

School board OK's bid to upgrade equipment

By BOB CARPENTER
Staff Writer

The Big Spring school board yesterday approved a $43,500 bid for new equipment to upgrade the high school's two language laboratories, described by a teacher as obsolete and dilapidated.

The funds will be used to furnish and install cassette recorders, headphones, computerized instructor's control panel, custom desk tops for controls and other assorted audio equipment. Installation should begin in about four weeks, according to school officials.

Board members were furnished with a report by foreign language department chairman Colleen Slaughter which described the labs as being in a dilapidated condition.

Ms. Slaughter described the equipment in room 141 as "obsolete" and impossible to maintain because replacement parts do not exist. She said this lab had been in service for 15 years.

Room 138 fared no better as Ms. Slaughter said the room contained 28 student booths that are "marginally functional" and a power source that is unreliable and afflicted with poor sound quality. The equipment in this room is 12 years old, according to Ms. Slaughter.

The bid was awarded to Educational Media Co. The board also made several budget amendments to pay for contracts authorized in last year's budget with completion dates during the present school year.

The board authorized the following amendments:

- $47,500 be paid on completion of heating system renovation at the high school
- $20,452 be included in the budget for roofing done at the high school and Runnels Junior High.
- $26,237 added to the budget for stadium seating work contracted in June but not begun until September due to delays.
- $2,010 in federal funds for vocational education supplies.

Miller wants to keep job as tax collector

By BOB CARPENTER
Staff Writer

Attorney Bob Miller told Big Spring school board members yesterday he wants to keep his job collecting delinquent taxes for the district. His contract expired Aug. 31.

Miller said he could offer the district a computerized collection system for delinquent taxes if his contract is renewed.

He said organizations have developed that concentrate exclusively on delinquent tax collection through the use of computers.

The firms generally contract with a taxing entity or its agent, he said, and provide a computerized research network that tracks down and collects from delinquent taxpayers.

Miller said he would enter into such an agreement with a firm should the district renew his contract and ask that he provide the computer service.

Miller was accompanied by Thad Keenan, representing Title Research of Dallas.

"The primary function of Title Research is to find delinquent taxpayers," Keenan said. "It's one thing to know they're out there, but it's another thing to find them — and that's what we do."

Keenan said his company would take the district's delinquent roll information, place it into a computer and then research and attempt to locate

Ex-director of PUC may testify

Harte-Hanks Austin Bureau
AUSTIN — Texas Electric Service Co. won the right Thursday to subpoena a former Public Utility Commission official to testify about a recommendation he made in the utility's $195 million rate hike case.

Sam Hadaway, the former director of the utility commission's Division of Economic Research, suggested that Texas Electric receive more than $100 million of its request.

That is almost twice the $54.9 million recommendation made by the Texas Municipal League, which represents a number of cities fighting the rate hike.

However, commission General Counsel Allen King quickly threw out Hadaway's recommendation, saying commission attorneys would not rely on it nor would they call Hadaway to testify.

King explained his action later, saying, "Sam Hadaway used some criteria in developing his recommendation for CWIP (construction work in progress) that I thought was inappropriate. He was too high on CWIP. I have a duty to represent the public interest and in this case I thought it (the recommendation) was too high."

Hadaway said Texas Electric (TESCO) was entitled to recover 85 percent of the finance charges on power plant construction work in progress. Municipal league experts have recommended a 50 percent allowance on so-called CWIP.

The higher figure was justified, Hadaway noted, because the Legislature's decision to abolish automatic fuel adjustment charges made the company's financial outlook more risky and might jeopardize TESCO's AAA bond rating. TESCO and its sister companies, Dallas Power & Light Co. and Texas Power & Light Co., are the only electric utilities in the nation with that top bond rating from Wall Street.

M*A*S*H DRIVE — Big Spring residents will participate in a M*A*S*H blood drive tomorrow. Big Spring and Howard County have a difficult time maintaining an adequate blood supply, officials say, and the drive is designed to ease the blood shortage.

Keeping adequate blood supply is problem for Howard County

A four-car pileup occurs on U.S. 87 five miles south of Big Spring. A member of your family is involved. Ambulances rush the injured, including your relative, to nearby hospitals. The patients are wheeled into emergency rooms for badly needed transfusions — only the hospitals' blood banks are running low of needed types.

M*A*S*H drive

National Guard Armory

Your relative's life and the lives of several others are in the balance while arrangements are made to transport blood to Big Spring from other hospitals or blood banks. The delay could spell disaster for some of the more seriously injured.

The above scenario rarely occurs, but serves to point out the problem Howard County has maintaining an adequate supply of blood.

According to United Blood Services in San Angelo, the Big Spring area used 2,421 units of blood and blood components in 1982; however, only 1,876 units were drawn in local blood drives — a deficit of 545 units.

So far this year, Big Spring residents have used 1,717 units of blood and contributed only 1,048.

Bill Cregar, principal of Elbow Elementary School, is one who knows the importance of having an adequate blood supply.

Cregar, who suffers from a bleeding ulcer, said his ulcer once acted up, requiring a large transfusion. Had the hospital not had enough blood, Cregar's life might have been endangered.

"I encourage all persons to give blood," Cregar said. "It's very important that we keep our blood banks well stocked, because if an emergency happened and we didn't have enough blood on hand, it might be too late for the person involved."

In order to correct this blood deficit, United Blood Services is scheduling numerous blood drives at area locations. One of the campaigns, sponsored by radio station KBST and the National Guard, is slated for Saturday from 7 a.m. to 4 p.m. at the National Guard Armory on FM 700.

It's the M*A*S*H drive and it garnered more than 200 units of blood last year in just one day — a record for Howard County, according to United Blood Services officials.

Rainfall washes city for third straight day

Showers last night washed the Big Spring area for the third time this week, but many north Howard County cotton fields remained dry.

A thunderstorm hit the Big Spring area near midnight. Lightning and thunder was heavy, but no fires or car accidents resulted from the storm, according to police reports.

The official rainfall recorded at the U.S. Field Station on Interstate Highway 20 was .72 inches. Red Thomas of 103 E. 17th recorded .8 of an inch. No rain was recorded at the residence of Clarence Benz at 2807 Apache.

About half an inch of rain was recorded by Mrs. John Couch in Luther, and a trace was reported by officials at the Elbow school south of town.

There was no rain in Knott, Lomax or Ackerly, according to farmers in those areas.

Hail, high winds and rain whipped through Merkel west of Abilene as a weak cool front inched into the state, triggering a series of showers and heavy thunderstorms.

The storm pushed through the area about 8:30 p.m. Thursday. Trees were knocked down and damage was reported to several mobile homes, travel trailers and a barn, authorities said.

Up to three inches of rain fell in some areas of Merkel, located just west of Abilene, in a 30-minute span, officials said.

In Stephens County, about 50 miles northeast of Abilene, lightning triggered several grass fires, sheriff's officers said. Breckenridge reported .9 inch of rain.

Abilene television station KTXS was knocked off the air about 8 p.m. when lightning hit transmitting equipment, station officials said.

Heavy thunderstorms rumbled over a wide area from Midland to east of San Angelo before dawn today. Another area of showers and thunderstorms moved across the Red River from Oklahoma into Northeast Texas.

Moisture from the Gulf of Mexico brought low clouds into East and Central Texas, while light fog reduced visibilities to near three miles in Lufkin. Fair skies were noted over the lower coast and the Panhandle, while partly cloudy skies were the rule over the rest of Texas.

The forecast called for fair to partly cloudy skies through Saturday.

Con man constable cops cash in quest

A person claiming to be with the Dawson County Constable's Office accepted donations for a child abuse booklet from two Big Spring businesses Tuesday and got away with at least $2,700.

Big Spring police say they are investigating possible fraud charges in the case.

Officials of Cunningham Oil Co. and the Big Spring Do-It Center reported the person asked for donations for advertising in a booklet about child abuse. Grady Cunningham, president of the oil company, said he donated $1,500. Officials of the Do-It center being built on FM 700 said they gave $1,200.

"The guy's a fake," Cunningham said this morning. "He sure looked real, though. He had a gun and an unmarked car with a police radio. He's just a little con artist."

Cunningham said other businesses donated smaller amounts of money. Police Lt. Alvis Jeffcoat said the Cunningham and Do-It Center donations were the only ones reported.

"We've got some leads were tracking down," Jeffcoat said. "We're seeing if we can get fraud charges on this."

He said the man was also reported in Ackerly and Dawson County.

County court costs hiked for program

In an attempt to pay for the costs of participating in a tri-county breathalyzer program, Howard County Court costs in cases involving charges of driving while intoxicated have increased, Judge Milton Kirby said.

A $20 fee will be added to total court costs for cases involving DWI-related offenses — whether or not the person is found guilty of the charge — to pay for the cost of the program, Kirby said.

The cost of using the Midland College program will be about $700 to $800 a month, he said.

County clerk staff members said about 40 DWI-related cases are filed a month.

The fee became effective Sept. 12, Kirby said.

CAP members tour academy

Five cadets from the Dragonfly Composite Squadron of the Civil Air Patrol recently attended a tour of the United States Air Force Academy.

Squadron members, along with other cadet and senior members throughout the state, flew aboard a C-130 transport plane to Peterson Air Force Base.

CAP members toured the Cadet Chapel, Visitor Center and the Air Force Stadium, and observed flight and paratrooper training.

Attending from the local squadron were Cadet 1st Lt. Douglas Walker, Cadet Tech. Sgt. David Sprinkle, Cadet Airman Butch Daughettee, Cadet Airman Stuart Moyle and Cadet Airman Eric Gustin.

Appreciation barbecue set

The Big Spring Area Chamber of Commerce's annual agricultural appreciation barbecue is set for Tuesday, Sept. 20 from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m. at the Howard County Fair Grounds.

All crop and livestock producers must pick up their tickets for the event at the chamber office at 215 W. Third by Friday, Sept. 16.

Chamber hires manager

The Big Spring Area Chamber of Commerce directors yesterday approved the employment of Steve Childress to replace Bill Forshee as manager of the Convention and Visitors Bureau.

Childress, former owner of Trinity Memorial Funeral Home, holds a degree from Southwestern Louisiana and has a background in sales and public relations.

Childress has lived in Big Spring since January 1976 and has been active in the chamber as an ambassador. Recently he won a trip to Las Vegas for selling the most chamber memberships.

The chamber also hired Alene Olsen as bookkeeper and Linda Tabor as a part-time assistant.

Water bill tops $1 million

Area cities in August spent a combined total of almost $1 million to obtain water directly and indirectly from the Colorado River Municipal Water District.

Oil companies paid the district about $135,000, while rural and other customers paid about $62,000 for their water supplies.

The water district's municipal revenues for the year to date are about $6.88 million. Total revenues for the year are $8.81 million.

Although the district received a large amount in revenues, it paid a half million dollar bill for electricity in August and $3.32 million for electricity for the year so far.

Old ranch homes in exhibit

A collection of 26 original homes on the range, some almost 100 years old, will be on display as part of Ranching Heritage Day Saturday in Lubbock on the campus of Texas Tech.

Volunteers dressed in original western outfits will be available to answer questions about the way of life back then, as well as to give demonstrations of horse-shoeing and quilting.

