MARY EHLMANN ...100 years old today

Woman celebrates century

By RICHARD HORN Staff Writer

At a party for her 100th birthday Saturday, Mary Ehlmann of Big Spring received 100 red roses and well over 100 greetings of st the First Baptist Church in Big Spring. Over 150 persons attend-ed, her daughter, Martha Eul of Minneapolis, Minn., said. For much of the two-hour par-ty, Mrs. Ehlmann sat in a chair and greeted her friends as they held her hand or gave her light birthday kinnes.

The reception was hosted by her daughters and grandchildren at the First Baptist Church in Big

"I hope I'm here for 100 more years because I know you're going to be," one well-wisher said. "These people are so wonderful," Mrs. Ehlmann said. "I just can't believe it."

She was born in Airdrie, Scotland, in 1883 and moved to the United States with her family four years later. She married William Ehlmann in 1908 in Cincinatti.

"They lived in more places than you can count," Mrs. Eul said. "He was a restaurant man who helped serve food on the railroad lines." The couple came to Texas in 1929 from Florida and moved to Big Spring in 1937 to be near Mrs. Ehlmann's daughter, Ruth Pitt-man. Ehlmann died in 1942, and Mrs. Ehlmann now lives with

She still receives a pension from her husband's service in the Spanish-American War during the late 1890s. "There's probably not too many left that get that," Mrs. Pittman said with a smile.

A puppy show put on by a neighbor provided entertainment at yesterday's reception, but people seemed more interested in greeting the guest of

"I lived so long because I've worked and played and raised some lovely children," she said. "I guess the Lord was just very good to me."

Mrs. Elhmann greeted each person with an excited smile, but she looked hurt when asked what she would do today - her See Birthday, Page 2A

Tracking plan draws fire from teacher group

From staff and bureau reports AUSTIN - The proposed cornerstone for a massive curriculum overhaul in Texas public schools a so-called "tracking" system — is drawing mixed reviews from education organizations. Commissioner of Education Raymon Bynum, in Coahoma last week, defended the Texas Education Agency proposal that would steer students toward blue collar or white collar careers.

"We've been trying to upgrade the vocational end of education, especially in service areas," said Bynum, the top ranking education official in the state. "There is a crying need for courses like computer maintenance and repair. We don't really have anything like that. "There is full opportunity in that field," he said, "You could fill many of those empty offices in Midland with computer industry jobs."

The plan, touted as the product of months of curriculum reform hearings and study, is still on the drawing board but is scheduled for consideration next month by the State Board of Education, which has been empowered by the Texas Legislature to revamp school curriculum, The plan would face two additional readings by the board before it could win final approval. While opinions vary on tracking students, those interviewed for their reaction couched their remarks by noting that all they knew about the proposal is what they read in the newspapers.

PLANE FROM THE PAST — Big Springers gather around one of the aircraft at the Confederate Air Force Fly-In at the Big Spring Airpark Saturday. The planes made stops at several West Texas cities over the

Confederate Air Force lands at Airpark on promotion tour

By BOB CARPENTER

Staff Writer It starts with a small hum and grows to a roar that sounds like thousands of angry locusts. Then from out of the sky planes swoop down as machine guns hammer away and bomb explosions cause fires to flash and smoke to billow.

But don't worry, it's not the beginning of World War III. It's just a re-enactment of a World War II air battle by the Confederate Air Force — a group dedicated to preserving vintage aircraft of the era and the memory of that war's hard-fought victories.

The CAF was formed in 1960 to save an aerial armada of 300,000 planes that was slowly being turned to scrap with no thought of historical preservation.

The CAF now consists of about 80 aircraft, representing 49 different types of planes from the war years. The CAF landed in Big Spring briefly yesterday to promote its upcoming Sept. 4 Labor Day Show scheduled at the Midland Regional Air Terminal. The organization plans shows occasionally to offset the maintenance costs of the planes, all about 30 years old.

The CAF can recreate Pearl Harbor, the Battle of Midway and other clashes complete with exploding bombs and dramatic narration. And every show is done authentically as possible from the explosions to the pilots' uniforms to create the feeling of WWII. Former Big Springer Patsy Edwards, a lieutentant colonel in the CAF, arrived with the squadron yesterday and talked about the organization before it flew off to San Angelo on another leg of the tour.

Mrs. Edwards said she became interested in the CAF through her husband, the late Bill Edwards of Edwards Petroleum. Edwards, along with Rob Satterfield, another Big Springer, collected various fighter planes to help the CAF build its inventory to include one of every prominent plane that flew in World War

"The people in the Confederate Air Force just love the old planes and they try to keep them flying," Mrs. Edwards said. "It would be easy to have them static somewhere in a museum, but it means so much more when you can see them and hear them flying.'

She said there are about 500 members and 60 planes in the West Texas Wing of the CAF that stretches from Breckenridge north to Lubbock, east to El Paso and south to San Angelo.

"We occasionally hold shows to raise money," Mrs. Edwards said. "The cost is really staggering to keep the planes running. Fuel alone is $2 a gallon.

She said parts for the aircraft are now obsolete, and owners and CAF maintenance personnel must handmake parts or "rob" them from planes no longer in service.

"Its worth the effort to keep the aircraft flying," she said. "It's a terrific nostalgia kick for people. It's very exciting to hear the sounds of those beautiful engines. I've seen people get tears in their eyes watching the planes fly

Mrs. Edwards said the planes will be on display Saturday, Sept. 3 at the Midland Regional Air Terminal with the air show slated for Sunday beginning about 2 p.m. Tickets are priced at $5 for adults, with children under 12 admitted free.

"We'll do the complete show which involves all the major battles of the war," she said. "There will be mock dogfights, exploding bombs, and everything will be done as authentically as possible. It is just like being able to watch history on instant replay.

Planes that landed in Big Spring Saturday included the P-51D Mustang, the B-25 Mitchell, the T-33, L-4 Piper Cub; the BT-13, the T-6, a mock Japanese dive bomber and the T-28 nomad.

Herald begins Saturday paper

The Big Spring Herald will introduce a new Saturday morning paper Sept. 3 that will feature expanded sports coverage, entertainment features and leisure topics.

Herald Publisher Tom Watson said the Saturday edition will allow the newspaper to "add a new dimension for readers" previously not available

The thrust of the morning paper will be coverage of Friday night football and entertainment features, Watson said.

"It was always frustrating as a reader to wait until the Sunday paper to find out the Friday night scores," Watson said. Since much of Sunday's sports pages had to be devoted to Friday's high school games, the Saturday college game coverage was "sparse," Watson said. The Saturday edition will allow the paper to do a better job on both, he said.

"This will improve the overall product tremendously and will serve our readers a whole lot better." Watson said In addition to a sports emphasis, the Saturday paper will feature the lighter side of news, entertainment and leisure, the publisher said. Movie reviews, local cultural events, children's features and entertainment stories will be in the Saturday paper, Watson said.

Readers who enjoy entertainment items will be able to find them on a regular basis in the Saturday morning edition, Watson said. Both entertainment and sports have suffered due to lack of space, he added. "There never has been enough space to do the job we wanted," Watson said. "This will vastly improve our sports coverage ... and be something that will please our Watson said the Saturday paper is not expected to attract many more readers since the paper already leads in market penetration, according to a recent study.

"The readers are going to get served a better cultural package Watson said.

The Saturday paper will cause an adjustment in subscription rates Sept. 1 that will actually lower the single-copy cost for subscribers, Circulation Manager Chuck Benz says. Although subscription costs will go to $5, the cost per copy drops from 171/2 cents to 161/2 cents, Benz

Benz said carriers will begin collecting next week at the new rate.

Light shower washes city

Houston's loss was Big Spring's

A thundershower created in the wake of Hurricane Alicia doused the city early Saturday evening, but the rain still steered around Howard County's cotton crops. About 1/2-inch was reported in the central part of Big Spring. The rain lasted from about 6:30 p.m. to 7:15 p.m. Because it all came at once, some streets, especially in the western part of town, had minor flooding. The rain for the most part stayed within city limits. A trace was reported in Coahoma, but only dust fell from the sky in other parts of the county.

"No rain — just sand," said Laverna Byers at Moss Creek Lake. "We saw it over at Big Spring and knew we'd get some. Not a drop." It also stayed dry in Knott, Luther and Lomax.

Hurricane leaves 13 dead, $1 billion damage

HOUSTON (AP) - More than a quarter-million storm-weary residents in hot and steamy Southeast Texas coped for a third day without electricity as the cleanup from Hurricane Alicia continued Saturday.

At least 13 deaths were blamed on the storm, which slammed into the Texas coast with 115 mph winds at Galveston early Thursday, flooding lowlying coastal areas and destroying hundreds of homes. The storm then moved inland through Houston, knocking out power to 750,000 people and shattering the city's glass skyscrapers. It finally began losing much of its punch but still dumped heavy rains in North Texas and into the parched Midwest farm belt.

Preliminary damage estimates indicated it could be the most costly storm in U.S. history.

"It's real vague, but we're estimating damage at between $750 million and $1.65 billion," Barry Walker, Dallas regional manager of the Insurance Information Institute, said Saturday. According to the agency's records, the most expensive storm before Alicia was Hurricane Frederic, which caused $752.51 million damage to Alabama and Mississippi in 1979.

A Texas A&M University computer analysis of damage said it could reach $1.23 billion.

Six of the hardest hit coastal counties were declared federal disasters areas by President Reagan. The action made federal funds available for relief and recovery efforts.

Texas Gov. Mark White called the destruction

In Houston, a 19-year-old man and his 10-year-old sister died early Saturday when their house caught fire. Houston Fire Department spokesman Leslie Busby said the family had been using candles for light and that was apparent cause of the blaze. In Brazoria County, sheriff's deputies said a 62-yearold man died of smoke inhalation after a candle burning in a plastic cup set his blacked-out home ablaze. Earlier, four people were killed by falling trees, a fifth was killed when his truck ran into a fallen tree and three people drowned in floodwaters. Another two fatalities were reported in the Dallas

In Galveston, where National Guard troops and Texas state troopers were helping local authorities with security, eight people were picked up for violating an 8 p.m. to 6 a.m. curfew, police said Saturday. No looting was reported but scavengers prowled miles of beach and roadway where stormtossed debris was heaped.

Authorities said they would arrest people who took items from private property but material from

ODESSA (AP) - Plans to transfer a 3-month-old Odessa boy to a Galveston hospital for a possible liver transplant have been delayed because the hospital suffered damage, the boy's doctor says, Shane Wells, son of Kalem and Relie Wells, was to have been flown Sunday to John Sealy Hospital to be evaluated for a possible liver transplant. But Dr. John Bray, the boy's physician, said doctors at John Sealy Hospital told him the first floor of the hospital was flooded after Hurricane Alicia hit Thursday and auxiliary generators were providing along public roads and beaches could be taken because it eventually would be removed to a dump

Most electric power remained out on the island 50 miles south of Houston and few telephones were working for the 60,000 residents.

'Everything seems to be quieting down," Houston police spokeswoman Karen Lawson said. No looting was reported in the city overnight but she said officers reported many people complaining about missing their air conditioning. Temperatures in Houston, described as the most air conditioned city in the world, exceeded 90 degrees with an equally high humidity Saturday.

