County attorney: doing full-time job

Miller defends private practice hours

By MIKE DOWNEY
Staff Writer

Although local law enforcement officials say they would prefer a full-time prosecutor, Howard County Attorney Bob Miller, who spends at least half of each day at his private office, says he is already doing more than his predecessors.

Howard County Sheriff A.N. Standard and Big Spring Police Chief Rick Turner both say they would like to have more misdemeanor criminal cases handled in the county court.

Turner, however, said the issue is not a problem with the police department.

"This is not something we are really upset about," Turner said. "You can't blame the attorney... it's the system, and we learn to work in the system. It would be nice to have court everyday, but realistically things have been part-time for some time."

Standard says the county attorney's job has historically been full time. The part-time status affects the efficiency of the sheriff's office, Standard said.

Hance promises not to cloud U.S., Israel pact

By KEITH BRISCOE
City Editor

ODESSA — U.S. Rep. Kent Hance managed to mix oil and water before a Jewish audience here Tuesday night, promising if he is elected to the Senate his support of petroleum interests would not cloud America's trans-Atlantic alliance with Israel.

Hance, D-Lubbock, announced last week for the Democratic nomination for the Senate seat of retiring Republican John Tower.

"The Jewish Community has more to identify with the independent oil producer than any other group," Hance said in a press conference. "When we're producing more oil, there's less dependence."

Hance told a meeting of the Periman Basin Chapter of B'nai B'rith he was "among the first (in Congress) to speak out on Israel being right in invading Lebanon."

"There can be no doubt that when you have a country that's a democracy in an area like that, (then) we have an ally we can depend on," he said. "There can be no easy answers in that area."

Hance, who voted for the sale of AWACS reconnaissance planes to Saudi Arabia, said he favored increased military assistance to Israel because of its security needs and its mastery of our arms.

The invasion of Lebanon last summer marked the first superpower-sponsored confrontation since Vietnam, Hance said, which proved the superiority of American weapons and Israeli expertise.

"Had we been able to subcontract the Vietnam War to Israel, that war would have been over in two weeks," he said.

Hance, one of the Texas "Boll Weevils" who support Republican economic policies, said he disagreed with current monetary policies and unrestrained defense spending.

"Inflation is down, and there is recovery," Hance said of the Federal Reserve Board's strict money regulations. "But you can only bleed the economy for so long."

A member of the House Committee on Science and Technology, Hance said "I am in favor of a strong defense, but you can't afford to give the Pentagon a blank check...They'll spend you into oblivion."

In Odessa on the last stop of a statewide campaign tour, Hance said agriculture and energy are the most important issues facing the country.

The third-term Congressman, a native of Dimmitt, predicted victory in the May primary and the November general election.

"There's no doubt that Texas is ready for Kent Hance," he said.

Former Big Springer recalls daughter's path to Broadway

By CAROL HART
News Editor

When Betty Lynn Buckley opened on Broadway as the feline Grizabella in the musical "Cats," one of her biggest fans, her mother, Betty Bob Buckley, was in the audience.

Daughter Betty's path to Broadway was no doubt influenced by her mother's love of theater, dancing and singing. Betty Bob, who grew up in Big Spring and attended Big Spring schools, also grew up singing and dancing. Her sister, the former Mary Ruth Diltz, had a dance studio in Big Spring, and the Diltz sisters performed in shows at the Big Spring amphitheater and the Municipal Auditorium.

Betty Bob now lives in Fort Worth and was in Big Spring Tuesday as a representative of a travel agency. She talked about her background and her children's careers.

When Betty Bob's four children were growing up, she encouraged them to perform. She remembers Betty Lynn wanting to participate in her junior high school follies in Fort Worth. "I saw it that she had all the right things," Betty Bob remembers.

Betty Lynn sang "Steam Heat," and Betty Bob says she realized that her daughter had "this great big voice." After the follies, "we kept on being involved" in other school and area productions. Mother and daughter traveled to Big Spring several times so Betty Lynn could participate in some of her aunt's productions.

When Betty Lynn was at Texas Christian University, friends encouraged her to compete in the Miss Texas pageant. She was named first runner-up, but made it to the Miss America pageant anyway. A representative of the Miss America pageant in the audience invited her to come to the pageant as a singer. While she was there, an agent heard her sing and invited her to audition for his company.

set the world's endurance record for hot-tub sitting during Labor Day Weekend.

DJs go for hot tub record

Jim McKay is trying for a Guinness World Record — again.

Together with Larry Ray Bruns, his KKIK-AM morning radio show partner, McKay plans to spend Labor Day weekend — all 72 hours — in a hot tub at the Big Spring Mall.

Starting at noon on Friday, McKay and Bruns will smear part of their bodies with Vaseline and don special life jackets for their world record effort as part of a local promotion to raise donations for the Muscular Dystrophy Association. Jerry Lewis annually sponsors his national MDA telethon during Labor Day weekend.

Trying to set world records is nothing new to McKay, who holds the unofficial world record for sitting in a tub of pasta for 72 hours.

"Every time I go into a pizza place and smell spaghetti, I almost lose it. I still remember the smell of three-day-old spaghetti," McKay said. "After three days, it looks like the original dough."

And the smell... "We used three bottles of CD drops (used to eliminate skunk odor) to try to get rid of the smell. I could still smell the spaghetti," McKay said.

Other unusual events in his life include an "unofficial" 1980 presidential candidacy in San Angelo and marriage in a Denny's Restaurant. He later got a divorce.

"Marriages in Denny's are not made in heaven," he quipped. "Next time, I'll try McDonald's." McKay and Bruns said their hot tub record- See ALL WET, page 2A

UNDER CONTROL — Big Spring firemen work to extinguish a house fire in a garage at 207 Benton. According to Big Spring Fire Marshall Carl Dorton, a trash fire spread to the garage and the back of the house.

Fire sends fireman to hospital

By KEELY COGHLAN
 Staff Writer

A house fire which took only 15 minutes to control yesterday sent a Big Spring fireman to the hospital and caused "within $2,000 to $3,000 damage," Big Spring Fire Marshall Carl Dorton said.

Fireman Cecil Cevallos was released from Malone-Hogan Hospital later Tuesday after being treated for smoke inhalation, heat exhaustion and hyperventilation, Dorton said. Cevallos was taken to the hospital after he complained of pain in his chest and his arms about 30 minutes after the fire was out.

Dorton said the fire destroyed three rooms and the backyard garage of a wooden frame house at 207 Benton. The owner, Leonel G. Morales, was uninsured, Dorton said.

Six firemen and two pumper trucks were called at 12:56 p.m. to the blaze, which apparently was caused by a trash fire left unattended for a few minutes outside the garage, Dorton said.

The fire spread to the unpainted garage, where it then caught a lawnmower and extra gasoline on fire, Dorton said.

"The dried out lumber went in a hurry," he said. Morales was sitting in his kitchen when the fire started. His son-in-law, Lee Jimenez, was walking to a local store when he saw the fire coming from the house, Dorton said.

Morales and Jimenez tried to put the fire out with a garden hose before calling the fire department, Dorton said.

Margaret Jimenez, who was living at her parents' house with her two children, lost all of her belongings in one of the rooms that burned, local Red Cross chapter volunteer Louise Nuckolls said.

The Red Cross is trying to provide Ms. Jimenez (who is pregnant), her children and the Morales family with food, clothing and shelter. Persons who want to donate clothing to the victims should contact Mrs. Nuckolls at 263-7598.

The agent, impressed with Betty Lynn's voice, asked the college student "What do you want to do?" Betty Lynn replied "Sir, I'm a senior, and a cheerleader, and I want to go back to school." The two settled on a contract that allowed Betty Lynn to finish school, and after graduation she returned to New York.

"Right after she came back, she auditioned for a role in the musical '1776'," Mrs. Buckley remembers. She won the role of Martha Jefferson and made her debut on Broadway.

Betty Lynn later starred in the London production of "Promises, Promises" and as Katherine in "Pippin." She also took a role as a gym teacher in the movie "Carrie." An agent spotted her in "Carrie" and called her to audition for her role as Abby in the TV series "Eight is Enough."

Although her career has had a lot of highlights, there have been low points, too, Mrs. Buckley recalls.

"When Betty Lynn auditioned for 'Cats,' the casting directors said she looked too healthy for the role, but they liked the way she sang 'Memory,'" Betty Lynn assumed she had been passed over, but later she received a call asking her to audition again.

Mrs. Buckley said her daughter learned "not to give up, because an opportunity might come back later."

newspaper work, dancing and working as an airline hostess. Journalism went out, and she went to Texas Tech to complete her degree. "I loved newspaper work," she says now. "I thought it was the most exciting thing in the world."

She has worked for the Lubbock Avalanche-Journal, the Brookings Register in South Dakota, and newspapers in Manhattan, Kansas, Maine, and French Morocco. She traveled extensively with her husband, Ernest Buckley, who was with the Air Force.

The family finally settled down in Fort Worth, where Betty Bob wrote for a publication at Garwood Air Force Base. "I always tried to keep my hand in newspaper work, because I feel more at home if I've involved."

The family lived in Fort Worth for 27 years, and Betty Bob edited several publications and was a columnist for the Fort Worth Press. She has also written scripts and directed several plays.

Her husband, Ernest, has accepted a position as dean of engineering at South Dakota State University in Brookings, S.D., and they will be moving there soon. Her other children are twins, Pat and Mike, and Norman. Norman is working in various capacities on movies, and his credits lately include "Tender Mercies," which starred his sister, "Silkwood" and "Easy Money."

Miller

person available at the courthouse affected the workings of his office. Miller says the part-time issue is "political fiction" that stems from a misunderstanding of the duties of the county attorney.

"I handle county business all day long," Miller said. "Yes, I have two offices, but it's not where you do it (county work), but if you do it."

He said he is available at all times to members of law enforcement agencies, defense attorneys and other persons requiring services of the county attorney. For the county attorney to have a separate civil practice is not new to Texas, Miller said.

Tom Krampitz, executive director of the Texas District and County Attorneys Association, says the practice is widespread since the normal salaries are not enough to make it worthwhile to be a full-time county attorney.

"There's no way you're going to get anybody worth a damn ... that don't have private practices," Krampitz said. "It's not unusual to have a separate office."

According to the Office of Court Administration in Austin, the average salary for Texas county attorneys in 1982 was $21,916. Miller currently receives $25,608, according to the county treasurer's office.

"Any law student fresh out of school can ... make $25,000," Krampitz said.

By comparison, the state pays its criminal district attorneys $41,610 annually. This salary is normally supplemented by funds from the counties where the district courts are located.

Miller said he has never had any questions or complaints from anyone concerning his two-office system. The record will speak for itself, the county attorney said.

"The end results are better than the past results," Miller said. "Is the job done? It is all that matters."

County records of criminal fine collections for the Howard County Court show fines more than doubled in Miller's first year in office. Current records through June indicate fine collections should double over last year's amount (see chart).

The Howard County Court compares favorably with similar-sized counties in criminal cases filed, convictions and dispositions, according to records from the Office of Court Administration (see chart).

The sheriff said his office is "spoiled in a way" because deputies in the past could easily visit in the courthouse with the county attorney. The current setup is "cumbersome," causing action on some cases to be postponed, Standard said.

But Miller said no one from the sheriff's office has ever contacted him at his Scurry Street office. Various police officers, defense attorneys and other persons have seen him without problems, he said.

Two county attorneys contacted in counties similar in size to Howard County said they also maintain civil practices.

Allen Boswell in Henderson County said he did not know of any county attorney that did not have a civil practice. He said he does civil work as time allows, but he tries to stay at the courthouse the majority of the time.

"It's been done here since there's been a county attorney," Boswell said.

Wesley Knize in Ellis County said he has a civil practice but normally is unable to conduct any business until after 5 p.m. Knize said he had felony jurisdiction that necessitated three assistants and three secretaries.

County attorneys normally need the civil practice to make the position worthwhile, Knize said.

"They don't compensate you correspondingly," he said.

Free lunch program guidelines announced

The Big Spring school district says parents meeting income eligibility guidelines may apply for free and reduced-price meals at their children's schools.

Reduced-price meals for eligible children will be 40 cents for lunch and 30 cents for breakfast. The regular cost for lunch is 65 cents for elementary students and 70 cents for secondary school students. Breakfast is 50 cents in all schools except Kentwood.

For those parents interested in the free or reduced-price meals, an application should be filled out and returned to the child's school.

An application should contain the names of all household members, social security numbers of all household members 21 years old or older (or a statement that the household member does not have a social security number) and the signature of an adult household member.

Applications have been mailed to all parents in the district, according to school officials. Parents needing help or more information about the program should contact the principal of their child's school.

Computer foul-up delays insurance rate hike hearings

Harte-Hanks Austin Bureau

AUSTIN — Texans usually know by the end of the summer how much their car insurance will be going up.

But State Board of Insurance automobile rate hearings have been delayed this year, thanks to a computer programming foul-up at the company that compiles some statistical data needed for rate calculations.

An insurance board staff spokesman predicts, however, the problem will be resolved in time for new rates to go into effect Jan. 1 as planned.

"We've got quite a bit of time yet. It's really not hurting anything so far. The hearing date is usually in August for an Oct. 1 effective date," said Gaylon Daniel, staff actuary. But the board changed the effective date this time to Jan. 1 to coincide with the start-up date of new legislation requiring Texans to buy more automobile insurance than currently mandated, Daniel said.

Despite the new effective date, the rate hearing was set for August, as usual, and then postponed because of missing data on insurance company investment income. The company collecting the data didn't realize there was a problem with the program "until they tried to run it and got some answers that were obviously wrong," Daniel said.

Rate proposals can't be formulated without the information since it involves company profits — an important factor in setting rates, he said.

Daniel refused to speculate on how much rates may change.

The new legislative requirement is expected to cost the average driver $14 to $20 more each year to meet the increased protection requirements, according to an industry spokesman. The new law requires liability coverage of $15,000 for bodily injury per person, $30,000 for bodily injury per accident and $15,000 for property damage.

Goliad Street work to disrupt traffic

Reconstruction of a drainage down the middle of Goliad Street has begun and should be completed in about 10 days, Public Works Director Tom Decell said Tuesday.