The event will also host a livestock exhibition Friday from 9 a.m. until 2 p.m. with Stanley Parsons, a ranch consultant from Albuquerque, speaking on how to make ranching more profitable.

Ranching Heritage Day begins at 9:30 a.m. with a flag-raising ceremony, and the volunteers will man the homes from 10 a.m. until 3 p.m. An old-time schoolhouse will be on display along with a steam engine, two cattle-cars, a caboose, a train depot and two boarding pens from the King Ranch.

An art sale will also be held with a preview from 1 p.m. until 5 p.m. Saturday afternoon and a sale from 5:30 p.m. until 7:30 p.m.

Crickets invade Texas

DALLAS (AP) — The coming of fall is a noisy event in Texas, where thousands of crickets perform their annual mating rites in the shadow of downtown skyscrapers and in the fluorescent glow of suburban shopping centers.

"Instead of having autumn leaves, we have autumn crickets," said C.C. Rice, manager of Elaine Powers Figure Salon in Dallas. "There are thousands of them — millions of them ... It's like an Alfred Hitchcock movie."

Taxes

On finding the delinquent taxpayer, the firm would send out a letter informing him that he would be sued by the district within 30 days if taxes are not paid.

If there is no response, the computer would recheck information on the taxpayer, including identity and address. Then a suit would be filed and the taxpayer informed of the lawsuit.

"This will get in the biggest part of delinquent taxpayers," Keenan said. "It has a great psychological impact on the taxpayer to know he's been sued."

If the taxes were still unpaid, Miller would start litigation.

Keenan said the fee for such service would be about $23 per account, with $1 being added for each year in arrears. However, the fee would be paid by the delinquent taxpayer and only if the suit is filed.

"It's a new age, and we have to change with the times," Miller said.

Miller also spoke about his past record of delinquent collections. According to Miller, he has been involved in tax collections within the district since 1973.

Figures provided by Miller show that during his time of service — not counting 1982 — 98.7 percent of the tax amount levied has been collected, with only 1.33 percent remaining unpaid.

"Compared to some other school districts, Big Spring ranks up there (in collections)," Miller said.

According to Assistant Superintendent Don Crockett, the district has a delinquent roll of $712,000 that stretches back to 1939. Crockett said Miller has been primarily concentrating on delinquent taxes from 1972 to 1981 that amount to $432,762.

The board took no action after Miller's presentation but is expected to act on the matter during an October meeting.

"Sometimes people tend to think there's and endless supply of blood at any given hospital, but that's not always the case," she said. "I think by informing the public of our needs, the supply of blood and the amount of drives will increase. I think Big Spring has realized this."

Police Beat

Checks reported stolen

A Big Spring man said two of his unemployment checks were stolen sometime Monday or Tuesday.

Clarence Friday of the Silver Saddle Motel said the two checks for $168 were stolen while he was at 1618 Birdwell.

Police reports also showed the following:

• Craig Jones of 2505 Gunter said someone slashed a tire on his car while it was parked at his residence between 6 p.m. and 6:30 p.m. Wednesday. He said the tire was worth $75.

• Adam Yanez, 29, of Apache Bend Apartments was arrested on traffic warrants at his residence Thursday night. He was released on $90 bond set by Municipal Judge Melvin Daratt.

The show is open to participants through age 12.

Man emerges from pit

AMARILLO, Texas (AP) — Bill "Keoga" Rust emerged a little paler and very grateful after living 25 days and seven hours in a cramped box filled with slithering, poisonous snakes.

"Never, never again," said Rust, 44, when asked how he felt when he was pulled out of the pit at 8 p.m. Wednesday at Wonderland Park in Amarillo.

Rust, a carpenter, said the first thing he wanted to do when he got home was take a shower. He said he only took sponge baths while living inside the 3-by-6-foot box.

"If somebody else breaks the record, they can have it," Rust said.

He said he slid inside the pit Aug. 20 in an effort to break the record set by his brother Tonga, who Rust said lived in a pit with snakes for 25 days. That was 19 years ago in the same amusement park.

Rust's roommates included seven rattlesnakes, a cottonmouth and a copperhead. On the second day of his adventure, he was bitten on the right foot by a rattlesnake. If things got really rough, he said, he was equipped with a telephone. He had a makeshift desk and a small mattress.

"He's been awful rough," Rust said of the rattlesnake, adding that his foot bled a little, but he suffered no other ill effects from the bite.

"The snakes haven't eaten for nearly one month. They have to kill a live warm-blooded something to eat and they don't recognize my food," said Rust, who said he ate nearly anything he wanted.

"I can eat anything I want. I usually have eggs, bacon and toast or hashbrowns for breakfast, vegetables or lunch and a sandwich sometimes for dinner," he said.

Settling out of court

LOS ANGELES — Singer Helen Reddy and her former husband, Jeffrey Wald, have agreed to settle the differences in their bitter divorce without a trial, Ms. Reddy's attorney says.

Under the agreement, the two will share legal custody of their 10-year-old son, Jordan Sommers Wald, said lawyer Gary Olsen on Thursday.

The boy will move each week from Ms. Reddy's home in Brentwood to Wald's home in nearby Beverly Hills, but he will remain at the same private school that he has been attending, Olsen said.

"I think that arrangement is probably in the boy's best interests, rather than forcing him to undergo a custody battle," he said.

The agreement reached in nine hours of negotiations Monday says that Ms. Reddy, 42, will keep all her earnings as an entertainer and Wald will keep all his profits as a personal manager, Olsen said.

The agreement forestalled a trial scheduled to begin Wednesday, and Olsen said he expected to "walk the agreement" through Superior Court with Wald's attorney, Marvin Gross.

The couple was divorced last January, but property and custody issues were postponed for separate trial. In June, Ms. Reddy married her drummer, Milton Ruth, with whom she has been living.

New musical director

NEW YORK — James Levine, music director and principal conductor of the Metropolitan Opera, will also carry the title of artistic director starting in the 1986-87 season.

Under terms of a five-year contract, the 40-year-old Levine will be responsible for all the musical and artistic aspects of the company, general manager Anthony A. Bliss said Thursday.

Levine became music director of the Met in 1976. He made his debut with the company in 1971 conducting "Tosca" and was named principal conductor in 1973.

John Dexter, the Met's last artistic director, left in 1980.

Entertainer honored

LONDON — Entertainer Tommy Steele, who was discovered singing rock 'n' roll in a coffee shop 25 years ago, was honored for a quarter-century of stardom with a lunch attended by a host of show business personalities.

Mr. Steele, 46, is pulling in capacity audiences at the London Palladium with a lavish musical, "Singin' in the Rain."

American actor Gene Kelly, who starred in the original film and has danced with Steele, sent taped congratulations.

Few gripes about the media

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. — Outgoing Miss America Debra Sue Maffett has a few gripes with the media, but that won't stop her from getting into the business herself.

The 26-year-old former Miss California told a news conference Thursday that some reporters failed to see the Miss America pageant as "a stepping stone for education."

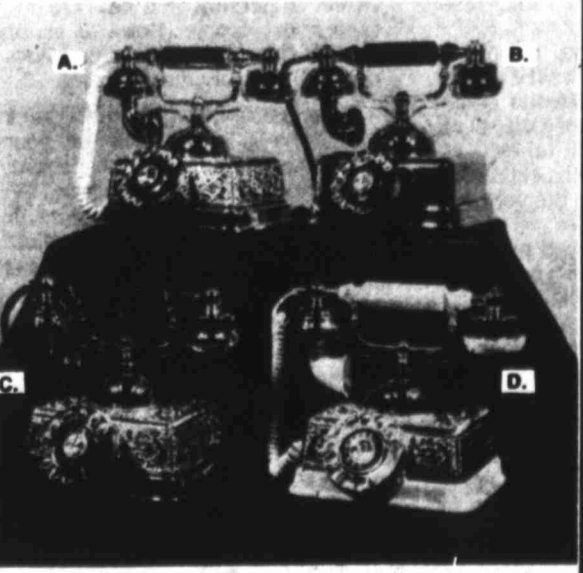

Instead, she said, they wrote about such things as her nose, which she had fixed before entering last year's pageant, or breast implants in this year's Miss Texas, Dana Rogers.

"A lot of times, I would go into a city and they would spend half a page on my nose, while a lot of women out there are looking for a way to pay for education," she said. "This (pageant) is a stepping stone for education."

Miss Maffett, who ends her reign at midnight Saturday when Miss America 1984 is crowned, will begin hosting a Los Angeles cable television talk show called "Alive and Well" this fall.

Spy ship allegedly sited

PEARL HARBOR, Hawaii — A missile-equipped Soviet spy ship has been detected off the Hawaiian Islands, where it apparently is snooping on U.S. military operations, a Navy spokesman says.

The 344-foot Balzam was last reported in international waters 20 miles south of the island of Oahu, where Honolulu and Pearl Harbor are located, Lt. George Brown, public affairs officer for the Navy's 3rd Fleet, said Thursday. Its movements are being monitored by Navy planes, Brown said.

"While the specific mission of the ship is not known, previous Soviet deployments of this nature have been associated with collection of information on U.S. Navy submarine and surface operations," he said.

"We can only conclude it is doing the same." The Balzam is the only Soviet intelligence ship known to be armed, equipped with surface-to-air missiles and a weapon similar to a 30mm Gatling gun, Brown said.

The ship had been operating off the West Coast near major naval installations until recently and arrived in the waters off Hawaii two days ago, he said.

The vessel looks like a merchant ship, but is distinctive because of its two large radar domes, Brown said.

The Balzam is the first Soviet spy ship to visit Hawaiian waters since the Ilmen was in the area in February 1982, he said.

Retarded baby murdered

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. — Two boys, aged 7 and 9, have been charged with murdering a retarded 8-month-old girl who died of multiple injuries after she had been tortured and sexually abused, authorities say.

The two boys arrested and charged with murder on Thursday are the sons of a baby sitter in whose home Barbara Parks was found, unconscious, badly beaten and with only hours to live, police said.

The infant, who suffered from Down's syndrome and had a defective heart, died at Bayfront Medical Center on Wednesday after her mother found her sprawled on a rug at the baby sitter's home, police said.

When asked how the child met its death, the 24-year-old baby sitter, who was not identified by police, answered, "I really don't know."

The children, who because of their age also were not identified, were being held at the Juvenile Detention Center after questioning at police headquarters.

If a grand jury indicts the boys on the first-degree murder charge, they can be tried as adults. If not, the case will be handled in juvenile court. Circuit Court Judge Jack Page appointed a public defender for the boys at a hearing Thursday.

A preliminary report by the medical examiner's office Thursday stated that the child "died of multiple injuries sustained in the attack and torture," said police spokesman George Pinckney.

Airport landings refused

NEW YORK — The governors of New York and New Jersey are refusing to let Soviet diplomats, including Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko, land at metropolitan airports, because the Soviets shot down a Korean jet carrying 269 people.

The U.S. State Department had asked the Port Authority of New York and New Jersey to permit a plane carrying a Soviet delegation to the United Nations Security Council meeting this weekend, and another flight next week carrying Gromyko, to land at Kennedy or Newark International Airports.

But a statement by New Jersey Gov. Thomas Kean and New York Gov. Mario Cuomo, released Thursday by Kean's office in Trenton, said the Port Authority, which operates the airports, had been instructed to deny the request.

