Continental bankrupt; halts flights

Continental Airlines, which lost $84 million in the first six months of this year, ceased all flights into the Midland-Odessa Regional Air Terminal at 6 p.m. Saturday as part of its move to temporarily end domestic air travel while filing for reorganization under federal bankruptcy law.

Recordings reached by dialing the Continental reservations desk at the Midland-Odessa airport state that the airline intends to resume scheduled flights Tuesday, but that the company will not accept reservations through the end of this month for domestic flights. The Continental schedule board listing flights at the Midland-Odessa airport has been taken down, according to a Southwest Airlines employee working at the terminal. Continental operated eight to 10 flights daily to the Midland-Odessa

Southwest's Midland-Odessa terminal ramp supervisor. Continental spokesmen announced Saturday that the airline is airport, said Steve Mueller,

"voluntarily filing" for reorganiza-tion under Chapter 11 of the federal bankruptcy law and is trimming its domestic routes in an effort to turn itself around.

Frank Lorenzo, chief executive officer and president of the nation's eighth-largest carrier, said domestic flights would be temporarily suspended beginning at 6 p.m. CDT Saturday until 12:01 a.m.

Continental said its international services did not file for reorganization and would not be affected. Persons wishing information on inter-national flights by Continental should call 1-800-421-5390.

The airline, troubled by a lingering mechanics strike, had asked its 12,000 employees to grant $150 million in wage concessions. About 65 percent of the employees were laid off Saturday, although some will eventually be recalled, Lorenzo

As a result of Continental's shutdown of domestic flights, the president of Southwest Airlines announced later Saturday night that Southwest would honor Continental tickets on a stand-by basis, Southwest employees said.

Other airlines flying into the Midland-Odessa terminal are American Airlines, Muse Air, Air Midwest, Transcentral, and Wise Air, Mueller said.

Business at the Southwest reservations office in San Antonio has picked up since Continental announced its closing, reservations agent Taryn Guistiani said Satur-

Carlsbad hypes N-dump project

By BOB CARPENTER Staff Writer

On the surface, the proposed nuclear waste repository in Carlsbad, N.M., is unassuming. A few mobile homes and metal buildings are scattered about the dusty, flat land, and men in hard hats leisurely work around a tall, steel frame. It looks more like a drilling site than a home for radioactive refuse.

However, once down the elevator and into to the underground tunnels and storage rooms, one realizes the magnitude of the project.

The trip to the work station 2,150 feet underground takes about five minutes aboard a "cage" that rattles down the shaft at 500 feet per minute. Arriving at the bottom, visitors and workers are ejected into a cavernous workroom where equipment and electrical circuitry is stationed

The walls of "rock salt" are shaded gray, brown and white. North, beyond the workroom, an 8x12 foot tunnel begins stretching deep into the mine before branching off into other passageways and deposit areas. Deposit rooms are 33 feet wide, 13 feet high and several hundred feet long.
As miner's light flash down the dimly lit halls, one notices testing devices, wiring and other in-struments which measure just about any kind of data ranging from temperature to the air's dust

Miner Bob Roland said the waste stored in the cavity will be monitored in more than 200 ways by a computer system substations underground and a main terminal

Roland's comments on the mine are typical of the miners on site: 'It's one of the safest mines I've ever seen," says the veteran of various other government mining projects. "I've worked in others where we had to use wood or steel to

RESTAURANT ROBBERY — Five persons were abducted at this Kentucky Fried Chicken restaurant in Kilgore Friday night. Their slain bodies were discovered Saturday off a rural road.

Five abducted from Kilgore restaurant slain

KILGORE (AP) — Five people abducted during a robbery at a fastfood restaurant were found shot to death Saturday on a rural East Texas road, police said.

The bodies of the three men and two women were discovered about 9:30 a.m. by a Henderson Clay Products employee who was checking an oil well about 15 miles south of Kilgore, police said.

Rusk County sheriff's investigator William Brown said four of the bodies were lying in the mid-dle of an oil lease road off FM 323 between Overton and Henderson. 'You couldn't drive on past where they were without driving over them," he said.

A woman was on the side of the road about 30 yards away from the others but "they were all lying face down and shot in the back of the

"Why she was separate from the others I have no idea, unless she tried to run," he said.

Authorities had been searching for the five since Friday night, when a woman went to the Kentucky Fried Chicken restaurant to find it empty and blood-stained.

Kilgore police spokesman Jerdy Wolverton said the restaurant manager estimated about $2,000 was missing from the restaurant. Howard Bailey, a Kentucky Fried Chicken supervisor in Nacogdoches, said restaurant employees failed to make a schedul-ed bank deposit earlier in the day.

The bodies, which were sent to Dallas for autopsies and positive identification, tentatively were identified as the restaurant's assis-See Killings, page 2A

Steer show charges fair's closing day

By KEELY COGHLAN

Staff Writer The midway and the exhibits were less crowded Saturday than during the week. Fewer people clogged the aisles in front of the exhibits, and even fewer stayed out in the dust on the last day of the Howard County Fair.

Some of the exhibitors were talking to persons at other booths; the booth with the "Live Free for a Month" contest sign was empty. 'I wish we could turn this wind

A little boy eyed the decorated cakes being judged at the women's exhibit and asked anyone who passed by if the elaborately iced gothic cathedral wedding cake was real. He put his nose near the cake and sniffed, "Nah, it's not real. I could he was pretty mean when he was born, but he's not now," Miller said. Newman also bred the reserve champion, "Ringer," shown by his daughter Kody, 13, who has shown steers for four years. "Ringer" is a Limousin with ring-like markings

Bus Stop a good ticket

The Big Spring High theater department's production of William Inge's Bus Stop is a "romantic comedy" that should be seen by more than the approximately 80 patrons who attended Saturday night's opening performance. Despite the sparse audience, Bus Stop gets a high rating, succeeding in its attempt to reveal a dramatic theme through a comic approach. Even with editing by director-in-chief Jimmy Smith, the play - originally intended to star Marilyn Monroe, if that says anything is a mature piece speaking on the loneliness in people's lives. Set in Gracie's Diner in a small Kansas town, the play focuses on a varied assortment of characters stranded by a winter snowstorm. Kim Beckham as Cherie and Shot Smith as Bo Decker - not to be confused with Bo Derek - take the spotlight. Bo fell "in love" with Cherie in Kansas City and wants to take Cherie back to his ranch in Montana.