The work is part of Phase II of the city's capital improvements program. Eventually, all of Goliad from FM 700 to Third Street will be reconstructed, and Birdwell Lane from FM 700 to Purdue will be widened and repaved.

City officials are asking that motorists try to avoid use of the two streets during construction. Construction crews are currently tearing up the old drainage apron on Goliad. Decell said curb and gutter work on Birdwell will begin early next week.

Portions of the two streets will be closed for short periods, but Decell said residents in the area will not be cut off. City and Big Spring school district officials were to meet today to discuss routing of school traffic.

The Goliad reconstruction is scheduled for completion Dec. 15. The Birdwell Lane widening has a Nov. 15 completion date. This phase of the project also includes reconstruction of intersections at 11th and Settles, 15th and Main and repairs to part of Oak Glenn Drive and streets affected by water line improvements.

Price Construction Co. of Big Spring is doing the work for $1,028,563.

setting attempt is "not just self-promotion." "We're not going to say it's not self-promotion. We're new to the radio station, and this is a way for people to know us. But raising money for MD (Muscular Dystrophy) is the main reason (for the promotion)," Bruns said.

Bruns and McKay are taking pledges based on the amount of hours they spend in the tub.

Sitting in a hot tub is a "natural" for the two disc jockeys, Bruns said. Before he spent two years as a stand-up comedian performing with Joey Bishop and other comics, Bruns said he used to perform with McKay when they were children.

"It's nothing off the wall for us. I mean, it would be off the wall for normal persons but not for us," Bruns said.

Aside from the publicity, McKay and Bruns are taking safety precautions such as wearing life-jackets to keep their heads above water should they fall asleep in the hot tub.

Also, they will keep the temperature of the water at 95 degrees to prevent hypothermia, or loss of body temperature. An ambulance crew will check on their blood pressure every hour to make sure the tub's hydrojets do not leave McKay and Bruns weak or dizzy.

Under Guinness rules, Bruns and McKay are allowed five-minute breaks for every 60 minutes they stay in the hot tub.

Guinness officials require witnesses to any attempts to set official records, so spectators are invited.

Murder trial moved

GALVESTON, Texas (AP) — An inmate tried twice in Galveston County for the slaying of one prison official will have his next trial on charges of killing another official moved to the Rio Grande Valley because of publicity.

Eroy Edward Brown, acquitted of capital murder last November in the April 4, 1981, drowning of a warden, was ordered moved to Edinburg for trial on the same charge in the shooting death of prison farm manager Billy Max Moore.

Brown testified he killed Pack and Moore in self-defense, believing the two were about to torture him for refusing to work at his job on the farm.

Brown was found innocent of murdering warden Wallace Pack in his second trial on the charge. Jurors

Supermodel signs deal

NEW YORK (AP) — Supermodel Christie Brinkley, who has graced several of Sports Illustrated's famous swimsuit issues, has signed up to put her name on a line of swimwear and sportswear.

Miss Brinkley "exemplifies the active yet casual lifestyle of today's woman," said Harvey Rosenzweig of Russ Togs, Inc., as the company announced Tuesday that the lithe, blonde-haired model will be featured in advertising for a Christie Brinkley Division.

Miss Brinkley also will "provide input concerning the taste level and type of clothing to be produced," Rosenzweig said. He said the sportswear will be unveiled early next year.

Financial terms of the contract were not disclosed.

Dad would be proud

CAMAIORE, Italy (AP) — Film producer Michael Wayne says his father "would have been proud to be placed on this horse," part of a 21-foot sculpture of a cowboy and horse dedicated to the memory of American western hero John Wayne.

The work of American sculptor Harry Jackson, depicting Wayne in cowboy gear and riding a horse, was unveiled in this Tuscan village Tuesday at a ceremony attended by U.S. Ambassador to Italy Maxwell Rabb and Mayor of Camaiore Fabio Perzini.

"It's a wonderful tribute to my father," said the late movie actor's 48-year-old eldest son. "He would have been proud to be placed on this horse."

"This monument is much more than just a representation of a cowboy," said Rabb. "Is there any better way to bring together these two great nations, these wonderful friends, Italy and the United States, than in this creation?"

The statue, to be cast in bronze for display in a Beverly Hills, Calif., plaza in July 1984, was commissioned by Anthony C. La Scala, executive vice president of Great Western Finance Corp. of Beverly Hills. Wayne did television commercials for the corporation during the three years before his death in 1979.

Baby films shown

VENICE, Italy (AP) — Pia Lindstrom, daughter of the late actress Ingrid Bergman, surprised the audience at a tribute to Miss Bergman with some previously unseen film clips from 1916 showing her mother as a baby.

At age 3, the actress was seen already hamming for the camera, watering plants in a family garden and pushing a wheelbarrow at her home. The family film clips, shot by Ingrid's father Justus Bergman, became part of a moving ceremony attended by such a large number of big name personalities that it rivaled the Academy Awards.

Olivia de Havilland, who met Miss Bergman while filming "Gone With The Wind," Claudette Colbert, Gregory Peck, Charlton Heston and Walter Matthau flew from Hollywood for the event. Also in the audience at the Venice Theater Tuesday night were Liza Minnelli, Roger Moore, comedian Dudley Moore and Maximilian Schell.

Miss Lindstrom, 44, Miss Bergman's daughter from her first marriage, is a television film critic in New York.

In a taped message, President Reagan called the cancer that killed the Swedish-born actress one year ago "a disease as ugly as Ingrid was beautiful." He praised the ceremony's organizers for staging the event to raise funds to fight cancer in Italy.

Crew prepares for launch

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — Challenger's astronauts, working the "lobster shift," activated systems early today for launching a unique 3-in-1 satellite that will greatly improve communications and weather forecasting in the vast Indian subcontinent.

Operating on their day-is-night schedule, the five astronauts began Day 2 of the eighth shuttle mission at 9:32 p.m. EDT Tuesday night, as Mission Control in Houston wakened them with the music of the Georgia Tech fight song.

"That's the spirit," commented Richard Truly, Challenger's commander, who is a Tech graduate. Asked how the crew was doing, the commander exclaimed: "Shoot, we never had so much fun in our whole lives."

The control center told him ground instruments showed Challenger was a "very clean ship." Pilot Dan Brandenstein reported "unbelievable" views of South Pacific islands and two active volcanoes he thought were near New Guinea. Dr. William Thornton, the house physician, busied himself with medical experiments.

Mission specialists Guion Bluford, America's first black astronaut, and Dale Gardner began preparations for the 3:49 a.m. EDT release of INSAT, an acronym for India National Satellite. Shortly before 1 a.m., they switched on the satellite's electrical power systems.

Forty-five minutes after INSAT is spun out of Challenger's cargo bay, a rocket motor is to start the package toward a stationary parking space 22,300 miles above the equator south of India.

Shamir picks up support

TEL AVIV, Israel (AP) — Foreign Minister Yitzhak Shamir today picked up the support of the influential former defense minister, Ariel Sharon, in his bid to replace resigning Prime Minister Menachem Begin.

Shamir's position as the leading contender appeared to solidify further as Israeli newspapers reported the top rival candidate, Deputy Prime Minister David Levy, was under pressure from Cabinet ministers in Begin's Herut Party to drop out of the race and ensure a smooth transition of power.

Begin was in his office conducting business as usual. There was no indication when he would tender his letter of resignation to state President Chaim Herzog.

A caucus of Begin's Herut Party convened twice on Tuesday after the prime minister made clear his intention to step down, but it failed to find a candidate or even decide how a new leader should be chosen.

Begin's Herut colleagues, whose right-wing party dominates the governing Likud bloc, feel a quick choice is crucial and fear State President Chaim Herzog could ask the Labor Party to try to form a new government if the Likud is leaderless. Israeli law requires that the government resign together with the prime minister.

A weary Begin told his ministers Tuesday: "I cannot go on any longer." But he promised an answer today to their pleas that he delay handing in his formal letter of resignation to the president.

"We pleaded with him" to delay as long as possible, said Ehud Olmert, a Herut legislator. Within an hour of Begin's decision Tuesday morning, Shamir, 68, and Levy, 45, emerged as the two front-runners in the leadership contest.

Filipinos mourn Aquino

MANILA, Philippines (AP) — An estimated 1 million chanting Filipinos mourned assassinated opposition leader Benigno Aquino today as his body was borne on a black-draped flatbed truck to a martyr's grave.

At a funeral Mass, Cardinal Jaime L. Sin praised Aquino's fight against "tyranny and oppression." Aquino's casket, on a bed of yellow flowers, was taken to Manila Memorial Park, 19 miles from the church where the funeral Mass was said, as darkness fell.

The funeral procession inched past throngs packed up to eight feet deep along the streets. They chanted "Ninoy," Aquino's nickname. The procession climaxed 10 days of mourning since Aquino, the chief political rival of President Ferdinand E. Marcos, was assassinated at Manila airport Aug. 21.

No official crowd estimates were available, but today's huge turnout — achieved despite sporadic thundershowers — was estimated by one police officer at about 1 million people. It easily raised the number of people personally participating in the mourning period to more than 2 million.

There was no violence, but police said one man was killed and six people hospitalized for shock when a lightning bolt struck a tree. The victim was identified as Crisanto Caguicia Bobadilla, 47.

In a Mass at the Santo Domingo church in suburban Quezon City, Sin eulogized Aquino as one who "personified the Filipino courage in the face of oppression."

Hijackers surrender

Five hijackers of an Air France jetliner surrendered to Iranian authorities today at Tehran airport and 15 hostages held captive since Saturday were freed unharmed, Iranian officials said. An American couple was among those released.

Iran's Islamic Republic News Agency, monitored in Nicosia, said the hijackers fired their weapons into the air before surrendering, and that they and the freed hostages were led to the airport medical facility.

It said all were apparently in good health, and that the freed passengers and crew will spend the night in a Tehran hotel.

The Arabic-speaking hijackers asked for political asylum in Iran, a spokesman for the French Embassy in Tehran said, but there was no immediate word on how that request would be received.

Earlier reports from airport officials in Europe had said there were four hijackers aboard the plane.

The respected Paris newspaper Le Monde said French police were believed to have identified one of the hijackers as a man who took part in an abortive attempt to fire a rocket at an Israeli airliner at Orly airport in 1975.

It identified him only as "al Sharif." Authorities had no comment on the report.

There were 10 passengers and a seven-member crew remaining on board when the Boeing 727, hijacked Saturday between Vienna and Paris, landed at Tehran Sunday. A Frenchman and his wife were released later for the woman to receive medical attention for exhaustion.

Shelling curtails AP news

NEW YORK (AP) — Beirut Correspondent Terry A. Anderson called the AP Foreign Desk in New York at 10:20 A.M. today and his first words were "everybody is safe."

As he spoke, the sound of shells crashing into downtown Beirut could be heard on the telephone. The intense shelling hit as the Lebanese army mounted an attack on Moslem Shiite and Druse militias that are challenging the government of President Amin Gemayel.

Another shell crashed down. "Are you still there?" Anderson asked.

"The firing is so close that you can hear the sound of the firing and then the explosion of the shell," Anderson said. "We've got no idea who is doing the firing or exactly where it's coming from."

He reported that he ordered AP staffers to abandon the room where the telex machine is because it is on the outside of the building and too dangerous to work there. "We're on the inside of the building, but still in our office," Anderson reported.

He said there was scattered small-arms fire in the streets below. At the Commodore Hotel, across the street, Anderson said about 150 reporters were huddled in the basement. He said the hotel "has been hit at least once, maybe more" and that other buildings near the hotel had been hit.

Before he called New York, Anderson sent an urgent telex: "Signing off leaving office, shells falling in the street outside."

He telexed a few minutes later to say: "The whole area is under heavy shelling, shells every two minutes or less. All staff safe, unheard of any casualties among newsmen next door (in the Commodore Hotel)."

"All we can do is hope it dies down, but we've got a couple of hours to go before sundown," Anderson reported later by telephone. "But at least this telephone is still working."

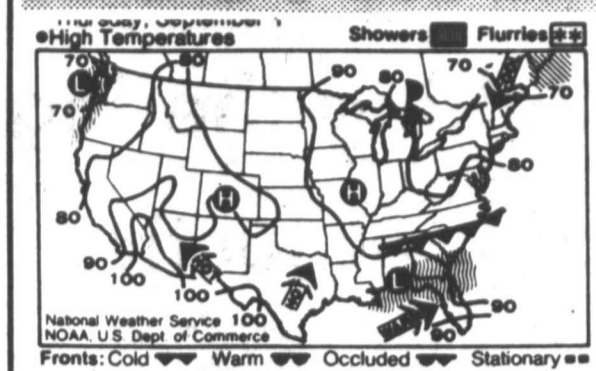

Opera stars back on job

NEW YORK (AP) — Beverly Sills, general director of the New York City Opera, said Tuesday she had no bitterness following a 54-day strike by musicians, and she is looking forward to Sept. 21 when the company will "get together again and make music."

"We want to tell the world we're singing again," Miss Sills said. "No singers have defected."

The opera's orchestra voted Monday night to accept a contract.

Clear skies noted

Mostly clear skies were noted across Texas early today as showers and thundershowers developed in the northern Panhandle before dawn.

The shower activity was triggered by a weak cool front that moved into the Panhandle during the night.

Some high-level clouds were observed over Southeast Texas and along the coastal plains.

Temperatures were mostly in the 70s and 80s. Pre-dawn readings ranged from 60 at Marfa to 83 at Abilene.

Winds over southerly over most of the state, ranging from 5 to 10 mph. Northerly breezes were noted behind the cool front.

The forecast called for mostly fair skies and hot afternoon temperatures through Thursday. Isolated and scattered thundershowers were possible during the afternoon and evening hours in the South Plains, Panhandle and mountains of far West Texas.

A cold front stretching from the Central Plains to New England sent rain, thundershowers and generally cooler weather flowing through those regions today, while temperatures remained generally high in the South.

Rain spawned by the same front was common late Tuesday from the lower Ohio River Valley to Quebec, while showers also were reported over sections of Oklahoma, Arkansas, Missouri and Kansas.

A storm system produced rain along the Oregon and California coasts while scattered showers dotted the Southeast. Numerous thundershowers drifted over coastal Florida.

Elsewhere, skies generally were fair. Pre-dawn temperatures were in the 90s in the desert Southwest and in the 80s in Texas and Oklahoma, slipping to the 70s across the South and into the 60s and 50s along the northern tier of states.