Power was not expected to be fully restored for several days.

"The outages are scattered all over," Houston Lighting & Power Co. spokeswoman Becky Little said. Some 200,000 customers remained blacked out. At the peak of the storm, the number stood at 750,000, the highest number of power failures ever recorded by the utility. Three of four tugboat crewmen who rode out the hurricane in a small raft after their boat sank were released Saturday from a Galveston hospital. The fourth remained for treatment of a broken kinecast suffered when he jumped from the sinking boat in the raging Gulf. The four were rescued Friday by the Coast Guard, which continued a search Saturday for a fifth crewman who tried to swim to an offshore oil platform during the storm.

"All you could do was hold on and pray," said one "God smiled on us that day, along with a little luck.'

Portions of downtown Houston remained cordoned off to motorists as repairs continued to hundreds of windows blown out by the storm.

Tracking

Continued from page one disbelief." said June Karp, a lobbyist for the union-affiliated Texas Federation of Teachers. She said the tracking suggestion smacks of "elitism.

'We think, if it is started, it will probably spell a great deal of trouble for minorities," Ms. Karp said.

She said she fears the system would give school officials too much opportunity to steer students into certain tracks since many parents would not have enough information to challenge their recommendations.

And the guidance they would receive from the school would be insufficient, she said. School counselors, Ms. Karp said, are, "in many instances, helpless to guide anything anywhere. They are burdened down with giving tests and compiling test results. They don't have a chance to counsel."

Harold Massey, executive director of the Texas Association of Secondary Principals, said he wanted to see the plan before commenting but noted "there must be some mechanism where you have different requirements for different ability students in order to raise requirements for those going to college without running those with a lower ability out of school.

Under the "tracking" proposal, seventh and eighth grade students and their parents would decide between general or academic courses of study. In ninth grade, they would select between general, academic and vocational.

The general courses would be sufficient for students to enter some colleges, TEA officials say. The academic area would be geared for those desiring to enter an academic university while the vocational track would be oriented to job skills.

Movement would be allowed between tracks, although vocational track students would have to delay graduation if they wanted to move to the academic track. The proposal also would increase the number of credits required for graduation and boost emphasis on riculum program for Texas public schools is scheduled to be phased in beginning in fall 1984, according to a timetable established by the State Board of Education in 1981.

Asked about the tracking proposal, David Thompson with the Texas Association of School Boards said, "I don't think we would have any real problem and probably would support something of that nature. It would have to have some pretty good safeguards.

"The area of real concern is placing a burden on very young children to make some fairly serious choices. There is some question as to their ability to make those decisions intelligently. That is probably mitigated to some extent by the parents, very strong counseling and allowing students to change tracks," Thompson said.

Although the plan has been likened to those of the Japanese and Soviets, Thompson said tracking systems are nothing new to the United States and have been used here before.

Charles Mathews, executive director of the Texas Association of School Administrators, said he has reservations about tracking students in the sixth or seventh grade. "But I would like to reserve comment on the plan until I have studied it," he said.

Ann Pennington, director of professional excellence for the Texas Classroom Teachers Association. said her group is declining comment until an organization committee can complete a review of the Brad Ritter with the Texas State Teachers Association said, "from what we can read in the newspapers, we object. It bears little resemblance to the curriculum work that has been done so far that we have been involved in.'

NEW YORK (AP) - In a survey of college deans and admissions directors from 30 universities, the University of California campuses at Berkeley and at Los Angeles were rated as the best state institutions for higher learning in the United States.

Tuition for one academic year at the two university branches costs $1,715 for state residents and $4,325 for non-residents, compared to $8,220 at Stanford, a highly rated private university nearby, Family Circle magazine said in its

September issue.
Third on the list was the University of Illinois-Urbana-Champaign, which costs $1,273 for residents and $3,088 for non-residents.

The University of Michigan at Ann Arbor ranked fourth among educators surveyed. Its 34,859 students pay $2,144 tuition if they are residents and $6,014 if they are from out of state.

Drilling rig count up

ODESSA (AP) — Since hitting a four-year low in July, the number of drilling rigs in the Permian Basin has steadily increased, says a petroleum executive.

An additional 48 drilling rigs have been operating in the Permian Basin since the week of July 10, when the rig count dropped to 208, according to the Odessa office of Reed Rock Bit Co. Last week's rig count was 256, up 10 rigs from the week before, but down 30 rigs compared with the same week in 1982, Reed Rock reported. "I think it's a solid indication that the industry is get-

Thompson said a stable price for crude oil — about $29 a barrel — lower drilling costs and a smaller schism between supply and demand all have contributed to the increased drilling activity.

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) - Actress Morgan Fairchild spent three weeks in Buffalo during filming of "The Natural" a baseball movie starring Robert Redford, but her visit was personal, not professional.

The sultry star of television's "Flamingo Road" was seen spending time with old boyfriend Craig DeNault, principal camera operator for the film. The Buffalo News reported that Ms. Fairchild was also interested in playing a leading role in the film. But she departed Friday, three days after Kim Basinger, star of upcoming James Bond and Burt Reynolds movies, was signed to the lead.

Cousteau films Mississippi

NEW ORLEANS (AP) - Jacques-Yves Cousteau, known for his stunning underwater documentaries, is focusing his latest film on the people who live and work on the banks of the Mississippi River.

Cousteau and his son, Jean-Michel, planned to set out Saturday aboard the Calypso, a converted per, for a four-Minnesota.

month trip up to the Mississippi's source in "We just finished a 15-month study of the Amazon," Cousteau, 73, said Friday. He also has produced documentaries on the Nile River and the St. Lawrence River and the Great Lakes. Cousteau said the Mississippi documentary will be telecast in 100 countries next spring

"The rivers are the roots of the oceans," Cousteau said, adding that their pollution also affects the seas. He said the documentary will show damage to the Mississippi but will emphasize its relationship to the people who live and work on it. Crew members also will travel to various locations by seaplane, amphibious vehicles and trucks. Some may travel as far as the Rocky Mountains to study tributaries that drain 41 percent of the United States into the Mississippi, the Cousteaus said.

A 24-carat motorcycle

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich. (AP) - Don't look for Orris and Nancy Brackett to take their new motorcycle through back trails or on muddy tracks — that might muss the 24-carat shine.

Their new Honda GL1100 Interstate costs $14,000. Its engine and gas tank shell are plated with 24-carat gold - a $340 option - while the rest of the bike is chromed. The wind deflector holds a $1,600 sound system, including a CB radio that the driver and passenger can use to communicate with each other.

More than 60 lights hang from the radiator, and the cycle's turn-signal switch activates a lighted image of cartoon character Yosemite Sam on the rear mudflap. The suspension can be changed with an on-board air compressor and the bike has electronic cruise control.

PLO official gunned down

ATHENS, Greece (AP) - Two men on a red motorcycle pulled up to the car o a senior PLO military of-ficial Saturday and shot him to death on a busy street, police said. The official's driver and 4-year-old son were reported wounded.

Authorities said the killers got away.

A police spokesman said the PLO official had been posing as a Moroccan businessman and had been driving to a shipping office in the port of Piraeus. The vic-tim, identified as Lt. Col. Mamoun Muraish, 39, was 'very close" to Palestine Liberation Organization chief Yasser Arafat, the spokesman said.

The PLO office in Athens accused Israeli agents of carrying out the killing. An Israeli government source denied the charge and implied the killing might have been connected with the recent PLO mutiny against

Chad predicts new attack

N'DJAMENA, Chad (AP) - President Hissene Habre said yesterday that Libya is building up its forces in northern Chad and was preparing a new assault, but Western military sources said there was no evidence an attack was imminent.

Habre and his closest African ally, President Mobutu Sese Seko of Zaire, said more than 3,000 Libyan troops were poised in northern Chad for a new assault "within a few hours or days."

Mobutu flew to N'Djamena for a two-hour visit to confer with Habre and inspect some of the 2,500 Zairean paratroopers deployed in Chad to back Habre against the Libyans and Chadian rebels led by former President Goukouni Oueddei.

In a joint statehent, the two leaders said, "Libya is building up a massive force to try a new push south from Faya-Largeau. There is no doubt that within a few hours or days there will be new development in the

MORENCI, Ariz. (AP) - A convoy of several hundred workers crossed picket lines at the strike-bound Phelps Dodge Corp. copper mine yesterday, under the protection of more than 100 state police and with two

There were no incidents as the operation reopened and only the court allowed number of pickets — five at the main gate and five across the road - were in view.

It was in sharp contrast to the scene 11 days earlier when the company closed the vast mine, mill and smelter complex after 1,000 shouting strikers and supporters massed outside the main gate.

County Coroner Robert Tezak said all four women had been stabbed or shot. He said it "appeared" one woman was the owner, a second an employee and the other two were customers.

The bodies were found at the "Greenware By Merry," craft and ceramic store along Illinois Route 30, just outside city limits.

CAIRO, Egypt (AP) — U.S. special envoy Robert C. McFarLane began meeting yesterday with Egyptian officials as a top aide to President Hosni Mubarak was quoted as saying U.S. policy toward Israeli settlements is "contradictory."

In Beirut, it was reported Lebanese President Amin Gemayal has begun efforts to convene a joint Christian-Moslem conference aimed at achieving national reconciliation in his war-torn country.

The weekly newspaper Akhbar El Yom quoted Osama El-Baz, director of Mubarak's office for political affairs, as saying the United States is softening its criticism of Israeli settlements in the occupied West Bank and Gaza, condemned as illegal by former President Jimmy Carter.

In Santa Barbara, Calif., President Reagan's spokesman, Larry Speakes, issued a statement saying the Israeli pullback offers Gemayel's government a chance to extend its authority within the fractured

Phone strike: no progress

WASHINGTON (AP) - American Telephone & Telegraph Co. and its three striking unions remained at arms-length Saturday, with no indication of any quick resumption of full-scale bargaining to end the two-week-old walkout.

Although negotiators continued to have informal, exploratory discussions, spokesmen for both the Communications Workers of America, the largest of the unions, and the Bell System management, said they did not know when face-to-face talks would begin again.

Asked how long he thought the strike might go on. CWA spokesman Duayne Trecker replied: "It may be a day. It may be a month.

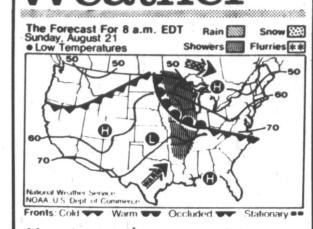

AT&T spokesmen have declined to speculate on when a settlement might achieved in the labor dispute. which sent nearly 700,000 Bell System workers to the picket lines on Aug. 6.

The bargaining representatives of the communications workers union, which represents 525,000 of the striking employees, spent much of Saturday caucusing amongst themselves, holding contract negotiating strategy sessions. In a statement issued on his behalf, Charles Dynes said only that "bargaining continues on an informal level. The union's bargaining committee is discussing its position on a number of issues.

Two smaller unions striking the AT&T are the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers and the Telecommunications International Union, which together represent about 150,000 Bell System workers.