The governors have veto power over the port commissioners.

Politicos woo Hispanic vote

WASHINGTON — Hispanic Heritage Week turned into Hispanic Wooing Week as Republican and Democratic Party leaders offered sharply contrasting pictures of how this politically important ethnic group is faring under the Reagan administration.

It was the Democrats' turn on Thursday and their prediction was that Hispanics will vote overwhelmingly in 1984 against a second term for Reagan.

However, Republican political strategists call Hispanics the group giving the president and his party the best chance of dramatic gains.

Both parties used Hispanic Heritage Week as an occasion to present their arguments to large Hispanic audiences.

Speaking to the Republican National Hispanic Assembly on Wednesday night, Reagan referred to "traditional values of work, family, freedom and God," and claimed credit for an improving economy and stronger defense.

The next day, the Democrats lashed back.

Rep. Robert Garcia, D-N.Y., chairman of the Hispanic Congressional Caucus, referred to the president's claim his policies were helping Hispanics, and said, "I have never heard such hypocritical talk in all my life."

Garcia and other Hispanic congressmen said government statistics show the unemployment rate for Hispanics is about 3.5 percent higher than the national average.

House Speaker Thomas P. O'Neill Jr., D-Mass., joined the criticism with a speech to the annual Hispanic Caucus dinner.

O'Neill said that during the Reagan administration "Hispanic Americans have suffered even more than others because 30 percent of Hispanic families live below the poverty line."

The speaker said Reagan was concerned that Hispanic voters in such key states as California, New York, Texas and Florida could defeat him if he runs for re-election.

Kennedy was seeking help

DEADWOOD, S.D. — Robert F. Kennedy Jr. was on his way to undergo treatment for a drug problem when he became the focus of a police investigation in Rapid City, S.D., a friend says.

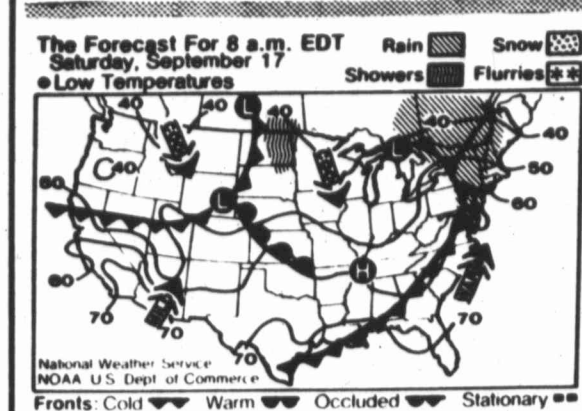

Bill Walsh, an owner of the Franklin Hotel in Deadwood, said Thursday that the 29-year-old son of the late senator had agreed to admit himself to a drug treatment program in South Dakota's Black Hills and had planned to visit Walsh beforehand.

But Kennedy became ill Sunday night while on a plane carrying him from Minneapolis to Rapid City, and something happened — officials have refused to say what — that led police to obtain a warrant to search Kennedy's bag for "contraband and controlled substances."

Four days later, the results of that search were still unknown. No charges have been filed against Kennedy, a former assistant district attorney in New York City.

Walsh, 43, a former Roman Catholic priest who said he has known Kennedy since 1980, would not say what drugs Kennedy was using.

Weather

By The Associated Press

A swath of the nation from Wisconsin and Michigan across the Tennessee Valley and into New York state braced for showers and thundershowers today, while other storm systems dampened parts of Florida and Arizona.

Elsewhere, skies were generally expected to be sunny, with the National Weather Service predicting temperatures in the 80s from the California interior and southern Oregon through the southern half of the Great Plains to Florida, Georgia and South Carolina.

Across Texas the mercury was expected to reach into the 90s today, while readings in the 90s and 100s were predicted for the desert Southwest and California valleys.

The north central tier of states through New England were expected to have highs below 70, with Minnesota and Upper Michigan enjoying brisk 50s.

Showers and thundershowers lingered over southeastern Oklahoma and northeastern and west central Texas after severe thundershowers drenched the states on Thursday, accompanied by winds up to 65 mph and large hail.

Temperatures at 3 a.m. EDT ranged from 37 in Concord, N.H., to 86 in Phoenix, Ariz.

FRESH WATER FROM AN OLD WELL

A man and wife visited an orphanage where they hoped to adopt a child. In an interview with the boy they wanted, they told him in glowing terms about the many things they could give him. To their amazement, the little fellow said, "If you have nothing to offer except a good home, clothes, toys, and the other things that most kids have — why, I would just as soon stay here." "What on earth could you want besides those things?" the woman asked. "I just want someone to love me," replied the little boy. There you have it! Even a little boy knows that "man shall not live by bread alone." Our deeper yearnings and longings can be met only by a renewed fellowship with the One in whose image we were created, that of God. A crying need for your blood

One man had open heart surgery.
Another man had a bleeding ulcer.
A little girl had leukemia.
Another man was a kidney dialysis patient.

What do all these people have in common? They all live in Big Spring. They all depend on the blood that people like you give to help keep them alive.

These four people are only a small sample of the number of people in Big Spring who need the blood, people who are your neighbors and friends and acquaintances.

Right now, the need is exceeding the supply. In 1982, 2421 units of blood and blood components were used in Big Spring, while only 1,876 units were drawn here. In 1983, 1717 units of blood and blood components have been used, although only 1048 units have been drawn.

Tomorrow — Saturday — from 7 a.m. to 4 p.m., you can give blood at the National Guard Armory on West FM 700. The blood drive is sponsored by KBST Radio, the National Guard and United Blood Services. There is a crying need for the blood; please help. You won't just be doing a good deed. You will be sharing your good health with your friends and neighbors.

Three cheers

Tomorrow night marks our nation's biggest cattle drive when 50 pieces of America's finest meat are judged in such important categories as the ability to walk a straight line, the magnificent aptitude needed to smile for three hours and giggle like a pre-adolescent schoolgirl when their name is announced and then give a meaningful answer to such mind-boggling questions as, "If you were a tree, what kind of tree would you be?"

I'm not going to question the sexism of this event, that's something for the women involved in the Miss America pageant to decide for themselves. What I'm curious about is, why do so many women seem to want to be admired as pieces of cheesecake?

I can imagine the female population of Big Spring saying, "We don't want to be known that way, that's something men force us to be." Really? Let's look at some facts.

As teenagers one of the biggest thrills in any girl's life is being either a cheerleader or a homecoming queen. A cheerleader, as I understand it, is a young lady who knows how to bounce, wiggle, and smile while at the same time spouting such intellectual gems as, "How funky is your chicken, how loose is your goose, now come on everybody, and shake your caboose." Indubitably words to live by.

I can understand a high school girl enjoying this so she can either get attention, be a part of the school, or be near her athletic boyfriend. Cheerleading is silly, but high school is a good time to be silly. The scary part is that some ladies now do this professionally. We actually have professional cheerleaders in this country, women who want to be admired for their curves and bounce-ability.

The desire to be a homecoming queen also escapes me. I guess popularity is important in high school, but we even have queen elections in our colleges. When a woman gets to be into her late teens and early twenties, shouldn't she be more concerned with starting a career than with being popular? You realize that it is probably only a matter of time until the Dallas Cowboys decide to have a homecoming contest, and then we will have professional homecoming queens.

True, schools are run by men but the schools do not force girls to participate. Also, no one is forcing a woman to make a career out of pom-pom shaking.

It is also true that the majority of women are just as intelligent as the majority of men, they don't need to play off their looks. However, as long as a lot do play off of their looks and as long as they're rewarded for this, what kind of message do they think they're sending, not just to men but to little girls. Should a little girl work hard at school and develop her mind, or should she work hard at developing her bust? Why work hard when you can smile your way to the top?

Maybe we need to redefine the basis for what makes a woman attractive. When I was in New Mexico I did a series of articles on a young woman who worked in a children's hospital as a therapeutic recreationalist, which is someone who works in a hospital planning things for the patients to do. With no budget and a small salary she spent hours playing games with kids, talking with them, taking them on outings to ball games or movies and making them feel good about themselves, which is hard when you're a little kid with a physical disorder and the world thinks of you as a freak.

While she was not real pretty I'd much rather spend five minutes with her than a night with whoever wins tomorrow night. She was really beautiful, in more ways than your average beauty queen can think of, at least the few who are able to think. Maybe it's time we stop giving scholarships to pageant winners and try to help the few among us who are trying to do something for others in a way that counts.

True, girls who become pageant winners do work at their looks, and I guess applying make-up takes some skill. However, when you spend all your time in front of a mirror, do you notice anything other than yourself?

The villain of the housing fizzle

WASHINGTON — The recent boom in the housing industry has been a point of pride for the Reagan administration. It's supposed to be the biggest single sign that the American economy is recovering.

But unfortunately, the housing boom is fizzling out. The villain is the same one that caused the housing depression in the first place: high interest rates. Statistics show that many home buyers simply won't pay mortgages that demand more than 12.5 percent interest.

But in the strict privacy of its august chambers, the Federal Reserve Board anticipates that mortgage interest rates will hover around 13 percent through the end of next year.

The difference between 12.5 percent and 13 percent may not seem important, but it's enough to discourage many home buyers. A $60,000 mortgage at 13 percent, for example, costs $47 more a month than a 12.5 percent mortgage. When you get up to 14 percent, the difference is $70 a month, and that can be the difference between acceptable and unacceptable.

"The higher interest rates now prevailing are putting the cost of mortgage credit beyond the limits of affordability for a great many families," says Jack Carlson, chief economist for the National Association of Realtors.

The link between interest rates and home building was dramatically illustrated in the past 12 months. Alarmed at the length and severity of the recession, Fed Chairman Paul Volcker decided to loosen up the nation's money supply to encourage lower interest rates. Result: New housing starts, which had hit a post-Depression low in 1982, jumped 70 percent in the first six months of this year.

Then the Fed, worried about renewed inflation, tightened up on the money supply this summer.

Nursing cuts hurt medicine

Dear Editor,

This letter is regarding nursing as a profession. I hope it will help anyone considering a career in nursing to make the right decision. I equally hope that it will help those facilities employing nursing personnel to get their priorities in line.

As you know, everyone is making cutbacks due to our economic situation. Farmers are burdened with drought conditions, oil producers cannot produce enough oil to pay for their time and expense, auto factory workers are barely holding their own and construction related jobs are slow because of high interest rates.

Yet, medical expenses continue to skyrocket. Why? Because the patient is at a disadvantage. He knows he is in need of medical attention, and, wants to prolong his life as much as possible, as we all do.

If you have been to a doctor's office or in a hospital, it's not hard to figure out who does the actual care for the patients. It's the nursing personnel who see to it that patients are cared for, charts are recorded properly, medications are given, families are consoled, as well as general apathy for the patients.

HCA (Hospital Corporation of America) has made some recent cutbacks all over the state, and can Mortgage rates went from 12 percent to near 14 percent in short order — and housing sales plummeted. If mortgage rates don't go back down, the slump can only continue.

But my associate Michael Binstein has obtained a "strictly confidential" Federal Reserve Board report, which predicts no relief in sight for home buyers until the end of next year.