The hottest spot Tuesday was 113 degrees at Gila Bend, Ariz. Temperatures at 3 a.m. EDT ranged from 54 degrees at Duluth and Hibbing, Minn., to 93 at Phoenix, Ariz.

Some other reports: —East: Atlanta 78 haze; Boston 68 rain; Buffalo 67 drizzle; Charleston, S.C. 76 haze; Cincinnati 72 cloudy; Cleveland 68 cloudy; Detroit 68 foggy; Miami 76 fair; New York 74 foggy; Philadelphia 73 foggy; Pittsburgh 65 showers, Washington 77 fair.

—Central: Bismarck 65 fair; Chicago 74 cloudy; Denver 67 partly cloudy; Des Moines 73 fair; Indianapolis 75 cloudy; Kansas City 71 foggy; Nashville 73 fair; New Orleans 81 hazy, St. Louis 74 foggy.

West Texas — Isolated late afternoon and evening thundershowers in the Panhandle and southwest mountains. Otherwise mostly sunny days and fair nights. Highs in the mid-90s to the low 100s in the Big Bend.

Cutting the high cost of justice

There are ways to reduce the burden of civil litigation which weighs so heavily upon the taxpayer. Instead of constantly appointing new judges and building new courtrooms, these alternatives should be pushed.

Judges and lawyers themselves, if they have the public interest at heart, will help promote reform. When court suits increase six times faster than the population, and Americans are already the most litigious people on earth, the need for reform is clear.

HERE ARE SOME good suggestions from The Washington Monthly:

- Make the loser pay. There are too many frivolous suits. If the loser had to pay the other side's legal fees, lawyers would be slower to press a dubious complaint and would settle sooner. Where attorneys take cases on speculation that their clients may recover damages, they should be required to pay the costs of the defense if their claim is held to be invalid. That would certainly reduce the number of personal injury lawsuits. On the other hand, attorneys convinced of the righteousness of an indigent plaintiff's cause could take his case with the assurance that their fees will be paid if he wins in court.

- Make settlement offers count. In England, a party who refuses a settlement offer must pay the other side's attorney fees if the court award is less than the settlement offer.

- Settle disputes out of court. Mediation and arbitration should be more widely used. Contracts can be written to provide for non-judicial procedures to settle any disputes arising out of the contracts. Citizens' panels could often be used to settle minor matters, such as tenant-landlord disagreements.

- Reform probate. Most states require a lawyer to be involved in settling the affairs of even the simplest estates. The probate system should be universally simplified.

- Adopt no-fault auto insurance. Trying to determine who was at fault in auto accidents takes up about 20 percent of the resources of the courts in most states. It is an expensive procedure. No-fault eliminates the legal fees and court costs, while it assures that victims are fully compensated for their medical expenses and economic losses.

Around the Rim

By MIKE DOWNEY

Ave atque vale

Of all of the nearly 100 columns I have written in this space, this one has been the hardest to write ... primarily because I'm leaving, but not until Friday.

Part of me wants to lash together a riveting Rim that lists all the things I will be glad to leave; another part wants to write this slobbering, wrenching, regret-filled piece on how I will miss everyone. What I really wanted to do was take a picture of me waving goodbye and let it go at that.

Columnists are unique in that we can say goodbye in print. In other jobs, one just leaves after saying so long, maybe a farewell party or something. But here in the confines of the column, the goodbye lingers on in newsprint for all time.

I won't miss

- the moronic calls from people who do not have the slightest idea how a newspaper is put together or how stories are gathered. But I'll still have them at my new job in Greenville.

- never knowing if anything the paper is doing makes a difference.

- worrying about whether a story is being fair to everyone concerned.

- the wind, the sand, the sun, the movie theaters, the streets, the buildings, the location.

- gathering information for Public Records and scrambling to find Action/Reaction answers (I've been doing those for two years).

- pettiness, stupidity and ignorance. I will miss the people at the courthouse. Although sometimes they may not have given me the story I thought I had to have, I have no complaints about anyone. They made my job easier and I learned from them all.

This is difficult to write since I still have to work with these folks two more days, but leaving this work environment is really hard to do.

Where will I ever find another job with so many people plugged into the same crazed mixture of humor, music, movies, literature and lifestyle?

This is the only job I've ever had where people hang around after work on a regular basis — talking, working, enjoying. "Work" in this case is not work; it is part of life, a pleasant part that I regret leaving.

I could bore and embarrass everyone listing names and little inside jokes on what I will miss, but I won't. I hope they know by now what they mean to me — I won't forget.

Farewells are never easy because they mark the end of a certain time in people's lives. But some things will not end as long as memory persists.

Ave atque vale ... (Hey, I have a masters' degree in English; I felt it fitting to close with a Latin phrase meaning "hail and farewell.")

The Confucian work ethic

WASHINGTON — The murder of Benigno Aquino underlines a problem that confronts the U.S. in many parts of Asia. For the conditions that make the Western Pacific so attractive economically also work to smother political opposition.

The perils of leadership transition that now surge to the surface in the Philippines lie just below the surface of Korea, Taiwan and Indonesia. In order to steer clear of the terrible local fights bound to crop up in bilateral relations between countries, Washington has an interest in finding a larger context for dealings — a Pacific Basin context.

East Asia — the long, narrow strip of territories running south from Japan and Korea to Taiwan, Hong Kong, Malaysia, Singapore and Indonesia — is the scene of the world's foremost economic success stories. Annual per capita growth ranges from more than 7 percent per year for South Korea to 3 percent for Japan, the Philippines and Indonesia. It has been double that of the industrialized Western countries since the war.

Apart from economic dynamism, moreover, the East Asians show a peculiar addiction to modern ways. They have forged new ground in efficient and quality manufacture of autos, steel, cameras and textiles. They are into electronics and communications equipment in a big way.

MANY CONNECTED historical experiences no doubt account for their special facility in adapting modern technology. But one, clearly, is the Confucian tradition, which directly affects Japan, Korea and Taiwan and, indirectly through Chinese forebears, casts its spell on other leaders. It lays stress on education and hard work. It charges leaders with responsibility for economic achievement. It charges citizens with cooperation in the national task. So Asians do not waste their energies in petty squabbles about the role of the state. They accept as given the subordination of business and labor to larger interests.

The Confucian tradition, however, leaves no scope for a political opposition. If a leader fails, then a new one is chosen — but sequentially, and one at a time. The concept of alternate leaders offering their wares in competing programs commands no legitimacy in the Confucian ethic. The outs don't become ins as a matter of course in any Asian country. Even Japan, with its American-made constitution, has been ruled by a single party for 35 years.

In the Philippines, the hand of authority has been notably harsh. Ferdinand Marcos was elected president in 1965 and reelected in 1969. But in 1972 he declared martial law and denounced all rivals as Communists. He has systematically put them away ever since. Now Marcos and his wife and their cronies run a corrupt dictatorship.

Aquino, the most recent of many victims, had a rich premonition of what was in store for him when he returned to Manila after a period of exile in this country. "According to Gandhi," he wrote in an arrival speech which he never delivered, "the willing sacrifice of the innocent is the most powerful answer to insolent tyranny that has yet been conceived by God or man."

His sacrifice makes him a martyr. The transition from Marcos, which has looked increasingly difficult, will now be much tougher. Though Filipinos are, as Aquino also observed in his undelivered speech, a notably "patient" people, even patience has its limits. It is hard to see how a successor to Marcos can come to office without a bloody settling of scores.

But in that respect, the Philip-pinas are not unique. General Suharto took power in Indonesia by coup and now rules through the army in a regime noted for corruption and nepotism. Chun Doo Hwan fought his way to the presidency of South Korea after his predecessor was murdered. Chiang Ching-kuo inherited his rule over Taiwan from his father, Chiang Kai-shek, and there is now no clear successor in sight.

THE U.S. HAS important interests in all these countries. To be sure, the Communist states of Russia, China, North Korea and Vietnam now check each other. Still, U.S. military power plays a balancing role and it depends importantly on air and naval bases in the Philippines and South Korea. If the military role has diminished, economic ties to East Asia have become more important. The transpacific commerce in the U.S. has long since surpassed its transatlantic business.

Those interests will all be compromised if the U.S. is drawn into the harsh transition politics that lie ahead. Backing and filling about whether President Reagan will visit the Philippines on his Asian trip in November has already embarrassed the White House. So this country needs to develop a screen against deep engagements in the inner politics of the small Asian states.

The Pacific Basin provides the obvious context for dealing in such mutual problems as security, energy, trade and investment. While no Pacific Basin organization yet exists, the development of institutions comes nicely to hand as an objective of American policy in Asia. Indeed, the Reagan visit in November, which now lacks a central motif, could usefully take as its major theme the need to develop institutions for dealing with the large problems that engage all the states of the Pacific Basin.

Old age isn't all that bad

DEAR DR. GRAHAM: I recently celebrated my hundredth birthday. God has been very merciful to me across the years, and I wish you would tell people that old age does not need to be a burden if you know Christ and follow him every day. — B.B.

DEAR B.B.: Thank you for that wonderful testimony. I am thankful not only for the years you have had, but that you acknowledge that God has been faithful to you throughout the years.

Although you do not ask a question, I have chosen to use your remarks for today's column for several reasons. For one thing, I suspect there are many people reading this who are beginning to get older and actually have some hidden fears about growing old. Certainly old age can bring problems with it. But your words vividly illustrate the truth that when Christ is with us we are never alone and each day can be a new day of service to him. God has said in his Word, "even to your old age and gray hairs I am he, and I am he who will sustain you. I have made you and I will carry you; I will sustain you and I will rescue you" (Isaiah 46:4).

Perhaps someone reading this right now is filled with fear about the future. They may be filled with concern because the years are passing and they dread what might happen to them as they grow older. They may even be filled with a secret fear of death, because they know that the time is coming closer when life will end. The Bible says, "Man is destined to die once, and after that to face judgment" (Hebrews 9:27). Right now that person can turn to Christ by faith and invite him into their hearts. Christ will come in and save us when we turn to him, and he will be with us no matter what the future holds.

I also have quoted your remarks because I believe you have something to tell all of us, no matter how old or young we may be. It is this: the richest, fullest life is one that is lived for Christ. Perhaps a young person reading this is tempted to say, "I'll come to Christ later; right now I want to live it up." But Christ alone can give us full, abundant life.

Thank you for your testimony, and God bless you and continue to make your life a blessing to others for years to come.

Briscoe is ill informed

Dear Editor,

In reference to the article by Keith Briscoe "Private Lessons" Sunday, Aug. 28. Mr. Briscoe appears to be either very ill informed, communist, atheist or all of them.

Most private schools encourage Christianity, which we desperately need. These students are usually far ahead in their studies compared to public schools. The only thing not offered in private schools is the huge sports program. Which by the way is expensive. The teachers in private schools earn less than their counterparts. Oddly enough they do a better job.

As for democracy. A parent should have the right to decide where their child goes to school or when to pray. Our school "IHM" has about an equal amount of Hispanics and Whites and if any Blacks were to register I'm sure they would be accepted.

If Mr. Briscoe should decide to write any more articles I wished he would get some facts first.

Sincerely
FRANK HAGEN

Drug ring questions linger

WASHINGTON — The breakup of a Capitol Hill cocaine ring set in motion the criminal investigative process which, under the public spotlight, should have been difficult to nullify. But the cover-up squad at the Justice Department apparently has succeeded in thwarting the investigation.

The department has announced that there is not enough evidence to prosecute three members of Congress who were under investigation for allegedly buying drugs from the ring. This establishes precedent that will also end the investigation of six other members who had been identified as cocaine customers.

The investigative files are not available to the press or public. We are in the position the Justice Department likes to give us in: We have to take their word for it.

Government has grown very knowing about the press — about its limited resources, its short attention span, its difficulty in pursuing libelous stories, its inability to function when information is cut short.

It's hard to go beyond a prosecutor who will not prosecute the higher-ups. Nor can we circumvent defendants who plead guilty and keep their silence.

And so the case against the congressmen has been passed over — with only unanswered questions to tempt our interest on a quiet day. The Capitol Hill cocaine scandal, like a block of cement heaved over the Fourteenth Street Bridge, has vanished out of sight.

But occasional putrefying remnants bubble up from below now and again to pother the calm surface, marking the spot where the scandal disappeared.

Narcotics investigators developed important leads, for example, pointing to the accused congressmen. But the record shows that the prosecutor, Dan Bernstein, failed to pursue them.

By relentlessly pressuring one of the dope dealers to plead guilty, Bernstein also prevented a trial that was sure to have brought out evidence embarrassing to Congress.

The indicted dealer, Troy Todd, 23, for months refused to plead guilty. But Bernstein apparently didn't want the case to go to trial. He made repeated calls to Stanley Dietz, one of Todd's attorneys, who said Bernstein threatened to investigate other members of the Todd family if his client failed to enter a guilty plea.

The prosecutor also made several phone calls — some of them after office hours — to Todd's father, who said Bernstein "pressured" him to persuade his son to plead guilty.

Todd finally pleaded guilty, and the potentially explosive trial was called off. He is awaiting sentencing with his co-conspirator, Douglas W. Marshall, who had pleaded guilty earlier.

A public trial would have brought out the fact that members of Congress were the focal point of the original investigation, according to a source close to the case. In fact, a federal grand jury, in the presence of a high Justice Department official, heard testimony that Bernstein had mishandled the case and had either ignored or brushed aside leads pointing to congressmen.

Adults invited to pep rally

All adults of the community are invited to attend the first football pep rally of the year Friday, Sept. 2, at 3 p.m. at the High School gym. This gives the townspeople a way to get involved and show support in the sports programs. All adults are asked to meet in front of the gym at 2:45 to go in together in one big show of support. The bigger the group, the more impressive it will be to the students.

After the pep rally, there will be a pre-game barbecue sponsored by the Evening Lions Club in the high school cafeteria.

Ben Bancroft, captain of the Quarterback Club, is pleased with the show of enthusiasm in this organization. Already with a membership of over 100 members, they are launching the annual membership drive. It costs $5 per year with meetings every Tuesday night at 7:30 p.m. in the high school cafeteria. Call Ben Bancroft for more information on joining the Quarterback Club.

