again... There's something inside of you that just punches you up and says, 'Don't do this again. Don't do it two times in a row. Don't embarrass yourself on national television.'"

Rizzo makes rebound, overtakes Lock

DANVERS, Mass. (AP) — Patti Rizzo, the 1982 LPGA rookie of the year, was ready to quit the women's golf tour early last month after five payless weeks.

Instead of going home to Florida, though, she decided to stick it out. She got back in the money at Indianapolis and the U.S. Open and realized she had made the right decision.

"I've put a lot of pressure on myself to win this year even though I knew I had to work my way up," the 23-year-old former University of Miami, Fla., All-American said Sunday. "Now I feel like I belong."

Rizzo's determination, along with her anger over a 1-over-par 73 Saturday, paid off as she charged from behind to overtake Jane Lock and fashion her first Ladies Professional Golfers Association victory in the $175,000

Boston Five Classic at Radisson Ferncroft Country Club.

"I was ready to go today," Rizzo said after finishing with a 4-under-par 68 for a 72-hole total of 277 and a 2-stroke victory over Lock, an Australian just starting her second year on the tour.

Boston Five

"Many players can't sleep before a final round if they have a chance to win," Rizzo said. "But I was furious over my play Saturday, I was so mad at giving away so many shots that I went to the practice area and hit buckets of balls."

"Then I went home and slept like a log. When I woke up I felt real good. I wasn't nervous. I felt ready to charge."

And Rizzo did just that — charge. She birdied three of the first five holes, pulling into a tie. Then she took the lead for good as Lock took a bogey 5 on the seventh green.

Rizzo built her lead to four strokes, but Lock, looking for her first U.S. victory, refused to quit. The 28-year-old onetime physical education instructor in Australia pulled to within two with a birdie on the 70th hole, but time ran out.

Rizzo called her victory a present to a Miami doctor, Jimmy James. She said she considered herself a tomboy eight years ago at the age of 15.

Games 'heat' up in Helsinki

HELSINKI, Finland (AP) — World record-holders Anna Ambrosene of the Soviet Union and Jarmila Kratochvilova of Czechoslovakia led the advance through the heats today in the World Track and Field Championships.

While heats, qualifying and semifinals predominated the program, finals also were scheduled in the men's and women's 100-meter dashes, and in the men's triple jump.

Ambrosene, the world record-holder in the women's 400-meter intermediate hurdles, a relatively new event in international competi-

NORWAY'S GRETE WAITZ ...wins first world gold in marathon

Maria Pinigina of the Soviet Union, the World University Games champion, posted the fastest time, 51:05, followed by Irina Basakova of the Soviet Union (51:07) and Tatana Kocembova of Czechoslovakia (51:88).

In the second round of the men's 400, Erwin Skarmahl of West Germany and Bert Cameron of Jamaica, who own the two fastest times in the world this year, were pitted in the same heat.

Cameron finished first in 45:76, with Darren Clarke of Australia the runner-up in 45:86 and Skarmahl third in 45:90.

There was Norway's Grete Waitz, a major pioneer of women's long-distance running, wearing down the early pacesetters and becoming the championships' first gold medalist by capturing the women's marathon.

The 29-year-old former schoolteacher from Oslo was timed in 2 hours, 28 minutes, 9 seconds in beating runner-up Marianne Dickerson of the United States by exactly three minutes.

Dickerson, running only her third marathon, sprinted past Raisa Smekhnova of the Soviet Union with about 100 meters remaining to earn the silver medal. Dickerson was clocked in 2:31:09 and Smekhnova in 2:31:12.

Kratochvilova was timed in 52:40, behind Marita Payne of Canada (52:23) and Katya Ilieva of Bulgaria (52:37).

It also was the slowest of the four heats.

The other gold medalists were Edward Sarul of Poland, who won the men's shot put with a heave of 70 feet, 2 1/4 inches, and Ernesto Canto of Mexico, winner of the 20-kilometer walk in 1:20:49.

World Games

tion, won her second-round heat in 56.30 seconds.

She established the world mark of 54.02 last June in Moscow.

Ambrosene's time was the fastest in the four second-round heats leading up to Tuesday's semifinals.

The other heat winners were Ekaterina Fesenko of the Soviet Union (56.43), Debbie Flintoff of Australia (56.47) and Nawal El Moutawakil of Morocco (56.52).

Kratochvilova, world record-holder in the women's 800, ran easily in a second-round heat of the 400. Trying to conserve her energy in her quest for a 400-800 double, the Czech finished only third in her heat in reaching Tuesday's semifinals.