The Fed's forecast is for mortgage rates to average 13.37 percent from October through December, 13.25 percent in the first quarter of 1984, 13 percent in the second quarter and 12.75 percent in the last half of the year.

What makes the situation critical is the drastic ripple effect a housing recession has on related industries, like lumber, concrete, steel and home appliances. For example, in May 1982 housing starts were 54 percent below the previous four-year average — and there were decreases of 23 percent in lumber production, 27 percent in cement, 37 percent in construction steel and 28 percent in household appliances.

On the other hand, of course, if mortgage rates go down and the housing industry starts booming again, it will lead its allied industries to the prosperity that's still waiting around the corner.

SOVIET PR: The shooting down of a South Korean airliner, with 269 persons aboard, was assessed at first as a public-relations disaster for the Kremlin. Certainly President Reagan has done his best to put the black hat of villainy on the Soviet leadership.

But sober second thoughts have led to the uneasy conclusion that, after all the fiery rhetoric, the slaughter in the skies may serve the ruthless old men in the Kremlin.

Essentially, some analysts fear that the incident and the Soviets' incredible response — though it may you guess where over 40 percent of the cutbacks were made? You guessed it. The nursing personnel, already in short supply and underpaid, were laid off. In some institutions, the remaining staff is required to work 12-hour shifts. Some employ unlicensed personnel who are allowed to give injections and medications. The catch is that they can pay these people even less than the licensed personnel.

Now, do you have any idea why they would lay off the very people who keep these places going? How many times have you seen a member of the administration empty a bedpan or do CPR on someone blue as midnight and as lifeless as a ragdoll? And how many times have you seen someone in insurance or collections spend time consoling the family or a patient with terminal cancer?

If you've been in the hospital recently and don't feel like the nurses were as friendly as they should have been or spent as much time with you as they should have, consider the fact that the remaining nursing staff has a double load of patients and responsibility. I don't want anyone to think that I'm implying that their jobs are not important (such as insurance, collections, administrative, etc.) but certainly not on the same level.

Why cut employees at all? Why not cut down on supplies, cable TV in rooms, budget allowances for new doctors, or why not cut down on money spent for landscaping and have been a PR disaster — may intimidate other nations. And the Soviets would rather be feared than loved.

In this view, the Russians have succeeded. They warned that "intruders" would be shot down, and they made good on their threat. It's a stark, simple message, and one that is not lost on the Japanese, our European allies and Third World countries: The Soviets mean what they say, and will back up their tough talk with tough action.

It may be no coincidence that the Kremlin's coldblooded demonstration that its threats are not empty rhetoric occurred on Japan's doorstep. The Soviets have been trying determinedly to intimidate the Japanese and prevent their military expansion. According to a State Department source, Russian officials visiting Tokyo have been crude enough to bring up Hiroshima and hint that rearmament could bring a similar catastrophe.

The Soviets' reinforced reputation as non-nonsense international bullies has been enhanced in this instance by President Reagan's performance: tough talk, little action. The contrast is one the Kremlin will be delighted to impress on the rest of the world.

It was to avoid such a comparison that the Pentagon argued for strong sanctions to punish the Soviets. Defense Secretary Caspar Weinberger was presented with the following options: trade sanctions, particularly in the high-technology area; expulsion of several Soviet diplomats, preferably from the overstuffed United Nations delegation; and U.S. withdrawal from certain negotiations with the Soviets.

But the president bought the State Department's more conciliatory line. In the long run, it may turn out that the Korean airline massacre was more of a public-relations disaster for the United States than the Soviet Union.

decorating. Who cares whether or not everything is color coordinated? We don't need new buildings and rooms that look like condos. Most people just want a clean room, hot meals and the best medical care possible. I'm all for new equipment and modern techniques, but you don't have to have big, fancy buildings for that.

Besides, who pays for all of anyway? No matter where the cutbacks are, the cost to the patient does not decrease. The patients pay for every bit of cost it takes to run these institutions, from supplies to salaries and they are the very ones who suffer when nurses are laid-off.

If you've ever worked in a place where "salaries are not to be discussed," you can bet that you're making less for your 10 years of service than the nurse next door who has worked one month. Ask around, you'll find out that when salaries

Music has mother mad

DEAR DR. GRAHAM: My mother is always getting after me because of the music I listen to. I guess some of it is kind of loud, but all my other friends listen to it so I don't see why she should be so upset. — D.L.

DEAR D.L.: I always get a lot of mail whenever I attempt to answer a question like this, because young people and their parents often have strongly differing opinions about modern music! Nevertheless, there are several things you ought to keep in mind.

Why do you suppose your mother sometimes gets so disturbed about the music you prefer? Yes, some of it may be because your music is different than what she knew when she was your age (although I suspect the music she listened to as a teenager might have gotten on her mother's nerves also!). But there may be other reasons that you need to listen to her carefully. For one thing, she may be concerned because you may be inconsiderate of others, and play your music too loud or at the wrong time of day. You need to learn to be sensitive to others — not only when you play your music but in every other area of your life as well. Courtesy is not old-fashioned — it is something which should be part of our lives every day. Jesus said, "In everything, do to others what you would have them do to you" (Matthew 7:12).

Your mother also may be concerned, however, because she senses that some of the music that is popular in some circles today can have a harmful effect on its listeners. For example, the words of some songs today glorify immorality or drug experiences, and some even speak of satanic themes. These ideas can mold your thinking and turn your heart from God's truth, and you should avoid music which by its words or rhythm intentionally stimulates wrong thoughts or actions.

But there is a greater issue you are facing than that of the kind of music you favor. It is the question of what place Christ will have in your life. As a teenager you face many decisions that will deeply affect your life. Open your heart to Christ as your Lord and seek above all to follow him.

Softball was developed in 1887 in Chicago and was originally designed as an indoor game.

are a secret, it's because they're not worth talking about!

It takes a special person to be a nurse, as you can see more sadness in one day than most experience in a lifetime. You take verbal abuse from doctors, patients and patients' families. So, if you're considering a career in nursing do it because you care about people. Don't do it for the salary or the working conditions or you'll be truly disappointed.

If you're an employer, stand back and take a good look at your priorities. And, if you're a patient, help the people who help you. Let your hospital, or your doctor, or your clinic know what you think. Let them know how you want your money spent.

Sincerely,

POPULAR GIRAFFE VICTIM OF DISEASE
BALTIMORE (AP) — A popular 5-year-old Angolan giraffe named Colleen is the latest victim of a disease that has killed four giraffes since August at the Baltimore Zoo, prompting officials to drop plans for a breeding program.

Colleen, the only Angolan giraffe born and successfully reared at the zoo, died Wednesday after a five-day, round-the-clock battle to save her, zoo officials said.

The cause of death for her, the three giraffes that died in August, and two others that died in 1982 and 1981, appears to be ganglioneuritis, said Brian A. Rutledge, the zoo director.

He said the disease causes loss of appetite, chronic anemia and a low-protein condition. Treatment has been ineffective, he said.

An autopsy showed Colleen's condition was apparently complicated by bacteria whose debilitating effects include brain lesions, Rutledge said.

Rutledge said the deaths had forced the zoo to give up plans to specialize in breeding Angolans.

Colleen, one of the most popular animals at the zoo, was the guest of honor each year at a special party commemorating her birth on St. Patrick's Day, 1978.

Zoo workers hand-fed her and kept her warm with an electric blanket during her last five days, Rutledge said.

"She tried and tried. One of the keepers said she was 'Fighting Irish' to the end," said Rutledge. "I've never seen an animal fight like this before."

The Angolan is a desert-type giraffe found in Angola and places farther south on the African continent, Rutledge said. The zoo's herd of seven — at one time there were nine — amounted to all the known Angolan giraffes in the United States.

The zoo had rounded up all that could be found in hopes of establishing the breeding program.

Rutledge said the close attention paid to the zoo's giraffe herd may help in the investigation of how ganglioneuritis occurs.

In a recent survey of zoological parks, he said, a third of the responding institutions had experienced the loss of giraffes in similar circumstances.

USA Today celebrates birthday

ROSSLYN, Va. (AP) — USA Today, the national newspaper that came into existence a year ago, announced expansion plans today that will put the paper within reach of virtually all Americans by 1985.

Founder Allen H. Neuharth, president of the Gannett Co., which publishes USA Today, was cautious about calling the paper a success but said it has had a "gratifyingly successful beginning."

In 1984 and 1985, he told a news conference, the paper will become available in these marketing areas: Alaska; Buffalo, N.Y.; Charlotte, N.C.; Cincinnati; Kansas City, Mo.; Nashville, Tenn.; Phoenix, Ariz.; and St. Louis.

That, he said, will make the paper available everywhere in America except "remote villages."

In addition, circulation will be expanded in metropolitan areas across Canada and the paper will explore the possibilities of printing in Europe and Asia, Neuharth said. Press capacity will be increased to turn out 48 pages and more color. The paper is now limited to 40 pages and color in two of its four sections.

Next month, the paper will start circulating in the Dallas-Fort Worth and north Texas areas and in the New Orleans, Mobile, Ala., and Jackson, Miss., areas.

Neuharth said the paper had lost "substantial" amounts, though he preferred to call them investments rather than losses. But, he said, "Our first year's experience makes us confident that our original five-year projections are achievable or exceedable."

They call for the paper to become profitable by 1987. John Morton, a Lynch, Jones & Ryan financial analyst of the newspaper business, estimates the paper will lose $70 million in 1983 if all goes along as it has been.

But Morton is more optimistic than he was a year ago that the paper ultimately will make a go of it. "They've made great strides," he says.

And John Quinn, the paper's editor, greets a visitor to his office in this Washington suburb with a handshake and a question: "Well, are we going to make it?"

A year after the presses first rolled, that's still the big question.

In an interview in today's edition of the paper, Neuharth responded to criticism that USA Today "is a marketing device, that it lacks character, that it's a newspaper from nowhere," this way:

"While the critics were vocal going in, their numbers were not very large. Generally, they were the same self-appointed, self-anointed critics — most of whom form their judgments of newspapers by looking at them only occasionally — and often casually. A better measure really is the numbers and kinds of readers who will consistently buy, read, enjoy and digest a publication. On that score, USA Today has done OK."

USA Today — on sale in 80,000 vending machines somewhere in each of the 50 states and in more than 400 cities of over 40,000 population — says it has persuaded an average of 1.1 million people a day to plunk down a quarter for the paper. Morton says that impresses him.

Heavy start-up losses were always expected, executive vice president Paul Flynn says, and "We're right on target." He says the paper is headed for a profit by 1987, just as anticipated.

Advertising has been thin this summer, but 20 percent of the circulation is home delivered, and that's a plus. Most home delivery — welcomed by advertisers as an indication that the paper is actually read — occurs in cities where Gannett's 88 hometown papers have already established a delivery network.

But USA Today has problems unique to itself. In some places, a truck must travel five hours to reach the blue and white vending machines, which means each copy sold in those remote places costs Gannett far more than a quarter to produce and deliver.

And since the paper has no hometown or regional advertising, and no high-profit classified advertising, it must compete with magazines and television for national advertising.

"The advertising is probably running around eight pages a day and we think they need three or four more pages to have this be a good economic venture," says New York media analyst John S. Reidy, of Drexel Burnham Lambert, Inc.