One of our young career couples in Big Spring has had a good month: Gary Steffen has been promoted to senior merchandising manager at the local J. C. Penney Co. According to Manager Don Fisher, Gary has been with the company a relatively short time, which has his rise in the company impressive. Meanwhile, Tina Steffen, Lifestyle Editor of the Herald, has just been notified that West Texas Business Magazine has accepted for publication an article she submitted on job sharing. The article will appear in an upcoming issue, probably in November.

We will be hearing more about a documentary film made in Big Spring last weekend on rattlesnake hunting. The "stars" of the film were Kirk Kirkham, Rex Rainey and David Harrell who staged a rattlesnake roundup for the camera crew. Of course, Kirk had to "borrow" the rattlesnakes because this time of year the snakes are too scattered to hunt them. The filming was done as part of a French Tourist Documentary that will be integrated into a 100 minute film about Texas and into a book entitled, "Texas: Land of the Giants". The French author-movie maker Jean Mazel is bringing his crew back to Big Spring for the annual March Rattlesnake Roundup.

When the book and film are finished, it will reach over one million people in 30 countries. Some very interesting experiences happened during the filming. Many of the crew spoke little English, and this created some problems. But there didn't seem to be any problems with them understanding the danger of the rattlesnake.

Trash bags holding up old schooner

LOS ANGELES (AP) — An old schooner that played peek-a-boo with onlookers as it twice emerged from the bottom of Los Angeles Harbor only to sink again is "up to stay," thanks to 4,600 inflated trash bags, a spokeswoman says.

The ups and downs of the 62-year-old, 96-foot Prince Louis rivaled that of the stock market during salvage efforts Monday and Tuesday before victory was declared Tuesday night. The bow of the Prince Louis rose briefly above the water's surface Monday, then "popped up" again about noon Tuesday for another short gaze at the sun before slipping underwater again.

The boat emerged a third time at 8:05 p.m. Tuesday and was "up to stay," Ms. Nyhan said.

Hospital honors retiring employee

Letha Duke, R.N., will be honored with a reception at the Malone-Hogan Hospital classroom tomorrow from 3 to 4 p.m. Mrs. Duke is retiring after 35 years of service to the hospital.

Mrs. Duke, as a cadet nurse, studied nursing at St. Joseph Hospital School of Nursing in Fort Worth. She was part of a recruiting and training program the government created to assure trained nurses during World War II. However, she never entered the military service.

During the last phase of her cadet training, she worked at John Sealy Hospital in Galveston. She first heard of Big Spring from a family whose child had been referred to the hospital by Dr. Jack Woodall, a pediatrician from Malone-Hogan.

Following graduation from St. Joseph, Mrs. Duke began working at Malone-Hogan Sept. 1, 1948. "I rode the bus out here to go to work," she said.

"The reason I came to Big Spring at that time, although I'd never been to this part of the country, is because they paid more. They offered $210 a month, as compared to Ft. Worth's $180. Big Spring has always been good to me. By the time I got here, they'd given nurses a $35 a month raise, so I got it, too."

LETHA DUKE
...retires from nursing

Mrs. Duke started as a staff nurse, but has since been the 3-11 supervisor, director of nurses, day supervisor and infection control nurse.

"I became the interim director of nurses at the hospital in 1962, just until they found a director. I was director of nurses for 22 years," Mrs. Duke said.

Mrs. Duke and her husband, David, have a daughter, Amelia Torrence of Houston. Duke is a retiree of Malone-Hogan.

Vegetables accent landscape

Vegetables add color to landscape as well as provide food.

Lettuce is an effective border while banana peppers, hybrid spinach, ornamental kale and cabbage provide a diversity of colors. Pole beans provide seasonal green covering for a bare fence or wall.

Container-grown vegetables and herbs are ideal for apartment dwellers.

Baby's birth is announced

Mr. and Mrs. Garry Bolding of Sand Springs announce the birth of their first child, a son, Joshua Daniel, Aug. 24, at Martin County Hospital in Stanton. The infant arrived at 4:30 p.m. weighing 7 pounds 4 ounces and measured 21 inches in length.

Grandparents are Linda Whitefield, 1301 Settles, David Maberry of Dallas,

Brucellosis not common

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: Would you please give me some information about brucellosis? Could a person have this for a long time (years) — chronic? What are the symptoms? Also, how does a doctor determine that a person has it? Can it be cured? — M.D.

Brucellosis (BROO-cell-oh-sis) is not a common illness. It's chiefly an occupational hazard for those who deal with animals — meat packers, veterinarians, farmers, etc. You get it from animals infected with the germ or by inhaling air near those animals, especially after delivery of their young, when there may be millions of germs in the atmosphere. It's possible, too, to get it from unpasteurized milk or from undercooked meat. But today, brucellosis is largely confined to those who work closely with animals or animal products.

In the acute stage of the illness there is fever, drenching sweats, weakness, muscle pain, backache and headache. The lymph nodes and spleen usually enlarge. Definite diagnosis can be made by testing the blood and finding antibodies to the brucella germ. The acute stage is over in about six weeks. Treatment is with antibiotics.

If the acute illness is not treated, the person may have relapses for up to two years because the antibodies are not sufficient to zap the germ. But that happens in only a few people. However, diagnosis of relapsing brucellosis is done by similar blood testing, again to detect unusually high levels of the antibody.

It's doubtful that brucellosis would exist in a chronic form for years. We once believed it possible and that persons with vague aches and pains, mental depression and low-grade fever had chronic brucellosis. Now we're not sure that's the case.

What leads you to believe you have brucellosis or a relapse? If you have it, the blood test mentioned will tell. Antibiotics cure most cases.

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: Would you please tell me something about amyloidosis? I've been told I have localized amyloid tumors on my legs. I would appreciate anything you can tell me about the problem and how it can be treated. — P.W.

Amyloid is a gelatinous protein substance deposited in tissues. It may show up only in a few localized places and cause no problem or be found in virtually every body organ and become serious. It is sometimes associated with certain other illnesses, like tumor growth, multiple myeloma or chronic bone infection. For some, aging may be a factor; it is found more often in the elderly. Sometimes it's just there and no reason can be found. In fact, the reasons behind amyloid formation are still a mystery.

As I mentioned, a localized deposition may never give you an iota of trouble. It's when many body organs — the heart, kidney, etc. — are affected that serious illness may follow. At present, there is no effective drug to treat amyloidosis. But, if the deposition process is the result of some of the other illnesses I mentioned, then control of that illness slows down the amyloid formation.

To learn of the many factors involved in the treatment of hiatal hernia (which concerns the esophagus), write to Dr. Donohue, in care of the Big Spring Herald, P.O. Box 11210, Chicago, IL 60611, for a copy of his booklet, "Hiatal Hernia, Heartburn and Acid Reflux." Enclose a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 50 cents.

A DEDICATION TO OUR PARENTS
September 1, 1933.....September 1, 1983

James R. and Esther E. Burnett

Fifty years is one half of a century and three quarters of the average person's life. Our parents have been united for fifty years today. In that span of their lives they have given life to four other people and have loved and nurtured those four consistently for most of those years. No matter what struggles they have had to face in our ever changing times they have always been there to help us face our struggles as well. They are a single unit, consisting of 2 parts, Mother and Daddy. They have been our friends in times of happiness and joy, our solace in times of despair and our retreat when life was seemingly unbearable. Though they have faced rejection from each of us at times, as all parents do, they have remained steadfast in their ring of love that encircles us, our children and our children's children. We salute you, Mother and Daddy, on your 50th anniversary! Your circle of love has been injured and battered but never, ever broken. We love and admire you and wish you to know you are truly the heart of our lives.

HAPPY ANNIVERSARY DEAR PARENTS, JAMES R. AND ESTHER BURNETT!

Screening may prevent blindness

The Society to Prevent Blindness and The Medicine Shoppes are working to fight a tragedy — glaucoma, the "sneak thief of sight."

The Texas Society to Prevent Blindness will offer a free glaucoma screening Thursday. The tests will be conducted at The Medicine Shoppe, 1001 Gregg, from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. No appointment is necessary.

Glaucoma usually is not detected until after some sight has been lost — and any vision can never be restored. The Society is working with the pharmacy in a campaign geared to the detection and education of glaucoma.

Two million Americans are victims of glaucoma and half are not aware of it. Glaucoma is the second greatest cause of blindness in this country, accounting for 14 percent of all cases. "The progress of glaucoma can be stopped, but it must first be detected," says pharmacist Clint Holloman. "Millions of persons have lost their sight needlessly because of lack of information regarding this disease."

Glaucoma's cause is unknown, but it develops when fluid in the eye fails to drain properly. This build-up raises the pressure in the eye, damaging blood vessels and nerve fibers. There is no cure and if left untreated, eventual blindness will occur.

The glaucoma test is a simple, painless check to see that the intraocular pressure is normal. All individuals with a positive response will be encouraged to visit a vision care specialist.

OPERATOR, MAY I HELP YOU — Heritage Museum visitors enjoy examining an antique switchboard made in the 1890s. The switchboard was used in the Settles Hotel until it closed.

Museum exhibits old switchboard

By RHONDA WITT
Lifestyle Writer
The Heritage Museum with the help of local Southwestern Bell employees is preserving a part of telephone operations' history.

Darleen Gifford, Southwestern Bell community relations manager, worked with the Heritage Museum to install a three-slot coin phone in an antique mahogany telephone booth that stands next to an 1890s switchboard. The antiques came from the Settles Hotel after it closed.

The museum received them on Oct. 15, 1980. The switchboard withstood three stages of progress, the magneto ring-down, which was renovated to common battery in 1947, then to dial in 1953.

Museum officials are considering putting a recorded message on the phone, with the aid of coin supervisor Richard Baack.

Children are very interested in the switchboard, Jonnie Gunnels, the museum's acting director said. "They've never seen anything like it. Naturally, they want to know how it operates. They like to pull the plugs."

Some of the older women also recall their work operating a switchboard when they see it, she said.

Southwestern Bell also put an old-time phone booth in the Annie Riggs Memorial Museum in Fort Stockton.

Dear Abby

Jogger finds her love on the run

DEAR ABBY: My best friend is 27, beautiful and a very smart lady, but she's making a mess of her life.

About four months ago she broke her engagement to a fine young man (they were living together) because she fell in love with a 61-year-old man who struck up a conversation with her while they were both jogging. She is totally mad about this jogger. She says he's "gorgeous, sexy, masculine, brilliant, very rich, and married to the same woman for 39 years!"

This man has told my friend he "loves" her, but can never take her anywhere in public and would never consider divorcing his wife because he's a "devoted family man."

He sees her about 45 minutes every morning (at her apartment) after they jog. She says he gives her anywhere from $300 to $500 in cash about once a week because he can't buy her any presents or take her anywhere.

She refuses to date anyone else because she's so wrapped up in this man. How can I make her see that she is cheapening herself, wasting her time and is out of her mind?

HER BEST FRIEND

DEAR FRIEND: You can't. She's "in love." And love is deaf, dumb and blind. It's a mental disorder that doesn't respond to logic, so don't waste your time. Just hope she comes to her senses soon.

DEAR ABBY: The male has been had again. Equality? Never!

The state in which I live has just made marital rape a crime. So be it. But if there is to be equality, there must be some compensatory law to punish the wife who pleads a headache and sleeps in panties for 10 years.

If you print my name, I will be eviscerated.

NAME WITHHELD IN GRAHAM, WASH.

DEAR WASHINGTON:

A woman who pleads a headache and sleeps in panties for 10 years doesn't need any more punishment. Find out why you can't get next to her. It may mean counseling for both of you, but it could be well worth it.

CONFIDENTIAL TO HASSLED IN ST. CLOUD, MINN.

Don't try to come up with a "nice" way of telling a creep you aren't interested in his insulting proposition. Tell him to go jump into one of Minnesota's 10,000 lakes!

If you put off writing letters because you don't know what to say, send for Abby's complete booklet on letter-writing. Send $2 and a long, stamped (37 cents), self-addressed envelope to Abby, Letter Booklet, P.O. Box 38923, Hollywood, Calif. 90038.

Drilling activity rises for 7th week in a row

HOUSTON (AP) — The level of onshore and offshore drilling activity has increased for seven consecutive weeks, but still is behind the level reported last year.

Almost 2,200 hundred rigs were operating in the nation in the week ended Monday, up 11 from the previous week, Hughes Tool Co. said in a release. Last year at this time, the rig count was 2,528.

Texas led with the highest total and the largest weekly increase. The state had 784 rigs drilling, a gain of 32. Wyoming was up 10 at 107, and California had 110, an addition of two.

Louisiana had 261 active rigs last week, a drop of seven from the previous week, while Oklahoma was down 12 with 255.

Canada had 262 rigs working, off 18 from the previous week, but up from 157 a year ago.

Offshore Inteleq, a petroleum industry newswire, said worldwide and Gulf of Mexico mobile rig utilization improved from the previous week. The worldwide utilization rate was 73.9 percent and the Gulf rate was 57.5 percent.

Interest rates drop house sales

WASHINGTON (AP) — Analysts say rising mortgage interest rates were a major reason for a 6.5 percent drop in sales of new single-family houses last month.

"The bloom is off the rose in the housing market because of interest rates," said Mark J. Riedy, executive vice president of the Mortgage Bankers Association of America.

The Commerce Department and the Department of Housing and Urban Development said Monday that new houses were sold at an annual rate of 620,000 last month, down from a revised 663,000 in June. It was the first monthly decline since February.

Economists said it appears that the summer's rise in mortgage interest rates has pretty much brought an end to home sale increases — and will likely discourage further rises in construction, which have helped fuel the economic recovery.

The sales rates are adjusted to take into account normal seasonal variations. Before adjustment, the report said, 54,000 new homes actually were sold last month compared with a revised 59,000 in June.

Domestic car sales accelerate

DETROIT (AP) — Even with a scaling back of rebates and other incentives by automakers, U.S. new car sales in August rose 40.8 percent from last year's low levels — but an analyst says the real test of buying strength will come with the new model year.

Surging sales have cleared out dealers' new car inventories, and so promotions don't "really matter because they don't have much product to sell," said John Hammond, analyst at Data Resources Inc. in Lexington, Mass., in an interview Monday.

He predicted "in a month or a month and a half, we'll see how strong the market really is" when 1984 models are in plentiful supply and with automakers expected to drop all direct-to-customer promotions.