Douglas Bailey steals the spotlight on several occasions as the lecherous and tipsy Dr. Lyman. His character could use more vocal quality, however. A minor lighting problem at the end partly spoiled the effect of the play's punchline, but otherwise Bus Stop is definitely worth waiting in line for. And lines are what Smith would like to see next Saturday at 7:30 p.m. when the final performance is given in the BSHS

Kennedy's war on drugs

SIOUX FALLS - Robert F. Kennedy Jr., charged with drug possession, may use hi problems and family name to call attention to the harmful effects of drugs, a friend says. "I don't think he'll come down morally or hold any judgment against his generation who are involved with drugs, not all of his generation is involved with drugs," Bill Walsh said Friday. "He'll have something to say about that experience. "My hunch is that he

Convicted writer off parole

ST. LOUIS — A federal appeals court has ruled that author Jack Henry Abbott, convicted of manslaughter while on parole in New York City, must be transferred from a federal medical center to a maximum security federal prison. The 8th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals on Friday rejected Abbott's contention that transferring him from the Medical Center for Federal Prisoners at Springfield, Mo., would be cruel and unusual punishment. Abbott, 39, is serving a 15-vear-to-life sentence on a first-degree manslaughter conviction for a 1981 stabbing death.

Author Norman Mailer and others had successfully argued for Abbott's parole from prison, where he owed eight years on a term for bank robbery, after Abbott published "In the Belly of the Beast," a critical account of the nation's prison system.

Abbott contended he is "well known as a government informant" and would be a "prime target for murder" at the U.S. penitentiary in Marion, Ill. He also claimed guards there are likely to injure him because of civil suits he has filed against them.

ing late to a hearing. Selya rejected the motion Friday, saying it was based on "self-serving and conclusory allegations." He also rejected a suggestion that he was biased against Kunstler because of his public image.

Weinberger reassures Tokyo

TOKYO — Defense Secretary Caspar Weinberger assured the Japanese on Saturday that Asia would not be sacrificed in any U.S. Soviet accord on reducing intermediate-range nuclear missiles in Europe.

Weinberger met with Japan's leaders before making

He held talks in Tokyo with Foreign Minister Shintaro Abe and Defense Agency Director General Kazuo Tanikawa on the medium-range missile talks in Geneva, the Soviet downing of a South Korean airliner, and U.S. high technology transfers to China.

12 killed in pageant attack

DAVAO CITY — A grenade attack at a local beauty pageant in the Philippines Saturday killed 12 people and injured 245, police said.

Police Maj. Manuel Garcia said a fragmentation grenade was lobbed at the foot of an outdoor stage where two city councilors were about to crown the winner of the Miss Agdao competition.

Hundreds of people stampeded and police rushed to the scene, firing their guns into the air, witnesses said. Both councilors and some of the contestants were among the injured, but police did not say whether the winner was hurt. Many of the victims were reported in critical condition in five hospitals. Garcia could not immediately give a motive or say who was responsible, but Mayor Elias Lopez said police had picked up a man for investigation. He said he did not know if the man was the suspected attacker or what the motive could be.

Watt controversy growing

WASHINGTON — Interior Secretary James Watt, struggling to hold on to his job, received support Saturday from a prominent conservative but came under renewed fire for what a Democratic senator charged was his "outrageous expression of bigotry. Richard Viguerie, a top direct-mail fundraiser for Republicans and one of the leaders of the New Right, sent a telegram to President Reagan urging him not to fire "one of the most loyal members of your administration.' However, Sen. Paul

Tsongas used the weekly Democratic radio address to charge that Reagan's refusal to fire Watt was symbolic of an administration "that has shown so little concern for women, for minorities and for the less fortunate among us.'

And Sen. Charles H. Percy, R-Ill., chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, became the eighth GOP senator to call for Watt to offer his resignation. Percy said Watt has a responsibility to turn in the resignation "and then let the president decide."

Viguerie is one of the few conservatives to come to Watt's defense following his description Wednesday of a federal advisory panel as having "a black ... a woman, two Jews and a cripple."

Fighting moves to Beirut

BEIRUT — Government troops battled Moslem and Druse militiamen with artillery and machine guns Saturday, extending the civil war from the central mountains to Beirut's southern slums and leaving at least 19 people dead and 48 wounded.

U.S. Marines, whose camp at Beirut international airport lies near Shiite Moslem militia strongholds, abandoned two checkpoints to avoid getting embroiled in the fighting.

No Marines were reported hurt, but an Italian member of the multinational force patrolling Beirut was wounded in cross-fire, a spokesman for the Italian contingent said.

Police said at least 19 civilians were killed and 48 wounded in the army's slum shootouts with the Shiite Moslems, in mountain fighting with Syrian-backed Druse warriors and in a Druse shelling of Christianpopulated east Beirut.

Cease-fire talks remained stalled and Syria warned the multinational force against further involvement in the 21-day-old conflict.

Democracy requires discussion, debate

The Big Spring Herald recently received a petition signed by 79 people asking for the removal of city editor Keith Briscoe from our staff.

Briscoe has incurred some people's displeasure by writing opinions in his column on the editorial page that are liberal to say the least. He is against public prayer in schools, he thinks lawyers and doctors make too much money, he thinks the utility companies should be nationalized, and so on.

The petition delivered to the Herald states:

"We the undersigned citizens who still believe in a Democratic form of government, the Constitution of the United States and the American flag, do hereby respectfully request the removal of Keith Briscoe from your staff. We believe your publication should be far above the communistic trend of the column.'

We find irony in the fact that people who believe in the freedoms espoused in the Constitution would also support censorship and suppression of ideas. Never mind the fact that Briscoe's opinions are his own, and that they have rarely - if ever — coincided with the opinions of the Herald's top management.

It is easy to make a basic mistake in judgment in matters like these because of the emotional factors involved. However, one problem facing this country, and one problem that we need to deal with, is that people don't like to be exposed to ideas contrary to their own. This is taking the ostrich approach. When hunted, the ostrich is said to run a certain distance and then thrust its head into a bush, thinking, because it cannot see, that it cannot be seen by the hunters.

The danger is, if a person is not exposed to a wide range of ideas, he does not know how to counter them.

On high school debate teams, the team that usually wins is the one that listens to the other team's argument and then builds its case on the weaknesses of the other side.

People who do not listen to the opposition, but whose cases are built entirely on emotion, usually don't know what the structure of their arguments are. Thus they don't know where the weaknesses lie.

People need to be exposed to a wide range of ideas — if their own positions are to be built on strength.

Can we afford to lose Red Cross?