Cactus chapter to seek members

Cactus Chapter of the American Business Women's Association will hold a fall Enrollment Event at the Blue Room of Dora Roberts Community Center, at 2 p.m. Sept. 18.

During September, ABWA chapters throughout the country will hold similar events, focusing on the theme "ABWA: Passport to New Horizons" — through the Association's expanded opportunities for personal and professional goals for business women.

Founded in 1949 in Kansas City, Mo., ABWA is an influential national organization with a membership exceeding 110,000 in more than 2,000 chapters. Members are from all types of businesses and professions. The Association promotes professional, educational, cultural and social advancement of business women.

Women who are employed, or self-employed, are eligible for membership. For further information about ABWA and the enrollment event, interested business women may contact Pam Welch at 263-6327, or Thetus Dunagan at 263-6664. Membership is by invitation only.

Convention reported on at Barracks meeting

Reports on the National Veterans of World War I Convention, held in Fort Worth Aug. 28 to Sept. 1, were presented during the Barracks No. 1474 and its Auxiliary meeting, Sept. 10.

The meeting was held at Kentwood Center. Mrs. Virginia Bryant participated in all formal activities at the convention as flag bearer number one. New resolutions and activities were reported.

The Auxiliary is preparing for the District 19 Convention to be held in November. Fruit cakes will be sold by the Auxiliary beginning in October. The cakes are $7 for a three pound cake.

Members were urged to pay dues so that the organization can reach 100 percent before Jan. 1. The Auxiliary is working to preserve the history and stories of those who fought in World War I. Wives, daughters and granddaughters are eligible to become members of the auxiliary and help in the project.

Cassie A. Wigington feted at two showers

Cassie Aberegg Wigington was honored with a bridal shower in the home of Mrs. Bob Hunt in Ackery, Aug. 18, and another shower in the Signal Mountain Room of Coahoma State Bank, Aug. 25.

Hostesses for the Aug. 18 shower were Mrs. Hunt, Mrs. Jerry Hall, Mrs. Rex Zant, Mrs. Woodie Long, Mrs. Mike Grigg, and Mrs. Jack Grigg. The hostesses presented the honoree with a mixer and a corsage.

Special guests were Mrs. Frances Aberegg, mother of the bride, Mrs. Burnell Wigington, mother-in-law of the bride, and Mrs. Marzelle Earnest, grandmother of the bride.

Guests were served from a table draped with white lace and topped with a pastel centerpiece.

Hostesses for the Aug. 25 shower were Mrs. Frankie Bond, Mrs. Jeffie Phinney,

Dr. Donohue

Trichomonas infection is tricky

Dear Dr. Donohue: I received a call from my gynecologist's office informing me that my recent tests showed I had a venereal disease called trichomoniasis. I picked up a prescription which was called in to my pharmacist — for Flagyl.

Both I and my boyfriend took the medicine. After doing some additional research I have read that trich is not a venereal disease and the medicine, Flagyl, the only know cure for the disease, has cancer-causing properties. Is trich something to be concerned about? Can the disease be transmitted only through sexual intercourse? Is there an alternative to the medicine I'm taking? Should I find a new gynecologist? — D.L.N.

You have covered a lot of territory in one little note. Trichomonas causes a vaginal discharge and irritation, and sometimes pain on urination. In men, it usually produces no symptoms whatever. It is a very prevalent illness, with more than 3 million women having it yearly. The number of men having it is unknown, but it's probably a substantial one.

I'll try to answer all your questions, and not necessarily in the order you ask them. The infection usually is transmitted by intercourse, so it is considered a venereal disease most of the time. However, the trich organism can survive a few hours outside the body, so it need not always be contracted via intercourse. It can be transmitted through contact with inanimate objects, contaminated towels, for example.

The disease should not recur if both sexual partners are treated. You are doing that. If the man is untreated he can re-infect his partner. Frequently, because there are seldom any symptoms in the male, this factor is ignored.

Now about the medicine, whose generic name is metronidazole. Prolonged high dosage of this drug in mice and rats increased their incidence of certain tumors, but let me emphasize that this finding has never been confirmed in humans. The risk of such an event is very, very small.

Alternatives? The only alternative to metronidazole is douching twice weekly with a solution of two tablespoons of vinegar in one quart water. That is not a very effective treatment.

Your gynecologist sounds like a most reasonable person. You'd have to look long and far to find one who doesn't prescribe this drug for trichomoniasis.

Dr. Donohue welcomes reader mail but regrets that, due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

Dear Abby

Female drivers fuel fetish

DEAR ABBY: I am an unmarried man, 34 years old, and I've got what I think is a serious problem that I can't seem to correct myself.

Although I date a few women and don't consider myself sexually starved, I have a compulsion to follow women drivers whom I spot on the freeways and find attractive. I've done this probably 50 or 75 times in the past two years. I never approach them, never talk to them, never even smile or wave. I just follow their cars until they pull into a garage or up a driveway. Then I usually park nearby and watch them walk into their homes or into a shop. Now, believe me when I say I get no sexual arousal from any of them, although it leaves me feeling very good. I can't figure out why I do it and can't seem to break the habit, even though it sometimes costs me a couple hours a day, not to mention gas money.

I am a professional man with a few degrees and lots of awards for my work. Please don't tell me I need professional help, because I don't think my habit is hurting anyone, or even me. It's simply puzzling. Have you any opinions on my problem and how to stop it?

JUST LOOKING

DEAR JUST: I think you have a form of voyeurism. (You get your jollies from looking.)

The "harm" can be in carrying it to the point of violating the privacy of another, which is punishable by law if you should make a nuisance of yourself.

Better nip this in the bud, buddy. A professional man has a lot to lose. And don't dodge professional help, because that's exactly what you need.

DEAR ABBY: Recently I gave up drinking. It's been several months now and I am much happier with my life. I've had no shaking, craving or other symptoms associated with alcohol withdrawal.

I do not plan to drink again, but here is the problem: The very people who decided I drank too much before now tell me since I'm not drinking I'm not "any fun" to go out with anymore. How should I respond?

SOBER IN ST. PAUL

DEAR SOBER: This way: "Sorry to disappoint you, but if one of us has to be disappointed, I'd rather it be you."

Evangelist arrested by aggravated citizen

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Self-styled evangelist Richard Rife spent his lunch hours preaching to the public that liberated women are sinners who should repent. Aggravated citizen Mary Golden wanted him to see the error of his ways — so she arrested him.

"I wouldn't do anything to interfere with this guy's right to preach on the streets, but he's gone beyond that by nearly accosting people," said Ms. Golden, 39, who made her citizen's arrest at the suggestion of police.

Rife goes on trial Oct. 4 on a charge of disturbing the peace, the offense upon which Ms. Golden, a Quaker and a paralegal in the city attorney's office, based her arrest.

She said Rife humiliated her by followed her and shouting, "Women are whores!" four times in a two-week period in May.

After filing a complaint with police, who said there was little they could do and suggested the citizen's arrest, Ms. Golden said she returned to Civic Center and approached Rife and told him she was offended by his statement that "Women are whores."

In a letter to District Attorney Arlo Smith, Ms. Golden said Rife replied, "Not all women are whores."

"I said, 'You came up to me not 20 minutes ago and shouted, 'Liberated women are whores!'"

"Well, they are," he yelled. "Liberated women are whores."

"I stated, 'I am a liberated woman, and I am not a whore,'" Ms. Golden recalled. "He again shouted, directly in my face, 'Liberated women are whores!'"

Rife, who described himself as a born-again Christian "saved" six years ago, recently said, "I preached on the average woman of San Francisco. Not all women are sexually immoral in the city, but many or most are."

EVANGELIST ARRESTED — Self-styled evangelist Richard Rife preaches as he reads out of a Bible to the public in San Francisco that women are sinners who should repent. An aggravated San Francisco citizen, Mary Golden, made a citizen's arrest on Rife because she wanted him to see the error of his ways.

Radio reader has loyal following

AMES, Iowa (AP) — As Doug Brown began reading "The Iliad" on the radio one recent morning, a loyal following in kitchens and cars across the state tuned in to catch the latest plot twists.

"They're busy bashing their brains out at the moment," Brown said before he began his 30 minutes of daily reading. "Diomedes has had a couple of very good innings."

Then he plunged into his rendition of Homer's classic, holding the paperback with one hand, gesturing with the other and changing voices to assume different characters.

"You really have to live with a book," he said later. Brown, 47, one of the few dramatic readers still on the air, has been broadcasting the classics five days a week for nearly 20 years. His show, "The Book Club," is a 50-year tradition at public radio station WOI.

Hundreds of listeners write WOI every year. "I shivered every day," wrote one woman, recounting the many voices in Brown's rendition of Dickens' "A Christmas Carol."

"Thanks for your interpretation of Madame Bovary. However, I hope the book's naughtiness doesn't spoil the rolls," said another woman, explaining it was hard to listen and bake at the same time.

While there are only a few radio readers left, they flourished in radio's early days. "People had more time and radio was the all-around medium," said Mike Havice, an associate journalism professor at Drake University in Des Moines.

Today, he said, people have less time for regularly scheduled entertainment and radio becomes the background, not the focus.

"It's always a treat" to listen to Brown, he said. "But normally, I don't have the time. Besides, I could read the book in three days, while it would take three weeks to listen to it read."

"It took 10 weeks to read Moby Dick," Brown said. "People would ask, 'Are you still reading Moby Dick?' Which meant I was the only one around at the end, I suppose."

"The Book Club," transmitted to four other Iowa stations each day, really was a book club when it started in 1927, Brown said. "We don't lend books anymore, but the name stuck."

BIG SPRING (TEXAS) HERALD, FRIDAY, SEPTEMBER 16, 1983

friday's football forecast

Tahoka (0-2) at Coahoma (1-1)

Tahoka was 0-10 last year and is 0-2 this time out, but don't take them for granted. The Bulldogs battled Stanton to within a touchdown and lost 18-13 to Slaton last week. 21 returning lettermen are making Tahoka move competitive this year. Coahoma didn't play up to its potential coach Larry Hudson said but the Bulldogs still were able to whip Stanton on the road. Injured quarterback John Swinney will return although backup Todd Engel did great job in relief. Coahoma is looking to go 2-1 and his size and ability to do so. Especially at home. (Game time 8 p.m.) Coahoma 21, Tahoka 8

Denver City (1-1) at C-City (2-0)

Denver City is coming off an 8-2 year and Colorado City may be on its way to an 8-2 year. It's early clash of the titans. C-City has running back Larry Hamilton and Air Chitsey to throw at the Red Hoses. Probably the best game in the area this week. If Wolves win this one, they're for real. (Game time 8 p.m.) Colorado City 28, Denver City 23

Robert Lee (1-1) at Forsan (1-1)

Forsan showed flashes of potential against Garden City. Some mistakes and five first half turnovers really hurt the Buffs effort. Linebacker-running back Rodney McMillan turned in great game with blocked punt and TD catch. Buffs are learning and will put all accumulated knowledge to test against solid Robert Lee team. Should be a toughie but Buffaloes are due after coming close a week ago. (Game time 8 p.m.) Forsan 14, Robert Lee 8

Grandfalls (2-0) at Garden City (1-1)