The latest results, the best for the period in four years, came even as Ford Motor Co. and Chrysler Corp. switched from direct-to-consumer promotions — reduced interest rates and rebates — to dealer incentives.

The six major U.S. carmakers reported they delivered 178,686 autos between Aug. 1-10, or 19,854 per day, compared with 112,839, or 14,106 per day, in early August last year.

It was the best daily sales rate for the period since 21,289 cars were delivered each day in early August 1979. Last year's daily rate for early August was the lowest for the period in 24 years. The daily sales rate was used for comparison because there was one more selling day in early August this year than last year.

All the automakers but Volkswagen of America Inc. posted increases, ranging from American Motors Corp.'s estimated 82.7 percent gain to General Motors Corp.'s 35.8 percent improvement.

AMC sales have soared since introduction of the Renault Alliance last fall, and GM has been helped by consumers' return to large and luxury cars.

VW, which made a name for itself with fuel-efficient small autos, was off 35.5 percent because of increased competition in the sub-compact market and consumers' flagging interest in fuel economy.

GM said it sold 109,189 cars between Aug. 1-10, or 12,132 per day, compared with 71,473, or 8,934 a day in the year-earlier period.

Ford was up 46.9 percent, from 23,530, or 2,941 per day, to 38,880, or 4,320 per day.

Chrysler sales climbed 50.7 percent, from 13,676, or 1,709 per day, to 23,183, or 2,576 a day.

AMC estimated 3,900 cars sold in the period, or 433 per day, compared with 1,900, or 237 a day, in the year-earlier period.

American Honda Manufacturing Co. Inc. sold 1,896 cars in early August. The firm did not produce cars in the United States at this time last year.

So far this year, the carmakers have delivered 4,090,577 autos, a 17.6 percent gain over last year's 3,477,569.

GM's tally is 2,440,482, up 15.2 percent from 1982's

2,118,110. Ford sales are up 11.9 percent from 1982's 828,215 to 926,501. Chrysler has improved 26.8 percent, from 416,706 to 530,782. AMC's sales have risen 111.6 percent from 1982's 56,243 to 119,027. VW is down 10.4 percent, from 56,295 to 50,423. Honda's tally is 23,362.

U.S. trade deficit keeps rising

By The Associated Press
The United States imported $6.4 billion more merchandise than it exported last month, a wider gap than in June and another sign of a weakened U.S. export position.

The government also reported Monday that sales of new single-family homes fell 6.5 percent last month, while a New York research organization said the volume of help-wanted advertising in U.S. newspapers rose substantially in July.

In its merchandise trade report, the Commerce Department said the July shortfall — the third highest for any month on record — compared with a $4.9 billion deficit in June. Exports fell 2.2 percent while imports climbed 4.7 percent.

The July deficit boosted the merchandise trade deficit for the first seven months of the year to $33.6 billion, compared with $19.03 billion in the same period last year.

The U.S. trade position has deteriorated as the value of the U.S. dollar has risen on foreign exchange markets. The dollar's strength in relation to the currencies of the major U.S. trade partners makes U.S.-built goods less attractive to foreign buyers. It also tends to boost U.S. imports of foreign-made goods.

In July, U.S. oil imports rose 10.4 percent on increased volume and a slight rise in price. Imports of goods other than oil rose 3.6 percent, led by coffee, meat, sugar, chemicals, iron and steel mill products and electronic products.

The drop in exports was led by commercial aircraft, ships, chemicals and oil products.

Commerce Secretary Malcolm Baldrige said his department expects a record $65 billion to $70 billion merchandise trade deficit for all of 1983 and a "much higher" shortfall in 1984. The trade deficit last year was a record $42.7 billion.

In its report on home sales, the departments of Commerce and Housing and Urban Development said July's total, while lower than the total in June, was 70 percent above the year-ago level.

In a more upbeat report, the Conference Board said its index of help-wanted advertising rose sharply across the nation in July, a sign of an improving job market.

In other economic developments Monday: —The American Iron and Steel Institute said domestic steel production rose 5 percent last week to 1.623 million tons. The production amounted to 56.4 percent of capacity from 53.7 percent the week before.

—The Federal Home Loan Bank Board said savers deposited nearly $4 billion more in savings and loan associations in July than they withdrew, more than twice the net gain in June. Also, the board said the institutions closed $12 billion in home loans last month, less than the record $13.9 billion of the previous month.

—A slight increase in the average yield on Treasury bills auctioned by the government means the maximum interest rate that commercial banks and savings institutions may pay on six-month savings certificates rises Tuesday to 9.78 percent from 9.77 percent the previous week. Also, the highest allowable rate on three-month savings certificates goes to 9.28 percent from the previous 9.18 percent.

Low pay raises expected next year

NEW YORK (AP) — American workers can expect the lowest average pay raises in a decade next year, and may find themselves shouldering more of the cost of their health and retirement benefits, a salary and benefit consulting firm said Tuesday.

Pay increases in 1984 will average less than 7 percent, a study by A.S. Hansen Inc. predicted. The annual survey, released at a press conference, said many companies are thinking for the first time of "reducing medical programs and studying flexible benefit and salary reduction programs."

A "drastically lower inflation rate" and a keen desire to cut costs have led to lower budgets for salary increases and benefit programs, John McMillan, Hansen's director of compensation services, said.

He added that high unemployment is making workers "less inclined to be more militant" in requests for raises.

"It's kind of a good news-bad news situation," McMillan said. "The good news is if you're still employed you've made it through the worst recession in 50 years. The bad news is we can expect salary increase dollar amounts of only about the same level as last year."

Workers in insurance, finance and service industries will get the largest raises in 1984, while wholesale-retail and manufacturing employees will see the lowest pay increases, the survey said.

Salaried employees stand to make an average 6.9 percent more in 1984, while workers paid hourly wages will get average raises of 6.7 percent, according to the Hansen survey, which was based on responses from about 1,000 companies.

Hansen, which consults businesses on salary and benefit plans, has been conducting its annual wage-benefit survey since the mid-1960s and "this is the first time in 10 years that budgets for pay increases are under 7 percent," McMillan said.

Even senior corporate executives are in for lower-than-usual increases in pay and benefits, Peter J. Keller, Hansen vice president and general manager, said.

Guide available for new farmers

In hectic modern America, many people long for the simpler days of the past — life on the farm raising food and avoiding traffic jams.

If you think the farm life may be for you, perhaps your first step should be to read the Agriculture Department's primer "Getting Started in Farming on a Small Scale."

The volume also considers the choices for people who want to keep their city job but farm on weekends. Corn or beef cattle, for example, can do well with little attention between weekends, although neither brings in large financial returns.

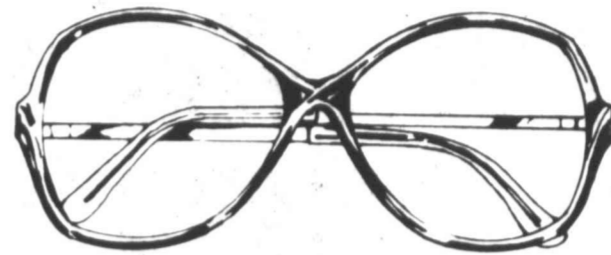

At any rate, aspiring farmers can get a copy of "Getting Started in Farming on a Small Scale" for $3.25 from the Consumer Information Center, Dept. 237L, Pueblo, Colo., 81009.

But, McMillan noted, many executives profited handsomely on the stock market during the past year, and are prepared for lower pay and benefits.

"There are a lot more millionaires this August than there were last August," he said.

Skyrocketing health benefit costs for employees and retirees is leading many companies, especially older businesses with strong unions, to seek cuts that will have the least impact on needed services, the survey said.

WEATHER REPORT — Members of Leo Helmer's sixth-grade home room class at Columbia School in Champaign have practiced their lettering with a weather-related message on the south side of the

Man returns bond, earns $25,000

HOLLYWOOD, Fla. (AP) — A retiree who offered $25,000 for the return of a $100,000 redeemable U.S. government bond representing his life savings says the finder "nearly fell over" upon learning of the reward.

Bob Weinberg, 70, of Hollywood, got the bond back Monday. The finder, Vincent Panaro of Hallandale, had been advertising in local newspapers to try to locate the rightful owner.

He "didn't ask me for the reward. He nearly fell over when I told him I was willing to give him $25,000," Weinberg said.

Panaro found the bond in a bank photocopying machine where Weinberg absent-mindedly left it July 11.

"I didn't know about any reward," said Panaro, 73.

"I was just glad that he got what he was entitled to."

Weinberg got his bond back after Robert Platt, also of Hallandale, read about the retiree's plight in a newspaper. Platt also had seen Panaro's ads and telephoned Weinberg, who got in touch with Panaro.

"It worked out so fast the bond is in the vault now," Weinberg said. "The whole story is amazing."

Platt will receive $1,000 of the reward money for his telephone call. Panaro gets the remainder.

A retired New York City dress shop operator, Weinberg said he did not mind parting with a quarter of his savings.

"I felt excellent about it. I said to him (Panaro), 'I had a good day and you had a good day.' I told him, 'You enjoy the money and I'll enjoy the bond that I thought I would never see again."

Weinberg said he left the bond, which pays $8,000 a year to the person who redeems its attached coupons, on a copying machine in a Home Savings Association branch.

He had made a copy of the bond and placed the envelope that had contained the original in his safety deposit box. But he forgot to lift the cover and take out the original.

Weinberg said he had slept and eaten little since he realized two weeks ago that the bond was missing. The bond was intended to see Weinberg and his wife through their years of retirement, he said.

"I had just about made up my mind to forget about the money," Weinberg said. "I considered it 99 percent gone."

Diet producers to reorganize

MONTEREY, Calif. (AP) — The producers of the popular Cambridge Diet, citing criticism from doctors and dwindling sales, have announced plans to seek reorganization under federal bankruptcy laws.

Cambridge Plan International also plans to lay off 75 percent of its workforce, but with a reorganization under Chapter 11 of the Federal Bankruptcy Act, the company is "enthusiastic about the future," president Vaughn Feather said Monday.

Sales of the 330-calorie-a-day diet have dropped to $8 million as of August compared to $38 million at this time last year, he said at a news conference.

While the company has assets of $55 million and liabilities of $18 million, Feather said it has been unable to liquidate assets fast enough to pay creditors.

The company's financial straits mean immediate layoffs for 250 employees, with furloughs to follow for 50 more in several weeks. That would leave 90 full-time workers.

The U.S. Food and Drug Administration has issued warnings to consumers about very low calorie diets like the Cambridge Diet and has "potentially linked" six heart attack deaths to the regimen. The diet also has been condemned as a weight loss plan that verges on starvation by the American Medical Association, the American Dietetics Association and the American Society of Bariatric Physicians.

Cathedral will pay back taxes

GARDEN GROVE, Calif. (AP) — The directors of the lavish Crystal Cathedral have voted to pay the state $473,000 in back taxes but will appeal the loss of its tax-exempt status, a church spokesman says.

Michael Nason, a spokesman for the Garden Grove Community Church, said the 16 directors voted Tuesday to pay the taxes with a loan from Farmers and Merchants Bank in Garden Grove while appealing the state Board of Equalization's decision in May that the church was not a tax-exempt institution.

The tax bill was to be paid today, the deadline set by Orange County, he said.

The equalization board cited use of church property by profit-making groups and concerts with tickets costing up to $150 when it lifted the church's tax-exempt status.

Lawrence Welk, Victor Borge and Fred Waring were among the performers at the 12-story glass cathedral during the 1981-82 tax investigation.

Television evangelist Robert Schuller, the church's pastor, said he feels the board's findings "are not substantiated by the law and we are looking forward to the appeal process that will vindicate our position."

McEnroe's mouth gets top seed more fines

NEW YORK (AP) — Top-seeded John McEnroe moved perilously close to a possible suspension on the opening day of the United States Open Tennis Championships, while two other top players bowed out of the tournament, one on the court and the other before lifting a racket.

McEnroe had to struggle through five tough sets Tuesday and survive a penalty point and a dispute with a heckling spectator before beating Trey Waltke 6-3, 5-7, 4-6, 6-0, 6-1.

Afterwards, he was fined $1,850 for his behavior, leaving him just $200 away from the $7,500 limit for the last 12 months. If he hits that figure, he would draw a three-week post-Open suspension from Volvo Grand Prix and Davis Cup, although he could appeal.

Defending champion Jimmy Connors, seeded No. 3, had a quieter time at Waltke, who had beaten McEnroe in two of their previous three meetings, lost steam in the fourth set. "I thought it was two out of three," he joked.

Part of the psych may have been caused by a point penalty assessed by umpire Stu Saphire when McEnroe exchanged words with him. The penalty came as Mac was winning 12 of the last 13 games in the final two sets to clinch the match.

"I'd rather have had an easier match," McEnroe said. "I'd rather have played better. I wouldn't win the tournament if I played like that."

Eighth-seeded Jose-Luis Clerc was the tournament's first upset victim, beaten in straight sets by Tim Wilkison, 6-2, 6-3, 7-5.

No. 4 Tracy Austin, who won the Open two years ago, withdrew from the tournament because of nagging injuries which she said have allowed her to play at only 60-70 percent of her capacity. She had been scheduled to play Yvonne Vermaak today.

The only other seeded loser on the first day of the tournament was No. 15 Virginia Ruzici, who bowed to Catherine Tanvier 6-3, 6-3.

Vitas Gerulaitis, seeded No. 15, was nearly a casualty. He dropped the first two sets to Marcos Hocevar, but recovered and survived the first round 3-6, 3-6, 6-2, 7-5, 6-4.

McEnroe was in a similar fix against Waltke. After winning the first set 6-3, Super-Mac saw a 4-1 second set lead melt away. He lost that set 5-7 and the next one 4-6 before coming back for the victory.

"I was playing my type of match, keeping him off guard," McEnroe said. "But I couldn't move him around. I just missed a lot of unforced shots and you can't win tournaments that way."

Before long, Waltke had the lead and McEnroe was jawing with a troublesome fan, finally tossing some sawdust at him.

"The guy was egging me on and I don't like people when they egg me on," said McEnroe, whose temper has often surfaced in other tournaments. "They clap when I double fault and miss shots. It's the same old story. I just get to a point where I snapped. It really bothered me. I totally lost my concentration."