Dear Editor,

The following was given to me by an America Red Cross volunteer here in Howard County:

"We are not at war. We no longer have a military establishment in ig Spring. Vietnam is over.

"It was nice to have you here, we do not need you now and you cost too much money. There are other things more important.

"What's that you say? Red Cross volunteers have handled 15 emergencies in the last 10 days? Some involving destroyed property? Homeless families? Life and death situations? Wait a minute, that Hurricane Alicia. That's Galveston's problem, not Big Spring's. What? You've got to be kidding, the 15 tragedies in the past 10 days occurred in Big Spring? Fifteen separate catastrophies? I didn't hear anything about them, are you making this up?

"I checked into it. The problems were real, they were right here in Big Spring. Many of them were even made known in the Big Spring Herald. They involved unimaginable sorrow and loss. The victims' names shall remain anonymous. Their cases shall be on permanent record with the Red Cross. If any of you readers know first-hand what I am talking about, don't try to thank or repay the volunteers who helped you. Their help was performed in the spirit of love and in accordance with everything the Red Cross stands

"The Red Cross is an organization of men and women who work to relieve human suffering. About 70 countries through the world have Red Cross societies. Each national Red Cross organization carries its own program of work and each society has complete control over its affairs. All Red Cross societies are joined by their common aims. They try to prevent misery throughout the world in time of war and peace. The headquarters for all of these Red Cross societies is in Geneva, Switzerland.

"The American Red Cross is headquartered in Washington D.C. One of the many, many services provided is an emergency reporting service to members of the Armed Forces. Information is needed by the military authorities for making decisions about emergency leaves. family members who are unable to communicate directly with the service member in time of crisis or disruption of normal channels of communication, service members who are concerned about a home situation and are unable to communicate directly or who require verification of a home situation for emergency leave purposes. Each of the nearly 3,000 American Red Cross chapters and all of the military installations throughout the world can be connected by a simple telephone call or by a teletype-writer exchange service through the American Red Cross headquarters in Washington D.C.

"The emergency Communications Service is only one of the reasons we need the Red Cross alive and well in Big Spring.

"Water safety, instruction and life saving certification is provided throughout the summer by the Red

"In all verified emergency cases disaster relief is provided such as clothing, shelter, first aid, and whatever else is needed

"The Red Cross in Big Spring has been kept alive only by money provided through the United Fund. It was never enough money to pay all of the debts. Much of the work was performed by benefactors and by volunteers. The Red Cross cannot begin to perform its tasks without a headquarters and a director. This year, the United Fund has decided to cancel the Red Cross. "In the past 10 days when the above-mentioned 15 families faced hardship and sorrow, should they have called the YMCA? Perhaps help could have come from Planned Parenthood. There are many priorities to consider, but can Big Spring afford to cancel the Red

Men deserve equal rights too

I have never considered myself a feminist, although I do believe in political, economic and social equality for women.

But I have been disturbed lately by some women who do consider themselves feminists, who think they are advancing the rights of women by fussing over trivialities

These women insist on being referred to as "chairperson" instead of "chairman" of a committee, and they are unhappy with such terms as "foreman", "salesman", "draftsman" and other terms they consider to be sexist.

They resent having a door opened for them by a man, they resent a man offering to help them carry heavy things, they don't like in general being referred to as women, they don't like to be known by their husband's names, they don't like deodorants "made especially for a woman," they don't like for men to offer them drinks in bars, they would absolutely turn pur-

They insist that every paragraph that has "he" in it be changed to "he or she" — even though "he" may have been used in the generic sense, referring to all mankind — (oops, I suppose they would prefer me to say personkind).

I belong to one women's club that was considering inviting a financial expert to speak to the club about investments. When I suggested a banker — who happened to be a man — as an ideal speaker. I was voted down in committee by others who thought it was important that only women experts be asked to speak to the

Homosexual asks for help

DEAR GRAHAM: I am a exual. I have tried to conque it and have prayed to God time after time, but nothing changes. I desperately want to deal with it, but I don't know what to do. Please help me. - P.H.

DEAR P.H.: God wants to help you with this problem, and I am thankful you are facing it honestly and not excusing it (as the tendency is in come circles today). Homosexual behavior is wrong in God's eyes, but he still loves you and can guide you as you seek to deal honestly with your situation.

There are steps that are crucial for you to follow if you are ever to conquer this. First, if you have never asked Christ to come into your life I urge you to do so without himself when he died on the cross You need the forgiveness only Christ can bring, and when you turn to him he freely forgives you by his grace. Right now you are burdened with the knowledge you have sinned but Christ can lift that burden if you will trust him as your Lord and Then get help from others for your problem. Don't be afraid to seek help or to share your problem in confidence with someone you can trust who also can help you. There may be many complex reasons for your homosexual tendencies, and a skilled pastor can probably point you to a Christian psychologist or psychiatrist who has had experience in dealing with others who have been in your situation. Such a person can help you understand yourself and why you have become the person you are, and will also help you - both emotionally and spiritually - to leave your old way f living and become the person Christ wants you to be.

Finally, several people who have dealt with persons such as yourself have stressed how important it is for you to remove yourself from every type of temptation. This has a strong grip on you, and that grip will only become stronger if you do not separate yourself from those persons and surroundings that have entrapped you in the past. God bless you as you turn your life over to Christ and take practical steps to overcome this.

The Revolution Club

In Central America, countries change governments as often as I change underwear. And I take pride in my hygiene.

Even George Schultz or Jeanne Kirkpatrick have difficulty naming the leaders of the tropical tyrannies without referring to the latest news dispatches.

Who's in control of Nicaragua, El Salvador, Guatemala and Panama? Who cares?

We should. This territory of tumult is only a missile's throw away from the southern United Countries of the Caribbean Basin have been practicing a revolving door policy for almost two centuries now, and our state department probably gave up long ago trying to keep a score on "junta's on first?"

We should, however, not accept the isolationist argument that the United States has no business in this area. Central America is not our backyard — it's our front door.

The United States is historically tied to this region. We were the original exporters of revolution to the Americas. Our War of Independence was the model for liberation in the other American

We encouraged independence for these states from the Spanish and other empires. It was the U.S., acting on the Monroe Doctrine, who prevented further colonization and exploitation by the European powers in this hemishere.

We also share a long and rich heritage with Central America. Because of our growing Hispanic population, our nation is rapidly qualifying for designation as a Latin American country. Spanish, the second most spoken tongue in the U.S., has achieved a semi-official status. And our commercial and artistic interests are bringing the affairs of Cental America into sharp

FOR ALL THESE reasons, I earnestly propose we invade Nicaragua and topple the Sandinista regime.