The Bearcats are coming off a big win but remember all too well what Grandfalls did to them last year. Coach Stewart Cooper has emphasized picking up stunts which killed Garden City last year. Quarterback Richard Batla has two sophomore backs behind him but both are doing the job. Defense led by Doug Hoelscher made big plays against Forsan when needed. G-City wins No. 2 at home although they'll say it wasn't easy. (Game time 8 p.m.) Garden City 20, Grandfalls 13

Ira (2-0) at Grady (1-1)

Grady had a bad second quarter against Dawson and lost by 30 points. The Wildcats have worked on not letting down this week and play a team they have traditionally beaten. Ira is improved over 1982, better size and more team speed. Game should be closer than in past but Grady should get homecoming incentive. (Game time 8 p.m.) Grady 45, Ira 36

Greenwood (0-2) at Iraan (1-1)

Greenwood sures knows how to make up a schedule. First it was Jal. Then it was No. 2 state-ranked Wink. Now it's Iraan. The opposition is picked right behind Wink in 6-A and has tailback Jesse Banner who has 2,400 in two years. Greenwood is a second half ballclub right now and could pull off big win if team can play four quarters. Rangers will come close but miss first win by inches. (Game time 8 p.m.) Iraan 28, Greenwood 22

O'Donnell (1-1) at Klondike (0-2)

Klondike lost by seven for the second week, this time losing a 14-7 halftime lead. The inexperienced Cougars are learning however and could put it all together this week against AA O'Donnell which went 0-10 last year. O'Donnell has put in a new offense and is playing better football but Klondike has homecoming and big desire to get first win going for it. (Game time 8 p.m.) Klondike 21, O'Donnell 7

Andrews (2-0) at Lamesa (1-1)

Lamesa snapped a 9-game losing streak with huge win over Brownfield. But Andrews isn't exactly Brownfield. Bill Morrison scored three times as the Mustangs upended the Midland Bulldogs 25-20 at home. Some said Andrews was down this year; but don't count on it. Golden Tornadoes have shown both solid running and passing attack in first two games and could be troubles before district play is finished. But not this week. (Game time 8 p.m.) Andrews 25, Lamesa 7

Smyer (0-2) at Sands (1-1)

Sands saw a fourth quarter lead slip away to Water Valley last week and coach Jim White had team thinking about better tackling and playing four quarters of football this week. RB Robby Creswell already has 300-plus yards rushing and gets good help from Santos Ybarra. Smyer played a tough half last year before wearing out. Last week, they lost 33-0 to Lubbock Christian. It should be Sands with a vengeance. (Game time 8 p.m.) Sands 30, Smyer 14

Stanton (1-1) at Crane (2-0)

How good is Stanton? It's hard to say right now. The Buffs lost a lot of good players to graduation and have been struggling in the early going, winning narrow one at Tahoka and coming up short against Coahoma. Crane is picked third in District 6-AAA and has good size but is minus its excellent passing game of a year ago. On paper, this one goes to the Golden Cranes. But for some reason... (Game time 8 p.m.) Stanton 22, Crane 18

Steers, Lobos clash tonight

Big Spring LB's fight injuries

By GREG JAKLEWICZ
Sports Editor

Hoping not to peer too far ahead to next week's District 4-5A opener against Abilene High, the Big Spring High Steers host Levelland in their final non-league tune-up tonight in Memorial Stadium.

Both teams are 1-1 on the season. Big Spring dropped a 21-14 decision to No. 5 AAAA state-ranked Estacado last week while Levelland tumbled 14-7 to Muleshoe after opening with a 20-6 win over Lamesa.

On paper, the Steers hold the upper hand to the Lobos. Head coach Quinn Eudy, however, isn't taking this game lightly at all.

"They're the best coached team I've seen in doing what they are supposed to," he said. "We are expecting them to come off the defeat to Muleshoe very hard."

Levelland boasts an experienced backfield with quarterback Rodney Caddell and halfbacks Joe Shakespeare and Walter Washington returning from the 1982 squad. The Lobos' wishbone style offense is designed to get the ball to Washington who has 227 yards in two games (165 against Lamesa). Shakespeare has 106 on the ground.

The Lobos do not throw the football. Caddell has tried just five passes in two games, hitting Brent Rush twice for 57 yards.

The offensive line is big, averaging 199 across, but two juniors (Brady Bates and Louis Rodriguez) and a sophomore (Randy Brown) make the front five short on varsity experience.

"Their offensive line is closer to our size," says Eudy, "than anyone we'll be playing here on out. They're rush-oriented. Their backs are quick and experienced. They don't throw the ball much but they catch you by surprise when they do."

Defensively, middle linebacker Paul Issacks leads the front seven's charge while Shakespeare and Mike Sharpee anchor the secondary.

Eudy and his staff are eager to see how the Steers attack Levelland's 4-3 defense. Six of the seven 4-5A opponents use the same defensive set.

Offensively, Eudy wants to "improve our mental readiness and concentration." The Steers haven't thrown the football much in the first two games but expect more of an air attack tonight.

The Steers coach wants to see a smoother start against the Lobos. "We worked real hard on that this week," Eudy said of his team's slow starts in its first two games. "We needed to think about the ballgame more and have better mental preparation. We brought their attention to that every day this week."

Big Spring enters the third game relatively healthy with only a pair of linebackers banged up. Starter Pete Crabtree will split time with senior Jimmy Cearley as he tries to heal a finger injury. Backup Robert Dopto has a bruised leg and may be held out.

"We don't want to take chances on losing them for the district scheduled," Eudy explained.

Junior Jay Pirkle has 109 yards in two games to rank No. 7 in the latest 4-5A stats. Senior Eric Sherman has rushed only 10 times but has a 7.5 average.

Facing a stiff southerly wind, Pirkle had a short night punting in Lubbock and slipped to third with a 38.9 average.

Senior tight end Charley Ragan is the team's top receiver with four catches for 84 yards and one touchdown. Quarterbacks Tommy Gartman and Mark Johnson each threw for a TD against the Matadors, the squad's first scores through the air in two seasons.

As a team, Big Spring is No. 7 in offense with 229 yards a game while the defense has yielded 262 following the Estacado loss.

"Our team attitude is way above average," Eudy said Thursday. "Of course you want to win but you also want to do that by playing well. Tonight we want to do the things we're supposed to be doing."

Browns stifle Bengals

CLEVELAND (AP) — Brian Sipe, passing for 201 yards, threw his eighth touchdown pass of the year and Mike Pruitt bulldozed over from one yard out for another score as the Cleveland Browns defeated the winless Cincinnati Bengals 17-7 Thursday night.

Sipe completed 21 of 31 passes and hit on his first nine attempts in the National Football League game, including a 19-yard touchdown pass to Ozzie Newsome that put Cleveland ahead 7-0 in the first quarter.

A pair of Cincinnati mistakes led to two of the Browns' scores as Cleveland opened divisional play. Chip Banks intercepted a pass by Ken Anderson at mid-field to start the first Cleveland touchdown drive, and Cincinnati defensive back Ken Riley interfered with receiver Dave Logan on a third-quarter pass to put the Browns inside the Cincinnati 5.

Pruitt scored his touchdown two plays later, with 27 seconds left in the quarter.

Matt Bahr's 19-yard field goal in the second period accounted for the Browns' other score. The kick was set up when Sipe pitched to running back Dwight Walker, who threw his first career pass 25 yards to Ricky Feacher at the Cincinnati 4.

Anderson, playing despite a neck injury aggravated in last Sunday's loss to Buffalo, started slow, but then heated up to direct the Bengals' only scoring drive early in the second quarter.

Anderson hit six-of-six passes for 42 yards on a 71-yard drive climaxed by rookie Larry Kinnebrew's touchdown. The one-yard run came on his first career carry.

Anderson again had the Bengals on the move late in the fourth quarter, marching them from their own 20-yard line to the Cleveland nine before throwing an interception to Clarence Scott in the end zone with 1:33 left in the game.

Zoeller, Levi, Gilder officially tied

Las Vegas

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — After two rounds of play in the inaugural Las Vegas Pro-Celebrity Classic, Fuzzy Zoeller is either (1) leading the golf tournament alone, or (2) tied for the lead with two others.

It all depends on how you look at it.

"I don't know. I don't have any idea," Zoeller said after he'd made eagle-3 on the first hole, then struggled over difficult greens for a second round 70 at the Desert Inn Country Club.

That enabled him to finish 36 holes of this new, five-day, 90-hole event with a 133 total.

Bob Gilder and Wayne Levi have the same numerical total, 133. That, of course, puts them in an apparent tie for the top spot in the tournament that offers $1,050,000 in total prize money.

All three have the same numerical total.

But Zoeller has a 1-shot advantage in relation to par. After two rounds, he's 11-under par. Levi and Gilder are 10 under.

Phil Hancock, with a 5-under 66 at Las Vegas, and Gil Morgan, with a 6-under 66 at the Dunes, were at 135.

Whitworth takes early 3-shot lead

Kent LPGA

KENT, Wash. (AP) — After 25 years and 84 victories on the Ladies Professional Golf Association tour, Kathy Whitworth says, "It's wonderful to shoot a round like this."

Whitworth, 43, recovered from a shaky start Thursday to shoot a seven-under-par 65, giving her a three-stroke lead going into the second round of the $175,000 Safeco Classic today.

Tied for second were defending champion Patty Sheehan, Vicki Fergon and Kathy Postlewaite.

Another stroke back at 69 were 19-year LPGA veteran Donna Caponi, Cathy Mant and rookie Juli Inkster.

Of the 121 golfers, 25 broke par at the 6,084-yard Meridian Valley Country Club course in this Seattle suburb, but leading money-winner JoAnne Carner was not among them. Her opening drive sailed into a ditch, and she wound up with a one-over-par 73.

Sheehan, No. 2 on the money list this year and playing in the same threesome as Carner, hit the first 14 greens and was five-under-par following birdies on the 13th and 14th holes. She three-putted the 17th for her only bogey, missing a four-footer.

Estacado

MIDLAND — The Midland High Bulldogs completed non-district play with a 2-1 record after a 14-13 victory over Lubbock Estacado here Thursday night.

The Matadors, ranked No. 5 in AAAA football, downed Big Spring 21-14 last Thursday.

Bird Dog club meets tonight

The Permian Bird Dog and Sportsman's Club meets tonight at 7:30 p.m. at the Big Spring Holiday Inn. All interested persons are invited to attend the meeting.

"THOSE CRAZY EPISCOPALIANS" are they living in the past?

Outwardly, Episcopalians are pretty steeped in tradition. But in their relations with the world about them, they're a today sort of bunch.

They're usually among the first to address a compassionate ministry to people problems wherever those problems crop up.

Take alcoholism. It's no accident that one of the founders of Alcoholics Anonymous was a sympathetic Episcopal minister. Sam Shoemaker and some folks today make jokes about Whiskeypalians.

It's true that this denomination is a bit more tolerant than some. They nourish a strange belief in guidelines—not straight jackets—for a Christian life. They're not interested in condemning but in helping people.

Isn't that a new idea just a timely one?

Episcopalians believe they have good reason for many of their views. Maybe some of the reasons would make sense to you too. It costs you nothing to contact the nearest Episcopal minister and find out. He won't even twist your arm.

Inquirer's Classes Begin Wednesday, September 21 at 7:30 p.m. in the Parish Hall. You are invited.