Hurricane leaves rain

By The Associated Press Moisture-laden air pumped into Texas in the wake of Hurricane Alicia created a line of heavy thunderstorms over north central sections of the state, and scattered rainfall was expected to spread southeast and into the Panhandle.

The thunderstorms extended on a line from north of Wichita Falls to east of Abilene. Another group of storms moved slowly into the central and east cen-

Patchy fog produced by abundant moisture and light winds reduced visibility to below 5 miles in the Houston area, the National Weather Service said.

Elsewhere, partly cloudy to cloudy skies prevailed across the eastern half of the state. The lower Rio Grande valley, South Texas and the Trans-Pecos region enjoyed mostly fair skies.

Winds were southerly across the state at 5 to 15 mph except along the upper coast, where light and variable winds prevailed.

Temperatures ranged from the upper 60s in the Panhandle to the 80s in South Texas.

Fair to partly cloudy skies and continued warm temperatures are expected statewide. Scattered thunderstorms should continue across the Panhandle as well as North Central and Southeast Texas. Afternoon temperaures will range from the low to mid 90s over most of the state.

Thunderstorms moved into Oklahoma and southern Kansas, and the National Weather Service was predicting cooler temperatures and showers across the Plains and the lower Mississippi Valley. However, forecasters were not expecting enough rain to break the drought that has devastated crops throughout the nation's midsection.

Triple-digit temperatures hit Indiana, Iowa and Illinois on Friday, with at least 10 cities reporting record-breaking heat, and 23 others tying high temperature records for the date.

In Chicago, where the mercury reached 99 degrees, officials opened emergency cooling centers for the first time this summer.

Record-breaking heat was also reported in the South, where Columbia, S.C., registered 102 degrees.

Twin sister volunteers to have baby

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP) - After five miscarriages and a hysteretomy. Martha Harris knew she would never bear a child. But her 1-year-old daughter is as close to her own as possible - born to her identical twin sister, whom doctors impregnated with her husband's sperm.

Attorneys for the family say it is the first case of surrogate motherhood in Alabama and one of a handful of cases in the world in which an identical twin has served as a surrogate mother.

Since identical twins have very similar genetic makeups, Heather Michelle Harris will probably resemble Mrs. Harris almost as much as she does her natural mother, Mrs. Harris' twin sister, Mary Curlette.

After Heather was born on July 29, 1982, Mrs. Harris and her husband, Jimmie, adopted her. There are no laws in Alabama governing surrogate motherhood.

Harris, who describes himself as a born-again Christian, said he once felt such a medical procedure was against God's will as he understood it in the Baptist faith.

But later, he said, "I studied my Bible from Genesis to Revelation, and I couldn't find anything against it."

In an interview this week, Harris said his brother-in-law, Gene Curlette, helped change his mind — and his life.

"First off," Harris recalled, "he said he loved me. And that's not something I'm used to somebody saying, because I wasn't raised a Christian. Then he said something even worse than that. He asked me to pray about it.

"You can ask a guy's opinion, or for his advice, but when you ask him to pray about something, he hasn't got much of an out. So I did."

Harris asked his preacher's advice. "He said he couldn't see anything wrong with it," he said. And his wife and her sister both had been pushing for Harris to approve the surrogate motherhood.

But even after Harris agreed, there was another problem. Doctors said it would probably take several tries before Mrs. Curlette became pregnant with the implanted sperm. Harris said he would only agree to two attempts.

The first one failed. But, said Mrs. Harris, "It took the second time. We didn't think it would.'

Mrs. Curlette, 31, who has a 3-year-old daughter, said the desire to carry her twin's child was strong after Mrs. Harris under went the hysterectomy after suffering five miscarriages in seven years.

'When they rolled Martha into the operating room, I looked at Jimmie and said, 'Let me carry her child. I'm sure I can," Mrs. Curlette recalled. "He just looked at me and said point-blank, 'No,' with an expression like 'Don't ask again.'''

But Mrs. Curlette's husband stepped in to help convince Harris.

"I knew what Martha and Jimmie had gone through and I was all for it," Curlette said. "It had been on my mind every

Blueprint for America

A pack of Democrats has been crisscrossing the nation seeking support for their party's presidential nomination. Although former Vice President Walter Mondale and Sen. John Glenn are the leaders, no one has ignited public excitement.

Potential Republican candidates wait for President Reagan to announce whether he will run. Most astute observers assume that Mr. Reagan will seek another term.

For any Democrat to win, or for another Republican to win if the president does not run, the candidate will have to find some way to turn on the electorate.

AT THIS POINT most Americans are politically lethargic. They still are worried about the economy, they do not want to be involved in a war in Central America, they fear a nuclear war and they are worried about their own future.

The average person is more concerned with day-to-day living than with national issues. And most people see little difference between the various candidates.

This is not to say the public cannot be excited politically. But to do so a candidate will have to develop an original program

SUCH A PROGRAM might be called a Blueprint for America. It should set out a program to meet the nation's needs for the rest of this century. And it should be bold rather than trying to appeal to special interest groups.

If any candidate, Democratic or Republican, can develop such a blueprint, he will be a serious contender. For the Democrats this scenario is essential, for otherwise Mr. Reagan will be re-elected by default.

They're still rolling, bouncing back and forth from Malibu Beach to Long Beach, from Beverly Hills to Bel Air. The more colorful screws bounce around Hollywood, toppling over into Melrose Avenue, the center of punk haute couture.

This is L.A., home of the Los Angeles Dodgers, the Oakland Raiders, E.T. - the Extraterrestrial and the extraterrestrial Moonie Church; where all buildings over 20 years old are hidden by glass skyscrapers and hill-perched condominiums, themselves barely perceivable through an oppressive smog which gathers and dissipates in tempo with the crush of highway

L.A. is elusive, like the glittering dream which has drawn starlets and sailors and savants to its shores for the expanse of this century. What makes it tick? Is it the show business of Hollywood (Burbank), the massive universities which blend into the cityscape, or the giant ports clogged with oceanbound tonnage?

I spent five days in L.A., bouncing from city border to city border, peering leering sneering at ostentatious displays of wealth, decadence and other forms of excess which the natives exhibit with much pomp and little abash.

I visited three monuments: The Queen Mary (it's a hotel in Long Beach), the Spruce Goose (Howard Hughes' superbird is grounded and looks more like a duck), and Beaver Cleaver's television home (it's a

I got two impressions: Culture in L.A. is as solid as a mud slide, and everything is transient.

I came to one conclusion: L.A. ex-

The city had no history before Cecil B. DeMille, and it has produced very little since the introduction of the movies. L.A. is frenzy without I'll return to Beaver Cleaver TV tyke, who may provide a clue to the city's purpose. In "Leave It To Beaver," Hollywood (Burbank) showed us that is all right to be innocent and naive and a little foolish growing up. "Beaver" was a celebration of being American, a welcome message to the country during the Cold War years of the early '60s when the series ran.

If L.A. shall be remembered, it will be as a giant projection screen. It takes America's follies and fantasies and broadcasts them back to us on TV, film and record. L.A. is America's mirror of itself. An exaggerated image to be sure, but a clear picture, nonetheless, of what we are and where we're going.

I suppose I can excuse the environ's inhabitants for living the exaggerations of Hollywood (Burbank). A mirror must be polished, shimmering and glimmering to bounce back an image. What I don't understand is why there is such a dearth in L.A. of left-hand turn traffic signals.

I'm not at all convinced, I remind you, that show business is what L.A. is all about. The super-rich surfers and their New Wave girlfriends at Malibu seem oblivious to all but curls and tans. And the banks and docks are doing brisk business in tradewind trinkets.

I'll let L.A. determine the substance of its soul, the tempo of the times and any reason it can offer for occupying so much space. L.A. is a new city; it's still growing up, and it's all all right to be innocent and naive and a little foolish when you're growing up. Ill just be satisfied if Paramount (which is still in Hollywood) can manage to churn out Star Trek III. I love L.A., but I'll leave it to

Editor's Column

By LINDA ADAMS

At least they weren't dozing

whom Lovie Lot

I nominate the following letter to the editor as gentlest putdown of the year.

We had just finished dinner. Gibson had the Friday, August 12, 1983, edition of the Big Spring Herald when he exclaimed excitedly "dozer

"What are you talking about Gibson?" I asked.

He read the caption under the Herald photo by James Iley. "Dozer on stilts - A bulldozer which belongs to the Permian Utilities Co. is shown as it prepares to dig into the asphalt on Goliad Street. The bulldozer appears to be on stilts as it is raised above the ground. 'Gibson," I said, "you know that a bulldozer is not being used by Permian Utilities to dig asphalt on Goliad Street and you also know that if they were using a bulldozer it would not be on stilts. Who do you think you're kidding? I've never heard of a dozer on stilts. I think you've been reading too much science fiction lately."

"I'm not kidding," said Gibson. "There's a picture on the front page of the paper and it's called a dozer on stilts.' "Well," I said, "that's a new one on me. I thought Permian Utilities was using loader backhoe tractors on their work for the city, and you know that in their work they would be utilizing the machines properly and have them in a stationary position, when digging, by putting down the stabilizers and loader bucket. You don't suppose that the picture is really a loader backhoe, do you?"

... not a 'dozer on stilts

Said Gibson, "Well, at first I thought it was a backhoe, but then I read the caption and learned it wasn't. I could have sworn it was though, cause it sure looks like what we've been calling loader backhoe tractors for some 25-plus years now, ever since the J.I. Case Co. introduced the design in 1957 until today when it is the most respected tractor of its kind in the world

"Is it a Case tractor, Gibson?" "I can't read the name, but it does have a number on the loader frame and also on the bucket arm.

I said, "What's the number?" He said, "580D."

"You know, Gibson, that the 580D is a model number for a Case loader backhoe tractor," I

"Yes, Eveleta, I know that, and you know that, but we must be wrong cause the Herald says it's a dozer on stilts."

"Gibson," I said, "let me see that paper." Sure enough, we must have both been in error for over 25 years for there, on the front page, was a "dozer on stilts." Sincerely.

Bauman's consistent coercion

In barely three years, Robert Bauman has completed the transformation from a New Right Republican congressman to a gay rights activist. The change has embarrassed some of his former allies, gratified homosexuals and surprised everyone.

When his liaison with a teen-age male prostitute was exposed in 1980, he blamed it on alcoholism, an excuse that didn't save his re-election bid. But now Bauman has publicly proclaimed his homosexuality and is working for the Gay Rights National Lobby. This is a long journey for a founder of both the American Conservative Union and Young Americans for Freedom.

Bauman's conversion has also drawn him criticism for "hypocrisy" — as did the original revelation about his sexual escapades. He pleads guilty. After all, as a member of Congress from Maryland, he voted for an amendment banning the federal Legal Services Corp. from handling cases that "promote homosexuality."

Bauman also supported the Family Protection Act, a grab bag of Moral Majority-style provisions, including everything from stripping the Supreme Court of jurisdiction over school prayer cases to requiring parental notification of a minor's request for contraceptives. He was the darling of the religious

In his new role, however, he is pressing for laws to ban discrimination against homosexuals. "People have been dismissed from jobs, denied housing because they're accused of being gay," Bauman said in an interview on the Cable News Network. "We have a right to the same constitutional and legal protection as anyone else."