Before 1950, Central American revolutions were rather inconsequential, silly affairs. It's true President Wilson beached the Marines with abandon. But Wilson used the military to protect private financial interests. The area posed no real security threat as long as the Europeans could be fenced out.

In the last 30 years, however, the fratricidal frenzy of the region has taken on an ugly character and dangerous direction. The Caribbean coups have joined The Revolution

Since World World War II, revolutions the world over have followed what I call The Manual of Revolution. It has four steps.

1. Topple the reigning junta in the name of the workers. 2. Denounce the United States as the great counter-revolutionary and call for 4ts destruction.

3. Practice an oppressiveness at least equal to that of the deposed regime.

4. Declare international comradeship with other revolutionary movements.

What The Manual of Revolution signals is that the Soviet Union has replaced the United States as the model for revolution. I don't believe the Soviets have engineered this international movement in a subversive campaign to topple capitalism. Third World countries look to the October Revolution because the Bolsheviks so quickly demolished an old order and established a radically different society.

The result of this new revolution formula is that born-again Bolsheviks in the Third World have formed a nexus, creating an ideology independent of both East and West that holds that revolution is international in character and

This development is most clearly recognizable in Nicaragua, which quite unabashedly has made its civil war into an international affair. Cuban and Libyan arms and soldiers flow freely into the country, and the Managua regime is impatiently exporting its struggle to El Salvador, Costa Rica and

IT REALLY shouldn't concern us whether these countries choose to be communists, capitalists, Democrats or desperadoes. These are internal affairs. But when The Revolution Club sets up shop in the Western Hemisphere, the affairs of these regimes become very much

The danger in the post-war revolution movement is that it feeds on itself - revolution is the fuel on which these regimes run. Castro has kept his revolution going for 30 years now because without it he has no foundation, no reason for continuing his artificial order. To put it simply: governments in The Revolution Club are based on revolution. Once they have gained power, they must seek new oppressors, new dictatorships to attack to keep their revolutions alive. That's why Nicaragua is funneling arms to rebels in El Salvador. It also explains why Cuban soldiers are fighting not only in Nicaragua but also in Angola and Ethiopia.

It's probably too late for us to do anything about Cuba, but with Nicaragua we have an opportunity to decisively discourage the recruitment drive by The Revolution Club in the Americas By displaying our awesome military capabilities and toppling the Sandinistas, we can deliver a clear message to the club's aspiring applicants: You can be anything you want and change governments as often as you wish. But if you threaten American security by inviting the club to your shores, you shall have to answer to the U.S.

Marines The linchpin in this hemispheric strategy would be Mexico, the most stable and dependable of our friends south of the border. A military-political alliance between our two countries would foster a genuine American character in this hemisphere based on the democratic, egalitarian principles we both espouse. Determined U.S.-Mexican leadership and prompt military responses could convince our American brothers they need not look beyond the oceans for remedies to their woes The Revolution Club is not an exclusive organization. We must act resolutely to stop its growth before we discover a Castro clone ruling in Mexico City.

In proposing the U.S. invade Nicaragua, I'm not resurrecting the Gun Boat Diplomacy of the last century. I'm advocating Gunfire Diplomacy.

Report from Austin

By Rep. LARRY DON SHAW

State must growing bridge highway problem

When Gov. Mark White calls legislators back to Austin to consider the issue of teacher pay, he will most likely ask us to consider another major problem now facing Texas the deterioration of Texas highways.

Texans can no longer boast about having one of the best highway systems in the nation, for our system is rapidly becoming one of the worst. The latest figures from the Federal Highway Administration pointed out that nearly three out of every four miles of Texas highway are deficient. Of the 137,855 miles of paved roads and streets in Texas, 100,217 are considered inadequate. That's a staggering

Furthermore, Texas now shamefully leads the nation in substandard bridges. About 39 of the 42,665 bridges in this state are too narrow or too weak to safely carry today's traffic load. It has been estimated that repairing or replacing these unsafe bridges could cost $2.8 billion over the next 15 years.

To remedy what experts are calling a "transportation crisis," Texas will have to spend approximately $35 billion for highway needs. Coming up with this extra revenue is not going to be easy. As you know, we had to deal with a tight budget this session, and a few lawmakers wanted to pass a tax bill; consequently, there was not much money available for highway needs. The State Department of Highways and Public Transportation had requested a $5.6 billin two-year budget, but in the end only received $3.9 billion, most of which is federal aid designated for the interstate highway system. It leaves next to nothing for state highways and farm-tomarket roads.

The condition of roads is largely related to age, and Texas roads are aging fast. A typical highway has a design life of 20 years after which the road will need major repair or have to be replaced. A recent study showed that the average Texas highway is more than 10 years old and the average farm-to-market road is 20

Population is another key factor relating to the rapid deterioration of our highways. The steady population growth has been a strain on our highway system, and the state population is expected to double by the year 2,000, placing an even greater strain on Texas roads.

Experts have said that present levels of funding are inadequate to maintain the existing roads, much less improve them to keep up with anticipated growth. The most widely accepted solution to tackle both the highway funding issue as well as the teacher pay issue is the proposal to raise the motor fuel tax, which has not been raised since 1955. Of the revenue generated from this the retail price, whichever is greater.

This 5-cent inc. ease would produce an estimated $850 million in additional revenue over a two-year period, with proceeds divided $637.5 million for highways and $212.5 millin for education.

According to the Texas Good Roads/Transportation Assocaition, the tax would mean the average motorist will pay approximately $34.15 more a year for gasoline. This increase could average out to about $3 more a month. The Association points out that bad roads in general cost the average motorist an estimated $291 a year in wasted fuel, tire wear, car repairs, insurance costs, and medical bills, so the tax increase could in the long run save consumers a great deal of money Raising the gasoline tax is only one of the many proposals for raising revenue that we may consider in a special session; however. this tax does address both of Gov. White's priority issues — education and highway funding.

Although most taxpayers do not want to see any increase in taxes, these vital issues can no longer be ignored.

I would appreciate hearing your views on 1-800-592-4731.

FRIDLEY, Minn. (AP) - Cathy Montain figured that, at age 44, it wasn't too late to quit smoking, and she thought lack of cigarettes was making her waistline expand.

But one morning last week, she found out she wasn't too old for something else, and an hour later gave birth to a healthy, 7-pound, 9-ounce girl.