Hogeboom sparkles, White still No. 1

DANNY WHITE ...still the starter

GARY HOGEBOOM ...impressive showing

IRVING, Texas (AP) — Danny White threw two interceptions and was booed but he's still the starting quarterback for the Dallas Cowboys.

All jobs are supposed to be wide open in 1983 according to Coach Tom Landry's blueprint for the season. Backup quarterback Gary Hogeboom clearly had the hotter hand Saturday night in rallying the Cowboys to a 20-17 National Football League preseason victory over the Miami Dolphins.

With Dallas trailing 17-6 and less than two minutes to play, Hogeboom flipped a screen pass to rookie running back Chuck McSwain which was turned into a 67-yard touchdown.

After a successful outside kick, Hogeboom completed four passes to take Dallas from the 50 to the Miami 1-yard line where McSwain scored with two seconds to play.

Hogeboom completed 17 of 31 passes for 199 yards while White hit 10 of 16 passes for 85 yards, plus the two interceptions. White was booed by some fans when he left the field after his second interception.

"It was just another game as far as the quarterback situation," Landry said. "Danny is still our quarterback and I don't have any concern there."

"Of course, it could change during the season."

Landry added on Hogeboom's behalf, "It's always good for you if you are the quarterback at the end of the game and you win it."

Many of the Cowboys joked about the quarterbacking "controversy." Asked about it, wide receiver Drew Pearson quipped, "I'm not worried about that one, I'm worried about the wide receiver controversy. That's giving me enough problems.

"I wouldn't be here right now if I didn't think I could be No. 1."

Gary Hogeboom

"The other one will work itself out. I'm just glad we have not only two but three good quarterbacks. Glenn Carano didn't get out there but he has been doing a good job in training camp."

Pearson said Hogeboom had the hotter hand.

"Gary moved the team at the end and hit the key passes, which was good," said Pearson. "He looked a little rough in some situations, but when it counted he hit the key man. That's a big plus for our team because that gives him a lot of experience in that situation."

Pearson said the Cowboys, who have been disappointed by losing in the National Conference title game the last three seasons, got a big lift out of the last-second victory.

"Any time you win one, especially pulling one out of the fire like this one it does something for your team," Pearson said. "Everytime you win one it is another block in your building toward success."

Hogeboom said he was optimistic about winning the job away from White.

"I wouldn't be here right now if I didn't think I could be No. 1," he said. "I don't think I've ever been as pumped up after a game as I was this one."

White complimented Hogeboom, saying, "I thought he did a real good job."

Miami built a big lead on touchdown runs of 5 and 8 yards by Tony Nathan and Eddie Hill, respectively, then watched the Cowboys finally whittle it down behind Hogeboom.

The Cowboys also got a 52-yard field goal from Rafael Septien and a 51-yarder from rookie Raul Allegre of Texas.

Rangers, Indians split

CLEVELAND (AP) — The Cleveland Indians' second-game victory in Sunday's doubleheader with the Texas Rangers was all the more painful for Texas Manager Doug Rader because he didn't believe the game should have been played at all.

The 7-0 Cleveland triumph, behind Tom Brennan's first major league shutout, replaced an April 14 game that was rained out with Texas leading 4-1 in the fourth inning. Rader had said at the time he felt the tarp was pulled onto the field too soon.

"I didn't like it then. Things haven't changed any," Rader said, calling Sunday's loss "specially irritating."

Sunday's first game was more palatable to the Rangers' boss. George Wright drove in one run and scored twice while Victor Cruz earned his first save since May 1981 in a 4-3 Texas victory.

Cruz, who spent 1979 and 1980 in Cleveland, allowed one hit and struck out three in three innings.

Charlie Hough, 9-10, started the first game for Texas and gave up three runs on eight hits in six innings.

After Cleveland starter Bert Blyleven left the game because of a stiff shoulder following the fourth inning, Dan Spillner, 1-7, surrendered a fifth-inning single to Wright and an RBI double to Dave Hostetler. Blyleven was expected to miss his next start.

Royals 1, Red Sox 0

Just once, the Boston Red Sox would like to see a natural delivery from a Kansas City pitcher. Instead, they get side- and under-armed to death.

The Royals had been starving for effective right-handed starting pitchers all season. But this weekend, they got a shutout from Eric Rasmussen on Saturday night and a combined three-hitter from veteran Gaylord Perry and ace reliever Dan Quisenberry in a 1-0 decision Sunday.