Coahoma frosh top Stanton

COAHOMA — Chris Parker tossed a pair of touchdown passes to Craig Wallace to lead the Coahoma freshman team to a 14-6 victory over Stanton Thursday night.

Parker fired scoring strikes of 18 and 22 yards to Wallace in the second quarter as Coahoma built a 14-0 halftime lead. Randall Crawford ran a two-point conversion.

Stanton scored its lone TD in the fourth period. Top offensive players for Coahoma were Dee John Wallace, Lance Read, Robby Self, Mike Cepeda and David Wood. Defensively, Will Doyle, Frank Salaviz and Chris Wilson had outstanding games said coach Kim Nichols.

Pena tops Astros; Rangers win

HOUSTON (AP) — Alejandro Pena threw a five-hitter and struck out six to lower his league-leading ERA to 2.18. The Dodgers took advantage of wildness by Astros starter Nolan Ryan, who walked six and hit two batters, including Pedro Guerrero in the batting helmet.

Pirates 8, Cubs 4

Two of Tanner's veterans, Dave Parker and Richie Hebner, helped boost the Pirates back into a tie for first place in the National League East Thursday night. Parker, a star of the 1979 World Champions, had three hits, scored twice and drove in a run, while Hebner — a starter with the '71 champs — belted a grand slam to back Larry McWilliams in an 8-4 victory over the Chicago Cubs.

Expos 4, Phillies 1

Terry Francona had three hits — including a home run — and knocked in two runs to back the pitching of Bill Gullickson and Bob James. Gullickson pitched into the eighth inning and earned his eighth victory in nine decisions since the All-Star break and fourth straight win. James relieved with the bases loaded and two outs in the eighth and struck out three of the four batters he faced, giving him 21 strikeouts in his last 12 innings.

Mets 6, Cardinals 4

St. Louis, the defending world champions, failed to gain ground in the East when George Foster's two-run homer vaulted the Mets to victory. Foster, coming off the worst season of his career, when he hit only 13 homers and drove in 70 runs, slugged his 25th homer of the year and drove in runs No. 79 and 80.

Rangers 6, A's 5

OAKLAND (AP) — Texas defeated the A's as George Wright clubbed his 18th homer and capped a four-run seventh inning with a two-run double.

Bucky Dent also homered for the Rangers, his first of the season. The A's took a 4-2 lead on Davey Lopes' two-run single in the fifth before Texas rallied in the seventh to help Dave Schmidt, 3-3, win in relief.

Twins 6, Blue Jays 2

At Minneapolis, Ken Schrom pitched a six-hitter to win his 13th game in 20 decisions with home run help from Dave Engle and Mickey Hatcher.

Schrom, who was released by the Blue Jays last year, pitched his third complete game to beat Dave Stieb, 15-12, for the third consecutive time.

Orioles 7, Red Sox 1

"We won six out eight games on this (road) trip, and you've got to be happy about that," Manager Joe Altobelli said after Baltimore's 7-1 loss at Boston Thursday night. The Orioles return home tonight for the start of a four-game series with Milwaukee.

Bruce Hurst, 12-10, allowed seven hits, including Cal Ripken Jr.'s 24th homer, in seven innings before getting relief help from Bob Stanley for the Red Sox.

White Sox 12, Mariners 0

Chicago, which is two games from clinching the West Division pennant, needed only 6 1/2 innings to rout Seattle as rain finally stopped play after the start of the game was delayed nearly two hours.

Harold Baines hit his third career grand slam as the White Sox scored 11 runs in the sixth, the worst beating ever handed the Mariners in one inning.

LaMar Hoyt, who has won 10 straight decisions, pushed his major-league leading total to 21 wins with six innings of two-hit pitching.

Your Daily HOROSCOPE

from the CARROLL RIGHTER INSTITUTE

FORECAST FOR SATURDAY, SEPTEMBER 17, 1983

GENERAL TENDENCIES: The morning finds you able to plan your day's activities and organize your time so that you can do those things which mean the most to you in practical ways. Energies are up.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Handling pressures of a public nature early is wise and later you can be with persons who can assist you in gaining wishes.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Morning is the best time to push those new ideas you have but later be out in the public for whatever you want to accomplish.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Get those errands done for yourself and your loved one. Later be with persons who can be of assistance to you.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Do something that will please a partner and then handle your own affairs most wisely.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) You can complete that detailed work, but later be with a partner to look into new deals or ventures. Do some favor for a fellow worker.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Early plan that amusement and then handle all those little chores that await your attention. Then do some favor for kin.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Get home tasks done early and later you can take time for the recreation you need and like. Plan the future better with your family.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Plan just how to state your views to partners before you get busy on home responsibilities. Get correspondence handled.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Get financial affairs handled wisely. Then you can see friends who are progressive. Get good ideas from them.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Get your health in better shape and later get into practical affairs that are important to handle. Get your home in order.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 Feb. 19) Schedule your time well so that you can get work done early and then be out impressing others with your talents.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Gain the advice of a very clever friend and then plan for an adventure that is interesting and exciting. Go after a personal wish.

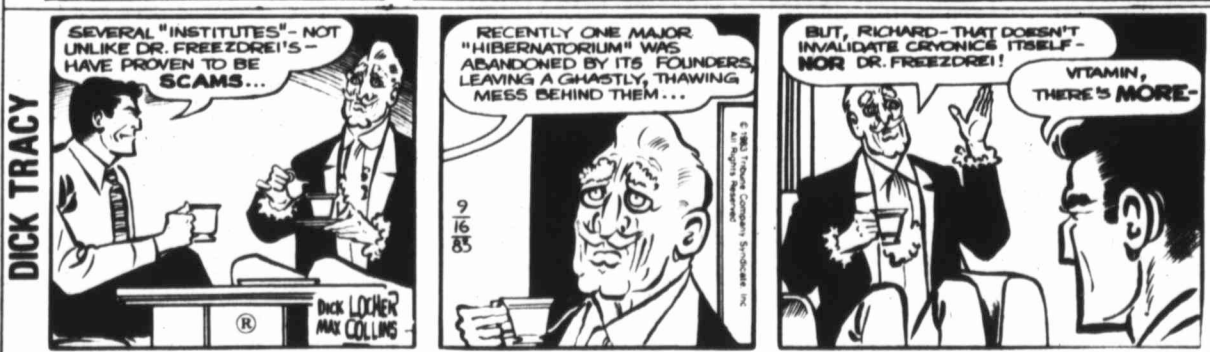

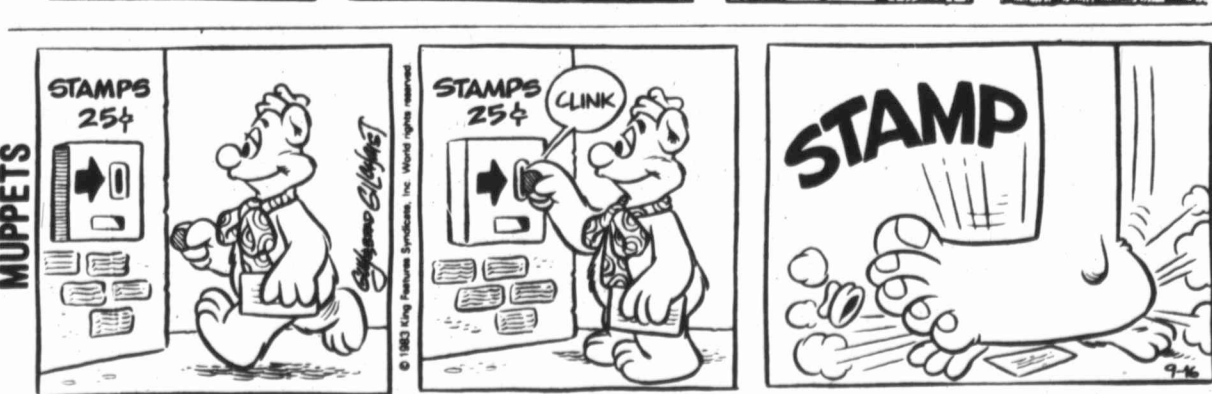

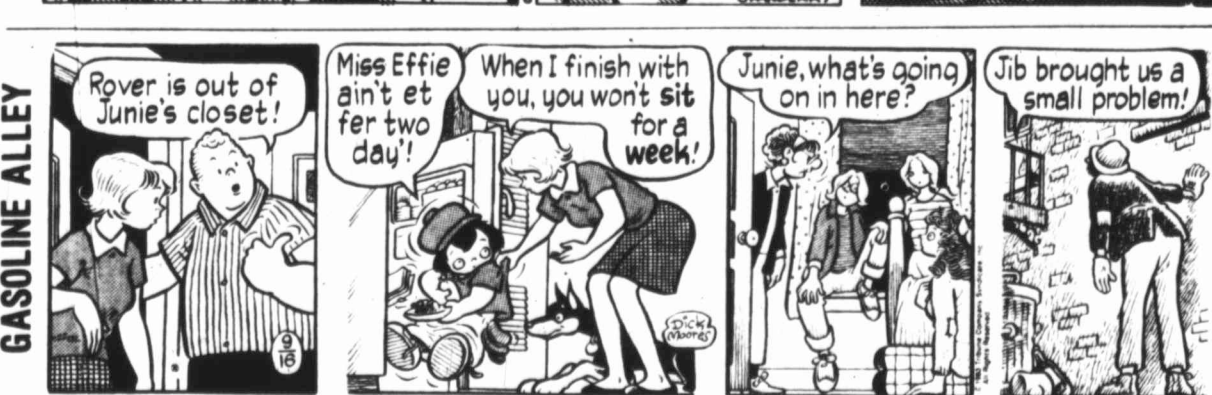

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY ... he or she will be one of those fascinating young persons who will have much energy and many ideas and should be guided properly otherwise your progeny could just as easily get on the wrong side of life.

"The Stars impel, they do not compel." What you make of your life is largely up to you!

Beasley ministers to people through music

By RHONDA WITT
Church Editor
Deciding to change churches two months ago was a difficult decision for Bob Beasley, minister of music at Emmanuel Baptist Church. At the time, he was minister of music at Phillip Memorial Baptist. "It was a difficult decision going from one local church to another, but I wouldn't have done it if I hadn't been sure. I had met Logan (Peterson, pastor of Emmanuel Baptist) and felt we could work good together," he said.

"I feel like there are exciting things happening at our church. People are coming to church expecting something to happen," he said. "As a result we are seeing new commitments, people joining our church, and people asking what they can do to serve."

Beasley feels the choir should be a form of outreach like Sunday School is. "I've seen people come to choir that weren't members of the church and through choral program become involved in church."

Even though he had no musical training until after high school, Beasley enjoys using music to minister to people. "You deal with people on a happy note and allow them to express joy and contentment."

Beasley's goals as music minister begin with serving "my heavenly Father. My goals for the church are to allow people an avenue of worship, to involve as many people as possible to adult choirs, but I would enjoy working with youth and children choirs."

"There is no greater joy than to see little children sing, and strain as they put all they've got into it. If you bring a child up singing, singing becomes a natural expression," he said.

Another age group Beasley enjoys working with is senior citizens. "It is an age group that has been overlooked. They are older and wiser and can teach us a lot."