"You can either laugh or cry. And we're laughing," said Mrs. Montain. She and her husband, David, a state highway designer, have five other children and live in Ham Lake.

The only thing that kicked the last nine months was her habit, she said: "I never felt anything."

"I quit smoking and I was gaining weight. And I thought I was going through menopause," said Mrs. Montain, who described herself as "quite heavy."

She went to bed about 11:30 p.m. and awoke at 3 a.m. Thursday in pain. At 5:30, she called her doctor. At 6:30 she arrived at the hospital and at 7:30 she gave birth to Jennifer.

Dr. Lex Lawson, the obstetrician who delivered the baby, shrugged off the unusual circumstances. "It all worked out for the best," Lawson said. "I've been around long enough not to be amazed.'

Q. My neighbor has a storage shed which sets just inside my property line. He's used it for years and it is fine with me, but I'm getting ready to sell the property and am afraid the new owners will want it removed. Is there a simple solution?

A. An easement may be the answer. An easement gives someone other than the owner of the land the right to enter or use the property for a specific reason. Easements are most commonly granted to utility companies for the purpose of erecting or maintaining lines and poles on privately-owned property. Usually the easement stipulates their right to enter the property for required maintenance. If you have in mind a special purpose easem (such as allowing a neighbor certain access to the property after you sell your home) it might be wise to consult an attorney about executing a properly written and recorded agreement to that effect.

Steers not dead yet

Don't bury the Steers just yet.

Despite an opening game loss to Abilene High, Big Spring High is very much alive, thank you. Put away the tombstone. Forget the eulogies. Save the prayers.

The heads hung low in some corners of the locker-room, and even a few coaches outside the doors gazed blankly into the night sky after the Eagles' 15-8 win Friday night in Shotwell Stadium. Abilene's win, however, was not fatal.

It's all a matter of perspective.

If the Steers were planning to go through District 4-5A play unbeaten, yes, hang the wreath. If the Steers had placed all hopes of a district championship on the game, yes, grab a shovel. If the Steers had played poorly, yes, compose the epitaph.

But none of the above was true. The simple fact is Big Spring is still learning how to

How many times does a kid crash his bike into a tree or into the pavement when he first tries to master two-wheeled flight? Does an infant suddenly rise up on two legs and run to its mother? No, learning doesn't happen in the flash of a moment.

Coach Quinn Eudy, despite his talent for enthusiasm, is no miracle worker; his mere presence has yet to turn sod into gold. Last year's 4-6 record, though nothing to make headlines about, was impressive simply because the Big Spring High Steers became competitive.

The Steers have yet to become winners. Individually, the players are winners, true. They have decided to cast the past into the Dead Sea and build on today. But as a team, they are not yet winners. That's what takes time.

Against Midland Lee, a costly team-wide mental breakdown allowed unheralded sophomore Walter Jones to dash 60 yards for the winning score late in the game. Against San Angelo, the Steers battled back to within a point, only to have a two-point conversion fail.

Teams that are winners would have notknow how to win do what it takes to win. It's instinct. They believe. They know, given whatever situation, they can win.

Big Spring has achieved two of three steps needed to become a winner. First, the ball and chain of past losing seasons, those 48-6 poundings, has been severed. Next, Eudy has worked his team into the physical condition to play four quarters of football and at least have the chance to win.

What's left now is winning. Not those nondistrict, non-pressure games but the ones that count. The ones that require a player to reach down and do what's necessary to finish the game on top.

Against Abilene, Big Spring proved it could play defense, could move the football on offense and could outhit the Eagles. But when the going got its toughest, the Steers didn't have enough down deep to hold on.

All this will come in time. Rebuilding isn't done in a day. The Steers will become winners, perhaps before the end of this season.

In the face of a disappointing loss to Abilene, it's most important now for the community to stand behind its team. Already Friday, those fans not totally committed to the Steers of the 80's rehashed the criticisms of the past. They're jumping a step too far. Instead of being proud to see the Steers perform well on foreign turf, they were trying to out-coach the coaches, question the players' abilities and bury the Steers before their time.

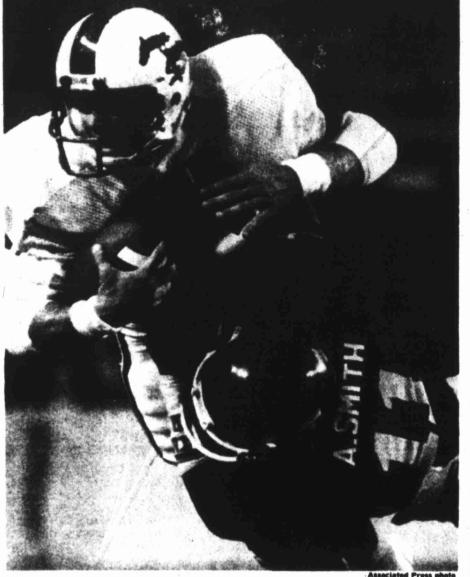

And many of those didn't even travel east to see the game.

Friday night, Midland High brings "Air Culpepper" to Big Spring for a battle of survival. Quarterback James Welborn has passed for 1,009 yards in four games but he can be stopped. Some of that "deee-feeense, deee-feeense" from the home crowd will Don't bury the Steers yet. Be patient. For a team that is trying this hard to do something good for this town, things have got to take a turn for the good some day. Luck, that intangible that all good teams seem to have, will be with the Steers soon.

Hopefully, the community will still be there with it.

CORRALING THAT RUNAWAY MUSTANG — Southern Methodist University quarterback Lance McIlhenny (top) is tackled by Texas Christian University safety Allanda Smith during Saturday night's shootout in Amon Carter Stadium. SMU rallied for the winning touchdown and used a goal-line stand to stop the Horned Frogs, 21-17.

Streak lives

Late score, goal-line stand rallies SMU by TCU, 21-17

FORT WORTH, Texas(AP) - An 80-yard Lance McIlhenney scoring pass and a fourth-quarter goal line stand car-ried Southern Methodist to a 21-17 Southwest Conference victory over Texas Christian Saturday night and extended the 18th-ranked Mustangs' unbeaten string to 19.

Trailing the underdog, winless Horned
Frogs by 17-14, McIlhenny winged a sideline pass to Ron Morris at the SMU 40 and the fleet flanker sped the remaining 60 yards to score the winning touchdown with 6:05 left. But TCU's Blanford Paul took the kickoff back 45 yards to the Mustang 47 and quarterback Anthony Sciaraffa guided the Frogs to the lip of the goal with time running out. On fourth down at the two, a pair of SMU defenders tossed Sciaraffa for a yard loss and the Mustangs then proceeded to run out the clock.