Monahans mauls awed Lady Steers

By BOB CARPENTER
Sports Writer

State Class 4-A volleyball champion Monahans lived up to its reputation last night, crushing the Big Spring High Lady Steers 15-4, 15-7 in Steer Gym.

Monahans, behind the skillful spiking of junior Sheila Adams and net play of junior Melody Holloway, virtually neutralized the Big Spring attack throughout the first game. Although the Lady Steers played better in the second stanza, it wasn't enough against the quicker and more powerful Monahans team.

"We weren't mentally prepared to play," Big Spring coach Susan Sharp said. "We've had internal problems all week and I've told them they can't gripe and expect to play well. We've got to have unity to play as a team."

In the first game, Monahans rolled to a 9-1 lead behind the serving of Holloway leaving Big Spring little chance for a comeback. Big Spring traded a couple of points with Monahans behind some solid net play by Debbie Holguin before the opposition served out the match on four straight points.

Big Spring began the second on an aggressive note with better reaction which led to longer exchanges with the Monahans six.

However, Big Spring just couldn't seem to score whenever it forced a Monahans service break and gradually began to slip behind. Monahans edged out an 8-2 lead about midway through the match and hung on for a 15-7 victory.

Big Spring made a brief run to put the score at 11-7 near the end of the match on serves by Holguin and Jana Mathews, and spikes by Monette Wise, Vickie Halfmann and Tris Clemens.

A dejected coach Sharp said after the game that "poor line play and many, many metal errors" cost Big Spring any chances of winning the match.

The Lady Steers are still winless this year with an 0-6 record. Monahans is 11-0 so far this year, according to coach Linda Weikal, winning their own tournament this past weekend by defeating defending District 4-5A champ San Angelo Central in the finals.

All was not gloomy for Big Spring teams last night as the junior varsity and freshmen captured victories.

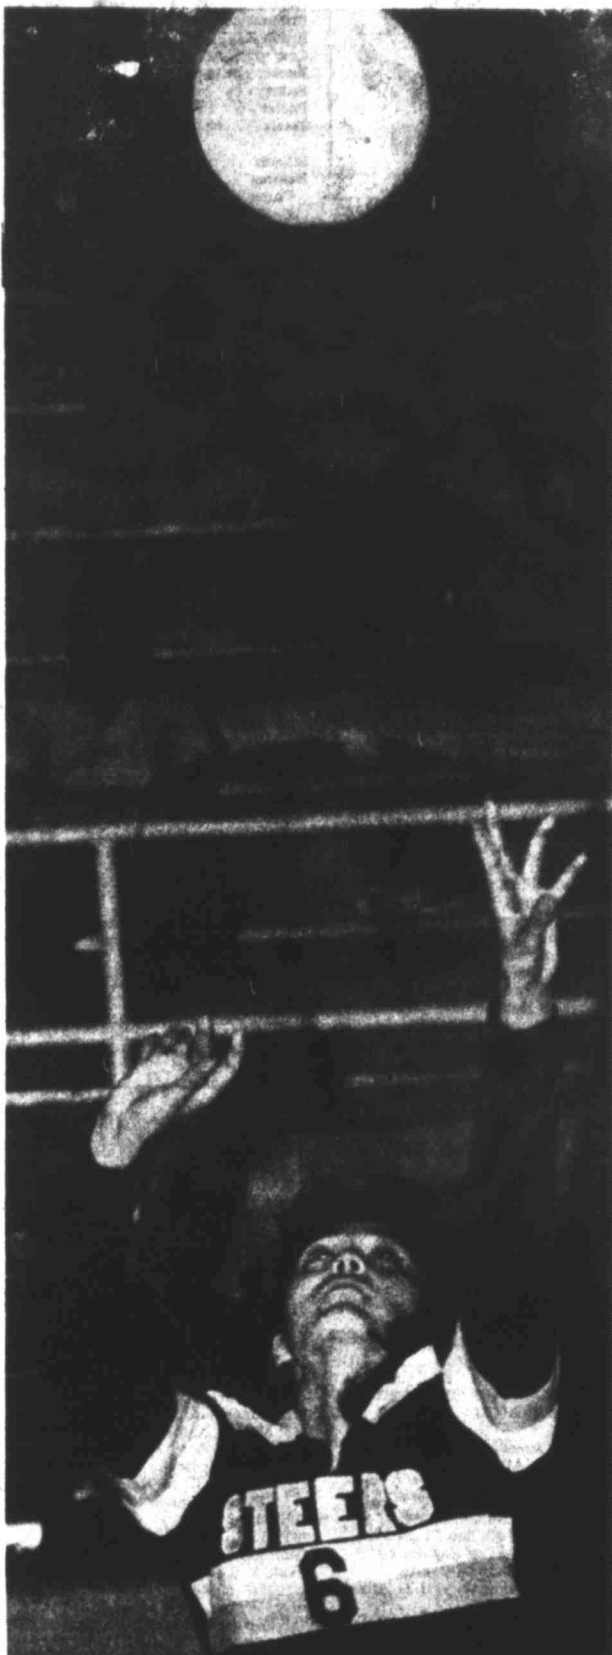

Coach Elaine Stone's JV's won 15-9 and 15-11 in a hard-fought contest. The junior varsity had 47 good serves and only seven that went awry, according to Stone.

"Teamwork and the tight bond the girls are developing are what pulled them to victory," Stone said.

The freshmen also recorded a win with a 15-4, 5-15, 15-13 performance. Last year as eighth graders, the freshmen were the only team to defeat Monahans all year, according to coach Anna Ezzell.

Sheri Myrick and Tabitha Green served five points each in the first game to take high server honors. Connie Swinney served three points in the second game, and Paula Jolley and Myrick earned four points each on serves in the third game.

Big Spring hosts Lamesa Thursday at 6:30 p.m. (5:30 p.m. for the junior varsities) in their next outing.

SETTING IT UP HIGH — Big Spring High setter Debbie Holguin puts the ball up for one of her spikes during Tuesday night's match against Monahans. It was a long night for the Lady Steers as the defending 4-A state champs downed BSHS 15-4, 15-7.

Landry aiming for 12 wins

DALLAS (AP) — Tom Landry's goals for the 1983 regular season are a dozen victories and the jelling of a team that has Super Bowl potential.

Asked how many games he thought the Cowboys would win, Landry said, "I hope we have a 12-4 before it's over with."

He admitted the Cowboys "won't win as many games in the NFC (National Conference) East as we have in the past."

Landry said the emergence of the New York Giants, the still-strong Philadelphia Eagles, and the presence of the Super Bowl champion Washington Redskins made victories hard to come by.

"Some team might get hot like Washington did last year but it's not likely," Landry said.

Can the Cowboys make it back to the Super Bowl?

"We have the potential to be a Super Bowl team but we haven't reached it at this stage," Landry said. "We came out of training camp ready to play."

"The mesh of people has to jell at the right time. If you don't go to the Super Bowl around here, you haven't done anything."

The Cowboys, who lost in the National Conference title game to the Redskins, meet their NFC East rivals Monday night, in the regular season opener.

Sampson hurts foot in Rockets workout

HOUSTON (AP) — Houston Rockets rookie James Campbell, a ninth round draft choice, put his foot in the wrong place during a rookie camp drill Tuesday — beneath Ralph Sampson's foot.

Sampson, who signed a four-year, $5 million contract last week, collided with Campbell during a drill, creating almost as much excitement as when the Rockets earned the right to make Sampson the No. 1 pick in the 1983 National Basketball Association draft.

Trainer Dick Vandervoort quickly examined Sampson's ankle and x-rays revealed no serious damage but Sampson skipped Tuesday night's workout and may miss today's final sessions.

"I didn't think it was going to be serious," Rockets Coach Bill Fitch said after watching his star player topple to the court. "I always expect the best. But I've seen them go down before and there is nothing you can do about it. I don't even go into the training room. I might get in someone's way."

Sampson and Campbell were going for the ball during a drill when Sampson stepped on Campbell's foot causing the injury.

Fitch said it was not important that Sampson take part in today's final two workouts of the rookie camp. He's seen enough.

"He will be effective from the start," Fitch said. "Some first round choices have not made it but there's no doubt in my mind that he will be a great player."

Sampson and Campbell were among 15 rookie hopefuls going through the rookie camp under new head coach Bill Fitch. Sampson was injured on the fifth of eight scheduled workouts.

NOT IN TIME AT PLATE — St. Louis Cardinals catcher Glenn Brummer spins around to see Houston Astro Jerry Mumfrey score on a squeeze bunt during the seventh inning of their game Tuesday night in the Astrodome. Houston won the game, 3-1.

Chisox blank floundering Texas, 5-0

CHICAGO (AP) — Distress shadows Texas Manager Doug Rader. He says a cancer that has debilitated the Ranger hitting attack may be spreading to the nucleus of his young club.

"The only thing that worries me right now is that the confidence and attitude we've been so careful to manufacture throughout the year is perilously close to being a thing of the past," Rader said Tuesday night after his club dropped a 5-0 decision to the West Division-leading Chicago White Sox. "We can't let that happen."

Since the All-Star break, when they held a two-game lead in the West, the Rangers have recorded a 16-38 record.

The club sits in fifth place, 14½ games behind Chicago, which stretched its lead to a season-high 9½ games over second place Kansas City.

Britt Burns, who entered the game as the only White Sox starter with a losing record, improved to 8-8 with six innings of four-hit pitching. He struck out six and walked one. Dick Tidrow allowed two hits through the final three innings to earn his sixth save. Dave Stewart, 1-1, took the loss.

Carlton Fisk hit the first inside-the-park home run of his career, his 21st of the year, and Harold Baines added a two-run homer to pace the Chicago offense.

Rain delayed the game for 22 minutes in the fifth inning and for 26 minutes in the sixth.

Tigers 4, Twins 3

In Detroit, doubles by Tom Brookens and Lou Whitaker keyed a two-run third inning, triggering the Tigers past Minnesota. The doubles tied the game 2-2, then Alan Trammell singled Whitaker home to put the Tigers ahead for good at 3-2.

Lance Parrish belted his 21st homer in the sixth inning off Minnesota starter Ken

Angels 10, Indians 6

In Anaheim, Doug DeCinces' three-run double led a 15-hit assault as California downed Cleveland. DeCinces' third-inning double snapped a scoreless tie and came a little before Cleveland starter Rick Sutcliffe was ejected for throwing close to California's batters.

Orioles 12, Royals 4

John Lowenstein has been a Royal pain to the Kansas City ballclub this season.

While batting a modest .279 against the American League as a whole, the Baltimore outfielder has burned the Royals with 15 hits in 24 at-bats for a red-hot .625 average.

Four of those hits came Tuesday night, when he helped the surging Orioles crush Kansas City 12-4.

Red Sox 5, Blue Jays 4

In Toronto, Jim Rice's one-out single in the 12th inning scored Jerry Remy from second base and lifted Boston over the Blue Jays. Remy stroked a one-out single and Wade Boggs followed with a base hit before Rice grounded his hit through the left side of the infield to make a winner of John Henry Johnson, 3-2.

Yankees 8, A's 5

In Oakland, Oscar Gamble's two-run triple keyed a three-run ninth inning that lifted Ron Guidry and New York over Oakland.

American League

Schrom, 12-6, for the Tigers' eventual winning run.

Brewers 3, Mariners 2

In Seattle, Rick Manning's RBI triple in the seventh broke a 1-1 tie and rookie Tom Candiotti won his third straight game as Milwaukee defeated the Mariners.

Candiotti, 3-0, allowed just five hits in 7 2-3 innings, before giving way to Pete Ladd, who earned his 16th save. Since being recalled from Vancouver on August 6, Candiotti has appeared in relief twice, started three times and now has an ERA of 0.62.

The loss dropped the varsity to 1-1 for the year after an earlier victory over Sweetwater.

Ruhle, Astros get rare win over Cardinals

HOUSTON (AP) — In times of trouble, the Houston Astros have found they can always count on pitcher Vern Ruhle.

When J.R. Richard was felled by a life-threatening stroke in the middle of the 1980 season, Ruhle took his place in the rotation and helped the Astros to the National League West crown.

With Nolan Ryan sidelined, the Astros turned to Ruhle again Tuesday night, and he allowed three hits over 8 1-3 innings to give Houston a 3-1 triumph over the St. Louis Cardinals.

Ryan left Friday's game after 2 2-3 innings with a slightly pulled groin, and Ruhle pitched five innings of one-hit ball.

The Astros elected to delay Ryan's next start until Thursday, and Ruhle made the most of his chance, pitching no-hit ball for 4 1-3 innings.

Ruhle, 8-3, allowed only one hit through eight innings, a single to Dane Iorg in the fifth inning. In posting his seventh straight winning decision, the Astro right hander struck out three and walked three.

The victory brought Houston to within eight games of division-leading Los Angeles and 6½ games of Atlanta.

The Astros took a 1-0 lead in the first inning when Bill Doran scored as Dickie Thon grounded into a double play.

Houston made it 3-0 in the seventh inning on Ruhle's suicide squeeze bunt and Terry Puhl's RBI fielder's choice.

George Hendrick's 15th home run of the year, a solo shot in the ninth inning, spoiled Ruhle's shutout and ended a string of 19 shutout innings. Iorg followed with a single, chasing Ruhle.

Reliever Frank DiPino allowed a single to pinch hitter David Green, and reliever Bill Dawley came on to get the final two outs and earn his 14th save.

Phillies 6-5, Padres 0-7

Rookie Kevin Gross tossed his first major-league shutout and first complete game to pace Philadelphia in the first game.

Gross yielded six hits as the Padres' Bobby Brown

Mark Davis, 3-3, held host Montreal to three hits over six innings.

Cubs 9, Braves 6

In Atlanta, Carmelo Martinez, Ron Cey and Mel Hall drilled home runs to highlight Chicago's 14-hit attack.

Chuck Rainey, 14-10, got the win and Lee Smith, the fourth Chicago pitcher, got the final four outs for his 22nd save.

Mets 3-1, Dodgers 2-2

Pedro Guerrero doubled home one run and Greg Brock added an RBI single as Los Angeles made two first-inning runs stand up in the nightcap.

Pat Zachry, 5-0, making his first start of the season, got the win against his former team with six innings of six-hit pitching.