HYPOCRISY? Far from it. In his Falwellian days, Bauman thought the government ought to enforce his moral preferences and to penalize those who didn't share it. Today, he still thinks so. It is only his preferences that have changed not his view about the proper role of the state in matters of private conduct.

The question here is not whether homosexuals should be able to live their lives however they please, unhindered by legal prohibitions. Obviously they should. It is no business of the government to tell adults whom they may sleep with. Nor should it discriminate in providing employment, welfare aid or anything else. As some readers will recall, I have criticized the Pentagon's practice of discharging homosexuals from the military. Their sexuality is plainly irrelevant to their tasks.

The state's proper stance is one of neutrality. Its powers shouldn't be deployed on behalf of any particular view of how citizens should behave, as long as they don't aggress against or defraud their fellows.

If that means homosexuals should be free to indulge their own sexual tastes, it also means heterosexuals who disapprove should be free not to associate with them. A fundamentalist landlord should be allowed to rent his apartments only to fellow fundamentalists. Likewise for a gay employer who wants only gays in his firm.

If they get their way, homosex-uals will find that antidiscrimination laws can be used against them. Two lesbian bars in New York City have lost their liquor licenses for discriminating against men, and establishments catering to homosexual men have run into similar problems. What better tactic for homophobes than to carry on their gay-bashing in an "anti-discrimination" cloak?

If homosexuals want the freedom to associate exclusively with auctions and bingo winnings of items donated by merchants and businessmen that their parents do business with, for the physical in-volvement of their predecessors.

Then they are rewarded with a homosexuals in some settings, they can't deny heterosexuals the same right. If the government shouldn't enforce a particular moral code, neither should it forbid its citizens from applying their own in dealing with their neighbors. To do as Bauman suggests is to go from using government power against homosexuals to using it against those who dislike them.

BAUMAN SAYS it's only fair that laws which forbid discrimination against blacks and women should also protect gays. He ignores a crucial difference. Blacks don't choose to be black - they are born that way. Homosexuals may be born homosexual, as he insists, or they may not. But they choose whether or not to engage in homosexual acts. They should be free to make that choice, but they shouldn't be free to require people who disapprove to associate with

What Bauman ignored in his political journey is the principle of free association — one upheld by both conservatives and homosexual rights groups, but only when it suits them. However he may have changed, he is consistent in his impulse to

Drought in West Texas springs heated debate

Harte-Hanks News Service COLLEGE STATION — Drought-ridden West Texas has become fertile ground for a politically-charged debate, if nothing else

W. Roy Jacoby, state chairman of the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service, said Thursday recent reports that Agriculture Secretary John Block doesn't care about the plight of West Texas farmers and ranchers are unfounded

Texas Agriculture Commissioner Jim Hightower has taken the lead in making those charges, but he has been joined more than once by Gov. Mark White. Both are Democrats lambasting a major department of a Republican administration. But Jacoby said Block is continually monitoring the drought through daily ASC reports. Forty counties have applied for relief from USDA. Twenty were declared agricultural disaster areas

Tuesday.

Jacoby said much of the delay in getting the rest of the region declared as a disaster area is due to inaction by White. He said White's original request for aid from USDA was denied because it asked that surplus feed be made available to the ranchers. He said right now the stock of surplus grain that White and Hightower have requested doesn't seem to be as great or as available as they think. Hightower, however, calls that "nonsense." He said county ASC officials are working hard, but the problems lie at the national level.

"The relief measures they can take require no action from the governor at all," Hightower responded. "And the corn is there, just deteriorating in quality. And we have elevator operators willing to work with us."

"It just sounds like they're whining to me," Hightower said, "... like Reagan appointees defending their boss. The fact is Block sat there with his head in

"Remember these are the guys who tried to do away with all relief programs back in '81. They don't want to spend money on that kind of thing."

Pot charge against Ruiz dropped

AUSTIN (AP) — Prison activist David Ruiz has been told by parole officials that a marijuana possession charge against him will not be considered in his parole revocation hearing.

Hearing officer Ronald Valladaris said he would not find Ruiz guilty of the marijuana charge because there was no proof the marijuana belonged to him.

Valladaris said he would not rule on the remaining charges until next week.

Valladaris will determine whether Ruiz should be returned to prison to complete a 25-year robbery sentence. Ruiz was paroled in June 1961 after serving about half the time

The revocation charges include allegations that Ruiz hit his daughter, Eva, 15, with a sawed-off shotgun and an alarm clock. He was charged in criminal court with injury to a child, but the case was dismissed after Eva said she lied to police.

Eva testified Friday at the hearing that her father slapped her because she was biting his hand.

The large-scale, nocontest procedure - the whole thing required only 20 minutes — was the idea of lawyer Averil Sweitzer, who proudly claims the title of Dallas' leading undoer of marriages. He advertises in the Sunday television magazines of local newspapers and says his three-lawyer firm handles up to 3,000 divorces a year in Dallas County.

The courts cannot handle that many cases under normal procedures, which require applicants to announce that the divorce is uncontested and the marriage has produced no children.

For most uncontested cases, Sweitzer charges $75, and court costs are $68. Friday's short session in court put $8,100 in Sweitzer's pocket and $7,344 in court coffers.

Paperwork had to be done for each client, and one of his lawyers carefully reviews each case, Sweitzer said, although he conceded that many of his clients never meet him.

Rough adventure smooths corners of delinquents

SANTA FE, N.M. (AP) — When young criminals or rape victims or mentally disabled teen-agers are sent to the Santa Fe Mountain Center, they're not there for just a walk in the woods.

The center works to rehabilitate, and its tool is rough adventure in the wilderness of the West, usually white water rafting or rock climbing.

"We don't want to duplicate what other groups are doing with kids — taking them camping, showing them nature," said the center's director, Richard "Rocky" Kimball. "We're here to sort of re-program them and it takes getting as far away from their former environments as possible.

"We're out there sweating together," he added. "It's a different type of bonding between therapists and clients"

The unusual format of the 5-year-old, non-profit organization has brought it international attention. This month, a television crew from "Australian 60 Minutes," a show designed after the CBS-TV program, filmed a segment on the center.

"German TV also has expressed interest in us," he said, adding that the center had received inquiries about how to implement its wilderness program from several other countries.

Kimball said judges have sent some non-violent offenders to the center in lieu of prison. The center also provides programs for victims of rape and incest and for the mentally disabled, he said. Adult programs are offered, but the center deals mostly with juveniles.

"Part of the idea is that all of these groups have common denominators in that they give in easily to stress, have a lack of confidence, become overwhelmed easily," Kimball said.

"We use these activities, the rock climbing and the rafting, as metaphors. The mountain climbing becomes a metaphor for other situations in their lives. They climbed it, they can tackle another hurdle in life."

Groups of about 10 venture out with two counselors for periods of up to three weeks, Kimball said. The excursions are tough, especially because most of the participants have never tried rock climbing or white water rafting before.

Joy to the world!

How would you like to take a Caribbean cruise?

Silly question! Of course, I would like to take a Caribbean cruise! Well, if I had Buena Vista Harrell of Colorado City for my aunt, I could go. Earlier in the year, Mrs. Harrell took the cruise on the ship Norway throughout the Caribbean with her friend Nina Crout. She enjoyed the cruise so, and while still on her trip, she wished she had her brother's children — who were like her own — with her.

She came home and made the announcement. She told them she would pay for the trip only if and when they all could get off from their work and go all together

That's where the miracle took place.

Niece Tony and her husband Bill Everett both work.

She works for Eastland Oil Co. as a pumper. Bill works for Mabee Petroleum of Ira. Nephew Erdy Wulfgen works for Arco and his wife Dwaina works for the office of Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service here in Colorado City. Aunt Vista got on the phone and the six of them had a lovely week and stopped at St. Thomas in the Virgin Islands, Nassau in the Bahamas and Out Island, also in the Bahamas. The children, you ask, Who took care of them? Well Gran and Granpa Everett took care of Boyd Cole Everett, 9 months, and James and Marjorie Wulfgen took care of Erdy's three, Kim, Heather and Ryan.

I wish I had an aunt like that, and then after I think it over, I say: I wish I could be an aunt like that.

Something else good to hear — now my friend, Fran Prescott, is Mitchell County Judge Bill Carter's secretary. She lives on Locust Street in Colorado City. She is a lucky lady also because of her neighbors. She lives next door to coach Mike Hart's house. He and his wife, Jennifer, decided to fix some problems around Fran's house. On their own they cut down two very tall dead elm trees, a major undertaking. Some of their company even helped with the job. Mike and neighbor Buddy Compton worked on her air conditioner. Lots of hours with no thought of pay were done by the neighbors to just make things easier for Fran.

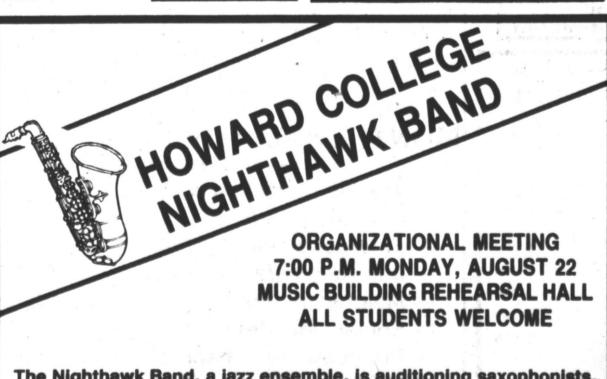

You know, Fran, I'd like to be a neighbor like that! These two stories have made me so aware that I am my brother's keeper. I wish I could be more like Vista Harrell and Mike and Jennifer Hart.

GOLDEN, Colo. (AP) — A Dallas man has been arrested on a warrant charging him with first-degree murder in the shotgun death of a man who had been camping in the Colorado Rockies.

Jefferson County Sheriff's spokesman Don Shook said Saturday that police arrested 21-year-old Rodney E. Plowshay without incident Friday at his Dallas home after the first-degree murder warrant was issued in Golden District Court.

Plowshay was being held without bond Saturday in city jail in Carrollton, a Dallas suburb, Shook added. He was to be transferred to Dallas County Jail on Monday, where he was to await extradition proceedings.

Midwest heat wave dwindles

The Midwest's heat wave began abating Saturday as hot air slid over the East and the remains of Hurricane Alicia pushed cool, wet weather onto the parched Plains.

Thunderstorms moved from north central Texas across Oklahoma and into central Kansas, with as much as four inches of rain recorded in central Oklahoma in a 24-hour period.

Indiana, Iowa and Illinois had reported temperatures above 100 Friday, with at least 10 cities reporting record heat.

But on Saturday most of the area had temperatures only in the 90s.

At Chicago, where the city opened emergency cooling centers Friday for the first time this summer as the temperature hit 99, Saturday's temperature was in the low 80s and cooling centers were not opened.