Perry, whose two strikeouts gave him 3,506 for his career, two short of Walter Johnson, won his 312th game, surrendering only two hits in seven innings. He used a sidearm delivery to stifle Boston until submariner Quisenberry finished up for his major league-leading 28th save.

Pat Sheridan belted a home run off Red Sox rookie Dennis Boyd, 2-2, in the fourth for the only run.

White Sox 4, Orioles 3

Despite the Royals' win, they couldn't gain ground on the White Sox, who are five games up in the West after Sunday's win at Baltimore. Greg Luzinski homered for the third straight game and LaMarr Hoyt joined Rick Honeycutt of Texas and Scott McGregor of Baltimore as 14-game winners with his fourth consecutive victory.

Tigers 8, Yankees 3

Detroit had surrendered 25 runs and 31 hits in the first two games of the New York series, but came back behind pitchers Dan Petry and Aurelio Lopez and the hitting of Lance Parrish, who got his 17th homer, and Lou Whitaker, who was 4-for-4.

Brewers 9, Blue Jays 6

Toronto left home riding high, just two games out of first place and talking bravely about winning on the road. But the Blue Jays were swept in Milwaukee to fall into fifth place in the East.

Charlie Moore had three RBI and Ted Simmons and Jim Gantner each drove in two runs as Milwaukee moved within 1½ games of Baltimore.

A's 6, Twins 0

At Minnesota, Chris Codiroli and Keith Atherton combined on a six-hitter and Bob Kearney scored three runs as Oakland won for the 10th time in 14 starts. Codiroli went six innings but, after issuing a pair of walks, was replaced by Atherton.

Angels 4, Mariners 3

In Seattle, Reggie Jackson's sixth-inning RBI grounder snapped a 3-3 tie and Bobby Grich cracked a two-run double as California avoided the first four-game sweep in the Mariners' seven-year history.

Jackson's ground ball, which forced Grich at second, scored Fred Lynn from third and gave Jackson a career total of 1,428 RBI, one ahead of Charlie Gehringer and into 28th place on the all-time list.

Giants topple Jets

EAST RUTHERFORD, N.J. (AP) — Scott Brunner broke a third-quarter tie with a perfectly executed 10-yard bootleg run, then passed 27 yards to Danny Pittman for a fourth-quarter touchdown Sunday night as the New York Giants defeated the New York Jets 23-16 in a National Football League exhibition game.

Brunner completed nine of 16 passes for 124 yards. Two plays after a pass by Pat Ryan was intercepted by Giants' cornerback Brian Carpenter and returned four yards to the Jets 16, Brunner took the snap and faked a handoff to running back Joe Morris.

With the Giants' line moving to the right and the Jets' defense taking the fake, Brunner hid the ball on his left hip and swept untouched — and almost unnoticed — into the left corner of the end zone, breaking a 9-9 tie with 1:04 remaining in the third period.

After Ken O'Brien, the Jets' No. 1 draft choice, failed to move them in his first appearance, the Giants went 51 yards in three plays to seal the victory.

O'Brien passed three yards to Kurt Sohn for the Jets' final touchdown with 6:25 to play, capping a five-play, 51-yard drive highlighted by his 31-yard pass to Fred Brockington.

videotape of the play confirmed the Giants' argument.

Phillies 5, Cardinals 2

At St. Louis, the Phillies completed a three-game sweep over the struggling Cardinals to maintain a one-game lead in the tight National League East. St. Louis has dropped seven straight games to go 4½ behind while the Phillies have won 11 of their last 14.

Marty Bystrom, 4-7, gave up four hits over six innings to register the victory. Ron Reed, going three innings, earned his fifth save.

National League

Reds 5, Padres 3

Frank Pastore nearly did it all for Cincinnati, pitching a six-hitter and smacking a two-run homer against the Padres at San Diego.

Pastore, 5-10, registered his second complete game of the year as he walked two and struck out two in posting his first victory since July 17. It also was his second career home run.

Mets 6, Cubs 4

At Chicago, Hubie Brooks had three hits and four RBI, including a two-run single in the 10th, to lead New York to its seventh victory in the last eight games. The win also marked their first three-game series sweep since September 1981.

Doug Sisk, 5-3, was the winning pitcher. Jesse Orosco came on in the 10th inning to earn his 11th save. Lee Smith, 4-7, was the loser.

Braves 5, Dodgers 2

Dale Murphy and the Atlanta

Braves learned a lesson last August when they were riding high in the National League West with an eight-game lead.