In the opener, Ron Hodges delivered a run-scoring single with two outs in the eighth inning to lead host New York.

Pirates 5, Reds 3

Rookie right-hander Jose DeLeon of the Pittsburgh Pirates may someday pitch a no-hitter. And at this rate, it might be against the Cincinnati Reds.

DeLeon again ripped through the Reds, holding them hitless for 5 1-3 innings, as Pittsburgh downed Cincinnati 5-3 Tuesday night.

On Aug. 20, in his first appearance against the Reds, DeLeon went 6 2-3 hitless innings and finished with a two-hitter while striking out 13.

This time, he allowed two hits in his six innings, fanning seven while walking one.

National League

went 0-for-3, breaking his 21-game hitting streak.

Visiting San Diego rallied in the nightcap to spoil the 39th birthday of McGraw, 3-1, who started for the Phillies after 184 consecutive relief outings, dating back to 1979.

Philadelphia's Mike Schmidt homered twice in the losing effort and now leads the NL with 32 home runs.

Giants 13, Expos 2

Dave Bergman belted two home runs, doubling his season's output, and drove in five runs to end Montreal's four-game winning streak.

GRAPE OATMEAL COOKIES

1/2 cup (1 stick) butter or margarine, softened
1 cup firmly packed brown sugar
1 cup white sugar
1 egg, slightly beaten

ENERGIZING SNACK — Peachy Energy Shake and Grape Oatmeal Cookies are great after-school snacks for children to enjoy while doing homework.

1 tsp. vanilla extract
1 cup oatmeal
1 cup chopped walnuts
1/2 cup wheat germ
1 cup unsifted flour
1/2 tsp. baking soda
1/4 tsp. baking powder
1/2 tsp. salt
1/2 cup grape jelly

In mixer bowl, cream butter at high speed. Beat in sugar gradually until light and fluffy. Stir in egg, vanilla, oatmeal, walnuts and wheat germ. Sift flour with baking soda, baking powder and salt. Stir into batter until well blended. Drop by teaspoonfuls onto lightly greased cookie sheet. Make hole in center of each cookie using back of small wet spoon. Drop about 1/2 tsp. grape jelly into center of each cookie. Bake at 350 degrees until delicately browned, about 8 to 10 minutes. Remove from cookie sheet while still warm and cool on rack. Makes about 5 dozen cookies.

BREAKFAST NOG

1/2 cup grape juice
1/2 cup milk
1/4 cup vanilla yogurt
1 egg

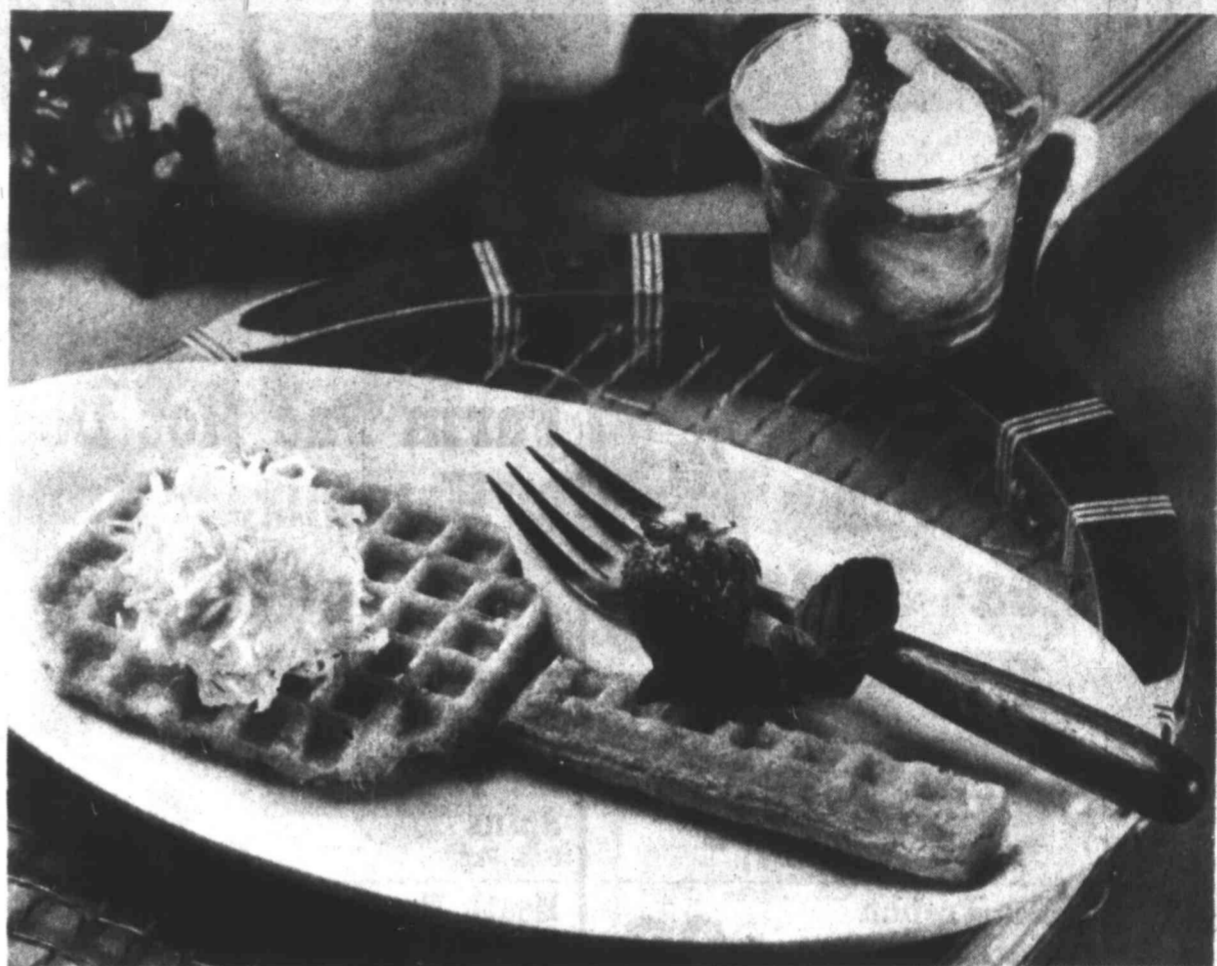

Combine grape juice, milk, yogurt and egg in blender container. Blend several seconds until smooth and frothy. Makes about 1 cup.

TUNA-CHEESE LOGS

1 lb. loaf frozen bread dough
2 (6 1/2 ounce) cans tuna
1 cup grated Cheddar cheese
3 Tbsps. minced onion
2 to 3 Tbsps. mayonnaise
1 tsp. celery salt
2 Tbsps. butter, melted
3 Tbsps. Parmesan cheese

Let frozen dough thaw to room temperature. On lightly floured board roll dough out to 12-x-14 inch rectangle. Cut into 12 3 1/2-x-4 inch rectangles. Mix tuna, cheese, onions, mayonnaise and celery salt together. Place a spoonful of mixture down center of each dough rectangle. Fold long edges over filling and seal. Place logs seam side down on lightly greased sheet pan. Brush logs with butter and sprinkle with Parmesan cheese. Let dough rise approximately 20 minutes. Bake in preheated 350 degree oven for 15 to 18 minutes until golden brown. Tuna Logs should be served immediately or refrigerated and heated before serving. Yield: 12 logs.

Note: Tuna-Cheese Logs are fresh yeast bread wrapped around protein rich tuna and cheese. Bake several batches at one time and keep in freezer — ready to heat for a quick snack. Served with fresh fruits, the Tuna-Cheese Logs are a nutritious light meal.

AFTER GAME TREAT — Toasted Tennis Treats are great to serve tennis or racquetball buffs following a game. The treat is attractively shaped into a ball and racquet. Recipe and shaping directions are featured in today's Recipe Exchange.

FRUITED APPLE GELATIN

1 envelope unflavored gelatin
2 Tbsps. granulated sugar
1/2 cup boiling water
1 1/2 cups reconstituted frozen concentrated apple juice

1/2 cup chopped apple
1/2 cup chopped pear
1/4 cup halved green grapes
In mixing bowl, combine gelatin and sugar. Add boiling water and stir until gelatin dissolves. Stir in the apple juice. Cover and chill until slightly thickened, about 2 hours. Add the fruit and mix well. Pour into a mold if desired. Chill until set, about 2 more hours. Makes 4 servings (about 1/2 cup each).

TOASTED TENNIS TREATS

4 small scoops any flavor ice cream or sherbet
1/4 cup shredded or flaked coconut

1/2 of 16-ounce package jumbo waffles
Coat each scoop of ice cream with coconut to resemble a tennis ball; store in freezer until ready to serve. Toast waffles according to package directions. For each serving, cut off one outer "row" (about 1/4 inch) from each waffle; set aside.

From remaining waffle portion, diagonally cut about 1/2 inch from each corner, forming a tennis racquet head. On serving plate, center the reserved waffle "row" at the base of the "racquet head" forming the handle. Place prepared ice cream "tennis ball" on waffle. Serve with fresh fruit slices, if desired. Makes 4 servings.

Note: This is a good snack to serve to tennis or racquetball buffs. Ice cream tennis balls can be prepared ahead of time so all you have to do when you come in off the courts is toast the waffles and shape them.

Hors d'oeuvres range from snack to banquet

By TOM HOGGE
AP Wine and Food Writer

That culinary creation known as the hors d'oeuvre ranges from a morsel of shrimp to elaborate meat and seafood salads decorated with cold potatoes, pickled beets, diced apples and half a dozen other ingredients that can make it seem like a main course.

Hors d'oeuvre means "outside the main work" and it is supposed to whet the appetite for the meal to follow. But I wonder how one could eat any more after wading through some of the mammoth appetizers.

Americans use the word interchangeably with canape, although the latter is actually different. Canapes are small morsels of food served hot or cold with bread or crackers. They usually accompany drinks at a stand-up cocktail party.

Hors d'oeuvres, also served hot or cold, should be eaten with a knife and fork at the table as the start to a sit-down meal.

In France, the hors d'oeuvre can consist of any of dozens of delicacies ranging from deviled eggs, shrimp cocktail, tiny frankfurters and costly pate de foie gras, to light appetizers like crudites — raw vegetables with a cold dip.

In Scandinavia, this repast is called smorgasbord and it is truly a feast, including smoked reindeer, venison meatballs, snow grouse and scores of cold fish delicacies. I have eaten it in Finland and had no room left for the main meal.

Most countries have at least a couple of native appetizers, some of which have become world-famous, like France's pates.

In Czarist Russia, hosts at the great country homes once offered such delicacies as Beluga caviar, smoked salmon and fish in aspic, served with chilled vodka.

In the Balkan countries of Yugoslavia, Romania and Bulgaria, the meal is started off with a cold array of ham, salami, spiced sausage and cheese with peppers and tomatoes.

In Turkey, nuts and olives are served along with dolmas, delicious morsels made of vine leaves stuffed with rice, ground lamb and dill. Here is a recipe for it.

2-3rds cup long-grain rice, thoroughly washed and drained
1 pound lean lamb, ground
1 medium onion, chopped fine
2 tablespoons dill, chopped fine
Salt and pepper
Lemon juice
Vine or cabbage leaves, blanched
4 tablespoons olive oil

Cook rice: half-fill saucepan with water, add 1/4 teaspoon salt and bring to boil. Pour in rice and boil 3 minutes. Drain. Put cooled rice in a bowl with lamb, onion, dill, salt, pepper and lemon juice to taste. Mix well. Spread out leaves and place a teaspoon or more of filling on each leaf. Fold leaves and place side by side in large pan so they don't open out. Put plate on top of dolmas to keep in place. Mix 20 ounces water, olive oil and pinch of salt, remove plate and pour over dolmas and bring to boil. Cover pan, reduce heat and simmer 1 hour. Serve hot or cold. Serves 6 to 8.

Zinc supplements unnecessary

COLLEGE STATION — Zinc deficiency seems to be the latest nutrition problem for which Americans are being sold dietary supplements.

Some researchers have labeled a shortage of zinc as a cause of immune system difficulties which may contribute to disease among the aged and malnourished. "But the average person need not be concerned about zinc deficiency or purchasing a zinc supplement to prevent such a deficiency," says Dr. Alice Hunt, a foods and nutrition specialist with Texas A&M's Agricultural Extension Service.

According to Hunt, there are so many nutrients missing in cases of malnutrition that problems with the immune system cannot be blamed on zinc deficiency alone. Malnourished people will be prone to disease for a variety of reasons, with lack of protein being the major factor, she adds.

The recommended daily allowance for zinc is 15 mg per day, and the average zinc content of mixed diets

Meat, eggs, milk and shellfish are all good sources of zinc. So the person who severely restricts his intake of these foods could run the risk of developing a zinc shortage.

"A balanced diet which includes animal protein however, should be sufficient to insure that a person does not become deficient," states the nutritionist.

There are areas of the country where the soil is deficient in available zinc and spontaneous zinc deficiency in farm animals has required enrichment of feeds.

But zinc deficiency in animals does not mean people from the same area would require zinc supplements, Hunt says.

The specialist cautions that consumers who have purchased zinc pills or liquid should be aware that too much zinc can become toxic. consumed by American adults is between 10 and 15 mg per day, reports Hunt.

Lesbian loses job after admitting student affair

BATON ROUGE, La. (AP) — A teaching assistant's lesbian affair with a student has divided faculty members at Louisiana State University after a judge's ruling that the staffer can be replaced because of "a major breach of professional ethics."

U.S. District Judge E. Gordon West ruled Monday that LSU should fill a teaching job taken from graduate assistant Kristine Naragon, but did not rule on Ms. Naragon's complaint that her rights were violated because she was switched to a research job due to her sexual preference.

West, whose ruling lifted a temporary restraining order against filling the job that he issued last week, ordered both sides to submit written arguments within 10 days and said he would rule after study.

During the day-long hearing, LSU's vice-chancellor for academic affairs testified that Ms. Naragon, 30, lost the post of graduate assistant because of "a major breach of professional ethics" — not because her lover was female.

But lawyers for Ms. Naragon argued that male professors had retained positions at the university despite having affairs with female students.

Ms. Naragon declined comment, but her lawyers said they were not encouraged by West's ruling.