But while the Midwest cooled into the 90s temperatures rose into the 90s Saturday from central New England through Florida and to near 100 in North

Oklahoma's cotton crop may have been saved by Alicia's rain, a state agriculture official said Saturday. "All the dryland crops needed it," said John Waldrop, spokesman for the Oklahoma Crop and Livestock Reporting Service. some of the state's dryland cotton crop - an estimated 304,000 acress would not have survived until harvest without the rain,

In central Oklahoma, the rain prompted flash flood warnings, and the Highway Patrol said high water closed part of a highway near El Reno.

The hot summer that has blighted farm crops across much of the Midwest has had the opposite effect on one commodity - grapes in southwestern Ohio.

"The Catawba are producing close to 15 tons per acre," said Ken Schuchter, an operator of the Valley Vineyard Farm Winery at Morrow, Ohio. "The average is four to five tons. All you see is grapes."

Grain farmer were hurt by the wet spring that delayed planting and by the dry summer. But those conditions are perfect for grapes, said John Garrett, who runs a wineyard about 45 miles west of Cincinnati.

Out West, a series of early morning thunderstorms caused flash flooding in western Nevada that dumped mud and debris onto highways. The roads were cleared before midday. Up to a foot of water was reported standing at Hawthorne, about 125 miles south

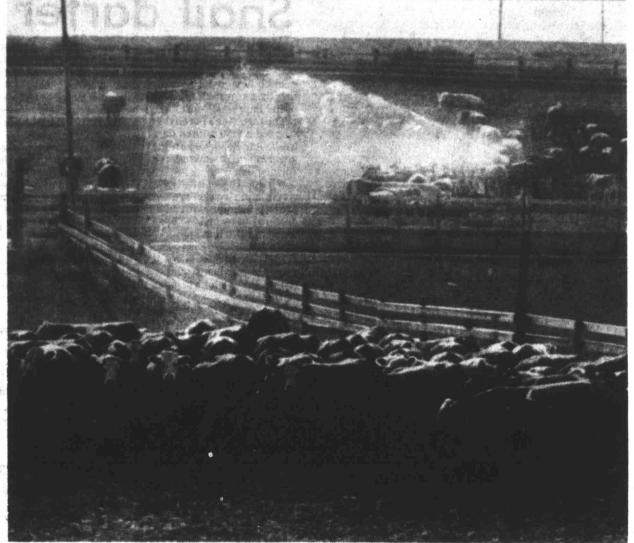

Southern California started drying out Saturday after days of thunderstorms, but all roads into Death Valley National Monument remained closed because of washouts and debris.

Rangers at the monument were ticketing motorists who tried to leave and manager Bob Quesenberry said about 50 tourists remained at the park Saturday.

At Furnace Creek Ranch Resort in Death Valley, desk clerk Marie Potter said the resort lost the business it usually gets from car makers who test car air conditioners and other components in temperatures that usually soar above 100 degrees.

"It wasn't hot enough for them," she said, as the starms have lowered the valley's temperatures into the 30s.

The storms contributed to at least five deaths last week in southern California and to the deaths of 10 people aboard a sightseeing plane that crashed in the Grand Canyon in Arizona.

CATTLE SPRINKLER — Cattle at the Indian Creek Cattle Co. in Ashland, Neb., get a cooling sprinkle Friday to break the heat of the Midwest drought. The remnants of Hurricane Alicia were expected to relieve the heat wave as cooler temperatures and rain showers approached the country's midsection.

Farm income to rise. crop values to drop

WASHINGTON (AP) — For the first time in at least 44 years, farm income is expected to rise even while the sales value of crops and livestock declines, according to new Agriculture Department figures.

The analysis, by USDA's Economic Research Service, said that 1983 cash receipts from the actual sale of crop and livestock is expected to total $135 billion to $139 billion, compared to $144.6 billion in 1982.

Meanwhile, the report said that "realized net" farm income may rise to $26 billion to $30 billion, probably to about $28 billion. Last year, according to newly revised figures, net farm income was $23.9 billion.

If farm income does climb to $28 billion in 1983, largely due to huge federal payments, it would be the highest since 1974 when farmers netted $28.4 billion, according to USDA records. The most was $31 billion in

An examination of agency statistics on Friday showed that since 1939 farm income dropped each year that there was a decline in annual cash receipts. In all, according to the records, total cash receipts declined in nine of the last 44 years.

In all, farm income showed annual declines in 19 of the years 1939 through 1982, including 10 years in which cash receipts actually increased from the previous year, the records showed.

New methods launched to lure video customers

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Has Pac-Man taken its last bite? The day of simple-minded maze video games with crude computer-drawn images and difficult-tocontrol characters may be over, industry executives

In an attempt to lure customers back into arcades, computer wizards, animators and writers are developing the means to put the players "in" the action.

What we're going to have is an adventure that you become a part of," game designer Rick Dyer said. "It will become so real that you will have trouble distinguishing between what is real and what isn't.

Leading this technological revolution is one of Dyer's inventions, Dragon's Lair, which features movie-quality animation and stereo sound stored on laser discs and "interactive" control of a heroic knight. Dirk the Daring. Dragon's Lair, in which Dirk must use both brain and brawn to overcome an army of goons, ghouls and beasties to rescue a fair princess, created a sensation when it was introduced last month. Arcade operators say the lines at the machines have been long, even though Dragon's Lair is the first game to cost 50 cents

"Sales are up so far that filling sales orders is just impossible right now," said Tom Campbell, marketing director for the game's manufacturer, Cinematronics of El Cajon, Calif

Campbell said 2,000 of the Dragon's Lair consoles are in arcades, and the company has orders for 8,500 more at about $4,000 each - double what conventional arcade games cost.

Don Bluth, the ex-Walt Disney Studio artist who drew the Dragon's Lair animation, said the game was grossing between $1,000 and $2,000 a week per machine. It cost $3 million to develop.

Jay Stein, manager of the Yellow Brick Road Arcade in San Diego, said the game was a definite boost to the arcade business, which, according to industry sources, has sagged this year after grossing $7.3 billion in 1982.

In the first quarter of 1983, the communication electronics division of Warner Communications, which consists mostly of Atari, lost $45.6 million, and Atari has laid off 1,600 employees

Arcade managers say interest in Dragon's Lair is building, even though once a player memorizes the proper moves in the game's 38 scenes — which are retrieved from the video disc depending upon what action the player takes — the game can be beaten easily.

"There are people who've gotten to the point they can actually recite what the Princess says, line for line." said Dan Lutzick, district manager of Nickels and Dimes Inc., which operates the Tilt arcade in Pasadena.

Other drawbacks to Dragon's Lair include its crude two-directional "joy stick" and the momentary blackouts as the laser searches for the next scene. But for every player who masters the difficult moves, there are scores of others still learning the

Campbell said he knew of four other game manufacturers developing laser disc games, with several due to be introduced in the next few months. Cinematronics plans two more.

Q: An out-of-town friend said he was able to negotiate a "ground lease" when he bought a new home. I'm not sure what is involved, but he said the deal lowered his mortgage payments. How does this work?

A: A ground lease is a very rare arrangement wherein a buyer buys a house, but leases the ground it sits on. This will lower a mortgage down payment, and mortgage payments due to the fact that the ground is not included in the financing. However, the lease payments are not tax deductable and, when ready to sell, not owning the land on which the house is situated will probably make it difficult to move the house. Quite often ground lease arrangements will include an option to buy the land after an agreed upon number of years.

Snail darter off the hook

WASHINGTON (AP) -The snail darter is off the hook, but nobody seems too excited now about the tiny fish that swam all the way to the Supreme Court.

The three-inch perch that stopped a $130 million dam is about to be kicked off the government's endangered species list.

While the country's rivers and streams are not exactly teeming with snail darters, they have been found in sufficient numbers that the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service believes it can no longer justify classifying the fish as near extinction.

The service gave notice of its intention to downgrade the fish's status last month in the Federal Register and invited the public to comment. So far, nobody has. Environmentalists, who used the fish as a rallying point for their opposition to the Tellico Dam, have been silent.

David Etnier, the University of Tennessee zoologist who started the entire controversy by first finding the fish in Aug. 12, 1973, is on the government recovery team that is recommending a change in the fish's status.

Michael Bean, an endangered species expert with the Environmental Defense Fund, said his organization would not oppose the reclassification "if new information does show that the snail darter is not in danger of extinction."

Some who participated in the six-year battle over the snail darter's fate believe the lack of comment shows that it wasn't love for the snail darter but hatred of the Tellico Dam that thrust the fish in the spotlight.

"Only a small percentage of the emotion concerned the snail darter. It was a lever to get at other concerns - the drowning of farmland, the disappearance of the best trout stream in eastern America, the burial of Indian graves," said Dick Fitz, an ecologist employed by the Tennessee Valley Authority, the agency which built the dam.

The snail darter proved to be a highly successful lever. After Etnier found the fish in 1973 and proved it was a new species, it was put on the government's endangered species list in 1975. At the time it was thought to exist only along a 17-mile stretch of the Little Tennessee River that would be flooded by comoletion of TVA's Tellico federal aid for a project which would harm a species facing extinction. Congress eventually settled the matter by granting the Tellico project a blanket exemption from the law in 1979. The dam was completed and the snail darter did indeed

For two years, the fish accident, biologists held up construction of the discovered snail darters dam. The battle went all living elsewhere.

In all, the wildlife service says the snail darter has been found thriving in five streams in Tennessee, Georgia and Alabama. In one of those streams, the darter's numbers are put at 3,000 with populations half that size or less in the other streams.

Marshall Jones, a Fish and Wildlife official in Atlanta, said the service now has enough information to downgrade the snail darter from endangered to the less-protected status of

No, no, no. Smear on some pine-tar. Toss in a dead seagull or two. Add a no-hitter and a couple of good bar-room brawls for good measure. Hey, it's the year of the Yankees...highlights soon to be seen on Showtime's "Bizarre."

In first place or not, the Yankees provide the summer pastime grins and groans every year. The Pinestripers, er, Pinstripers have a knack of making the news. Even when things get dull, there's always George Steinbrenner around to rant and rave about managers, players, umpires, league presidents and our nation's posture in the Middle East.

The kicker this summer was the pine tar controversy, courtesy of KC's George Brett. Instead of dabbing his pine tar to the 18-inch limit, Brett went a swab too far. Eagle-eyed Yankees skipper Billy Martin spied the infraction and pounced on home plate umpire

Tim McClelland. Just in the nick of time, too. Brett had just hammered a two-run homer and Martin probably thought the ball would have never cleared the infield had it not been for the excess tar on his bat.

The umps congregate and rule no homer. Martin jumps for joy, Brett jumps for Mc-Clelland's jugular. Soon the issure draws the attention of Mr. McPhail, American League president. Yes, the umpire's decision to disallow the homer falls in line with the rules, but McPhail says the rules "should be re-written and clarified." And so, "in the spirit of baseball," McPhail orders the game resumed August 18 with two out in the top of the ninth inning.

Enter Joe Fan who says, "Hey, I'm not paying again for a game I've already 82/3 innings of." Enter the courts who rule, after two tries, that the show must go on. Enter 1,245 fans into Yankee Stadium to see four outs. Enter a victory in the win column for the Royals who win 5-4.