It was a bitter loss for the Frogs, 0-2-1, who seized a 17-14 lead with 6:16 remaining on Ken Ozee's 47-yard field goal after a poor Pony punt had given them new life at the SMU 35. The Mustangs, 3-0 and nursing the nation's longest major college unbeaten streak, got their earlier touchdowns on a one-yard run by Reggie Dupard and a five-yard, fourth-quarter romp by freshman Jeff Atkins

Defensive end Chris Williams staked the Horned Frogs to a quick 7-0 lead when blocked an SMU punt, scooped up the ball and raced untouched to the end zone. Officially a 50-yard return, Williams dribbled the ball twice at the 37 before securing possession and outrunning everyone to the goal.

McIlhenny took the dazed Mustangs 63 yards in five plays in the final minutes of the first half and sent Dupard in from the one to tie the count at 7-7

McIlhenny, whose 47-yard pass to Marquis Pleasant was the big gainer in that drive, also figured in the most bizarre play of the game, one that torpedoed a SMU scoring opportunity.

Facing a fourth-and-two at the TCU 10,

McIlhenny fired a pass that was deflected by Byron Linwood. The Pony quarterback caught his own pass, then winged another complete to Dupard for an ap-parent first down. But the officials ruled it illegal and TCU took over on downs

SMU drove 55 yards in 11 plays and took a 14-7 lead on Atkins' TD run with only seconds gone in the final quarter.

Sciaraffa brought the Frogs right back, using a 36-yard pass interference ruling to propel TCU 74 yards and tie the score with a 20-yard pitch to Dan Sharp.

With time suddenly essential, a shanked 21-yard punt by SMU kicker Whit Smith gave TCU the ball at the Pony 35 and Ozee used a 15-mile-an-hour tailwind to put the Frogs ahead at 17-14.

Less than 30 seconds later, on first down after he kickoff, McIlhenney lobbed a perfect pass to Morris racing down the sideline

Trevino whips whirling winds for 2-shot lead

ABILENE, Texas (AP) — Lee Trevino, playing in the howling Texas winds he handles so well, ripped four strokes off par on a 3-hole stretch and moved into a 2-stroke lead Saturday in the third round of the $350.000 LaJet Coors Classic.

Trevino, a non-winner on the American tour for more than two years, coaxed a 4-under-par 68 from the 30-35 mile per hour gusts and completed three rounds over the wind-scoured Fairway Oaks Golf Club course in 210, six under par.

The 43-year-old Hall of Famer was afflicted by a painful back problem most of the last two years and that, he said, is the reason he has not won since taking his 26th American tour triumph in the 1981 Tournament of Champions

"It's not that I haven't won because I lost my game. That's not it," Trevino said. "I haven't won because I wasn't physically able to win.'

That chronic back problem was corrected by surgery last year and, Trevino said, "that's the gratifying thing. I can come out to the golf course and hit a driver without pain. Last year I couldn't even put on day, a very tough day to play," said Crenshaw who had an erratic effort that included six birdies, four bogeys and eight pars, one of which was saved when he chipped in for the fourth time this week. It added up to a 70. Rogers shot a 71.

"I don't mind playing in the wind, but it was a tough

The only others in subpar figures were J.C. Snead, Victor Regalado, Jay Haas and David Graham, tied at 215, one under. Regalado closed up with a 66, the best round of the day. Graham shot 67. Snead and Haas had Second-round leader Lyn Lott fell victim to the winds with a 77 and dropped back to par 216.

Hal Sutton needed only a 73 to make a major move toward regaining the money-winning lead he surrendered to Fuzzy Zoeller last week in Las Vegas. Zoeller, now leading the money standings by a slim $429, played his back nine in a fat 43, shot an 81 and trailed the field at 227. Sutton was eight strokes in front

Trevino, long noted as a superior wind player, had a spectcular effort. Despite the winds that threatened to pluck the pins from the cups, he missed only one green, made par there and had his only bogey on a 3-putt. He missed three putts of less than 8 feet and failed on three others in the 12-15 foot range.

"I've hit it well all week," he said. "I can't even remember the last time I had three rounds where I hit the ball as well as I have this week.'

He made his whole day with the scoring burst that started with a wedge shot to within a foot of the cup on the 12th. He hit a knocked-down 8-iron under the wind to 10 feet and made birdie on the 13th. And on the 14th, a par-5, his 3-wood second shot stopped just in front of the green and he chipped it in for eagle-3.

PUTTING IN STRAIGHT - Lee Trevino makes a putt on the 16th green during third round action at the LaJet-Coors Classic Saturday, vaulting him into the lead. Trevino shot a 4-under-par 68 to take a two-shot lead over first-round leader Andy Bean.

Victory eludes Steers again

By GREG JAKLEWICZ Sports Editor

The Steers had their chances Friday night against Abilene High, coaches at Big Spring High say. And they could have won the District 4-5A opener against the Abilene turned a pair of costly mistakes into two touchdowns and rallied by the Steers 15-8, handing Big Spring its 12th consecutive loss to the Eagles.

'The two drives they scored on,' said Mike Sharp, defensive coordinator, "weren't much of a drive. Basically we did what we started out to do. They drove the ball at times but like I've told our players, we can bend but we won't break."

Abilene scored first in the third quarter after a Mark Johnson pass was intercepted at the Steer 32. The touchdown came on a six-yard pass from Mickey Russell to end Mark Stevens on a third down call. "On that first touchdown, we had a missed assignment in the secondary. The guy was wide open. That happened just after a penalty had backed them up."

The winning touchdown came with just 2:19 to go after a fumbled pitch-out between quarterback Tommy Gartman and fullback Jay Pirkle set up the Eagles at the Steer 21. Damon Edwards gained nine yards and Guy Sims 13 for the touchdown.

The two scoring drives amounted to just 53 yards.

We had a good plan for them,"

Sharp said. "We didn't think they would score on us and didn't on a sustained drive.

He singled out noseguard Danny Arista, linebacker Jerry Anderson and strong safety Robert Porras for their play on defense. Arista recovered two fumbles while Porras intercepted a Russell pass that appeared to save the Steers in the late moments on the game before the fumble.

Anderson, a transfer from Arizona, played another strong game after coming up from the junior varsity team.