Beasley wants to be a full-time music minister in the future. "I hope someday to become a full-time minister, but for now I am being allowed to get experience."

In addition to his ministry, Beasley is a new car salesman at Highland Pontiac. He enjoys carpentry, yard work, music and golf. He is a graduate of Arlington Baptist College.

Beasley was raised in Big Spring. He and wife Marina have two children. They are Todd, 7, and Vanessa, 2.

Bihl appointed as minister

SALVADOR BIHL
...pastor of
Foursquare Church

The Rev. Salvador Bihl has been appointed the new pastor at the Foursquare "Gospel Lighthouse" Church. Bihl was licensed by the International Church of the Foursquare Gospel recently. His appointment was made by the Rev. Sidney Westbrook, superintendent of the South Central district of the Foursquare Churches.

The appointment is Bihl's first pastorate. He was born and raised in Big Spring. Bihl is employed by Hubbard Packing Co. He attended Latin American Bible Institute in El Paso. His hobbies are hunting and fishing.

Foursquare Church is located at 1210 E. 19th. Services are at 10 a.m. and 6 p.m., Sunday and at 7 p.m., Wednesday. A Bible Study is held at 7 p.m., each Tuesday. Bihl and the congregation invited the public to the services.

Revival planned

Several local ministers will participate in revival services at Baptist Temple Church, 11th Place and Goliad, beginning Sunday.

The Rev. Mike Patrick, pastor, will speak on "The Key to Continuous Revival", Sunday morning. Other speakers will be Rev. Danny Curry, pastor of First Baptist Church of Coahoma, Sunday night; Rev. Bobby Fuller, pastor of College Baptist Church, Monday night; Dr. Rick Davis, pastor of Midway Baptist Church, Tuesday night; and Rev. David Harp, pastor of Phillips Memorial Baptist Church.

Curry will speak about "The Remedy for a Quitter". "Judgment Begins at God's House" will be the topic of Davis' sermon. Harp will speak about "Behold Your God."

Wade Burroughs will lead the music at each evening service. Sunday services will be at 11 a.m. and 6 p.m. Services for Monday through Wednesday will be at 7 p.m. The public is invited, and a nursery will be provided. For more information, call 267-8287.

Attendance goal set

The First Church of the Nazarene has chosen Sunday as "Round Up Sunday" with a Sunday School attendance goal of 201. Cotton Mize, Christian life director, said enthusiasm is building for the day.

Several members of the congregation plan to wear blue jeans, western shirts, calico dresses or denim skirts as part of the festivities.

The 10:50 a.m. service will begin with music by the Children's Church and feature a class promotion exercise. The Sanctuary Choir, directed by Jerry McGuire, will sing. Dr. Carl Powers, pastor, will preach.

A baptismal service using the church's new facility will be highlighted following a sermon by Powers at the 6 p.m. Sunday service.

Monthly meeting held

The Howard County Ministerial Fellowship met at Wayne Henry's Steak House, Aug. 15. Keith Wiseman presided. Jerry Kelly gave the invocation.

Mike Perry, new chief chaplain at Big Spring Hospital, gave a program about plans to restructure the chaplaincy program. He wants to minister to both patients and staff. Pastoral counseling is an important part of the program. He said more community involvement in the "adopt-a-patient" program is wanted.

Carroll Kohl reported on the Bible Committee and asked for new committee members. Virginia Powers is teaching three session at Big Spring High School and one at Coahoma. Kenneth Patrick teach one session at Forsan.

Guy White reported on the status of the Haitians. Three of them are out of work and looking for jobs. They are learning English. The Haitians have been here two years, and hearing about their deportation should be soon.

Dr. Michael Riggins is considering the establishment of a Pastoral Counseling Center in Big Spring. He wants to meet with the fellowship to discuss his plans. Tim Winn gave a report on the Rainbow Project. The building is ready for occupancy. Pat Sherwood will be a social worker. There should be a meeting for licensing in the next three months. Keith Gibbons reported on the support of the churches. Two phones also were installed, one at the Rainbow Project and the other as residence line.

Patrick announced Mayor Pro-tem Jack Smith had asked for the assistance of the HCMF to provide the invocation for the City Council meetings on the second and fourth Tuesdays. Ministers received a list of assignments.

Patrick gave a report about the treasurer's fund. A HCMF membership charge for $5 per year will be assessed. Fees can be sent to Patrick at First Baptist, Wiseman at First Methodist, or Carl Powers at First Nazarene.

The next meeting will be Sept. 19 at the Spanish Inn.

Group meets Sunday

The Unity-Religious Science-Friends meeting will be Sunday at 5 p.m. at 1904 E. 25th St., Apt. 215. Nancy L. Patrick is the study guide.

The book being studied is Lessons in Truth by H. Emile Cady. The public is invited.

Evangelist speaks at church

Raul Giron, Jr., of Del Rio, evangelist, will give his testimony of being risen from the dead by the Lord. He will speak at 7:30 p.m., today, Friday, and Saturday, at Faith Tabernacle Church. Giron may continue his evangelism at Faith Tabernacle a few more days. He will be speaking in Spanish and English. The public is invited.

Giron is sponsored by the Rev. Arlie Knight, pastor. Faith Tabernacle Church is located at 1200 W. Fourth, next to Calvary Baptist Church.

Women group challenge Pope on priesthood

CHICAGO (AP) — Chicago Catholic Women, an independent organization, challenges Pope John Paul II's assertion that the church's barring of women from the priesthood has nothing to do with discrimination against them.

The women's group says women's equal standing in the church "must inextricably include" their right to ordination.

'Auntie Lee' sweet talks way out of dangerous situation

WILTON MANORS, Fla. (AP) — Proving that the way to a gunman's heart is through his stomach, a Chinese restaurant owner used home cooking and sweet talk to win over three young robbers who held her family hostage for 12 hours.

The gunmen were calling her "auntie" before they left.

Moy Lee, a 66-year-old grandmother, said she told jokes to the three armed youths, prepared them a supper of beef and asparagus over rice, and entertained them with a movie when they invaded her home in this Fort Lauderdale suburb last week.

The three youths said they belonged to a gang from New York City's Chinatown and had been sent by their ringleader to rob her and her husband, who own the successful Moy Lee Chinese Restaurant in Hollywood, Mrs. Lee said.

"They told me, 'We know you have a lot of money. We checked you out. We know what we're doing,'" she said.

Mrs. Lee said she "sweet-talked" her captors as they sat around the kitchen table at 3 a.m., eating and watching a tape of a Bruce Lee martial arts movie that they played over and over until dawn.

"I knew I had to keep them calm, talk them out of killing us all," she said. "I was ... so scared at first I couldn't swallow a sip of water. I prayed, 'God, I've been a good girl, please help me.'"

By the end of the ordeal, the youths were calling her "Auntie Lee," a term of endearment, she said.

The gunmen, who spoke a Hong Kong dialect of Chinese and used walkie-talkies to communicate with two accomplices, held Mrs. Lee, her husband, Winston, 67, their 15-year-old granddaughter, Eva Lee, and a family friend, Louis Tutora, in the house for 12 hours.

They agreed to leave when the Lees gave them $4,000 and promised to deliver another $3,000 within a week, Mrs. Lee said. Two suspects were arrested outside a Wilton Manors bowling alley Tuesday as they tried to pick up the money.

Mrs. Lee said she was jumped as she got out of her car outside her home at midnight Sept. 6.

"I got out of the car, one jumped from behind a tree; another jumped from behind another tree — pop, pop," she said. "Then one said, 'You go inside. We're going to talk business.'"

The owners of a Chinese restaurant in Plantation were victimized in a similar extortion attempt six to eight weeks ago, but the FBI has not determined whether the crimes are linked.

Arrested Tuesday were Chong Boon San, 21, and Chung Lee Pung, 20, who were charged with federal extortion and held on $2 million bond, said FBI spokesman Dennis Erich. Three other suspects remain at large, he said.

In another apparent shakedown case, a 20-year-old New York man was arrested Thursday and accused of killing the manager of a Chinese restaurant in Philadelphia.

Allan Lee was arrested on a sidewalk of New York City's Chinatown in the death Aug. 22 of Jadeine Wong, 25, manager of Ho Sai Gai restaurant, in Philadelphia's Chinatown.

Police said Miss Wong was shot in the head Aug. 14 by a man who had demanded protection money.

salary is $24,000.

UTLA's last two-year contract expired in June 1982. Teachers worked last year under an extension while a fact-finder reviewed the issues, which also included a variety of non-wage issues.

In the nation's third-largest school district, Chicago, Teachers Union President Robert M. Healey planned to continue bargaining today, armed with teachers' support for a walkout Oct. 3.

"Our people are extremely frustrated and they feel they have been used," union President Robert M. Healey said Thursday after 92 percent of the 23,543 voting union members favored a walkout.

Chicago School Board members were "very disappointed" at news of the vote, said board President Sol Brandzel, but he added that they will continue to negotiate to avert any disruption of classes.

The board has offered teachers the same salary they received last year, with a slight increase in benefits. Teachers accepted a wage freeze last year, though it did not affect automatic increases annually from the first year to the fifteenth year of employment. Healey is pledged this time to increasing the entire scale.

Mganhile, 300 striking teachers in Illinois' Crete-Monee District 201U, south of Chicago, voted Thursday night to accept a two-year contract, ending their 10-day-old walkout which had affected 4,980 students. No details of the agreement were expected to return to their classrooms today.

In two other Illinois districts, 251 teachers remained off their jobs, affecting 4,870 students.

Other job actions Thursday included:

—In Michigan, strikes by 2,300 teachers in 10 school districts kept 41,100 students out of class.

—In Ohio, a strike by 91 teachers in Lordstown kept about 1,000 students out of class.

—In Pennsylvania, strikes continued in the Garnet Valley district in Delaware County, with 111 teachers and 2,363 students, and in the East Allegheny district near Pittsburgh, with 244 teachers on strike affecting classes for 3,970 students.

Teen watches as clerk dragged from store

ORLANDO, Fla. (AP) — A 16-year-old boy watched a robber drag a screaming clerk from a convenience store, then went inside and played Pac-Man instead of heeding her pleas to call police, authorities say.

An officer responding to a silent alarm arrived within minutes. Shirley Gerentine, 43, was later found stabbed to death.

Investigators said they aren't certain whether the teen-ager, whose name was withheld, was in shock or was too scared to report the abduction from the Jiffy Food Store late Wednesday. They plan to question him again.

Officers had responded to a silent alarm apparently set off by Mrs. Gerentine, and refused to speculate whether they could have arrived sooner had the boy called for help immediately.

The boy told police that as he was walking to the convenience store, he saw a young man holding a woman at knifepoint and dragging her to a pickup truck.

"Call the police!" the woman screamed, according to a boy's statement to investigators.

Within three minutes after the boy entered the store and began playing video games, Sheriff's Lt. Bob Shulte arrived. Shulte had been driving home from work when he heard over his police radio that the store alarm had sounded.

He drew his revolver and walked inside. When he pointed the gun at the teen and asked where the store clerk was, the youth told him she had been abducted moments before.

About 1½ hours after the abduction, Orange County deputy sheriffs found a pickup truck that matched the description of the getaway vehicle.

Two men, including the truck's owner, were arrested and charged with a mugging that occurred about 20 minutes before the abduction.