There's a smudge on this particular page of baseball history.

The questions, of course, had nothing to do with pine tar. McPhail said the rules needed to be clarified; the Yankees said the rules, regardless, must be followed; and the umpires are trying to figure out what the rules are saying.

Pine tar first became a concern in the sport because it dirtied baseballs. Brett uses the substance to get a better grip on the bat because he doesn't use a glove. If he should hit a pitch on the tared portion of the bat, it's doubtful it would go very far. How many second deck homers are hit off the handle?

The situation has cropped up before. Former, a-hem, Yankee catcher Thurman Munson had a hit and RBI disallowed because of pine tar in 1975. In an opposite ruling, too much tar was discovered on the bat of, a-hem, Kansas City slugger John Mayberry after he hit two home runs against California in 1975. The umps said the excess tar had no effect on his homers.

Most fans have taken the pine tar adventures with a smile. Emery express package service took out full page ads to tell the world it was the one the American League hired "to deliver in a sticky situation." Pine tar is disappearing quickly off shelves in hardware stores; some golfers are taring their clubs to get more distance while the NHL is planning to legalize tar for next

The question this writer has is this; once pine tar is applied to an instrument of athletics, how can it be removed? By using

Until that question is answered, players in all leagues will have to ride the pine.

Hard-hitting workout pleases Eudy

His team hadn't been in pads long but Big Spring High head football coach Quinn Eudy was ectastic over the Steers' pad-popping scrimmage Friday night at Memorial Stadium.

"Considering it was the first day of pads," Eudy told his players, "there were some fine hits out there, men. You guys really got after it. You should be proud you're out here...think about that, believe that."

The workout was broken in two sessions; the first half was dedicated to preparation of the No. 1 defense while the second portion emphasized offensive team

Eudy said the defense had "come a long ways from the spring" and the offense was "better than we were in the spring." Particularly pleasing was the way the defense played the option run. The Steers also showed several blitzes which were effective in mixing up defensive coverage.

On offense, the Big Spring staff saw its complete stock of running backs perform well. Mike McKinley, Jay Pirkle and Billy Wegner each broke into the clear on long runs. Eudy also liked the looks of tailback Eric Sherman who turned a handful of no-gainers into four or five yards Eudy said his team was able to have a good firstweek scrimmage because it returned from summer vacation in good shape. "That's what put us ahead from the spring," he said. "We have a great desire to hit people. Technically, there's some stuff we've got to iron out but we can be a great football simply because we play hard every play.

Cannon given maximum sentence in bogus scheme

BATON ROUGE, La. (AP) — Billy Cannon, acclaimed as the nation's greatest college football hero two decades ago, was sentenced today to five years in prison and fined $10,000 for masterminding a $6 million counterfeiting scheme.

U.S. District Judge Frank Polozola, handing down the maximum sentence, said he could not consider a man's status and fame when sentencing someone who took an active and willing role in such a scheme.

"I have a simple question before me, said Polozola. "If the name of the defendant was not Dr. Billy Cannon, what sentence would I impose?

Cannon, now an orthodontist, won the 1959 Heisman Trophy while he was a running back at Louisiana State University and later became pro football's first $100,000-a-year player. He stood erect as sentence was imposed and showed no sign of emotion.

Asked if he had anything to say, Cannon told the judge, "What I did was wrong, terribly wrong. I've done everything in my power to correct it." His family was not present in the courtroom because of the extensive media coverage, his lawyer said.

Cannon, 46, and another defendant, John P. Stiglets, pleaded guilty to possession of and intent to distribute counterfeit money in a plea bargain, agreeing to testify against four other men. Federal agents said the counterfeiting scheme, involving about $6 million in phony $100 bills, was one of the largest ever uncovered.

The indictments alleged that and Stiglets printed the money and the other men bought, sold or distributed it. An Oct. 11 trial date was set for the other defendants - William Glascock, field and Timothy Melancon. They were arrested on a variety of counterfeiting charges after a federal grand jury issued a nine-count indict-

exhibition game.

The Dolphins have not had a losing preseason since Richard Nixon lived in the White House. With Friday night's 38-7 rout of the Washington Redskins, Miami won its first preseason game after two losses and also gained a small measure of revenge from the team that whipped it last January, 27-17, in Super Bowl XVII.

"I felt we needed to play well tonight and win a game," said Shula. The Dolphins had previously lost games in the final seconds to Dallas and New Orleans.

"It's a shame we didn't play like this last time," said linebacker A.J. Duhe after the Dolphins silenced a sellout crowd of 54,750 with a near-perfect performance.

Although Shula downplayed the rematch aspect of the contest, Dolphin defensive end Doug Betters called the game a "per-sonal vendetta" and added, "We had a score to settle."

Miami did just that, with a vengeance. David Woodley threw for 186 yards and two touchdowns before sitting down after intermission. That was his payback to a Washington defense that held him without a completion in the second half of the Super Betters and Miami's defense limited John Riggins, who rushed for a record 166 yards in Super Bowl XVII, to 15 yards on seven carries. Washington managed only 149 net yards, less than a third of what Miami piled up Friday.

Duriel Harris, who caught both of Woodley's touchdown passes to help stake the Dolphins to a 24-0 halftime lead, said: "We wanted to show we could play better football than we did in January. We are coming along slowly, getting better and better.

"Maybe we needed a good rear-end kicking," said Redskin quarterback Joe Theismann, after completing three of 12 passes for 32 yards. "Maybe we got too confident and let our good work habits get away from us.'

Quarterback Dan Marino completed eight of 14 passes for 91 yards, including a three-yard scoring strike to Mark Clayton. Running backs Woody Bennett, 65 yards on 14 carries, and David Overstreet, 45 yards and one touchdown on a three-yard run, kept the Dolphins moving on the ground. The Redskins avoided a shutout when

Mel Kaufman picked off a Marino pass with less than six minutes left and ran it back for the score and the one bright spot on an otherwise dreary Redskin night.

SHAKER HEIGHTS, Ohio (AP) - Defending champion JoAnne Carner, firing a near-record 67, picked up eight strokes on second-round leader Ayako Okamoto and surged into a one-shot lead Saturday after three rounds in the Chevrolet World Championship of Women's Golf. Carner, who started the day in seventh place in the all-star field of 12 golfers, recorded four birdies on the front nine and then chipped in an eagle from the bunker on No. 16 to go 3-under-par at 213 after 54 holes on the 6,225-yard Shaker Heights Country Club course.

Defending champion Arnold Palmer remained in second place Friday after briefly moving to 7-under par for a share of the lead. He bogeyed his last three holes, leaving him at 5-under for the tour-

"It seemed like I made some putts I didn't think I was going to make and missed a few I thought were in," said January, the second-

"This course, even though it isn't that long, makes you back off a bit because of the tight fairways and creeks," January said, who had added birdies on his first two holes of the day and picked up two more before his eagle on the par-5 6th hole put him into a tie for the lead.

Casper offset two bogeys with four birdies, including an 18-footer on his 12th hole.

"The golf course was just perfect this morning," Casper said. "I should have shot even lower. I had the ball around the hole all day but just couldn't get a few of them to drop," he said.

Honeycutt traded to LA for reliever

ARLINGTON, Texas (AP) - The Texas Rangers gave up on trying to sign ace left-hander Rick Honeycutt and traded him and his big salary demands to the rich Los Angeles Dodgers.

Honeycutt wanted a five-year contract for at least a $400,000 yearly salary. He was in his option year. "His salary demands were big and we felt we had to trade him before the Sept. 1 deadline," Ranger

General Manager Joe Klein said Friday. The Rangers traded for Dodger reliever Dave Stewart and planned to make him an instant starter. They also will receive a player to be named later who Klein said could be a regular with the team next year. Honeycutt was to have pitched Friday night against Chicago but was replaced by Mike Smithson. Stewart

"But I have a lot of confidence in my ability, too," he said. "I'm a control-type pitcher. I'm not going to throw a lot of shutouts. But if I get four or five runs, I'll win a lot of games."

In 77 innings, Stewart gave up 67 hits and was 5-2 with a 2.96 ERA in 77 innings, said he was "not the least bit sour" about the trade.

Auburn player collapses, dies

AUBURN, Ala. (AP) — Greg Pratt, a projected starting fullback on the Auburn University football team, collapsed and died of an apparent heart attack Saturday after running wind sprints on the practice field, Coach Pat Dye said.

Dye announced the death to reporters who had arrived for the team's annual Picture Day, which was canceled. Dye said an autopsy is planned.

"It's a tragedy for Auburn University, our football team, and the people who loved him and were close to him," Dye said. "He was a fine young man in every respect. He was a credit to his family, his community and Auburn University during the time he was at Auburn and we'll surely miss him."

Pratt, a junior from Albany, Ga., was running 440-yard sprints with the rest of the team as part of a routine physical at Auburn when he began complaining of cramps and collapsed, said Lee County Coroner Jon Williams. Temperatures were in the upper 90s.

Dye said Pratt was sent to the hospital last year with heat exhaustion after he ran the same wind sprint test.

Medical personnel tried for two hours to revive Pratt on the field and at East Alabama Medical Center in nearby Opelika. Williams said Pratt was pronounced dead at 2:35 p.m.

Pratt, 5-foot-8, 211 pounds, finished spring practice as the No. 1 fullback, beating out Tommie Agee for the starting role. During the 1982 season, he gained 106 yards and scored one touchdown in 31 carries, an average of 3.4 yards per carry.

Pratt played high school football at Monroe High School in Albany, Ga. He transferred to Auburn from Tennessee

College presidents seeking louder voice in NCAA athletic decisions

NEW YORK (AP) - The presidents of 27 universities are interested in playing a larger role in the NCAA and will meet next week to discuss a plan which will give them more policy-making power in the athletic organization.

The private gathering is set for next Monday and Tuesday in Keystone, Colo. Led by Harvard President Derek

Bok, the group will discuss a proposal to give the school presidents a bigger voice in the NCAA, according to a source familiar with the plans who would talk about the proposal only if he was not identified. "University presidents don't believe institutional control exists in intercollegiate sports." said James Wharton, chancellor of Louisiana State. Under discussion will be a proposal to create a new policy-making body of 36 higher education chiefs to rule on questions of finances, academics and ethics, the source said. Those powers now belong to the 46-member NCAA Council com-body is the NCAA convention, an annual gathering of representatives of 788 colleges and universities. The committee hopes to submit a proposal to the NCAA's annual convention in January in Dallas. Passage would require a two-thirds majority of the 788 NCAA member schools "As far as I'm concerned, the presidents have to become more involved in questions involving athletics on campus," said Glen R. Driscoll, president of the University "What we're doing is looking for ways for presidents to get a more significant role in shaping NCAA policies regarding athletics on campus. Some more formal or structured way seems vital to accomplishing that goal," said Cecil Mackey, president of Michigan State.

South Africans organize to fight apartheid

MITCHELL'S PLAIN, South Africa (AP) — Thousands of anti-apartheid activists launched a coalition Saturday to fight South Africa's white domination and a government plan to give Indians and "coloreds" but not blacks — representation in Parliament.