"Obviously, we are disappointed. We would like for the (temporary restraining) order to have stayed in place," said R. James Kellogg of the American Civil Liberties Union.

On the stand, Ms. Naragon admitted to a "brief physical relationship" with a freshman woman in the LSU school of music, adding that it ended after about a month and a half.

She said the affair came after the student's 18th birthday last November, although the two met when the student was a minor. The student was identified only as Jane Doe.

Ms. Naragon said she was harassed by the student's parents and friends, called a devil and a homosexual prostitute, and said the student's father had her car watched by state police.

Carolyn H. Hargrove, LSU vice-chancellor for academic affairs, testified LSU takes a dim view of any love affairs involving a student and a faculty member.

As an example, she said a male professor-administrator at the university had been stripped of his administrative duties because of an affair with a female student.

The administration decided to not renew Ms. Naragon's teaching assistantship because she violated an unwritten policy of being involved sexually with a student and that "was a major breach of professional ethics," Ms. Hargrove added.

But Professor George D. Foss Jr. testified that other affairs between teachers in the music school and students went unpunished.

One teacher there married one of his students, Foss testified.

He said that Ms. Naragon has been "a creative and dependable" teacher and that she had promised him that she would not have any further relationships with students on campus.

Dogs chew up side of car

MANGUM, N.C. (AP) — Folks start barking when they see Steve Hamilton coming, all because two persistent German shepherds gnawed a hole in the side of his car, apparently trying to get at his pet cat.

Hamilton, of Mangum, said Monday in a telephone interview that the dogs chewed an $1,800 gap above the left-rear wheel of his 1972 Corvette. The tire was a favorite snoozing spot for Hamilton's cat, Tabby.

"I get a big ribbing about it," said Hamilton, 28, adding that friends and neighbors begin barking when they see him.

Hamilton said when he got up Sunday morning, he saw the hole in his car and found the car's license plate and "a bunch of pieces of fiberglass" on the ground.

"My neighbor's got two German shepherds that live across the road that have chased the cat before," Hamilton said. "They're the only two dogs around here that are big enough to do the damage."

He said Tabby has a habit of snoozing on top of the tire, and the dogs apparently tried to eat their way through to the cat.

But Tabby, who was unscathed, apparently outsmarted the dogs.

"After they got a hole bit through, the cat got to the other side of the car," Hamilton said. "But they never did get to him."

The dogs started to tear into the other side of the car and scratched up a rear panel but apparently gave up, he said.

KEEPING THE CO-OP GOING — Sharron Frank, 39, right, the director of marketing and sales at the Yellow Cab Co. in Denver, Colo., looks over a trip sheet with Melvin Davis, 54, who has been driving a Yellow Cab more than 18 years. Yellow Cab in Denver is owned by its drivers and it is one of the 10 largest labor-owned companies in the U.S.

Cabbies in the driver's seat after purchasing taxi service

DENVER (AP) — The big, shiny-yellow cabs were all that looked bright at the Yellow Cab Co., Denver's largest taxicab company, four years ago. There was a new owner who wanted to make changes many of the drivers didn't like. The Independent Drivers Association, the union representing the drivers, tried to compromise with the new owner, but neither side could agree.

So the union bought the company — for $2.5 million.

It plunked down its entire strike fund, about $200,000, as a down payment and renamed the company the Yellow Cab Cooperative Association.

Now one of the 10 largest labor-owned companies in the United States — and one of just a handful of driver-owned taxicab companies — Yellow Cab is only a little less tumultuous at the management level than it was in 1979. But the drivers are making it go.

"People said we wouldn't make it past six months, but we celebrated our fourth anniversary in April," said Sharron Frank, 39, director of marketing and sales.

For the drivers, the switch to a cooperative has meant improved working conditions and the lowest accident rate of any taxicab company in the nation, Ms. Frank said. The turnover rate is just 14 percent a year, "lower than most banks," she added.

"When the drivers took over, they decided they wanted to do two things: They wanted to experiment and they wanted to do things on their own."

A self-defense program for drivers and a class in stress management are in the works. An incentive program pays $4 an hour for drivers who will take fares no one wants, such as short trips to the supermarket.

Before going on duty, drivers are encouraged to read their biorhythm charts, which show each driver's mental, emotional and physical levels for the day and bear such admonitions as "Watch for accidents today" or "Try extra hard for understanding today."

With a fleet of 400 cabs in Denver, another 25 at its Boulder Yellow Cab Co. and 25 airport limousines, Yellow Cab pulled in $9 million in gross revenues in 1982, not counting revenue from its 110 drivers who own their own cabs, said Ms. Frank.

The company has another 790 drivers who lease cabs from the company for $36.75 a day. All drivers also pay $2.75 to the union and $3 to the cooperative each shift.

White man sues black school

HOUSTON (AP) — A 38-year-old white man is going to court against predominantly black Texas Southern University, alleging he was denied admission to its law school because of his race, sex and age.

"It's very disheartening," said Joseph W. Bailey Jr. after his lawsuit was filed Tuesday in state district court.

The suit, scheduled for hearing in late September, says the law school's rejection of Bailey is "unjust discrimination in favor of non-taxpayers, and students of other race, sex and age who do not have the qualifications and credentials."

The suit asks that TSU be ordered to admit Bailey and pay damages totaling at least $75,000.

Bailey, a public relations specialist and former sales manager for radio stations, said he researched previous lawsuits, including what has become known as the Bakke case before he pursued his own case.

J. Charles Whitfield, Bailey's attorney, said he is "not interested in Balkanizing this country"

Springfield thrills teenyboppers

By GREG JAKLEWICZ
Staff Writer

ODESSA — "Calling All Girls." A song from Rick Springfield's second album Success Hasn't Spoiled Me Yet and an appropriate theme for Tuesday night's concert at the Odessa Ector County Coliseum.

There were plenty of girls, mostly in the junior and senior high school bracket, at this concert and most spent the entire evening screaming for Springfield's attention. He responded by tight-ropeing the edge of the stage, shaking sweat into the crowd and reaching down into the audience to touch fingertips on occasion.

"We want Rick... We want Rick..." were the chants before the former soap opera star from General Hospital took the stage following a hard-nosed performance by Wendy Ross and Quarterflash. It really didn't matter how good the opening group was; the thousands of teenie-boppers — and a healthy portion of soap opera mommas — had come to see their idol.

Springfield does not rely on his good looks alone. A talented singer and guitarist, he led his four-man band (The Fabulous Eels) through all his top 10 hits. Despite his talents as a musician, the 33-year-old Springfield concentrated on turning on his younger audience, most half his age.

The set began with "Affair of the Heart" from his latest album, Living in Oz. Included in his list of songs were "Calling All Girls," "I've Done Everything For You," "Don't Talk to Strangers," "What King of Fool" and "Love is All Right Tonight." The audience especially went for "The Human Touch" — Springfield's latest hit single — as the performer touched hands with his front-row fans.

Of course there was an encore as he returned for "Jesse's Girl," his first hit record, and the title cut from Living in Oz.

The coliseum was kept unusually hot I suppose to work up Springfield's sweat. Dressed in tight jeans, a denim vest and an assortment of armbands, the Australian singer doused his fans with tons of perspiration much to their joy.

The heat didn't help the overly-excited fans as security guards and paramedics had to pull the exhausted rock-n-rollers out of the crowd and administer first aid in some cases.

Quarterflash, a Permian Basin favorite after an entertaining debut in 1982, put on a strong opening act performance. Ross, who gave the males in the audience a chance to holler, sang through the group's biggest hits. Also a learned saxophonist, she brought ovations from the packed coliseum for her solo performances.

The band played "Harden My Heart," "Give Me The Right Kind of Love," "Shaking the Jinx" and the current top 10 hit, "Take It to Heart," to highlight their set. The group broke out pocket cameras towards the end of their show, took snapshots of each other in action and tossed the results into the approving crowd.

All was lost when Springfield took the stage, however, as the nation's top male idol delivered exactly what his fans had come to see and hear.

'Easy Money' flawed but enjoyable

By BOB THOMAS
Associated Press Writer

"EASY MONEY" is a faulty but enjoyable comedy that answers the question: Can Rodney Dangerfield carry a movie on his own slumped shoulders? Yes, he can. The stand-up comic, who supplied the most laughs in "Caddyshack," now proves he can assume the major load in a feature movie. He is also listed, along with three others, as screenwriter, and their efforts indicate a kind of communal chaos.

Dangerfield is cast as the ultimate slob, a creature of excess whom only a wife and tolerant friends could love. His midlife crisis occurs when his mother-in-law's will bequeaths him millions — only if he can eschew his bad habits for a calendar year. The real plot is a long time coming, and there is a potentially hilarious subplot about the nuptial frustrations of Dangerfield's Hispanic son-in-law. Director James Signorelli makes the most of the jumbled script, and the supporting cast is expert: Joe Pesci, Geraldine Fitzgerald, Candy Azzara, Taylor Negron and Jennifer Jason Leigh. But it's Dangerfield's movie, and he proves he can do more than self-deprecating humor. Rated R: brief nudity, language.

Truck wreck prompts lawsuit

Three Big Spring persons are seeking more than half a million dollars in damages in a suit filed in 118th District Court last week.

Kenneth Birmelin, his wife Pamela Jane Birmelin and Bonnie Birmelin have filed the suit in connection with a traffic accident in Howard County July 15.

The suit names an Abilene man and his trucking company, Elmo Moore, and Lee Garza of Snyder.

According to the suit, a vehicle driven by Birmelin was in collision with a Moore-owned truck operated by Garza on Texas Highway 350. The suit states Garza and Moore were negligent in the operation of the vehicle.

Birmelin and his wife are seeking a total of $557,500 in damages while Bonnie Birmelin is seeking $50,000 in a separate suit. P.C. Simek of Lubbock is representing both plaintiffs.

CHS class of '58 plans reunion

The members of the Coahoma High School class of 1958 are planning their 25th reunion. The class is searching for the addresses of Kenneth Dees, William West and Bobby Null. Anyone knowing the whereabouts of these three persons should call 394-4490 or 394-4325.

Personnel complaints

Q. How does the Police Department handle personnel complaints?

A. The Big Spring Police Department has written rules of conduct and responsibilities of police personnel and methods of administrative actions for any violation. These rules were established to insure professional conduct and the integrity of the department.

Violation of these rules subject the offender to administrative action. The punishment could take the form of training, counseling, reprimand, suspension, reduction in rank or dismissal, depending on the seriousness of the violation.

Most complaints are initiated by police supervisors but occasionally complaints are registered by a citizen within the community.

These complaints are handled in the following manner.

1. All complaints are required by state law to be made in writing and notarized.

2. A supervisory officer is assigned to investigate the complaint.

3. If a decision cannot be made after an investigation and difference of testimony between the complainant and our personnel is noted, then a polygraph or lie test is initiated. If the test of the complainant is favorable, then the employee is tested and a disposition made.

4. The employee is either exonerated or appropriate administrative action is taken.

5. If deception is noted in the complaint or the complainant's statements, then appropriate action is taken for making a false report to a governmental agency.

Dear Abby Woman wants a pretty face

DEAR ABBY: I just returned home from a consultation with my fourth plastic surgeon. I've always been a very homely woman, and my one wish is to be considered "pretty."
Surgeon No. 1 told me to learn to live with it. No. 2 called in his receptionist and told me I'd be prettier if I wore my hair like hers. No. 3 agreed with No. 1. And No. 4 told me that since I was already married, I couldn't have been too ugly.
Abby, I've been to make-up artists, hair stylists and I keep my weight down, but I'm still an ugly woman. I've raised a son and made a good home for my husband. Now I want to do something for myself. Don't tell me that beauty lies in the eye of the beholder. It doesn't. Ask any homely person.
Plastic surgeons have performed miracles with accident victims. Why won't they help me? Not one took the time to show me where improvements could or could not be made. All I get is a bill for telling me I should be satisfied with the way I am. Can you help me?

which there is no guarantee that you would consider yourself "pretty."
A competent and caring plastic surgeon would have taken the time and effort to explain this to you.
***
DEAR ABBY: We live in Hawaii, which is about as close to paradise as a person can get without dying. Of course, we pay for the privilege, as the cost of living here is the highest of anywhere in the United States. I'm sure a lot of people don't know this. That's why I'm writing.
We have many friends who come from the mainland to visit us, and they have no idea how expensive it is to feed houseguests and drive them around sightseeing.
Is there some way we can let them know this without making enemies out of our friends? Hurry your answer, as we are expecting guests in September, October, November and December.

MISERABLE IN PITTSBURGH
DEAR MISERABLE: If four plastic surgeons refused to accept you as a patient, they all must have concluded that regardless of what they did, they could never please you.
Massive reconstruction surgery is possible. Noses are reshaped, jaws are reconstructed, faces are lifted and peeled, etc. But it would require numerous surgical procedures (which are very costly) after

$1,000.00

NEW GAME
EACH WEEK

Here's How to Play

Obtain a free Dallas Cowboy Pro-Football weekly game card each time you visit a Winn Dixie store. No purchase necessary. Then watch Dallas Cowboy Pro-Football each week on network television, or check your local newspaper or result poster at any Winn Dixie store for the score of both teams at the completion of the game.

If the last number of the final score of each team matches the score on your Dallas Cowboy Pro-Football game card, you win the dollar amount indicated on your card, either $1,000, $100, $10, or $2. EXAMPLE: If the score on your card reads DALLAS 9, NEW ENGLAND 7, it means the DALLAS score could be 9, 19, 29, 39, 49, 59, etc., and the NEW ENGLAND score could be 7, 17, 27, 37, 47, 57, etc. Any combination of scores ending in 9 for DALLAS and 7 for NEW ENGLAND would give you a winning card.

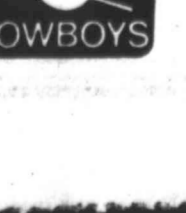

If you have a winning card, take it to any Winn Dixie store by close of business Saturday right following that week's game for verification. Store Manager will redeem authentic $10 and $2 winners on the spot and arrange for payment of $1,000 and $100 winners.

No space for cutting board?

To keep a large cutting board in a tiny kitchen without giving up precious space, take a tip. If the cutting board stands on end on the countertop, a strip of grainy, non-slip bathtub tape applied to the counter in front of the board will keep it in place.