The Braves remember a disastrous West Coast trip in which they lost 10 of 11 games and saw their lead dwindle to 1½. They didn't want to go through that again.

This time the Braves entered the 11-game trip with a 4½-game lead and the seemingly listless Los Angeles Dodgers coming back to life. But there was no repeat performance for the Braves — they won six and increased their margin to 5½ games.

"Anything can happen," Murphy said after leading the Braves to a 5-2 victory Sunday that averted a sweep by the Dodgers. "But we learn from experience, and that means that it doesn't matter how big a lead you have, you're never safe."

The Braves took a 3-0 lead in the second inning off Dodgers starter Alejandro Pena, 9-6, and added runs in the fourth on Bob Horner's RBI single and the fifth when Murphy scored from third on a double play.

Perez, 13-3, and Steve Bredosian, recording his 16th save, combined to scatter eight hits.

Expos 6, Pirates 0

At Pittsburgh, Steve Rogers stopped the Pirates on two hits and Tim Raines smashed his second grand slam of the season. It was Montreal's fourth straight victory, while the slumping Pirates dropped their fourth in a row.

Rogers, 14-6, became the NL's winningest pitcher in tossing his fourth shutout of the season. He struck out three and didn't allow a walk.

Ryan bests Giants, 2-1

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Nolan Ryan is pitching the best baseball of his career, according to his catcher, but the star right-hander of the Houston Astros almost had nothing to show for it Sunday.

Ryan, 11-5, needed a controversial unearned run in the ninth inning for a 2-1 victory over the San Francisco Giants, who managed only three singles and struck out eight times.

"I think Nolan is pitching the best of his career," catcher Alan Ashby said of Ryan, who now has a career total 3,614, only two behind all-time leader Steve Carlton. "He's consistent for nine innings, throws hard and has good command of everything."

Ryan, who fired a 10-strikeout, one-hitter at San Diego in his previous start, didn't allow a hit after Milt May singled leading off the fifth. Duane Kuiper's single, Mike Krukow's sacrifice and Darrell Evans' single gave the Giants a 1-0 lead in the third.

Jose Cruz's leadoff homer off Krukow in the seventh created a 1-1 tie, and the Astros went ahead off Greg Minton, 5-8, in the ninth with Cruz again playing a prominent role.

Phil Garner led off and was safe on third baseman Joel Youngblood's fielding error. Cruz then hit a chopper to the right side. He was credited with an infield single and Minton, his view of first base blocked by Cruz, threw wildly past first for an error, enabling the runners to advance. Ray Knight's sacrifice fly broke the tie.

The Giants claimed Cruz ran inside the foul line and should have been charged with interference and called out. First base umpire Joe West didn't agree, although

Palmer wins minor debut

HAGERSTOWN, Md. (AP) — The last time Jim Palmer pitched in the minor leagues, he was 22 — a number he would later make famous in Baltimore while winning three Cy Young Awards with the Orioles.

On Sunday, Palmer returned to the minors on a 20-day rehabilitation assignment, a 37-year-old pitcher trying to overcome nagging injuries that may rob him of his final years.

He took the mound on a hot and muggy afternoon in Hagerstown, a small blue-collar city nestled in the hills of western Maryland.

Almost 6,200 fans mainly came to watch an aging hurler with arm trouble, a pitcher with 265 major-league victories who has not thrown since June 25 and, some say, may be finished.

He went five innings and allowed seven hits and two runs, while striking out five and walking two.

Palmer left trailing 2-1, but the Suns rallied for three runs in the bottom of the fifth inning and went on to win 8-6, giving him the victory.

Your Daily HOROSCOPE

from the CARROLL RIGHTER INSTITUTE

FORECAST FOR TUESDAY, AUGUST 8, 1983

GENERAL TENDENCIES: The early part of the day is fine to work out problems with other persons and to show that you are a co-operative person in long-range plans with older persons.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Know what regular partners expect of you and co-operate more with them and do not upset a co-worker.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Tasks seem boring in but get at them anyway and then improve your appearance in some way. Be thrifty.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Don't do anything risky with your fundamental affairs. You can get your talents expressed nicely in the afternoon.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Be careful in handling monetary affairs. Study reports, etc. for possible errors which are troublesome.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Personal affairs do not seem to go right and business affairs also. Study financial affairs for future success.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Better get at that boring task and get it out of the way. Later you may find outside tasks frustrating and unnecessary.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) A pal may deter you from doing something you had in mind in the morning, and later a loved one proves difficult.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Morning is fine for going after the information you need, but forget anything of a worldly nature. Attend to business.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Have that talk with a fine friend who can assist you in your personal aims, and then keep any promises.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Early look into your accounts and handle as many as you can, then study into new ways to expand. Keep a low profile today.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Come to a better understanding with an old-time friend. Don't argue with a close tie about trivia.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Study your work and iron out any wrinkles in it. Use tact with a co-worker and avoid a confrontation over inanity.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he or she will be capable of making plans for a long time to come and can get along with others admirably. However, upon reaching maturity may become so involved with details of projects that the main issues are ignored.