Delegates from 320 community groups, trade unions and student organizations gathered at the civic center in this city near Cape Town to create the United Democratic Front.

One organizer estimated the crowd at 20,000. "I believe we are standing at the birth of what could become the greatest and most significant people's movement in more than a quarter-century," said the Rev. Allan Boesak.

Israel inks pact for 75 new jets

TEL AVIV (AP) -Israel has signed a $2.7 billion contract to purchase 75 F-16 fighter jets from the United States, a Defense Ministry spokesman said Saturday.

Nahman Shai told The Associated Press the contract was signed Friday in Washington.

The Reagan administration imposed an embargo on the sale of jet fighters to Israel following Israel's invasion of Lebanon in June 1982, but lifted the ban last Boesak is president of the World Alliance of Reformed Churches and led the campaign to organize the coalition. Under South African law he is considered to be "colored," meaning a person of mixed race.

Rally delegates included whites, blacks, Indians and coloreds.

The front adopted a declaration rejecting the government's denial of political rights to the black majority and the laws that uphold apartheid - racial

"We stand for the creation of a true democracy in which all South Africans will participate in the government of our country," the declaration said. "We stand for a single, non-racial, unfragmented South Africa.

Archie Kumede, a black lawyer from Durban who was one of three presidents elected by the front, said the coalition's initial goal would be to oppose Prime Minister P.W. Botha's constitutional proposals, "which are intended to entrench apartheid in this society.

The other presidents are Albertina Sisulu, the wife of jailed African National Congress leader Albert Sisulu, and Oscar Mpetha, a 73-year-old trade unionist. Mpetha is currently free on one-rand (90 cent) bail pending an appeal of his conviction on a terrorism

THE DOC AND THE DOG - Akin Simpson, veterinarian, examines one of his patients. Dogs and cats need to visit the veterinarian regularly, just like human beings

Vets set myths straight

Lifestyle Writer

Veterinarians hear many myths about animals from

Some myths are amusing. Others detrimental because improper decisions are reached about pet care, and sometimes proper care is delayed too long. Local veterinarians Akin Simpson and Bobby Lawdermilk have their opinions about many myths the American Animal Hospital Association has heard. The myths and opinions are given below:

If a dog's nose is cold, it must be healthy: "It may be healthy and it may not be healthy," Simpson said. "It may have a cold nose and have a temperature. It also might have a dry nose and be healthy."

Rather than trying to guess if your dog is healthy, awdermilk suggests, "go ahead and take its Lawdermilk suggests,

THE FEMALE SHOULD be allowed to have one litnot best surgically to do that," Lawdermilk said. There's a larger possiblity of becoming infected. "She could have a retain pup. That is it mumifies and stays in there. "Having to carry the puppies and to nurse them for six to eight weeks, has to make the animal run down. This can create a more surgical risk," he said, "than an dog that has never had pups. A four or five month old dog is going to be a lot better off."

"If they are spayed before their first season, they will retain a lot of their puppy traits and remain more active," Simpson said.

"One of the biggest myths is seeing an animal become fat and lazy after being spayed," Lawdermilk said. "I spay a lot of animals that don't get fat."

If you feed your kitten or puppy milk, it will get worms: Both veterinarians agree milk cannot cause a pet to get worms. "After a puppy is weaned, he doesn't have the ability to digest milk properly. Watch the amount of milk you give them," Lawdermilk said. "If you give them to much milk it might give them

My dog scoots (drags its rear on the floor) because it has worms: "By far the most common thing I see in animals scooting is impacted anal glands," Lawdermilk said. Simpson said it may be an irritation.

Some animals are easy to immunize, some animals are a little harder to immunize, and others can't be immunized at all'

Bones are good for dogs: Bones are not good says Simpson. "The dog could get impaction of bowels, or it could get a puncture in the stomach or intestines," he said. "Also, a bone that has been laying around has bacterial growth on it and could make the dog sick."

ANIMALS THAT SCRATCH or have scuffy skin have mange: Mange is not always the case, both vets agree. "There are many skin diseases, and even fleas can cause this reaction," Simpson said

My dog can't have heartworms, because he never goes out of his fenced-in yard: "He can even get heartworms in his own yard because mosquitoes will come into yards," Simpson said. "Mosquitoes are what transfers heart worms from one dog to another."

"Most mosquitoes are domestic," Lawdermilk said. "They don't need a lot of water, and they are around the house a lot of the time.

Mosquitos don't bite black dogs, so those dogs can't have heartworms: "Mosquitoes will bite any color of dog," Simpson said.

"I have treated black dogs for heartworms so they had to have been bitten at sometime.

I'll get my dog a distemper shot so he won't be so mean: "A distemper shot is given to a dog to prevent them from getting the distemper disease which is caused by a virus," Simpson said.

He doesn't need a vaccination, he had his permanent shots ten years ago as a puppy: "A dog should have a booster once a year on all diseases," Simpson said.

Vaccinations cover a large area, Lawdermilk said. "You personally don't know where your pet is at in that group. Some animals are easy to immunize, some als are a little harder to immunize and others can't be immunized at all. The two ends are extremes. Dogs need their shots at six, twelve and sixteen weeks, along with yearly boosters.'

FLEA COLLARS CONTROL fleas by preventing them from getting into the dog's eyes for water: Lawdermilk and Simpson don't believe this myth. "First, it takes an insecticide to kill fleas, and a collar may not have that effect," Simpson said. "Second, the fleas can bite the skin and get the fluids they need.'

Through his work, Simpson has found flea collars aren't effective. Simpson said "As soon as a collar gets wet it usually looses its effectiveness."

"A lot of people think fleas go to the dog's eyes for water, but fleas actually dissolve the skin," Lawdermilk said. "They do live off of the body fluids, but eyes are not generally bothered."

A dog has rabies when he foams at the mouth: "That's a call we get a lot," Lawdermilk said. "You don't want to discard it, but most of the time it is a sign of distemper. Distemper is more prevalent than

"We generally tell people to be very careful with the animal until we find out what it is," he said.

"Foaming at the mouth can be caused by eating something bitter, by bad teeth or gums, by an upset stomach, by a brain infection, for example, the distemper virus, or by epilepsy," Simpson said.
"Normal dogs with rabies don't foam, but they may

drool," he said

If a pure-bred mates with a mongrel or cross-breed, she is ruined for life: Both veterinarians said a dog is only ruined for that litter. The next time she is mated with a pure-bred dog, she will have pure-bred puppies.

PROPER EAR CROPPING on a female dog guarantees good looking ears on her puppies: "It's 99.9 percent a myth, but holding up the ears is a learning process," Lawdermilk said. "If the female and male's ears both stand up, the puppies' ear have a greater chance of standing. In order for my dog to be protective, he must be trained to attack or be vicious. Or, obedience-trained dogs can't be protective, too: A dog can be obedient, and protective at the same time, Simpson said. A dog doesn't have to be vicious. "It's an instinct for them to protect the people they are around the most rather than being vicious. See PET MYTHS, page 2-C

Symphony Guild is in tune with city's culture

By TINA STEFFEN Lifestyle Editor

Big Spring Symphony Guild is in the midst of planning for this year's symphony season projects.
The Guild has almost completed a successful ad campaign for symphony programs and has plans on the burner for a Tasting Bee, concerts and a Christmas Home Tour.

Each Guild member called on local businesses selling ads for the two symphony concert programs to be published. "We offered a first and second prize for the top two saleswomen," said Mary Kenney, ad campaign chairperson. The winners have not been announced. Women selling more than $800 worth of ads each were Suzanne Haney, Linda Adams and Ruth Penner.

Other Guild members selling ads were Joan Beil, Marjorie Dodson, Susan Conrace, Thelma Carlile, Donna Fields, Phyllis Graumann, Alpha Morrison, Pam Welch and Emily Ward.

"We had over 45 businesses take out ads," Mrs. Kenny said. "The Guild's total financial commitment to the symphony association for support was $3,000." However, the Guild's ad campaign subtotal is $5,457 with a few ads continuing to trickle in.

"We thought it would be a good idea to divide up the sales work between the Guild members," said Suzanne Haney, Guild presient. "It was a little amount of work and a lot of profit. For people who like to visit and do PR it was fun."

THE GUILD'S WORK "has been tremendous," said Jerry Worthy, a member of the Big Spring Symphony Association's board of

"It's quite a service to the people. It (the Guild) is happy to provide the people with a symphony through its support," he said. "Everything I've heard has been good. I'm enthusiastic, too." The symphony helps the city round out its services to the people and makes the city more attractive, he concluded.

SUZANNE HANEY .discusses upcoming symphony season

Another Guild project planned for this season is a Christmas Home Tour.

"There are some really lovely homes in Big Spring," Mrs. Haney said. "We discussed the possibility in that. And in the spring, we want to have a Tasting Bee."

A Tasting Bee is an event which features eight or 10 different kinds of food to be tasted. "We want the home tour and Tasting Bee to become annual projects which will be associated with the Guild in years to come," Mrs. Haney said.

Along with the Tasting Bee, the Guild is considering selling cookbooks. They are looking at either a Dallas cookbook, which features at either a Dallas cookbook, which features recipes from celebrities, or the Guild's own cookbook, featuring recipes from the many local celebrities.

Following symphony concerts, the Guild will host receptions for symphony concert goers. The first concert will be held Nov. 11 and will feature the Fort Worth Chamber

This spring, the Big Spring Symphony Association will draw upon an area talent pool to put on a symphony concert. "These are people who are polished musicians and don't need a lot of rehearsal time," Mrs. Haney said.

ALSO BEING CONSIDERED is a children's concert to be held at the schools. It may be "Peter and the Wolf," and Rick Hamby will work with Kelly Draper and his puppets on this event, Mrs. Haney said.

Following the break from the Midland-Odessa Symphony Association, the Big Spring Symphony Association and Guild have worked to build an independent and successful organization. "We are back at square one and building momentum," Mrs. Haney said, "And that is what the Guild is for - we are a support group.

'I think right now we are trying to take one step at a time. The major goal is keeping the symphony and the association alive in Big Spring. And keeping the entertainment here, she said.

"The Big Spring Symphony Association is no longer associated with the Midland-Odessa Symphony Association, but that doesn't mean we will no longer provide a quality symphony," she said.

A debutante program is part of the Guild's long-range plans. "Girls will be sponsored by their mothers or grandmothers who are members of the Guild," Mrs. Haney said. The girls must be seniors, juniors or sophomores girls must be seniors, juniors or sophomores in high school, with seniors taking priority. The debs will serve as ushers and hostesses at symphony concerts and will be presented at a Guild function. The project is expected to begin next year after the Guild gets better footing, Mrs. Haney said.

Membership to the Guild is by invitation only, Mrs. Haney said. "But if there are people who are interested in becoming a member of the Guild, they are invited to come to the first meeting in September and more information will be given then."

The Guild's first meeting will be Sept. 18.