"We'll be a good football team," Sharp offered, "but not a good enough football team overcome those mistakes. He said the team was not down during Saturday morning's workout. "We'll be a good football team. This makes them work harder. We're not out of this by any means. We've just got to get ready for next week, like everyone else. Offensive coordinator Todd Spencer saw his squad outgain Abilene 201-190 but scored just one touchdown. Two other chances were missed and the Steers were moving the football a third time as the first half ended.

He didn't blame the loss on the fourth quarter fumble between Gartman and Pirkle. To that point, Gartman had played a strong game and "that play was not the football

The Steers did not pass as much as planned but Spencer said Big Spring was moving against a gusty wind everytime it needed to throw.

Big Spring quarterbacks were in-tercepted three times. The first theft by Abilene's Chris Campbell at the Eagle 5 stopped BSHS in the first quarter. The ball bounced off intended receiver Charley Ragan's helmet into a diving Campbell's hands.

The second came in the third quarter and set up AHS's first score of the game. Johnson failed to pick up Edwards, the weak-side linebacker, and threw the pass straight to the Eagle player. The third turnover came after Abilene had taken its 15-8 lead. "That was just a desperation pass," he said.
"Their secondary took away our outside stuff and did a good job on our receivers. They have some veterans there in (Ed) Bane and (Steve) Stacy.

Big Spring had its biggest chance to score when the Steers moved the ball to the Eagle 10 in the third quarter. Pirkle burst for almost seven yards on a fourth down play but needed seven yards exactly to get the first. Abilene took over at the four to stop the potential scoring

"We've just got to put it all together," Spencer said. "The kids aren't down because they lost the game; they're disappointed because they know they could have

Why did Mrs. Martin give demonstration at the fair? "Basically I decided I want people to see what cotton and fiber is like before they are made into thread and fabric. I just enjoy showing people how to take raw fiber and make it into a thread to sew with." She became interested in the Howard County Fair, four years ago.

Mrs. Martin enjoys her hobbies. "I had done some weaving and really got involved in making something I could wear, something that just didn't hang on the wall."

She entered a shaw, belt and rug into the fair this year. She made her own thread for the belt. She received a first place ribbon for the shaw, and two second place ribbons for the belt and rug.

ONE BELT SHE displayed was made of ramie (china grass) Although it was white in crayolas.

Mrs. Martin enjoys the women's department at the fair. "I've always done some sort of handcraft and you take them mostly to fairs. I like the women department. I do a lot of canning and craft things and I like to see what the other women have done."

Before a person can spin or weave she must have wool that has been conditioned. When the wool is first taken from the sheep it is greasy. But with a brush called a card and comb to make the fibers line up, the wool becomes ready to spend into Spinning can be made more fun when you use two threads. Controlling the threads by the hand, a person can make lumps and bumps in the thread. When two or more threads are put together to make a larger thread, this is called plying, Mrs. Martin said.

Marshall talks about history of the county fair

Lifestyle Writer

Eleven years ago, a group of people including Arnold Marshall began the Howard County Fair Association. Marshall is chairman of the board.

'A group of us was visiting together and felt the need and the desire for a Howard County Fair. We just talked until we talked ourselves into one," Marshall said. The old Howard County Fair disbanded in 1952.

'Our first fair was right in the same area that we are in today," he said. "The first year, the association only had a leased tent. We had rain, and the rain ran through the tent." The second year, a building was donated to the association.

The two members from the first Howard County Fair Association that are still active are Marshall and

"The fair has not changed appreciably over the year, but every department has expanded," he said. 'A few years ago, the ladies department took in around 500 items. Last year they had 1500 items, and I hear that this year they exceeded last year by a great number.

BESIDES THE EXHIBITS, there has also been a carnival. "It was a small carnival the first year, but we have always had a carnival. We try to improve the quality of the quality of our carnival each year," Mar-

Marshall's primary duty at the fair is to help and to assist the fair president any way he can.

How did Marshall become interested in the fair? "I have always been interested in community affairs and activities. I have always believed every citizen owes his community," he said. "I firmly believe we were put here to try to make the world a better place to live in. The best way to do it is to be part of a non-profit

MAY I HAVE YOUR ATTENTION — Arnold Marshall, chairman of the fair board, works the public address system at the 1983 Howard County Fair. During the fair, Marshall lent a helping hand to those who needed help.

"I think the finest thing about Howard County Fair Association is it is where a group of people combine their interest and efforts to try to put on a better fair each year," Marshall said. "They are a group of people walking hand in hand together giving of themselves and their time to help the county.

Marshall doesn't have a favorite event at the fair. "I think the combination of everybody getting together with their canned goods, paintings and other things is what I truly enjoy

FAIR PRESIDENT — Smitty Smith discusses the people who helped plan the Howard County Fair.

Lifestyle Writer

The success of the Howard County Fair is due to the work of several people, Smitty (Floyd) Smith, president of the 1983 Howard County Fair, said.

"It wasn't me who put it on, but a lot of people who have worked hard. I just happened to have the honor this year of being president and serving the people on the board," Smith said. "If it wasn't for them there would be no fair. There is no way, one person can't put

"It takes a lot of people. It is the combined efforts of people working to produce the finest Howard County fair they can," he said. "Many, many people worked many many hours to put this thing together, and I had a small part in it."

The fair allows people to make new friends. "It's a time when we come together and grow together. Friendships are made, bonded and tied," Smith said.

The Howard County Fair Association began planning the fair last October, Smith said. "As soon as fair is over we start working on next year's fair. We started making contracts for booths, and setting dates." This year, the association hired a professional decorating company out of San Antonio to decorate inside of barn.

THE FAIR BOARD did have one problem while they were planning. "We had to change our dates and you don't just change dates because of contracts you've sign," he said.

The people organizing the Howard County Fair had several new ideas. "Several of us went to Fair and Expedition State Meet in Dallas. Each one came back with a new and different idea to improve our fair. We realize that whether it is the state fair or local, we have the same problem," he said.

BEING PRESIDENT IS a job Smith feels all the directors should have. "It's an opportunity all the directors should have at least once. It gives you a different view of the fair."

Smith became interested in the fair several years ago when he had a booth there. He has been on the fair board for four years.

At time Smith became frustrated. "It is all came together, but three weeks ago I was wondering about it. I don't worry about the people as much as I do about the circumstances.

Smith's favorite booth at the fair was the Texas Safari animals. "I was really excited they were coming. I feel it was one of the more worthwhile projects. Anytime you have a fair the adults get a lot out of the exhibits, but for the little kids this is one of the better

Each year the Big Spring Prospector's Club sponsors a lapidary show at the Howard County Fair.