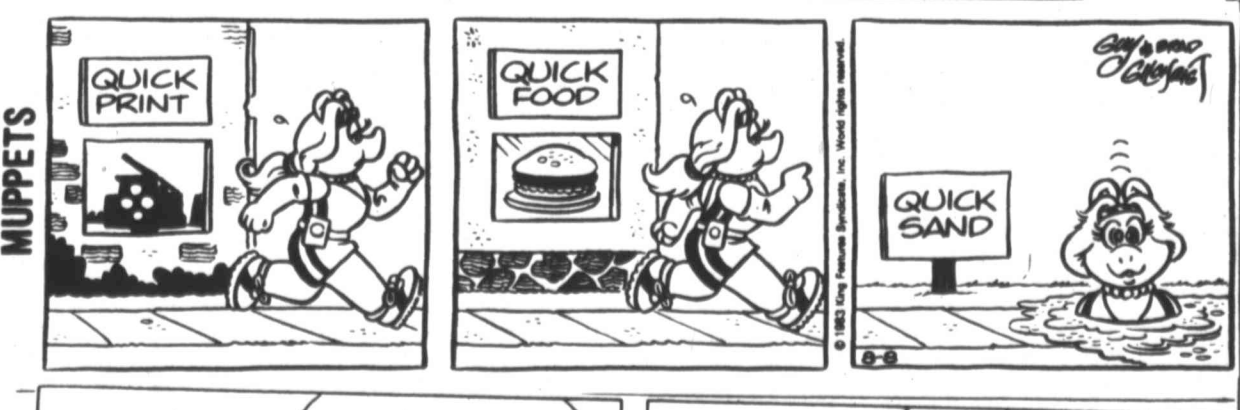

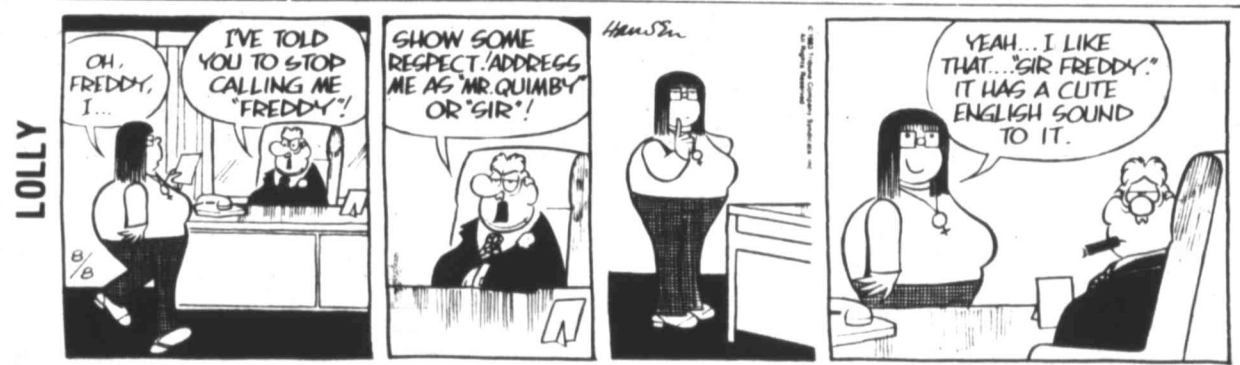

"The Stars impel, they do not compel." What you make of your life is largely up to you!

L.A. detective probes death of millionaire
LOS ANGELES (AP) — A slain Texas millionaire apparently was considering changing his will before he was killed, and had made many business enemies, an investigator says.

Grogan said that, after questioning by detectives, Kyle's two sons and youngest daughter, Jackie Phillips, retained attorneys, the Los Angeles Times reported Sunday.

Telephone numbers for Rick Kyle, 20, and Scott Kyle, 19, are unlisted, phone operators said. Frank S. Wright, an attorney representing Ms. Phillips, told the newspaper he was not familiar with any specific evidence being looked at by police.