Lawdermilk said. "I don't think training a dog like that is fair to the dog or the people he attacks. A well-trained dog is going to do what you tell him to do." Dogs aren't the only animals subject to myths, two common myths about cats follow: Don't let cats sleep with the baby; they will suck the child's breath away: "A baby is pretty hard to suf-focate," Lawdermilk said. "I don't think there is any possible way a cat can do it." Simpson agrees. A cat's sense of balance is in its whiskers: "It's not in the whiskers. It's more from their brain and ear sensations," Simpson said. "However, going through an opening they will use their whiskers for feeling."

"Balance is tied up with the inner ear," Lawdermilk said. "Although, whiskers don't have anything to do with balance, they do have nerve endings, which give the cats an extra sense.

Don't ever overlook the obvious and always check every possible aspect out, Lawdermilk said. "Any statement with the word 'always' is a myth."

Woman's live-in often steps out

DEAR ABBY: It's never too late to ask for advice. I'm a 61-year-old widow who's very much in love with a wonderful 63-year-old man. I would like to get married, but he's divorced and is soured on marriage, so I'm willing to accept him on his terms.

Dear Abby

We've been living together for four years (in my home), and although he's fairly well-to-do, I ask only that he pay half the food expenses. We both love to travel and have taken some wonderful trips together. (We share travel expenses.)

Now the problem: He says he loves me, but lately he's been taking an attractive 40-year-old woman to lunch quite regularly. I object to this and he can't understand why. He says she is just a "friend" whose company he enjoys, but I think there's more to it. How should I handle this? I don't want to lose him.

INSECURE DEAR INSECURE: Couples who live together and "love" each other do not date others. Tell him that you feel threatened by his luncheon dates. If he loves you, he'll stop dating. If he refuses to stop, you've already lost him. Then the choice is yours: Put up with the dating or tell him to walk.

DEAR ABBY: I was 27 when I married "John." He was 33. We decided not to start a family until we were sure our marriage would last. (We had lived together three years before we married.)

To make a long story short, I am now 43, and John is still reluctant to start a family! I know that women have had babies in their middle and late 40s, but I also know that the chances for having a healthy, normal baby are reduced as the mother's age advances. How much longer is it safe to wait? Or am I already too old? TIRED OF WAITING

DEAR TIRED: Since it's obvious that your marriage has lasted, you'd better have a heart-to-heart talk with your husband and find out if there's another reason he's stalling. In the meantime, your biological clock is running out. See your gynecologist and take his

DEAR ABBY: My wife of one year has always been in the habit of eating dinner late, so she serves dinner anywhere between 8:30 p.m. and 11 p.m.

I have heard that eating late and going to bed on a full stomach causes a person to become fat. We have both gained weight since we got married and I think

I have not changed the amount of food I eat, only the time I eat. My wife says it makes no difference when you eat, that weight gain is a matter of metabolism and how much you eat and exercise.

I say she should serve dinner earlier. She says I should get more exercise and eat less. Please settle CHUBBY HUBBY IN L.A. DEAR CHUBBY: It doesn't matter when you eat. Weight gain is caused by consuming more calories than you burn. But what does matter is that your wife serves dinner too late for your taste, so while you're still newlyweds, agree to a compromise that's palatable for both of you.

Mary Ehlmann is 100 years old

MARY EHLMANN celebrated her 100th birthday yesterday and was honored with a reception at First Baptist Church. Her children and grandchildren hosted the reception. Congratulations Mary!

JOYCE ELLIOTT, a former J.C. Penney associate, is living in Austin and loves the city, but she misses all of us in Big Spring.

CAROL HUNTER was honored recently with a surprise going-away breakfast Saturday. SHIRLEY SHROYER and DENE SHEPPARD hosted the event and JOHNNIE LOU AVERY was mistress of ceremonies, presenting several "fun" gifts to Carol which have symbolic meaning of her days in Big

Also attending were MARY JOY COWPER, POLLY MAYS. ROBERTA SHIVE, DOROTHY DUNNAM, HELEN GLADDEN, JANICE ROSSON, DELYNDA HARRELL, LINDA PATTERSON, PAT RUTLEDGE, JOYCE WASH and EILEEN CLANTON.

Everyone recounted a brief memory or a funny incident involving Carol. Carol's new address is 2422 Lakeview Circle, McKinney, Texas.

KEITH BRISCOE and wife GAYLE MORAN vacationed in the Los Angeles area last week. They visited with Gayle's sister TONI, and Toni's husband STEVEN WARE in Hollywood. Toni is a minor commercial star, Keith said. During their five day stay in California, they visited Malibu Beach, Universal Studios, Beverly Hills, Hollywood, the Queen Mary ship and Howard Hughes' airplane, the "Spruce

The couple also visited Long Beach, UCLA, and saw a movie on Hollywood Blvd. "We saw two or three movies being filmed," Keith said. He wasn't sure what movies they were. The couple also visited Burbank where all the movie studios are located.

Keith and Gayle also shopped in the garment district where one can buy designer clothes at cheaper prices. They also looked at a few stores on Rodeo Drive. "No one realizes how much work JOE (WHITTEN) does getting the trips and performances together, says MARK WARREN about the "HIS CHILDREN" prison concert tours. Mark was a member of "His Children" and toured with the group this year. "He works a lot to get things lined up and rehearsing, selecting music, working out the details. It really means a lot to them - Joe and VIRGINIA (WHIT-TEN) — to do the prison ministry.'

Whitten is the minister of music at First Baptist Church and directs "His Children," a youth choir ensemble that tours prisons presenting concerts to inmates each year. The ensemble came home last Sunday evening around 10 p.m. from its 12 day, 17-concert

Dr. Donohue

Do protein supplements help athlete

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: Here's a question you probably haven't been asked yet and one which I am certain many others would like to know the answer to. I have been weight training steadily for about two years now and I am getting serious about it. I've heard that drinking raw eggs helps give protein for the building up of muscles. I've also heard about taking supplements of certain protein powders, etc., to promote muscle growth. I would like to know if there is any truth to this or is it just a waste of money. — T.M.

You have asked for my opinion, right? So what I'm going to offer you is my opinion. Just that; no more. There are others who will differ with me, and it is bound to be in conflict with that of many nutritionists and body-builders who swear by protein supplements for muscle growth. With what probably is the longest qualifying introduction in history, let me state frankly that I don't think protein supplements are needed. My opinion is that you get all the protein you need by eating a well-balanced diet. Yes, I also saw "Rocky." I saw him drinking those raw egg concoctions. It may have given him a lift, maybe made him feel he was doing something important for himself. I suppose that is somewhat valuable, and maybe I shouldn't be knocking it. But those protein supplements did nothing for his muscles that a good, balanced diet would not have

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: You wrote recently about exercise hives. I really related to that item. I had this occur to me not once, but twice. I would assume that something like this would be happening all the time, though, and that one would get the hives every time he or she exercised. I run about three miles a day. I haven't had those kind of hives for over a year. Am I now immune? - G.F.

It is impossible to say whether or not you are now "immune" from exercise hives. A more likely explanation has to do with a different hive-contributing factor. Frequently the hives one gets during vigorous exercise can be attributed to a secondary factor, such as what the person ate or drank prior to the exercise. Actually, under such circumstances the exercise would actually be considered the secondary factor in

If this ever happens to you again (I hope not) you might try a little investigative work. Try to pin down what the other factor might be. You would still be wise to ask your doctor about carrying some antihistamine with you when you run. If I were you I wouldn't assume

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: You have spoken of asthma and sports participation by youngsters. Our 12-yearold son has asthma. We would like him to do something physical besides his normal daily activities. We have thought about letting him do some running in a controlled way. His doctor agrees. What is the thinking about jogging and asthma? - W. G.

The rule is that an activity is permitted so long as the asthma is being controlled with medicines and so long s the activity is not being overdone. Your doctor feels that your son can handle the activity.

The main concern is unexpected bronchospasm that can be caused by exercise. I am sure your doctor will have more to say about a program, such as beginning with milder walking and gradually building up in intensity to a moderate jog. I am sure, also, your doctor will want to discuss medication schedules

Certainly, exercise can help young asthmatics, both in a physical way and in building their sense of selfesteem, which is equally important. If the doctor says it's OK, I would go ahead and try it.

Focus on the Family

Adolescents

By NAOMI HUNT County Extension Agent

For many years adolescence has been thought of as a period of "storm and stress." More recently, that 'storm and stress' has been recognized as a critical period during which youngsters focus on special problems and concerns brought about by physical, intellectual, social and emotional changes.

Most early adolescents - 11 to 14 years of age share concerns about their physical development and relationships with family and friends, yet they have exaggerated feelings of being very different from

Girls usually mature earlier than boys and are more anxious about attracting boys than boys are to gain

Being an early- or late-maturer poses a special problem for early adolescents. These youngsters may feel "out of step" with their peers. Late maturing boys and girls, for example, may feel anxious and wonder if they ever will attain normal adult height and physical development

Early adolescents seem sometimes to be emotionally unstable and overly sensitive.

One 14 year old girl, for instance, had her hair done at a beauty shop before a special school party. But she became upset with the way her hair looked because the other kids might think it looked "funny." She cried and then completely changed the new hairdo. While her parents felt that her reaction was extreme and inappropriate, it is actually quite typical. The girl's strong need for peer approval interfered with a more sensible judgment about the hairdo.

Although incidents of this kind may not be pleasant and can cause tension in the family, they are a normal part of a youngster's struggle for identity and independence.

Parents, middle-school or junior high teachers, 4-H leaders and others can be helpful to young people who are struggling for their own identity. Young adolescents need the support of parents and other adults who take the time to listen and accept them just

1. As flowers fade and petals fall, remove old flowers. Otherwise, food and energy will go into seed production rather than plant growth and flower production.

2. When removing spent flowers, cut just above the second five-leaflet leaf above the main cane or branch.

3. Use a complete fertilizer such as 10-10-10 or similar formulation at the rate of 11/4 pounds per 100 square feet every four to six weeks. Except in deep South Texas do not fertilize after mid to late August to allow plants to mature and be less susceptible to Bobbed hair is making its strongest fashion comeback in years, according to the National Hairdressers and Cosmetologists Association.

Created to add hairfashion variety to fall-winter apparel, the bob comes in both blunt and layered cuts. It's the fashionable coiffure for the addition of fall-winter's new hats, berets and headwraps, according to Sam Cappelle, Styles Director for the 52,000 member association.

Bobbed hair has been taken through many fashion directions and revivals since it first swept the country in the 1920s.

However, despite its illustrious past, Cappelle says the bob has never been more completely updated to current fashion as it has been in the "all-new" Neo Bob collection.

Besides its myriad of styling possibilities, Neo Bob uses permcontrolled volume to assure true styl-"Volumnized perming techniques, including the underperm or root perm, move hair away from the head and work together with the precision cut bob to make it new, dramatic and exciting," Cappelle explained. Bobbed hair is never more attractive than when it has a bright sheen. Coloring, staining and highlighting offer new brilliance to a dull head of hair, Cappelle said.

The blonde bob revives the memory of Marilyn Monroe, whose style has become fashionable through designer dresses, jewelry and perfume.

In addition to the Neo Bob in various lengths and styles, the collection offers an answer to the growing interest in short hair - The Ultra Cut, an open-eared, brief style designed to highlight the facial bone structure and add extra flair to fashion's tailored looks.