A lapidary exhibit has displays of rocks and jewelry made out of rocks. It also features silversmithing, some facets, stones, and rock painting. Silversmithig is taking silver wire or sheet and cutting it and molding it to mount a rock in it. Demonstrations of rock cutting and polishing rocks are given.

The Prospector's Club members want to teach people about earth science. "We just do it to help the fair and think it's an interesting hobby. We want people to learn more about earth science and let them really see what you can do with rocks," said Nora Nixson, member of the Prospector's Club.

'The Big Spring Prospectors Club's purpose is to teach and create an interest in earth science. It is really our main interest," Mrs. Nixson said.

Everything displayed at the lapidary exhibit belongs to Prospector club members. "First thing we do is we get everything together we are going to exhibit: rocks and jewelry. Different members bring what they are going to exhibit and put them into their case," Nora

ALL THE MEMBERS of the Prospector's Club helped make a map of the United States from rocks. Some club members made different states. Before the states could be put together, a few members had to work them and try them and finally make them fit.

The map has been shown twice before, once in Lubbock and here. Texas is made out of Palmwood, the state rock. Tennessee is made out of slate, it's state rock. The members were unable to get each state rock because some of them were unworkable.

How do people become rock hounds? "Once you find it (a rock) and cut it open and see how pretty it is, you find it fascinating," Mrs. Nixson said. "It is so fascinating to see how an old rough rock can change to a pretty rock. That's why I'm interested.

The group doesn't set aside any certain time to go rock hunting. This year they have gone once to Robert Lee. "We didn't find many good rocks, but we did get some driftwood which comes in handy for displays, Mrs. Nixson said.

The club has hunted for rocks near Alpine, at Lake J.B. Thomas, at Balmorhea Lake and in Mason County. In Mason County members looked for blue topaz. Sometimes club members camp out on their trips.

The Big Spring Prospector's Club, a non-profit organization, is open to anyone interested in gems, minerals, and artifacts. The club seeks to promote popular interest and education in the various sciences, including the art of lapidary and the study of minerals and fossils, as well as their associated fields.

account his facial bone structure, hair texture and physical proportions. A haircut is a matter of balance and proportion. It does not make sense to apply the current hair trends to a man's hair if it does not fit. For example, a short cut will simply not look good on a man with a prominent nose or large ears. When long sideburns were popular, balding men would sport the new style to compensate on the sides for what they lacked on top. The result drew attention to their shortcoming. Consult a hair expert to determine the style that is best for you. Time to plan, order windbreaking seedling applications,

Each year the Texas Forest Service offers through the West Texas Nursery in Lubbock supplies of young trees for establishment of windbreaks in rural areas. The trees are quite small but are available at a very nominal cost. Order forms are now available at the County Extension office and should be picked up now and orders placed by those interested in receiving Windbreaks, if properly designed and maintained, can help protect life and property for 40 years or more. Windbreaks help decrease heating costs in winter and cooling costs in summer for homes and buildings, reduce soil erosion and damage to crops, provide shelter for livestock, and supply food and improve habitat for wildlife. In addition, windbreaks significantly increase the monetary value of a homesite and the aesthetic quality of rural life.

WINDBREAK DESIGN - Windbreaks are most effective when placed at right angles to prevailing winds. In most cases, windbreaks planted on the north and west sides of a farmstead to be protected is adequate. It should be planted 100 feet from the nearest structure and extend 100 feet beyond the farmstead. Windbreaks bordering agricultural fields should be planted at right angles to the prevailing winds to insure maximum protection to surface soil and agricultural crops. Adequate protection of soil and crops can be expected from a mature windbreak for a distance of 15 times the height of the tallest trees.

For livestock protection, plant the windbreak in an "L," "U", or "E" configuration open to the south or southeast. Fence a boundary 15 feet from the tree trunks to keep animals out. Two to three rows of conifers will provde good winter shelter. Seedlings should not be planted in old feedlots since dissolve salts can stunt or kill trees.

For most effective results, a windbreak should contain at least three rows of trees, two of which should be conifers. Conifers are the backbone of any planting because they retain their foliage year-round. Hardwood trees generally are faster growing than conifers and provide a windbreak effect at an earlier age. If a windbreak contains less than three rows, then only conifers should be used.

Since conifers have a similar growth form and growth rate, they should be spaced at least 15 feet apart within a row. Different conifers can be interplanted for contrast in color and design. However, conifers and hardwoods should not be interplanted, because faster growing hardwoods quickly overtop adiacent conifers.

Hardwoods may be spaced at 20-foot intervals in a row. Mixing hardwood pieces within a row is not recommended because crown sizes vary. Spacing between rows of trees is important. Conifer rows should be spaced at least 15 feet apart, but a hardwood row should be 20 feet from a conifer row. If farm equipment will be used to maintain the planting site, the space between rows should be increased to accommodate the width of the equipment. Shrubs and small trees may be planted as an outside row and may be 3 to 8 feet apart within a row, depending upon the species. PREPARATION OF SITE — Site preparation should begin well in advance of planting. In summer, plowing or mowing will eliminate competing vegetation and help accumulate moisture in the ground. The site should be plowed and harrowed two weeks before plan-

Areas subject to erosion should not be left barren during the winter. A cover crop of rye, vetch, oats or wheat should be sown with 2-foot-wide strips left for planting the trees. In early summer, the green cover crop can be mowed or disked to reduce competition for moisture and nutrients. Cover crops can be sown for several years to stabilize the soil until the trees are WINDBREAK TREE SELECTION - Conifers generally have a conical shape and should retain their branches to the ground line. Their mature height depends on the quality of the soil and the cultural practices they receive. Bare-root conifers have poor survival in West Texas due to the harsh climate. Containerized seedlings with a top height of 6 to 12 inches and stem diameter or 316-inch are recommended.

MAINTENANCE - Involves protecting small trees from wind, supplemental watering during first three years of growth and during droughts, reducing weed and grass competition and controlling insects and diseases. Evergreens need protection from wind for at least three years. Wood shingles provide simple, lowcost protection. During this period the seedlings also require supplemental water during a drought.

Most evergreens cannot tolerate weed competition while the trees are small. Sand soils should not be tilled. Hand weeding of a small area around each tree is preferable. Herbicides can be used after the first year. Even though pests may not directly kill a tree, they can greatly reduce its vigor, leaving the tree vulnerable to other stresses such as drought. Do not guess what pesticides to apply. Collect a specimen and contact our office for control measures.
